Violent Visitors Sought by Police

Mrs. Carl Romano of 1215 Yorkshire road, phoned the Park police on Monday night, Dec. 30, at 10 o'clock, that a group of boys had just rung her doorbell and started singing on her porch at the same moment. At the same time they pounded on the front door glass so strenuously they had broken a small leaded pane. When she asked them what they wanted they beat a hasty retreat off the porch and loaded into two waiting automobiles, one of them a new Buick. She could not discover any missing

Christmas decorations after their departure, recently a quite usual accompaniment of carolers' visits. But just to head off further abbreviated serenades and window breakings, lookout message was put on WRDR, to be on watch for the vocalists.

Search for Missing Girls Leads to Apprehension of Convict Wanted in Virginia

Escaped Prisoner Believed to Have Used Newspaper Story to Make Date With Mother of One of Girls Being Sought

Nothing further has yet been heard of two of the three Grosse Pointe girls who disappeared from their homes on December 12. One of them, Marie Belbon, aged 16, a sister of Mrs. Alice Webber of 1150 Maryland avenue, returned home shortly after the three disappeared. She was picked up by the police of Paducah, Ky., but the other two, Peggy Edmunds, age 16, of Gratiot Township, and Carrie Webber, aged 14, Mrs. Webber's daughter, have vanished.

Mrs. Weber has been in constant touch with Police Chief Louwers of the Park, who instructed her to let him know immediately if any one called on her or telephoned to her purporting to know anything about the girls.

ford, who said he had a lot of information about her daughter and wanted to see her. She stalled him on the appointment and told him to call her back within the hour when she could tell him when and where she could meet him.

She hurried over to Chief Louwers' office and told him of her message. He told her to make an appointment with the party and let him know immediately where and when they were to meet and he would see that she was amply protected. The appointment was for the following night in front of the Fox theater.

The chief sent Detective Henning down to take a stand near the theater and also phoned the Detroit Detective Bureau to have a couple of men thereabouts at the same time.

On the dot the man showed up and was promptly grabbed by the detectives. At the police bureau he was quizzed, giving the name of Jack Preston Beard with a very sketchy account of his places of residence and business. The police took his finger prints and in a few minutes learned from their print files in the wanted division, that his real name was Eugene W. Mawyer and he had been a much wanted convict for the past seven years, having escaped while being transported from the jail in Charlottesville, Va., to the state penitentiary to serve an 18 year term.

Even the grilling the Detroit and Grosse Pointe detectives gave him they are convinced the man actually knew nothing about the missing girls but had merely seen the incident in the newspapers and seized on the story to make a date with some woman.

The would-be masher has been returned to Virginia to keep his long deferred engagement. Chief Louwers is not at all sanguine of the early recovery of the missing girls. Two girls of such tender age already absent from home nearly a month, are in great peril, to say the least. A close check with the Ernie

Tubb Grand Old Opera company discloses a clean record for this organization and the assurance no members of this concern had had any affair with any of the three girls.

The girls were known all to be infatuated with the music of the company when it played in Detroit, but no personal association has been found between its members and them. The girls hitchhiked from here, and at one stage of their travels two of them had gotten into a van and another one got a ride with a truck, which accounted for their separation somewhere on the road. The lone rider was the Belbon girl, Mrs. Weber's young sister.

Goodwill Gesture Not Appreciated

Taking on another man's troubles is often as thankless a job as interfering between a quarrelling husband and wife, even though the husband is beating the daylight out of the helpless spouse.

About 10 p. m. on New Year's night, as Mr. and Mrs. Hammond of 94 Merriweather were about to get into their car in front of 1027 Bedford, Mr. Hammond spied two men approaching. Instinct told him they were about to go into a party in progress in 1023 Bedford and that they would be unwanted guests.

He attempted to prevent their entry into the place, by persuasion if possible or force if necessary. The two would-be callers did not relish this supervision over their holiday social activities and a fight ensued.

The description of the men was too nebulous to warrant a chase.

The Republicans' Mandate

If the last election meant anything at all it was that the Republican party was recommissioned with a mandate to restore the government of the country to the people and abolish government by bureaucracy.

It has been the frank tieup between these great organizations of labor with the democratic party ever since Franklin Roosevelt annexed them to his personal political machine that has been responsible for most of the plagues that have befallen the country.

To correct this is the No. 1 item on the present legislative agenda. President Truman's hurried move to divest himself of a lot of the so-called war time powers was a quick maneuver to jump on one small corner of the national bandwagon that was obviously on the march.

The Republican leaders are going to have a man sized job on their hands to pass and enforce a needed type of labor legislation and at the same time not alienate too greatly the goodwill of labor. Senator Wagner of New York exhibits a last desperate effort of the Democratic old guard. He wants another labor conciliation board which will try again to do by cajolery and compromise what can only be done by the impartial machinery of law.

If our newly responsible lawmakers give us that, the country can take good care of itself.

We want good wages for the wage earners but a proper balance must be found between wages and profits. That is the only road to an enduring prosperity for all.

The Jews' Impatience

The case of the Jews in Palestine has been a cause of bewilderment to many people. There has been an easy understanding of their desire to reestablish themselves in the far off home of their ancestors in the Holy Land, but why they should turn with special venom against the only people in Europe who have given them safe harbor for centuries is not so clear.

But the Jews have shown little appreciation of this dilemma. Many instances have arisen recently where they have turned against their would-be benefactors with special bitterness.

It is the unquestioned wish of the great mass of the English people to go through with the implied pledge of a generation ago but they ask with reason that they be permitted to proceed towards this goal with deliberation. The Jews' concern is with a little piece of the eastern shores of the Mediterranean. Britain's view must be cast over a world-fung empire of 13 million square miles, housing a quarter of the Earth's population.

New Governor

Kim Sigler is the new Governor of Michigan and every citizen of the state, with the few exceptions of those whose personal fortunes vary with the ebb and flow of political advantage, will wish him well.

He got his rise as an aggressive enemy of enthroned wrong. It is a good training ground. It was the start and the path to high honors in public service for many in the past. Theodore Roosevelt's real beginning was in the office of Police Commissioner in New York City. A successful term in the Prosecuting Attorney's office in New York sent Charles Whitman to the Governor's office at Albany.

Governor Sigler has a fertile field in which to exercise his proven talents. The best wish his friends can express for him is that he will always have the balance and poise to aim at the common welfare of the people of Michigan rather than the advancement of party.

Report to the Nation

President Truman's annual message to the Congress was an orderly, unemotional and comprehensive report on the state of the nation as of the date of his writing and a proper and timely reminder to the national legislature of its responsibilities in formulating and enacting laws to deal with the problems that confront us.

Its whole tenor was an obvious appeal for cooperation between himself and the lawmakers. Not a line or a breath in his whole message implied the possibility of any coming

MUSINGS OF THE OLD YEAR:

WHY . . . do most of the poor male dancers do most of the cutting in? There ought to be a law requiring every boy to go to dancing school until he can at least keep time with the music. If he can't master the art of simple dancing, he ought to confine his talents to the great outdoors.

WHY . . . do soap operas (that millions of women lap up day in and day out), refuse to stick to the facts of life as they really are? In one of them, a man is going to a Psychiatrist. Every other day, he gets mad at the Psychiatrist and walks out in a huff before the usual hour is up.

Also the wife calls on the Psychiatrist to talk about her husband. She never calls for an appointment but the good Doctor is always happy to see her and apparently has nothing much to do since he tells her to "drop in any time." Ever try getting an appointment with a Psychiatrist?

WHY . . . do well known authors write good stores that leave you sitting on the cynical side of the fence . . . when they treat an authentic novel with passages such as the following: A man on a train is intrigued by a girl who passes him in the corridor.

This is all very well . . . except that the girl was supposed to be the last word in Eastern chic . . . and she was wearing all that nonsense on a train while going to the diner for BREAKFAST! Nothing like a few diamonds all over the place with your cornflakes, if you want to be chic.

WHY . . . do people who should know better persist in using stupidly incorrect phrases when speaking or writing. We can best illustrate what we mean by quoting from an article by Carl H. Winston in "GO" magazine. He writes as follows:

"Probably I'm neurotic or something, but certain misuses of the English language invariably send me into a veritable tizzy. I don't know why this should be, because Heaven knows I'm not prissy. I don't mind the every-day, garden variety of bad English.

"But let that same beautiful blonde say: 'I was thinking to myself . . . and the engagement is off. I would like to see her think to myself some time.'

"The 'think-to-myself, himself or yourself' business is only one of these personal aversions. Other people undoubtedly have similar reactions to different acts of linguistic assault and battery. Possibly some of these are on your list too:

"This is just between you and I' (Let's leave you out of this and have one just between I.)

"Now, you take these kind of cigars . . .' (W'heeze kind?)

"I'll see Mr. Big personally about this!' (That certainly clears things up. I was under the impression your photo was going to take the matter up with him.)

"He lives up the road a ways.' (Is that a ways to talk?)

"My favorite magazines are the Vogue, the Variety and the GO.' (And how's your favorite aunt the Sarah?)

"See what I mean?"

WHY . . . do Republicans all have a different idea about who they would like to run for President in '48? You'd think that now they have the field to themselves (so to speak), that they'd "hang" together and unanimously get behind one man. If they did that . . . we'd all feel a lot easier about whoever gets in.

WHY . . . do all the home-making magazines persist in advertising things they know darned well we won't be able to buy for a coon's age? And what in the name of Fiorella LaGuardia is "distracted fruit wood"? Whatever it is . . . it is certainly (as advertised) the name of the finish of one of the new Magnavox radio phonographs. This opens up all kinds of possibilities for the wide-awake ad man. We'll betcha you'll soon be reading about "happy-go-lucky" walnut . . . "aching" pine . . . and perhaps "agonized" mahogany.

A woman called to tell us that she tried out a new manicurist recently and is, 'sold' on the gal for life. During the usual chat that takes place between Madam and her manicurist, they got on the subject of one of the recent best sellers. After a bit, the manicurist observed . . . "I think it's a long vehicle to convey such a simple philosophy. You could clean the same thing in three minutes from Huxley." . . . Woo woo!

conflict although he realizes, probably more completely than any other man in public life, the inevitability of conflict between himself as the standard bearer of a national regime that has been in power for 15 years, and the present political party that has been represented in the main the antithesis of its policies.

There is a greater assurance of an orderly solution of our coming problems in the calm recital of President Truman than in the infrequent truce workings of his predecessor as, for example, when President Roosevelt nonchalantly remarked some years ago that business was to have a breather.

The country will be generally satisfied with the message. It will approve his emphasis on the importance of legislation which will remove the danger of great strikes paralyzing our whole national economy and will doubly approve his warning that such legislation must not be of a punitive character. It will approve his reaffirmation of our continued economic and humanitarian internationalism, a course which the trend of the new world of which we must be a part makes inevitable.

His declared purpose not to await longer than necessary the expiration of those war born controls and regulations can only be interpreted as a sincere gesture towards the early reestablishment of a free economy. That was what the November elections signified and none have discerned that more completely than Mr. Truman.

The people will readily say amen! to his recommendation for the reduction of the public debt as rapidly as possible. That is old fashioned American thrift and prudence which they understand and approve.

The most anxious spot in our whole foreign horizon is broadmindedly treated by the President in his statement that differences between us and Russia "should not be allowed to obscure the fact that the basic interests of both nations lie in the early making of a peace under which the peoples of all countries may return, as free men and women to the essential task of production and reconstruction."

Much of Mr. Truman's report to the nation necessarily dealt with matters with which we have been familiar during the year just passed, but as a clean cut reminder of our recent national past and as a sane statement of the problems yet to be faced and solved, the message will be accepted by the people as an enlightening state paper.

XTMAS CLEAN-UP: DO-GOODERS called the Friends Service Union, a group of American, British and Indian Christians, sent MOHANDAS GANDHI a fine Christmas package.

This is the second heartbreaking story for the day. I was talking to a former glamour girl recently, one who was stired from house tops all over the world. Every publication had a picture and every newspaper had a story in at least one edition during the day.

"As a result I was thrown to the MEN ABOUT TOWN — grim creatures. They were too old for me and too sophisticated but they loved having their pictures taken with me before they went home and took off the toupe and put on the slippers. That life was all I knew so I married one. That didn't pan out and I was lonelier than ever.

GENERAL JULIUS OCHS ADLER of the NEW YORK TIMES, was telling a story at dinner the other night, of a fight he had made from the Pacific late in the war. For some reason he and his staff had to come down on a very small island. It was a long delay and they were entertained at dinner that night by the resident missionary.

Said the GENERAL, "They served the meat and vegetables and went out. I couldn't think how in the world to get them back except to say that I wanted more gravy. I had gravy four times. When we left, the missionary expressed his gratification—he was delighted we so thoroughly enjoyed his gravy. He said he was especially pleased that we who flew the world and had the finest things of both continents to choose from, should have shown our satisfaction at the little his minions had to offer."

I talk to anybody—fishmongers, generals, Mexicans, debutantes. I was discussing it with a friend the other day and we decided that some of the most stimulating conversations we had ever had, had been with complete strangers. We concluded that people who are too reserved miss a lot of fun. She told me of tracking down—to ask for New Year's dinner—an explorer friend of hers, one of the most fascinating men in the world. She had his address but no phone. In the reverse phone book she found a number that address but not for that name. She asked the woman who answered if it were a boarding place. The woman said no it was a two family house.

My friend asked the name of the other occupant. "I don't know," said the woman. Then the conversation went like this—"Oh, you haven't lived there long then."

"I've lived here two years—and I mind my own business." "Would you mind ringing their bell and asking the name?" "I won't do that." "It's important—I wish you would be kind enough." There was a pause. Finally the woman said, "If you want to call back tomorrow, I'll ask the butcher this afternoon."

"STATE OF THE NATION" "State of the Nation" will be personally interpreted by Dr. Edward C. Lindeman, social scientist of international reknown, for the Detroit Round Table of Catholics, Jews and Protestants on Monday, January 13, in the Jade Room of the Detroit-Leland Hotel. The American Association of Social Workers and the Social Workers Club are co-sponsoring the guest appearance of Dr. Lindeman in this first of the 1947 series of regular monthly luncheon programs scheduled for the members and friends of the Detroit Round Table.

Army Reenlisting Combat-Wounded

The United States Army is enlisting combat wounded veterans of the recent war for duty in jobs which experience has shown they are capable of performing in spite of their disabilities.

Colonel Walter C. Cole, Commanding Officer of the Michigan Recruiting District, pointed out that there are many technical jobs in the Army that can be filled quite as well by a man who has lost an arm or a leg as by a man physically qualified for general military service.

In order to be enlisted, it is not necessary that the combat wounded veteran be experienced in the job for which he is to be enlisted, but merely that he be trainable for the job. Combat wounded veterans who are accepted under this regulation will be enlisted in the grade held at the time of discharge from his previous service. Colonel Cole pointed out that the Regular Army is enlisting these veterans not as an act of charity, but because the veteran with a vocational handicap is generally a superior workman when placed on a job which he is qualified to perform.

*The weed wild mink
What does he think
Through the Arctic winter budding?
That he'll grace, by beck
La Belle Bergman's neck
Or some Grable-bodied gal be cuddling.*

On that recent zero night, we sat propped up in bed, the window one inch open and a jumbo cup of cafe royale on the stand. We were rereading through the story of "Mink, Mary and Me" by Chick Ferguson. This the gory story of a man and his mate who went mink trapping in the very far north.

After the egg-o-mania of Betty MacDonald's chicken farm, we'd vowed never to read about people who raised anything — except maybe hares. But the Ferguson didn't raise mink; they trapped them in the snow drifts of the Arctic. This isn't mere fortune telling. I take the fortune of the hunter and the flip-of-fate philosophy of the gambler. In fact, when Ferguson rushes to his climax, where he has only one match left to light the cabin fire, one match between himself and certain frozen death in the Arctic, we were blowing on our own fingers and reaching for a lighter.

AWAKENING IN THE MORNING TO PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S speeding up of reduction of the luxury tax on furs, come July, we fell to musing upon how one man's luxury is another man's necessity. We have always held the minority opinion that no price, but no price — too high to pay for a valuable fur. The saga of the Ferguson's fight against fate in the Arctic but served to strengthen this opinion.

The skins of the wild Canadian mink are bagged by the skin of the trapper's teeth. Few white men and women venture into the frozen habitat of the wild mink, ermine and silver fox. The white wilderness is still the unhappy hunting ground of the Indians. These Indians are in a way more wild and wayward than the animals they trap. Resenting the white man's intrusion, they resort to all their native cunning — stealing the animals from the traps, setting fire to the cabins and destroying the caches of precious fur pelts.

A mink coat requires from seventy to one hundred and fifty mink pelts. This number of wild mink skins may well represent one man's entire catch for the season. Thus, the mink coat represents nine months of a man's life — and no man has nine lives to spare for mink coats.

WITH CHINESE MINK, HANCH MINK, AND INCUBATOR Mink invading the fur markets, the day is rapidly nearing when only the connoisseur will own and cherish wild Canadian mink. The reason for its incomparable superiority to lesser breeds is this. God gave the wild mink, in the white wilderness of the Arctic, where the temperatures dip from 30 to 50 degrees below zero — God gave this wee mink the warmest and most wondrous fur in the world for its protection. Now, obviously a coat of fur that will keep the mink warm and happy in sub-zero temperatures should keep any woman warm and happy to the very cockle of her heart. And who can actually place a price on the value of a hundred perfect mink skins in a coat?

Most of the wild Canadian mink skins are sold to the Hudson's Bay Company, at an equitable price. The skins are then sold at the highest price the fur market will afford. Oddly — but logically enough — it is those who are nearest to the Arctic who often place the highest value on the wild fur skins. They know the travail of trapping. A Mountie will pay as high as $200 a skin for a shimmering silver fox skin and another $200 for a perfectly matched mate to give to his girl. Perhaps that's why these Mounties not only always get their man — but their woman.

Time was when the precious pelts of mink sable and ermine were restricted in Europe to the use of Royalty. A man might spend the winter in Siberia under orders to shoot — or be shot — a mink sleigh robe for Catherine the Great. Today white men are becoming reluctant to spend nine months trapping a mink coat for less great Catherine's.

The present break in the fur market is no break for anyone — except you, pet, if you're a mink-minded woman. Personally, we think the prices should be doubled instead of halved. And we're very cautious, slipping into those wild mink coats, lest the minks rise up and bite us.

Dean Huntingtons Hold "A Half House Warming"

"A half house warming" is what Mr. and Mrs. Dean Huntington Parker dubbed the egg nog party they gave on Sunday last in their home on Lake Shore road. They invited about 50 of their Detroit and Grosse Pointe friends to drink egg nog with them in the home they have occupied since the day before Christmas and greeting the guests with their parents were Betsy, Nancy and "Kip."

The Parkers came to Detroit from South Orange, N. J., about a year ago, and drives along the Lake Shore became of great interest to them because Mrs. Parker spied an old house which she could "do over," incorporating ideas she had always wanted in her home.

And just because it was impossible, at the time, to get a house for any price in the Pointe, Mrs. Parker insisted they ask about the one she admired and, as those things sometimes do turn out, she was successful. When workmen started repairs on the house, it developed into a real log cabin. It is on the site of the old Vernier farm and authorities estimate the cabin to be about 150 years old.

The marvelous logs are now exposed on the front of the house which looks out to the lake, and inside, old doors from the barn and beams have been employed to Mrs. Parker's delight.

A log fire roared in the fireplace the day of the party. The fireplace is fashioned of rocks, the clever mistress has collected from all over the country, but principally in her native Pennsylvania.

Additions will be built as present construction facilities permit, and by summertime the Parkers hope to have a whole new wing, which will be their living room.

Daughter Betsy, a Smith College alumna, is at home this Winter to watch the new home develop. Nancy is a student at the University of Michigan and returned to her studies Sunday evening after the party. "Kip," or more formally Christopher, left Monday for his prep school, Mt. Hermon, in Massachusetts.

Do you find your heart sinking? Perhaps it's of stone.

Society News Gathered from All of the Pointes

From Another Pointe of View

by Jane Schermerhorn

Careers seem to keep popping into our early 1947 news-gathering . . .

Take that lovely little bride-elect Mary Elizabeth Pratt ("Betty") to her intimates, she's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Marshall Pratt of Merrivether road whose engagement was announced on the first day of the new year to Lieut. Fred Wallace Beltz Jr., USMM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wallace Beltz of Rivard boulevard . . .

Once the holidays . . . and the important news were over . . . she hurried back to Manhattan to continue her voice lessons (under a very famous coach), pursue her study of Italian and the ballet . . .

And she won't be back to the Pointe again until June . . .

BETTY PRATT ENGAGED

Young Fred couldn't attend the announcement party . . . his Merchant Marine duties keeping him at the moment in Oslo, Norway . . .

But his attractive father was his proxy when he pinned exquisite white violets at the shoulder of his son's fiancee the afternoon of the party, which took place in the Pratt residence . . .

Betty chose a gray and black jersey frock brightened by large silver buttons and a silver choker . . .

TO DASHING MERCHANT MARINE

After graduating from Grosse Pointe High . . . Betty went to Oberlin . . . and then on to New York . . . where she has been studying for the past three years . . .

Fred is a graduate of the University of Michigan, having specialized in naval architecture, and engineering . . . He was a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity . . .

He'll return to New York for a brief stay in mid-January . . . and his next assignment takes him to South America . . .

GENUINE BERMUDA HARMONY

Nor can we imagine anything nicer than life as lived by the Wendell W. Anderson family of the Pointe . . .

They are all too rarely in residence at their Pointe home in Vendome road . . . but when they are here . . . their hospitality is a delight to a large circle of friends . . .

The young set invariably shores in the fun . . . as they did at Bermuda Ball given on New Year's Eve to fete Sally Warren of Milwaukee . . . and Wendell W. Anderson Jr. who'll be married June 14 in Milwaukee . . .

No one was more surprised than the Anderson "young" when they walked in the ballroom that evening . . .

To find that the orchestra was none other . . . than their very favorite from Bermuda . . .

TOASTING THE NEW YEAR

And so many folks were utterly charmed by the Bermuda music makers . . .

That the Andersons insisted they "borrow" them for their own parties . . .

This was the case at the New Year's Day cocktail party . . . when Mr. and Mrs. Emory Moran Ford entertained for a group of their intimates . . .

TO THE FOUR CORNERS—

But now the Anderson family is scattering again . . .

Jack left for the east last Friday . . . and spent the week-end with his mother . . . Mrs. McFeely Anderson in New York City . . .

Before going on to Yale . . .

Wendell Jr. returned Sunday to New Haven . . . and daughter, Lindsay, returned at the same time to her books at Briarcliff Junior College in Briarcliff Manor, N. Y. . . .

The senior Andersons will leave February 20 for the remainder of the Winter at the Cat Cay Club in the Bahamas . . .

The children will doubtless join them for the Easter vacation and thrilling deep sea fishing . . .

And soon after that . . . it'll be time to go to Milwaukee for the wedding . . . and back to the Pointe for Lindsay's debut.

Mary Keene McClure Bride of J. R. Stearns

Reception in Country Club Follows Church Ceremony; Young Couple to Live in Pointe After Florida Honeymoon

When they return from their wedding trip, last Saturday's bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Randolph Stearns, will make their home in Grosse Pointe. Mrs. Stearns was the former Mary Keene McClure, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Roy Donaldson McClure of Indian Village.

For her wedding the charming, brunette bride chose a gown of ivory bridal satin fashioned with a sweet heart neckline and long, fitted sleeves. A panel of exquisite net finished the front of the gown and at the back the skirt extended into a formal train.

Her Juliet cap of net and hair-loom lace was caught at the back with a fingertip veil of rosepointe. Mary carried white lilacs in her wedding bouquet and was given in marriage by her father at the 8:30 o'clock in the evening ceremony at Jefferson avenue Presbyterian Church.

Pale blue faille gowns were worn by the honor attendants and to complete their costumes, they donned crownless matching hats. They carried pale blue tris. Mrs. Otto Pongracz was matron and Alleen Davidson was maid of honor.

Garbed in American Beauty faille picture gowns and hats were the bridesmaids Barbara Simonds, Marjorie Upham of Baltimore, Md., Roberta Leach of Pittsburgh and Mrs. Rowland Hall of Grand Rapids.

Radford Stearns of Evanston, Ill., served his brother as best man.

Seating the guests were groomsmen Otto Pongracz, Roger Vanderkar, Jack Johnson, David Burton, Alfred Polk and the bride's two brothers, Douglas McClure and Lieut. (j.g.) Donald McClure. Donald came from Okinawa to be a member of his sister's wedding party.

Mrs. Theodore F. A. Osius of University place gave a unique Christmas party for 20 of her young friends Friday afternoon, December 27. She was assisted by Mrs. Alfred F. Taylor.

The children were invited to see a real old fashioned Christmas tree, agleam with twisted candles in their quaint metal holders. The tree was decorated with strings of cranberries, popcorn, gum drops, paper chains, cornucopius and gingerbread men. The only modern touch on the tree was bubble gum, a piece for every boy and girl.

Gifts were distributed to each child, books and pencil holders to the older ones, bean bags to the small ones.

Refreshments were served and the young guests trooped home full of delight at having seen a tree just like Grandmother had when she was a child.

The guests were King Patterson, John Richardson, Jack and Peggy Millar, John Taylor, Jill Schneider, Suzy Leach, Marcia Ward, Margaret Koehler, Emily Harding, Dick and Colton Park, Dutch Hummel, Judy Cook, Paul Scheid, Bobby Hunter, Mary and Fred Kotcher, Charles Weiler and Billy Basinger.

AAUW Helping Women Abroad

University women of other countries who face serious personal or professional handicaps because of the war are being given emergency help by the American Association of University Women through its Fund for Reconstruction Aid.

"To restore persons rather than things" is the aim expressed by the A. A. U. W. in this program of rehabilitation. It is a continuation of the Association's wartime project through which more than $50,000 was contributed for the relief of university women and their families. In line with this purpose, the A. A. U. W. is raising money to help in the following ways: for books and scientific equipment to replace those lost in the war; to finance refresher courses and short periods of study abroad; to help refugees establish themselves so that they may earn a living; to give medical assistance to women suffering from ill-health, malnutrition and incipient tuberculosis; and to provide food and clothing in areas where the need is still acute.

Mrs. Hubert G. Goebel, president of the Pointe branch of the American Association of University Women has received an appeal for educational materials to be sent to devastated countries where schools are unable to function for want of such basic supplies as pencils, pens, tablets, cards, notebooks and maps. Those desiring to answer this appeal may send their contributions before March 15 to UNRRA Warehouse, 537 Hudson street, New York City, marked "Educational Contribution through UNRRA to—name of country—At the time of dispatch send post card to the same address indicating nature, weight, and destination of packages. Shipments will be made free of charge to China, Ethiopia or Korea during this period.

Kid Bits

By Mary Frevo

By MARY FREVO
Lingering as one of the glamorous holiday highlights is that superb COUNTRY CLUB DANCE which was held December 27. Just a very few of the many who attended this affair were Betsy Bachman and Joe Cobane, Edith Waldrott and Ken Vanderbush, Joanne Wetherbee and Dick Wilson, Ann Erkkitz and Bud Alvarez, Susie Johnson and Dick Wickham, Joan Ziegler and Skippy Cook and Betty Meder and Bob Finney. The giant Christmas tree with tinsel and multicolored lights and the yuletide red and green added a merry note.

There was a lovely ham dinner served over at ANNE NICKS' before the dance at the Country Club. On the guest list were Anne's date... Dick King, Renee deLeon with Al Whittaker and Joy Steinbach and Tom Alvarez. 'Nother dinner party preceding the dance was that of FRED BAHR in his home on Renaud. The buffet supper was topped off with delicious apple pie ala mode. Those eating by candlelight were Fred with Mary Waterfall, Sue French with Peyton Weary, Barbara Couzens with Vic Hughes and your scribe with Skip Parker.

There were "big doins" at the DOWZERS' December 26 when JEAN invited several of her best friends for dinner and then to whiz downtown to the Paramount room to see "The Californian." Each gal got a beautiful corsage of red roses, and the 11 guests were Shiela McGrae, Nancy Weikert, Jan Hobson, Nancy George, Pat Perrone, Janet Johnston, Jeanie Webb, Susie Johnson, Merry Bauman, Ginny Grasse and Polly Wilton.

PAT PERRONE'S Oxford road home was the scene of much chatter on December 27. Marcy Wetherbee, Shiela McGrae, Merry Bauman, Jean Dowzer, Jan Hobson, Janet Becker, Norma Neeb, Doris Dising, Jeanie Webb, Polly Wilton and Ginny Grasse were there and later trekked over to the "Early American" for cokes and hamburgers.

COLLEGE NIGHT at the Grosse Pointe Yacht club was a real success. Those in on this tremendous event were Betty Lilygren with Bob Brinker, Bunny Shipton with Don McLean, Flo Mitchie with Harry Stahl, Barbara Shipton with Hank Hatch, Jeanne Jorstad with Fred Sutter, Sue French with Noel Melville, Sue Field with Doug Sutherland and Sylvia Teeg with Doug Long.

The New Year—1947—arrived with a gay welcome all over Grosse Pointe with private parties as well as the school dance and club celebrations. Buffet suppers—that infinitesimal pause as midnight struck—brief moments of Auld Lang Syne—then jollity and noise—dancing and favors—it was New Year's eve supreme!

One o'clock came all too soon New Year's morning when the big crowd at the HIGH SCHOOL DANCE dispersed. The usual balloons, streamers, noisemakers and gay paper hats provided a colorful setting and a grand finale for 1946. Among the guys and gals dancing dreamily to Roston Clark and his music makers were Betsy Bachman and Joe Cobane, Sallie Hoyt and Stuart Ward, Meeky VanZanen and Burt Spurrier, Sallee Slocum and Don Graham, Mary Waterfall and Bob Campbell, Katie James and Bob Bassett, Pat Martin and Ted Laitner, Fay Pankow and Dick Phillips, Carroll Grylls and John Cobane, Doris Dising and Doug Turnbull, Nancy Brill and Jack Miller, Pat Ford and Chuck Waggoner, Kathie Streck and Doug Krieger, Marilyn Wroblos and Mike Bigley, Shirley Davis and Mike Merwin, Carol Stewart and Ed Karr, Annie Davis and Ed Isbey, Peggy Maiden and Hank Bader, Gloria James and Jerry Webster, Helen Plath and Bob Van Halteren, Norma Steenrod and Bob Peterson, Joyce Hartung and Frank Reid, Mary Gratzler and Dick Nightingale, Mary McKay and Hugh Hatch and Phyllis Hannah and Bob Vincent.

The Christmas decorations of red and green formed a perfect holiday background for the beautiful gowns of the women and the black and white of their escorts at the COUNTRY CLUB. In on the merry-making were Polly Saunders with Bud Alvarez, Joey Johnstone with Bill Merrill, Letty Kretschmar with Jack Huck-ins, Ellen Bery with Dick Dossin, Marilyn Shields with John Bracken, Joan Rockwell with Ken Gould, Joy Teetzel with Dan Foster and Lesley Hulbert with Tracy Hastings.

The GROSSE POINTE YACHT CLUB was also the scene of a mammoth New Year's eve celebration. Midnight brought hearty greetings from friend to friend, seated around the tables and dancing. Many groups of young folks had joined for the festivity—in one such party were Bill Schroeder and his date, Bunny Shipton, Harry Constance and Joan Blanchard, Frank Levenseller and Marge Clements, Jack Poulette and Barbara Shipton, Tom Schultz and Nancy Balkema, John Nelson and Mary Ellen Andrews.

Anne Erkkitz and Tom Alvarez, Franny Boyer and Dick King, Joan Ziegler and Ed Peterson, Anne Hicks and Al Whittaker and Joy Steinbach and Bill Hahn were together. Sue Field was there with Doug Sutherland, Flo Mitchie with Harry Stahl—and on and on.

It was a joint birthday-New Year's eve party in the STEWART home on Loraine December 31. ANN entertained a group of close friends with dinner and a theater party followed by midnight refreshments and a hilarious time seeing the old year out. There were lovely pink corsages for each guest, and the Pointers who received them were Melba Wallace, Ruth Applegate, Jane Stewart and Harriet Prevo.

Some of PAT SIEBERT'S friends continued making merry in her Yorkshire road home. Those who stopped in on their way home from the high school dance for a platter of hot chili were Tom Bassett, Lois Argue with Chuck Jordan, Mary Londe with Dick Bushaw, Florence Erringer with Jack Wilson, Jane Baldwin with Bill Brock, Ruth Rauth with Jim Alexis and Barb Glase with Bill Bolster.

Friday was the big day for the Strasburg dancers to show what they had learned in their dancing ability. Held at the Country Club, the annual HOLIDAY BALL was voted a complete success. The students danced in a setting of Yuletide holly and greens which were placed, along with clusters of red balloons, directly opposite the orchestra. Sue French was there with Noel Melville, Elise Hahn was there with Bill Foster, Nancy Teetzel with Bob Lilygren, Marge Petzold with Bob Sutton, Marcella Seymour with Bert Wicking, Sally Dunn with Dave Martz, Janie Lundgren with John Mack and Diane Bachele with Harry Esling.

A turkey dinner, buffet style, was served in the DAVIS home on Balfour road to several of SHIRLEY'S cronies Friday evening. Mike Merwin was the hostess' date for the evening, and others were Marge Clements and Frank Levsler, Joan Blanchard and Harry Constance, Marge Schulte and George Wilson, Joyce Hartung and Frank Reid, Norma Steenrod and Bob Peterson, Janet Dalrymple and John Cavanaugh, Joan VanBeelaere and Blount Slade. Following the dinner, they all went to the mo-and then again back to Shirley's for cokes and dancing. CAROL STEWART'S home was filled with the chatter of young voices Friday when 14 of her class mates gathered for games and dancing. Marion Rennie, Joyce Schreiber, Sallie Hoyt, Joe Fromm, John Corfield, Tom Anton, Bob Coleman, Lois Buck, Bonnie Lee, Gloria James, Ann Barker, Jim Hearst, Jerry Webster and Stuart Ward were in on the fun.

Other pictures entered in the contest will be run in future issues if space permits.

LOIS BUCK and her friends took their new Christmas ice skates out of their boxes Saturday and put them to use at the Country Club. We've heard rumors that there were some 50 people at this giant skating party! Those gliding along were Lois and her date Bob Coleman, Gloria James and Jerry Webster, Carol Stewart and Sandy Malcolmson, Sallie Hoyt and Stuart Ward, Meeky VanZanen and Burt Spurrier, Marion Rennie and John Corfield, Charlyn Salmon and Al Whittaker, Pat Martin and Ted Laitner. Later in the evening Sue Wheelock and Cal Purdy, Jeanne Jorstad and Bill Cunningham, Mary Whitcomb and Vince Schoeck were seen sipping cokes and dancing in the clubhouse along with Diane Fruenau and Bill Anderson, Susie Johnson and Dick Wickham.

Still another of the week-end parties was that of BILL HAHN which was held at the Detroit Athletic Club on Friday. With Bill and Mary Sherwood were Joan Ziegler with Tom Alvarez and ye columnist with Dick King. After dining and dancing, the ski and Al Whittaker, Pat Martin and Ted Laitner. Later in the evening Sue Wheelock and Cal Purdy, Jeanne Jorstad and Bill Cunningham, Mary Whitcomb and Vince Schoeck were seen sipping cokes and dancing in the clubhouse along with Diane Fruenau and Bill Anderson, Susie Johnson and Dick Wickham.

In the home of CAROL KRAUSE greetings were extended to 1947 and its social and civic activities. Myrna Troden, Patsy Goyette, Carol Roemer, Helen Reed, Bill Iler, Bill Turfill, Russel Vatz, Larry Breden and Roger Alles were there to give the New Year a proper welcome along with Peggy Dickens, Brenda Winters, Skippy Downey, Barry Salton, Doug Mileson and Ford Slater. There were hamburgers, potato salad and chips, and games and dancing were the entertainment for the gala event.

The 12B class at Grosse Pointe high school has cooked up some really swanky ideas for their senior prom! Jennie Quirk is presiding over the whole affair, and she has nine faithful helpers who have "put on their thinking caps" to make these magnificent plans. Chairman of the decoration committee is Iena Lindh, and Ed Isbey and Earl Brabb are seeing to it that the music is the finest to be had. Sallee Slocum and Jim Brown are publicizing the big event. There will be dance programs this time—Sandy Malcolmson is in charge of that. Chairmen of the refreshment and invitation committees are George

District Nursing Society Notes

Both the regular and annual meetings of the District Nursing Society were held on Wednesday, January 8, in the Grosse Pointe Club. The election of officers for 1947 was held. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Henry Cupper.

This society is one of the oldest in Detroit. It was founded in 1895 by a group of young girls who sewed for the poor. They gave a dance, the Bal Poudre, and with the proceeds managed to pay the salaries of three visiting nurses. Many years ago the Society used to hold its meetings in the Board Room of the Detroit Trust Co. When the Community Fund was started the Nursing Society became part of this organization, and under its direction ran Bay Court, a summer home for underprivileged mothers and children. They now run a camp in Waterford, Michigan, known as Camp MacGregor, and also make layettes for the Red Cross and other charities. Many of these well equipped layettes have been sent overseas.

Some of the past presidents of this Society were Mrs. Albert Griffiths, Mrs. MacPherson Browning, Mrs. Wallace S. MacKenzie, Mrs. Brook Jackson, Mrs. Joseph Schlotman and Mrs. Russell Dexter.

Short and to The Pointe

A golden wedding anniversary dinner party honored MR. and MRS. V. M. HARE of Uxbridge, Ont., when their son and daughter-in-law, MR. and MRS. L. A. HARE of Balfour road recently entertained for them. Among the guests were MISS JOANN HARE, MR. and MRS. V. J. W. HARE and FRANK L. TIBBALS of Pontiac.

THE JOSEPH B. SCHLOTMANS are planning to leave the end of the month for a long winter of sunshine. They'll go first to Punta Grande, Fla. and after a month's vacation will go on to their favorite Sea Island in Georgia. At the latter resort they'll be joined by their daughter, MRS. LEDYARD MITCHELL, JR. and her children, DEBORAH, SALLY and MARY LEDYARD.

Another Pointer taking off for the South will be MRS. HARRY NORTON TORREY of Lake Shore road who will go to Ossabaw Island in Georgia. Her son-in-law and daughter, MR. and MRS. JOHN SHALLCROSS of Bloomfield, with their children, will join her in early April.

SALLY and DOUGLAS WATKINS gave a large cocktail party Sunday in the home of their parents, MR. and MRS. JOHN R. WATKINS of University place, to compliment their cousin, MARGY WATKINS.

MRS. STUART A. FRASER of St. Clair avenue, attended the first luncheon meeting of the March of Dimes ticket committee at the Warwell. Mrs. Fraser is chairman of the committee and her aides comprise MRS. DONALD MELVILLE, MRS. BENJAMIN O. SHEPHERD, MRS. JOHN W. GRIFFIN, MRS. J. J. LIVINGSTON and MRS. SAM KELLER.

Required reading: MRS. GLENN ANDERSON of Merrifield road will have an article soon in "Today's Woman." It is entitled, "The Veteran I Know." Mrs. Anderson's work with the veterans of Percy Jones and other hospitals equips her well as the author of the article.

Making their annual trip to Palm Springs and other enchanting spots on the West Coast will be MR. and MRS. JOHN J. O'BRIEN of Kercheval avenue. They'll be accompanied by MRS. ARTHUR MCGRAW on their junket this winter, which begins the end of the month. They expect to spend about two months at the Desert Inn.

On Monday last, one of a long series of parties which have bade a charming though most reluctant farewell to Pointers MR. and MRS. BREWSTER LOUD JR. was given by MR. and MRS. THOMAS J. LITTLE III at their home in Meadow lane. The Louds were to leave today (Thursday) for their new home in Saratoga, in the Santa Clara Valley of California. ### ODD FACT

In Hollywood, a movie actor moved his new bride into a studio lot dressing room, which will be their temporary quarters due to the housing shortage.

PROBABLY NOT. Every year, electric lamp bulbs are doing a better and better job.

But lamp bulbs are often overworked in winter—when the days are dark and the nights are long. In fact, the average lamp bulb in the home is lighted almost twice as long in January as in July.

To spare yourself needless bother, be sure you have plenty of spare bulbs on hand. Your dealer has them—in all sizes—and all modestly priced.

Remember, too, that you can exchange burned-out bulbs for new ones at any Edison office or Edison lamp-exchange agency. Or simply call Randolph 6800 and ask the Lamp Exchange Serviceman to call at your home with a fresh supply. There's no charge, of course.

Here's Pointing At You!

By A. Dooley

Hip Hip Hurray! Three cheers... Bring in the New... Ring out the Old... Happy New Year... I beg your pardon but do you have an aspirin? The New Year was brought in with festivity and joy but the morning after the night before found many a shivering paw reaching for the ice bag. New Year's saw many of the Pointers close to home except for a few brave souls who ventured out to the big city. BETTY AND LES SCHROEDER with a few friends fought their way into the Van Dyke Club. From what she says "Twas a bit crowded"—but then what's New Year's without crowds and noise!

The New Year really came in with a bang... party given by the ZETA NU UPSILON fraternity... in the home of Roger Van Bever, 620 Beaconsfield... most of the members are from Detroit but a few Pointers were seen about... Bill Dansbury and Tweedie Baker... Ted Corbett and Nancy Joyce... Organization now has eleven active members... considering four new pledges this year.

Life can be gay!... this statement won true blue honors... at a party given Tuesday evening by BILL GERARDY of 5067 Nottingham... Bill not only provided refreshments but entertainment as well... one of his guests was the well known 'Ciro'—caricaturist... (George Crinas to the Pointe)... his drawings and impersonations kept the crowd in a lively mood... those joining in the fun were... Bob Harris and Florence Mettler... Bob Phillips and Debbie Mizewski... Dave Stroud... Bud Bonamy and Leonore Carnagi... Bob Henige and Helen Brown... Kevin Murphy and Mandy Hurley... and of course Bill and his fiancée, Norm Hinman.

Another party took place in the Pointe this week... SHIRLEY and JOHNNY BAILY were here visiting Shirley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Kelleher of 709 Trombly... A group of friends gathered together to say hello to the new year... and goodbye to Shiri and John... who are leaving for their home in Arkansas... some of the guests were... LaVern Beaupre and Margaret Page... Chuck Kellett and Ann Cavanaugh... Donald Mahlmeister and Mary Drolshager... Doctor and Mrs. Wm. Baily... Peggy Wuellner and Queeny Reno... Marilyn O'Connor and Frank Charbonneau... Mary and Joe Sullivan... Leonard and Winnie Brzozowski... Mr. and Mrs. Sid Dunn.

Ran into JO ANN GAY last week... just returned from Cleveland... attended the Princeton Triangle Club play... also the Princeton Alumni dance held in Cleveland... they now have a new addition to the Gay household... a seven weeks old cocker spaniel... a fat, roly polly puppy called 'Susie Q'... from all reports she seems to have the run of the house.

SURPRISE... SURPRISE... and it was, too... for Fran Allard... birthday party given by her husband, Tuffy last Friday... a reunion of old friends... Margaret and Jack Greening... Bill Bass and Jackie Kay... Betty Bass and Wally O'Mally... food and more food... complete with birthday cake and candles... can't tell how many candles... scout's honor!

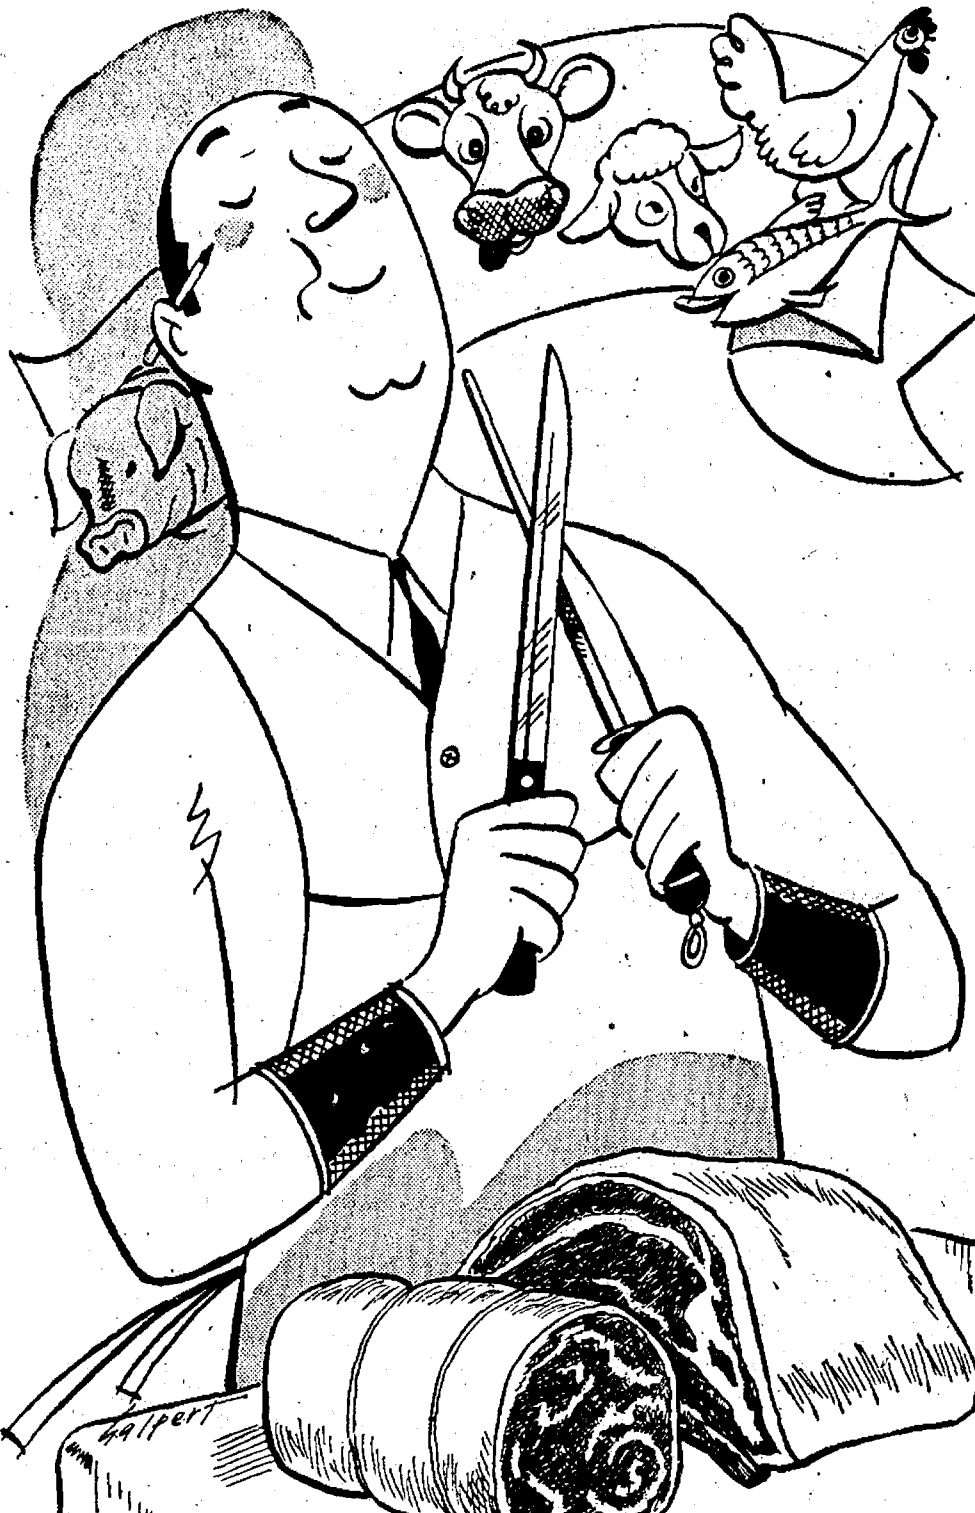

Saw MRS. WILLIAM MOORE last week... she is the former Kathryn Reed... listened to all the wonderful things they have done to their new home in Gateshead... ironing ruffled curtains was never Katie's idea of fun... she and her husband Bill flew down to Philadelphia for the holidays to be with his family... spent a few days in New York and happened to be one of the fortunate people to see "Oklahoma"... Holiday's over—Katie is back, to the ruffled curtains.

Passenger Hurt In Auto Crash

An automobile accident involving personal injuries happened Sunday at 11:20 a.m. at Beaconsfield and Charlevoix. A car owned and driven by Herbert Rayner of 2987 Newport, going east on Charlevoix, struck a car owned and driven by George P. Manassa, of 320 Newport, going south on Beaconsfield.

Both cars were seriously mangled and Alice Rayner, aged 28, of 2987 Newport, suffered lacerations and abrasions on both knees. She was taken to Bon Secours Hospital.

Absence of Street Signs Rapped by City Resident

The absence of street signs at many points in the City is causing much annoyance to residents but greater still to friends who arrive to see them and are unfamiliar with the streets.

Mrs. Baldinger, of 874 St. Clair, complained that friends who tried to reach them on Monday night were marooned in unfamiliar parts of the City because of the absence of signs and never did reach her home.

Rotarians Hear Judge Moynihan

The Grosse Pointe Rotary Club was favored with a moving address on the obligations of citizenship by Judge Joseph A. Moynihan, Presiding Circuit Court Judge of Michigan. Judge Moynihan was introduced by Attorney Fred McGraw, of Grosse Pointe Park, as the youngest Circuit Court Judge ever to occupy that bench in Michigan at the time of his election nearly a quarter century ago.

He was also named as the jurist who was chiefly responsible for shortening the time for which cases in the Circuit court in this county formerly had to await trial, from four years to about ten months, and in many special cases advanced to even earlier hearing.

The Judge spoke for tolerance of race, creed and political belief among all citizens, and cited the maintenance of this liberality as the chief cause for America's rise to greatness.

He warned of the dangerous encroachment of political and social beliefs alien to our way of life and said these can best be combated by an alert citizenry. The citizen, he said, in this country, is the ultimate foundation of all law and government.

Incidental to his speech, the Judge paid a high tribute to the superior class of men who serve as Justices of the Peace in our county, and suggested that many of these, by reason of the excellent and able records in their courts of minor jurisdiction, deserved advancement to higher positions in the judiciary.

Chester Vincent Taken by Death

Chester M. Vincent of 166 Beapure road, Grosse Pointe Farms, a resident of Grosse Pointe for the past 18 years, died in Bon Secours Hospital December 24 after a short illness. Mr. Vincent is survived by his wife, Gladys, a son, Robert E. II, and his father, Robert E. Vincent.

Mr. Vincent was in charge of the Detroit office of the A. F. Holden Co., New Haven, Conn., for 15 years, leaving there one year ago to become co-owner of the Metallurgical Service Co. of Detroit.

He was a member of Oriental Lodge No. 240 F. and A. M. Scottish Rite; Moslem Temple; American Society of Metals and McKinney Post of the American Legion.

This coming year will fix the shape of many years to come.

We're Gonna Change Our... SIGN

We've changed a lot of things since we started in business back in 1933. And we're going to keep changing. We started with an idea of making our sales and service the best possible. We are going to make it the best in Detroit.

- We're getting closer to completing our plan each year. The latest change was one to increase our service facilities. We added over 16,000 square feet of floor space for service.
- We've added new employees till now there are over forty, ready to serve your every need. We've added new equipment to make servicing your car quicker, better, and less expensive. We've added hours and now we're open 'till midnight on weekdays, 6 p. m. on Saturdays.
- We've never changed our desire to do the best possible job at the lowest cost. We have never changed our product and in that we owe a lot because we hitched our business to the leader.

Right now, we are making a slight change—our sign—we're changing it to RAY WHYTE CHEVROLET COMPANY. RAY WHYTE CHEVROLET or EASTERN CHEVROLET, it's the same business, and the same people, with the same idea—to make customers, friends. Oh Yes! Our phone number's changed too. It's now HICKORY 2000.

Your Standby

WHILE YOU'RE STANDING BY!

Don't let your present car go to waste... while waiting for your new car to come! It's true that automobile production at the Oldsmobile factories has been sharply curtailed as a result of shortages of vitally needed materials. This, combined with an unprecedented demand for new Oldsmobiles, has caused a situation in which new car deliveries have fallen behind schedule.

If you have to wait for your new Oldsmobile (and it's well worth waiting for!) let us help make the waiting period easier with regular Oldsmobile service. Careful maintenance will not only keep your present car running better and more safely... it will also keep up its "trade-in" value.

Fortunately, we are in an excellent position to meet your service needs today. Our mechanics are thoroughly trained in the latest Oldsmobile-approved methods. Our equipment is modern and complete. We have a good stock of authorized Oldsmobile parts on hand. In other words, our traditionally high-quality Oldsmobile Service is better than ever today!

So—drop in soon—let us help you keep your present car going until your new Oldsmobile comes.

This is the smartly tailored Series "74" Oldsmobile 4-Door Sedan. It offers GM Hydra-Matic Drive, optional at extra cost.

Freeze Causes Flood in Garage

Running water can do a lot of damage during the freezing weather the Pointe has been having recently. So thought Park Patrolmen Dilloway and Kesteloot on Friday night around 9 o'clock when they espied a generous flow coming from the garage of the B. A. Page home at 1128 Devonshire.

Inquiry disclosed that there was nobody home, so the officers called a plumber, meanwhile getting into the garage by ways known to the police. The plumber repaired a frozen water pipe.

Everything was soon in ship-shape, free gratis for nothing except the plumber's bill which the owner will doubtless cheerfully pay.

Woods Appoints Planning Board

Pursuant to an ordinance recently passed by the Commissioners of the Woods village creating a Planning Commission as an official adjunct of the village government, President A. A. Chesquiere at the meeting on January 7, renamed the old planning board which had been acting merely in an informal advisory committee to the Council, and two additional members. This brought the number to nine.

Those named to the permanent planning board are: Don Goodrow, Rex Johnston, Wait McKnight, Max Luce, George Couillard, Ray St. John, Roy Lang and the two new members, David Lowe and Alfred King.

Post Holiday Blaze Preparations Scary

Boys in the neighborhood of Beaconsfield busied themselves Tuesday of this week gathering up discarded Christmas trees. A pile of these placed in the rear of the garage at 886 Beaconsfield led to a complaint from the owner at police headquarters.

When the police arrived they found several householders thereabouts had already begun to burn their old trees. They preferred to supervise several controlled fires rather than furnish fuel for the big one which they saw approaching.

Turn over a new leaf, by all means, but keep it firmly bound in the old family album.

Concert Planned By Music Dept. Of High School

Grosse Pointe High School's Instrumental Music Department presents its annual winter concert on the evening of January 17. The program will be presented in the High School auditorium at 8:15 p.m. and will consist of a variety of musical selections.

Three members of the graduating class make their final appearance with the Band. Sally Grylls and Hazel Allie, 12A's, will perform a clarinet duet with the band accompaniment, and John Titus 12A will assist in conducting the Brownell Junior High Band.

The Boy's Glee Club under the direction of Mr. John Finch will take part in the program, with the Senior High Concert Band under the direction of Mr.

Dewey Kalember, concluding the program.

Tickets will be sold by members of both bands beginning Monday, January 13, or they may be purchased at the door for 25 cents.

THAT'LL BE OWL

The Grosse Pointe Woods police received a call on Jan. 6, from 657 Hawthorne stating that an owl was in the house and was attacking the children. The owl was knocked down with a stick and taken to the station.
