FARMS RAISES SPEEDING FINES

HEADLINES of the WEEK As compiled by the Grosse Pointe News

Thursday, October 11
CROWDS WELCOME returning champion Tigers . . . thousands jam Union Station until early hour this morning.

HUNDREDS OF COMMUNISTS parade the streets of Tokyo demanding the removal of the Emperor—and food.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN SAYS "a few selfish men would not be permitted to stand in the way of industrial reconversion" but fails to clarify his rather ambiguous statement . . . his straight-from-the-shoulder advice to Americans to "cut out all foolishness and go back to work" is better understood in this post war period of turmoil and confusion.

AMERICAN AIRLINES asks permission to operate non stop service between Detroit and Boston . . . the new schedule will be 43% faster than the present time.

U. S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS in Paris announces that 135,000 troops now stationed in the United States will start moving into the European theater this month . . . they will relieve veterans with more than 44 points.

A HOUSE COMMITTEE, after a tour of Europe recommends that the U. S. withhold loans to both Britain and Russia until they reverse some of their policies.

DARDANELLES will be internationalized in the very near future as result of discussions between the Washington and Ankara (Turkish) governments, authoritatively reported from Washington.

FIRST CONSCIENTIOUS objector to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor says the only way to end wars is by a return to the Ten Commandments. Edmond T. Doss, 26, never bore arms, never participated in an act of violence against the enemy, but his heroic service in rescuing wounded men under fire and in imminent risk to his own life won him the Nation's highest honor.

Friday, October 12
REPORTS FROM OKINAWA indicate great damage to ships and considerable loss of life has attended a typhoon that has isolated more than 150,000 American troops, sailors and nurses. Wind velocity reached 150 miles per hour . . . General Stillwell, in command at Okinawa radios that 95 per cent of the tents are down, barracks wrecked and even hospitals heavily damaged . . . Stillwell wants 1250 hospital patients immediately transferred by air to Manila or Guam . . . 122 ships and small boats have been beached and five sunk.

SENATE LEADERS predict only minor changes in the $5,350,000,000 tax reduction bill already passed by the House . . . Senator George, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, will hold three days of hearings beginning on Monday . . . the measure takes 12,000,000 of the low income taxpayers off the tax rolls on Jan. 1.

AMERICAN TROOPS will be out of Palestine by Monday, a Reuter dispatch from Jerusalem, via London, says today . . . Palestine will be out of bounds for all American troops on leave . . . at the same time resolutions introduced in both Houses of Congress call for the reopening of Palestine to the Jews and setting up an international commission to transfer Jews from various inhospitable centers in Europe . . . the situation indicates a direct divergence of view between U. S. and Britain on the Jewish-Palestine problem.

Saturday, October 13
An outlaw gang of renegades composed of Germans, Austrians, Czechs, Slovaks, Russians and Hungarians, numbering upwards of 20,000, lead by Nazis, is spreading terror through Slovakia . . . its specialty is robbing medicines and goods being sent into the country by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, several trainloads of such supplies having completely disappeared recently.

Young Historians Hear History Being Made

THIS HISTORY CLASS at Grosse Pointe High School got in on the ground floor of a history-making event last Wednesday afternoon. Class discipline was skipped while the Detroit Tigers were trouncing the Chicago Cubs in the final game of the Series to capture the World Championship . . . for the second time in history. A radio took teacher's place.

Community Halloween Party Will Be Held on Wednesday, October 31 at Nine Centers

Sixth Annual Celebration Planned for Youngsters of all Pointes; Many Organizations Cooperate

The boys and girls of Grosse Pointe will celebrate their sixth Community Halloween Party on Wednesday evening, October 31st. Last year an estimated 5500 young people and adults attended this annual celebration. Representatives of local organizations and private and public schools have completed the basic plans for this year's party.

Parties will be held at nine centers. Children of elementary school age can have an evening of excellent entertainment at any of the following school locations: Mason, Country Day, Richard, Maire, Defer, and Trombley. Boys and girls of junior high school age, grades seven, eight, and nine, can go to either the Neighborhood Club or the John D. Pierce Junior High School.

The parties in the elementary schools will be from 7 to 9 p. m. A variety program of fun and entertainment will be provided. Although these parties are primarily for the children, parents may accompany them if they feel it is necessary to do so. There will be no admission charge for the elementary parties.

Unwelcome Guest Found on Porch
About 11 o'clock Saturday night an indignant burgher living in the 1200 block on Bishop phoned the police there was a drunk sleeping on his front porch.

When the police arrived the weary one was gone. In as much as there was a well-spirited party in progress in the neighborhood at the same time, the police diagnosis of the case of the mysterious sleeper was that he was a guest at the nearby party and having temporarily left the house of gaiety had become confused and unable to find his way back; or, maybe he was just tired of it all and settled in the first spot that offered succor for jarring nerves.

Ralph Netting Is Unopposed For Mayor

Deadline for Filing of Petition Passes; Election to Be November 6

The City of Grosse Pointe will have a general election on Tuesday, November 6, when qualified electors of the City will vote for candidates for Mayor, Clerk, three Councilmen, a City Treasurer, a City Assessor and a Constable.

City Clerk Neff is urging returned servicemen as well as new residents to check the status of their registration. They should call in person or by telephone at the City Clerk's office at 17150 Maumee. They may do this at any time during regular office hours, but the last day for registration is Wednesday, October 24, until 8 o'clock p. m.

Many servicemen who voted the so-called War Ballot in the Presidential election in 1944, were not registered locally but voted on the national election issues by reason of their then status in the armed forces.

Commissioners Agree to Guarantee Pay of Emergency Victims

All of the Pointe police have had trouble at times in gaining admittance for accident cases to the local hospitals. This has been partially remedied since the Bon Secours hospital made its modern addition recently.

Tennessee Crash Fatal to Pointer

Mrs. Charles L. Frederick of 333 Rivard boulevard, and Mrs. Robert Simmonds, mother of Mrs. Wylie Carhartt of Grosse Pointe boulevard, were killed in an automobile accident on a mountain road near Knoxville, Tenn. on Monday, according to word received here.

Marathon Course Owner Irritated

An irate citizen residing in the 600 block on Washington road has become exasperated lately by boys running across his property. The other night he held up one of the boys "with a club three feet long," so says the boy.

Death Saddens Marine's Return

Mrs. Margaret V. Belfrey, aged 50, of 669 Allard, Grosse Pointe Woods died suddenly at her home at 3:40 a. m. Wednesday.

She is survived by her husband, Wilmot A. Belfrey, a son, Seaman 1/c William Belfrey, another son, Sergeant Wilmot Belfrey, Jr. in the U. S. Marine Corps, a daughter, Beulah, at home and a brother, William A. Dwyer of Grosse Pointe Woods.

Veteran Is Chosen For Counselor of Veterans' Council

Joseph Robert O'Connor, Who Served With Air Corps Four Years, Selected for Grosse Pointe Post

Joseph Robert O'Connor has been appointed Veterans' Counselor for Grosse Pointe and Gratiot Township communities, the Grosse Pointe Council for Veterans' Affairs announced today.

Mr. O'Connor is already located at the present Veterans' Counseling Center at 18829 Kercheval avenue and is ready to be of any assistance he can to the more than 3,500 men and women who went to war from these areas.

Mr. O'Connor served with the Army Air Forces for four years. Two years and eight months of this period were overseas. During the last two months he has worked directly with the Detroit Council of Veterans' Affairs and is thoroughly familiar with all the agencies set up to be of assistance to veterans.

The Grosse Pointe Council of Veterans' Affairs has set up seven committees to assist Mr. O'Connor, consisting of some of the most prominent people in the community:

(1) Committee on Organization and Finance, chairman, John J. O'Brien. This committee consists of Mr. O'Brien, who is chairman of the executive board and the six representatives of the governing agencies that are financing the program; i.e. Grosse Pointe Park, City of Grosse Pointe, Grosse Pointe Farms, Grosse Pointe Shores, Grosse Pointe Woods, and Gratiot Township. These six governmental agencies who are members of the executive board have agreed to finance the budget of $7,000 on a pro-rated basis according to the assessed valuation of each governmental municipality on real estate.

The police advised him to park his heavy artillery, but did cooperate to the extent of getting word to the marathoners to seek out another course.

Cabbie Doubles In Sleuth Role

One of James Webb's new taxi drivers, operating the recently established taxi service in the Pointe, reported to Mr. Webb Saturday night that he had noticed on two different occasions that evening a suspicious looking car parked in front of the Best and Company store on Kercheval, with two men in it apparently waiting for developments. This store has had more than its share of trouble with thieves and such in recent weeks and the police were notified.

NEW JOB FOR LANE
Village Manager Everitt B. Lane, of the Park, had another duty added to his already numerous duties by formal action of the Village Commissioners Monday night. He was made Superintendent of Building Operations and Safety Engineer in the village.

Car Runs Wild On Chalfonte

Considerable damage was done to a car which jumped a curb and ran into a tree at Chalfonte and Kerby in the Farms at 6:05 Sunday evening. The driver, Frances Terova of 1200 Virginia Park, was not injured.

WHEEL, TIRE STOLEN
A. C. Park of 393 Mt. Vernon told Farms that while he had his car parked in the vacant lot at Kercheval and McMillan on October 12 someone had stolen a tire and wheel.

Licensing Age Likely to Be Raised to 16

Trustees to Find Out If They Have Power to Turn Down 14-Year-Olds

Heavier fines for speeders in the Village of Grosse Pointe Farms were approved by the village trustees meeting Monday night, and a resolution was unanimously adopted to make them official.

The past Farms laws have set the following fines for speeding violations:—up to 35 miles per hour, $5; 36 to 40 miles per hour, $10; 41 to 45, $15; over 45, case goes to court.

This is the first change made in the Farms traffic violation laws as pertaining to speeders since 1939. Original fines were established by a resolution of the council in 1931 and amended in 1939.

It was also suggested during Monday night's meeting that it would be a good idea for the Farms to refuse to issue driving licenses to anyone under 16 years of age. The state law allows licenses to be issued to those 14 years old.

The Farms trustees are investigating the matter to see if they have the right to refuse to issue licenses until the applicant reaches 16.

Call Meeting On Discipline

School, Civic and Police Officials Hold Discussion Session

Representatives of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education and police and municipal officers held a meeting last Thursday night in the Board of Education Building to discuss the subject of discipline in the Pointe.

No publicity has been released on the session, but it is known that a general discussion was held to determine if it is possible to obtain better community discipline generally through cooperation. It was decided to enlarge the group and further meetings are contemplated.

Restaurant Thief Pleads Guilty

Howard Allen Eynouf, aged 17, of Continental street, Detroit, plead guilty before Judge Ira W. Jayne in Circuit Court on Oct. 9 to having robbed the Toddle House in E. Jefferson avenue about six weeks ago.

At the time of the robbery the Toddle House claimed it had been robbed of $172 but young Eynouf stoutly maintained that he had taken only $139. The Court's sentence was that he make restitution to the Toddle House to the amount of $140 and stand on probation for two years.

Pointe's Own Murder Mystery

Grosse Pointe, Larry. About Miranda. She's met with a tragic accident. She's dead.

There it was. Just like that. Someone calls you up from New York to tell you that the world has ended. You don't fall on your face. You don't scream. You just turn numb and listen.

"Kiss of Death" Pointe's Own Murder Mystery

By LAWRENCE RANDALL As Told to Mary Madison

THE HOT CORPSE
There's no place like home . . . Thank God!

Here I came back to Grosse Pointe, after four year's service in the Navy for a little rest and what do I find but a murder on our own front lawn. That four years stretch of battling organized murder had taught me two things. A vast respect for personal gallantry and a creeping conviction that all races were fixed, including the human.

It was all as the dear Duchesse used to say over her cups . . . and in them . . . "Larry, my boy, anything can happen . . . anytime . . . anywhere . . . to anyone. The point is not to be there when it happens".
But here I was . . . I was spending this Sunday in bed wallowing with the newspapers and a breakfast tray. When the phone exploded into my orgy. I picked it up with a snarl.

"Sorry, Commander, but New York is calling. Mr. Cornelius Dunn. He says it's urgent."

"O. K. Mabel, put him on." Cornelius Dunn's urges are always urgent to him and no one else. Dunn was the head of the Public Relations firm in which I had held a Junior Partnership—a purely perfunctory title. I was really an overpaid and underworked messenger boy. Dunn himself was the Lone Deranger.

"That you, Larry?" It was Dunn's executive voice, brisk as an alcohol rub.

"Right, Neil." "Larry, I'd fly out to Grosse Pointe myself, but I'm in the hospital. I'm having my appendix out . . ."

my imagination as well as my blood. For me she had the sting of ecstasy that comes with the jerking open of your parachute and the actual plunge. I was still plunging. Yet, Miranda had also the tranquil reserve of the inaccessible. Somewhat the sensation one gets, standing in a crowd in an art gallery behind the scarlet ropes, lost in sensuous rapture of a Fragonard one never hoped to own.

The Hearst of it was that the papers all called her a Glamour Girl . . . and when I heard the word Glamour, I reach for my gun. But they couldn't succeed in making her commonplace. Stimulating camera fodder she certainly was, and besides there were all those chips of her as the heiress of Consolidated Motors. Now, Consolidated Motors is the top account in Cornelius Dunn's public relations business. Also, Consolidated Motors is the world's greatest motor fortune. Miranda Ames and her step-mother, Fay Ames were sole heirs to Consolidated, except for the honorary stockholders who, as Dunn claimed, made it sound more democratic.

Fay Ames had committed matrimony with Marcus Ames' fortune. Fay combined the curves of Sally Rand with the swerves of Tallyrand. She was so skeptical of God, man and beasts that

Behr Objects to News Story On Lakefront Assessments

Inconsistencies Exist, However, In Fact That No City Property Owners Have Asked for Reductions

Attorney Fred H. Behr, who has been the legal pilot of lakefront property owners who have been carrying on a fight to obtain a reduction in the assessments of their properties, apparently does not relish the publicity that has been given this matter from time to time in the columns of the NEWS.

His kind acknowledgement of the "complete understanding of governmental economics and taxation," possessed by the editor, is much appreciated.

Mr. Behr's heartfelt opinions on this matter, i.e. the securing of lower taxes by his clients owning lakefront property, are quite completely set forth in a letter which he addressed to Carl Schweikart, Grosse Pointe Township Supervisor, in a letter dated October 12, a copy of which Mr. Behr considerably sent to the NEWS. It says:—

"Dear Carl: "The monotony of being confined to my home by a slight temporary illness was interrupted somewhat today when I read the article on page 9 of the October 11, 1945 issue of the Grosse Pointe News entitled 'Inconsistencies in Taxes'.

"You and I know that the City of Grosse Pointe removed itself from the Township government some years ago because of certain differences which then existed between the Township and City officials on the subject matter of assessments on taxable property; that since that area has become a city it is no longer subject to Township assessment and that therefore its property owners do not protest assessments to the Township Supervisor nor appeal to the Township Board of Review.

"I had also supposed that all of the members of the Township Board fully understood that in spite of the wonders of governmental finance, economics and taxation to which this country has been subjected since 1932,

Driver Receives Mysterious Gift

A black leather grip filled with old shoes and slippers that M. A. Hollingshead of 124 Meadow lane found in his automobile, is a mystery in leather. Mr. Hollingshead told the City police he found it in his car on October 2, but does not know whether it was left there while his car was parked somewhere here in the Pointe, or at the garage at the Fisher building. He inquired at the Fisher garage but nobody there knew anything about old shoes and slippers.

Despite his daily perusal of the Lost and Found columns in the papers and personal inquiry, the mystery of the unwanted shoes still deepens.

Lake Getting Sewage Again

Farms Passes Resolution Objecting to Macomb County Polluting Lake St. Clair

Although swimming in Lake St. Clair has ended, the matter of water pollution is not being ignored until another season rolls around.

The Farms council unanimously passed a resolution Monday night, objecting to the pollution from Macomb county, which was started again on September 25. The resolution was offered at the request of Village Engineer Murray Smith, who said it had been suggested by Engineer Shepard of the State Department of Health.

Mr. Shepard said he had been informed that Macomb County officials were of the opinion that the Farms and other Pointes were interested in the condition of the water only during the summer months when swimming was in season. Hence they had stopped using the interceptor on the above date.

It was pointed out that Lake St. Clair is the year-round water supply of the Farms. The resolution will be reported to Mr. Shepard, who has been named by the state to handle the pollution problem.

Death Sentence Passed on Dog

Mrs. J. Radtke and her little son James Paul, and Paul's pet dog were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Craig of 1024 Wayburn last week but doggie made a faux pas when he broke up the serenity of the visit by biting his young friend and master on the nose.

If it had been an ordinary nip the offense might have been overlooked but it was a real full grown bite with three deep punctures.

Mrs. Radtke decided to take no further chances on so unstable a pet and had the Park police take him away to the gas chambers.

Three Pay Up In Police Court

In City Police Court Friday night Judge Leslie P. Young handed out the following pre-riptions:

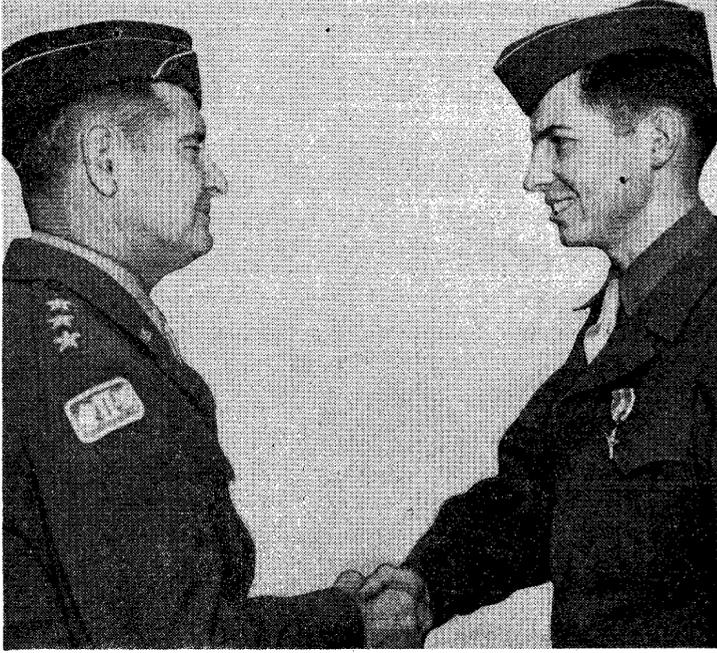

George C. Katros, of 1000 Devonshire, for speeding more than fifty miles per hour, was fined $15 and $5 costs. He also forfeited his operator's license for ninety days.

Richard C. Westering, of 4015 Guilford, Detroit, for reckless driving was fined $25 and $5 costs.

R. H. Gehlert, of 1097 Grayton for allowing his dog to run at large paid $3 costs but fine was suspended.

The public life of any nation depends upon the private lives of those who run it.

Decoration for a Pointer

TECH. SERGT. HARVEY GRUT of Grosse Pointe Farms, member of Adjutant General Section, 7th U.S. Army, being congratulated by LIEUT. GEN. GEOFFREY KEYES, commanding general 7th Army, following his receipt of Bronze Star at a ceremony in the European Theater.

Lacquer Thinner Is Set on Fire

About 7 o'clock Thursday evening a drum of lacquer thinner that had been left in a vacant lot next to the Ray Whyte Manufacturing company's plant on E. Jefferson broke into a violent blaze which called out the Park firemen.

The fire occurred across the street and a block farther out from the Park Fire station, which has been the local point for a lively agitation for fire prevention during the national fire prevention week from Oct. 7 to Oct. 14. During the week the Park firemen have been stressing the necessity of safe storage for inflammable liquids.

The drum of lacquer thinner belonged to the Ray Whyte company. It is presumed to have been set afire by some boys on Halloween mischief bent.

Auto Billiards Rough on Cars

John A. Byrne, of 837 Berkshire, had his car parked in front of the Toddle House in the early hours of Saturday morning when it was struck by a car owned and driven by Charles W. Bates of 7451 Woodward.

The Bates car, after hitting the Byrne's car careened on over the curb and knocked down a light pole. There was no personal injury but both cars were considerably damaged. Bates got a ticket for appearance in Traffic Court.

Maid's Screams Frighten Negro

A maid employed at the home of J. A. Grow at 16916 St. Paul stepped off the bus Friday night about 11 o'clock as she was returning from Detroit, and a colored man who seemed to have been standing nearby, grabbed her by the arm. The terrified maid screamed and the man fled.

She described him as about middle aged and wearing an overcoat. This was the only description the thoroughly frightened maid could give.

Sendoff Party for Draftees Coincides with Anniversary

Eighteen service men, the latest contingent to go from the Pointe, were given a heartfelt send off at the Neighborhood Club Thursday morning.

Dr. Paul Essert, Superintendent of Grosse Pointe Schools, gave an inspiring talk to the young men in which he stressed the theme that they were now going forth not as combat men but as soldiers of peace. The duty would develop upon them he said to uphold by example and conduct the high reputation of American military men and the sincere dedication of America to the cause of world order and freedom.

Dr. Essert told the young men that their home community has already set up an organization, the Council of Veterans Affairs, for the express purpose of rendering service to them in their personal problems. This organization, he said, will be here to serve them when they return again to civil life.

It was a coincidence that this sendoff of Grosse Pointe men to war service, about the sixtieth such event since it was first started, happened on the fifth anniversary of the first local registration of men for military service set in motion by a proclamation by President Roosevelt.

City Clerk Norbert Neff, who had charge of that registration, aided by 84 volunteers, recalls the circumstance with keen interest. It was out of this event that the Home Front organization evolved. Mr. Neff has been the head of this branch of civilian war service for the Pointe continuously since that date.

Garden Cleanup Dates Announced

The first weekend in November has been designated as clean up time for the Victory Gardens. It is sponsored by the Victory Garden council. Cultivators of the gardens are expected to clean up the dead rubbish and weeds that were left after the harvest season.

The burning of this rubbish is very necessary to assure the destruction of noxious vegetable germs and weed seeds that if permitted to remain in would carry over to plague the garden growers of another season. Public works equipment and personnel will lend all aid possible.

Fast Thief Gets Job Done As Audience Phones Police

About 6 o'clock Saturday evening word came by phone from the Hill Nelson home at 1332 Maryland that an unidentified party was busily engaged in removing tires and wheels from a car that was housed in the garage which serves the apartment. Mr. Nelson could not recall either the man or the car as belonging there; hence the call to police quarters.

Between the time Mr. Nelson put in his phone call and looked again for the stranger, he had disappeared.

Pointe Officials At State Meet

Grosse Pointe Municipalities are being represented at the annual meeting of the Michigan Municipal League in Traverse City this week by:

Manager Lane and Controller Johnson for the Park, Neil Blondell, Assessor, and Councilman Chester F. Carpenter for the City; Philip Aillard and probably two councilmen from the Woods, Harry Furton, Village Clerk for the Farms and Superintendent Arthur H. Bennett for the Shores.

This is an important meeting for all municipal officials actively engaged in administrative work in village and city governments. The League renders an important service throughout the year in keeping municipalities informed on the progress of legislation at Lansing which directly concerns them, and gives expert advice on all problems that arise in municipal government. The sessions are dated for October 17, 18 and 19.

Wandering Youngster Repatriated by Police

Little Billy Hayner, aged 2 1/2, of 3944 Courville, Detroit, went riding on his tricycle Sunday afternoon and wandered into far country. William Groehn saw him pedaling around at Bedford and Jefferson and notified the Park police.

At about the same moment that Grosse Pointe had made its discovery a frantic call was going into the 15th Detroit Police Precinct from a couple of distracted parents. When Grosse Pointe and Detroit got their lines working the young wanderer was quickly repatriated.

CUB PACK MEETING

Cub Pack 74 will hold its regular monthly meeting in the gymnasium of Richard School at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, October 23rd. All Cubs and their parents are urged to attend.

Russian Bugaboo

The frank acknowledgement by Secretary of State Byrnes that the conference of foreign ministers in London failed in every major objective on its agenda, plus the fact that every writer of note in the English speaking world has, with significant unanimity, marked this failure as the first major check on the program for world peace and international friendship, places this failure in the forefront of world problems.

A wholesome approach towards the eventual international goodwill which must be won if the world is to be assured of lasting peace and justice among nations, is to start with the acceptance of the truth of the age old maxim that there are two sides to every question. We will gain a better understanding of what is going on if we put ourselves in Russia's place for the moment.

She knows, as do we all, that the arrangements of international boundaries and areas of dominant influence for generations to come, are now in process of settlement. These matters must be decided prior to the final confirmation which will come with the adoption of the general treaty ending the war to which practically every power in the world will be signatory.

We may be certain that Russia shrinks from the possibility of another war with all the abhorrence and fear that would beset us or Great Britain.

Her whole western frontier is composed of several small nations whose conflicting cultures and political aspirations have been a menace to peace in that part of the world from time immemorial. She herself has suffered repeatedly from this turmoil and now she hopes to bring some semblance of stability among these clashing petty states. To do this she is insisting upon retaining a strong voice in the affairs of these little states which are not separated from her by vast stretches of sea or intervening neutral country as we are from our nearest potentially troublesome neighbors, but are directly contiguous to and a part of her same land mass.

With the exception of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia she has not threatened the sovereignty of any of her small neighbor states and these recently born sovereignties which have dated only from the Versailles treaty of twenty five years ago, had previously for many generations been a part of her domain. From Poland she is only reclaiming territory which had previously been allotted to her by the Versailles treaty and which Poland, on her own ambitious initiative, had seized from her after the last war when she was powerless to maintain allotted boundaries.

She seeks free access to the Mediterranean and in this quest it is difficult to find any well grounded moral objection. England, naturally, fears the crossing of her life-line to the East by any great power and opposition to this Russian move comes almost wholly from Britain.

While it may ruffle our pride that Russia should insist on participation in the administration of Japan we must in all common sense agree that Russia lies vastly nearer the Japanese scene than we do where Japan faces her across a narrow sea. It would be untenable for us to insist on making our major part in the war with Japan a justification for our sole direction of that country during a future which more directly concerns Russia as a great Asiatic power and this at a historic moment when we are about to give over our briefly held place in the Philippines.

Russia's anxiety for a voice in affairs of the eastern Mediterranean is an excusable part of her hope to gain freedom of access to and use of that great waterway to the outside world.

The simple truth is that America's chief concern over Russia's attempts to extend her influence into those areas which are her own front and back yards arises from our fear of the extension of the communist ideology into areas which have been normally democratic in political tone.

This is a reasonable cause for anxiety, but it is an unfortunate confession of doubt in the democratic ideal as practiced by us from our beginnings to advance it as justification for our opposition to Russian moves which she engineers for the protection of her political and economic position. If our own democracy does not possess sufficient inherent virtue and strength to stand alone and keep strong and virile our own social and economical principles, it is high time we substituted vigorous action and precept at home for timidity and misgivings abroad.

The American people are eternally overlooking the fact that the very motives which were the groundwork for the Russian revolution point directly to the way of life we set for ourselves in our beginning and to which we have since successfully adhered. No two countries in the world were more dissimilar than America and Russia thirty years ago. To effect necessary changes in her political and economic system she resorted to a regime of violence which was adherent to a people who were accustomed to adjust their affairs by the orderly and peaceful processes of democratic government. Russia had to cut across lots, suddenly and with more or less violence.

It is a tacit compliment to us that from the day of her break with the medieval Czarist regime she has veered more and more to the path which we originally blazed. She awaits now only the adoption of constitutional government and even a promise of this has already been forthcoming from the present Russian government.

There should be little concern in this country over the possible encroachments of the Communist ideology here. Communism was a rescue from tyranny in Russia which had never known the freedom which inhered in the Anglo-Saxon concept of freedom for centuries.

This is quite apart however from the present Russian maneuvers for political and economic advantage. It does bear directly however on the aspect of American and Russian contacts which at this moment most deeply disturb the people of this country.

Wages and National Income

There are accumulating indications that the Government is making ready to accede to the pressure for an advance in the basic wage rate up to fifteen or twenty percent. The little steel formula which fixed wage increases during the war period at not more than fifteen percent above those prevailing on January 1, 1941 has been assailed almost from the moment of its adoption but the pressure for a sane economy during the war, supported further by the pledge of organized labor through its national leaders, resulted in a fairly decent adherence to the agreement, although the country was bedeviled constantly by outlaw strikes throughout the whole war period.

Now, with the country preparing to settle down to the basis of a peacetime economy, labor is mightily disturbed by the prospects of a fierce competition arising from the return of millions of workers from the war and is urging a reduction in working hours to accommodate the influx of work seekers. It also fears a rise in living costs which previous post war experience indicates, as reasonably possible.

Labor's first objective is the assurance of a base pay rate which will net them the same take-home pay they received during the war years. The attainment of this is involved with many considerations of labor availability which is inextricably mixed up with natural economic laws. These almost invariably transcend all powers of mere man made legal regulations. Labor's plan for the maintenance of a high wage structure must also be conformable with price structure and control that industry be enabled to proceed on a basis of reasonable and assured profits.

Supporting labor's claim for a high post war wage is the solid argument that only out of high wages and high production can the national income be lifted by which the tremendous national debt can be financed. Any failure in this process imperils the whole structure of national credit, the basis of security affecting every man, woman and child in the nation.

War Seeds

World War I had a slogan which proclaimed the purpose of making the world safe for democracy. That purpose failed because democracy's sponsors, weary of war and all things that savored of war, didn't follow through. They laid down on the job.

The present war, whose military phases have just ended, had as its principal slogan the cry that "it mustn't happen again". Whether or not there will be another world wide war and all of the blood and sacrifice in this struggle prove in vain, is going to depend on what the victor countries do to the vanquished and whether or not the peoples of the defeated countries will come to realize that they are better off in a world of security and peace than in a world plagued with war and rumors of war.

The people of Germany, and Japan as well, will judge the war in the long view, in the light of its affect upon themselves. They will be moved by example and results but not at all by preachments. They will have little interest in economic and political systems which leave them stripped to the bone and hopeless as to their future. This situation will be certain to lead to endless bitterness and eventually to another war.

We have undertaken a program of reeducation of the German people to qualify them for acceptance again into the circle of peaceful states. Early reports indicate that encouraging progress has been made. This will come to naught however if accompanied by a program of spoliation and indemnities. Not until they see that a way has been left to them to again become prosperous and happy will they be in any mood to accept the dictum of their conquerors.

This humane and sensible program need not confound the unalterable purpose of the western democracies that neither Germany or Japan shall be left with the ability to start another war, either in the near or remote future. That thought must remain uppermost and if rigidly adhered to will in time prepare the moral soil of the world for an enduring peace.

Willow Run Proposal

Of all the so-called local post war problems that confront the Detroit area probably none are of such importance as the providing of an adequate air port. The commanding position air transport will play in the immediate future tells the clear story that unless a community is willing to gamble on the possibility of its being by-passed in the fast advancing new age it must be alert to this problem.

Captain Rickenbacker told Detroit a blunt truth the other day when he said we had an airport once sufficient for the needs of the time, but that it was woefully deficient now. He directly charged lack of vision in our local leadership.

In taking up this question quickly to make up for lost time it may be well to consider the suggestion of the Kaiser-Frazer organization for the use of the Willow Run site. A spot that already has a runway of 7,200 feet and others of more than 5,000 feet length would appear to the layman as coming near to being an airfield ready made. In addition to this buildings and other developments are named as already in being and adapted to the need of a great airport. Rapid transit suggested by the proponents of the Willow Run property might go far to offset the objection of distance from central Detroit that would naturally be raised against this location.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Edgar:

We would like to convey to you our sincere appreciation for the splendid cooperation you have given us in the past in publishing news items originating at our Hannan Branch; Mr. Foster joins us in this expression of thanks. We value highly the fine public relations and publicity your paper offers this neighborhood branch. Our primary endeavor in seeking to convey information to the residents of our branch areas is to extend our services. You help us to serve better as we work together in giving people the facts and features of the YMCA program.

To afford us the opportunity of carefully reading your paper for the Hannan Branch releases and to clip items for our permanent files, we want to order a mail subscription of your paper sent direct to the Metropolitan Offices of the Detroit YMCA, 2020 Witherell, Detroit 26. Please invoice us accordingly in care of the Public Relations Department. Again may we join with Mr. Foster of the Hannan Branch in conveying to you the importance we attach to your helpful cooperation in the use of our news releases. Your past cooperation has been brought to the attention of the Hannan Branch Board of Management and the Metropolitan Board and other of our outstanding lay readers, who are men, industrialists, and men of influence living in the areas of your publication.

Very truly yours,
RUSSELL E. ELLIOTT
Director of Public Relations

Grosse Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

"I have wished a bird would fly away,
And not sing by my house all day;
Have clapped my hands at him from the door
When it seemed as if I could bear no more.
The fault must partly have been in me.
The bird was not to blame for his key.
And of course there must be something wrong
In wanting to silence any song."
(Robert Frost)

Any parents of a ten year old boy will appreciate the following letter we received from the mother of one, which we print here in part:

"The fair was here last week, so we let Glennie go to it by himself... with TWO dollars in his pocket. He came home two hours later (when I expected he'd be gone all afternoon) and he was mad as a hatter. He threw some junk down on the table and said, 'Boy! am I a sucker!'

"It seems that except for one ferris wheel ride, he had spent all his money tossing hoops (at one of those game stands) trying to 'ring' a boy scout knife. All he won were 11 lead wedding rings, an orange felt streamer with 'No lady... Don't do that!' written on it in big black letters; and a pin on which was printed, 'I love my wife... but no more kids!'

"I had all I could do to keep a straight face. When my husband came home and heard the sad tale... he started to bawl him out for being so foolish, but I reminded him that Glennie had learned a valuable lesson. It cost him $2.00 of his hard earned money... and if he learned, at the age of ten, what it meant to be a sucker, he was 10 to 20 years up on most of us."

One of those hire-out-for-the-day waitresses, assisted at butling at a dinner we went to recently. When cocktails were passed, one of the lady guests refused them and the maid, trying to be helpful, suggested, "Would you like some Ford V-8 Madam?"

Scientific things never cease to baffle us and since there is so much loose talk about them on the radio, we wish they'd elucidate for this layman. Or are we the only one who can't understand how alcohol can be made from sawdust... dresses from coal, air and glass... medicines and newspapers from rubbish and a moustache cup from a blade of grass. Any quick answers???

This is supposed to be a new one... fresh out of Brooklyn. During the war, a man went to a factory to get a job and was told he must join the Union first. He did so, returned to the factory and was put to work. About a half hour passed, when a foreman came up to our hero and said, "You can't work here. You're not using Union tools."

The little man left, got himself some Union tools and returned to the job. Another hour passed, when another foreman came to him and said, "You'll havet o leave." The distraught gent asked "Why?... since he had his Union card and his Union tools. The foreman replied, "You ain't wearin' Union overalls!"

Again the guy disappeared to get himself the required Union overalls. Later in the day, the boss missed him and found the little man had been gone from his job a good hour. When he returned, the boss asked (in dulcet tones, no doubt?) where he'd been. "Well... if you must know... I had to go to the bathroom... so I went to the UNION STATION!"

A local firm with a prospective bridegroom in its midst... decided to take up a collection for a wedding present. They amassed about $40.00 and two of the 'committee' went to a shop to buy some plates they had seen that cost just forty a dozen. On the way, they happened to pass another shop that had one of the same plates displayed in the window.

The boys decided they'd price them, just in case... and found to their amazement that the same plates in this store were only $18.00 a dozen... BUT the man was out of them and didn't know when a new shipment would come in.

The delegation, in great disappointment, moved on to the original store... but complained to the man,

"How come you charge $40.00 for these plates when they sell them down the street for $18.00?"

Said the store-keep, "Then why don't you go down THERE and buy them?"

The boys explained that the store happened to be out of them at the time. "Well," replied the man, "When we're out of them, they're only $12.00!"

Cass Town Hall Bringing Brown

Lieut. John Mason Brown, author, dramatic critic and since the end of World War II associate editor of The Saturday Review of Literature, is the second speaker on The Cass Town Hall's program of 14 Friday morning lectures on October 26th at 11 o'clock.

Lieutenant Brown saw active service on the Staff of Vice-Admiral Alan G. Kirk, USN, in the Sicilian and Normandy Invasions. His two books "To All Hands" and "Many A Watchful Night" are considered two of the most distinguished works to come out of the war. During his years as dramatic critic for "The New York Post and The World Telegram" Lt. Brown wrote numerous witty and widely read books on and about the theatre.

Check With The Doctor

By FRED M. KOPP, R.Ph.

If your job suddenly seems too much for you, if you find yourself getting irritated at trifles, if people get on your nerves for no good reason, check with the doctor.

It may be a too active thyroid, or a lack of thyroid activity. No other disturbance stands in more need of a physician's careful eye. There are remedies, but these must be prescribed only after the doctor's personal scrutiny of your individual trouble, and they must be taken exactly as ordered. Not too much, not too little.

Select a good doctor, one of the best, be equally careful to select a good druggist.

Society News Gathered from All of the Pointes

From Another Pointe of View

by

Jane Schermerhorn

If you'll pardon us while we ramble— Distinguished gentlemen who have served their country in its armed forces . . .

Are returning to Detroit's social whirl . . . To find themselves besieged to head many thousands of committees . . . all of which are surely enhanced by their names . . .

William S. Knudsen . . . Detroit's own great general . . . not only has been asked to head several hundreds of various committees of one organization or another . . .

But we heard the other day . . . that his strange requests have included a telephone call from a magician . . .

Who wanted the General and his wife to be guests in his audience that evening . . .

The general regretted . . .

HERE'S SOMETHING TO SAVE

The Detroit News . . . carrying in its pages "Fifty Years of Good Eating" . . . by the Woman's Exchange's Miss Stella V. Hough . . .

Wins our own personal reward as being the first newspaper we've ever read to print really decent recipes . . .

Miss Hough's articles should be carefully clipped and pasted in every good hostess' cookbook . . .

And that's more than we've ever wanted to do with the usual newspaper recipe . . .

We know a gypsy who read a recipe for Hungarian Goulash in a daily paper . . . and although we had nothing to do with the paper . . . or the recipe she called us (always willing and glad to lend our crying shoulder) to protest:

"That recipe insults the Hungarian people as a whole" . . .

OUR OWN WOMAN'S EXCHANGE EXPERIENCE Getting old permits repeating stories . . . So let us rush on to say that when we first became associated with society pages . . .

An aunt took us to lunch at the Woman's Exchange . . . and being a newspaper daughter herself thought we could find a nice story there . . .

We did manage to gather quite a few names, though the chicken salad and watermelon pickle were more interesting . . .

But still ambitious (we'd only been working a week thus that frame of mind) we decided if the list could have just two more names it would be a proud list indeed . . .

So, we asked two ladies their names . . .

One snapped like a mud turtle (and mud turtle she has remained) . . . the other said,

"Yes, you can have my name. I really don't like publicity but once I worked in a Society department and I know this is all part of your work."

She's been royalty ever since . . . and her name is Mrs. Horace Greasley Preston . . .

THE ENQUIRING REPORTER GOES EAST

The social snip has always made us yawn (but widely) . . . And the more we think of it . . . and to be sure this isn't an original idea . . . we believe the really big person is the gracious, kind one who doesn't take herself seriously . . .

That brings us to a summer ten or more years ago . . . We had persuaded our editor we should cover Cape Cod to write our column about Detroiters summering there . . .

In our travels we finally came to Watch Hill, Rhode Island . . . and you'd be surprised at the fashionable dowagers who let us get their pictures with such amateurish means as brownie camera which we operated ourselves trusting ladies . . .

OUR CURIOSITY

It was that summer in which a famous actress (whose name has been spread on front pages across the land in connection with the mysterious death of her wealthy husband) . . .

Chose to rent a cottage at Watch-Hill . . . (it was a 32 room cottage) . . .

We hadn't seen many live actresses up till that time . . . and a live actress with a mysteriously dead husband . . . was exciting to our morbid mind . . .

So while we were photographing a haughty granddame . . . we asked, breathlessly, if she knew where the actress' cottage was . . .

IT MAKES US MAD TO THINK OF IT

If we had suddenly said, "Mrs. Buffington will you please move your heads a little more to the left" . . .

Short And To The Pointe

Her Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Michael T. Berish of Fisher road announced the engagement of their daughter, PATRICIA ANN to Cpl. Richard A. Parks, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Parks of Notre Dame, at a buffet-bridge in the home of the bride's parents. Corporal Parks has just returned from the E.T.O. where he served two years with the Eighth Air Force.

Three Pointe girls attending Endicott Junior College at Beverly, Mass., this year are JULIE HUDSON, daughter of DR. AND MRS. J. STEWART HUDSON of Lothrop road; PEGGY DUFFY, daughter of MR. AND MRS. JAMES E. DUFFY, JR., and NANCY HUGHES, daughter of MR. AND MRS. FRED A. HUGHES of Maumee avenue.

Green Cove, Fla. was the destination of JIM DANAHER, special gunner second class in the Navy, when he returned to duty last week after furloughing with his mother, MRS. RAY E. DANAHER, of Lake Shore road. Jim has been transferred from the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, where he was an instructor in Naval air gunnery.

The Pointe will soon welcome home the WILLARD WORCESTERS, who have been residing in Boston during the war, and who will reopen their Sunningdale drive house in about a fortnight.

It was a gala reunion in the CHARLES F. DELBRIDGE household when, for the first time in three years, CAPT. CHARLES F. DELBRIDGE, JR. joined his family after service in Italy. Preceding Charles by a few days, his brother, LIEUT. WILLIAM N. DELBRIDGE, USN, visited here with MRS. DELBRIDGE and CAROL.

Definitely post-war is the Bermuda trip a quartet of Pointers launched Saturday. MR. and MRS. THOMAS F. PADDOCK, of Touraine road, and MR. and MRS. FREDERICK S. STEARNS, of Lake Shore road, boarded a steamer for Paget and will return in three weeks via clipper.

CAPT. and MRS. GEORGE T. MCKEAN headed Alabama-way following their recent leave divided between his parents, the ROBERT MCKEANS, of Yorkshire road, and her mother, MRS. WILLIAM SELLEW, of Ann Arbor.

Vacationing here from Norfolk, Va., MRS. OWEN COMPTON is being squirmed about by her brother, GEORGE L. HUGHES, and MRS. HUGHES, of Lincoln road.

To honor MRS. FOREST MCKEE, who will soon migrate to Florida, MRS. ROY DEHART, of Harvard road, engineered a party in her home last week. Numbered MRS. PAUL OSIUS, MRS. RAYMOND WALK, MRS. HERBERT BUMPUS, MRS. ARTHUR VOLGER, MARY ROE, RUTH LEHMAN and EVELYN LEHMAN.

After three weeks at Homestead, Va., MR. and MRS. JAMES E. ATKINSON have returned to their home on Buckingham road.

Welcomed back to the Pointe last week was LIEUT. CMDR. PAUL SHIPMAN, of Merriweather road, who spent the last year in the Pacific in the Navy's amphibian division.

MRS. CHARLES CORNELIUS HICKS joined the ranks of travellers recently when she left her St. Clair avenue home to jaunt down to Columbus, O. for a visit with her parents, JUDGE and MRS. JOHN W. BEALL.

Other fall journeymen include the R. NOBLE WETHERBEEES, of Whittier road, who set out for East Tawas to stop with MR. and MRS. B. L. CUMMINS, of East Tawas and Florida.

MR. and MRS. J. C. HURLEY, of Merriweather road, are anticipating a visit from their son-in-law and daughter, LIEUT. and MRS. EDWARD DANFORTH, who will soon realize their civilian status. The Hurleys recently journeyed to New York to greet the young couple. Lieut. Danforth will report to San Francisco for his discharge.

Another serviceman back from the war is LIEUT. CMDR. FREDERIC M. SIBLEY, USNR, who has returned to MRS. SIBLEY in their Whittier road home after four years in the Navy, two of them in the Aleutians.

MRS. WALTER BROOKS is back in her New York home after a fortnight at the Country Club. While here she visited her son-in-law and daughter, MR. and MRS. DANIEL W. GOODENOUGH, in their new home on Kenwood road.

First out-of-town visitor in the new home of MR. AND MRS. GEORGE D. HUNTINGTON, of Rivard boulevard, was her brother, BRAINARD H. TREADWELL, of Watertown, N. Y. The Huntingtons' former residence was on Neff road.

Early fall vacationers include DR. AND MRS. MONT WICKHAM, of Kenwood court, whose October trip to Hot Springs and Charlottesville, Va. and New York ended last week.

Many Wedding Bells To Ring Next Month

Three Prominent Grosse Pointe Daughters Will Speak Marriage Vows at Ceremonies Scheduled for Next Month

November is destined to be a busy time for wedding belles, with three Pointe misses naming bridal dates in the month of the chrysanthemums.

Jane Macauley is completing nuptial plans for her marriage to Capt. Ernest Robert Breech, Jr., USAAF, Saturday, Nov. 10 in the Lake Shore road home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvan Macauley. The captain arrived this week-end from St. Louis, while Jane returned from Boston several days ago.

Jane's mother, Mrs. Howard Farrell, will come from Los Angeles later this month. The bride-elect's sister, Mrs. Marvin Bodeen, will reach the Pointe Nov. 1, and Lieut. Bodeen will proceed her from his station in Newburgh, N. Y. Mrs. Bodeen will be matron of honor and Jane's cousin, Beverly Whiting, bridesmaid.

In a different vein are Shirley Ballantyne Jones' wedding plans, for Shirley will travel away from the Pointe for her ceremony. Nov. 17 is the big day for Shirley, and the setting for her marriage to Lieut. James Arthur Humphreys, Jr., USNR, will be St. Paul's Church in Paget, Bermuda.

With her mother, Mrs. Lloyd P. Jones, the bride-to-be has been staying with her grandmother, Mrs. Elmer D. Speck, of Lake Shore road. When she boards that Bermuda clipper, her sister, Mrs. George L. Sargent, will accompany her, and Mrs. Jones, along with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd P. Jones, Jr., will also be on hand for the wedding.

A third November bride will be Elizabeth Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emery A. Tarpey, of Chicago, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William J. Tarpey, was announced Sunday at an open house in the home of her parents, and the young couple have set a Nov. 21 date.

Elizabeth attended Marygrove College and was graduated from the University of Michigan.

Young BILL CLARK, JR. is pleased to have his mother, MRS. WILLIAM PETZOLD CLARK, back with him again, although he enjoyed that stay with his maternal grandparents, the ALBERT FRASER WALLS, of Devonshire road. Mrs. Clark had farewell to LIEUT. CLARK in San Diego, but is hoping that his ship will dock at Philadelphia soon. Mr. Wall and daughter, Marilyn, along with Nanette Font, were among the fortunates to whip over to Chicago for the Series games there.

With his lieutenant's uniforms packed away in moth balls, CHARLES M. KIDNER is settling down to his studies at Harvard. After a visit with his parents, DR. AND MRS. FREDERICK C. KIDNER, of Provencal road, last week, Charles headed for Cambridge, Mass. He served with the USAAF in England.

Back in her home on Lake Shore road is MRS. ALVAN MACAULEY, who joined her granddaughter, JANE LITTLEPAGE MACAULEY, in New York last week. Jane is the fiancée of CAPT. ERNEST R. BREECH, JR., USAAF.

Junior League Little Shop Plans Exhibition

Workers From League for Handicapped Will Be on Hand to Give Demonstrations Friday and Saturday

The Junior League Little Shop at 18824 Kercheval avenue is sponsoring an exhibition and demonstration by workers of the Detroit League for the Handicapped on Friday and Saturday, October 19 and 20.

Everything being made by these handicapped workers will be on display and there will be demonstrations of monogramming, crocheting and chair caning.

The shop is the outlet for all the products turned out by these workers. It is run by volunteer workers of the Junior League and many extra members will be on hand this weekend to handle the crowd expected to turn out for the exhibition and demonstration.

Mrs. Stuart Smith of Bishop road is general chairman. Mrs. Edward Doyle of Provençal road is president of the Little Shop and Mrs. Frederick Colby of Merriweather road is in charge of exhibits.

Board members include Mrs. Eugene Lewis, Jr., Mrs. William Tost, Mrs. Roy Chapin, Jr., Mrs. William Bonbright, Mrs. Ross Wilkins, Mrs. John J. O'Brien,

Societies Plan Joint Meeting

As the membership is practically identical in the Michigan Chapter, National Society of Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America, and the Society of Colonial Wars, State of Michigan, it was decided to solve transportation difficulties by holding both fall meetings on the same day, Thursday, October 25, at the Central YWCA on Witherell street.

Mrs. Charles Horton Metcalf, state president of the Daughters of Founders and Patriots, will call their meeting to order at 11:30 o'clock that morning.

After a joint luncheon of the two groups, at 12:30 o'clock, Mrs. Harold M. Hastings, president of the Daughters of Colonial Wars, will preside over the afternoon meeting of that group.

Reservations for the luncheon should be made early with Mrs. Edward H. Eichelzer of Hazelwood avenue.

Mrs. W. Lightbody Is Birthday Girl

Mr. and Mrs. W. Harold Lightbody, of Neff Road, were hosts at a merry celebration at the D. A. C. on Monday evening to mark Mrs. Lightbody's birthday anniversary.

The fete, to which 50 guests were invited, was a buffet supper and dancing party. Autumn flowers and lighted tapers decorated the long buffet table which was placed in the ladies dining room of the club.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Sutherland, Mr. and Mrs. Navarre G. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill L. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Clements, Mr. and Mrs. Harlow C. Stahl, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Starling, Mr. and Mrs. Julian G. McIntosh, Mr. and Mrs. Syd R. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. John Maney, Mr. and Mrs. John K. Penny.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar M. Reitz, Mr. and Mrs. William Gillett, Mr. and Mrs. E. Carter Laitner, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Elmer, Mrs. Wallace Kileen, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Mrs. A. H. Buhl Hostess at Lodge

With the pheasant hunting season under way, Mrs. Arthur H. Buhl's lodge at Mikado is a popular spot for shooting enthusiasts.

Among her guests who will head north for the sport will be Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Buhl, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence D. Buhl, Dr. and Mrs. J. Stewart Hudson and Bruce Chalmers.

Other nimrods will be Mr. and Mrs. John T. Woodhouse, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Smith and Mrs. Allan Sheldon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Henry Buhl will return from Hot Springs, Va. this week, where she has been visiting with Mrs. Harold R. Boyer.

Salem Guild's Party Proves Great Success

The Salem Memorial Ladies' Guild wished to thank those who helped make its recent card party such a success. A total of $120 was cleared, which will be used to buy equipment for the kitchen for the new church. Construction is scheduled to begin immediately.

Many have already purchased tickets for the next party, which will be held on November 16. Dr. and Mrs. Norman Mentis attended the party.

Mrs. Boyd to Be Hostess To University Women

The East Side Group of the Detroit Branch of the American Association of University Women will meet for the first time this fall on Tuesday, October 23, at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. T. A. Boyd, 1016 Harvard road, Grosse Pointe Park.

It will be an organization meeting, at which the activities for the year will be planned. Mrs. Edward F. Gehrig, Mrs. R. J. Wilcox, Mrs. W. A. McManus, Mrs. H. G. Ottermer, and Mrs. G. S. Zilly will assist the hostess. Tea will be served.

HOUSEHOLD HINT

Pointe Women Start Tuberculosis Seal Drive

Committee Meets in Home of Mrs. Haynes on Grand Marais to Plan Christmas Seal Campaign for Detroit Wayne Tuberculosis Fund

Grosse Pointe women are playing a large part in the nationwide fight against tuberculosis being sponsored in this area by the Detroit Wayne Tuberculosis Association. Besides heading a number of the committees, the first sub-committee meeting to be held in connection with the 39th annual Christmas Seal Sale, is that of the personal solicitations committee today (Thursday Oct. 18) at the home of Mrs. Richard H. Haynes on Grand Marais boulevard at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Edwin F. Holtzman, chairman of the committee and Mrs. Haynes, co-chairman, announce the following women working on personal solicitations: Mrs. John J. O'Brien, Mrs. Frank Coolidge, Mrs. Donald Melville, Mrs. Frederick C. Ford, Mrs. Millard T. Toncray, Mrs. J. Henry Pichler, Mrs. Jesse G. Vincent, Mrs. Frank J. Bohan, Mrs. John McNeil Burns, Mrs. Bernard G. Koether, Mrs. Charles M. Voelker, Mrs. Archibald McKay, Mrs. George LeSuer, Mrs. Paul Blanchard, and Mrs. Fred Smith.

The list continues with Mrs. Howard E. Bingham, Mrs. Roger V. Walker, Mrs. Stuart A. Fraser, Mrs. G. B. Wreith, Mrs. George W. Renchard, Mrs. Charles W. Bishop, Ann Austin, Mrs. Russell McLaughlin, Mrs. Edward J. Jeffries, Jr., Mrs. J. Rex Queeney, Mrs. Hugo Ulbrich, Mrs. George H. Hammond, Mrs. Edwin F. Holtzman, Jr., Mrs. R. G. Marr, Mrs. C. T. Weil, Kay Worrell, Bobbie Ustick, Mrs. G. Boyd McPherson, Mrs. N. K. Hamada, Mrs. Ira G. Downer, Mrs. J. K. Bell, Mrs. Jack A. Roberts, Mrs. Nicholas Engle, Mrs. Jerome Thomas, Mrs. J. D. Sheets, Mrs. George Ryerson, Mrs. Edward J. Schoenherr, Mrs. Ben Addison, Mrs. Phil Wood, Mrs. C. C. Hascall, Jr., Mrs. Frank Wilton and Mrs. C. G. Tuttle.

Richard L. Lea, executive secretary of Detroit Wayne Tuberculosis Association, will be the speaker. He will outline the sale of the double barred red cross seals. Packages of these seals will be received by many Grosse Pointers through the mail on Nov. 19. The booth sale in stores, banks, the post office and theater lobbies will open Saturday, Dec. 8 and continue through Dec. 15.

The Detroit Wayne Tuberculosis Association is a local organization affiliated with the National and Michigan Tuberculosis associations. The local board of directors under the chairmanship of William J. Scripps, will manage all business affairs and account to the public for all funds received and spent.

Five percent of the gross sale will go to the national association to help finance authorized medical research and preparation of scientific information and materials. Ten percent of the gross will be paid to the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, which works in nearly every county of the state. The board will retain eighty-five percent of the gross for local program development.

The Detroit Wayne Association will work for the dissemination of scientific and accredited information on tuberculosis and other communicable diseases among student and adult groups. It proposes further to promote industrial health measures; to work among racial groups where the incidence of tuberculosis is high and to offer complete rehabilitation service to tuberculosis patients so that they may be restored to useful lives.

The board believes the public should bear in mind that new state laws provide that all costs for the care of tuberculosis shall be paid from public funds. So in their opinion—there is little need for any private charity in the hospital care of persons sick with this disease. The association is pledged to work with all sanatoriums and all groups of Wayne County.

Civilian Bill Lerchen Joins Family at Pointe

It's mister instead of major now for William G. Lerchen, Jr., back in his Rivard boulevard home after four and a half years in service.

Mrs. Lerchen and their children, William, III, and Anne welcomed the major back from the Persian Gulf Command last week.

TownHall Opens In Fisher Bldg.

New names have been added to the brilliant roster of celebrities to appear at Detroit Town Hall which opened its consecutive season at the Fisher Theatre Wednesday morning, Oct. 10.

Starting the series of twenty Wednesday mornings, was a concert given jointly by two of radio's favorite singing stars, Margaret Speaks and Conrad Thibault.

Vincent Sheehan, author of "Not Peace But A Sword", many magazine articles, and stories of the war, will speak during the season on current problems relating to the re-construction. Joseph Israel, Saturday Evening Post scribe, H. R. Knickerbocker, dynamic journalist, Erik Mann, well known writer, Allen Haden, authority on South America, Robert Boothby, said to be the best speaker in the House of Commons, and James M. Hebron, noted criminologist, will also appear.

School Secretaries' Party Will Aid Percy Jones Vets

The Grosse Pointe School Secretaries' Association will give a benefit card party in the John D. Pierce Junior High School at 8 p. m. on October 26. All proceeds will go into a memorial fund to be used at Percy Jones Hospital to honor the servicemen and women from Grosse Pointe who lost their lives.

There will be table and door prizes and refreshments will be served following the games. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Country Club Bowlers Launch Fall Season

Country Club bowlers launched their fall season with a gala evening of cocktails, dinner and bowling Saturday night.

Congregating at the Burdette Fords' home on Sunningdale drive were Mr. and Mrs. J. Lawrence Buell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Dickson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Olney Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Elroy O. Jones.

Others in the gathering, which proceeded to the club for dinner, were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Boydell, Mr. and Mrs. C. Wallace Toles, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stoepel and Mr. and Mrs. Harley G. Higbie.

Calvary Church Women Will Hold Card Party

Calvary Ladies' first card party of the Fall season will be held at the church at 8 p. m. on Friday evening, Oct. 19. Mrs. William Duell, chairman of the arrangements, promises 'bridge, pinocchle, etc., with door prizes, table prizes and tempting refreshments.

The assisting committee includes Mrs. Henry Zahrt, Mrs. Edward E. Groth, Mrs. Stanley Consvavage, Mrs. Howard Ford, Mrs. Louis Moreau, Mrs. Robert Ziegler, Mrs. Leonard Witzke, Mrs. Ottmar Schmidt, Mrs. John Riehl and Mrs. Edward K. Groth. Proceeds will be devoted to further the work of the church.

Neighborhood Club News

For Women

Modern Body Conditioning Classes will be held at the Neighborhood Club on Wednesday afternoon from 2-4 and Tuesday evenings from 8-10 under the direction of Mrs. Therese Pletz—outstanding and nationally known specialist in this field. For a well balanced contouring course register immediately by calling NI. 4600. Fee is $5.00 for a series of 12 classes. Classes start as soon as registrations are filled.

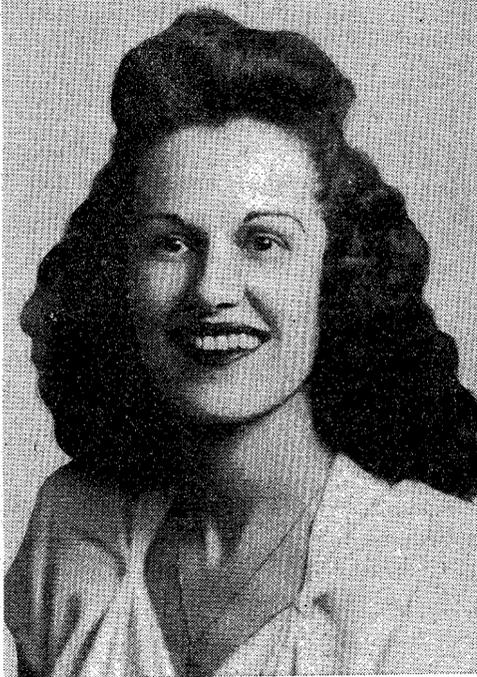

"Check Your Chick"

Last Saturday a new Service was introduced to the Community at the Neighborhood Club for busy Mothers who might enjoy a morning of shopping as domestic duties without the interruptions caused so often by the two to five year old youngster. This service is from 9-12 on Saturday mornings and the children can be left at the Club in charge of a competent teacher. The small fee is by the hour. This service is for your convenience. Your use of it will warrant its function.

Camp Fire

And what a time those Camp Fire Girls had at Camp Wathana last week-end. A wonderful hike and Cook-out. Games, folk dancing, not much sleep, but lots of fun! This group meets at the Club every Friday afternoon at 4 p. m. Wouldn't you like to join the fun?

Betrothal Is Disclosed

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony A. Wittstock, of Yorkshire road, Grosse Pointe Park, announce the engagement of their daughter EDNA RITA to S/Sgt. Elmer A. Hillebrand, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hillebrand Sr. The bride-groom elect is stationed in Palm Beach, Florida with the Army Air Forces.

Girl Scout News

It's seldom a case of "rain-no game" in the life of a Girl Scout or a Brownie, and last Saturday was no exception. In spite of overcast skies, 91 Brownies gathered at Richard playground for their annual Brownie Play Day.

From 11 o'clock until the closing flag ceremony at 2, they were very busy playing games and having fun, and their only complaint was the usual one—the time was all too short! They ate their "nose-bag lunches" around a huge fire, built by some of the older girls, and were very grateful for same, not to mention the hot cocoa provided by a very thoughtful District Committee. While they were all together, they practised some songs for the Community Rally, to be held November 2, at Pierce—but more about that later—and also learned a new Indian song and dance.

Troop 257 laughed at the rain two weeks ago, when they started out for a long anticipated week-end at Metamora, well fortified with baskets of food, extra large blanket-rolls, rubber boots and raincoats. Upon their arrival, they even started out on an exploration hike in the rain! Bet that big fire-place felt good when they returned to the Lodge! On Saturday, things were different. The weather-man relented, the sun shone, and the girls enjoyed a hay-ride, riding for two hours about the countryside, visiting all the points of interest. They came home on Sunday, and the troop leader, Mrs. Harry Findlay, reported that even the grown-ups had a grand week-end.

GrossePointe Woods mothers—take heart!!! It won't be long before some "super-sitters" will be on call in your community. Under the direction of Mrs. Franklin Morgan, a course in Child Care and Home Nursing is being presented to all Girl Scouts who are over 12 years of age. This project is being sponsored by Troop 257, and the classes will be held on Wednesday afternoons, after school, at the Calvary Lutheran Church in the Woods.

The Grosse Pointe Woods Area Committee will be host to the Grosse Pointe Girl Scout Council at a cook-out at the Woods' Camp-Site on Thursday, October 18. So far this year, every adult cook-out has been rained upon, so let's keep our fingers crossed—it just CAN'T happen again!

Swimming classes started October 9 at the High School for all Girl Scouts and Brownies who are 10 years old or more. The instructors are Mrs. Hazel Chateau, and Miss Sadie Doucet. The hours are from 7-9 every Tuesday evening, and there is no charge for the course. Bring your own tank suit, cap, and towels, and get in the swim!

Old Traveler to Speak To New England Women

Mrs. Clifford W. Reynolds, program chairman of Detroit Colony, National Society of New England Women, announces a speaker, "The Old Traveler", at the next meeting of the group, Wednesday, October 24, at Newberry House, on East Jefferson avenue.

Mrs. Willard A. Chipman and Mrs. George J. Grohs will be co-hostesses at the 12:30 o'clock luncheon preceding the meeting. The president, Mrs. Henry D. MacKaye, will conduct the business session, set for 1:30 o'clock. Members who have not already done so are requested to donate a dress-length of cloth, or money to buy same, or a dress, for the small girls' dresses for the Good-fellows, which must be ready by December 1.

Pi Delta Chi Holds Election of Officers

Pi Delta Chi sorority held its annual election of officers and installations recently in the Berkshire road home of Charlotte Stevenson. Pat Cornillie is president; Gwen Gustafson, vice-president; Gerry Beach, secretary, and Ginny Atkin, treasurer. The sorority is planning a football party on November 3. Two new pledges are Barbara Costello and Marie Cornillie.

Neighbor's Children a Problem

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

PARENTS of young children, however well they guide these children, may be faced with trying problems growing out of less favorable guidance of the neighbor's child or children, especially those living next door. Such a problem is described in the following letter:

"Dear Dr. Myers: Our little girl is four years old. In the house (rented) next to us lives an undesirable family—the parents drink too much, quarrel and fight. They have a girl about five and one-half years old has too much of the wrong kind of sex knowledge. We have no association with these people but our children are together a great deal—which causes us much worry.

Child's Influence

"Our child is very good to stay in our own lot but the other child comes over constantly. The mother works away from home and has hired help. The houses are so close together it is hard to keep these children separated. What would you advise us? A self-addressed stamped envelope is enclosed."

Writing this mother, I advised her not to forbid her child to play with the other child out in the open, especially on her own premises, when some adult would be in sight and hearing of these youngsters; that unless she felt sure her child would be properly supervised and protected, she should not allow her child to go to this neighbor's house.

But I cautioned the mother against criticizing the neighbor before her own child. Your child or mine can easily learn that we do not approve certain ways of other people without our saying so.

Many hard problems arise when the neighbor's child is destructive of property and readily fights with sticks and stones; still more so if the neighbor's child is older than yours. Even then, it is wise to try to win and maintain the good will of this child and his parents. It is amazing what some mothers can accomplish by way of "civilizing" some of the roughnecks in the neighborhood.

Doing so may cost enormous time, energy and patience but it is a good investment since it provides relatively desirable playmates for the children whose parents make the sacrifice. See, too, the contribution to the children so "civilized" and to the entire neighborhood.

Otherwise the child you have worked on might have become a juvenile delinquent. Very often delinquency develops from a neighborhood pest who is soon ostracized by all the so-called good parents of the community. Treated so, he takes revenge and so do his parents. As a result, this child becomes a less and less desirable young citizen of the neighborhood.

How much better when one or several mothers will set out to bring out the best in this child and build him into a good playmate and young citizen.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. My son, 13, occasionally stops to play when half-through his paper route. What shall I do?

A. Better have him discontinue the route until you can train him in better responsibility at home before he is allowed to resume a job in which so many other people are inconvenienced by his irresponsibility.

Carmelite Guild to Hold Dessert Bridge Tuesday

Cupid's Closing Hours Aired Before Commission in Park

Council Settles Case By Allowing Him to Stay Open Until 2; All But One Resident Satisfied

More than two hours of the Park Village Council meeting Monday night were consumed in listening to complaints of residents in the neighborhood of the Cupid's Restaurant. For a long time past residents living along Harvard and Grayton near Mack have been waging a not too silent war against Gus Constant's eating place at Harvard and Mack.

While many of the complainants were particular to state that they had no grievance against Mr. Constant, they all agreed that the crowds his place attracts until early morning hours disturbs the peace and quiet of the neighborhood. These patrons are chiefly teen aged children and their boisterous conduct has undoubtedly disturbed the nearby residents.

There was no charge that Constant tolerated disorderly conduct within his place. The trouble apparently begins outside with those arriving at and leaving the place. Horns tooting, racing motors, illegal parking, loud talk, screaming and shouting constitute most of the complaints.

Recently Constant made application for an all-night license and notice of this had been given to the local residents and they were there in force to add their voice to the general protest against and further extension of his business hours. His restaurant license at present permits him to remain open until 2 a. m. No liquor or beer is sold on the premises, and so far as the evidence produced Monday night goes there is no complaint of any beverages being brought in by patrons and consumed in the place.

Constant and his lawyer David K. Hersh, were at the meeting. Mr. Hersh said that it was Mr. Constant's intention if the all night license was granted, to only remain open until 2:30 a. m. on Friday night and until 3 a. m. on Saturday. The other nights he would be closed at 2 a. m. anyway.

Against this the protestants alleged that he was in the habit of keeping open until late morning hours. Constant said he could not very well eject patrons who had come in prior to 2 o'clock.

Among those in the crowd who voiced their protests were Samuel P. Frame of 1450 Grayton. He pleaded the depreciation of real estate values in the neighborhood because of the restaurant, by citing his failure to sell his property last year because of its being too near this restaurant.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Leidich of 1409 Harvard, Mr. and Mrs. Bliss A. Preston of 1415 Grayton, Martee J. Baro of 1427 Harvard, L. L. McConache, of 1409 Harvard, Mr. Busalep of 1420 Bishop and John Molnar of 1432 Harvard all residing near the place, added their voices of protest.

One of the women said she was sick of living constantly within the smell of frying fats and objected generally to spending her life within the immediate environs of a night club.

A point raised by Mr. Preston was that parents objected to be unwitting contributors to juvenile delinquency by permitting the operation of this place next door to their homes.

This remark prompted President Parshall to make an observation which seemed to hit the nail on the head. He said that it was unfair to both the police and the keeper of this restaurant to be saddled with all of the responsibility for all the ills charged against this place. An equal or greater responsibility rested on the parents of the young people who frequented it.

Village Attorney Fred McGraw explained to the protestants that it was beyond the power of the Park municipality to close this place up on any of the charges that had been alleged. Where there are specific instances of breach of the peace or other misdemeanors the police can act whether it is within or outside of the restaurant. Such action had been taken by the police on previous occasions. If the residents of the neighborhood felt that the presence of the restaurant and the method of its conduct constituted a general nuisance they had recourse to the Circuit Courts, where this issue would be properly judged.

It was true that the village could refuse any license whatever and drive this man out of business in the village but he doubted whether any matters alleged, which had to do wholly with personal conduct outside of the place, would justify such action.

He explained moreover that the law of Michigan permitted places where liquor was dispensed to remain open until 2 o'clock in the morning and it would be ill advised for the Village to prescribe more stringent closing regulations on a place which sold food only, than those imposed by the state on a drinking establishment.

After the arguments were all in and full opportunity had been given public discussion, the Board of Commissioners decided the matter in open meeting by rejecting Mr. Constant's request for an all night license. He can continue under his present 2 a. m. license, with the clear understanding that his place must be closed at 2 o'clock with his doors locked. He will be allowed an additional half hour to serve those within the place and get them out by 2:30. After that the place will have to be darkened and definitely shut down for the night.

When this action had been taken, the citizens expressed themselves as quite satisfied with the result, the only protest coming from Mr. Frame, who thought the citizens had been gipped, or words to that effect.

Mr. Frame's remark prompted Commissioner Sage, the maker of the disposing motion, to call promptly for Mr. Frame's return to the room and proceeded to tell him in understandable English that neither he nor anybody else had been gipped and that the matter had been disposed of fairly and within the limit of the powers and authority of the village.

Pleasure with Shortage
DURING the recent gas shortage HARVEY LaDUKE, like everyone else, needed gas. His car joined in a long line of cars leading to one of the local stations. It was a two-hour wait, but Harry enjoyed it. He interested the driver in the car ahead of him in a game of cribbage. Except for frequent interruptions keeping both cars pulled up in line, the game moved smoothly on to a happy ending and two full tanks of gas.

Kingdom for a House
EDDIE MALESZEWSKI, at one time most decorated boy in the Air Corp, will build his dream house one of these days in Radnor Circle. In the meantime he'd like a nook and corner to live in, with his charming wife and tiny daughter. And BERNIE SCHROLL, just out of the Transport Command, needs a cranny for little Bernie and Mrs. Schroll while waiting for their snug dwelling to be completed on Harvard road. We know apartments and houses and such are scarce, but if YOU know of any, we'd like to oblige two young families with sleeping space until they can live happily ever after in their own homes.

On the Ball
When HANK GREENBERG boarded the plane for Chicago—the day the Cubs took the third game of the series—news photographers were clamoring for pictures. Hank, downhearted over the Tiger defeat, declined to pose. On the same plane were the group of blind servicemen who were "seeing" the series. They rallied around Hank with the easy fraternity common among army men and soon wanted pictures taken with their "Captain". Hank assented with quick understanding and photographers got all the pictures they wanted.

"Officer's" Call Mystifies Family

Much consternation was caused at a home in the 900 block on Beconsfield in the early hours of Thursday morning by a call from a man who said he was an officer. He professed to be looking for a certain man whom he would have to contact to get information prior to "making an arrest".

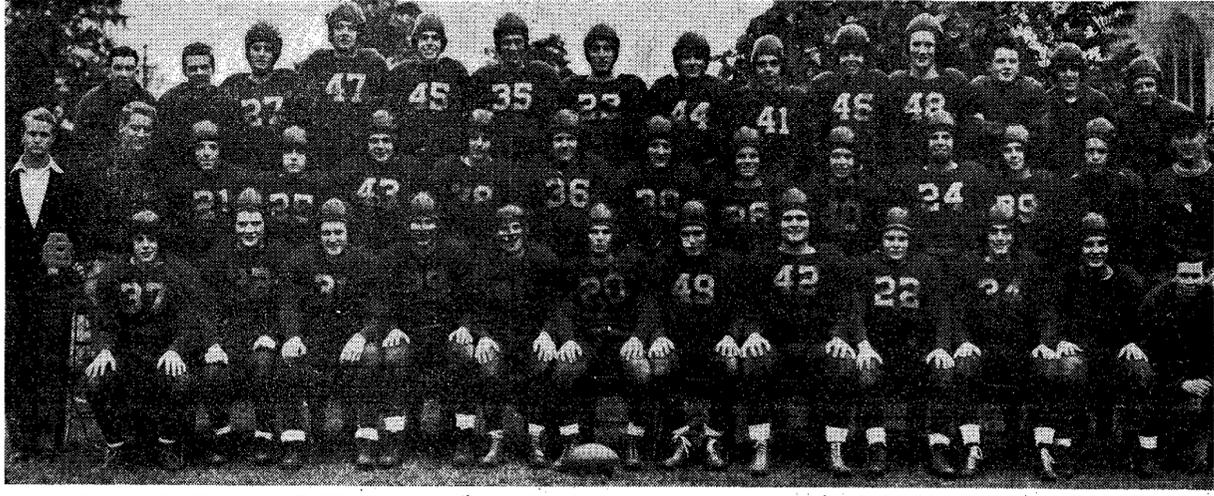

The family knew nothing about the party named nor his pursuer. They reported the incident to the Park police who did not get word in time to contact the "officer" and do a little investigating on their own. Some mystery surrounds the incident.

The best theory the police can advance is that the party was an agent of some finance concern seeking to repossess an automobile on which the payments were in arrears. They say it is no unusual circumstance for these agents to make their visitations at unusual and unpredictable hours.

When they are making ready for such a call they are supposed to inform the local police of their intentions, but do not always do so.

We have prefabricated houses. How about premeditated houses?

Grosse Pointe High School's 1945 Football Team

TWO VICTORIES AND ONE TIE in three games played to date is the surprising showing made by this year's Grosse Pointe Varsity football squad shown above. Reading left to right they are:—

Grosse Pointe High Beats Monroe, 14-6

Unfair Penalties Imposed By Partial Referee Keep Blue Devils From Administering Worse Licking

By FRED RUNNELLS
As H. B. Kaltenborn would say, "It's good news today—it's good news today, folks." The Grosse Pointe Blue Devils kept their football slate clean by whipping Monroe, which was supposed to be one of the two toughest foes the Devils will meet this season, to the tune of 14 to 6 last Saturday afternoon.

Monroe caught the Pointers off guard on their second play when Brooks, a colored half-back, broke through his own left tackle and eluded the secondary to romp 32 yards for Monroe's only score.

In other years with such a quick touchdown, the Blue Devils would have been a beaten team, but not the current crop of football stalwarts. It only made the boys plenty mad and they battled Monroe to a standstill throughout the game. Not once did Monroe threaten the Devils' goal line, even though the officials gave them every possible break in the books.

The Blue Devils started their touchdown drive on their own 28-yard line, beginning the second quarter, with Garman, Champine and Beer putting together runs to place the ball on the Monroe 19. It was Beer who plunged through Monroe's right guard to go over the goal line standing up. A fake place kick for the extra point was successful when Ed Isbey passed to Don Winslow in the end zone while the Monroe players stood around like so many wooden Indians because "a horn was blown on the play. Monroe was off side on this play and Captain Don McPhail elected to take the gain, naturally. The Blue Devils were out in front at the half time 7 to 6.

The Devils were fighting mad as the first half ended because of the raw deal they had gotten from the officials during the first period and they showed it in no uncertain terms by bowling over the Monroe defense to open the third period to rack up their second touchdown of the game and what proved to be the clincher. Monroe kicked off to Grosse Pointe and the ball was put in play on the Devils' 16-yard line. Harry Garman reeled off 16 yards to his own 32 and Marty Beer added 10 yards for the Devils' second straight first down. Ed Isbey, not to be outdone, plunked for another first down on the Monroe 34. Beer and Garman countered with 8 and 7-yard plunges to the Monroe 19 for the fourth successive first down. Isbey duplicated Marty Beer's touchdown jaunt of the previous quarter by plunging through the same spot to reach pay dirt, also standing up. The extra point was a duplicate of the first one with Monroe off side and Isbey passing to Winslow, who fell flat on his face as he caught the ball in the end zone.

The score doesn't show how badly Grosse Pointe outplayed its rival, because the officials seemed extremely partial to the down river team. Penalties against both teams bear this out as Monroe was only penalized twice, at five yards each, while the Blue Devils were set back no less than 14 times with only three of these penalties being of the five-yard variety. The longest penalty against the Pointers was a combination of a roughing the kicker (five yards) and a clipping penalty of 15 yards.

Democracy must again become a moral force in the world before it can become a political success.

"KISS OF DEATH"

I often wondered if she didn't count her blessings before going to sleep, only to wake up and demand a recount.

Fay and Miranda Ames were not only different . . . but apparently indifferent to one another.

Odd, the things that pop into one's head at an emotional shock. The one thing that hit me . . . the only words that kept up an offbeat drumming in all the harrowing days to come were Oscar Wilde's morbidly lyrical lines:

"Yet each man kills the things he loves
By each let this be heard
The coward does it with a kiss
The brave man with a sword."

Te-dum, te-dum, te-dum, te-dum . . . it kept strumming . . . like some idiot at the drums . . .

So Death has kissed even Miranda.

Death, with his frozen passion of fire has taken what should have been mine. What a finale for these four years of hoping.

What a gory little story. "And time that is life's fool." And see here, Mr. Aldous Huxley, will you please keep out of my gory little story. I know, I know . . . YOU wouldn't be caught with a corpse for a bride . . . you and your scientific grandfather . . .

Why, just last night while we were dancing, Miranda had given me her answer in the two blue flames that were her eyes. Once more parting . . . and back to Paradise. Once more commencing between heaven and hell . . . and . . . oh, well . . .

Roger Brooks had cut in our dance. Roger was Army. I've got nothing against the Army. Nothing except the Navy. Now, technically, Miranda was engaged to Roger, who had offered her the hackneyed honor of becoming his wife. Roger had his good points, in the manner of a pedigreed hound who's been bred to brawn rather than brain.

But to me, Roger was simply the prize in life's grab bag of dirty tricks.

Cornelius Dunn was still ticking away on the phone.

"Miranda is dead, Larry. I don't think it was an accident. I don't like the looks of it."

"You mean you think it was—Murder?"

"Naturally not . . . but . . ."

Dunn choked decorously.

Naturally not. Not Murder in the Social Register. Not Murder in the Junior League. Not Murder in Consolidated Motors. Not Murder in dear old Snobby Lobby . . .

Murder was all right on the squalid sidewalks of New York or the improbable haunts of the Orient. But murder at Grosse Pointe? It was worse than criminal; it was bad manners.

"What makes you think it wasn't an accident, Neil?"

"Well, you know that Murder isn't the answer in the back of our book. But this gory caddy, named Birdie Maclean, found her body on the pier of the Grosse Pointe Golf Club, woke up the club manager and turned in the alarm. Fay said she must have struck her head on a rock, diving off the pier. But there AREN'T any rocks there, according to Emery, the manager of the club. And if she'd struck her head on an anchor with enough force to knock her unconscious, how could she have climbed back up on the pier?"

I stuck a cigarette between my dry lips. Dunn was still ticking on the phone.

Murder. Try that on your public relations list, Mr. Cornelius Dunn. Because this was one public relations program in which the public wasn't going to be the poor relation. This murder was going to stimulate people more than if the organist in Christ Church Chapel had swung blithely into "Frankie and Johnny were Lovers". This was going to be a regular homicide-show. Up to now, murder had been, for Grosse Pointers, something they wouldn't pay over three-cents-a-day for at the circulating library. They wouldn't even let crime pay the writers by buying the books, for fear if they propped them on the shelves by Jane Austin, she might have a nervous breakdown.

I sat rigidly on the bed, pulling up my mental props. Ironically, recalled that I'd once dabbled with the idea of writing a mystery myself. As the idea faded, I began to think of the title as "Just Around the Corner."

In the receiver, clamped to my ear, Dunn was issuing orders. Dunn didn't know how I felt about Miranda Ames. No one knew . . . I hoped. So, try not to be yourself, kid.

Cornelius Dunn was saying: "We can't get around the facts. We can only show them in their best light. The point is, Larry, that we can't have any sordid publicity. You know all our postwar plans for Ames Motors . . . all that business of plugging the line . . . Ames High . . . all that could boomerang in our faces, if there's any skeleton rattling. That's why I'm calling you. That's YOUR job, Larry."

MY job. Being the press and super-agent for Miranda's murder. A gor-geous job, if I on, "was clutched in Miranda's hand when we found her body."

"Anyone might have a match book from The Plaza."

"Preferably," he corrected, "someone who's been at The Plaza recently. Miranda Ames hasn't been in New York in over a month."

"You mean they handed her the match book . . ."

"They?" we asked.

"They is neuter in police parlance," he explained. "They probably handed her the match book to light her own cigarette, since the breeze was high. There are twenty matches in the standard book. One for each cigarette in a package. Now, there are only two matches left. Which might indicate they had quite a long TETE-TETE before that fatal . . ."

"Kiss of death," it slipped out of me.

Carroll shot a searching glance at me. "Lay off the who-dun-its, kid . . ."

"Who Dunn it! What a thought!"

"Who-dun-its are no help in police routine. It's ninety percent business, and ten percent murders. none-of-your-business — these murders."

"Sorry, Carroll." I stood corrected.

He took up the small prongs again, and placed on the desk a rectangle of costly ivory card-board.

"This," he said, "is the wine list from the Piping Rock Club at Saratoga. Have a look at whose signature is scrawled on it."

We looked. Across the top of the card-board was scrawled the tall, flowing signature of Jock Pendleton. Pendleton and his Play Boys were the swing kings of music out at the Grosse Pointe Golf Club.

"My God, it's Jock Pendleton's autograph!"

"We found this about five feet from Miranda Ames' body." He breathed over an upland cigarette. "Somebody, these public idols are coming to learn that autographing every piece of paper that's shoved at them will give them more than writer's cramp."

"They have to play up to their public, or they won't have any public to play to," I put in.

"All musicians are crazy," observed Carroll. "The better, the balmier."

"You know Jock Pendleton, Carroll?"

"No. But I know musicians."

"Jock's strictly on the exalted side. This publicity . . . if there is any . . . won't hurt him any good. I suppose he'll just charge it off to the wages of syncope. He's no murderer, Carroll."

"Even if I could prove he was, I STILL wouldn't like him."

With the prongs, Carroll lifted the Piping Rock wine card, and replaced it in the box.

"What's in that test tube?" I asked, pointing to a small corked vial in the box.

"Powder. Probably face powder. It's the powder found spilled on the pier near the body. Some of it is being analyzed now."

Carroll turned the key in the box. Very neat array of exhibits he had there. Maybe they meant something. He could just hand them over to the old clues man right now, if he felt what I felt.

Carroll's phone buzzed.

"Carroll speaking. Yes. Oh, yes, Birdie. I see. No don't spill it over the phone. Don't come down here. I'll come out to the Grosse Pointe Golf Club to see you, Birdie. Meet me in the caddy house. Yes. About thirty minutes."

Carroll turned to me. "Birdie Maclean. The caddy who found the body. Smart kid. Just thought of something he forgot to tell me. Scotch. Won't talk much. When he does, you'd think he was paying a cent a word and two cents for each extra syllable."

Carroll stood up.

"You know this Roger Brooks, who was engaged to Miranda Ames?"

"Yes, I know him—slightly."

"What sort of person is he? Marrying her for her money?" asked Carroll.

"Well, money isn't everything. Only ninety-nine percent."

"One of the boys down here said he was in stocks and blondes," said Carroll. "I just wondered."

I followed Carroll out of his office. I knew he was set to solve this harrowing homicide with streamlined sincerity. That ought to be enough for me. It wasn't.

I wasn't going to make any lousy Pagliacci of myself. But there was a throbbing in my veins I couldn't or wouldn't answer for. An ear splitting throb at my temples, that old familiar thump of a ship's engine under fire. That tall-tale crescendo of hell that comes just before the explosion.

"Each man kills the thing he loves" . . . if that idiot's drum would only stop thumping. What could I do about this murder, anyway? Except try to keep it quiet. Yeah. Quiet as the sinking at sea . . . after the explosion. Oh, yeah?

"Why did yourself, Randall? Why make phooes? You know what that phooing means. You've had it before. You had it last night, with Miranda in your dancing arms. Even if you don't dare give it a name, you know what it is."

You know someone killed Miranda. You know you're going to find whoever killed her. And you know when you do find him, you're going to kill him yourself.

Guided Altar Guild Party

MRS. JOHN L. SCHMITT, left, chairman of the highly successful event staged last Saturday in the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. MRS. HAROLD FREAR, right, was co-chairman. Mrs. Frear is also acting president of the St. Paul's Altar Guild Society which benefited from the party.

Altar Society Party Success

More than 500 women attended the Fall Fashion and Bridge Tea sponsored by the St. Paul Altar Society and the parish unit of the National Council of Catholic Women. The event was held in the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club on Saturday afternoon.

The fashion show was staged by Jacobson's. It featured lovely models showing every type of fall clothes for wear from dawn through evening.

Mrs. John L. Schmitt of Washington road, general chairman, was assisted by Mrs. Harold Frear. Merchants and residents donated the many prizes which were awarded.

New Desserts Two Delicious

By BETSY NEWMAN

Today I'm giving you two recipes for desserts that use very little sugar. Both are delicious and easily made. Also a new version of the familiar "Porcupine Balls" usually made with rice and meat.

TODAY'S MENU

- Porcupine Balls
- Baked Sweet Potatoes
- Corn Pudding
- Raw Vegetable Salad
- Palm Beach Pie or Brazil Nut Custard
- Tea or Coffee

Porcupine Balls

- 1/2 lb. ground beef
- 1/2 lb. ground pork
- 1 egg
- 2 c. rice
- 1 cup crispies
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- Thoroughly blend meat, egg, 2 c. rice crispies, onion, salt and pepper; shape into 12 balls. Sauté balls in fat until well browned. Pour on tomatoes, sprinkle with 2 tsp. rice crispies, and bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 45 mins. Serves 6.

Palm Beach Pie

- 1 No. 2 can grapefruit sections
 - 1 tsp. plain, unflavored gelatin
 - 4 egg yolks
 - 1/4 c. corn syrup
 - 2 tsp. sugar
 - 1/4 tsp. salt
 - 4 egg whites
 - 1 9-in. baked pie shell
 - 1/2 c. heavy cream
 - whipped
- Drain grapefruit. Soften gelatin in 1/4 c. of the grapefruit juice. Beat egg yolks; add 1/2 c. of the corn syrup and beat until light. Add salt, sugar and drained grapefruit juice; cook in top part of double boiler over hot water until mixture coats spoon. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Beat egg whites stiff, add remaining 1/2 c. of corn syrup gradually, continue beating until stiff and glossy. Fold into custard; dice grapefruit sections and add. Pour into baked pastry shell; chill. Garnish with sweetened whipped cream. Makes 1 9-in. pie.

Brazil Nut Custard

- 3 eggs
 - 1/4 c. honey
 - 1/2 tsp. salt
 - 2 1/2 c. scalded milk
 - 1 c. cooked rice
 - 1 tsp. vanilla
 - 1/2 c. thinly sliced Brazil nuts
- Beat eggs slightly; add honey and salt; stir in scalded milk. Add rice and vanilla. Stir in Brazil nuts. Pour into buttered baking dish and place in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 45 mins. until set. Serves 6.

BAZAR AND SUPPER

The Ladies' Aid of Bethany Lutheran Church will have its annual bazaar and supper on Tuesday, October 23. Supper will be served between 5 and 7. The sale opens at 1 o'clock.

ARSON

An attempt to burn down the hedge at the home of Hazel Lane at 305 McKinley road was reported to Farms police on October 11. Papers had been piled under the hedge and set afire. There was quite a blaze, according to reports.

Save Used Fats!

How to Use Your Green Tomatoes

Frost in many parts of the state has made it necessary for gardeners to gather their green tomatoes. Now they're wondering what to do with these vitamin-packed garden leftovers.

Mrs. Vivian MacFawn, extension nutrition specialist of Michigan State College, offers a solution in the form of green tomato recipes that require very little or no white sugar. Here they are:

Half-inch slices of green or partially ripened tomato may be salted, dipped in fine bread crumbs and pan fried in bacon fat, oven fried or even broiled. Strips of bacon add to the flavor. A good combination is a slice of pared, salted eggplant, dipped in cornmeal, browned on both sides and topped with a slice of tomato which has been rolled in flour and cereal flakes and fried brown.

Dill green tomato pickles may be made without sugar. Pack small, firm fruit into jars and add to each quart, if desired, a bud of garlic, stalk of celery and a cut-up green pepper. Boil 2 quarts of water, 1 quart vinegar and 1 cup of salt with dill for 5 minutes. The jars may be sealed as soon as the hot brine has been poured over the tomatoes.

Green tomato mince meat may be made without suet and with little sugar (substitute syrup or honey for 1/2 to 1/3 the sugar). Sprinkle 1 gallon chopped green tomatoes with one tablespoon salt. Let stand 1 hour; drain. Cover tomatoes with boiling water; let stand 5 minutes; drain. Add grated rind and pulp of 1 orange. Mix with 1 cup suet, 3 cups brown sugar, 2 cups seeded raisins, 1 cup grape juice or cider, 2 cups chopped apple or pear, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, and 1/2 teaspoon ginger. Cook until thick. Process 1 hour in hot water bath.

Green tomatoes also can be slow ripened and will furnish the Thanksgiving table with fresh, red fruit. To ripen green tomatoes, place them in paper bags; but don't wrap each fruit separately. Then place the bags of tomatoes in a room or in the basement where the temperature will not drop below 55 degrees F. For slow ripening keep the temperature close to the 55 mark. No sunlight is necessary.

City Collects Last Assessment

On October 12 the City of Grosse Pointe collected the last outstanding assessment it had against any property in the city for local improvements. This means that there is not a single lien remaining against any property in the city for such items as paving, curbing, sidewalks, sewers, street widening, etc.

This is the first time this comfortable situation has obtained in the city for the last twenty five or thirty years, says Neil Blondell, the City Assessor, who has had official knowledge of the matter for more than twenty years.

Farms Awards Sewer Contract

Bids for relief and replacement sewers in Grosse Pointe Farms were opened at the regular trustees' meeting Monday night. The work to be done includes a relief sewer to serve Ridge road, a replacement sewer for Ridgmont road, and a relief outlet for Kerby road.

Four bids were received, ranging from $18,867 down to $10,688. They were tabulated by Murray Smith, village engineer, and the trustees unanimously voted to award the contract to the low bidder, Coulter Brothers.

Fireman Lauded By Commissioner

Park Village Commissioner Elmer F. Ulrich, Fire Commissioner for the Park village, is taking a deep interest in the fire service of the village and believes in giving credit for any particular meritorious service by the firemen.

An evidence of this is seen in a letter which he addressed to President Parshall which was read at the meeting of the Commissioners Monday night. Mr. Ulrich's letter said:

October 15, 1945
Dear Mr. Parshall:
Captain George de Caussein of the Grosse Pointe Park Fire Department, while off duty on the night of September 10, 1945, assisted the firemen in fighting a serious fire at the Grosse Pointe Christian Day School. Captain de Caussein was slightly asphyxiated, due to coal gas fumes.

Therefore, I wish to commend in particular, the interest displayed by Captain de Caussein on the above occasion.

Yours very truly,
Elmer F. Ulrich,
Fire Commissioner.

Mr. Ulrich also made a report on the participation by the Park in the Nationwide fire prevention week campaign.

The Park had placed banners about in conspicuous places publicizing the work, had displayed modern fire-fighting equipment on Jefferson avenue in front of the Municipal Building with firemen in attendance to explain their operation and had carried on a lively agitation for the cleaning up of private properties of fire breeding waste materials.

The Boy Scouts had also been employed to make a wide distribution of literature bringing attention to the work.

When Mr. Ulrich concluded President Parshall and Commissioners Homer Fritsch and Karl Goddard complimented Mr. Ulrich on his zeal in attending to the fire protection of the village. Mr. Goddard remarked, "Commissioner Ulrich probably does not run personally to all of the fires, but he certainly does to most of them!"

7B's at Pierce Plan Open House

The Pierce 7B Open House will be combined with the first meeting of the P. T. A. on October 19, 8 p. m., in the Pierce School auditorium.

This is a special occasion for 7B's who will be the hosts and hostesses of their parents and escort them around the school building. All Pierce parents are invited to attend.

Dog Has Ideas On Keeping Dry

During the height of the rain storm on Thursday night a small black dog with ideas of his own keeping dry, went to the front porch of the Monroe home at 500 Lakeland and demanded admittance with all the voice he could muster.

When the servants opened the door to shoo him away he tried to dart into the house. This violation didn't conform to the ideas of the family and they called the police. The police quickly identified him by his license and notified his owner who lived a few doors away. The master of the hounds promptly came and took his pet to dry quarters.

Woods Thespians To Present Play

The Thespian Guild of Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church plans to open its fall dramatic season with a three-act play, written by Robert St. Clair, entitled "Rich For A Day." This will be given at the Mason School on Vernier road, Grosse Pointe Woods, on November 1 and 2 at 8:15 p. m.

The plot is light in nature and involves many humorous situations. The central figure in the play, a rich crochety old lady, decides to make a number of her relatives "Rich For A Day." This is further complicated by the fact that the money must be spent by a specified time.

The play is directed by Mrs. Neil Van Ostenburg and supported by the following members of the cast: Mrs. Max Luce, Mrs. Peter Duerksen, Mrs. James Alexis, Mrs. Roy Lang, Mrs. L. E. Arnold, Mrs. Earl Peters, Miss Ruth Rauth, Miss Lois Kosanski, Mrs. Paul Weamer, Mrs. Gordon N. Cameron, Neil Van Ostenburg and Alex Kennedy. Assisting as prompters are Mrs. Keith Hoover and Mrs. Byron Runde.

Assisting the chairman, Mrs. Alex Kennedy, on the various committees are the following: Stage directions, Mrs. Albert Labon; ticket sales, Mrs. Marshall Jafeson; advertising and programs, Mrs. Franklin Dougherty; ushers, Mrs. Paul Weamer; make-up, Mrs. Herbert Savage; properties and costumes, Mrs. William Friewald.

The curtain rises promptly at 8:15 p. m. and tickets may be obtained at the door.

Aboard the USS Pensacola at Ominato—PAUL J. LYFORD, seaman, second class, USNR, Mapleton road, Grosse Pointe, Mich., witnessed the astonishment of Jap harbor pilots when they saw this cruiser at the surrender ceremonies off Ominato, Japan.

The Japs at various times in the last three years had reported sinking the "Gray Ghost" five times. The first time was at the battle of Santa Cruz, in October, 1942. Then off Guadalcanal, at Tarao, at Saipan, and at Okinawa the Gray Ghost was either hit, or near hit, prompting the Jap sinking reports.

As Jap surrender emissaries ventured toward the flagship of Vice Admiral Jack Fletcher in the harbor, their whale boat passed close beneath the Pensacola. It was here that crew members of the "Gray Ghost" saw the amazement of the Japs that the Pensacola was still afloat.

COMMANDER JOHN B. HARTZELL of Ridge road is chief medical officer on the USS Edgcombe, attack transport which landed in Amori, Honshu, Japan at dawn on September 25, the initial landing in that area. A note just received from him expresses the hope that he will be home for Christmas.

Since this letter was written, later news has been received by Mrs. Hartzell that his boat is on the way back to the States and due to dock on the west coast next week. With the recent change in the points required by doctors for discharge, it appears highly probably that Commander Hartzell may be released as soon as he gets back to this country.

He has been in the Navy since July 1943, having served at Okinawa Naval Hospital in Oakland, Cal., at Long Beach, Cal., and at Great Lakes Naval Training Base Hospital in Illinois before being assigned to sea duty a year ago.

Prior to entering the service, he was employed by the Chrysler Company in Detroit, Mich. While in the Army he was a Navigator serving with the 8th Air Force in the European Theater of Operations. He participated in 30 combat missions.

Lieutenant Jelneck is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William I. Jelneck.

This facility at San Antonio is another example of the Air Force's policy of "looking after its own", and is speeding the flow of airmen back to civilian status.

Eighth Army Headquarters, Yokohama, Japan—HAROLD H. EMMONS, JR., 361 Rivard Boulevard, Grosse Pointe, Mich., has been promoted from captain to major in Yokohama, where he is serving in the Judge Advocate General's section of Eighth Army Headquarters. Maj. Emmons arrived in Yokohama a few days after the signing of the surrender.

Major Emmons, a graduate of the University of Michigan in 1933, and of the Michigan Law School in 1935, received his commission in March, 1944. He has been overseas since August, 1944, having served in New Guinea and Leyte, P. I., before coming to Japan with the occupation forces.

After receiving his degree he engaged in general legal practice in trial, corporate and real estate law. He served as Republican delegate to state and county conventions for five years. He was secretary of the Society of General Wars of Michigan, secretary of the University of Michigan Club of Detroit, and a member of the Fine Arts Society of Detroit and of Psi Upsilon fraternity.

His wife, Mrs. Barbara F. Emmons, and their two sons, Harold H. III and Charles F., live at the Rivard Blvd. address.

MAJOR AND MRS. WALDO M. ALLEN and their children Waldo, Jr., and Mary, who, since early 1944, have been residents of Grosse Pointe Farms, have returned to their home in Lake Forest, Illinois. Major Allen has been assigned to the Contract Section of the Headquarters of the Central District of the Air Technical Service Command in Chicago. While in Detroit he had been assigned as AAF Contracting Officer of the Chrysler Corporation.

Ban on Aerial Photos Is Lifted

Military control has been removed from all existing aerial photographs of areas in the Sixth Service Command, it was announced today by Major General David McCoach Jr., Commanding General.

"The use of existing aerial photographs had to be restricted as a security measure during the war and the public has been more than cooperative in seeing that this vital medium was not used to give aid to the enemy," General McCoach said. "The release of all existing aerial photographs will aid industry, community planners, news media, and others in carrying on their civilian functions through use of this medium."

The making of new aerial photos will be controlled only if the proposed picture is of a vital military installation. General McCoach said. As only a few remaining installations are still considered "vital" and will need approval of the service command, he pointed out that interference with the taking of new aerial photographs will be greatly minimized.

Youth Meetings Are Scheduled

Twenty-one denominations representing youth of Greater Detroit will cooperate in a series of Youth Evangelism Meetings to be held at the Metropolitan Church, Detroit, the week of November 11-18. Wilbur M. Brucker, former Governor of Michigan has been named general chairman.

The Detroit meetings will launch a nation-wide movement and rallies to be held in 21 principal cities under the banner "Youth Marches for Christ and the Church". Prominent speakers will appear each day representing all phases and walks of life, including military heroes, sports figures, business and professional men and women.

Two Pointe G. I.'s Meet In Allied Club in Paris

A reunion of two Pointe G.I.'s which took place in the Allied Club in Paris is described in a letter received from one of them, Pvt. Raymond Davey, of Grosse Pointe Woods by his mother, Mrs. Stephen Wedyka.

Raymond spotted Tech. Sergt. Floyd Champagne of the Farms, standing in a corner of the club and went up to him and said: "Did you ever go to Kerby school?" The pair played ball there together in 1927, but had not seen each other for five years.

Veteranews from the Office of Veterans' Affairs Lansing

Veterans who plan to enter the state service will find that the veterans' program of the Michigan Civil Service Commission is one of the most generous of all such programs in the country. Under this plan, it is pointed out, any veteran, or the widow of a veteran, who takes an examination for a position with the state will have a credit of 10 points added to the rating he earns in the test.

Rotarians Hear Talk on Seaway

R. S. Reade, Manager of the Industrial Fan Division of the American Blower Corporation, was the guest speaker at the Rotary Club meeting last Monday.

Mr. Reade's theme was the St. Lawrence Seaway, and he presented a mass of facts and figures which were convincing of its importance to the Detroit area's products destined for foreign markets. The waterway will shorten Detroit's distance to Liverpool, the great port on England's northwest, by more than 500 miles.

Naturally New York and the great American Atlantic ports are looking askance at the project. To this Mr. Reade's only comment was that in the long viewed development of American foreign trade these ports would also develop greatly. Canada is already committed to the project to the extent of half the cost. The total cost will approximate $575,000,000.

Shop Lights

PROPRIETORS, managers and clerks of all Grosse Pointe retail stores will participate in the Victory Loan drive from October 29 to December 8. Every employee will have a quota of $300 to sell in E, F and G bonds.

THE HANDICART is back again! This marvelous wheelbarrow with its own balancing point appeared shortly before the war. Tony Stein of Stein's Hardware said they sold like hotcakes. They are beautifully painted and have rubber tires. Now both Stein's and Grosse Pointe Hardware have them.

HAVE YOU RUN across the clerk in the Kercheval avenue establishment with the giant press card? We don't know who issued it or what it's good for, but it certainly has size. Maybe it's just meant to impress.

POINTE VISITORS from all parts of the country speak about the windows of Jacobson's, Peppert and Blockert's and Kopps. They're really impressive.

Kents new Appliance Department which is now in construction will be completed soon and will be well stocked with many familiar names of nationally advertised Radios, Ranges, Refrigerators, Cleaners, Washing Machines, Freezers, Sewing Machines, as well as all of the many smaller electrical devices.

PROBLEM SOLVED
Farms firemen were called to the Richard Hart home at 383 McMillan on October 14, but found that an ironing board which had caught fire had been tossed through the window and the problem was nicely solved.

GOOD INVESTMENTS
The Farms Village Council Monday night approved the purchase of $5,000 maturity value U. S. Defense Series F bonds for the Pension Fund. The Retirement system is also purchasing $18,000 of the same bonds.

TWO ARE RETIRED
George Laforest and John Socia have been retired under the Farms retirement plan, upon their own requests. Laforest has worked for the village 20 years and 8 months, while Socia has been employed there 16 years and 7 months.

400,000 CLAIMS
Approximately 400,000 Michigan workers have filed claims for unemployment benefits with the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission since January 1, 1945.

MASON SCHOOL

The children in Miss Pauline Sagala's 2A grade at Mason are busy preparing a circus, a performance of which is to be given on Thursday, October 18 for the children of the Kindergarten and first and second grades. The parade will start at 1 o'clock. Among the many acts will be forward and backward somersaults and barrel rolls by the clowns, tricks by the lion and Dumbo, dances by the monkey and the organ man, and walking the tightrope by the dancing lady. Popcorn will be sold after the performance. So, "Come to the circus, come see the animals, come see the clown, come see the best show that ever came to town."

The children of several rooms have joined the Junior Audubon Club. This is a national organization which promotes the understanding of nature through the use of pictures, records and printed materials. It teaches the identification of animals and birds, and also their relationship to their environment. The teaching of children to appreciate the value and beauty of natural resources of our country is a very important part of the science program.

Mason School teachers enjoyed hot dogs and trimmings last Thursday evening at a staff picnic. They were fortunate to have the use of the Girl Scout Day Camp grounds which afforded a fireplace and atmosphere for a most congenial party.

TROMBLY SCHOOL
 On visiting the early elementary groups at Trombly School one finds the children busily engaged with their group interests. Hard at work at the Kindergarteners trying to recognize and write their own names in manuscript writing. Betsy Davidson gave them the "Seven Little Dwarfs" which have helped them with their number games. For the aquarium Patsy Price brought gold fish and Gordon Aydelott brought a tadpole.

The 2B-2A group has been studying about boats. Ronald Helin, a new member of the group, invited the children to his home on Windmill Pointe drive to watch the many boats on the lake. In connection with this activity, scrapbooks are being made which include original stories, poems, and drawings. Through their activity the children are learning the importance of the boats to their own every day living.

The theme of an activity of the 1Bs is called "About Ourselves." About each other they are learning: addresses; telephone numbers; birthdays; descriptions of individuals including weight and height; how to keep themselves looking nice; and how to stand tall. In connection with the activity they are drawing pictures of themselves, playing games to learn to stand and sit "tall", and making cut-outs of their houses.

A visit to the 2B room would reveal clay modeling of trains, both freight and passenger, with their busy crews, tunnels, signals, round houses, ticket offices, etc. This work is the result of an awakening to new information gleaned from trips, educational movies, stories, pictures, and toys. They are making a book with pictures which have been brought from home. One of their stories says: "Who! Who! Down the track goes the steam engine. Who! Who! Around the curves, over the bridges, through the tunnel past the village, the steam engine is going to Detroit."

MASON SCHOOL
 "Who's Who at Mason" was issued this year at Mason School to aid members of the staff in becoming better acquainted with one another. The pages of this booklet relate facts concerning location of home, training and experience of the individual members of the teaching, clerical, and custodial staff. Twenty-one are from Michigan and have had most of their training and experience in this state; two are from Iowa; three are from Wisconsin; two from Illinois; one is from Indiana; while one is from the Island of Malta. The following names are included in "Who's Who at Mason": Virginia Apple, Roberta Brody, Beverly Brownell, Henry Brys, Violet Cleverdon, Veronica Colgan, Betty Ann Ervin, Ida Evanson, Beverly Gee, Clare Gustafson, Mari Hardies, Clara Hall, Reva Harwood, Virginia Johnston, Marian Lancaster, Jeanette Lawrence, Alphonse LeDuke, Wilbur McCallister, Hazel Messner, Irene O'Reilly, Pauline Pangborn, Sidney Power, Gretta Pulley, Estelle Quigley, Pauline Sagala, Helen Seymour, Catherine Stoltz, Dorothy Sweet, Ethel Tucker, Frances Wolverton.

Miss Ethel Tucker, principal, entertained the teachers of Mason School on October 2 at a delightful tea. Our pewter washed copper tea service graced the table and luscious snacks called for immediate exchange of recipes. The honor of pouring fell to Mrs. Hazel Messner. This was the first in a series of Tuesday teas which will be given for the purpose of becoming better acquainted.

The former members of the Mason School Staff recently entertained the new members at a tea given in the library of the Mason School. Over delicate home-cooked dainties and a brisk cup of tea the group enjoyed the pleasant exchange of new friendships and hearty good fun. The beautiful tea cups of various patterns used for the occasion were part of a private collection loaned by Miss Pauline Sagala.

RICHARD SCHOOL
 The Richard School had one of its most interesting as well as instructive Parent Teacher meetings of recent years on Tuesday, October 2, when 325 parents came out to discuss informally in the several classrooms the instructional program of the school. The group met first in the auditorium where new teachers were introduced by the principal and a few remarks made by Charles Scheid, the president of the association. Mr. Scheid remarked that the real function of a Parent Teacher organization is to bring the home and school together, working on the common problem, the education of our youth. He announced the general plan of a series of five meetings for the 1945-46 school year, which will be informative in nature and acquaint the parents with the work of the school. There is to be parent as well as teacher participation in these meetings. After these introductory remarks, all the teachers went to the classrooms of their children, where for another hour the teacher presented her program of instruction; indicated how she taught reading, writing and arithmetic; pointed out what the core curriculum was; showed the parents the type of records used in the school.

Parents were given an opportunity to ask questions and so many of their perennial questions were answered for them. There was universal feeling on the part of those attending that the meeting was very successful. It closed with a social period handled by Mrs. Rich, Judson, Anslow and Corey.

The Richard School began the new school year with 484 pupils, a few less than the close of school last June. There are 37 new pupils in the kindergarten and 38 other new pupils in grades one to six. New pupils came from local public, parochial and private schools, and from Detroit, Flint and Grand Rapids, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Texas and California. Of the 47 children who did not return to school, the majority went to local parochial schools.

There are several changes in personnel at Richard. Elizabeth Stoffer is teaching the 1B and comes from Mason School. Barbara Johnson who teaches a 3B class comes from the University of Michigan. Eleanor Hermansader, the art counselor for all schools, teaches regularly three mornings a week and Vernon Hicks, health counselor, teaches two mornings a week. William Ferry who was at Richard last year now teaches elementary instrumental music. Joanne DeBaeke is our new secretary. The school is looking forward to a successful year. C. S. Messner, Principal.

NEW PRICE TAGS
 The words "OPA Price" instead of "Ceiling Price" soon will appear on a large part of the merchandise sold in retail stores, the Office of Price Administration said today. Effective October 15, 1945, any retailer of commodities other than food will be permitted to mark or tag goods with the words "OPA Price" wherever individual marking or tagging is required by an OPA price regulation.

Cell Looks Good To Auto Sleeper

So acute, apparently, is the shortage of hotel rooms, that a traveling salesman for a large and respectable firm, was glad to accept a bed in the Farms police cellblock one night recently.

The officers found him asleep in his car, which he had pulled up over the curb on Lake Shore road. He said he hadn't been able to get a room, so had decided to catch his shuteye where he could find it.

He was offered the hospitality of the police department and accepted with alacrity. The report says he departed at 5:30 a. m., a little early to make a sale.

It takes more than a telephone to provide service

If all we needed were new telephone instruments, the job of providing service for the 125,000 families now waiting would be much easier and faster. However, nearly two-thirds of those waiting are in areas where present central office equipment cannot handle any more telephones, or where all outside wire and cable are in use. Large-scale manufacture of civilian telephone equipment is under way, and no effort is being spared to hasten production. But cable and central office equipment are not ready for use when they leave the factory. They must be fitted into the existing telephone system before they can be used to connect new telephones. This is a complicated, time-consuming process. If you are among those waiting, you may be sure that we'll fill your order in its proper turn as soon as possible. But it may be nearly two years before telephones can be installed generally without delay.

Saturday, Oct. 13 U. OF MICHIGAN, although defeated by Army's powerhouse eleven, won cheers for a great showing. Army whipped Michigan 28-7 but only because of more manpower.

U. OF D. TITANS found the Tennessee heat too much for them and wilted in 90 degrees before Mississippi State, 41-8. It was the Titans' first loss of the season.

MICHIGAN STATE grabbed an early 12 point lead over the favored Pittsburgh Panthers to stage the biggest upset of Saturday's games. Jimmy Robinson's brilliant 87-yard punt return accounted for Pitt's only score.

vantage of every break to protect their slim margin.

Sunday, Oct. 14 DETROIT LIONS proved that their defeat by the Green Bay Packers, last week-end, was a fluke when the Lions passed the Philadelphia Eagles into defeat, 26-24. The Eagles rode into town on a 12-straight victory streak and were supposed to go through the season undefeated for the Eastern Division title in the National Football League.

LOUISVILLE COLONELS whipped the Newark Bears, 5-3, in the sixth game of the "Little World Series" to win the title four games to two.

BOB WATERFIELD, former U.C.L.A. star, paced the unbeaten Cleveland Rams to a 27-14 win over the highly touted Green Bay Packers. And the Chicago Bears got the surprise of their lives when the lowly Chicago Cardinals dumped the Bruin apple cart to the tune of 16 to 7. It was the Cardinals' first win in 29 games.

FRITZ CRISLER, U. of M. athletic director picked Tom Harmon over Army's Glenn Davis as a better football player, but he added, "Davis is the fastest man I have ever seen in a football suit."

Red Cross Needs Field Directors

Red Cross Field Directors are wanted, men between the ages of 30 and 50 with experience in dealing with people, such as work in the education field, insurance, personnel, etc. would afford. The Red Cross has assignments for three hundred and forty additional Field Directors for domestic and overseas duty.

Overseas and at home, in camps and hospitals, in relocation and separation centers, and with the occupation troops, our servicemen have need for Red Cross. The need is urgent for men to act as counselors and to advise servicemen in personal and family problems and to communicate with home Red Cross chapters.

Mr. Arthur Jones and Mr. Edward Fryschnag will be at the Red Cross Building, 153 E. Elizabeth, Detroit, for interviews during the week of October 15-20th. Both men have been field directors at home and abroad. Call Cadillac 3900 for appointment.

STRENUOUS FRANKSTERS Mrs. J. Curry, of 1093 Lakepointe, reported to the police Thursday evening that some boys who had been soaping her front windows, following out an old time Halloween custom, had soaped so strenuously they had pushed a bar of soap through one of the window panes.

LEAVES ITS MARK

A car driven by Harry Boyer at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning swerved off the street and ran over the curb onto the lawn at the property at 831 Fisher. The city police were informed of the incident but referred it to the Farms police as it happened within Farms' jurisdiction. The occupants of the property claimed that heavy marks were cut in the lawn and considerable damage done.

Amazing Traveler to Open Community Lecture Series

Harrison Forman, "The World's Most Amazing Traveler," will be the speaker for the opening program of the Grosse Pointe

HARRISON FORMAN

Community Lecture Series, Tuesday, October 23, at 8:30 p. m. at the John D. Pierce auditorium, Kercheval near Balfour. Mr. Forman's topic will be "Report from Red China." For the past four years Forman has been stationed in China as a foreign correspondent for the New York Times, the London Times and the National Broadcasting Company, during which time he spent a considerable time with the leaders of the Chinese Communist Armies. In 1932, Forman made the first of three expeditions to Tibet, that remote and little known area of the world. In recognition of his invaluable contributions to the world of knowledge resulting from this expedition, Harrison Forman was elected to membership in the Explorers Club of New York, a Fellow of the American Geographical Society and as the foremost living authority on Tibet, he was chosen as the technical director of "Lost Horizon" the 1937 Motion Picture Academy Award winner.

Forman has also established a reputation as one of the outstanding photographers — many thousands of his pictures have been released through "March of Time" and Paramount News. Forman will bring to Grosse Pointe authentic first hand information on the troublesome Chinese situation.

The Grosse Pointe Community Lecture Series will also present Fraser Hunt, Carl Sandburg, Volney Hurd and Dr. Syud Hosain this coming season.

Season tickets and single admissions for these programs may be obtained by calling the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, N. I. 2000, extension 25.

Street Fires Are Forbidden In Park, Welcome in Farms

It all depends on where you sit . . . or rather, on where you live when you start that fire to burn the autumn leaves.

The Park recently announced that anyone who burned leaves on the street would be prosecuted. It was said the fires spoiled a lot of new pavement last year.

Now the subject has come up in the Farms, and the story is entirely different. "The more they burn, on the streets or elsewhere, the more we like it," said Murray Smith, Farms engineer. "We don't have to clean them up and haul them away or pull them out of our sewers."

Mr. Smith pointed out however, that he didn't wish to take issue with the Park officials. He said that the Park uses a pavement which contains a lot of asphalt and heat is definitely bad for this. The fires don't hurt the Farms pavements at all, he said.

Courses Offered Scout Leaders

Many requests have been sent to the Boy Scout Headquarters by men and women who wish to be leaders in the Boy Scout and Cub Scout organizations. In order that these people may have training in leader responsibilities, there will be two training courses for Boy Scout Leaders and Cub Scout Leaders.

The Boy Scout Leaders' course will be under the direction of the veteran Scouter, Tom Sanderson. This course will appeal to anyone desiring to lead a troop or serve on a troop committee. Those who are new as Committeemen or Scoutmasters will attend this course, as well as those who wish to become leaders. The course started Monday, October 8, at 8 p. m., at the Jackson school library.

The Cub Leaders' course will be under the direction of former district chairman, Bill Adams, and will be designed to prepare men and women to serve as Cubmasters, Committeemen, or Den Mothers.

Hallowe'en Fete At Yacht Club

With Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's October bridge-luncheon and fashion show just over this past Tuesday, plans now are shaping for the club's Hallowe'en Party to take place Saturday evening, Oct. 27.

The Hallowe'en fete will be a costume party for the most part, although fancy dress is optional—it's really to be a dress-as-you-please affair. There'll be dinner, dancing and a floor show by members, with prizes for costumes, according to Alvin C. Hamer, general entertainment chairman, and Harlow C. Stahl, chairman for this party.

Tuesday's beautiful bridge-luncheon and fashion show for GPYC's feminine contingent was the second in the autumn series. It drew a capacity crowd to lunch at 12:30 o'clock in the big lounge, see the latest styles in the fashion show and conclude the afternoon with bridge play.

Mrs. Ray L. Spitzler entertained at cocktails in her home on Renaud Road, the group then going on to the bridge-luncheon fete. Guests included Mrs. Irvin Long, Mrs. C. H. VanTine, Mrs. Cyril Schley, Mrs. Gilbert Jerome, Mrs. Earl Gladden, Mrs. Henry Bogle and Mrs. Frederick Bahr.

Mrs. Ernest G. Liebold was hostess to 23 friends at the GPYC party, her group including Mrs. Albert Atha, Mrs. E. C. Connelly, Mrs. Charles Freiburger, Mrs. Charles B. Bohn, Mrs. George Schadt, Mrs. William Rewoldt, Mrs. Herbert Martin, Mrs. J. S. Leszynski, Mrs. W. J. Ross, Mrs. Ross Judson, Mrs. Sidney Harvey, Mrs. James McIntire, Mrs. Newell B. Wallace, Mrs. G. Hubert Noble, Mrs. Andrew L. Malott, Mrs. Fred Rockelman, Mrs. William E. Sanborn, Mrs. Martin Doyle, Mrs. George Quigley, Mrs. Frank Renaud, Mrs. T. J. Gunn, Mrs. Howard Smith and Mrs. Joseph Bucher.

At Mrs. LeRoy E. Swift's table were Mrs. Philip I. Worcester, Mrs. Percy K. Loud, of Bloomfield Hills, and Mrs. Wharton Ingram, of Utica; with Mrs. Don B. Wallace were Mrs. Edward K. Pryor, Mrs. H. A. Jackson and Mrs. Lyle Zisler; Mrs. Theodore J. Richter entertained Mrs. Herman F. Koestlin, Mrs. William D. Laurie and Mrs. Frank Kuhn. Mrs. Edward R. Macaulay was hostess to Mrs. Donald C. Winans, Mrs. C. Upton Shreve III and Mrs. Catherine Weary Winans. With Mrs. A. John Bloodworth were Mrs. Ralph Baker, Mrs. Clarence Kramer and Mrs. Owen F. Uridge; Mrs. Edward C. Stephenson entertained Mrs. LeRoy Jarvis, Mrs. Fred Nordlie and Mrs. D. A. Mills, while Mrs. Edward Kihen, Mrs. Bryan Trombley and Jean Trombley were guests of Mrs. Richard S. Gehlert, Jr.

Mrs. John E. Palmer, her mother, Mrs. Walter Graham, Mrs. Raymond Eddy and Mrs. Earl DuBois lunched and bridged together, and with Mrs. Ralph N. Hardy, Mrs. Frank L. Klingbiel and Mrs. Clarence D. Campbell, Mrs. George A. Beauchamp was hostess at another table, her

In the midst of all this wildcat dockmen's strike, Joe Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, will try to grab a little happiness by seeing his pretty daughter, Margaret Mary, married to James Edward Brannigan. . . . Many letters protesting that Karyl Norman, the "Creole Fashion Plate," is still active in show business . . . From Karyl himself comes a note: "I never appeared in North Carolina and secondly I've never been away from show business. Have been here in San Francisco at the Finocchio's Club for the past nine months—and going strong" . . . Mark Hellinger on the phone—plans to spend about three weeks on the show on business . . . Word comes that former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy who just bought a huge chunk of realty on Lexington ave. between 46th and 47th, will build a streamlined theatre seating close to 3,000 . . . An autographed copy of Martin Munkacsi's novel, "Fool's Apprentice," arrives . . . An exciting book about the peasantry of a small town in Transylvania during the reign of Emperor Franz Josef . . . Munkacsi was one of the Four Horsemen of the famed German publishing firm of Ullstein. . . . M. B. wires that Eddy Duchin's first public appearance after shedding his Navy uniform will be with Andre Kostelanetz's orchestra—as guest star . . . Georgia Campbell on the phone—says I might like to know she's profiling Macoco for the Hobo News—and that is one for the books! . . . And make a note of a colorful little restaurant—the Flamingo, on Madison ave.—run by good looking Burt—who most of us remember from the old Central Park Casino days—and more recently from the Monte Carlo . . . There is no other specialty except fine food. Of course this will be construed as a gratuitous plug—and come to think of it, that's exactly what it is! . . .

A document I will treasure in the files—General Marshall's historic report, "The Winning of the War in Europe and the Pacific," published by Simon & Schuster . . . From Chungking, a letter from Irene Kuhn, who intimates she's on her way to Shanghai—and renders high praise to Air Transport . . . Letters of protest over the renaming of Sixth avenue into the cumbersome Avenue of the Americas . . . Letters asking for more Wacky Willis . . . Which reminds me of one Lawrence H. Singer, the writer, calls to my attention—Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, world-famed anthropologist, who died last year, willed most of his estate to his second wife—but specifically stipulated that his ashes be mixed with those of his first wife—and placed in the National Museum in Washington! . . . MOVING DAY Leonard Johnson of 163 Oak street backed his Ford into a gasoline pump at the Korte gas station on Kercheval Monday afternoon and moved it a foot. "No damage to Ford," says the Farms police report on the accident. . . . FOR THE KIDS An expenditure of $50 as the Farms' share of the annual community Hallowe'en part expenditure, was approved by the village trustees, meeting Monday night. . . . guests including Mrs. Joseph Louisell, Mrs. James Friel and Mrs. Joseph Goncz.

LAFF-A-DAY

"I asked her if I could carry her books home for her, and she said 'yes!'"

Michigan Mirror

By GENE ALLEMAN

Michigan's post-war Tower of Babel is going to be dizzy. Witness this bit of demagogery: Fifty dollars a week or more should be paid by the federal government to each of the following: Every unemployed veteran or civilian. Every wounded veteran. Furthermore, each adult, 60 years old or more, should get from $30 to $50 per week as a retirement pension, also at the bounty of Uncle Sam. . . . The creator of this credo admits freely that "reactionaries" (such as this writer) are going to label him a "crack-pot" who is appealing to the "lunatic fringe." The author is the former lieutenant of Louisiana's Huey Long whose political fame rested on "dividing the wealth" whereby every American was to become a king with a chicken for every meal. His name is Gerald L. K. Smith of Detroit, founder of the America First party and one-time primary opponent of Homer Ferguson for the Republican nomination to the United States senate. . . . All of this Utopia is to be achieved, says the versatile Smith if enough Americans respond to his appeal for a dues-paying membership in the America First party, Smith's personal money-making racket, and thus proceed to persuade Congress to save the country. . . . Unless they do this, we will have 20,000,000 unemployed within a year. Next, an era of wild inflation. And finally the smash-up of democracy by a "Red revolution" . . . It's all very simple, to listen to Gerald L. K. who thrives on publicity and probably will be delighted to read this about him. Now you know and I know that Gerald does not believe personally in the above economic objectives. He does believe that there will be enough non-thinking saps in the 88 counties of Michigan who might be induced to subscribe to the screw doctrine and to subscribe some of their own money into Smith's trust. . . . Contrasted to this sort of economic nonsense is some bread-and-butter plain talking and clear thinking by a Port Huron industrialist, F. L. Riggins, president of the Mueller Brass company, the town's leading source of employment and its biggest payroll. In a full page message recently in the Port Huron Times Herald, Mr. Riggins presented the A-B-Cs about life business and its conversion problems. . . . From a 1939 average of 1,261 workers, the Port Huron company increased its employment to a war-end figure of 3,781. Ninety per cent of 1,105 Mueller employees in the armed services have informed the boss they want their jobs back. . . . "Taking out probationers, m/ors, part time workers and those who have since quit, leaves a total of 4,269 employees who want to work for this company," says Riggins. "Has Mueller Brass company a problem to face now? Can it do a peace-time business equal to the inflated war-time business which was four times as great as ever before? Can it furnish employment for the vastly increased payroll list, including returned veterans? . . . "Again it is undisputed that nobody knows. Every department of management, however, is now devoting its best efforts to that end." . . . "How can post-war contracts be obtained? We are optimistic in the belief that if common sense and good judgment are exercised by all parties involved, we can get our share and more of business."

person say that this is not a proper way to settle such matters, rather than by engaging in an economic war, which like all wars, results in a loss to both parties?" . . . That the present post-war period is one of widespread confusion is evident to any observer. Some of the self-evident truths surely must include the following: First, war is an economic paradox in that it creates false and artificial prosperity instead of true and natural prosperity. To safeguard the people from enslavement by aggressors, government takes over all production for war needs. Payrolls are financed largely by adding to the national indebtedness—borrowing from the future. Second, real prosperity is brought about only by a natural increase of production due to greater industrial efficiency—machines and men. This prosperity is measured, not in terms of money, but in an abundance of goods with which to gratify wants of the people. Third, consuming power ultimately comes from production. In the long run, increased production means increased consumption. The military war is over. If we are to attain prosperity without bankrupting ourselves by disastrous indebtedness and costly inflation, we must return to the fundamental A-B-Cs of economics. The Gerald L. K. Smith route is one of sheer nonsense—the road to ruin. The F. L. Riggins route is one of plain, old-fashioned common sense—the road to prosperity through a cooperative partnership of management and worker whereby differences are settled by collective bargaining and impartial arbitration. To which voice would you be willing to listen and to follow? At this period of our journey down the path from war to peace, we come to the end of a false prosperity that was made possible not by consumer purchases but by adding 270 BILLIONS to our indebtedness—by borrowing from ourselves. Surely now, if ever, is the time when we should think before we act. Classified ads cost little—Get Results.

Removal of Gas Rationing Brings Jump in Accidents

Sheriff Andrew C. Biard sounds a note of warning to motorists in his report on traffic just released by the newly created Traffic Division of his uniformed Road Patrol. "There was a 17 per cent increase in the total number of accidents during the month of August over the average number for the first seven months of this year," said Sheriff Baird, "and there was a 35 per cent increase in highway accidents in the month of September over the previous months of this year. This increase is undoubtedly due to the removal of war-time restrictions on gasoline and speed. Aged cars rolling on well-worn tires at high speeds invite accident and motorists are warned to exercise due care if they want to preserve their lives as well as their cars. "With the approach of late fall months, traffic hazards are increased because of icy conditions and stormy weather and motorists must exercise the greatest care to prevent accidents." The number of accidents for the first nine months of the year in the out-country area totalled 809, in which there were eighteen persons killed and 282 injured. Property damage resulted in 529 accidents. In the month of September, there were 114 accidents in which one person was killed and 81 injured. Property damage resulted in 73 of the accidents. The two peak accident periods of the day were from midnight to 3 a. m. when 23 per cent of the accidents happened and from 5 p. m. to 10 p. m. when 29 per cent of the accidents occurred. In other words, in two periods totalling eight hours 52 per cent of the accidents occurred. In 25 per cent of the total accidents in September the drivers involved had been drinking.

Carpenter Named To State Group

Former Mayor of Detroit and Governor of Michigan, William Comstock, present Chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, has named Chester F. Carpenter of Grosse Pointe City as the representative of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors in the Michigan State Association of Supervisors. This leaves the Grosse Pointe City councilman as the sole representative of Wayne county in this organization which is chiefly concerned with legislation affecting the taxpayers and the general duties of county boards of Supervisors. Mr. Carpenter has been the chairman of the legislative committee of the County Board of Supervisors for some time.

A BETTER FUNERAL SERVICE FOR THE EAST SIDE

In time of bereavement it is a comfort to have the funeral service in your own neighborhood, convenient to family and friends.

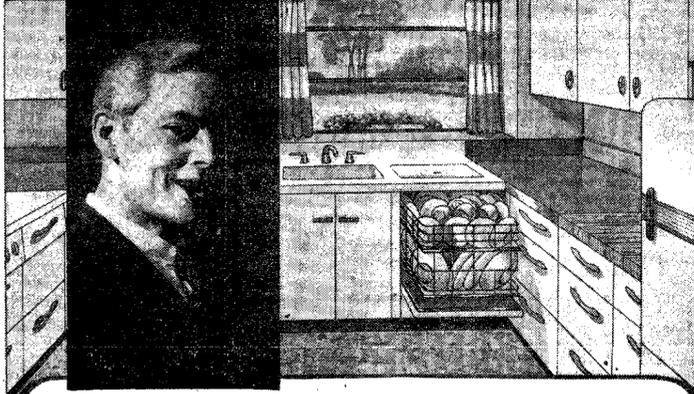

Far from the noise and confusion of congested areas, the beautiful and spacious Harris East Side Chapel is especially located to be convenient to all East Side residents and to those of nearby suburban areas.

Call the Harris East Side Chapel to secure the quiet, memorable, and neighborly service that characterizes Harris Funerals.

"I'm making homes out of houses"

"It's a pleasure for a dealer to furnish a house with an all-electric kitchen—for it makes the house into a home. The electric kitchen cuts down the housewife's time in the kitchen . . . and gives a thrill to the work she does there. The electric range gives uniform results . . . provides automatic operation, cutting down the amount of attention necessary. Electric cookery is the modern way . . . convenient . . . clean . . . reliable. People have come to feel about it the way they do about electric refrigeration—that it is the only way. The electric dishwasher, too, has proved itself in thousands of homes as a time and labor saver. I've sold many and never had one returned. They normally save the housewife a total of about a day's work every month. . . . People are not so familiar with the operation of the garbage disposal unit in the sink drain. The convenience of throwing waste right into the sink and washing it away cannot be appreciated until used. And the modern housewife also gets the multiple assistance of all the smaller electric helpers—mixer, juicer, percolator, toaster and others. I can't think of any investment that goes farther toward making a house a real home than an electric kitchen."

ADVANTAGES OF THE ELECTRIC RANGE Clean, controlled heat expresses quickly the advantages of an electric range. The surface burners have several heat units from "simmer" to "high" that provide just the right heat for whatever dish is being cooked. The heat comes directly to the bottom of the utensil and as clean as sunlight. In the oven, a control regulates the heat to an exact temperature and maintains it. An electric timer can be provided to turn off the current at a pre-set time, thus letting the housewife forget all about the oven. The broiler grills meats to a perfect turn, and the deep well cooker is ideal for long, slow cooking, such as soups, cereals or stews.

Electric kitchen equipment is not generally available for sale now. Some is being manufactured and distributed. It will be to your advantage to have your name on your electrical dealer's list, so that you will be able to get it at the earliest possible time.

Auto Flaggers Keep in Dark

In furtherance of the Halloween spirit some boys amused themselves late Saturday night by flagging automobiles at the corner of Balfour and Jefferson with red lanterns.

They were careful to keep out of the glare of the headlights and disappeared before they could be recognized. When the police appeared there were neither boys nor lanterns.

Speeders Nabbed After Complaint

Mrs. Yvette Eggleston of 834 Neff road, and Mrs. Molley Abbott of 823 Neff, stopped City police officers Flannagan and Onstwedder at 5 o'clock Wednesday evening and made a complaint about the excessive speed at which a couple of young men were driving on Neff between Charlevoix and Mack.

They gave a fairly accurate description of the youths to the officers. One of them, they said, was a blond boy "greatly in need of a hair cut".

With this sufficient lead the two officers quickly corralled Henry Deros, aged 17, of 4364 Woodhall, Detroit, and Harry Martin Repine, aged 17, of 4927 Opal Street, Detroit. Both boys were given tickets to appear in traffic court on October 30. The women have assured the officers they will appear against the youths.

Fatherly Advice Not Appreciated

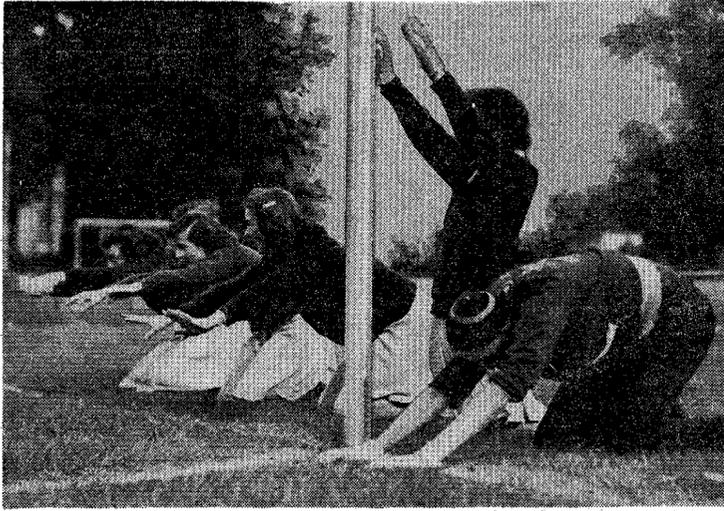

A young woman who lives on Anderson, Detroit, and who works for the Home Appliance company of 17290 Mack avenue is displeased with the too frequent visits of an old gentleman, aged 82, who lives in the neighborhood of the store where she works.

She finally took her problem to the city police, who in the course of their varied duties are often called upon to effect adjustments of social import. Among the specific grievances which the young woman alleged against her elderly visitor was that she "did not like the advice he gave her".

The old gentleman lives with a married daughter and the police contacted her as the key figure in the social complication. The daughter promised to take over and later reports said she had the situation well in hand.

The Power of Prayer

GROSSE POINTE HIGH SCHOOL cheerleaders exhorted all the powers that exist during the game with Monroe Saturday afternoon. Prayers were concentrated at this point on a much-needed point after touchdown. The team obliged when Ed Isbey passed to Don Winslow in the end zone to place the Blue Devils ahead at half time, 7 to 6. Picture by Fred Runnells.
