Pointe High School Alumni Ranks Increased When 130 Graduates Receive Diplomas

Nineteen More Veterans Complete Requirements for Graduation; Former Superintendent's Son, Bob Essert, on Honor List and Receives Prize

Grosse Pointe High School's alumni ranks were increased by 130 names last Thursday night when diplomas were awarded to the mid-winter graduates at the semi-annual commencement exercises.

A capacity audience, limited by invitation to the number of seats available, witnessed the traditional ceremonies in the high school auditorium.

Ideas growing out of their high school studies were expressed by the three student speakers whose addresses constituted a major portion of the program. All three spoke on the general theme, "Living Together."

Nancy Weed discussed "Personal Relationships"; Robert Trees spoke on "Civic Responsibilities," and Mary Waterfall concluded with "International Cooperation."

The student speeches illustrated the type of attitude which the school has sought to promote among its students. John R. Barnes, superintendent of schools, told the audience.

"Education is a matter of opening doors," Mr. Barnes remarked. "We have tried to open doors to understanding, to appreciation, and to love of country."

Mr. Barnes emphasized the thought that education is a continual process which the graduates have only begun.

The class was presented to the superintendent by W. R. Clemons, principal of the high school, who announced the winners of class honors.

Tom Willson and Florence Eringer were the winners of the American Legion Citizenship medals and certificates. These are awarded to the members of each graduating class who display the most outstanding qualities of good citizenship. The selection is

Woods Plans Improvement At New Park

Safe Swimming Is Primary Aim of Council and Park Commission

There was an important meeting Monday night, Feb. 2, between the Woods Park Commission and the Village Council for the consideration of the improvement of the swimming facilities at the newly acquired lakefront park.

It is the hope of the Council to have the swimming facilities well arranged by the opening of the season this summer.

Pate and Hirn, the village engineers, were instructed to make an examination of the bottom of the basin from the thick ice which now extends over it. This is largely to determine the extent of the silt and refuse which is now there. Such examination can be made more satisfactorily from the ice than from boats or a moving platform.

The engineers will also bring in a plan and estimate of cost for the erection of a mole along the south side of Milk river. This will be to carry the outlet of the river well beyond the swimming area.

The plan discussed is to build a wall of rubble, probably broken concrete, wide enough on top for a generous walk or even for a car to drive over. The south side of this wall would be sanded to add further to the sand beach facilities.

This mole would also contribute to the better local climination of the pool.

President Ghesquiere is known to be an advocate of the completely enclosed swimming pool plan to assure safe swimming throughout the season, regardless of the condition of the shoreline waters. It is quite possible that the construction of such a mole as discussed would be a partial construction project to this end.

Farms Building Boom Continues

The December report of Theodore Beaupre, Building Inspector for the Farms, shows there were 18 permits for building construction issued involving an estimated outlay of $248,000.

Such permits from March 1, 1947 to date covered 195 operations involving $2,348, 550.

Bus-Riding Pointers Given More Brand New Coaches

The Lake Shores Coach Lines, Inc. placed in service on Jan. 31, the ten new coaches they have long had on order and which were anxiously awaited by the Grosse Pointe public.

The coaches are known as Model TDH, GMC, buses No. 3610. They are Diesel powered and will seat 38 passengers each, as compared with 29 passengers in the old buses. They will be air conditioned and in every respect, the concern's officials say, the most modern and up-to-date buses available. The cost of the fleet was $130,525.20, or $13,952.50 each.

The additional bus capacity and the greater comfort furnished will be a boon to the Grosse Pointe travelling public. It is not the intention of the bus company to increase the frequency of its service at present but if experience demonstrates that this should be done, additional coaches will be added during the rush hours. The present schedule has proved ample to care for the normal traffic during other hours.

Board Approves TB X-Ray Drive

A resolution calling for the co-operation of all Pointe residents in making the forthcoming TB X-ray campaign a success, was adopted by the Grosse Pointe Township Board on January 26.

The resolution was proposed by Justice Joseph Belanger and unanimously supported by Supervisor Carl Schweikart, Justices Victor DeBaek and Don Goodrow, Treasurer Archie Damman and Clerk Henry Lavers.

16 Running For 7 Offices In G. P. Farms

Eight Candidates File For Three Vacancies on Board Of Trustees

Grosse Pointe Farms will hold a primary election on February 9. The primary balloting was made necessary when a flood of candidates for village trustee filed before the deadline last Saturday noon. There are eight seeking to fill three vacancies on the board, for two year terms.

There will also be opposition for all of the other village offices, president, clerk, treasurer and assessor.

President James K. Watkins will be opposed by former trustee and police and fire commissioner John R. Sutton, Jr.

The incumbent trustees who are standing for reelection are Richard Maxon, Neil S. McEachin and George L. Schlaepfer. Opposing them will be Harry R. Dey of Moross road, Horace E. Farmer of Morriss road, Irving T. Winkler of Merriweather road, Gerald Arthur Keating of Muir road and Thomas C. Anderson of Ridge-mont road. Dey, Farmer and Winkler are all identified with the Grosse Pointe Farms Better Government Association.

Farmer has twice before sought a trusteeship and been defeated. Winkler ran last year and was defeated.

Keating criticized the administration and particularly Clerk Furlon and Pier Superintendent Theodore Beaupre, during the last year, for the manner in which the Farms pier and beach park, have been run.

Anderson is a graduate chemical engineer from the University of Michigan and was formerly purchasing agent for Parke Davis and Co. He is now assistant secretary and assistant to the manager of that firm.

Clerk Harry Furlon will be opposed by Fred T. Kuehl of Moran road. Francis J. Hock, who ran last year, will seek the office of village treasurer which has been held for many years by Alonzo J. O'Connor. Mr. O'Connor is seeking reelection.

Incumbent Russell A. Labadie, elected assessor last year when Francis Beaupre, former assessor moved out of the village, will have opposition to his reelection in the person of L. M. Reeves, a resident home owner of McMillan road.

The primary election is necessitated only by the fact that there are eight running for the office of trustee. When more than twice as many candidates seek office than the existing vacancies, a primary is mandatory.

The incumbent trustees are receiving support from a number of prominent citizens who are sponsoring their candidacy in a paid advertisement in this issue.

Health Head Cites Vital Importance Of X-Ray Campaign

Dr. Thomas Davies Calls Drive One of Greatest Steps Ever Taken For Control of Tuberculosis in Pointe Area

A city-wide search for unknown cases of tuberculosis will be inaugurated on February 10 under a mass X-ray program being sponsored jointly by the Wayne County Health Department and the TB and Health Society in cooperation with the Grosse Pointe Health Department, according to an announcement made by Dr. Thomas S. Davies, Health Commissioner.

"This is one of the most important steps ever taken for the control of tuberculosis in Grosse Pointe," said Dr. Davies.

"At present, 78 tuberculosis cases are known to the Grosse Pointe health authorities. It is natural to assume that there are many unknown cases. The only way to find these unknown cases is to X-ray apparently healthy people."

The X-ray project will begin at the Trombly School, 820 Beaconsfield Avenue, in Grosse Pointe Park on Tuesday at 1 p.m. A modern mobile X-ray unit, on loan from the Michigan Department of Health, will be used. It will be operated by health department technicians and the films will be read by Wayne County Health Department physicians. Schedules have been made and other preliminary work is being done by the sponsoring agencies in co-operation with many community groups.

"We hope that every adult in the community will want to participate in this program to control tuberculosis," Dr. Davies said.

"It cannot be over-emphasized that tuberculosis knows no boundaries. Anyone may get the disease and anyone with tuberculosis in the community is a threat to the rest of the community."

Because of the long symptomless onset of the disease, the only way one can be sure his lungs are healthy is to have periodic chest X-rays. The presence of the disease is revealed by X-ray before its symptoms appear and while the disease is still in a stage when it responds most readily to treatment.

With the X-Ray Survey only days away Neighborhood Committees have been engaged in meetings and the work of distributing information pertaining to this project to every home within each area.

At a meeting called by Chairman W. G. Stannman of the Park area on January 26 plans were completed for the first week of the survey. Mrs. Arthur D. Hus-

Drivers Held Blameless in Nurse's Death

Prosecutor's Office Says Accident Was Unavoidable by Corbett

John Vincent Corbett, of 57 Merriweather road, who accidentally ran down and killed Catherine Leonard, a nurse in Bon Secours Hospital, on the morning of January 20 at Jefferson avenue and Cadieux road, has been exonerated of all culpability in the case.

The County Prosecutor's office, after an exhaustive examination of the case, has decided that the accident was unavoidable by the driver of the car.

Miss Leonard had alighted from an eastbound Lake Shore bus at Cadieux about 7:30 in the morning, preparatory to starting her day's work at the hospital. She was walking across Jefferson as the Corbett car came along, slightly behind a preceding car and slightly nearer the curb. Her vision of the second car was probably blanked and she walked directly into its path. She was almost instantly killed.

Woods Sells Bond Issue

Now Able to Complete Payment For Beach Park Site Bought From Ford Estate

The Woods Village has sold its bonds for the completion of the payment on the beach front park and improvements thereto. The issue has been purchased by Miller, Kenower and company at a price which averages from 3 1/2% to 3 3/4%. The bonds are serials expiring at different periods.

The amount of the issue is $69,000. When the bonds were first sold the successful bidders would not take them then, as the litigation between St. Clair Shores and the Woods Village had arisen which questioned the right of the Woods to own and maintain a village park in the other municipality. This question has now been cleared up by a decision in favor of the Woods recently handed down by the State Supreme Court.

RUSHED TO HOSPITAL. James McLeod, of 1242 Maryland, suffered a severe hemorrhage of the nose at 3 o'clock in the morning on Jan. 29. Mrs. McLeod called Dr. Henry Munson, a nose specialist, who ordered Mr. McLeod removed at once to the Drouth Rogers hospital. He was taken to the hospital by Officers Del Place and Ver-vacke of the city.

Drouth Strikes Roosevelt Place

The six inch water main on Roosevelt place broke Monday night, Feb. 2, at about 8 o'clock and the residents along that street were without water until late the following afternoon.

A new sleeve was placed on the main and service was resumed before 6 o'clock.

The water service crew said the downward movement of the frost broke the main directly across as cleanly as if it had been sawed off.

It was one of the usual casualties which accompany a protracted cold spell, although the downward movement of the frost is more apt to occur in later February or early March when the occasional thaws on the surface drive the frost deeper.

Woods Solons Ask to Be Paid

The Commissioners of the Woods village and the President think they should be paid a nominal salary for the time they devote each year to the village's business.

To that end a motion was adopted at the council meeting on Jan. 27 placing on the ballot at the March 8 election the question of whether or not the Commissioners should be paid an annual salary of $400 each and the village president an annual salary of $600.

In a lengthy discussion of the subject at the Tuesday meeting it developed that the Commissioners and the president attended an average of 35 meetings a year. In addition to this they also attend many special meetings and other sessions held in conjunction with various boards and commissions of the village.

Heretofore not any of the councilmen of the Pointe municipalities has been paid. This is doubtless why it has often been so difficult to obtain worthy men to consent to serve.

FIRE IN CLUB ANNEX

Farms firemen quickly extinguished a fire that started in the boiler room of the Grosse Pointe Club annex in the rear of Memorial Church on the morning of January 31. There was no damage.

Would Build New Library On Kercheval

Sales Makes Generous Offer to Allow His Home to Be Sold to Aid Project

Concrete plans for a Grosse Pointe War Memorial Library, to be located on the High School property at Kercheval avenue and Fisher road, have been presented following a joint meeting of the War Memorial Study Group and the Grosse Pointe Honor Roll Association. It is proposed that somewhere between $500,000 and $1,000,000 be spent on the memorial, depending on the generosity of the residents of the community.

The meeting at which this specific proposal was formulated, was held last Thursday night in the home of Herbert Micou of Kerby road, a member of the Study Group. It was called to consider a communication from Murray W. Sales which changed the entire course of the memorial plans. This communication was addressed to Bert H. Wicking, president of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, and was dated January 13.

The Study Group had recommended to the Honor Roll Association, which is an incorporated body, some months ago that the memorial to Grosse Pointe's men and women, living and dead, who participated in World War II, should take the form of a public library.

Shortly after this Mr. Sales gave his home property at Jefferson avenue and Lincoln road to the Grosse Pointe School District as a public library site, with the wish expressed, but not legally imposed, that the library might be known as the "Jessie Sales Memorial Library," in memory of his late wife.

This implied condition attached to the gift created some confusion in the plans for a War Memorial Library. Obviously there could not be two Memorial public libraries in the community. Meanwhile the conveyance of the property to the School District, subject to Mr. Sales' life tenancy of the place, had been completed and the District entered into complete ownership of the property.

For a time the Study Group considered the utilization of a wing or department of the library as a memorial to the veterans. This met with much opposition from persons who felt the great purpose of the library would be more or less submerged by its over all caption as a memorial to a single private citizen.

Mr. Sales' letter of January 13 has cleared up this matter entirely and in doing it he has performed one of the most generous and patriotic acts ever recorded.

Municipal Bldg. Has Face Lifted

The interior of the Park Municipal Building is getting its face lifted. The building swarms with painters and paint pots and a strong odor of new paint greets the visitor. The cost will be about $2,000.

The exterior was painted, consisting principally of window trimmings, some months ago, at a cost of $800-$900.

Chief Arthur Lowrey remarked that he hoped the delicate pastel shades they are putting on the walls of the municipal court room would not influence the judges to hand out soft pedaled sentences to the offenders brought before them.

New Furniture, Paint, for City

The City municipal offices on Monroe are being painted. New office furniture is also being installed. The circumstance reminded Neil Blended the City Assessor that the furniture now in use was bought 23 years ago and has been in constant use since.

As an illustration of the use of pieces in this era, he mentioned that the original furniture cost $350. That which takes its place now, of the same corresponding character, will cost about $650 to $700.

Pointe Canines Have Rough Week; Keep Cops Jumping

Last week was a bad one for dogs in the Pointe. A party phoned in to the station at 10:50 p.m. on Jan. 29 that a dog had been injured at Kercheval and Maryland. When officers G. Boone and Campbell went to investigate they found the dog dead. It was a male, brown, cocker spaniel without an owner's license.

Woodford Ems, of 32 McKinley took a dog into the Park station after he had bit it as he was driving out the municipal building driveway onto Jefferson. He had broken his left hind leg. The animal darted from behind some passing car. He was turned over to Dr. O'Neil for repairs.

Another dog who had gotten himself in bad by barking at cars and pedestrians in the 1300 block of Balfour was chased by Patrolman Van De Geste who was having a hard time to catch up with him until he considered it ran into the home of his owner a few doors away. The owner, James McCona, was notified to keep his vocal pet muted.

And in the City the police book was spattered all over with dog complaints: barking dogs, biting dogs and plain tramps, too numerous to mention, but no casualties in the dog family. They were all cared for in the usual routine manner.

Graduation

 vented by illness from attending the graduation of his son.
 The list of honor graduates, who achieved a scholastic average of B or better in their three-year senior high school course, included: Robert Armstrong, Shirley Davis, Barbara Elliott, Florence Erringer, Robert Essert, Francis Haas, Loraine Hewitt, Nancy Hodges, Lucy Hynds, John Jervis, Walter Joachim, Donald Lewis, John McGrae, Lorne Norton.

Olen, Betty Pfeiderer, Richard Palmer, Richard Doesch, Joyce Schmidt, Elaine Severin, Robert Trees, Mary Waterfall, William Waugaman, Nancy Weed, Mary Wickling, Sue Wilson and Kyle Worley.

The class included 19 veterans who completed their requirements for graduation during or after their service in the armed forces. They brought to 226 the number of boys to whom diplomas have been granted under the provisions for veterans set up by the Board of Education.

Veterans on the January '48 class role are: Robert Armstrong, Willis Beard, Richard Champine, Robert Clarke, William Faber, Charles Hill, Robert Ireland, Paul Kriewall, Thomas Leavay, Harold Martin, George Neeley, Louis Oswald, William Schroeder, John Souder, Stanley Weaver, Frank Welch, Robert Westcott, Harold Wisner, and Joseph Wittman.

Music for the commencement ceremonies was provided by the high school orchestra and the a capella choir. Joyce Schmidt, one of the honor graduates, was presented as a soloist.

The Mothers' Club entertained the graduates and their guests at an informal reception following the program.

There's no need to change anything in this world but people's hearts.

Woods Outgrows Village Building

At the Woods Council meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 22 the decision was made to ask the voters at the election on March 8 for authority to issue bonds in the amount of $40,000 to provide an addition to the Woods municipal building on Mack avenue.

The plan is to enlarge the present building by putting an addition to the south on land which the village now owns. It will provide more room for the storage of fire fighting apparatus and also enlarge the assembly room and the village clerk's office.

The Woods' council meetings are more largely attended by citizens than any others in the Pointe and it is to overcome the crowding and discomfort for the citizens that a larger assembly room is needed.

More work space for the clerk's office is also badly needed. The rapid growth of the village now underway has greatly increased the work of the office.

LUCKY LOSER
 Mrs. Joseph Nelson of 111 Lake Shore road, lost a purse containing $38, on Maumee on Jan. 14. It was found by Sally Ware of 304 Rivard and returned to the owner via the City police station later in the same day.

Memorial

 in the personnel history of the Pointe.
 The letter is self explanatory. It reads:

January 13, 1948
 Board of Education
 Rural Agricultural School District No. 1
 Grosse Pointe Township
 Wayne County, Michigan
 At: Mr. Bert Wickling, President
 Gentlemen:

Since I deeded my home at the corner of East Jefferson and Lincoln Avenues, City of Grosse Pointe, to you I have been informed of the possibilities of there being developed a civic project for the whole Grosse Pointe area whereby a war memorial library contributed by private subscription could be erected on property owned by you at the intersection of Kercheval Avenue and Fisher Road. I am greatly interested in this proposal and in order that you may in no way be embarrassed in relation to any feeling of responsibility towards me or towards my estate in connection with the use of the property which I deeded to you, I have felt it desirable to advise you that you are entirely without any obligation to me or to my representatives to utilize this property for library purposes. I also want to have you feel no sense of obligation in relation to naming or memorializing in any part or the whole of such a proposed war memorial library in the name of Jessie Carter Sales. If you see fit to memorialize her name in any part of such a structure, I shall, of course, be greatly honored as would members of my family and friends, but I want you to feel no sense of obligation in respect thereto.

You may be assured of my good wishes and full cooperation in respect to any such proposed plan of this nature, and I certainly feel that from the standpoint of memorializing those of our young people who have served their country as well as creating a useful and beautiful public structure in the Grosse Pointe Township, we should all lend our encouragement to any such proposal.

Very truly yours,
 MURRAY W. SALES
 With the reading of Mr. Sales' letter, rapid progress was made. The Study Group of 16, its mission having been accomplished, passed out of existence by motion of its own members. The Grosse Pointe Honor Roll Association adopted a petition setting forth its opinion and plan for the building and maintenance of a War Memorial Library which will be submitted to the Board of Education at its meeting on February 4, over the signature of Alger Shelden, president of the Honor Roll Association.

This petition reads as follows: WE, the GROSSE POINTE HONOR ROLL ASSOCIATION, being a non-profit corporation organized under the laws of the State of Michigan and formed for the purpose of gathering data about our Grosse Pointe World War II Veterans and erecting a suitable memorial in their memory, having after considerable study and research of public opinion unanimously come to the decision that this purpose will best be served by the erection of a library to be known as the "Grosse Pointe War Memorial Library," to be located on property owned by Rural Agricultural School District No. 1 of GROSSE POINTE FARMS, DO THEREFORE come before the School Board of said District to petition it as follows:

(1) To proceed with the complete construction of the said memorial library providing the minimum sum of $150,000 is handed over to the said school board, it being the intention, however, of the Grosse Pointe Honor Roll Association to raise a much larger amount by public subscription, the dimensions and facilities of any such library to be determined by the moneys so raised, excepting that this Board will be asked to provide its ground site and apply towards its construction any moneys received from the sale of the former Murray W. Sales home at the corner of East Jefferson and Lincoln, City of Grosse Pointe.

(2) To work with the Grosse Pointe Honor Roll Association on a cooperative basis in the planning of said Grosse Pointe War Memorial Library. This cooperation is voluntary and the determination of final plans and contents to rest entirely with your Board.

(3) To sell the Murray W. Sales property at some appropriate time in the future after the above-mentioned sum of money has been placed in the hands of the school board providing the school board at that time finds this property not required for library purposes and to use the funds obtained from the sale thereof to partly pay for the construction and equipping of the proposed Grosse Pointe War Memorial Library.

(4) To set aside some appropriate room or area of the proposed Grosse Pointe War Memorial Library to be known as the "Jessie Carter Sales Memorial" in appreciation of the many deeds of service rendered to the community by Mr. and Mrs. Sales and their assistance in the furtherance of this undertaking.

In acceptance of the foregoing, it is agreed that the school board in no way will limit or waive its legal rights, obligations or duties and the Grosse Pointe Honor Roll Association does not intend on its part to limit the said school board in its legal position of full jurisdiction in the unrestricted ownership and control of this property, both during the planning period, the period of its construction, and thereafter.

ALGER SHELDEN,
 President,
 Grosse Pointe Honor Roll Association.

Mr. Shelden's accompanying letter reads as follows:
 January 30, 1948
 Board of Education,
 Rural Agricultural School Dist. 1
 Grosse Pointe Township,
 Wayne County, Michigan.
 At: Mr. Bert Wickling, Pres.
 Gentlemen:

Please find enclosed the Petition of the Grosse Pointe Honor

Roll Association addressed to you. This Petition was unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Association held last night. We trust that you will act upon it favorably and advise us of your decision at an early date so that plans can be made to raise the necessary funds for the erection of the proposed Grosse Pointe War Memorial Library. We have in mind, at the present time, to raise approximately $500,000. This amount, however, will have to be more definitely determined at a later date when planning has further progressed.

Yours very truly,
 ALGER SHELDEN,
 President
 GROSSE POINTE HONOR ROLL ASSOCIATION.

At the time the News went to press, the action of the Board of Education was not known.

Bert Wickling, president of the Board of Education, has been constantly advised of the matter and others of the Board membership are familiar with the project and it is not expected there will be any serious digression from the plan by the Board.

Briefly boiled down, the plan now means that the Board of education will own the library and assume its cost of maintenance. This means that the big problem of maintenance would be met out of public taxation, the only surety of the future for its proper and continued maintenance. This was one of the considerations which had to be constantly noted.

The Board would consult at all times with the Honor Roll Association on all matters having to do with the library.

The library would be located on the school property at the corner of Fisher road and Kercheval avenue.

It would be paid for entirely by the subscriptions of the citizens of the Pointe, less that sum which the Board of Education may realize from the sale of the Sales property at some future date.

It is the thought of those who have been in close touch with the Memorial project that the first thing to be provided should be a beautiful entrance which would accentuate the memorial character of the structure in which would be preserved in enduring form the names of all of the more than three thousand men and women of the Pointe who participated in the war and the more than one hundred who gave their lives.

It is estimated that this structure would cost at least $500,000, more if the generosity of the people of Grosse Pointe warrants it.

There is serious talk among the groups that have been in touch with the project that Grosse Pointe should have a memorial that would cost upwards of a million dollars.

The thought is that the plan of the original structure should be so drawn that future wings could be added, but these not to be of a character which would dwarf the impressive central entrance which is to stamp the memorial nature of the entire completed project.

With the approval of the project by the School Board, which is confidently expected as officials of the Board have been in close touch with the project since Mr. Sales' amended gift was made known, it is believed plans will be quickly laid for conducting a vigorous campaign in the Pointe for the raising of the funds needed.

Hunt Club Making Plans To Hold 37th Horse Show

The newly elected officers and board of directors of the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club at a meeting this week began laying plans for the organization's thirty-seventh annual horse show.

The show will be held for four days in late June and already horsemen from many parts of the United States and Canada have made enquiries about the various classes. The 1947 show was the outstanding show of Michigan, having been dubbed by some horsemen the "million dollar show," since the value of the animals entered, together with their gear and stabling came to nearly that figure.

Re-elected president of the club was Ernest C. Putnam, of Sunningdale drive; Ralph Forbes was elected vice-president; Walter Stewart was re-elected secretary; and John Mulford was elected treasurer.

New directors elected were William K. Allen, Edmund R. Dowling, John Mulford. Ralph Fordon was re-elected, the others replacing directors who retired from the board.

Mr. Dowling was named chairman of the 1948 horse show committee. Other committees will be headed by Emery B. Hatch, stable; Dr. Arthur Erkfitz, house; Karl Lysinger, grounds; Vincent Corbett, membership; G. R. McKiel, entertainment; Miss Geri Rounds, junior; and Mrs. John Wideman, junior advisory.

Fuel Shortage To Close Library

The Grosse Pointe Public Library will close at 6 p. m. on Saturday evenings, beginning Saturday, February 7. This change in library hours is necessitated by the present shortage of fuel oil.

The library, located at 15430 Kercheval, is a wing of the Pierce Junior High School. Since the building is not in use for any other purpose Saturday evenings, closing the library at 6 p. m. will make possible a definite saving in money and fuel.

HANDY FOR POLICE

Don Beaumont, of 113 Merriweather, driving west on Jefferson on Sunday, struck a car being driven by Marie L. Davitt, of 4835 Audubon. Davitt, which had stopped for a red light in front of the Park Municipal Building. He was given a ticket for not having his car under control.

Old Issue of Waiting Room For Bus Passengers Revived

Both the Lake Shore Coach Lines, Inc., and the Park village recognize the need for more comfortable transfer facilities on Jefferson avenue and Barrington, where inbound passengers make their transfers to other buses.

The little waiting room that was in operation during the war was abandoned because of the misuse made of it by a lot of young hoodlums who ripped up the place and decorated it with obscene language. Since its abandonment the Park police have guaranteed to stop this practice, short and sudden, if another room is provided.

President Walter Schweikart, of the Bus lines, said a year or more ago that his company would be glad to erect a suitable waiting room if the Park, or Grosse Pointe as a whole would provide them with the location. He said they did not feel like covering a plot with gold dollars, as indicated by the price which Ernest Koinis wanted for his adjoining land, the only space now available within the commercial area.

The Park authorities and the bus company are in earnest consultation trying to solve the problem. Pierre V. Heffler, the attorney for the Park, has had several conferences with the bus officials on the matter.

General Manager John Tierney of the bus company said last Tuesday morning that such a waiting room was badly needed and that if the community would provide the location they would put up one that would be a credit to the Pointe. Doubtless the company would maintain this room in good condition if assured by the local police of its adequate protection against molestation by young local outlaws.

Recently the Park provided for the paving of the space between the curb and the sidewalk to protect the public against the mud which develops there in certain weather conditions. This however is only a slight approach to solving the problem. An enclosed and warm shelter is needed.

Motion Picture Council Lists Approved Movies

Following is the list of approved movies for the month of February, listed in Consumers' Research Bulletin, and reported to parents of Grosse Pointe school children as being approved by this Council: "Wyoming," "Fun and Fancy Free," "Spirit of West Point," "Corsican Brothers," "Drums Along the Mohawk."

For Teen-Agers: "Kilroy Was Here," "Dragnet," "Her Husband's Affairs," "Saddle Pals," "Springtime in the Sahara," "Seven Keys to Baldpate," "Song of Love," "Bachelor and Bobby Soxer," "Secret Life of Walter Mitty," "Road to Rio," "Jewels of Brandenburg," "Exile" and "Newshounds."

Woods to Hold Election Mar. 8

The list of candidates for President and Village Commissioners in the Woods, to be voted on at the spring elections on March 8 has not yet taken definite form.

Under the Woods' charter there are no primaries. As many candidates can appear on the election ballot as see fit to file 20 days prior to the regular election day.

Commissioners, as the councilmen are called in the Woods, whose terms expire this year are George Gardner, Bert Bevers and Arthur Post. Mr. Bevers stated positively at a recent council meeting that he would not be a candidate to succeed himself. It is reported that Mr. Post also has not definitely made up his mind to run. He has served on the village council much longer than any other member. Mr. Gardner presumably will run again.

President A. A. Ghesquiere has definitely stated that he will be a candidate to succeed himself.

Car Radio Taken By Polite Thief

W. C. Beckenbauer, of 15723 Windmill Pointe drive reported to the police on February 1 that the radio had been stolen from his car the night before while it was parked in his driveway. A mysterious part of the theft was that the car which had been left locked was still locked after the radio had been taken out.

Famed Pianist Henry Scott To Play Here February 10

Henry L. Scott, distinguished pianist and originator of Concert Humor, alternately described by music and drama critics as the "Will Rogers of the Piano," and the "World's Most Versatile Concert Pianist," will give a unique recital of classics, swing, and concert humor at the John D. Pierce Auditorium on Tuesday, February 10, at 8:30 p.m., under the auspices of Grosse Pointe Community Lectures.

Scott's career represents a long and impressive array of theater appearances, short pictures for Paramount, radio engagements, a season at New York's famous Rainbow Room, and finally a debut at Town Hall in New York, as America's First Concert Humorist.

A distinguished concert pianist and brilliant interpreter of Chopin and Liszt, Henry Scott is at the same time an authority on modern popular styles. His recent Carnegie Hall concerts were so eminently successful that they won nation-wide praise from press, radio and national magazines.

His musical training is almost entirely classical, while much of his ability and gift for swing interpretation has developed through a keen ear which enables him to closely imitate the styles of top flight pianists in the popular field. At one point in order to better understand South American rhythms, he got a job on a cruise ship and spent all his shore time haunting the dance halls of Colon, Nassau, and Trinidad. The result is he plays rhumbas and tangos with a zest and rhythm rarely found in North American pianists.

Tickets are still available. Reservations may be made by calling the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, Niagara 2000 Extension 25.

Gnau to Present Music Lectures

These lectures will be open to the public and are not limited to the church membership.

Mr. Gnau will emphasize the development of philosophy, religion, literature, and other arts. He will also discuss the various techniques used during the different ages in writing music. Mr. Gnau studied music at the University of Michigan, Harvard University, and with the famous Nadia Boulanger in Paris. Beside directing, Mr. Gnau teaches harmony, counterpoint, and composition.

Any one interested in attending may phone reservations to Mrs. Albert Engelhardt, NI. 3464; Mrs. Hubert Goebel, TU. 2-0277; or Mrs. George A. McBride, TU. 2-2027.

Woods to Sell Old Park Site

Since the acquisition of the 43.7 acre lakefront park site from the Edsel Ford estate, the Woods village feels no further use for the plot of similar size which it purchased some three or four years ago for a park and possible site for a municipal building on Mack opposite the Torrey Woods plot, between Kenmore and Huntington.

At the council meeting on Jan. 27 it was decided to ask permission of the voters at the municipal elections on March 8 for authority to sell this plot. The council may decide to retain a small portion of the plot, if the authority is given to sell it all, for some future municipal purpose. The thought now is to retain about 200 feet frontage on Mack with suitable depth.

Karl Robinson Will Show All Color Film of China

Grosse Pointe Community Lectures will present Karl Robinson with his latest all color film lecture "China Journey" as the third number on the Travel and Adventure Series, Sunday, February

KARL ROBINSON

8 at 3 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe High School.

With a pre-war residence of ten years in the Far East, Mr. Robinson returned for six months of 1946, and in spite of the aftermath of World War II and a current Chinese Civil War, somehow managed to visit and film six provinces in both North and South China.

The film makes no attempt at including the scars of war except as they are written in the faces of the people. Instead it is packed with living China—the China that already has 5000 years to its credit. Glimpses of Hong Kong, Shanghai; of the ancient city of Peiping; of the dramatic struggle of the peasants fighting an ancient enemy, the outlaw Yellow River; methods of irrigation in the rice valley; a trip through the wild river rapids to Foochow, these and many others are among the sequences to be shown in Karl Robinson's richly informative presentation of "China Journey."

It is still possible to obtain reservations for this production by calling the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, NI. 2000, Ext. 25.

Five Drivers Pay Fines in Court

At Park police court on January 28 Judge Joseph Belanger disposed of the following cases: James Carl Webber of 309 Chalmers, for driving into traffic on Jan. 8, was fined $15 and $5 costs.

Jacob J. Betzner, 760 Grand Marais, for entering an intersection without due care and caution on Jan. 13, paid costs of $5.

Jacqueline Laurence, 14147 Houston, for driving in front of moving traffic on Jan. 15, was fined $10 plus $5 costs.

Wilbur S. Combs of 5213 Marcellus, for speeding on Jan. 14, paid $12 fine and $5 costs.

William Harvath, 1672 Gray, Detroit, for passing through a red light in front of the Park municipal building on Jan. 17, was fined $10 and $5 costs.

Harvath was the man whom Commissioner Fritsch and Patrolman Conlan arrested after a reckless sideswiping of parked cars in St. Clair Shores. His coming to the Pointe had been heralded by the police radio. The only charge the Park had against him was running one of its red lights. The St. Clair Shores authorities are dealing with him on the more serious charge.

Newest Non-fiction Books Now Available at Library

If "variety is the very spice of life", as the English poet, William Cowper said, the book-lover will find his reading well-flavored when he samples the new non-fiction books at the Grosse Pointe Public Library.

Since this is presidential election year, many will be interested to read Harold Stassen's WHERE I STAND, a refreshing summary of the author's position on labor and management, taxation, socialism, communism, capitalism, business, health and housing. Considering the present world crisis, it is regrettable that Mr. Stassen does not include his ideas on foreign policy.

The citizen who wants enlightenment on conditions in Germany at war and after, will find William Shirer's END OF A BERLIN DIARY, which covers the period of July 1944 to the spring of 1947, as informative and intellectually stimulating as the first volume, BERLIN DIARY.

The literary-minded reader should not miss Van Wyck Brook's TIMES OF MELVILLE AND WHITMAN, the fourth volume of his series on American literary life. This series, begun with THE FLOWERING OF NEW ENGLAND, reached its greatest popularity with the WORLD OF WASHINGTON IRVING. Picturesque and anecdotal, the new volume describes the progress of literature throughout the entire United States from 1840 to 1880.

Whether you are planning a spring trip East as an antidote to chill winter winds, or are a fireside reader, who does his traveling vicariously, you will enjoy L. J. Halle's delightful and sensitively written essays on SPRING IN WASHINGTON and G. F. Marlowe's CHURCHES OF OLD NEW ENGLAND. The latter will have great fascination, not only for architects and churchmen, but for all those who treasure the cultural values of our history. The hopes and tragedies of the early pastors and their congregations come to vivid life in this book which Samuel Chamberlin has so skillfully illustrated with his famous photography.

For many physical ills are caused by emotional maladjustments, what can we, as intelligent individuals, do to prevent as well as to cure our illnesses? Dr. H. F. Dunbar, psychiatrist and director of psychosomatic research at the Presbyterian Hospital in New York City since 1932, attempts to answer that question in the new book MIND AND THE BODY. This volume is invaluable for the layman who wants a better understanding of the relationship between body and mind.

Since late winter is so unquestionably in our midst, spring can not be far behind. If you are yearning to get back on the water in your inboard engine boat, but are an amateur with little mechanical knowledge, or have young people in your family who need simply-written advice on engine selection, installation, maintenance and care of such a boat, the library has just the book to help you: POWER FOR THE SMALL BOAT by W. Melvin Crook.

Icy Pave Causes Crash on Ridge

A Ford station wagon and Ford passenger car collided at Merriweather and Ridge roads at 1:30 p.m. on January 29, doing total damage estimated at $650. There were no personal injuries.

Hugh A. Dells of 419 Touraine, driving south on Merriweather, tried to stop for the stop sign at Ridge, but the icy street caused him to slide out into Ridge. One of the County Day School station wagons, driven west on Ridge by John Lamley of 1900 Lennon, Grosse Pointe Woods, smacked into the Dells car.

The station wagon took the worst beating, $500 worth, according to the Farms police report. The drivers agreed to settle all claims between themselves.

Car and Bus Collide on Jefferson Avenue

John K. Widerman, Jr., of 597 Hawthorne road, went into the Park police station at 5:10 p. m. on Jan. 19 and reported that a few minutes earlier he had been making a left turn from Jefferson into Edgemont place when he was run into by a Lake Shore bus, also going west.

The bus was not damaged but his car was considerably mangled. There was no personal injury.

Lew Wood Cast In College Show

Lew Wood, 83 Vernier, Grosse Pointe Shores, portrait painter and actor, will appear in Philip Barry's "The Joyous Season" to be given by the Marygrove College Dramatic Society Feb. 6-8 in the school auditorium.

A graduate of Grosse Pointe High School, Wood played leading roles in "You Can't Take It With You" and "Stage Door" as a student. He also played the lead role in "Night Must Fall" with the Cranbrook Theater and toured Michigan with the show. More recently, he appeared in "What Price Glory" under the auspices of the Detroit Stage, Inc. He has also written and produced his own shows.

Wood is widely known for his pastel portraits of a number of prominent Grosse Pointe residents.

please... SAVE GAS

There's enough GAS for essential home use even in the COLDEST weather... If you will help save GAS IN THESE WAYS:

IN HEATING

Keep windows shut. (Eliminate drafts and heat loss around windows by caulking.) Where possible keep window shades down.

Set thermostat lower than normal. Wear heavier clothing indoors for comfort.

Shut off rooms not used. Keep bedroom doors closed. Use small rugs to prevent under-door drafts.

IN COOKING

Place utensils on burner before turning on Gas. Use waterless cooking methods whenever possible.

Plan and cook entire meals in Gas oven or broiler at the same time. Turn off all burners immediately when cooking is completed.

Keep burners clean for greater efficiency.

FOR OTHER USES

Don't leave door of Gas refrigerator open. Let foods cool to room temperature before putting away. Don't overcrowd shelves.

Be sparing in your use of hot water. Wasting hot water wastes Gas. Wasting hot water is depriving your neighbors of their rightful share of Gas.

The Memorial Library

The recent progress towards achieving a War Memorial to the participants in World War II is gratifying. The consensus of the Study Group, the Honor Roll Association and the men and women of the Pointe community who have given most thought to this project has agreed that the memorial should take the form of a public library building which would lend itself more admirably to accentuating the memorial quality which should be held of prime importance in this enterprise.

Every effort was made by the Study Group to ascertain the public sentiment and the result of their two-years' effort has confirmed them in making the recommendation which has been adopted.

The gratitude and affection of the entire community is due Mr. Murray Sales for his effective part in making this possible. He had given his home property at Jefferson avenue and Lincoln road to the School district to be remodelled into a public library, with the suggestion that when it was completed it might be named the "Jessie Sales Memorial Library" in honor of his beloved wife, who during her entire lifetime had taken such a deep interest in the welfare of Grosse Pointe. He did not however make this a condition of his gift.

When he learned of the probability of the erection of a Memorial library to the soldier dead he recognized the incompatibility of two Memorial libraries in the community and instantly waived his previously expressed wishes, going so far as to inform the Board of Education of its freedom to dispose of his home as it saw fit and devote the proceeds to a war memorial library.

In recognition of the generous position of Mr. Sales in this movement the least the community should do would be to perpetuate within the War library building itself the memory of Mrs. Sales, both as tribute to the outstanding part she played in this community during her lifetime and in community wide acknowledgment of Mr. Sales' prominent part in its achievement.

It is understood that it is the fixed intention of the Honor Roll Association and the Board of Education that this be done.

The library is to be built on the school property at the corner of Kercheval avenue and Fisher road. It will be a public library in the fullest sense but will be maintained in perpetuity by the School district out of public taxation, as is fitting and right for a project of this character.

The building will have to be built by the free will offerings of the people of Grosse Pointe. There should be no doubt or hesitation about Grosse Pointe doing this, and handsomely.

A community wherein a relatively few families can raise nearly a million dollars to provide select school facilities for less than seven hundred of its children should have small difficulty, nor lack the spirit, in raising half or an equal amount to memorialize the three thousand of its sons and daughters who fought our country's battles in the hour of its greatest peril, and of whom more than a hundred sacrificed their lives.

Pay for Councilmen

The Woods village will vote next March on the proposal to pay its councilmen, officially known as commissioners, and their president, a nominal annual salary.

On the score of common sense and simple justice it is hoped the citizens of that village will have the good judgment to sanction the move.

The councilmen of all of the Pointe municipalities have served without pay. These communities have uniformly had a superior type of men on their governing bodies. If the people here had had experience with the kind of councilmen who are running some of the financially and morally bankrupt cities and villages of the country they would better appreciate the sort of public servants with which they have been favored.

These men are busy with their own private affairs in the daytime yet they give many evenings every year to serving their communities when it would be vastly more agreeable to spend the time with their families or their friends.

Many private corporations pay generous fees to their directors for their attendance at meetings. There is no reason why the stockholders of municipal corporations, i.e. the taxpayers, should not reasonably reimburse their fellow citizens who undertake the direction of their public affairs.

In the case of the Woods it is proposed that each commissioner be paid a salary of $400 a year and the President $600. A total of $3,000 annually is only a modest charge for the time and painstaking attention which these gentlemen give to the municipality. It is about what any Pointe municipality pays to a single policeman or fireman.

Military Training

The House has pigeonholed, apparently for a nice long sleep, the Universal Military Training bill. Doubtless this action was in political recognition of the yet unplumbed vote of those fathers and mothers who "didn't raise their boy to be a soldier."

The action is unfortunate at this time. It is bound to be interpreted by some people as conveying doubt as to the seriousness of our intentions to preserve our way of life if we have to fight to do so. War is the court of last resort in all international disputes. A nation which divests itself of the only type of argument which is certain of a respectful hearing in international disputes enters such arguments with the cards stacked against it.

Russia, which is dominated by a social and political cult which insists on its purpose to press its cause throughout the world "by force if necessary," gives no indication of weakening its voice by diminishing its power to fight.

America, with an infinitely more worthy cause to back, should not drift towards weakness at such an anxious period in world affairs.

It is a timely moment for Americans to recall the advice of an earlier and wiser Roosevelt when he told us not to "cut the fire hose when your neighbor's house is on fire."

Never has there been a more urgent time in our whole

"Think not on yesterday, nor trouble borrow
On what may be in store for you tomorrow,

We don't know how we happened to miss "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer," at Christmas time . . . but last Saturday we met Rudolph's author, a personable young man named Robert L. May, who hails from the advertising office of Montgomery Ward in Chicago. Since we had heard Mr. May earlier in the day on Weitzel's radio program, where he was quizzed about the history of "Rudolph" . . . we naturally asked about the book, whereupon quicker than you can pull a bunny out of a hat, Mr. May whisked a copy from his suitcase. While the rest of the guests talked of trivial matters, we buried our slightly red nose in the story of Rudolph . . . and never have we read a more enchanting story told in such inspiring verse.

Mr. May informed us that recordings of the story had been made, and the reason for his visit here was to wind up a few details on a movie short also being made. We have since tried to buy the recordings and have been informed they were sold out at Christmas time. Then we certainly hope they will order more of them NOW. Why an entertaining and top-notch story like Rudolph has to be confined to the holidays alone, we can't imagine. Not only junior, but his parents and grandparents and great grandparents would be equally delighted with the Rudolph at ANY time of the year.

Saturday night was definitely a night of celebrities, as far as we were concerned. Another guest at the same dinner, was a man who had "ghost-written" several books on bridge. For reasons which will soon become clear to our readers, we withhold the bridge expert's name. He asked if we played bridge . . . and being (as it turned out) baselessly terrified that he might ask us to take him on for a rubber, we said we knew VERY little about the game. At that, our hero launched into a dissertation on his personal observation of the women who play bridge and take it seriously. Hang on to your hats, bridge fiends . . . here we go, and remember HE said it, not we.

He sez that all women bridge players are frustrated! They take the little and big disappointments in life out on becoming bridge addicts . . . and flaying their partners verbally or otherwise. He also adds that women who play bridge all the time and make it a life's work (no hobby) are naturally mean! He also sez that bridge colors their entire lives and their poor husbands are treated according to whether or not they had what they term a "good afternoon at bridge."

He went on to say that they are not above giving hidden signals . . . especially when playing with a partner they've played with a lot, who is apt to understand them. They may not MEAN to do it, but they are so carried away with the game they do it unconsciously. Little coughs, a shifting in the seat, a difference between saying "one club" or "I'll bid one club" and hesitating too long before passing, to indicate a possible bid, are some of the hints they prefer to call "psychic." Now that we have everyone suspecting everyone else . . . we'll end this diatribe on female bridge players . . . not the mediocre kind, mind you, like you and us . . . but the big shots! tee hee.

Any ideas on the "walking man?" We know of a woman who spends her life writing letters to try to win radio contests. Her family is never allowed to listen to anything THEY want to hear because she is afraid she will miss a contest or the result of one. They got so fed up with it, they decided to cure her. One night, her husband sneaked in and put the one radio they owned on the blink so no one could hear it. It happened to be on a night when the program called the winning contestant on the phone, so pa had it fixed with a friend of his to call the little woman and pretend she had won something.

Half crazed with frustration over the broken radio, the little woman practically jumped out of her skin when the telephone rang. Sure enough, the family friend did a bang-up job. He told her she had won an electric washing machine . . . but that they wanted to come to her house the following morning to install and demonstrate the thing. He suggested she gather together all curtains that needed laundering because they wanted to show what a beautiful job the machine did. They would guarantee the work. Madame spent the rest of a happy evening taking down curtains all over the house. She even telephoned her married daughter, told her the good news and had HER take all her curtains down and bring them over. Well, that's the end of the story. As far as we know, the curtains are STILL down and she hasn't won a contest yet.

For lo these many years, we have spotted people in the Pointe . . . personages (don't you LOVE that?) . . . that we don't know at all, but whose general appearance reminds us somewhat of characters we know and love in . . . of all places, the comic strip in the Free Press. If we were putting on a play depicting these "funnies" characters, we would pick the following group to play the various parts. Mind you, this is just GENERAL appearance. One's nose may be longer or flatter than the comic strip guy or the latter may be a menace and our local choice might be a sterling citizen or vice-versa. . . it's just in fun and don't try to hold us to blondes and brunettes and exact color of eyes!

For "Terry and the Pirates" we would choose:—
Terry: Bob Evans
Pat: "Timmy" Merrill
Charles-Charles: Tommy Paddock
Spray O'Hara: "Rux" Chapin
For "Dick Tracy" we nominate:—
Dick Tracy: Edwin Henry
Shoulders: Harry Rust

Our "Smilin' Jack" would be none other than Bill Harts "Little Orphan Annie" has us stymied . . . but we'd pick Harley Earl for Punjab and John Stroh for Daddy Warbucks.

"Penny" might be any teen-ager . . . but we'll pick Sara Tiedeman as she was WAY back when she was fifteen . . . and for the Mr. and Mrs. that belong to Penny, our choice would be Grace and Dean Robinson.

For Skeezix, we'd pick Hugo Higbie and for Mrs. Skeezix (if Mr. Fisher doesn't mind) we'd choose Bett Jane (Jacobs) Fisher. We'd like to choose Bill Curran for Joe Palooka . . . but Bill's too darn good lookin'. As for Moon Mullins, Andy and Min Gump, the "Head" and a few others . . . we'll wisely leave the choice to YOU!

history for America to be strong and to appear strong. To permit millions of our young men to grow up in ignorance of military work is unfair to them and false to the Nation. Such a course could lead to disaster on an irreparable scale.

Taft vs Taft

There is something refreshing and pleasing to the people in the rift that has been disclosed between the Taft brothers over the Marshall plan. Bob, the Senator, is cautious and politically careful in his endorsement of the plan. Charles is wholeheartedly for it and says we must go in and do the job right if we are to attempt to pioneer European recovery at all.

These men are scions of one of America's oldest and most politically influential families. They are sons of a former President of the United States. The happy little argument that has arisen between them may not have any determining bearing on the fate of the plan but it at least should be a knife in the body of the stock argument of the commies and our own economic and social arrangers that the rulers of this country are a compact little group who always act as a unit and who know what they want and how to get it.

Talley Rant

by Helen Talley

We have all heard I trust, of the three R's. Let us seriously consider, from now on, the four P's. Perfect Preparedness Preserves Peace.

A friend of mine called, shall we say, Christine, was in South America not long ago and met a most attractive couple with whom she spent a week-end at their place in the mountains. Late one night they were sitting before the big wood fire having a few drinks. The wife, for one reason or another, left the room. The husband rose to place a log on the fire. As he did so, he leaned over and kissed the surprised Christine firmly on the mouth. "That's something I've wanted to do all evening," said the uninhibited creature.

Last week the South American couple was in New York and went to dine with my friend. As the wife, quite a charming bit herself, went to put her wraps in the dressing room, the husband gave Christine a lusty buss on the cheek. "That's just for station identification," he said.

All of which leads me to the insane question: What is a gentleman? GIVE UP? Well, a gentleman is a patient wolf.

GIPSY ROSE LEE gave birth to one not too long ago—a gentleman, that is, not a wolf. She told her friends that no one could possibly have been more surprised than she to find that it had only one head and no teeth.

I was in the STORK CLUB the other night with VICTOR WEYBRIGHT, United States head of Penguin Books. You know, those little 25c books that sell in the millions. He said that the American house has terminated its association with the English company and will shortly change its imprint. Headed by WEYBRIGHT as chairman and editor and KURT ENOCH as treasurer, the new company will issue SIGNET BOOKS in place of the vanishing little Penguin, and MENTOR BOOKS will replace the Pelicans. VICTOR said the difficulties of import and export regulations, and the hell of exchange controls caused the separation. I don't care what name they are named by as long as the company keeps turning out delicious bits like LOOKING FOR A BLUEBIRD and racy numbers like THE WILD PALMS.

I broke out the good crystal the other night for a dinner and gala—my final performance for the season. The guests were so full of ability and it turned into such a good party that it was spoken about on three radio programs the next day. Maybe you heard! In the first place the fourteen dinner guests were each entirely unattached. Let me be the first to say that they came to eat, not to mate, but let me also be the last to deny that such a situation adds piquancy. The possibilities were fraught. Another little item—PIERRE HAAS, who couldn't come in till later, sent two magnum of magnificent MUMMS to giggle up the proceedings.

About 10:30 other guests began arriving and from then till four the next morning people came and went and we all had fun. During the night we heard four superb pianists—SASHA JANTA, SERGEI SAXE, RUTH CLEARAY and JAQUES FRAY. Sometimes they played to accompany some one and sometimes they played just because they wanted to. Their generosity was more than matched by the delight of the listeners. That endearing little JIMMY CALVO did his whole new routine called FERDINAND THE BULL. Everyone roared for more. JIMMY's fans are single-minded in their devotion.

Late in the evening, SONYA and JON CARRADINE came in. JON had just opened to terrific notices in VOLPONE and was feeling no pain. He not only told some of his most hilarious ENGLISH CLUBMAN stories, but he gave a magnificent recitation of a bit from SHAKESPEARE. The COMMUNITY SINGERS at the end of the party included such well known names as MICHAEL BARTLETT, DICK KOLLMAR, and Grosse Pointe's own CHISHOLM MACDONALD and MRS. ROBERT MARTIN.

Hellion Twists Car Accessories

Mrs. Palmer, of 718 Middlesex, parked her 1947 Cadillac car on Fisher road just south of Kercheval on the evening of Jan. 25 while she attended the Punch and Judy theater.

When she came out to get in her car about 9:30 o'clock she found the windshield wiper twisted, the upright radio aerial on her left front fender bent down around the fender, the side mirror broken off, the gas tank cover bent and twisted around and the ornament on the radiator broken off.

Two Park area Neighborhood Committees met Tuesday and an over-all meeting for the Committee of the City was held the same evening. The first meeting of the Farms Neighborhood Committee is scheduled for February 5.

John Hannan, chairman of the Business Men's Committee, reported that all of the stores in Grosse Pointe have been canvassed and a second contact will be made this week in an effort to obtain 100 per cent participation of all employees.

Lynn Bartlett announced that the schedule of the entire survey and other information has been distributed to parents through the public schools, parochial schools, and Country Day school. Special study programs on tuberculosis are being held for the students in most of the schools.

Dr. Thomas S. Davies, Township Health Officer, has asked for the cooperation of all managers of food handling establishments in urging all their employees to participate in the survey.

In connection with the survey, members of the Lions Club will hear a talk by Norbert Reinstein, health educator for the TB and Health Society, February 5 at a regular meeting to be held at the Van Dyke Club. A movie entitled "This is TB" will also be shown. Mrs. Helene Lang, of the Township Health Department, will speak before the American Association, of University Women Thursday in the home of Mrs. Fred Schuman.

Mrs. James McEvoy, Jr., chairman of radio publicity, and her assistant, Mrs. E. F. Wunsch, have contacted the major radio stations in Detroit and special programs and spot announcements are being planned for use during the Grosse Pointe survey.

Sleep Well?

By FRED M. KOPP, R.Ph.

Of all the restorative powers that Nature holds in store, none is more beneficial than sound, refreshing sleep.

If you sleep well, you can meet the cares of the day with comparative ease. Lack of sleep ravels the nerves, creates a mounting tension, depletes the system.

No amount of sedatives, no careful use of sleep-inducing drugs, suffices the calm restful sleep which Nature intended human beings to enjoy.

Consult your doctor if you cannot sleep well. He will advise you what to do, his prescription can be trusted.

Have this filled by a capable pharmacist.

We are all vulnerable to one form of magic or another... and ours is an age in which we have witnessed the rise of masters who could throw willing nations into states of trance.

FRANK E. KELLY

In the Saturday Review of Literature

MUCH to our amazement, some years ago, we found ourselves sitting in a darkened Seance Circle in a lofty, oak-beamed room in an aristocratic old house on Jefferson Avenue. The hosts at this weird entertainment were a pair of brilliant young artists who were not only hot from Paris, but hot and bothered about the new surrealist art. The boys were rather vague proteges of Miss Lizzie Bliss and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, who were then engaged — between camel rides in Egypt — in founding the Museum of Modern Art. And everybody was being so modern they were moving in our best social triangles instead of the old classic circles.

THE ONE point, however, that we recall of that dubious date was that when the eerie knockings began the upbeat and the table started a rumba in mid-air, we let out a violently old-fashioned scream and demanded that our escort take us home, or at least back to civilization. Actually we never knew until this week how advanced was this childish reaction. What we were witnessing was "Streamlined Witchcraft."

Our enlightenment came with the reading of that hair-raising debunking of modernism, called "Mona Lisa's Mustache," by T. H. Robsjohn-Gibblings. Now anyone who can write a serious art treatise under that antic title really has to be good. Mr. Robsjohn-Gibblings is more than merely good, being the gentleman who also debunked the antique racket under the title, "Good-Bye, Mr. Chippendale."

We'd been on the trail of "Mona Lisa's Mustache" for so long that when Mrs. Dobriner, the literary sleuth finally came up with it, we just hung out the Do-Not-Disturb sign, and wallowed in it like a freed Black dahlia murderer with her scrap book. Mr. Robsjohn-Gibblings takes the fable out of the label of the big name boys of alleged modern art. He goes behind their palettes to their politics and philosophy that inspired their paintings.

He exposes them in their own words:

Gauguin who said "Your civilization is your disease, my barbarism my restoration to health."

Marinetti, proclaimed the cultural leader of the Fascists, after their march on Rome, who scorned democracy in these words: "Elections are the exploitation of idiots by hypocrites."

Picasso who said "There ought to be an absolute dictatorship... dictatorship of painters... a dictatorship of one painter."

Sorel, Kadinsky, Matisse, Cezanne, Max Ernst, Salvador Dali, Rene Crevel — all the sacred names are lined up as allied to two camps—Fascism or Communism. Mr. Robsjohn-Gibblings lists the names of those allied with the Fascist dictators, and names those artists who signed a plan for assisting in the Russian Revolution.

He takes you smack back to the beginnings of Futurism, proving it to have been incubated under the symbols of Hindu, Voodoo and Negroid magic, brought back to the studios of France, Italy and Germany by the artistic apostles of Madame Blavatsky. The geometric patterns of nature — the cube, the cylinder, the sphere, the cone—became so entwined with the Black Magic of barbarism that the secret meaning of the paintings were known only to the members of Elitism.

This necromancy reached its inevitable inanity when the Surrealists began painting in trances, when Andre Breton practised automatic writing in darkened rooms Salvador Dali at length declared himself prepared to "live like a brother with madness."

All this mystic modernism might have gone the way of all flash in America, had not New York's vultures for culture taken up and in turn been taken in by these bemused Barnums. European artists joined a sort of Cafe Society of the Arts, and American artists found the simplest way to ring the cash register was first to ring the Social Register.

There is, obviously, a vast need for progress in contemporary art and architecture. But there is likewise a greater need for fearless critics such as Mr. Robsjohn-Gibblings who are not bowled over by Big Names in any art collection, and for uninhibited art experts on The New York Times who can look at anybody's canvass and give it The Brush-off if that's what it rates.

One of the most significant references in Mona Lisa's Mustache is the rumour that Pablo Picasso himself, having wearied of being the Millionaires' Modernist, has been hiding his own pet paintings in a locked room in Paris—paintings he does in the classic, romantic mood of Ingres and Gainsborough. When and if, Pablo Picasso opens that door, Mona Lisa can pull off her mustache and keep on smiling inscrutably at the lovers of fine art. For Mona Lisa's Mustache proves that if Kercheval on the afternoon of Jan. 24 when Wheatin fell against the plate glass window and broke you're not really crazy. Maybe you're just violently sane!

Announce Betrothal Of Marva Machris

Her Engagement to Charles Adrian Joyce of Cleveland Disclosed at Reception Held in DAC Sunday Afternoon

At a reception at the D.A.C. last Sunday, Feb. 1, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Machris of Lochmoor boulevard, announced the engagement of their daughter, Marva Audrey, to Charles Adrian Joyce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Page Joyce, of Cleveland, O.

With the betrothal announcement came the news that the couple are planning a late June wedding date.

The truth was revealed in the valentine decorations. Over the doorway of the club's ladies dining room, where guests assembled, was a large red satin heart, lace-filled, on which was superimposed a picture of the couple.

White match folders and napkins were lettered in red with "Marva and Chuck." The valentine theme was carried out in the beautiful arrangement of red and white carnations centering the table. On either side, white candles gleamed in silver candleabra.

For the festivity, Marva wore an afternoon dress combining a black taffeta ballerina skirt and bodice of black lace over pastel pink chiffon, and a white orchid corsage. Mrs. Machris' ankle-length dress of black sheer had a bustle effect in the skirt, the bodice featuring an inset of black lace over pink. Coque feathers trimmed her small black straw hat and she wore a white orchid.

Mrs. Joyce was in beige wool with brown hat and accessories and a brown orchid corsage. She and Mr. Joyce, with their sons, Chuck and David, arrived from Cleveland Sunday morning to remain until Monday.

Marva is a graduate of the Liggett School and now is a sophomore at Bowling Green State University at Bowling Green, O. Her fiance attended the University School at Snaker Heights, O., before his three years' service in the Marine Corps, where he was a lieutenant, and is now in his senior year at Bowling Green State U.

Both are swimmers, the bride-elect belonging to the Swans, swimming club at the university, and Chuck being captain of the varsity swimming team.

Present at the party were Marva's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Machris, and from Fort Huron came her uncle and aunt, the James E. Maxwells, and their daughter, Charlene, and another aunt, Miss Rhea Germain.

Mrs. Lee DeNike will be hostess at a linen shower for Celia on Saturday.

Betty Ann Towar Rode, (to be Celia's only attendant at the March 6 ceremony), will give a cocktail party honoring the engaged pair on St. Valentine's Day at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Towar of University place.

Women Voters Plan Discussion

The League for Women Voters of the Fourteenth Congressional District will hold a meeting at 1:30 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 9, in the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

Mrs. Harold Schroeder will lead the discussion on "Spiraling Prices." All interested are cordially invited to attend.

A class in rhythmic exercise for women will start on Thursday evening, February 5, in the Grosse Pointe High School. Mrs. Therese Pletz, formerly director of women's activities for the Detroit Turners, will be the instructor.

The class work consists of rhythmic exercises to music that tend to eliminate nervous and muscular tension, development of natural swinging movements that produce flexibility, coordination, good posture, strengthening of all trunk muscles, particularly those of the abdominal region, and correct breathing.

Mrs. Pletz will conduct her class so that it will meet the needs of the various individuals enrolled, whether they are office workers, teachers, housewives, business women, or club women.

For those women who wish to swim after the rhythmic class, the pool will be available with or without instruction; for women who do not wish the rhythmic exercise activities, but who would like to swim, the pool will be open from 7:45 p.m.-9:30 p.m.

If you are interested in either type of class, call the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, N. 1. 2000, Extension 25 for reservations as the class will be limited.

This year, 1948, has an extra day. Give that extra day's pay to the United Nations Appeal for Children and help save 230,000,000 from starvation.

St. Joan of Arc Parish Plans Pre-Lenten Party

St. Joan of Arc Parish will give a party, sponsored by the Rosary Sodality, on February 10, at 8:30 o'clock.

refreshments. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

Ends cannot justify means. But they can inspire them.

So to speak,
first we build a nest—

MAYBE WE shouldn't stop to reflect, maybe we shouldn't look back, perhaps it's true that business is just a sentiment-less necessity in our way of life, but somehow it does seem that we've always been better able to serve . . . better able to sense our obligations to customers when we halt occasionally to look back to the beginning of this, still humble, radio repair business which we founded just thirteen years ago.

We just had a will and lots of hope then, the sort of thing most young folks have when they venture forth. And, too, like them we, so to speak, first built a nest . . . a humble one indeed, and we're still occupying it . . . here on Kercheval Avenue in the heart of the Village. We utilize every inch of it, to be sure! It is, however, not the nest that has mattered, but rather the place we've come to know as ours in the confidence of Grosse Pointers, the people whom we've served so long. We wouldn't trade it for all the new nests in the world.

And, of course, we go right on fixing radios . . . promptly . . . sensibly . . . economically. We just do SERVICE, and what a big, important job it is!

PERSONAL APPEARANCES

MRS. MEADE BAKER was glimpsed recently in a stunning outfit combining the casual outdoor clothes she likes so well... and which she wears so well! Wonderful looking lipstick, red skirt, definitely the n-e-w look kind, with a crisp white blouse under a veddy tailored green suede vest. Pearl studs on the blouse. And over all a lush beaver coat. No topper but that elegant scrubbed look on her pretty face which greets her host of Pointe friends. Just lip rouge.

MRS. WALTER BUHL FORD is dancing in a frock especially created for dancing. Particularly striking with her dark, good looks, she chose a Nassau pink lacy gown designed off the shoulder. The full, full skirt had detail of rhinestones sprinkled down the very front that twinkled as she danced by.

MRS. BENSON FORD lunched at the Little Club in a costume whose "New Look" penetrated even the bootery! Closed IN heels and toes featured her severely plain black kid pumps. Her costume was a beautifully-cut black wool suit (cut by a famous designer) which was brightened with great globes of gold coins dangling from a wrist bracelet. The gold was accented in the gypsy golden earrings she wore. The suit's stark white blouse had an attractive appliqued monogram in the very front. With this, a milk coat worn over the shoulder.

MRS. THOMAS HENRY JR. was another "talored woman" in our fashion parade. Her clay wool sport frock was diagonally striped in fine lines of emerald green and belted in a matching emerald leather. Emerald lizard platforms complemented the tone in her frock and emerald jewels were flecked in gold.

PILFERINGS

Boners of modern school children:

- "Socrates died of an overdose of weadlock."
- "A horse divided against itself cannot stand."
- "A yokel is the way people talk to each other in the Alps."
- "An octopus is a person who hopes for the best."

"The first prize at a fancy-dress dance—a silver teapot—was won by a man who went as a burglar. This was some time before the function began."—Punch.

"Wilson Mizner, of the Klondike and Times Square, died in Hollywood on April 3, 1933, at the age of 56. His fame has grown steadily since," writes his biographer, Alva Johnston.

Mizner, who wrote little, is quoted the country over. His philosophical maxims included "Be nice to people on your way up because you'll meet 'em on your way down," and "If you steal from one author, it's plagiarism; if you steal from many, it's research"; and "Life's a tough proposition, and the first hundred years are the hardest." He was said to be the hardest, coldest and most callous man in the world.

"But," writes Johnston, "there were large gaps in this pose." He tells of how Mizner used to visit his pals in narcotic hospital; how he really had great talent for comforting a friend in distress.

One day he became alarmed over the change he saw in a friend, a screen writer who believed himself to be suffering from incipient insanity. The writer had tried to introduce a man he had known a quarter of a century to another he had known 10 years. He couldn't remember the name of either. He was sure his mind was cracking up. Comforted Mizner:

"I've known you for 30 years and this is the most hopeful sign I've seen in you. Now you're going to amount to something. Don't you know that when you forget your wife's name, your telephone number, and where you live, you're getting somewhere? Where would you be if you know all the vice-presidents by their first names? You'd be getting thirty dollars a week."

Pointer of Interest

MRS. OTIS U. WALKER OF WESTCHESTER ROAD

By Zane Laidlaw

A book published in the twentieth century led Mrs. Otis U. Walker in quest of those published in earlier times and piqued that interest in the quirks and intricacies of literature which denotes the true "first edition fanatic."

"The Amenities of Book Collecting," a work written in 1916 by one A. Edward Newton, was presented to Mrs. Walker several years ago and her present collection is testimonial to the author's infectious enthusiasm. When she finished reading it she knew that she had become "thoroughly bitten by the collecting bug."

Mrs. Walker's interest grew from the average book-lover's perfunctory notice of binding, type-faces and make-up to a thorough knowledge of edition publishing, ancient and modern.

A LOST ART

In her studies, she became intrigued by a description of an art which is apparently lost today—the fore-edge painting. Delicately drawn and minute in detail, these paintings were done, but only rarely—beneath the gilt edging of books published in England in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. They are invisible when the book is shut, but when the pages are spread slightly a complete picture, usually a landscape springs into view.

It was Mrs. Walker's aim to find a book with a fore-edge painting, and when she did, it became the prize of her collection. The book is a beautifully bound edition of Milton's "Paradise Regained" and the painting is of Chalfont St. Giles in England.

"FOR NORREYS"

Its first owner provides added interest in the book today. The book plate bears an impressive coat of arms and an equally impressive name: The Right Honourable Montagu, Earl of Abingdon, Baron Norreys of Rycott. And in a young boy's handwriting on the title page is the inscription, "Norreys — given him by T. Egerton on his leaving Eton Dec. 30, 1824."

Another "first" outstanding in Mrs. Walker's collection is "Billies in the Low Countries," a series of letters published in 1818 and distinguished by the fact that it contains four color plates by the famed George Cruikshank, drawings which now, perhaps, would appear crudely done but in that time were exciting novelties.

A morocco-bound first edition of "Mary Queen of Scots," (1826) Mrs. Walker finds amusing as well as handsome: it has the obviously prejudiced subtitle "HER PERSECUTIONS, SUFFERINGS AND TRIALS FROM HER BIRTH TILL HER DEATH . . . FULL EXPOSURE OF THE INTRIGUES OF QUEEN ELIZABETH . . . CONSPIRACIES AND PERFEDES OF THE PROTESTANT LORDS . . . THE FORGERIES OF BUCHANAN."

RARE DICKENS' VOLUMES

Charles Dickens is represented by two first editions in Mrs. Walker's library—one published in 1848 and the other in 1934. The former is a copy of "Dombey and Son" in the original flexible green covers and extremely fine type; the latter is "The Life of Our Lord," written by Dickens for his children in 1846-49, but not published until after the death of the youngest child.

Also listed by the vivacious collector as favorite "firsts" are an Irish edition of Boswell's "Journal of a Tour to the Hebrides" with Samuel Johnson, Esq. (1775); Sir Robert Ker Porter's "Narrative of the Campaign in Russia" (1814); and "Percy Anecdotes" (1823), written by Shelto and Reuben Percy, brothers in a Benedictine Monastery. They were commissioned to collect a group of humorous anecdotes by George Colman the Younger and a group of tales of the imagination by Sir Walter Scott, both of which compilations are combined in one volume.

THE MODERNS

Mrs. Walker points out that the collection of first editions is not limited to books of former years—she has begun a group of finely-bound contemporary editions, such as those of George Bernard Shaw, John Galsworthy, and Rudyard Kipling.

The least impressive copy in Mrs. Walker's library, however, is one which, perhaps, would prove of most interest to Grosse Pointers and Detroiters. Dog-eared and weather stained, with paper covers, it is the Directory of the City of Detroit, 1837.

In its 114 pages are listed each of Detroit's seven churches, each male citizen (the directory proudly points out that in three years population had jumped from slightly more than 4,000 to the grand total of 9,763 souls); and each place of business.

QUAILS AND GENTLEMEN

Of note is the fact that Naglee's Coffee House listed on its 1837 bill of fare (a page long one) "Partridges, Pheasants, Quails, Rabbits, Squirrels, Snipes and Woodcocks"—and Corned Beef."

And one Detroitier, in company with hundreds of blacksmiths, joiners and merchants, gave his listing to the directory as "Antoine Rivard, 359 Jefferson—GENTLEMAN."

BLACKOUT

Leo Carrier, of 822 Neff, suffered so violent a coughing spell in his home on Jan. 28 that he lost consciousness and fell down, causing a severe injury to his head.

War Hero Joins Mondry Cleaners

Lieut. Col. D. Walter Allard, whose remarkable war record earned him a Distinguished Service Cross, and decorations by the French, Luxembourg and Russian governments, has resigned from his Regular Army commission to go into business in his old home town, Grosse Pointe.

Allard has become a member of the firm of Mondry Cleaners, Inc. in Fisher road. The appointment was announced by David E. McCarron, president of Mondry.

Allard served with the Army six years. He rose from the rank of private and was wounded at Melun, France, while leading an attack across the Seine river. Mondry has been serving the Pointe for 25 years and has its own modern plant and storage vault. Mr. McCarron has had 21 years experience in the cleaning and dyeing business.

Adult Students Needed in Class

Have you ever watched someone working on a lathe or milling machine and wished you could have the opportunity to try your hand at making something out of metal?

You need not wish any longer. The machine shop class is now forming at Grosse Pointe High School and meets on Wednesday nights from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

This class should be particularly interesting and helpful to sailors who have their own boats, inasmuch as there are many fittings that can be made in this class for a fraction of what it would cost if purchased from a regular marine store.

Mr. Carothers, the instructor, has many interesting projects that can be made by those who never dreamed they could operate the machinery in a shop of this sort.
