Ponte Opposition Arises to Home Rule Scheme; Citizens Say More For Detroit But Less Here

Full Blackout Planned for October 29

For Dept. OK Needed for Full Out; Scrap Money Also Discussed at Meet

A meeting was held at the headquarters of the Detroit area of the O.C.D. in the Bar-Hotel Monday afternoon which was attended by the co-ordinators of Civil Defense in all of the principal subdivisions of Wayne county, including certain communities contiguous to the County.

George Eberhart, Superintendent of Civil Defense for the city and Mayor Rumney of City were there as representatives of the Pontes area. There was a protracted discussion of the proposal to attain a complete blackout for the entire area on October 29, for the purpose of interfering with the operations of the enemy which had been in touch with a number of the most important war industry plants. It was determined that the plan should be carried out in accordance with the plan approved by the War Department.

Can Offerings and Donors Up 100 Per Cent

Blondell to Investigate Significant Method of Direct Loading on Cars

The Tin can collection last Saturday was a big improvement over the one last August. At that time only 75 tons of tin cans were collected whereas the Saturday pickup netted double that, or about 150 tons.

Neil Blondell, Pointe representative on the Wayne County Salvaging Committee, was even more pleased with the big increase in the number of houses which had their offerings on the porch on Saturday. Presumably there was can scrap put out by only about one quarter of the houses, and on Saturday practically every other home made a donation, or a 100 per cent increase in the amount of the offering to the national necessities and as an encouraging sign of the determination to continue their giving of scrap materials of all kinds and turning it over to the war needs of the country.

First C.G.R. Review of Boats Crowded River

Beautiful Sight as Eleven Filifilas Bear Hundreds of Harbor Guards Course Up and Down Detroit Water Way Escorted by Sea Planes

I have never seen so many boats on the Detroit river at one time in all my life as there were last Sunday morning during the first full scale review of the Coast Guard Auxiliary and Reserves.

It seemed that everything with a motor in it was on the water, and the charming way in which some smaller boats have a difficult time getting their position in a very smoky variety of red, white and blue colors. Our party, which included a group of Grose Pointe men and women, boarded the "Mariner," a thirty foot cruiser, at the foot of Bonaventure in Detroit and proceeded out into the congested lanes of water traffic. As we left the river, the early morning sun must have been low, for a countless number of boats of every color and shape, many of them carrying families, were lined up on the water.

Smoke Gets In Your Eyes

An angry citizen living on Maryland in the Park pointed to the officials in the Park Municipal building that a neighbor insisted on burning a very smoky variety of red coal, which was a nuisance. They told him to "write to the Commissioner about it," which he proceeded to do, his complaint being read at the meeting Monday night.

At the Park Village Commission meeting Monday night as the officials on the donation of the Grose Pointe's interest in the Jefferson Avenue iron fence to the country's scrap metal. Mr. Joel C. Signe of Jefferson, who had been interested spectator of the proceedings, presented a query that carried food for the committee's thought. He would be interested in knowing (and so would his hearers) the amount of the Grose Pointe's interest in the Jefferson Avenue iron fence to the country's scrap metal. Mr. Joel C. ## Bending the Bow

The country is moving rapidly towards that unity which must be achieved before we can talk confidently of victory.

Daily more of us are awaking to the hard fact that every interest or personal ambition must be set aside if we are to win this war, the alternative to which means the complete reversal of a way of life under which they have advanced, in one of the shortest spans of human history, to the highest plane of favor and wellbeing ever gained by any people.

We are fast taking a more factual and realistic view of the world panorama. The freedoms of Faith and Speech and from Want and Fear, which the words of President Roosevelt have indelibly stamped on the spiritual chart of America, are first to be made certain here at home. With this done we can speak effectively in behalf of other lately free peoples.

It is becoming crystal clear to all thinking Americans that unless we first win the war all of the planning for a utopian world, at a moment on paper, a pastime in certain advanced circles of Social-political thought, will prove meaningless.

It is a heartening sign that every group and segment of an American society wants to see this war definitely won and is ready to move to that end according to its lights and opportunities.

Grave educators who have passed their lives in a somewhat archaic field of mental exercise accept without question the Government's dictum that education henceforth, for the course of the war, must be bent to the practical end of winning a victory.

Every responsible labor leader in the Nation declares his unalterable support of the Government in the war effort. Some have boldly denied their followers the right to strike in war time, a right which is unchallenged in peace time, and have branded it akin to treason. The great body of labor itself, with the exception of an occasional small unthinking group in no sense representative of labor's attitude, earnestly backs up the position of its leaders.

Great industrialists have cheerfully foresworn the wartime heyday of profits in other war periods and accept without a quiver the burden of taxation which is practically confiscatory.

From first grade Boy and Girl Scouts up to the elderly men and women who strive to take the places of younger persons to release them for more direct war service, all wish to do their part.

"And Children at their Mothers' Knees
Are Putting at the Feet
And Learning how to Reap and Sow Against their Country's Needs."

The womanhood of the land is magnificent. Not only have they dedicated to the Nation's cause every knack and skill which is peculiarly their own, but by the hundreds of thousands they are taking the places of men in industry, in work that has heretofore been regarded as performable only by masculine strength and craftsmanship, and in many of these tasks are doing the job as well or better than their husbands or brothers. Many of them are edging as close to the line of actual combat in their auxiliary services as their physical powers will let them.

All wish to do something; before long there will be something for everyone to do. Soon this peace-loving, tolerant America will be a gigantic military camp completely organized for war and backed with a universal will for victory. The predatory nations which have long believed they enjoyed a monopoly of the qualities of efficiency and war skill are in for an awakening.

America is on the march and she bends the mightiest bow the world has ever known; a bow that will eventually drive an arrow through the hearts of the scoffers at Democracy.

This peaceful market scene in ancient Athens is no longer a reality. Centuries ago, watching such a scene, Socrates, the famous Greek philosopher said, "How many things there are which I do not need!"

In these perilous days, that wise statement still is true and more applicable than ever before, since the fate of the world's greatest Democracy—the United States of America—is being written on distant battlefields, in the air and on the seas.

Prove YOUR appreciation of what America means to you by not buying the things you can get along without and investing in your future freedom and privilege to live in a decent world.

Grosse Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

He was a suave, cultured English gentleman, precise in speech, with the Grossean lilt which the atmosphere indicated. The point which he was classifying with meticulous care for his respectful group of country bankers, country merchants, country doctors, lawyers and what you will—you know, just a fair cross section of America as it was that the lot of the usual English rural worker was a peculiarly happy and contented one.

"Now I am a bit of land owner myself—not big, you know, like Sutterling and those other chaps—but I don't know, ab you know, more or less as you Americans say."

All this with a modesty that made his listeners feel like a bunch of circus barkers.

"There are two villages on my estate and really, don't you know the relationship, that exists between my village and the really fine, simple, honest folk is delightful, yes really. Quite idyllic, don't you know?"

"And, really, we have a very sincere concern for their happiness and welfare. And the way they depend on us for advice and guidance in all of their little crises is really quite touching, don't you know? It really is."

"But don't they pay you rents?" asked the C. D.

"Ah, most certainly, really, not say of that wretched little system of village government of British or French or Italian. These are free, upstanding British subjects; these are, quite a bit."

The Country Lawyer seemed laboring under increasing interrogatory pressure.

"If they are so well off over there" said the C. L. "why is it that so many millions of them have come over to America in the last century and a quarter?"

"We— . . . as I was saying a moment ago, the Empire is absolutely determined to win this war absolutely, and we are not going to repeat the mistakes of the last war settlement, not again. Absolutely not again. Of course we need help from you Americans; quite a bit."

At this point one of the E. G.'s audience of undetermined classification burst out:

"A Time there was ere England's Woes began
When every Rood of Ground maintained its Man."

"Oh! Not at all! Not at all!" said E. G. "England is quite a different country now from the England of Goldsmith's time, don't you know, really quite different, you know."

"And really, don't you know, there is really a lot of hallyoot about this Democracy stuff they are talking so much about just now, surely you Americans have your aristocracy. Once a Vanderbilt, always a Vanserbilt, don't you know?"

Gradually the group of Average Americans broke up, slightly confused but clear on one point, crystal clear; that dear old England is still a land of many moods and minds and, gathering from the subconscious recollections of the latter visitor from over there than he himself realized.

And, most of all, that even in their convictions that this was OLD WAR whether we relished the low role or not and that it is our job to see it through.

Dear A. Pryor,
Last week, friends of yours who bought a house about a year ago, made a startling discovery. The good wife was doing a little extra-curricular foraging in the attic when way back in the rafters what did she find but a large Swastika flag—standed at all!

She called the F.B.I. who were extremely interested. They in turn, got in touch with previous occupants of the house who had an explanation. It seems the last lady-of-the-house had purchased a rare emblem while touring Germany in 1930—just as a souvenir.

The following eve your pals went to the home of some friends to celebrate their wedding anniversary. The setting was perfect for a memorable ceremony. Cherry logs burned brightly, the champagne was poured, glasses were raised and, daintily quite the offending banner with the Swastika and consigned it to the flames.

Your ex-girl Thursday phoned her spouse one night last week at 3 a. m. It's on a defense job half the night she rushed to his garage and started a wild trip homeward at 40 miles per hour. A large Irishman on a motorcycle asked him, "What's the cop?" "My wife's having a baby," she shouted. "Ah," barked the cop. "I hear that 59 times a night."

"If you don't believe me, why don't you follow me?" said almost a 9222.

"Think I will," said the cop and they proceeded.

Ex-Girl Thursday was waiting at the door in her smock—a wonderful sight to see.

"Oh," stammered the cop, "You were right! You certainly were right," and he backed himself down the steps still staring.

"P. S.—It is a boy, Robert MacArthur, Jr."

Tax Boost

two municipalities, under the proposed amendment, might get together and perhaps be large enough to rate a supervisor, but that is hardly possible.

In further substantiation of this argument Mr. Carpenter points out that Dearborn with a population of 63,524, Highland Park with 29,810, and Hamtramck with 49,839, are certain to be represented with one supervisor apiece on this reduced board of only twenty-one as contemplated in this new scheme. This arrangement would leave but four supervisors to be named for all of the remainder of the county. The rest of the county readily divides itself into districts having sufficient population and, geographically located so far from the Pointe, that it stands for reason the Pointe will not be represented on the Board.

No Voice on Charter Draft
The elimination of Grosse Pointe from any voice in the new scheme of County Government occurs in the very inception of the plan. Provision is made in the initiation of the whole set-up in the petition which presented it before the people that, if approved next month, a Charter Commission is to be named made up of 19 Charter Commissioners, 11 of whom are to be elected from Detroit and one each from Dearborn, Highland Park and Hamtramck. Again it is not difficult to see where the Pointes, with scarcely a sixtieth of the population of the county, would fall to rate a single one of the remaining five Charter drafting commissioners to be selected from the rest of the county.

It is conceded that a Board of County Supervisors of 161 members is cumbersome and unnecessarily large, but Grosse Pointe with 5 members on the present Board feels much more capable of expressing its opinions on county matters than it will if deprived of any representation whatsoever.

At present the City of Grosse Pointe has four members, Councilmen Netting and Carpenter and Treasurer Osius and Charles A. Poupard. City status accounts for the larger representation. Carl Schwelker, G. P. supervisor, is the fifth member.

This is possibly not a very important matter at first glance yet neither is it palatable that the Pointe which rate by far the highest of any area in the county in the proportion of its taxable wealth to population should be ignored in the drafting of an organic law which may have so determining influence on all its subsequent relations with the functioning of the county of which it is such an important part.

Hard to Change Back
Another objection to the scheme is the inflexible character of the change which must be effected by an authorization in the state constitution itself. If the plan is found later to be unacceptable, wholly or in any part, the only way to correct it by a reversal of the same slow machinery by which it was originally made.

Mingiving was expressed in some quarters among citizens of the Pointes that with the large powers contemplated for the county and the domination of the Board of Supervisors by the city of Detroit there might be a disposition to make large increases in county taxes, even to the extent of raising them beyond the present limit of 35 mills, and to spend a large part of this money for the benefit of the City of Detroit under the guise of county purposes. The big taxpayers in the Pointes would have little relish for such an experience.

Less Home Rule Here
One great objection to the change which is easily discerned in the minds of practically all residents of this section is the fear that it is an encroachment on the very principle of Home Rule which was one of the chief reasons why thousands of former citizens of Detroit chose to go over into the Pointe region and build homes. Several citizens of the Pointes community expressed the belief that they could see little promise of advantage for this region in the change, with the imminent possibility of losing much.

One citizen put it this way: "It means a lot more of 'Home Rule' for Detroit but it looks to me like a lot less of it for Grosse Pointe."

An Illinois village with no crime problems donated 12 tons of metal from the local hog-slaughter to the salvage drive.

work for you more economically

Measured in terms of convenience and comfort, a hours of free and labor saved, your household electric service is one of the cheapest things you buy. Many of your electric appliances can be operated even more economically by following a few simple rules:

YOUR ELECTRIC RANGE. Conserve electricity by finishing surface cooking on "low" or stored heat. Plan economical meals (cook the entire meal at once). Use very little water in cooking (foods come up to "steaming" point more rapidly). Use the "hot" cooker on your range for low cost economical dishes. Avoid wasting heat by choosing "flat-bottomed" utensils just big enough to cover the heating unit. Always keep lid on utensils.

YOUR REFRIGERATOR. A blanket of ice around the coils of your refrigerator actually makes your refrigerator work for overtime—increases operating cost. Defrost it regularly for best economy's sake. For the same reason, don't put hot food in the refrigerator to cool. And don't open the door often or for longer than necessary, because this lets the heat in from the wall an inch or two to allow air circulation. Avoid covering the refrigerator for efficient operation. And cover all foods so that moisture won't collect on the freezing unit.

YOUR SMALL APPLIANCES. Don't leave appliances turned on when temporarily not in use (your electric iron or toaster, for example). Pull the plug, and connect the appliance again later when you are ready to use it.

G. P. Eleven Loses 19-0

Devils Lose Third in Row at Monroe; Duel Between Lamb and Bentley

Last Friday night the Blue Devils lost their second conference game to Monroe 19-0. It was their third defeat in a row. Battling an even team in the first half, Grosse Pointe worked in the second half and allowed three Monroe touchdowns. Two were scored on passes and the other on an end-tackle smash. The punters never really threatened. When they started to throw forward, a fumble or an intercepted pass would stall them. Monroe's scoring plays were set up by a blocked kick by Kals of Monroe, a fumble and an intercepted pass. The play in the first half was a punting duel between Lamb and Bentley. On the first play Bentley quick-kicked 50 yards to the Pointers 15-yard line. Bentley's kicking kept the Pointers back on their heels as he averaged 45 yards per kick in the first half.

Neither team threatened until Monroe started a belated drive in the last few minutes of the second quarter. The play started around mid-field with Monroe taking the offensive twice, but the Devils stopped these drives without any difficulty. The punters' lack of scoring punts was evident as was the lack of blocking in the line. Four punts were blocked and this factor was indirectly the cause of the defeat. The game was closely played, for there was only two 10-play monies, both charged to Monroe while the Devils were penalized 5 yards for out-ofside.

An average home burns enough fuel oil in a year to drive a de-buster 50 miles.

McDonald's Stand On War Work

Claude G. McDonald, Republican candidate for Congress from the 14th District, emphasizes the need of constructive criticism from the standpoint of the business and government affairs at this time. In the local application of this thought he believes that as a candidate born and raised in the district he is particularly qualified to speak for this section. He lives at 17300 Maurice, Grosse Pointe.

Mr. McDonald stresses the importance of a complete and early victory in the war. He pledges himself, when elected, to do all in his power to remove all delaying obstacles to national victory. He is against strikes in defense plants for the duration but insists that labor should always be heard and grievances removed to the end that arbitration should be effective without stoppage of work.

He says, "I consider it irresponsible to hinder, delay or hinder behind the lines while our boys are giving their all for freedom. He believes it is imperative for the public for a candidate to give a lot of campaign decorations which must later be found untrue and at variance with the National interests. He intends, however, to make clear his position from time to time as the campaign progresses on certain issues as they unfold."

A Philadelphia refining company recently jettisoned old and defective equipment and obsolete plants, putting about 1,000 tons of steel for the scrap metal campaign—enough to provide all the steel needed in manufacture of fifty Flying Fortresses.

The rubber on U. S. trucks and buses is wearing out at the rate of 35,000 tons a day.

'Sergeant York' Coming Friday

The only new screen attraction down town this week will be at the Madison Theatre starting Friday for one week when the award winning, "Sergeant York" will be shown for the first time in Detroit at POPULAR PRICES. On the same feature will be the new Freddy Martin, Ann Shirley, George Murphy musical picture, "The Music of 44th Street," "Sergeant York" will be shown as a case of advanced prices and features Gary Cooper, Detroit's own Joan Leslie, and Walter Brennan in the story of America's first World War hero, Sergeant York from Tennessee.

"The Music of 44th Street" is the smashing story of juvenile saboteurs in one of the most unique musical comedies ever to be publicly aired. The action is blended with the powerful soul stirring music made famous by Martin and Piano Concerto Orchestra, who besides introducing his sensational hit, also presents for the first time a quartet of new songs that will be the top tunes of tomorrow, including "Sweet on Lake Louise," "You're Bad for Me," "A Million Miles from Manhattan," and "Heavenly, Isn't It?"

Detroiters will have one more week to discover if Ginger Rogers is a lot or whether she is kidding in "The Major and the Minor," as that laugh hit is continuing for another week at the Madison Theatre with the exciting companion feature "Fly By Night" starring Richard Carlson and sweetly Nancy Kelly.

Lovely Ginger plays the part of a work-shy New York girl who decides to go back home to Iowa but finds she doesn't have enough money to do so. "Fly By Night" is the thrilling story of a boy and girl who met at midnight—married at dawn—and who faced the possibility of never living the day out.

Rotary Governor Speaks at Noon Meeting

The Grosse Pointe Rotary Club, which meets every Monday noon at the Whittier, had as its speaker, Alex Moore, of Wayne, Michigan, who is governor of the 13th district of International Rotary. This district comprises southeastern Michigan and parts of Ontario.

Mr. Moore visits each of the various Rotary clubs throughout his district once a year, and this was his annual visit to the Grosse Pointe Rotarians.

Also, a ten minute talk on the War Chest activities was given by Arthur P. Johnson, who is Fire Commissioner of Grosse Pointe Park.

A club assembly was held an hour before the regular meeting, Monday, by the District Governor, for the discussion of club affairs with the Grosse Pointe Rotary officials.

Let's Go, Men!

Hands on her hips, a smile on her lips and a sparkle in her eyes, Lynn Bari looks all set to go places and do things with Henry Fonda, Don Ameche, "Dope" which opens at the Cinescopia Friday, along with Diana Barrymore and Robert Stack in "Eagle Squadron."

Girl Scout News

At the meeting of the Girl Scout leaders and the Committee Women of Grosse Pointe held yesterday in the Miller Building, led by Mrs. J. H. Hunsaker, vice-president of the Detroit Council, a Board of Directors, chairman of the Grosse Pointe executive committee, on the executive work being done by her group.

Robert Boyer Dies Of Heart Attack

Death due to a heart attack came swiftly to Robert Boyer, 49, 791 Lincoln Road, last Friday at 3 p. m. Upon finding her husband unconscious, Mrs. Boyer called her neighbor, Mrs. George Henry Smith, 797 Lincoln Road, who in turn notified the police.

Patrolman J. Casey and J. Rens of the Grosse Pointe City Police answered the call and found Boyer lying across his bed unconscious. A call to the station brought Officer B. McFarlin to the scene with the department's inhalator which was used for 25 minutes without success. Dr. Hugh Stalker, E. Jefferson, a heart specialist, and Dr. Stanley C. Waggoner, Windmill Pointe Drive, their family physician, arrived a few minutes later and pronounced him dead.

Mr. Boyer was the manager of the Detroit office of the Prudential Life Insurance for many years prior to his death. Services were held at the Verbruggen Funeral Home, St. Avenue, and burial was in London, Ohio, Monday.

Mr. Boyer is survived by his wife, Pauline, a daughter, Harriet, and his mother, Mrs. Ella Boyer.

Romantic Mystery At Punch Friday

"Kid Glove Killer" which dramatizes the efficient and beautiful crime detection, will play at the Punch and Judy Theatre this Friday and Saturday evening.

Featuring Ivan Hedin, Marsha Hunt and Lee Bowman, the picture combines the exciting and unusual with an unusual triangular romance.

With Hedin enacting the police chemist, Marsha Hunt as his assistant and Bowman as the boy, the story opens with the dropping of a man into the Detroit attorney. From that point on, the action develops rapidly with well-acted interest. Sammie S. Hinds, Cliff Clark and Eddie Quilian have the strong supporting roles.

At the Saturday matinee and 1 p. m.—Freddie Bartholomew will be starred in the colorful film, "Cadets on Parade."

The men who wrote history with their wings—America's first aviators—will be featured in the screen drama, "Flight Lieutenant" which plays at the Punch and Judy Theatre Tuesday with Pat O'Brien, Glenn Ford and Evelyn Keyes.

O'Brien is seen as a carefree pilot who is the envy of all the other aviation enthusiasts in the decade which followed, until he crashes one night during a commercial flight. Drunk when he crashed, and responsible for the death of his only son, he is unable to adjust himself to ordinary civilian life, he leaves his young son in America and joins a wildcat airline in the tropics, where he hopes one night during a commercial flight. ### Operation Fatal To Geo. Robinson

George Hubert Robinson, 40 of Washington, the son of Mrs. Antoinette Bloom Robinson, was taken by death last Monday following an operation at the Grosse Pointe Hospital unit on 7 Mile Road. He was operated on the Monday previous to his death and was unconscious. A call to the station brought Officer B. McFarlin to the scene with the department's inhalator which was used for 25 minutes without success. Dr. Hugh Stalker, E. Jefferson, a heart specialist, and Dr. Stanley C. Waggoner, Windmill Pointe Drive, their family physician, arrived a few minutes later and pronounced him dead.

Mr. Boyer is survived by his wife, Pauline, a daughter, Harriet, and his mother, Mrs. Ella Boyer.

Comedy, Thriller Together at Alger

A delightful combination of dancing and comedy will be featured at the Alger Theatre this Friday.

Miss Powell offers five completely new dance routines. In one she actually uses her Morse code message to entice her friends that enemy agents are operating.

Red Skelton is as usual, indelible in his comedy role as the stator of Miss Powell, Virginia O'Brien and Bert Lahr add to the amusement.

The second Alger feature will be "The Big Shot" starring Humphrey Bogart. It is a witty comedy story of a one-time underworld big shot who has to take care of a man who is to whom he once gave the orders.

Bogart plays the role of the has-been gangster who makes one last desperate bid for the power he had before his third stroke up the river. It is a role to which only Humphrey Bogart could do full justice. Appearing opposite him is lovely blonde Irene Ryan, who makes her last debut in "The Big Shot."

April 1st, 1941 — March 31st, 1942

Stanley J. Winterhalter, Certified Public Accountant
April 4, 1942

To the Supervisor and Board of Trustees, Township of Grosse Pointe, Michigan.
Gentlemen:
Pursuant to your request, we have completed an audit of the records of the Township of Grosse Pointe for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1942. Our audit consisted of a detailed verification of all recorded receipts and disbursements and a reconciliation of all bank and fund balances as at March 31, 1942.

As a result of this examination, we are submitting our report which in our opinion correctly sets forth the financial transactions for the township for the above mentioned period.
Respectfully submitted,
S. J. Winterhalter.

September 15th, 1942

Honorable Members of Township Board, Grosse Pointe, Michigan.
Dear Sirs:

In accordance with your request we have made an audit of the Cash Receipts and Disbursements for the period April 1, 1942 to July 31, 1942. We are presenting herewith the following exhibits and schedules:

EXHIBIT
"A"—Statement of Receipts and Disbursements for the period April 1, 1942 to July 31, 1942.

SCHEDULE
No. 1—Appropriations, Payments and Balances as at July 31, 1942.

The various bank accounts were verified by reconciliation with the bank statements. The cash deposits were identified with the recorded cash received. All checks issued supporting authorized vouchers were scrutinized and were found to be proper charges against the Township funds.

In addition to this cash trace we have been instructed to determine the cash balances of the various funds and to determine the amount of Township and School delinquent taxes receivable on real estate and personal property.

As this work progresses we shall submit reports applicable to the various phases of it.
Respectfully submitted,
