HEADLINES of the WEEK

As compiled by the Grosse Pointe News

Thursday, September 27
DSR starts receiving shipment of 80 newest type street cars. First two unloaded Wednesday expected to be put into service on the Woodward line Monday.

Today's papers were full of the account of the formal call of Emperor Hirohito on General Douglas MacArthur at the American Embassy in Tokyo yesterday. The meeting came about after the Emperor had expressed a desire to meet MacArthur. As he left the embassy grounds Hirohito bowed and tipped his hat to American news correspondents standing along the entrance driveway.

Strikes tie up 1,550,000 in nation. New York's elevator tie-up called worst, affecting 1,500,000 workers. Fur and garment industry at complete standstill with spokesmen estimating it has cost the industry $15,000,000 in winter orders and $3,500,000 in wages. Gasoline strike continues in Detroit and threatens to spread nationally.

Detroit's first victim of DDT internal poisoning is recovering in Receiving Hospital. Fifteen-month-old Gerald Alton Woodard Jr., swallowed a small amount of the bug-killer in his home on Terminal avenue. A stomach pump and antidote were used in time to prevent serious results, though the baby's lips and chin were burned.

Lieut. Col. James P. S. Devereaux, hero of Wake Island and survivor of 45 months as Jap prisoner, has poignant reunion with his 11-year-old son in Washington. Tragic touch added as he visits grave of wife and mother in Arlington Cemetery. Both died while he was a prisoner.

Eisenhower has called Patton on the carpet! The action followed what might be termed a "flareup" over an interview in which the Third Army commander, military governor of Bavaria, belittled the importance of ousting Nazis from high positions in industry and commerce. Eisenhower summoned Patton to appear before him next week and report on his stewardship in Bavaria. Eisenhower said he would "brook no disobedience from any subordinate, regardless of his rank."

Friday, Sept. 28
HARRY H. BENNETT is OUT at Ford's and John S. Bugas has taken his place. That was the first major change made by Henry Ford II after he became President of the company. Bennett will continue to be a director.

THE FATE OF GENERAL PATTON (if he is unable to explain to Eisenhower satisfactorily his tolerance of Nazi officials in his occupied zone), may be that he will be removed from his command and sent home.

AS DETROIT'S GASOLINE supply dwindled to the point where it may last only a few more days... leaders of the striking oil workers have met to stamp out distribution to "non-essential" users... stations supplying "favored" customers and black market operations.

SECRETARY OF LABOR Schwelmbach said today that the widespread oil strike MUST be settled by the first of next week... to meet military needs. The army and navy have reported that they cannot get along after that time.

IT HAS BEEN REPORTED that Japan is rife with speculation that Emperor Hirohito's self-humiliating call on General MacArthur foretold his imminent abdication... to surrender the throne to his son or brother... neither of whom were implicated in Japan's plot.

THE CITY OF DETROIT'S four year fight to get cheaper natural gas for domestic consumers and industries has achieved a great triumph... a refund of $15,000,000... to be exact!

Headaches for the Circulation Department

If you live in the 600 block of Fisher road and have missed your Grosse Pointe News in recent weeks you can probably point to NEFFIE, the cocker spaniel of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Pennock at 627 and say, "There is the culprit." Neffie has a mania for bringing home newspapers than his masters can use. He delights to see the mailman on Friday because he senses the News is arriving. Result—Grosse Pointe News' cover the Pennock porch by evening. Mrs. Pennock wishes anyone missing their paper would call her at TU. 2-5859, and she will see that the paper is returned.

Youngster's Behavior Leads To Solution of Robbery in Farms; Find Loot in Tin Can

One Boy Snatches $39 from Pocketbook While Companion Acts as Watch and Doorman

Two very young thieves who stole $39 in a sneak attack on a pocketbook in a Kercheval avenue business establishment in the Farms last Thursday afternoon, are now resting uncomfortably in the Juvenile Detention Home.

Because of their very tender age, the names of the youngsters are being withheld.

Shortly before closing time on Thursday, Mrs. Clark, employed in the William Denler Decorating studio at 77 Kercheval, heard a noise in the back office. She hurried back, just in time to see a youngster's back vanishing through the rear door of the building. She gave chase but the boy was too fast for her.

Jane Scott Mitchell, also employed at Denler's, inspected her pocketbook, which had been lying on a desk in the office, and found that $39 was missing.

The case "broke" shortly. The Farms police department received a call from a distraught mother, saying her son was acting "as if something had happened." She wished someone would question him. The police were only too happy to oblige.

Officers Allor and Boylan took over. A little careful interrogation produced the information that the lad had participated in the Kercheval avenue affair, but he said he had only served as doorman to make a friend's hasty exit easier after he made the snatch. His friend was quickly picked up and just as quickly confessed his part in the robbery. The pair led the officers to

Congregation Finds Pastor, But Still Has Its Troubles

Calvary Lutheran Church of Grosse Pointe Woods has found a pastor, but he is in virtual exile and the congregation will rise en masse in thanks if someone will remedy the situation.

For two months the church has been without a minister, but the congregation has proceeded with services of worship, aided by Pastor R. Jesse, executive secretary of the English Mission Board.

Now, the Rev. Walter J. Geffert has agreed to take over the pastorate, but the housing shortage in the Pointe has tossed a stumbling block in his path to the local pulpit. He is anxious

Rotary Club To Sponsor Blood Bank

Annual Games Party Also Seeks to Raise Funds to Purchase Iron Lung

The coming annual Games Party of the Grosse Pointe Rotary Club which is scheduled for the Neighborhood Club on the evening of Monday, November 19, has high objectives.

Aside from the gala aspect of the affair which has become annual features of Pointe community life, the immediate purpose of raising money for outstanding projects for the Pointe is expected to draw a record attendance to this year's event.

The Club intends that the money raised shall be the nucleus of a fund to provide one or two needed community services.

The project now under most serious consideration is the establishment of a permanent blood bank for the area and, it is also hoped, to purchase an iron lung for the immediate use of any resident of the area whose sudden affliction requires this device.

The event itself will have all the usual effects of the preceding similar affairs. There will be decorations, prizes and fun galore.

Pointers are asked to keep the date in mind and make ready for an evening of fun combined with deserving charity.

"Kiss of Death" To Start Oct. 18

Grosse Pointe's own murder mystery, "Kiss of Death", written by brilliant Mary Madison, will start in the NEWS with the issue of October 18.

Pointers will not want to miss a single installment of this thriller whose plot is laid right in their own community. Who killed Miranda Ames, fabulous beauty and heiress of the world's greatest motor fortune? The answer is in "Kiss of Death".

SOLICITORS SHOODED
Two young solicitors seeking subscriptions for magazines were shoosed out of the Farms by Police Officer Furton last Thursday. He pointed out that they were violating a village ordinance and warned them not to repeat.

Another Dead Election Seen In G.P. City

Very Little Interest Shown Thus Far; Voting to Be Held on November 6

A Mayor, three Councilmen for four year terms; a City Clerk; Treasurer; Assessor and Constable are to be elected at the City of Grosse Pointe Municipal Election to be held on Tuesday, November 6, 1945, according to Norbert P. Neff, City Clerk, who calls attention to the Legal Notice published in this issue under Public Notices.

The notice refers to the final date for the filing of candidates nominating petitions for these municipal offices which is on Saturday, October 13, at 12:00 o'clock noon E.S.T. These nominating petitions are secured from the city clerk by the candidates and when filed, are to be accompanied by the filing fee of $5.00.

The three Councilmen whose terms expire this election are: Carpenter, Mack and Netting. To date extremely little interest has been manifested by the public in the election, and it may be that another "low" will be reached in the same manner that only 306 voters turned out two years ago at the City Election, less than ten per cent of the qualified voters registered.

Restaurateur To Fight Park

Gus Constant Hires Lawyer to Battle Village on Closing Restrictions

Gus Constant, proprietor of Cupid's restaurant at Harvard and Mack, whose establishment has been the object of attack by neighbors on the score that he kept his place open all hours of the day and night, and who paid a fine of $45 dollars last week for three successive violations of the closing hour, doesn't propose to take the village's prohibition lying down.

Gus had an all night eating place license up to two years ago, but let that privilege lapse. Since then he has operated under a license which permits him to remain open until 2 o'clock in the morning. It has been directly charged by neighbors that the 2 o'clock limit has been stretched all too often to 4 or 5 o'clock.

Constant's defense is that it has happened occasionally that late customers have lingered for a while after the two o'clock deadline, and as it is not in accord with restaurant ethics to eject customers, the impression might have been given to neighborhood observers that business was going on as usual.

At any rate Gus intends to go to bat with the village authorities.

He has hired an attorney with fire in his eye and a legal battle impends. Moreover he claims that he has been assured by certain of the Park officials that he has a full right to keep open until 2 a. m. and is under no compulsion to eject customers already in that place after that hour.

Village Manager Lane states emphatically that he is not one of the reassuring officials.

Jewelry Stolen By Thief in Park

There was a forcible entry and burglary at the residence of Mrs. Alexander Flemming at 1223 Berkshire road sometime between 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon and 10 o'clock that evening while the family was away.

Entry was made by forcing a bathroom window. A ring and watch and another small piece of jewelry with a combined value of about $200, were stolen.

Charges Are Filed Against 5 in High School Street Riot

Witnesses Showing Usual Reticence to Cooperate With Police; Sixth Boy May be Tried Locally

Charges of disturbing the peace have been filed in probate court, juvenile division, against five Grosse Pointe High School boys who participated in the riot on Fisher road on Wednesday afternoon, September 19. A sixth boy, who is 17, will be tried in Farms justice court if a complaining witness can be found by the Farms' police.

The failure of witnesses to cooperate with the police is slowing up the prosecution of the case. Sergt. Elmer Labadie of the Farms police department said that he is particularly anxious to find an elderly man who was driving a small car on Fisher road on the day of the accident. It is known that the boys molested him, as one of them told Labadie: "When I opened the car door and saw the look on his face I got scared."

Some witnesses are known to the police and if they do not appear voluntarily they will be subpoenaed to appear in court as witnesses against the young rioters. Two girls in a LaSalle sedan which was shaken up during the rioting, are also asked by the police to appear as witnesses.

The Farms police, who are determined to carry through on the prosecution of the case, point out that this lack of cooperation on the part of witnesses follows a well-established Pointe pattern. Everyone gets all riled up when something like this occurs, but the ones who could help in righting the situation get cold feet and fail to cooperate with the police.

Witnesses who could help are urged to contact Sergeant Labadie at the Grosse Pointe Farms police department.

Storage of Gas Requires Permit

Grosse Pointe Park Commissioner Elmer F. Ulrich, warns residents that keeping gasoline on residential premises without a permit is a violation of a village ordinance and state law.

It is understood that boat owners have been siphoning gasoline from their boats to gasoline cans and then transferring the contents to the automobile in their garage.

Fire Commissioner Ulrich, warns that it is illegal to store gasoline unless the person storing has a Village permit issued only after compliance with strict regulations.

Fear Epidemic Of Diphtheria

Michigan faces a diphtheria epidemic unless a statewide immunization program is carried out immediately, according to Dr. William DeKleine, state commissioner of health.

The 30 deaths from diphtheria reported through August in 1945 represent an 87 per cent increase over the same period last year, he stated. Diphtheria cases have more than doubled during the first nine months of 1945 with 413 cases reported through September 27 as compared with 204 cases for the same period in 1944.

Woman Store Detective Gets Stolen Goods Back in Tussle

Miss Warren, store detective for Best and Company, made a quick recovery of stolen goods last Saturday afternoon.

She noticed an unidentified woman, whose actions aroused her suspicions leaving the store. Calling to the store manager to phone the police to meet her with a scout car at Notre Dame and Kercheval, she followed the woman to the Cunningham drug store and proceeded to divest her of a paper bag which she was convinced contained Best and Company property.

Park to Ask Pay for Use Of Streets

Recent Survey Throws Light on Special Privileges Enjoyed by Concern

The recent survey of Grosse Pointe streets and proposed bus routes by William L. Potts, Traffic Engineer of the Michigan Automobile Club has directly drawn the attention of municipal officials in the Park to the relationships existing between that village and the Lake Shore Coach Lines, Inc.

This interest has been heightened in recent weeks by complaints that have come into the municipal offices from residents, chiefly along Maryland, who are complaining that the vibration caused by the heavy buses is causing the plaster to crack in the houses.

Officials of the bus company in private conferences with the village officials some time ago, expressed a willingness to make the necessary repairs of this particular damage. They were loath, however, to go into the long delayed discussion of appropriate taxes to be paid by the company to the village for the use of its streets and as a franchise tax for the privilege of operating within the village. Much of the wear and tear to the village (Continued on Page 4)

Draft Taking 18 on Oct. 16

New Group Leaving to Take Over Duties of Those Coming Home

While everyone is aware of the thousands of men who are returning daily from the war scenes in Europe and the Western Pacific area the public awareness is not so keen of the steady stream of youths and young men who are being inducted into service for training for the long period ahead of garrison and control of the vast areas for which this country has assumed an indeterminate responsibility.

The next group of young men from the Pointe area for this new type of military service will be inducted on October 16.

There are 18 of them and their names are: James R. McDonald, 350 Rivard Blvd.; Henry Wilson II, 840 Rivard Blvd.; William H. Currie, 906 University; Marvin E. Frank, 963 Fisher Rd.; Joseph M. Higgins, 1263 Wayburn; Donald F. Sullivan, 17020 E. Jefferson.

Robert W. Ekstrom, 19638 Huntington Dr., Detroit; Anthony Oliverio, 20635 Anita, Detroit, Mich.; Alfred W. Massnick, Jr., 1217 Bishop Rd.; Gene G. Jamison, 1010 Wayburn; George G. Malooly, 1432 Bedford; Roman J. Broughton, 1380 Brys Dr.; Wilfred V. Casgrain, Jr., 33 Willow Lane.

John T. Keller, 17440 Maumee; Joseph B. Leahy, 15201 Charlevoix; Robert D. Kremer, 2064 Hawthorne; Stuart D. Taylor, 1365 Beaconsfield; Eugene C. Howard, 409 Cloverly Rd.; Robert O. Smith, 334 Fisher Rd. (inducted at an earlier date, and credited to this call).

Suspect Nabbed In Club Robbery

Park Police Hough and Hennig-picked up Robert Clough, aged 17, of Mack and Gladwin, Detroit, at 8 o'clock Monday evening on suspicion of being one of the parties responsible for the breaking and entry of the Homing Club property at Lakepointe and Charlevoix on Friday night. About $10 in change was stolen. Young Clough is detained at the Park police station for further investigation.

He was one of a gang of young men who carried on extensive operations in the Pointe and nearby Detroit areas some time ago. Several of them are still doing time for these operations. The police recovered cash and loot hived up by this gang at the time of the previous robberies amounting to over $900.

War Plants Ready to Go

Five Concerns Affected By Park Ruling Terminating Their Permits

Chest Drive Opens Officially Monday; Pointe Help Needed

Last and Biggest War Campaign Seeks to Raise $8,490,336 for Home Charities and Destitute Abroad

The Community War Chest Campaign officially opens Monday, October 8. On that day volunteer solicitors—more than 20,000 of them—will go into every neighborhood in the County and ask residents of the metropolitan area to raise $8,490,336. The money raised will help provide social services for everyone here at home, emergency relief for millions of destitute overseas, and recreational, morale-building activities for servicemen.

Although this October 8-31 drive will be the last Community War Chest campaign, it will also be the biggest and the most important one. In the three former drives a large amount of money was needed to send relief supplies to those Europeans who had fled their occupied homelands and to the comparatively few who were liberated. Now all the peoples of Europe and the East are free. And they are all in desperate need. We can reach them all and we must.

Millions of American men spilled their blood on foreign soil. They gave their lives and their limbs, not just to win a war of battles, but to establish peace—to establish a peace that would mean justice and charity for all, freedom from want and the opportunity to live happy, decent lives. The fighting war is over. Millions of our men saw to that. And they sacrificed a great deal for it. But the peace is not established. That part of the war is up to us. And we

Teresita is well known to movie fans and to concert goers, for, beside concert appearances which include the Hollywood Bowl and the St. Louis Municipal Opera, she has appeared in such Hollywood productions as "Girl from the Golden West" and "Tropical Holiday."

Bus Taxes

Large street pavements where the bus routes go is due to the passage of these heavy vehicles. The Lake Shore Coach Lines, Inc., is a privately owned and operated utility, wholly apart from the Detroit Street Railways. It has been the recipient of special privileges and favors from the Grosse Pointe municipalities ever since it was taken over by its present owners some years ago. They acquired the property for a trifling sum and under the skillful management of its present owners plus their practical exemption from all forms of local taxation in the Pointe communities, it had developed into one of the best paying minor transportation properties in the state.

Mrs. Alger's Brother Killed

Lieut. Col. A. Peter Dewey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dewey of Chicago, was killed last week at Saigon, Indo-China by natives, while defending the United States Embassy there. The Lieutenant Colonel was a brother of Mrs. Frederick M. Alger, East Jefferson avenue, Grosse Pointe.

Pointe's Lone Oasis in Gas Desert Goes Suddenly Dry

Essential Users Share Burden With Other Drivers as Houston Brothers Cease Distribution on Saturday

Grosse Pointe's lone oasis in the gasoline desert went dry Saturday afternoon and since then local essential users have been hard put to it to keep the wheels of their motor vehicles turning.

Houston Brothers' Grosse Pointe Central Service station at Maudslayi and Fisher, had been designated by the union as the one place in the Pointe which could stay open to supply essential drivers. The ordeal proved too much for the service station owners.

On Friday afternoon a union representative stood by, giving the thumbs up signal to some who were essential in his opinion, turning thumbs down on others. The remainder of the time it was up to C. D. and A. O. Houston to decide who was entitled to a share of the precious fluid.

As A. O. explained it: "It got so bad we couldn't take it any more. When we ran out Saturday we didn't re-order. We were making many enemies and getting too much abuse."

The shipments received at Central Service didn't last more than a few hours each day. Lines of cars formed as soon as a tank truck hove in sight and the station personnel pumped frantically until the last drop was gone. C. D. contracted a cold and had to spend the week-end in bed.

One disgruntled driver, turned down by the union man Friday, said he'd be back with a gun. He failed to carry out his threat. So the Pointe remained without a single service station open to serve essential users. As the NEWS went to press, the word was that things might be settled, at least temporarily, any minute. The gas station owners were hopeful that they could get supplies without too much delay. They had been informed that once the ban was lifted the distributing trucks would work day and night until all stations were supplied.

Missing Saw Starts Fight

A first class fight was staged in Johnnie's cafe at Mack and St. Clair Monday evening by Pete De Ghesquiere and Jack Campbell of Lakepointe and Mack and 1714 Kercheval respectively, who couldn't agree upon the whereabouts of a missing saw.

The police took them to the police station to cool off and dismissed them later with the injunction to settle their differences as they pleased but in less public places.

The Park Village Planning Commission will have a meeting Friday night, when consideration will be given to the report and recommendation of William L. Potts, Traffic Engineer of the Michigan Automobile Club. Mr. Potts has been making a survey of proposed bus routes in the village, planned particularly to avoid bus turns on narrow streets.

Another matter that holds top priority on the agenda of the Planning Commission is the disposal of the waste water survey that has been in progress for some time in the Park. Park Commissioner Gillette who is ex-officio a member of the Planning Commission will make a detailed report on the subject to the Village Commissioners at their regular meeting on October 8.

The street paving and resurfacing program for the current year has been completed. This improvement has involved the treatment of approximately 2½ miles of village streets.

Car Overtakes On Lake Shore

Two cars were damaged Monday in an accident which occurred in front of St. Paul's Church on Lake Shore road.

Mathelda Kosecki of 369 Chalfonte, attempting to make a left turn from the west bound lane into the east bound one, pulled in front of a Ford station wagon driven by William Barocchi of 20779 Mack avenue, Grosse Pointe Woods. The station wagon jumped the curb as Barocchi tried to avoid the crash, and turned over.

Farms Police Officers Crooks and Beaupre investigated the accident and served reckless driving tickets on both drivers, for their appearance in court on October 10.

Damage was estimated at $75 to each car.

Two Are Injured In Auto Accident

Two persons were injured and their cars badly damaged early Saturday morning in an automobile accident on Kercheval avenue in Grosse Pointe Farms. John Dalton Peacock of 1282 Whittier road had backed out of a driveway at 480 Kercheval and was heading west when he collided head on with a car driven by James G. Van Assche of 735 Roslyn road. Van Assche admitted to Farms Police Officers Roland and Seelow that he was at fault and agreed to pay for the damage. It was estimated that each car was damaged to the extent of $300.

Both drivers were taken to Cottage Hospital, where Dr. John MacKenzie treated them. Peacock had cuts on both knees. Van Assche was also cut on both knees, three stitches being required to close the wound on the left one. He also suffered a broken rib.

Fred A. Meheger, 734 Middlesex, was fined $10 and $5 costs for speeding on Essex on September 21.

Rotarians' Guest Speaker Raps British Rule in India

The guest speaker at the Grosse Pointe Rotary club on Monday was Dr. Nur M. Malik, of 585 E. Grand Boulevard, Detroit. Dr. Malik is a native of India, but has been a resident of the United States for the past 20 years.

He gave an informal and most interesting discussion of the people of his native India, treating on the manners and customs, but said little regarding the current political problems which beset his country. He made it clear, however, that he is no champion of British rule there. He seemed to hold that with political freedom gained for India, all of the other issues which plague his country would vanish. He apparently holds that the banishment of the British from there would prove the panacea for all of its ills.

At the same time he acknowledged repeatedly in the course of his remarks that many of the cultural and racial clashes which arise in India are seemingly insoluble.

Next week's speaker at the Rotary club will be Hubert S. Liang, of Nanchang, Kiangsi, China, carrying out the club's purpose of gaining all of the information possible in this period bearing on our increasing intimacy with the Orient.

Greenberg's Swat

There is rejoicing in the City of the Straits and throughout all Wolverineland over the mighty swat of Hank the Great which landed the American League Pennant for the Detroit team.

Beginning Wednesday the ordinary processes of civil life here in Detroit, and scarcely less in the Windy metropolis, will stand in abeyance until the great question is settled. In addition to completely monopolizing the attention of the baseball world, millions of persons who during the baseball season scarcely knew the standing of the sixteen clubs that comprise the major leagues, will watch scoreboards and read hot extras with an avidity that will for the duration of the world series crowd events in Germany and Japan far into the background. And several million young Americans still in far lands will haunt radio stations carrying broadcasts from the homeland.

Hank Greenberg's home run in the dramatic ninth also has an economic significance that will not be overlooked by the prudent merchants and hotel keepers of the battling cities.

All we need now is plenty of gas and an open road throughout the whole great middle west basin to fill the cup of happiness to overflowing and let the best team win.

Oceans of Oil

The old Empire with an Empire cry that used to be levelled against the Ku Klux Klan in the days when that malodorous and unlamented organization held sway, had nothing on the current circumstance of union representatives standing at gas stations and dictating who should have gas and who should not.

Things have come to a pretty pass when all users of gas, which includes practically the entire population of the United States, must stand humbly by and await the ponderous decision of a labor representative as to whether or not they may have a little gas.

Here in Grosse Pointe Monday a merchant, desperately needing gas for his trucks to bring in produce from the wholesale mart and deliver it to his customers, is turned down while a pretty woman whose needs were probably nothing more urgent than a convenient method of getting a leisurely hairdo has her request to "fill 'er up" complied with with alacrity from a smirking union guardian of the common welfare.

Second only to food, the right to obtain gas for his individual transportation holds first priority with the average citizen. If it's to be had he wants it, and quickly if it is available at all. And there are literally oceans of gas in this country or at least of the liquid gold from which it is distilled. The real reason we got gas so quickly the moment the pressing needs of the war passed, was because oil and its derivatives accumulated so fast there was not sufficient storage space available to care for the flood of oil and gas that pours forth day and night from the tankers, the pipe lines and the refineries. The very day the oil workers' strike started there were 2,000,000 barrels of oil and its products ranging from crude oil to 100 octane gas in the two 24" and 20" parallel lines that constitute the Big Inch between Beaumont, Texas, and the final distribution station in southeastern Pennsylvania.

These quantities of potential gas, generally known to the people, leaves them in no humor to patiently await the convenient adjudication of a dispute which involves the wishes of a handful of workers as against the vital needs of the one hundred and forty million people.

Honor to the C. G. Reserves

The passing of the Coast Guard Reserves from the national defense picture calls for a belated acknowledgement of the splendid service which these loyal men performed for their country during the war.

When the war first started there was great national concern for the safety of this greatest of all inland water ways over which floated the worlds greatest tonnage of freight. If there should be any serious interruption of the iron ore which passed the shores of this water way the national safety would have been placed in deadly peril.

Large elements of the regular Coast Guard were taken away for service in distant places. The record of their work in the gigantic landing operations on all the shores of the seven seas is one of the glorious notations in the history of the war.

To take the place of these departing regular coast guardsmen more than 1800 local patriotic men stepped forward as volunteer coast guards. After a brief service in this capacity they were elevated to Coast Guard Reserve status clothed with all the power and authority of the regular guard.

Patiently, day and night, in rain and snow and bitter cold, these loyal men put in thousands of weary hours of patrol service on shore and water. Many a time they went to their private work bleary of eye and fatigued to the point of exhaustion from the rounds of service they had given their country on one of its most vital communication lines in time of war.

So well was their work done that not a single case of major sabotage was reported during all the time of their service. It was a splendid service, which will be more amply acknowledged when the story of the war is written in its deserving details. All honor to our local coastguardsmen!

MacArthur Stabs the Empire

When General MacArthur took over the affairs of the twenty principal banks of Japan which do the banking business between Japan and her stolen empire in southeastern Asia he struck a body blow at the Japanese elements most directly responsible for the turmoil that has prevailed in all East Asia for the last fourteen years.

The Emperor and his immediate family, the Jap Government itself and the great industrial hierarchies of Mitsui and Mitsubishi are the groups which planned from the beginning to reap the profits from this most monumental brigandage of modern times.

With the financial reins taken from their hands they will probably be left high and dry. In no country in the world has the whole economy of a nation been so completely centered in the hands of a few. Among these the royal family itself is probably the chief single beneficiary.

HORRORS OF PEACE

New York Cavalcade

THOUGHTS AT RANDOM!

I guess you might say these days in Japan where there's smoke, there's MacArthur's corn cob pipe. By the way, was there ever a more dramatic entrance than the General's when he stepped off the plane onto that Jap airfield. What's happening to the Social Order—David Dubinsky, the Common People's friend, right there in the smooty Cub Room, hold on brass! I understand Robert Hannegan, who handles the first-class mails, was in a huddle at Toots Shor's with John Powers, who handles first-class females. I made that one up, no doubt. Sgt. Broderick Crawford ought to be back in civvies now. Some idea of what confronts our demobilized heroes: Col. Herbert "Butch" Morgan, with three solid rows of ribbons and decorations, a proved executive who has had as many as 8,500 men under him, was offered a job with a certain air transport company at the "stupendous" salary of $225 a month! However, he was able to laugh it off—there's a bid in from another company—salary $25,000 per annum plus expenses, when and if he cares to leave the army.

Maybe the trouble with democracies is that they insist on ruling conquered countries with the Golden Rule—instead of the Iron Hand. Mark Hanna, the literary agent, and the Harold Guinzbergs, of Viking Press, have been planning a picnic for two weeks. So they got their lunches together, piled into a rowboat near the publisher's estate at Stony Brook—and 20 feet from shore, that boat plumb sank to the bottom with the lunches and the drinks and the folks. The folks survived. A note from Staff Sgt. Ferris Hartman. "Then there was the day we moved into a small town during the fight for the Ruhr pocket. Our unit of barely more than 100 men had been unpacking for three hours when I learned that 1,200 Nazi soldiers had been in the forest on the edge of town, watching us move in. Fortunately they had decided to retreat instead of attack. Our commander asked the friendly burgomeister why he hadn't told us of these Nazis. 'You didn't ask me,' replied the burgomeister, stiffly."

I'm a sucker for talking-horse, for talking-cow and talking-dog stories. Most people are—which explains the success of the animated movie shorts. Bennett Cerf, in fact, devotes an entire chapter in his book, "Try and Stop Me," to yarns about loquacious animals. I heard the latest one over at the Aquarium.

Cafe... Seems an agent was trying to sell a talking horse act to Monte Proser of the Copacabana. "No," said Proser, "talking horses are old stuff." "Oh," insisted the agent, "this one is different. He'll stand in the middle of your floor and tell jokes about Joe E. Lewis..."

When the war began, we offered a series of definitions of Mr. American Soldier. Now we suggest some on Mr. Returnee. He hops Uncle Sam will remain on his toes to guard against the Jap-on-knees. He isn't too anxious to feed the faces of those who made our fliers lose their heads. He's against the idea that what he won in his war is the privilege of footing the bills for the defeated. He knows the discharge button in his lapel is really a great feather in his cap. He poses the first thing any future dictator ever gets from us in place of appeasement. Carl Erbe, part owner and publicist for the Zanzibar, has been writing some intriguing ads for the costly new show. He now calls himself "Minister of Propaganda." Incidentally, among the cleverest, when it comes to putting words together for his projects, is Billy Rose, who has learned the fine art of making his advertisements convincing, honey messages to my attention to the fact that two of his employees are former show people—Rose Dugan, the night telephone operator, once played in the silent movies with Ralph Ince, and Betty Billinger, the purchasing agent, sister-in-law of the Stork Club owner, is a former Ziegfeld girl and specialty dancer.

Jerry Lewis is compiling a book of poker stories. Here's one he may have for the asking. When Sanitation Commissioner William F. Carey was a young building contractor in Canada, he and a few fellow engineers had a weekly game of poker, the top betting limit being a dollar. One night an outsider invited himself in and immediately began to raise the limit, despite Carey's protests. Finally it became a no-limit game and the newcomer won consistently. At one point, Carey not only saw the intruder's raise but raised in turn whereupon his opponent raised again. Carey was short by about $200 in his attempt to see the last boost and the newcomer began raking in the pot when the engineer recalled something, and said quietly: "I see you and hike you $10,000." With that, he slapped a roll of bills down on the table. He had just remembered being paid off in cash for some equipment—the money being safely stored in a shirt pocket. The intruder backed out, Carey raked in the pot—and the game from that point went back to the $1 limit. Carey never revealed whether or not he was bluffing.

Dear Mr. Edgar:

On September 27th, under the heading "Veteranews", you ran an item on the Red Cross. May we thank you for this splendid article interpreting our services to the veterans. As you know, we have been steeped in a program for their welfare while on active service, and are desirous of doing everything possible to help them in their adjustment to civilian life.

We appreciate the past amount of publicity you have given us and know that in the future every line you give us with the philosophy that our veterans must not be overlooked in the reconversion will be appreciated by many thousands of people.

Very truly yours,

To The Editor:

When I reflect that many people would like to live as far as possible from the neighborhood of our Grosse Pointe High School the idea comes to my mind there must be within its walls an element that does it no credit!

Undoubtedly there are many excellent boys and girls in this school deserving of no criticism. At the same time there is unfortunately a considerable number with little or no notion as to how to behave as American boys and girls should behave and this is to be regretted.

Vandalism in many directions, rowdy behavior at the movies, making it impossible for others to enjoy an evening at the Punch and Judy Theatre, inconsiderate manners in the stores, on the streets, these are among the things that we all have a right to complain of and which too frequently have brought discredit upon the name of our high school.

Grosse Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

The following was sent to us by a local 'tippler' who hoped he'd find a few sympathetic readers. Any resemblance of thoughts (living or dead) of this columnist, are purely coincidental.

"The horse and mule live thirty years
And nothing know of wine and beers;
The goat and sheep at twenty die
And never taste of scotch or rye;
The cow drinks water by the ton
And at eight is mostly done.
The dog at fifteen catches in
Without the aid of rum or gin;
The cat in milk and water soaks
And then in twelve short years it croaks.
The modest, sober, bone-dry hen
Lays eggs for 'nogs' then dies at ten.
All animals are strictly dry...
They sinless live and swiftly die;
But sinful, ginful, rum-soaked men
Survive for threescore years and ten.
And some of us... the mighty few...
Keep drinking 'till we're ninety two."

At a recent dinner party, we sat next to a foreign gent and got on the subject of generations of 'name-changing'. He told us that in Europe, one pays a fee to have his name changed... depending of course upon what country he is in. He went on to relate the most amazing change he'd ever heard of. A poor little man born in Germany, was named Molisia Fisha... something whose origin isn't very complimentary. When he was a grown man, he moved to England... had a little material success and changed his name to Morris Fisher. When he reached middle-age, he settled down in Paris and subsequently became... Maurice, Marquis de la Fontaine.

In one of the Sunday dailies, a pictorial section was devoted to a series of pictures captioned... "The Human Side of Hollywood." This intelligence shows us the following... Clark Gable getting at the studio on his own motorcycle and actually being snapped talking to a studio mechanic... It shows us Ella Raines being human by petting a dog... then we have Bing Crosby being right down to earth reading the Racing Form.

Other 'human' forms taken were little Margaret O'Brien taking arithmetic lessons (in a special trailer just for her to take lessons in) and Charles Boyer playing chess with Humphrey Bogart was another 'human' shot that makes us feel good all over. THINK of it... they ACTUALLY DO these things... just like you and us!

One of the larger drugstores that does extensive radio advertising... has been plugging a pulp book lately, called (we think) "Atomic Energy." According to the ad blurb... this book reveals the secrets of atomic energy. My, my. We'd been given to understand this was Mr. Truman's secret and one which he would divulge only at the proper time and to the proper people. Will someone please advise Washington that these secrets are now on sale for 79 cents... and that they had better take care lest Russia send a representative to Detroit to buy the book and foil our well laid plans?

We wish to take umbrage (whatever THAT is) with a recent letter in Mr. Bingay's column, from a woman who complained about the dreariness of soap operas. In the first place, the woman quoted an entire plot from several soap serials... an impossible feat unless she'd been listening to them for an interminably long time. It takes about four days for an actor, after he opens the door to a room, to get INSIDE the room... so she couldn't have gotten all that dope in one sitting.

In the second place... she claims that shut-ins, for instance, don't want to listen to heart-rending scenes all day long... nor do they want to hear about sudden death, hospital cases, etc. Ain't the lady ever heard that misery likes company? We dare say a lot of people who are having tough luck in the world, are mighty glad to know that they aren't the only ones who are. In fact, they'd probably want to strangle the script writer who bleated every day about sweetness and light.

Take the cast of "Portia Faces Life"... a program without which we'd rather not face life. Portia has been going through hell for years... and while we know it's just a radio program, we like to think that maybe there are people in such a fix. Makes up feel better... nasty thing that we are!

Wykeham for two colleges he founded many years ago in England, represent fully one side of the complex and living process which we call education as distinguished from instruction proper, and while we endeavour to make our schools more intelligent, more liberal, more national as we well may; let us bear in mind that their power for good or evil depends in the long run on the work that they accomplish as schools for the building of character, and manners as we well know are based almost entirely upon this question of character.

A certain amount of self control, a certain, manful respect and consideration for one's neighbor no matter where this after all is what we should aim at and this is what our schools and colleges should help us fulfill as a duty to the society and the nation to which we belong. Dr. C. E. D. (formerly headmaster of an Eastern Preparatory School).

Dear sir:
This is an open letter to the public and I would be very happy if you would print it in behalf of the good students of Grosse Pointe High School.
I have just read the letter by the Hon. Mr. Sutton, who I think is the most narrow-minded person I know of. May I quote, "My School the idea comes to my mind there must be within its walls an element that does it no credit!"

Undoubtedly there are many excellent boys and girls in this school deserving of no criticism. At the same time there is unfortunately a considerable number with little or no notion as to how to behave as American boys and girls should behave and this is to be regretted.

Vandalism in many directions, rowdy behavior at the movies, making it impossible for others to enjoy an evening at the Punch and Judy Theatre, inconsiderate manners in the stores, on the streets, these are among the things that we all have a right to complain of and which too frequently have brought discredit upon the name of our high school.

"Manners maketh man" the motto chosen by William of Wykeham for two colleges he founded many years ago in England, represent fully one side of the complex and living process which we call education as distinguished from instruction proper, and while we endeavour to make our schools more intelligent, more liberal, more national as we well may; let us bear in mind that their power for good or evil depends in the long run on the work that they accomplish as schools for the building of character, and manners as we well know are based almost entirely upon this question of character.

Dr. C. E. D. (formerly headmaster of an Eastern Preparatory School).

As a last request, give the rest of us a break and don't blame us for something we had no part in. We are trying to make a good reputation for our school, so don't always look for the bad things a minority of the students do, look to the average person and say, "I guess I wasn't being exactly fair."

Sincerely,
BARBARA SCHMITKE.
P. S.: I write this in behalf of the students of Grosse Pointe High School.

To the Editor:
I have been advised that the volunteer effort for all salvage activities will cease after Sept. 30. Naturally both Terry Bannan and I are sort of glad to be relieved of this salvage job. However, we do want to express to you our sincere appreciation of the cooperation which you have given to the Tin Can Salvage effort since we started several years ago. According to all the figures that we can obtain, Detroit and Wayne County have lead in Tin Can Salvage Tonnage.

You will be interested in knowing that during the time these campaigns were being carried on, the people of Detroit and Wayne County saved and prepared 19,394 tons of tin cans. The detinning plants were able to produce from these cans approximately 400,000 pounds of pure tin, to say nothing of the steel scrap tonnage obtained from the cans after the tin was removed. So you see that your effort in behalf of the Tin Can Salvage was a distinct contribution to the war effort... indeed it was one of the reasons why Detroit and Wayne County went over the top in the national drive.

Sincerely,
HAL G. TRUMP,
Publicity Chairman Tin Can Salvage Committee.

Crowds and Tuberculosis

By FRED M. KOPP, R.Ph.
The crowds of people who fill to overflowing busses, street cars, trains, factories and stores these days include many who will become carriers of tuberculosis germs, for those germs are "caught" and carried and often distributed to others before the distributors are even aware they had contracted the disease.

For a long period of time the germs may lodge unknown in your system, and undiscovered until a physician's examination reveals your bodily resistance had decreased to a point where the presence of the germs is discernible.

A physical check-up once or twice a year is a very sensible precaution. To neglect such a safeguard to health is to expose not only yourself but those with whom you come in contact, should you be the unconscious carrier of the germs.

When medicine to destroy germs is needed your doctor's prescription must be filled with drugs pure, fresh and of needed potency. This is the 60th of a series of Editorial advertisements appearing in this paper. (Copyright)

Saturday Wedding For JoAnn MacLeod

Afternoon Ceremony in Grosse Pointe Memorial Will Unite Pointe Girl and William E. Heffenaar of Kitchner, Ont.

While dashing from one wedding shower to another this week, JoAnn MacLeod, daughter of Mrs. Burns MacLeod, of Washington road, is hoping for sunny skies Saturday when she becomes the bride of William Heffenaar, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Heffenaar, of Kitchner, Ont.

The young couple will repeat their vows in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church at 4:30 p.m. before the Rev. Francis Glazebrook.

JoAnn has asked Frances Harris to be her maid of honor and Charleen Ward to serve as bridesmaid. Attending Mr. Heffenaar will be Kenneth Holtz, of Kitchner, as best man, and Henry Verlinde and Patrick Hummel, of Kitchner, as ushers.

Frances launched pre-nuptial parties with a miscellaneous shower in her McKinley road home last week. Guests were members of JoAnn's sorority, Kappa Tau. A bouquet of white mums and a miniature sprinkling can centered the buffet table.

Next on the list of festivities was last Saturday's miscellaneous shower engineered by Betty Martz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Martz, of Washington road. The novel table decorations featured a small white church and wedding procession, complete with bride, bridegroom, bridesmaids and flower girl.

Laden with gaily-wrapped packages were Mrs. Luck Marks, JoAnn's aunt; Mrs. John Ward and her daughter, Charleen; Mrs. Margaret Durham, the bride's grandmother; Mable and Eunice Durham, Mrs. David Merver, Mrs. William Nemacheck, Frances Harris, Mrs. Vincent Crampton, Mrs. Steven Galano, Mrs. L. Smith, Mrs. Daniel Cronin and Joan, Mrs. J. Franklyn Slavik, and Mrs. Charles Hartman.

Another group of JoAnn's friends gathered in the home of Charleen Ward on Washington road Monday evening to shower the bride-to-be with gifts for her kitchen.

The newest family arrival is Maj. Lunken, whose release from the USAAF nets him a civilian status again. The major has five years of active duty to his credit, 28 months of them in the Canal Zone. Mrs. Backus, Jr., stopped here for a few days before going on to her home in Washington last week. She is looking for Lieut. Cmdr. Backus from the Pacific by Christmas. Completing the family's military roster, Mrs. Backus' son-in-law and daughter, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Alfred L. Marks, and eight-month-old Robin, keep in touch with Pointe activity from their home in Orlando, Fla.

Edmund Lunken Visit Mrs. Backus

Quite Contrary

The Renaissance of the Lady Stranger Than Fiction File

by mary madison

Twenty American Beauty roses are posing like long stemmed models in the vast crystal bowl, honoring the Twentieth Anniversary of that perfectionist of custom designers—Mrs. William Rust Pierce. In the showrooms in The Women's City Club, her guests from Grosse Pointe are blithely enjoying themselves—as always more in the mood of friends than customers. And thinking once more how Mrs. Pierce's magnetic charm has always made her establishment more like a home than a business, we walk down the Colonial staircase to the foyer—that storied staircase over which so many bridal trains and rose pointe veils have passed for the fashion and society editors.

The "Town & Country Gentleman" is awaiting. You can tell he's Town & Countryish, not only by the first of the postwar Charvet ties, streaming like a banner above his gray vest, but by "The Wall Street Journal" he carries, rolled up like "the Racing Form" in the glossier bible of the bluebookies. He is, in fact, making book on Kaiser-Frazer stock as we greet him.

"I'd like to congratulate Mrs. Pierce on her twenty years of designing for three generations of the first families. Where is her office?"

"Mrs. Pierce doesn't have an office. She doesn't even have a desk. In fact, she has none of the drab accoutrements of the businesswoman. She typifies The Renaissance of the Lady—"

"Well, muses The Gentleman. She must function as smoothly as that other great entrepreneur, Mr. George M. Cohan, who was so fond of saying: 'My office is under my hat.' Mrs. Pierce's office may be under those enchanting hats she wears like some goddess billowing on the breeze.

We usher The Gentleman upstairs. In the custom showrooms, the model is pirouetting in one of the hits of the new Collection—the dresses spontaneously christened by the guests—"THE PRETTY DRESS". These are after-war versions of afternoon dresses—a lady's afternoon being once more "fancy free and free for anything fancy."

The Gentleman in spellbound by "THE PRETTY DRESSES", as gentlemen always are by a figure flattering swoosh of black silk, with a romantic touch of blue. We dreamed up a couplet on this at the showing. How does it go now—oh yes—

*Men often tarry
With girls in chaise; but
But men still marry
The girls in blues.*

The Gentleman is holding forth now on the breath-taking beauty of the GALA GOWNS. What he likes about them is that they are gala but never gaudy. Chic but never chi-chi. Their beauty springs from their precious fabrics, and from the flow of lines, lines, lines, accented by curves—a curve being the smartest distance between two points.

As we come back to the foyer, The Gentleman agrees that both Mrs. Pierce and her collection represent the postwar Renaissance of The Lady.

"No wonder," he beams, "she dresses three generations of the first families—"

"To her," we point out, "there are NO second families. Any one who loves good clothes is able to wear her label—"

The Gentleman smiles: "There may be NO second families—but there is only ONE Mrs. Pierce!"

MAGGY AND THE THITTER GILD

Men, men, men. I mean a girl can't have a slug of tea and toast at Twenty-One without their minding her own business. Here I am lost in thought when up pops this Thitter Gilder, who tells me his name in that dear old butter-mutter one never gets, and says he has been watching me, as if I didn't know, and he is convinced I could become a very great actress with the help of

Kid-Bits

by BARB MOLYNEAUX

If Madame Luck has been kind to you, and we hope she has, you may all be able to read this. You see, last week-end was soooooo busy. Let's get specific tho' and see what kept you kids poppin' so fast.

Just about the biggest thing that happened around G.P.H.S. was the S. A. dance Saturday night. The theme of the dance was "Varsity Hop." All around the walls were pictures of guys with tennis racket in hand or a basketball—all the famous sports (?) of the Varsity Club. Loads of guys and gals were keepin' step to the musical strains of Donn Preston and his band.

Among the many were Doris Buser 'n Dan Beck, Diane Faulk 'n Tom Ronan, Janie Gehlert 'n Bill Bokram, Harriet Howerstein 'n Butch McKendrick, Letty Kretschmar 'n Ray Shuman, her twin Franny 'n Paul Friese and Joan McGinty 'n Bill Wolfe. Over by the refreshment stand were seen Jo-Jo Armour 'n Bryan Bredan, Joanne Gehlert 'n Dave Runtzer, Jo Morrison 'n Dick Wauker, Karin Lindh 'n Buster Knopp, Betty Jo Faulk 'n Dick Finch, Marilyn Smith 'n Cluine Walsh and Barb Klensk 'n Skippy Dewey home from Shumaker, California.

A few of the others were Marty Butterfield 'n Dave Kaiser, Pat Armstrong 'n George Friese, Barb Bauman 'n Hill Peirce, Joannie Bauman 'n Mac Fraser, Carol Grills 'n Bill Pierce, and Gloria Roberts 'n Dudley Christianson. Jimmy Flom escorted Ingrid Koebel, Dick Fox brought Marie Smith and Joe Doerdy did honors by Pat Cameron.

Friday nite Donna Dahlen had a big party for strictly fems. The blue-jeaned crowd included Betty Auch, Annie Davis, Caroline Orr, Marilyn Kaiser, Marilyn Smith, Mary Thorn, Carol MacPherson, Annie Wakeman, Janet Reid, Cec Wade, Carol Chadwick, Mitzi Cronin, Mary Lou Long, Adelle Gillette, Joanie Bauman and Mack MacPherson. Among the evening's festivities was included a trip up to the Punch where they did more than just see the movie—as 'teen-agers will.

Friday nite was also an important date for the freshmen at St. Paul's. The seniors had a big dance, which is the usual custom every year. The new ninth graders had had their initiation that afternoon. Some of the dates for the evening were Janie O'Connor 'n Roland Gray, Sally Cavanaugh 'n Walter Malson, Mary Lou Goulin 'n Norman Burlington, Shirley Williams 'n Jim DeCou, Kay MacDonald 'n Don Sempson, Sandy Settinger 'n Art Smith and Jo Weidman and Albert Campenhot. Music was supplied by Johnny Meisses' Orchestra.

Grosse Pointers were busy with all the cheering their lungs could muster last Saturday afternoon when G. P. met in football with Ferndale. The band made a fine showing during the half. Among the cheering crowd I saw Marilyn Smith, Jo Morrison, Annie Davis, Jo Russel, Marilyn Kaiser, Di Faulk, Doris Buser, Janet Reid and Caroline Orr. Carol MacPherson, Anne Wakeman, Joanie 'n Janie Gehlert, Elaine Kramer and Libby Powell came to the game well filled from a super luncheon at Libby's before the game.

Grosse Pointe was honored last weekend by the presence of Dick Shuman, home for a precious six day leave, Sept. 24 until the 30th. He's in the Army Air Corps stationed at Chanute Field. Getting back into the swing of the younger set he came to the S. A. dance with Joanie Stivison.

Up 410 Moran way, there was much commotion last Friday eve. A bunch of ninth graders always go to Posters Dancing School together. On this particular nite one of their crowd, Julie Ford gave a dinner party for them to celebrate her 14th birthday. The crowd included Dick Lord, Phil McRae, Tom Peirce, Alice Sickler, Clarence O'dell, Janie Lundgren and Jim Goebel.

Mrs. LeBrun Off For Home in East

The William Lloyd Beamers bade farewell to a well-seasoned traveller when Mrs. Beamer's mother, Mrs. William LeBrun, set out for her home in Syracuse, N. Y. Sunday.

The LeBrun reached the Pointe after flying 16,000 miles from South America, where they had remained eight months. Mr. LeBrun proceeded to Syracuse a few days ahead of his wife.

They had stopped en route in Winter Park, Fla., to greet Mrs. Beamer's sister, Mrs. Edwin J. House, and Maj. Gen. House, who was stationed at Selfridge Field before the war.

An air-mail letter recently delivered to their Grosse Pointe boulevard home conveyed the information that the Beamers' son, Lieut. Bill Beamer, is in the Philippines after three months of Pacific duty.

Laird Beamer is schooling at Bennett Junior College this year.

Harvest Moon Gala to Take Place Saturday Evening With Farm and Garden Produce of Members in Feature Display

Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's big Harvest Moon Festival scheduled for this coming Saturday evening, Oct. 6, promises a bountiful display of farm and garden produce raised by members, as well as a rollicking dining and dancing party.

The variety of farm exhibits will bring a homespun note to GPYC's usually sophisticated atmosphere, and in the matter of dress, it's to be come-as-you-please—either formal or informal.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. O'Keefe, the co-chairman in charge of the whole affair, have arranged that dinner and dancing will take place in the club's big lounge, while the farm and garden exhibition will be in the main floor lobby and rotunda.

There'll be a new farm jeep belonging to Humphreys Spring-tun. Vic Graf's three pedigreed calves, a lamb and a pair of piglets will have places in the animal pens in the rotunda. A new tractor will be shown. Philip Huber will exhibit threshed grain; Mrs. John H. French is planning a plant display, and Mrs. Carl Bachele an array of canned goods from her own garden.

Mrs. Adolph Jacobson is chairman in charge of arranging the farm, garden and canned goods exhibition, assisted by Mrs. Simpson C. Leonard, Mrs. Carl Smith and Mrs. H. N. McMenmen, Jr. The exhibitors also will include Mrs. George E. Villerot, Mrs. Emerson Frantz, Mrs. J. Lee

Barrett, Henry Hopkes, Mrs. Otto Lundell, Mrs. Gustav von Reis, Mrs. E. C. Baumgarten, V. R. DePetris, Harlow C. Stahl and the committee members.

On the fun and frolic side, dinner will be served Frankemuth style at 8 p.m. and dancing will be from 9 until 2 a.m. Decorations will be in autumn shades of yellows, browns, greens and orange.

One of the cocktail parties before the Harvest Moon Festival will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. Degener on McMullan road. Joining at the Degener's and then moving on to GPYC will be Chairmen Mr. and Mrs. O'Keefe, the Paul Marcos, Mr. and Mrs. Jule R. Surtman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Don Wallace, the Harry Millette, the Lyle Zisslers, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence G. The way you gnawed that crust of toast, he says. Such feeling. Such emotion. Such drama, Such passion—
Such a bunk of bunk, I tell him. But he goes on and on until the waiters began selling reserved seats around our table. So he says The Thither Guild is on the radio working for U. S. Steal or U. S. Steal is working for The Thither Guild, and I would be a natural when the video shows come.
Well, there is nothing to do but strip tease the truth for him, so I tell him my tragic act with the toast is strictly from hunger, because I am on a diet and would give his right arm for a trayful of cakes and syrups from Child's, but art is art and I am starving for it. So then his face falls like an asbestos curtain and I feel very sorry for him, so I promise him that when I get down to my last crust, I will step around to The Thither Guild and put on the tragic act and probably become the dry Toast of New York.

MRS. HARRY S. LEYMAN, JR. and her little son, HARRY III, are autumn visitors in the Pointe, where they are the center of attention in the Lincoln road home of Mrs. Leyman's parents, the HAROLD D. BAKERS. The pair will return to Cincinnati, O., this week-end.

Blue Devils Defeat Ferndale in Opener

Grosse Pointe High Gridders Ends Two Year Victory Famine by 12-0 Win; Champine, Isbey Star

By FRED RANNELLS

The Grosse Pointe Blue Devils received their first taste of victory in two years when they out-scraped a veteran Ferndale High eleven last Saturday afternoon, 12-0.

Two pass interceptions paved the way to both of Grosse Pointe's touchdowns to equal the team's entire touchdown production of last season. It was right halfback Louie Champine who intercepted the first pass deep down in his own territory and raced 75 yards down the south sideline, receiving some excellent blocking from his teammates to clear the way for his touchdown jaunt and the Pointers' first scare early in the second quarter.

Left halfback Marty Beer attempted to pass into the end zone for the point after touchdown but was smothered under a host of Ferndale players before he could get the pass away.

Grosse Pointe's second score came in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter when quarterback Ed Isbey intercepted a Ferndale pass on the Ferndale 35 yard line and went all the way without a hand being laid on him. This time the Pointers attempted the conversion by kicking but the line failed and the attempt was blocked.

Ferndale had the Blue Devils in trouble only once all afternoon, that being in the opening minutes of the ball game when the Pointers were forced to punt on fourth down after driving from its own 22 to the Ferndale 48. The kick carried to the Ferndale 30 from where Ferndale quickly kicked over the Blue Devils' safety man to the Pointers' 15.

On the first play Grosse Pointe was guilty of holding and the referee stepped off seven and a half yards to the Devils' seven and a half yard line. A holding penalty puts the ball down half the distance from the goal line. On the first play Marty Beer punted to his own 28 against the strong wind. Ferndale's drive ended when the Pointers took the ball over on downs on their own 8. Again Beer punted out of danger to his own 25 and Ed Don Winslow tackled the receiver on the spot. A clipping penalty pushed Ferndale back to the Grosse Pointe 40. It was at this time that Champine made his sensational interception and run for the first score of the game.

Ferndale seemed determined to get back into the ball game after the kick-off and marched from its own 28 to the Blue Devils' 30, where Jack Tanner recovered a Ferndale fumble. Beer punted with the wind to the Ferndale 23 and Morris brought the ball back to his own 35 but the runback was nullified by another Ferndale clipping penalty and the ball was resting on Ferndale 20. Ferndale kicked out of danger to the Blue Devils' 43 and on the first play Beer recovered his own fumble for an eight yard loss. Morris intercepted Isbey's pass and was run out of bounds on the Blue Devil 32 as the second period ended.

Ferndale made its supreme bid beginning the second half when it marched to the Blue Devils' 27 where the drive stalled and Grosse Pointe took over on its own 20 after Ferndale punted into the end zone. The Blue Devils started a drive of their own with Louie Champine reeling off a neat 25 yard end run and Beer took a lateral pass from Ed Isbey and scooted around his own right end for 24 yards but both of these runs were for naught as two succeeding plays lost yardage and Isbey's pass to the Ferndale three yard line was intercepted and run out to the Ferndale 33.

After three downs Ferndale punted into the end zone and the Blue Devils started another drive which carried them to the Ferndale 32. This drive was halted temporarily when Ferndale took over on downs but on the very first play Ferndale passed and Isbey intercepted and raced for his teams' second touchdown to put the game on ice.

Ferndale held the key to the morale of the Blue Devils this season and now that the big

Old Fashioned Baked Beans

By BETSY NEWMAN
WHAT are Old-Fashioned Baked Beans? Some say one thing and some say something entirely different. As far as I can make out, the recipe for what section of the United States you come from. The recipe I am giving you today is called Old-Fashioned, but it is good, anyhow, and if you can't get salt pork, maybe a bacon rind or a bit of sausage could be substituted.

Today's Menu
Old-Fashioned Baked Beans
Sliced Tomatoes and Cucumbers
Buttered Cabbage
Ice Cream with Chocolate Peppermint Sauce
Tea or Coffee

Old-Fashioned Baked Beans
2 lbs. dried navy beans
2 qts. cold water
1 medium onion, sliced
1 tablespoon salt
4 tablespoons cider vinegar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/2 cup molasses
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/4 cup tomato catsup
1/16 teaspoon black pepper
Hot water if needed
1/2 lb. salt pork, sliced

Pick over and wash beans thoroughly; add cold water, cover, heat to boiling and simmer for 30 mins. Drain, but do not discard the liquid. Place onion slices in bottom of a 10-cup casserole. Combine next 7 ingredients and add. Add beans and enough hot drained liquid or water to cover (about 2 1/2 cups).

Arrange salt pork slices on top, cover and bake in a 250 degree F. oven 7 to 8 hours. After 4 hours remove 2 cups beans and mash. Return to casserole and stir carefully to distribute beans. Cover and continue to bake. Add additional hot bean liquid or water as needed. Beans should be just covered. Remove cover 1 hour before end of cooking time to allow salt pork to brown. Serves 10 to 12.

Chocolate Peppermint Sauce
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cream
2 egg yolks
1 oz. bitter chocolate
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons crushed mint candy

Combine milk, cream and egg yolks in top of double boiler. Beat with rotary beater until well blended; add chocolate cut into small bits, sugar and salt. Place over boiling water and cook with constant stirring for about 7 minutes. Add mint candy and stir well. Makes 3/4 cup.

Michigan Mirror

By GENE ALLEMAN

ONTONAGON, Mich.—Michigan's new Porcupine Mountain recreational area, which lies just to the west of Ontonagon along the shores of Lake Superior, is one of numerous park and recreational projects which are due for marked development during the coming post-war years.

As you stand on top of one of the high escarpments and view the blue waters of the Lake of the Clouds, surrounded by a sky-line of mountain ridges, you begin to appreciate anew the vastness of Michigan and the importance of its new program of public recreation.

The Porcupine Mountain area with its 42,000-acre timber wilderness merits particular attention in the over-all plan. As one of the few remaining wildernesses in Michigan, it may be the first to receive the benefit of a state-owned lodge and cabins where day-to-day tourists could obtain lodging and meals.

The beauty of the Porcupines, now unmarred by commercial resorts, already has provoked disagreement among some members of the state conservation commission and the department. The idea of the state going into the hotel business was a bit startling at first until someone reminded that the state wasn't merely to build the property and lease it out to private hotel operators, such as the United States Government has done for years at its national parks.

In fact, even the state ownership and operation of a resort is a bit old-fashioned, for the State of Michigan already owns and operates a number of group camps at the Yankee Springs recreational area near Hastings, half-way between Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo, and at the Waterloo recreational area near Jackson.

The Porcupine lovers were disturbed last October when a group of hotel people ascended the mountain to a particularly high escarpment where there is a commanding view of the Lake of the Clouds. Hotel men went into raptures of enthusiasm. One top operator went so far as to select the site for the state lodge. It happened to be the best view of the lake, of course, and hence would offer considerable appeal to lodge guests.

While the hotel operator is inclined to think of making a business pay its own way and earn a profit, too, for his endeavors and risks, the ardent Porcupine lover shudders at the thought of a choice vista being pre-empted by a public hostelry. Ontonagon boosters have their own ideas, too. We're not letting the cat out of the bag to disclose that among the Ontonagon ideas of what should be done to the Porcupines is this innovation: Build a swimming pool smack on top, right by the state lodge!

The notion isn't so screwy as it sounds, however. When the Keweenaw county highway commission went into the park business, via the million-dollar golf course and clubhouse at Copper Harbor, officials discovered that the public wasn't willing to go to a fine clubhouse, exist on choice food, listen to the radio, play bridge and read the funnies. They wanted diversion.

Hence the Keweenaw clubhouse and lodge led to a heavy WPA investment of the golf course which had to be scraped out of the woods at much trouble and money.

How to keep the Porcupines a wilderness and at the same time provide interesting attractions to the motor-minded tourist is a riddle. Among the ideas already aired are these: Build foot and horse trails whereby the traveler could get into the forest area. Create a tent city at Mirror Lake (five miles to the south of the Lake of the Clouds) and provide transportation to the lake by saddle horses and pack mules, in typical western fashion.

Winter ski opportunities are many at the Porcupines. In fact, winter use of the state lodge and cabins is being seriously considered.

At the Rib Mountain state park in Wisconsin, near Wausau, the state of Wisconsin has built a commodious stone clubhouse for ski fans. Nearby is a steel cable ski tow with J-hook carriers which transport both the skier and his skis up the mountain at a steady clip. The day rate is $2 for adults; $1 for children. Fred Pabst, Milwaukee ski enthusiast, owns the concession which built the sturdy ski tow and operates it on week-ends during the winter sport season.

Ski trains bring hundreds of Sunday visitors from St. Paul, Milwaukee and Chicago. And Rib Mountain doesn't begin to offer the variety of scenic possibilities and attractions which are latently awaiting development at the Michigan Porcupines.

The public recreational business in Michigan is only 26 years old.

Its big development has been in the last half dozen years.

During the first quarter of a century, 1919 to 1944, the state had acquired some 43,000 acres of land for park and recreational use.

In 1943 the national park service presented 17,000 acres of the Waterloo and Yankee Springs recreational areas to the conservation department. The legislature in 1944 appropriated $3,000,000 to acquire approximately 100,000 acres in Southeastern Michigan as another regional recreational project, serving residents of counties in what is generally called the Metropolitan district.

The Porcupine Mountain area with some 42,000 acres received $1,000,000 of state funds.

Next will come the problem of public utilization of Michigan's park and recreational lands. The state department has a five-year program for development of its park lands, calling for a total expenditure of $16,316,529, for which highways, park drives and parking areas would get $3,500,000.

The state's park and recreational program, if supported by the public, should afford countless hours of healthful enjoyment for Michigan residents. Better yet, it should be a sound business investment, augmenting the state's tourist industry which brings millions of dollars annually from out-of-Michigan travelers.

Recreation is BIG business in Michigan. If the public recreation program is operated on a small fee basis, whereby those who enjoy special services help to maintain them, we believe it can be made to pay part of its own way.

Hunters and fishermen already pay nominal fees for annual licenses. Others who enjoy camping (private or group), skiing, shuffle board, or whatnot would be willing to assist the state in its task of financing recreation for the people.

Fat Salvage Still Important

It's just as important for the housewife to save fats now as it was during the war, stresses Miss Roberta Hershey, extension nutritionist of Michigan State college and head of rural fat salvage activities.

"There is a peacetime battle of supply yet to be won in the nation's kitchens, because the country is still alarmingly short of fats and oils," Miss Hershey declared. "The manufacture of many peacetime products for which we are waiting depends on the amount of fat available. By-products of fats and oils make paints, synthetic rubber, soap, fabrics, linoleum, varnishes, paper, lubricating oils, and thousands of other everyday necessities.

"Housewives can hasten the return of housekeeping supplies that have run short during the war years, by keeping kitchen grease pouring into the fat salvage can and turning it in to meat dealers. Cash and red points are still paid for every pound.

"It is expected to be some time before imports of fats and oils from the South Pacific can be resumed; and it may be many months before oil plantations are back in production and before workers and shipping are available."

Gratiot Township Burdened With Over-Crowded School

Total of 623 Pupils Being Instructed in But 14 Suitable Classrooms; Addition Is Hoped For

Gratiot Township is wrestling with a very over-crowded school situation, with 623 pupils enrolled and but 14 satisfactory classrooms in which to teach them. A fifteenth room, intended originally for a lavatory, is now being used as a music room and half day sessions are being held to take care of the overflow student body.

The half-day sessions are being concentrated in the lower grades, considered by some to be the most important in a child's schooling. The second grade teacher has 77 pupils.

Lawrence R. Read, superintendent of the Beacon school, has issued a pamphlet on the situation, asking concerted action on the part of residents to remedy the situation.

On Wednesday, October 10, Charles Braks, deputy superintendent of Wayne County Schools, will speak in the township on the legality of raising the millage in the district, or extending the present millage. He will answer any questions the residents may have regarding the four room addition hoped for to end the half-day sessions.

The school board asks for a large attendance and the cooperation of all.

DEFER SCHOOL

Various clubs have been organized throughout Defer School. The services, under Mr. Fred Kerby's direction has again resumed its duties of service to the school.

Both boys and girls from the fourth, fifth and sixth grades meet once a week. Diane Demrose was elected Captain of Girl's Service and Eleanor Dahleen her assistant. Lawrence Grunder and Wayne Van Etten hold these positions for the boys.

There are many courtesies which the Service people perform. It is their duty to promote safety in the building on the playground, to assist the boys and girls in being orderly in the halls, direct strangers about the building, open doors, assist teachers on the playground, deliver messages, and assist in the office, kindergarten and library.

The Safety Patrol stations thirty-two boys at various corners throughout our district. It is each one's duty to be on his corner and help to see the children cross the streets safely on the way to and from school.

William Holmes is captain, Virgil Kline, and Larry Martin are lieutenants for the Safety Patrol which meets once a week.

The Junior Red Cross was organized under the leadership of Miss E. Olson.

Each homeroom sends one representative to the weekly meeting. These representatives report proceedings to their respective homerooms. From this representative group officers were elected. Virginia Davis is president; Robert Warner, vice president; Carl Danne, secretary; Clark Bassett, treasurer.

This year's project will consist in aiding in the educational rehabilitation of children abroad. Homerooms have started collections for their gift boxes.

Members of the Science Club in Mrs. Crockett's 4-B homeroom organized to become better acquainted with the world about them. They will carry out their plans by experimenting, observing, examining and discovering.

This month in their study of leaves the club prepared a bulletin board with leaves of gaily colored sugar maples, box-elders, river birch, and all varieties of oak leaves. Laila Sadi was elected chairman and Dick Zander her assistant.

Class officers were chosen in Miss Crandall's 5-B homeroom for the organization of classroom activities. Joan O'Brien serves as president; Harvey Keithas vice president and Kent Barlow as secretary.

The Young Americans in Mrs. Brogan's 6-B homeroom are working for good citizenship and to help one another. The officers for their club are David Leach, president; John Morhart, vice president; Gloria Anton, secretary; Mary Lou Steffani, private secretary; Roland Neulebrook, room captain, and Susan Kuhl, decorating captain.

offering complete stenographic and secretarial services. Her organization will be known as the Personal Secretarial Service. Miss Deuster can be reached at TUxedo 1-3186.

Miss Deuster was previously a secretary at Parke, Davis & Company and at the Grosse Pointe High School. Her most recent position was that of secretary and bookkeeper for Kopp's Pharmacy in Grosse Pointe.

Her new organization will offer business and social correspondence with complete bookkeeping and accounting service. It will also provide medical, legal and statistical typing.

Navy Now Offers Fine Opportunity

An all-out drive for voluntary Navy enlistments among men 17 through 37 years of age, regardless of draft classification, was announced today by Lieutenant Byron E. Flechtner, officer in charge of navy recruiting in lower Michigan.

"With victory ours on all the fighting fronts, men enlisting in the Navy will now find unparalleled opportunities for advancement," Comdr. Flechtner says. "Service in the peacetime Navy offers pleasant as well as gainful duty, with many features necessarily impossible under the wartime conditions of the past several years. Among these are expanded recreational facilities, unlimited range of travel, and generous shore liberty and annual leaves. In addition, Navy Schools, acknowledged to be among the finest in the country, will continue training men for responsible positions, particularly in the Regular Navy."

Comdr. Flechtner noted that the Navy's peacetime requirements in many petty officer ratings will be several times greater than the number of men remaining in these trades and professions after demobilization under the point system. Thus men enlisting now will find the field wide open for rapid advancement to high-paying ratings in all the branches of the naval service.

With the end of hostilities, the Navy is stressing the enlistment of single men, 17 to 30, in the Regular Navy. The term of Regular Navy enlistment has been reduced from six years to four, and in the light of wartime experience, physical requirements have been substantially lowered, particularly in regard to vision, height and weight. Naval Reserve enlistments for 2, 3, and 4 years are open to men 17 to 37 inclusive, regardless of marital status.

Complete information on the peacetime Naval Service may be obtained at the Navy Recruiting Station, Third Floor, Federal Building, Detroit.

Steadman Opens Store in Gratiot

With the opening of Walter Steadman's drugstore at 19253 Harper avenue this Saturday, the so-called Kenosha block in Gratiot Township approaches nearer to becoming the largest merchandising center in the section.

Several other stores are soon to open in the block, probably the fastest developing in the township.

Walter Steadman operated a drugstore in Grosse Pointe Woods for 10 years.

Picture Council Approves Movies

Grosse Pointe Motion Picture Council's list of approved movies recommended by Consumer's Bulletin and as reviewed by Parents' Magazine includes: "Cisco Kid Returns", "Docks of New York", "Gangs of the Waterfront", "Hands Across the Border", "Hollywood & Vine", "I'll Tell the World", "Mr. Bug Goes to Town", "My Pal Wolf", "Music for Millions", "The Cheaters", "Thin Man's Navy" and "Thunderhead".

Building Line Is Established

To assure a uniform building front for future commercial developments in the Woods village along Mack avenue, the Village Commissioners on Tuesday night passed a resolution expressing the desire of the Commission that such properties should be extended to the front of the line as established by the Wayne County Road Commission.

This is in conformity with the plan for the widening of Mack avenue as undertaken by the County Road Commission.

The proposition means simply that it is the desire that the village have a uniform front for future commercial development. It was decided also that when applications for building permits of such properties are made hereafter they shall be examined by the Commission in each case.

BILL EDDY, state lightweight boxing champion, kept his newly won title when the judges called the second meeting between him and Leroy Willis a draw at the Olympia.

ROCKY GRAZIANO kayo'd Harold Green in the third round of their scheduled ten round bout at Madison Square Garden. A riot broke out, the first in ten years at the Garden, when Green's handlers jumped into the ring claiming Green had received a short count. Green jumped to his feet, after referee Ruby Goldstein had tolled the fatal ten, claiming Rocky had hit him illegally on the break and tore after Graziano in a neutral corner.

U. OF DETROIT returned to the football wars after a two year absence and trounced Alma College 32-0 in a down pour which 4,500 fans sat through.

U. OF MICHIGAN took Michigan State into camp for the seventh straight time to the tune of 40 to 0. Michigan displayed plenty of power on the scoring plays, something that was sadly lacking against Indiana a week ago.

PHIL COLELLA, a 17 year old freshman, romped 77 yards on the first play of the Illinois-Notre Dame game, at South Bend, to give Notre Dame its first 1945 victory. The run was scored in the first fifteen seconds of the game and Notre Dame was unable to do anything from then on except defend its goal line against a superior Illinois team which fumbled the ball each time it got into scoring position.

TIGERS WIN PENNANT when Hank Greenberg slashed his ninth inning four run homer into the right field stands at Sportsman Park to beat the St. Louis Browns, 6-3. The hit not only won the Tigers seventh American League pennant but it dashed all hopes for the Washington Senators had of gaining a tie with the Tigers and forcing a playoff game for the pennant. It also made Hal Newhouser the top pitcher of both leagues, for the second straight year, with 25 victories against 9 losses.

Bernie Green, the clever and "constantly in motion" comedian and master of ceremonies, again guides this week's new and outstanding variety floor show at Club Stevadora, by popular demand. One of Bernie's most impressive characterizations is that of a Russian violinist which he enacts in complete Russian regalia and which provides him with an excellent opportunity to demonstrate his exceptional ability on that string instrument. Newcomers, currently, are Mary Lou Pavel, talented song stylist, and The Pat Walsh Dancers, who have earned a very high rating locally for their colorful musical comedy precision routines. The popular saxophone and clarinet ace and showman, Sammy Mandell, and his orchestra are the music makers. Club Stevadora opened its new and very modern kitchen, presided over by a well-known Detroit chef, on Thursday, September 27th.

Medical Center Makes Progress
As the first step in making Detroit a world center for teaching and research in the field of industrial health, articles of incorporation for a new non-profit corporation to be known as the Institute for Occupational Health Research will be filed in Lansing next month according to Wendell W. Anderson of Grosse Pointe, president of the Medical Science Center of Wayne University.

The Institute will be staffed with specialists in the medical and engineering phases of employ health, and will maintain ample research laboratories which will be at the service of industry in Wayne County and elsewhere.

Subject to approval by the Board of Education, the Institute will be affiliated with and housed with Wayne University's new School of Occupational Health, whose program is entirely financed by the Medical Science Center. Dr. Raymond Hussey, dean of the School, will serve as Director of the Institute.

The sum of $750,000 is now being raised by the Medical Science Center to finance the joint program of the School and the Institute for the first five years, Mr. Anderson said. He added that a substantial part of the $750,000 has already been pledged. Manufacturing and business firms of Wayne County are being asked to subscribe this money, which will be administered by the Institute's own Board of Trustees composed of leaders in industry.

The affiliated School and Institute will be both a service unit for industry and an educational institution. The School will educate, on a post-graduate level, graduate doctors and engineers who wish to specialize in the field of occupational health. In addition, courses will be available to industrial physicians and hygiene engineers. Later the School will arrange special courses for the training of technicians.

For graduate doctors and engineers the School will offer a two-year course, of which half the time will be spent in plants. Upon graduation, doctors will receive the degree of Doctor of Industrial Health, and engineers the degree of Doctor of Science in Industrial Health.

It is anticipated that the School will be ready to accept enrollments by the Fall of 1946. The Institute will be in operation before that time.

True never comes to a head when apology is afoot.

"STAR-DUSTING"

By FRED RANNELLS

Plenty of competition was provided two Sundays ago in yachting circles with end of the season races being held to determine champions in the one design classes.

The Lightning class of the Detroit River Fleet met its Waterloo when six Pontiac Yacht Club skippers and their boats invaded Crescent Sail Yacht Club last Sunday in what was to be the first of a four race home-and-home series. The boys from Pontiac, despite the gasoline shortage, came down to give the Detroit skippers a lesson in sailing.

Of the six Pontiac boats five of them finished in the first five positions and it was Gene Howard, of Crescent, who broke the Pontiac monopoly by finishing sixth.

The second race was canceled because of the lack of wind, thereby giving Pontiac the lead in points in this inter-fleet series. Next weekend Detroit was to travel to Pontiac and attempt to overcome this early lead and bring the trophy back to Detroit but the weather turned out too bad and this end of the series will be held the first nice weekend.

Detroit River Fleet Captain Bill Phillips, of all people, got caught with his sails down in the harbor when the starting gun for the race was fired and finished last. Bill being the modest fellow that he is took all congratulations without finching and vowed he never would be caught with his sails down again.

Titles Won Over Weekend
Harry Face beat out Harry Hammond and Jimmy Smith of the Detroit Yacht Club for the Detroit River Catboat title by taking a first and third.

The also-ran crew of Jimmy Grant's six meter sloop "Sprig" practically went nuts last Sunday at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club when they won the "Top Dog" series. Throughout the regular season "Sprig" never finished in front of the fleet but was always up there close to the winner and garnered enough points to qualify for this three race series for the three top crews in the fleet.

"Sprig's" crew sailed Charlie Beck's "Djinn," unbeaten six of the fleet this season, and won the first race of the series. The second race the same crew, aboard Dr. Carlisle Wilson's "Solenta" handed "Djinn" its first defeat since she was brought here by Beck. By winning two firsts the third race was unnecessary as Beck and Wilson were tied for second place and even though either might have won the final race they couldn't have garnered enough points to beat out the delectably happy bunch.

Sprig's crew of stalwarts was made up of Paul Williams, Bill Ferguson, Skipper Grant and a local, rotund sailor boy, who sails a catboat when there isn't anything better around, by the name of George E. Van.

Dave Davenport, Tod Fredricks and Ward Peck did an excellent job of getting the boats off to good starts and made the boys keep their noses clean.

Tom Petzold's "Thisbe" shower her transom to six other eight meters in the first race of the "Iceberg" series. Two more races will be sailed on succeeding Saturdays, which will bring the weather up to just what the series' name implies—COLD.

The 70 mile North Channel race for C and L class sloops, which was to be sailed two Sundays ago, was called off when none of the boys relished the idea of sailing that distance in the rain. Only Morrel Dunn, an old time salt of some 70 odd years, was at the starting line and snorted his disgust when no one would come out to play. It was just about four years ago that a similar instance occurred, only that time it was snowing instead of raining and again it was Dunn who was ready to sail the course, but the rest of the fleet stayed tucked in their nice warm beds.

One Is Injured In Auto Crash

A car owned and driven by J. C. Flowers of 1308 Yorkshire road struck one belonging to Edward J. Hurley of 1821 Allard, Grosse Pointe Woods, while parked on Mack 60 feet east of Three Mile drive about 7 o'clock Friday night.

George F. Brady of 1268 Whittier, who was riding in the Flowers' car, hurt his right knee and suffered injuries to his side. Flowers got a ticket for not having his car under control.

School Must Pay $500 for Sewer

The Detroit University School, which made application some time ago to connect with the Woods main sewer along Cook road received permission to do so upon payment of a fee of $500.

In a letter addressed to the Village Council Tuesday night the school demurred at the charge and requested a lower rate be granted. On careful consideration the Commissioners decided the charge was a fair one and their original figure is to stand. The school will be notified to this effect.

Pointe Fire Chiefs Seek Cooperation of Residents

Announcing that Fire Prevention Week will be observed from October 7-13 by proclamation of President Truman, Fire Chiefs of the Pointe have called upon every citizen to join enthusiastically in the annual crusade against fire.

"Fire devastated Japan," the Chiefs said, "but few seem to realize that we at home currently are waging a losing fight against this arch enemy who never forsakes our borders."

Quoting statistics recently released by the National Fire Protection Association, showing a sharp increase in fire losses, they report that every day there are 1800 fires which take a toll of 28 lives. Daily, fire also attacks 1000 homes, 130 stores, 100 factories, 7 churches, 7 schools, and 3 hospitals.

"Most of these fires are unnecessary," the Chiefs say, "and the twin objectives of Fire Prevention Week is to rid our homes and community of the hazards which account for the great majority of fires, and to focus attention on the careless habits which take such a high toll of life and property. "The fire department is, as always, ready to respond to a call of fire, but with all of our equipment and skill, we cannot totally save or in any way replace a building attacked by flames. We can put out the fire, but we can do little to prevent fires from starting. That is the individual responsibility of each and every citizen, and with fires taking a toll of ten thousand lives every year, in addition to hundreds of millions of property, it is not a responsibility to be taken lightly.

"Some fires will occur despite all precautions," the Chiefs say, "so we urge everyone to be sure their fire extinguishers are fully charged in case of need, and to delegate at least one member of the family to learn how to turn in an alarm accurately and without delay."

The fire department knows the common causes of fire and how to eliminate them. It stands ready during Fire Prevention Week to provide anyone with information on the best means of preventing fire at its source.

Veteranews

from the Office of Veterans' Affairs Lansing

Erection of a "neurosis center" at Ann Arbor will give Michigan the best psychiatric program of any of the states, it was emphasized here today. Plans are now under way to construct a residence-type institution near the University hospital, where 30 to 50 veterans at a time may receive bed rest and treatment.

"These veterans are emphatically not 'insane,'" a spokesman of the Office of Veterans' Affairs declares. "They need rest, mental reorientation, careful readjustment and a new outlook on life and can be salvaged and sent back to their occupations with an 80 per cent expectancy of permanent cure."

Other treatment units, all financed and operated by the state, include the Michigan Veterans' Facility at Grand Rapids, where veterans may receive bed rest after completion of treatment at the neurosis center, and the Michigan Veterans' Vocational School at Pine Lake, where they may be sent from the neurosis center for outdoor recreation and physical rebuilding, as well as for instruction in vocational subjects.

President Truman recently announced the earmarking of federal civil service positions for veterans. This is the first real employment break for veterans. In an executive order, under the Veterans Preference Act of 1944, he approved the recommendation of the civil service commission that veterans only might take examinations for the positions of contact officer, senior contact representative in the Veterans Administration. Interested Michigan veterans should contact the Veterans Administration at Dearborn or a local veterans' counseling center.

Schumacher of 1126 Bishop road, is playing the role of Elizabeth Howell, precocious little brat in "The Penny Pirates", first children's stage production of the Catholic Theater of Detroit, which will be given in the Art Institute Auditorium on October 6.

Nancy will be remembered for her role of Lizzie in the Catholic Theater's production of "Peck's Bad Boy."

Friendship Guild To Conduct Sale

The Friendship Guild of the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church announces the date for what the members believe will be the largest sale in its five year history, Friday and Saturday, October 12 and 13, at the Little Red School House, 20276 Mack avenue.

Mrs. D. W. Matzen is president of the Guild. General chairman of the sale Mrs. C. A. Lorenz and all members of the Guild will assist.

The proceeds of the sale will be devoted to the building of the church upon which construction is soon to be started.
