POINT PLANS FOR TORCH DRIVE

Pointer on Near East Expedition

Carter Zeleznik of Grosse Pointe Park was among the members of the University of Michigan Expedition to the Near East who returned to the U. S. last week.

The expedition stepped back into history to study a civilization which has changed little in recent centuries. Members of the group, first integrated study group of its kind in the Near East, spent more than six months in Kurdistan, an isolated and primitive region of Northern Iraq and Iran, which was historically inhabited by the Medes and early Persians. The group investigated the archeology, history, political structure, culture, people, language, geography and zoology of the little known area.

One of the prizes of the expedition is a perfect copy of a new "Rosetta Stone" inscription, which has eluded would-be translators for generations. The group made an impression of the inscription with a rubber compound. The inscription, carved into the stone walls of a rugged mountain pass 10,000 feet high, is the key to hitherto unknown languages of the past, and conceivably could lead to a new or different interpretation of ancient history.

A University spokesman said that work of the expedition will make a notable contribution to our knowledge of the Near East and to international goodwill.

Defer PTA to Hear Talks on Special Work

The P-T-A program at Defer School on Monday evening, October 8, will include a discussion of some of the special services of the department of Pupil Personnel of the Grosse Pointe Public Schools. The Department has a variety of functions, all of which facilitate the work of teaching children.

The following specialized services of the Board of Education are carried on through this program: A program relating to compulsory school attendance, the school census, and child labor laws; the study, placement and supervision of handicapped children; work in all schools with children who need some assistance in the area of speech; some group and individual testing; intensive individual child-study work with children and the parents.

Short informative talks about the special services will be given by the people who carry on the work in the school system. Mr. Lynn Bartlett, Director of the Department of Pupil Personnel, will discuss the work of the department in general. He will introduce members of his staff who will describe specific services which the department offers.

Among the staff members who will participate are Miss Doris Forsythe, the psychologist; Mr. Joseph Hourihan, visiting teacher; and Miss Sally Gordon, speech correctionist.

HOW NEW STATE FERRY WILL LOOK

The above picture made from a drawing by Artist Phil Troeger, shows how the new Michigan State ferry, the ice-breaker Vacationland, will look when completed. The big ship, which will be one of the most powerful crafts ever built for its size, is now under construction at the Great Lakes Engineering Works at River Rouge, Michigan. Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler has announced the vessel is expected to go in service across the Straits of Mackinac in time to handle part of the annual deer hunting traffic just ahead of the opening of the deer hunting season, November 15. The Vacationland will handle winter traffic across the Straits and will augment the present four State Ferries at other seasons of the year. It will be powered by four, huge Diesel engines and will be 360 feet long and 73 1/2 feet wide. It will load and unload at either end which will cut some 20 minutes off the present round trip time of the four state boats now in service at the Straits. The Vacationland will handle some 150 vehicles and 650 passengers per trip. It will cost approximately $4,500,000. A new State Ferry dock is being built at St. Ignace and a new slip for the Vacationland at the Mackinaw City docks.

Course In Economics Is Free

A special aviation training course for Explorer Scouts of this area is being offered by the Wayne University Air Force R. O. T. C., according to Amos R. Shields, local Council Scout Executive. The course, completion of which will qualify Explorers for their Aviation Rating, includes many interesting subjects such as aircraft identification, air traffic rules, methods of navigation, use of aeronautical charts and use of engine control instruments. The latest in Air Force training equipment and visual aids will be made available according to Captain William W. Deane, Air Force Instructor at Wayne University.

"There is a great demand for aviation-trained personnel," said Shields, "and this fast expanding industry offers a bright future. Our government also offers a variety of careers to men skilled in aviation. Shields pointed out.

Red Cross Appeals for Blood Bank Donors

At the request of the Department of Defense the Detroit Red Cross blood center has joined with some 50 other regional and defense blood centers in the United States in the largest blood donor recruitment campaign since World War II. The drive was formally launched September 10 with special programs on all radio networks, featuring appeals by Generals Marshall, Bradley and Ridgway.

Sixteen states in the mid-west area, including Michigan, have been asked to produce 2,861,000 pints in the next few months, of which 719,000 pints is earmarked for American wounded in Korea and the Armed Forces.

"We can accommodate up to 300 donors a day in the center at 153 E. Elizabeth with present facilities," said John M. Sullivan, executive director of Detroit Chapter, American Red Cross. "We are also prepared to operate our three mobile units to full capacity. Remodeling is now under way at the center, which will substantially increase donor facilities."

Sullivan urged that donors report directly to the center, individually or in groups of as

Community-Wide Service Has Noted Guest

Dr. Frank Laubach, the man who has taught 50 million people to read and write in their native tongues, will be the speaker at a community wide meeting in the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, Wednesday evening, October 3, at 8:00 p.m.

Dr. Laubach, the world's foremost practical literacy expert, has taught more people to read than any other man in history. Teaching the common people to read their own language has been his job for 20 years. Dr. Laubach's name is a fable among the people of India, Africa and South America.

Dr. Laubach's literacy slogan, "Each One Teach One," has been described in feature articles in School and Society, Reader's Digest, Life, and in Collier's. As author of many books Dr. Laubach's main concern is to preserve peace for the world. His most recent book is "Wake Up or Blow Up." The few months Dr. Laubach spends in the United States, he rushes around on speaking tours trying to make our country realize how it could propagate democracy throughout the primitive world through literacy.

Dr. Laubach is known in all parts of the world as the "Apostle to the Illiterates." It is indeed an outstanding privilege for the people of our community to have an opportunity of hearing him. Additional seating room will be made available by means of a public address system in the social hall of the church. Ministers of all the Grosse Pointe Churches have been invited to participate in this special service.

Recommend Treatment For Shock

EMERGENCY CARE FOR SHOCK AND SUFFOCATION (This is the fourth in a series of five articles prepared by the Michigan Office of Civil Defense dealing with emergency action to save lives. Previous articles covered Preventing Death Through Loss of Blood, Emergency Treatment for Burns, and Emergency Treatment for Broken Bones. Readers are urged to save these articles.)

Shock shows itself, for the most part, in the victim's external appearance. Often a victim becomes pale, perspires freely, gains in pulse rate, and in some instances, becomes unconscious. Deeper shock may result from improper care. In shock treatment, the safest assumption to make is that all shock is serious. Use all the treatments you know for whatever kind of wound the victim has. Make him comfortable, and do your best to keep him quiet and at ease. Above all, do not allow him to see the wound.

If the shock patient is able to swallow, give him the solution recommended by the Red Cross. This solution, made from one teaspoon of salt, with one half teaspoon of soda, mixed in a quart of water, should be given only to victims who are still conscious.

Often, shock is accompanied, or preceded by, suffocation. Symptoms of suffocation are easily recognized. Choking, coughing, difficulty in breathing, etc., are danger signs. The best way to care for suffocation victim is to apply Artificial Respiration. Never try to give this treatment unless you have been trained in doing so.

The Red Cross Training Courses, available in any American community, will give a full course in treatment in shock and suffocation, as well as all other phases of First-Aid.

Plan Child-Parent Series at Parcels

Miss Wilma Wickstrom, who will conduct the course, is a counselor with the Detroit public schools and is now teaching Mental Hygiene for the University of Michigan and Wayne University Extension courses. Miss Wickstrom has her Masters Degree in social work from the University of Michigan.

In a series of eight lectures of one hour followed by a half-hour question period, Miss Wickstrom hopes to give some basic understanding of the causes of behavior and to help the parents know what to expect from the normal child. It is to be a mutual workshop of emotional problems so as to try to prevent emotional maladjustment in the future.

Bandit Asks Big Favor

Peggy Humpert, 17, of 1128 Maryland avenue, is beginning to doubt the old adage "The Customer is Always Right," after her experience last Monday night with an unidentified customer.

The customer, a man about 26 years old, entered Wesson's Drug Store on Charlevoix avenue, where Peggy is employed, and after selecting a magazine ordered a Coke from the fountain. When Peggy returned his change, the customer asked if she would do him a favor. Anxious to be of service, she naturally agreed, whereupon the customer requested all the money in the register.

When Peggy asked if he was fooling, he displayed the gun he had hidden beneath the magazine.

After taking approximately $75 from the register, the bandit escaped through the Charlevoix entrance.

Mr. Wesson, owner of the store, was busy on the phone and was unaware of the holdup.

Pointe Grads Can Enter Navy's College Program

The Navy announced recently that the sixth nation-wide competitive examination for its College Training Program has been scheduled for December 8, 1951, and will be open to high school seniors or graduates within the age requirements. Successful candidates will be given a four-year college education at government expense and will be commissioned as officers of the Navy or Marine Corps upon graduation.

The program is open to male citizens of the United States between the ages of 17 and 21, and quotas have been assigned to each state and territory on the basis of its high school population. Those who are successful in passing the aptitude test will be interviewed and given physical examinations; then, if they are found in all respects qualified, their names will be submitted to state and territorial Selection Committees composed of prominent citizens and naval officers. The Navy expects to enter about 2,000 students into the program commencing with the fall term of college, 1952.

The students selected by these competitive examinations will be assigned to the 52 Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps units which are located in various universities and colleges in the United States. If accepted by the college, they will be appointed Midshipmen, U.S.N.R., and will have their tuition, books, and normal fees paid for by the Government. In addition they will receive pay at the rate of $50.00 a month for the four-year period. Upon graduation they may be commissioned as officers in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps and required to serve on active duty for two years. At the end of this time they may apply for retention in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps, or transfer to the Reserve and, depending upon the needs of the Service, return to civilian life.

Applications are available at high schools, colleges, and Navy Recruiting Stations.

"Why bother to wash when I'll just get dirty again?" is a usual parental problem with an elementary school son. Parents often take such actions too seriously and feel that severe discipline must be taken to overcome the undesirable trait. According to child experts of Childcraft books, such "problem behavior" is normal behavior for this age and is soon outgrown.

Library Spotlight

By JEAN TAYLOR
of the Grosse Pointe Public Library Staff

Breathes there a lad with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said,
I want a pet, a hamster will do—
Or perhaps some white mice and a rabbit or two.

The rabbit craze catches up with most households at one time or another. Junior busily constructs a hutch in the yard in which to house his pet and spends hours playing with him out-of-doors. Such is the life of the average pet rabbit.

At the home of Mrs. H. Sanborn Brown, 83 Meadow Lane, there lives a lucky rabbit, who has become a respected member of the Brown household. It was last Christmas Eve when Mr. Brown brought home this three-month-old furry creature, all white with black eyes and ears and one white whisker.

Was he to live the life of an ordinary rabbit, consigned to his own hutch in yard or cellar? Certainly not. He was given the full run of the house and being a particularly well brought up youngster he did not abuse his privileges. Obviously there was only one name for him... Harvey, of course.

Seven-year-old Catherine is devoted to Harvey but her mother and father and older brother Ned are equally enthusiastic about him. His comical antics provide unlimited entertainment. He has his quiet moments too when he snuggles up in his mistress's lap while she reads.

Just before the dinner going rings and the dishes begin to rattle Harvey makes a flying leap for his box in the kitchen and waits patiently, his little nose twitching excitedly in anticipation of good things to eat.

We are sure there are many boys and girls in Grosse Pointe who have unusual pets. Won't you write us about them?

Perhaps you would like some help in selecting a pet and you wish to know how to train and care for him. You will find many interesting books on this subject at your library.

ALL ABOUT PETS by Margery Bianco gives information about pets in general: Mice, rats, dogs, cats, rabbits, guinea pigs, birds, the aquarium, land-and-water pets. This book is an old standby and will be enjoyed by any boy or girl fond of animals.

Another general book is A PET BOOK FOR BOYS AND GIRLS by Alfred Morgan. "Directions for the care and training of pets, enlivened by character sketches of animals the author has known. Diagrams show the correct way to build a home for each animal."

Herbert S. Zim has written several excellent books for the young pet fancier, all easy to read for ages eight to twelve. GOLD-FISH, RABBITS, HOMING PIGEONS, and his last book GOLDEN HAMSTERS, which is now on order and will be available soon at the library.

ANIMAL INN by Virginia Moe tells of a trailside museum near Chicago which is run almost entirely by children. Pets of every size and description find their way there. This museum never buys or collects its live exhibits. They are all brought to it or left on the doorstep in boxes after the museum closes or early in the morning before it opens. The stories here told are all true ones about some of the trailside's residents. There is a practical section on how to care for baby birds found out of their nests and other suggestions for the care of animals.

It's politics and football time again, with football having the edge in news play throughout Michigan. Politics we always have. Football only in the fall.

Currently pre-campaign campaigns are in progress. Democrats are calling Republicans do-nothings. Republicans admit Democrats have done things, but cry "we don't like it."

Policy committees have been active. G.O.P. again is aiming at a unified policy which will preclude any split in voter ranks. Democrats are banking, apparently, on labor and recent welfare legislation to supply the impetus for Gov. Williams' campaign.

Toughest row to hoe is that of Sen. Blair Moody. In office only a few months he faces a rough and tough election. He's been in Michigan so much lately he and Williams are referred to as the "Toni twins."

One columnist takes exception at the constant political jockeying. He says, "An officer is inaugurated at noon, re-arranges the office furniture, appoints a deputy and secretary and that night is campaigning for reelection at a cold roast beef and greasy gravy dinner. The poor voter just doesn't get a rest."

President Truman has asked Michigan Democrats to keep him posted on developments in the senatorial race for Moody's newly-acquired seat. G.O.P. leaders nationally are keeping in contact with state leaders to see if any progress is being made toward recapturing the seat held for more than three decades by Republicans.

Edward W. Frey, state's new election director, hopes to use television to educate city dwellers on the proper marking of ballots and perhaps avert "another chaotic election such as we had last year." Election workers also will attend instruction schools. Catch: A lot of voters don't have TV sets.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

During the last week of August the writers were the holders of two Garden Club scholarships in conservation at the Conservation Training School on Higgins Lake in Roscommon County, Michigan. They would like to thank publicly the two Garden Clubs of the Pointe area which made such a valuable experience possible. One of the scholarships was furnished by the Grosse Pointe Farm and Garden Club of which Mrs. Meredith Randall of 16,908 St. Paul is the president. The other was granted by the Grosse Pointe Garden Club of which Mrs. Sherwood Reckie of 69 Renaud is the president.

The wise use of the natural resources of our great state and nation is one of the critical issues of our time. It is a problem concerning which there is a great need for a wide dissemination of knowledge. In order that the oncoming generations of American citizens may have some of the rich heritage in the form of natural resources, which is their just due, the youngsters in our schools as well as the adults, need to be appropriately informed. What is more desirable than that our Garden Clubs should grant scholarships to members of the education profession. By the very nature of their work Garden Clubs are ever seeking beauty in the outdoors. They need to be complimented highly for their desires to see some of these beauties forever preserved.

Scholarships for training in conservation have been granted by the Garden Clubs for a number of years. Over 200 Michigan teachers have already been recipients. To date a number of the staff members of the Grosse Pointe Schools have gone to the Conservation Training School; four having gone in the summer just past. The Training School at Higgins Lake is operated by the Michigan Department of Conservation and the course consists of a week of intensive field work and study concerning our natural resources.

With an appreciation for the experiences gained goes a sincere wish that our Grosse Pointe Garden Clubs can continue the grants and a hope that the full quota of Grosse Pointe teachers will take advantage of the fine opportunities offered.

(Signed) Clarence J. Messner, Principal, Richard School, Grosse Pointe Public Schools; Hazel W. Messner, Home Visiting Teacher, Grosse Pointe Public Schools.

Controlled Robert F. Steadman has asked the civil service commission if it is contemplating a pay raise to state employees. Last year the CSC upset Steadman's budget plans by granting sweeping raises after he had prepared the budget. The commission has a "moral responsibility" to cooperate, he says.

General MacArthur may address the Michigan legislature. In reply to an invitation MacArthur said "it would be a great honor indeed... but the time of the regular session is so distant that it would be impossible to make any definite commitment."

Nothing can stop a public relations man. J. R. Ferren, Washington, D. C., walked right through a plate glass window next to the main entrance of the Lansing State Journal building. Ferren, in charge of public relations for the Seventh Day Adventist camp at Grand Ledge, delivered his releases, then walked out—the door—to go to the hospital to have five stitches taken in a cut wrist.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
 When one understands his real spiritual selfhood, much discord will be healed. This is brought out in the lesson-Sermon entitled, "Ready to be read in Christian Science churches on Sunday, September 30."

 Among the Bible citations is this passage, (Matt. 5:9): "Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God."
 Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "Let unselfishness, goodness, mercy, justice, health, holiness—be the kingdom of heaven—reign within us, and sin, disease, and death will diminish until they finally disappear." (P. 248).

Y-Teens Will Aid Koreans

By Jane Rowe
GPHS Journalism Student
 Four months in a foreign country doesn't give a person much time to adopt the ways of the people, but Miss Bong Wha Kim, a Korean YWCA worker has done a surprising job since May 28.

Miss Kim spoke at the first meeting of the Grosse Pointe High Schools Y-Teen Club. Laurie Smith, 12B, Nancy Kaiser, 12B, Janet Fieldew, 11A, Shirley Stoup, 12B, and Edna Edens, 12B, were Y-Teen delegates from Grosse Pointe to Cavell Leadership Camp, where Miss Kim counseled. They wanted to share with other members some of Miss Kim's experiences.

On May 27, Bong Wha Kim left Seoul and flew to New York via Alaska. She had just six days to get acquainted with the world's largest city. She had often seen pictures of American cities; however, this sudden change, from the small farming towns of Korea to the city of skyscrapers was extreme.

For the rest of the summer Miss Kim spent most of her time counseling in New York and New Jersey YWCA camps. The girls were very fond of her and helping her catch on to American ways.

From there Miss Kim came to Detroit to go to Cavell Leadership Camp. Miss Kim had a scholarship to come to college in America a year ago last June. But on June 25, the North Korean Communists started the invasion of South Korea that proved to leave no place safe from their so-called freedom movement, not even the Seoul YWCA.

NEWS IN SIGHT

Optometrists are making great strides in a phase of vision that has in the past been neglected. Last week we were invited to attend the Occupational Vision Seminar in Chicago. The idea of this meeting was to bring eye doctors from all over the country and discuss ways and means of improving vision of all workers and supplying protective lenses. Not only safety goggles but lenses that correct the visual defect the employee may have.

Many of the factories, employing thousands of workers, have a "vision program" but what we were interested in most was to find the ways and means of establishing this type of a program in the hundreds of small factories in Detroit.

In our fast type of living and working we too often forget about "oiling" our own machine until it is ready to fall apart. It astounds me, how little interest "management" takes in an employee's vision. Yet, recent records show that better vision means happier workers and where morale is high so is production.

It is true that installing an "occupational vision program" in a factory was a very expensive undertaking, especially in the smaller plants. We are happy to say, this is not true today. Looking over our own records as vision consultants to industry, we find the original outlay of money is insignificant, in comparison with the end results. Occupational goggles or lenses should not be worn off the job as they often are. If made properly, the lenses have a specific working range, that may not be compatible with off-the-job seeing.

Jungle Boy, Al Warshawski in Chesterfield Main Mat Go

Bad men, good men, they're all mixed up in a thrill-packed three and one-half hour wrestling show beginning at 8:30 p.m. Friday night at Chesterfield Arena, Gratiot near 10-Mile road.

Jungle Boy, a vicious character of the first water, tangles with Al Warshawski in one of the hour-long feature events, two out of three falls. The fuzzy-haired Capetown, South Africa wild man, from his appearances on TV figures to give Warshawski a thorough going over in his first appearance at Chesterfield.

Club to Meet Next Tuesday

Grosse Pointe Camera Club will devote its Tuesday evening meeting to beginners and their problems.

L. A. Longshore, president of the Club, has arranged for a Delinescope showing of the beginning pictures in enlargement form so that the members can see what advantages and possibilities each picture has when enlarged. Dr. C. J. Marinus has been selected as the speaker of the evening to comment on each photograph with his suggestions of how to make a successful enlargement of the submitted print.

Each member will be allowed to have not over 4 contact prints of sizes not exceeding four by five, shown at the demonstration. Wayne Donaldson will be the co-speaker of the evening.

The meeting will be held Tuesday evening October 2 in the neighborhood Club and the inter-ester public has been invited to attend.

Meeky Van Zanen Is Married In Evening Rites

Before an altar banked with white chrysanthemums and gladioli, in Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, Meeky Marie Van Zanen exchanged marriage vows with James Donaldson Connolly last Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Reyer Van Zanen of Lancaster road are Meeky's parents and James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Connolly of Hazel Park.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for the candlelight ceremony a simply fashioned gown of candlelight satin, designed with a full skirt falling into a court train. The nylon illusion neckline was framed in Chantilly lace, and the long sleeves ended in deep cuffs of matching lace. Her fingertip veil fell from a small cap of satin, and she carried a white orchid surrounded by stephanotis.

Virginia Felice Thorpe was maid of honor for the bride, wearing lavender embroidered taffeta with a small matching cap and carrying pink baby mums. Bridesmaids Helen Blath, Sue Crikshank, and Lois Moeller were similarly gowned in sea foam green and carried yellow mums.

William Fisher was bestman, and ushers were Herman Klingelhoff, Thomas Connolly, brothers of the groom, and Malcolm Dickie.

Mrs. Van Zanen was gowned in deep purple crepe and the mother of the groom in Mediterranean blue crepe. Both wore white orchid corsages.

The newlyweds left for a honeymoon trip to Virginia Beach, after which they will reside in their new home on Brys Drive.

Ballet Comes to Detroit on 15th Tour

The most celebrated of all ballet companies, the "one and only" Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, will arrive in Detroit on October 11 for a four-day engagement. Its stars, Alexandra Danilova, greatest of classic dancers, Frederic Franklin and Leon Daniellian will dominate the opening program. Also to appear are Nina Novak, Gertrude Tyne, Yvonne Chouteau, Oleg Tupine, Roman Jasinsky, and Robert Lindgren. The engagement will take place at Masonic Auditorium.

Now on its fifteenth annual tour, the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo presents a personnel vastly different from that of its first cross-country visit. Then, because of the newness of the ballet as a form of popular entertainment, the dancers were largely recruited from European groups. Today's Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo company is more than ninety per cent American born.

Most of the enduring classic items are included in the company's repertory of 23 ballets. There is one new one designed for the express services of Danilova, Franklin and Daniellian. It is called "Prima Ballerina," an amusing story of the ballet world with choreography by Tatiana Chamie. "Romeo and Juliet," "Prince Igor" and "Les Elfes" have been restored to programs.

The best of the choreographers are represented in this year's repertory. They include Balanchine, Massine, Potipka, Nijinska, Fokine, Lichine, Cobos, Dolin and Danilova.

Mr. Franklin continues as maitre de ballet and Michel Katcharoff as regisseur.

There's a gentlemen's ski shirt that's simply a wonder, made with a knitted yoke and wrist bands with a turtle neck. (Special orders are now being taken for all these items.)

There are snocked dresses for little girls, beautifully finished and in wonderful colors. Dolls, doll houses, and all sorts of toys, plus imported Christmas tree ornaments remind the reader that it's high time to think of Christmas shopping at the fair.

Make Applesauce of Early Apples

"Early apples are excellent for eating but do not store too well," says Roberta Hershey, Michigan State College extension foods and nutrition specialist.

She suggests a practical way to keep them for winter—can them. Since they are likely to cook to pieces, most homemakers prefer to can them as sauce.

This canned apple sauce is fine in pies, puddings or served as a relish with chops and roasts, Miss Hershey points out. Making apple sauce is easy.

You can make it sweetened or unsweetened. After paring and coring apples, cut them in pieces. Heat through, stirring to keep it from sticking to the pan.

Pack hot to one-fourth inch of the top. Adjust lids and process in boiling-water bath, 10 minutes for either pint or quart jars. Complete seals if closures are not of self-sealing type, as soon as you can remove jars from the canner, Miss Hershey advises.

STORYBOOK GARDEN IS ANIMAL HAVEN

GOOD SAMARITAN of the animal world in San Diego, Cal., is Miss Rosalie Budington, who spends her spare time rescuing stray animals and keeping them in her "Storybook Garden" till she can find homes for them. She has befriended dogs, pigeons, cats, toads, rabbits, blackbirds, turtles, even a donkey. The only help she gets is from friends who drop pennies in a wishing well, which partly pays expenses of her hobby. Each stray she brings home is, given a separate house or nest of its own until someone is found to give it a permanent home. Miss Budington doesn't sell menagerie inmates—she gives them away.
