None Was Exempt; Not Even the Chief

CHIEF THOMAS V. TROMBLY of Grosse Pointe City was among the many Grosse Pointers who registered Monday at the Selective Service headquarters in the city.

He is shown receiving his certificate from Mrs. Frederick Munro, of Cadieux road, one of the volunteer registrars. Chief Trombly is married and the father of three children.

Educational Progress Marked by Completion of New Arts Building

Biggest Single Advancement for Pointe School System Since Construction of Senior High School Building

By ROBERT E. LEBECK

Grosse Pointe's biggest single educational advancement since the building of the high school in 1928 will occur next week with the opening of the $100,000 industrial arts building.

The two-story, eight-room building, adjacent to the high school, will house all junior and senior high school students enrolled in the industrial arts courses, namely: general machine and metal classes, printing classes, mechanical drawing and art classes, and automotive instruction groups.

Almost Ready To Open

According to Charles Salzer, assistant principal of the high school, the building will be opened late morning, March 1.

Dedication ceremonies will not be held immediately, but are scheduled for some time next year.

More than 100 pupils will use the classrooms every period of the day and facilities of the building accommodate more than 200 pupils every class hour.

President Goddard Appoints Group to Study Revamping of Park's Village Charter

2000 Register For Draft at Pointe Polls

More Than 5,000 Local Males Now Actively or Theoretically in Service

Two thousand men marched to Grosse Pointe Park to register for the draft and to fix their names to registration cards and become part of the united war effort to defeat the Axis powers.

The registration rolled to more than 5,000 the number of Pointers who are either serving with the U. S. armed forces now or are liable for induction under the Selective Service system.

Monday all men between the ages of 20 and 45 other than those already registered in Selective Service or serving were required to sign up for their draft day during World War II.

Three registration centers in Grosse Pointe Park and Grosse Pointe Farms were teeming with men signing before the deadline of 9 p. m.

The center at Grosse Pointe Farms experienced the greatest rush of registrants as long crowds filled the center in the municipal building to overflowing, throughout the morning.

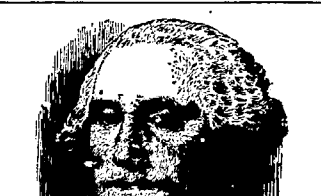

Within three and a half days, the cards of the registrants will be shuffled and serial numbers placed on them. Early to start a national lottery will be held to determine the order number in which the draftees are to be called for service and later called for service or deferred.

Plan Defense Mass Meeting

Local Officials Considering Holding Rally in High School Auditorium

Local Civilian Defense officials are considering holding a mass meeting for the purpose of rousing a large percentage of the residents to active participation in the defense program.

Voice From Valley Forge

Not only did George Washington create a nation, attend to its formal organization and chart its adequate course for generations, but of almost equal import, he bequeathed as a heritage to his countrymen an example in fortitude and perseverance and pure patriotism that has been the polestar of our national conduct in every succeeding generation.

Would that every American might read today the story of that fearful winter of 1777-78 at Valley Forge. In it is ample inspiration to carry this nation triumphantly through a war with ten times the odds we face at this moment.

When we refresh our memories with the record of that heroic band of ten thousand, the ten thousand who did not retreat, with more than half their number helpless from disease and hunger, leaving their blood stained tracks in the snow on their weary heels, with an ammunition supply of thirteen barrels of gunpowder defying an empire that they and those who followed them might be free, a blush of shame should come to every American citizen as he thought that we were of such tender fiber as to feel doubt over the outcome of the present conflict.

Next Sunday marks the 210th anniversary of the birth of this man who, in the thought of all those who believe in the Divine intercession in the affairs of men, is accepted as a leader called to create a nation to be dedicated henceforth to the cause of human freedom.

Measured by the scale of his achievement, Washington's is the greatest name in history, short of those of Divine creation. All of the great whose names sprinkle the pages of Europe and Asia are puny by comparison. It is the direct result of his work and his example that the Western World is this day free from Pole to Pole.

His real monument is not the towering shaft in the National Capital but the unquenchable yearning for freedom and opportunity that flames in every human heart. On the foundations he laid the little colonies along the Atlantic seaboard have grown into the mightiest material power in history. The Statue of Liberty is the most familiar figure to human eyes the world over. To the little peoples of the world we are the last and greatest hope. The highest privilege that has ever come to a people is ours; to carry forth the hope and surety to the benighted peoples of the world and the pursuit of happiness shall not perish from a world now threatened with chaos.

A study of the life and works of Washington and the adaptation of them to our individual lives and conduct is the greatest assurance, greater than tanks and guns, and ships and planes, that this will be.

Want Report of Committee By October 1

Nine Named Represent Cross-section of Business and Professions

Nine Park residents were appointed as a Charter Revision Committee to study the village charter of Grosse Pointe Park.

Named on the committee were C. Joseph Belanger, of Bedford road, member of the Township of Grosse Pointe; Taylor Seiber, of Westchester road; Ernest & Ernest; E. C. Harris, of Whittier, president of the Union Guardian Trust company; Arnold Veronick, of Mack road, member of the original Charter Commission, attorney-at-law; J. Dunton Starob, of Broadfield, insurance representative; Charles M. Youngjohn, of Whittier, attorney-at-law; Louis DeHaven, of Pemberton, president of the Reading Coal company, and formerly a commissioner of the village, and also a member of the original Charter Commission, Peris D. Stone, of Buckingham, attorney-at-law.

It will be the duty of these men to make a thorough study of the village charter to suggest amendments or revisions which will bring the laws into better working order.

Early last January President Goddard was authorized by the village board to appoint a Charter Revision Committee to study and revise the laws of the village.

Subject of March 28th

During the past two years there have been several amendments and debate by individual citizens.

37 More Pointers Classified in IA

Thirty-seven more Grosse Pointe men this week were classified as IA, liable for induction into the United States armed forces.

The latest board classifications came Tuesday, when 37 men were classified as IA.

Blaze Guts Banks Home

Morning Blaze in Lakeland Avenue Residence

The which gained rapid headway in the early morning hours destroyed the home of Mrs. C. Banks of 440 Lakeland avenue.

City of Grosse Pointe police and firemen saved two persons, a young girl and a colored houseman who had escaped to the burning building.

Patrick Clark, 7, the son of Mrs. Banks Clark, the daughter of Mrs. Banks, was trying to get out when he was trying to get out.

Robert Jones, 20, the houseman, was rescued by police and firemen.

The building is heated from pipe lines from the heating plant in the high school. The washing of pipes and the establishment of such a department is expected to save the high school a great deal of money, as previous to this the school has had to send its laundry work to outside firms.

The building was financed without a bond issue and without recourse to the taxpayers.

Editor Speaks To Rotarians

Paul Deac Sues Ultimate Victory for Allies But Urges Awakening

The Allied Nations can defeat the Axis powers within 18 months to two years if America and England stand up to their complacency.

Mr. Deac, who has acquired a great deal of inside knowledge on world affairs through his newspaper experiences as a foreign correspondent in many parts of the globe, believes that the people of this country and England must insist on proper leadership for our armed forces and production facilities.

He did not mince words in condemning alleged leaders who have failed to realize the seriousness of our predicament and have neglected to learn anything from the bloody pages of history written in the last few years.

There is no question in Mr. Deac's mind about the ability of this country to produce the wherewithal that will eventually win the war, but he stressed that there must be a change in the attitude of our government and that it is going to take the united efforts of everyone to bring it about.

The fall of Singapore and the escape of three of Germany's largest submarines were termed major disasters, but the speaker expressed the hope that these setbacks would teach lessons which would contribute to ultimate success for the Allied Nations.

Russia and China were paid glowing tributes by Mr. Deac for the great accomplishments they have contributed.

Wardens Warn Against Fakers

"Defense Gadgets" Taking Advantage of Conditions, Pointers Told

Watch out for "Defense Gadgets," the first warning sent out by the Grosse Pointe air raid wardens, who held their organization meeting in the Neighborhood Club Tuesday night.

According to Clarence A. Blesed, chief warden, there are certain firms who are taking advantage of the times by marketing gas masks, siren pumps and other similar equipment, many of which are impractical or unnecessary.

The government will issue gas masks in the next few weeks. Grosse Pointe is not considered in this category. Make sure of the manufacturer and dealer when purchasing fire-fighting equipment, and when in doubt, call the Defense Headquarters in the Neighborhood Club or one of the wardens.

Added to the list of deputy wardens are the names of Sherwood Beale in Grosse Pointe Farms and Captain Millard in Grosse Pointe Park. Post warnings for every block in Grosse Pointe will be appearing during the week.

CLASSES THIS OPEN

The following Civilian Defense classes are still open. Reservations can be made by phoning 469-1600, Mrs. A. Dupak, 1439 Somerset park. Aids: Wednesdays, beginning Tuesday, 7:30-8:30 p. m.

Young Fluit Qualifies

Albert Fluit, Jr., son of the Grosse Pointe village police chief, entered the officers' training school this week at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey.

Fluit, who was one of 130 Grosse Pointe's Grosse Pointe draftees, was assigned to the United States Signal corp. He was one of 25 December aviators, the night three soldiers who passed examinations to enter the training school.

FACE'S SEVERE CHANGE

Group A. M. H. of 100 men, consolidated, was bound over to the Wayne County Circuit Court, Friday, following an extradition into a charge of accepting a 13-year-old Grosse Pointe Park car.

McPail was released on a bond amount of $500. He was charged with accepting a bribe in an automobile. He was arrested on December 9, while taking the boy home.

Man Wanted in Illinois Picked Up By Trombly

Detective Sergeant Edgar Trombly of the Grosse Pointe City police department, this week picked up William Baker, 24, wanted for embezzlement by the Rock Island, Ill., railroad.

Man Wanted in Illinois Picked Up By Trombly

Detective Sergeant Edgar Trombly of the Grosse Pointe City police department, this week picked up William Baker, 24, wanted for embezzlement by the Rock Island, Ill., railroad.

After receiving a tip that Baker, who formerly worked in a Grosse Pointe market, was in town, Sergeant Trombly picked Baker up on a warrant in Detroit. Baker waived extradition and was sent back to Rock Island with a check from that district.

First Pointe Fireman Leaves To Enter Army

With the induction yesterday of James P. Hoche, Grosse Pointe's first fireman to the U. S. armed forces.

Mr. Hoche, who has been a fireman in Grosse Pointe City for the last three years, was sent to Camp Custer for preliminary training. "I'm glad to be going," he said Wednesday, "but I'll also be glad when the war is over to come back to my job on the fire force."

Hoche is 22 years old, unmarried, and lives at 34 Revere place.

In The News A Year Ago

The American Red Cross opened its branch here for defense and relief. Production at the new center at 337 Fisher road, began under the director, Mrs. J. Vincent Dwyer.

Betty Bastien and Robert Dakin were married in Grosse Pointe Memorial church.

The Grosse Pointe library purchased a number of books to assist those training for national defense.

Four families were routed from their apartments when a service fire broke out at 1170 Maryland avenue. A passing Park police car discovered the blaze.

News Editorial Brings Congressional Comment

An editorial entitled "Of Such Stuff" which appeared in last week's Grosse Pointe News has foundered in the House of Representatives.

The editorial denounced the Congressional Production Bill which recently passed the House and which is expected to be reported.

Senator Frank P. Brown and Congressman George A. Dondero have written the News commenting that a service fire broke out at 1170 Maryland avenue. A passing Park police car discovered the blaze.

War Map - Here and There

In recent weeks Allied public opinion on both sides of the Atlantic has suffered a series of shocks. These have resulted in outspoken exasperation with the conduct of the war by the responsible authorities and a questioning of their capacity to either prepare for war or to direct its successful prosecution. The right to criticize is one of the inherited privileges of the citizenry of a free democracy and pursuant to this right they are speaking and in no uncertain tones.

Across the war the British press wants to know why every one of England's forays into the field of aggressive war has misfired. Norway, Dunkirk, Greece, Crete, Lybia (2 times), spell successive humiliations and defeats. Finally Singapore, and the East Indian empire, crumbled under a two weeks' attack, and the two German battleships supposed safely immobilized in Brest harbor make a quick getaway through the twenty-two mile wide English Channel.

Thence after reconnoitering what may become a terrible menace to the Atlantic convoys or, what may be a better guess, disrupt the British and American supply line to Russia over Norway and Finland when the Spring campaign opens up.

In defense of Britain's record it is only fair to recall that until two months ago she had been facing frightful odds alone and had not had the resources of man and material to adequately guard her world-wide empire and at the same time successfully prosecute aggressive war. The United States cannot escape a large measure of responsibility for the disasters in the far Pacific area. It has been generally accepted that the reason for the retention of the greater part of the American fleet in the Pacific was that she would take over the defense of that area if war came from the Japanese quarter, and this arrangement had been agreed to by the British body of American public opinion. The fact that our military and naval leaders were asleep at Pearl Harbor only adds to our culpability.

The British and American people firmly believe that they have the individual stamina and the resources to win this war. They have unshaken confidence in the courage, strength and skill of the young men who will do the actual fighting. They are not so fully assured of the ability and foresight of those whom fate has given leadership over us, or the allocation of billions which cannot be converted into the material of war for months or years is not a satisfying answer to the cry for help from our thin, heroic lines stretched across the Bataan province.

—A chill of apprehension comes to those who recall one of the favorite themes of writers less than two years ago to the effect that there were in existence then two perfect fighting European armies and one perfect American navy. The French army's record passed into history in a sorry two weeks' campaign on its own soil in June, 1940. Our navy made a humiliating beginning at Oahu. The one bright spot in the record of our war effort is the help which Arthur S. Benson is making in the Philippines, and the tardiness of help for him suggests in turn one of our principal criticisms of our own war conduct. Senator Tydings of Maryland, in his bitterness at the apparent lack of interest in the Philippines, the present Government structure with being "an overgrown monstrosity, an extravagant, worthless and useless bureaucracy."

To a certain degree the accuracy of Tydings' criticism must be weighed in the knowledge of his own grudge against Roosevelt which had its basis in the attempt of the President to read him out of the Democratic party a few years ago. His remark that he was "selfish enough to want to send first American reinforcements where the American flag flies and where our troops fight" will not only strike a responsive chord in every patriotic American heart but would seem to fit in with a common sense treatment of the situation in the far Pacific area. In the face of what happens in the British and Dutch East Indies we can never wage aggressive, (i. e. successful) war against Japan unless and until we have undisputed possession of the Philippine Islands. With our forces established there and directly across the Japanese lines of communication to the Indies or beyond. Any present talk about our coming "smashing" of Japan sounds puerile before we have shown our ability to repossess and hold the land by the front door or to win it in that corner of the world for more than forty years.

In view of the repeated reverses of the white race in the Pacific and the steady progress of the Japanese toward the realization of their dream of possessing the whole eastern border of the Asiatic continent for which they dress under the more acceptable slogan of "Asia for the Asiatics", it is most important that there be an early demonstration of the ability of the white man to at least hold his own in that quarter. Dependence upon the Chinese as long pull allies in the struggle of the Pacific must have more tangible and enduring support than a $500,000,000 bribe loan. What they and all other peoples respect is a type of red blooded fighting strength which promises to be translated soon into certain victory. There is no more appropriate place to start this exhibition than on our own doorstep in the Philippines and it is better to begin now with what we have than to procrastinate until a strategic, strategic and material disaster has overtaken us that might well be fatal to our winning of the war. When this is accomplished we will have gone a long way toward giving substance to our threat of ultimate victory over Japan. The interest in the whole allied cause can be better served by creating a new front for Japan fifteen hundred miles nearer our own shores than the British and Dutch East Indies. With this achieved there will be an end of the domination of Japan's aggression in the farther fields to the south.

On the home front there is a somewhat balanced score. There will be a general satisfaction with the promised elimination of bootlegging from Civilian Defense. The public morale will be strengthened by the heartening spectacle of the Congressional leaders running to cover on the pension grab scheme of which the members of the Senate and House and the higher officials of the Government in the Presidential bracket were to be the beneficiaries.

On the other side of the picture there is still much concern that neither Congress nor the President has as yet shown the courage and determination to strip profiteering out of the war industry in a manner and that strictures in any work essential to the national safety or defense are absolutely prohibited not only in theory, as was supposed to have been accomplished, but in fact, as has yet not been done. Until these provisions are definitely fixed it is folly and dangerous self-deception for us to assume that we are engaged in an all-out, one-hundred per cent war effort.

And without such an effort we cannot win. With it we CAN.

TRANSPORTATION IS WAR PROBLEM

War production, once it reaches maximum volume, faces a "crucial problem" of supply lines, and motor transportation problems are solved, Governor Van Wageningen told the National Press Club in Washington recently.

Principal speaker at the Press Club's annual installation of new officers, Van Wageningen made clear he was not pleading for manufacture of new cars or trucks. "That is out of the question because we need our rubber and steel for military vehicles," he said.

"But we cannot get workers and materials to our war factories unless we conserve our present cars, trucks and tires," he said. "We cannot solve this transportation problem piece-meal, or by hit-or-miss methods."

The Governor cited a new Michigan war factory survey which showed that two-thirds of all materials and workers must enter and leave war factories via trucks and passenger cars, and that nothing can change this percentage appreciably before April and May 1947. "The answer to this question does not have to be accurate but must be within a few notations public and a false statement over $200 will liable suit to criminal prosecution."

9. Form 202A if you are not in bed. If you are on the floor use blue-inked soda or black coffee.

The Governor pointed out that workers' homes are scattered within a 50-mile radius of new war plants, which were purposely built in sparsely populated areas. He said 50,000 trucks and two million autos wear out yearly, and that it will be 1944 before intensive conservation and repair programs can cut down this auto junking rate.

And, remember, that the oldest cars and oldest tires are owned by our two largest population classes—the farmers and industrial workers. Who are the most essential groups in war production of food and guns," he said.

With motor transportation an indispensable cog in war production, the Governor said Federal war efforts must be that they are kept running, by conservation, repairs and budgeting, until long-range solutions are found.

Sometimes being sick in bed can be fun. Especially when the compensation takes the form of the communication printed below, the brainchild of one of our many friends who have been slowly losing their mental equilibrium while filling out government forms which may result in their being able to lend their services to their Uncle Sam in Washington.

Incidentally, the author is also listed in the insurance business, and anyone who has had any experience with some of the more complicated insurance forms, will readily understand the connection. Anyway, here's the offering:

LETTERS To The Editor

February 7, 1942

Your editorial regarding the congressional annual law reached me. I understand of course that we in Congress are made for critical shafts from our constituents. I have to take it and can.

It may interest you to know that I thoroughly believe in the principle of the bill. I think that the Congress would be a better instrument of government if those of its membership who desire and need it were on substantially the same basis as those in private life and public life with respect to old age benefits. The bill is not just as I would write it, but the general principle is right. I cannot in a short letter set forth all of the reasons.

As you doubtless know, the bill gives a Senator an option. He may take or decline to take. Upon notification from the Civil Service Commission I sent a letter advising the authority in charge that I elect to decline the annuity. I do not need it. (My support of the bill without consideration of its effect on me. I have through the years received a twenty percent or more insurance far superior than any government annuity.)

The bill passed by a substantial majority. It was well known that it would be defeated by the political and selfish I have been voted no and taken the annuity. Believing in the principle, I voted for it, but because I do not want it myself, I refused the benefit. This decision and my instructions to decline were made before I heard the criticism of the bill from the general public. For your information I endorse what is said to be an official and accurate statement of the retirement measure.

Sincerely yours,
Prestis M. Brown,
(U. S. Senator)

To The Editor: February 16, 1942

A copy of your paper with the editorial on pensions for Congressmen has just been received.

I can agree with everything that your editorial says about the subject, but I am in complete disagreement with you as to where the blame was placed.

This subject is not new here in Washington, and on two former occasions the writer voted against this same proposal. It was before the House of Representatives in July, 1939, and Republicans almost as one man voted against it and were able to defeat it. The President and his administration and no one else are responsible for the legislation, and they and no one else should be blamed for it. The President is included in the law, will receive a pension under the Act unless it is repealed.

Very sincerely yours,
George A. Donfero

Tank Team Takes Its Sixth Victory

Acquiesce Stars Wind Up Another Season With Only Two Defeats; Look Forward to Regionals at Fordson

Grosse Pointe High School Tankers wound up their 1941-42 season last week with a total of six victories and two losses. Coach Branch and his boys are now looking forward to regionals to be held at Fordson.

The River Rouge Panthers had their first win in the 100-yard relay when they beat the Blue Devils 1:12.5 to 1:13.5. The Panthers took a 55-20 ducking. The locals won a flying start by taking the lead in the 100-yard relay and held it until the 100-yard race when they were overtaken by the Blue Devils.

The Blue Devils continued in another first and second in the 100-yard race. In the 100-yard race, the Blue Devils took the lead in the 100-yard relay and held it until the 100-yard race when they were overtaken by the Blue Devils.

A Pointe Defense Contribution

The new Industrial Arts Building, nearing completion on the High School campus, is expected to be an invaluable aid to Grosse Pointe's defense effort. Not only will the high school students receive training in the industrial and higher arts here, but as its facilities will accommodate. Classes are now being formed for those who wish to avail themselves of the opportunities the new building affords. This picture was taken several weeks ago while the building was still under construction.

Blue Devils Lose To Fordson, 34-26

High School Basketball Team Hopes For Revenge in Game in Mt. Clemens This Friday Night

Grosse Pointe's Blue Devil game squad will journey to Mt. Clemens Friday evening to avenge an earlier defeat and to even up its league record at four victories and four losses. With 6 foot 10 inch "Shorty" Stewart as their chief threat, the Bathers defeated the Devils 21-18 in December.

Last Friday a heads-up Fordson appreciation continued on its undefeated path in Border Cities competition by dropping Grosse Pointe on the local court, 24-16. Led by Mike Farny and "Dead Eye" Dick Valette, the Tractors took command in the third period after a close first half. After their third quarter apart the Devils were never able to close the gap to better than a five-point margin.

Lead For Awhile
Grosse Pointe led for a few minutes in the first period, 7-5, but Fordson held the edge 8 to 7 at the period's close. An identical second period score gave the visitors a 16-14 edge at halftime.

Leading scorer on the floor was "Glorious" Glen Holt, who not only led the points for the third quartant game but also surpassed Tractors Farny and Valette for high point honors. Last week the Devils' pessimistic forward tallied five field goals and a free throw for 13 points. This makes Glen's total for the last three games 41 points.

Dick Valette, who was indeed a "dead eye" set shot with 3 for 3 and Little Mike Farny followed attempts, led Fordson with 9 points, with 8.

Mike Ware and Doug Graham each tabbed 5 points for the Pointers.

Reserves Are Victorious
In the preliminary game Grosse Pointe's reserve team annexed its fifth victory in the district and avenged an earlier defeat by handing the Fordson reserves their first loss. Last week the Devils' reserve's first team turned on the heat in the third quarter and scored 14 points to pull away to a commanding lead, Ross Heron with

Nearing Close of Book Drive

More Than 8,000 Volumes Already Donated, With Another Week to Go

Next week is the last week for Pointers to donate to the Victory Book Campaign drive. Already more than 8,000 books have been given to the cause from this area. Ordinarily the quota number for donations of books from this area was set at 50,000 books. Then local leaders reduced their quota number to 20,000 books, or one from every resident in Grosse Pointe. However, it was found that many had previously donated their books to camps and hospitals.

Tuesday authorities announced the quota number was again reduced to 4,000 volumes, so that by this measure, Grosse Pointe doubled its quota.

Two Youths Arrested For Disorderly Conduct

Two teen age Grosse Pointe youths were charged with disorderly conduct this week, following their arrest by Grosse Pointe City police. The youths, Louis E. Clark, Jr., 19, of 3750 Woodland, and Richard R. Randolph, 17, of 1002 Lechman, were, police stated, picked up after a complaint had been phoned to the police station that the boys had been drinking beer in a lavatory in Francois restaurant and also spilling beer on the automobile seat of a strance car parked in front.

The boys will come to trial on March 4 in a City Grosse Pointe court.

How It Works:

"Fire-Call" is safe, positive and automatic. Requires no wiring or transformers which if fire were caused by defective wiring) would be inoperative.

"Fire-Call" has its own power supply—namely two inexpensive flashlight cells obtainable anywhere.

When a fire starts, heat rises quickly to the ceiling. When the temperature reaches 130 degrees "Fire-Call's" thermostatic switch closes, causing the gong to ring out its alarm loudly and continuously.

Women Get Busy On Plans For Annual Flower Show

Meeting Is Conducted By Section Chairmen

Mrs. Fred C. Ford is Hostess to Group for Discussion of Various Classes and Entries

Now that the dates have been set for the Michigan Flower and Garden Show, (March 21 to 29), plans are getting under way to produce it. A meeting was held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Fred C. Ford of Bishop road for the section chairmen. The different entries and classes were the main topic of discussion.

Mrs. John T. Shaw will be in charge of the small frame arrangement. It will not exceed $2.00 including the container, and no accessories are allowed. Mrs. Berrien Eaton will have the large frame group in which the cut wallpaper is combined with fresh cut flowers. Accessories are permitted.

The table arrangement class will be under Mrs. W. Armstrong Browne. Economy will be stressed out on a budget. Plant material of fruit and vegetables are required and accessories may be used. Mrs. Charles H. Hodges will be in charge of the hanging shelves class, for which plant material is used.

Mrs. Meredith Randall is responsible for the Jefferson avenue small arrangements, which will include economy arrangements not to exceed $1.50 and miniature dinner-table centerpieces. The breakfast tray floral decorations will be Mrs. June L. Johnson's responsibility, and Mrs. Harold D. Baker will have charge of the terrace table group. This last class will remain throughout the entire exhibit without being changed.

Mrs. Ford urges any woman arrangements in the flower show interested in entering one or more make application as soon as possible. They can be seen through the sectional chairman, or by contacting the Michigan Horticultural Society on Cass Avenue.

Neighborhood Club News

Wagon Dance—Don't miss the Wagon Dance this Friday, Feb. 20, at 8 p. m. Val Thomsen and his orchestra will again furnish the music. Come out! Come all!

Camp Fire: The Neighborhood Club, District G-10 sponsored by Mrs. Donald Corey, The Friends of the Horizon Club, sponsored by Mrs. Ganting and the Waukena Camp Fire Group Neighborhood Club, held a meeting and had their last Friday, February 13, and a grand time was had under the leadership of Miss Holmes from Camp Fire Headquarters. There were games, square dancing and group singing, and refreshments were served. Most of these parties are certainly going to be included for the future.

Knitting classes: Knitting classes are still in progress at the Club despite the lack of yarn for Red Cross. Many women are bringing in old sweaters and pieces of yarn that can be used over again for squares for afghans. One group meets on Tuesday mornings at 10 a. m. and the other group on Tuesday evening at 7:30 p. m. Everyone is welcome to join either of these classes. Instructors are always on hand to give assistance.

V. F. W. Alger Auxiliary

Last Thursday, Lincoln's birthday, 50 members of the Alger Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, gathered in Ingleside Inn for its 10th anniversary dinner. As is becoming tradition, the past president handed the arrangements to the leadership of Mrs. Eva Bartleau. The committee was complimented for the beautiful decorations and lovely program arranged for the evening. Mrs. Flainger was in charge of the tempting refreshments.

At the close of the dinner President Ruth Slater gave a brief talk and introduced all past presidents, their secretaries and trustees. All two past presidents were present and the only 1941-1942 officer absent was the historian, Mrs. Nettie De Baeco, who is recuperating from a major operation in St. Joseph's hospital. The dinner was as decorations were sent to her with a wish for her speedy recovery.

Sympathy goes out to Mrs. Schneider and her family with wishes for a speedy recovery of her daughter, who has an appendicitis at St. Joseph's hospital.

Mrs. M. F. Glock Entertains For Daughters of Colombis

Mrs. Mayne F. Glock, chairman of the Ways and Means committee of the Michigan State Society, Daughters of American Colonists, held a subscription dinner for the members and their guests Tuesday in her home on Grand Marina boulevard. Mrs. Glock was assisted by Mrs. Alfred W. Cramb, Mrs. John F. Klein, Mrs. Roy Dehart and by Mrs. Hrusel D. Wilson.

Among those present were Mrs. Edward P. Dickinson, Mrs. Mrs. Ralph E. Winger, Mrs. Edward J. Matson, Mrs. Leroy S. Vandever, and Mrs. R. E. Hofelich.

The proceeds from the party will be used for the philanthropic work of the society.

Fine Concert By Symphony Precedes Allied Festival

By EDWARD R. WATKINS
If the concert last Thursday night was any indication of how the orchestra will perform during the Allied Music Festival next week, any conclusion is that it will be something nobody can afford to miss.

Deaf Duane, best known Blue Island musician today, opened the evening with the new customary playing of our National Anthem. Whether he was able to apply a slightly foreign touch or whether the orchestra and audience are becoming more familiar with this number I do not know, but there was a marred improvement over some of the attempts of the fall.

The official program began with the overture "Benvenuto Cellini" which for years was the subject of considerable controversy. To me the most interesting part of its playing was watching Mr. St. Luke very intently but unmistakably keeping time by tapping his foot.

This was followed by the Classical symphony from 1942 the Russian Prokofiev could write such music is beyond my understanding after considering some of his extravaganzas like "The Love of the Three Oranges" or "Peter and the Wolf" he would expect Beethoven or Mozart to produce the Classical Symphony but it is unbelievable that the man who wrote it is still going about his business in today's crazy world. The comic touch of the evening took place during the third movement.

One of the finest performances of the season came with the violin solo and cello solos in the playing of the Adagio for String Orchestra by Lakov, who like Mr. DeFuss was also a member of the party who loved to hear more of the music of this young composer. He died on the day after his twenty-fourth birthday.

The remaining numbers, Cesar Franck's "Accused Hunter", Respighi's "The Roman Holiday" and "The Three-Cornered Hat" concluded a very good evening.

Next week's Money and now a word about the Music Festival of next week. Everybody!

Catholic League Will Hold Buffet

Another in the series of Thursday night buffets sponsored by the League of Catholic Women will be held this Thursday at 7:30 o'clock in the Koperer Zeltia. Following supper, the members and guests will adjourn to the English lounge where a program will be put on by the League of Catholic Women.

The Rev. Herbert F. Wier of St. Elizabeth parish will speak on "Christian Charity," and will conduct a question and answer period.

Women to Hear Ricardo Alfaro

Dr. Ricardo Alfaro, former President of the Western Hemisphere, will speak before the Detroit Town Hall audience in the Folger Auditorium, Wednesday, Feb. 25, at 11 a. m.

Dr. Alfaro predicted recently that the Latin American auxiliary of the International League of Women's Peace would not attempt an invasion of the United States, but would support a date in South America and then attempt to destroy our foreign commerce by cutting off the flow of raw materials from the South.

For that reason he feels no nation in the Western Hemisphere dares think only in terms of its own territory.

Only force will stop the dictator, Dr. Alfaro says. "When they think they are ready they will attack."

Close union of the three Americas, North, Central and South, seems the only answer to the threat, and it is this union that the brilliant Panamanian statesman will discuss in his lecture.

Dr. Alfaro is world-famous for his work in Pan-American affairs. He has been decorated by six governments for his achievement negotiated with Secretary of State Hull the important Panama Canal Treaty.

Tickets are on sale at Grinnell's, Rm. 1124, for $1.50 and $1.00, including tax.

Professional Women's Club Will Hear Talk On Mexico

The Grosse Pointe Professional Women's Club will have a dinner at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, Feb. 25, in the Grosse Pointe Memorial church. The speaker for the evening will be Miss Bernice Becker, who will talk on her trip to Mexico. Miss Koester is the publicity chairman.

1942 Social Register Is Ready for Delivery

Grosse Pointes will be interested to learn that the 1942 edition of the Michigan Social Register is now of the press and being delivered. This authentic Blue Book has several new features, including a separate list of social registries in the armed services.

The Social Register is published only to individual order and each copy is imprinted in gold on its traditional blue cover with the name of the subscriber.

Protection Classes Started By A. W. V. S.

Courses Already Under Way in Homes of Mrs. Fred Alder, Jr., Mrs. H. L. Pierson and Mrs. Fred S. Ford

The American Women's Voluntary Services are starting classes in civilian protection. They will be under the direction of the A.W.V.S. and taught by members of that organization.

Membership is open to all American women. The offices of the A.W.V.S. are at 409 Kales building, on Adams street. Some courses have already been started and those held for Grosse Pointe women are being conducted in the homes of Mrs. Fred Alder, Jr., Mrs. Harry Lynn Pierson, and Mrs. Fred S. Ford.

The courses offer information and instruction which will insure one of being intelligently helpful in the home in the event of an emergency. A new course in civilian protection is being arranged to be given in the high school, which includes instruction on air raid conduct.

Enrollments must be made at the Kales building, because fire-prints are taken there. Forrest Gray of the high school will arrange the time for the "class" and anyone interested may call Mr. Gray at 750 P. M. There is no charge and the public is invited to attend.

THE STORY OF ELECTRICITY
Number Four in a series published by The Detroit Edison Company

The year 1745 marked the first time that electricity was collected in quantities large enough to facilitate experiments. The feat has been variously credited to Bishop von Kleist, dean of the Cathedral of Comin, Pomerania; to Pieter Van Muschenbroek, professor at the University of Leyden, Holland; and to Cunnace, a pupil of Muschenbroek and wealthy burglar of the city of Leyden. At any rate, this invention supposedly owes its name to the Abbe Nollet of France, who dubbed it the "Leyden jar."

Muschenbroek set about collecting the "electric fluid" in a wide-mouthed flask half-full of water. The flask was corked, and a wire through the cork dipped into the water of the jar. The other end of the wire was connected to a gun barrel suspended in the air, and attached to an electrostatic generator.

Muschenbroek, writing to his friend Reaumur in Paris, declared he "would not take such a shock for the kingdom of France." But the Abbe Nollet repeated the experiments before King Louis XV, sending an electrical charge through 180 of the King's guardsmen. Benjamin Franklin, in a letter to Peter Collinson in 1752, said "I cannot forbear adding a few observations on M. Muschenbroek's wonderful bottle," and described 10 different experiments that he (Franklin) had performed. Another letter told how he used five Leyden jars to kill a 10-pound turkey. Franklin added, "The birds killed in this manner are commonly tender."

"Sarah Is So Sensible"

by Marian Eddy Standish

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

"Shall we hold dinner for Miss Mary, Madam?"

"It was Dick that answered. "Yes, hold it for a little while longer, Dahms, I am sure she will be in soon."

It was a quarter before eight. Sarah's heart was beating fast. Trying to appear at ease, Dick said: "I think, dear, that I can get a telephone call."

"I've called everyone I could think of," said Sarah, "and I've left her to come home if they say her. It isn't like her when she knew I would be worried."

"Go out to the dining room, dear, and at least eat your soup. I will come just as soon as I get my mail on the telephone."

"Joe McNeill—Dick—then YOU are afraid, too?"

"What are you looking for, dear?" said Mr. Ames mildly. He beamed over his spectacles at his wife—who grumbly bent down to look in one of the cupboards under the book cases in the Ames library.

"That box of old photographs. I had it not long ago. They were so funny. I especially wanted to find the one of the 'Quaker Club.' Do you remember Robert? It had Eva Standish and Mary Colburn in it and a lot of the others. Next week we are going to compare old photographs and clippings at the Monday Club instead of playing bridge. The prize is going to the funniest and I thought the Quaker Club might win it."

"Isn't that the box—there—to your left?"

"Yes, I am so glad I didn't throw it away. One never knows what to do with old photographs—but now I am glad I kept it. Look at R. H. Fife and see there's J. L. Harvey. I think they are sweet."

"What's the picture underneath, that one?"

"Oh, Robert, look. It's Harry Newbery—look at the shape of that derby hat and he was quite the thing about clothes. You know who has taught me a lesson. I am going to keep my scrupulous and my old photographs. They don't take up much—so and they certainly are fun. Look, here's Mrs. Harry Newbery. She was a beautiful woman, wasn't she? I wonder if Gladys has this picture of her?"

But Robert wasn't as interested as Mrs. Ames—his head was nodding over his paper and she sat idly with the box to sort them over with wistful smiles and sighs for the days that had gone.

McNeill—Dick and Sarah Lew were sitting across from each other at the table—pretending to eat and waiting impatiently for Joe McNeill's arrival. It seemed easy, but in reality was only a half-hour before Dahms told them the book cases in the Ames library were in the library writing for them. They hurried in. With the quiet self-control her nursing and her own experiences had taught her, Sarah let her husband do the talking. The keen-eyed man was still until Dick had told him all they knew. Then he backed a few quick questions at them and asked

Noted Humorist Will Be Speaker

Open Nash, America's celebrated poet, colorist and humorist, is the speaker for the Detroit Town Hall in his lecture "The American Humorist," on Friday morning, February 20, at 10 o'clock. Mr. Nash is a constant contributor to all the leading American magazines. He writes whole stories in funny verse but they are full of underlying pertinent truths told with flaming wit.

Mr. Nash spent many years in the serious publishing business. Today he is a world's famous humorist for he supports himself and family upon the proceeds of verse—written in the most perfect and amusing style. "I'm A Stranger Here," "Hard Lines and 'Happy Days.'" His radio appearances have been with the popular Charlie McCarthy, Bing Crosby and "Informal Pieces."

In his talks as in his verse, Open Nash aims to keep our ears used to the sound of laughter while presenting hard-boiled facts. For Town Hall will be a refreshing program of utterly unassuming fun with the title "Humor As A Life Escape."

Meet Mr. Nash at The Luncheon following the lecture at the Book-Cadillac, at 12-30 o'clock.

So, sir, I didn't catch any importance to the matter," said Dahms, and they let him go back to his pantry to wait there anxiously for news of the young girl.

"Let's call Jimmie Bridges," said Dick. "He may be able to lead some light on the thing. Perhaps Mary sent us a message and we didn't get it."

Jimmie was home. In a few minutes he joined the anxious little group in the Lew's library. It was he who called Mike. In his anxiety over Mary, Sarah had forgotten to send word to Clara—that Sonia was found and now this more pressing news had to be told. Sarah remembered—with such a sick feeling of understanding, how mothers must feel in the homes kidnapping cases. She felt she had never really understood before what mothers suffering they had experienced. She had sympathized for Sonia. They didn't know what they were going to do with the list. They just had to be doing something. Each sound at the door,

A Shot Brings Terror

A sharp shot brings terror to WALTER PIDGEON and GREER GARSON in this scene from "Blossoms in the Dust," stirring drama opening Friday on the Vogue screen. Martha Hunt, school chum of Miss Garson, has just committed suicide, a tragedy which causes first of her life to child warfare. The new production, filmed in Technicolor, was directed by Mervyn LeRoy, with featured roles played by Felix Bressart, Fay Holden and Samuel S. Hinds.

Hopes Are Dashed For ROTC Unit

An R. O. T. C. unit cannot be established in Grosse Pointe High School at the present time. Dr. Paul L. Ewert, superintendent of schools, recently wrote Major General E. S. Adams, commanding officer of the R. O. T. C. regarding the procedures and plans involved in establishing a unit and the advisability of a move in this area at present. Major General's reply was as follows:

"There has been no change in the policy of the War Department regarding the establishment of R. O. T. C. units. Many schools and colleges have made application for such units but to provide personnel and equipment for them would seriously interfere with the defense program. Also, an adequate number of ROTC officers for contemplated needs."

Aim to Lift Symphony Debt With Allied Music Festival

Alec Templeton, Dorothy Maynor, Albert Spalding, Oscar Lovatt, Kolar, Kurtz and Kostelancz on Program

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra's Allied Music Festival of nationalistic concert, all-British, Tuesday, Feb. 24, all-British, Thursday, Feb. 25, all-American, Saturday, Feb. 26, in Masonic Auditorium, with the donated assistance of seven world-famous artists, promises to become one of the greatest single weeks of music Detroit has ever known.

Bureau Obtains Jobs for Pupils

High School Organization Proves Most Helpful in Placing Students

There is of course no charge for advice and aid, nor is the placement service connected in any manner with an employment agency. It is an independent organization which receives its calls from firms which have vacancies in their firms, and are capable of filling. Grosse Pointe High School students have acquired a good reputation with these firms, and sometimes hire students without referring to the bureau.

Charter

various amendments to the charter that were deemed necessary or advisable. Two amendments dealing with elections and management were recently prepared by a group of citizens for submission at the coming election in March.

"I am informed that in view of the appointment of this committee these proposed amendments are not now being submitted. In March of 1941 incorporation of the community under a city charter was submitted to the voters and rejected.

Committee On Its Own "The committee will be entirely on its own as to its organization, procedure and, and free to recommend any changes in the corporate status or charter of the community now comprising the Village of Grosse Pointe Park. Members of the Village Commission will take no part in the deliberations of the committee but will be available to give such information as the committee requests with respect to amendments that have already been discussed. Upon receipt of the report of the committee, which it is hoped will be available not later than October 1st, 1942, the village commission will consider initiating and submitting to the voters such part or all of the program recommended by the report as it deems advisable. The charter revision committee or citizens groups will, of course, also be free to do so by petition.

At An Improvement "The object is to improve the government of the community by having an up-to-date charter which fits the needs of a community of some 14,000 persons and property now assessed at more than $3,000,000." Goddard further stressed that the importance of maintaining the Republican form of government lies largely in action by citizens in the smaller communities and political subdivisions of the country to correct the inefficiency and misconduct in government that, he said, has so often rendered and jeopardized the confidence of the people in the whole governmental system.

"Under the circumstances, the Village Commission desired to appoint a committee to direct me to appoint a study of the citizens and representatives of the community. It is hoped that all desirable changes will be submitted to the electorate at one time and not piecemeal. It is hoped that this will be possible at the general elections to be held in March, 1942."

Committee On Its Own "The committee will be entirely on its own as to its organization, procedure and, and free to recommend any changes in the corporate status or charter of the community now comprising the Village of Grosse Pointe Park. Members of the Village Commission will take no part in the deliberations of the committee but will be available to give such information as the committee requests with respect to amendments that have already been discussed. Upon receipt of the report of the committee, which it is hoped will be available not later than October 1st, 1942, the village commission will consider initiating and submitting to the voters such part or all of the program recommended by the report as it deems advisable. The charter revision committee or citizens groups will, of course, also be free to do so by petition.
