

Grosse Exaggerations?

By A. PRYOR
A friend of ours, visiting in England last Fall, told us she was fascinated by the formality of dining, in the smallest houses. On several occasions, when she and her husband were invited to someone's house for dinner, the butler would announce them in the dulcet tones of a side-show Barker, in spite of the fact that they were the only guests and that the house was only slightly larger than your front hall.

We were amused and delighted with the recently publicized hen who layed an egg, bearing the inscription, "War Is Ahead" in distinct raised letters. We sincerely hope that the War Department has made a note of this and will act accordingly. Mrs. Whoeversheis, who owns the hen, swears that the hen was not influenced by any propaganda overheard during the mating season. It's just a phenomenon, and as far as we're concerned, the hen's guess is as good as ours.

One of our charming California "visitors over the week end," said that a pretty girl coming to Grosse Pointe was like a coal going to Newcastle. We are inclined to agree with her. Among many things, such as Fords, Joe Louis, strikes and Fr. Coughlin, Detroit is noted for its attractive women.

This week's silhouette: She is a member of one of Detroit's first families. Socially, she has a flair for knowing what to do and when to do it. With her husband and children, she lives at the Pointe in a newly built Georgian house. In between many committee meetings, she finds time to play golf and tennis and shares with her husband an absorbing interest in farming. She is of average height, dresses conservatively and doesn't 'go in' for fads. Wears a size three shoes, and is always beautifully 'shod'. Her friends often ask her opinion on interior decorating and flower arranging, because she excels in both. You have the feeling that her life is orderly and sprinkled with a maximum amount of common sense. She is the type of person whose advice you would seek on any subject from a 'D' on Junior's report card to a blight in your tulip bed. Her favorite form of entertaining friends is to have small dinner parties in her home. In spite of the demands of five young children, she manages to invest herself in many worthwhile things. Recently, she has added to her list, a course in charcoal drawing, and has already shown promise of becoming an outstanding pupil. She is only mildly interested in politics and believes the drawing room is not the place to discuss them. She adores the sophisticated craziness of Ogden Nash's prose, and enjoys reading biographies. Her friends call her "Julie." Her name—Mrs. J. Stewart Hudson.

We don't know how you feel about the origin of the Tryon and Perisphere idea, but a lot of people are wondering "how come." After thumb—

Young Grosse Pointers Rescue Two From Lake St. Clair Tuesday

Prompt action on the part of five young Grosse Pointers resulted in Lake St. Clair being cleared from two victims Tuesday evening when Miss Gloria Glazer and Burton Paul were rescued by Fred M. Zeder Jr., and companions after the 16-foot sailboat owned by Paul overturned in the strong north breeze and left the occupants clinging to the craft in the cold waters of the lake.

Horticulture Loses in R. J. DeSchryver Death

Horticulture in Michigan received a severe blow in the sudden death of Robert J. DeSchryver, superintendent of the E. D. Speck Estate, 585 Lake Shore road, Grosse Pointe Shores.

On Thursday morning last, May 18, while carrying on his usual duties, Mr. DeSchryver was overcome with a heart attack from which he immediately succumbed.

Mr. DeSchryver was born at Ghent, Belgium, February 20, 1882; received his early training in that country, and in England, later coming to the eastern section of the United States, where he held some important gardening positions. In the fall of 1921 he came to the Speck Estate.

Mr. DeSchryver was a life member of the National Association of Gardeners; a former treasurer and past chairman, and up to the time of his death, a branch director of that organization in Detroit. He was also a member of the Michigan Horticultural Society.

Both at the local flower shows in Grosse Pointe and the larger spring show in Detroit, Mr. DeSchryver was an outstanding exhibitor; his entries were always material of the highest cultural perfection. In addition to this, his services as a judge at other Michigan flower shows was much in demand.

Funeral services were held at St. Paul's Church, Grosse Pointe Farms, on Monday morning, with interment at Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

Among the many floral tributes sent was a magnificent wreath from fellow members of the Detroit Branch, National Association of Gardeners, and choice sprays from the Grosse Pointe and Eastern Michigan Horticultural Society, and the Bloomfield Hills and District Horticultural Society.

Surviving are his widow, Mary C. DeSchryver, a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Burke of Flint, and a grand-daughter Sharon Ann Burke; in Ghent, Belgium, his mother, Mrs. Mathilda DeSchryver, and a brother, Gilbert.

Miss Clifford Will Retire

Miss Rosalie Clifford who has long been a teacher in the Grosse Pointe public schools, will retire at the close of this term.

Miss Clifford was born in Wadsworth, Ohio, where she graduated from high school. She attended Oberlin College for two years, the Nation College of Education in Chicago for three years, and the Michigan State Normal College for two years.

She has taught for thirty-three years. Her experience includes three years at Barbartown, Ohio; ten years at East Liverpool, Ohio; two years in the high school at Chelsea, Michigan, and 18 years in Grosse Pointe. Miss Clifford taught at the Vernier School for 10 years, at the Kerby School for two years, and six years in the Cadieux district. Her work has been done mostly in the kindergarten and first grade. The past three years she has been doing coaching work with most excellent results at the Maire school.

To honor the closing of many successful years of teaching, the Grosse Pointe Teachers' Club will sponsor a dinner for Miss Clifford at the high school cafeteria Thursday, June 1, at 6:30 p. m. The public is invited to attend. Anyone who is interested in attending may make reservations through the school in his district.

Tom's Market Offers Quality Merchandise

Tom's Quality Market, on Kercheval at Wayburn, announces that this week he has some very special prices on items that are sure to please everyone in the family.

Tom's seven complete quality markets have a buying power that is unsurpassed by any similar group catering to the thrifty housewife, who, at the same time, wants to be sure that all of the foodstuffs she buys is of the very highest quality. For this reason you can be assured that whatever you buy at Tom's is sure to be the best value that money can obtain.

Zeder was notified of the accident by Charles Locke, in charge of the City of Grosse Pointe pier and he put out with his speedy craft, reaching the victims in a few moments. They were found to be none the worse for their adventure beyond a few chills and shock from exposure.

With the patrol facilities limited to a vessel stationed at the foot of Vernier road and in its absence, the young sailors were fortunate in being picked up as quickly as they were. There have already been four or five other mishaps on the Lake so far this season and once again, The Review, while congratulating rescued and rescuers for the escape, points out the need of a suitable craft at each of the municipal piers available at all times to cope with the local emergencies which arise.

Mrs. E. P. Reeves to Be Buried Friday

Mrs. E. P. Reeves, wife of the steward of Alger Club, 17145 St. Paul avenue, passed away at 12:35 Wednesday morning. Mrs. Reeves had been sick in St. Mary's Hospital for about four months. The funeral will be held at 10 a. m. Friday from St. Paul's Church. The body of Mrs. Reeves is lying in state at the home of Mr. Reeves' brother, 1176 Drexel, where her many friends may pay their last respect to her.

The Seeing Eye

Teaching dogs to lead the blind, is not a new idea, but Morris Frank's introduction into this country, of the organization which he named the Seeing-Eye, IS a new idea. As Mr. Frank says himself, it is not a question of the nice doggy-woggy leading the poor blind man on the end of a string; it is a difficult job of patient training and educating both dog and human. With the use of these dogs, not only are the blind able to live normal lives, carry on with their work and retain their self respect, but communities are relieved of the great responsibility of continual support of these unfortunate people.

Some Facts About the Organization

Both male and female dogs are used, mostly German shepherds. Approximately 450 dogs are now being used in this country, and the maximum amount paid by the blind person is one hundred and fifty dollars. A blind person may secure a dog by application and subsequent investigation; by the school. It takes about three months to train a dog, plus a month's work for adaptation with the blind master. The average working life of a dog is eight years.

The master directs his dog with commands of "left," "right," and "forward." In a strange city, he would do just as you would do—ask the way. The dogs are trained to disregard any other dogs and pay no attention to cats. Permission can usually be obtained for these dogs to enter public places and the field of work for a blind person with his dog, is unlimited. There are at present several blind graduates working as reporters, teachers, lawyers, insurance agents, musicians, piano tuners, typists, news-stands operators, etc.

The Seeing-Eye receives no state or federal aid, but is supported by annual memberships and by large gifts from individual sources.

It would be impossible to state briefly, the manner in which these dogs are trained, since it takes four years to train a dog instructor in this technique.

THE SOLDIER DEAD

By EDITH L. HILDERBRAND

We go today to see the resting place
Of those who've gone away.
We know that they, in tombs and graves of earth,
Have never made their stay.

We lay a flower upon earth's last abode,
And lip to God a prayer.
We know that He the passing soul doth save;
We leave all in His care.

Oh, Father, wilt Thou bless the soldier dead,
Who gave their all for man!
Wilt Thou their love and sacrifice reward
According to Thy Plan!

Thou didst not will that men should die in strife,
It was not Thy decree.
But war has often claimed the flower of earth.
Men failed Thy Will to see.

There is no feud, arising in the mind,
That will not yield to love.
Lord Jesus, show the world the way to peace,—
The Peace Thou hast above.

Give man an understanding, willing heart;
Give him an open mind.
Teach him to ever help his fellowman;
Oh, teach him to be kind!

Thou hast the sword of Truth and Righteousness,—
The armor of pure Love.
Oh, may Thy soldiers fight to clear the way
To blessings from above.

Lord, open wide Thy holy arms Divine;
Embrace Thy children all.
May they escape the tragedy of war.
By answering Thy call.

Lord, fill us with Thy Holy Spirit now;
God, grant us Thy release.
We would proclaim to all the world of man
Thine everlasting Peace.

We would some day, in realms of Light and Love,
Take each one by the hand.
Oh, we would look them in the eyes and know
They heard Thy blest command!

Lord Jesus, Thou didst die upon the Cross
To pay our debt of sin.
Yea, Thou didst pave the way to Heaven's Gate,
That we might enter in.

Abide in us. True soldiers of the Cross,
Lord, let us ever be.
We know if we Thy Holy Will obey
We shall Thy glory see. Amen.

The program will be in two parts, the first of which will feature the orchestra under the baton of Mr. Thor Johnson playing Weber's overture to Oberon; Wagner's Good Friday music from Parsifal and Franz Liszt's symphonic poem, Les Preludes.

The orchestra will act as accompaniment to the chorus and to the quintet of soloists under the direction of William J. Watkins. The High School Mothers' Club, under the able leadership of Mrs. Catherine Waddell is handling the complete ticket sale for the Saturday night concert while the Friday night sale is being handled by the high school students.

Of unusual interest is the fact that the Saturday concert will be broadcast by station WWJ direct from the high school auditorium from 9:00 to 9:30 P. M. The programs will start at 8:00 P. M. and the audience is urged to arrive in sufficient time to permit this hour of starting. Adult tickets are fifty cents, student tickets, thirty-five cents and no seats will be reserved.

Checker Cab Company Announces New Rates

Checker Cab Company has announced the inauguration of a complete new rate structure, with regular cab rates reduced 25 per cent after the first mile.

Mechanically, the rates will read: 25 cents for the first two-thirds of a mile, and five cents each additional one-third of a mile. The old rate was 15 cents first quarter, and five cents each additional quarter of a mile. Cab users riding for exactly one mile will pay the same total amount as previously, but will save 25 per cent of the fare on any run above one mile.

The company has supplied each driver with pamphlets explaining clearly to each patron the nature of the rate revision.

The change in the rates does not affect the number of passengers who ride for one fare. The traditional Checker slogan, "Four can ride for the price of one" is still in effect.

In conjunction with the current change in rates, Checker Cab Company is launching a "3 C's" campaign among its drivers . . . Comfort, Courtesy, Cleanliness of driver and cab will be stressed now more than ever before. Special awards will be given to drivers who, in the opinion of the Checker directors, best live up to the standards of Checker service.

Udo F. Andres, president of Checker Cab Company, stated, "The rate reduction and the advertising campaign, to be launched simultaneously, have a two-fold purpose: to convert occasional cab riders into consistent users, and to create, especially among the younger generation, a vast new army of cab users, who, we believe, will welcome the new rate reduction as an opportunity to buy Checker's safe, convenient, private chauffeur service at considerably lower rates."

Grosse Exaggerations?

ing through our Webster and dog-eared our Encyclopedia, we came to the following conclusion: "peri," prefix meaning 'near,' 'around.' We all know what a sphere is, so we can decide on something like "around the globe." Pylon means a monumental entrance and gateway, soooooo, since the Try-lon is three sided,—well, figure it out for yourselves! If you aren't happy about this idea, you can always write to Grover Whelan, and find out what HE has to offer.

Who, Oh, WHO is the highly eligible bachelor, residing in Grosse Pointe, who, on dropping his wallet the other day, disclosed a pack of those little lipstick tissues???? Tsk, tsk, tsk.

Unsolved mystery of the month: A small gray alley cat, looking sleek and well fed, enters our humdrum life about once a week. He seeks us out, in the back yard, (usually around tea time), and condescends to join us in a saucer of milk. After that, he rolls on the grass at our feet and performs a series of feline acrobatics to show us how happy he is, then takes himself off until the following week at the same time, just like radio announcers. It's a very pleasant diversion in the hurly-burly of these mad May days.

Believing in signs, it was a great blow to us to read that we are about to lose that nice convenient parking lot next to the Punch and Judy Theater. But time marches on and if G. P. feels the need of five more shops, who are we to stand in the way of progress? And speaking of progress, letters have been pouring in, giving us your suggestions and comments and it won't be long now before we blossom into a R-E-A-L paper.

We'd give a lot to be present on the day the King and Queen visit the New York Fair. If their Highnesses are met with the autograph-seeking and button tearing tactics that young America greets its movie stars with,—all we can say is God save the King.

Jockeys to Use Whips When Needed at Race Track This Season

Jockeys who ride at the Detroit race track this season will use their whips when it appears they are needed to hustle a lagging mount which has a chance to get in the money, or else face suspension.

A ruling proposed by Presiding Steward S. Young and issued by Commissioner Joseph Frost of Saginaw provides that any jockey who is ordered by the trainer or owner not to use his whip on a horse must turn in his whip to the paddock judge before the race and a note made on the matter. Whips will not be allowed as equipment on such horses thereafter until satisfactory explanation is made the officials.

Young made the ruling because he said owners who do not wish their horses punished sometimes tell their jockeys not to use a whip. It may be useless to use a whip in some cases but the head steward declared that race-goers found it hard to understand why jockeys sometimes simply carried their whips in tight finishes instead of trying to use on their mounts.

First Methodist Church Scene of Mitchell Rites

A lovely wedding was solemnized Saturday evening, April 1, in the First Methodist Church, when Pearl Violet Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mitchell of Geneva avenue, became the bride of Clarence Treff, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Treff of Detroit. Rev. George W. Olmstead performed the ceremony at 8 o'clock before an altar banked with palms and lighted by tapers in cathedral candelabra.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white satin made on princess lines. The full skirt extended into a long train and the neckline and cuffs were trimmed with seed pearls. Her lace and tulle veil was caught to a cap of seed pearls and she carried calla lilies.

The bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Howard Mitchell, was her only attendant, wearing pink taffeta with a matching hat and a bouquet of snapdragons and iris.

For his best man, the groom had his brother-in-law, Dewey Peterson, and the ushers were Howard Mitchell, Ernest Treff, brother of the groom, Earl Fairbrother, Andrew Fiske and Toult Atkin. Ernest Treff, Jr., attired in a white satin suit, was ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Mitchell wore petunia moire with a matching hat, and the groom's mother, Mrs. Treff, was gowned in blue lace. Each had a corsage of roses and sweet peas.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 350 guests was held in the church parlors, after which Mr. and Mrs. Treff left for a trip through the south. On their return they will live in Detroit.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Tinstman of New Kensington, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Lawson of Sault Ste. Marie; Mr. and Mrs. Graham of Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Kramick, and Mr. and Mrs. Martin of Toledo; Mr. and Mrs. Tugate and Mr. and Mrs. Slawson of Jackson.

Contract Bridge

By P. G. MUNRO
(Originator of The Autobidder)
"To duck or not to duck!" That is the question which confronted East in the play of the following hand.
The hand:

North		South
S-10 5 2	H-A Q 10 6	D-10 7	C-A K 5 3
West		East
S-J 7 4	H-4	S-A Q 3	H-K 9 7 2
D-J 9 5 2	D-J 9 5 2	D-Q 6 3	C-8 7 2
C-Q J 10 9 4	C-Q J 10 9 4	C-8 7 2

The bidding:
North East South West
1 heart Pass 3 hearts Pass
4 hearts Pass Pass Pass
Mrs. L. C. K., who has submitted the following play of the hand, says:

"My partner (West) maintains that a four-heart contract should have been defeated since East and West held 3-plus honor-tricks and East's hand contained four trumps headed by the King. But West has not been able to tell just how to perform that miracle. Your comments on the bidding and play of the hand would be appreciated."

"East opened with the 8 of clubs which North won with the Ace and returned the diamond 7 to the King in dummy. Dummy's 3 of trumps was played and the 10 finessed which East allowed to ride. North re-entered dummy with the Ace of diamonds and returned the 5 of trumps winning the trick with the Ace. North now led the deuce of spades towards dummy's King hoping that East held the Ace. East ducked and dummy won with the King. The diamond 4 was played from the dummy and ruffed by North with the 6 of trumps. North cashed the King of clubs on which dummy discarded a spade. The club 3 was ruffed with dummy's 8 of trumps and dummy's diamond 8 was ruffed with North's Queen of trumps which East over-ruffed with the King. East then cashed the Ace and Queen of spades, and dummy's Jack of trumps won the last trick to make the four-heart contract."

The bidding is correct. South's raise to 3-hearts (forcing to game) with 2½ honor-tricks, a singleton and four trumps headed by the Jack, is correct. North, being forced, has no other rebid than four hearts.
East selected the proper suit to lead, since a diamond lead would unguard the Queen; a heart lead from the Ace-Queen tenace would be bad; and there is no good reason for leading trumps. However, although the lead of the club 8 (top of a worthless three-card suit) could do no harm in this particular hand, the correct lead is the club 7 (the middle card which is high enough not to be interpreted as a fourth-best lead) followed by the 8 (a higher card) on the next play of the suit, to inform partner that the lead is not from a doubleton.
The play of the hand was perfect up to and including the fifth trick. (There was no necessity for East to win the 10 of trumps finesse with the King). But, when West showed out on the second round of trumps and North played the Ace of trumps followed by the deuce of spades towards dummy's King, East, instead of ducking, should have won that trick with the Ace of spades (knowing there were only two trumps in North's hand and two in dummy) and play the King and 9 of trumps, leaving North and South with only the Club King and spade King trumps, and thereby defeat the contract.

Lecture on Christian Science by Frank Bell, C. S. B.

Under the Auspices of Sixth Church of Christ, Scientist, in Second Church Edifice, 147 E. Grand Blvd., Friday Evening, May 19, 1939

A Lecture

Entitled Christian Science

by
FRANK BELL, C. S. B. of New York City

Member of the Board of Lecturers of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

Christian Science operates in human experience through the understanding and demonstration of divine Principle. The Christianly scientific remedy for sin and disease, want and woe, is found in transformation through the renewing of the mind (Romans 12:2).

Spiritual-mindedness is natural and normal. There need be no mystery about how to acquire it. As one would not expect to be mathematically minded without earnest attention to the theory and practice of numbers, nor to be legally minded except through learning the law, so spiritual-mindedness requires a devotion of thought to spiritual realities. The love of God with all the mind is a Scriptural requirement.

The great spiritual thinkers who speak to us through the Scriptures are of one accord in urging acquaintance with the divine nature as essential to mastery of evil. Jesus taught that to know God aright is the remedy for all ills, even to the realization of "life eternal," the perfection of being.

It was prophetically said of the Founder of Christianity that he should not judge "after the sight of his eyes," nor after "the hearing of his ears," physical sense would not govern his thinking. The Gospels make it clear that he was well aware that his sense of things was different from that of materially-minded persons about him. The immaculate conduct of the Master, pure spiritual-mindedness, enabled him to see the absolute rightness of God's perfect kingdom "in earth, as it is in heaven." He knew, therefore, that evil is not the reality it appears to be, but "liar, and the father of it," self-constituted falsity, as he said.

Many who spiritually apprehended the teachings of Christ Jesus found that he indeed had come "a light into the world." Their open minds were so illumined through his pure teachings that human ills became to them less real, less a part of themselves. Thus was Christian healing accomplished without annulling a law, without altering a fact. The lame walked, the blind saw, the deaf heard, to the poor all things needful were added.

Way-shower is a term for Jesus of Nazareth which indicates the nature of his mission. His words and works show that physical sense is not to be trusted to reveal either the true nature of human ills or the true way out; that spiritual sense is fully available and adequate to dispel the discordant illusions of material-mindedness. Jesus proved the correctness of the Scriptural assurance that God, infinite Spirit, gives man "dominion . . . over all the earth," divine mastery over materiality.

"The physical healing of Christian Science," writes Mary Baker Eddy on page xi of her book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," "results now, as in Jesus' time, from the operation of divine Principle, before which sin and disease lose their reality in human consciousness and disappear as naturally and as necessarily as darkness gives place to light and sin to reformation."

Since the time of Jesus the truth of being, in contradistinction to the human belief in evil, was not made clear until Mrs. Eddy set it forth in her writings. Her statements direct thought to increasingly vivid realization of the rightness which God has bestowed on His children. Her spiritual leadership is acknowledged by vast numbers of liberated thinkers.

LIFE SPIRITUAL, NOT MATERIAL

The common belief about a man's life is that he lives within a physical body, that his identity is located inside a material structure of flesh and bones. Now life got into the body, what keeps it there, how it is to get out, and where it is to go when it gets out, are subjects of much speculation and little assurance.

All human ills are associated with the sense of life in the flesh. Therein man is supposed to live a precarious life and to die an inevitable death; therein are his aches and pains, his fears and disappointments, his sinful habits, devastating appetites, illusive pleasures. The sorrows and sufferings from which mortals pray to be delivered all have to do directly or indirectly with the so-called corporeal, fleshly selfhood, including that which is called the mind within the body. Christian Science, concerned with the overcoming of human ills, that the inherent rightness of God's creation may appear, invites man to consider the reasonableness of the proposition that since discord is found only within the realm of physical sense, the way out of trouble lies through the taking out of a better sense. It is possible to do this in a perfectly natural way.

To hold to the belief that man lives inside of a material body one must well-nigh ignore the fact that actual life has not been found in the body. Each of the activities within the body can be truthfully described only as an effect of something else. If that something else were inside of the body it scarcely could have escaped detection by this time.

The situation is illumined by such statements as this from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, page 208: "You embrace your body" in your thought, and you should delineate upon it thoughts of health, not of sickness. A moment's consideration makes it plain that we do embrace our material body in our thoughts. Therefore both we and our thoughts must be in fact outside of that body. One could not well be inside of that which he embraces. We contemplate our so-called physical selves from without, not from within.

If man does not really live in the flesh, then clearly he ought not to go on believing that he does. Inspired thought beckons us out of materiality. In Genesis we are assured that true man is the image and likeness of the infinite Spirit. A psalm reminds us that we shall be satisfied when we awake in God's likeness, the likeness of Spirit. Isaiah urges, "Cease ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils; for wherein is he to be accounted of?" Jesus, commanding his followers to take no thought for the body, declares that real life, life eternal, is a state of mind, to know God aright. St. Paul, seeing that "they that are in the flesh cannot please God," advises Christians to cultivate a willingness "to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord." John, the Revelator, explains the possibility of beholding new heaven and new earth, not material but spiritual, through mental purification.

Christian Science teaches and proves that to lift one's sense of identity and reality up out of the flesh into infinite Spirit promotes health and harmony. Thus Christian Science restores that which was lost, Christian healing.

"Life was no mystery to Jesus. 'It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing,' said he. The sick are healed and sinners are reformed through learning to look outside of the flesh for that true spiritual animation which alone is capable of maintaining the universe and all that is therein.

To the Master evidently it was clear that health is primarily a state of thought and only secondarily or incidentally a condition of body or matter. To him the sick were those "whom Satan hath bound," the Satan whom he described as "liar, and the father of it," self-constituted. He or false sense, having "no truth" in it. Both the casting out of devils, sick, deluded beliefs, and the spiritual quickening of those who came to be healed were accomplished through the operation of the Mind that was in Christ Jesus, as St. Paul describes it. Those who were healed were those whose hearts were open to the regenerative influence of that mind or sense which perceived and reflected the absolute truth concerning God's creation.

EFFECTUAL CHRISTIAN PRAYER

At the beginning of the chapter on "Prayer" in her book, Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy quotes two familiar statements of Jesus: "What things soever ye desire when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them." "Your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask Him."

Can there be doubt that the Master sought to make it clear that prayer requires a correct attitude of mind on the part of the one who prays? To pray as Jesus taught, one must control one's thoughts, bringing them into accord with divine Spirit. This is the method in Christian Science.

Since what we need is known to the Father, divine Spirit, we can know what we truly need only through adjusting our sense of need to the divine will. Thus what things are rightly desired will be realized. Mere wishing cannot be substituted for prayer; and this must be understood, for the human heart might wish for things not truly desirable or needful, therefore not to be gained through prayer.

Christian Science wields no magic wand for the attainment of anyone's willful wants. It works through prayer for the achievement of ends worthy of prayer, such as health, purity, plenty, and peace.

The Master's method is not altogether unfamiliar to human beings. The mathematician attains results through adjusting thought and action to the rules of mathematics. "Who would stand before the blackboard, and pray the principle of mathematics to solve the problem?" asks Mrs. Eddy on page 3 of Science and Health; and she adds, "The rule is already established, and it is our task to work out the solution."

Likewise in music, art, law, agriculture, mechanics, there is no real achievement contrary to basic rightness. In teaching his students how to pray, Jesus indicated that they should restrain mere human wishing, should cultivate instead true desires, that God's will be done in earth as in heaven. Explaining the unerring effectiveness of his prayers, he said he kept himself at-one with divine Spirit, so that it was literally the Father doing the works in and through the son.

Surely it was natural, not miraculous, that sin, disease, lack, death, utterly unlike God, should lose the semblance of reality in the spiritual consciousness of the Saviour. The great healer taught his followers to pray as he did, that they too might be Christian healers.

Jesus declared his teachings would not pass away. They have not passed away, but are available today to all who are ready and willing to comply with the unchanged requirements. The results are now, as always, in perfectly exact accord with the degree of Christlikeness. Jesus made it plain that grapes are not gathered from thorns, nor figs from thistles, but good fruit is of good tree. Prayer that is effectual is the prayer of the righteous, the right thinking of the right thinker.

THE NATURE OF EVIL

"As named in Christian Science," writes Mrs. Eddy on page 103 of Science and Health, "animal magnetism or hypnotism is the specific term for error, or mortal mind. It is the false belief that mind is in matter, and is both evil and good; that evil is as real as good and more powerful."

been misdirected into a realm of illusion, more or less out of control. Things that seemed good in the dream are seen to have been of no value, the bad things of no harm. Awakening puts an end to them all.

Is mortal existence anything like that? Are its conditions and events, otherwise unaccountable on any reasonable basis, to be explained after all as "possibly more over on the dream side than we had suspected? Many thinkers, including writers of books in the Bible, have been strongly of this opinion.

Mrs. Eddy did not offer Christian Science to the public until she had proved through many healings the correctness of her discovery that the reality of being includes no evil. Today the Science of Christianity is widely practiced throughout the world. Countless thousands of men and women now know from personal experience and observation that sin, disease, and disaster are not the devastating realities they were once believed to be; that evil of all kinds yields to awakening spiritual-mindedness, as spiritual sense eliminates "animal magnetism or hypnotism . . . the false belief that mind is in matter," a shoddy counterfeit of intelligence.

THE OVERCOMING OF LACK

Christian Science heals poverty in the same manner that sickness and sin are healed, through the renewing of the mind, as St. Paul puts it. Inspired writers repeatedly have asserted that thought adjusted to the divine nature will bear fruit "after its kind." Jesus gave the unfailing rule for success when he said, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." This kingdom, the Master said, is "within you," and "at hand"; therefore the individual Christian has the right to feel that the essential completeness of reality is present, not absent, and only needs of be realized in order to be enjoyed.

A divinely intelligent and loving creator has not made a man to be impoverished any more than to be sick or sinful. Poverty, like disease and sin, involves a mistaken sense of God and His work. The evil quality of poverty is not that it makes men suffer but that it misrepresents God. The Christian aim in overcoming poverty, as in healing sickness and sin, is to the glory of God. Mere getting of money would not glorify God, but the demonstration of power over material things through spiritual understanding does "magnify the Lord." The writer of Genesis affirms that divine Spirit has given man dominion over earthly things. Jesus proved this to be true and said his followers should do likewise.

One who for many years had been distressingly limited to income or salary found himself trying vainly to use his early glimpses of Christian Science to enlarge the salary by some mysterious process. Finally he saw that what he needed to be enlarged first was his understanding of man as God's image and likeness. It was his narrow, pinched sense of self that was bringing forth "after its kind" in his personal experience. Cultivating a larger and more spiritual concept of God and man, as he learned to do in a perfectly natural way through the teachings of Christian Science, he soon found this clarified vision reflected in his affairs. Men and things began to manifest an unmistakable tendency to help rather than to hinder. Unexpected opportunities appeared and unsuspected capacities came to light. Human relationships became more fruitful of good, after the manner of true brotherhood.

Christian Science cannot be used for the mere acquisition of money or other material things, but it is successfully employed to the overcoming of that abnormal sense of lack which is the result of ignorance of spiritual substance and which in turn bears fruit in human fear and poverty.

Mastery of materiality is the secret of wealth and health. It is the mastery that comes to light in daily experience through the Christianly scientific cultivation of spiritual-mindedness.

INTELLIGENT CHOICE OF REMEDIES

The use of spiritual means in healing is consistent with the assurances that come to the student of Christian Science that realities are spiritual, not material.

From the standpoint of material-mindedness, and with merely physical ends in view, material remedies might be considered reasonable. Probably nobody contends, however, that man is wholly physical. Generally he is acknowledged to be both material and spiritual.

Some natural scientists admit, with reservations, that material things are not the detached realities they appear to be, but are objects in thought. Medical men frequently say mental states are involved in disease. So far, so good. But these cautious advances seem to get into a bit of a jam as they approach consideration of the thing called the brain. For if the asserted seat of thought is itself but a thing of thought, where is material sense to have its hat?

Nothing is to be gained by pressing these comments unduly. We rejoice to know that so-called physical science is yielding, step by step, to spiritual facts.

The human body being a mortally mental concept in consciousness, its conditions must be determined by the state of mind, particular or general, in which it is held. The same must be true of the material remedy. No organ or member of the physical body can decide for itself how or when it will act. No drug has intelligence.

Material remedies therefore are but roundabout substitutes for the right kind of thinking. Since man is not in matter anyway, a remedy directed only at a material accomplishment would not serve the ends of Christian healing.

If everything claimed for or expected of material medicine were possible the Christian still would be justified in choosing rather the medicine of the Great Physician, who said: "Take no thought . . . for your body." "The flesh profiteth nothing." "It is the spirit that quickeneth." "Thy faith hath made thee whole." "Go, and sin no more."

Our preference for spiritual remedies instead of material is therefore not fanatical. Material remedies do not reach the source of human woe, but minister at best merely to superficial effects. The ills of the flesh exist only in fleshly sense, which is mistaken sense. True intelligence is spiritual. Victims of sin, disease, and lack need to be "renewed in the spirit of [the] mind."

THE DISCOVERER AND FOUNDER

Mary Baker Eddy's discovery of Christian Science came at a time when science, theology, and medicine were heavy with self-satisfaction, and with masculinity. The human mind, perhaps especially the male variety, does not like to be aroused suddenly out of repose. The fact that in this instance the challenger was a woman did not add to the amenities of the occasion. In "the sixties" it was still very much a man's world.

Mrs. Eddy's manner of presenting her discovery probably did not lessen the disturbance. In the Preface to her textbook, she wrote, page x, "The author has not compromised conscience to suit the general drift of thought, but has bluntly and honestly given the text of Truth." Materialistic science, theology, and medicine were outraged. "They rose almost as one man" to drive out this daring intruder. Some less respectable elements, including literary mercenaries, joined the chase. The campaign to discredit Mrs. Eddy makes anything but a pretty story. It is an old and familiar story, however, to those acquainted with the human mind's reactions toward the best friends of mankind.

Mrs. Eddy's trust in the ultimate triumph of the truth was unshaken. In the midst of the unlovely turmoil, in which volumes were written, sermons were preached, and scandalous tongues whispered busily, she said with tranquil assurance, "Those who look for me in person, or elsewhere than in my writings, lose me instead of find me" (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, page 120).

In less time than even the most eager of her friends may have expected, the ugly volumes are accumulating well-deserved dust, the pulpit grows kind, medicine frankly seeks a mental way out of disease.

Misrepresentation and abuse, of course, could not stop something so practically provable as Christian Science. Mrs. Eddy knew this better than her foes, better than some of her friends. While the enemy was wasting time and effort against her personality she was perfecting the presentation of her discovery, revising her textbook into lawlessness, establishing her church with peculiar fitness to its task of safeguarding the purity of her revelation, that suffering mankind should never need to lack assurance of where to look for real Christian Science.

Those who still seek Mary Baker Eddy elsewhere than in her writings still lose her, as always. Those who seek her who she only can be found are increasingly aware of the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, in the reality of her remarkable selfhood.

RESISTING FALSE INFLUENCE

The activity of Christian Science is not of the nature of mental suggestion or hypnotism. Jesus expounded the rule, "Not my will, but thine, be done." The effort of mental suggestion is to impose one human will upon another. Much that is involved in the so-called laws of evil and disease in human experience can be traced to some such wrong mental activity or mental malpractice. Jesus denounced human will and proclaimed the will of God to be the only real will-power. That rule brought healing to the sick nineteen centuries ago, and it brings healing to the sick today.

The rule, "Not my will, but thine, be done," is, of course, the rule of perfection. God's will is perfect. Thought that is open to the fundamental rightness of being catches something of the spiritual import of Jesus' teaching, and this improved state of mind manifests itself, after its kind, in outward actions and affairs. Jesus must have meant this when he said regarding one of his healings, "Thy faith hath made thee whole." His affirmation of God's will that man is perfect had encountered a measure of acceptance, and that improved state of mind, which he named faith, expressed itself in a corresponding state of body, as states of mind never fail to do. The scientific relationship between state of mind and state of health is affirmed and reaffirmed in the Scriptures.

The study and application of Christian Science will stimulate one's natural capacity to reject the mental suggestions of evil and so to counteract their effects. Christian healing will thus be seen to be the result of the adjustment of thought to the nature of God and His good creation. St. James must have been aware of this when he admonished those who were sick to seek healing through the prayer of the righteous. Mrs. Eddy was spiritually minded enough to pray in that manner and to teach others to do likewise. She devoted herself to that loving mission from the time that she discovered Christian Science.

DISPOSING OF A NEGATION

Having accepted the Scriptural assurance that the author of all reality is good, and the creator of that only which is good, the Christian Scientist does not shun the logical conclusion that evil is not an entity. The teaching of Christian Science, that evil is primarily a negation, may be illustrated by the negativeness of the evil called ignorance.

The schools are devoted to the overcoming of ignorance, yet they do not regard it as something. No time is wasted in the schools in trying to instruct anyone as to the origin or elements of ignorance. If a pupil were to demand to know who made ignorance, where it came from, and what it consists of, he would have to be told that nobody made ignorance, it does not come from anywhere, nor does it consist of anything. The educator knows that ignorance is not the presence of something but the absence of something, in other words, a pure negation. Knowledge of the essential negativeness of ignorance does not tempt the educator to ignore the effects of the negation.

One who has gone to school could not consistently say that it is impossible to comprehend the idea of a purely negative evil, a mere nothing, which yet needs to be positively and vigorously handled and overcome. Christian Scientists accept the definition of evil or devil as given by the Master, namely, that it is "a liar, and the father of it," and has "no truth" in it; in other words, a self-constituted lie, utterly devoid of truth.

Jesus' practice was consistent with his preaching as regards the nature of evil. The essential nothingness of evil need not be accepted as a mere theory; it can be proved in many ways by those who are willing to adjust their daily thinking to this rule, as explained in the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

ON THE WAY TO FREEDOM

Reason agrees with revelation that omniscience is naturally subject to intelligence, that matter is not the master of mind. This logical line of thinking becomes clearer as human progress presses forward. The hold of materialism is loosening, not only in philosophic theory but in practical affairs.

Liberated thought manifests itself, step by step, in the realm of human invention. Despite the frequent abuse of man's new-found dominion over things, the broad view shows the forward movement to be essentially in the right direction.

When the human voice encircles the globe in a moment, when an ocean of space is but a day's journey and a traveler may cross a continent in a few hours, it would be a dull thinker indeed who would deny that man is on his way toward understanding of omnipresent being. Time and space are being shorn so rapidly of power to obstruct human movement that we may well consider what may be required of us in readjusting the sense of self to the entire absence of physical interference. The Christian is somewhat prepared for this unfolding. He reads in his Bible that without annulling any law the Founder of Christianity demonstrated the inability of matter to prevent his being on the other side of the sea immediately, and that St. Paul urged the importance of recognizing that man lives, moves, and has his being in infinite Spirit, God.

When the ultimate of human inventive genius has been attained and there remains no suggestion of material hindrance to man's "dominion . . . over all the earth," will anything have been accomplished that was not always the spiritual fact, affirmed in Christian teaching and proved in the deeds of the pure thinker, Jesus of Nazareth?

Volunteers of America Wish to Thank Their Many Friends Here

Expressing satisfaction with the result of the recent campaign for discarded clothing for underprivileged children, Major Leo R. Kelly, state commander of the Volunteers of America today expressed thanks for the co-operation extended by the organizations and citizens of Wayne County.

"We know now that with the materials brought us in the drive and the contributions we shall continue to get throughout the summer, the Volunteers will be in shape to handle requisitions for clothing for children who will come to us when the schools open in the fall," he said.

Fred C. Fischer, superintendent of Wayne County Schools, declared that the success of the Volunteers' campaign will be of great assistance to Wayne County schools.

"Until the Volunteers of America undertook this important work, the problem of keeping needy children clothed for school was a heavy one for the schools in Wayne County," he said, "so the success of the clothing drive means as much to us as it does to the Volunteers of America."

First Municipal Golf Tourney Huge Success

By THE DUBBER
It seemed as though all the old regulars were on hand to help celebrate the opening of the present golf season. One of the big surprises of the day was to see Det.-Lieut. Joe Trombly of the Grosse Pointe Farms police department shoot some snappy golf after a vacation from this pleasant pastime. Joe claims this was the first in 20 years. During the drawing for prizes Mrs. Trombly drew her own husband's lucky ticket. No Wonder Joe was anxious to play. Quite another surprise was to see a delegation from Grosse Pointe Park fire department headed by that likeable fellow, Jack Burgess. Several boys took advantage of our new guest card privilege and brought their own competition along. A grand time was had in the evening when the boys brought their wives or girl friends for dinner and dancing, after the prizes were passed out to the lucky winners.

Boys, be sure to watch this paper for place and date of next tournament. In the meantime, get a guest player lined up. Some novelty prizes are to be offered.

Christian Science

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, May 28.

The Golden Text (Ezekiel 13:9) is: "Mine hand shall be upon the prophets that see vanity, and that divine lies: . . . and ye shall know that I am the Lord God."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Deuteronomy 10:20): "Thou shalt fear the Lord thy God; thou shalt thou serve, and to him shalt thou cleave, and swear by his name."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 183): "Divine Mind rightly demands man's entire obedience, affection, and strength. No reservation is made for any lesser loyalty."

Grosse Pointe Post 303, American Legion, Hold Poppy Sale May 25-26

 In the year of 1918 Spring came just as it has this year. The grass and trees put on their green, flowers pushed up their heads and the world felt a rebirth of life and energy. But that year Spring had a different meaning. It meant that the vast armies which had been facing each other in entrenched lines in France and Belgium would open great Spring offensives. Instead of bringing renewed life, Spring that year brought a renewal of wholesale death.

Those who lived through it can never forget it. Our newspapers told us the story of the terrible death and destruction with daily took tremendous toll as the armies staggered back and forth across northern France in the great continuous battle which ended the war. Cable messages from France told us daily of a fresh list of American boys who had given their lives. Our soldiers when they returned did not like to talk about it. It was too terrible, ghastly, ugly. They wanted to forget.

But there was one thing which the men who came back did talk about—one thing of beauty and tenderness which they like to remember. That was the Poppy.

Poppies grow wild in France and Belgium like daisies in this country. They continued to grow along the battle front when almost every other form of life was blasted out by the continual pounding of the massed cannon of both armies. They grew over the graves of the dead, the only floral tribute which the gallant young men who had laid down life for country received. The poppies still grow about the graves of the American boys who are buried in the war cemeteries in France and each year at the time of Memorial Day, paper replicas of the French poppies are worn in this country in the memory of the dead.

Memories of the dead always bring thoughts of those men who were not killed but came back wounded and shattered in health. For many of them fate would have been kinder if their lives had been taken outright. They were strong young men when they went out to fight for their country.

When they came back they were worn wrecks of men unable to do the work and play which makes life worthwhile. More than 30,000 of them are still spending long, tedious days in Government Hospitals, struggling to recover their health or waiting for death to release them from their suffering.

For these men, too, the poppy has a meaning. They are the men who make the poppies. The work helps them pass the lonesome hospital hours, enables them to earn money for little comforts for themselves and helps support their families. The disabled veterans are paid one cent each for the poppies they make for the American Legion Auxiliary. The Auxiliary furnishes the material and takes charge of the distribution. For many of the men employed, the poppy money is the first money they have been able to earn since the war. No service work accomplished with the profits from the Poppy sale can excel this service to the disabled, which gives them an opportunity to enjoy the strengthening and encouraging experience of again taking their places among the wage earners.

The little flower which pushed itself up so bravely amid the desolation of the battle front in the Spring of 1918, has thus become a means of reducing the suffering resulting from the war. Each year the women of the American Legion Auxiliary sell millions of poppies to the patriotic people of America to wear in honor of the dead, and every penny of the money received is expended for the welfare of the disabled and the families of the dead and disabled. It is a wonderful thing that this simple little flower which cheered the soldiers in France, can bring so much cheer and happiness into the lives which were blighted by the war. When you see the Poppy being worn this year, remember what it means—a tribute to the memory of the dead and a service to the unfortunate living.

"Tout No. 1" Is Now Missing at Race Track

Track Superintendent Carter C. Curtiss, of the Detroit Racing Association has the welfare of the racing public in mind but now he feels he acted a trifle hastily in labeling a fat, frowsy individual "Tout No. 1," and ordering him ejected from the race track the other day.

"Tout No. 1" had been trying to hustle clients who would bet some money for themselves and him on a horse named "Soup and Fish" which was running at Churchill Downs. Such practices are taboo at the track so "Tout No. 1" was bounced as a probable purveyor of phoney racing information.

Then "Soup and Fish" ran a bang-up second and paid $31.40.

An S.S. has been sent out for "Tout No. 1."

Lawrence Tech to Be Host on Moonlight

Athletic leaders of Eastern, Southeastern, Northeastern, Northwestern, St. Charles, Annunciation, St. Rose and St. Anthony high schools have been awarded free tickets by the Lawrence Tech Varsity Club for the first moonlight of the season, Decoration Day night, May 30.

They and other high school academic and athletic stars throughout the city, together with Lawrence Tech students, athletes and friends, will be among the thousand or more on board the Steamer Put-In-Bay when it leaves the foot of First Street on its maiden moonlight trip of the season. It has been chartered exclusively by the Varsity Club.

Enough tickets have been sold to cover expenses of the trip so it was decided to invite outstanding high school students to make the affair a gala event, according to Don Ridler, Lawrence Tech athletic director and faculty adviser of the Varsity Club.

Maya D. Gruhitz, of Grosse Pointe, was recently accepted for admission to the tutorial honor student system at the University of Michigan where Miss Gruhitz is a sophomore. The system will be inaugurated in September, 1939.

Michigan Society, C.A.R.

At the sixth annual State Conference of Michigan Society, Children of the American Revolution, held Saturday at Cascade Hills Country Club, Grand Rapids, with Mrs. Robert L. Kerr, Detroit, state president, presiding, and O-Wash-Ta-Nong Society as hosts, a number of honors were announced by Mrs. John M. Kerr, of the District of Columbia, National President, as won by Michigan. First prize for exhibit went to Michigan. Mrs. Robert Hale Peterson, of Highland Park, chairman of the exhibit committee, had prepared a panoramic map of Michigan, with miniature articles (sent by the various C. A. R. groups) set on, to show the auto factories, colleges, cherry trees, or other claims to fame of each region. This may was on display at Grand Rapids, Saturday.

Michigan was also awarded a membership prize, for the individual obtaining most new members, the winner, a Cadillac Society member, having obtained 12 new members.

Lyons Howland, retiring junior state president, was made honorary junior state president (first to hold this title), and was told that he had been selected to be the first Junior National President, the office having just been created. Mary Elaine Childs, of Cadillac Society, gave again the oration, "The New Patriot," by which she won first prize at Washington, the opening night of the National Convention. Mrs. William H. Pouch, of New York City, retiring National President (affectionately called "Aunt Helen" by all C. A. R.'s) presented to Lyons Howland, for expenses of next year's Junior State C. A. R. Board, a generous check.

Mrs. Henry B. Joy, national parliamentarian, as well as national vice president from Michigan, was also present.

New Junior State C. A. R. officers elected at this state conference were Mary Julia Trupiano, of Marshall, junior state president; Herbert Fisher, of Adrian, state vice president; Marilyn E. Savage, Detroit (Cadillac Society), state recording secretary; Bruce Flu, Royal Oak, state corresponding secretary; Elizabeth Kerr, Hillsdale, state treasurer; Ted Anderson, Battle Creek, state historian; Stanley Graham, Detroit (John Paul Jones Society) state registrar.

After these officers were installed, a luncheon was enjoyed and a program by talented members. There was an unusually large attendance. Sons of the American Revolution were represented by Lloyd DeWitt Smith, Detroit, a national S. A. R. officer, and R. W. Spence, Grand Rapids, state S. A. R. vice president; and Daughters of the American Revolution, by Mrs. Bessie Howe Geagley, of Lansing, state D. A. R. regent.
