Wounded Vet Starts Work Too Soon

Suffering from Meningitis and Shrapnel in Spine, Faints on Job

Shortly after eight a. m. on Friday, Oct. 8, the City police station received a call saying a man working as a painter had fainted away at No. 5 Faircourt.

Patrolman Moffat took him to Bon Secours Hospital where he was revived. He mentioned at the hospital that he had had spinal meningitis.

After the man was removed to Bon Secours, Detective Flanagan notified the Park police as the case came in their territory.

Two Years Overseas
The man was Julius Wolschon, 26, of 1711 Vinewood, Detroit. He is a veteran with two years overseas service to his credit.

He was wounded overseas and still carries shrapnel in his spine and at the base of his brain, according to police. He did not tell the people at Bon Secours of this fact.

He was just one of our quickly forgotten young heroes, who was trying to make a living as a painter for his wife and two small children.

VA Is Notified
Detective Hough, of the Park police, has notified the Veterans' Administration of his case and they told Hough they would transfer him to either the Dearborn Veterans' Hospital or the Marine Hospital out here.

The Bon Secours attendants diagnosed his case as vertigo, a natural accompaniment of the spinal meningitis from which he had suffered.

Distant Explosion Becomes Break for 'Unlucky' Thieves

Burglars, Empty-Handed After House-Breaking, Escape When Woods Police Leave to Investigate Blast

Burglars in the Woods got an unexpected break last Wednesday night—after they'd had a "bad" break and obtained no loot.

An explosion a few blocks away gave them the chance to get away, just as Woods police were closing in. The police didn't know how close they were at the time, though.

If they had, they really would have been caught between the devil and the deep blue sea, as the saying goes, trying to decide whether to keep on the trail or go to the explosion.

When Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Yerge, of 1953 Allard, came home from an evening in Canada, they discovered a broken window in the side door and also a cut screen in back.

They told Officers Dick Prietz, Wilbert LaDuke and Everett Plumb when they arrived a few moments later that the thief, or thief, had overlooked several valuable items and taken only two strong boxes.

Scattered on Beds
These contained papers and several hundred dollars in War Bonds, valuable only to the Yerges. The invaders had scattered the contents of several drawers on the beds.

Since the back door was left open by the fleeing thieves, it seemed apparent they had been frightened away by the arrival of the occupants.

While the officers were making a close check of the area, they got a call to an explosion reported at 1699 Bournemouthe.

Found Papers
When the police returned several minutes later, they discovered that a neighbor, E. Erickson, of 1945 Allard, had found the strongboxes and all of the papers strewn about on Chester, at Allard.

Since Plumb had searched that same area earlier, it became immediately apparent that the burglar, or burglars had still been in the vicinity. Still further search was unavailing.

Apparent proof that the thieves had still been there as the police searched was the discovery the next morning by Police Chief Walter Goulette of a pair of trousers, also taken from the Yerge home.

10 Feet Away
Plumb also pointed out signs that somebody had been lying in the bushes within 10 feet of where he had been searching the night before.

Several good finger prints were obtained from the boxes, according to Goulette, making the conviction of the culprits a practical certainty when they are captured.

The explosion at 1699 Bournemouthe turned out to be an oil furnace. All of the pipes were blown off, but no other damage was reported. The occupants of the house were in bed and unharmed.

Stuck Accelerator Blamed As Auto Crashes House
A sticking accelerator was blamed by Paul J. Taube, Jr., 16, of 1404 Kensington, when his car went over the curb and ran into a house at 232 Kerby.

Taube told Farms police he was turning left off Ridge into Kerby when the accelerator stuck, causing him to lose control. The car suffered about $150 damage and the house $20, according to police.

BITTEN BY DOG
Little Pamela Jarson, 4, of 470 Fisher road, was bitten, but apparently not seriously, by a brown and white springer spaniel on Oct. 5, according to Farms police. Officers were unable to find the pup.

Visitor Tells How Bombs Missed Austrian Auto Plant

Joseph de Grimme, whose father was president for 32 years of Austria's leading automobile factory, Graef and Stiff (called the Austrian Rolls-Royce in Vienna), had the surprise of his life, when the present general manager, Josef Graef, and his chief engineer, Alphons Streit, visited him during their stay in Detroit.

Like a miracle, the big factory, which in peacetime made mostly expensive cars, selling for around $10,000 each, escaped bomb damage entirely.

Most of its machinery, though, had been confiscated and removed by the Russians.

Graef described the general atmosphere in Vienna as rather depressing, mainly because the future seems so uncertain.

He is in the United States to buy machinery under the Marshall Plan.

Paving Gets O.K. On Sunningdale

A public hearing was scheduled at the Woods' Council meeting Oct. 5 on two measures which had previously been before council and on which that body believed the citizens should have a right to express their views.

Lorne Ayling had asked for permission to erect a dry cleaning establishment at Country Club and Mack. Some objection was expressed by four or five citizens present and action was deferred.

The petition for a pavement on Sunningdale Park, on a long block of Sunningdale projection towards Mack, was approved. The pavement probably will be completed by the end of the year.

Augustinians Hope to Start School in '49

First Unit to Have Rooms for 1,000 as Well as Offices

No start will be made this year on the high school which the Augustinian Order is planning on the tract purchased two years ago from the City of Grosse Pointe.

This was disclosed to the NEWS this week by the Rev. Charles J. Melchior, provincial of the Order.

Plans now are to start building the first unit as early next year as possible, Father Melchior said. The unit will include classrooms and accommodations for about 1,000 students as well as the administrative offices.

The tract which the Order purchased from the City for $35,000 is roughly described as in the Radnor-Warren-Canyon avenue area. It is about 200 feet wide by more than 5,000 feet long.

After purchasing it the Order sold that part extending beyond Warren to the City of Detroit, which will incorporate the portion lying between Warren and Chandler Park into its park system. The rest will be used for Detroit public school sites.

The part which the Order has reserved for its own use comprises about 18 acres and eventually will be improved with generous athletic facilities.

Reduce Pressure

The master plan for the whole project has been agreed upon and the working plans for the first unit have been prepared.

Smith, Hinchman and Grylls are the architects.

The public school authorities of Grosse Pointe welcome the addition to the educational facilities which the new high school will provide.

They feel it will materially reduce the pressure on the public school facilities which has been a growing problem. The Augustinian school doubtless will draw a large attendance from the Pointes.

Movie Council To Hear Censor

Mrs. Max Williams, chairman of the Motion Picture Censorship Board of Royal Oak, will speak at the annual tea of the Grosse Pointe Motion Picture Council at 1:15 p.m. Monday in the Activities Room of the Richard School. "Going to the Movies" will be the subject of Mrs. Williams' talk. She is a former president of the Greater Detroit Motion Picture Council.

Approximately 80 persons are expected.

New officers of the Council, elected at the last meeting, are Mrs. Blount Slade, vice president; and Mrs. Fred Mosdale, secretary.

Mrs. Daniel Hembel, president, also announced three committee appointments: Mrs. Joseph Murphy, social activities committee, assisted by Mrs. George Haggarty and Mrs. Louis Marick, and Mrs. Daniel L. Wells, publicity committee.

Young Republicans Prepare For Statewide Convention

The Young People's Republican Club of the 14th Congressional District will wind up its plans for the State convention at a meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in Republican Headquarters, 13039 East Jefferson.

The State Convention is scheduled tomorrow through Sunday in Flint, where the Young Republican groups from all over the State will gather to elect State officers.

The 14th District Club has just reactivated this under the leadership of Russell Fancher. At a meeting Oct. 7 the following district officers were elected:

Roland Fortin succeeds Fancher as chairman; William Schultz, vice-chairman; Jeanne Culp, secretary, and Townsend Goebel, treasurer.

The members of the board of control, who will attend the monthly meetings in Lansing, are Rodman Moesta, Joseph Brom, Ann Schultz and Jeanne Culp.

At present Young Republican activities consist of making preparations for the convention, getting younger persons interested in the party and combining all with some social functions.

Anybody under 35 years old who is interested in the program of the Young Republicans, should contact Fortin, at 1441 Lakewood, Apt. 11, VA. 4-8006.

Business Group Initiates Plans For Men's Night

Adoption of plans for creating a special local bureau where Grosse Pointe credit information can be handled and the inaugurating of initial arrangements for the annual Village Men's Night program, were among the Grosse Pointe Business Men's Association actions at its regular meeting Oct. 7.

The meeting, which was held in connection with a dinner at Harvard House, was addressed by Toby Wiant, staff member of Young and Rubicam advertising agency and famous news correspondent of World War II.

Wiant stressed the ever-growing menace of communism in the world.

Among the new members admitted were Eleanor Deuster, public stenographer; Lawrence Helzell, Kemper-Thomas advertising agency; Andrew Petso, of Harvard House; Verle Ryan, of Ryan Shoes, and Dr. Walter Tuttle.

President John Hannan announced that special arrangements are already under way for the November meeting.

Keys Left in 1941 Lincoln, It's Stolen, Found Next Day

"I frequently leave my keys in my car," C. A. Dean, of 221 Lewiston, stated, according to Farms police, after his car was stolen the night of Oct. 5.

The 1941 Lincoln convertible was recovered the next evening when G. C. McCarten, of 236 McKinley, called Farms police to report an apparently abandoned car in front of his house.

The fact the auto was stolen wasn't reported until the next morning.

Dean said he left his car in the driveway and went out with friends.

He didn't think it strange when he returned about 11:30 p.m. and it wasn't there. He assumed one of his employees had put it in the garage, police said.

Board 87, Including Pointes, Registers 10,257 for Draft

The final count on the registration, ended Sept. 18, of 18-25-year-olds for military service in Board No. 87, which includes Grosse Pointe, was 10,257.

Board 87 includes practically all that part of the Detroit area lying east and north of Grand Boulevard to the County lines. It includes all of the old Boards Nos. 20-21-22 and the old Grosse Pointe Board No. 57, and is under the direction of Carl Schweikart, supervisor of Grosse Pointe Township.

Controller William Johnson, of Grosse Pointe Park, had immediate charge of the old No. 57 Board in the Park Municipal Building.

The draft law provides that the 18-year-olds must register within 10 days of reaching their 18th birthday, which marks their liability to military service. These are coming now into the downtown office of Board 87 at an average of five a day.

3 St. Clair Shores Drivers Are Slowed Down--But Fast!

Thursday, Oct. 7, was an unlucky date for St. Clair speedsters who chose to try their "racers" on Grosse Pointe streets, particularly Jefferson avenue.

At 7:30 a.m., City Patrolmen Onstwedder and Martin reported they clocked one Elvira Paulowski Atwood, of 29240 McDonald avenue, St. Clair Shores, moving merrily down Jefferson avenue at 48 m.p.h.

By a coincidence, another car, driven by Floyd Clayborne Alford, of 23545 Glenbrook, according to the officers, was proceeding at the same rate of speed on the same avenue at the same moment. In fact, they were neck and neck, the policemen averred.

Each of the drivers inherited a ticket.

Fifteen minutes later another car, also from the neighboring community, and driven by Donald Roy Guilloz, of 460 Winkler, came along at the more modest speed of 40 m.o.h. The third ticket for Macomb all in fifteen minutes.

Inflation—Whose Fault?

With the recent hopeful signs that the cost of living may at last have ceased its upward spiral and started to recede, it might be timely to consider the causes of inflation. This should be apparent to any common sense, unbiased analysis. The number one cause is, of course, the common universal trait of human selfishness.

"Stay, oh sweet, and do not rise; The light that shines comes from thine eyes; The day breaks not, it is my heart, Because that you and I must part. Stay, or else my joys will die. And perish in their infancy!" (John Donne)

We have been able to add four feathers to our already out-sized hat, thanks to the following fine people who missed our column a couple of weeks ago and were kind enough to write the editor to ask about it.

This is the time of year when our mailboxes are crammed with reminders about our Christmas shopping... little pamphlets, booklets, brochures, catalogues, et al. Little helpful hints for our early shopping, which, with most of us, will take place as usual a few days before Christmas.

Speaking of soap operas... while we were bedded down with an ear glued to one of them, the little man who renovates and hangs our curtains was crashing around in an adjoining room "putting things to right."

We saw something the other evening that caused us to murmur, "There but for the grace of Allah, go I"... because it's the kind of thing we have dreamed so often might happen to us.

We were snooping around a club where a party was in progress... a party full of stiff-shirted gentlemen and ball-gowned ladies. We were in the powder room counting out our money, when in hurried a little woman, obviously late and in a dither.

Physical Examinations By FRED M. KOPP, R. Ph. The next time some one boasts that he has not seen a doctor in five or ten years, look at him a little sadly—for he is to be pitied!

The changes that may occur in the body in that length of time could be a serious threat to continued good health. For it is possible that injury or growth may be present for long periods without causing great pain.

The person who consults a physician regularly for a complete checkup does not expose himself to such dangers. Medication is often important in checking illness, secure the best in drug by choosing a competent pharmacist.

Red Insincerity

Russia's call for disarmament to the extent of one-third of the present armament of the great powers is regarded with skepticism and branded as completely insincere by the other nations... such a reduction would still leave Russia with overwhelming military power in being and would reduce that of the other countries far below their present meager requirements for defense.

Her demand for atomic control is likewise discounted as insincere and meaningless. At the very moment that her demand for atomic control is made, Vishinsky, second in command in her Foreign Ministry and her spokesman at the United Nations meeting, vehemently announces she will never permit the inspection of her internal doings. This, he says, would permit the penetration of her country by a swarm of spies from the world atomic control commission.

Of Interest To Veterans

Student veterans whose dependency status changed during the summer vacation are reminded by Veterans Administration to submit proof of additional dependency as soon as possible to the appropriate VA regional office in which their records are filed.

Veterans with dependents, who are studying full or part-time in schools and colleges under the G.I. Bill, are eligible for additional subsistence payments because of the dependents.

However, legal proof, such as certified copies of public records of birth, baptism, marriage, divorce or other evidence, must be in their VA training file in order to qualify.

Single veterans studying under the G.I. Bill are eligible for monthly subsistence allowances up to $75. Veterans with one dependent may receive $105 per month and veterans with two or more dependents, $120.

Veterans should submit evidence of dependency at once, rather than wait until enrolling for the fall semester in order to insure receiving prompt payments of subsistence at the higher rates.

World War II veterans still may reinstate their National Service Life Insurance, Veterans Administration branch office officials in Columbus, Ohio, explained today.

Some veterans are under the impression they can no longer obtain this government insurance. World War II veterans who can pass a physical examination may reinstate their lapsed insurance at any time.

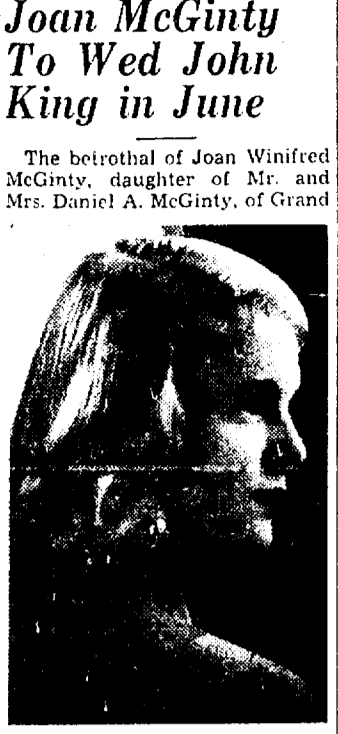

Veterans may reinstate their insurance at any time by passing a physical examination. If the policy has lapsed less than three months, it still may be reinstated without taking a physical examination.

With educational institutions in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky again faced with capacity enrollments this fall, Veterans Administration said today that every assistance will be given disabled veterans in gaining admission to schools of their choice.

VA Branch Office in Columbus, Ohio, said VA training officers will make every effort to place disabled veterans in educational courses they need to complete their vocational training.

Primary responsibility of VA's vocational rehabilitation and education service is the prompt and successful rehabilitation of the disabled veteran. VA said it did not believe any school would refuse to make special arrangements for these veterans if their cases were brought to the schools' attention.

Latest statistics show 8,014 disabled veterans enrolled in educational institutions in the three states under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act, including 4,047 in Ohio, 2,928 in Michigan and 1,039 in Kentucky.

Honeymoon in New York, Lake Placid Follows Ceremony Friday in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church; Couple to Live in Royal Oak

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Morris Nancekivell are honeymooning to New York and Lake Placid following their marriage Friday evening in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

Before the wedding Mrs. Nancekivell was Nora Lockhart Guy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Guy, of Pemberton Rd.

For the candlelight service, Nora wore an ivory satin gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline trimmed with seed pearls. The long circular train extended from a two-tiered bustle and a seed-pearl tiara held her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Dale Wittbrach, as matron of honor, wore a frock of plum-colored taffeta. She carried a cascade arrangement of pale lavender daisy mums and wore a tiara of matching flowers in her hair.

Mrs. Fred Parker and Phyllis Nancekivell, sisters of the bridegroom, and Barbara Ogden were bridesmaids. The trio wore identical gowns of forest green taffeta and their flowers were yellow daisy mums. Matching flowers formed their headpieces.

Ralph Pearce attended Mr. Nancekivell as best man. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Nancekivell, of Royal Oak.

Gerald Guy, Fred Parker and Ken Brooks seated the wedding guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Guy wore a turquoise crepe dress with a tiered skirt. Her hat was of turquoise feathers and she wore a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Nancekivell's gown was beige crepe with brown beaded trim. She had a brown feather chapeau and yellow rosebud corsage.

A reception in the Whittier Hotel followed the ceremony. When the couple left, the bride was wearing a three-piece gabardine suit with black accessories and a white orchid. They will make their home in Royal Oak.

Mary, Mary, quite contrary

Mary Madison

What a heavenly night for a murder—that mysterious midnight of Saturday, September twenty-fifth. That night on which Jasper Noble was accused of having the crime of his life. Like all really inspired crimes, the shooting had gone off like clockwork. The murder of his mother-in-law. And just as a matter of routine, Jasper was booked into the police station to clear up the details.

"Where were you at twelve thirty on the night of September twenty-fifth?" snarled the police captain at the desk.

White Jasper was trying to smoke up a convincing answer, two women rushed up to the desk. One was Jasper's wife; the other was Jasper's girl. The wife and the girl are invariably the two women who, incredibly, rush to the rescue of a murder suspect.

"Jasper was home in bed, at twelve thirty," insisted his wife, thumping the captain's desk.

"Jasper was sitting with me in The Club Parisian, at twelve thirty," persisted his girl, waving her wrist watch.

The police captain eyed them both with scorn.

"He couldn't be both places. Where WERE you, Jasper Noble?"

"I dunno. My mind's gone blank. I musta been outa this world," replied Jasper feebly.

So Jasper was whisked back into this world and a police cell.

When the case came to trial, the murder of his mother-in-law was still unsolved. Nobody knew better than Jasper how long and ardently he had loathed the old witch. With him, it was a case of hate at first sight.

Yet he had not a single clue—only a double alibi.

And the uncanny part of the double alibi is that both women proved they were right. Jasper WAS home in bed at twelve thirty. —Jasper WAS sitting in the Club Parisian at twelve-thirty.

For September twenty-fifth was the night when Daylight Saving time moved back at midnight to Eastern Standard Time. The girl's watch was still running on the daylight saving schedule; the wife's clock had been set back to Eastern Standard Time at midnight. So Jasper had an hour to commit a murder between leaving the Club Parisian and his own home. Technically, he was in both places.

In that time, he had gained an hour—and lost a mother-in-law.

Had he done it? And if not, whodunnit?

The jury had a bad case of nerves by this time, and the judge wanted to get out to a big election banquet in his honor.

So-o-o-o, the case was dismissed on a technicality. Oh, what a heavenly night for the crime of his life!

Speaking of homicides, leave us face it. The old New Look is as dead as the Old New Deal. The gentleman who stabbed it dead at the point of a scissors is the same who brought it into being over two years ago—Christian Dior of Paris. Dior, of course, had a lot of prodding to do the deed from gentlemen all over the world who felt that their lives were getting shorter as skirts were getting longer. And seeing he had started it all, it was up to him to end it all.

Christian Dior has shortened his daytime dresses to 14 inches from the ground. He has likewise shortened his informal cocktail and dinner dresses to 11 to 14 inches from the floor. His formal gowns remain floor length, many of them trailing court trains.

More big news from Dior's new showing is that he has narrowed skirts to a drape-the-shape clinging contour. He has given a "Winged Look" to the shoulders. He has drawn the wandering waistline up to an intriguing high point under the bosom. And he has dreamed up brief little back-flaring jackets to give you an air of shooting through space as you ankle along.

The one exception to the long voluminous skirts and coats is in Dior's very young models, which are beautifully bouffant. And many of the flaring long coats come with a high, wide and handsome belt to pull in the fullness.

But the most welcome Paris News for young Grosse Pointers is probably the return to high fashion of the tiny skullcap, fondly referred to as "The Beanie," in their debutante patter.

Dior's models wear little black velvet skullcaps with black velvet cocktail frocks.

Some of the more magnificent milliners are calling them "Maileaps," "Scandalcaps" or "Calots." But, however you tilt it, kiddies it's "The Beanie" back in circulation.

Visits to Patriotic Scenes Are 'Musts' for Children

By The Old AAA Traveler
If I were the father of a school-age youngster I would consider it a "must" that the child see at least a few of the country's outstanding patriotic highlights, the patriotic shrines which are polka-dotted over these United States.

That is because I am convinced seeing those hallowed spots would make a vastly better American out of any boy or girl.

Many of those patriotic highlights are hallowed because brave men—and women—have died on those spots that America might live and prosper.

But for the men and women making sacrifices in earlier days there would be no America as we know it today.

I have in mind Plymouth Rock, in Massachusetts, where the Pilgrims stepped ashore. Or all that remains of ancient Jamestown, Va., where the first permanent white settlement was established.

Hills of Gettysburg
There's nearby Yorktown, Va., where Cornwallis surrendered, and, of course, Lexington and Concord, Mass., with their epic contributions to the early life of our country.

Travel southward and you have the Plains of Chalmette, just outside New Orleans, where Andrew Jackson and his painfully small army, augmented by LaFitte pirates, defeated Pakenham and his Britons in the Battle of New Orleans.

The rolling hills of Gettysburg, over in Pennsylvania, are the locale where the Union might easily have lost to the Confederacy but for the unquenchable courage of the Federal fighters.

"Way down in Texas" is the little gray Alamo, where 187 Texans died to the last man rather than surrender to Santa Ana. The Alamo is the little gray church over which to this day ripples the single-starred flag of the Republic of Texas.

Love for America
The youngster should see Valley Forge, Pa., where Washington

Hundreds of thousands of Americans each year make the pilgrimage to Plymouth, Mass., to stand in reverence at Plymouth Rock, where the Pilgrims set foot in 1620.

and his ragged army spent that terrific winter of 1777-78, the winter during which Washington's men left trails of blood in the snow, blood from their shoeless feet—yet they carried on!

All over these United States are the things the youngster should see to build stronger and stronger his love for America, his pride in being an American.

There's the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery, Va. . . . The granite shaft in Lake Erie to mark the spot of Perry's great victory . . . Bunker Hill and Chancellorsville.

Then, too, there's Apammatox and the graves of the Maine's dead in Key West . . . Mount Vernon, where George Washington sleeps.

Scratched Surface
The Hermitage, out of Nashville, where Andrew Jackson and his beloved Rachel sleep side-by-side . . . West Point and Annapolis, where our fighting men are trained.

Philadelphia, the very birthplace of Liberty, and Washington itself, with the White House and the National Capitol, the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington Monument.

Here we've just scratched the surface, but this little screed may give you an idea of just what we're talking about.

Let your child see these precious spots and sow the seeds for that child to be a better American!

VERNIER P-TA MEETING
The current problems of Grosse Pointe public schools will be the subject of a talk by John R. Barnes, superintendent of schools, at the first fall meeting of the Vernier P-TA at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

SURPRISE TREES AND DOLL HOUSES

House Beautiful at the Fair will be the concern of Mrs. Robert Gall . . . and Mrs. John Norton Lord is responsible for the Toy Shop . . .

You'll find Mrs. H. Stanford Barrett at Musee de Noel . . . Mrs. Benjamin H. Paddock guarding the Surprise Tree . . . Mrs. Edwin Denby at the Doll House . . .

Mrs. A. G. Nutter holding forth at the Greenwich Village Shop . . . Mrs. C. Stewart Baxter's shop will be the place to buy aprons . . . Mrs. Frederick Campbell will be very "at home" in the Flower Mart at the Fair . . . for the lady has a way with flowers . . .

And a most intriguing place will be the shop where Mrs. J. K. Ralston will give personality readings . . .

From now until Nov. 18, then . . . these workers will be fast at it . . . gathering the wares to be sold . . .

PETTY THIEVERY

Fort Pontchartrain du Detroit Was City's 1st Name, in 1701

(This is one in a series on historical spots and monuments in Michigan based on information in the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan.)

Erected on a spot where cannon could shoot across the broad Detroit River, an acre-square French fort was constructed in July of 1701 on the site of what later was to become Detroit.

Called Fort Pontchartrain du Detroit, the stockade was erected to increase French strength in opposing British invasion of the Great Lakes area and to take advantage of the profitable fur trade with the Indians, according to the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan.

The fort's name was derived by taking the name of the French prime minister of the time and adding the "du Detroit" which was French for "of the Strait."

Location Natural

Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac and about 100 Frenchmen from Montreal built the fort at the site now bounded by Griswold, Shelby, Larned and a line between West Jefferson and Woodbridge. The location was a natural one for a fort as the spot had water on three sides. In front was the Detroit River. On two other sides was the Savoyard River, which since has disappeared.

Once it was in operation, hundreds of Indians flocked to the little wilderness outpost by canoe and Indian trail to trade their hard won furs for the Frenchmen's goods.

Arrived by Canoe

Added indication of the fort's importance was seen a few months later when Madame Cadillac, her son, and the wife of Cadillac's next in command arrived by canoe to live there. This was a joyful occasion for the Indians, too. Arrival of the white women indicated the fort was permanent and that the savages

Pointe Suppers Aid Red Feather

Grosse Pointe hostesses opened their homes for a series of Red Feather supper meetings prior to the Community Chest campaign to acquaint givers with the work of Red Feather agencies.

Mrs. James K. Watkins, of Cloverly, was hostess to a group Sept. 28, with Mrs. Renville Wheat as chairman of the meeting.

Mrs. Glendon Roberts, of Berkshire, entertained a Red Feather group Sept. 29, with Mrs. Theodore Osus as chairman.

Mrs. Robert Keller was chairman at the supper meeting held Oct. 5, in the home of Mrs. Ray Whyte, of Oxford road.

On Oct. 6, Mrs. Lloyd Ecclestone, of Lincoln, was hostess, with Mrs. Lincoln Herreshoff as chairman of the meeting. Another group was entertained by Mrs. Burdette Ford in her home on Sunningdale on the same day. Mrs. Clarence Maguire was chairman.

On Oct. 7, Mrs. George Zimmerman, of Kenwood, entertained and Mrs. Sherman Fitzsimmons was chairman of arrangements.

The final meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Dan Goodenough, of Cloverly, with Mrs. Miles O'Brien as chairman.

The meetings were held to acquaint Grosse Pointers with the work of the 125 Community Chest agencies which are seeking $5,975,000 during the campaign which runs Oct. 26 to Nov. 17.

County Fair Party Given By Florence Erringer

Blue Jeans were the popular costume at a recent party when Florence Erringer invited her friends to a county fair in her Mt. Vernon road home. Concession stands, dart throws, miniature golf games and other typical fair events were on the program.

Patronizing the various stands were Phil Skillman, Joyce Schmidt, Tony Labadie, Nick Hodges, Claire Sober, Dick Hall, Patty Haas, Rick Schmitz, Nancy Weed, Ray Savauch, Marion Rennie, Bill Terbo, Janet Eckfeld and Kyle Worley.

Others invited were Buffy Wicking, Marty Fairless, Bill Siebert, Tom Snye, Nancy Bolles, Jack Wilson and Paul Deeley.
