First Park Planning Report Stresses Zoning, Parking

New Long-Range Program Foresees Expiration Of Present Property Restrictions

J. M. Frissel of Lansing, retained as consultant municipal planner to co-operate with Manager Lane of the Park in the preparation of a long-range program of village planning, has submitted a preliminary report to Lane. This work involved, as a first step, the preparation of maps showing the location, character and zoning classification of every parcel of property in the village. Along with this is to go what is known as a property use map, showing the purpose to which the land may be applied with respect to uniform development of the village as a desirable residential community. The question of parking space will also be seriously considered. The aim is eventually to get away from street parking and, to effect this, it is necessary for communities to plan convenient parking space. Street parking is fast becoming a serious problem in the village. Density of population is another item of development to be taken into account. Wholesome, desirable living conditions require planning which will prevent overcrowding, not only with respect to houses, but considering light, air and freedom of movement. Best informed opinion agrees that a limit of six to eight families to the acre be placed. In the Park development the thought now followed in planning is that desirable living should be assured all its people. This is far removed from the idea of having it remain an exclusive residential community. Wealthy people, who can provide their own light, air and space, need no protection of this character. The Park looks forward to assuring such conditions for all the people and this can only be provided by planning now on a long-range scale. At the council meeting June 23, President Parshall compli-

Park Grants 5.3 Per Cent Pay Increase

Lane Declines Ypsi Offer, Takes General Boost

At the Park village commissioners' meeting June 23, the pay of all village employes was raised, retroactive to April 1, the beginning of the village's fiscal year. The average percentage of raise, scattered over all employes, was 5.3 per cent. The total increase in the wage and salary items in the budget is $11,580. Village Manager Lane, who refused an offer to go to Ypsilanti at a substantial increase in salary some months ago, made no effort to persuade the Park village to bid against Ypsilanti for his services. Lane has accepted only the general increase accorded to all employes. He is deeply concerned with the project now in progress to provide a modern and systematic program for growth and development of the Park village, preserving it as a desirable residential community. He is anxious to see this work well launched before he cares to consider assuming managerial work for some other municipality. The Board of Village Commissioners expressed gratitude that Lane had taken this position.

When Park firemen arrived, the place was in full flame. The roofs of three adjoining garages, one on either side and another across the alley were ignited but extinguished before serious damage was done. The origin of the fire is unknown. The property belonged to J. Nancy, 1225 Whittier.

One Killed, Two Injured In 2 Crashes

St. Clair Shores Woman Dies After Accident; Joyce Mulkey Hurt

Lakeshore drive was the scene of two serious traffic accidents Tuesday, June 24, one of which resulted in a fatality. At 7:30 a. m., Melvin Saier, 20854 Paloma, St. Clair Shores, lost control of his car in front of 525 Lakeshore and crashed into a tree in the parkway. Mrs. Alma Wolfe, 22313 Stalder, St. Clair Shores, a passenger, died in Saratoga Hospital. Saier remains in critical condition there. About 4:30 p. m. at the turnoff from Lakeshore into Provençal, only a short distance west of the earlier accident, Joyce Mulkey, 19, of 94 Touraine, crashed into a car driven by Mrs. Jesse Leonard, 31 Elm Court, Grosse Pointe Farms. Mrs. Leonard had slowed down to permit a car ahead of her to turn into Provençal. Miss Mulkey's car continued about 60 feet beyond the point of the collision. She was thrown through the right door which had sprung open. Her head struck the pavement. She was removed to the Cottage Hospital, where up to noon the following day, she was still unconscious. She suffered a fractured skull.

Police Put Teeth In Training School Plan for Drivers

State to Refer All License Applicants Back To Local Officers for Examination; Magistrates to Co-operate

The traffic school recently set up by joint agreement of the Pointe police is no mere experimental plaything. It has teeth in it and its serious personal implication for new drivers will appear quickly. The school is known as the Grosse Pointe Police Traffic School. Its sessions will be held every Monday night from 7 to 9 in the Park village council chambers. Its present instructors are Detective Arnold Hough and Patrolman Gerald Kesteloot. Other instructors will be detailed in turn by the different police departments from their trained personnel. It will function in this manner: Whenever a new driver appears at his local police station for a driver's license, he will be given a certificate which admits him to the school. There, he will take his examination and, on passing this, will be certified back to his home police station where a temporary license will be issued to him later to be followed by his regular license from Lansing. Here is where the stinger comes in. If some independent young hopeful decides to pass up the local school and appeal directly to the state for his license, he will be promptly informed by that body to go back and take his local examinations. The state police have already agreed with Park Chief Louwers to co-operate. The state is pleased to do this as it might happen in certain cases that the applicant would be able to pass his examination with flying colors but, for some reasons the local police would know, such as record, character or disposition, a license should not be issued. The City of Detroit has such a school but, with this exception, Grosse Pointe is the only community in the southeastern Michigan police area that has one set up. Many other communities however are seriously considering setting up such schools soon. Chief Hoyt of the Farms said Monday night that this school was to be a permanent institution. "We can't put our hands to this plow and quit," he said. "There is always a new crop of drivers coming along and these must be properly examined and trained." Already, the usefulness of the school has been recognized by local police magistrates. Twice in the two weeks it has been in operation magistrates in the Pointe have sentenced reckless drivers appearing before them to attend the school for two or more sessions.

Buyers Rush To Get Lots For Homes

Woods Permit Total Nears Million Dollars; 48 Issued in Farms

Home building operations in Grosse Pointe, which in common with the rest of the country being practically nonexistent since the war started, are picking up quickly, a survey disclosed this week. In addition to the actual construction, either started or definitely planned for the near future, there has been an active buying of lots by parties who intend to build homes on them. The raising of costs limits on residential construction has loosed a horde of prospective home builders and Grosse Pointe, as one of the most desirable residential areas in the country, has come in for considerable inspection from this type of builder. While the figures of homes started or plans filed are not much more than a trickle of the flood to come, they are significant. The Woods, with the largest unimproved area of any of the five communities, has been the first to feel the impulse of this movement. There, since Jan. 1 to June 1, permits have been issued for the construction of 78 single family dwelling houses, representing a value of $991,900. In addition to these, there are such structures as the new junior high at Vernier and Mack, the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church and several gas stations and other commercial developments. The large terrace development, to go up on Vernier road opposite the Fruehauf School, will make available 39 family living units. In the City, only five permits for new construction were issued during January and February but this jumped to four in March with a value of $78,000. Since April, three new permits aggregating $33,800. Three other permits are about to be issued for dwellings aggregating about $40,000. In the Farms, 48 permits for single family structure have been issued since Jan. 1, representing values of $609,100. Two commercial structures for $27,000 are also under way. In addition the St. James Lutheran Church represents $130,000 value. Superintendent Baupre said the cost of building materials had had a small drop recently, indicating a further step in home building. He anticipates extensive home building operations in the Farms from now on. In the Park, home structures have been started or finished since the beginning of the year totaling about $80,000. Manager Tom Jafferis of Grosse Pointe Shores reports that six new dwelling houses are under construction in the square mile village. These properties are all of substantial character.

Homes Crisis Perils Pointe School Plans

Teachers Shun Contracts Because of Shortage In Housing Here

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education is faced again with the serious problem of finding housing for new teachers. The problem is even more acute this year because of the scarcity of capable teachers. Some excellent candidates for positions are unwilling to sign contracts until living accommodations have been found, school officials said. This is particularly true of families with children. In addition, some of the teachers already on the staff are being forced to find new quarters because of the sale of the property where they now live. The school board estimates this week that, between now and Sept. 1, housing would have to be found for two families with two children; three families with one child; five couples and single teachers with their mothers and 20 single teachers. You are urged to call the Board of Education, Niagara 2000, if you hear of any housing available.

Ground Breaking Planned For New St. James Lutheran Building

The Rev. George E. Kurz, pastor, will officiate at the ground-breaking for the new St. James Lutheran Church of Grosse Pointe at noon June 29 at the church site, McMillan near Kercheval. The ceremony will take place after the regular Sunday morning service at 11 a. m. in the Punch and Judy theatre. In keeping with the style of architecture predominant in the community, the church will be of the colonial type, designed by the George D. Mason Co. Assisting Pastor Kurz in the ceremony will be representatives of the architectural firm and the Emil Van Sile Construction Co., builders, together with the following congregational representatives: E. F. Bauman, chairman of the building committee; Harold Rieth, chairman of the building fund committee; Warren Wresell, president of the congregation; and Harold Meinke, senior trustee. For the last six and a half years, services have been held and Sunday school taught in the Punch and Judy, previous to which the congregation met for 10 months in the Grosse Pointe High School. The congregation, which started with 14 adult communicants, now numbers 225. Rev. Kurz has been the pastor of the church since its inception. He is a native of Detroit and was graduated from the Concordia Seminary in St. Louis.

Farms Woman Injured in Crash

A car driven east on Charlevoix at 2:40 a. m. Sunday, June 22, by Patrick P. Lawrie, 1961 Beaufait, Grosse Pointe Farms, struck a car going south on Somerset, driven by William J. Gray, 22218 Stalder, St. Clair Shores. The Gray car carried an Ohio license and was owned by Albert Gray of Toledo. Both cars were seriously damaged and Mrs. Lawrie suffered a neck injury. She refused to be taken to a hospital, saying she preferred to be examined by her own physician. A ticket was given to Gray for failure to stop at a stop street. PUT OUT ROOF FIRE A roof fire at the William Innes home, 266 Kenwood Ct., was promptly taken care of last Friday by the Farms fire department. No appreciable damage was reported.

Window Peepers Getting Taller?

An alarmed lady who lives on Grayton road and obviously suffers from the window peeping complex, phoned the Park police at 12:40 a. m. on June 18 that someone had been peeping into her bedroom window. She was quite sure they were on stilts, as otherwise the two whom she saw could hardly have peeped into her second story window. The police could find no still marks or other evidences of a visitation.

Dean Car Taken By Two Youths

In the summer, the teen-ager's fancy lightly turns to joy-riding in cars that don't belong to him. Mrs. Charles A. Dean, Jr., of Lewiston road reported to Farms police last week that at 2 a. m. Sunday two boys entered the side door of the Dean garage and finding the ignition key in the switch of the station wagon, drove away in it. The culprits, Russell Hengendorf, 14, of 4226 Neff, and Don Faver, 14, of 4240 Neff, were picked up by Detroit Police at Harper and Audubon at 2:55 Monday and were turned over to juvenile authorities for further investigation.

Farms Home Damaged in $5,000 Fire

A serious fire occurred in the home of John Macomb, 252 Lewiston road, in the Farms Monday noon, June 23. The fire department received the call at 11:52 a. m. and the firemen were out of quarters dealing with the fire until 1:51. The fire started on the roof, presumably from sparks from a neighboring incinerator which lodged in the gutters. The fire worked into the interior of the upper floor and before it was extinguished, had done $5,000 damage. Water damaged draperies and interior trimmings to the extent of $500. The fire was burning extensively before the firemen arrived and only quick and effective work on their part prevented its extension to the lower floors. The value of the building imperiled was $35,000. The property is owned by Mrs. V. L. Shobe, 227 McMillan.

Progress in Sewer Project Reported To Park Council

Progress was reported to the Park council meeting Monday night by Manager Lane on the extensive sewer improvement work the village launched for this year.

In District 1, Job 1, which comprises the Whittier-Grayton sewer, the work will be completed July 1. In District 1, Job 2, covering Balfour and the alley south of Mack the work is completed.

The No. 1 Job in District No. 2, designated as Grayton-St. Paul, was done by the village itself with its own employees and is practically finished. There remains only the repair of sidewalks, cleaning and seeding of lawns and the repair of incidental disruptions caused by the work.

The unusual rainfall experienced thus far this year demonstrated that the additional drainage capacity furnished by this sewer work would be ample to perform the service intended. In addition to actual construction, much work has been done by the village in cleaning out and repairing old sewer installations, greatly improving the sewer capacity of the properties served.

As a guide for information, water gauges have been placed in manholes in many locations to determine the water levels attained in time of rainfall.

Between September, '46 and June, '47, two miles of sewers, including four manholes and 12 catch basins, were cleaned or repaired or built.

A sidewalk repair and relay program has been prepared for which bids will be opened July 14. This work will be completed during the summer. A contract has also been entered into for the trimming of 785 trees, needed from the standpoint of public safety.

Veto Deplored By Youngblood

Representative Harold F. Youngblood (R. Mich.) today publicly deplored the failure of the 80th Congress to over-ride President's veto of the bill cutting income taxes.

"One hundred forty million people will continue to pay high taxes," he said, "because the President exercised his power of veto over the better judgment of the majority of the Members of both Houses of Congress."

Having led the fight to garner enough votes for the necessary two-thirds majority, Youngblood expressed himself as "deeply disappointed" over having lost by only two votes out of the two-thirds majority necessary to pass the bill.

Representative Youngblood also stated that, "It is quite evident that if the people desire a reduction in burdensome taxes AT ALL, it will be necessary to elect a President who will not fail to recognize the mandate of the voters. I have fought for a reduction in taxes ever since my election to office, and do not feel that the Chief Executive has recognized the will of the people in vetoing this measure."

Business and professional leaders from all sections of the United States, Canada, Alaska, and Hawaii will descend upon Chicago Sunday, June 29, for the 32nd annual convention of Kiwanis International.

Some 10,000 persons are expected to attend the five-day meeting, which will be based on the service organization's administrative theme for this year, "Build for Peace—Patriotism—Opportunity."

The program will feature addresses by outstanding figures in American and Canadian public life, election of officers, club activity conferences, and the foremost in entertainment.

The convention will open Sunday evening, June 29, with an address by the Rev. Norman Vincent Peale, pastor of New York City's historic Marble Collegiate church, and close Thursday morning, July 3, following the appearance of Earl Bunting, president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Special features have been planned for wives of Kiwanians in attendance, while a teen-age canteen will be established for boys and girls.

The Kiwanis Club of Grosse Pointe will be represented at the Chicago convention by the following delegates: B. B. Brothers, president of the club; Don J. Goodrow and Vern C. Adams.

Ford to Direct Chest Committee

The Corporation Gifts Committee of the fall Community Chest drive will be headed by Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Co., John R. Davis, chairman of the campaign, announced Wednesday.

Ford will also serve as a vice-chairman of the Red Feather drive. Previously, he was co-chairman of the Industrial Unit in 1945 and served as co-chairman of the Corporation Gifts Committee in the 1946 drive. He served as a member of the board of directors of the War Chest of Metropolitan Detroit and was formerly a director of the Community Chest of Metropolitan Detroit.

A formula for proportionate giving among local corporations is made up yearly by the Corporation Gifts Committee.

The world is hungry, not just for food to fill its stomach, but for ideas on which to reshape its life.

Poultry Market Entered in Vain

The police found the front window of the Sandler Brothers poultry market at 17624 Mack broken open at 12:20 a. m. on Sunday. It was an obvious attempted burglary.

Sol Sandler when notified, said he doubted whether any burglary had been committed as the firm made it a practice not to leave any money in the place over night.

There was however a considerable quantity of poultry and eggs in the place but as far as could be learned these had not been disturbed.

Steal Axle Shaft Off New Truck

A highly specialized style of thievery has appeared on the Grosse Pointe scene. Tuesday afternoon, employees started to remove a new truck from the Tom Boyd establishment at 15409 Jefferson and quickly found something wrong with its interior.

After a push into the open, the truck functioned no better. Delving more particularly into the trouble, it was found that someone had removed the axle shaft.

Somebody apparently wanted absolutely guaranteed spare parts. The mystery has not been solved but the inquiry is being pushed both at home and abroad.

Tune Punctuated By Clout in Jaw

Harold Van Leyen, of 359 University place has found an effective way to abate the horn blowing nuisance. He voluntarily reported to the City police early on the morning of June 18 that late the night before some young man in a car parked in front of his home, had persisted in blowing his horn, much to the annoyance of himself and neighbors.

He gave the young fellow a good clout in the jaw, which sent him on his way in a hurry. He mentioned the matter to the police in case the young fellow or his friend wished to know who had contacted him the night before. He was the man.

July 13, Sunday: Professional and amateur outboard races. Church services in Pine Grove Park.

Claims Pigeons Love Wash Days

Residents on St. Clair avenue complained to the City police on June 18 that pigeons which infest the neighborhood have developed into a first class nuisance.

One woman who lives in that location said they have an uncanon gift for picking out wash day, when the family wash is on the line to make themselves most numerous.

Biggest July 4 Celebration In Years Planned in Pointe

Grosse Pointe will have a larger public celebration of the Fourth this year than it has had for several years.

The Park village will revive its municipal celebration in the beach park. Village Commissioner Peter B. Koenig has charge of the event which will include an elaborate fireworks display in the evening with games and aquatic events staged by well-known amateurs.

The Woods will repeat its Fourth community picnic on the Mason School grounds. This event is sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Woods Kiwanis Club. Prizes will be given including a Ford car. There will be games for the children. Any profit resulting from the affair will be used in the underprivileged children's work of Kiwanis.

The Grosse Pointe Optimists Club is sponsoring a picnic on the Kerby Field grounds. A parade will start from Mack and Seven Mile, headed by a drum corps at 10 a.m. and the day will be given to festivities appealing to the young people. Neil McEachen, one of the trustees of the Farms village, is chairman.

The Park celebration will include a swimming exhibition by four aquatic stars. They are Bill Smith Jr., billed as the world's greatest swimmer, Wally Ris, state and national sprint cham-

Landlord Faces Assault Charge

An examination will be held in the felonious assault case against Frank Zbyszynski, 1043 Beaconsfield, June 27.

The report to the police states that Zbyszynski, owner of the property in which Mrs. Moore is the second-floor tenant, had been trying to have her evicted. She apparently had completed legal grounds for resisting eviction.

She alleged that the landlord had on repeated occasions annoyed and insulted guests coming to her house and, on one occasion, had refused to permit her own daughter to enter the house. The quarrel eventually led to violence followed by Zbyszynski's arrest on the felonious assault charge.

College Women Give Fellowship

The Michigan unit of the American Association of University Women contributed a fellowship award granted to Faith E. Wilson, a graduate student at Johns Hopkins University, for proposed research on the role of the adrenal gland in the early differentiation of sex in embryos.

Twenty-five fellowships with stipends totaling $36,500 were announced recently. Seven of these awards carry the stipulation that the recipient conduct her research in some country other than her own.

This interchange of women students between the United States and other countries has long been a part of the AAUW fellowship program.

Since the end of the war, 41 women from the devastated countries of Europe have spent a year of study in the United States. Besides these fellowships, the AAUW presents an achievement award of $2,500 annually for distinguished work.

Dog, Run Over by Car, Bites Master, Passerby

When Hammond tried to pick up the dog he was severely bitten on both hands. The dog also bit Carl Wettlaufer, 12, to whom it belonged. The animal was taken to Dr. Hervey's office where it died. The head of the dog will be examined to determine whether it had rabies.

Tax Assessment Appealed Again

The Lakefront property owners, who have appealed from the township assessment for the past two or three years, appeared again before the Township Board of Review on June 13.

After due consideration of the complaint the Board denied the petition.

The appellants took last year's township assessment before the Supreme Court on grounds that there had been fraud and misrepresentation in the assessment.

This was denied by the Supreme Court, which stated in its opinion it could find nothing in the township assessment to warrant this change.

200 Boats Expected to Take Part in Big Regatta Week

By FRED RUNNELLS
 Local sailors are looking forward with much excitement to the last week in August. The reason? Detroit is planning for the biggest sailing event to hit this town since "Hector was a pup." YUP, August 23 through 29 will be known as Regatta Week on the Detroit River. Sailing races are booked for the full week with every class participating at least once. Once the sailors have their races settled they will become spectators for the Silver Cup speedboat regatta, which will take the place of the Gold Cup regatta which was taken away from Detroit last Labor Day by Guy Lombardo's "Tempo."

Invitations have gone out to all Lake Erie and Lake Michigan yacht clubs to compete. More than 220 boats are expected for this greatest sailing week in the history of Detroit. Most of the sailing races will be held over the Lake St. Clair courses with the finishes arranged around Belle Isle so that spectators can view the fleet. All local yacht clubs are planning a continuous round of entertainment. Any landlubber who would like to get in on this gala week of fun just has to shell out a few greenbacks for a sail boat, that's all.

Car Hits Woman Leaving Bus, Driver Gets Ticket

Mrs. Helen Donnell, 50, of Canby street, Detroit, alighted from an eastbound DSR bus Sunday, June 23, and was struck by a Plymouth sedan driven by William D. Wager, of Sheridan road, Detroit. As Mrs. Donnell stepped down from the bus, Wager backed his car out of the front yard of the Old Brick Inn on Mack, hitting the front door of the bus, which was standing still. Wager was given a reckless driving ticket and Mrs. Donnell was taken to Cottage Hospital, where it was reported she had a possible fracture of the right hip.

Shortage Cuts Road Oil For Pointe Communities

The coming shortage in oil is beginning to throw its shadow over Grosse Pointe. Much of the oil residue which has been used for street treatment is being used by the oil refineries and the Park, in particular, has had trouble in getting this material essential for road repairs.

PLEASE OMIT PAPERS
 The Park fire department warns against the placing of papers and particularly pasteboard boxes in garbage. Not only is it a bad food concoction for the pigs who are the ultimate consumers but adds appreciably to the fire hazard.

Snapping Turtle Snapped Up by Police in Farms

Anything can and does happen in the Pointe in the good old summer time. Farms police got a call last week from Provincial road, advising them that there was a "snapping" turtle lurking in the roadway. Mr. Turtle was promptly snapped up and brought to the police station. What was done with him subsequently was not noted on the blotter. Anyone had any mock turtle soup lately?

Mary, Mary, quite contrary

by Mary Madison

GIRLS' TOWN
CALIFORNIA.

DEAR MARY, QUITE CONTRARY:

Since you ask what is so rare as a day in June without two weddings at least in Detroit, I'll tell you—it's a day without two divorces at least among the babes in Hollywood. Incidentally, some of those weddings back in Motor Boys' Town really turn out to be more of a colossal technicolor production than anything I've seen around these parts. Meanwhile—and at times it gets pretty mean—little old Maggy the Model is just playing the numbers game in her love life.

The big interest out here among the girls at the moment of hitting the typewriter seems to be new fashions rather than new passions. You can get along with last year's husband but not last year's clothes. Here at Warner Brothers, where I'm doing these preview television shots of fall fashions, they've become so fashion conscious that they're actually scrapping big scenes on some of their forthcoming releases because the clothes look dated as a costume film.

This means that designers like Irene and Eeath Head have to be smart in their guessing as well as their dressing of pictures. The wrong clothes slant on pictures to be released, say next November, can actually cost the studio millions in unfavorable comment from our dear feminine fans. Right now, they're betting in the winter books on long full skirts with padded hips and such tiny waistlines that a model practically has to diet down to a wasteline.

Your Dream Boy of a designer, Christian Dior of Paris does seem to be the man of the hour—glass out here. Rita Hayworth came back from Paris with 20 of his new models. And the big word is that one of his prize clients is none other than Lady Laurence Olivier (the trail and fabulous Vivien Leigh) and that Monsieur Dior has a fall collection coming up that is going to take everybody's breath away—not to mention their money.

We were up at Arrowhead Springs Hotel for the week-end—one of those strenuous rests that leaves you on Monday morning shaking like an aspirin—and won't somebody pass them, please. You haven't been up there in some years, have you? Well you wouldn't know the dear old heaven on a hilltop. They now have name bands six nights a week, swimming and skating within such short distance of each other that you can wear your swim suit under your ski togs and just jump from one to the other.

Everybody was talking politics up at Arrowhead. They've taken the picture industry by a brain-storm, and stars who couldn't have told you who the vice president was a few years ago are spouting and shouting, like hearts that 'hae with Wallace bled.' Katy Hepburn, who did all the soapboxing for Wallace (in an American Beauty satin gown) has her studio so worried that they're substituting Ann Sheridan for her next star part. Katy, of course, is simply a 1947 model of the old New England suffragette and she's always put mind over the matter of contract.

All this uproar about un-American activities out here is really the worst of bilge, at least from where I sit. And the odd thing is that Very Important People in the industry are returning from Europe say that the communists themselves claim that Hollywood movies are one of the greatest propaganda weapons of capitalism. For Maggy's part, none of these Beverly Hillbillies act like boys with a share of the millions plan. Having acquired it the hard way, they're not for the easy-come, easy-go method.

Did you know that old old scripter, friend, Carroll Carroll, is writing Frank Sinatra's new book, a pitch for Youth Tolerance to be called Boys and Girls Together? Carroll was the ghost writer of Bob Hope's big seller, I Never Left Home. And it was such a success that Carroll now has so much ghost writing piled up that it's he and not Hope who never left home—except to go to the bank.

If and when you're in New York, I wish you'd write and tell me what the Girls in Glamour Gulch are wearing in the advance video shots. The reports I get from the men back there all sound more vague than Vogue. Take care of yourself, old dear. Love, etc.

MAGGY.

Robert Preble Weds in Toledo

A wedding in Toledo Saturday was of note to Pointers, since it united Betty Urie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Urie of Toledo, and Robert Bruce Preble, son of the Norman H. Prebles of Rivard boulevard.

The ceremony took place in Toledo's Monroe Street Methodist Church. Betty's gown was of white satin marquisette, with which she wore a matching fitted cap, fastening a veil of English illusion. The bride carried a bouquet of stephanotis and gardenias.

Betty's maid of honor was Bob's sister, Connie Preble. The bride's young sister, Marilyn Sue Urie, acted as flower girl. They were gowned alike in white dotted swiss, the dresses designed with round necklines and wide lace collars forming cap sleeves. Their headbands were pink rosebuds and the same flowers were repeated in their bouquets.

Bernard Stroh IV was best man. Ushers were William B. Smith and Scott and Bruce Huffman, both of Toledo.

After the ceremony a reception was held in Toledo's Commodore Perry Hotel. Betty's mother received in an aqua crepe gown, a small matching hat and a gardenia corsage.

Mrs. Preble was in a char-treuse and white print dress, with which she wore a hat of char-treuse and white flowers. Her corsage was also of gardenias.

For traveling, Betty chose a navy gabardine suit with white accessories. The couple will live temporarily with the bridegroom's parents.

Boys Shoot Out Lights, Put Hole in Farms Roof

The young set was at it again last Thursday, when Farms police received a call about some boys shooting out street lights in the Charlevoix-Touraine area. By the time the police arrived, they had broken two lights and had disappeared.

Later, a call came in from William Ross of Touraine road, who reported that the same boys had shot a hole in the roof of his house. He said that they were in a maroon Ford sedan and believed they were using a .22 caliber rifle.

Autopist Prowler Turns Car Lights Into Window

Albert A. Schlorff, 1221 Balfour, reported a new type of prowler to the Park police station late Friday night, June 20. He was aware that someone was prowling about the premises and, when the beam from the headlights on a car were thrown into his bedroom, he was certain. Shortly, he heard the car speed away.

Examination by the police disclosed no evidence of forcible entry.

Fifth Columnists

The Fifth Column technique has not been a notably successful weapon of aggression in international plotting. Germany has always relied heavily on it in all her international skulduggery for the past half century. She is reported to be at it again, within the limitations of her situation at home, and is said to have an organized element in the Argentine shaping up to do the bidding of its homeland at some distant opportune time.

There are none so dumb as those who will not learn. Prior to World War I there was a group in this country more loyal to Germany than to the land of their adoption and some anxiety was aroused here over their activities as the moment of our entry into that war approached. It is recalled that a swashbuckling German princeling, well lit with wine at a state social function in Berlin, had the insulting effrontery to say to our Ambassador Gerard that we "would not dare enter the war against Germany as there were eight million Germans in your country who would take charge." Gerard's quick retort was that we had "eight million telegraph poles available in this country to which to hang disloyal German-Americans."

At the end of World War II Supreme Court Justice Jackson, our representative at the War Crime Trials, laid down the principal, which was adopted by that tribunal, that plotting aggressive war was a crime against humanity and punishable by death.

The incredulous Germans should have been convinced of the genuineness of that charge when eleven of their ring leaders were hanged on the same day. That these executions were not merely a hot burst of temper immediately following the war was further proved by the deliberated execution of 48 of the lesser lights the other day for their part in the terrorism and cruelty which was all a part of the great drive for world domination.

The commies in this country now, whether imports or long time Americans, would do well to study the records before it is too late.

Should a war between the United States and Russia eventuate at some future date, improbably as that appears now, some of these persons would be executed for plotting and treason.

The cry of Civil Liberties would be a fragile defense at that moment.

The American people are sincere believers in the right of the individual to express his untrammeled opinion on every public issue. This does not extend to the right of advocating the overthrow of this government, "by force if necessary," as expressed by the communist party in Moscow, which sends its orders to every quarter of the world.

Communists should stop, look and listen. In any grand mele which accompanies war the mere sheep might be confounded with the goats.

We First, Please

The advocates of a new order of world economics wherein access to raw materials and an unhampered exchange of products were to be the primary features, have long pushed this theory as the most direct road to world peace.

The idea is a splendid one, as an ideal of world wide trust and mutual respect and confidence. How it can be made to apply in any appreciable range of time in a world presently exhibiting the opposite position is another matter. The disparity in resources, intelligence, spirit and productive urge is so great in the world we now survey that the consummation of such a scheme for human welfare appears to be an insuperable task.

The approach taken by many of our modern economists and social adjusters is along the lines of tariff manipulation. The maneuvering for advantage exists as strongly among Governments as with those individual commercial and manufacturing interests which they collectively represents. Any deviation from the normal supply and demand processes of competitive industrial life is almost certain to arouse opposition in the domestic ranks. We have already seen an exhibition of this temper in the changes in the wool tariffs. The interests which use wool in their manufacturing naturally wish to get it as cheaply as possible. Those who produce the raw materials in this country are opposed to its cheap admission here; and so it goes and will go on indefinitely. Our variety of output is so great that scarcely an item entering into world trade would escape a sharp division of sentiment here at home.

Our government has so far made a sorry mess of its attempts at a managed domestic economy. To extend the same theory to a half hundred foreign countries would certainly multiply our headaches many fold. Protection for our own interests is still a vital problem and a vast responsibility of government.

Our spirit to help where we can has already been well proved by our "gifts" of hundreds of millions, but we must not dry up the sources of these "gifts" by carrying altruism to an absurdity. The structure of our economy must be kept sound and safe.

To help where we can is right and decent, but carried to a point of blindness to the deserved and well won prosperity of our own country is a folly for which we would pay dearly.

Face It Now

President Truman's veto of the Labor Control legislation has been overridden and the nation is set on the course of testing whether or not the power of government is sufficient to safeguard the welfare of all of the people.

Loudly as the leaders of organized labor have protested the law it cannot be honestly construed as unfair to labor. It must be accepted rather as an epochal effort to control for the welfare of all.

For labor to continue to insist that it is hostile is an open admission on its part that it resents the recapture from it of powers which it exercises above and beyond those of government itself.

If labor refuses to obey the laws which have been erected, the issue might as well be faced now.

Grosse-Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

"Shake hands, we shall never be friends, all's over; I only vex you, the more I try. All's wrong that ever I've done or said, And sought to help it in this dull head; Shake hands, here's luck, good-bye.

But if you come to a road where danger Or guilt or anguish or shame's to share, Be good to the lad that loves you true And the soul that was born to die for you, And whistle and I'll be there."

(A. E. Housman)

If your neighbor said, "Did you know Mrs. Blankety's husband arrived home this morning from New York in a crate?"... you'd get ready to shed a tear, no doubt, for poor Mrs. Blankety. But that's exactly what happened to a woman on the Lake Shore and it was cause for much rejoicing and hilarity. This is how the story goes and the reading time is no longer than it takes you to listen to those silly soap operas which AREN'T true stories!

On a recent morning, Mrs. Blankety, (momentarily expecting her husband home from his eastern re-union in time to celebrate their 30th wedding anniversary), was summoned to her back door, where stood a large truck on which rested a large crate. The crate was decorated from here to there with yards and yards of white and blue satin ribbon and bore a large placard wishing Mrs. Blankety a "Happy Anniversary." She approached the truck in great curiosity and said, to no one in particular, "I wonder what on earth THAT is?"

From inside the crate, a small but familiar voice called, "Well, it ain't your uncle Ezra. Get me out of this thing!" Yes, it was Mr. Blankety all fresh and dewy from a weeks reunion with the "boys." When he'd been "uncreated," he told his bride the following story. Over one or two beers (?) the gang thought it would be super-elegant gesture to send him home in style. One of the gents called his company here and giving them Blankety's measurements, had them make a crate complete with small seat. He then told them where the crate was to be delivered here in town and at what time.

All the boys took the train the previous night and on arriving here, drove directly to the spot the crate was to meet them. In the meantime, the little men had gone to Bloomingdale and armed themselves with the yards of ribbon. (Just like little boys!) They decorated the crate, then sat Mr. Blankety in it, nailed it up and off went the truck to the Lake Shore road house.

One of the tellable stories brought back by another reunionist, concerns the local man who got his zipper caught at the Ritz! Good old Charlie, laden down with his arms full of packages, decided to call on a friend, also a guest at the Ritz... and on the tenth floor. While there, he had a few drinks, then decided to wash up before returning to his own room on the twelfth floor.

In a few moments, his host heard some mumbling emanating from the bathroom. Then he heard a shout for help. Good old Charlie had serious zipper trouble and Charlie was mad. The two men worked for a goodly time but the zipper (as we girls know), wouldn't budge an inch. There was nothing for Charlie to do but get to his room, cut the darned thing apart and change his suit. He decided to get going and take his packages with him, but not wanting to get into the elevator in his present predicament, he decided to climb the two flights to his room on the outside fire escape.

This he did, and all was well and good except that Charlie didn't figure on the doors to the fire escapes being locked on the INSIDE. When he got to his floor, he found this case, so decided he'd better get back to the tenth floor with all his packages, the door had slammed behind him, so of course this too was locked. Goodtime Charlie then trekked ALL THE WAY DOWN THE FIRE ESCAPE, looking through the doors on each floor hoping to attract the eye of someone in the hall who wouldn't shriek "Peeping Tom" to the hotel at large. No luck... so there was nothing to do but make his way to the doorman, who whisked him through a back entrance and into the freight elevator, looking askance, the while.

What do far-sighted people do when they want to do something near and glasses are in the way? We discovered recently that something vague had been missing in our life and finally decided it was the fact that we hadn't plucked our eyebrows in a dogs age. Then we recalled WHY. We couldn't see them! Without our glasses, we certainly couldn't... and when we put them on the better to see with, they covered the part we usually have to pluck. An even worse fate is trying to put on mascara... a thing we indulge in on very special occasions, which are few and far between.

However, the other night, we gayly got out our little box and started to go to work with a flourish, when we realized we couldn't see. What didn't get IN our eyes got in our hair and on our eyelids. What do you suppose people in the thee-yater do? Not the stars who have nothing to do but act... but the little guys with one or two lines to speak. Suppose you've been an actor for 25 years and one day you wake up and find you can't see your eyes to make them up. Does your whole career go to pot or do you give up acting and run for President or something? We don't know, do you?

Loves a Lover

All the world loves a lover and no picture in recent years has more stirred the romantic yen of millions in this country than that of the loving trust and admiration portrayed on the face of the little bride-to-be as she looks up into the face of the imminent young husband as he is compelled to perch himself on her knees as they ride in the crowded bus away from the rehearsal of the Ford-Firestone wedding.

A tremendous interest was aroused in this wedding which extended far beyond the bounds of Michigan and Ohio, the homes of the respective bridegroom and bride. The whole country, regardless of so-called social position, just naturally and spontaneously wish the young couple all the joy and happiness that is the deserved inheritance of young married folk.

There is too a general approval of the alliance that has been consummated between two of the fine American families which have contributed so much to the upbuilding of industrial America and the giving of gainful and useful employment to countless thousands of their fellow Americans.

Big Stick—Big Voice

Already there has been a sufficient exchange of views among our lawmakers and the general run of our citizenry to demonstrate clearly that the people of this country approve wholeheartedly the course being followed by Secretary of State Marshall in his conduct of our international relations.

He appears to be following the pattern outlined by Theodore Roosevelt more than forty years ago. Our militant President then laid down the maxim "speak softly but carry a big stick." Marshall is fighting to keep that stick large and ready and the people approve his position completely.

Talley Rant

by Helen Talley

Well, girls, if you're going down to MEXICO this summer or even out into a field anytime soon, it's all right to wear red. The bulls won't chase you. A few MEXICANS might but that would come under another heading and we'll study that on Leap Frog Day. DR. EARLE EMME, of Bowling Green State, says that bulls are bored hearing about red. It's the movement makes them mad, not the color. They want it understood, once and for all.

D. EMME, a psychologist, says women are more superstitious than men. We, little bundles of intuition, love all that business about horseshoes, wishbones, broken mirrors, four-leaf clovers and crystal balls. The doctor found that people become less superstitious as they advance in educational attainments. He says doctors and athletes most frequently hold superstitious beliefs. He asked a light-rope walker if he carried a good luck piece. The performer said he didn't believe in that stuff. Dr. EMME asked him what he did just before he stepped out on the rope. "Oh," said the man, "I just say a damn prayer."

MRS. GRAHAM GROSVENOR and I lunched in lower New York, the other day. We went to LIBBY'S FISH HOUSE. It's one of the very old places, with wonderful fish, chatty waiters and sawdust on the floor. The day was clear and beautiful and afterward we walked along the water front, enjoying the fragrant odors that crept out of the warehouses of spices and coffee. When it was time to leave, we decided to come uptown on the 3d Ave. El. There is an interesting view of the city as the El travels along the BOWERY. As we went through the fophouse district, I was completely stunned to see, within 10 blocks, eight derelicts sprawled dead drunk on the pavement. Passing citizens stepped over and around them.

BETTY BETZ, the girl who wrote YOUR MANNERS ARE SHOWING, gave a party the other evening. She called it an HAWAIIAN LAUA. BETTY has a small apartment with a big terrace. There was a huge yellow moon, some HAWAIIAN singers, and an interesting crowd. The drinks were served in coconut shells. When it was necessary to clear a space for the hula dancers, they placed candles set in tumbler at intervals on the floor like footlights. There was a hula for GOING AWAY, a hula for FALLING IN LOVE—in fact, there is a hula for practically anything.

BETTY wore a lei of small white orchids. She wore it till late in the night and then she couldn't resist hanging it around the neck of that so nice MAURICE CHEVALIER. BETTY is doing a column for TEEN AGERS in which she laughs with them and pleasantly nudges their manners. For a girl not long out of school herself, that is solid accomplishment.

Went dancing with MAC TALLEY, the other evening, and we joined some friends at the ST. REGIS ROOF—DR. JUAN NEGRIN and his beautiful wife, ROSITA DIAZ, the movie actress. You may have seen her picture very recently in Town and Country. She acts only in Spanish-speaking pictures at the moment, and is the top box office draw in MEXICO. They were very happy because they had at last secured a home. Author JOHN STEINBECK is going to RUSSIA shortly and has left them have his house. ROSITA is leaving for PARIS soon to do a film for a French company. JUAN, whose father was for a time president of Spain, is now one of America's leading brain specialists. The NEGRINS will rendezvous in Paris in August and then go to CAP d'ANTIBES. Seems odd to again hear people talking casually about summering on the RIVIERA. Time passes.

Later, MAC and I joined ETHEL MERMER in the CUB ROOM. The JACK PEARLS and GLENN ANDERS were at the table also. Almost everyone who passed stopped to chat with ETHEL. She is lovable because she is so natural—she is never anybody but ETHEL MERMER. TALULLA BANKHEAD was holding court at the corner table. A couple of times, she rolled over to talk to ETHEL. She had to shove a few of the men in her party out of the way and tramp on a few toes to get there but, with a mouthful of DAHLINGS, and a few less loving expressions, she made it. TALULLA was in good form—and her form is good.

9 Grosse Pointe Boys Attend Boys' State at East Lansing

Nine boys from the Grosse Pointe area were among the 900 boys who attended the tenth annual Wolverine Boys' State held at Michigan State College in East Lansing June 12 to 20.

From Grosse Pointe High School were William Webb, Tom Willson, Tom Dewey, Wally Joachim, Bob Shaw, John Jervis and Joe Fromm. Bob Graul and Harry Hammond represented St. Ambrose and St. Paul respectively.

Webb, Jervis, Shaw, Hammond and Graul were sent by the American Legion while Fromm, Joachim, Willson and Dewey were sent by the Grosse Pointe Rotary Club.

The 900 boys were divided into counties, 100 in each county, nine counties in all. Each county was divided into two cities with 50 in each city. The cities were named after the presidents of the United States. The boys then elected city, county and state officials, who ran the respective governments.

The 900 boys were divided into two parties, the Athenians and the Trojans. Each county and city had an equal number from each party.

William "Spider" Webb was chosen by the Athenian delegates to run for governor. In the final elections, however, he lost to Goethe of the Trojan party.

Other Grosse Pointers successful in their elections were Willson, justice of the supreme court; Fromm, mayor of Johnson City; Jervis, probate judge of Blair County; Joachim, probate deputy of Bagley County; Graul, deputy fire chief of Johnson City, and Shaw and Dewey, councilmen for Hayes and Grant cities respectively.

Softball and volleyball teams were organized and swimming was permitted in the Michigan State pool. Michigan State coaches such as "Biggy" Munn of football, conducted clinics in the various sports.

On Thursday, June 19, the state officers took over the state capitol.

Simians to Give Comedy in July

The Grosse Pointe Simians are rehearsing a musical farce, to be given between July 15 and 31 in either the high school or the Pierce School.

The Simians are a group of local young people of either senior-high school or early college age, who have an interest in acting, singing and musical composition. The farce to be put on is named "Campus Delecti." Music and libretto will be the product of local talent.

The idea apparently was brought to the Pointe from Yale by Grosse Pointers attending there. Frank Sheldon, '50 Yale, is a prime mover and others who are collaborating in the event include William Wiggin of Beverly Farms, Mass., and Ted Lickert of Nottingham, Grosse Pointe.

Nations which are materially strong may be ideologically divided against themselves and, therefore, weak.

The Threat of Deafness

By FRED M. KOPP, R.Ph.

Deafness is a very common disability, and one that most people dislike to acknowledge. But when you accept the fact that your hearing is not what it should be, then you are ready to receive all the assistance science can give you.

The first step is to consult a doctor to determine the cause of your deafness—it may not be as serious as you think. Whatever the cause, you may depend upon the doctor's advice to help you in having your hearing restored or aided by means of the proper mechanical device.

Depend upon a conscientious druggist to supply you with medication of unimpeachable quality when prescribed by your physician.

Margaret Hansen Saturday Bride

MRS. JOHN JAMES NESTOR

Christ Church was the scene of the marriage, Saturday afternoon, of Margaret Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Hansen, of Calvin road, Grosse Pointe Farms, and John James Nestor, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Benson, Detroit.

The bride wore a gown of heavy faille in princess design with short train. Her tiered veil of tulle was fastened to a crown of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

The bride's sister, Norma Hansen, was the maid of honor. She wore pale blue net over tulle with bouffant skirt and off the shoulder neckline and a picture hat of matching blue.

Charlotte Smith, Bradley Beach, N. J., and Dorothy Apicello, Asbury Park, N. J., both cousins of the bride, were her bridesmaids. They wore tulle in identical gowns of pale yellow and Nile green marquisette and matching picture hats. All the attendants carried yellow tea roses.

John Nemens was the best man. Kenneth Moore and Kenneth Hofer were the ushers.

The bride's mother wore a gray french crepe dinner gown and a corsage of orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue wool crepe dinner gown and a corsage of orchids.

Points Girls Selected As "Y" Camp Counsellors

Three Grosse Pointe girls have been chosen as Junior Counsellors for the YWCA's Camp Cavell on Lake Huron. Marjorie Magee, camp director, who selected the 10 junior counsellors, states that her choice is based on dependability, leadership and knowledge of camp as well as special skills.

The three from Grosse Pointe are Sallie Hoyt, 1150 1/2 Lakepointe; Cecily Wade, 925 McKinley; and Sally Hubbard, 61 Muskoka.

Sallie Hoyt, who was named as junior counsellor in riding and swimming, has been at Camp Cavell four summers. Cecily Wade has been at camp 10 summers and this year will serve as junior counsellor in riding and drafts. Sally Hubbard, who has spent two summers at Camp Cavell, has been named sports counsellor.

Camp Cavell, located on Lake Huron just 90 miles from Detroit, has long been a favorite vacation place for Grosse Pointe girls. The camp's 34th season opens June 28. School girls 10 to 17 may register at the Downtown YWCA, 2230 Witherell.

Thief Takes Two Purses From Front Hall of Home

Mrs. H. W. Kerr of Touraine road reported to Farms police last Thursday that two purses had been taken from a bench in the front hall of her home. One was a blue purse with a gold clasp and contained her driver's license and car registration, along with a fountain pen, change purse and $12.

The other, a plain, light brown flat purse, contained nothing of value. Mrs. Kerr and her front door was tightly closed but she wasn't sure it was locked. No one was in the house at the time of the theft. It was discovered next day.

Girl Scout News

About 40 attended the annual luncheon for Girl Scout Leaders given by the Grosse Pointe Scout Council on June 3 in the Alger Museum.

Mrs. Sidney Morgan, District Chairman, spoke briefly, emphasizing the ever-present need for new leaders.

Midget Pins for at least 3 years of service in Scouting were presented to the following 13 leaders: Mrs. Orville Ashton, Mrs. W. S. Muirhead, Mrs. A. J. White, Mrs. Edward Kay, Miss Muriel Reamore, Mrs. W. J. Reaume, Mrs. C. Swanson, Mrs. Watson Ford, Mrs. Alton Huntington, Mrs. Harry Findlay, Mrs. T. E. Foster, Mrs. H. M. Craig and Mrs. H. W. Wise.

of pale lavender and deep purple crepe paper ran the length of the table top. The sides were finished with a lavender flounce hanging gracefully to the floor.

The centerpiece was of white lilies, white tulips, lavender lilacs and deep purple iris. Tall lavender candles in silver holders completed the refreshing spring picture.

Among those present was Mrs. Mark K. Edgar, Honorary Member of the Grosse Pointe Girl Scouts. From the Metropolitan Staff were Mrs. June Mouton and Margaret Henderson.

A tour of the museum and gardens ended the affair.

Troop 634 went by chartered bus to the Detroit Zoo on May 24. In the morning they saw the many colorful birds in the bird house. After lunch they were off on the narrow gauge railroad to see the animals, which include Ivan, a Siberian tiger weighing 800 pounds. Aside from being a hefty guy, majestic Ivan is quite extraordinary, because he is fond of swimming. Most members of the cat family do not share Ivan's enthusiasm where water is concerned.

Leader Mrs. Eltes, Mrs. Hoagarth and Mrs. Vestal accompanied the troop on this enjoyable trip.

5 Pointe Girls Make Bows During Week

Sally Thomas, Florence Spalding, Sue Fitzsimons, Patricia Baumgarten, Prim Goch in Debuts

This week, a large slice of it, has belonged to the deb, since five Grosse Pointe buds have bowed to society at teas, luncheons or receptions. They are Sally Thomas, Florence Spalding, Patricia Baumgarten, Prim Goch and Sue Fitz-Simons.

Sally and Florence made their debuts on the same day, Wednesday. Young Miss T., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thomas of Merriweather road, was presented by her mother at a tea in the French Room of the Country Club.

The blonde Sally wore a summery gown of organza and lace with a bateau neckline, puffed sleeves and bouffant skirt. The deb's bouquet was a cascade of pink and white carnations bound with trailing ivy. For her daughter's tea, Mrs. Thomas chose a blue lace and chiffon dress with a pink orchid fastened at the waistline.

Sally's assistants, all clad in summer pastels, were Pat McKean, Nancy Wensinger, Noel Baker, Betty Bliss and Sue Fitz-Simons. Their flowers were gardenia and stephanoti corsages.

Mrs. Thomas was assisted in her hostess duties by Mrs. Frederick W. Hoffman, Mrs. Clyde Adams, Mrs. Bayard Johnson, Mrs. Glenn Coulter, Mrs. Harold Aarons, Mrs. Harry Whittingham, Mrs. Louis Dahling, Mrs. Carl Wensinger, Mrs. Lester Moll and Dr. Marion Fitz-Simons.

A party at the club followed the tea and the honor guest's escort was Bill Dahling. Florence Spalding, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edward D. Spalding of Cloverly road, bowed the same way at a luncheon in her home. The deb chose a street-length dress of yellow silk with a peplum faced with forget-me-not blue, and wore a corsage of yellow daisies and blue delphiniums. The yellow-and-blue theme was carried out in the flowers which brightened the Spalding residence for the party and Mrs. Spalding wore a royal blue silk gown with draped skirt and a corsage of yellow carnations and blue cornflowers.

Primmy Goch was the bud's only assistant. Among the guests were Mrs. Henry Burritt and Barbara, Mrs. Douglas Campbell and Marion, Mrs. Sherman J. Fitz-Simons Jr. and Sue, Mrs. Charles E. Bird and Mary, Mrs. John H. Potter and Sally, Mrs. Claude E. Mulkey and Joyce, Mrs. Gilbert H. Whelden and Betsy and Mrs. Ford H. Whelden and Roxanne.

On Thursday, Patricia Baumgarten, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Eldon C. Baumgarten of Windmill Pointe drive, held the deb spotlight. She bowed at a tea in her parents' residence.

The pretty Pat received in a pastel blue taffeta faille gown.

Ford Rites Take Week's Spotlight

Automobile Scion's Marriage to Martha Firestone Unites 2 Leading Industrial Families; Vows Spoken in Small Church

Probably Saturday's most-talked-about event was a wedding which took place in Akron. By this time, everyone knows that, on that afternoon, Martha Firestone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Firestone Jr. of Akron, and William Clay Ford, son of Mrs. Edsel Ford of Lake Shore road and the late Mr. Ford, were married in a ceremony which united two of the nation's foremost industrial families.

The young Martha and Bill spoke their vows to the Rev. Walter F. Tunks, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, in which the wedding was held. The Right Rev. Beverly D. Tucker, bishop of Ohio, intoned the final prayer.

The small church was elaborately decorated with flowers for the occasion. Masses of lilies covered the Gothic rood screen above the choir, and a ciborium fern banked the chancel. The altar was lighted with numbers of white tapers.

The bride's blonde beauty was accentuated by her gown, fashioned entirely of antique rose-pointe and duchess lace in ivory lace in ivory tones, against a background of white slipper satin. Of Edwardian design, the gown had a bodice gathered in folds to a deep-fitted midriff and a small turn-over collar.

The skirt fell in straight lines at the front and extended into a full court train. The lace also formed Martha's headdress, surrounding her face in soft folds. From it fell yards of ivory tulle veiling. The bridal bouquet was of white camellias, tiny white orchids and lilies of the valley.

McClure; David Lippincott of New York; Edward Caulkins, and Wendell W. Anderson Jr.

A reception was held at Harbel Manor, the home of the bride's grandmother Mrs. Harvey Firestone.

Mrs. Harvey S. Firestone Jr., Martha's mother, received in a gown of sapphire blue silk faille. The dress had a bateau collar and fitted bodice, with a full skirt and large pockets. With it Mrs. Firestone wore a matching net cap trimmed with birds of paradise.

Bill's mother, Mrs. Edsel Ford, chose a gown of brown on off-white silk. The round neckline and cuffs of the long, full sleeves

In a quiet home ceremony Saturday afternoon, Sybil Smart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Lee Smart, of Roosevelt place, became the bride of Albert Burchfield Craig, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Burchfield Craig, of Sewickley, Pa.

The Rev. Frank Pitt officiated. Sybil was married in a gown of heirloom ivory liberty satin, with a Viennese lace bertha defining an off-the-shoulder neckline. The long full skirt ended in a train. A scalloped cap of lace held in place the French illusion fingertip veil.

Sybil carried a bouquet of stephanotis and lilies of the valley.

Maid of honor was Sally Duffield and Patricia Cousin of Scarsdale, N. Y., was bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of French blue taffeta, designed with off-the-shoulder necklines. Their gloves matched the gown and the pair carried yellow daisies.

David Rogers of Chicago, was best man for Albert. Morton Bogonoff of New York seated the guests.

Mrs. Smart wore a floor-length blue crepe gown for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of orchids. Albert's mother, Mrs. Craig, was in rose-beige crepe and wore a corsage of brown orchids.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Craig left on a trip to Edgartown, Mass. Sybil selected a navy gabardine suit for traveling, with which she wore matching accessories and a white straw hat trimmed with yellow daisies. She pinned a yellow orchid corsage to her suit.

Among out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Fredericks of Canton, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Earle M. Craig of Beaver, Pa.; Miss Ruth Gibson of Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. George L. Craig, Jr., of Sewickley, and Mrs. George Liggett Craig, Albert's grandmother.

with a draped skirt and bustle back. To set off the round neckline, the deb wore a rhinestone necklace, the gift of her brother, Tom.

Mrs. Baumgarten's street length dress was of white crepe, designed with a boat neckline, cap sleeves and side drapery. Her corsage was a white orchid tipped with purple.

Patricia's assistants included Carol Castriucum, Jean Hyde, Laird Beamer, Joan Rockwell and Ruth Duffield.

Mrs. Baumgarten was assisted by Mrs. Philip Laux, Mrs. Carl Breer, Mrs. Clifford Loranger, Mrs. Fred O. Lepley and Mrs. Roy A. Fruehauf.

The hostess centered her tea table with an arrangement of geraniums and delphinium in a crystal bowl wreathed with huckleberry. At each end of the table were set ivory tapers in crystal candelabra.

Patricia is giving a swimming party and dinner at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club today (Thursday) for her debut assistants.

Friday's debutante honors were shared by Primmy Groch and Suzanne FitzSimons.

Primmy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Groch of St. Paul avenue but, since Mrs. Groch has been ill, the deb received with Mrs. William K. Muir and Mrs. Thomas F. Paddock. She was presented at a luncheon at the Little Club.

Primmy's debut dress was a royal blue and white print with a pleated tuxedo front and Peter Pan collar. Her corsage, the gift of her father, was of white orchids.

Mrs. Paddock wore a dusty pink and black print and Mrs. Muir also wore a print, of robin's egg blue and black. The bud's assistant was a sister-deb, Florence Spalding. Florence selected a gown in the tailored style, a red and white silk with an all-around pleated skirt.

For the debutante luncheon, a buffet table was set in the dining room. On the pale pink satin cloth was set a bowl of blue and white delphinium.

Primmy and her guests went from her luncheon to Sue FitzSimons'. Sue's tea was at 4 p.m. at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman J. FitzSimons Jr. of Stephens road. The dark-haired debbie wore a gown of white organza, designed in peasant fashion. Her bouquet was a colonial arrangement of red roses and blue delphiniums.

Mrs. FitzSimons chose an afternoon print, fashioned with a V-neckline and draped skirt. The bud's grandmother, Mrs. Sherman J. FitzSimons, received with the two in a gray crepe and lace gown. Both mother and grandmother wore purple orchid corsages.

The tea table was covered with a white organza cloth, centered with an antique china bowl holding blue delphiniums, stock and ivy.

After the tea (with a slight delay) all the debutante set gathered at the Country Club for a dance, given by Mr. and Mrs. FitzSimons. Before the 10 p.m. festivities began, Sue was hostess at a dinner for her classmates at Smith College.

After a wedding trip to Quebec, the couple will live in Grosse Pointe.

TRY TO VAULT FENCE

Adults asking for private entrances to the city's municipal park are not the only worries of the city authorities. Last Friday afternoon, a phone call from a resident on Rathbone place informed the police that three boys were preparing to vault the fence. They had gone when police arrived.

Elise Cosgrove Speaks Vows at GP Memorial Church, Wears Wedding Gown of Ivory Slipper Satin

Away on a long motor trip which will take them to Banff, Lake Louise and Coronado, Cal., are the new Mr. and Mrs. Henry Disston II. The former Elise Cosgrove spoke her vows last Thursday afternoon in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church before Dr. Frank Pitt.

Elise is the daughter of Mrs. Alvin George Sherman of Balfour road and Milton J. Cosgrove of New York. Henry's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Disston of Philadelphia.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and the ceremony was performed before an altar table bedecked with an arrangement of cibotium fern, white peonies and larkspur.

Elise's wedding gown was of ivory slipper satin. A bertha of heirloom rosepointe lace outlined the net yolk of the basque bodice, and ruffles of the lace fell over the hands. The gown had a full gathered skirt, ending in a circular train.

All the attendants were gowned like in sky-blue tissue taffeta. The dresses were designed with square necklines, deep basque bodices and very full skirts. They wore matching gauntlets and blue horsehair double-brimmed halo hats, with half wreaths of flowers at the back. The matron of honor carried a bouquet of white daisies and iris; the bridesmaids' bouquets were of the same flowers, in yellow.

Elise's young cousin, Mary Waye MacArthur, was junior bridesmaid, in a pastel yellow dotted swiss floor-length dress. Her tiny bouquet was of daisies and iris and she wore a garland of the same flowers in her hair.

Henry's best man was his brother, Jacob Disston III of Philadelphia. Ushers were Alvin G. Sherman Jr., Henry and Richard Irwin of Philadelphia, John H. Sherman, John Cosgrove, and William Lowry, Edward Clay and James Jordan, all of Philadelphia.

MRS. HENRY DISSTON II

A princess cap of rosepointe lace fastened the illusion bridal veil. Elise carried a bouquet of stephanotis, lilies of the valley and white orchids.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Charles Henry Fletcher Jr., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Anne Fletcher, Mrs. John M. Sewell of Ithaca, N.Y.; Mrs. Joseph N. Thayer of Philadel-

PERSONAL APPEARANCES

Two of the outstanding tailored summer things I've seen recently were worn by "Florie" Muir and "Julie" Hudson. Mrs. William K. Muir's suit consisted of a slate gray skirt and a superbly tailored white wool jacket, with a red emblem on the one breast pocket. With this, Florie wore a tailored white silk shirt, pleated down the front and sporting a diamond clip at the throat.

Mrs. J. Stewart Hudson wore a white tailored suit with a fine green stripe. With this, Julie wore a green pongee silk blouse with a small, neat bow at the high neck. N-I-C-E!

OVER FIFTY YEARS OF SERVICE

Pointer of Interest

Doctor Hugh Stalker of Middlesex Road

By Olive H. Henry

Doctor Stalker's interest in clematis was aroused by pictures in a flower catalogue in 1938. He ordered several varieties and in 1942 showed a few at the Grosse Pointe Flower Show at the Neighborhood Club. At that time Doctor Stalker seemed to be the only one interested in, and successful in the raising of garden clematis and as a result of his showing, an article appeared in one of the daily papers about his success with clematis and many people made inquiries as to how to grow them.

Louis Vasseur, the well known clematis expert, was at one time head of the Rothschild Gardens in Paris and now is located at Milton, Mass. Doctor Stalker says that he has been of invaluable assistance to him in encouraging and advising him in his experiments with clematis.

"The difficulty in growing clematis seems to come," Doctor Stalker said, "from a lack of understanding of clematis, and an ignorance of how to deal with the one bad pest called 'the wilt.' People prune incorrectly. The first visible sign of 'the wilt' appears at the top, where the vine will seem to be just naturally wilting, but it is caused by the lower parts of the vine having had their outer coating broken. The bacillus enters this way and begins to suck the sap and the only way to save the plant is to clip it to the ground. Use the usual insecticides, such as Semesan and Bordeaux Mixture and in no time the plant will be back, growing luxuriantly."

As an added prevention of this fungi, the plants should be well tied up in the fall to prevent breaking during the winter. Doctor Stalker advised planting in the fall, using two-year-old plants. Clematis does best in the full sunlight if lower parts of plants are shaded. Other low growing plants can be cultivated in front of them. They should be placed where they can climb on something. Doctor Stalker has clematis climbing a 12-foot chain-link fence, which he found better than chicken wire fencing. They will grow on twine and he has tied them so that they spread over a given area. They will even climb on a rose bush, he said.

The soil should be alkaline, but clematis will grow in neutral soil. It is advisable to add a moderate amount of lime, three to four handfuls and mix with the soil as one would a cake, peat moss, Vigoro, manure, leaf mold and lime. Scatter lightly and add a liberal top dressing of bone meal. Plants should never be allowed to dry out nor stand in water. If the place of planting has not good drainage, put cinders or plaster obtainable from old houses in the bottom of the hole. The hole should be large; Doctor Stalker says that some recommend 2x2x2. It should be well worked over until loose and soft. Add sand, leaf mold and manure. The latter, only if it's very old, as fresh manure has been found to contain the cause of "the wilt." Roots should be spread as far as possible and the plants sit in the average amount of water. The soil level should be three to four inches above the surrounding ground.

Some of the hybrids such as the "Vitellia" and the "Jackman" can be pruned to a foot from the ground, whereas the "Pateus Lamuginosa" and "Florida," which bloom on two-year-old wood, should have the dead wood and weak branches removed and this may be done any time before the first of April. There are several bush varieties, "Mrs. Robert Bryden," which grows six feet high in one year and is laden with bloom, the "David Diana," which has a blue flower resembling the hyacinth with a lovely fragrance, "Clematis Recta" and "Manchurica," which have white blossoms.

Clematis is found the world over in all climates and elevations. Only one, the "Texensis" originated in America. This has a brilliant red flower about an inch in length. Doctor Stalker has over 50 varieties in his garden, which begin blooming in May and continue until frost. The greatest show is in June and July. He says that clematis may be worn, if the stem is cut and burned to charcoal, and greatly resembles a small orchid. Clematis was first known in America about 1838 when it was brought from England and shown in the Massachusetts Horticultural Show. It is most fitting that Doctor Stalker's work and interest in clematis should be recognized by Louis Vasseur, who has hybridized the first "wilt-proof" large flowering clematis and named it "Eleanor Stalker" in honor of Doctor and Mrs. Stalker's charming and pretty daughter.

GLORIFIED ICE-CREAM CONES

(Handy for outdoor party, as there are no dishes or silver to be dealt with afterward.)

Use the pre-war ice cream cones, sweet crisp, wafery ones, procured from a soda-fountain in better days. If you can't get them, skip the whole idea.

For the filling, use heavy whipped cream, flavored liberally with crushed pecan crunch candy, rum, and a little sugar. Chill this filling in the freezing tray, but do not freeze solid.

To serve, poke the tip of each cone through a lace paper doily, so that it looks like an old-fashioned corsage. Cut a loaf of bread in two the long way, and stand the cones up in it as in a pin cushion.

Hewitt-Watson Wedding Held

Ellen Merrill Hewitt and William F. Watson spoke their vows Saturday afternoon in the home of the bride. Only members of the immediate families were present at the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Frederick Olet.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Herbert Windham Hewitt of Lincoln road. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Watson of Cheyenne, Wyo.

Ellen wore an Empire wedding gown which had belonged to her aunt, Mrs. John E. Gleason. It had a bodice of finely tucked illusion and lace. A cap of antique rosepointe lace fastened the bride's long veil. She carried calla lilies.

The only bridal attendant was Ellen's sister, Florence Hewitt. Her gown was of light blue tissue taffeta with a draped skirt. Her bouquet was pink roses and delphinium.

Best man was Henry G. Watson, Jr. of Evanston, Ill. The bride's mother, Mrs. Hewitt, wore an aquamarine crepe dress with a batiste-embroidered neckline and a corsage of camellias. Mrs. Watson's gown was of rose crepe and she wore an orchid corsage.

The couple left after the reception on a trip to Estes and Yellowstone Park. Ellen's traveling suit was of red, white and black lightweight wool. With it she wore a white pique waistcoat and black felt tricorne hat. Her corsage was of gardenias.

The Watsons will live in the Parkhurst apartments upon their return.

STILL GOING ON

Mr. Chapman of 817 Rivard reported the police the theft of the radiator ornament from his Buick car on June 17 between the hours of 7 and 9:15 p. m. while it was parked on Kercheval near Lincoln.

Junior League Scribblers' Column

By Helen McEvoy

I had forgotten how lavish Nature has been with California. There, in May, the geraniums bloom wild, and the hill-sides rising from the Pacific are blanketed with magnificent color.

Our Twenty-fifth Annual Junior League Conference was held this spring at El Coronado Hotel at Coronado Beach, within reach of such glorious spots as Monterey, San Jose and Carmel-by-the-Sea. It was a most thrilling choice of locale for the meeting of the representatives of the 165 Leagues of the United States, Canada and Mexico.

I wish that mere words could tell what a vastly worthwhile and unique experience it is to meet with young women from all over our continent who have the very real aim in common of trying to be better community citizens, of educating themselves and their members toward this end, and of anticipating the future needs of a world filled with very troubled human beings. It creates justifiable pride in being part of this group when the individual members show real claim to sound thinking, hard work and superior skill in expression toward better citizenship.

This body of 400 delegates met for five days, in small groups at first, with divisions being made according to the size of the leagues. Since the Detroit League is one of the five largest leagues, we always met with the larger leagues. We discussed, under the general topic of "How Junior Leagues and Their Communities Can Plan Together" such specific topics as "Services to the Handicapped," "Central Volunteer Services," "Legislation," "Children's Theatre and Radio," "Children's Welfare," "Minimum Standards for All Leagues," and many others.

The findings from the group meetings were finally brought to the Open Forum where all the delegates met together. The window blinds in the Great ballroom were lowered for this meeting, probably to keep out the tempting view of blue ocean and white beach, and keep us at our work.

I shall long remember the contributions made by the delegates from Honolulu, the voices of Louisville and Mexico City, and Atlanta. The Conference ended in a blaze of sunshine—and glory.

I returned with our train companions from Cleveland and Akron, thrilled, stimulated with the knowledge of all that others are doing to make this world a better world.

Pointe Counter Points

By OLIVE H. HENRY

By the time you read this, you no doubt will have been to JACOBSON'S ultra modern "Youth Center" which opened this week. The last time we wandered through JACOBSON'S, falling over carpenters, wooden horses and getting entwined in the wall paper, the preparations for the new unit looked exciting as all get out. Noticed the soft gray-blue of the walls and got a peek at the lush maroon rug that now adorns the floor.

A multi-colored wall paper was in the process of being put on the walls in the teen-age shop... young and chic! You will be fascinated with the new lighting. No more of this pseudo-day-light stuff or blinding neons. THIS lighting is easy on the eyes AND when you see red, you're seeing red. You'll not find, after buying that blue hat to match your dress, that it's a slightly off purple when you get outside in the sun. You see all colors in their true perspective and what a boom that is to Mademoiselle Shopper! Duz may "duz" everything... but JACOBSON'S certainly HAI everything.

This spurt of summer we've been having makes us think of suntan lotion in a big way and in a big way, you can get all popular makes at TITUS DRUGS. We hope you aren't of the school of "homemade" lotions that make you smell like a salad dressing! Also at TITUS DRUGS, you can now purchase any part or all of the Parker 51 line... and that ain't no "line."

Have you seen ALL the "Debs" that GACH has been glamorizing? "Sitting for Gach" seems to be the thing to do and from the obvious popularity of his pictures, one is lead to believe there must be a standing-line for sittings. There are a pretty "crop" of buds this year but more than that, GACH has the 'knack' of getting every nuance of Debbie's personality in each portrait. Ah to be a Deb again, now that GACH is here!

Have you seen the heavenly Reynolds Aluminum summer furniture at HAYDON HOUSE? I spent an entire day there hopping from one chair to another and languishing in the unbelievably comfortable chaises. If you have a porch or a games room or a lawn or even a back yard, you MUST indulge in one of these relaxing and colorful pieces of furniture... the most exciting new thing in years. They come in lovely shades of green, red, blue and yellow and range in price from $50.00 way on down to $19.10. They are rust proof, weather-proof, and child-climbing-proof; also, they're as light as feathers and can be carried anyplace with ease... especially from HAYDON HOUSE to yours.

I didn't think there was anything new that BLANCHE AND CYRIL could add to their attractive salon in the cause of beauty... but apparently there IS, and they thought of it. We don't have to fuss about the hard water anymore... at least NOT at BLANCHE AND CYRIL'S, because they have installed a new water-softening system that certainly does wonders for Madame's shampoo... to say nothing of the obvious benefit to Madame's hair during these hot days.

The daily schedule includes sectional rehearsals, public performances, concerts, broadcasts and elective courses in student conducting, baton twirling, theory and harmony, ensembles, and solo playing. Each student also receives private lessons from the artist members of the National Music Camp faculty. Organized recreation in swimming, tennis, and outdoor sports is directed by the Department of Physical Education and Athletics of the University of Michigan.

Interlochen has attained a unique place in the fields of music and related arts, for no other place on earth produces a symphony a week by teen-age musicians. In its perfect woodland setting on the shores of twin lakes in northern Michigan, the National Music Camp provides an ideal interplay between talented, creative youth and stimulating artists from the fields of music, radio-drama, modern dance, and art.

CAVE-IN

A broken sewer or some other subterranean disturbance caused a big hole to appear on the surface in the rear of 951 Nottingham on June 16. The police placed a barrel and red light over the opening until repairs could be made.

Kid Bits

By Mary Prevo

Now that summer is officially here and vacation is well under way, social mingling is in the spotlight! Of course there are many folks attending summer school, so their brains won't be too rusty, come September.

The evening hours of the 24th were filled with glamour and excitement for CHUCK SWEET and his pals. The Sweets' magnificent cabin cruiser left before the dinner hour with Peggy Moreland, Carol Lundgren, Laura Lou Smith, Sally Schmetz, Janet Hoffmann and Joyce Blashill aboard.

Tom Swanson, Bob Kopf, Bill Palm, Bill Tyson, Tom Weber and Paul Fox were other guests enjoying this most delightful "cruise." After supper on Peche Island the "Mayess" took the happy crowd down the Detroit river to see the Ambassador bridge, gleaming in the darkness. Dr. and Mrs. Smith came along with Mr. and Mrs. Sweet to chaperon.

"Six merry gals are relaxing on the beach of Oxbow Lake this week. JUSTINE FREDA, Virginia Johnson, Melba Wallace, Ann Stewart, Jackie Beatty and Marty Feller left June 22 to drive out to the FREDA summer cottage near Pontiac.

HARRIET PREVO celebrated her 18th birthday a day early (June 21) by hosting a dinner party for her very "bestest" girl friends. As guests were seated at the table, each was presented with a red rosebud corsage.

Melba Wallace, Ann Stewart, Ruth Applegate and "Sis" made up the party. The get-together was a combination birthday-graduation party, for the hostess and Ruth Applegate were graduated from G.P.H.S. Thursday.

Grosse Pointe high school graduation caused big doin's all over the Pointe on June 19! It seems as though every other home was filled to the brim with people making merry. There were many, many open houses—GENUINE open houses! However, family gettogethers were also numerous.

In her home on Pemberton, MARY ANN QUEEN tossed a grand open house for all the graduates.

KEN WICHMAN invited many of his friends to come to his home after graduation. Just a few of those present were Mildred Braund, Melba Wallace, Dick Wuerker, Diane Faulk Jenny Finck, Carl Ortolf, Tom Redmond, Bob Campbell, Mary Waterfall, Al Greig, Lorraine Manley, Jerry Braund, Annie Davis, Ed Isby, Ruth Applegate, Bob Gall, Helen Manson, George Morrison.

DICK BLONDELL greeted friends in his home and so did MYRA HUNTER, SHIRLEY EVANS, BEATRICE ROGERS and GERRY and JOSEPHINE NICASTRO.

The back yard of the PRESLEY home was a place of much merriment on the 18th. In honor of DONNA'S 17th birthday anniversary, a luncheon was served to Bunny Shipton, Phyllis Mobilner, Pat Mann, Myrna Riddering, Audrey Marsack, Dolores Anschutz and Dorothy Elliot. (Dorothy came all the way from Pittsburgh.)

After lunch the gals played games and still later they whizzed over to a movie.

Robert Straiths On Honeymoon

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Samuel Straiths are honeymooning in Northern Michigan after their marriage Saturday afternoon in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. The bride is the former Elizabeth June McCallum, of Middlesex road, the daughter of Mrs. Andrew Woidan of Cass City, Mich., and the late Mr. McCallum.

Bob's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Straith of Audubon road.

The bride's gown was of white figured satin with a sweetheart neckline and circular train. Her veil of illusion net fell from a rosepointe lace Juliet cap.

Betty was attended by Beth Fraser as maid of honor and bridesmaids Mary Lou Straith, Joan Stevens and Mrs. Charles Clarke. They wore gowns of white flounced tulle with deeply flounced full skirts. The maid of honor wore a picture hat of American beauty and carried a bouquet of matching carnations, while the bridesmaids wore blue hats and carried cornflower bouquets.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Woidan wore a gown of coral silk and a small flowered hat. Her corsage was of gardenias.

Mrs. Straiths' dress was of aqua tulle. She wore a fuchsia hat and matching gloves and a camellia corsage.

Donald B. Straith was his brother's best man. Ushers included John Witty, James Bostwick of East Lansing and Robert Rathbun of Toronto.

Exhibit Opened At Alger House

At Alger House Saturday, the Michigan Water Color Society will open its annual exhibition with a reception. In charge of arrangements are Mrs. Orville C. Anway and Mrs. Ray Bigler, and Isabel Weadock heads the reception committee.

On the patron list for the affair are:

Hartwicks, Dr. and Mrs. George Kamperman and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harmon Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Dexter M. Perry, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Walter O. Briggs, the Alexander Girards, the Wilfred V. Casgrains, Mr. and Mrs. Graham John Graham, the Ernest V. Kanzlers, Mrs. Julius Haass, Mr. and Mrs. K. T. Keller and Robert Tannahill.

Great Smokies Offer Many Attractions for Tourists

By The Old AAA Traveler

Centuries before the coming of the white man, the Cherokee climbed high to a mountain peak, looked over the expanse of mountains and valleys, and noted the light blue haze around the other peaks. "The Great Smokies," they said. They burned their ceremonial fires, prayed to their red gods for protection and the blessings of plenty, and settled down in the hills to make their home.

To the Cherokee the mountainous country along the Tennessee-Carolina border was a great hunting ground, a land of gentle climate, a place in which it was good to live. Today hundreds of beauty-loving Americans troop into the Great Smokies to enjoy that same mild climate and that same beauty, to fish from the same streams and to bathe in the golden sunlight which sifts in through the peaks.

Great Smoky Mountain National Park today is one of the most popular playgrounds in the eastern half of these United States and year after year the influx of visitors grows materially. In the early spring the Smokies are ablaze with rhododendron and laurel and flame azalea, with great expanses of white violets, and along the laughing little mountain streams are blue violets as big as fifty-cent pieces.

Magnificent vistas are spread out before the eyes of the visitor when he climbs to Clingman's Dome or even to Newfound-Gap. Walking trails and bridle trails lead into the mountains and up to the towering peaks, each trail a ribbon of pastel beauty in the early Spring and into the Summer. Come late Summer and Autumn and the Smokies change their dress to red and gold and brown in a thousand shades, probably the most brilliant parade of fall color to be found anywhere in the world.

On the Carolina side of the park is the Qualla reservation, peopled by a couple of thousand Cherokee Indians who are living there because of the blood sacrifice made a century ago by Tsali, a minor chief, who gave his life and that of his son that his brothers and sisters might live in peace in the land of their fathers. The story of Tsali is one of the most gripping to be found in exploring this country, but it will have to go for another time.

Up Greenbriar Creek way four of the famous Walker Sisters still live on the little farm which was carved out of the wilderness by the first Walker who came through Cumberland Gap almost two centuries ago. For many years there were five of the Walker spinsters, but last year Polly passed to her reward and sleeps among her ancestors in a little graveyard deep in the hills.

The Smokies are color-plus, for in them still lives the mountain-civilization. You still hear the old ballads brought from Ireland and Scotland and England, and you still hear ahaic English spoken. The mountain dances also were brought from the British Isles by the early settlers and have gone unchanged through the years. The Smokies make an ideal vacation territory for the Michiganian, for they are within easy driving range. The accommodations are ample and I have yet to encounter a visitor to the Smokies who did not leave the area utterly thrilled with what he or she had seen.

So—give some thought to the Smokies as your Summer or Autumn playground.

Michigan Mirror

By GENE ALLEMAN

Michigan is headed back to red ink financing of state government. A state treasury deficit is foreseen as the result of legislators' reluctance to enact new taxes and the constitutional mandate to divert 76 percent of the state sales tax to local governments including public schools.

Several capital newspaper correspondents, who watch daily the parade of events at Lansing, confide that the inevitability of new taxes in 1948 will hurt Governor Sigler's chances of re-election. The governor's insistence that the legislature must lead itself also hasn't helped matters. The Detroit Free Press, one of Kim's original bellwethers, smartly criticizes the governor for lack of leadership. Excerpt: "Instead of creating behind him the power of public opinion to force enactment of his purposes, his (Sigler) publicity has been largely given over to the fun he is having with his new pilot's license and his plane. This has not set well with the voters of Michigan." Sigler has 18 more months to go before the voters will weigh the record. He has shown a tolerant willingness to take criticism provided it is constructive.

Root of Michigan's tax trouble lies in the deep antagonism between rural and urban interests, the fear of rural legislators that the legislature will be dominated by cities, and the lack of urban representation at Lansing although cities foot most of the tax bills. Less than one-half of the budget is put - supporting through taxes. Put this on your phonograph, and you go around and around. Your conclusion will depend largely upon your viewpoint.

Governor Sigler's recommendation for a constitutional study commission was approved by the house, but rejected by the senate. Since the constitution was adopted in 1919, a total of 91 amendments have been submitted to the voters at elections. Of these, 43 were approved.

Like Alice in Wonderland who cried before she pricked a finger, the General Motors "Train of Tomorrow" permits a traveler to see where he is going before he gets there. Which is to say that this writer was among the passengers on the Lansing-to-Detroit run and viewed the approaching landscape through the "Astra-Dome" on top of one of the train coaches. It's an enclosed air-conditioned observatory. The noiseless glide of the inefficient and must be re-trained to give prompt, intelligent customer service. Another straw in the wind.

Royono II Takes Early Lead, Pulls Away From 41 Rivals

Stormy Weather, Blitzen Engage in Expected Duel, Finish In No. 2 and 3 Spots in Annual Toledo Yacht Club Race

Royono II, J. B. Ford's big 72-foot yawl, found the weather to her liking in last Saturday's Mills Trophy race, sponsored by the Toledo Yacht Club annually, and crashed across the finish line at Toledo well in advance of the 42-boat fleet to save her time and win the coveted trophy.

Royono was the largest boat in the fleet and, being scratch boat, had to allow time to the other 41 ships.

Royono moved into the lead soon after she crossed the starting line and stretched out her lead on every leg of the triangular course, finishing at 1:26:20 Sunday.

The much discussed scrap between "Blitzen," co-owned by Ernie Grates and Murray Knapp, and Freddie Temple's "Stormy Weather" lived up to advance notices with Blitzen crossing the finish line nine minutes and 48 seconds ahead of her rival.

Blitzen lost the second place spot to Stormy by 19 seconds on corrected time, but saved enough time to take third place ahead of Cap O. A. Johnson's "Spookie," who finished fourth, 26 seconds ahead of "Kittyhawk," sailed by Ray St. John. Corrected time place them fourth and fifth, as they finished.

Charley Buysse's "Last Straw," last year's winner, came in ninth but placed sixth on corrected time.

Clete Welling's "Vitesse" and "Toot" Gmeiner's "Apache," both New York 32's, put on a good battle with "Vitesse" annexing a satisfying boat for boat scrap by four seconds. "Vitesse" earned her victory right at the finish line when she sailed past "Apache."

After the windward leg, which took the fleet to Put-in-Bay, "Royono" led "Blitzen" by eight minutes. The latter, in turn, had about ten to twenty minutes over "Stormy Weather." As the leaders rounded the first mark, it was "Royono" who pulled away steadily in the 30-mile an hour east wind which was strictly yawl weather.

On this leg of the race, the skippers elected to use smaller working canvas in preference to the big spinnakers because of the strong winds.

As the fleet neared the finish line, the skippers became annoyed because of the absence of a judges' boat. The committee, however, had a man taking time at the Toledo light, who was in communication by radio telephone with the shore.

The winning boat's crew was Johnny Detwiler, Carl Meurer and Bobby Bryant.

Three eight meters, Shamrock, Armida and Pintail, were bunched at the start in the racing class but did not finish as did 20 of the 42 starters.

The wives of Eddie Wunsch, Ted Coggin and Al Thomas insisted they go along on the Shamrock and were the only women in the race. Maybe they were instrumental in forcing the Shamrock to quit the race. In olden days, sailors always believed women aboard were bad luck.

A heavy toll was taken in gear and canvas, also instrumental in several of the starters quitting after reaching the second marker at the Detroit river light.

Here is the way the fleet finished after times were corrected:

Boyd, News Hold Lead

The Grosse Pointe Baseball League Class E standings did not change very much from last week's games. Tom Boyd and the Grosse Pointe News each won a game to continue their mastery of the league.

Tom Boyd downed Grosse Pointe Valet last Thursday, 6-2, as Harry Edsall set 11 batters down on strikes. The News came from behind twice to win over Kiwanis, 6-5.

Kiwanis seized a three-run lead in the initial part of the first inning off pitcher Joe Hipfel. The News scored two runs in the first to cut the lead to one run and tied the score in the second. The score stood knotted at 3-3 until the beginning of the sixth when Kiwanis broke the deadlock with two runs.

The Newshawks rallied for one tally in their sixth and pushed the tying and winning runs over the plate in the seventh. Bayard Johnson led off in the seventh with a single. Joe Hipfel helped his own cause with a double, scoring Johnson. Hipfel moved to third on a sacrifice and scored on a wild pitch.

In other games, during the week Valet and Harper Auto played to a six inning 5-5 tie Tuesday. Valet led 5-3 going into the sixth. Harper loaded the bases and John Sullivan singled scoring two runs to tie the score. Darkness kept the game from going into extra innings. Harper swamped Kiwanis, 13-7, with each team making six hits and committing five errors.

Blue Devils Get League Trophy

For the second year in succession PRINCIPAL WALTER CLEMENSON has had the honor of presenting the Border Cities League All-Sports trophy to the Blue Devil coaches whose teams garnered enough points to retain the coveted award. Left to right: CLEMENSON, HAROLD FISHER, football and basketball coach; Athletic Director FRANK BANACH, swimming and track; ED WERNET, head football and basketball coach; CHARLES PETERSON, reserve football, PAT KAULITZ, baseball; LARRY WESTERVILLE, tennis, and STERLING SHOEMAKER, assistant track and swimming coach. Banach's swimming team annexed the B.C.L. title and Westerville's tennis team became co-champions with Monroe in both the B.C.L. and the state.

Grosse Pointe Trio Catches 45 Pike in 3 Days' Fishing

Dr. E. O. Jodar, 1447 Berkshire, together with his son and brother-in-law, put in a claim this week for Grosse Pointe's 1947 fishing championship.

On each of two days last week, Dr. Jodar, his son, Loyal, and brother-in-law, Chester Beck, caught 18 wall-eyed pike on Lake Wanapitei, 20 miles north of Sudbury, Ont. The 18 constituted a day's fishing limit.

In one day's catch, the fish weighed just under 100 pounds. The largest was 34 inches long and weighed 11½ pounds, the smallest weighed 5½ pounds. In three days, the trio caught 45 fish but were only allowed to bring 18 across the border. They had pictures to prove their catches, though.

The fish were caught by trolling and still fishing with minnows during a five-day stay at the lake. The fishermen were rained out two days. Beck, whose home is in Hughson, Calif., is visiting the Jodars.

Parkers Downed By Woods Nine

By FRED RUNNELLS
The Grosse Pointe Woods baseball team scored a smashing 15 to 5 triumph over the Park last Friday after drawing a bye, two days earlier. The victory put the Woods at the top of the standings with two victories in as many starts.

The Farms was dumped from the top of the standings by the City, 5 to 2, on June 18 and knotted the league in a four-way tie for second place.

The Shores squeezed into the four-way tie on June 20 by whipping the City, 8 to 6, while the Farms team drew a bye.

Nears Climax Net Tourney

The Country Club's annual tennis tournament, started three weeks ago, is nearing its climax with 18 matches being played in the last week.

The outstanding match, as far as endurance is concerned, was in the men's singles between Thurber and Finkenstaedt with the latter winning out in two sets. The two battled 22 games before Finkenstaedt won the first set, 12 to 10.

Thurber wilted in the second set and bowed to his opponent, 6-3, and dropped out of the tournament in the third round of play.

W. Croul advanced to the third round of play by defeating W. Dahling, 6-1, 6-3, in the first round and earned the third round spot by beating D. Holley in three sets, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4. Croul will meet the winner of the R. Dykema-W. B. Ford second round match.

Defaults were prominent in the men's doubles this week. Roy and Jack Chapin advanced to the finals when D. Warren and P. Thurber defaulted their third round match.

J. Bowen and W. Finkenstaedt defaulted their second round match to B. Paddock and E. Kanzler.

The only doubles match played this week was between the teams of C. C. Merkl-W. Croul and D. McClure-D. Holley, with the former winning out in two sets, 6-3, 6-2, to earn the right to meet Paddock-Kanzler in the third round.

Only one match was played in the mixed doubles, that being between Mr. and Mrs. A. Lewis and Finkenstaedt and M. Tiedeman. The husband and wife combine bowed in three hard-fought sets, 0-6, 6-4, 6-3.

In the ladies' doubles, Mrs. Glancy and Mrs. Hodges blazed their way to the finals by beating Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Macaulay, 6-1, 6-1, in a third round match.

In the only other match played in the ladies' doubles, M. Tiedeman and J. Waldo defeated Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Caultkins in three sets, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4, and will play Mrs. Curran and Mrs. Jordan in the third round with the winner earning the right to meet the Glancy-Hodges combination.

Mrs. F. S. Ford, Jr., advanced to the finals in the ladies' singles through a default by Mrs. Jordan in the second round after both ladies had drawn a bye in the first round. Mrs. Ford had a little difficulty getting through her third round match with Miss B. Finkenstaedt and was forced to go three sets before winning out, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4.

Mrs. Hodges advanced to the semi-finals by defeating Mrs. A. Lewis, 6-1, 6-1, in the second round and whipping Mrs. A. W. Barr in three sets, 6-4, 1-6, 6-1, in the third round match.

Roland Gray, Country Club tennis professional, said he was sure the winners in each division would be determined by this coming week-end, providing rain doesn't intervene.

Everybody knows some other person, or some other nation, which ought to be different. But few have seen that they, themselves, and their own nations, need radical change.

Moceri Club Takes Lead

BY JOE FROMM

Joe Moceri Club, a new addition to Class B of the Grosse Pointe Baseball League, gained first place by virtue of a second win in as many starts Sunday as it downed the Grosse Pointe Woods Businessmen, 6-4. In the other league game, Gragg-Scherer defeated Bob's Drugs 10-0. St. Clair CYO drew a bye.

Joe Moceri broke a 4-4 deadlock in the fourth inning with a two-run rally to clinch the game. Ray Lingeman opened with a walk and scored on a double by Ben Siperan. This was one of the two doubles hit by Sideran during the game. Jerry Gervais followed Sideran with a hard single to left.

Ray Lingeman, pitcher for Moceri got off to a shaky start by giving up four runs in the first three innings, two in the first and two in the third. Lingeman allowed only one hit after the third inning, a scratch single by Charles Broquet.

In the other game, Tom Dunn of Gragg-Scherer limited Bob's Drugs to five hits and no runs. Bob's Drugs had men on base every inning but failed to score. Ten men were stranded in the game.

Louis DeAngelo held Gragg-Scherer to three runs in the first six innings but he weakened in the seventh and gave up four runs in the seventh and three in the eighth.

In the meeting league Monday evening, a sixth team was admitted. The team is the North Harper Merchants. This sixth team eliminates byes.

Sunday's schedule has the new team meeting Gragg-Scherer at Kerby Field. Joe Moceri will play St. Clair CYO at Neighborhood Club and The Grosse Pointe Woods Wolverines will meet Bob's Drugs at Grosse Pointe High School. All games will begin 2 P.M.

Grosse Pointe High Gives Diplomas to 274 at Annual Commencement Ceremony

Outdoor Exercises Witnessed by 2,500 Persons; 32 War Veterans Among Graduates

Diplomas were presented to a class of 274 students at the commencement exercises of Grosse Pointe High School June 19. The outdoor exercises, attended by approximately 2,500 people, were held on the lawn of the high school building. The pillared portico of the library provided a stage.

Included in the class were 32 graduates who completed their high school work as members or veterans of the armed forces. Two hundred seven boys have now been graduated from Grosse Pointe High School during or after service in the armed forces.

Last week's class brought the number of students graduated from the high school since the first class of 24 members in June, 1925, to 4,855.

The commencement was the last one in which two leading public school officials participated officially. Dr. Charles A. Parcellis, retiring president of the board of education, will this month conclude 22 years of service as a board member. Dr. Paul L. Essert, retiring superintendent of schools, will go to New York City in August to become a professor of education at Columbia University.

Dr. Essert presented the diplomas to the graduates after the class was introduced by W. R. Cleminson, high school principal.

Principal speakers of the evening were three honor students, representatives of the senior class, who delivered brief addresses on the general theme of "Achieving Successful Living." Earl Brabb, Barbara Hart and James Brown presented education, friendship, faith and vision as the ingredients of the successful life.

The commencement music was provided by the high school band and the girls' glee club. Betty Brady, one of the graduates sang.

The Rev. Edward J. Sweeney, O. S. A., offered the invocation and benediction.

Class honors were announced after the presentation of diplomas. James Brown and Ileana Lindh were named the honor boy and honor girl of the class and their names will be inscribed on the Mothers' Club trophy. Both were honor students and outstanding in extra-curricular activities.

George Malcolmson and Diane Faulk were awarded American Legion citizenship medals and certificates because they were chosen as the students in the class who had displayed the outstanding qualities of good citizenship.

The Bausch and Lomb science award went to George Hughes, chosen as the boy who gave the most promise of future distinction in the field of science. He had a straight A record in four years of mathematics and two years of science.

As the outstanding athlete of the class, Edward Isbey was the recipient of two awards. Because he was the outstanding athlete with the highest scholastic ranking, he was the winner of a dictionary presented by the alumni of Trinity College.

The winner of three letters in football, two letters in basketball, and two letters in track, Ed was also chosen as the boy to have his name inscribed on the trophy provided by the Plebian Club, an organization largely of former Grosse Pointe High letter winners.

The Rotary Club service award, a wrist watch, was presented to Earl Brabb, who was selected as the student having given the most unselfish service to the school.

The Rotary Club has also provided the high school with a band trophy on which is engraved each year the name of the band member who has excelled in musicianship, citizenship and general contribution to the welfare of the band.

A member of the junior and senior high school bands for the last five years, Barbara Coulter was named the winner of this honor. Barbara started her instrumental music training in the fourth grade.

Seventeen scholarship winners were also announced at the commencement exercises. Several of these winners were graduates of the January class.

The Mothers' Club awarded scholarships of $300 to four students and scholarships of $200 to two students. In the former group were Richard Allen, Doris Duncan, Kathryn French and Jennie Quirk. The secondary awards went to David Thompson and Robert Halbrook.

These scholarships bring to $12,850 the amount of money awarded by the Mothers' Club. University of Michigan regents alumni scholarships went to Diana Dehem, Hugh Blecki, Barbara Hart and Robert Cogan. These are tuition scholarships renewable by means of high scholarship records.

Wayne University awarded scholarships to Marie Von Arx and Richard Allen. Edwin Schaub won a four-year scholarship valued at $2,200 to Kenyon College.

Norma Wenzel received a $200-a-year scholarship from Purdue University. A $400 trustee scholarship from Monticello College was won by Patricia Day.

George Hughes was awarded a scholarship by Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity. Kenneth Cinder was awarded a scholarship by Lawrence Institute of Technology.

The honor graduates of the class, those having an average of B or better for the three years of senior high school, were as follows: Richard Allen, Marian Blackmore, Hugh Blecki, David Bogie, Earl Brabb, James Brown, Doris Buser, Robert Campbell, June Clements, Kenneth Cinder, Robert Cogan, Alex Copeland, Barbara Coulter, Fred Curcio, Sally Dalton, Patricia Day, Delores DeCoster, Nellie DeGroot, Diana Dehem, Shirley D'Hondt, Doris Duncan, Diane Faulk, Eleanor Forster, Myra Gardner, Barbara Glase, Myra Hahn, Barbara Hart, Eleanor Hewitt, George Hughes, Susan Johnstone, Jean Kimbrell, Ileana Lindh, Helen Manson, William Martner, Shila MeComb, Geraldine Morse, Mary Nebel, William Penoyer, Harriet Prevost, Janet Reid, Barbara Rising, Ray Sawusch, Virginia Skau, Sally Slocum, David Thompson, Allen Tyree, Norma Wenzel, Albert White, Joy Williams.

Horse Show Winner

Ernest C. Putnam, president of the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, presents the Ernest C. Putnam Challenge Trophy for Corinthian Hunters to Sally Stokely, rider of "Sunset Road," a Mary Ellen Willis entry from Indianapolis. This trophy was one of three new challenge trophies presented June 22, the final day of the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club's 36th annual horse show.

Pointer Tells Of Sea Raids

Alfred Niezychowski, of 728 Nef, was the guest speaker at the open house meeting sponsored by the Royal Arcanum. Niezychowski related his experiences while he was second officer of the Crown Prince Wilhelm, famous German raider ship in World War I. His sister, Mrs. Kassia-Dunin-Zaleska, who spent three years in German concentration camps and who recently arrived in America, gave the 300 present vivid descriptions of conditions during her imprisonment.

Return of Family Foils Attempted Home Robbery

An attempted burglary was made in the Lemke home, 1415 Bedford, late Friday night. When members of the family returned home, they found a screen door with the hinge pins carefully removed, but no further evidence of attempted burglary. The unexpected arrival of the residents probably stumped operations.

City Police Give Farms Job of Quelling Fight

A call at 11:25 p.m., Saturday from the Francois restaurant on Fisher reporting that there was a fight in front of the place sent city officers around p.d.g. When the police arrived, the fight had spent its fury. It was on the Farms side of the highway, anyway, so word was sent to Farms police that the combat was in their lap.

(You meet such exciting items!)
M. Helling on the phone. Would I want to rise and shine at 8 a.m. to watch some work on his pic, which he now calls "The Naked City"? Get him!!
Note here to the effect that Wolcott Gibbs, the critic man, slowly recuperating after his long hospital siege, has turned out a mag piece poking fun at Sinclair Lewis' novel, "Kingsblood Royal" (in which the hero discovers he is one-thirty-second part Negro). Gibbs' yarn is about the fellow who was appalled to discover he was one-thirty-second part advertising man. . . . A Miss Betty Law calls—will I please, please be King of the Rodeo at Yankee Stadium, Wed., Thurs., or Sat. . . . Also an invitation to be judge at a beauty contest to select the Negro Miss New York. . . . But I never, never, never act as judge—that business went out for me along with being a guest of "honor" at a night club.
Here's a scrawled note in my book that I just barely decipher. . . . O Yes, now I have it. . . . Ran into Bing's big brother Everett Crosby yesterday. . . . Said he, and the frau had journeyed up to the old homestead in Worcester, Mass., and then driven to the ancient cemetery where most of the Crosby lie buried. . . . The name of the cemetery is Hope! . . . Walter Shirley, the real-estate king, drops in. Wants me to go riding with him tonight and listen to the police calls come over in his car. . . . Shirley writes a column, too—like Winchell—only he pays for it—like Rose used to. . . . Just heard of the most unusual bit of Jarcey—understand the fellow's been arrested—but haven't seen anything in the papers yet. A cigar clerk at one of the better known hotels—charged with the theft over a period of years of $3,000 worth of 75-cent cigars.
Four more requests from aspiring songwriters who enclose their efforts—to place their songs with publishers. . . . Fortunately they enclose stamped envelopes with return addresses. Saves Miss H. a lot of work. . . . Why are readers so glib as to believe the columnist is an omnipotent citizen who can bulldoze song publishers and book publishers. . . . Something unusual today—no press agent has dropped in or telephoned pleading tearfully that unless he gets a columnist break for his client, he's losing the account. . . . I like this one contributed by Mal Braveman: Thirty days hacienda. . . . April, June and Fiesta. . . . All the rest have, thirty-one. . . . Except February. . . . Wheech ee too leetle, Hi theenk!
Eddie Condon who thinks I'm slightly sour in my appraisal of sweet music versus the offset, calls up to say I belong to another era—to the days when international affairs were nothing more serious than American heiresses marrying broken-down European noblemen. . . . The lads from the sports department tell me a cute story. . . . About one of the sweetest mothers in town—Bill Corum's. An elevator boy told her (so the story goes) that the horse named after her famous son was running that day. Why not bet on him? Mrs. Corum, feeling mighty wicked, decided to risk $3—and had the boy bet it for her. The horse won, returning something like $31. "You can always depend on Billy," was Mrs. Corum's calm comment when her winnings were handed to her. Dan Parker's textbook, "The ABC of Racing" is enjoying huge sales.

Two friends become papas—just in time for Fathers' Day. Commander Freddy Wolisfeffer—a 7½-lb. gal (the mother is the former model, beautiful Bettie McGuire)—and Funnyman Peter Donald whose new son weighed in at a few ounces over 4 lbs. . . . What a nice gesture on the part of Bert Wheeler, Frank Fay, Eddie Foy and Bert Lahr. They financed a trip to New York for the former vaudeville star, Harry Jans, who had been going blind—but who is gradually regaining his sight. Have him here now—with a stern warning to give himself as good a time as he can—and not worry about the cost. The lars are also taking care of all medical expenses. . . . Note here to the effect that the Place Pigalle, located on East 85th, has the same decor as the famous Place Uigalle, which was a favorite Manhattan spot a dozen years ago. The current club was the last assignment completed by the late Frank Buchanan.
My secretary's husband, just back from a business trip to Malden, Mo., brings the information that there are only two undertakers in the town—one is named Day—the other Knight!
Halt a dozen readers write in to advise that it was Fred Robbins who first labeled Mel's Torment the "Velvet Fog". Col. John Williams writes in to call attention to the good work New York City's WAC Squadron No. 1 is doing for the boys at Halloran Hospital. . . . Hear Gov't sleuths, looking for important narcotics evidence, raided the home of a mid-town restaurateur. (Distributed by King Features Syndicate).

DOUBLE WEIGHT LIMIT
The local postoffice on Maumee received instructions June 23 to accept parcel post shipments for Germany and Austria up to 22 pounds in weight. This is double the weight heretofore accepted. The local office says that many parcels are being shipped from Grosse Pointe to friends and relatives abroad. The majority go to Germany and Great Britain, with food and clothing the bulk.
FURNITURE IN POOL
The Lawrence D. Buhls of Lake Shore road are properly fed up with the exuberance of the local young fry. On June 2, they reported to Farms police that, for the fourth time that week, persons unknown (so far) had been throwing their lawn furniture into the swimming pool.

The SA-1 group put up a bulletin board to herald the vacation. From the door of a little red school house, the teacher waved good-bye to her pupils. School books were stacked in piles just outside the door.

The boys and girls, going singly and in groups along the cobblestone road, were heading for the big sun "vacation" in the distance. Overhead, large white clouds showed scenes of summer fun, floating in the sky and blue birds are flying between the clouds.

The Safety Patrol boys of Defer School were guests at the baseball game at Briggs Stadium on Tuesday, June 3. Their invitation had come as a recognition for their faithful service in helping to promote safety among school children.

The Defer Music Festival was held Thursday, June 12, at 8 p.m. in the Pierce Auditorium. Taking part were: Sue Bernard, Annette Sirois, Mary Lina Berndt, Helen Frederick, Sharon Barlow and Charles Harris.

The opera was under the direction of Mrs. Wanda Daniel, Miss Mabel Haddock, Mrs. Marian McKaig, Mrs. Ellen Quinlan and Miss Josephine Cole.

The Defer orchestra, under the direction of Miss Martha Ream, presented a program which included a violin solo by Billy Thoresen.

The Defer Band, directed by Mr. Herbert Nuechterlein, played. Miss Josephine Cole directed the fifth and sixth grade chorus in a group of songs to complete the program.

A "world's fair" was the theme of the final unit for the SA class of Defer School. James Stark and Richard Zander give their observations.

School News

MASON SCHOOL

Again this year the teachers and principal of Mason School were guests of the room mothers at a luncheon on the last day of school. The luncheon was prepared under the supervision of Mrs. Basil Crist while Mrs. William Burtton was responsible for the attractive tables with their centerpieces of blue and yellow flowers from her garden.

After the luncheon, Mrs. Alfred Holl, chairman of the room mothers, presented the school with a lovely coffee urn and many other small utensils for the kitchen and a $90 check for the purchase of film strips and film slides for school use.

Ethel Tucker, principal, and Virginia Johnston, teacher, expressed appreciation for the luncheon and generous gifts. Miss Tucker also mentioned the many other activities of the room mothers this year. One of these was the gift of $285 toward the purchase of a movie projector which the school hopes to have for next year.

Announcement of the appointment of Mrs. Raymond Krause as chairman of the room mothers for next year was made at this time.

While Sir Percy Tomlinson and Lady Tomlinson of England were visiting Lady Tomlinson's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Barr of Fleetwood road, Grosse Pointe Woods, they viewed the Art Exhibit at Mason School. Work of the children formed a background for booths and children demonstrated with different media in art. They were especially interested in the puppet booth in which their nephew, David, demonstrated the use of puppets for enjoyment, while others demonstrated how puppets were made.

Upon invitation they returned another day to see the regular activities of a school of 700 pupils in grades kindergarten through fourth and to hear of various other activities. They were given a copy of the "Masonews," the school paper, and samples of various forms used in Grosse Pointe Schools. They, in turn, told us many interesting things about schools in England.

Sir Percy S. Tomlinson was senior medical officer of the British and Canadian Armies at the time of the invasion of the continent in 1944. He saw service with the famous 8th Army Group, comprising the 1st Canadian and 2nd British Armies, as deputy director of medical services under Field Marshal Montgomery. He is honorary physician to the King of England and Colonel-Commandant of the Royal Army Medical Corps.

GEORGE DEFER SCHOOL

The SA group at Defer anxiously watched the weather forecast for the past few weeks. An outdoor picnic was scheduled at the home of Mrs. J. H. Downie on Balfour for June 8. It was one of our first warm days, and the children enjoyed a special picnic lunch in the garden.

Sixteen parents enjoyed the outing with the children, and assisted Mrs. Downie with the picnic. The SA Mothers' Club has been active under the chairmanship of Mrs. Hil Nelson.

The Defer Music Festival was held Thursday, June 12, at 8 p.m. in the Pierce Auditorium. Taking part were: Sue Bernard, Annette Sirois, Mary Lina Berndt, Helen Frederick, Sharon Barlow and Charles Harris.

The opera was under the direction of Mrs. Wanda Daniel, Miss Mabel Haddock, Mrs. Marian McKaig, Mrs. Ellen Quinlan and Miss Josephine Cole.
