

President Deming and Trustees Muir and Wright Quit Farms Council in Protest Against Majority's Methods

City Is Still Considering Rail Problem

Request for Quitclaim Discloses That Council Knows Little of Subject

Mayor Rumney stated at the Council meeting of the City Monday night that within the last five or six weeks notice had been served on him to quitclaim the City's interest in the rails buried on East Jefferson avenue.

This was in order that the Wayne County Road Commission, in whose favor the quitclaim was to be executed, might in turn send them on their way for use by the War Production Board.

The Mayor stated he had no disposition to withhold these rails from the Production Board but he was "mightily interested in knowing in advance what kind of pavement job would be done on the avenue when the rails were removed."

Unanimous Opinion
It was the unanimous opinion of the Council that the City of Grosse Pointe had the unquestioned right to write the specifications for the replacing of the pavement. This was quite apart from the still unsettled question of the ultimate ownership of the rails, since the expiration of the franchise of the Eastern Traction company.

The Mayor was also anxious to know whether the job would be done expeditiously and in workmanlike manner if the rails were removed. He had also asked the question whether the work was proposed to be done "by the WPA."

Economy Is Doubled
Most of the Councilmen doubted the economical results of the job. It was reported, some of them said, that the cost of removing the rails in the Farms, in a similar job, and counting the cost of relaying the pavement, had brought the total cost of the rails to nearly $65 a ton, which had to be paid out of some bill, regardless of the fact that the Farms municipality was reported to have made an actual profit by the operation.

Mayor Rumney was not at all enthusiastic about the removal of the rails and remarked "we may need them yet to run trolley cars on before this thing is over."

Just why this question which has been before the community for many months is not more thoroughly digested and arranged at this late date was not developed at the meeting.

77 Street Lights Removed in City

The substantial street lights bedded in concrete bases used in Grosse Pointe City belong to the Detroit Edison company and recently the company has been removing some of them for service elsewhere.

The lamps removed, or earmarked for removal, total 77 and in all cases are lights which have been out of service for from 7 to 10 years.

During the depression, when the city in common with other municipalities throughout the country was seeking ways of saving money, these lights were discontinued.

The difficulty of obtaining new street lights now due to war conditions, makes them very valuable to the Edison company. The whole arrangement is mutually agreeable to the company and the city. The company gets the lights and the City has removed from its streets unused and more or less unsightly encumbrances.

The City still has in service 292 lights of varying candle power.

Detroit Policeman Hurt In Fall in Pointe Home

Oscar Niewenhuyse, aged 28, of 4829 Rohms, Detroit, a member of the Detroit police force, slipped on the polished floor of the recreation room in a home at 946 Balfour road and cut his head quite badly on broken glass.

He was taken to the Cottage Hospital where he was treated but held for further attention when it was discovered he had severed an artery.

At last reports he was progressing towards satisfactory recovery.

Victory Gardeners Urged To Disregard Wild Rumors Of Vegetable Seed Shortage

Ignorance or Anti-American Propaganda Blamed for Stories Which Threaten Much-Needed Augmented Food Supply

Rumors concerning a shortage of vegetable seeds for American gardens are spiked in no uncertain terms by Vincent R. DePetris, horticultural coordinator of the OCD for the Grosse Pointe area, in the following communication:

"Wild rumors by misinformed persons are being circulated purporting as originating in official circles that there exists at this time a grave shortage of vegetable seeds for American gardens.

"The general effect of these false rumors are to deter people from undertaking the preparation for home and Victory Gardens in the raising of much needed vegetables this coming summer.

"I want to state in the most emphatic terms that these rumors are false and entirely without foundation of fact.

"I have made a thorough investigation of the vegetable seed supply available for 1943. Both government agencies and various seed firms have assured me that there will be an ample supply of vegetable seed for the 1943 season.

"A letter from an official of the Ferry-Morse Seed Co., one of the largest in America, attached herewith, is self explanatory.

"Like many rumors which originate either through ignorance of the real facts or which are circulated as anti-American propaganda this rumor on seed shortage may have serious consequences if it is not immediately spiked.

Two Musketeers May Be Dead But One Still Lives in Farms

On the Farms Police blotter, one of the entries for this week is that Mrs. Miller, housekeeper at the Hunt Club, lost her purse on Saturday morning, when she took her daughter to the bus. In the purse were 22 dollars and her gas rationing card. A few hours later, it was found and returned by Raymond Allor.

Those are the facts, the whole facts and nothing but the facts—BUT, it gave us pause for thought. In fact we could—if asked—write a whole novel about this incident. We can picture Mrs. Miller suffering from an attack of "red tape-worm", trying to get the rationing board to fill out the blank that has to be sent to the board who has to fill out the blank to send to the bored board that has to pass on all blankety-blanks that are filled out by people who lose their ration cards.

Then we come to the hero of the story—Raymond Allor. Who is Mr. Allor? The police blotter

To Enlist All Ultimate Aim Of War Clubs

The work of organizing "War Clubs" in The Grosse Pointe area will be under way very shortly. It will be under the immediate direction of Mrs. Henry Burritt, chairman of the Neighborhood War Clubs Committee of both the Citizens' Defense Corps and of the AWVS.

Mrs. Burritt is a member of the Executive Committee of the Citizens' Service Corps which is composed of practically every war effort organization in the Pointe. John J. O'Brien of Grosse Pointe Farms is chairman of the Executive Committee.

The Citizens' Service Corps, which originated in Washington as recently as last November, has as its ultimate aim the enlistment of every man and woman, and of every boy and girl beyond the ages of early childhood in the entire nation, in that form of war service for which each is best qualified.

Everyone Must Fight
Undoubtedly the underlying thought is to bring to the entire civilian population a consciousness that we are engaged in a total war in which every one must fight, and not merely the soldiers, sailors and marines.

Those who have been slow to realize that we are pitted against enemy nations which have pursued this concept of modern war for years, even before the outbreak of actual war, will be made aware of their individual responsibilities when it is put up

Council Aims Vote Problem

Solons Are Apathetic to Idea of Adding New Precincts for Elections

The agitation that has been maintained in some quarters in the City for additional voting precincts came into the open at the City Council meeting Monday night.

The city has but one voting precinct but as the proportion of voters who come out to the polls in the city, as well as in the other Pointe areas, is very small, it has served its purpose quite well, as maintained by Councilmen Netting and Mack.

Rumney Not Enthusiastic
Mayor Rumney, who was himself not at all enthusiastic about more precincts, said that an opinion on the legal obligation to provide more precincts had been obtained from the State Attorney General.

This opinion in substance was that it was entirely legal for the City to retain a single voting precinct. If on the other hand, it was decided to create new precincts to the population, which would be approximately one precinct for each 650 of the voting population.

This would mean six additional voting districts in the City, or seven altogether.

Would Cost a Lot
In view of the very considerable additional expense entailed in the manning of six more precincts on every primary or regular election, there was a general opposition expressed by the councilmen to the proposal.

The voting capacity at the City building is about 4 per minute which, if maintained at maximum for a 13 hour voting day, would accommodate 3120 voters. Inasmuch as seldom more than 2,000 votes are polled at the City precinct, the Councilmen thought the present situation was satisfactory.

Schools Grant All Employees Boost in Pay

Action Comes After Three Months of Study of Various Adjustment Plans

Culminating three months study of various plans for meeting cost of living adjustment within the limitations of the current year's budget, the Grosse Pointe Board of Education granted a special ten percent increase to all employees at its Annual Budget Review Meeting, January 13.

The ten percent increase is on all salaries for the remainder of the current budget year which ends June 30, 1943 and is effective as of January 18. It is limited to the amount of $125.00 which any employee may receive during that period. In other words, it will not, in general be applicable to any portion of an employee's salary exceeding $2500 per year.

Next Budget Considered
This increase will not be a part of the normal salary schedule of the school employees upon which employees receive regularly scheduled annual increases in the new budget year beginning July 1, 1943. The Board of Education felt that they could not anticipate any tax-collection reserves or savings in budget expenditures beyond that point.

According to Dr. Paul L. Essert, Superintendent of Schools, in his announcement of the pay increase to the employees, Friday, January 15, "Many of the plans submitted to the Board of Education by different employe groups, either seriously threatened the operation of the normal salary schedule during 1943, or did not clearly anticipate that the Board of Education is operating at practically the limit of the 15 mill tax rate for the Township, County and School District. If a mill levy was submitted to the Allocation Board in July, 1943 which was based on our present budget plus the normally scheduled increases and an additional 10 percent for cost of living adjustment of salaries, there is strong probability that the mill levy would exceed our limitation.

Dire Threat
"This will be almost a certainty if we lose the present allocation of $50,000 of the State Aid Priority."

Police of City Have Busy Year

Chief of Police Tom Trombly of the City presented his report for the year 1942 at the Council meeting last Monday which contained a mass of detail showing the operations of the City Police department for the year.

Among many items were such as—

Total complaints entered on docket, 2514.

The Patrol cars travelled 98,434 miles in the year and used 7741 gallons of gas.

Accidents reported, 72 minor and 28 more serious, total 100.

There were 286 arrests made during the year and $2669 collected in Police Court.

Bad checks given to local merchants during the year totaled $500, of which $450 was recovered for them by the police.

Tickets for traffic violations 286. Finger prints made (many for OCD), 2793. A copy of every finger print is sent to the FBI at Washington.

Dogs picked up on complaint 139, of which 67 were sent to the Humane Society for disposal and 72 were redeemed by their owners at a cost of $2 each.

Automobile operators' licenses issued (which included a goodly number of 14 year old children), 1189.

Big Red Cross Drive Job Given Tiedeman

Pointer Will Handle Important Task of Getting Contributions From 5,000 Industries and Their Employes

The very important post of chairman of the Industrial Division of the 1943 Red Cross campaign in the Greater Detroit area, will be filled again this year by a resident of the Pointe, Carsten Tiedeman of Kenwood road, who is associated with the Gear Grinding Machine Company.

Richard Grant, vice-president of General Motors Corporation, will assist Mr. Tiedeman as co-chairman.

Mr. Tiedeman has been working for some weeks perfecting his organization, which is charged with the tremendous task of soliciting contributions from more than 5000 industrial corporations and their employes in Wayne County.

Ernest Kanzler of Touraine road was chairman of the industrial division of last year's campaign.

This year's campaign, because of the demands of war, is expected to be the most important ever conducted and the quota will undoubtedly be larger than heretofore. The opening date, which is expected to be March 1, will be officially announced later.

When the Lights Come on Again..

Prompted by publicity given the fact that the Michigan State Highway Department has cut out hundreds of traffic lights to save motorists gas-consuming stopping and starting, the Farms council recently asked its police department to see if there were any lights in the village which could be eliminated.

The trustees, sitting in meeting Monday night, heard the report from Police Chief Fluitt.

The Wayne County Road Commission owns three of the lights in the municipality, those at Seven Mile and Mack, at Seven Mile and Lake Shore, and at Fisher and Kercheval.

The village owns three: at Seven Mile and Kercheval, at Oak and Kercheval and at Fisher road and Grosse Pointe boulevard.

Two of these, at Seven Mile and Lake Shore, at Oak and Kercheval are blinkers at night, or during light traffic hours. None of them can be eliminated with safety, said the police chief.

Rubber Commission Oblivious As Silly Ash Is Twice Girdled

Woodman, spare that tree." Mr. Langdon, of 367 Moross, who formerly lived at 319 Hillcrest, is the accused woodman, and Mr. Bailey, of 315 Hillcrest, the owner of a six-inch ash tree that was attacked, according to the outline of the story which appears this week on the records of the Farms police department.

Mr. Bailey, who avers he doesn't want to prefer charges, confided to the police that he had been asked to remove the ash tree, by Mr. Langdon, who said it threatened his fence. Mr. Bailey didn't comply with the request, but he hastens to explain that last Sunday morning he found the silly ash twice girdled.

... which is a lot of girdle in these harrowing days of no rubber.

The account goes on to state that when he lifted his agonized eyes from the twin girdles he saw fresh footprints in the fresh snow, leading from the threatened fence, close by the attacked ash, to the house which had occupied until a few days previous by the Langdons.

He further declares that it was a well-known fact that the Langdons had, on the day and night previous, been back in the house, tidying up, or such.

Mr. Bailey just wanted the police to know this as a matter of record. He didn't wish to prefer charges.

Resignations Submitted to Clerk Furton

Dissent Stirred Up by Handling of Wage Increase Demands of Employes

President Paul Deming and Trustees William K. Muir and Edward P. Wright of Grosse Pointe Farms have resigned their posts in the village government in protest against "methods followed by that majority which now dominates the Council."

The resignations were made public at the meeting of the Farms council Monday night with the reading of the following letter, dated January 12.

Their Letter
Clerk of the Village of Grosse Pointe Farms, 90 Kerby Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan.

Dear Sir: We hereby resign as President and Trustees, respectively, of the Village of Grosse Pointe Farms. The Village has cause to be proud of a fine body of employees. They have well merited the just consideration given their request. We believe from the facts available to us that they have in

Sewage Costs Rise in City

Detroit DPW Sends Communication Regarding Revision of Contract

A communication from the Detroit Department of Public Works was read at the City Council meeting on January 18 regarding the revision of the contract for sewage disposal between the City and the City of Detroit. This contract was entered into some years ago and provides for a revision every five years. This year's revision bases from the figure that obtained in 1938.

The charges for this work are associated with the changes in population, which led to a minor revision when the census figures for 1940 were published. Last year the cost to the City for this service was about $4050, while the new schedule of charges proposed by Detroit will run about $4200 annually.

In addition to this charge the City also pays Detroit for sewage treatment and its prorated share in the capital charge for the Detroit pumping station which was finished about five or six years ago.

This property was erected with the view of caring for the needs of the neighboring Grosse Pointe communities. These in turn shared in the cost of its erection, based upon their expected use of the service.

The total cost to the City of its sewage disposal, and treatment, plus this capital charge is about $12,000 a year.

Farms Chief Pronounces Convent Buildings Safe

In response to a request that an inspection of the buildings of the Convent of the Sacred Heart in Grosse Pointe Farms be made, Chief George Dansbury of the village fire department informed the trustees at their regular meeting Monday night that these structures are perfectly safe and comply with all safety laws.

The inspection was made December 29, according to the chief's report, by himself, Deputy State Fire Marshal Moore and Village Building Inspector Beau-pre.

Fine Joke on Himself Told by City Official

A fine joke on himself was admitted by one of the Grosse Pointe City officials at the Council meeting the other night.

He plumb forgot to draw his own salary for the last two weeks of December until after the first of the year and Uncle Sam laid his horny hand (5 per cent Victory Tax) on his shrinking shoulder.

And to make the faux pas still more inexplicable, he was the same official who, in his official capacity, had seen to it that everybody else on the City payroll "got his", pronto—and minus the tax.

Error!

One of the higher officials of the Civilian Service Corps in Grosse Pointe made tentative inquiries of some of the officials of Grosse Pointe City whether this organization would be permitted to string a banner across Kercheval avenue in front of its headquarters.

The matter was informally but earnestly discussed by the Council of the City at its last meeting. The unanimity with which the request was debated, unfavorably, was startling, possibly revealing.

The City Fathers were deeply concerned over the disfigurement of the City's business section. One of them remarked, with which the others seemed to concur, "We must be careful about establishing a precedent.

"Why! the first thing we know the Red Cross and then maybe the AWVS and a lot of other organizations will be asking to do the same thing."

Now, isn't that something horrible to contemplate?

Perish the thought that in war time the patriotic organizations of the community, made up of earnest men and women who labor tirelessly to carry on the civilian's part in this war, should dare to ask to display their work and sound their slogans in signs across the street in the community's business section.

And all this at a time when the Government and thousands of private concerns are carrying on, by every device known to publicity, the most intensive patriotic propaganda ever undertaken in this nation.

Next in order would be for the City Fathers to prohibit the display of service stars in the windows of the homes of the community or question the right of the mothers of dead soldier sons to wear gold stars.

Plain John Citizen thinks the appropriate response of the Council to his request, and all others of similar source, should have been, CERTAINLY, fill the avenue with banners from keel to crownst and make them as long, wide, colorful and appealing as you can.

This, whether they meant it or not, would have been a gesture in patriotism from the governing body of the City of Grosse Pointe which would have been enthusiastically approved by every citizen, except those of Nazi or Japanese leanings, if such exist in this community.

In Our Own Interest

There are still many persons in this country who fail to see that the regulations and control which the Government seeks to impose in the use of gas is conceived almost wholly in their own individual interest. Many rebel against the restrictions on gas and argue that there is plenty of it. These gloss over as immaterial the vast quantities required for our military operations over seas and the loss of an important part of the shipping customarily used for its transportation into the home market.

The Government has frankly said that rubber must be saved and to do this there must be less driving. It has already been well demonstrated that the only way to conserve rubber is to sprag driving and this means to curtail gas.

Unless driving is largely stopped, except when genuinely necessary, and when no other means of transportation is available, the time will soon come when all of the tires will be worn out with no more in sight to replace them.

This is the real issue. The Government realizes the chaos that would result if automobile transportation should cease entirely and it is to make tires last until we are within an appreciable period of replacement that these restrictions have been imposed. The people should be willing to cooperate with this necessary restriction which is aimed primarily at serving their own convenience and needs.

It is regrettable that many persons cannot see this and still insist upon regarding driving restrictions as a needless and unjustified interference with their own pleasure.

This group will be the first to complain when their tires are gone and they cannot get others.

Congress Speaks Out

The earliest expressions emanating from the new Congress convey the clear thought that its members intend to preserve its constitutional powers and to assume their responsibilities as representatives of the people in their Government.

Basically the members of the Senate and House have all of the argument on their side. The very essence of the American scheme is that it is a government which the people themselves rule through their elected representatives.

Already, because of the exigencies of war, many of those powers have been temporarily surrendered. It is the purpose of the members, now openly expressed, that this surrender, in no particular, shall be construed as permanent. It is not hard to envisage the germ of a Congressional-Executive battle here that will recall the days of Jackson, Lincoln and Cleveland.

Deep down in their hearts the people will side with the Congress. Being at war, and irrevocably committed to winning it, they are agreeable to the surrender for the time being to the Executive of such powers as are indicated as necessary for the successful conduct of the war.

But there should be no misunderstanding in the White House of the popular mind. The people prefer and intend to be ruled by representatives of their own choosing rather than by a system of Bureaus set up and subject to a single individual, even though that individual happens to be their own president.

More Parking Lots Needed

There has not been a sufficient following of the lead made by the Park Village in establishing parking lots in Grosse Pointe area.

No community of comparable size is more dependent on individual transportation than this area. It is going to be without its customary means of travel for a long, long time to come.

It is the obligation of the different municipal subdivisions of the Pointe area to provide places at convenient locations where the citizens can drive and leave their care while waiting for a bus or to make their own arrangements for group riding.

There are plenty of vacant lots throughout the region where parking space can be found and presumably on as favorable terms as those obtained in the Park where all the Park Village had to pay in the form of rent was the equivalent of the taxes on the land.

Saving War Time

The Attorney General of Michigan says in effect that the right to regulate time for the whole Nation during war vests with the National Government.

Regardless of the undoubted sound legal basis upon which his opinion rests, it is plain common sense.

The practice of advancing the clocks an hour or more originated in England during the last war as a means of saving costs in the production of artificial light. The plan was adopted here as soon as we entered the war. There was a willing acceptance of the measure then and a general recognition of the advantages of having an additional hour of daylight for play as well as work.

Some farmers objected that the dew dried on the grass by the sun rather than the clock, but the people in general thought the measure a wise one in conservation, and just, because it applied to all alike and was nationwide.

So popular was "daylight saving time" that for a number of years following the war, which ended it as a national measure, many states, cities and even isolated small communities retained it. This variation in time between adjoining cities or states led to confusion and was frequently referred to as a nuisance, and caused much irritation, but the only important criticism was that it was not a national provision.

In the present war the President, by an executive order, has reestablished "war time" for the Nation again, which is identically the same thing we did last time. It was a good measure then and is now.

Most of the citizens of this state will be glad that the opinion of their Attorney General has placed a barrier against its departure from the general scheme for daylight saving that has been set up for the whole country.

Every section of this great country is too closely knit with every other section to tolerate any local digression from the reading of the clock as wisely determined for all by the Federal Government. Although the measure, which in effect denies the Government's establishment of War Time, has already passed the House at Lansing, and may pass the Senate, the unequivocal opinion of the clear thinking Attorney General will give Governor Kelly something to ponder, if and when the measure is laid on his desk.

Duke Ellington, who celebrates his 20th year as a band leader with a concert at Carnegie Hall on the 23rd, owes his vogue among the serious music-lovers to Leopold Stokowski and Percy Grainger, both of whom recognized that here was someone not to be classified with the run-of-the-mill boogie-woogie musicians and composers. . . . mary and Supplement Fund. If we could convince the Legislature that this State Aid should be retained in Grosse Pointe, it is possible that the 10 percent increase could be continued over the 1943-1944 school budget year. In other words, the Board of Education felt that while its employees needed some assurance of relief from salary deficits due to rising costs of living and increased competition of industry with school salaries, it could not give such assurance beyond the current budget year.

"No pain that the heart can hold is like to this one;
To call forgetting into empty space;
To reach out confident arms and find beside you
Only an empty place.

This then shall atone for the hours when I forget you;
Take thou my offering—clean and sharp and sweet;
An agony brighter than years of dull remembrance—
I lay it at your feet."

A Grosse Pointe lady of means and means, having given up the hope of getting any meat from her local market, decided to try some "out-of-way" butcher shops to see if she couldn't persuade them to sell her some, no matter what the cost. Her chauffeur drove her to what might be termed a "questionable" neighborhood; parked the car about a block away from the store, to which Madam made her way in search of meat. A lone butcher stood behind the counter, picking his teeth. Madam rose above this gesture, advanced, and said in accents soft and Oxford. "I hear that you have some meat! I should like to purchase whatever you have, and I'm prepared to pay the price."

The butcher stopped his exercises long enough to say, "Sure lady, I got filly mignon—lots of it." Our heroine beamed on him. "That's wonderful—I'll take all you have." As she was opening her purse to pay for this gold-mine, the butcher said, "You don't look like the kind a lady who'd eat horse meat."

"Horse meat," gasped Madam. "But you said 'fillet mignon'—I don't understand." "Yeah," replied our hero, "That's what I said. 'Filly—f-i-l-l-y. A filly's a horse and that's what I got—horse meat."

Madam left in a huff, which incidentally is very becoming for her.

THE HORRORS OF WAR DEPT.

We received a letter from a local woman who is now in Florida, "spending" the winter. She tells us that driving anywhere is practically impossible, unless it be for the war effort—but feeling that she ought to "carry on" with her social activities (to keep up the morale), she has made a deal with the company that owns the "bicycle basket chairs." In former days, these chairs were pedaled by colored boys and the price was fifty cents an hour. The deal this woman has made, is to rent the wheel chair by the month, at a hundred dollars a week—the chair being at her disposal for the entire month—and the wheel "boy," who will pedal her from one social event to the other, is about seventy years old. Of course she'd just as soon have the boy a hundred years old and pay seventy dollars a week—but it's just as we said—one of the horrors of war!

From the Chicago Daily News, we find this bit of war horror: "The tail feathers of Lady Strickland's prize peacocks are growing out again following the blast of a land mine dropped on the Strickland estate. Lady Strickland, (the widow of Lord Strickland), who is very deaf—was herself blown off her feet by the same blast that blew away the peacock's tail feathers; but she calmly remarked as she got up, "At last I've heard something."
After we read that, we wiped our first opinion off our face.

Two tid-bits in the mail this week—one from a man who says that to a business man, "resigned" is just a pretty euphemism for "fired." He says he likes the testimonial letter attributed to a friend of his, to wit: "Mr. Whosis left our employ for reasons beyond his control," to wit—

In one of our other MILLIONS of letters, a gent has this to say: "That grand old marching-song of World War I applies more to business men than to soldiers in World War II—"Where do we go from here boys, where do we go from here."
And soooooo—the less we tarry—the more harkari—BUY BONDS!

Employees No. 77, affiliated with the American Federation of State, County and Municipal employees were all reviewed by the Board of Education in its final decision. Various features of each of these plans were applied in the adopted formula.

This plan parallels a cost of living adjustment of a year ago of a flat $50.00 for all employees, excepting administrative. The only difference is that the formula of a year ago automatically assured those in the lower brackets a higher percentage increase. Upward revision of the normal salary schedule a year ago favored those in the lower salary brackets.

The Board felt, that in the light of these previous increases which favored the lower salaried employees, that this adjustment should be based on an even percentage increase even though the amount received would be high for those at maximum salary levels. Many of these employees at maximum levels have not advanced more than 3-5 percent in the past two years even though cost of living have advanced 20 percent.

On the other hand, many employees on lower levels have advanced 15 percent to 25 percent during the past two years, due to normal operation of the salary schedule and last year's cost-of-living addition.

"A Much Finer Funeral FOR A LOWER COST"

This is the answer you will get if you ask any of the several thousand families who have used Harris Service. There are good reasons for such expressions of satisfaction: "finer" because both Harris Homes are restful, dignified and have the most modern facilities—"lower cost" because the large number of Harris Funerals makes possible a considerably lower unit overhead charge.

Every Harris Funeral includes more than 50 items of thoughtful service. A comparison will quickly convince you that a Harris Funeral has definite advantages in prestige, quality and cost.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Judge, I didn't realize till the other night when I ran across an article in the paper what a whale of a lot of industrial alcohol the government needs for the war."
"I should say it does, Chet. I understand the beverage distillers around the country are producing about 240,000,000 gallons of industrial alcohol this year for ammunition, tires, and other things. I'd say it's mighty fortunate these distillers are available to do the job. Otherwise, if we still had prohibition, the government would have had to spend millions of dollars and use up a lot of critical materials to build plants...to say nothing of all the time it would take. It might have been just another case of 'too little, too late'."

Pointers Contribute Large Tin Collection

Area Has Increased Its Salvage in Each of Four Pickups; Total Given Saturday Estimated at 31 1/2 Tons

Neil Blondell, Grosse Pointe representative on the Wayne County Salvage Committee, is greatly pleased with the results of the Saturday collection of tin cans. This was the fourth collection in the series that started early last fall.

Mr. Blondell estimated the collection Monday morning at 31 1/2 tons, which is a lot of processed tin cans. The other collections netted 7, 14, and 21 tons respectively. The Saturday pickup was sent on its usual course, ultimately to the detinning plant at Pittsburgh where a separation is made of the tin and solder from the iron scrap and the several component parts all become a form of highly valuable scrap greatly needed in many departments of the war industry. It is now estimated that only 15 per cent and 20 per cent of the households in Grosse Pointe are failing to save and process their cans. Mr. Blondell thinks that the maximum collection for his area will produce between 35-37 tons of cans on each pickup.

There will be another collection in 6 weeks to 2 months.

City Bowlers Conquer Park

Cocky Winners Issue Another Challenge and Hope For More Competition

The City of Grosse Pointe bowling team outclassed the Grosse Pointe Park Police bowling team on Jan. 13 at the Grosse Pointe Woods bowling alley.

The following score would lead one to believe it was a closely contested match, but the fact of the matter is that the City of Grosse Pointe boys say they saw the type of bowlers they were up against, so they just kind of coasted, so to speak, and just exerted themselves enough to keep ahead, so they would get a return match in the future. That is, when the Grosse Pointe Park Bowlers get in little more practice.

The City of Grosse Pointe issued a further challenge to them when they get in a little more practice. (Sgt. Louwers of Grosse Pointe Park please note.)

practice is to permit about this length of time to increase between collections, as it is calculated that the accumulation of cans in this period will be sufficient to make a collection profitable.

Despite the large percentage of households that are contributing to the can scrap, Mr. Blondell urges that none of the donors lapse from the good habit.

Tin cans will accumulate in every household as long as food or other commodities are packaged in tin and the obligation to save them and make them available for war industry is a continuing one that will last for the duration.

Red Hot Pointe Blue Devils Conquer Touted Royal Oak

Fourth Straight Win and Second League Victory Chalked Up as Local Basketball Stars Display Real Talent

Grosse Pointe's red hot Blue Devils rolled on their merry way, chalking up their fourth consecutive win in six games and second win against one loss in league competition, when they defeated a highly touted Royal Oak squad, Friday night 37-31.

In the words of Cincy Sachs, popular court arbitrator, "It was one of the most beautifully played games I've ever refereed." This just about sums up the game, the crowd, and the way in which the game was handled.

Pre-game dope had it that Royal Oak was the toast of the league and their zone defense was as tough to crack as the British spirit. Regardless of this, these two teams, year after year, have given fans basketball at its best and the largest crowd of the season turned out to see this proved, and it was not disappointed.

Not more than two points separated the teams as they battled for supremacy in the first quarter. When the horn sounded ending the first stanza, the score was knotted 9-9.

The Acorns jumped into the lead 13-11 in the first few minutes of the second quarter, but the Devils opened up with a crowing spree after Lamont tied it at 13-13.

The Devils were at their peak Friday night as they worked together as a unit. In direct opposition from the first two games played, when they dropped only 7 out of 27 free throws, the boys made 7 out of 11 Friday night.

Next Saturday the Pointers play a return engagement with Roseville here. At the last meeting Grosse Pointe won an easy 42-16 victory. Saturdays game will also be the last game in a Grosse Pointe uniform for Joe Beyer, Gene Lamont and Doug MacKenzie, because of graduation.

News Photographer Has Monopoly in Viewpoint

Viewpoint, the semi-annual picture magazine published by the students of Grosse Pointe High School will make its appearance Friday. Photographed and written by students, this issue stresses the preparation of students for the service of their country in government, industry, and the armed forces.

Ernest Kanzler Resigns From Position on WPB

Pursuant to the request the City Council Monday night named City Attorney Meder to act for it in this capacity.

Awards Given To Boy Scouts

Harry Spurrier Wins His Eagle Ranking at Meeting of Court of Honor

Harry Spurrier, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Ethelbert Spurrier of 261 Kenwood court, was given the Eagle Award at the Court of Honor for the Grosse Pointe Boy Scouts last Friday evening.

The presentation was given by William M. Adams of 1410 Yorkshire road, who is the chairman for district three. District three comprises a large part of the east side of metropolitan Detroit. The eagle award is given to a scout who has earned 21 merit badges, of which 12 are required. Only very few scouts attain the eagle rank. With the presentation address, Mr. Adams read a letter to the boy sent by the chief national Scout executive West.

Wallace R. Middleton, of 1019 Bedford road, presented the star awards to Bruce Bugbee of Troop 25, David Fairless of troop 96, and Kip Foulds of troop 96. To obtain the star award, a scout must have earned at least five merit badges.

Lloyd Murray of the advancement committee for Grosse Pointe presented merit badges to the above named boys, and to Jack Leverenz, Alan Kidd and Bob Moffat of troop 44; David Penniman, Harold O'Neill, Jr., and Fred Curtio of troop 74; Herbert Cook of troop 96; Bill Siebert, Arnold Richards, Howard Sawusch and Dick Fox of troop 156, and Stuart Ruzi, Jr. and Howard Ruzi of troop 290. Some of the merit badges received were for first aid, personal health, safety, music and bird study.

Troop 96 and Scoutmaster Andrew K. Foulds were presented with a plaque by district commissioner Jerome E. Friesema, of 703 University place, for outstanding community service in taking part in aluminum and waste paper drives, etc. Troop 96 is completing the Office of Civilian Defense Messenger and First Aid course under the instruction of Henry Cook, official messenger instructor, and Scoutmaster Foulds.

Very interesting movies of eclipses of the sun and moon as seen through the telescope at the University of Michigan observatory at Lake Angelus were shown by Wilson Mills, merit badge counsellor for astronomy. Ensign Peter Wilcox of the United States Navy spoke on the use of astronomy in air and sea navigation.

Park Resident Loses Three Valuable Rings

Patrolmen Walsh and Kesteloot of the Park police answered a call from 870 Nottingham on Sunday where Miss Florence Moon complained that she has lost or been robbed of three valuable rings.

She had laid the rings on a window ledge in the basement while doing some work there and when she came to look for them they were gone.

The rings were a wedding ring of platinum with 10 chip diamonds, a platinum ring with 4 chip diamonds and a 3/4 carat diamond set in white gold.

The Park detectives are working on the case.

Council Rejects Plan Of Village Engineer

A recommendation by Village Engineer Murray Smith of Grosse Pointe Farms, urging that $40,000 of the department's cash on hand be set aside as a partial reserve for post-war improvements when materials are available, was rejected by the village council at its meeting Monday night.

Mr. Smith, following a survey, recommended among other projects, improvement of the village water system at a cost of between $80,000 and $100,000. He estimated it would take from six to eight months to properly design and prepare plans for the improvements.

Official for Election Are Appointed in Farms

Lieut. Maliszewski Wins Order of Purple Heart

Entusiastic Students Given Police Attention

The services of three Farms police officers were required last Saturday night to disperse a crowd of some 200 high school students who, following a basketball game, descended on the Titus Drug store. Grosse Pointe defeated Royal Oak.

The proprietor, for the third or fourth time recently, called on the Farms police for relief. Officers Hilgendorf, La Ponsa and Boylan responded. By the time they arrived on the scene the mob had quit the store and was spread across Kercheval avenue attempting to block traffic, according to the police report.

The crowd was twice broken up before the students decided to call it a night and go home.

City Statistics Prove Confusing

The announcement that there were only 8 births and 53 deaths in Grosse Pointe in 1942 will be received with varying emotions by the regarding citizen.

They will be gratified with only 53 deaths but appalled by only 8 births.

But the picture is not one tenth as bad, as it looks. Here is the answer. There is no maternity hospital, nor any other kind in the City, and the modern custom now is that whenever any woman is momentarily "expecting", the anxious and thoroughly frightened young husband runs her P.D. Q. to the nearest hospital.

Heavy Snows Make Pointers Appreciate Clearance Work

The papers tell us that already this area of Michigan has had as much snow fall as ordinarily occurs in an entire winter. Grosse Pointers have already had many exasperating experiences in getting their cars out of the snow. Had it not been for tire and gas rationing the complaints would have been more numerous and heart rending.

Be this as it may, the eyes of Grosse Pointers have been focused more on the condition of their highways and sidewalks than they have been in many a long day or winter. There has been much favorable comment on the promptness and thoroughness with which snow has been removed from both the streets and sidewalks in the Farms.

Go To Work Promptly

There the Highway Commissioner Carter Piche and his assistant Peter Allard go to work promptly with their crews. They work with two plows attached to trucks and remove the snow from the street right to the curb line.

They request that when a snow is falling which promises to be of considerable depth, automobile owners shall not leave their cars parked on the street as it prevents the snow removal gang from doing a good job both in front and rear of the parked car.

Not only do they do a good job in the Farms in removing snow from the streets but the sidewalks are also well cleaned and at street intersections generous paths are cut through any accumulated snow banks for the comfort of pedestrians.

Apparatus the Same

Down in the City they work with much the same apparatus as that used in the Farms. The public sidewalks are cleaned with power plows which are ordinarily thrown into action as soon as the snow is two inches deep, but earlier than that if there is a drifting snow. The City authorities direct the same request to automobile owners as the Farms; viz; "get your cars off the street and in your own garage or driveway as soon as a snow storm starts."

In the Park Village, in common

With approximately 48 miles of streets and double that of sidewalks to clear, it is a severe tax on the equipment to do a job reasonably quick. When they start it is a continuous operation with changes of crews on the same apparatus. They begin clearing the streets when the snow is 3"-4" deep and the sidewalks at 2", although judgment must be used with respect to the character of the snow and the conditions of the streets before the snow fell.

The Shores uses one plow attached to the front of a heavy truck and a sidewalk snowplow of the drag variety, similar to that used in the other Pointe municipalities. With fewer miles of highways to clear the Shores problem is easier. It is their boast up there that "automobiles never get stuck in the Shores".

Many More Workers Needed by Red Cross

Mrs. Charles Creedon Makes Plea for Additional Volunteers to Help Fill Big Surgical Dressing Quota

Mrs. Charles Creedon, in charge of the Red Cross Station No. 1 at 837 Fisher road, is anxious to increase the force of workers for surgical dressing work.

One day of intensive instruction beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning will qualify the average woman for doing this work satisfactorily.

The Fisher station is recruiting workers and the class instruction is given each Thursday morning beginning at 10 o'clock.

The Grosse Pointe station is still busily engaged in producing its share of dressings for the Detroit area quota. This quota calls for 2,000,000 dressings per month.

The quarters of the station will accommodate more than 50 women with ample space for efficient work. On one recent day when the station happened to have 51 women at work 4,000 dressings were produced. The station doesn't have anywhere near that number present on the average day but would like to recruit a force that would assure that many on every work day.

With such a force regularly present the output of the local station would approximate 100,000 dressings a month, whereas the best month it has ever had produced 50,000.

All information regarding enrollment for class work can be obtained by calling TU. 2-7980.

Deac to Address Mothers' Club

The Grosse Pointe Mothers' Club announces that it has obtained as speaker for its next meeting Paul M. Deac, cosmopolitan editor of the Detroit Free Press.

As a foreign correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune and then for a French newspaper chain, Mr. Deac covered throughout Europe and part of Africa. He has covered three revolutions, two wars, and almost every world event of importance prior to this war. While diplomatic editor of the semi-official "Tribune de la Petite Entente," he had the privilege of meeting and interviewing practically every leader with a name in European politics. When he returned to this country in 1938, he served as commentator on foreign affairs for the Chicago Evening American.

Dr. Deac's topic will be "Tomorrow's News from Today's Headlines."

The Mothers' Club invites the husbands and friends of members to attend this meeting on Monday evening, January 25, at 8 o'clock, in the high school. This will be the only meeting of the season at which the men will be guests, and a record attendance is anticipated.

A short business session will precede the talk.

Refreshments will be served during the social hour following. Mr. Deac's informative lecture.

Wishful Thinking

I wish I had the cheerful 'mien' that MRS. FREDERICK S. FORD always has . . .

or I wish I looked like MRS. JOSEPH DEGRIMME, and had the lovely "Hildegrade's" fascinating accent . . .

or I wish I could take golf lessons from JOE BELFORD or tennis lessons from ROLAND GRAY, both popular Country Club pros . . .

or I wish I could play badminton as beautifully as MR. AND MRS. CHARLES MACKALL play . . .

or I wish I could make up amusing limericks as quickly as "BIKE" MCGIVERIN does . . .

or I wish we had more 'new residents' in the Pointe, as friendly and charming as MRS. MARK K. EDGAR . . .

60 Girls Picked For Big Carnival

Sixty Grosse Pointe girls have been invited by the Hostess Corps to attend the carnival Saturday night at Christ Church for service men.

Miss Marjorie Klein is chairman of the carnival, which will be given under the direction of Mrs. Ethelbert Spurrier, head of the Hostess Corps. The recreation hall of Christ Church will be gaily decorated in appropriate carnival effects for the occasion. A magician and a variety of entertainment booths are planned.

Miss Klein, who has recently visited the U.S.O. in New York City, has a number of novel ideas gleaned from metropolis parties which will distinguish the carnival.

A 10-piece orchestra will provide the music. Hot dogs, ice-cream cones, and pink lemonade are on the agenda of the refreshment committee.

The Hostess Corps entertains service men every other Saturday night. The parties are generally held at the Neighborhood Club, but because of a previous reservation there the carnival will be given in new quarters Saturday.

Victory Book Drive Will Be Conducted

Grosse Pointe Public Library, Red Cross and AWVS Sponsoring Campaign to Be Held From Feb. 5 to March 5

The second Victory Book Campaign will be conducted February 5 to March 5 in Grosse Pointe and books will be begged from all. The men in the armed forces are hungry for reading material.

Work has been started to make possible a bigger response than last year. The Grosse Pointe quota has been set at 30,000 books.

The Victory Campaign is sponsored by the AWVS, the Red Cross and the Grosse Pointe Public Library.

Current best sellers and recent popular fiction and non-fiction; adventure and western stories; detective and mystery fiction; technical books published since 1935; and humorous books and small sized editions of popular books, are all wanted.

Donations should be taken to the nearest Grosse Pointe Library; to the AWVS headquarters, 17207 Kercheval avenue or to the collection container in the store in which you shop.

If you have an automobile call TU. 1-1050 or NI. 2191 and offer to transport books to the Main Library in the John D. Pierce Junior High School where all books will be sorted and packed for shipment.

For more information about the drive call Mrs. Lloyd G. Hooker, TU. 1-1050, the local AWVS chairman; or inquire at any of the Grosse Pointe Libraries.

Members of the Junior Auxiliary AWVS are decorating containers to be placed in stores in the Grosse Pointe Area where books may be deposited.

If any person is unable to make contributions of actual books, gifts of money would be greatly appreciated.

There is no fund set up to cover shipping of books to camps, USO centers, etc. and the cost involved is quite great. Any funds received will assist with this item and will be used to purchase new books of the type that are found most lacking at the end of the campaign.

Make checks payable to Grosse Pointe Public Libraries.

Cass Town Hall Books Dr. Orris

Dr. Beryl D. Orris, brilliant American psychiatrist and leading authority in the field of comparative religion, is the speaker for the Detroit Town Hall in the Cass Theatre on Friday morning, January 22, at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Orris holds doctorates from Berlin and Vienna and he studied at a number of universities in the United States. He has had 30 years experience in caring for the mentally sick. Through experiments and theories concerning the combination and coordination of psychiatry and religion he has an appreciation of the problems confronting religion in the modern world.

Through speaking many languages fluently and understanding European mentality, Dr. Orris lectures, studies and travels in all the countries in Europe during the last three years have given him first hand experiences under dictatorship.

He was in Vienna when the Germans arrived. His money was confiscated and his books burned. He was in London for "the black days" and in Paris when war was declared. Dr. Orris' extraordinary understanding of the international scene will be found in his lecture "An American Refugee Comes Home."

Tips for Women About Rationing

The Office of Price Administration has released the following questions and answers explaining point rationing for canned, bottled and frozen fruits and vegetables, fruit and vegetable juices, dried fruits and soups:

Q. Why does the government ration all of the listed canned foods together?

A. If only the canned foods that are most scarce were rationed, consumers would rush to buy the unrationed foods which could be used instead. This would create shortages of the alternate foods which would then have to be rationed after the supply had been seriously depleted.

Q. What foods are included in the new rationing program?

A. Canned, bottled and frozen fruits and vegetables, fruit and vegetable juices, dried fruits, and all canned soups. These are known as "processed" foods.

Q. Just what is processed food?

A. A processed food is one that has been preserved so that it will keep as long as it stays in its processed condition. Canned foods, for example, keep as long as they remain sealed; frozen foods as long as they remain frozen.

Q. Are jams, jellies, and marmalades included?

A. No, these are not generally used interchangeably with canned fruits.

Q. Why are foods that are not used extensively included in the rationing program?

A. To preserve for consumers as wide a choice of foods as possible in spending their ration points.

Q. Is evaporated milk included in the new rationing program?

A. No, canned milk is not being rationed in this program.

Q. What do the numbers on the ration stamps mean?

A. The numbers on the stamps (8, 5, 2 and 1) show how much the stamp is worth in "points."

Q. What is a point?

A. A point is a ration value much as dollars and cents are money values. Rationed foods have both point and money values.

Q. Why are the stamps of different colors?

A. The blue stamps will be used for rationing processed foods, the red stamps will be used later for meat rationing.

Q. What do the letters on the stamps mean?

A. The letters on the stamps will be used by OPA to designate the time during which a stamp is valid. For example, stamps lettered A, B, and C could be designated for use during the first rationing period.

Q. Why is it necessary to give different point values to different kinds of processed foods? Why can't they all have the same point value?

A. Low point values will be given to foods that are relatively plentiful high point values to those that are most scarce. The buyer can get more for his "points" by buying the foods with low point values. Since most housewives will no doubt do this, it will relieve the demand for very scarce foods.

American health and morale.

"I am certain that every patriotic American is going to put all idle land to work producing vital food for his family at home in order that more food may be released to our fighting forces and to our courageous allies.

"Every American who plants a Victory Garden will not only help himself and his family but will help to bury forever the aggressive greed of Hitler, Hirohito and all of the Axis outthroats who threaten to destroy peace loving people throughout the world.

"To avoid needless waste in time of war when everything should be utilized your government warns everyone who plants a garden not to purchase more seed than will be needed. If for any reason anyone should have a surplus of seed it should be either given to someone who will make use of it or return it to your seed company to be saved for next year or perhaps sent to our allies overseas.

Vincent R. De Petris, Horticultural Co. Ordinator, Letter From Ferry January 11, 43

Dear Mr. DePetris:—

We are glad to put in writing our telephone statement to you in regard to seed supplies for this Spring.

Enough crops for accurate forecasts are in, so that we can say that no seed shortage will exist this Spring in Ferry's Seeds. Individual scattered items are short in some cases, but in a line of as many items as vegetables, substitutions can take care of this.

It should be apparent, therefore, that the only thing that would disrupt the situation would be an effort by too many people

News From Pointe's Elementary Schools

The next Parent-Teacher meeting comes on Tuesday evening, January 19, when an interesting program to be announced later will be held. On Wednesday evening, January 23, there will be a patriotic program.

Richard School is 100% enrolled in the Junior Red Cross. The school council has one member from each room plus the two building representatives, Mary Ann Williams and Owen Jaekle. Two meetings have been held. These meetings are for the purpose of organizing work done in the building, and also to hear the reports given by the building representatives who attend the monthly meetings at the Defer School. These monthly meetings are composed of two building representatives from each of the Grosse Pointe schools.

Richard School has organized a Junior Red Cross club which meets once a week, under the supervision of the building sponsor, Miss Elsema Nault. Activities of this group comprise the making of scrap books, menu covers, zig-saw puzzles, tray fa-to overbuy or hedge.

With the writer's cordial personal regards, we are,

Yours truly,

RICHARD SCHOOL
"A Cavalcade of Patriotic National Airs" by Deems Taylor will be presented at Richard School by the fifth and sixth grades Wednesday evening, January 27, at 7:30 o'clock.

135 children will take part in this program, with Mr. William Watkins, pianist, and Elizabeth D. Ellis, director.

Two short patriotic movies will be shown, and Mrs. Bryan Trombly will sing.

MASON SCHOOL
A coffee hour was enjoyed by the teachers of Mason School in honor of Mrs. Rita McConnell who leaves soon to join her husband, Lieutenant McConnell, who is stationed at Denver, Colorado. All the very best wishes go with her in her new home.

Christmas gifts of money this year were promptly and patriotically converted into War Stamps at Mason School. On January 5, total sales amounted to five hundred two dollars and ninety-five cents ($502.95).

TROMBLY SCHOOL
With the growing consciousness of the place first aid treatment and training plays in our lives, we consider it timely to inform parents of the procedure followed by Trombly School in case of sickness or accident to any child during the school day. It may be interesting to know that ten of our staff of thirteen have had the standard course in American Red Cross First Aid.

In the period prior to gas-rationing, the Grosse Pointe schools tried to transport to their homes any child who became sick or had an accident at school. Since the coming of mileage rationing it will be impossible to carry out this policy as formerly, but the police departments of the various villages and of Grosse Pointe City have assured their cooperation and assistance in taking home children who may need special care due to accident or sickness.

In a bulletin issued to all staff members and parents of the Grosse Pointe Public Schools, Dr. Paul Essert, Superintendent of Schools, "In many cases parents who are available will be called and can come to the school to pick up their child. The procedure generally will be for the schools to keep the child on a cot or well protected until the police or parent can arrive. Every other precaution that is possible within

Greater Use of Music Urged To Stimulate War Efforts

Prominent musical figures of Grosse Pointe are to join with outstanding musical personalities of the metropolitan area, in an urge for a greater use of music, particularly group singing, as a stimulant to war efforts. This urge will be expressed at a mass meeting in the Wilson Theatre at 4:00 o'clock Friday afternoon of this week—Jan. 22, to which blanket invitation is being extended to teachers, supervisors and directors of music; band and orchestra leaders; singers, and to representatives of choral societies, glee clubs, quartets and to representatives of music and luncheon clubs. The doors will open at 3:30.

"Sing and Swing" is the name of the program. It will point out the benefit of singing as the nation swings, with greater vigor, into the support of men in service. The "I Will Do My Best" organization, under whose sponsorship the rally is to be held, is presenting a new song which it considers particularly expressive of Detroit's war efforts. It is offered with the hope that it will be learned by everybody in the metropolitan area and that it will be sung as a part of the program of every meeting that is held by any organization.

Among those who will take part in the program are: Victor Kolar, conductor; Fowler Smith, director of music in the public schools; Dr. Joseph E. Mandy, of the U. of M.; John C. Manning, Managing editor of the Detroit Times; Anthony Weitzel, columnist of the Detroit Free Press; Pat Flowers, pianist; J. O'Reilly Clint, composer; young Billy Ferguson, singer; the American Legion Quartet and the Wilson Theatre Orchestra. There will be no admission charge and all who are actively identified with music are invited.

Can You Get More from Your Doctor's Care?

Some folks save 'going to the doctor' until they are really very sick. And then they expect to be well again—at once. Actually they often expect more than is reasonable.

The most sensible plan is to visit the doctor often, even if you seem quite well. Give him an opportunity to be familiar with your system, and it's needs, so that you can have care that is founded on complete knowledge.

Why not see your physician today?

Tarzan's Latest Coming to Punch

Tarzan and his mate leave the perils of the jungle for still greater perils in the maelstrom of civilization, when they invade New York in their latest adventure, "Tarzan's New York Adventure", coming to the Punch and Judy Theatre this Friday and Saturday.

Johnny Weissmuller as the jungle king, Maureen O'Sullivan as Jane and Johnny Sheffield as Tarzan Junior head the cast in the thrill-packed romance.

Ray Milland has clipped the comedy jackpot in Paramount's comedy of dizzy domesticity, "Are Husbands Necessary?", due at the Punch and Judy Theatre this Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. He's ably aided by Betty Field, who shares the stellar spot, and by exotic Patricia Morison.

Made from the best-seller Isabel Scott Rorick Novel, "Mr. and Mrs. Cugat", the picture presents the tall and handsome Ray in his top comedy role to date. As George Cugat, a young banker with a future and a slightly giddy wife, he frolics through some of the funniest scenes of his career.

Betty of course, is Mrs. Cugat and the sultry, blue-eyed Pat Morison is the 'other woman', a man-mad divorcee who sets her cap for Ray and almost wrecks a happy home.

There will be a knitting class at Richard School Wednesday morning, 9:30 to 11:30, starting Jan. 27. Fee 50c.

Midwinter Frolic At Club Royale

The George Bernard Dancers, with their surrealistic production routines, and fantastic pantomime comedy, continue to headline in Club Royale's new Mid-winter Frolics. Costumes and mugging add to their laugh-making powers. Their "Gay Nineties" is a favorite with the customers, vying with the more modern bits for applause.

Dr. Marcus, the "mad magician" who is known in the East as the "Clown Prince of the Du-Ponts," heads the new supporting cast with his sleight of hand tricks and accompanying smart patter. When he leaves the spotlight to retire until his next performance, you will find him popping up at various spots in the audience giving a private performance all his own.

In the feminine line the new show offers, tall and handsome Barbara Parks, whose renditions of the songs of the day are delivered in a blue and lusty manner. Mimi Kellerman, a pretty dancing starlet, recently of George White's Broadway production, "The Gay White Way," comes to Detroiters with interesting sophisticated routines.

Jack Coffey, popular baton swinger, with his "Rockin' Rhythm," takes over the dais for music on the show and dancing, and Roy Tracy masters the festivities capably.

At Alger Cafe

BILLY BYSHER

Detroit's lovely songstress, Miss Billy Bysher, and her special pianist will headline the Open House festivities for the customers, (and everybody's welcome), at the big celebration of new improvements at the Alger Cafe, 16352 East Warren avenue, which the management is staging Friday evening.

University of Michigan Honor Rodman Moesta

Rodman C. Moesta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldemar C. Moesta of Balfour road was one of eight members of the R.O.T.C. at the University of Michigan who were awarded medals last Saturday, Jan. 16, for military and scholastic attainments and for unusual qualities in leadership.

In addition to the honors which young Moesta shared with his seven other fellow cadets he was named by "Scabbard and Blade" an honorary military society of the University, as "the outstanding R.O. T. C. Sophomore of the year."

Telenews Shows Hornet's Finish

Somewhere east of the Solomons the gallant USS Hornet met with disaster. Officially released films which headline the new program at the Downtown Telenews Theater, Woodward at Grand Circus Park, serve as the final entries in the battle diary of a flat top in action. This, her last engagement of the war, becomes a flaming tribute to American bravery under fire.

Included on the bill are solemn pictures taken during an interlude of action on Guadalcanal. In a reverent ceremony, Marines are baptized by a Chaplain in Lunga River, then hurry back to battle posts to continue their artillery barrage on Jap positions.

Telenews continues its policy of presenting ALL the news that has been filmed.

Headlining the shorts program, "Ferry Pilot," begins its exclusive Detroit showing. British filming, keyed to an exciting pitch, this war tale covers the story of Britain's unsung heroes. These pilots decree the fact that they're not in the front lines facing constant danger, yet, each day they face dangers behind every cloud. Excellent film fare.

Social Security Cards' Importance Is Stressed

The importance of obtaining original or duplicate social security account cards at the time of taking a new job was stressed today by Francis L. Pendergast, manager of the East Side field office of the Social Security Board, located at 8037 Harper Avenue at Van Dyke.

"Many employers, especially those having war contracts, now insist that every new worker shall show his social security card and a birth certificate or some other document of like nature at the time the new worker is hired," Mr. Pendergast said.

Resignations

The past received and are now receiving the highest wages paid to any municipal employees; this belief has been supported by the A. F. of L. representative of some of them.

We have no quarrel with the Village employees or their representatives of the wages paid.

Our resignation is submitted as a protest against methods followed by that majority which now dominates the Council. Impatience to serve the interests of pressure groups has led this majority to abandon orderly procedure, to upset pending arbitration proceedings by untimely action, and to make a certification to the War Labor Board which we believe to be false.

These acts make it impossible for us to work with this majority. We can do the Village a greater good by devoting ourselves until the next election to an effort to make the taxpayers realize that they need true and courageous representation upon the Village Council.

Yours very truly,
William K. Muir, Trustee.
Paul H. Deming, President.
Edward P. Wright, Trustee.

The Chief Cause
Chief cause for the resignations is said to be the action of the majority group of the council in connection with the recently granted increase in wages to the village fire and police employees.

While an arbitration board was holding sessions to reach a decision on demands for a wage increase submitted by employees of the parks, streets and collection services departments, who went on strike last July, a similar demand was submitted by members of the fire and police departments.

The resigning members felt that a decision on this request should be held up until the arbitration board had reached an agreement on the prior request, but the majority members immediately granted the request of the firemen and policemen, according to the president and two trustees.

Not At Meeting

Deming, Muir and Wright did not attend Monday night's session of the council. The remaining members of the council, who constituted a quorum, immediately appointed Hoyt Spicer of McMillan road to the council. Mr. Spicer was present and was sworn in as a member. It was also announced that Neil S. McEachin of Hillcrest road will be asked to serve on the council. Mr. McEachin has been out of town and does not return until today.

The newly appointed trustees will serve until the village elections March 8. Trustee Joseph Snay acted as chairman of Monday night's meeting.

The trustees remaining on the board, in addition to Mr. Snay, are: John R. Sutton, jr., Walter Strittmatter and Raymond C. Moore. Moore, Snay and Sutton are holdover trustees who have another year to serve. Mr. Strittmatter must run for reelection in March.

War Clubs

to them to sign on the dotted line for some form of service. The beginning of the whole plan is the organization of the War clubs, which will probably become known as the "Little War Clubs" covering every nook and corner of the community. In many cases clubs will be formed in single residential blocks.

1,700 Letters Are Mailed
About 1,700 letters were mailed Monday by Mrs. Burritt's committee to the Air Raid Wardens of the Grosse Pointe area asking them to suggest members for the clubs. This method, it is believed, will present the opportunity to every person in the Pointe to signify his or her willingness to help in the war work. Many of these will of course be found to be already enrolled in some one or more of the many civilian war services in the area, and these of course will continue in their present service. Many hundreds more, however, are not in any kind of war work and these will be visited and requested to join up.

Those who are doubtful about the sort of work they are best fitted to perform will be asked to present themselves at the headquarters, 17027 Kercheval, where an interview will probably disclose their proper niche.

The widest latitude possible will be afforded the individual enrollees to make their own selection of service. Opportunities Are Many
The wide variety of war service awaiting help from the hundreds of unenlisted men and women in the area is indicated by a glance at the many organizations already functioning. These include such groups as: Red Cross, Salvage, Transportation, War Savings, Services to men in the Armed Forces, Rationing Program, Home Front, Housing, Victory Gardens, Education and others.

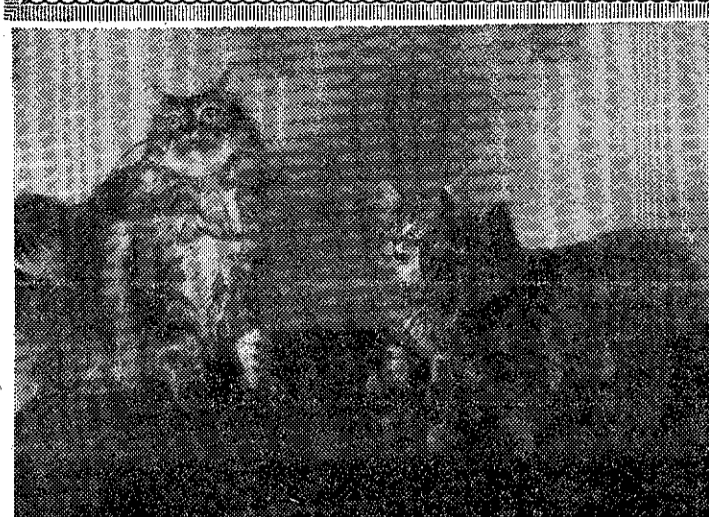

The News in this issue carries a box on its front page, with form for the enrollee to sign with name and address, and also space for names of neighbors who might and should join.

The current tax roll of the Farms has been returned to the County Treasurer's office after total collections of 96.2 per cent of the levy, according to the auditor's report.

CAT TALES

For generations, people have been arguing about I. Q. of cats. Who are frequently described as less intelligent than dogs. The fact that cats refuse to roll over and play dead on command, is supposed to be proof of their lack of mental ability. Those who own cats and know them, know that this is not true—we have been asked to do a series of articles on felines that will bring an understanding smile to cat owners and perhaps a little more understanding of cats to those who harbor the delusion that cats are stupid.

● If anyone has any interesting or amusing stories about these aristocrats of the hearth, we'd be glad to print them if they will send them to the Grosse Pointe News office, together with a picture of the cat—if possible.—The Editor

SALLY AND HER KITTENS

Sally's owner was a doctor who lived in the South. The doctor adored Sally and she returned his affection, tenfold. As soon as he entered his apartment, Sally "dogged" his footsteps and gazed at him with worshipful eyes. One summer the doctor had to go North on a business trip and couldn't take Sally with him, so he agreed to let friends of his (in Grosse Pointe) take care of her, assuring them that he would pick her up on his way home, about two months hence. Their parting was a sad one. The master nearly wept as he put Sally in her basket to make the long trip North. Sally looked upset, hurt and reproachful. They had never been separated before—this was some awful thing that Sally couldn't understand.

However, after about two weeks in the home of her new friends and temporary custodians, Sally began to make herself at home. Everyone in the household bent over backwards to be kind to her, play with her, amuse her and help her to forget. Finally they won her over and never again did she give any indication by word, look or deed, of the hurt she felt at being abandoned.

At the end of two months, the doctor arrived to take Sally home. The "adopted" family were sick at the thought of losing her, but knowing of the great affection that existed between cat and master, they tried to be glad for Sally's sake. On the great day of his arrival, they decided to play a game with Sally, who of course knew nothing about the return of her master. They put her in a crack, so Sally could hear his voice. But when he started to talk—Sally never moved—she stayed where she was, hidden in the closet. A little hurt and disappointed, the doctor finally called to her in his own special voice that always made her come running to him. The family waited breathlessly for the reunion; but Sally merely darted out of the closet and bounded up the stairs, to hide under the bed. No amount of coaxing would induce her to come out. Obviously, she did NOT want to go back with the doctor—but in the end she had to.

letter from the doctor, asking if they would like to have Sally back—for good! It seems that she went on a starvation diet, never came out from under the bed while the doctor was in the apartment, and all in all, was a miserable cat.

The adopted family took her back with pleasure—and she is now living here and liking it. Who said that "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned?" And who said that elephants are the only animals who never forget?

President Deming and Trustees Muir and Wright Quit Farms Council in Protest Against Majority's Methods

City Is Still Considering Rail Problem

Request for Quitclaim Discloses That Council Knows Little of Subject

Mayor Rumney stated at the Council meeting of the City Monday night that within the last five or six weeks notice had been served on him to quitclaim the City's interest in the rails buried on East Jefferson avenue.

This was in order that the Wayne County Road Commission, in whose favor the quitclaim was to be executed, might in turn send them on their way for use by the War Production Board.

The Mayor stated he had no disposition to withhold these rails from the Production Board but he was "mightily interested in knowing in advance what kind of pavement job would be done on the avenue when the rails were removed."

It was the unanimous opinion of the Council that the City of Grosse Pointe had the unquestioned right to write the specifications for the replacing of the pavement. This was quite apart from the still unsettled question of the ultimate ownership of the rails, since the expiration of the franchise of the Eastern Traction company.

The Mayor was also anxious to know whether the job would be done expeditiously and in workmanlike manner if the rails were removed. He had also asked the question whether the work was proposed to be done "by the WPA."

Economy Is Doubled

Most of the Councilmen doubted the economical results of the job. It was reported, some of them said, that the cost of removing the rails in the Farms, in a similar job, and counting the cost of relaying the pavement, had brought the total cost of the rails to nearly $65 a ton, which had to be paid out of some till, regardless of the fact that the Farms municipality was reported to have made an actual profit by the operation.

Mayor Rumney was not at all enthusiastic about the removal of the rails and remarked "we may need them yet to run trolley cars on before this thing is over."

Just why this question, which has been before the community for many months is not more thoroughly digested and arranged at this late date was not developed at the meeting.

77 Street Lights Removed in City

The substantial street lights bedded in concrete bases used in Grosse Pointe City belong to the Detroit Edison company and recently the company has been removing some of them for service elsewhere.

The lamps removed, or earmarked for removal, total 77 and in all cases are lights which have been out of service for from 7 to 10 years.

During the depression, when the city in common with other municipalities throughout the country was seeking ways of saving money, these lights were discontinued.

The difficulty of obtaining new street lights now due to war conditions, makes them very valuable to the Edison company. The whole arrangement is mutually agreeable to the company and the city. The company gets the lights and the City has removed from its streets unused and more or less unsightly encumbrances. The City still has in service 292 lights of varying candle power.

Oscar Niewenhuyse, aged 28, of 4829 Rohns, Detroit, a member of the Detroit police force, slipped on the polished floor of the recreation room in a home at 948 Balfour road and cut his head quite badly on broken glass. He was taken to the Cottage Hospital where he was treated but held for further attention when it was discovered he had severed an artery.

At last reports he was progressing towards satisfactory recovery.

Victory Gardeners Urged To Disregard Wild Rumors Of Vegetable Seed Shortage

Ignorance or Anti-American Propaganda Blamed for Stories Which Threaten Much-Needed Augmented Food Supply

Rumors concerning a shortage of vegetable seeds for American gardens are spiked in no uncertain terms by Vincent R. DePetris, horticultural coordinator of the OCD for the Grosse Pointe area, in the following communication:

"Wild rumors by misinformed persons are being circulated purporting as originating in official circles that there exists at this time a grave shortage of vegetable seeds for American gardens.

"The general effect of these false rumors are to deter people from undertaking the preparation for home and Victory Gardens in the raising of much needed vegetables this coming summer.

"I want to state in the most emphatic terms that these rumors are false and entirely without foundation of fact. "I have made a thorough investigation of the vegetable seed supply available for 1943. Both government agencies and various seed firms have assured me that there will be an ample supply of vegetable seed for the 1943 season.

"A letter from an official of the Ferry-Morse Seed Co., one of the largest in America, attached herewith, is self explanatory.

"Like many rumors which originate either through ignorance of the real facts or which are circulated as anti-American propaganda this rumor on seed shortage may have serious consequences if it is not immediately spiked.

Two Musketeers May Be Dead But One Still Lives in Farms

On the Farms Police blotter, one of the entries for this week is that Mrs. Miller, housekeeper at the Hunt Club, lost her purse on Saturday morning, when she took her daughter to the bus. In the purse were 22 dollars and her gas rationing card. A few hours later, it was found and returned by Raymond Allor.

Those are the facts, the whole facts and nothing but the facts—BUT, it gave us pause for thought. In fact we could—asked—write a whole novel about this incident. We can picture Mrs. Miller suffering from an attack of "red tape-worm", trying to get the rationing board to fill out the blank that has to be sent to the board who has to fill out the blank to send to the bored board that has to pass on all blankety blanks that are filled out by people who lose their ration cards.

Then we come to the hero of the story—Raymond Allor. Who is Mr. Allor? The police blotter

To Enlist All Ultimate Aim Of War Clubs

The work of organizing "War Clubs" in The Grosse Pointe area will be under way very shortly. It will be under the immediate direction of Mrs. Henry Burrill, chairman of the Neighborhood War Clubs Committee of both the Citizens' Defense Corps and of the AWVS.

Mrs. Burrill is a member of the Executive Committee of the Citizens' Service Corps which is composed of the Chairmen or Presidents of practically every war effort organization in the Pointe. John J. O'Brien of Grosse Pointe Farms is chairman of the Executive Committee.

The Citizens' Service Corps, which originated in Washington as recently as last November, has as its ultimate aim the enlistment of every man and woman, and of every boy and girl beyond the ages of early childhood in the entire nation, in that form of war service for which each is best qualified.

Everyone Must Fight

Undoubtedly the underlying thought is to bring to the entire civilian population a consciousness that we are engaged in a total war in which every one must fight, and not merely the soldiers, sailors and marines.

Those who have been slow to realize that we are pitted against enemy nations which have pursued this concept of modern war for years, even before the outbreak of actual war, will be made aware of their individual responsibilities when it is put up (Continued on Page 6)

Council Airs Vote Problem

Solons Are Apathetic to Idea of Adding New Precincts for Elections

The agitation that has been maintained in some quarters in the City for additional voting precincts came into the open at the City Council meeting Monday night.

The city has but one voting precinct but as the proportion of voters who come out to the polls in the city, as well as in the other Pointe areas, is very small, it has served its purpose quite well, as maintained by Councilmen Netting and Mack.

Rumney Not Enthusiastic Mayor Rumney, who is himself not at all enthusiastic about more precincts, said that an opinion on the legal obligation to provide more precincts had been obtained from the State Attorney General.

This opinion in substance was that it was entirely legal for the City to retain a single voting precinct. If on the other hand, it was decided to create new precincts it would be necessary to create them in a fixed proportion to the population, which would be approximately one precinct for each 650 of the voting population.

This would mean six additional voting districts in the City, or seven altogether.

Would Cost a Lot In view of the very considerable additional expense entailed in the manning of six more precincts on every primary or regular election, there was a general opposition expressed by the councilmen to the proposal.

The voting capacity at the City building is about 4 per minute which, if maintained at maximum for a 13 hour voting day, would accommodate 3120 voters. Inasmuch as seldom more than 2,000 votes are polled at the City precinct, the Councilmen thought the present situation was satisfactory.

Schools Grant All Employees Boost in Pay

Action Comes After Three Months of Study of Various Adjustment Plans

Culminating three months study of various plans for meeting cost of living adjustment within the limitations of the current year's budget, the Grosse Pointe Board of Education granted a special ten percent increase to all employees at its Annual Budget Review Meeting, January 13.

The ten percent increase is on all salaries for the remainder of the current budget year which ends June 30, 1943 and is effective as of January 18. It is limited to the amount of $125.00 which any employee may receive during that period. In other words, it will not, in general be applicable to any portion of an employee's salary exceeding $2500 per year.

Next Budget Considered

This increase will not be a part of the normal salary schedule of the school employees upon which employees receive regularly scheduled annual increases in the new budget year beginning July 1, 1943. The Board of Education felt that they could not anticipate any tax-collection reserves or savings in budget expenditures beyond that point.

According to Dr. Paul L. Essert, Superintendent of Schools, in his announcement of the pay increase to the employees, Friday, January 15, "Many of the plans submitted to the Board of Education by different employ groups, either seriously threatened the operation of the normal salary schedule during 1943, or did not clearly anticipate that the Board of Education is operating at practically the limit of the 15 mill tax rate for the Township, County and School District. If a mill levy was submitted to the Allocation Board in July, 1943 which was based on our present budget plus the normally scheduled increases and an additional 10 percent for cost of living adjustment of salaries, there is strong probability that the mill levy would exceed our limitation."

Dire Threat

"This will be almost a certainty if we lose the present allocation of $50,000 of the State Aid Program."

Police of City Have Busy Year

Chief of Police Tom Trombly of the City presented his report for the year 1942 at the Council meeting last Monday which contained a mass of detail showing the operations of the City Police department for the year.

Among many items were such as—

Total complaints entered on docket, 2514.

The Patrol cars travelled 98,434 miles in the year and used 7741 gallons of gas.

Accidents reported, 72 minor and 28 more serious, total 100.

There were 286 arrests made during the year and $2669 collected in Police Court.

Bad checks given to local merchants during the year totaled $500, of which $450 was recovered for them by the police.

Tickets for traffic violations 286. Finger prints made (many for OCD) 2793. A copy of every finger print is sent to the FBI at Washington.

Dogs picked up on complaint 139, of which 67 were sent to the Humane Society for disposal and 72 were redeemed by their owners at a cost of $2 each.

Automobile operators' licenses issued (which included a goodly number of 14 year old children), 1189.

Big Red Cross Drive Job Given Tiedeman

Pointer Will Handle Important Task of Getting Contributions From 5,000 Industries and Their Employees

The very important post of chairman of the Industrial Division of the 1943 Red Cross campaign in the Greater Detroit area, will be filled again this year by a resident of the Pointe, Carsten Tiedeman of Kenwood road, who is associated with the Gear Grinding Machine Company.

Richard Grant, vice-president of General Motors Corporation, will assist Mr. Tiedeman as co-chairman.

Mr. Tiedeman has been working for some weeks perfecting his organization, which is charged with the tremendous task of soliciting contributions from more than 5000 industrial corporations and their employees in Wayne County.

Ernest Kanzler of Touraine road was chairman of the industrial division of last year's campaign.

This year's campaign, because of the demands of war, is expected to be the most important ever conducted and the quota will undoubtedly be larger than heretofore. The opening date, which is expected to be March 1, will be officially announced later.

When the Lights Come on Again..

Prompted by publicity given the fact that the Michigan State Highway Department has cut out hundreds of traffic lights to save motorists gas-consuming stopping and starting, the Farms council recently asked its police department to see if there were any lights in the village which could be eliminated.

The trustees, sitting in meeting Monday night, heard the report from Police Chief Fluit.

The Wayne County Road Commission owns three of the lights in the municipality, those at Seven Mile and Mack, at Seven Mile and Lake Shore, and at Fisher and Kercheval.

The village owns three: at Seven Mile and Kercheval, at Oak and Kercheval and at Fisher road and Grosse Pointe boulevard.

Two of these, at Seven Mile and Lake Shore, at Oak and Kercheval are blinkers at night, or during light traffic hours. None of them can be eliminated with safety, said the police chief.

Rubber Commission Oblivious As Silly Ash Is Twice Girdled

Woodman, spare that tree."

Mr. Langdon, of 367 Moross, who formerly lived at 319 Hillcrest, is the accused woodman, and Mr. Bailey, of 315 Hillcrest, the owner of a six-inch ash tree that was attacked, according to the outline of the story which appears this week on the records of the Farms police department.

Mr. Bailey, who avers he doesn't want to prefer charges, confided to the police that he had been asked to remove the ash tree, by Mr. Langdon, who said it threatened his fence. Mr. Bailey didn't comply with the request, but he hastens to explain that last Sunday morning he found the silly ash twice girdled.

... which is a lot of girdle in these harrowing days of no rubber.

The account goes on to state that when he lifted his agonized eyes from the twin girdles he saw fresh footprints in the fresh snow, leading from the threatened fence, close by the attacked ash, to the house which had occupied until a few days previous by the Langdons.

He further declares that it was a well-known fact that the Langdons had, on the day and night previous, been back in the house, tidying up, or such.

Mr. Bailey just wanted the police to know this as a matter of record. He didn't wish to prefer charges.

Resignations Submitted to Clerk Furton

Dissention Stirred Up by Handling of Wage Increase Demands of Employees

President Paul Deming and Trustees William K. Muir and Edward P. Wright of Grosse Pointe Farms have resigned their posts in the village government in protest against "methods followed by that majority which now dominates the Council."

The resignations were made public at the meeting of the Farms council Monday night with the reading of the following letter, dated January 12.

Their Letter

Clerk of the Village of Grosse Pointe Farms, 90 Kerby Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan. Dear Sir:

Sewage Costs Rise in City

Detroit DPW. Sends Communication Regarding Revision of Contract

A communication from the Detroit Department of Public Works was read at the City Council meeting on January 18 regarding the revision of the contract for sewage disposal between the City and the City of Detroit. This contract was entered into some years ago and provides for a revision every five years. This year's revision bases from the figure that obtained in 1938.

The charges for this work are associated with the changes in population, which led to a minor revision when the census figures for 1940 were published. Last year the cost to the City for this service was about $4050 while the new schedule of charges proposed by Detroit will run about $4200 annually.

In addition to this charge the City also pays Detroit for sewage treatment and its prorated share in the capital charge for the Detroit pumping station which was finished about five or six years ago.

This property was erected with the view of caring for the needs of the neighboring Grosse Pointe communities. These in turn shared in the cost of its erection, based upon their expected use of the service.

The total cost to the City of its sewage disposal, and treatment, plus this capital charge is about $12,000 a year.

Farms Chief Pronounces Convent Buildings Safe

In response to a request that an inspection of the buildings of the Convent of the Sacred Heart in Grosse Pointe Farms be made, Chief George Damsbury of the village fire department informed the trustees at their regular meeting Monday night that these structures are perfectly safe and comply with all safety laws.

The inspection was made December 29, according to the chief's report, by himself, Deputy State Fire Marshal Moore and Village Building Inspector Beaupre.

Fine Joke on Himself Told by City Official

A fine joke on himself was admitted by one of the Grosse Pointe City officials at the Council meeting the other night.

He plumb forgot to draw his own salary for the last two weeks of December until after the first of the year and Uncle Sam laid his horny hand (5 per cent Victory Tax) on his shrinking shoulder.

And to make the faux pas still more inexplicable, he was the same official who, in his official capacity, had seen to it that everybody else on the City Payroll "got his", pronto—and minus the tax.

Error!

One of the higher officials of the Civilian Service Corps in Grosse Pointe made tentative inquiries of some of the officials of Grosse Pointe City whether this organization would be permitted to string a banner across Kercheval avenue in front of its headquarters.

The matter was informally but earnestly discussed by the Council of the City at its last meeting. The unanimity with which the request was debated, unfavorably, was startling, possibly revealing.

The City Fathers were deeply concerned over the disfigurement of the City's business section. One of them remarked, with which the others seemed to concur, "We must be careful about establishing a precedent.

"Why! the first thing we know the Red Cross and then maybe the AWWVS and a lot of other organizations will be asking to do the same thing."

Now, isn't that something horrible to contemplate?

Perish the thought that in war time the patriotic organizations of the community, made up of earnest men and women who labor tirelessly to carry on the civilian's part in this war, should dare to ask to display their work and sound their slogans in signs across the street in the community's business section.

And all this at a time when the Government and thousands of private concerns are carrying on, by every device known to publicity, the most intensive patriotic propaganda ever undertaken in this nation.

Next in order would be for the City Fathers to prohibit the display of service stars in the windows of the homes of the community or question the right of the mothers of dead soldier sons to wear gold stars.

Plain John Citizen thinks the appropriate response of the Council to his request, and all others of similar source, should have been, CERTAINLY, fill the avenue with banners from keel to crown and make them as long, wide, colorful and appealing as you can.

This, whether they meant it or not, would have been a gesture in patriotism from the governing body of the City of Grosse Pointe which would have been enthusiastically approved by every citizen, except those of Nazi or Japanese leanings, if such exist in this community.

In Our Own Interest

There are still many persons in this country who fail to see that the regulations and control which the Government seeks to impose in the use of gas is conceived almost wholly in their own individual interest. Many rebel against the restrictions on gas and argue that there is plenty of it. These gloss over as immaterial the vast quantities required for our military operations over seas and the loss of an important part of the shipping customarily used for its transportation into the home market.

The Government has frankly said that rubber must be saved and to do this there must be less driving. It has already been well demonstrated that the only way to conserve rubber is to sprag driving and this means to curtail gas.

Unless driving is largely stopped, except when genuinely necessary, and when no other means of transportation is available, the time will soon come when all of the tires will be worn out with no more in sight to replace them.

This is the real issue. The Government realizes the chaos that would result if automobile transportation should cease entirely and it is to make tires last until we are within an appreciable period of replacement that these restrictions have been imposed. The people should be willing to cooperate with this necessary restriction which is aimed primarily at serving their own convenience and needs.

It is regrettable that many persons cannot see this and still insist upon regarding driving restrictions as a needless and unjustified interference with their own pleasure.

This group will be the first to complain when their tires are gone and they cannot get others.

Congress Speaks Out

The earliest expressions emanating from the new Congress convey the clear thought that its members intend to preserve its constitutional powers and to assume their responsibilities as representatives of the people in their Government.

Basically the members of the Senate and House have all of the argument on their side. The very essence of the American scheme is that it is a government which the people themselves rule through their elected representatives.

Already, because of the exigencies of war, many of those powers have been temporarily surrendered. It is the purpose of the members, now openly expressed, that this surrender, in no particular, shall be construed as permanent. It is not hard to envisage the germ of a Congressional-Executive battle here that will recall the days of Jackson, Lincoln and Cleveland.

Deep down in their hearts the people will side with the Congress. Being at war, and irrevocably committed to winning it, they are agreeable to the surrender for the time being to the Executive of such powers as are indicated as necessary for the successful conduct of the war.

But there should be no misunderstanding in the White House of the popular mind. The people prefer and intend to be ruled by representatives of their own choosing rather than by a system of Bureaus set up and subject to a single individual, even though that individual happens to be their own president.

More Parking Lots Needed

There has not been a sufficient following of the lead made by the Park Village in establishing parking lots in Grosse Pointe area.

No community of comparable size is more dependent on individual transportation than this area. It is going to be without its customary means of travel for a long, long time to come.

It is the obligation of the different municipal subdivisions of the Pointe area to provide places at convenient locations where the citizens can drive and leave their care while waiting for a bus or to make their own arrangements for group riding.

There are plenty of vacant lots throughout the region where parking space can be found and presumably on as favorable terms as those obtained in the Park where all the Park Village had to pay in the form of rent was the equivalent of the taxes on the land.

Saving War Time

The Attorney General of Michigan says in effect that the right to regulate time for the whole Nation during war vests with the National Government.

Regardless of the undoubted sound legal basis upon which his opinion rests, it is plain common sense.

The practice of advancing the clocks an hour or more originated in England during the last war as a means of saving costs in the production of artificial light. The plan was adopted here as soon as we entered the war. There was a willing acceptance of the measure then and a general recognition of the advantages of having an additional hour of daylight for play as well as work.

Some farmers objected that the dew dried on the grass by the sun rather than the clock, but the people in general thought the measure a wise one in conservation, and just, because it applied to all alike and was nationwide.

So popular was "daylight saving time" that for a number of years following the war, which ended it as a national measure, many states, cities and even isolated small communities retained it. This variation in time between adjoining cities or states led to confusion and was frequently referred to as a nuisance, and caused much irritation, but the only important criticism was that it was not a national provision.

In the present war the President, by an executive order, has reestablished "war time" for the Nation again, which is identically the same thing we did last time. It was a good measure then and is now.

Most of the citizens of this state will be glad that the opinion of their Attorney General has placed a barrier against its departure from the general scheme for daylight saving that has been set up for the whole country.

Every section of this great country is too closely knit with every other section to tolerate any local digression from the reading of the clock as wisely determined for all by the Federal Government. Although the measure, which in effect denies the Government's establishment of War Time, has already passed the House at Lansing, and may pass the Senate, the unequivocal opinion of the clear thinking Attorney General will give Governor Kelly something to ponder, if and when the measure is laid on his desk.

Duke Ellington, who celebrates his 20th year as a band leader with a concert at Carnegie Hall on the 23rd, owes his vogue among the serious music-lovers to Leopold Stokowski and Percy Grainger, both of whom recognized that here was someone not to be classified with the run-of-the-mill boogie-woogie musicians and composers. . . If we could convince the Legislature that this State Aid should be retained in Grosse Pointe, it is possible that the 10 percent increase could be continued over the 1943-1944 school budget year. In other words, the Board of Education felt that while its employees needed some assurance of relief from salary deficits due to rising costs of living and increased competition of industry with school salaries, it could not give such assurance beyond the current budget year.

"No pain that the heart can hold is like to this one; To call, forgetting, into empty space; To reach out confident arms and find beside you Only an empty place.

This then shall alone for the hours when I forget you; Take thou my offering—clean and sharp and sweet; An agony brighter than years of dull remembrance—I lay it at your feet."

A Grosse Pointe lady of means and means, having given up the hope of getting any meat from her local market, decided to try some "out-of-way" butcher shops to see if she couldn't persuade them to sell her some, no matter what the cost. Her chauffeur drove her to what might be termed a "questionable" neighborhood; parked the car about a block away from the store, to which Madam made her way in search of meat. A lone butcher stood behind the counter, picking his teeth. Madam rose above this gesture, advanced, and said in accents soft and Oxford, "I hear that you have some meat! I should like to purchase whatever you have, and I'm prepared to pay the price."

The butcher stopped his exercises long enough to say, "Sure lady, I got filly mignon—lots of it." Our heroine beamed on him. "That's wonderful—I'll take all you have." As she was opening her purse to pay for this gold-mine, the butcher said, "You don't look like the kind a lady who'd eat horse meat."

"Horse meat," gasped Madam, "But you said 'fillet mignon'—I don't understand." "Yeah," replied our hero, "That's what I said. 'Filly'—f-l-l-y. A filly's a horse and that's what I got—horse meat."

Madam left in a huff, which incidentally is very becoming for her.

THE HORRORS OF WAR DEPT.

We received a letter from a local woman who is now in Florida, "spending" the winter. She tells us that driving anywhere is practically impossible, unless it be for the war effort. . . feeling that she ought to carry out with her social activities (to keep up the morale) she has made a deal with the company that owns the 'bicycle basket chairs'. In former days, these chairs were pedaled by colored boys and the price was fifty cents an hour. The deal this woman has made, is to rent the wheel chair by the month, at a hundred dollars a week—the chair being at her disposal for the entire month—and the wheel 'boy' who will pedal her from one social event to the other is about seventy years old. Of course she'd just as soon have the 'boy' a hundred years old and pay seventy dollars a week—but it's just as we said—one of the horrors of war!

From the Chicago Daily News, we find this bit of war horror: "The tag line following the blast of a land mine dropped on the Strickland estate. Lady Strickland, (the widow of Lord Strickland), who is very deaf—was herself blown off her feet by the same blast that blew away the peacock's tail feathers; but she calmly remarked as she got up, 'At last I've heard something.' After we read that, we wiped our first opinion off our face.

Two tid-bits in the mail this week—one from a man who says that to a business man, "resigned" is just a pretty euphemism for "fired". He says he likes the testimonial letter attributed to a friend of his, to wit: "Mr. Whosis left our employ for reasons beyond his control," to wit.

In one of our other MILLIONS of letters, a gent has this to say: "That grand old marching song of World War 1 applies more to business men than to soldiers in World War 11—'Where do we go from here boys, where do we go from here.'"

And soooooo—the less we tarry—the more harkari—BUY BONDS!

Employees No. 77, affiliated with the American Federation of State, County and Municipal employees were all reviewed by the Board of Education in its final decision. Various features of each of these plans were applied in the adopted formula.

This plan parallels a cost of living adjustment of a year ago of a flat $50.00 for all employees, excepting administrative. The only difference is that the formula of a year ago automatically assured those in the lower brackets a higher percentage increase. Upward revision of the normal salary schedule a year ago favored those in the lower salary brackets.

The Board felt, that in the light of these previous increases which favored the lower salaried employees, that this adjustment should be based on an even percentage increase even though the amounts received would be higher for those at maximum salary levels. Many of these employees at maximum levels have not advanced more than 3-5 percent in the past two years even though cost of living have advanced 20 percent.

On the other hand, many employees on lower levels have advanced 15 percent to 25 percent during the past two years, due to normal operation of the salary schedule and last year's cost-of-living addition.

"A Much Finer Funeral FOR A LOWER COST"

This is the answer you will get if you ask any of the several thousand families who have used Harris Service. There are good reasons for such expressions of satisfaction: "finer" because both Harris Homes are restful, dignified and have the most modern facilities—"lower cost" because the large number of Harris Funerals makes possible a considerably lower unit overhead charge.

Every Harris Funeral includes more than 50 items of thoughtful service. A comparison will quickly convince you that a Harris Funeral has definite advantages in prestige, quality and cost.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Judge, I didn't realize till the other night when I ran across an article in the paper what a whole of a lot of industrial alcohol the government needs for the war."

"I should say it does, Chet. I understand the beverage distillers around the country are producing about 240,000,000 gallons of industrial alcohol this year for ammunition, tires, and other things. I'd say it's mighty fortunate these distilleries are available to do the job. Otherwise, if we still had prohibition, the government would have had to spend millions of dollars and use up a lot of critical materials to build plants...to say nothing of all the time it would take. It might have been just another case of 'too little, too late'."

Pointers Contribute Large Tin Collection

Area Has Increased Its Salvage in Each of Four Pickups; Total Given Saturday Estimated at 31 1/2 Tons

Neil Blondell, Grosse Pointe representative on the Wayne County Salvage Committee, is greatly pleased with the results of the Saturday collection of tin cans. This was the fourth collection in the series that started early last fall.

Mr. Blondell estimated the collection Monday morning at 31 1/2 tons, which is a lot of processed tin cans. The other collections netted 7, 14, and 21 tons respectively. The Saturday pickup was sent on its usual course, ultimately to the detinning plant at Pittsburgh where a separation is made of the tin and solder from the iron scrap and the several component parts all become a form of highly valuable scrap.

It is now estimated that only 15 per cent and 20 per cent of the households in Grosse Pointe are failing to save and process their cans. Mr. Blondell thinks that the maximum collection for his area will produce between 35-37 tons of cans on each pickup.

There will be another collection in 6 weeks to 2 months.

City Bowlers Conquer Park

Cocky Winners Issue Another Challenge and Hope For More Competition

The City of Grosse Pointe bowling team outclassed the Grosse Pointe Park Police bowling team on Jan. 13 at the Grosse Pointe Woods bowling alley.

The following score would lead one to believe it was a closely contested match, but the fact of the matter is that the City of Grosse Pointe boys say they saw the type of bowlers they were up against, so they just kind of coasted, so to speak, and just exerted themselves enough to keep ahead, so they would get a return match in the future. That is, when the Grosse Pointe Park Bowlers get in little more practice.

The City of Grosse Pointe issued a further challenge to them when they get in a little more practice. (Sgt. Louwers of Grosse Pointe Park please note.)

practice is to permit about this length of time to increase between collections, as it is calculated that the accumulation of cans in this period will be sufficient to make a collection profitable.

Despite the large percentage of households that are contributing to the can scrap, Mr. Blondell urges that none of the donors lapse from the good habit.

Tin cans will accumulate in every household as long as food or other commodities are packaged in tin and the obligation to save them and make them available for war industry is a continuing one that will last for the duration.

PREPARED FOR SPRING

Although it won't do him much good in this heavy snow, E. K. Ford of Oldbrook lane is very much pleased to have recovered a bicycle which a week ago he reported stolen from his garage. The Farms police docket doesn't say where he recovered it.

Red Hot Pointe Blue Devils Conquer Touted Royal Oak

Fourth Straight Win and Second League Victory Chalked Up as Local Basketball Stars Display Real Talent

Grosse Pointe's red hot Blue Devils rolled on their merry way, chalking up their fourth consecutive win in six games and second win against one loss in league competition, when they defeated a highly touted Royal Oak squad, Friday night 37-31.

In the words of Cincy Sachs, popular court arbitrator, "It was one of the most beautifully played games I've ever refereed." This just about sums up the game, the crowd, and the way in which the game was handled.

Pre-game dope had it that Royal Oak was the toast of the league and their zone defense was as tough to crack as the British spirit. Regardless of this, these two teams, year after year, have given fans basketball at its best and the largest crowd of the season turned out to see this proved, and it was not disappointed.

Not more than two points separated the teams as they battled for supremacy in the first quarter. When the horn sounded ending the first stanza, the score was knotted 9-9.

The Acorns jumped into the lead 13-11 in the first few minutes of the second quarter, but the Devils opened up with a crowing spree after Lamont tied it at 13-13.

The Devils were at their peak Friday night as they worked together as a unit. In direct opposition from the first two games played when they dropped only 7 out of 27 free throws, the boys made 7 out of 11 Friday night.

Next Saturday the Pointers play a return engagement with Roseville here. At the last meeting Grosse Pointe won an easy 42-16 victory. Saturdays game will also be the last game in a Grosse Pointe uniform for Joe Beyer, Gene Lamont and Doug MacKenzie, because of graduation.

City Statistics Prove Confusing

The announcement that there were only 8 births and 53 deaths in Grosse Pointe in 1942 will be received with varying emotions by the regarding citizen.

They will be gratified with only 53 deaths but appalled by only 8 births.

But the picture is not one tenth as bad as it looks. Here is the answer. There is no maternity hospital, nor any other kind in the City, and the modern custom now is that whenever any woman is momentarily "expecting", the anxious and thoroughly frightened young husband runs her P.D. Q. to the nearest hospital.

Lane Proposes Park Economies

Village Manager Lane of the Park has been making a study of economies that may be effected in the operation of the Village government next year.

He expects a report of his study at the next meeting of the Village Commissioners at the meeting Monday night. The consideration of the next year's budget will be taken up by the Commissioners shortly, in which due consideration will be given the Manager's figures.

The normal operating cost of the Village for a year is $440,000 to $450,000 aside from the servicing of the public debt.

With the financial uncertainties which confront municipal governments as well as private enterprises during the continuation of war conditions; the Commissioners and the Manager are anxious to make an early examination of possible economies.

News Photographer Has Monopoly in Viewpoint

Viewpoints, the semi-annual picture magazine published by the students of Grosse Pointe High School will make its appearance Friday. Photographed and written by students, this issue stresses the preparation of students for the service of their country in government, industry, and the armed forces.

Ernest Kanzler Resigns From Position on WPB

Awards Given To Boy Scouts

Harry Spurrier Wins His Eagle Ranking at Meeting of Court of Honor

Harry Spurrier, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Ethelbert Spurrier of 261 Kenwood court, was given the Eagle Award at the Court of Honor for the Grosse Pointe Boy Scouts last Friday evening.

The presentation was given by William M. Adams of 1410 Yorkshire road, who is the chairman for district three. District three comprises a large part of the east side of metropolitan Detroit. The eagle award is given to a scout who has earned 21 merit badges, of which 12 are required. Only very few scouts attain the eagle rank. With the presentation address, Mr. Adams read a letter to the boy sent by the chief national Scout executive West.

Wallace R. Middleton, of 1019 Bedford road, presented the star awards to Bruce Bugbee of Troop 25, David Fairless of troop 96, and Kip Foulds of troop 96. To obtain the star award, a scout must have earned at least five merit badges.

Friesema, of 703 University place, for outstanding community service in taking part in aluminum and waste paper drives, etc. Troop 96 is completing the Office of Civilian Defense Messenger and First Aid course under the instruction of Henry Cook, official messenger instructor, and Scoutmaster Foulds.

Very interesting movies of eclipses of the sun and moon as seen through the telescope at the University of Michigan observatory at Lake Angelus were shown by Wilson Mills, merit badge counselor for astronomy. Ensign Peter Wilcox of the United States Navy spoke on the use of astronomy in air and sea navigation.

Enthusiastic Students Given Police Attention

The services of three Farms police officers were required last Saturday night to disperse a crowd of some 200 high school students who, following a basketball game, descended on the Titus Drug store. Grosse Pointe defeated Royal Oak.

The proprietor, for the third or fourth time recently, called on the Farms police for relief. Officers Hilgendorf, La Ponsa and Boylan responded. By the time they arrived on the scene the mob had quit the store and was spread across Kercheval avenue attempting to block traffic, according to the police report.

The crowd was twice broken up before the students decided to call it a night and go home.

Officials for Election Are Appointed in Farms

Commissioners will be Albert E. Beaupre, Fred Hood and John J. Miller. Inspectors will be Joseph W. Snay, J. R. Sutton, Jr., Raymond C. Moore and Francis J. Hock.

Park Resident Loses Three Valuable Rings

Patrolmen Walsh and Kesteloot of the Park police answered a call from 870 Nottingham on Sunday where Miss Florence Moon complained that she has lost or been robbed of three valuable rings.

She had laid the rings on a window ledge in the basement while doing some work there and when she came to look for them they were gone.

The rings were a wedding ring of platinum with 10 chip diamonds, a platinum ring with 4 chip diamonds and a 3/4 carat diamond set in white gold.

The Park detectives are working on the case.

Council Rejects Plan Of Village Engineer

A recommendation by Village Engineer Murray Smith of Grosse Pointe Farms, urging that $40,000 of the department's cash on hand be set aside as a partial reserve for post-war improvements when materials are available, was rejected by the village council at its meeting Monday night.

Mr. Smith, following a survey, recommended among other projects, improvement of the village water system at a cost of between $80,000 and $100,000. He estimated it would take from six to eight months to properly design and prepare plans for the improvements.

Heavy Snows Make Pointers Appreciate Clearance Work

With all the other Grosse Pointe municipalities they do a pretty good job in keeping the streets and sidewalks clear.

The papers tell us that already this area of Michigan has had as much snow fall as ordinarily occurs in an entire winter. Grosse Pointers have already had many exasperating experiences in getting their cars out of the snow. Had it not been for tire and gas rationing the complaints would have been more numerous and heart rending.

Be this as it may, the eyes of Grosse Pointers have been focused more on the condition of their highways and sidewalks than they have been in many a long day or winter. There has been much favorable comment on the promptness and thoroughness with which snow has been removed from both the streets and sidewalks in the Farms.

Go To Work Promptly

There the Highway Commissioner Carter Piche and his assistant Peter AHard go to work promptly with their crews. They work with two plows attached to trucks and remove the snow from the street right to the curb line.

They request that when a snow is falling which promises to be of considerable depth, automobile owners shall not leave their cars parked on the street as it prevents the snow removal gang from doing a good job both in front and rear of the parked car.

Not only do they do a good job in the Farms in removing snow from the streets but the sidewalks are also well cleaned and at street intersections generous paths are cut through any accumulated snow banks for the comfort of pedestrians.

Apparatus The Same

Down in the City they work with much the same apparatus as that used in the Farms. The public sidewalks are cleaned with power plows which are ordinarily thrown into action as soon as the snow is two inches deep, but earlier than that if there is a drifting snow. The City authorities direct the same request to automobile owners as the Farms; viz: "get your cars off the street and in your own garage or driveway as soon as a snow storm starts."

In the Park Village, in common

With approximately 48 miles of streets and double that of sidewalks to clear, it is a severe tax on the equipment to do a job reasonably quick. When they start it is a continuous operation with changes of crews on the same apparatus. They begin clearing the streets when the snow is 3"-4" deep and the sidewalks at 2", although judgment must be used with respect to the character of the snow and the conditions of the streets before the snow fall.

The Shores uses one plow attached to the front of a heavy truck and a sidewalk snowplow of the drag variety, similar to that used in the other Pointe municipalities. With fewer miles of highways to clear the Shores problem is easier. It is their boast up there that "automobiles never get stuck in the Shores".

Many More Workers Needed by Red Cross

Mrs. Charles Creedon Makes Plea for Additional Volunteers to Help Fill Big Surgical Dressing Quota

Mrs. Charles Creedon, in charge of the Red Cross Station No. 1 at 337 Fisher road, is anxious to increase the force of workers for surgical dressing work.

One day of intensive instruction beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning will qualify the average woman for doing this work satisfactorily.

The Fisher station is recruiting workers and the class instruction is given each Thursday morning beginning at 10 o'clock.

The Grosse Pointe station is still busily engaged in producing its share of dressings for the Detroit area quota. This quota calls for 2,000,000 dressings per month.

The quarters of the station will accommodate more than 50 women with ample space for efficient work. On one recent day when the station happened to have 51 women at work 4,000 dressings were produced. The station doesn't have anywhere near that number present on the average day but would like to recruit a force that would assure that many on every work day.

With such a force regularly present the output of the local station would approximate 100,000 dressings a month, whereas the best month it has ever had produced 50,000.

All information regarding enrollment for class work can be obtained by calling TU. 2-7980.

The Grosse Pointe Mothers' Club announces that it has obtained as speaker for its next meeting Paul M. Deac, cosmopolitan editor of the Detroit Free Press.

As a foreign correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune and then for a French newspaper chain, Mr. Deac covered throughout Europe and part of Africa. He has covered three revolutions, two wars, and almost every world event of importance prior to this war.

While diplomatic editor of the semi-official "Tribune de la Petite Entente," he had the privilege of meeting and interviewing practically every leader with a name in European politics. When he returned to this country in 1938, he served as commentator on foreign affairs for the Chicago Evening American.

Dr. Deac's topic will be "Tomorrow's News from Today's Headlines."

The Mothers' Club invites the husbands and friends of members to attend this meeting on Monday evening, January 25, at 8 o'clock, in the high school. This will be the only meeting of the season at which the men will be guests, and a record attendance is anticipated.

A short business session will precede the talk.

Refreshments will be served during the social hour following Mr. Deac's informative lecture.

Alice Elizabeth Jones Is United in Marriage

Becomes Bride of Alanson Schryer in Ceremony Solemnized in St. Mark's Church; Reception Held for 80 Guests

The marriage of Alice Elizabeth Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones of Kenosha avenue, to Alanson Schryer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schryer of Continental avenue, Detroit, was solemnized in St. Mark's Methodist Episcopal church Saturday night at 7 o'clock. The Rev. Richard M. Millard officiated.

The bride wore a gown of white satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, lace yoke and long sleeves, and the skirt had a long train. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a headress trimmed in sequins and she carried white carnations.

Betty Nagle, maid of honor, and Marjorie Scruggs, bridesmaid, were dressed in identical gowns with fitted bodices and long, full skirts. Mrs. Nagle was in rose taffeta and Miss Scruggs in an aqua shade of the same material. They wore small ostrich-trimmed veils matching their gowns, and carried white carnations.

Joseph Nagle was best man and the ushers included Howard Schryer, William Fyfe and Joseph Lepage.

The bride's father, who is treasurer of Gratiot township, gave her away in marriage. Mrs. Jones wore navy blue and Mrs. Schryer chose green. Both mothers carried gardenia corsages.

A reception for about 80 followed the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents. The couple left for a 10-day trip and on their return will live in the township.

The Hostess Corps entertains service men every other Saturday night. The parties are generally held at the Neighborhood Club, but because of a previous reservation there the carnival will be given in new quarters Saturday.

Victory Book Drive Will Be Conducted

Grosse Pointe Public Library, Red Cross and AWVS Sponsoring Campaign to Be Held From Feb. 5 to March 5

The second Victory Book Campaign will be conducted February 5 to March 5 in Grosse Pointe and books will be begged from all. The men in the armed forces are hungry for reading material.

Work has been started to make possible a bigger response than last year. The Grosse Pointe quota has been set at 30,000 books.

The Victory Campaign is sponsored by the AWVS, the Red Cross and the Grosse Pointe Public Library.

Current best sellers and recent popular fiction and non-fiction; adventure and western stories; detective and mystery fiction; technical books published since 1935; and humorous books and small sized editions of popular books, are all wanted.

Donations should be taken to the nearest Grosse Pointe Library; to the AWVS headquarters, 17207 Kercheval avenue or to the collection container in the store in which you shop.

If you have an automobile call TU 1-1050 or NI 2191 and offer to transport books to the Main Library in the John D. Pierce Junior High School where all books will be sorted and packed for shipment.

For more information about the drive call Mrs. Lloyd G. Hooker, TU 1-1050, the local AWVS chairman; or inquire at any of the Grosse Pointe Libraries.

Members of the Junior Auxiliary AWVS are decorating containers to be placed in stores in the Grosse Pointe Area where books may be deposited.

If any person is unable to make contributions of actual books, gifts of money would be greatly appreciated.

There is no fund set up to cover shipping of books to camps, USO centers, etc. . . and the cost involved is quite great. Any funds received will assist with this item and will be used to purchase new books of the type that are found most lacking at the end of the campaign. Make checks payable to Grosse Pointe Public Libraries.

Cass Town Hall Books Dr. Orris

Dr. Beryl D. Orris, brilliant American psychiatrist and leading authority in the field of comparative religion, is the speaker for the Detroit Town Hall in the Cass Theatre on Friday morning, January 22, at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Orris holds doctorates from Berlin and Vienna and he studied at a number of universities in the United States. He has had 30 years experience in caring for the mentally sick. Through experiments and theories concerning the combination and coordination of psychiatry and religion he has an appreciation of the problems confronting religion in the modern world.

Through speaking many languages fluently and understanding European mentality, Dr. Orris' lectures, studies and travels in all the countries in Europe during the last three years have given him first hand experiences under dictatorship.

He was in Vienna when the Germans arrived. His money was confiscated and his books burned. He was in London for "the black days" and in Paris when war was declared. Dr. Orris' extraordinary understanding of the international scene will be found in his lecture "An American Refugee Comes Home."

Tips for Women About Rationing

The Office of Price Administration has released the following questions and answers explaining point rationing for canned, bottled and frozen fruits and vegetables, fruit and vegetable juices, dried fruits and soups:

Q. Why does the government ration all of the listed canned foods together?

A. If only the canned foods that are most scarce were rationed, consumers would rush to buy the unrationed foods which could be used instead. This would create shortages of the alternate foods which would then have to be rationed after the supply had been seriously depleted.

Q. What foods are included in the new rationing program?

A. Canned, bottled and frozen fruits and vegetables, fruit and vegetable juices, dried fruits, and all canned soups. These are known as "processed" foods.

Q. Just what is processed food?

A. A processed food is one that has been preserved so that it will keep as long as it stays in its processed condition. Canned foods, for example, keep as long as they remain sealed; frozen foods as long as they remain frozen.

Q. Are jams, jellies, and marmalades included?

A. No, these are not generally used interchangeably with canned fruits.

Q. Why are foods that are not used extensively included in the rationing program?

A. To preserve for consumers as wide a choice of foods as possible in spending their ration points.

Q. Is evaporated milk included in the new rationing program?

A. No, canned milk is not being rationed in this program.

Q. What do the numbers on the ration stamps mean?

A. The numbers on the stamps (0, 5, 2 and 1) show how much the stamp is worth in "points."

Q. What is a point?

A. A point is a ration value much as dollars and cents are money values. Rationed foods have both point and money values.

Q. Why are the stamps of different colors?

A. The blue stamps will be used for rationing processed foods, the red stamps will be used later for meat rationing.

Q. What do the letters on the stamps mean?

A. The letters on the stamps will be used by OPA to designate the time during which a stamp is valid. For example, stamps lettered A, B, and C could be designated for use during the first ration period.

Q. Why is it necessary to give different point values to different kinds of processed foods? Why can't they all have the same point value?

A. Low point values will be given to foods that are relatively plentiful high point values to those that are most scarce. The buyer can get more for his "points" by buying the foods with low point values. Since most housewives will no doubt do this, it will relieve the demand for very scarce foods.

"Every American who plants a Victory Garden will not only help himself and his family but will help to bury forever the aggressive greed of Hitler, Hirohito and all of the Axis cutthroats who threaten to destroy peace loving people throughout the world."

"To avoid needless waste in time of war when everything should be utilized your government warns everyone who plants a garden not to purchase more seed than will be needed. If for any reason anyone should have a surplus of seed it should be either given to someone who will make use of it or return it to your seed company to be saved for next year or perhaps sent to our allies overseas."

Vincent R. De Petris, Horticultural Co-ordinator, Letter From Ferry January 11, 43

Dear Mr. DePetris:— We are glad to put in writing our telephone statement to you in regard to seed supplies for this Spring.

Enough crops for accurate forecasts are in, so that we can say that no seed shortage will exist this Spring in Ferry's Seeds. Individual scattered items are short in some cases, but in a line of as many items as vegetables, substitutions can take care of this.

It should be apparent, therefore, that the only thing that would disrupt the situation would be an effort by too many people

News From Pointe's Elementary Schools

The next Parent-Teacher meeting comes on Tuesday evening, January 19, when an interesting program to be announced later will be held. On Wednesday evening, January 23, there will be a patriotic program.

Richard School is 100% enrolled in the Junior Red Cross. The school council has one member from each room plus the two building representatives, Mary Ann Williams and Owen Jaekie. Two meetings are for the purpose of organizing work done in the building, and also to hear the reports given by the building representatives who attend the monthly meetings at the Defer School. These monthly meetings are composed of two building representatives from each of the Grosse Pointe schools.

Richard School has organized a Junior Red Cross club which meets once a week, under the supervision of the building sponsor, Miss Elsema Nauk. Activities of this group comprise the making of scrap books, menu covers, zig-saw puzzles, tray favor, book marks, knitting, sewing and weaving. These articles are for the armed forces.

An active participation in the scrap drive for rubber, metal, silk stockings, tin, victrola records was, and is, still in evidence.

A drive for gifts for the boys at Fort Brady is now on. Many of these boys will be made happier by the small sacrifice of our children. Realizing the part Richard children are active and willing to do all they can in this crisis.

Richard School scouting organizations are going strong and invite the attendance and cooperation of the parents. Boy Scouts meet on Monday evenings, Cub Scouts meet the fourth Tuesday of the month, Girl Scouts and Brownies meet on Thursday afternoon. Some one hundred and fifty pupils of the school are members of the several groups.

With the growing consciousness of the place first aid treatment and training plays in our lives, we consider it timely to inform parents of the procedure followed by Trombly School in case of sickness or accident to any child during the school day. It may be interesting to know that ten of our staff of thirteen have had the standard course in American Red Cross First Aid.

In the period prior to gas-rationing, the Grosse Pointe schools tried to transport to their homes any child who became sick or had an accident at school. Since the coming of mileage rationing it will be impossible to carry out this policy as formerly, but the police departments of the various villages and of Grosse Pointe City have assured their cooperation and assistance in taking home children who may need special care due to accident or sickness.

In a bulletin issued to all staff members and parents of the Grosse Pointe Public Schools, Dr. Paul Essert, Superintendent of Schools, "In many cases parents who are available will be called and can come to the school to pick up their child. The procedure generally will be for the schools to keep the child on a cot or well protected until the police or parent can arrive. Every other precaution that is possible within the power of the school will be taken to protect the child in case of sickness or accident."

RICHARD SCHOOL
"A Cavalcade of Patriotic National Airs" by Deems Taylor will be presented at Richard School by the fifth and sixth grades Wednesday evening, January 27, at 7:30 o'clock.

135 children will take part in this program, with Mr. William Watkins, pianist, and Elizabeth D. Ellis, director.

Two short patriotic movies will be shown, and Mrs. Bryan Trombly will sing.

MASON SCHOOL
A coffee hour was enjoyed by the teachers of Mason School in honor of Mrs. Rita McConnell who leaves soon to join her husband, Lieutenant McConnell, who is stationed at Denver, Colorado. All the very best wishes go with her in her new home.

Greater Use of Music Urged To Stimulate War Efforts

Prominent musical figures of Grosse Pointe are to join with outstanding musical personalities of the metropolitan area, in an urge for a greater use of music, particularly group singing, as a stimulant to war efforts. This urge will be expressed at a mass meeting in the Wilson Theatre at 4:00 o'clock Friday afternoon of this week—Jan. 22, to which blanket invitation is being extended to teachers, supervisors and directors of music; band and orchestra leaders; singers, and to representatives of choral societies, glee clubs, quartets and to representatives of music and luncheon clubs. The doors will open at 3:30.

"Sing and Swing" is the name of the program. It will point out the benefit of singing as the nation swings, with greater vigor, into the support of men in service. The "I Will Do My Best" organization, under whose sponsorship the rally is to be held, is presenting a new song which it considers particularly expressive of Detroit's war efforts. It is offered with the hope that it will be learned by everybody in the metropolitan area and that it will be sung as a part of the program of every meeting that is held by any organization.

Among those who will take part in the program are: Victor Kolar, conductor; Fowler Smith, director of music in the public schools; Dr. Joseph E. Maddy of the U. of M.; John C. Manning, Managing editor of the Detroit Times; Anthony Weitzel, columnist of the Detroit Free Press; Pat Flowers, pianist; J. O'Reilly Clint, composer; young Billy Ferguson, singer; the American Legion Quartet and the Wilson Theatre Orchestra. There will be no admission charge and all who are actively identified with music are invited.

Can You Get More from Your Doctor's Care?

Some folks save 'going to the doctor' until they are really very sick. And then they expect to be well again—at once. Actually they often expect more than is reasonable.

The most sensible plan is to visit the doctor often, even if you seem quite well. Give him an opportunity to be familiar with your system, and it's needs, so that you can have care that is founded on complete knowledge.

Why not see your physician today?

Tarzan's Latest Coming to Punch

Tarzan and his mate leave the perils of the jungle for still greater perils in the maelstrom of civilization, when they invade New York in their latest adventure, "Tarzan's New York Adventure", coming to the Punch and Judy Theatre this Friday and Saturday.

Johnny Weissmuller as the jungle king, Maureen O'Sullivan as Jane and Johnny Sheffield as Tarzan Junior head the cast in the thrill-packed romance.

Ray Milland has clipped the comedy jackpot in Paramount's comedy of dizzy domesticity, "Are Husbands Necessary?", due at the Punch and Judy Theatre this Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. He's ably aided by Betty Field, who shares the stellar spot, and by exotic Patricia Morison.

Made from the best-seller Isabel Scott Rorick Novel, "Mr. and Mrs. Cugat", the picture presents the tall and handsome Ray in his top comedy role to date. As George Cugat, a young banker with a future and a slightly giddy wife, he frolics through some of the funniest scenes of his career.

Betty of course, is Mrs. Cugat and the sultry, blue-eyed Pat Morison is the "other woman", a man-mad divorcee who sets her cap for Ray and almost wrecks a happy home.

There will be a knitting class at Richard School Wednesday morning, 9:30 to 11:30, starting Jan. 27. Fee 50c.

Midwinter Frolic At Club Royale

The George Bernard Dancers, with their surrealistic production routines, and fantastic pantomime comedy, continue to headline in Club Royale's new Mid-winter Frolics. Costumes and mugging add to their laugh-making powers. Their "Gay Nineties" is a favorite with the customers, vying with the more modern bits for applause.

Dr. Marcus, the "mad magician" who is known in the East as the "Clown Prince of the Du-Ponts," heads the new supporting cast with his sleight of hand tricks and accompanying smart patter. When he leaves the spotlight to retire until his next performance, you will find him popping up at various spots in the audience giving a private performance all his own.

In the feminine line the new show offers, tall and handsome Barbara Parks, whose renditions of the songs of the day are delivered in a blue and lusty manner. Mimi Kellerman, a pretty dancing starlet, recently of George White's Broadway production, "The Gay White Way," comes to Detroiters with interesting sophisticated routines.

Jack Coffey, popular baton swinger, with his "Rockin' Rhythm," takes over the dais for music on the show and dancing, and Roy Tracy masters the festivities capably.

At Alger Cafe

BILLY BYSHER

Detroit's lovely songstress, Miss Billy Bysher, and her special pianist will headline the Open House festivities for the customers, (and everybody's welcome), at the big celebration of new improvements at the Alger Cafe, 16352 East Warren avenue, which the management is staging Friday evening.

University of Michigan Honor Rodman Moesta

Rodman C. Moesta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldeman C. Moesta of Balfour road was one of eight members of the R.O.T.C. at the University of Michigan who were awarded medals last Saturday, Jan. 16, for military and scholastic attainments and for unusual qualities in leadership.

In addition to the honors which young Moesta shared with his seven other fellow cadets he was named by "Scabard and Blade" an honorary military society of the University, as "the outstanding R.O.T.C. Sophomore of the year."

Telenews Shows Hornet's Finish

Somewhere east of the Solomons the gallant USS Hornet met with disaster. Officially released films which headline the new program at the Downtown Telenews Theater, Woodward at Grand Circus Park, serve as the final entries in the battle diary of a flat top in action. This, her last engagement of the war, becomes a flaming tribute to American bravery under fire.

Included on the bill are solemn pictures taken during an interlude of action on Guadalcanal. In a reverent ceremony, Marines are baptized by a Chaplain in Lunga River, then hurry back to battle posts to continue their artillery barrage on Jap positions.

Telenews continues its policy of presenting ALL the news that has been filmed.

Headlining the shorts program, "Ferry Pilot," begins its exclusive Detroit showing. British filming, keyed to an exciting pitch, this war tale covers the story of Britain's unsung heroes. These pilots decrie the fact that they're not in the front lines facing constant danger, yet, each day they face dangers behind every cloud. Excellent film fare.

Social Security Cards' Importance Is Stressed

The importance of obtaining original or duplicate social security account cards at the time of taking a new job was stressed today by Francis L. Pendergast, manager of the East Side field office of the Social Security Board, located at 3037 Harper Avenue at Van Dyke.

"Many employers, especially those having war contracts, now insist that every new worker shall show his social security card and a birth certificate or some other document of like nature at the time the new worker is hired," Mr. Pendergast said.

Resignations

the past received and are now receiving the highest wages paid to any municipal employees; this belief has been supported by the A.F. of L., representative of some of them.

We have no quarrel with the Village employees or their representatives of the wages paid.

Our resignation is submitted as a protest against methods followed by that majority which now dominates the Council. Impatience to serve the interests of pressure groups has led this majority to abandon orderly procedure, to upset pending arbitration proceedings by untimely action, and to make a certification to the War Labor Board which we believe to be false.

These acts make it impossible for us to work with this majority. We can do the Village a greater good by devoting ourselves until the next election to an effort to make the taxpayers realize that they need true and courageous representation upon the Village Council.

Yours very truly,
William K. Muir, Trustee.
Paul H. Deming, President.
Edward P. Wright, Trustee.

The Chief Cause

Chief cause for the resignations is said to be the action of the majority group of the council in connection with the recently granted increase in wages to the village fire and police employees.

While an arbitration board was holding sessions to reach a decision on demands for a wage increase submitted by employees of the parks, streets and collection services departments, who went on strike last July, a similar demand was submitted by members of the fire and police departments.

The resigning members felt that a decision on this request should be held up until the arbitration board had reached an agreement on the prior request, but the majority members immediately granted the request of the firemen and policemen, according to the president and two trustees.

Not At Meeting
Deming, Muir and Wright did not attend Monday night's session of the council. The remaining members of the council, who constituted a quorum, immediately appointed Hoyt Spicer of McMillan road to the council. Mr. Spicer was present and was sworn in as a member. It was also announced that Neil S. McEachin of Hillcrest road will be asked to serve on the council. Mr. McEachin has been out of town and does not return until today.

The newly appointed trustees will serve until the village elections March 8. Trustee Joseph Snay acted as chairman of Monday night's meeting.

The trustees remaining on the board, in addition to Mr. Snay, are: John R. Sutton, Jr., Walter Strittmatter and Raymond C. Moore. Moore, Snay and Sutton are holdover trustees who have another year to serve. Mr. Strittmatter must run for reelection in March.

War Clubs

to them to sign on the dotted line for some form of service.

The beginning of the whole plan is the organization of the War clubs, which will probably become known as the "Little War Clubs" covering every nook and corner of the community. In many cases clubs will be formed in single residential blocks.

1,700 Letters Are Mailed
About 1,700 letters were mailed Monday by Mrs. Burritt's committee to the Air Raid Wardens of the Grosse Pointe area asking them to suggest members for the clubs. This method, it is believed, will present the opportunity to every person in the Pointe to signify his or her willingness to help in the war work. Many of these will of course be found to be already enrolled in some one or more of the many civilian war services in the area, and these of course will continue in their present service. Many hundreds more, however, are not in any kind of war work and these will be visited and requested to join up.

Those who are doubtful about the sort of work they are best fitted to perform will be asked to present themselves at the headquarters, 17027 Kercheval, where an interview will probably disclose their proper niche.

The widest latitude possible will be afforded the individual enrollees to make their own selection of service.

Opportunities Are Many
The wide variety of war service awaiting help from the hundreds of unenlisted men and women in the area is indicated by a glance at the many organizations already functioning. These include such groups as: Red Cross, Salvage, Transportation, War Savings, Services to men in the Armed Forces, Rationing Program, Home Front, Housing, Victory Gardens, Education and others.

The News in this issue carries a box on its front page, with form for the enrollee to sign with name and address, and also space for names of neighbors who might and should join.

The current tax roll of the Farms has been returned to the County Treasurer's office after total collections of 96.2 per cent of the levy, according to the auditor's report.

CAT TALES

For generations, people have been arguing about I. Q. of cats, who are frequently described as less intelligent than dogs. The fact that cats refuse to roll over and play dead on command, is supposed to be proof of their lack of mental ability. Those who own cats and know them, know that this is not true—so we have been asked to do a series of articles on felines that will bring an understanding smile to cat owners and perhaps a little more understanding of cats to those who harbor the delusion that cats are stupid.

If anyone has any interesting or amusing stories about these aristocrats of the hearth, we'd be glad to print them if they will send them to the Grosse Pointe News office, together with a picture of the cat—if possible.—The Editor

Sally's owner was a doctor who lived in the South. The doctor adored Sally and she returned his affection, tenfold. As soon as he entered his apartment, Sally "dogged" his footsteps and gazed at him with worshipful eyes. One summer the doctor had to go North on a business trip and couldn't take Sally with him, so he agreed to let friends of his (in Grosse Pointe) take care of her, assuring them that he would pick her up on his way home, about two months hence.

Their parting was a sad one. The master nearly wept as he put Sally in her basket to make the long trip North. Sally looked upset, hurt and reproachful. They had never been separated before, —this was some awful thing that Sally couldn't understand.

However, after about two weeks in the home of her new friends and temporary custodians, Sally began to make herself at home. Everyone in the household bent over backwards to be kind to her, play with her, amuse her and help her to forget. Finally, they won her over and never again did she give any indication by word, look or deed, of the hurt she felt at being abandoned.

At the end of two months, the doctor arrived to take Sally home. The "adopted" family were sick at the thought of losing her, but knowing of the great affection that existed between cat and master, they tried to be glad for Sally's sake. On the great day of his arrival, they decided to play a game with Sally, who of course knew nothing about the return of her master. They put her in a closet, left the door open a crack, so Sally could hear his voice. But when he started to talk—Sally never moved—she stayed where she was, hidden in the closet. A little hurt and disappointed, the doctor finally called to her in his own special voice that always made her come running to him. The family waited breathlessly for the reunion, but Sally merely darted out of the closet and bounded up the stairs, to hide under the bed. No amount of coaxing would induce her to come out. Obviously, she did NOT want to go back with the doctor—but in the end she had to.

About a month later, the family in Grosse Pointe received a letter from the doctor, asking if they would like to have Sally back—for good! It seems that she went on a starvation diet, never came out from under the bed while the doctor was in the apartment, and all in all, was a miserable cat.

The adopted family took her back with pleasure—and she is now living here and liking it. Who said that "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned?" And who said that elephants are the only animals who never forget?
