Driver Gets Jail Sentence For Violation

Also Fined $100 For Driving After Operator's License Suspended

Albert Afchiany, owner of a Pointe taxi concern, was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $100 after a jury in Grosse Pointe City found him guilty last week of driving after his operator's license had been suspended.

Afchiany, who lives in St. Clair Shores, demanded the jury trial after police had accused him of illegal driving June 12. He based his defense on the contention that he had only driven his car in an emergency—to take his wife who was ill to a hospital.

The jury trial, unusual in local traffic cases, was interrupted frequently by a violent thunderstorm raging outside. After hearing the case, the jury was out only a few minutes before returning its verdict.

In sentencing the cab owner, Judge Joseph J. Uvick stipulated that Afchiany could serve the 10-day sentence on week-ends in the county jail. He was permitted time to file an appeal in circuit court if he chooses to carry the case higher. In addition to the jail sentence and fine, he was assessed $10 costs.

Afchiany's driver's license had been suspended after a traffic violation. Although police said that the cab owner had received a large number of traffic violation tickets, this fact was, by agreement of the attorneys, not brought out at the trial.

Members of the jury were Vivian Johnson, 529 Notre Dame; Ada Bedell, 687 Washington; Barbara Buhro, 658 St. Clair; Stewart Fraser, Jr., 626 Washington; Marjorie Kilgore, 912 Neff, and Evelyn Kolowich, 401 Neff.

3 Park Police Teams Fail To Break Dogs Picket Line

James David, 1101 Lakepointe, kept Park police busy last week trying to capture unwelcome visitors who kept picketing the front door of his home.

At 10:17 p. m., July 9, David called to report that a small black dog kept coming to his door. He had chased him several times but failed to catch him, he said. Each time, the dog came back. Patrolmen Kesteloot and Dilloway, who answered the call, couldn't catch "Blackie" either.

Two hours later, David called to say that there had apparently been a change of shifts on the picket line at midnight and a

Board of Education Offers New Two Year Kindergarten Program for Pointe Children

Younger Age Group Can Now Be Admitted to Training, Answering Many Requests Received By Educators

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education and the professional staff have announced that beginning on September 4, 1947, the Grosse Pointe Public Schools will offer a two year Kindergarten program.

During the past several years there has been a growing number of requests to permit younger children to enter Kindergarten. The former Kindergarten program was not designed to meet the needs of these younger children.

Research which has been carried on in experimental nursery schools supported by colleges and educational foundations has proved the beneficial effects of the early education of young children in terms of developing greater self-control, better adjustment to other children, the keener use of one's wits, a greater acceptance of responsibility, resulting in a general awakening of the child.

Scientific studies in the field of mental hygiene have shown that personality patterns are being established during these early years, and that it is advantageous to have these children under supervision during these formative years.

As a step in the direction of providing these opportunities for Grosse Pointe children and their parents, the Board of Education on April 2, 1947, approved a plan for the establishment of Junior Kindergartens. According to the resolution of the Board of Education, all children who will be five years of age on or before November 1, 1947, will be eligible to enroll in the Senior Kindergarten. Those children who will become five years of age between November 2, 1947 and April 1, 1948, will be eligible to enroll in the Junior Kindergarten.

Under the annual promotion plan of the Public Schools, children will normally remain in the white fox terrier was now at the door. Sgt. Walsh and Patrolman Johnson went out this time but they were no more successful at catching "Whitey" than Kesteloot and Dilloway had been with "Blackie."

About 12 hours later, the Park police phone rang. It was David again, complaining about another canine picket. This time, Patrolmen Conlan and Slusser took up the chase. But they, like their four predecessors, came back dogless.

At last reports, the canine pickets were still pacing back and forth in front of David's home.

Woods Swim Ban to Last All Summer

Council Orders Tests to Find Causes and Cures for Contamination

Swimming—or even wading—will continue to be banned for the remainder of the summer at the Woods beach, members of the village commission agreed at their meeting July 15.

After hearing a report by Dr. Thomas S. Davies, head of the Grosse Pointe Township Board of Health, the board decided that the sewage contamination was so great, stringent precautions had to be taken to keep people out of the water.

The commission ordered that signs be placed at the beach reading "No Swimming or Wading—Water Contaminated. By Order of the Board of Health." The commission also agreed that a recreational director should be hired with the principal task of preventing swimming or wading. The commission authorized an extensive survey to determine the cause of the pollution, so that remedial steps can be taken. It agreed to provide any necessary funds to Dr. Davies for his investigation.

The commission asked specifically that tests be taken to determine whether the pollution originated in Milk River or the Nine-Mile drain.

Dr. Davies said that his tests had found the water unsafe and pointed out that the sewage in the water-carried the possibility of typhoid. He said that tests had been taken at Pointe beaches and compared with the bacterial content at the Farms waterworks.

In this way, he explained, a yardstick could be set up by which the contamination on the beaches could be shown simply by finding the condition of the water at the waterworks.

Water Unpolluted Despite Deluges

Despite the heavy rains of the past week, the waters along all the Pointe beaches with the exception of the new Woods park, remain free from pollution and perfectly safe for swimming.

Macomb County is holding to its promise to keep its drainage in the interceptor sewer whenever possible. On Tuesday the Farms pumping station pumped 14,000,000 gallons of Macomb drain water as against an average of about 6,000,000.

It is when Macomb is forced to turn its drainage out into the lake that the pollution occurs.

Thunder, Lightning And Torrential Rain Storms Pelt Pointe

Friday's Downpour of 1 3/4 Inches in 40 Minutes Followed By Severe Soakings and Heavenly Fury Monday, Tuesday

In a week that has seen the Pointe lashed by driving rains and hail and jabbed by slashing lightning to the accompaniment of booming thunder, it may well be that weather records have been set.

Dame Nature started her turbulent outburst on Friday afternoon with a downpour that deluged the Pointe in a concentration of fury that did not touch much of the surrounding Detroit area.

The Farms installed a new rain measuring instrument at its pumping station last spring and for the first time it is now possible to obtain very accurate figures on the precipitation. That of Friday constituted a guiley-washer, many times more potent than either a sizzle-sozzle or a sod-soaker.

Murray Smith, village engineer, reported that the storm lasted 40 minutes, accompanied by severe lightning that knocked down an electric line at Touraine and Webster. In the first five minutes it rained .43 of an inch. In the first 10 minutes .83 of an inch fell. In the first 15 minutes, 1.14 inches had fallen and by the time an hour had passed the Pointe had been bathed in 1.45 inches. The total for the entire 40-minute storm was one and three-quarters inches.

For the first 15 minutes the storm was of an intensity which weather experts classify as a 15-year storm, or one so severe that (Continued on Page 2)

Storm Sets City Salvage Plant Afire

Fire, caused by lightning during last Friday's severe storm, seriously damaged the Grosse Pointe City salvage plant at Warren and Radnor, Detroit.

The lightning bolt struck a transformer and started a fire in the building's electric wiring. It burned off the roof of the structure and heavily damaged the upper floor.

Also destroyed in the fire were a large number of bales of waste paper which the City had stored there. Both Grosse Pointe City and Detroit firemen fought the blaze.

The dollars and cents loss could not be determined immediately, pending discussions with insurance adjusters who examined the damage. City Clerk Norbert P. Neff estimated, however, that the building was one-fourth destroyed.

Although the City has sold the building and it will pass out of its hands by Nov. 1, the structure was fully covered by insurance, Neff said.

The salvage plant was set up by the City to obtain revenue from waste collections. The City has sold the property on which it is located to the Augustinian Fathers, who plan to tear down the building and erect a large high school.

The two-story building is 40 by 60 feet in size.

Woods Resident Injured In 8-Ft. Fall Off Ladder

Gordon T. Westling, 35, of 2169 Ridgemont fractured his pelvis and elbow when he fell eight feet off a ladder while repairing his home last week.

Woods police were called and Westling was taken to Saratoga Hospital in the Shores ambulance.

Driver Bounced Out of Car In Crash on Merriweather

Richard MacNaughton, 21, of 174 Fisher road, was taken to Cottage Hospital on the night of July 11 following an automobile accident in front of 327 Merriweather road.

MacNaughton was driving his Ford north on Merriweather when he crashed into a 1947 Chrysler, parked at the west curb and owned by W. Hurst Cortes of 318 McMillan road. Damage to the Chrysler was estimated at about $30.

Park Permits Radio Tower On Yorkshire

Sets 5-Year Limit, Bans Commercial Use Of 'Ham' License

Thomas Jones, 1005 Yorkshire, was given permission to erect a radio tower in his yard for his planned "ham" station, by the Park Village Commission July 14.

The commission limited the permit to five years and stipulated that it should be used only for amateur operation.

The tower will be 65 feet high but Jones, in a personal appearance before the commission, said that it would be painted dark green to fit in with the surrounding foliage.

Jones said that he had become interested in "ham" radio while serving in the navy. He said that he had not yet received a permit to operate from the FCC.

Village President Howard P. Parshall voiced an objection that granting of the permit might set a precedent which would result in a series of unsightly towers being erected all through the village.

Other members of the commission, however, pointed out that few persons could qualify to operate a "ham" station because of the background of technical knowledge required.

It also pointed out that the "ham" stations would be invaluable in the event of an emergency in which other means of communication were knocked out.

Jones said that the "ham" radios had been used to direct relief operations in this spring's Michigan floods and the explosion disaster in Texas City.

Park to Erase Its Debt by 1961

Grosse Pointe Park is making rapid strides towards erasure of its obligations and will be out of debt by 1961, Ernst and Ernst, auditors, reported to the village commission July 14.

The village's bonded debt now stands at $1,570,000, the auditors, who were hired to make a survey of the financial condition of the community from March 31, 1946, to April 1, 1947, disclosed.

The village acquired a surplus of $18,000 during the last fiscal year, the audit revealed, taking in $805,000 while spending $789,000. The surplus was largely due to the fact that the water department income and the village's share in state liquor taxes were higher than anticipated in the preparation of the annual budget.

BREAK UP FIGHT

Four boys were picked up by Park police for investigation July 14 after they broke up a gang fight at Wayburn and Mack. They boys were Robert C. Brother, 17, of 3959 Algonquin, Detroit; Samuel Flavutti, 18, of 3565 Anderson, Detroit, and two juveniles.

Trees Blasted In Pine Woods

Two trees in the Pine Woods area off Ridge road at Lathrop were knocked down by two explosions on the night of July 10.

Farms police investigating reported that it appeared to be the work of someone expert with explosives. Rather large charges were used in each explosion, they said.

CAMPERS EVACUATED

Complaints were lodged by neighbors against a group of boys who were making a camp site out of the Pine Woods tract off Ridge road on July 12. The police invited them to break camp until they had permission from the owners of the property.

Strikes Delay Completion Of Building

Weather Also Conspires To Hold Up Construction At Vernier Site

Plans of the Board of Education to open the 18-room section, now under construction, of the new school on Vernier and Mack by September 1st have been so seriously delayed by strikes and weather conditions over the past three months that it is now certain that the building will not be ready as scheduled for the opening of school in the fall, according to a statement of Dr. Paul L. Essert, Superintendent of Schools.

"For the first semester of the new school year, at least," said the Superintendent, "we will have to continue the plan now in operation of transporting some 250 children of grades 4A through 8 out of Grosse Pointe Woods and Grotto Township to the Defer and Trombly Schools.

Probably we would have been able to open according to schedule by the middle of September at least, in spite of the most crippling weather conditions throughout the winter, had it not been for the delays from strikes.

"Our contractor, the Henry M. Martens Contracting Co., has been making a very excellent effort to move forward on the building through the most serious weather conditions and there was considerable hope, even up to the first of April, that we would be able to complete the building.

Even with the settling of the strikes, labor conditions and availability of labor supply, is holding back scheduled progress of the building. The contractor is having serious difficulty in obtaining carpenters to finish the form work on the second floor and bringing the second floor to a stage where brick layers can complete their work."

The staff for the new school had been practically organized and arrangements made for the opening in September but the plans have had to be redrawn and teachers and students re-assigned to other buildings for the first semester. It is our hope that now everything can be in complete readiness for returning the children from the Defer and Trombly Schools to the new school in their own district by the beginning of the second semester.

Mr. Marshall Jamesson will include among other duties during the first semester his responsibilities as the principal of the new school the planning and organization of the opening of school in February.

"I regret exceedingly," said Dr. Essert, "that I will not be able to announce to the parents and patrons of Grosse Pointe Woods, Grotto Township and Grosse Pointe Shores before leaving your community, that after the many years of work toward this objective, we have now brought our plans to a completion."

Dog Turns Clam As Law Arrives

Park police found a dog July 9 who knows when to bark and when to keep his mouth shut.

Patrolmen Kesteloot and Dilloway answered a complaint at 9:55 p. m. from Mrs. E. M. Johnson, 1306 Balfour, that a dog was barking continuously at 1379 Berkshire.

Rain, Thunder, Lightning Hail Pound Pointe to Pulp

Mr. Smith pointed out that engineers are now constructing drain sewers to handle 10-year storms, which was the classification of Friday's entire storm.

The village offices were deluged with the usual calls on flooded basements, an old story in the Farms. Mr. Smith estimates that the calls indicated that about 165 basements were flooded in the Farms Friday night. Last spring the voters turned down a proposed $350,000 bond issue to improve the sewage system.

Many streets were standing pools of water higher than the curbs. In the City, Washington, Lincoln, Kercheval and Rathbone were under water in many places. Only four calls on flooded basements were received there.

The Farms pumping station weathered Friday's storm mainly because it was of such short duration. The water was gaining on the pumps all the time, but it reached a crest five feet lower than that created in very heavy rains of a year ago May and June. Mr. Smith estimated that if the storm had lasted another 20 minutes, the old crest would have been surpassed.

Eric O. Melmer of 280 Merriweather road, reported that his basement and many of those of his neighbors were flooded for the first time in the nine years he has lived there. He has sent out letters to neighbors urging them to attend a meeting of the Farms Council Monday night, when there will be a general discussion of the drainage problem.

The trustees of the village, after having the proposed bond issue turned down, realized that was so important that they authorized the expenditure of more than $10,000 to prepare plans and specifications for the sewer system the village will have to have before flooded basements can be completely eliminated. These plans have now been nearly completed.

The Woods police reported they received no calls of flooded basements during Friday's storm. The great amount of money the Woods has invested during the last few years in a new sewer system is proving a great relief. Before these improvements were made most of the village was under water during heavy rains.

After a Saturday and Sunday surcease, the rains came again early Monday morning, accompanied by hail, more thunder and lightning. Intermittent storms lashed the Pointe most of Monday, with a particularly severe outburst Monday afternoon.

Pat Kaulitz and Tom Collins, employees of the Neighborhood Club, were tickled by a lightning bolt during the afternoon storm. They were both in the lobby of the club when a flash apparently hit a transformer outside the building. Collins said he felt as though someone had hit him, on the head and Kaulitz said the sensation was as though someone had touched a burning match to his arm. Neither of them had any bad after effects.

Electrical service was interrupted repeatedly during the height of the afternoon storm, when three-tenths of an inch of rain fell.

Tuesday was another day of thunder, lightning and more rain. Measurements at the Farms pumping station are taken from noon to noon. After the 1.76 inches which fell on Friday afternoon, the period from Monday noon to Tuesday noon brought another .52 of an inch. Then Tuesday afternoon's and evening's soakers contributed another 1.45 inches. All of which means that the Pointe was blessed with a total of 3.73 inches of rain between late Friday afternoon and Tuesday night.

Because there were fulls between the various storms on Tuesday, the Farms received only two complaints of flooded basements. The Park reported that it had some calls on floods during the worst of the storms, but not an unusual number.

The Park has also spent a considerable sum during the last year on sewer improvements and the program is not yet completed.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Henry Buhl on the lake at the foot of Ellair place in the Park, suffered at the hands of the storms.

Lightning struck one of the main chimneys on the house and did considerable damage and the large recreation room in the basement was badly flooded.

Gilbert Pingree of Voltaire place in the Farms is circulating petitions to present to the village council next Monday night, asking that the bond issue proposal be put before the voters again.

He has enlisted the support of a large group of neighbors whose basements have been flooded.

Mr. Pingree said he feels that many of the property owners did not fully understand the importance of voting approval of the bond issue when it was last proposed, and he has pledged that if the council will put it on ballot again he will personally see that every qualified voter in the village gets a letter explaining the need for the improved drainage facilities and urging support of the $350,000 bond issue for this purpose.

Luncheon Given For Betty Pratt

Bride-elect Betty Pratt was honor guest at a luncheon and kitchen shower given on Saturday by Mrs. Leonard H. Roche of Roslyn road. Betty, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn M. Pratt of Merriweather road, will be married on July 26 to Fred W. Belz Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Belz of Rivard boulevard.

For the luncheon, served buffet-style, Mrs. Roche centered her table with a cobalt and gold Dresden bowl filled with yellow roses and delphinium. She was assisted in her hostess duties by Mrs. Frank X. Nutto.

Among the guests at the party were Betty's mother, Fred's mother, Mary Stewart, Mrs. William G. Wahl and her daughter, Betty, Mrs. Cameron H. Kiskadden, Mrs. Robert Pratt, Mrs. Ford Southwick and Mrs. Charles Green.

Others were Mrs. Don M. Soule, Mrs. Hugh M. Gray, Mrs. Richard L. Hart, Mrs. Norman Shuter, Mrs. James D. Hadfield, Mrs. Harry E. England, Mrs. Jack Vine and Helen Krywy.

When Mrs. Mason told her story to Sgt. Elmer Labadie of the Farms police, he immediately suspected Danny, who has been in plenty of trouble on previous occasions. He picked Danny up and soon obtained a confession. Danny had used some of the $23 he had stolen to repay some small debts he owed, had spent more for "luxuries" and given the balance to a friend, "for safe keeping."

Youth Confesses To Stealing Cash

Danny Grifford, 16, of 225 1/2 Oak street, is in trouble again and the Farms police say he is due to be sent back to Boys' Vocational School, from which he was recently released.

Mrs. Parker Mason told the police on July 12 that on the day before a boy had come to her door at 225 Moran road and asked for work. As it was raining hard at the time she invited him in and told him to sit down in the front hall while she went about her household duties.

She had asked him his name and he said it was Grifford and that he lived on Oak street. She made the mistake of putting some money in a purse and hanging it in a nearby closet while he was watching her. After he departed she found that the money was gone.

Michigan Bell To Request General Increase in Rates

Reveals Plan to File Petition With Public Service Commission; President Lacy Explains Reasons For Boost

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company has formally announced its intention to file a petition with the Michigan Public Service Commission for a general rate increase.

Pointing out that it will mark the first time in 21 years that the company has sought a general increase in its charges, President Thomas N. Lacy declared that "prewar rates are no longer enough to meet postwar costs."

Beyond the indication that, "as a matter of fairness to all our customers," the proposed increases will be applied to all types of telephone service, Lacy did not reveal the extent of the proposed rate boosts. In accordance with the statute, the company will advertise its specific proposals during the week of August 3, preliminary to filing of its petition with the Michigan Public Service Commission later that month for approval.

"Michigan Bell today is operating under a general rate schedule established by the Commission in the latter part of 1936," Lacy continued. "Except in towns where local rates have been lowered still further and for toll-rate reductions, the rates of 10 years ago are still in effect. Meanwhile, the cost of everything used in furnishing telephone service—wages, taxes, and supplies—has gone up."

"Postwar wage increases alone, for example, have raised Michigan Bell costs nearly $11,000,000 a year.

"Although the amount of business that we have been doing has risen sharply, the increased income has not kept pace with the rapid upward movement in costs. Since 1937, our income has gone up 2 1/2 times, but costs of operating the business are now three times the level of 10 years ago. "As a result, our return on investment has slipped far below the danger mark. Based on today's telephone rates, the company's return now is only 4 1/2 cents on its investment dollar—a drop of more than one-third under the rate of return in 1937. If the new rates ordered by the Commission in 1946 were being charged today, the return would be even lower—actually, less than 3 1/2 per cent. That rate order is now on appeal in the Ingham Circuit Court.

"It is one thing for earnings to be at such a low point in a period of depression and with a surplus of plant facilities; it is quite another to be limited to such a bed-rock return at a time of inflation and shortage of plant facilities.

"If our plant were increased by the millions of dollars necessary to restore peacetime margins for better service, the rate of return obviously would dip to an even more shocking level. A growing business especially has to earn a good return to attract the capital needed for that growth.

"Any decision to increase rates is a hard one to make. It reverses a trend in our operations which are now saving our customers $20,000,000 a year compared with rates of a quarter of a century ago.

"We have held off this decision as long as possible. Rate increases already have been requested in 29 other states. In 17 of those states, increased rates have been ordered by regulatory authorities. Sixteen independent telephone companies have been granted increases by the Michigan Public Service Commission and two more such applications are still pending.

"Michigan Bell has a legal and moral obligation to provide the best possible service to as many as ask for it, within the limits of its ability to do so. That obligation—to provide more and better service—will cost a lot of investment money from here on. The money must come from investors who will put their money into this business only if assured a fair return. No such assurances can be provided under existing rates.

"The alternative to increased telephone rates, in the final analysis,

A Grosse Pointe youth who was admitted to Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Illinois after three years' service in the navy has been awarded a Rotary International fellowship to study at the University of Santiago, Chile. He is Stewart Stewart Blasier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart D. Blasier, 16830 Village Lane, Grosse Pointe City.

Blasier was one of the 20 youths given the Paul Harris Foundation fellowships by the international Rotary organization. He had been sponsored by the Urbana, Ill., Rotary Club on the recommendation of one of his professors at U. of I.

The fellowship will pay all of his expenses for one year at Grosse Pointe and attended the Monticelli school, was graduated from DUS at the age of 16. He elected to attend the University of Illinois because of his acquaintanceship with Wendell Wilson, then athletic director of U. of I. Blasier had served as a counselor at a boys' camp operated by Wilson, now athletic director at Cranbrook, on his ranch in Wyoming.

After attending the U. of I. for two years, Blasier entered the navy and took his V-12 work at DePaul University. He became a lieutenant, junior grade, and served two years in the Pacific. On his return to civilian life, he completed his work for his bachelor's degree at U. of I. in one semester, graduating last January. He majored in political science and international relations.

Blasier speaks and reads French and Spanish, and is specializing in relations with Latin America. He took special courses on South America at George Washington University last semester and is now studying at the University of Mexico in Mexico City.

After completing the year at Santiago, he will go to Columbia University for his master's and Ph.D. degrees. Blasier's father is part-owner of the Bluewater Ferry at Port Huron.

Ducks Held Too Efficient As Community Alarm Clocks

Residents of Cranford Lane complained to City police last week that they were being awakened rudely from their slumbers at 4 a. m. daily by the quacking of four ducks, owned by a Cadieux road family.

Besides, they said, the ducks smelled.

Since the offending family resided on the other side of the boundary line, the City police were able to duck the issue and turn it over to the Park constabulary.

The Park officers discovered that the duck owners, William G. Butler and family, 1031 Cadieux, were out of town and had to be satisfied with telling the maid about it.

The men who forget themselves are the men whom others remember.

Mrs. Springstun said that the doorbell rang at 8:12 p.m. and that no one was in sight when she answered the door. Since the house was completely dark at the time, Mrs. Springstun said she believed a prospective burglar might have picked it for a robbery, not expecting to find anyone home.

There were two other bids.

Trace Murder Mystery To Boys With Fireworks

Stolen Car Driver, Hurt, Flees Crash

Park Police Convinced Broken Steering Wheel Must Have Injured Thief

Park police this week were seeking the driver of a stolen car who was apparently injured in an accident in front of 1127 Bedford road on July 11.

The stolen car, owned by Alpha Doherty, 2050 Roslyn, Grosse Pointe Woods, struck an unoccupied parked car owned by Muer Oyster House, 2000 Gratiot, Detroit.

The driver fled the scene immediately after the crash. Park police were certain that he suffered a chest injury in the accident because the steering wheel was damaged.

The auto had been reported stolen July 9.

Minus Staircase And $80 in Cash

The theft of some lumber which he said he needed to build a staircase in his house, has cost Anthony Lee Kerr $80. He was fined $75 and $5 costs by Justice Beauchamp in Farms police court Monday night, July 14.

Kerr was spotted by Farms police officers Jarrett and Roland as he was loading the lumber on his truck on the night of July 11 at the site of a home under construction on Stephens road. The house is owned by Walter DeSimpel.

Kerr was taken to the police station and when he admitted he had no right to the lumber he was locked up and later released under a $100 bond for his appearance Monday night.

Woods Spurns Detroit Refuse

The Woods commission authorized a letter to the Detroit Department of Public Works on July 15, warning the DPW that the Woods would permit no dumping of Detroit refuse on Woods property.

The letter originated from a report that a Woods property owner had asked the Detroit department to fill in his land with refuse brought across Milk River. The property owner, who was not named, will also be warned that this dumping would constitute a violation of a village ordinance.

The property owner, the commission was told, had taken the topsoil off his land and sold it. The commission also ordered Earle Richards, operator of a filling station at 20397 Mack, to remove, within five days, a layer of asphalt he had placed in the road and on the sidewalk leading up to his station. Adjoining property owners had complained that this had caused drainage down onto their property.

BOY PROWLERS PICKED UP

Clumsy Burglar Makes Escape

A larceny at the home of E. W. Dulmage, 255 McKinley road, was reported to the Farms police on July 14.

Mr. Dulmage said he believed the theft took place the day before. A small tin box containing $80 in cash, valuable papers and two bank books belonging to Philip Dulmage, aged 3, was taken from a sun room on the second floor of the house.

The box had last been seen on the morning of July 13 and the family had heard a crash from the room, on that afternoon, Sunday. When they investigated they found a painting and a sewing basket on the floor, but did not notice that the box was missing until the following day. It was also reported that the thief had taken small amounts of money from two purses Mrs. Dulmage had left on a telephone stand.

WOODS CALLS HALT

After granting two requests for alley improvements on July 15, the Woods commission decided to call a halt on paying for such projects and passed a resolution decreeing that any future work of this nature had to be paid for by the parties benefited.

Curtain for Ourselves

The basic difficulty in achieving a common ground for cooperative action between Russia and the English speaking peoples in the quest for world betterment lies in the background of the two races.

The English speaking peoples have, for nearly a thousand years, been developing a passion for liberty which permeates every angle of their lives and thought. The Russians have remained stagnated under a form of social and economic mediaevalism. The shell of this was merely cracked in the abolition of serfdom 84 years ago.

Since then underground groups variously known as nihilists, anarchists, radical socialists and other classifications carried on a ceaseless warfare which was aimed not so much at acquiring for the people a social system with the maximum of individual liberty and freedom as in the destruction of the dynastic political and social despotism under which they had lived from their beginnings.

The great masses of the Russian people have no understanding of liberty and real democracy as they have become an accepted part of the English speaking world. They have merely supplanted a dynastic absolute despotism and a feudal social system with an iron dictatorship by a single party whose membership is carefully screened and limited, which in turn is directed by a small committee called the Politburo. It is not greatly dissimilar to the various committee governments which ruled France after its revolution.

The common man in Russia today has no more voice in the government of his country than he had under the Czars. He has no understanding of democracy, nor apparently any desire for it.

Now, after an organizing and foundation laying interval of 30 years the Russian state feels itself so secure that it presses its program for world revolution. This invariably pursues the undercover method with appeals to class hatred which it stimulates and inspires. Its whole concept is completely opposed to individual liberty and every tenet of democracy.

Its sole hope for progress in the world depends on confusion, suffering and division among the peoples whom it would absorb or control.

It has improved on the old Roman technique of "divide and govern" by carrying the division into every department of the daily lives of the peoples it marks for "subjection." It has already acted fast and boldly among those of its immediate border states. It already has its active agents planted throughout the world.

A better understanding of these facts will enable Americans and the more intelligent peoples of other countries to recognize the signs and advances of the new dictatorship on its world march.

Russia has not hesitated to throw an iron curtain across her own country and those she controls.

It is time we did a little curtain work of our own and some nose counting of the half educated idiots behind it here at home who are purposely or unconsciously conspiring to overthrow the best government and cleanest democracy the world has yet known.

The Bride's Apple Pies

Government control or intermeddling in private economy often or usually results in an unbalancing of the economic processes of supply and demand.

Not content with letting private enterprise use its own best judgment in anticipating these changes it interferes with its price fixing, its subsidies, bonuses and quotas until it sets the whole economic seasaw a tottering.

The new generation of "fixers" seem utterly unwilling that private enterprise should be left to manage its own adventuring and take its earned profits or its licking as the case may be. In all such experiences the taxpayer or the consumer seems certain to pay the piper.

The latest foray of government in this field was in potatoes. Last year the taxpayers paid out $93,000,000 to assure the potato grower he would not lose any money and countless millions of bushels were condemned to rot. This year the Agriculture Department is in a dither over the prospect of a serious shortage before the 1948 crop is harvested.

This eternal artificial manipulation of supply and demand has been going on for a long time. The experts have been trying earnestly to so arrange things that nobody should ever lose anything, come hell or high water, big crops or small. We have had it in cotton, wheat, pigs, etc.

On many government attempts to regulate supply and demand about the same sense of proportion and fitness has been displayed as that demonstrated by the little bride who started out to make an apple pie for her young husband and found herself alternately confronted by a surplus of crust or sliced apples until there were thirty-seven pies cluttering up the kitchen and bride was in tears.

Tempered Romance

Carol of Romania had an apparent ultra practical motive in his marriage to his mistress of 23 years on her deathbed in Rio. A lot of the romantic tinsel which so intrigued a large section of the feminine world has been badly scratched. Carol's grief, it appears, had had a hiatus long enough for him to take prudent stock of his own immediate future to assure that the large part of his personal fortune, which he had sequestered in her name, should not go to her family but should return to the erstwhile royal coffers.

His quick marriage to her was the first requisite to this end. It is reported that he may be even too late for this, as under the Brazilian law there are a lot of papers to be executed and legal formalities to be cleared up before his seat will be secure on the gold bags; and this may be hard to arrange in far off Bucharest where the playboy king and his red-headed enamora are not kindly remembered.

"And he who gives a child a treat
Alakes joy-bells ring in Heaven's street,
And he who gives a child a home
Builds palaces in Kingdom come."
(John Masefield)

There is something about small children that we adore... and there are also times we'd like to push their fat little heads in the sand. Our best beau took us "beaching" last Sunday and for the occasion, we took along our newest and best bathing suit... a black stiff silk arrangement with a DEFINITE skirt. Since we have outgrown the proportions suited to a slinky lastex, we thought ourselves right smart in choosing the one we have.

No sooner were we seated on the beach, when along came a little cherub of about 8. We went through all the small talk of exchanging names and addresses and commenting on the weather, when little Miss Muffet looked us over carefully and said, "Your bathing suit looks like an old lady's." What does one do about a thing like that? We were feeling pretty let-down and inferior until the Junior Miss, having finished with us, turned to scrutinize our beau. It looked as if she found him as perfect as we do until she finally said, "Geel! you've got a little head." After all the years we've been looking at him we never thought of THAT one... but strangely enough, he HAS a little head.

The following true story does not concern any local girl, so don't you boys go around with raised eyebrows. The story came from a woman in one of the shops who used to be in charge of the wedding gown department. One morning, she went to the house of the bride-to-be whose trousseau she had handled. It was the wedding day and our heroine wanted to arrange the gown herself and see that the veil was properly placed, etc. The little bride had always worn her hair in a long mane, but when our woman arrived, a group of "fluffsters abouters" including the hairdresser, were trying to talk her into wearing it in an "up-do." After much monkeying about back and forth, the bride decided she liked it up and WOULD wear it that way. After she was coiffed... Madam la Shoppe started to place the veil on the bride's head, when the bride exclaimed, "Oh!... wait just a minute... I'd better wash my neck first."

A jolly visitor to the Pointe this week, one "Gil" Edgar of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., entertained us one evening with some gay tales. One of the gayest was his account of an embarrassing moment he suffered while the European invasion was in progress during the war. It seems that the jovial Mr. E. has the very comfortable habit of sleeping in pajama tops... but always has the bottom pressed and layed out near his bed in case of emergency.

Such an emergency came when it was announced on the air that the invasion was on. It was an emergency for Mr. Edgar since his son was in that neck of the woods and he was pretty darned sure Junior was in the first group that landed. For weeks, Mr. E. had been pouring over maps and doing a lot of armchair warfare... so when the word came, he jumped out of bed and made for the maps... telling his wife to call all the family and neighbors and tell them to join them right away. This she did... and later, when a rather large group rushed into the Edgar living room, the host was crawling around the floor where his maps were spread... perspiringly intent on tracing routes etc., and completely unaware of the fact that his "bottoms" were still neatly layed out near the bed upstairs.

We have a five-year-old niece, who along with her equally-aged companions, thinks that ANYTHING new is something to brag about. A few weeks ago, she and her two little friends came for afternoon milk and regaled us with the wonders of a new stove just purchased by the family of one of the little girls. Our niece said, "You're going to get a new stove too, aren't you Auntie Pryor?" We allowed as how we were NOT and her face fell in the surrounding contempt of her friends.

A week later the same trio arrived to tell us about a new car the other little tike's family just bought. When our niece looked at us hopefully, we shook our head negatively and felt like a dirty dog. This week, however, we were able to save her little face in front of her companions... quite inadvertently. It so happened that we bought some clothes line, a "step-on-it" garbage pail and a galvanized metal ash can... a large one! They arrived just after our little friends called again this week. Our niece beamed radiantly as her pals oohed and aahed over the purchases... even the new car was forgotten in the splendor of the shiny new ash can. We all felt a lot better.

the country into somewhat of a dither.

For several days it was expected some statement would issue from the national defense authorities but the latest word from them is that they know nothing about it. Astronomers tell us they could not possibly be meteoric bodies as these would be consumed by their own atmospheric generated heat long before they approached near enough to the earth's surface to pursue a comparatively leisurely course until their disappearance over the horizon.

Common sense dismisses the assertion of some persons that the people are only seeing things; that their imagination, stimulated by reports from other places, conjures up visions of celestial fireworks that don't exist. Too many persons in widely separate spaces have seen and reported on the identical things.

There is of course the possibility that the Russians, suffering from a war of nerves by our monopoly of the secret of atomic destruction, are trying a hand at the same thing at our expense by sending aloft some eerie gadgets. The northeast Siberian coast is sufficiently near to provide such a launching spot via the polar route.

THE GOAT!

Talley Rant

by Helen Talley

I don't know if you have noticed it, but we are getting very tree conscious in our town. Originally, East 70th, between Park and Lexington, was about the only street that offered pale, green lace shade to the passerby. The graceful trees and well kept private homes were a welcome contrast to the sleek austerity of the canyon of Park Avenue. After a while Rockefeller Center and St. Patrick's planted great waving trees. Everybody loved it.

MRS. ARTHUR HAYS SULZBERGER, wife of the owner of the NEW YORK TIMES and head of THE FIFTH AVENUE COMMITTEE, suggested to MR. LE BOULLIER, owner of the new BESTS store, across from ST. PATS, that it would encourage others along the AVENUE to do the same, if he planted trees. MR. LE BOULLIER is evidently not a TREE ON THE CITY STREETS lover. He blew all his birds' nests in one fine frenzy. FRANK SULLIVAN took the egg from there and I think his poem in THE NEW YORKER on the subject of MR. LE B—and trees, was an ACE. One line, if you remember, went, "I think that I shall never see, a man so angry at a tree."

It is certain, true that as long as MR. LE B—lives and has a finger on BESTS, there will never be a tree near his shop—if only to spite SULLIVAN. Fortunately, very few others feel that way. PARK AVENUE is lined on both sides with fluttering greenery and so are innumerable other streets. NOW we can tell when SPRING is here by the tender, pale green leaves of our trees, rather than by a notice in the TIMES.

NEW YORK, in the SUMMER, can be extremely attractive to VISITORS. If you haven't any money you can go to JONES BEACH or CONEY where they have the best HOT DOGS you've ever eaten. At JONES everything is well ordered and the ocean is pretty big. At CONEY the ocean seems to get much smaller because there are so many people in it, but it's a lot of fun once in a while. There are air conditioned movie houses in New York that give you a magnificent three hours and there is a charming place in CENTRAL PARK called THE TAVERN ON THE GREEN, where you can eat reasonably and dance to an excellent band. There is another municipal tavern called CLAREMONT—GEORGE WASHINGTON HEADQUARTERS—up on Riverside Drive. I prefer the TAVERN but CLAREMONT is cooler and has a lovely view since it is just above the HUDSON RIVER.

If you have plenty of clam shells in your pants and time on your hands you can raise hell all over the place. The roof gardens furnish good food, the best bands in the land, and unsurpassed views of the most exciting city in the world. THE STARLIGHT ROOF at the WALDORF is one outstanding example. You can drive out across the GEORGE WASHINGTON BRIDGE to the RIVIERA on the Jersey side and see a big, racy show, dance and, if you have snagged a table by the window, you will see a panorama of the bridge, the HUDSON and the moonlight that will make you swoon. For all those blessings you will have to overlook a type of service that is as unnecessary as it is unattractive—Look, I brought your dinner, but I hope the rich so and so that owns this place, fails—and I hope you choke.

If you like to drive to your dinner, there are some excellent places ten to twenty miles out on Long Island and up in Connecticut. I can't list them here by the NEW YORKER does and so do CUE, GO, HARPERS etc. Visitors from out of town have no trouble securing good tables at the top night clubs and all that talk about having to slip the headwaiter 50 bucks is the bunk. If you offered it I don't mean to say he would slap your hand and say NO; but I do mean that he wouldn't slap you hand and say GO if you didn't.

You won't see many big New York NAMES around these days because they have gone to their summer places, but you will see enough Hollywood personalities to make up for it—BUDDY ROGERS, MARY PICKFORD, INGRID BERGMAN, JENNIFER JONES, CAROLE LANDIS. Along with the STORK and MOROCCO, the beloved old standbys, there are a couple of new clubs that are worthy of your attention—the LITTLE CLUB where a lot of the post deb crowd hang out and LESLIE HOUSE. LESLIE HOUSE is managed by a man you probably know well—FRANK, the diplomat who used to preside over that important red velvet rope at the STORK.

The time has come to kiss you all goodbye. As of yesterday at 7:30 a. m. I departed on the "Grand Tour" of South America... by plane. I have a chifon nightie for Panama and a milk coat for the Argentina. I have an air of helplessness and a bottle of Shocking. I am fully equipped. I shall bring you each a rich South American. Not the garden variety who just smacks at the back of your hand; these will be the specialists... wrist and bend-of-the-elbow boys. More fun than Santy Claus.

Do You Have Your "Old Folks" Health Checked

By Fred M. Kopp, R. Ph.

The years come on apace and before we realize it, there is a member of the family who is really growing old.

Good health is entirely possible for the aged, and most desirable. The sunset years can be beautiful and gracious years for those who have kept their zest for living. Health is the first requisite.

See that your aged relative has a regular medical examination. Now is the time when prevention is all important. It is more difficult to throw off the effects of a cold, or more serious illness, when the recuperative powers fail.

Prescriptions should be referred to a good druggist.

NOSTALGIA BEING THE MOOD OF THE MOMENT AMONG THE VULTURES FOR CULTURE, MAY WE POSE the sentimental question: "Whatever became of all the books known as 'light' summer reading? Not only the books, but the authors?"

We have a pulsating personal memory of our very early and tender teens, when we'd come back for summer vacation from the convent to find the summer living room pleasantly lulled by summer reading by summer authors, who seemed to lead a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hi-de-ho literary life. In the winter, you read their "heavy" books; in the summer you read only their "light" books. Some of them were, naturally, perennially on the blithe and bouncing side, such as Wodehouse, Benchley and Lardner. But others had obviously just relaxed and played trills and thrills and chills on their typewriter keyboards. Oddly enough, this must have meant for the poor authors that during their readers' lighter moments, they were stewing over a hot typewriter to turn out those "heavy" novels for the forthcoming winter. But then, all authors and artists are constructively crazy—or they aren't any good.

There were always bound to be a few light murders by Mary Roberts Rinehart, a heart throbber by Edna Ferber, a pixie play by Sir James M. Barrie and even a volume of some minor short stories by Somerset Maugham.

As a fugitive from Shakespeare and Browning, our summer routine was invariably the same—to slack 'em up and lie on the beach on the pretext of "watching the children." (We glance to this day at the sturdy six-footers in the family, wondering how, but for the grace of God, they didn't wade right out into Lake Huron while we were having an AMOUR with Sir James Barrie's entrancing hero.)

THE ALLEGED "LIGHT" READING HAVING BEEN DISPOSED of in one or two weeks, the literary quest led to the nearest library. There was that never-to-be-forgotten summer when we were thirteen, and had been presumed to have reached the age of discretion, when we obtained an adult library card. That was the summer we read, book by book and play by play, the complete drama section of the public library in Port Huron. It was a darn good drama library, at that, and we doubt if any other source could have given us such an unforgettable introduction to those three great gentlemen of London, Jones and Pinero and Shaw, and the wild Celtic playwrights of Dublin.

As for the magazines, the fiction was so frothy the stories practically floated off the raft while one was reading them. There was, obviously, a fine old feeling to the effect that reading anything of a sociological or even logical nature was bad for the brain while floating on the lake in a hot summer sun. They were right about it, too. The last time we were raft-floating this summer, someone handed us a shrewd little book called: "How to Keep Away from Psychiatrists" and we spent the rest of the week-end speculating on the complexes and phobias and psychoses of our friends and ourselves. The only thing they analyzed in those olden, golden days was the water.

NOW, IN THIS WORLD-SEETHING SUMMER OF nineteen forty seven what are we getting on the literary front? Not light, but enlightened literature—and you can have it, pet. Listlessly searching our summer bookshelves the other night we found them practically jumping with problem novels, plays and essays. They stared at us with evil eyes. The Russian Problem, the Anti-Semitic Problem, the Displaced Persons Problem, the Negro Problem, the Housing Problem—even 'the Souping Problem' issued by the Book of the Month in "The Story of Mrs. Murphy."

Our only problem is how to keep away from these problems.

These problem books were nosing out our old nostalgic favorites. There was nothing to do but hike up to the attic and dust off some old French novels. After all, the time comes in every woman's life when she'd rather stay home from the movies and sit up with a Bad Book.

THE HIT-AND-MISS PARADE STILL IN THE NOSTALGIA NOOK, WITH THE TRADE edition of "Vogue" before us, it looks as if the Glamour Girls may turn out this fall in revivals of the fashions worn by their grandmother, The Flapper of the Twenties. The forecast calls for the Wrap-Around Coat, the Lamp-Shade Dinner Dress and the fur-dripping Dolman Wrap.

But the real world-shaking question is What's-the-Dirt-on-the-Skirt? Well, Paris is holding out for ten to twelve inches from the floor. The sophisticated shops along 57th St., in New York, is measuring them from twelve to fourteen inches. And dear John Powers, the Model Man, likes them mid-calf. Oh, well, what's one calf, more or less, in Powers' Model life? From where we sit, the men about town really seem to be intrigued by those new black silk dresses that swirl around the ankles. It's the old army game, pet—give 'em an inch and they'll ask for a foot.

Date With Maid Periled By Suspicious Neighbor

Park police nearly kept Emery Chatman, 3384 S. Ethel, Detroit, from keeping his date with the maid at 1329 Buckingham—because of the suspicions of a neighbor.

Mrs. Fitzgerald, 1334 Buckingham, reported to the police that a strange Negro had been parked in front of her house for some time on July 13. Chatman was able to convince police that his purposes were romance, not robbery.

We can learn from yesterday how to build today for tomorrow.

Society News Gathered from All of the Pointes

From Another Pointe of View

by
Jane Schermerhorn

Just fifteen minutes before guests arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reece B. Oberteuffer for cocktails Monday afternoon . . . Lovely daughter of the house, Frances . . . slipped into a white organically ballerina gown banded at the waist in a sash of black velvet. . . And then hurried downstairs to the great living room to stand at the side of her parents . . . as they greeted 75 friends . . .

Announcing the belle's engagement . . . to James F. McDonnell Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. McDonnell of New York City and Southampton, Long Island . . .

It was an engagement as romantically heralded at the Pointe as the betrothal of the Princess Elizabeth, another July bride-elect . . . royal Lt. Mountbatten . . .

POSTCARDS TELL BETROTHAL

The bridegroom-elect is the brother of Mrs. Henry Ford II . . . and has been making his home for some time now, on Cranford lane. Frances and Jim will live at the Pointe following their marriage, which we understand will take place in the early autumn . . .

A gay flurry of postcards really told of the engagement . . . the cards bore pictures of Frances and Jim . . . and were "received" by all the guests . . .

Here for the announcement party were the senior Mrs. McDonnell and another son, Murray . . . They remained at the Oberteuffer home . . . for the announcement dinner which followed the cocktail fete . . .

SCHOOLS

Vital statistics:
The bride-elect attended Dana Hall . . . and Bennett Junior College . . .

She's a member of the Junior League and Tau Beta Association. The bridegroom-elect graduated from Georgetown University. He served in the United States Army for four years . . . and was discharged as a captain . . .

THE CIRCUS IS COMING

The dashing John Ringling North swings into town on the 25th and while he's here . . . He'll stop with former classmate at Yale . . . Theodore DeLong Buhl . . . and Mrs. Buhl . . . at their Ridge road home . . . This is always the signal for much fun . . . and lots of circus . . . with something extra special always added (remember last year when Julie Hudson, a pretty bareback rider if ever we saw one, climbed one of the circus horses and marched in the great parade!) . . .

WHEREIN WE MEET THE DEGRIMMES

One of the Pointe's most engaging couples must be Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeGrimme . . . Whom we met at that wonderful dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barlas of the Whittier . . . in the breezy River View room of the Burns avenue apartment hotel . . . Our willing ear was filled with fascinating tales about Sir Joseph . . . brilliantly supplied by still another dinner guest . . . Who told us that DeGrimme pere . . . was the Henry Ford of Vienna . . . and that young swashbuckling DeGrimme was accustomed to buy the entire opera house for the evening . . . to hear his favorite prima donna . . . So how fitting it is . . . that such a romantic heart . . . should have found as soigne a partner as Madam DeGrimme . . . a blood beauty . . . who wore a beach costume with a Merry Widow picture hat at the Barlas dinner to set off her blond good looks . . .

BACK AT THE POINTE

That same evening . . . at the Whittier . . . we glimpsed petite Mrs. C. James McKinney . . . who is getting nicely settled once again in her Grand Marais home along with Col. McKinney and the dazzling trio . . . Carlotta, Bayne and Jim, Jr. . . . During the war years . . . the former Ethel Norris and the children returned to her native New York City (where she was the toast of just a few years back as the dancing, singing star of "Crazy Quilt," "Rain or Shine", etc.) . . . To occupy their apartment on East 84th Street . . . It was so terribly elegant, the tenants . . . there were only four, we believe . . . never were permitted to meet in the street-level foyer. The doorman gave an "all-clear" first—and Elliot Nugent (The Male Animal) . . . voice of the Turtle and his family occupied the pent house . . .

SCATTERED INFORMATION

We've been told about
The jellied consommé served in iced cantaloupe halves at Grosse Pointe Yacht Club dinners . . .
The disappointment of the nation's wine merchants in the small number of cases of bubbly ordered for the Ford-Firestone festivities in Akron . . .
That the great European hostesses prefer American champagne at their soirees . . .

Three Lovely Debs Bow at Tea in Club

Suzanne Hughes and Her Cousins, Jane and Joan Taylor, Presented to Society by Their Mothers in Boat Club Meet

Suzanne Hughes and her cousins, Jane and Joan Taylor, made their bow to society last week at a tea at the Detroit Boat Club. The three lovely debs received with their mothers, Mrs. Victor W. Hughes of Rivard boulevard and Mrs. Harry W. Taylor of Detroit Towers, before a screen of cedar on which were tacked many gift corsages and bouquets.

Gowns of white mousseline over taffeta, fashioned with a deep bertha on the off-shoulder necklines and splashed with two large flowers in shaded rose tones on the bertha and skirt were the gowns chosen by, surprisingly enough, Joan and Suzanne. The twins have never dressed alike and Jane abided by the tradition in her gown of white organza with a fitted bodice of white eyelet embroidery. Puff sleeves and an off-shoulder decolletage distinguished the beautifully simple dress.

Pelagium carnations with trails of ivy formed the identical bouquets of the three girls—the bouquets were the gifts of their fathers. The symphony of blended colors was enhanced by Mrs. Hughes print gown of purple tones on white with a long draped skirt. Mrs. Taylor chose a floor-length gown of tan crepe trimmed with beaded embroidery of a deeper shade of tan.

Senior assistants were Mrs. Frank Purcell of Edgemont Park drive, Mrs. Max Stringer of Rivard boulevard, and the debs' aunt, Mrs. Otto Kern of Bloomfield Hills. Miniatures of the debs' bouquets were worn by their assistants, Phyllis Klingler, Ann Haggarty, Mary Couzens, Joan Roney, Sue Carey, Sue Bogle, Betsy Bachman, Barbara Kitson, and Martha Bigley.

The long tea table was covered with a gold silk cloth, centered by an arrangement of yellow delphinium and roses in a flat silver bowl. Silver coffee and tea services were placed at opposite ends of the table. The punch table, close by in the lounge, was laid with a white cloth arranged with maiden hair fern. White porcelain and gold containers held a similar bouquet.

Pointer Marries In Lake Forest

Grosse Pointe attention was drawn to Lake Forest, Ill., on Saturday. On that day Mary Elizabeth DeLong became the bride of William P. Harris III, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Harris Jr. of Windmill Pointe drive.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. DeLong of Lake Forest.

For her wedding in the Church of the Holy Spirit, Mary Elizabeth wore a gown of white silk trimmed with seed pearls at the shoulders. Her tulle veil was accented with point d'aleoncon lace, and she carried white orchids.

All the bridal attendants wore ice-blue taffeta gowns and wreaths of leaves in their hair. They included Elizabeth DeLong, maid of honor, and bridesmaids Ellen Bowers of New York; Janet Cook of Milton, Mass.; and Fanny Day Farwell, Emily Dixon, Clarissa Haffner and Cynthia DeLong, all of Lake Forest.

Bill's best man was Richard H. Turner. Guests were seated by H. Baird Tenney of Madison, Wis.; Thomas W. Cooke of Winnetka, Ill.; David Finney, Wyman D. Battrell Jr., Gari M. Stroh Jr., Richard A. Harris, and Charles C. Haffner III, Stewart M. Dixon and Henry T. Chandler, all of Lake Forest.

The wedding reception was held at the Onwentsia Club. Mrs. DeLong wore a chartreuse crepe floor-length gown and small tulle hat. Mrs. Harris was in grey crepe with a pink flowered halo hat. The young couple left for Hot Springs, Va., after which they'll spend August with Bill's parents at the Huron Mountain Club.

Among Pointers at the wedding were the Read Ryans, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hodges Jr., the Henry Munroe Campbells, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Williams and Berestford Palmer.

Mr. Fromius was graduated from Southwestern High School and served for several years with the United States Navy. No date has been set for the wedding.

McMahon-Church Vows Spoken

The home of the George Porter McMahons on Bishop road was the scene of the lovely ceremony which united the former Minnie Peck McMahon and William Henry Church in marriage Saturday.

Dr. Frank Pitt, minister of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, heard the couples' vows before the fireplace banked in white flowers. Only the two families and a few close friends were present.

Bill is the son of Mrs. Walter J. Church of New Orleans, La. Peckle, as she is familiarly known, wore a gown of silk satin in a mellowed ivory tone. Inserts of lace and delicate seed pearl beading trimmed the lovely dress which was fashioned with a fitted bodice and a full skirt extended into a long train. A Mary Queen of Scots cap of the same lace embroidered with pearls held the long veil of antique illusion in place. She carried a bouquet of orchids and stephanotis.

Lee McMahon, her sister's only attendant, wore yellow dotted Swiss designed with a fitted bodice and bouffant ruffled skirt which swept into a bustle at the back. Her headdress was a halo of deeper yellow daisies tied with velvet streamers. Her bouquet was yellow and white daisies combined with trailing ivy.

Charles B. Johnson Jr., a cousin of the bride, was best man. Mrs. McMahon was gowned in gray chiffon and wore pink orchids. Mrs. Church chose a long dress of aqua crepe, complemented by lavender orchids.

The couple left on their wedding trip to California after a small reception in the garden. They intend to visit San Francisco, Los Angeles and other coastal cities before going to their new home in New Orleans.

Classmates Attend Julia Walton Debut

Six Ogontz Junior College Girls Here as Houseguests of Popular Debutante; Plan Summer of Travel Visiting Friends

Assisted by six Ogontz Junior College classmates who are her house-guests this week, Julia Walton bowed to society on Saturday afternoon at a tea in the Oxford road home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Walton.

The pretty, dark-haired debutante received with her mother before the bay window of the Walton home, which was flanked by pedestals holding large vases of white delphinium, yellow roses and daisies. Julia's dress was of white organza a la Southern belle, and she wore a band of aqua in a corset effect. Her bouquet, the gift of her father, was of rubrum lilies, pink elfin roses and ivy.

Mrs. Walton chose an ice blue crepe dress with fitted bodice and side drape, cap sleeves and a cowl neckline. With it she wore a single deep fuchsia orchid. The six assistants, who were graduated from Ogontz in June, wore their summery "walking down stairs" gowns, which they first wore just before graduation in a college ceremony. Deb Julia presented them with rubrum lilies, which they wore in their hair. The six were Virginia Loeb of Rochester, N. W.; Tana Van Sciver of Philadelphia, Pa.; Peggy Goeltz of Sewickley, Pa.; Harriet Strom of Shaker Heights, O.; Florence Laineheart of South Palm Beach, Fla., and Lynn Jacobson of Grand Haven, Mich.

The deb was further assisted by Suzanne Sutherland, Virginia Arnold, Beverly Skillman and Nancy Landay. Aiding Mrs. Walton in her hostess duties were Mrs. Arthur D. Sutherland, Mrs. Lloyd Arnold, Mrs. David Sutter, Mrs. Phillip Skillman and Mrs. Edgar Flintermann.

The tea table decorations carried out the yellow-and-white theme, with a glass bowl holding yellow roses and white delphinium, flanked by silver candleabra in which white tapers burned.

Before the dinner-dance they gave Saturday evening at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, Mr. and Mrs. Walton were hosts at cocktails for the 45 young couples who were to attend.

Virginia Arnold entertained at luncheon for the deb and her houseguests at the Women's City Club on Tuesday and Suzanne Sutherland gave a terrace buffet for Julia on Monday evening.

The Ogontz seven are planning a summer of traveling, beginning this week-end, when they go to Grand Haven to be the guests of Lynn Jacobson. They'll also go to Asheville, S. C., to spend some time with Florence Laineheart, and Virginia Loeb, has invited them to her Rochester home. Tana Van Sciver will be their hostess in Philadelphia this September, just before school starts again.

Phyllis Jane Hartwell Wed To Herbert W. Hewitt, Jr.

At a double ring ceremony in Christ Church at 4 p.m. on Saturday, Phyllis Jane Hartwell became Mrs. Herbert Windham Hewitt Jr.

Phyllis is the daughter of the Harry T. Hartwells of Lincoln road and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Herbert W. Hewitt of Lincoln road and the late Dr. Hewitt.

The bride's gown was of white marquisette over taffeta, designed with a high, round neck. The gown was appliqued with seed pearls and satin flowers. A satin Juliet cap held in place Phyllis' scalloped fingertip veil of silk illusion.

She carried a white satin prayer book to which a white orchid was fastened.

Leone Camp, the bride's aunt, was her maid of honor. Acting as bridesmaids were Florence Hewitt, Herbert's sister; Joan Normile, Ruth Virginia Jones and Mary Louise Smith.

The honor maid and attendants wore identical dresses of petal pink tissue taffeta with buttons in back from neckline to bustle. Their satin Juliet caps matched the gowns and were trimmed with delphinium blue bows.

Leone carried pink carnations and delphinium with trailing philodendron, and the bridesmaids' bouquets were blue delphinium and philodendron.

Herbert's best man was Robert E. Milligan Jr. Henry F. Vaughan Jr., Sherwin B. French, Franklin B. Hovey of Muskegon and William E. Tyson of Adrian ushered.

Mrs. Hartwell's gown for her daughter's wedding was dusty rose French crepe, with which she wore a white milan straw crownless hat trimmed with rose satin, and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Hewitt chose turquoise crepe trimmed with matching lace. She wore a small pink flowered hat and a pink rosebud corsage.

A reception was held at the church in Miller Memorial Hall after the ceremony. The newlyweds left for a two weeks' motor trip through Canada and New England. Phyllis traveled in a powder blue gabardine suit, brown and white accessories. She pinned a white orchid to her suit.

PERSONAL APPEARANCES

AGATHA ANGELL looked as beguiling, (synonym—charming) as ever in a "town costume" of a black faille suit worn with the most adorable hat. This consisted of a tiny white sailor bound with a black ribbon and decorated by a soft pink rose standing upright on its stem, looking very jeune fille, just as its wearer always does.

Speaking of attractive black silk suits reminds us of one worn by EVIE JOHNSTON with a fetching cafe au lait straw, trimmed with moss green ribbon twined around large pale yellow roses, crowning her lovely golden locks.

Pretty GERTRUDE FORD, SENIOR, was seen recently wearing a pretty summer frock of that heavenly blue which matched her eyes. It was of the new "long short" length and was draped very becomingly over her petite hips.

PILFERINGS

Fancy his embarrassment department! Secretary of State Marshall's intimates chuckle every time they recall a recent dinner at which former Ambassador Joseph Grew rose to extol Marshall's virtues. "He wanted to retire when the war started," said Grew, "but he served until victory came. He wanted to retire again then, but responded when the President asked him to go to China. He wanted to rest when that mission was ended, but he assumed the Secretaryship of State. Now, all George Marshall wants to do is retire to his farm in Virginia with Mrs. Eisenhower." The audience howled, as did Mrs. Eisenhower, who was present. Realizing his slip, Grew hastily scribbled a note and rushed it to Mrs. Eisenhower. "My apologies to you and the General," it read. "Which General?" Mrs. Eisenhower asked with a smile.

Al Tolson could have augmented his income by $10,000 a week by appearing in a musical this past season were it not for his preference for the Florida sun in the winter months, according to Leonard Lyons. Tolson says, "No matter how bad things are—they always seem better with a sun-tan."

Once upon a time Al punched Lee Shubert in the nose. "I guess this winds him up with you, doesn't it?" the producer was asked that day. Shubert stemmed the flow of blood and shook his head. "Any man who makes a million dollars a year for me may punch me in the nose any time," he said.

WHO AM I?

"I am.....who sleep beneath these weeds,
Beloved in the life of Abraham Lincoln,
Wedded to him, not through union,
But through separation.
Bloom forever, O Republic,
From the dust of my bosom!"

Pointer of Interest

MRS. ALBERT C. SCOTT OF BUCKINGHAM ROAD.

By OLIVE H. HENRY

A gift from her grandmother of two choice lattice edge cake plates led Mrs. Scott's decision to have a collection of milk glass and for the past five years she has been adding to it. This has taken her into many of the "highways and byways" of our country, as she says that wherever she travels she makes it a point to stop at as many antique shops as time will permit. Mrs. Scott remarked that most antique dealers consider it a privilege to show their "collections" and are happy to have one look around free from any suggestions of salesmanship.

Included in her collection are a pair of mating tall vases, three lattice edge compotes having a design of pastel hand painted flowers, a small compote used to hold candy, a pair of graceful barber bottles decorated with a bouquet of hand painted flowers of delicate hue, a sugar bowl of the grape pattern and many fancy plates.

Mrs. Scott had an interesting experience this summer while visiting Northampton, Massachusetts. She attended an auction held in a small schoolhouse where an estate was being disposed of, and the townspeople, including Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, came for miles around bringing picnic lunches, preparatory to spending the day at the auction. She said that she went alone but that she did not feel that way for long as the people were so friendly, and she found that their common interest in antiques made them as one. She purchased six lattice edge salad plates of the forget-me-not pattern and two tooth pick holders decorated with hand painted floral designs which will make charming containers for small flowers.

Mrs. Scott says she has found in her own "antiquing" and other collectors agree, that experience brings discrimination and the desire to specialize. She is specializing in the covered dishes and among her collection may be found mostly animal designs including two rabbits, two docks, a lion, fox, owl, dog, swan, a number of chicken and a very rare piece a robin on a nest.

While motoring through Kentucky the Scotts were attracted to an old house which had been originally a toll house and was now occupied by a lady who had evidently met with reverses, as everything in the house was for sale. She had received offers from several well known shops in New York and Chicago for all of her possessions but she preferred selling directly, as she said she met so many interesting people that way and made so many friends. Mrs. Scott came away with an adorable little kerolene lamp of milk glass, and a jam jar which serves as an interesting container for philodendron. Mrs. Scott also has a collection of colored glass which is very lovely. An "end of the day" vase was especially appealing and I learned that it is so called, because at the end of the day, the glass blower takes all of the colors used during the day and creates one piece. The day this vase was fashioned he must have been "in the jink" as that is the predominating color with raspberry and red wine colors interspersed.

When the Scotts went to go stargazing they have only to look at the rare pieces of glass in the "moon and star" pattern Mrs. Scott has been fortunate enough to "pick up" as antique collectors say. One of the bowls is used for a floral centerpiece and the compotes flanking it are most attractive. Other pieces include goblets, small salt cellars, jam jar, celery dish, relish dish and four bowls of various sizes.

This collection came from all over the country, from northern Michigan to Texas, and Mexico is represented by a bread tray. Mrs. Scott feels that every piece is a reminder of a pleasant meeting with charming people and I am sure that every dealer whose shop she has been in feels the same way.

Roll tart pastry into a circle about 1/4 inch thick. Place on a tart pan, shaping up the edge to make a rim about an inch high to hold in the fruit. Prick the bottom of the pastry. Spread generously with applesauce and arrange thinly sliced raw apples on top. Sprinkle with powdered sugar. Bake in a moderate oven (350 to 375) 35 to 40 minutes, until crust is golden brown. When done spread top with apricot sauce.

Institute Gets Another Homer

The Detroit Institute of Arts announces the acquisition of an extremely charming and important oil painting, "The Dinner Horn" by the great American artist, Winslow Homer (1836-1910). The Detroit Institute now has four Homers in its collection, all gifts of D. M. Ferry Jr. In addition to "The Dinner Horn," there are two oils "Girl with Laurel" and "Prout's Neck," and a water color "Bahama Boatman."

"The Dinner Horn," painted in gay and intense colors, is 11 1/2 inches high and 14 1/4 inches wide. Edgar P. Richardson, director of the Detroit Institute of Arts, writes:

"Winslow Homer was not always the hermit painter of Prout's Neck absorbed in painting the power and the lonely grandeur of the ocean in pictures in which human beings played a minor part. The marine paintings with which his name in popularity associated were done after he settled at Prout's Neck on the Main coast at the age of forty-five.

"Before this time he had his studio in New York and had made his reputation as a painter of American genre. He was one of the best known American illustrators, interested in observing the parade of human life in the cities and summer resorts and on the farms of America. Descriptions of him in his early days show that he was also a rather gay and elegant young blade, always well dressed, and apparently fond of social life. He was sensitive also to feminine beauty. Children and young girls were prominent in his subject matter. "The Dinner Horn" is a masterpiece of this as yet little known phase of his work. It was painted in 1875, a year which appears to have been one of the happiest in his life. This picture shows not only the delicate precision of detail, the sense of light and atmosphere, the pristine freshness of his observation, but has a tone of cheerfulness and happiness that we hardly associate with his work.

"It is difficult to discern any difficult influences in his painting of this period. Homer was incapable of learning from others. He was developing his own vision of sunlight and atmosphere and of feminine beauty. There are the same subjects that interested DeGas in his early pictures, and the French Impressionists. He found his own way to paint these themes. This little picture, more somber and more naturalistic than the style of his European contemporaries, yet shows large simplicity in both conception and composition that foreshadows the monumental grandeur of his later work.

"Such a picture seems to evoke a whole period of American life on the farms of New York and New England, a period when life was simple and hard but had its own deep satisfactions and serenity."

By Josephine Wunsch

Remember the saying—"A mother can't wait until her child begins to talk, but once he starts, she can't wait until he stops."

The three year old's continuous mumble jumble of words is nerve wracking to the most understanding parent. From morning to night her darling bids for attention with, "Look, Mummy, see me hop . . . see me run . . . see me jump." Or plagues her with questions of "What's this?" "What's that?" "What doing, Mummy?"

Some mothers learn to close their ears to the ceaseless barrage. Others become completely exasperated with their young at the chatter stage. Such is the case of a stout lady I saw on her bus who banked her little boy over the head with the magazine she had been futilely trying to read.

"That" said mama, "is to learn you sometimes to shut up." But exasperating as a child's buy tongue can be, occasionally in the flow of words comes a gem of originality, of sweetness, understanding or humor that is satisfying reward to the mother who will take the trouble to listen.

Here are a few of the remarks made by my little daughter that I have not only chuckled over from time to time, but have given me a flash into the fascinating inner sanctum of a child's mind. Reaction on first spotting a convertible car . . . "Oh, Mummy, see the car with its head cut off!"

Eating a half-canned peach. . . "Just like a bird's nest with no eggs in it." Watching me do up my hair in bobbie pins. "Why do you always fix your hair in snarls?" When I cleared the walk of the season's first heavy snow. "What doing, Mummy, throwing all the snow away?" Commenting on the boy next door who refused to jump down from the porch. "He's a terrible poo-poo."

In answer to Daddy's remark about younger sister getting into a mess when feeding herself. "It's not nice for Daddy to call her Gooney-Louis when really she's our sweetiepie."

After her first session at Sunday School I found her out on the back porch, her arms raised up toward the sky, screaming at the top of her voice, "God, oh, God, where are you, anyway?" Never a day passes without at least one refreshing remark from a child. But no matter what you are in the midst of doing don't neglect to listen when your child comes to you with what he calls a "story". If you enjoy whimsy, be sure to write that first creative effort down. Here is the offering of my three-and-half year old.

If you're smart and I believe you are, you'll go to PEPPEY'S before the first of August, as they're having a clearance sale before they close the first two weeks in August. This offers an opportunity to get Christmas, birthday, anniversary, shower and "friendship" gifts most economically, and you know that your gifts are always pleasing if they come from Peppet's. Don't go on Saturdays during July as the shop is closed, but from Monday through Friday they'll be glad to serve you and you're always well served at PEPPEY'S.

Do you know what most of the people do when they go on their vacations? They turn over the keys of their homes to the QUEEN CLEANERS and arrange to have them take the carpets to be cleaned at their plant and for the expertly trained crew to come into the home to clean the rugs attached to the floor. This has been a most successful arrangement for many years, for all concerned. Obviously, nothing has ever been missed from any of these homes and Mr. Queen says that these men have been with him for years and are absolutely trustworthy. Should an accident occur, he is insured for breakage, but I only mention this to quiet your fears, as he has not had to collect ever on such insurance. Think of the joy of returning to a house with clean rugs without any inconvenience to the inhabitants. You can have this joy by calling the QUEEN CLEANERS, Fitzroy 4100.

It's vacation time at the STOCKHOLM RESTAURANT on Jefferson Avenue until August 5 but don't think that things are quiet there. Dear me no! There are more things going on than you can shake a stick at—but then who wants to shake a stick anyway? Alterations—redecorating—refurbishing and all that sort of thing. Mrs. Sigga Sjundsson, the well known owner, returned from her recent trip to Sweden with many unusual gadgets to make her restaurant more attractive than ever. The second floor will be available for private parties and this is good news for her public. So smorgasbord to you at the STOCKHOLM on August 5.

If you want to be "beautified" and well groomed in the BLANCHE AND CYRIL manner, and that's a very becoming manner, I might add—be yourself to their shop on Fisher Road, "Across from the Campus" before July 25, as the shop will be closed until August 4, when it will re-open with a competent operator at your service, and the full staff will be back to serve you in their competent manner August 11. During August the shop will be closed on Saturdays and July 19. Get out your date book and see what BLANCHE AND CYRIL can do for you!

On another page in this paper there's a girl "un in the clouds" over the NEW FRIGIDAIRE AUTOMATIC WASHER and she's had good reason to be. This washer is fully automatic, but also fully flexible. By adjusting the dial, any operation may be lengthened, shortened, repeated or skipped. Wish I could put plans for the day in this washer, and lengthen and repeat the pleasant ones and shorten or skip the other kind. Hi Ho—well back to the practical—this washer will blue, starch or bleach clothes exactly as you want; it's as flexible as a delightful disposition. In the automatic department you'll find that all you have to do is to set the dial—the washer fills with wash water—automatically—the clothes are washed clean in 10 minutes—automatically—the soapy water is spun out—automatically—fills with warm water for first rinse—automatically—rinses clothes with Live Water action—automatically—spins out water after first rinse—automatically—fills and rinses the second time—automatically—gives clothes final Rapid Spin—automatically. This dries clothes so that many may be ironed immediately. Then this modern marvel cleans itself out and shuts off—automatically—you can say "Bye Bye" to the washday blues when you have a Frigidaire Automatic Washer and the place to buy—is the GROSSE POINTE HOME APPLIANCE COMPANY on East Jefferson, near Beaconsfield, in the Whyte-Oldsmobile Building. Next week I'll tell you more, so keep your eyes on Pointe Counter Points.

Mrs. Thomas J. Feldman

The former LUCILLE RUSSELL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Russell of Neff road, was married Saturday morning, July 12, in St. Paul's Church, to Thomas J. Feldman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Feldman of Burns avenue. Ushers were Jack Breen and Bard Zimmerman, brothers-in-law of the bridegroom. Theodore Feldman was his brother's best man. Mrs. Thomas J. Offer was matron of honor and Mrs. Richard Sudz was bridesmaid. Betty Breen was flower girl.

The bride wore a floor length white marquisette gown with a full skirt and tight bodice trimmed with tiny covered buttons. It had a sweetheart neckline and full bishop sleeves worn tight at the wrists. Her tulle finger tip veil was covered with Spanish heirloom lace. She was given away by her father. There was a wedding breakfast for the party and immediate families followed by a reception for 200 guests at the Detroit Yacht Club. The young couple left by motor to spend their honeymoon at the Cavalier Hotel at Virginia Beach.

DEFLATION
Charles Marsack of St. Clair Shores reported to Farms police on July 13 that someone had let the air out of two tires on his car while it was parked in front of the Excello cafe on Mack. The cores had been removed from the valves.

DBC Boats to Seek Rowing Title

National Champs to Enter Eight 1947 Regatta Events

Crews Hopeful of Retaining Honors Won Last Year; Coach Al Schick Sees Promising Developments

The Detroit Boat Club, National Rowing champion of 1946, has announced it will enter eight events in the National Rowing Regatta which will be held on the Detroit River, July 18 and 19, off the Naval Armory. The DBC will be host club to this meet.

The entries include the senior heavyweight crew, which showed signs of being a serious contender by winning the Ecorse Homecoming Regatta, July 4, from three other strong river crews.

The other entries will be the senior 145-pound eight, intermediate eight, senior heavyweight four and coxswain, senior 145-pound four without coxswain, intermediate 145-pound doubles and heavyweight paired-oared.

Coach Al Schick has high hopes for his charges which he took over late in June after the hectic scramble caused by the resignation of veteran coach Judd Ross, who piloted the club to the 1946 championship.

DBC rowers squelched all rumors of dissension when they swept to an impressive three quarter length victory over Ecorse and Wyandotte in the feature event in the Ecorse regatta.

Lucky Breaks Give Pointe Boat Victory in Ford Race

A Grosse Pointe owned powerboat, Miss Peps, captured the Henry Ford Memorial Trophy race Saturday on the Detroit River. Miss Peps is owned jointly by the Dossin brothers, Walter, Roy and Russell. Roy lives at 787 Berkshire, Walter at 70 Vendome, and Russell at 805 Trombly.

Miss Peps, whose name was changed from the name of the beverage by orders of American Power Boat Association, was driven by Danny Foster and won on some very lucky breaks. In the first heat So Long, Jr., the pre-race favorite, was forced to quit in the third lap of the six lap race because of a very bad hole in the hull. Lou Fagel, pilot of So Long, Jr., just rounded the far turn by the Detroit Boat Club when he found the hole and immediately cut across the course and beached the boat at Memorial Park.

Dukie, owned by Tom and Howard Hughes went on to win the first and second heats. Miss Peps finished second in the first heat and ended up fifth in the second heat. In the latter heat Miss Peps did not start until twelve minutes after the rest of the boats.

Extra Inning Tilts Feature Sunday's Class B Contests

By JOE FROMM

In four Class B baseball games in the Grosse Pointe Woods Businessmen 5-4. Dovey Martens led off the tenth with a walk but was forced at second by Andy over Bob's Drugs. Two of the other games went into extra innings. North-east Harper Merchants won over Joe Mocerri in 14 innings and Gragg-Scherer defeated Grosse Pointe Woods Businessmen in 10 innings.

The other game, the nightcap of a double header between the two newest teams in the league, Joe Mocerri and Northeast Harper Merchants, was called at the end of the seventh because of darkness, with the score knotted at 6-6.

The first game of the only twin bill on the schedule was an exciting battle that went on for 14 innings and probably could have gone on forever except for some foolish errors by Joe Mocerri. Frank Merrit was on second base for Harper Merchants in an attempt to catch Merrit off base, threw the ball into center field, Merrit taking third. Right fielder Jim Evans retrieved the ball and threw to second baseman Ben Sideran. Sideran then, for no reason at all, tossed the ball to the shortstop, who was not expecting it, and it rolled by him. Merrit was quick to catch this slip and galloped home with the winning marker.

Murray Jordan started the game for Joe Mocerri and gave up 12 hits in the 13 innings he pitched. Ray Lingeman pitched the fourteenth and was the losing pitcher although his teammates made four errors behind him in the two-thirds of an inning. Ed Walters, who came into the game for Northeast Harper in the twelfth, was credited with the win. Joe Mocerri made only six hits but capitalized on fourteen walks. The game lasted four hours and 11 minutes.

The second game of the twin bill was started at 6:15 and went for seven innings before darkness intervened. At that time the score was tied at 6-6. Ed Walters, the pitcher who won the first game, started the second and gave up 10 hits. Northeast Harper Merchants scored all six of their runs off Bob Hopkins. Ray Lingeman came in the game in the third and held the Merchants without a score.

Many of the players on Northeast Harper Merchants play in the Labor League on Sunday morning at Northwestern Field in Detroit. Sunday they played a nine inning game at 10 at Northwestern and dashed out to Grosse Pointe as soon as that game was over and played 21

League Leaguers Find Tough Competition But Grab Wins

Tom Boyd and Grosse Pointe News Teams Hang on to First Place in Class E League; Ruck Fans 16 Batters in One Game

Tom Boyd and the Grosse Pointe News baseball teams continued to lead the Class E of the Grosse Pointe Baseball League last week but found tough competition from the other teams. Both the Boyd and News teams had to go extra innings a week ago Tuesday in downing Kiwanis and Grosse Pointe Valet respectively.

Tom Boyd and Kiwanis battled eight innings before Boyd became victorious 2-1 in what was probably the closest game of the year in Class E. Each team scored one run in the initial frame and from there on it was a pitchers' battle between Tom Boyd's ace right hander, Harry Edsall, and Kiwanis' new player, Ted Mumford.

Oddly enough both pitchers figured in the winning run being scored in the eighth. With two men out Edsall was hit in the left hand by one of Mumford's fast balls. Jim Schoeck then drew a base on balls from the obviously shaken Mumford. Edsall stole third. Dick Roland tapped a ball back to the pitchers' mound. Mumford picked up the ball and then dropped it again. By the time he had recovered the ball and thrown to first Roland had beaten it out and Edsall had scored.

Meek Coal Drops First Loop Tilt

Meek Coal & Service dropped from the undefeated ranks of the Neighborhood Club's men's softball league Wednesday by losing by a shutout score of 3-0 to Gabriel Richard.

In the other games last week Eugene's Show Bar swamped Kerb's Bar 14-2; Tire Service won a close one over 20th Century 3-2; Turners defeated Steiner Ford 8-2; and Saints dented Mt. Olive 9-3.

The Woods continued to lead the Metropolitan Baseball League standings by virtue of their 9-5 win over the Park Wednesday. The City moved from third to second by swamping the Shores 15-4 the same day. All games Friday were rained out.

Tom Anton and Whitey Helin supplied the offensive power for the losing Parks team. Helin drove in two runs with a home run and Anton drove in the other three with three singles.

Most of the runs scored by both sides in the City triumph were unearned. Al Bryant, the winning pitcher, gave up only three hits and Bob Green of the Shores gave up five.

In four Class B baseball games in the Grosse Pointe Woods Businessmen 5-4. Dovey Martens led off the tenth with a walk but was forced at second by Andy over Bob's Drugs. Two of the other games went into extra innings. North-east Harper Merchants won over Joe Mocerri in 14 innings and Gragg-Scherer defeated Grosse Pointe Woods Businessmen in 10 innings.

The other game, the nightcap of a double header between the two newest teams in the league, Joe Mocerri and Northeast Harper Merchants, was called at the end of the seventh because of darkness, with the score knotted at 6-6.

The first game of the only twin bill on the schedule was an exciting battle that went on for 14 innings and probably could have gone on forever except for some foolish errors by Joe Mocerri. Frank Merrit was on second base for Harper Merchants in an attempt to catch Merrit off base, threw the ball into center field, Merrit taking third. Right fielder Jim Evans retrieved the ball and threw to second baseman Ben Sideran. Sideran then, for no reason at all, tossed the ball to the shortstop, who was not expecting it, and it rolled by him. Merrit was quick to catch this slip and galloped home with the winning marker.

Murray Jordan started the game for Joe Mocerri and gave up 12 hits in the 13 innings he pitched. Ray Lingeman pitched the fourteenth and was the losing pitcher although his teammates made four errors behind him in the two-thirds of an inning. Ed Walters, who came into the game for Northeast Harper in the twelfth, was credited with the win. Joe Mocerri made only six hits but capitalized on fourteen walks. The game lasted four hours and 11 minutes.

The second game of the twin bill was started at 6:15 and went for seven innings before darkness intervened. At that time the score was tied at 6-6. Ed Walters, the pitcher who won the first game, started the second and gave up 10 hits. Northeast Harper Merchants scored all six of their runs off Bob Hopkins. Ray Lingeman came in the game in the third and held the Merchants without a score.

Many of the players on Northeast Harper Merchants play in the Labor League on Sunday morning at Northwestern Field in Detroit. Sunday they played a nine inning game at 10 at Northwestern and dashed out to Grosse Pointe as soon as that game was over and played 21

Kid Bits

By Mary Prevo

Hope your mind can skip from one thing to another with ease for I'm about to embark on a slight hodge-podge of news that came to my attention all in a rush!

MARGIE EMMERT is in Muncie, Indiana, enjoying a three-week stay with her grandparents—Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Emmert.

Summer isn't summer unless a portion of it is spent at camp, to many people's way of thinking! JANE KUHLMAN and JEAN WRIGHT have already been at Ogonitz White Mountain camp for two weeks, and they intend to spend the entire summer there in New Hampshire. Guess those two are having the time of their lives—their letters are as jolly as can be!

After graduation at Mt. Hermon prep school in New Hampshire, SKIP PARKER headed southward to spend a few weeks on Long Island at the family summer home before coming home.

RUTH JACQUES and NORMA NEEB entertained at a bridge luncheon on the 15th. The whole affair celebrated Ruth's 16th birthday. On the guest list were Carroll Grylls, Sheila MacRae, Susie Johnson, Meeky VanZanen, Barb Bauman, Merry Bauman, Janet Johnstone, Nancy Georgi, Jeanne Webb and Marty Fairless.

Mackinac Races Attract Pointers

The perennial popularity of the Mackinac races waned not a bit this year with vantage points from starting wells to the terminal island packed with wives and families of crew members and just plain spectators.

On the Persephone when she pulled out of her wall was Mrs. Frederick S. Ford of Windmill Pointe drive who, accompanied her skipper husband as far as Fort Huron. The terrace of their summer home at Gratiot Beach served as an admirable grandstand for the Nelson Schiffs of Cranford lane. Their guests, including Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hinchman and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon H. Woods, arrived in time to see the boats come into Black River and were also on hand for the start of the race.

Even closer to the excitement were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Harris in their cruiser "Seagull." On board were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Harris, Jr. Commodore Ward H. Peck had more responsibility than pleasure, and was hard at work keeping smaller craft clear of the starting line.

Many of the yachters' wives awaited their sailing spouses at the island to be on hand for the greatest excitement of all. Among those driving up were Mrs. Nelson Diebel of Touraine road and Mr. and Mrs. Henri Goebel of Kerby road.

Mrs. Charles F. Dudenhoft of Vendome road went up by train Saturday with Mrs. Theodore R. Buttrick of Ridge road. Dr. Dudenhoft co-skipped his craft, Medic III, with Ted White. Mr. Buttrick crewed on Soubrette, owned by Ledyard Mitchell Jr. of Kenwood road. Mrs. Mitchell, who is vacationing at Harbor Point, went over to the island for the all-important event. The Soubrette was one of several boats planning to cruise on into Georgian Bay after the race.

Pointe Yacht Club Set For Annual Splash Party

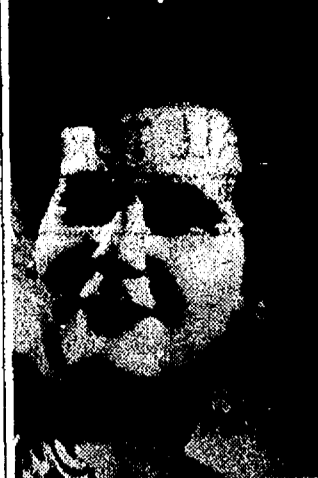

Focus of aquatic and entertainment interest for Pointers Saturday night will be the annual Splash Party at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Swimming will begin at 6:30 p. m. with several races and prizes for winning participants scheduled. An outdoor buffet supper will follow the pool party, weather permitting. Cold smorgasbord will be served around the flagpole with steaming lobster and roast beef on tables close by.

Outdoor dancing will begin at 9 p. m.

Among those planning to be on hand for the gala event are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene O'Keefe and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll M. Boutell of Ridge road. In their party will be their daughter, Ann Kamper, and her escort, Frederick Dardin, Katherine Bartheimer and Steve Debro.

Engaged

MISS JANE ELINOR LAMKINS, of Bedford road, whose engagement to Robert Lewis Dent, son of Mrs. C. R. Dent of Coplin avenue, has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Mertin B. Lamkins. The young couple will be married on September 5 at an evening ceremony in the Jefferson Avenue Methodist Church.

McKenzie Asks Preparedness

The United States must maintain its military forces at a high level to maintain its present position in the troubled world, Walter I. McKenzie, federal referee in bankruptcy, told members of the Grosse Pointe Rotary Club at their meeting Monday.

McKenzie, who has just returned after serving on the prosecution staff at the Japanese war crimes trials, said that Tokyo had suffered more from the war bombings than atom-blasted Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Eight-tenths of Tokyo was destroyed, McKenzie disclosed.

Jet Airplanes to Perform At Selfridge Open House

With Air Force Day on Aug. 1, 1947, Col. William T. Hudnell, 65th Combat Fighter Wing Commander at Selfridge Field has announced that there will be open house at Selfridge on the 1st and 2nd of August in observance of the 40th anniversary of the Air Forces.

Plans are now in progress for a spectacular aerial show with over 30 P-80 jet propelled aircraft of the 56th Fighter Group participating both days. Also included will be aerial formations and demonstrations put on by the Air Reserve Detachment and the Air Rescue Detachment of Selfridge Field.

A static display of the latest Air Force equipment will be available on the hangar line and in the hangars for the public to inspect. This will include the jet engine which has made such a radical change in the speed of the modern fighting aircraft. According to Col. Hudnell, every effort is being made on these two days to let the people see a fine air show.

Asks Change In Park's Zoning Law

Planning Consultant Reps Permissible Over-Crowding In Area

Alarmed at a tendency toward overcrowding in the two-family dwelling area between Trombley and Harcourt, J. Martin Frissel, planning consultant, suggested this week that Grosse Pointe Park change its zoning ordinance.

In his second report on his land use study, presented to the village commission July 14 by Manager Everitt Lane, Frissel pointed out that the present ordinance permits 42 families to the acre in the area.

Lane said that this limit would permit construction even greater than that in the area adjacent to the Detroit city limits, which is considered overcrowded.

Construction now is at the rate of 11 families per acre, the report disclosed. Lane suggested that even this rate would make the area out of harmony with the surrounding neighborhood. He suggested that the limit should be eight families to the acre.

In Frissel's report, the consultant suggested that the commission pass a stopgap ordinance amendment, either changing the area to a single-family district, like that surrounding it, or making it a sub-district of the two-family classification, limiting the number of units.

Lane announced that before the commission takes action on Frissel's study, a public hearing will be held at which real estate development interests can present their suggestions.

The commission will hold an executive committee session within the next two weeks to examine the progress of the planning study.

Lane also announced that traffic problems would be studied after a letter from Mrs. Richard Carl Hill, 1019 Maryland, was read to the commission. Mrs. Hill complained that the use of Maryland, a residential street, by Lake Shore buses constituted a traffic hazard.

Commission members noted that other complaints had been received of heavy traffic on Park thoroughfares. Lane said that the placing of additional traffic lights and stop signs would be considered.

The commission ordered special study of traffic conditions on Bedford between Essex and Jefferson.

Ask Cooperation On Sidewalk Job

The Village of Grosse Pointe Farms expects to start actual sidewalk construction on its general village-wide repair program about August 1.

During the month of July all property owners have been notified of defective walks and are permitted to make their own repairs in accordance with the sidewalk ordinance, which provided a 30-day period for this purpose.

All sidewalks which will be repaired starting August 1 will be done under a public contract between the village and Joe Longo Co. at a price to the property owner of 29c per square foot.

Construction will be started on Fisher road under this program and will be extended across the village in a northeasterly direction, completing one street at a time. It is estimated that the entire work will take at least a month and a half and all property owners who have requested the village to make their repairs should be able to approximate the time such repairs will be made by their relative location in the village with respect to Fisher road.

The cooperation of all residents is requested during the sidewalk repair program to assist in protecting newly constructed sidewalk children who are apt to mark up the surface before same has hardened.

Poem to Unborn Grandchild Wins Pointer Contest Prize

Winner of a "Great Expectations" contest sponsored recently by Dick Osgood's Show World program on radio station WXYZ, is Mrs. Fred Lake Moffat of 873 Washington road.

Mrs. Moffat contributed a poem entitled "To My Unborn Grandchild," which won the unanimous vote of Mr. Osgood and the three judges for the first prize of $100. It was awarded during a Show World program when Mrs. Moffat was interviewed. The poem follows:

TO MY UNBORN GRANDCHILD
What do I wish for you, dear small expected one?
An easy julsome life under a benign sun?
I wish you love of beauty, content in simple things,
Eyes to note a star or flower, ears to hear birds sing.
The blessed gift of laughter, some pride in your life work,
I hope your debt to God or mankind, you could never shirk.
Immunity from problems? Dear small one, not as all...
I pray yours be an understanding heart, to heed their call!
I wish for you a wiser world, living in brotherhood;
Its conflicts solved with reason, as ever now it should.
O darling child expected soon from heaven-far,
Yours is the task to heal the wound, repair the scar
With which a war-shocked, blundering universe awaits
A race of more enlightened men, and nobler fate.

Creamery Loses Water Cut Plea

A petition by the Sweitzer Creamery, 15202 Mack, for a reduction in its water rate was denied July 14 by the Park village commission.

Village Manager Everitt Lane, in recommending that the petition be denied, pointed out that the creamery was paying $1.42 per thousand cubic feet for water, compared with a public rate of $1.80.

This 21 percent reduction, Lane said, constituted approximately the difference in cost involved between supplying water to the creamery and to 60 homes, which would use an equivalent amount. During the discussion, it was brought out that the Sweitzer company had threatened to pipe water under Mack avenue and connect with the Detroit city water supply, thus depriving the Park of water revenue.

Opera Festival Plans Discussed

Plans for the annual Philadelphia La Scala Opera Festival were discussed at the meeting of the Women's Committee last week at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

The discussion was led by the three co-chairmen, Mrs. George H. Slocum, Mrs. Philip C. Baker and Mrs. Aliget to appear at the Festival, Oct. 13-19 in Masonic Auditorium, include Enzo Maccherini, Tagliavini and his wife, Pia Tassinari, Winifred Heidt, Ramon Vinay, Ugo Novelli, Violetta de Frettas, Walter Cassell and Rose Derardier.

Marguerite Kozenn (Mrs. Julius Chajes), who will sing the role of Nedda in "Pagliacci," was introduced by Mrs. Baker. Francesco Pelosi is manager of the LaScala company.

The tea was attended by Mrs. Gunner Kallstrom, Mrs. Bernard G. Koether, Mrs. Paul H. Lippold, Mrs. E. R. McDuff, Mrs. William John Parker, Mrs. H. C. Gilligan, Mrs. Frank H. Bohan and Mrs. Alfred H. Wittaker.

Others included Mrs. A. Y. Wilson, Mrs. Abraham Cooper, Mrs. Herbert Woodall, Mrs. Harold L. Richeson, Mrs. George Herbert Zimmerman, Mrs. William L. Sherman, and Mrs. A. Griswold Herreshoff.

More were Mrs. Frank F. Cooledge, Mrs. Lloyd G. Hooker, Mrs. George M. Gregory, Miss Helah Gregory, Mrs. Joseph S. Leszynski, Mrs. Lyle F. Runciman, Mrs. Julian Wolfner and her daughter, Nancy, and Mrs. Ernest F. Rossi who attended with her sister from New York, Miss Yolanda M. Zeffina.

Award Contracts On Coal, Trees

The contract for next winter's coal supply for the Park village was awarded by the village commission July 14 to the Sterling Coal Co., which bid $9.90 a ton.

The Sterling company, which had last year's contract, was the low of five bidders on the village's 250-ton supply.

Other bidders were the Mistele Coal Co., $10.85; Service Coal Co., $10.49; Detroit City Ice and Fuel Co., $11, and the R. F. Meek Coal and Supply Co., $11.54.

The contract calls for delivery by Oct. 1.

A contract for the trimming of 786 trees was awarded to the Greater Detroit Landscape Service, which bid $3,191. Other bidders were the J. D. Kendall Tree Service, $4,716, and the All-State Tree Expert Service, $6,985.

The commission decided to re-advertise for bids and hold a new contract bidding after only one bidder sought the job of resurfacing Berkshire from Jefferson to Windmill Pointe drive. The bid was submitted by the Cooke Contracting Co.

Deadline Aug. 1 On Vet Insurance

This is the last month for veterans to reinstate GI insurance without physical examination.

Veterans Administration officials issued this final warning this week while revealing that nearly two-thirds of Michigan's 800,000 veterans of World War II had dropped their national service life insurance.

Guy F. Palmer, manager of the Detroit Regional VA office, recalled that a majority of veterans of World War I also dropped their insurance when that war ended but added that, as years passed, a large percentage reinstated.

During this last month, VA offices throughout the state are authorized to reinstate lapsed policies on payment of only two monthly premiums and a statement of prevailing good health. Physical examinations will be required after Aug. 1.

Under the amended National Service Life Insurance Act, the veteran may name any person of his choice as his beneficiary. Lump sum payments and total disability benefits are also included.

Double Incentive For Grace Party

Cocktail parties were the order of the day last Sunday when Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Grace Jr. entertained with a double incentive.

Number one was the presence in town of the Francis Jones' of Colorado Springs, Colo. who are visiting Mrs. Jones' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cheslie E. Parrish of Hillcrest road. The two families spent Saturday at the Parrish's Old Club cottage, returning in time for the party. The event was also a housewarming for Ted and Corinne Grace's new home on Lannoo road.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Berry, of Lakeview Court, were also hosts at a cocktail gathering, theirs in honor of the first wedding anniversary of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Silliere of New York. The young couple will sail today on the SS South American for a five-day cruise to Georgian Bay. On their return, they will be with the Berrys until July 27 when they will go back East.

Flood Causes Cars to Crash

In addition to all the other damage done by the severe storm of last Friday afternoon, an automobile crash was caused by floods on Grosse Pointe boulevard.

James Sweeney of 845 Neff road, driving his Ford west in front of 185, stopped suddenly when he was confronted by the flood. His car was hit in the rear by a Cadillac owned by Clarence H. Booth of 63 Cloverly road and driven by Ewing Crouch, chauffeur.

Frank Knoepfel of 2592 Chalmers, a passenger in the Sweeney car, hurt his neck and was taken to Cottage Hospital for x-rays when it was thought he might have dislocated a vertebra.

Both drivers were given tickets for reckless driving. Damage to the Cadillac was estimated at $100, and to the Ford at $25.

Police Find Small Boy's Bonfire Out, Lad Gone

Mrs. Emil Leidich, 1409 Harvard, called Park police July 10 to report that a small boy had built a bonfire in a vacant lot near her home.

When Patrolman Conlan arrived on the scene, the fire was out and the boy gone.

Episcopal Guild Planning Benefit

Members of the Women's Guild of the Detroit Episcopal City Mission will work throughout the summer setting the stage for the success of their Annual Fall Benefit.

The 1947 version of this yearly party will be a dessert bridge to take place on Oct. 29 at Kern's auditorium.

Mrs. Wilfred Chick, Guild president, has appointed Mrs. Clyde M. Adams as general chairman in charge of arrangements.

Proceeds from this annual benefit are used to help fulfill the Guild's pledge to the Mariner's Mission and also in other directions where needed.

Mrs. Adams' committee chairmen include Mrs. A. Douglas Jamieson, in charge of tickets; Mrs. Ernest G. Davis, hostesses; Mrs. James B. Ogden, patronesses; Mrs. E. B. Reichert, prizes; Mrs. W. C. Johnson, dessert, and Mrs. George E. Sheldrick, publicity. Mrs. W. B. Taylor is Guild treasurer.

A Lakeshore bus, driven by Arthur R. Frank, 2103 Harding, and an auto driven by Melvin G. Kehr, 3954 Chalmers, Detroit, collided July 11 at Jefferson and Maryland.

Both drivers were given tickets to appear in police court July 23.

Shubert Books Sylvia Sidney

By virtue of special permission from the William Cagney studios, with whom she is under contract, Sylvia Sidney has been enabled to desert Hollywood for a brief period to make a stage tour in Maxwell Anderson's stirring and provocative drama "Joan of Lorraine" which was one of the top-grossing hits of the recent New York season. Miss Sidney and "Joan" open July 28th at the Shubert Lafayette.

From the east where Miss Sidney is holding forth in the Anderson opus, comes reports that she is covering herself with glory both as the Maid of Orleans and as the actress who impersonates her. Her magnificent performance and Mr. Anderson's stimulating play combine to make "Joan of Lorraine" an ennobling experience in theatergoing. It is an extraordinary plea for faith among men, and it contains a remarkable tribute to womanly sanctity at a time when the world at large is inclined to sneer at it.

Veterans engaged in hazardous civilian occupations are covered by the full amount of their G. I. insurance with no extra premium charge, according to VA.

Responsibility, like tonic, must be taken daily to assure results.

A heart-to-heart talk can avoid a hand-to-hand conflict.

Man Found Dead On Cartage Van

Andrew Parent, 52, of 2985 Grand River, Detroit, was found dead on a truck on which he was working as a helper in front of 2009 Van Antwerp last week.

Walter Raymond, 29, driver of the truck, found Parent dead when he stopped to unload the truck. Death was believed due to a heart attack.

Raymond said that Parent had not eaten all day and had had several drinks. Fred Scheel, personnel manager for the Detroit Terminal and Cartage Co., owners of the truck, told Woods police that Parent had been ill.

Plane Flies Low Over Residences

Two Woods residents complained to village police last week that a seaplane which they reported flying low over their property July 6 was swooping close to their homes again.

The complainants were K. M. Riechle, 641 Hamilton, and A. E. Bettley, 680 Hampton. The numbers on the plane, as reported by both residents, were NC-8150K.

STUDY SCOUT CAR BIDS
Bids by Alfred Steiner and Al Long, Ford dealers, for the sale of three police cars to the village were referred to the police commission because the bids were not clear as to what accessories were included.
