

Little Club Sailors Rescue Canadians Clinging to Boat

Overturned Craft Later Hauled to Shore by Dominion Naval Personnel; Quartet from Across Lake Suffer Exposure

Four Canadian young men, two 25 and two 22, were thankful Labor Day afternoon that four Grosse Pointe young men had decided to do their sailing off the Little Club instead of proceeding on to the Old Club as at first intended.

Frank Sheldon, of Provincial road, and his house guest, Winston McClellan of New York City, and Jim Donahue and Dick Cheatham of Grosse Pointe were sailing in a Luger 16 when they espied an overturned sailboat dead ahead of them near Peche Island, at about 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. At first glance they took it to be an overturned row boat but a moment later saw four men clinging to it.

The waves were quite high and it took some careful maneuvering to get the men off.

They took them to the Little Club for a quick restorative and phoned the Coast Guard. The Coast Guard could not bring the overturned boat in, as it was of foreign registry and notified the Canadian Navy authorities, who took it in.

The rescuers said the Canadians were not in any special danger but as they had been in the water a half hour they were somewhat exhausted.

The names of the Canadians could not all be recalled. They lived on the Canadian side of the lake above Windsor.

Sherman Raps Price Supports

Arthur G. Sherman, Republican candidate for Congress in the 14th District, yesterday answered supporters of the farm price support program who contend that too much emphasis is being placed on the program as a cause of high prices.

"If parity prices are not responsible for keeping food prices high, there should be no objection to their repeal," Mr. Sherman pointed out. "After all, that's what they are designed to do. The exorbitant prices of food today, when the country is faced with the largest crops in its history, is proof the program does keep prices high."

"Farming becomes a discouraging business when city people are unemployed and cannot buy farm production. The best support the farmer can have is adequate purchasing power in the hands of city dwellers so the farmer can be assured a market for his products," Mr. Sherman continued.

Julius Huebner Ends Own Life

Julius F. Huebner, of 16355 E.

Jefferson avenue committed suicide on August 1 by shooting himself in the breast with a 20 gauge shot gun loaded with slugs.

Neighbors heard a report about 1:30 in the afternoon but did not associate it with a firearm. When his son, Julius, came home shortly after 4 o'clock he found his father's body. They were the only ones at home, the wife and daughter being vacationing at Pendwater, Michigan.

Mr. Huebner was of a highly nervous temperament and much given to worrying. His son stated there was no financial reason or other known cause why this should be so. He was 47 years old.

A representative from the coroner's office investigated and said there was no occasion to hold an inquest and gave permission for the undertaker to remove the body.

He left a note addressed: "To the proper authorities: I can no longer face the world nor the people in it." He is survived by his wife, Adele; a son, Julius John, and a daughter, Adele Louise.

He was born on Fort Street, Detroit, on February 1, 1901 and was a graduate of the University of Michigan. He was a technical engineer salesman with the Clinton Motor company.

The funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock in Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, and burial was in Woodlawn cemetery.

NANCY VOORHEES

With one day of school behind us and a long winter to look forward to even, the last summer get-togethers seem far away and only memories remain.

Last Wednesday Janie Lundgren invited a few young misses to a dessert luncheon over Harvard road way. Meg McKenzie, Marty Fairless, Polly Wilton and her houseguest Judy Byser, Gladys Ostermann, Doris Deising, and Marilyn Walters were the lucky gals comparing vacation notes and discussing their coming senior year at G. P. H. S.

A picnic is a grand way to make the most of a fast diminishing vacation, so Lester Bauer got a bunch of his friends together and off they went for a day at his cottage on Lake Huron. His date Sally Hubbard, Katie Wieland and Jack Beyer, and Pat Ford and Bill Trousedale spent a lot of their time eating, improving their sunbans, and enjoying the sparkling water.

Eljean Mattice is another gal hostessing an end-of-vacation luncheon. Some of the girls discussing back to school plans between bites of the delicious cuisine were Jean Swan, Adele Huebner, Sally Reynolds, "Myrt" Kitchen, Delsie Sawusch, Mary Lou Meininger, Diane Wuerker, Jody Trefry, and Jeanne Morrison.

"Jack and Bill's Park" opened Friday night for a one night stand when two smart lads gave one of the most novel parties the Pointe has seen in a long time. Complete with balloons and Japanese lanterns, the "park" had badminton, croquet and horse shoes.

Seen roasting hot dogs, and later marshmallows, over two huge bonfires were the hosts, Jack Wilson and Bill Siebert, and their dates, Barb Barnes and Marian Rennie, Shirley Davis and Lorne Norton, Don Lewis and Marty Fairless, Barb Elliott and Rick Schmitz, Nancy Bolles and Clare Sober. More couples seen dancing or wading in the buckets provided for that purpose were Nancy Weed and Ray Sawusch, Florence Erringer and Paul Deely, and Buffy Wicking and Jack McCrae.

GLADSTONE—The man who made the "better mousetrap" 50 years ago this September, was Webster L. Marble.

The founder of the Marble Arms and Manufacturing Company, Gladstone's leading industry, prove the old adage still holds good. A world of sportsmen beat a path, through purchase of his quality hunting and fishing equipment, to this Upper Peninsula small town.

The story of Marble is the story of American opportunity.

It is another Michigan Algonquian chapter in the annals of frontier enterprise.

LANSING MARBLE. A TIMBER CRUISER, took up a homestead near Frankfort on the lower shore of Lake Michigan. Here his son, Webster, at the age of 14, started to follow the woods as a career.

"I took to the woods like a duck to the water," he once related. "The greatest enjoyment of my life has come in the woods. As a young fellow, I got my greatest thrill out of starting out with a map and a compass to explore new territory, to carry very little equipment, and stow wherever night overtook me."

"I was gratified to feel that I was remote from everything civilized and exploring new regions."

HIS VENTURES INTO Michigan forests prompted him to design a metal guard to fit over a small pocket axe. This replaced the unwieldy axe which hung at his belt.

Other hunters, fishermen and trappers liked it.

"Make me one just like it," was the familiar plea.

So Webster installed a little workshop at the rear of his home in Gladstone. That was in 1898. In the first year he manufactured 3,000 safety pocket axes.

KNIVES CAME NEXT. And then followed other improved items: Waterproof match box, compasses, special trout knife, clincher gaff for landing fish, gun sights, gun cleaners and rods, and nitro solvent oil.

The idea for the waterproof match box came to Marble while he was traveling on a train north from Grand Rapids. The new product clicked instantly. During World War I, for example, the English government ordered 12,000 for use of soldiers in the trenches.

ANOTHER HARD TO BELIEVE FACT: Ninety per cent of Marble-made knives are bought by sportsmen who have no practical need for them. They want a knife as an ornament, to display, or perhaps for the pleasure of merely possessing it. This observation was made by Marble himself. Hence the popularity of stag handles.

Today, the business run efficiently by James T. Jones, general manager since 1912. "Jim" joined the firm in 1905 as an accountant. William L. Marble, eldest son of the founder, is the president of the firm. Jones is president of subsidiary corporation, Marble-Carl Electric Company, which manufactures electric motors. The two plants at Gladstone employ approximately 100 persons, mostly men.

WEBSTER L. MARBLE preferred his hunting camp at Round Lake, about 33 miles north and east of Gladstone, to the ease and comforts of city living.

It was in September, 1930, when he went to camp for the last time.

His friends say he would have wanted it that way. He died in the woods.

The story of Webster L. Marble is a mirror of American enterprise in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan 50 years ago this September.

GLADSTONE, ADJACENT ESCANABA on Little Bay de Noc of Lake Michigan, has an outstanding recreational program for a town of its size.

The city's choice land along the lake front has been converted into a public park, eight blocks long, with a small harbor for boats, beach-house, trailer park with laundry building, and children's swings, playground merry-go-round, and slides.

The Gladstone playground is illuminated for night baseball. A recreation building, 40 by 60, is used in winter months as a warming house for ice skating and hockey and in summer months as a clubhouse. Fishing is excellent in the Little Bay de Noc: Northern pike, walleyes, perch and black bass.

Somehow, Gladstone's emphasis upon recreation exemplifies the spirit of Webster L. Marble. Like the man who made the town famous, Gladstone is making a business out of play.

Pointe will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward F. Wright, 593 University place, on Thursday, Sept. 16. Youngblood Seen As Vets' Friend

Congressman Harold F. Youngblood, Republican of Michigan's 14th District, was spotlighted as a staunch guardian of veterans' welfare in a recent survey of veterans' legislation enacted by the 80th Congress.

A total of 188 bills directly benefitting ex-GI's and their families were made into law during the 80th Congressional session—many of them over protests of the Administration and all of them after President Truman asserted in his message in Congress on January 6, 1947, that "except for minor adjustments, I believe our program for veterans is now complete."

Despite continued reports against major veterans legislation filed by the Director of the Veterans Administration who protested that the proposed legislation was not in accord with the President's program, Youngblood voted in favor of increased subsistence for student GI's; increased allowances for on-the-job trainees; immediate cashing of terminal leave bonds for enlisted personnel; higher pensions for Spanish-American War veterans; and increased compensation for dependent survivors of war dead.

In addition Youngblood, himself a veteran of 7 years with the 32nd Division in an infantry company, voted for veteran home building and government home loans; special automobiles for amputees; extended insurance renewal period for a second five-year term; allowed presumption of service connected for chronic and tropic diseases in applications for disability benefits; authorized a $1 a day subsistence allowance to War II veterans for each day spent in Japanese prison camps.

Four-year-old David Alger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Alger, Jr., proved that Algiers become equestrians young when he took part in the pony lead ring class. Mr. and Mrs. Alger came in from Lansing for the show and with their debutante daughter, Suzette, Frederick III, the four-year-old, and Mr. Alger's mother, Mrs. Fred T. Murphy stayed at the Metamora lodge of the Harold R. Boyers. Also at the Boyers' Heltter Shelter were Frannie Boyer, Mary, Harold, Jr., and Alger.

Other Pointers who took part in the show included Mrs. Wilson W. Mills, Mrs. Edward P. Hammond, Miss Mary Margaret Sweeney, Mrs. Laura Butler Higbie and Mrs. J. Deane Rucker, all of whom belonged to the Grosse Pointe and Bloomfield Hunts before Metamora was organized.

Sally Frost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford Frost, Jr., will be the Pointe's only autumn debutante. Sally is scheduled to bow to society at an afternoon reception and tea Sept. 15 to be given at the Country Club by her mother, and her grandmother, Mrs. William H. Rea of the Wardell.

Ten friends of the budding will assist her at the reception. Two of these are from out of town and are classmates of Sally's at Bradford Junior College. Joan Stringer Wed To Robert T. Magee

Ceremony Being Performed at High Noon Today in St. Paul's; Young Couple to Make Home in New Orleans

This was the week of brides wearing gowns they had designed themselves for like Peggy Zeder, Joan Stringer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max J. Stringer of Rivard boulevard, drew the designs for her own wedding dress.

Joan became the bride of Robert Toweles Magee of New Orleans today at high noon in a ceremony at St. Paul's on the Lake. Rev. Father Richard Parrish officiated.

Combining gleaming white satin with seed pearls and a misty veil of sheerest silk tulle, Joan was a beautiful bride. The fitted bodice of her wedding dress ended in a tiny Dutch collar and long, fitted sleeves (the collar was embroidered in pearls), while the skirt was long and moderately full ending in a slight train at the back. A wide sash of satin was worn at the waistline. The bride wore a crownless brim of tulle from which fell her wedding veil extending over the train of her dress. She carried a colonial bouquet of jasmine butterfly orchids and stephanotis.

Anne Stringer was her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Adele Conolly, Mrs. Edward F. Strauss Jr., of New Orleans; Mrs. Lewis A. Dibble Jr., of Naugatuck, Conn.; Barbara Ann Weeks and Patsy Posselius.

All wore identical gowns of golden satin designed with very full skirts, fitted bodices distinguished by sweetheart necklines and cap sleeves. They wore crownless brims of matching satin and carried colonial bouquets of bending bronze and golden beehives.

Mrs. Stringer was smartly gowned in Nassau blue pure silk floor length frock with which she wore a caramel French velour chapeau. She pinned purple orchids to the handbag which was made of her dress material.

Frank G. Costley was best man and guests were seated by Daniel M. Magee of New York City, a brother of the bridegroom; Edward Staus Jr., Ed LeBreton Jr., Helton Dickson, Charles Oatis Ogden Jr. and Ulisse M. Nolan, all of New Orleans.

The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis Pickens Magee of New Orleans. The newly married Magees left for their wedding trip to Sea Island, Ga. Mrs. Magee traveled in a chic gray taffeta dress which had elbow length sleeves, V neckline and full skirt. Her matching taffeta poke bonnet was stunning with its trim of scarlet feathers and ribbon. Accessories were scarlet and she wore her wedding orchids.

After Sept. 25, the young couple will be at 1905 S. Carrollton street, New Orleans.

LEADERS TO MEET Rosemary Kleffman of Buckingham road, treasurer of the junior class at Mount Mary College, Milwaukee, Wis., will attend a Leadership School for officers of campus organizations, to be held at the college on September 15, 16 and 17.

The bride-elect is a Michigan State College graduate. Her fiance attended the University of Detroit.

The party took place in one of the private rooms of the Women's City Club. The guest of honor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brink of Berkshire road and her engagement to Linus Llewellyn of Palm Beach was recently announced by her parents. The young couple are planning an early winter wedding.

The bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Brink, presided at the lovely tea table (the cloth was a handsome white lace and flanking the centerpiece were white tapers). The guests included Mrs. John E. Brink, Mrs. William O. Brink, Mrs. Russell V. Nutter, Mrs. Arthur Colton, Mrs. Paul Williams.

Behrendt Seeks Post of Auditor

Henry A. Behrendt, nephew of former Sheriff Henry Behrendt, and Republican candidate for County Auditor at the Primary next Tuesday, is a highly successful private auditor of 15 years' experience, who has handled some of Wayne County's largest accounts.

If elected, Behrendt pledges ability alone will govern his appointments, not political affiliations. He further states he will not tolerate the present practice of allowing present officials to turn in collected money, which should have been accounted for every six months, only in election time for publicity purposes, or when they find an official has embezzled funds and they find it necessary to prosecute. Under Behrendt these records would be brought in monthly, or the officials bonds would be forfeited; a collector system of checking all monies paid out by the County of Wayne would be installed and all purchases except minor items would be strictly on a competitive bid basis.

Glenn C. Hague Seeks Election

Glenn C. Hague, Republican candidate for Wayne County Prosecuting Attorney, is a preferred candidate of the Detroit Citizens League.

His success an assistant prosecutor in charge of the famous Ferguson Grand Jury cases early in his career and his recent work in forcing racketeers out of the retail liquor business in Michigan are well known.

Born in Jackson, Mich., in 1906, Hague was educated in the public schools of Detroit and in 1929 was graduated from the Detroit College of Law. He entered private practice here but later was persuaded to accept the post of chief trial attorney for the Wayne County Prosecutor's office. He held this post for four years.

THE EXTRA COMFORT HINGES ON GOOD GEOMETRY YOU know how that Buick of yours can take the turns without swing, sway or squeal. It means less fatigue and more solid hold-the-road comfort from every mile you travel. Credit a big share of that comfort to the geometry of Buick front-wheel suspension. The wheels are set so that they bank slightly on the curves—and so the inside wheel turns a degree or two sharper than the outside one. And they're hung at an angle that lets them give slightly to help in cushioning road shocks. So good Buick front-wheel service means a lot more than lining them up to ease tire wear. It's a job for men who know Buick front-wheel action—who have Buick approved checking equipment and tools to make adjustments—who have at hand Buick Engineered Parts for any replacements. This is just another example of what we mean when we talk about Buick car care. Whether it's for a front-end check or any other attention, bring your car to us. We'll show you the difference between ordinary service and Buick car care. BUICK CARE KEEPS BUICKS BEST Turner Buick, Inc. Sales and Service 15103 KERCHVAL Phone Valley 1-3400
