HEADLINES

of the WEEK As compiled by the Grosse Pointe News

Wednesday, November 21

THE LONG-DISCUSSED General Motors strike starts at 11 o'clock this morning with an estimated 325,000 employees in more than 100 plants throughout the country walking out. . . the issue, a 30 percent increase in wages . . . the object of the employees to obtain a take-home wage as great as they received in war time. . . General Motors' offer of an increase of eight to 10 percent and a step up of the basic week hours from 40 to 45, giving the men the same wage they previously received, is spurned by the employees. . . employees also threaten to bring legal proceedings to prevent the company from increasing its price on cars to compensate in part for the increased wages they demand.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN announces the resignation of General Marshall as Chief of Staff of the Army and Admiral King as Chief of Naval Operations of the Navy and the naming in their place of General Eisenhower and Admiral Nimitz as Chief of Staff and Chief of Naval Operations respectively. Both Marshall and King had previously requested to be retired.

GENERAL EISENHOWER, in accepting the Chief of Staff position in the Army warns that America must be in a state of readiness for any emergency which threatens us and says this "scientific age in its most fearful aspects contains unimaginable threats for civilization."

CENSUS BUREAU says the population of the United States reached 140,000,000 about October 1.

THE FORD COMPANY agrees to talk on pay demands with its employees including the 30 percent wage increase.

ONE OF THE HOT SPOTS on the international map is in Iran where the government charges that Russia is preventing it from taking effective action against the rebels (communists) and where Russia appears to be pressing on towards the Persian Gulf and against Anglo-American oil interests.

ATOMIC BOMBS are still being manufactured in this country, according to President Truman . . . said to be for experimental purposes . . . offers to share the secret of their manufacture with all countries as soon as the means have been set up to effectively prevent future wars.

Thursday, November 22 (Thanksgiving)

THANKSGIVING DAY on the day set by President Roosevelt at the beginning of the war; the fourth Thursday in November) is solemnly observed throughout the country as a special day for thanksgiving for the perils the world has passed, and with prayer for fortitude to face the problems of the near future.

THE GENERAL MOTORS STRIKE, which shut down the biggest unit in the automotive industry yesterday morning, has already had a paralyzing effect on automobile production in the nation. . . a special assistant to Secretary Schwelb arrived in Detroit last night to begin conciliation efforts in the strike.

SAMUEL WOLCHOK, president of the United Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employees, announces in New York that the union has called a strike of 75,000 Montgomery Ward company employees beginning next Monday.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE Robert H. Jackson, opens the case of the Allies against the twenty chief Nazi leaders in Nuremberg in a 20,000 word indictment, which all of the associated Allied representatives in the trial approve and which the Russians call "superb" . . . elaborate notes and reports on their own acts . . . indicates that they have sealed their own doom.

THE METHUEN, planned effort of union labor to involve the country in a series of great strikes in calling forth a demand in Congress to curb the move by law. . . Free Press representative.

The Paws That Are Freshest

Definitely not to be confused with "The Pause That Refreshes" is this picture by the NEWS photographer. Charles Dickens, comedy cat of the Theodore D. Buhrs of Ridge road, appears to be suffering an agony of thirst as he attacks a battery of bottles of that fairly well-known drink. Picture by Fred Runnels

State Tax Board in Pointe To Hear Lakefront Property Owners' Assessment Appeal

Group Also Looks Into Ford Estate Case; Shores Village Opposed to Any Reduction Just Now

Prior to their meeting in the Grosse Pointe Township offices Wednesday afternoon to thresh out the claims of lakefront property owners for a reduction in their assessments, the State Tax Board members had another mission of note to attend to in the same relative area.

The Edsel Ford estate, desiring to share in the good things in prospect, also wished to have its assessments reduced. So the Board went Wednesday morning to the offices of Lake Township in Macomb County before repairing to the Pointe township offices to pass on the claims of the other lakefront owners.

This however was a horse of another color for the Village of Grosse Pointe Shores. It didn't want to lose the substantial revenue which it derives from the palatial 65 acre estate immediately to its northeast but lying in Macomb county. Hence all the official torchbearers and satellites of the village, including Attorney Fred Behr, the attorney of the village, were called on to battle valiantly against any reduction on this particular plot. Arthur Bennett, superintendent of the Shores, stated he saw no reason why there should be any change in the Ford estate assessment at this time.

In the afternoon the argument before the State Tax Board for a reduction on the assessments against 60 odd pieces of real estate was resumed in the Township offices. All of these owners, many of whom are in the Shores village, are strong for a second reduction in their assessments this year. One reduction amount-

City Getting Very Tired Of Furnishing Free P. O.

The councilmen of Grosse Pointe are getting fed up with the idea of furnishing the United States Post Office Department with free quarters for the local post office.

It will be a year ago next month since the postal authorities said they would lease the office. They asked that certain furnishing and alterations be made in the quarters on Maumee and that this should be done by the City.

All of which was duly done, as

Pointe Hunter Flies Plane To Bag Buck

Harvey Wilson Brings Home the Venison in Strictly Modern Style

So far as is known, Harvey Wilson, of 1740 Allard road, is the only hunter of the Detroit area who flew himself to the deer country, got his buck and brought it home in his own plane.

Harvey flew his Piper Cub up to Kalkaska County, shot an eight-point, 150-pound buck, loaded it into ship and flew back to the Greater Detroit airport at Grafton and 10 1/2 Mile road.

Other Pointe hunters who were on the same party, but did not fly up, included Lee Sasmannhausen of Oxford road and Al Fleming of University place.

Accoster Sought By City Police

Mrs. Rose Mims, of 2008 Antietam, while walking south on Lincoln from Charlevoix while going to work at the residence at 627 Lincoln the other morning was accosted by a man driving a green truck who, she thought asked her "where was Moran?"

To this she answered no and he made indecent proposals. She ran into the house where she works, which happened to be nearby. She reported the matter to the police and said she thought it was a telephone truck. The police took it up with the telephone company and learned that it did have a truck then working in that neighborhood.

The phone people are incensed at the reported delinquency of one of its employees and are cooperating with the police to find the man. They said there were two employees working at 922 Lincoln at the time.

EXCITED, NOT SCARED

Mrs. Huntington, of 549 Rivard, reported to the police Sunday night that a dog was whining and barking in a vacant lot next to her house in such a way she thought he must be injured. The police found the dog was just a rabbit hunter and chose the shade of night for his most industrious work.

Pointers Let Victory Loan Campaign Lag

Area Is Far Short of Quota of $1,581,000 With Drive Four-Fifths Over

Co-Chairman Kenneth L. Moore and Richard Maxon are disturbed by the lag in the current bond drive. Mr. Moore says that the total sales to date aggregate only $755,400. This is only about a quarter the sales in the Pointe in the previous campaigns.

The drive is four-fifths over and will expire on December 8. Mr. Moore says there has been a marked letdown in the public interest. Whether it is an actual letdown in interest or a reflection of the concern of the citizens on the current and future economic situation is hard to determine. Great strikes already in progress, with the threat of more to come, have placed thousands of individuals who normally made large subscriptions in former drives, in a hesitant mood this time.

The ending of the actual fighting war also has doubtless put many in a state of mind to let the Government mull along as best it can in its post war financing. Mr. Moore stresses that this reasoning is not justified. The bonds themselves are as desirable an investment as ever, probably even more desirable as the uncertainty of the war's outcome has been lifted. This should bring a corresponding increase in public confidence in their long-term value.

He mentioned the fact that the War Chest drive failed of its goal and feels that much of the same sentiment has been in evidence during the bond drive. He said that during the War Chest drive there was a spirit of willingness to continue to give generously to local needs or national services, but a frequent unwillingness to send any more money abroad despite the broad humanity of the appeal from across the seas. Vulgarly put, many were entirely willing to let Europe stew in its own juice.

This is the first drive in a long time when Grosse Pointe has had a quota prescribed and Mr. Moore said that because the quota ($1,581,000) was well below what the Pointe had actually bought in previous campaigns, he willingly accepted the figure.

While the lag is such as to cause concern, Mr. Moore is still confident that if the local citizenry will awake to the seriousness of the situation at once, the other half of the quota will be subscribed.

The purposes of the loan are well understood and should touch the heart strings of the people as well as loosen their purse strings. The Government must have money to bring our boys home and to provide them with the funds that they have been promised, and to minister to the physical needs of the hundreds of thousands who will stand in need of such help for a long time to come. There is special urgency at the moment when they are coming back in vast numbers.

Money Leaves With Visitor

Mrs. Joseph C. Mohn of 343 Moselle place, reported to the Farms police this week that she had been robbed of $48 on November 5. She said she had the money in a large envelope on a pedestal at the foot of a staircase in her home.

She recalls having a visitor at the time, but so far has been unable to recall the name of the visitor. After the forgotten one had departed, she discovered the money had departed too.

FOR OLD TIMES' SAKE

Grosse Pointe kids must have been reading about the early American Thanksgivings, when one of the most popular sports was bowling on the green. Recently the Farms police were called to 411 Moran road, on a complaint that youngsters had set up bowling pins in the middle of the street. Officers Boylan and Allor reported back: "No boys; no pins."

"Poisoned" Pointers Get Explanation of Foul Tasting Water

Synthetic Rubber Plant at Sarnia Believed Responsible for Spoiling Many a Local Whisky and Water

An explanation is due all you people who thought you had been poisoned over the weekend. Remember how scared you were when you took that first drink of water Saturday morning? Remember how you cussed at the first swig of that whiskey and plain water? Remember how terrible your tea was?

The strong medicinal taste which has been present in the water Pointers have been drinking in or addition of chemical treatment to the water at the filtration plant, Farms officials have stated.

Since Saturday, shortly after the taste first appeared, all water at the Farms filtration plants has been filtered through finely pulverized charcoal and the taste problem is expected to be cleared up shortly.

Pointers may gain some consolation in knowing that Detroit also experienced the bad taste. Highland Park, which draws its water through the same intake as the Farms, did not. All of which seems very complicated. Experts in the matter have been working on the puzzle and come up with several theories.

It is agreed that some substance appeared in the raw water which was both tasteless and odorless until it came in contact with the chlorine treatment, which is required by law as a disinfecting agent to the raw water. The combination of the unknown substance and the chlorine created a taste which was most unpleasant to most consumers. Some described it as a peroxide taste . . . others as iodine.

Detroit water officials traced this substance by boat all the way to Sarnia and are convinced that a synthetic rubber plant located there is the cause of the trouble. There is a discharge of coal tar product from the plant which gives a phenol taste to the water. No trace of the taste could be found above Sarnia.

It was pointed out that prevailing winds usually take this discharge across the lake, and Detroit says this is the first time the taste has been experienced there.

The puzzle as to why Highland Park should not get the taste from the water taken in through the save vent as the Farms, is explained by Farms Engineer Murray Smith with a guess that it has something to do with the strike at the Penn Salt plant in Wyandotte.

Explaining this seemingly irrelevant statement, Mr. Smith says that since the strike at Penn Salt the Farms and Detroit have not been able to get sufficient

Duck Boat Fools All But Hunter

Marcel D'Hondt of 811 St. Clair reported to the police in mid-afternoon on Sunday that he was quite certain a boat was overturned about a mile off shore in the lake.

Officers DeReadt, Flannagan and Allor reported to investigate and meanwhile took the precaution to get word to the U. S. Coast Guard station on Belle Isle. Examination disclosed that a duck hunter was out on the lake in his duck boat, which bobbed up and down so violently on the water that it had been mistaken for an overturned boat.

Unique Guest Entertained By Park Police Department

The Park police station entertained a unique guest in the early hours of Sunday morning. About a quarter of six an elderly man came in and said he was lost. He gave his name as McKenzie Nahee and proudly proclaimed that he was a full blooded Chippewa Indian. He came from Walpole Island reservation where he owns a one hundred acre farm. His address is R.D. 3, Wallaceburg, Ont.

The old gentleman related that he started for this region, where he had some work to do, the

Asks Experts For Opinion On Proposal

Dissatisfaction With Tax Assessments May Be Reason for Quitting Township

The incorporated Village of Grosse Pointe Shores is seriously considering conversion into a city. For examination into the subject the village has called upon the Michigan Municipal League to send on experts to look into the matter of savings, or otherwise, that would result from its separation from the township.

These parties have been busily examining the records. When they have finished and made their report to the Shores authorities the decision will be made.

It is altogether probable that the origin of the move to take on city status came from the desire of the owners of mansion type lakefront properties to obtain smaller assessments for their places.

As a part of the township the Shores village participates in the police radio service, health administration, election costs, etc. If it withdrew from the township it would have to provide these services at its own expense.

It is also a part of the Grosse Pointe School district and could not withdraw from this, if it were legally possible, without setting up a separate school district of its own and incidentally surrendering its vested interests in the present school district. This would be impractical. The mere privilege of making its own assessments would signify little as under the operation of the county equalization board the amount of actual taxes to be produced by each separate municipality for county purposes.

Jobs Needed By Veterans

Principal Request of Those Using Counseling Center Is for Some Work

The principal request of veterans who contact the Grosse Pointe Counseling center is for aid in securing employment, according to Joseph R. O'Connor, who is in charge of the center.

"Of the seventy-one veterans who have already contacted us," Mr. O'Connor reported to the executive committee of the Council, "twenty-three have indicated that they want help in connection with finding jobs."

"It would be very helpful," Mr. O'Connor stated, "if people in the Grosse Pointe and Grafton Township area would advise the Center whenever they know of any jobs, temporary or permanent, that might be offered to any of the veterans. If any such people will phone TU. 1-1050 whenever they hear of any openings, they can be listed at the center and veterans can be so advised."

A good percentage of the applicants who have already come to the Counseling Center have been placed in jobs through the Center, but the demand is increasing so rapidly that additional help would be very welcome.

The second most pressing requirements of Veterans contacting the Center is assistance in securing a place to live. Mr. O'Connor has also indicated that if anyone hears of housing facilities of any sort, they would be assisting returning veterans if they would so advise the Grosse Pointe Counseling Center.

Robbery Trial Is Postponed

The trial of Paul Burns, defendant in a robbery armed case in Grosse Pointe Farms, was postponed from November 28 to a date to be announced by the prosecutor's office.

Burns is charged with entering the Beaupre Hardware store on Kercheval avenue some weeks ago and robbing Alvin Gouin, the proprietor, of $9. He and a young woman were arrested shortly after in Detroit in a stolen car.

Hearing Set For Rioters

Juvenile Court Issues Summons for Five to Appear on Friday, Dec. 7

The Juvenile Division of Wayne County Probate has finally acted upon the request of Farms police officials for a hearing of five defendants who participated in the High School riot on Fisher road last September 19.

Summons were issued November 23 and were served the first part of this week on the defendants. The hearing has been set for December 7 at 10 a. m.

Sergt. Elmer Labadie of the Farms police and Lynn Bartlett of the Board of Education have been ordered to appear to supply evidence in the case.

The summons charge the youngsters with disturbing the peace, disrupting traffic and molesting cars, grabbing bumpers, fenders and nearly upsetting the cars.

Departing Family Had Good Hunch

The George R. Shuman family left their home at 525 Middlesex on Thanksgiving Day for a few days and left word with the Park police to place it on the "watch list."

Bright and early the next morning the police went around to give the place the once over, as is customary with watchlist properties, and found a pane of glass broken in the screen door, but no evidence of further damage or entry.

At 9:45 o'clock the same night they took it in again on their rounds and this time found that a window in a bathroom had been jimmied open. Again there was no evidence of further depredation.

The department was wondering whether it would be necessary to install one of its members in the place as a permanent housekeeper to assure its protection.

On a later checkup with Mr. Shuman when he returned to his home on Tuesday, it was learned that the thieves who broke into his place through the bathroom window, had stolen thirteen quarts of liquor and a bathroom rug.

HEART ATTACK FATAL Davina Peggio, an employe in the Hal Smith home at 15530 Windmill Pointe, suffered a heart attack shortly after midnight on Tuesday morning. At the request of Dr. Hugh Stalker the Park police responded with their inhalator and attempted her resuscitation, but she died a few minutes later.

Headlines of the Week

James M. Haswell in Washington says "Congress has been sitting back with a flock of bills, which it is prepared to bring out if Mr. Truman can't keep the peace" . . . among these, one, introduced by Representative Howard W. Smith, of Virginia, would make the unions legally liable for violation of a contract and permit an employer to sue for damages . . . it would also forbid a labor union to spend money in support of any political candidate in any primary or general election for a Federal office.

LIEUT. GEN. ALEXANDER M. PATCH, who commanded the Seventh Army in the European war, died in a Texas hospital of pneumonia after a brief illness.

GENERAL MOTORS employees began an orderly exodus from plants and prepare for a long strike . . . Eugene T. Dormer, of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission, says strikers are not entitled to compensation but "unfortunately the trouble does not stop there" . . . the strike will doubtless force the closing of many plants dependent upon General Motors' operation and these employees may file for compensation.

Friday, November 23
A STATEMENT SIGNED by former Nazi Interior Minister Wilhelm Frick submitted at the War Crimes Tribunal in Nuernberg, by the Americans' accuses Hermann Goering of planning the Blood Purge of June, 1934, when Hitler removed by assassination all who stood in the way of his complete domination of Germany . . . also shown at the trial in the secret minutes of Hitler's first cabinet meeting that Hitler, Frick, Goering, von Papen, von Neurath and Funk, economic minister, plotted to seize power and prepare for world conquest.

Saturday, Nov. 23
HOPE FADES for early settlement of the General Motors strike when GM spurns UAW-CIO proposal to arbitrate its demands for a 30 per cent wage increase . . . Labor Secretary Schwellenbach has invited GM and UAW-CIO representatives to meet in Washington on Wednesday . . . Frank Rising, general manager of the Automotive and Aviation Parts Manufacturers, Inc., says the strike is causing a "rapid strangulation" of the automotive parts industry and would soon halt all the nation's auto production . . . GM issues statement rejecting workers' proposal for arbitration, charging the proposal was not made in good faith, that it contained conditions which the labor leaders knew could not be accepted and that it was only to make certain a strike which had been prepared months in advance.

JOHN W. GIBSON, special assistant to the Secretary of Labor, and who is also president of the Michigan CIO Council, failed in his mission yesterday to effect a reconciliation between the strikers and management in the General Motors strike and prepares to return to Washington . . . attributes his failure to contact any GM officials in the intervening holiday . . . thinks the strike will be settled by January 15, "or earlier."

RATIONING on meats, butter and all fats went off at midnight last night. Warned that sugar rationing will have to be continued for many months longer.

Sunday, November 25
STRIKE IN GENERAL MOTORS apparently headed for a long lull . . . prospect that 500,000 men will soon be idle as the result of the walk out of 175,000 GM employees on Nov. 21. . . Hope for early settlement depends upon possibility of effective action by the Federal Government.

FORMER UNDERSECRETARY of State Sumner Wells says in Pearl Harbor investigation that he foresaw the inevitability of war with Japan some time before the storm broke . . . says the only alternative to war was U. S. acquiescence with Japan's plans for conquest in Southeast Asia, which he realized was utterly impossible.

NAZI LEADERS on trial at Nuernberg plan to involve leaders of the British aristocracy as sympathetic with the aims of the National Socialist party in Germany . . . a far cry from effective defense of their inhuman and barbarous conduct of the war which is already established as "having been a part of Nazi war policy" . . .

HUMAN BLOOD found in the car which Edward Bellm claims to have purchased from Mrs. Alberta Young, alleged by Capt. Harold Mulbar of the State Police . . . also revealed that rumble seat of the car had recently been refinished . . . Bellm claims to have paid Mrs. Young $960 for the car but he has no receipt confirming the transaction and the title still rests with Lawrence J. Theis for whom Mrs. Young originally purchased the car.

interviewed him in detail and got his story. He complained strongly of the oppressive heat in the police station, although others present were not unduly warm. The Indian was strictly an outdoor man, and despite his near eighty years of age insisted on taking off half his clothes to get comfortable.

The old fellow had an intriguing story to tell of early days' operations in real estate in his region. At one time, he said, his family owned an entire island opposite Algonac, when it was in Canadian waters. Later on, he said, by some chicanery the United States and Canada swapped islands and he found the family desmesne in the United States.

"Well haven't you got it yet?" asked the Lieutenant.

"Oh Hell, No!" said Mr. Nahee, in vigorous but thoroughly understandable English.

"Your precious Uncle Sam stole it and all I have left is a measly little one hundred acres." So that was that, so far as Mr. Nahee's observations go on the paternal operations of Uncle Sam's Land office.

chlorine to do a super-chlorination job. Highland Park has enough of the chemical to continue its super-chlorination and apparently this does away with the evil taste to which Pointers and Detroiters have been subjected.

All water experts are in agreement that bad as the taste is, there can be no harmful effect from drinking the water. Careful bacterial analysis showed that at no time has there been any harmful bacteria reaching the tap water.

Three Speeders Pay Park $40.00

In Park Police Court Wednesday morning Judge DeBaeke disposed of the following cases: LaMar D. Creeger, of 1539 Anita, Grosse Pointe Woods, was fined for not having his car under control thereby causing an accident, $15 fine plus $5 costs.

Burt G. Crawford of 11528 E. Jefferson avenue for speeding 45 m. p. h. on Jefferson between Yorkshire and Harvard on October 26, paid $10 fine and $5 costs.

Raymond J. Sargent, 5395 Hereford, Detroit, for speeding on East Jefferson between Devonshire and Kensington, November 21, paid $5 and $5 costs.

George B. Guild, 16 Hubbard, Mt. Clemens, for speeding 45 m. p. h. on Jefferson between Bishop and Nottingham, November 15, was fined $10 and $5 costs.

KNIGHTS TO GIVE MINSTREL Twenty-five East Side Detroit parishes are represented in the cast and committee of Gabriel Richard, Knights of Columbus' annual minstrel show to be presented on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, December 4 and 5, in the Council's club building, 9875 Amity, at Parkview and Kercheval.

Second Inning Is Played In Woods vs. Florist Game

Council Withholds Judgment on Whether Business Will Be Kept off Street Reserved for Business

Joseph Merony, the Detroit florist who wants to put up a building on Mack near Seven Mile for a florist shop, had a second inning with the Woods Council at its meeting on the 20th of November and got exactly as far with his second request as with his first.

As was explained two weeks ago, Mr. Merony has purchased two lots in a block of eighteen and wants only the privilege of erecting his place of business on them. It is a commercial zone area and no visible objection can be raised to his building. He has asked for a permit to build and thus far this has been withheld for no apparently better reason than that a few property owners who live in the rear of these commercial lots on the northwest side of Mack don't want any business place whatever there.

Mr. Merony was accompanied by an able lawyer and gives no evidence of being stalling in his legitimate desires. The opponents have asked to have the village zoning ordinance amended, throwing the tract back into residential classification. They have even proposed, as an alternative, that the village should purchase the tract and use it for a park or some other public purpose, but the village fathers, even though some of them might not approve of the florist shop, are disturbed by the cost of this move to the village, not to mention the hole it would make in their high tax revenue producing property.

The principal opposition to the florist shop enterprise comes from Attorney Lendzion and a handful of neighbors who want nothing of a commercial nature near their residences even on Mack avenue which was platted for this particular purpose. It is not a beer garden nor even a bowling alley that Mr. Merony desires to put up. It is a florist shop, a type of business which one might think would not grate too harshly on the aesthetic sensibilities of the home guard contingent.

The issue lies in the lap of the village council. Whether or not the members are so wedded to the exclusive residence character of the Woods that they cannot tolerate the idea of even a florist shop on its one commercial street, will be determined soon.

Anderson Dies at 76

Original Ford Backer Dies of Heart Attack in Johns Hopkins Hospital

John W. Anderson, 76, of 209 Lake Shore road, died last Wednesday of a heart attack in Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md. Funeral services were held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in Christ Church, Grosse Pointe boulevard.

Mr. Anderson was born in La-Crosse, Wis. September 25, 1869, the son of Dr. Wendell A. and Susan Small Anderson. His father was former United States consul-general at Montreal.

He attended Cornell University and received his law degree from the University of Michigan in 1890. In 1896 he and the late Horace H. Rackham formed the firm of Anderson and Rackham.

They drew up the incorporation papers for the first Ford Company in 1903. Their fee was $25 and each of the partners invested $5,000 in the company, for which they received 1000 shares of stock each. Mr. Anderson told friends later he had to borrow most of the money to make the investment.

In 1919 Mr. Anderson sold his 1000 shares of stock to the Ford family for $12,500,000. He had received tremendous sums in dividends in the years between.

Mr. Anderson established a $200,000 endowment for the maintenance of the James Orlin Murfin Professorship of Political Science at the University of Michigan, on June 15, 1940.

He was a member of the Cornell Club of Michigan, Country Club, Detroit Bar Association, Detroit Boat Club, Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Grosse Pointe Club, Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, Lochmoor Club, University Club, University of Michigan Club of Detroit, Yondotega Club and Sons of the American Revolution.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Gustava Doeltz Anderson; a son, Wendell W. Anderson, of Vendome road; and a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Gardner, of Lake Shore road.

SEEK CUT-UP

Charles Miller, of 577 St. Clair, reported to the City police that his son, George had the belt of his coat cut in two in the locker room at the Meire school. The police referred the incident to Mr. Weiser, the teacher in George's room, to ferret out the vandal.

Councilman's Ideas on Bus Routes Are Most Unpopular

The harmless little article which the NEWS carried two weeks ago about the proposal of Woods Councilman Arthur Post to have the Woods bus route changed, raised a considerable ruckus among the Woods citizenry at the last council meeting on Tuesday, the 20th.

Ever since the war started, the buses have been running out Mack to Vernier road, thence out Vernier to Marter, on Marter to Brys drive to Mack and return.

Mr. Post, who seemed to have a solitary interest in the bus route change, lives at 1820 Brys drive about the second or third house from the corner of Mack. The ride home on the bus means for him or his family an additional two miles of riding via its present route, but it serves the convenience of a large number of residents who live midway between Mack and Lake Shore.

Band Enjoys Active Season

High School Musicians Get Pictures in Life and Do Radio Program

Grosse Pointe High School's band of 65 members has been doing right well since the beginning of the school year. Not only has it performed and maneuvered at the home football games but also took part in the half time "parade of bands" at Briggs Stadium on Oct. 28.

Along with several other high school bands intricate formations were put on. Life magazine of last week, Nov. 23 issue carried a full page of pictures showing the bands in formation. The local organization formed the wing and nose of the airplane formation as shown in the photograph.

Approximately 1500 students appear on the field at the half time. The High School band also participated in the Victory Loan Parade. This week's Detroit News Greenlight Program on Wednesday evening presented the band in a half hour concert and featured Mr. Harry Safford, mathematics teacher, in several piano selections, and Jackie Ward, vocalist. The program was presented in the WWJ studio. The annual winter concert will be on Jan. 18, Friday evening.

Bus and Car Tangle in Farms

An accident involving a Lake Shore Coach Lines bus and a passenger car occurred at 4 p. m. Sunday at Moross road and Kercheval avenue.

The bus, driven by Kenneth J. Fecto of Glenview, St. Clair Shores, was going west on Kercheval and was turning south into Moross when it sideswiped a Cadillac driven by Lafayette Daniel of Biddle street, Wyandotte.

The Cadillac was damaged to the extent of $150 while the bus suffered damage estimated at $10. Both drivers were given reckless driving tickets for a court appearance.

Township Tax Bills Delayed

It has been impossible for Grosse Pointe township to send out its tax bills at the usual time this year because of the appeal of the Lakefront property owners on their assessment, the hearing on which was thrashed out yesterday in the Park Municipal building.

It is hoped that the bills will be out in about two weeks.

Park Passes New Ordinance Ruling Convalescent Homes

Licensing, Supervision and Periodic Examinations Provided for Under Law Adopted by Commission

The Park Village Commissioners passed an ordinance Monday night providing for the licensing, supervision and periodic examination of convalescent homes.

The enactment of the ordinance was prompted by the fact that the institution on East Jefferson avenue which has been in operation for several years has not been subject to legally local supervision.

Even in the absence of such authority however the local fire department and the village manager have exercised supervision with respect to its safety from fire hazards. The institution has been admirably conducted and rates high with the State Health authorities, Mr. Lane informed the Commissioners.

The ordinance was drawn by Village Attorney Fred McGraw, and was adopted as drawn with exception of lowering the limit on patients from three to two to come within the Village's definition of such establishments. This change was made at the suggestion of Commissioner Karl Goddard who pointed out that it was a common practice for a retired nurse to start such a place as a private enterprise and often had only one or two patients at the beginning.

The ordinance requires an annual license fee of $25, expiring on December 31. It places such establishments under the supervision of the village authorities with respect to fire hazards, sanitation and the general safety and well-being of the inmates, and provides penalties for failure to cooperate with the village authorities in their examinations of such properties.

BLOWOUT CAUSES CRASH

Robert H. Siau, of 496 St. Clair, blew a tire while driving east on Jefferson at 7:30 o'clock in the evening a week ago Tuesday. He lost control of his car and smashed into two poles standing close together in front of 18706 Jefferson. There was no personal injury but considerable damage was done to the car.

The Strike

At the moment of writing the strike in the General Motors plants appears to be straightening out for a long tug. It will of a certainty be such unless the White House exhibits more spineless action than it has yet shown, or Congress itself, moved by the danger which confronts the country, passes some laws which President Truman would not dare to veto.

The strike in the automotive industry which had long been in preparation by the UAW/CIO leaders, is following the strategy which the leaders frankly avowed in the beginning. That was to "pick off" the big concerns one at a time and they have chosen to select the biggest of them all, logically believing that if this one falls they will bring the others to heel with relative ease.

The demands which Walter Reuther, head of the GM Division of the UAW, presents for a thirty per cent wage increase are reasonable, if the rosey picture he paints of the great prosperity for the automotive industry which awaits just around the corner, should eventuate. If it shouldn't he has invited the General Motors company into a disastrous situation. On this score the GM probably has some well considered opinions of its own.

To the UAW's plea for a basic wage to pace the costs of living, or more specifically that they shall have a take home pay equal to or in excess of that the workers received in war time, General Motors has offered an increase of eight to ten percent in wages for a forty five hour week, which it says will give the employees the equivalent of the same wages they earned in the war period. This Mr. Reuter refuses. They want fifty two hours pay for forty hours work.

Mr. Reuter makes much of his plea for a submission of the 30 percent wage increase demand to arbitration by a board of three arbitrators. The General Motors company demurs at the prospective arbitration of a small body in which it would have only one voice against two, one of which would of course speak for the employees and the other quite probably have a strong political core.

Hovering in the background of the issues in the strike and doubtless operating against reaching a quick agreement for its settlement, is the problem of "Unauthorized" or "Wildcat" strikes. If Congress would quickly pass a law placing labor unions under the same legal obligation to observe their contracts as obtains with the employer it would go far to clear the way for the settlement of this strike and all others what might threaten in the future. Such a law would spur the leaders of the unions to take early action whenever a strike threatened which might involve heavy penalties for the union. There would be much less of the Japanese "so sorry" attitude. It is true that General Motors experienced less trouble from the Wildcat strike epidemic which flourished during the height of the war effort than almost any other important concern in the country, as Mr. Reuther points out, but that carries no guarantee that that would be the future experience.

Mr. Reuther alleges that his union is waging a fight against deflation. This statement, standing by itself, would command the respectful attention of practically everybody. Deflation would upset the national economic apparatus as certainly as inflation. An average high national income must be maintained to enable the government to meet its tremendous financing problems for years to come. But when the unions demand increased wages as we are entering upon a peace era and millions of persons returning from war or displaced by closing war industries are claiming early employment, these demands are the shortest possible cut to inflation, an even greater peril to the country than deflation.

The warning of the UAW that car manufacturers shall not increase the price of cars, while the unions at the same moment demand a large increase in wages is obviously intended as a gesture to protect them against a flood tide of indignation from millions of prospective car buyers who would of course be told, and truthfully, that the higher price of cars was necessitated by the bigger wages the manufacturer had to pay his employees. It is also a puerile attempt to deny the age old law of economics that the consumer always has to pay. No law made by God or man can long stay its operation.

Mr. Reuther was not quite big enough to repress the cheap soap box yea to "take a crack at the rich". He had to refer to the salary or earnings of the head of General Motors as a bolster for his argument that because one man, or a mere handful of men, received a large income out of the company all of the 300,000 other employees should also get largely increased incomes. It's about as cheap an argument as was ever dished out at the Marble Arch in Hyde Park. Mr. Reuther knows, or if he doesn't one hundred million other people in this country do know, that Uncle Sam long since made highly effective arrangements whereby no single individual has any very large income. The income tax law has been extremely efficient in this direction. The day of great personal incomes has gone in this country, probably forever, and this method of redistribution of wealth for the benefit of all, via the ministrations of the Government itself, is a measure of social justice of a vastly higher order than the effort of any single pressure group to seize advantage for itself against the common welfare. And Mr. Reuther might put this concrete truth in his pipe and draw on it.

What this country needs above all else at this moment, as pointedly illustrated in the General Motors strike, is the exercise of common sense and a broad and unselfish understanding of the general welfare. The thing most hoped for is the quick reemployment of everybody capable of work, at the best wages the economy of the country can afford. It must shun at this anxious time any move which tends towards inflation. That is the deadly virus that has destroyed many countries in the past. America should have enough wisdom and virtue to avoid the pit into which so many other peoples have fallen and are now falling.

And we should pray for leadership at Washington with enough brains and courage to do the obviously honest things the occasion demands.

Strikes and Bond Sales

Both Detroit and the State of Michigan have attained practically one half of their quota for sale of bonds to individuals in the current bond drive.

It is said to be as good showing as made in any previous drive for bonds of this character. However the illtimed strike in General Motors has sent a chill of anxiety into the leaders of the local campaign. They realize that with a protracted strike facing them the thousands of employees of this great concern living in Michigan will be more concerned with conserving their cash for living expenses than in buying Government bonds. The result is that the committee has called upon business men to increase their individual purchases. This too is a real case of crowding the mourners. Michigan businessmen have no happy anticipations in facing a long strike in the state's greatest single industry.

However, the businessmen of Michigan have never failed to do their share and a little more, in these bond drives and they can be depended upon to meet the emergency with every ounce of financial strength they can muster.

The leaders of the UAW who either timed their strike to coincide with this bond drive, or forgot it would or ignored its implications altogether, did a distinct disservice to the state and the whole country by their pressure move just when the country is straining every nerve to reconvert for peacetime industry and the Government is pushing its unavoidable bond sale.

The Payoff

The twenty odd men on trial for their lives in Nuernberg are facing the payoff for the German war policy which was laid down years ago.

The German war machine wrote into its Manual of War many years ago a practice to be observed in occupied countries in wartime. They called it Schrecklichkeit, or the practice of destroying the will for resistance by terrorism. Its introduction in the last war was exhibited in the murdering of the Burgomaster and six citizens of Alost, Belgium. This practice was repeated in many other places but was not carried forward in the wholesale manner nor with quite the same brutality and inhumanity employed by the brutes who stand in the dock in Nuernberg.

And what a pity for the guarantee of future civilization that the fiend who issued the order for the murdering of the entire civil population of Poland could not have been in that dock for particular consideration!

The dragon's teeth sown by von Clausewitz and his merry crew are sprouting about the feet of the bedraggled band of cutthroats in the ancient Bavarian city.

MacArthur's Way

The American people like the way MacArthur is handling matters in Japan. They are also holding their breath for fear that certain timid souls at Washington will interfere with his businesslike control.

He told the Japanese people that he was coming in as a conqueror, and day by day he is making the meaning of this term more apparent. At the same time his acts cannot fail to impress the common people of Japan, who have lived under an age long tyranny, with the justice of his acts and the eventual benefits for them to which they lead. They will soon come to realize him as a beneficent administrator.

Japan emerged from medieval economy less than a century ago, and since the rise of modern Japan, which began with the expulsion of the Shogunate in 1868, the industry and finance of the nation has been in the hands of a hierarchy of less than a half dozen great families, with the royal family itself at the apex.

Two directives issued by MacArthur last Saturday must clearly indicate to the plain people of Japan the objectives he has in mind and this should seep into their Oriental consciousness. His order that all war profits shall be taxed away and the other for a capital levy on corporate and private fortunes up to seventy percent will be a hard blow for the Mitsui and Mitsubishi clans but a corresponding harbinger of future wellbeing for the plain people of the nation.

Lagging Air Facilities

Detroit, through its responsible officials, has lagged unconscionable in the move to provide adequate airport facilities for this great community. With all the shouting and warning about the onrushing age of air this fourth city in the nation has lapsed into a petty dog fight on this question.

It should have been an awakener to the sleepy when it was announced the other day that the American lines in its arrangements for trans-Atlantic service had passed up Detroit, even as a whistle stop, and its London-Chicago service would fly directly over Detroit.

It will be easier for the city to dig out a place on the air maps of the world while these routes are being determined than it will be to get it on later. The air transport lines are not going to lace the atmosphere of the earth with air lanes as the railroads did the surface of the country three generations ago; with the aid of Government subsidies at so much per mile of rail construction. That halcyon day for the promoter has gone forever.

Detroit's answer to the problem is to jump in now. It must be more than a feeder station for Chicago, Cleveland, Pittsburgh or Buffalo. This matter of leveling off a field and erecting necessary equipment in a terrain nature has already made comparatively level, is neither complicated nor unduly costly for a great community like this and with so much at stake.

Labor's Wage Quandary

No one can find a just quarrel with the working man for trying to get all the wages he can. That is a natural position in America and is in fact a part of the very warp and woof which patterns the American way of life.

When labor, however, tries to tell the employer that he must not raise the prices of his product so that he can realize the added income out of which these wages are to be paid they are going rather far. Mr. Reuther and other labor leaders breathe out all sorts of threats against employers trying to do this. The real motive, of course, which prompts this action is the fear they have of an incensed public opinion when the public has to pay substantially increased prices for automobiles and such and know these higher prices have been caused by labor's demands for higher wages.

Mr. Reuther et al, who wish to argue the matter of prices with Mr. Wilson of General Motors are not wanting in self assurance.

Would it not be common sense, however, for the labor leaders who are putting up a fight for bigger wages to permit the employers and the proper agencies of the government to get together on this matter and decide the question of prices

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:—

I am sure that you will be interested in the recent promotion of Ralph B. Netting, a citizen of your community, from the rank of Lieutenant Commander to that of Commander in the U. S. Naval Reserve. Commander Netting is due to return to inactive duty in a short time. While in the Navy he did an outstanding job as Officer-in-Charge of the Engine Parts Coordinating Office in Detroit, Michigan, which office had the responsibility of obtaining repair parts for internal combustion engines in the Navy aggregating millions of horsepower. The proper performance of this responsibility was a valuable contribution to the war effort in insuring that this multitude of engines was kept in operating condition for use against the enemy. Commander Netting was a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy in the Class of 1919 but resigned to go into business in civil life about 1923, and he is presently associated in business with the J. L. Hudson Company of Detroit, Michigan. Very truly yours, E. W. Mills, Rear Admiral, USN. 2158 Fleetwood Drive, Grosse Pointe Woods, November 25, 1945

Dear Sir:— Here is a little item of interest to us and I hope it will be to you. On October 18, 1945 I had an accident on St. Clair at St. Paul in Grosse Pointe. I went through a stop street and hit another car. Needless to say I was frightened very badly. The police came to the scene of the accident. Never in my life, or my mother's, or our neighbor's, Mrs.

Grosse Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

"I want . . . I want like mad to think, (The more I think, the more I drink). I want . . . I want like mad to write, (Between I'm tight, I find I'm tight!) And when I'm tight, I'm really sunk Soooo, hell . . . I might as well get drunk." (Guess Who)

It has just been announced that Mrs. I. Imbided gave birth to a seven pound boy on the 28th. of this month. It will be recalled by our readers that when we announced Mrs. Imbided's wedding last March, and suggested that it was a 'surprise' . . . we were almost sued . . . but not quite!

Joe Foulmout just called to tell us that it's true he punched his wife in the nose last night, but hopes we won't print same. Sorry Joe, but news is news . . . however, most of your friends will probably be glad as all get out.

For the enlightenment of those who saw Bill Borscht (whose wife is out of town) dining with Mrs. Klipfeather (whose husband is out of town) . . . there ain't nothin' to it! Sooooo, you girls can go right on and bid your grand slams without taking time out to dish the dirt. They're just good friends . . . so they say!

That little horror of a dinner that the Blub Glubbingtons gave last Saturday, is still the topic of conversation among the ce-light. The guests, who were asked to be there at 8 p.m. PROMPTLY, sat down to dinner at 10:30, after a round-robin of knock-out drops, accompanied by poisonous looking things called 'aw-derves' . . . which were swished under their noses for some two hours. After dinner, the men, who'd have given their eye teeth to go home to bed . . . had to play poker with a group of women who don't know a chip from a full house.

Lacey Pingshot made her debut this week at one of the dreariest teas that ever came out of China. This reporter (who was invited to come in by the back door) sampled some of the stringy chicken and rubber peas that were served the guests . . . and found them wanting. So were the guests wanting . . . wanting some good old fashioned scotch and soda, instead of the Punch, (spiked by some heller, with bathtub gin.) Mr. Farthingshot, the deb's uncle, was the only one to openly protest about the whole procedure . . . and particularly complained about the length of time he had to stand in line to be introduced to his only niece (whom he knew like a father), while myriad dowagers gossiped in the line with Mama.

Mr. and Mrs. Bribe Anione, surprised the living daylight out of their guests last week by taking them to a lecture after a dinner at the Homestead. The guests were amused no end because the Aniones' had forgotten how many they'd asked, so had to wait 45 minutes while the Homestead funkies got around to reorganizing the table . . . which meant placing 24 people where only 18 were expected to sit. However, what discomfort they may have undergone while standing around waiting for a table, was dispelled when they found themselves in Sienanigan Hall (in the back row) listening to a lecture on how to cross lettuce with carrots, by the eminent Dr. Veggieble. Guests can hardly wait for the Aniones to give another gala!

That social (?) triumvirate, the messes Blobstot, Hotshot and Everspring, have started yet another project for which they are trying to raise money in the Pointe. THIS time it's for the Society for the Prevention of Destroying Any More Shaving Mugs or Hair Receivers. They are making their usual calls IN PERSON . . . knowing full well that most of the suckers haven't the guts to turn them down because of their social superiority. Tee hee!

We had the pleasure this week of telling off Mrs. T. Welldone Hobnob, when she told us not to print the fact that she was giving a dinner for a hundred and fifteen of her most intimate friends. Mrs. Hobnob, who practically commands us to give her free publicity in our social pages when she needs and wants it . . . was afraid the 200 intimate friends she didn't ask . . . might be hurt! The only reason we aren't printing the guest list (which at least 50 of her intimate friends called to tell us), is that the editor said it would take up too much room . . . and anyway, who cares?

The above is a society columnist's DREAM . . . something she'd LOVE to be able to do . . . and maybe in another hundred years, newspapers will realize that it's the type of stuff people LOVE to read . . . unless, of course, it's about them.

At one of the smaller and less pretentious duck clubs across Lake St. Clair, guests are startled when they arrive at the table for a 5 a.m. breakfast, to find it being served by a very elegant looking gent wearing stiff shirt, white tie and tails! He is also the cook and general mop-up, but the only barb he has that's presentable enough to appear in, is the formal job he always wears.

We had occasion this week to call a local woman who is very Charles Hammer, have we seen such polite, courteous and understanding men. Each and every one was a perfect gentleman.

We are deeply grateful, appreciative and thankful for such men. We hope you will mention this fact in your paper, as we feel it is little enough to thank them.

Sincerely, Mrs. Harry Beattie, (driver) 2158 Fleetwood Drive. Mrs. W. A. Hunsburger, 2168 Nesbit, (Mother of Driver).

Dangerous Years

By FRED M. KOPP, R.P.H.

When your child is between the ages of two and ten, he is in that period of life when diphtheria—the killer—is most likely to strike.

Between two and three this scourge is most likely to kill; it strikes most often at the ages of five and six.

But immunization against this malady can safely see a child through the dangerous years. See that your child is protected against this killer of the young—and do not wait until he is ready for school. ## From Another Pointe of View

by Jane Schermerhorn

Since Mrs. William K. Williams has made her announcement . . . it looks like a high-o season . . . with holiday bells! . . . That's the way women of Grosse Pointe greeted the news that Mrs. Williams has started an Hourly Aid Club . . .

Which provides Grosse Pointe mothers with competent, carefully trained "sitters" and light household task workers . . . Besides giving many high school, college girls and middle-aged women . . . a chance to augment their earnings . . . by doing this kind of work . . .

A similar organization is regarded as indispensable in Washington, D. C. . . .

And the unrestrained joy of Pointe grandmamas who have been minding daughter's baby for many, many hours during the war years of manshortage, that relief is in sight . . . has been nothing short of wondrous! . . .

MRS. WILLIAM K. WILLIAMS FORMS NEW CLUB

Only members of the club may avail themselves of the trained service guaranteed by the Hourly Aids . . .

The aids will take a 12 hour course with lectures . . . which gives instruction along such lines as bathing of babies and children . . . correct method of feeding children . . . simple preparation of food . . . what to do in case of accidents . . . psychology of the pre-school child and the school child, etc. . . .

Mrs. Williams has had many years of experience in personnel work . . .

And during the war was chief of counselling of Hudson Motor Company . . .

HOW TO BECOME AN HOURLY AID MEMBER

Commenting on the new service she will manage for the Pointe (and which she plans to soon organize in other parts of the city) Mrs. Williams said:

"Training is most important in every job. I learned that fact at the Hudson plant, where we had a splendid school in machine and riveting. Job knowledge gives one self assurance and feeling of responsibility naturally follows.

"There are many girls and middle aged women anxious to make extra money. We hope we will have a large membership. And everyone, regardless of race and creed, is invited to join the Hourly Aid courses and is invited to enquire further of me at Niagara 0792. References and a clean bill of health will be necessary to become a member of the club.

"Parents need not have any worry about the environment their daughters will be working in if they are registered with the Hourly Aid Club, and older women need not hesitate to accept any job offered in club membership."

POINTERS SPONSOR NEW SERVICE

The employer membership may also be made through Mrs. Williams . . . there will be no solicitation . . .

Dorothy Zeder Marries Lieut. Fox

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Zeder of East Jefferson Avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, DOROTHY, to LIEUT. LEE FOX, USN. The marriage took place last Saturday in San Diego, where the bride had been visiting her brother and sister-in-law, the Fred M. Zeders Jr. Lieut. Fox is the son of Mrs. E. L. Fox of San Diego and is well known to the young set here having visited at the Zeder residence last Summer. Mrs. Fox attended Grosse Pointe Country Day School and Briarcliff Junior College. Lieut. Fox is a graduate of Annapolis.

A brilliant Navy record, including two years in the Pacific, netted LIEUT. CMDR. RICHARD A. GREEN his discharge papers from Seattle, Wash., last week, and the Greens are bidding week, and the Greens are bidding with her mother, MRS. LINN L. ZIMMER, of Neff road.

The arrival of LIEUT. and MRS. EDWIN N. GRANT and their small daughter, MARTHA, effected a family reunion in the home of Mrs. Grant's parents, the FRED L. SHERWOODS, of Merriweather road, last week. The Grants will go on to Toronto to make their home.

LIEUT. ARTHUR POWELL, of the ATC, is back at Fort Dix, N. J., after a 45-day leave in the Pointe with his parents, the A. T. POWELLS, of McKinley place.

Come Dec. 1, LIEUT. CMDR. and MRS. A. INGERSOLL LEWIS, JR., hope to wend their way back to their Lewiston road home. They have made their residence in Washington and vacationed in Daytona Beach, Fla., recently.

The Pointe relinquished the JAMES GROVES this week, as the former captain and his wife left for their home in St. Louis. The Groves were installed in MRS. PERCY BERNARD'S house on Grosse Pointe boulevard and entertained at a "farewell" cocktail party last Tuesday in the Little Club.

The EDWIN HILLERS, of McKinley road, had reason for rejoicing Thanksgiving week-end, for their son, CADET FRED HILLER, was on deck from Nazareth Hall Military Academy in Ohio.

ESTHER PALMER, daughter of MRS. LONGYEAR PALMER, of Washington road, is back among her Smith College text books, after a "hello" to her brother, LIEUT. HOWARD LONGYEAR PALMER, home on leave following a year and a half in the Pacific.

Elizabeth G. Harris Weds William Tarpey

Afternoon Ceremony Takes Place in Buckingham Road Home of Bride's Parents; On Eastern Honeymoon

A quiet afternoon ceremony united in marriage Elizabeth G. Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emery E. Harris, of Buckingham road, and William A. Tarpey, of Chicago, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William J. Tarpey, on Wednesday, Nov. 21.

The young couple repeated their nuptial vows before the Rev. Lawrence Midworth in the Harris home.

For her wedding the bride chose an afternoon dress of slate blue crepe. A hat of brown sequins with maline trim and a corsage of purple orchids completed her costume.

Mrs. Thomas E. Harris was matron of honor for her sister-in-law. Her gown was of fuchsia crepe with matching hat and her corsage of green orchids.

Two tiny flower girls, Mary Louise Harris and Jane Elinor Harris, preceded the bride. They wore identical frocks of pink dotted swiss with bands of rosettes in their hair. Sweetheart roses formed their small colonial bouquets.

Best man for Mr. Tarpey was

Joan Harrison Kirby Christened in St. Paul's

Christening day for small Joan Harrison Kirby was a big event, with her parents, the William G. Kirbys, of Fisher road, hosts at a punch party in their home after the ceremony in St. Paul's on the Lake Shore.

Mrs. Edwin Fisher and James E. Frazer were Joan's godparents.

Those who joined in the celebration included Mr. and Mrs. Dan R. Simmons, and Dan Simmons, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gripekoven, the Gordon Woods, Mr. and Mrs. William Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Hangar, George Dickey and Ed Picard.

AAUW Prepares For Book Sale

The book sale which is to be held by the Pointe branch of the American Association of University Women furthers education in two ways, the association points out. People who have been unable to buy new books are given an opportunity to add to their libraries and the proceeds help some graduate student continue studies in a chosen field.

Mrs. Taylor Seeber, president of the Pointe branch, has appointed Mrs. Kenneth Beardslee and Mrs. Edward Farrand Wright as co-chairmen for the sale, which will be held November 30 and December 1 in the Ferris and Orchard Market, Kercheval at St. Clair.

Solicitation of volumes for the sale is in the hands of Mrs. Paul R. Baldwin, Mrs. Edison Botts, Mrs. Abram L. Brown, Mrs. Sabina Crocker, Mrs. H. W. Merrill, Mrs. F. D. McIntyre, Mrs. Milton W. Pettibone, Mrs. Charles W. Scheid, Mrs. Morgan J. Sherman, Mrs. R. W. Sibbert and Mrs. R. L. Shepard.

Surrealists Cavort At Little Club Party

Headresses Both Startling and Beautiful at Unique Event; Decorations and Music Outstanding

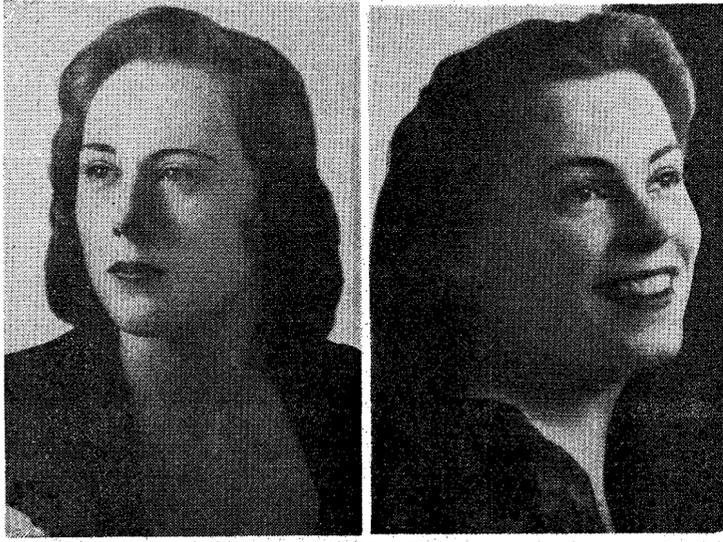

One of the most successful dinner dances ever given at the Little Club was that of last Friday's Surrealist Head-dress gala. The decorations, consisting of 'dreamy' looking draperies, Dali-ish paintings and odd looking arms and legs, were carried out in real surrealist style by a committee of the members, who did a grand job.

Good food and good music . . . in this case it was Jack Rosevere . . . are always sure-fire foundations for a bang up party, but in this case, the zany headresses added immeasurably to the success of the evening.

Prizes were won by Mrs. J. Stewart Hudson . . . who wore on her head a miniature flower bed out of which stuck a very human looking hand complete with realistic looking painted nails. The gentleman's prize was won by 'Cy' Edwards, who had a too real looking feathered duck nestling in a bed of greens upon Cy's handsome head.

Among those we liked best were: Mrs. William McGivern's "Milliner's nightmare" . . . which boasted the tiniest of hats out of which stuck hither and yon, fur feathers . . . flowers . . . birds and bees. The Myron B. Merrys' creations, concocted by the gifted Mr. Merry were very much in keeping with the theme. Mrs. Merry's cone shaped bonnet depicted "Miss Grosse Pointe" . . . and was splattered with colored photographic close-ups of pretty mouths and ears. A miniature telephone rested on the bot-

Pointers Play Hosts To Percy Jones Boys

Formal Dinner Dance Given in Neighborhood Club Following Michigan-Ohio State Football Game

Last Saturday night the Neighborhood Club was the scene of a gay formal dinner dance party given in honor of 24 boys from Percy Jones hospital, by the Grosse Pointe Hostess Corps.

To appease their ravenous appetite, after having come from the Michigan-Ohio State game, the boys were served dinner by Marjorie Allor, Mary Louise Smith, Ruth and Virginia Schultz, Genevieve and Katherine Kelly.

The dance floor and ping pong room were enhanced by the lovely hostesses, among them being Marilyn Bvelon, Jane Humphreys, Kay Kolowich, Marian Caster, Louise Nagel and Mary Frank.

The following people entertained the boys in their homes Saturday night and Sunday:—Mrs. Olney Jones, Mrs. Raymond Dykema, Mrs. Raymond A. Jacobs, Mrs. Reginald MacArthur, Mrs. Arthur Bull, Mrs. Geo. W. Malcomson, Mrs. Earl R. Bridge, Mrs. Frank P. Book, Mrs. Clyde Adams, Mrs. Augustin Nutter, Mrs. Joseph Cobern, Mrs. Arnold S. Malon, Mrs. Ferris Fitch.

The Neighborhood Club is most grateful to the following women who were responsible for making the party such a huge success: Mrs. Frederick Rising, Mrs. Ferris Fitch, Mrs. Gilbert Currie and Mrs. Fred Munro.

Parent-Teacher Meeting Arranged by Unitarians

A Parent - Teacher afternoon has been arranged by the Religious committee of the Grosse Pointe Unitarian church for Sunday, December 2 at 4 p. m.

The chairman of that committee, Mrs. John H. Flancher, has secured Mrs. Dudley Moore, Religious Education Director of the Detroit Unitarian Church, who will speak on the "Ideal Church School Program."

Following the address the parents will discuss with the teachers of the school the aims, purposes and curricula of the various classes. At the close of the meeting tea will be served.

From Another Pointe of View

That her son-in-law and daughter . . . Capt. and Mrs. Alfred J. Mayer, Jr., announce the birth of a baby son . . . on November 11 . . .

The young man has been named Alfred J. Mayer III . . . Mrs. Mayer was Margaret Van Dyke Richardson . . . daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Warren Richardson, formerly of Grosse Pointe . . . now of Balboa Island, Cal. . .

It's safe to wager that miniature Mrs. Richardson . . . is the peppiest grandmother we know . . .

MRS. POWERS BUYS NEW HOME

Don't mention the cranberry shortage to Mrs. Harriet Ekren Powers because she just won't believe you . . .

The other day when we called her . . . a quart of cranberries had just dropped from her ice box . . . and were rolling in every direction . . . with Mrs. P. in pursuit . . .

She's sure she retrieved enough cranberries to garnish all the turkeys which will be served in Grosse Pointe during the holidays . . .

The holidays will find Mrs. Powers all settled in the new home she has bought on McMillan road . . .

She's moving out of her son-in-law and daughter's home on Colonial Court . . . to make way for their return . . .

And news that the Lieut. and Mrs. Larry Gottfredson, Jr., and their tot are coming home from war service in Columbus is hailed by the young set . . .

fur beard, short but well groomed . . . and a chef's hat, on which dangled tiny kitchen utensils and a few odd vegetables.

Some gent, who shall remain nameless . . . must have had frustrated ambitions to be a Doctor. He wore, a small skull cap, two piercing glass eyes, a stethoscope and a stuffed rubber glove that stuck out at a 45 degree angle. He said he represented "See all . . . Hear all . . . Feel all!"

Last but not least, we liked Chisholm N. MacDonald's "Lost Weekend". On top of his topper, a small wooden tray held three small bottles of liquor, a tiny hula dancer, cigar, whiskey measuring glass, corkscrew and bottle opener. The tray was tied onto the hat with two silk (presumably) stockings . . . and Mr. MacDonald did a grand job of balancing the thing on his head most of the evening . . . and for THAT alone, he should have had a prize.

Deer
THE DEER SEASON brought bucks to many Pointers . . . no buck fever reported. Bar owner JOE SNAY assured his crowd of a venison stew when he dropped a 180 pound buck. PETE MOORS probably got the largest buck hereabouts—a 16-pointer in Blaney Park. Fire Chief LEDYARD CHAURIN brought home a fine buck, as did Police Chief TOM TROMBLY. Tom bagged his at Gaylord. MAURICE DEVUGST of St. Clair loaded a buck on his car at Grayling. BOB MORAN and his camp mates got a big one at Whitefish River Bottom, 160 miles north of the Straits.

JACK CHAMPINE, holding HARRIET LABADIE's hands: "Will you marry me?"
Harriet: "Yes, Jack."
And so they will be married. They've set the wedding day for Saturday, December 29, at St. Paul's Church.

MRS. GLENN ANDERSON, of Merriweather road, has again been appointed chairman of the Santa for Servicemen Fund, sponsored by the Detroit TIMES. The drive will provide Christmas boxes for all hospitalized servicemen in Michigan. Last year hundreds of packages were collected from the Pointes, and a memorable party was arranged for five-hundred servicemen by the Grosse Pointe committee at the Neighborhood Club.

We of the Pointe can express the real purpose of Christmas by wrapping a gift package for a wounded boy. Contents of the package should be of two-dollar value.

Your scribe is happy to co-operate with Mrs. Anderson in her endeavor to provide presents for the boys. We realize that a mere gift does not necessarily assure a maimed veteran a merry Christmas. Too many of the boys are in real pain . . . there are no pin-up convalescents . . . too many are in mortal pain, whose lives can never be merry—at Christmas time or any other time. But a gift from you can demonstrate a kindness, we are sure, that they can understand and share.

Your packages may be left at the NEWS office. They will be turned over to Mrs. Anderson for distribution among the servicemen's hospitals.

RAYMOND FOLEY lived in Grosse Pointe Woods until his appointment by PRESIDENT TRUMAN last August to Commissioner of Housing. Although high mogul of the nation's housing, Foley waited two months in a Washington hotel room before locating an apartment for his family.

The annual OARSMAN'S BALL was held last Wednesday evening at the Detroit Boat Club. Last summer the oarsmen traveled to the Royal Canadian Henley Regatta and returned with the title of North American High-School Champions. Quite naturally this called for a big celebration in honor of the crews and of the coach, Jud Ross. Seen admiring the beautiful silver trophy were Betty Jo Faulk 'n Dick Finch, Bev Editt 'n Dick Winkler, Marilyn Buck 'n Bill Rogers, Beth Klaver 'n Don Hiles, Mary Ann Kennedy 'n Bill Moll, Annie Wakeman 'n Frank McBride, and Joanie Gehlert 'n Bob Cudlip.

The TUXIS CLUB gave its annual Shipwreck Shuffle on Friday night. As usual the dance was very informal, and the kids showed up in everything from blue jeans to pajamas. We even saw one girl swathed in an enormous bath towel. Macky Macpherson, Dave Kaiser, Joanie Cronin, Don Winslow, Jane Gehlert, Ray Shumann, Carolyn Robinson, Ched Swenson, Margie Simons, John Rummel, Letty Kretschmar, Jack Huckins, Cynthia Penoyer, Jack Uhl, Kathy Stuart and Bill Baker were among the dates, and the stag line included Dick Seymour, Paul Grubbs, Bud Wolf, Don Drader, Earl Brabb and Jerry Thiede.

The same night a GAMMA DELT COED PARTY was in full swing over at Tucker Whiteheads. Annie Wedthoff was there with Lee Middleitch, Carol McPherson 'n Bill Wood, Libby Pat McKean 'n John Pemberthy, and Sally Ives 'n Ted Osius.

Mobs 'n mobs of girls showed up at JULIE MICOU'S last Friday for a strictly feminine party. Practically every school around the Pointe was well represented. Just to show you what we mean—Bobby Towar and Ann Hubbard, were there from Grosse Pointe High; Jean Halliday, Bev Brown, Cubby Rockleman, and Julie Marshall from Liggett; from the Convent were Julie Thurber and Ann Haggerty; and the group from Country Day School included Jo Collins, Jean Wright, Ginny Robb, and Sally Potter. Dodo Booth, Blenda Isby, Joyce Wood, Sue Hubbard, Jeanne Cadigan, and Patty Eden traveled all the way from Bloomfield for the big night.

Some of the people who were lucky enough to get tickets to the Michigan - Ohio State football game were Macky Macpherson, Barbara Galliano, Marilyn Buck, Bill Rogers, Letty Kretschmar, Jack Huckins, Dan Beck, Joe, Johnny and Carol Cobane, and Ed and Bill Isby.

LOU FLETCHER and CONNIE PREBLE were occupying the seats of honor at the birthday party given for them at Lou Fletcher's home last Saturday. After luncheon the girls were intrigued with the unusual games and even more unusual prizes. Tangled in the cobweb contest were Lois McKinley, Shirley Jerome, Sue Reekie, Carrie Carter, Ann Wedthoff, Sally Frost, Martha Johnson, Elizabeth Wright, Julie Micou and Carol McPherson.

If you are planning to have a party, or know of anything that rightfully belongs in this column, be sure to let me know, and I'll be glad to put it in. But let me know soon 'cause my deadline's Sunday morning. Guess that's about all for this week, but you can be looking forward to the next S. A. dance, the Grosse Pointe High Junior Prom and the Liggett Junior Prom, all of which are coming up in the near future.

Your children may not follow your advice but they will follow you.

Aid Child By Home Reading

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D. In many parts of the United States, teachers forbid the primary school child to take home his reading book. This may be warranted where the teacher is held liable for the free textbooks.

But the reason for this forbidding, which is most often given by teachers, is that if the child is permitted to take his reader home he may learn some things there wrong or, what is more absurd, that he won't find the pages of his reader interesting at school after having read them at home.

Doctor Amazed These "reasons" have always amazed me. Anyone who has carefully observed a young child knows that, as a rule, the more often he has heard or read a story, the more he enjoys hearing or reading it again.

How can a parent do any harm to the child's reading, except when she gets cross at him while he reads and builds up unhappy emotions over his reading difficulties? The wise teacher will try to prevail on the parent to be calm and patient with the child over all his book learning at home.

Suppose the parent's way of teaching the child to read is very different from the school's. Suppose she tries to help the child sound out some of the words when the school doesn't (fortunately the school is bringing back some phonics). Suppose she lets him spell out to her, while she is busy, the hard words for her to pronounce.

Reads Out

Suppose she even reads the lesson aloud to the child. How can such experiences harm the child, when it is a pleasant experience? As a rule, the more ways of attack in reading, the greater the opportunities to make progress at it.

Consider, too, what family comradeship can develop about the book taken home. One of the strongest motives the young child has to learn to read is that he might be able to read to his parents, grandparents or young brother or sister. See, moreover, what a gain when he does.

It is easy to see why the mother raised the question she did in the following letter.

Three Children

"Dear Dr. Myers: I have three children in school, two in the third and one in the second grade. I always have read to them a great deal until last year when I was not feeling so well. So now my eldest daughter likes to get out books that I have read many times to them and read when I haven't time to read to her. She even brings home third grade readers that she has never read before. Naturally there are some words that she has never had before.

"I am afraid if I allow her to read these books she might pronounce some words wrong or skip them. On the other hand, I don't want to discourage her so she won't want to read stories for herself. Please tell me what to do. A stamped envelope is enclosed."

In answering this mother, I commended her on having read to her children, advised her to let some household things go in order to continue to read to them and entreated her to encourage that child to go on reading for fun at home any book no matter how hard so long as she enjoys it; also to induce this child to read some from easy books to the younger children.

Cass Town Hall Presents Editor

Ralph Hancock, distinguished authority on Inter-American affairs, and Latin American editor on the staff of the Encyclopedia Americana, speaks for the Detroit Town Hall in the Cass Theater, next Friday morning December 7 at 11 o'clock. His topic will be, "Postwar Pan-Americanism".

At the beginning of the war Mr. Hancock was called to Washington to serve as senior economic analyst, specialist in the Caribbean area for the Board of Economic Warfare and later was appointed head of the U. S. Economic Mission investigating conditions caused by the war in the so-called "Banana Republics".

Mr. Hancock has written many exciting news stories of Latin-American intrigue, revolutions and strange adventure; his text books are in use in the high schools and he is author and photographer of numerous educational films.

This is the last lecture of the Friday morning Town Hall series before the Christmas recess. The next lecture will be on Friday morning January 4, 1946.

Club Sponsoring Lecture Series

The board of Directors of the Neighborhood Club is sponsoring a series of lectures which are expected to be of great interest to many Pointers. The first will be given on Tuesday, December 11 at 2:30 p. m. by Miss Ruth Smiley. Her subject will be "Christmas Menus and New Kitchen Equipment."

There will be six lectures in the series. The cost for the series will be $2.00 or 35 cents per lecture. A tea will follow each lecture, sponsored by the board. The first tea will be given by the Committee in charge, which includes Mrs. Earl Holley, Mrs. George Bethune Duffield, Mrs. Rothe Farr, Mrs. Cyril Edwards, Miss Sarah Hendrie and Mrs. Dexter Perry, Jr. The latter two will be in charge of the tea table.

In sponsoring the lecture series, the board particularly had in mind new comers to the Pointe. During the war these women had activities which kept them busy in the AWVS and Red Cross. With the cessation of these programs, they have had little to keep them occupied and few opportunities to meet new people.

With the Boys in Service

 NICE, France — PRIVATE FIRST CLASS MIKE KAMSTRA, 1431 Nottingham road, Grosse Pointe, Michigan, is a member of the 102nd Division Chorus which won the hearts and acclaim of a capacity crowd of French civilians at a recent concert in the Opera House.

The program was arranged through Special Service of the U. S. Riviera Recreational Area in an effort to further Franco-American relations. That the venture was a success was evinced by the spontaneous shouts and applause of enthusiastic Frenchmen who came expecting to hear jive and jazz and instead were treated to such difficult choral numbers as "Jesus" by Cordans, "Brothers Sing On" by Grieg, Schubert's "Evening Hymn" and "Dear Land of Home" by Sibelius.

Although the choir has been organized for just a short time, it has taken on the aspect of professionals. The group has given several concerts in Germany and has made a short movie with sound for release in the United States.

At present the 102nd Chorus is working on recordings for a series of programs over the American Forces Network in Europe. Future concerts will be held in Vienna and Nurnberg with a possible concert tour in America.

R. Morgan of 1906 Hunt-Club dr., Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich., is on his way home.

Morgan is one of over 4,200 high-point Navy veterans whom the "Magic Carpet" is bringing back to the States aboard the U.S.S. Yorktown.

The U.S.S. Yorktown, one of more than 250 carriers, battleships, cruisers, and attack transports in the Navy's famed "Magic Carpet" fleet, left Guam, November 17, and is scheduled to arrive in San Francisco about December 1.

Passengers will go directly to the Separation Centers nearest their homes to complete the formalities of obtaining their discharges before returning to civilian life.

SHRIVENHAM, England — More than 4,000 soldier-students from all 48 States are enrolled for the second term at Shrivenham American University, including two from Grosse Pointe, Michigan.

Three-hundred and sixty-nine courses in eight academic departments are offered at SAU, a GI school operated by the Army's Information and Education division. The mission is to provide courses of college and university grade for troops awaiting return to the U. S. The faculty, picked from American universities and army ranks, totals 130 civilian educators and 100 officers and enlisted men.

From Grosse Pointe are: STAFF SERGEANT LOUIS H. CHARBONNEAU, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. L. H. Charbonneau, of 1044 Kensington rd., and TECHNICAL FIFTH GRADE EDWARD G. BENVIA, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Benvia of 358 Belanger rd.

S/Sgt. Charbonneau, 21, is assigned to the Bad Air Depot Number 1 in England. He is a former student at the University of Detroit and also attended the University High School there. He is taking courses in the American novel, general psychology and advanced composition. He has been overseas two years.

R. A. LABADIE S 1/c, writes from the Naval Air Station at New Orleans that he is being discharged on December 1.

 Park Nuisance

Mrs. G. A. Faillie, of 1032 Kensington, has been greatly annoyed recently by a couple of dogs who make day and night hideous by barking at each other across the street by her home. The duet never seems to progress to the fighting stage but the animals carry on a sort of dare-you-to-cross-the-street game.

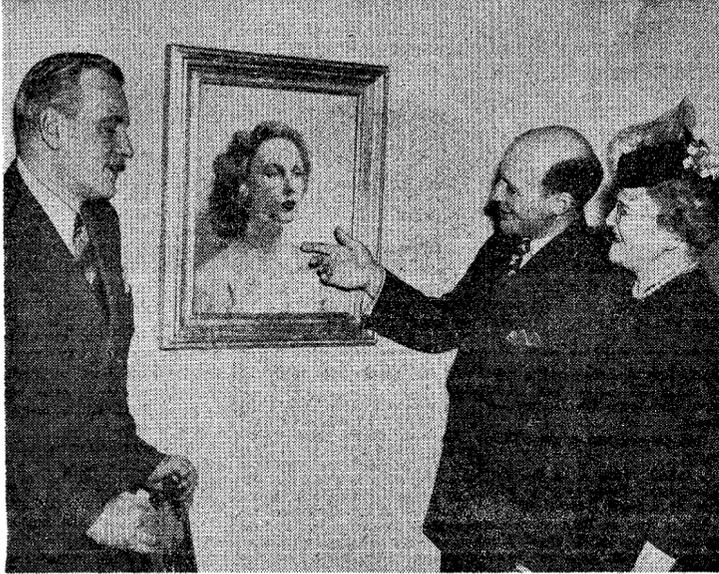

She asked for relief from the local police and the scout car crew arrived in time to capture one of the challengers. The other was police-wise and made his escape. The owner of the captive was requested to keep his pet's vocal efforts out of earshot of the neighborhood. The other owner will receive a similar request, when and if he, the pet, is located.

Surviving Three Out of Five Sons Who Went to War Have Thanksgiving Reunion

Brothers Get Together for First Time in Four Years in Home of Parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Gosselin

For the first time in more than four years three brothers, all that survive out of a family of five sons who went to war, had a Thanksgiving Day reunion with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Gosselin of 897 Beaconsfield.

Those who sat around the family table were: Corporal Raymond of the Ninth Tactical Air Force; Joseph, fireman 1/c on thirty day furlough from the submarine Pompon; and Earl an aviation machinists' mate 3/c.

The other two, who will never sit down to the family board again, were First Lieutenant Edward J., first reported missing in action and later reported killed in action, and Michael Shurba, an adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Gosselin, who was killed on the Salerno beachhead in Italy in September, 1943.

All five of the boys were in active combat service overseas. Their combined team of combat duty totals more than twenty years. There are few families in the area that can boast of such a record.

Shores

poses is determined by the board. It is a matter of indifference to the board whether the municipality chooses to have a low assessment and a high tax or vice versa.

The Shores assessment in 1944 was $7,702,350 or roughly about nine percent of the total township roll. The withdrawal of the Shores from the Township would deprive the township of this same percentage of its present revenues. Whether or not it would elect to continue its present police radio and health service on a rental basis is not known.

It would, as a City, gain its own representative on the County Board of Supervisors, as is now the case with the City of Grosse Pointe. Carl Schweikart, the Township Supervisor, is the sole representative of the Township on the Board.

If the Shores should become a City it would probably be one of the smallest in the State, if not the smallest. It is at present much the smallest municipality within the township both in area and population.

An anomalous situation exists however in the present Shores village jurisdiction which might complicate its ambitions for City status. It includes a small part of Macomb county immediately east of the Wayne-Macomb line along the shores. This arrangement whereby the limits of an incorporated village overlapped the county line, brought into the village the Edsel Ford estate, the taxes from which comprised a substantial part of its tax revenues. Whether or not this same arrangement could be made in the event of the erection of a new municipal corporation to be known as a city, is not clear.

Another motive which may figure in the new discussion about a City is the deep rooted desire of all of the Pointe municipalities to retain their separate municipal identity. They are all strong on their insistence to retain home rule and possibly figure it would be easier to secure this by taking on the status of a City. There has been much discussion for some time among all of the Pointes of the idea of each of them withdrawing in turn from the township, which on the completion of its program would cease to exist. The argument is that the township does not perform enough governmental functions for the area to warrant its existence.

The Shores village may figure that by withdrawing, as the City did in 1934, it will break the ice in the move to leave the Township a childless political entity.

The general opinion however is that the move is motivated more by the hope that it can the better control taxation and bring relief to the owners of high cost lakefront property.

I can't do a great deal for my nation unless I give a square deal to my neighbors.

Lane Presents Report on Park

Park Village Manager Everett B. Lane presented his semi-annual report to the Commissioners Monday night. It was an informing and detailed report on the activities of the village government for the period and covered every department of the municipal service.

The Commissioners were highly gratified with the report and commended Mr. Lane for his intelligent presentation of the municipal activities.

City Police Are Asked To Locate Milk Thief

A. Orvine of 529 St. Clair reported to the City police that a tenant living in the upstairs apartment of his place had seen a man reaching into his milk chute late in the afternoon on Saturday.

He hollered at the man and he ran away. Mr. Orvine asked for police supervision of his place for a few days to try to locate the milk thief.

KISS of DEATH

By LAWRENCE RANDALL

As Told to Mary Madison

SYNOPSIS OF THE STORY SO FAR

Coming home to Grosse Pointe, brilliant young publicist LARRY RANDALL finds Grosse Pointe shocked by the sensational death of the girl he loves and idealizes. MIRANDA AMES, fabulous beauty and heiress of the world's greatest motor fortune, Consolidated Motors, with her stepmother, FAY AMES, a champagne blonde with a colorful past. LARRY RANDALL is assigned to suppress publicity on the murder by CORNELIUS DUNN, public relations counsel for Consolidated Motors, directing the case from New York, and sending ace detective GUY ZINGLER to aid Grosse Pointe police solve the crime, in charge of LIEUTENANT CARROLL, homicide expert, who shows LARRY the exhibits found by MIRANDA'S body on the pier of The Grosse Pointe Golf Club. 1) match folder from The Plaza Hotel. 2) spilled face powder of unknown brand. 3) a wine menu with the autograph of the big name band leader Jock Pendleton and 4) a string of $50,000 pearls on MIRANDA'S body. LARRY vows to kill the killer. At the Lakeshore Drive estate of FAY AMES, LARRY finds her with ROGER BROOKS, the aimless, aristocratic fiance of MIRANDA, DON MONACO, a hand-kissing clarinet player of noble ancestry. And MISS SNEED, the gaunt old family retainer who was MIRANDA'S former governess. IMOGENE GARDNER, coy charming crook whom LARRY finds engaged a room next to the detective to carry on some mysterious scheme. From LIEUT. CARROLL, Larry learns the Grosse Pointe Golf Club caddy who found Miranda's body, shy, young, ambitious BIRDIE MACLEAN claims he heard a haunting tune whistled at dawn, presumably by Miranda's murderer . . . a tune by which he can spot the killer.

The phone clanged. I picked it up, looking wearily about the disordered room. The voice was controlled, striving with uncertain success to be suave. It was Jock Pendleton. I cut his introductory preliminaries. He came out with it, "Listen, Mr. Randall, I'll be brief. You know that autograph of mine that was found on the pier? I just had a phone call about it. A man's voice. He said he called to warn me that the autograph had been signed in blood." I laughed, rather unconvincedly. "That's a pretty gaudy statement, but I wouldn't pay much attention to an anonymous phone call. If you're worried, tell the police. Ask for Carroll in the homicide office. He'll give you a police guard." "I don't want the police. I'd like to see you first thing in the morning." "I can see you tonight." "No. It will only make me nervous to talk tonight. I've got an airshot at twelve thirty. I can't let the band down. I talked to Fay Ames and she said you'd take charge for me." "O. K. Nine A. M. at the club." I hung up, wearily, wondering if anyone had ever helped themselves with a telephone cord.

Chapter 5. AUTOGRAPH IN BLOOD When I awoke Monday morning and rang Fay Ames' home it was the morbid Miss Sneed who answered. Yet it was customary for the butler to take calls. Fay was using the old girl as a non-conductor of information. No wonder. A reporter trying to pump Sneed would find it as enlightening as ringing a number after the phone company had disconnected the line. "This is Larry Randall. I'd like to talk to Mrs. Ames." "Sorry, Mrs. Ames isn't taking any calls." "We might as well have this out now as well as any other time," I said. "Listen, Sneed, I'm representing Mrs. Ames. Connect me with the line in her room, please." "Well—" with a sharp intake of breath. "Fay's throaty voice was on the line. 'Larry, I'm awfully sorry. Sneed didn't quite understand that I want to speak to you, no matter when you call.' "That's all right. Get some rest last night?" "Not much. I'm terribly depressed." "Fay didn't impress me. Fay's eyes sounded a little as if she were spacing her plugs for an audience, rehearsing an impromptu speech."

The nursery being erected in the rear of the Country Day School on Grosse Pointe boulevard is expected to be finished about the first of the year, and will be ready when school reopens after the Christmas vacation period. writing that autograph on the wine list you had caused Miranda Ames' death or he meant that by writing it you would precipitate your own death. If he meant the first, you're in no danger. If the second—

Pendleton smiled. "Not very good publicity, either way you interpret it. You work for Cornelius Dunn, don't you? I don't know him. Just know he's the brainy old boy who pours the old oil on the wheels of industry."

"Right. I'm just a cog in the wheel."

"A cog in the wheel, shall we say. I'm not used to Dunn's suave publicity. I'm used to the premiere pulling, space eating, keys-of-the-city press agent racket. Now, I'm in a spot. My manager and press agent, Walt Evans, is in Buenos Aires. First vacation he's had in years. I had a cable from him this morning. He wants to sail at once."

"If he insists on sailing, perhaps you'd better let him," I suggested.

"I'm not sure he'd get here in time to be of any help to me. You can see what a spot I'm in, Randall."

I could see he was in a spot, all right. I wasn't, however, in the spot-removing business. Except under Dunn's orders.

I said, "You'll have to speak to Cornelius Dunn first. If he includes you in the Ames' assignment, I'm working for you, too. He's in Physician's Hospital, New York. His operation is on this morning. I wouldn't try to get him until afternoon."

"Thanks, Randall. I'll call him. I don't see how that autograph of mine dropped on the pier incriminates me, but I know it's going to be awkward business. I signed hundreds of them at Pippen Rock. I can't be held responsible for where they turn up."

"How long were you at the band playing in Saratoga?"

"Since August first. We closed last Friday night. I drove to New York, took a plane here, arriving Saturday afternoon in time to open our engagement here."

"Where did you stay in New York?"

"I took a room for a few hours at the Plaza. Had to give some interviews. Left shortly after noon."

"You knew Miranda Ames well, didn't you, Pendleton?"

"I wouldn't say I knew her too well. I knew both Fay and Miranda."

I tried to meet his eye. He was staring bleakly out of the window. His manner, ordinarily buoyant as a Wall Street boom, had become suddenly subdued.

He said, "Miranda was a nice little kid."

This "Nice little kid" line, I thought, is a deliberate understatement. Pendleton didn't strike me as the sort of man who could get a whiff of the breath-taking beauty of dawn over Lake Lucerne and call it a "Nice little view."

"Hadn't you been flying from New York to Detroit to see Miranda every week-end while you were in Saratoga?" I pursued.

"Why—yes I had. But there wasn't any romantic angle in it. You understand. She was engaged to Roger Brooks. Miranda and I were just good friends."

This just-good-friends stuff sounded familiar. Too familiar. It was just the Hollywood cliché couples handed out to the reporters just before they secretly chartered a plane to fly to Las Vegas and get married. I could see Pendleton saw I hadn't tumbled for his casualness. The long, vibrant fingers he'd been drumming on the table slowed down in their beat.

"You gave a dinner party here at The Grosse Pointe Golf Club for Miranda the night she died?"

"I gave a dinner party, yes," he countered.

"What was the set-up for this dinner, Pendleton? I mean what was the official Who's Who's? Roger Brooks, I presume, was for Miranda, being engaged to her—"

"I gather you don't think much of Roger."

"Roger's all right. He's just a long string of zeros, who looked at Miranda as a dollar sign to put in front of them."

"Do you remember anything unusual occurring at that dinner?"

His eyes were alert, suspicious now. "What do you mean by unusual?"

"Perhaps significant is the word. Anything that in the light of what we know now might have had some bearing on her death."

"No. It was just a quiet little party."

I asked: "How long has Sue Manchester been singing with The Play Boys, Pendleton?"

"Let's see. A little over six months. Yes, that's right. She opened with us on New Year's Eve."

"She's from Boston, isn't she? Fine old family."

"Yes. One of those families that's so old it's practically mildewed. The family still believes in sex repeal, but Sue's straight from the gut bucket."

"You never can tell about these old family trees. Sometimes they revert to tripe."

"Sue's got an emotional tapeworm," said Pendleton, scornfully.

"I don't know quite what you mean by an emotional tapeworm. I never knew a girl with one—"

"You'll find out, when you know Sue better. She's a volatile gal. She went to pieces like a ten-cent toy when she heard about Miranda's death. I called her nurse this morning. She's better now."

The phone rang. Pendleton went over to the desk, picking up the receiver immediately.

"Hello. Yes. This is Jock Pendleton speaking. O.K. I'll speak with New York. Put 'em on operator. Who? Oh, good morning, Mr. Lennox. Yes, I was in New York for a few hours on Saturday. Why, no. I didn't issue any checks. For how much? Five hundred. But it couldn't be my signature. Mr. Lennox. Cashed, where? But I wasn't in the 33 Club on Saturday. It's their own headache. I can't understand why they'd cash it. Oh, I see. Well, who endorsed it? Arthur Gateson. No, I don't know anyone by the name of Gateson. No. Nobody's substituting for Walter Evans. Well, you go ahead and do whatever you want about it, Mr. Lennox. I didn't issue it and I won't cover it. That's all right. Glad you called me. Let me know how you check up on it. Well, I'm beginning to think I should have skipped the hand writing course in the first grade. Yeah. But you don't think this check business could have anything to do with that autograph? Yes, I would appreciate it if you kept this confidential. Good-bye Mr. Lennox."

Pendleton stood up from the desk chair, his hand thrust beligerently into the pockets of his dressing robe.

"There's a sour note for you, Randall," he frowned. "Someone forged my name to a check in New York Saturday. I didn't open a checkbook in New York Saturday. Charged everything at the hotel."

"Where was the check cashed?"

"At the 33 Club. The regular cashier wasn't at the club. On vacation. Neither was the manager. The new cashier on duty O. K.'d it. The man who cashed it said his name was Arthur Gateson. Said he was substituting for my manager while Evans was away. They've got my signature on file in a membership card. Compared it with the check. It must have been a faultless forgery. The club's responsible for the money, of course. That was Lennox calling from my bank. He read the autograph stuff in the papers. Thinks they may have some connection. He's been at me for months to stop signing autographs. What can I do about it?"

"Why not carry a rubber stamp? A signature unlike your own handwriting."

"The fans won't stand for rubber stamps or photostatic copies," he shrugged. "It defeats me. What am I going to do now?"

I said, "It's probable that the check forgery was copied from an autograph. It might be the same autograph that was dropped on the pier near Miranda's body."

"That's making a contortionist on the arm of co-incidence," he protested. "When the man who committed the forgery was in New York on Saturday."

"Maybe so. About how many autographs do you sign a day, Pendleton?"

"Oh, anywhere from five to fifty, I'd say."

"And you've been signing them for how many years?"

"About five years," he replied gloomily.

"All right. Then, at your lowest estimate, you've got seventy eight hundred people who might be suspects."

cer who wrote it over a hundred years before they were born. As for Shakespeare, he was just a hack writer."

"For a hack writer, he made a rather handsome thing of it," I punned wretchedly. I wasn't going to sit there and tilt platitudes with this smug bug any longer. I stood up.

Pendleton said, "I'll let you know what Dunn says. I'm sure you can help me, if you will."

When I closed the door of Pendleton's room, I wasn't sure whether I could help him or whether I wanted to help him. I was certain of one thing. Jock Pendleton had been in love with Miranda. Probably he was still in love with her. All those plane trips during the summer hadn't been for making impersonal appearances. Pendleton hated Roger Brooks. I'd seen the searing venom in his eyes at the sound of Roger's name. He hated Roger with that black, surging, intricate hatred found only in musicians.

If he so hated Roger, so loved Miranda, had he killed her in a crescendo of passionate jealousy? He acted like a man who was still protecting Miranda from something; shielding her memory. Or was he only shielding himself.

I thought, if he did murder Miranda, I'll have to kill him. I'll get a coast to coast hook-up at my trial. Maybe his swing fans will lynch me. "Oh grave, where is thy victory? Oh death, where is thy sting?" Odd that my brain could click off irrelevancies while my blood pounded. It was this cool clicking and not the hot pounding that might convict you, Randall. This, my boy, is what they call premeditated murder.

thousand people who might be suspects."

Pendleton sighed, "You make it sound like a national contest."

The door of the room opened and a dark young man in flannel slacks sidled in, carrying a pile of records in one arm. Under the other was a gleaming silver and ebony clarinet. This would be Don Monaco, I surmised. What's he carrying his clarinet around for, like a Pied Piper?

"Say, Jock, have you played these new platters? You got your releases this morning, didn't you?"

"I haven't opened them. This is Larry Randall. Don Monaco. Our clarinet player?"

He was a thin, moody, ominously good-looking Spaniard. When he smiled his strong white teeth streaked like white lightning across the sirocco of his face. Old world, Fay had said. Blunt with the boys and a hand-kissing louse with the women, I thought. Despite his cuteness, there was an air of swashbuckling, sword-clanking, plumesweeping velvet-draped courtliness in his bearing.

Pendleton said, "Larry Randall is representing Fay Ames in Miranda's death. He's a public relations man."

"What does a corpse need with a public relations man?" I'm a fatalist. I don't believe you can invent what has happened, any more than you can prevent what's going to happen."

"You may be right," I conceded. "But a man can't be blamed for trying."

"That depends on what he's trying," came from Monaco, maliciously. "Why meddle with murder? Over three hundred years ago, Cervantes said, 'Murder will out!'"

"Don always quotes Cervantes as if he were the choice of the Book of the Month Club," explained Pendleton.

I eyed this strange young man. He was nothing if not an aristocratic snob. One so noble that any mother would trust her daughter with him, but no daughter would trust her mother with him. The daughter would be young enough to know better.

"How long have you been with Pendleton's band?" I asked him.

"About a year, off and on," he replied. "I took a few months vacation this summer."

He was the perennial house guest type, all right. I could see how Long Island hostesses would think of him as adding the cosmopolitan touch. The royal refugee routine.

"When did you first hear of Miranda's death, Monaco?"

"Sue Manchester rang me Sunday morning."

"But I thought Sue had collapsed when she heard of Miranda's death."

"She did," he said. "Her voice was quivering when she spoke to me. She got hysterical. It was I who called a nurse for her."

Jock Pendleton, who'd been looking fixedly out the window, turned to Monaco.

"Don, you're a philosopher. You can always make the best of other people's troubles. Maybe you can think of some reason why I shouldn't be upset. Someone has forged a five hundred dollar check on me."

"What's five hundred dollars to you, Jock?"

"It's not the five hundred I mind," said Pendleton, patiently.

"Certainly not," cut in Don. Then with annoying fluency, "as my old guide Cervantes sagely observed, 'All is not gold that glisters!'"

The fellow was emphatically irking me.

I said, "It was Shakespeare, not Cervantes who made that crack."

"Oh, if you want to get academic about it," he countered, "Cervantes and Shakespeare both said it. They stole it from Chau-

Indoor Sports Get Into Limelight as Football Fades Out

Grosse Pointe High Looks Forward to Successful Season With Swimming and Basketball Teams

By FRED RUNNELLS

With one of the most successful football seasons in the history of Grosse Pointe High already gone by the boards, thoughts are now turned to building championship basketball and swimming teams.

Practice for both of these sports has already started and on paper the Blue Devils appear to have the material to bring two Border City League championships to Grosse Pointe.

Coach Frank Banach says he has nine veterans back from last year's swimming team which makes a good nucleus around which to build a winner. Earl Lapp and Cook have the inside track in the backstroke events while Marty Bear, Dan Laferty, Bill Kildow, Paul Freise and Dave Kaiser will carry the load in the free style events. Both of last years divers, Don Duncan, the boy with the long, black curly hair, and Bob Johnson, are back and should be hard to beat.

Although the veterans are back they by no means have cinched their positions, because substitutes Bob Fosmo, Bob Busby, Jim Flom, Charles Jenks and several others have been improving with every practice and may be ready to replace some of the lettermen before the first meet with Pontiac, December 7.

Clarence Pinkston, a letterman from the 1943 team, returned to the eligible list this semester and will give the Blue Devils two sure first places in all meets before the end of the term. He graduated in January. Pinkston holds the 40 yard free style record at Grosse Pointe and won the 150 medley relay event in the 1943 state meet.

Besides swimming home and home series with Fordson, Royal Oak, Monroe and Wyandotte, all Border City teams, the Blue Devils will meet Pontiac, Ypsilanti Central, Hazel Park, River Rouge and Lincoln High of Ferndale in non-league meets.

The basketball situation looks just as rosy for the first semester but Coach Bill Healey is already scratching his thimble top not trying to figure out how he will replace his two veteran guards in January.

To start the season on December 7 against Pontiac, Dick Finck, Don McPhail, Dick Wuerker and Mike Chagot.

Of all the reserve players of last years team, not one has developed to the point where they could step in and handle the assignment capably. Not that the boys don't have the know-how on a basketball court, but because they don't have the necessary experience in varsity competition displayed in the strong Border City League.

Like the swimming team the basketball team will play a home and home series with Fordson, Wyandotte, Monroe and Royal Oak.

Whyte Offers Olds Service

The Whyte Oldsmobile Co., located at 15218 East Jefferson at Beaconfield is showing the new Olds which is making news and offering service by factory trained mechanics.

The sales room and garage are newly decorated and newly equipped. A complete stock of genuine Olds parts and accessories is maintained. The service department is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

In a full page ad carried in last week's NEWS the address of the company was carried as 15281 instead of 15218 as it should have been.

John Van Tiem Gets New Role

John Van Tiem of 564 Notre Dame, has joined the Civic Players of Kalamazoo to play a leading role, that of Lackie in "The Hasty Heart", which will be presented at nine performances starting November 30.

Young Van Tiem is a member of the Wayne University Workshop, the Catholic Theater and the Detroit Civic Theater. He studied under Rinehardt in Hollywood and Mme. Cecile Reborna in Detroit. Last summer he joined the New London Players in New Hampshire.

He will go to New York after the first of the year to start his professional career.

Two Pointers Honored At Marygrove College

Margaret Mary Babcock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Babcock, 384 Moran road, has been elected vice-chairman of the American Red Cross unit at Marygrove College, where she is a junior this year.

Martha Rabaut, daughter of the Hon. and Mrs. Louis C. Rabaut, 1015 Three Mile Drive, has been elected vice-president of the freshman class at Marygrove. The first-year group is the largest in the history of the institution, with 292 members.

THIS WEEK in SPORTS

By FRED RUNNELLS

Thurs. Nov. 22
BOB WATERFIELD and his Cleveland Rams knocked the Detroit Lions out of the National Football League, western division title, mainly through Waterfield's accurate passing to end Benton and clinched the first championship for the club.

WAYNE UNIVERSITY, although beaten in the Thanksgiving Day game between U. of D. and Wayne, gave the Titans plenty of trouble before succumbing 33-13.

Fri. Nov. 23
MICHIGAN STATE took its own weather with it when the Spartans invaded Miami, Florida to meet Miami University, but it was to no avail as Miami U. pushed across three quick touchdowns while holding Michigan State to a lone marker to win, 21-7.

ROSE BOWL committee picked the Crimson Tide from Alabama as the visiting team to meet the pick of the Pacific coast in the annual New Year's Day gridiron classic. Alabama is undefeated.

Sat. Nov. 24
MICHIGAN'S 7-3 win over Ohio State was nothing more than another victory for the Wolverines because Indiana defeated its age-old rival, Purdue, to win the Big Ten championship. If Indiana had lost the winner of the Michigan-Ohio State battle would have ascended to the throne for 1945.

IT'S HAPPENED AGAIN. The once mighty Minnesota Golden Gophers hit the bottom of the grid heap when Wisconsin University took the Gophers into camp to the tune of 26-12.

Sun. Nov. 25
NEW YORK RANGERS surprised the high flying Detroit Red Wings by winning their first hockey victory since Christmas night 1942. The Wings, riding an extended winning streak, were dumped 4-1 by the Rangers.

PHILADELPHIA EAGLES knotted up the eastern division of the National Football League when they trounced the favored Washington Redskins, 16-0. The New York Giants hold the key to the eastern division race as both Washington and Philadelphia play them before the season ends two weeks hence. A New York victory over either of these teams will break the tie but if both teams come through as expected the race will end in a tie and Philadelphia and Washington will play it off to determine who will meet the Cleveland Rams for the World Championship.

HOLY CROSS UNIVERSITY accepted the invitation to play in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Florida, on New Year's Day. Duke University surprised Sugar Bowl promoters with the announcement the school would not participate in any post season games. The Oklahoma Aggies continued the favorites for one of the other bowl bids.

Mon., Nov. 26
MONEY TROUBLES, three year-old handicap colt owned by Miss Mary V. Fisher, of Detroit, and Mrs. Tress Rodgers, of Memphis, Tenn., died on his arrival in Miami, Florida from Churchill Downs. Money Troubles was one of eight thoroughbreds, which died because of shipping fever.

99 BOWLING ESTABLISHMENTS belonging to the Greater Detroit Bowling Proprietors Association are expected to abide by the Association's recommendation to increase the present cost of bowling from 28c to 32 cents a line. The raise will cover the increased cost of labor and materials.

Tues., Nov. 2
25 SPORTS WRITERS voted unanimously in favor of Army to beat Navy in this coming Saturday's annual game. The polling took place at the New York Football Writers' luncheon after Navy's public relations chief, Lt. William Sullivan, told the writers that Navy would be a "spirited, offense minded team intent on winning, not just to hold down the score."

ARMY-NAVY SEATS behind the goal line which are normally priced at $4.80 are selling as high as $35 from the scalpers. Not many outsiders will attend the service game at the Municipal Stadium in Philadelphia as all seats are being sold to members of the Army and Navy athletic associations, high government of-

Mentioned for All-State Honors

DENNY THOMAS, diminutive center and line backer of the Grosse Pointe Blue Devils, has become the outstanding candidate for a place on the Border City League and All-State 1945 football teams. Thomas gained the spotlight through his outstanding defensive play against Hazel Park. He has played every minute of all the games played, thereby gaining the title of "Iron Man." This is his first year of high school football, but he had a little experience while attending Howe Military Academy in Indiana. At the academy he was a backfield man, but this season he was made into a center because of the abundance of backfield material on the squad.

Hamilton Stars at Stevadora

Hal Hamilton, the clever comedian and master of ceremonies, has stepped into the show-topping spot at Club Stevadora. It is not Hal's initial spree at this popular east side night club. He holds an engagement record at the Stevadora equaling that of any previous headline.

Wed., Nov. 28
DEAD HORSE brought $1,300 at Pimlico. Mrs. C. W. Williams put in a claim for Marny, a six year old mare owned by W. E. Charles Jr., before the first race at that price. The mare fell and broke her neck and had to be destroyed. Under rules of racing the claim stood and Mrs. Williams was out $1,300 bucks.

WARREN AMLING, a junior and right guard on the 1945 Ohio State University football team, was elected to captain the 1946 squad. Amling started every game at right guard and was named on the Associated Press All-Big Ten team.

Police Chief Points to Need For Winter Driving Caution

Automobile accidents will plague us in ever-increasing intensity during the approaching winter months, Park Chief of Police Henry W. Piel predicted. Judging from his own department's records, and from studies made by the National Safety Council, the chief said he based his forecast on the following facts:

1. Traffic accident rates for 38 northern states were 24 to 53 per cent higher in winter than in summer during recent years.
2. The accident rate this year has risen sharply since lifting of gasoline rationing in mid-August. More cars are going more miles, and faster, with increased exposure to traffic dangers.
3. Today the average car is eight years old, and more than one-half of all tires running are four years old. A great many vehicles are unsafe for any but the most careful use.
4. Many drivers become involved in costly mishaps or near-accidents at the beginning of each winter, before they learn precautions are needed on slippery roads.

Council to Hear Ailene Theisner

The Mothers Health Education Council of Grosse Pointe will have Miss Ailene Theisner of the Detroit Dairy Council as their guest speaker at the meeting Wednesday, Dec. 5, at 1:30, in the Grosse Pointe High School auditorium. Her subject will be "The School Child's Needs." An interesting movie titled "Making Ends Meet" will be shown.

RICHARD SCHOOL

The second meeting of the Richard School P.T.A. was held on Wednesday evening, November 28, when Miss Jean Taylor, the children's librarian for the Grosse Pointe Library, spoke on the subject "Children's Books." This was a very timely topic, coming near American Book Week, at a time when many parents are purchasing books for children as Christmas gifts, and at a time when the kind of literature our children are reading, such as the comics, is a question for discussion among many parent and teacher groups.

especial interest to parents of children of the kindergarten, first and second grade age group began at the Richard School on Wednesday afternoon, November 28. The class is under the direction of Mrs. Helen Sherman, a former patron of the school and an adult education teacher of wide experience in the area.

Pupils of the Grosse Pointe schools learn at first hand through educational trips something of the social-economic world in which they live. Marian Norris, 1B teacher at Richard school, reports on a trip to Belle Isle and its results.

any condition enumerated in Section 4 hereof, as to which such officer is required to investigate, the Village Clerk shall refuse to issue such license. All licenses issued under this ordinance shall expire December 31 next following the date of issuance.

The Village Clerk shall keep a record of all licenses issued hereunder and shall furnish the Health Officer with a duplicate list, corrected from time to time as changes may occur. Such license shall not be transferable, either to another person or to another location.

SECTION 6: Every convalescent home shall be open to inspection by any authorized member of the Health, Buildings and Safety Engineering, and Fire Departments, at all reasonable hours, and it shall be unlawful for any person to obstruct, hinder or refuse admittance to any authorized member of said departments who may request permission to inspect any convalescent home licensed hereunder.

It shall be the duty of the Health Officer, Fire Department and Department of Buildings and Safety Engineering to make, or cause to be made, such inspections from time to time, as they or any of them may deem necessary, to carry out the provisions of this ordinance, and it shall be the duty of the licensee at all times to maintain the standards prescribed in Section 4 hereof for the issuance of a license.

SECTION 7: Every licensee hereunder shall keep a permanent record in a form to be prescribed by the Health Officer, of each patient admitted to their respective convalescent homes. Such record shall show the name, age, address, date of admission and discharge, of each patient, name and address of next of kin and the name of the attending physician, if any, the character of treatment received by patient, nature of malady or illness, or reason for admission. Each licensee shall also keep a permanent record of the names and addresses of the employees of such licensee.

SECTION 8: Any license granted hereunder may be revoked by the Village Commission on recommendation of the Health Officer, Superintendent of Buildings and Safety Engineering, or Fire Chief, and upon its finding that the licensee has violated any of the provisions of this ordinance. No license shall be revoked until after a public hearing has been given to the licensee before the Village Commission. The Village Clerk shall give the licensee five days' written notice of such hearing, which notice shall contain the charges upon which the recommendation to revoke the license is based.

SECTION 9: Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall, on conviction thereof by a court of competent jurisdiction, be punished by a fine of not less than $25.00 nor more than $100.00, or by imprisonment for not more than ninety days, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SECTION 10: If any section or part of any section of this ordinance shall be declared unconstitutional by a Court of competent jurisdiction, then the remainder shall not be affected thereby, and as to such other provisions, shall continue in full force and effect.

SECTION 11: All ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

SECTION 12: This ordinance shall take effect 20 days after enactment thereof.

Moved by Commissioner Gillett supported by Commissioner Sage this ordinance be adopted and the Clerk instructed to post copies thereof and publish as required by the Village Charter.

AYES: Goddard, Gillett, Ulrich, Sage. NAYS: None. ABSENT: Fritsch, McMillan. STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF WAYNE, ss.

We hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and complete copy of an ordinance offered and adopted by the Village Commission of the Village of Grosse Pointe Park at a meeting held on the 26th day of November, 1945.

WM. G. STAMMAN, Village Clerk.

THE VILLAGE OF Grosse Pointe Park MICHIGAN Ordinance Number 136

AN ORDINANCE TO LICENSE AND REGULATE CONVALESCENT HOMES WITHIN THE VILLAGE OF GROSSE POINTE PARK; TO PROVIDE A PENALTY FOR THE VIOLATION THEREOF AND TO REPEAL ALL ORDINANCES INCONSISTENT THEREWITH.

THE VILLAGE OF GROSSE POINTE PARK ORDAINS:

SECTION 1: It shall be unlawful for any person, persons, firm or corporation to establish, maintain, operate, or conduct a convalescent home in the Village of Grosse Pointe Park without first obtaining a license therefor in the manner hereinafter provided.

SECTION 2: The term "convalescent home" as used in this ordinance shall include any building, or part of a building, used for the care of the sick, infirm or aged where two or more persons are or may be accommodated for compensation, but not including any hospital operated primarily for medical or surgical treatment and under the direct control and supervision of a physician or surgeon, nor any home for the aged operated by a charitable or eleemosynary organization. The term "patient" shall include any person accommodated for compensation.

SECTION 3: Any person, firm or corporation desiring to procure a license to establish, maintain or operate a convalescent home, shall make application therefor, in writing, to the Village Clerk upon a form to be furnished by the Village Clerk.

Upon receipt of such application, the Village Clerk shall refer the same to the Health Officer, Superintendent of Buildings and Safety Engineering, and Fire Chief. Each of said officers shall cause an investigation to be made and attach his findings to the application and return the same to the Village Clerk.

SECTION 4: No license shall be issued except upon:

- (a) The finding by the Health Officer that:
  - (1) The applicant is of good moral character and a proper person to conduct such convalescent home;
  - (2) The sanitary conditions in the proposed location are adequate and comply with the State and Village regulations;
- (b) The finding by the Superintendent of Buildings and Safety Engineering that:
  - (1) The proposed building complies with the State and Village building codes;
  - (2) The proposed location is in the proper zone as provided by the Zoning Ordinance;
  - (3) There will be 50 square feet of floor space for each bed used by patients. (A floor-plan of building or part of building to be used as a convalescent home, showing dimensions of rooms and location of beds shall be submitted with the original application and thereafter if changes are made in the home or in the location of beds).
  - (4) All plumbing and sanitary facilities comply with the Plumbing Code;
- (c) The approval and finding by the Fire Chief that:
  - (1) The proposed location and building comply with the laws of the State and Village relative to fire hazards.

SECTION 5: If each of the officers charged with the duty of making such inspections, find that all of the conditions enumerated in Section 4 hereof, as to which he is required to investigate and report, exist, the Village Clerk shall issue a license to conduct such convalescent home upon payment by the applicant of a license fee of $25.00 per year or any portion thereof for such convalescent home with accommodations for not more than ten patients, plus a license fee of $2.00 per year or any portion thereof, for each accommodation in excess of ten patients. If any of such officers find the non-existence of

Amateur Is Thwarted In Attempted Entry

There was an attempted forcible entry and burglary at the Edward H. Fenlon home at 1304 Balfour on Tuesday night of last week.

It was obviously the effort of amateurs. A pane of glass had been broken in a rear door and the lock on the door had been pounded with a hammer but no entrance had been effected.

The answer to atomic bombs is a spiritual upheaval.

Victorious Holiday Season To Be Marked by Weddings

Wedding plans are in the air these days as a victorious holiday season brings young Pointe couples closer. Over on Tinian, T/Sgt. Chilton Drysdale, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Drysdale, of Lakepointe avenue, is counting the hours till he can join his bride-to-be, Wilma Coughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry W. Coughlin, of Courville road.

Wilma, tentatively plotting a late January marriage, has named her attendants. Florence Jackman will be maid of honor and Mrs. Claude A. Greiner, Mrs.

Phillip A. Wenzell and Mrs. James Danforth, Jr. bridesmaids. Chilton's brother, Yeoman Sec-Class James Drysdale Jr., USNR, will arrive from his base at Pearl Harbor to be best man. The sergeant is with a B-29 Squadron.

Betty Crapo, another busy bride-elect, is in a pre-nuptial whirl of parties this week. Betty will marry Maj. Robert B. Kleemann, USAAF, Dec. 1.

Week-end festivities included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Simons' cocktail gathering in their Lewiston road home; Mr. and Mrs.

John H. Posselius' cocktail party; the Paul H. Townsends' dinner in the University Club; and another cocktail party given by Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Leisen, of Moross road.

Betty's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan Bullard, will reach the Pointe Friday. They will be hosts at a buffet supper party in the University Club the night of the wedding, and Mrs. Bullard's brother-in-law and sister, Lieut. and Mrs. Donald F. Hyde, of Somerville, N. Y., are planning a party at the Little Club the following day.

Shop Lights

How many shoppers are aware of the convenience the Detroit Edison Company offers with the maintenance of its service department in Fromm's Hardware at 17307 Kercheval avenue?

Open daily from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. and on Wednesdays from 9 a. m. to noon, this service center will exchange light bulbs and appliance cords, accept small appliances for repairs, handle the payment of all Edison bills and inquiries about rates and charges. It is also possible to arrange for service to be turned on or off at the Edison department in Fromm's, maintained to serve you steps and time.

Frank Sinatra has been hired by DAVIDSON'S MARKET (formerly Kaplan's), according to Leo Davidson. This Frank Sinatra lives at 19200 Blackmoor avenue, Detroit, and he is a talented musician too.

Something that isn't generally known is that PONGRACZ'S JEWELRY STORE maintains one of the best staffed watch and clock repair departments in the state.

Nearly 300 square feet of space is set aside in the rear of the store, out of the way of customers and sales clerks, for this department. In addition to Mr. Pongracz, who is a watchmaker himself, there are three other experts, including the store's veteran G. F. Nagel, Al Lantz, who was in important defense work during the war, and Miodrag Lybenovich, who was overseas in Uncle Sam's watch repair service, are all top-notch watchmakers.

Mrs. Helen Peppet of PEPPET AND BLOKERT'S linen shop is in New York on a buying trip.

The DOROTHY-MARY DINING ROOM which opened its doors last week at 341-343 Fisher road, is a unique and desirable addition to the Pointe's eating facilities. The decorative theme is Early American, even the courteous waitresses wearing floor-length flowered dresses. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Reed are the owners.

KENT JEWELERS, East Jefferson at Eastlawn, where one finds just about the finest electrical home appliance department on the east side, is proving a popular place these days. We saw electric irons, even some with thermostats; refrigerators and other much coveted appliances. They don't last too long. Early this week a shipment of Westinghouse irons was gone in six hours.

That courteous new clerk at GROSSE POINTE HARDWARE is David Nagel, son of proprietor Julius. David was recently given his honorable discharge from war service.

Southeastern Woman's Club Meets on Dec. 3

The Southeastern Women's Club will meet at St. Mark's Methodist Church on December 3 at 11 a. m. for the second sewing meeting of the season, under the direction of the social service committee. Mrs. Ray Williams is chairman.

The regular business meeting will follow at 1:30 o'clock. Hostesses for the day will be Mrs. Gilbert Anderson, Mrs. William Corey and Mrs. Joseph Robinson.

Abandoned Dog Wanders Forlornly About Pointe

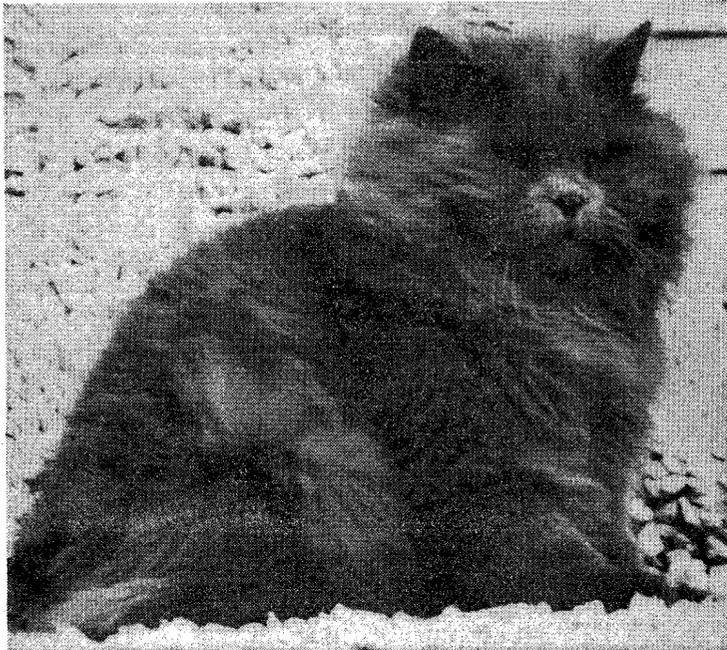

Neighbors in the one thousand block of Harvard road have recently noticed a tan colored Boxer dog wandering forlorn and apparently homeless about the neighborhood.

Investigation by the police, to whom the circumstance was reported, learned that the dog formerly belonged to a party living nearby who had moved away and apparently deliberately abandoned the animal.

He'll Carry Pointe Colors in Persian Show

CHALLY BLUE BOY, owned by Mrs. Walter Meyer of 1417 Beaconsfield avenue, Grosse Pointe Park, has been entered in the annual show of the Detroit Persian Society, Inc., which will be held in the Detroit Hotel on December 1 and 2 from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Beautiful cats from all over the United States have been entered. Proceeds will go to the Michigan Humane Society and the Anti-Cruelty association.

Group Purchases Farms Site To Develop Medical Center

The proposed medical center in Grosse Pointe Farms at Mack avenue and Seven Mile contemplates the purchase from the Roland estate of a tract 291 feet on Mack by 408 feet on Seven Mile. This is the net dimension after 75 feet is set aside for the widening of Mack avenue. The deal for the real estate was made through W. C. Weller of 16703 E. Warren. The cost of the real estate is approximately $100,000. The property is held under a thirty day option but there is every assurance that it will be purchased before the expiration of the option.

Dr. Walter D. Pool, who is a director of the Wayne Medical School, represents a group of three other physicians who are making the original promotion of the Medical Center. The building to be erected will represent an outlay of about $400,000 and will eventually house the suites of sixteen different doctors.

The land has belonged to the Roland estate for many years.

Bernard Roland, the father of the present heirs, died thirty-six years ago and it had been in his possession and that of his forbears for many years prior to his death.

From the fact that Dr. Pool is officially connected with the Wayne Medical school it was surmised that the project might be associated with the large plans for the development of the Wayne Medical School of which much has been written within the past few years, but no confirmation of this was forthcoming.

The institution will be a completely equipped modern clinic, with hospital facilities in the rear. Such an annex is permitted under the Farms Village zoning laws.

The professional offices of the physicians would have to be in that part of the building located within the Mack avenue commercial zone.

BUNK HOUSE BURNS

A bunk house in the rear of the residence of Charles Dominick at 210 Kerby road, burned up Friday night, Nov. 23. Farms firemen were told youngsters had started the blaze.

CITY COLLECTIONS GOOD

Up to November 19 the City of Grosse Pointe had collected $279,705.89 of the taxes for the current year, or 96.3% of the entire roll.

Camera Club to Learn About Portrait Lighting

Dr. C. J. Marinus and M. Miller will give a demonstration on portrait lighting before the members of the Grosse Pointe Camera Club on Tuesday evening, December 4.

Both Dr. Marinus and Dr. Miller are recognized photographers in their individual fields of arranging and lighting subject for portrait work and will supplement the actual lighting demonstrations with talks on the advantages and reasons for the various types of lighting and subject matter. Both men have had many of their pictures hung in international salons throughout the country.

The meeting will be held at the club rooms in the Neighborhood Club and will begin promptly at 8 p. m. Robert Stellwagen, club president, invites the interested public to attend.

Signs of Times Are Disturbing Police Chief Tom Trombly

Twisted street signs and stolen signs are becoming a general nuisance in the city.

HITS ENTANGLEMENTS

Jerome Wellertter, of 1383 Nottingham, while walking west on Charlevoix a few evenings ago, tripped over a roll of fence wire and suffered severe cuts and abrasions on his right leg and left forearm. He alleged that it fell off of one of the trucks of the Greater Detroit Landscape Service company.

in his monthly report to the council the other night called the attention of the councilmen to this. He named fifteen signs as missing.

One of the most common pranks of mischievous youngsters is to turn a sign around so that it reverses the street names. The matter is not important to those familiar with the local streets, but for a stranger it is worse than no names at all.
