

Schweikart Seen as Next Chairman of Supervisors

Appointment as Acting Chairman During Important Session Indicates Pointer Is Slated For Spring Election

Election of Carl Schweikart, Grosse Pointe township supervisor, as chairman of the County Board of Supervisors next spring as acting chairman during the budget session.

Schweikart was designated by this year's chairman, Detroit Councilman William A. Comstock, to preside in his place while Comstock was out of the city.

The chairmanship is given for three years to a Detroit supervisor, then for one year to an out-county man.

Detroit has had the chairmanship for the last three years and it is now the turn of the outlying areas.

The meetings over which Schweikart presided were the most important of the current session.

Wants Farms Pier Permits Restricted

Tighter restrictions on issuing of Grosse Pointe Farms pier permits were recommended by a resident of the village attending a meeting of the Farms Recreation Committee in the village hall Monday night.

Gerald Arthur Keating of Oak street, who made the recommendation, had previously criticized various aspects of the park and pier facilities. He was given a special invitation to attend Monday night's session of the committee and submit his recommendations.

He also suggested that insignia be worn by all life guards and attendants to make their identification easier; that additional sanitary rest rooms be provided in the bath house; and that more picnic tables and benches be obtained before the 1948 season.

Mr. Keating stated that the privilege exercised by Pier Superintendent Theodore Beaupre, of issuing verbal instructions to pier attendants to admit non-residents in the park, should be revoked.

He also asked that a complete and up-to-date list of courtesy pier permits to be issued for the 1948 season, be prepared, and that the list should be submitted for councilmanic approval and kept on file in the village offices for inspection by any resident.

The committee is composed of Trustees Neil McEachin, chairman; William G. Kirby and Harry Hubbard, Clerk; Harry Furton, Commissioner of Public Works; Murray Smith and Mr. Beaupre were also present at the meeting.

The committee announced it will study Mr. Keating's recommendations and report on them individually at the regular meeting of the village council scheduled for November 17.

Shifting our responsibility can make democracy lose balance.

Death Takes Dr. A. L. Legro

World-Famous Dentist Succumbs in Touraine Road Home After Illness

Dr. Albert Leland Legro, 72, one of the world's leading authorities on dental ceramics, died early Saturday in his home at 165 Touraine, Grosse Pointe Farms.

Dr. Legro, who retired last April, suffered a heart attack in May in California. He was brought home and was apparently recovering fully until he suffered a slight relapse three weeks ago. He had apparently gained in health again, however, and entertained guests at dinner Friday night.

Funeral services were held Tuesday in the Hamilton Funeral Chapel in Detroit and burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery.

Dr. Legro became internationally recognized as an authority on porcelain dentistry after publication of his book, "Ceramics in Dentistry," in the 1920's. The book has been used as a dental text throughout the world and was translated into a number of foreign languages.

A large number of other textbooks and papers were written by Dr. Legro in the years that followed. He was called upon to lecture at universities and dental forums throughout the United States, Europe and Latin America.

Dr. Legro served at one time as president of the Michigan State Dental Society and of the Detroit District Dental Society. He was a member of the state board of dental examiners from 1904 to 1907. He received honorary degrees from a number of universities.

During the recent war, Dr. Legro headed the dental division of the OGD in the Detroit area and made recommendations to the army dental corps on how many dentists should be inducted to serve and how many left to service the civilian population.

Dr. Legro was past grand master of the Detroit chapter of Delta Sigma Delta, dental fraternity, a fellow of the International College of Dentists and the New York Academy of Dentistry, and a member of the American Society of Dentistry of Argentina, the Sociedad Odontologica de Valparaiso, Chile, Omicron Kappa Upsilon, dental honorary fraternity, and the American Dental Association.

Born in Suison, Cal. in 1885, Dr. Legro attended the University of California and was graduated in dentistry from the University of Michigan in 1898. Before coming to Detroit, he practiced at Athens and Three Rivers. Dr. Legro maintained an office in Detroit for 40 years, first in the old David Whitney Building and, for the last 30 years, in the present structure.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Golden Filer Legro, the noted dentist is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Robert W. Scripps; a son, Filer; a brother, Frederick, of Miami, and two sisters, Mrs. Robert Sherman and Mrs. Vernon Downs of California.

Our problems are great because we aren't.

Public Schools Called Pointe's Biggest Industry

The Grosse Pointe school system is the biggest industry in the community," President Bert H. Wicking of the Board of Education told the Richard School P.T.A. at its first meeting of the school year. A total of 508 parents turned out for the meeting held in the school.

The operating budget of the Pointe public schools is nearly a million and a half dollars, Mr. Wicking said. A staff of 350 is employed to guide the education of more than 5000 children.

President Wicking introduced John R. Barnes, superintendent with a record in the Pointe has been particularly fortunate in having strong school superintendents. He said when Dr. Paul L. Essert resigned this year, it was the unanimous opinion of the board that Mr. Barnes, through his long experience in the Pointe school system, was the best qualified candidate to become the new superintendent.

Mr. Barnes told of the serious problem which has confronted the schools in the matter of teacher turnover. He blamed this on the difficulty the teachers have in getting housing in the Pointe. Progress on the new Vernier School was reported, as were plans for the new Kerby School.

The superintendent urged the parents to take a greater interest in the schools and to vote at all school elections.

Treasurer Goodnow of the Richard P.T.A. reported a balance of $494 in the treasury. Mr. Douglas made a recommendation that the school go back to a savings plan for the pupils, similar to the one developed during the war years.

Discussion Group Devotes Month to Pointe Problems.

The Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church Discussion Group is devoting the month of November to purely local affairs. The public is cordially invited to attend these sessions.

On Sunday, November 9, the subject to be discussed will be "The Sewage and Drainage Disposal Problem in Grosse Pointe." Murray Smith, engineer and Commissioner of Public Works for the Village of Grosse Pointe Farms will be the speaker.

The meeting will be held in the Church House, East Jefferson at Rivard, at 8 p. m. Mrs. A. Boynton Hartz is chairman of the group.

On November 23 the group will take up the discussion of the possibility of unifying the five Grosse Pointes under a single administration. As this has been a very controversial subject,

Little Confirms Lab Rebuilding

Dr. Clarence Cook Little, director of the Roscoe B. Jackson Memorial Laboratory for cancer research at Bar Harbor, Me., confirmed this week his previous intimations to Grosse Pointe donors that the fire-damaged building would be rebuilt immediately.

Dr. Little said that the world-famed laboratory, burned down in Maine's first fires, would remain at Bar Harbor. He said funds would have to be raised for the construction but expressed confidence that they would be in view, of offers already received. Last week's Grosse Pointe NEWS revealed for the first time the plans for rebuilding the laboratory. It had previously been believed that the research work might be moved elsewhere, possibly Detroit.

Dr. Little also appealed to institutions which had received pedigreed mice from the Jackson laboratory to return some of them so that the clinic could replenish the strains built up for 30 years. The NEWS disclosed last week the existence of these loaned mice. It had previously been believed that the strain was wiped out in the fire.

The Jackson laboratory was founded by Mrs. John J. O'Brien of Grosse Pointe in memory of her first husband, the late Roscoe B. Jackson. Original funds were provided by Mrs. O'Brien, the late Edsel Ford and R. H. Webber.

The estates of Mrs. Ford, the O'Briens and the Ernest Kanzlers at Seal Harbor were saved as the fire on Mt. Desert Island was diverted.

Pankow Honor'd By Yacht Club

John C. Pankow of Grayton road, Grosse Pointe Park, was elected commodore of the Detroit Yacht Club at the 71st annual meeting of the club Monday night, Nov. 3. The election and business session was followed by a buffet supper to the members.

Other officers elected were: Cletus J. Welling, vice-commodore; Sydney W. Warner, rear commodore; Dr. R. D. Amen, Edwin O. Bodkin, P. J. Darnell, Walter J. Dossin, George A. Gardella, Murray V. Knapp, John W. Mulford, directors for two year terms; Harry W. Short, director for one year term. Mr. Bodkin is the retiring commodore of the club.

County Repairs Pointe Sea Wall

The Wayne County Road Commission has been carrying on a Save the Sea Wall campaign along Lake Shore road. Those piles of rock and clay which have been desecrating the landscape along the drive for the past week were part of the program.

The unusually high water this year, churned up by frequent high winds, has been pounding over the breakwater and gradually eroding the lawn and soil behind the wall. To curb this action it was necessary to fill in with the rocks and clay.

The repair work is all far down under the lawns that border the roadway and is not visible from the drive.

Old settlers say the waters of Lake St. Clair rise and fall in regular cycles, covering about nine years each. According to them, the high water peak was reached this year and there should be a gradual lowering of the lake level for a number of years.

They recall the season about nine years ago when Jefferson avenue, up near Selfridge Field, was inundated, most of the Summer, and it was necessary to pump out the water and dike the fields.

Teen-Ager Wins Grinnell Contest

Winning over 8,000 other contestants, a teen age school girl took first prize in Grinnell's "Why I Like Music" contest.

Kate Kelley, 18, of Birmingham, Michigan, wrote the 50 word essay selected as tops by a committee composed of J. D. Callaghan, Russell McLaughlin, and Harvey Taylor, music editors of the Detroit Free Press, Detroit News, and Detroit Times respectively.

Early this week Grinnells installed a $1175.00 luxury radio-phonograph in the Kelleys' home at 230 West Brown, Birmingham—awarded for the sincerity and striking originality that made Kate's entry outstanding.

A genuine music lover, Kate belongs to two Birmingham High School clubs: the Classical Music Club that meets once a week to play records, and the Junior Musicale. The latter is a group of boys and girls who meet weekly to play instruments for each other. Kate is an able performer on both violin and French horn. In addition she plays French horn in her High School Band.

Second prize, a television set, was won by Dr. Ruth Berkman, 65 West Hancock. A husband and wife team, Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Moss, 4555 West Boston, wrote the third place entry and Sanford Odhner, 605 Edison, was fourth. Grinnell's awarded 61 other prizes to contestants to celebrate their 1947 Radio and Television Fair.

John Hogan, resident of Parkside Project, ex-policeman who lost his eyesight in the strike riot of 1937, was one of the winners. A tear gas bomb was thrown in Mr. Hogan's face, causing total blindness. He is now in New York undergoing the third operation in an attempt to recover his eyesight. Mrs. Hogan operates the concession located in the lobby of the Detroit Police Department headquarters.

Auto Thieves Make It Easy For Law, Take Unique Car

Detroit police had little difficulty finding a station wagon stolen Sunday from Ray M. Whyte, 741 Trombly, on the basis of a description given them by Park police.

The car, the police report said, was the only 1947 green Chevrolet station wagon in the Detroit area. The auto was recovered by the Detroit police the next day at the rear of 254 Manistique, Detroit.

Police believed the car was stolen for a joyride by youths who did not realize that it stood out like a pair of ice skates at a roller rink.

The station wagon was stolen from in front of Whyte's home

The goal of the campaign is $150,000, the minimum, needed, according to Mr. Runkle, to carry on the work of the Society during the coming year.

English VIII Course Called School's Most Stimulating

poetry, drama, fiction, prose, and non-fiction-prime. The students read samplings of each type on a basis of their own choice. Individual work assignments consist of historical background reading, learning the basic facts about non-English and American writers, reviewing knowledge of the literary form under discussion, choosing selections for individual reading, taking notes on historical material and works of authors studied, preparing critical analyses of literary examples, and preparing to give oral reports to the class on special reading topics.

St. Paul SSTS Organization Doing Fine Job for School

At Saint Paul High School there is an organization which was begun September 1945, called the S. S. T. S. (Students' Spiritual and Temporal Senate). This organization functions daily and it is run by the students under the direction of one moderator and several advisers. The object of the senate is to tie all student activities together into one unit, with the purpose of developing self-expression, leadership, spirit of democracy and a God-consciousness in every day life.

civic bureau made up of boys and girls of the senior class who wear the monitor badge. The chairman of this section is aided by the representatives in the various civic duties of the school. Authority has been delegated to the students of this committee to give blue tickets for minor offenses and orange for major breaches of the civic laws.

The seventh hour at Saint Paul's is an added period called the "opportunity hour," during which time a different activity is carried on each day. The S.S.T.S. has a monopoly on Fridays. It is during this period that the different bureaus of the unit have the opportunity to function at a general assembly. The opportunity period provides for the curricular subjects—lectures, programs, assemblies, etc.

Another important committee is the host and hostess club, whose duty it is to collect and check attendance slips, answer the telephone and to greet guests who might come into the building. This group also takes care of minor administrative duties while the principal is on supervisory visits to the various class rooms.

Social activities in the school are under the jurisdiction of the general social chairman and her representatives; namely, the social chairmen of the different classes. They sponsor the informal dances which take place in the school, and other social activities. All bureaus of the organization are behind the annual all-high Sodality ball which is the major social event of the year.

The propagation of the faith year is the first project of the year. They collect food and clothing for people who are in want and ask for help. They also give assistance to the far-away mission fields in other lands.

a month to pray the Office of the Blessed Virgin. Every meeting opens in the conventional way: calling the meeting to order, prayer, the minutes, a salute to the cross and to the flag, singing of the sodality song, mental prayer etc. After this, the chairman calls on each major officer; then on each of the key chairmen to state their business. Sometime one bureau takes over completely. At other times the major officers conduct the whole meeting.

The last is especially important as assignments are handed in at much longer intervals than most students are previously accustomed to; therefore the student must keep up-to-date in order not to have his work accumulate and infringe on his other commitments.

Through a questionnaire it was found that the students look forward to these S. S. T. S. gatherings. They stated that it gave them a close family feeling and that they were united as one big class. Many boys and girls said they liked the organization because it gave so many a chance at self expression. Some said that it created school spirit and school unity. Others added that the younger ones and older students, too, learned a great deal from the panels, symposiums, forums, and debates.

Here are typical comments made by past students: "Vast new worlds in literature have been opened to me, and I know I'll be the rest of my life exploring these fascinating and beautiful worlds." "English VIII has trained me best in organization of thought, and Get Away with It All—when we chanced on that full page ad in Town & Country. It read:

"Best Cattle Ranch in Nevada. 4,000 Head Capacity. The 'Cyclone Cellar' for the Tax Weary. No State Income Tax. No Inheritance Tax. No Gift Tax. No Tax on Intangibles. No Corporation Tax. Courts Not Cluttered. Estates probated in a Few Weeks."

Obviously, the Promised Land in a new location. Not only is Nevada the paradise for women wanting to hang up a sign "Not Responsible for Husbands After 30 Days," but it now seems to be the "Cyclone Cellar" for gentlemen who if they Can't Take It With Them, can at least Leave It All Behind. There is only one little drawback to this Advertisement for Arcady. It read:

TOTAL PURCHASE PRICE, $502,500.00.

Perhaps one could send them the $500 as a low down payment and pay off the mortgage, come the millennium. Or one could take the attitude of the hobo who, when someone was trying to sell him a prize junk yard for $5,000, mildly inquired, "If I had $5,000, what the devil would I want with a junk yard?"

Quite contrarily, we began wondering and wandering in search of less costly "Cyclone Cellars" nearer the home grounds. With everyone either Fiddling While Rome Burns—or Burning While Rome Fiddles—surely one can—and must—find some cozy little Utopia.

This contrary treasure hunt for sweetness and light was spurred on by a rather startling little item to the effect that seats for Arthur Hammerstein's "Allegro," New York's new musical play, are now selling in advance to April, 1948. In fact, Mr. Lawrence Langer of The Theatre Guild felt impelled to make a public explanation for the scarcity of "Allegro" tickets. The advance ticket sale, he says, now stands at the unprecedented figure of $750,000.00. This means that about 250,000 persons, already hold tickets. It means that 75,000 mail order requests for balcony seats alone have been taken care of. It also means, as he charmingly hopes, that if you wait long enough you will get exactly what you wish and see the show.

The point is EVERYBODY WANTS TO SEE THIS SHOW CALLED "ALLEGRO." EVERYBODY WANTS TO BE HAPPY—IF ONLY IN A THREE HOURS FLIGHT OF FANCY IN THE THEATRE.

And what about Arthur Hammerstein? Is he merely one of those Lucky Lads, led by the fairies to find the pot of gold in his own inkwell? Oh no, kiddies. Arthur Hammerstein is the man, who in the treacherous thirties, had Broadway littered with flops like broken electric light bulbs. So what did he do? He inserted a vast ad in Varley reading: "I DID IT BEFORE—AND I CAN DO IT AGAIN."

Without benefit of Cyclone Cellar, he's been doing it ever since. One of those dreamers who works on the day shift.

With this saga of warm-hearted, cold-headed confidence zig-zagging through our mind, our stroll was stopped by an incredible sign in the window we were passing. A Woolworth window, it was, and the sign read "Silk Scarfs at $1.49." Well, not being one to let anyone pull the Woolworth over our eyes, we entered the Temple of Razzle Dazzle. The Silk Scarfs were there, all right. And not only the scarfs intrigued us. Nor the counters of blindingly brilliant alleged jewels. Nor the anesthesia of the perfumes from some Arabian Palace. Nor the lady demonstrator, exhibiting the new chemical set of finger-painting for future Picassos. Nor the sparkling pyramids of pastel cosmetics for ambitious Cinderellas. The thing that impressed us was that the people sauntering those aisles actually looked contented. They looked healthy, happy and hopeful in a way that was downright inspiring. In fact, as we were leaving, we turned back for a long look at the Grande Dame who was entering. She had pompous white hair and a face like Lady Mendli's. Her black dress was luxuriously long. And across her shoulder was a five-skin scarf of what looked like sables. Maybe they weren't sables, but as long as she liked them, what was the difference.

We hit the street again. Our search for the Cyclone Cellar ended. We know now, it existed only in one's own mind and heart.

These Fortunate Folks knew nothing of Town & Country. They knew only that they liked their Town—and loved their country. So they didn't need to run for any Cyclone Cellar.

PERSONAL APPEARANCES

Saw Mrs. Yates Smith looking trim and well in a suit of blue and grey material such as is used in men's suits. Her grey upturned felt hat was most becoming, with its little grey and white wings flying up in the front. The brown alligator shoes and bag added to the well tailored look.

Mrs. Daniel W. Goodenough looked as youthful and cute as ever when seen wearing a Hunter's green and white checked wool suit. The cream silk blouse had interesting gold buttons and the suit jacket had epaulettes of solid Hunter's green wool.

Mrs. Richard W. Jackson's gypsy good looks are always dressed in the smartest fashion. Recently, she was seen in an unusual costume. The brown and yellow striped silk blouse was worn with a brown wool skirt; a canary yellow short wool coat was thrown about her shoulders. A matching note was the canary wool yarn tying her hair in a knot at the back.

PILFERINGS

Thanks to L. L. Costume Department—Tara Pandit, daughter of the Indian delegate to the United Nations, visited her mother at the Ritz. In the elevator she met a striped-trousered Englishman, who said to her "Miss Pandit, you look lovely in your native costume." Miss Pandit replied: "So do you."

Some veteran vaudevillians were discussing the distant places in which they've trouped and the degrees of hospitality accorded the travelling entertainers in foreign lands. One of them told of a dancer booked to entertain before the Sultan of Johore. The members of the country club set there were aloof to the dancer and never invited her to any of the club activities during her stay. The Sultan of Johore heard of this and decided to teach them a lesson. He waited until nightfall, then ordered that his gardener, assisted by a sufficient number of workers, immediately start transplanting 18 thick trees so that by morning those trees would be deeply implanted on the 18 holes of the golf course.

Jacques Peals, the husband of the famous Lucienne Boyer, who has been appearing at Cafe Society in New York was asked: "What's another French word for 'love' besides 'amour'?" To a Frenchman, he replied, "love is not a word. It's a program."

Pointer of Interest

MRS. CHARLES WRIGHT, JR. OF BEVERLY ROAD

By Olive H. Henry

About twelve years ago, Mrs. Wright and her family were spending their summer vacation at Mullet Lake. One day, while writing a letter, her attention was diverted by the children swimming and playing on the dock and she included sketches of them in her letter, to illustrate her story of their activities. This was her first attempt at sketching from life.

As long as Mrs. Wright can remember, she has been interested in color. She says that the color of autumn leaves has always fascinated her, and she can recall as a child, studying one leaf for hours, and attempting to reproduce it. When she decided to study art, she went first to George Fisher, with whom she studied charcoal drawing for one winter. Later she studied under Sarkis Sarkisian at the Society of Arts and Crafts, three mornings each week for three years. Two of the years were spent in charcoal drawing and she attended summer classes, where she had her first introduction to painting.

For several months during the summers she studied with Weyman Adams at Elizabethtown in New York state, where she worked in oil, portraiture mostly. She also studied for a short time with David Friedenthal at the Alger House Museum.

Mrs. Wright is a member of the Grosse Pointe Artists Association, has been a treasurer several times. At present is serving as the vice-president, which office she has held for two years. She has exhibited at their annual shows for the past four years and been awarded several ribbons and prizes, including the Agnes Lindeman prize, which she won this year for her "Cobalt Blue," a flower study in oils. "Miss Penny" an oil portrait of a little girl also excited much admiration.

The Michigan Painters' exhibition held annually at the Detroit Institute of Arts has shown Mrs. Wright's paintings twice and she exhibited a lithograph at Elizabethtown in a local show.

Mrs. Wright is on the Lay Jury of the Detroit Artists Market and a member of that society, on the board of the Protestant Children's Home and a member of the following clubs, Garden Club of Michigan, Little Garden Club, Junior League of America, and the Founders Society of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Mrs. Wright is very reticent about her work and it required much persuasion before this interview was granted as she feels that her work does not warrant it. She told me that she likes working in oil best and prefers portraiture and floral studies. She told of her first flower painting, she had spent a great deal of time making an artistic flower arrangement and when the painting was completed, she was very much disappointed in it. She took it to her teacher, Sarkis and explained how carefully she had made the floral arrangement and his rejoinder was: "It looks ill!" Since that time she has not wasted time on precise arrangement, but thought more of the play of color and mass arrangement.

Mrs. Wright enjoys playing with watercolors and sketching landscapes that have particular meaning for her. When travelling she always sketches points of interest and then re-visits them whenever looking at the sketches. She likes also to work from imagination but says she must feel whatever she is interpreting.

Mrs. Wright's innate modesty is borne out by her never having signed her work. She says that she does not feel that she is good enough, nor has she yet found her individual style.

Could the paintings speak for themselves, other than the beautiful way in which they now do, I am sure that they would be proud to be identified with Mrs. Wright.

Good Taste

Contributed by Mrs. Emmet F. Connelly CHOCOLATE RUM PIE

- 2 Cups scalded milk
- 4 egg yolk
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 1/4 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 1/2 squares chocolate
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 tablespoon gelatin
- 4 tablespoons cold water
- 4 egg whites
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1 cup of whipped cream
- 1/2 square of chocolate

Combine the milk, egg yolks, sugar and cornstarch and cook for 20 minutes stirring occasionally until it becomes a thin custard. To a cup of custard add the chocolate squares and vanilla and pour into a cooked pie crust. Blend and add to the remaining custard the gelatin and water. Let this mixture cool but not get too thick—next beat the egg whites and sugar into meringue and fold into the custard adding the rum and cream of tartar. As soon as the custard already in the pie crust has set, add the second mixture and chill until firm. Serve with a topping of whipped cream garnished with chocolate slivers.

Explorer-Writer To Give Lecture

How he braved the Amazon jungles to find material for his latest book, "Vain Shadow", will be told by Hartzell Spence at Detroit Town Hall, Wednesday morning, November 12. The author will speak at 11 o'clock in the Fisher Theatre.

Spence wrote three successful books, two of which were made into movies. Frederic March and Martha Scott starred in the cinema version of "One Foot in Heaven" his first best-selling novel. Later, "Radio City" was made into a film.

After war began, the writer became a Captain, helping to found "Yank", the Army weekly. He later joined General Arnold's Army Air Force Staff in Washington.

For three years, Spence explored the Amazon jungles, going down to the Straits of Magellan in search of exciting adventures.

"FURS BY ROBERT" label in your coat emphasizes its elegance and labels you as a person of discriminating taste. It does not follow that the coat must be expensive—it must have quality in the best sense of the word—and any furs by Roberts have that quality. This you may see for yourself by going to their shop in the Punch and Judy block. There, you will find muskrat coats from $375—but no one would ever know that they were muskrats. Some are blended to look like sables—and they do. Others called "silver blu," derive their name from their resemblance to their stylish mink cousin. You can tell a beaver by its stripes. The more stripes, the more it costs. Crime doesn't pay, but to be well striped in beaver, does. Some raccoon are having a masquerade party at Roberts—they are sheared and so well disguised, you would think that they were beavers or nutrias and they may be had for $650. The soft cosy "Possums, elegant Persians and luxurious Minks—would like to be in your home for Christmas. Some one said that the sable scarfs would make a nice 'stocking' present—if your stocking won't hold them, your shoulders will be proud to—Any box labeled "FURS BY ROBERT" is bound to bring happiness.

What's in a name? There's magic in some—for instance—Hattie Carnegie. When you appear in a Carnegie creation you know that you epitomize smartness. Hattie Carnegie is smart to have her creations in the shops of WALTON-PIERCE. Her newest collection emphasizes the Infanta silhouette with its tiny waist, curvaceous hips and voluminous skirt. One of her stunning suits is called "Red Maple," having a stitched trimming with a modified padding of the hips. Black and brown woven together to form a small geometric pattern results in an unusual suit called "Black Walnut." A brown Jersey blouse is very chic and an attached pouch bag is chi-chi. A daytime sheer wool has slimming lines and a velvet jeweled belt—comes in heavenly Carnegie blue and Blonde Sable. Carnegie's hats—are definitely tops. One is fashioned from imported French felt—winter white—enlivened with sparkling snowdrops of rhinestones. A black satin half hat—crescent shaped, is decorated with burnt goose and would decorate any wearer. Carnegie Blue and Hypnotic are perfumes to be remembered. Carnegie's jewels are "different" looking. A marquise cut sapphire jeweled choker will compliment any throat fortunate enough to have it around. There are many "jewels" in clothes and accessories to be found in WALTON-PIERCE shop.

Picture yourself as Gach will picture you and you will be more than pleased and so will those to whom you present your picture. A fine photograph by Gach costs no more than any nice gift but a photograph is a lasting gift. The Gach Studio on Fisher Road, is a busy place and particularly so during the Christmas rush. So call Tuxedo 1-0590 for an appointment now if you wish to "face" Christmas. Let Gach picture you for those you love, who would love to have you—pictured.

They say that it takes a new broom to sweep clean, but an old established firm like Queen Cleaners will do a job also. Call Fitzroy 4100 to pick up your curtains, draperies and rugs, and for attached rugs ask their expert crew to show you how they do their job. This is a 24 hour service guaranteed to please you—as it has many fastidious Grosse Pointe housekeepers. Queen Cleaners will be glad to show you the cleaning they can give your garments also. Call Fitzroy 4100 for pickup and delivery service or for cash and carry service. (which saves you money), go to either of the Grosse Pointe offices—one, on Kercheval near St. Clair—the other, on Mack near Cook road. (Advts.)

Junior League Scribblers' Column

While living in the Philippines, some friends gave me my choice of two police dog puppies, sons of their Prince. They say that a dog chooses its own mater. One puppy poked his head from behind a sizable begonia leaf and actually winked at me. From that day on my troubles began.

It was impossible to train that animal. He would come into the dining room and snatch the napkins off our laps and then run out the screen door into the yard, the house-boy after him. It was a game, and both would return laughing. Trying to teach him to mind was to no avail.

As he grew, I became aware that he was not all police dog. There were terrier traits, the squarish face and long wiry fur. He had a long tail which curled over his back. I had given him an Irish name, Michael, which seemed to suit his personality so perfectly. To make him appear less of a mongrel, I called him my Philippine Perilice, with an Italian accent. The P and I-i-e-e were for police and e-i stood for Kerry, as we discovered that his father was a Kerry-blue terrier.

When Michael was a year old I was told that I had better leave the Philippines as trouble was expected, and that I should get out the quickest way, by Clipper. My attachment for Michael was so great that it was suggested that he follow me by boat. Three weeks after my arrival in San Francisco, the ship docked and Michael flew into my arms. No one could understand why I had gone to the expense of bringing such an animal home. He had behaved very badly on the boat. He had torn down two kennels and howled so at night that the rest of the passengers threatened to throw him overboard. One of the stewards had to sleep with him to keep him quiet.

We boarded the train for Chicago and were met by my parents. I hope I will never again have to live through that first harrowing night. Around 3 in the morning, Michael informed me that he wanted to go out. When we re-entered the house a snore and a long whistle emanated from my mother's bedroom. By that time I was pretty well able to read Michael's mind, and as he raced up the stairs, I was after him. Before I could reach the second floor, piercing screams

ows. The wind in the trees would make twig shadows on the snow and Michael would arch his back and pounce on those things that moved but had no substance. A small boy passing the house called, "Say, is that dog screwy?"

Michael's fishing and pouncing were his two cat characteristics, and the fact that he never forgot the fish each summer reminded us of an elephant. But he is really all dog and at the age of seven he is still living a highly entertaining life. We feel he was brought into this world to amuse us all with his antics.

The days that followed were full of Michael's mischief. A neighbor came to call and Michael was very happy to see her, but too effusive in his greeting. As he had been running through the sprinkler and then rolling in the mud, he was far from presentable.

We have a large goldfish pond on one side of the yard and Michael would spend hours walking around that pond, eyeing the fish. He didn't like the inactivity when the fish quietly rested in the shade of the overhanging elm.

A slap at the water with his paw was enough to send them scurrying. But the day came when mother found Michael standing in the middle of the pool, slapping the fish out onto the grass.

Having been born in the tropics, Michael had a very thin coat and we were afraid he would be unable to stand the rigors of a northern winter. To our joy, he grew a completely new coat of fur, thick and luxurious. He loved the snow and liked nothing better than to have soft snowballs thrown at him so that he could catch them and feel them disintegrate on his face. Then we discovered that he chased shad-

Case of Abandoned Suitcase Solved; Owner Admits Theft

The case of the abandoned suitcase was solved this week. Warrants have been obtained for the arrest of a parole-violating convict and his girl friend, who worked in Grosse Pointe Farms as a maid.

On October 10 "Buck" Labadie found a suitcase on the curb at Mapleton road and Kercheval avenue. He took it to Cottage Hospital, from where it was turned over to the Farms police.

On October 20 Mrs. Betty Conway of 129 Mapleton reported to the police that she would her clothes in her room. She had left her suitcase on the curb when she boarded the bus.

On October 24 Sergeant Elmer Labadie and Detective George Champagne of the Farms police went to Waterford and contacted Nancy Ann. She readily admitted taking the pieces of jewelry from the Conway home and said she had given them to her boy friend in Onaway, Robert L. Miller.

Miller is described as a convict on parole from Jackson prison, where he was serving a 2-10 year sentence for robbery armed. He had skipped before the police could catch up with him. Warrants have been obtained for him and for Nancy Ann.

John Charles Hockaday, 23, of 5043 Manistique, Detroit, was ticketed for driving under the influence of liquor by Park police after he drove into a porch at 1275 Wayburn early Saturday.

Hockaday failed to stop at Vernon lost control of the car and headed over the curb, across the sidewalk and into the porch. The front of the car, owned by Robert Kramer, 4417 Manistique, was damaged.

Hockaday was released on $100 bond for appearance in court Nov. 19.

Driver Breaks Park Curbstone

Donald W. Diedrich of Detroit was ticketed by Park police early Tuesday for reckless driving after his car went over the curb at Jefferson and Berkshire, breaking the curbstone.

Diedrich, driving north on Berkshire, failed to stop for Jefferson, police said. The right side of the car, owned by Frances D. Morrison, 3499 Huribut, Detroit, was damaged.

Diedrich was ordered to appear in court Nov. 19.

Shubert Books Molnar Comedy

The Dramatic Guild is presenting the hilarious comedy, "The Plays the Thing," by Molnar, starting Sunday, Nov. 9, at the Shubert-Lafayette and continuing one week. Ian Keith and Joseph Macaulay are starred, with Patricia Moore in the only feminine part.

The play centers around the love of a young composer, Adam, for a famous prima donna, Itona. One night at a chateau to which they had been invited for the week-end, Adam hears Itona in the next room practicing her theatrical art on a former admirer, one Almandy, in whom however, she is no longer interested. Adam's love dreams are completely shattered and he retreated to his room to contemplate suicide.

Another guest at the chateau is a playwright, Sandor Turai, who also overhears Itona's conversation with Almandy. Turai's appreciation of Adam's love for Itona impels him to do something about setting things aright, so he sets out to convince Adam that the conversation they both had overheard was simply a rehearsal for the new play.

So Turai writes the play which had Almandy and Itona say substantially the same thing as they said the night before. Turai has lots of fun with the frustrated Almandy during the rehearsal, witnessed by the "anguished" Adam. As usual, all ends happily.

Turai is played by Keith and Almandy by Macaulay. Patricia Moore plays the alluring Itona. An excellent supporting cast has been acquired for the show.

Boy Cuts Self in Eye, Is Treated in Hospital

P. A. Penz, 1373 Harvard, reported to Park police Oct. 29 that his son, William, had pierced himself in his left eye with a knife.

The police took the boy to Bon Secours Hospital for treatment.

Parties Honor Frank Currans

When Mr. and Mrs. Frank Currans left Tuesday for their Greenboro, N. C., home, it was with the memory of a party-studded week-end as the guests of Mr. Currans' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Currans.

The Currans were hosts at dinner in their Cadieux road home Friday. Guests present at the fête included Mr. and Mrs. C. Henry Buhl, the Frederick M. Algers Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. Thorne Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Ray P. Johnson, the Harold Boyers, Mr. and Mrs. William L. McGiverin and C. L. Brackett.

Saturday was claimed by Mr. Brackett for a dinner at his residence on Three Mile drive and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were hosts at cocktails to honor the visitors in their Kenwood road home Sunday.

Mrs. Henry Gives Party Honoring Californian

Mrs. Thomas P. Henry Jr. was hostess at a luncheon party in her Ridge road home Tuesday in honor of Mrs. Ralph Roberts of Pasadena, Calif.

Mrs. Roberts is the houseguest of Mrs. Robert E. McKean of Yorkshire road, who recently returned from an Eastern jaunt. The two were guests at the same time of the Ford H. Wheelens former Pointers, now of Norwich, Vermont, and made the trip back together.

Kid Bits
By Mary Frevo

No one was supposed to know that the tea given by NAN GEORGI on November 2 was really in celebration of the hostess' 16th birthday anniversary, but evidently someone found out and passed the word around for folks turned up with gifts galore!

Jeanne Webb and Janet Johnstone poured at the flower bedecked table, while Nan greeted the guests. Those three gals sported pink carnation corsages. (Petite Nan who is ever so blond looked striking in her black dress!)

Numbered among the 50 guests were Kathy Strei, Jan Skillman, Pat Peronne, Gladys Osterman, Barbara Orphal, Norma Neeb, Sally MacDonald, Sheila McRae, Susie Johnson, Marianne Trombly, Ruth Jaques, Betty Gray, Virginia Grasse and Martha Fairless.

Others who called that afternoon were Doris Dising, Anne Candler, Lois Buck, Sally Andrus, Dolores Deck, Carol Stewart, Polly Wilson, Gail Wright, Marcy Wetherbee and Betsy Waldobot.

Giant Halloween celebrations out this way went over big with the kids! Laughter and merriment filled every quarter where entertaining was going on.

Folks in the boys' gym in G. P. H. S. were especially gay when the band struck up a conga! For more dreamy dancing, couples went to the girls' gym for the tunes of Leroy Smith and his orchestra. Of course the cafeteria was filled every minute of the time, and so was the auditorium, where movies were shown after the excellent entertainers had left.

Kids at Pierce and the Neighborhood club had an equally jolly evening, and the elementary schools had a grand turn-out of costumed youngsters.

Motorist Gets Ticket In 2-Car Collision

Gregory was driving north on Cadieux. The other driver, Josephine Mack, 1027 Bishop, was going west on St. Paul. Neither driver was injured.

Topcoat, Purse Stolen Out of Parked Auto

Bruce Rogers, 1121 Buckingham, reported to Park police Saturday night that a man's topcoat had been stolen from his car, parked on Somerset between St. Paul and Jefferson.

Also stolen, Rogers said, was a purse belonging to Joan Cronin, 933 Washington.

Real Estate Concern Appoints Sutherland

Mr. Sutherland has had a wide experience in real estate dating back to 1926. He spent two years in Japan and Korea with General Motors Export Division, supervised construction of large industrial buildings for General Motors in Tokyo and Osaka. Colored Film of Southwest To Be Shown in High School

Grosse Pointe Community Lectures will present Francis Raymond Line with his superb all color film "A Southwest Story" as the first number of the Travel and Adventure Series, on Sunday afternoon, November 9, at 3 p.m. Previously this series took place at the John D. Pierce Auditorium. Due to the oil shortage it has been necessary to change the location to the Grosse Pointe High School, Fisher Road at Grosse Pointe boulevard.

The Travel and Adventure Series has been planned for the coming season in view of the remarkable success of the 1946-47 series of illustrated programs in color of the many interesting places in our country and the world. The program arranged for the coming season will feature four of the outstanding producers of illustrated lectures. Their pictures are not only beautiful to see, but educational in nature and of equal interest to both adults and children.

Francis Raymond Line's "A Southwest Story" is a gripping all-color film portraying life in a small pioneer community in southern Utah against a background of some of the most scenic and colorful country in America. A visit to the ageless Hopi Indians, the Zunis threshing wheat by primitive methods, the Spanish-Americans of New Mexico harvesting tobacco and weaving rugs, the great scenic areas of the Zion and Bryce Canyons, the Kaibad Forest are among the sequences included in this magnificent production, narrated by one who has the rare ability of conveying the deep spirit and essence of places and people he films.

Further information and tickets may be obtained by calling Niagara 2000, Extension 25.

Pointe Summer Home of 100 Years Ago

From the files of the Grosse Pointe Historical Association comes this picture of the Edmund A. Brush home, the first summer home to be built by a Detroit on the Pointe shores of Lake St. Clair. Erected in 1846, the elaborate house stood on the present Truman Newberry estate in Lake Shore road. The Brush family sold the property to the late Will McMillan about 1893 and the McMillans in turn sold it to Truman Newberry around 1912.

Edmund A. Brush was the son of Elijah Brush, who came to the Detroit area before 1800. He bought a large farm in what is now the center of Downtown Detroit, in 1806. He was a very prominent lawyer and a colonel in the American militia. Taken prisoner by the British he was released in Canada, went to Buffalo, then disappeared. His family never heard from him again.

Elijah's son, Edmund A. developed the farm and became one of the most prominent and richest men in Detroit. He organized the first Detroit fire department. He was reputed to be worth about $3,500,000, which was a fabulous amount in those days.

The Brush family owned a yacht named the "Lily," which was kept at a 750-foot dock jointly owned by the Brushes, McMillans and Newberrys. John S. Newberry's yacht was the "Truant." The men of the family rode to their business in Detroit by boat in fair weather.

The house pictured was moved to Kerby road in the early 1890's and was later destroyed.

Elijah Brush was the great-grandfather of Mrs. Frederick Clifford Ford, now living in Bishop road. Her father, Alfred

E. Brush, was the son of Edmund A. and she can remember spending her summers in this house as a girl.

A scrapbook account of the Lake St. Clair bicentennial celebration, which was held on the Brush estate, mentions that one of the yacht races was won by "Master Truman Newberry."

The people pictured on the porch of the old Brush home are: left to right—Mrs. Edmund A. Brush, Lily Thompson, now Mrs. Theodore Frelinghuysen of New York, Tuxedo and Palm Beach; William G. Thompson, once mayor of Detroit; and the late Adelaide Brush Thompson, daughter of the Edmund A. Brushes and aunt of Mrs. F. C. Ford.

The Grosse Pointe Historical Society is anxious to borrow old photographs and scrapbooks which tell the story of early Pointe history. Any records dating back before 1890 will be welcomed. Original photographs may be copied without harm and returned to the owners.

A volume particularly desired by the association is Silas Farmer's "A Souvenir of Grosse Pointe."

Those willing to donate or loan such pictures or records are asked to contact Vincent DePetris, president of the association, or Kenneth L. Moore.

Mrs. S. P. Blasier Taken by Death

Mrs. Helen Cole Blasier of 16830 Village Lane, died Oct. 27. Mrs. Blasier was born in Charlotte, Mich. and had lived in the Pointe for a number of years.

She was a member of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church and was active in community projects. During the War, Mrs. Blasier was a substitute teacher in Grosse Pointe schools.

Survivors include her husband, Stewart P. Blasier; her son, S. Cole Blasier who is studying at the University of Santiago, Chile; her mother and father, two sisters and two brothers. Burial was in Charlotte, Oct. 30.

Mrs. Godfrey, 72 Dies Suddenly

Funeral services were held Monday in St. Paul's Church for Mrs. Christopher Godfrey, 72, who died of a heart attack Oct. 29 in her home at 290 Ridgemoor. Burial was in St. Paul's Cemetery.

Mrs. Godfrey was born in Grosse Pointe, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Delmas, pioneer residents of the community. She was a graduate of Sacred Heart Convent.

Mrs. Godfrey was married 45 years ago to Christopher Godfrey, who survives. Other survivors are two daughters, Louella and Christine Godfrey, and two sisters, Adais and Lucy Delmas.

Farms firemen were called when Mrs. Godfrey was stricken but were unsuccessful in attempts to revive her with a resuscitator.

NEW POTATO DISEASE

A disease of potatoes relatively new to Michigan is showing up in an alarming manner in some potato-growing sections of the state. It is called "Z" disease of potatoes. Two symptoms characterize the disease: The first is wilting in the field, usually appearing late in the growing season. The other is a hard, dark-brown rot in a ring inside the tuber.

Purdy Honored By PTA Council

The Parent-Teacher Council of the Grosse Pointe Public Schools, reorganized on October 28, electing Remington J. Purdy as President. Mr. Purdy has been active in P.T.A. affairs for many years, particularly in the Richard school district.

Other officers elected at the meeting are Frederick Besimer, secretary; and Mrs. Abner Gilbert, treasurer.

A committee was appointed to make a study of public recreation programs in the Grosse Pointe area with a view to the development of a more adequate after-school-hour program.

St. Paul Pupils Plan Greek Skit

Greek Games and Festivals is the unit which has engaged the time, energy and interest of the sixth graders of late at Saint Paul Grammar School. As a climax to the closing of the unit the boys and girls of the class decided to dramatize a skit in which they portray how the Greeks played and how they regarded their games. The play will be given at an assembly.

Those taking part are: Narrator, John Kiskalt; Kritias, Gerald Fitzgerald; Dypius, William Trombley; Kindus, Gerald Singer; Thales, Michael Sheehan; Gorgo, Barbara Wines; Caius, Edwin McKernan; Cyrus, John Miller; Hippas, Richard Dowd; Lucias, Leonard Aller; Sristes, Louis Fisher; Alphaeus, Karl Keifer.

The moral of the story is to compare the Athenian Epehic Oath with the Boy Scout Oath of today.

The Athenian youth promised "I will not disgrace my sacred arms nor desert the comrade placed at my side. I fight for things sacred to my country and for things of the common welfare, whether I am alone or with others."

The Boy Scout pledges: "We will never bring disgrace to this our city, by any act of dishonesty or cowardice; we will fight for

Wobbly Wheels Spell Trouble

Unbalanced wheels and misalignment always cause serious wear and eventual expense. Few drivers can detect the signs except when they hear and feel a "pounding" tire or shimmy at certain speeds.

Periodic checkup in our shop will prevent costly repairs. We have the special equipment and experience necessary to restore correct wheel balance and proper front end alignment.

Ample stocks of genuine Ford parts—tires and batteries

It's All a Matter of Balance

The front wheels of your car should be tested for balance at least twice a year. At the same time the front end alignment should be checked as these are critical parts effecting your driving safety and comfort.

For instance, the smallest "out of balance" is multiplied as speed increases. Ounces become pounds even at normal speeds and that is like driving with a brick fastened to one tire. No wonder some cars "shimmy" as the weighted tire pounds the road.

Crossing tires to equalize wear is a good practice, but only if all tires are balanced to their new positions.

Drive in for a thorough "balance" checkup. It will save your tires and avoid needless expense.

We emphasize our complete service facilities which enable us to correctly maintain the performance, safety and comfort of your car.
