Big Bond Auction Set for Friday Night

Donations for the Bond Auction sponsored by the AWVS this Friday evening have been mounting steadily, showing the great interest aroused in this community project at the close of the Second War Loan Drive.

project of the cross of the Second War Loan Dive.

Originally planned to be held in the AWVS headquarters at 17027 Kercheval, if weather permits the auction will be moved out-of-doors and held in front of the offices on Kercheval Avenue. The cross streets, Morre Dame and St. Clair, will be blocked off to motor troffic allowing free circulation to the crowd. Larry Payne of radio station WJR and Bob Hall, known in entertainment circles as "The Rhymester", will be on hand to relieve Mr. J. N. Dumouchelle of the Art Salon Galleries as auctioneers during the evening.

Many of the articles to be radified off how the large front winds to the large front winds as the state of the large front winds are to a seven-month-old Banghayed but expected to the large front winds are the a seven-month-old Banghis setter put domated by Mrs. Harry Newman from her kennel at Algonac, which will be brought in for the occasion. Another unusual—in fact unique—feature will be a traveller's check issued to Captain Eddie Rickenbacker and signed by him, which he had with him on his recent exploit in the Pacific, framed in a plaque, and donated by Gapt. Rickenbacker through the American Express. Mrs. Edwin K. Ifbey and Mrs. Gideon A. Du-Rocher (above) are seen reading the historic document.

Payment at this auction will be in War Bonds and Stamps entirely, the purchase of which will be the basis of the bids made. All the services and articles are donated. The AWVS has the privilege of selling the bonds and tamps and bonds which they. It is a service of the bidding to begin. Come one score all to Eddie clock is the hour set for the bidding to begin. There is muste in the whistles of the ore boats that are plying the lakes these days in even-incressing numbers. They are carrying the innews of war. Look Out. Hitler, Hirohito, and Mussolini, we are on our way.

The only spring song that particularly moves the heart of war-minded America this season on this littoral of the Great Lakes is the freighter's horn.

We should record some of this music and send it to the boys in the South Pacific and North Africa. It would tell the news to these lads of "America on the March" more convincingly than hours of short wave brendeasts.

Unionizing Social Service

Unionizing Social Service

The CIO, through its so called Social Service Employee's Union, professes to be in high dudgeon against the Boards of Directors of the Detroit Community Fund, the Jewish Community Center and the Jewish Children's Bureau because, so says the CIO, "These Board refuse Union recognition to their staffs. They deep where workers that Bureau because, so says the CIO, "These Board refuse Union recognition to their staffs." They are the city of the staffs. They deep the staffs that the staffs that the staffs that the staff of the staffs that the staffs that the staff of the staffs that the staff of the s compensation, which marks them quile apart from the heads of the labor unions, are devoting their time to "fighting their employees."

While the war has brought new problems in housing, child care and personal problems, in which we expect and believe the employes of the social service agencies coad will do valuable service, many of un buttural facilities might be put on ice, so to be a social service and the problems in the problems of the pr serious problems concerning salaries, working conditions and agency policies. Their right to solve these problems through cellective bargeianing is vital to the continuance of these services to you."

The implication of this whole matter is perfectly clear. The CIO wants to completely organize the social service where it is completely organize the social service where it is to the Community Fund jurisdiction. Organization, when sufficiently effected, means demands, and demands, if not acceded to or compromised, mean strikes.

If a strike occurs of course those unfortunates who are so dependent upon the instant service and attention of the bright young men and women who have wrangled themselves jobs in some of the infinitely multiplied subdivisions of the social service army, would have to lie withered and neglected along the social highway in the continuation of these services to you?"

The CIO isn't fooling about the matter. It is out to organize the social service workers, willy nilly. It has called upon all and sundry to bombard the heads of these organizations. Names and addresses are meticulously appended. It is missing nothing in its aim. It also wants a voice, through the social service workers, willy nilly. It has called in shaping the "agency policies," and an addresses are meticulously appended. It is missing nothing in its aim. It also wants a voice, through the social service workers, as and when sufficiently organized, in shaping the "agency policies." It failed to mention that the money spent through these various organizations comes, to the last penny, from the free will contributions of all the people of the community. It is turned over to the social service agencies as a gift, without possible personal return as is the case with investments made in private enterprise conducted for a profil.

And how many of the citizens of Detroit and vicinity were to become the substance of a scramble among the paid employees of the social segerices.

And, too, it would be illuminating to know what proportion

Rabbits and War Gardens

Kabbits and War Gardens
The men and women of Grosse Pointe have done a good job in arousing interest in gardening in this year of threatened food shortage.

A most casual look around the area affords proof of that fact in the scores of gardens on public plots, not to mention the hundreds concealed behind family homes.

But the job will be only half done unless there are steps taken to protect the gardens from rabbits and other animal garden pests after the growing process sets in. If the gardens that are now being industriously seeded are destroyed by these usually welcomed little creatures, it will put a discouraging damper on future garden efforts in this community, Mr. and Mrs. Peter will eat as long as they have room for more. room for more.

In some states the game laws specifically permit the farmer or grower of garden vegetables to protect his crops even to the extent of shooting them when actually on his premises. In such event it is usually provided he must notify the nearest deputy game warden who takes possession of the careass and turns it over as food to some hospital or charitable institution.

The intriguing suggestion has been made that these little pexts might be trapped but it is doubtful whether the garden minded clitzenry of the Pointe community would care to undertake two brand new vocations, those of trappers and gardeners, in the same season.

There are few residential areas about the country that harbor so many or so varied forms of wild game life as the Pointe. Its prevalencial settlements to the fondares the people. The Pointe abounds in squirrels, rabbits, English pheasants and some quali, or Virginia partridge. May they always be with us, but this year of vital food necessity some way must be devised to keep Mr. Rabbit under control.

In a way this is a good sign, It bespeaks the manner of men who are accustomed to get things done and that is with the country needs now. Out of the hullabaloo of the moment some compromise will be reached soon whereby the fighting forces will get both their rubber and their gasoline.

FINAL INSPECTION:

Make sure it's right with

a. But in war work-where a soldier's life depend on the accuracy of machined parts and the absence of flaws in a gun ex shell or tank or engine par-inspection is doubly important. Final inspection nost make sure that the product is RIGHT—and that no defect sanship are allowed to go out of the

The more precise the work, the more critical the imper-tion—and the greater the need for GOOD LIGHT to brigh detect imperfection. Besides finding "rejects" when the work is finished, impection helps to prevent lowes by catching flaws early, as the work goes along. Periodic impection saves wasted man-hours and reduces spoiler-

Good light for inspection is "tailored" to the needs of the specific job. What is satisfactory lighting for one job may e wholly inadequate for another. For example, in per-ion may involve the internal structure of a piece, or its composition. It may involve surface contour, or color and finish. In each case there is a particular kind of lighting to assure best results. Our industrial Lighting Advisor will be glad to discuss any lighting problem you may have, and and your requirements. They will then sub-mit recommendations without charge. Call any Detroit Edison office. The Detroit Edison Company.

of Good,

IN AMERICA a good government sees to it that we GET PAID for the work each of us does. And since we Americans OWN our good government instead of a bad government OWNING US, we have devised ways and means of supporting it ... and in the EXTRAORDINARY pinches, we make loans to it ... all toward the end that it SHALL NOT cease to be ... that its great bulwark for not only OUR OWN freedom but that of ALL OTHER PEOPLES of the world may be sustained!

Our government has never failed to repay a loan! Can you take a little more of that $13,000,000,000?
