Park Solons Learn About Egg Raising

Chicken-Keeping Suggested for Residents, but Rooster Is Frowned Upon

One biological query was definitely laid at the Park Commissioners' meeting last Monday night, and oddly enough it was laid in connection with the laying of eggs.

Commissioner Ward S. Van Dusen, much impressed with the urgent need for the American people to produce all the food possible, urged individual efforts during the war, believes that the Victory Garden movement should be supplemented with the production of eggs.

In Letter Form

To present his views in concrete form, the "Village Commissioner" has offered the following letter:

February 8, 1943

After considerable investigation I am convinced that you should be encouraged to keep some chickens in their backyards for the duration of the war.

I am not unmindful that we live in a community where it is not desirable to have a rooster in the neighborhood, but I believe that our example would be beneficial to other communities who might otherwise hesitate.

It would dovetail with the Victory Garden Program in benefiting many of our citizens. England now provides one egg per month per person, and we are following their experience in our conditions.

Our Ordinance No. 41 permits the keeping of fowls under certain conditions. I am sure that you would find it to be in the best interest of the community.

Very truly yours,
WARD S. VAN DUSEN,
COMMISSIONER.

What About Roosters?

The other Commissioners were completely agree with Mr. Van Dusen's suggestion. Mr. Cunningham, ever thoughtful of the ease and comfort of his community, was asked to show about these roosters?

President Goddard, with that frank expression which always characterizes him, said that he would rather see a chicken than a rooster, at least in the neighborhood.

Nert Housewifebares Slacker

A man giving his name as Uno Vilhelm Harju, and residence as 605 Michigan avenue, was picked up one day last week on complaint of a citizen of the Park, who, he came to her door, that he came to her door, that he came to her door, that he came to her door.

Her suspicions were aroused and she notified the police. The U. S. A. officials indicate she would be a valuable adjunct to the FBI.

In fact the police themselves said in that same agency to the office of the U. S. A. Deputy United States Marshal William Allen and that, among the men who are in the rear of their homes in Meadow Lane last year, have now informed by the Newberry street, that they wish to operate the property, that they wish to operate the property, that they wish to operate the property.

Pointe Has Distinguished Visitor

THE HON. JOSEPH C. GREW, former ambassador to Japan, was a guest in the home of his old friend, CAPT. JOHN J. O'BRIEN of Kercheval avenue, during his long week-end spent in the Detroit area, visiting defense projects and making important addresses. This picture was taken last Sunday afternoon in the O'Brien library by Robert Lackenbach of the Grosse Pointe News staff.

Complete, Alphabetically Arranged List Seen as Basis for Future Honor Roll for Whole Pointe Area

The Home Front Committee has been entertaining the thought for some time that there should be compiled a complete, alphabetically arranged list of all the men who have gone into the war from this community.

Such a list would be of great interest to all of the residents of the Pointe but of particular pride to those families who are represented in the combat forces of the Nation.

Considerable Job
Inquiry into the subject disclosed that it will be a task of some proportions to collect and arrange such a list.

It is to be noted that the list of draftees from the records of Board 37 is best with many difficulties but even with this done it would leave out the considerable number who have volunteered from the Pointe. Many of these, still claiming the Pointe as their place of residence, may have enlisted in places far removed from this area. To get an authentic list of these volunteers would be an insuperable task by any apparent consultation of records now available.

After considering the matter from its many difficult angles, Norbert P. Neff, the chairman of the Home Front Committee, believes the only way an accurate list can be made of the Grosse Pointe men in service would be to get down into the old time census methods and make a house to house canvass. This would call for the volunteer services of some of our different local groups.

Pair Confess to Holding Up Titus Drug Store Last Year

The solution of the famous Titus Drug Store pickup which was pulled off on February 1942, promises to be getting hot.

A day or two ago the Detroit police picked up a young man giving the name of Wallace Fallentield, on suspicion of complicity in a holdup that had occurred down there a short time ago.

Under the grillage which the Detroit police gave him he confessed to having been one of the four men who participated in the Titus robbery.

He implicated one of his pals, by name, Christian Vols, whom the police picked up at once, and whom Fallentield named as the gunman in the case, and stated that the other two were now in service, one in the Army and the other in the Navy.

When the robbery occurred at 11:35 in the evening the only customer in the store was William Walden, an usher in the PUNCH and Judy theater at the end of the same block.

Yesterday at 2 o'clock Walden went with Mr. Titus down to the lineup in Detroit headquarters where he and Titus identified the two, out of a lineup of eight. Walden identified the one who held the gun and Titus the one who had robbed him. Both identifications were positive.

The pair are still held in the Detroit cells and in a day or two will be brought out to the Farms for preliminary hearing.

Victory Garden Seed Sprouting Into Stinkweed

The first seed in the Pointe's 1943 Victory Garden campaign was planted by the News last week in a paragraph titled "Willow War Garden." The column called "Pror-ities." This week the seed seems to have sprouted into stinkweed.

The case of this little drama includes in the list of volunteers: Harry Furten, Clerk of Radnor place; and its manager, Frederick Smith; the News Editor, Edna Furten, R. DePelta, horticultural coordinator for the OGD and head of the Victory Garden movement here; Edna Furten, resigned Farms councilman and lawyer who was called into the case; Harry Furten, clerk of the Farms; and a chorus composed of scores of members of the various garden groups associated with the movement.

Cast Writes Play
In most dramas there is one author. In this case the cast itself has written the play but the "plot" has not yet been dug up.

Since last spring the Pointe has been hounded by the threat of a burning of a house, to turning down of a house, to warning emergency action by the police.

The was the quickly arrived at opinion of Policemen Edman and Ingley of the Park when they saw a highly suspicious agitated colored woman, who is the cook in a home at 1039 Berkshire, who told them that she had stepped out of her kitchen door, equipped with a spring switch, and was looking for a fight, and definitely, unless the police could do something about it. What made the situation especially harrowing was that there was a roast of beef in the oven which would not only burn up but might even catch the house to burn down.

The police agreed with her indignity and decided to investigate about it. After trying every promising means of investigation and finally, they took direct action and broke a panel of glass in the door.

It was found that everything was safe. First the roast beef was saved, and then incidentally the house.

Forcible entry, a jury, legal and proper. And the owner will be charged with the cost of a glass window against a prime roast.

Who wouldn't in these parlous times?

Quartet Leads Opponents by Heavy Margin

James Watkins Draws 594 Votes Against 235 Cast for President Pro Tem Snay

The only inference to be drawn from the primary election in the Farms on Monday is that former President Deeming and his associates have the endorsement of the Number One Boys, politically speaking, of that thriving village.

It will be recalled that Messrs Deeming, Wright and Murr resigned from the Board of Village Trustees on May 11, 1941, in case from the Presidency of the Board because of dissatisfaction with the handling of many matters that came before the board. That in case in a recent story, they had been pretty well aired already.

When they resigned they stated that they thought they could better serve the people of the Farms by sitting on the sidelines.

Resigners Close Up

Apparently the Members they occupied were not too far removed from the political ball game in a recent story, they had a considerable degree of interest and acumen, what was going on in the Farms. They were not so completely and frankly frank as they were.

The ticket headed by James H. Watkins for Village President, with William P. Connolly, Jr., R. E. Deeming, and Stanley S. Schaeffer as trustee candidates, enjoyed the benediction of the large majority of the voters.

The opposition slate headed by James H. Watkins, as candidate for president, and Stanley S. Schaeffer, as trustee candidates, enjoyed the benediction of the large majority of the voters.

Lincoln

It was the Nullification act passed by the South Carolina legislature in 1832, when Andrew Jackson's explosive dictum, "By the Eternal, the Union must and shall be preserved." It remained for Lincoln to weld the States into an indissoluble Union in the heat of a four years' civil war.

Tomorrow marks the 134th anniversary of his birth. Lincoln shares with Washington, and with Washington alone, first place in the hearts of the American people. He has always stood high in their affections because he was peculiarly of the class that built America and made it the mighty power it has become. A close understanding has always existed between Lincoln and the Common Man.

The anniversary of his birth this year finds us launched in a great war which is again putting to the test the same principles to which he devoted his life. Freedom for 4,000,000 black men and freedom for several million white men who ask only the right to choose their own way of life are of the same basic pattern.

He is the outstanding example among all our national Great of the American habit and privilege of making the most of one's opportunities. Born in poverty in a frontier log cabin, with less than a year of interrupted schooling, equipped with a copy of the Holy Bible, Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" and occasional volumes borrowed from more erudite neighbors, including the works of William Shakespeare, he not only quickly absorbed the eternal truths they carried but became so adept in the choice of words for the clear conveyance of thought as to become subsequently the author of many of the most inspiring speeches and writings ever produced in the English tongue. His Douglas debate, the Cooper Union speech, the Gettysburg address and the Second Inaugural are milestones in the march of America. They read as well today as when first uttered, and in many instances are pat with the tremendous issues of this moment.

The radio in commenting recently on the case of the mother who lost five sons in a single battle has likened her to the Massachusetts mother who also sacrificed five sons on the "altar of freedom" in the civil war. The letter which President Lincoln addressed to Mrs. Bixby has been much quoted, but what has seemingly been overlooked is the fact that a copy of that letter still hangs on the walls of Oxford, England. It is the recognition in one of the world's great seats of cultured expression of the heights which an untutored American frontiersman could attain in a simple and sincere letter of condolence to a humble war mother.

Lincoln was always of the common people. Their welfare was the passion of his life. Even when he had reached the pinnacle and could pick and choose his friends among the thirty odd millions of his countrymen he had few if any intimates among the so-called aristocracy. To paraphrase his own immortal words in his dedication of a clipping in England, it is the recognition of which the world is now in a deadly struggle, he was of and for the plain people.

It is in that particular alignment that his place is forever fixed in the history of our country and in the hearts of his countrymen.

Grosse Pointe's War Interest

From the moment that war first broke out on the continent of Europe there were many men and women in Grosse Pointe community who realized its ultimate implications for us. This company was not the first, first, confining its activities largely at the beginning to "Bundles for Britain" and such kindred aids as might be carried on within the purview of our proper neutrality.

With the coming of the war to our own country however this latent interest was galvanized into large scale activity. Citizens, both men and women, took it upon themselves as a responsibility of the people at home, war taken up vigorously. The Red Cross, always organized for service in either peace or war, instantly enlarged the scope of its activities many fold and has already done more than its allotted share in meeting every request made of it by a country at war. Its faithful women workers have produced tens of thousands of surgical dressings and it has taken an active part in mobilizing the blood donor service of the region, through which hundreds of patriotic men and women have literally given their blood to the Nation.

It was an inspiring spectacle recently when, on the occasion of a four hour visit to the Pointe by one of the two mobile blood units from Detroit, more persons offered their blood than could be treated within the scheduled. In recognition of the very superior type of municipal protectors which this community has in its policemen and firemen, it should be noted that a large proportion of these offers of blood came from the stalwart representatives of the community's manhood.

The American Women's Voluntary Services organization is numerously and earnestly recruited in this community. As the name of the organization implies these patriotic women stand ready to undertake any form of civilian war service requested of them. It welcomes to its ranks every woman of sincere patriotic spirit who is willing to do any work in the war effort for which her abilities qualify her, and the functions taken over by this group are so varied and necessary that it is hard to envisage any woman in this area who cannot find some worthwhile field for her talents within the range of its activities.

Just at present this organization is taking a leading part in the formation of the War clubs. Under this scheme it is the intent to contact every man and woman in the Pointe and find out the disposition and their abilities for a place in the war picture.

This is one of the most important undertakings of the whole civilian war effort and is the first Government sponsored move to make the American people conscious of the significance of total war and its impingement on civilian life.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R.I. SCOTT
The first dozen words in Alexander Woolcott's piece in the current Readers Digest hinted at his own death. "This article," he wrote, "is a story—perhaps the final one—in an unscripted adventure in housecleaning, etc."

Many of the leading saloons are plotting to install barmaids, now that McCutts' man-draft will put them of their able-bodied male bartenders. The story is a fantastic book, written by an adventurous author named Alexander Penikoff. The title is "Bushido—The Anatomy of Terror" and it professes to be the diary of a horror-hunter named Harbin, Manchukuo, who became a stoolpigeon for the Japanese secret police. . . . Nick Glad, Mark Helms, and other latest victims of "muggers," was so dazed after his beating, he told reporters that a horror he had become a father again. He is "Actually, Glad's little daughter was born last Friday and Mrs. Glad is still in the hospital. . . . Penikoff, reported here as having been inducted, has been reported in the Army medical—and is back hoisting at 21.

Ethel Smith, well known on-artist, has a roomed upstairs her suite on the 10th floor of a hotel on Fifth avenue—and practices her music. One night last week the matter came up to ask her to soften her music as it was disturbing guests on the eighth floor. "Why that's two floors below, protested Miss Smith, "my music can't carry down that far." "This is the way," explained the manager, "the people on the ninth floor right below are dancing to your music and the dancing is disturbing the folks on the eighth floor."

At a recent Al Jolson broadcast in which Brody Woolley was also featured, several high ranking Army officers were present, including one captain who on several occasions inadvertently pitched his whippers too loud. Woolley kept glaring and hushing him. When, after the broadcast, he was asked why he had singled out the Army officer for his rebukes, Woolley snapped scornfully, "He is obviously a Harvard man—from his speech and the way he wears his uniform—positively hateful to a good man like me." Incidentally, the other day Woolley received a letter from Cole Porter, enclosing a clipping about the Hollywood trapeze artist giving high praise to the composer's songs in "Something for the Boys"—enthusiastically acclaiming them as the best compositions of Porter since he wrote the numbers for "Flying High" and the songs in "Flying High" were written by DeSiva, Brown and Henderson. . . . Martin Sommers, associate editor of the S.E.P., is now in the Army.

Arthur Brown, the Stork Club dude, told Steve Hannagan a story who told it to Capt. Eddie Hickenhauser. Rick has now adopted the story as his own and tells it to everyone. Seems five segulls strayed from the sea-

The Boy Scouts' Place

Some years ago, in describing the darkest days of England in the last war, one of her greatest military leaders, who is now recalled as Sir Douglas Haig, stated that if it had not been for the training in the ways of vigorous and courageous manhood that 400,000 of her soldiers had as Boy Scouts in their early youth, those raw levies which took to the German trenches the Channel ports in the Fall of 1914 could not have held.

Undoubtedly those qualities, which this same authority said saved the Empire then, are a goodly part of the foundation of the present Commandos.

And this great organization for youth training which we adopted from England, following its establishment there right after the Boer war of 1899-1902, is showing in impressive dividends today in our own fighting forces.

In connection with the celebration of the thirty-third anniversary of its founding in the United States, the statement is made that already 284 former Boy Scouts have been cited for bravery and distinguished service in our armed forces.

Grosse Exaggerations

Whether for walking or for you,
I'll play my contract bridge with me!
For though my partner be a lout
Who doesn't know what it's about;
It's easier to hear by far
Than playing with a female star.
For I can beat him out and he
Can pull the same rough stuff with me;
And whether we be wrong or right,
We need not be too damn polite,
For all my partner's roars and vents,
Are better than the married glances
A woman partner always darts
When you get set for tricks in hearts.
And when the time comes to collect,
You feel a woman's life is wrecked;
And that her whole career is done.
Because of 50 cents; you know.
Thank you, I'll take my black gloves
That male practitioners turn loose
In preference to what you get.
In mixed games ruled by etiquette;
Whether for walking or for you,
I'll take my contract bridge with me!"

The above was sent to us by one of our readers. We think he has something there. Nothing alive can beat a woman at "telling you off" in a "nice" manner. They can profane the nastiest dig, clouded scenes we've heard of, and women say, "So I told her just what I thought, in a nice way of course!" Ouch!!!

In the good days when we thought not a job about selling local merchants to send for articles to be returned to the store. . . . This amusing incident occurred—A furniture company sent a large truck to a house in the Pointe, for a "pick-up" to be returned. When the woman telephoned them to collect the things, the husband said, "A sofa, a sofa, a sofa and a bed!" Two burly men, armed with barbed wire and a strip of the waist for action, rang the door bell and were met at the door by the lady of the house, who was holding the furniture in her hand. She had used the word "sofa," but had neglected to tell the company that the sofa, bed and cabinet were miniatures for a doll house.

- The following excerpts are from authentic letters received by a county relief officer—
- 1—I am glad to say that my husband who was reported missing is now dead.
- 2—Sir—I am forwarding my marriage and six children. I had never but one died which was baptised on a half sheet of paper.
- 3—Please find out if my husband is dead. The man I'm living with can't eat or do anything else until he knows.
- 4—I am forwarding my marriage certificate and three children, one of which is a mistake as you will see.
- 5—in answer to your letter, I have given birth to a boy who weighs six pounds. I hope this is satisfactory.
- 6—in accordance with your instructions, I have given birth to twins in the enclosed envelope.
- 7—I want my money quick. Have been in bed with my doctor for two weeks but he doesn't do me any good. If things don't improve, I'll have to get another doctor.

We would like (personally) to donate a dozen pairs of shoes, each to the members of the jury who acquitted Errol Flynn. (Shoes came to our mind because they are so scarce now, but were so prominent in the Flynn trial.) The part which so amused us was the statement made by the member of one of the innocent juries, girls after the verdict was announced. She said, "Oh, I'm glad it's over. . . . Nobody was hurt anyway. . . . !!! In Grandma's day, that particular 'incident' was known as 'A tale worse than death'. Perhaps Mama is a little biased."

We like the story about the Southern Negro who begged an extra dollar from his employer to "join a lodge". The following week he needed another dollar because "I've been made an officer of the lodge. And as you know, the Negro said he was 'Supreme Ruler of the Universe.'"

"That's a mighty fine sounding title, George," said his employer. "You must be very important. To which George replied: "No, Boss; that's the lowest office in the lodge."

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

Here's a piece, Judge, that says that in spite of more cars and faster speeds, the first six years of recent showed 30% less deaths from automobile accidents than during the last six years of prohibition.

"Now doesn't that just go to show you, Henry, you've got to be on pretty solid ground as far as your facts go here when you make an out-and-out prediction. Why couldn't the days just before repeal quite a few folks around the country make pretty powerful predictions about how automobile accidents were going to jump up if we got legal liquor back.

"About the only thing along that line you've ever said in predicting, Henry, is this. No community or county or nation for that matter, ever became or ever will become dry just because it voted that way. All that the 'vum' decides is whether you have legal or bootleg liquor. We had next 14 years of experience on that, didn't we?"

Blue Devils Annex Victory Number 8

School Basketball Team Welcomes Old Rival, Fordson, 34-31, in Exciting Game on Local Court

COMPTON REAUMONT

Grosse Pointe High School added number eight to victory string by defeating Fordson 34-31 on the local Friday night. A rebuilt Blue Devil quintet slapped the rival full in the face and walked off the court, leaving Fordson dismayed and confused.

Compton Reaumont, sharp shooting Blue Devils, started on an early lead and never lost control of the play and the half ended with Grosse Pointe leading 18-15.

Polite Really Rolls
From the minute the third period opened it was easy to see that those hard driving Blue Devils meant business. They broke down the floor time and time again to swish home the tally. The Pointers passing had Fordson bewildered and swaying badly. One scoring play after another was set up, and one shot after another dropped through the visitors' hoop. The Blue Devils driving power commanded the entire period, and they set up their defense so completely that the Tractors could only score four meager points.

The Devils had Fordson on the run, and never stopped the whirlwind attack until the period ended. The score show in the score board lights, Grosse Pointe 31, Fordson 18.

Loretto, Tractor center, opened the scoring in the final quarter by dropping in a beautiful one.

With the Boys In the Service

ROBERT HENNING, son of Mrs. C. Marx of Beacrafton avenue, who was here on furlough from the U. S. Naval Reserve, has been promoted to Corporal Technician at Camp Forrest, Tenn., according to word received here early this week.

HOWARD KNAGGS of Turbine road, who has been commissioned a lieutenant in the U. S. Naval Reserve, leaves tomorrow for Iowa City for the Pre-Flight Training school there. He is expected to be sent from there to Chapel Hill, North Carolina, for his indoctrination course before returning to Iowa City.

EDWARD D. ZERBE, S.C. son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Zerbe, 22511th, is now stationed with the hospital corps at the U. S. Naval Hospital at San Diego, Calif.

PENDELTON FIELD, Oregon, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Charter, 22 son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Charter of 1188 Harvard, Grosse Pointe, Mich., has just recently been promoted from Private to Corporal. Inducted into the Army at Fort Custer, Mich., Sept. 11, 1942, Corporal Charter is now assistant chief in the message center office of his signal company, U. S. Army Air Forces, at Pendleton Field, Ore.

Charter was graduated from Grosse Pointe High school in 1938, and received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Denver in 1942. At Pendleton Field, Ore., he attended a basic signal school for twelve weeks.

SSC OPEN SATURDAYS
The East Side field office of the Social Security Board is now open until 5 p. m. on Saturdays. It is announced by Francis L. Pendergast, manager. The office is at 8032 Harper avenue at Van Dyke.

When the final quarter came to a close, the Blue Devils were on top 34-31. They had held back all of Fordson's power and had smashed the Tractor's attack in the closing minutes.

Glenn Holt was high point man for both teams, scoring 15 points.

Students Honored by Request Of Office of War Information

Will Exchange Correspondence With Pupils in England; Only 60 Schools in Country Receive Similar Recognition

A signal honor came to Grosse Pointe High School last week when it was invited by the Office of War Information to be one of 60 American high schools to participate in a correspondence exchange with English schools.

Cooperating with the OWI, Grosse Pointe students will prepare in their English classes a packet of individual letters to English secondary school pupils. The packet will be delivered to an English school, whose students in turn will write letters to Grosse Pointe girls and boys.

Each student will correspond with an English student of like age and sex.

According to the information received by W. E. Clemons, principal, last week, arrangements have already been made for the cooperation of English schools and for details of censorship, mailing, and transportation.

Only good letters are wanted for the project because "good letters may actually win us friends, and poor ones may actually lose them for us," one instructor said.

If the exchange with England is successful, the plan will be extended to other allied and neutral countries.

Every effort was made by the OWI to select schools which would make good on the project, the letter of invitation said. The assignment was received with enthusiasm at the high school, and plans are being made by the English department for the most effective performance possible.

"Naturally we are proud to be called upon to render this service," commented Mr. Clemons. "Our students will make a fine job of the letters."

Special instructions regarding censorship will be given the young writers. In particular they will be warned against using military details such as names of ships or descriptions of any kind of arms.

Personal interests, hobbies, sports, family and community are among the topics suggested for inclusion in the letters. Snapshots and clippings may also be sent.

BLOOD DONORS NEEDED

The official OGD Blood Bank needs 1,000 men and women to donate a pint of blood each in order to provide the city with the minimum amount of blood plasma required for use in case of a disaster or bombing.

Fire and Police Chiefs Celebrate

Celebrating the event of the organizing of all the police and fire chiefs of the Pointe municipalities into a single functioning unit for the furtherance of the war effort, following Pearl Harbor, these officials were the guests of George Elworthy, OGD coordinator, at a luncheon last Friday afternoon.

Among those present were Police Chief Paul of the Park, Fire Chief of the City, Flint of the Farms and Counties of the Woodsy and Fire Chiefs of the Park, Chairman of the City and Danbury of the Farms, John R. Sutton, Jr., deputy chief of the fire wardens who was in charge of the original organization program, was also a guest, as was Ed Clarke of the Grosse Pointe Fire Department and the OGD coordinator, at a luncheon last Friday afternoon.

THE MANY FRIENDS OF SHUMWAY'S will welcome the news that this famous old Detroit-Grosse Pointe tavern is to be continued, having been purchased from the widow and estate of its founder, the late Captain Shumway, whose reputation as a host was legion in every corner of Metropolitan Detroit.

Shumway's dates back to 1909. The present site is the third Shumway's has occupied, the first being near the Belle Isle bridge and the second being on Woodward, downtown. It has been the meeting place of men who have had so much to do with the building of modern Detroit.

Mindful of the Shumway standards... and the Shumway traditions... we shall strive to merit the continued patronage of the great Shumway customer-family. Don't fail to come in during this week-long Grand Opening Celebration.

Pryor-ities

We used to think that if we drew a line to look or whistled, enough alphabet soup, we'd go crazy—but the soup has nothing on the letters of the alphabet that have been used since the beginning of the war. As an anti-dote, we've thought up a few pryor-ities, that perhaps to our readers, that perhaps to our readers, that perhaps to our readers.

"Bums"—Black Underground Market Sellers.
"Nuts"—Nylon Underwear, 'Taboo' Society.
"Crabs"—Cussing Rationing and Buying Shamefully.

If you didn't read the editorial in Wednesday's Free Press about Harry Nowak—you should know how little for the people or person who put the pressure on him and has and has the crust to put that over on the patriotic citizens of this country. Loyalty Americans ought to bombard Washington with letters of protest—but maybe they're too busy trying to buy shoes!

It fairly makes us "gorp" to read what the papers in general say about the "quintessence" the past few days in the shoe department. On checking up (operationally), we have found that the rush of women and men to the stores to buy shoes is enough to make your hair stand on end. Some of the salesgirls actually fainted and some went home in a nervous collapse because the rush was so great. Evidently the Wall Street and the New York subway cars are annoying people crushed to the frenzy of the populace when it "hears" the word to buy shoes.

On the lighter side—we find that a pullet becomes a hen when she loses her first race. That was explained to us by a farmer. He also tells us that his father thinks nothing of getting up every morning at five o'clock. The college boy admits that he doesn't think very much of it either.

Miss Catherine Richards, director of the Girl Scouts of Detroit, will conduct the national Girl Scouts practical citizenship training of scouting available to more girls. Grosse Pointe has a waiting list of girls who want to be Scouts but who cannot be served because we have not enough women volunteers to conduct the troops.

Government agencies and the President himself have said that we need more physical, spiritual, recreational and intelligent living which are the heart and sinews of Girl Scouting.

Like Red Cross and other defense agencies Girl Scouting provides training courses to equip our growing girls to give expert help. Women who are eager to do something for their country can perform a real war service by volunteering to help Girl Scout troops. The women who wear the green uniform of the Scouts is enrolled in a defense job which is to be done when the war ends. We shall need the kind of citizens that Scouting trains to build the peace.

Kindly communicate with Mrs. Willis Bugbee, Kensington road, Grosse Pointe chairman, or Mrs. Raymond W. Balfour road, phone Tuxedo 2-3482.

Wolfe will be held at the Book-Cadillac at 12:30 noon in Parlor 12.

Neighborhood Club News

The theatre party sponsored by the three Camp Fire Groups of the Neighborhood Club will be held Friday, February 19, at 7:30 p. m. at the Book-Cadillac. The principal play is the typical English family in the London Times. When "Mrs. Minver" became the principal topic of London ball talk, the New Statesman offered a prize for a satire on the popular comedy. Jan Struther wrote the satire and won the prize.

More than 1,000,000 copies of her book have been distributed and the film of the same name has been described by critics as "one of the best of all time."

The local book committee announces that already 500 books have been sent on to Fort Custer, but the scope of the demand for reading matter is so great that there must be no let down in the contributions from this region.

Earnest Pleas From Lieutenant Neely Received by AWWS Members in Charge of Drive Being Conducted Here

Mrs. Lloyd S. Hooker, Grosse Pointe Chairman of the Victory Book Drive now being conducted under the auspices of the Grosse Pointe AWWS, has received an earnest appeal for books from Lieutenant A. P. Neely, in charge of book reception and arrangement at Fort Custer.

The attention of residents of the Pointe is earnestly directed to the work. There is a great need for reading matter, particularly books, in all the great military centers in which you and your young men are now so scattered. This appeal is strongly supported by the Government, and response to it is definitely recognized as a most worthy war service.

Lieutenant Neely lists in his letter the character of books he is looking for. He is especially interested in the following: 1. Reference books, such as encyclopedias, atlases, etc. 2. Biographies, especially of famous generals, admirals and statesmen.

3. Histories, particularly of the countries with which we have wars. 4. Religious works. He uses the recently quoted remark that there were no athletes in the fox holes of Bataan. The status of these young men as soldiers in uniform as given a noticeable bent to their spiritual equiptment.

5. Humors as an offset to the grim implications of war. 6. Fiction—especially such as scores of modern heroes and heroines, supposedly in the theatres of the present conflict. There is also a considerable demand for works on modern dramas and the classics.

The local book committee announces that already 500 books have been sent on to Fort Custer, but the scope of the demand for reading matter is so great that there must be no let down in the contributions from this region.

Last year he was a member of the Maroon Key, junior honor society. Sturman is affiliated with Alpha Chi Sigma, national professional fraternity for students interested in chemistry; Sigma Delta Psi, national athletic society; and Phi Delta Theta, national social fraternity.

He has been active in varsity basketball, track, tennis and drama, having recently been selected business manager of Sigma and Tri-Phi, dramatic club, for the coming year.

New Faces Revue At Club Royale

"The New Faces Revue" now becoming an annual event at Club Royale, is packed this year with a bevy of stars of stage and screen. The George Bernard dancers who said goodbye to Detroiters this week are aptly replaced by the Triton Revueettes, six beautiful red heads from the Triton restaurant in Washington, D. C.

Lorraine DeWood, beautiful song star of New York and Florida swankers, headlines the new show with her special renditions of the top songs of the day.

Denny White and his pretty partner, Billie Burns, return for another welcome engagement, offering new rhythm dance routines.

On the novelty side, A. J. Cantu, one of the new mystic magicians of the illusion type, has received raves from Walter Winchell as one of the great finds of the year.

Leony Gale is another new face, a young mimic star that has been hitting new highs in the art of impressions.

Jack Coffey and his orchestra remain as holdovers to furnish music for the show and dancing. Roy Tracy, amiable master of ceremonies, continues to guide the shows expertly.

News From Pointe's Elementary Schools

RICHARD SCHOOL

The second semester has gotten under way at the Richard school with the enrollment maintaining itself at about the same level of 325 pupils. Practically the same number of new kindergartners enrolled as were sent from the 8A to Brownell Junior high school.

There was one change in the teaching staff. Miss Pollock, who formerly taught the 2B group, left Grosse Pointe and in her place is Mrs. Dombrowski, who has been a substitute teacher for our elementary schools. Nearly all groups of children have the same teacher they have had since September except in those cases where groups have completed the two-year cycle.

It is the general policy in our school that a group of pupils remain with the same teacher for a period of two years. In this way the teacher comes to know the academic and social problems of each individual child much better than under the scheme where children change teachers often.

More than 300 parents recently attended the program of Patricia Ains presented by Mrs. Ellis' pupils with Mr. Watkins at the piano. Mrs. Trombley, one of the parents of the school presented two vocal solos.

The Safety patrol and the Service Squad had a party on the last day of the first semester and had a grand time. All phases of the party were planned and executed by the pupils. Their invited guests were their homeroom teachers. Among new members of the patrol are: George Beatty, James Hanika and Bob Slade.

DETER SCHOOL
Christmas is long since past but we would like everyone to know the very generous gifts from the mothers of third and fourth grade students made it possible for the P.T.A. to buy

Christmas candy for every Deter child. This and previous splendid cooperation on the part of our Deter mothers is most commendable and is deeply appreciated by the Executive Committee of the P.T.A.

The Girl Scouts in Troop No. 294 are well organized now and are hard at work trying to earn their second class Scout ratings. They are all uniformed and justly proud. Due to their very successful sale of Christmas cards, and some promised aid from the Troop Mothers, they are hoping soon to place their order for a troop flag. The newly assigned Scout Room is in ship shape condition, window drapes and new chairs having been installed, and arrangements completed for craft tables.

Deter parents are still talking about the delightful Christmas program of music and appropriate illustrative slides arranged by Mr. Himmelmann, Miss Grandall and Mrs. Daniel. It was arranged so that parents could participate in the singing and they loved it.

MASON SCHOOL

A very lovely tea for the teachers was given by the room mothers of Mason school for the members of Mason school for the mothers met in which the mothers met to discuss the problem of serving hot lunches to the children. The tea was in charge of Mrs. F. Fredericks.

At the Parent-Teacher meeting on Tuesday evening, January 26, Mr. Carl Christie, boys' counselor of Denby high school, Detroit, gave a very fine address on the subject of future trends in the educational field. The business meeting concluded with refreshments and a social hour.

The I-A boys and girls of J. Beasley and M. McLean's rooms gave an informal program of folk-dancing for their mothers and the other first and second grade groups. Seven jumps, Bluebird and Pop Goes the Weasel were the favorites of the audience.

The new semester has started with a total enrollment of seven hundred by three children. The kindergarten has 43 new pupils. New teachers this semester include: L. Horak, M. Spaulding, and H. Lanck.

VERNIER SCHOOL

About one hundred people attended the games and Box Social Party given by the P.T.A. of Vernier School. Bridge and other games were played during the evening and many beautiful prizes, contributed by the P.T.A. members were given away.

The highlight of the evening came when the box lunches prepared by the ladies were distributed among the men. Some were fortunate enough to have

The Pointe Parade

Robert Labeck, former reporter on the staff of the Grosse Pointe News, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Labeck, formerly of Lewiston road.

Bob enlisted as a cadet in the Army Air Corps last April. He was not called to active duty until November, when he was ordered to Santa Ana, Calif. Last month he was transferred to Maxwell Field, near Montgomery, Ala., where he is now connected with the Public Relations Office, attached to the Southeast News, a weekly Army paper edited and published there and circulated to all the bases in that section of the country.

Bob is a graduate of Grosse Pointe high school and attended Hillsdale College before joining the News staff in 1940.

Two or three ladies as supper companions. The money earned will be used for charity and to provide needed materials for the school.

Send your books to school: The soldiers need fiction and technical books of a recent date. Every child of Vernier School is a member of the Junior Red Cross and will take care of any books that you care to donate. Make a special gift to some soldier by giving him a recent book that you have particularly enjoyed.

TROMBLY SCHOOL

The 2B-A room of Trombly School dedicated its new Red Cross Station, Monday, January 25.

In Social Studies, the students are learning about the Police and Fire. The girls did not want the boys to have all the fun of being policemen, so they decided to be Red Cross nurses. This required a Red Cross Station to facilitate Red Cross activities. This in turn led to the Dedication exercises.

Sandra Faulk acted as chairman; Sally Boardwin led the Benediction; Mrs. Carl Stewart and Mrs. Edgar Reitz, two Gray Ladies and Mrs. Edward Summers were the main speakers. Mrs. Stewart explained the work of the Gray Ladies. The children enjoyed finding out how much the soldiers in the hospitals appreciate the articles they had made and delivered to them. As a result the children are planning to redouble their Red Cross efforts.

Mrs. Reitz chose for her subject, "Prevention of Accidents in the Home."

Mrs. Summers spoke on First Aid.

Dale Petrofsky, a 2A student, gave a short talk on "Home Soldier, Keep Fit." Jane Summer chose "Prevention of Accidents on School Premises." Pat Burke talked on "Prevention of Street Games." The good home soldiers by emptying their piggy banks. Tom Stewart asked banks, candy banks, coin banks and barrel banks of copper pennies. The government does not want to use copper to make more coins but wants to use it for war activities.

Farms Voters Are Warned Of Registration Deadline

Harry A. Furton, Clerk of the Farms Village, desires to call the attention of the residents of the village to the fact that February 16 is the deadline for their registration as voters qualified to vote at the Farms election for President and Trustees, Clerk, Treasurer and Assessor on March 8.

At the primary election last Monday there were nearly 50 persons who had in favor of their registration to be able to vote. If those who are not qualified voters of the Village fail to register before the 16th, they are simply out of the voting privilege for their election.

All told there are about 4,300 qualified voters in the Farms. The proportion that appears at the polls is much too small for such a registration. In the Monday primary, despite the fact there was more than ordinary interest this year, scarcely more than 20% of the qualified voters appeared.

As Mr. Furton is without opposition this year and was fifth on the list of 12 candidates, there is no personal anxiety on his part due to the absence habit of the voters.

He urges the exercise of the voting privilege by the residents of the community as a patriotic act and as evidence of a greater pride in the village's political life.

partisan nominations. The candidates are Chester P. O'Hara and Leo J. Carrigan, both Grosse Pointers.

On February 19 the Republicans will hold a state convention in the Bock-Cedille when candidates will be named for Superintendent of Public Instruction and Superior Court Justice. Those named at the convention will be certified to the Secretary of State and by his authorization placed on the regular "bulletin ballot" for the April 6 election.

Here's What Grosse Pointe News Carried In Its News Columns Last Week

Friends Support Justice McNally

Justice of the Peace James N. McNally, the only elective officer of Grosse Pointe township who is in the armed services, is the only incumbent who faces opposition in the coming elections.

Judge McNally, after 23 years in the U. S. Naval Reserve, entered active service in June 1942. He is stationed at the Naval Air Station at Atlanta, Ga.

A resident of Grosse Pointe Park for 14 years, Judge McNally has been a justice for the last eight years. He gave up his law practice to enter active duty. The father of six children, his youngest child was born late last December and is still in an incubator in Chicago, having weighed but 4 pounds six ounces at birth.

The many friends of Judge McNally are urging his election at the polls February 15.

Seed Sprouts

was termed an "old man" who, singlehanded, had broken plans to have a Victory Garden last summer in the Ford subdivision, owned by the Newberry estate. It was explained that the Newberry estate gave permission to use the land there unless it was agreeable to all who had purchased lots in the subdivision. All had agreed, excepting Mr. Carrigan, who was explained by the head of the movement and the members of the garden group.

With plans for the 1933 garden taking shape, the old issue was again renewed, and by last week gossip had placed Mr. Carrigan once more in the hot seat. The News, erring in not delving into the documentary side of the case and relying too strongly upon the word of supposedly well-informed persons, printed the above-mentioned paragraph concerning Mr. Carrigan for his actions. That was the seed.

Crippings from the News began to fall on Mr. Carrigan's head as the telephone buzzed. He thought an injustice had been done. Facts developed by the investigation which he pointed out to the News to the following is what he has discovered.

Last April 1 Mr. Carrigan received a letter from Mr. Smith of the Newberry estate stating that some of the Radnor Park land was desired as a Victory Garden plot. Mr. Smith pointed out that in accordance with provisions under which lots had been sold, it was necessary to obtain their permission to obtain the estate could grant this permission. Enclosed, (and this was the stipulation) was an agreement which Mr. Carrigan was asked to sign, which indemnified the Newberry estate against all and every subsequent event.

Mr. Carrigan's legal mind, for that is a lawyer who resides in Circuit Judgeship in the coming elections, says there wasn't any reason why he should sign and lead into a nose of this kind, and he wrote Mr. Smith out that effect. He did not state that he was in favor of Victory Gardens and every other war effort, but felt that the agreement was unnecessary and entangling.

Mr. Carrigan stated that he has never been informed that this agreement has been withdrawn to clear the way for making a Victory Garden plot in Radnor Park possible.

Period of Darkness

There is a period of great darkness between April and September 1942 and the evidence at hand discloses nothing that would indicate any effort on the part of anyone to straighten out the misunderstanding during that time. In September, looking forward to the 1943 season and with fall plowing in mind, the battle was taken up again.

Edward Wright was asked to see if he could clear up the controversy. According to Mr. Wright, Mr. Carrigan was absolutely correct in his reaction to the Newberry estate and says he wouldn't sign the agreement had he been in Mr. Carrigan's place.

Mr. DePetris, who never saw or talked to Mr. Carrigan until yesterday, says there has been a big misunderstanding and that he never knew of the indemnifying agreement until informed of it by the News.

Mr. Furtun, who as clerk of the village, was charged with many of the details regarding the Victory Gardens there, says he did not understand the real reason behind Mr. Carrigan's actions.

Everything Set Now

Mr. De Petris said the News yesterday that everything had been straightened out and there would be a garden plot in Radnor Park this year. All of the Newberrys are out of town and Mr. Smith is not authorized to speak for them.

The whole thing is about as simple as a 3,972 piece jig saw puzzle. Who was right and who was wrong? You take your choice.

Mentally Nimble

For young gentlemen whose private vocations have taken them far afield from the regular school, the mental nimbleness in grasping an alien theme was remarkable. As a moment the discussion threatened the revival of the age old query revolving around the parenthood of the chick; i.e. the mother who lays the egg or the one who hatches it?

There was a quick recognition of the fact that the foetus that develops with spurs might bear a certain responsibility in the perpetuation of the international American Sunday stew pot, but that in the course of two three-minute sound bites for breakfast he was an absolute zero.

Unknown to many of the Park residents, it is not to hatch chickens in that village. The only ordinance regulating the matter was posted so long ago that its provisions have been forgotten and the chicken raising business has long since passed into the limbo of abandoned enterprises. It is doubtful at the moment whether there is a chicken in the whole Park village.

Must Be Enrolled

The only provision is that the chickens must be kept in an enclosure. This provision still stands, and Mr. Van Deusen's recommendation required no legal support.

And so, with the Commission, as of the Village of Grose Pointe Park agreeable to the imposition of the quiet, dignified and orderly arrangement of their favored community on the altar of the country's food necessities, thus setting an example to other communities throughout the region which it will be difficult for them to fail to follow, the stage is all set for THE MARCH OF EGGS.

Woods Wardens To Attend Class

The Air Raid Wardens of Grose Pointe Woods are going to run a series of classes in First Aid work on February 23, March 2 and March 9 in the Masonic Hall at 8 o'clock p. m.

These classes will be conducted by persons who are already qualified as skilled in this work. The classes will be largely in the nature of practical demonstrations. The plan will follow somewhat the case system, in that the wardens will have a great demonstration of the way to go about the duties which may fall to them in an emergency.

Bleeding, burns, stretcher work, shelter work, fire-fighting and all the various duties which may fall to wardens will be demonstrated. Much of this work will be under the direction of Dr. Henry Holt of Grose Pointe Woods.
