A Little of That!

Robert L. Ripley has received his first letter from Gypsy Markoff since the crackup of the clipper in Lishon. Grosse Pointers, should ponder this situation very seriously. If they wish to make changes in their zoning ordinance to enable them to give a greater service to the country in helping out in its war housing problem, limited to the durnities of the Medes and Persians. Political entities of considerably higher rating than our little city are doing so habitually in this period because of war conditions. Among these may be counted the Government of the United States and all or most of the States of the Union.

And Judge Uvick's dictum that "It doesn't matter if there is a war on—we can't change the laws just because of the war," need not be taken too seriously.

WAGES 2 cents an hour!

An an such as this one, if it appeared in the μ wspaper today, would probably draw hundreds of replies-provided that eager, prospective employers didn't think it too good to be true. Actually, not a word in the ad is exaggerated: Every bit of it is true -even the wages of 2 cents an hour-when applied to your household electric servants.

The commoner electric servants in your home work for a few cents per day. Some of them operate for only a fraction of a cent per hour. See how cheaply electricity serves you (at the thrifty "bargain" step in your residence rate, 21/1c net per unit) in half-

ONE CENT will run your electric clock a whole week . . . or chill your electric refrigerator for more than 10 hours . . . or tune in your favorite radio program for the whole evening . . . or run your vacu eleaner for nearly two hours . . . or brown the family toast for several breakfasts . . . or make 15 cups of coffee . . . or do half the weekly wash . . . or iron clothes for an hour . . . or wash the dishes for three days' meals.

Your residential electric service costs only about ONE-HALF as much today as it did twenty years ago. If other things were as cheap, the cost of living would be half what it is. The Detroit Edison Company.
