Women

(Continued from Page 1) of the property's use as an adjunct of the Detroit Art Museum. The sentiment is strong among the women, also for preservation of Alger House for the contribution it would make to the aesthetic life of Grosse Pointe with its beautiful trees and grounds preserved forever for community uses and enjoyment. The outlook on the lake, the pergola and lovely gardens, the numerous rooms for meetings all lend admirably to making it a headquarters for the development of the cultural life of the Pointe.

Memorial Comes First These women, however, invariably place first importance on the memorial character of the project. They are enthusiastic on the setting up of a beautiful room in the property for the special use and enjoyment of the veterans, whose honoring was the first motivating force in the whole memorial library enterprise.

Not many of them are concerned with the general adaptability of the present property to strictly library uses but they believe in general that with the money already in hand and pledged the property could be made completely functional as a library.

Their main demand however centers on the necessity of preserving this incomparable property for public enjoyment. It is, they say, just such a property and location as have long been needed for the advancement of the community life of Grosse Pointe along the paths which its people demand and require.

Michigan Candidates Aren't Lucky in '48

Overlooked in the recent presidential campaign was the fact that two Michigan people ran for the presidency and were defeated just 100 years apart.

Back in 1838, Lewis Cass, Michigan's first governor, was nominated by the Democrats and was defeated by Zachary Taylor. Then in 1948, Michigan-born Thomas E. Dewey went down to defeat at the polls.

These Michigan candidates, just 100 years apart, are the subject of display at the University of Michigan's Michigan Historical Collections.

Schools Holding Yule Book Sale

Detroit University School and Grosse Pointe Country Day School this week are holding their Christmas Book Sale in the auditorium of Country Day School, Grosse Pointe boulevard.

The sale will continue through Friday, December 3, and culminate in Father's Night Friday evening from 7 until 10.

Students and faculty of both schools have had an opportunity to see the large display of over 400 books, including those for the music lover, collector of special editions, the art minded, and for all who have a fondness of books.

Also included in the display are globes and all kinds of atlases, mounted wall maps, and children's unbreakable records.

In addition to the book display, Mrs. Doris Hass, director of art for the two schools, is presenting an art exhibit of book illustrations and famous quotations which show the correlation of art and English. Art students have also on exhibit studies in value and texture; color harmony in tempora; shape, texture, and colored in two and three dimensions.

Samuel Beeler, Mechanical arts director, is displaying work of grade 5 through 12 pertaining to perspective.

The auditorium at Country Day is a most colorful place with the various exhibits and many colorful books, Christmas trees and a huge Santa Claus make a delightful atmosphere in which to browse around and make selections for personal and friends' libraries.

The Christmas Book Sale display will be open tomorrow from 9 in the morning until 4 in the afternoon, and especially for Dads, from 7 until 10 in the evening.

SCOUT CRAFTS EXHIBIT

A Cub Scout Crafts Exhibit will be held by East Side units on Friday evening, December 3, in the cafeteria of Denby High School from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. The purpose of this show is to demonstrate various craft skills and to train Cubbers and other adult leaders in the crafts which are to be used in Cubbing.

Burglar Alarms Keep Police Busy

Asked as to the cause of the frequent burglar alarms at night which are constantly reported by the police on their nightly patrols the police say that these alarms are necessarily adjusted so delicately that a disturbance as light as the rumbling of a heavy truck will spring the finely adjusted mechanism.

A frequent cause is a rat jumping on the device.

When this occurs the police often have to rout out the manager of the business place and have him come and shut off the

New Building of St. James Church Ready for Occupancy

Dedication Services Starting Sunday Will Last Whole Week; Tower Cross Commemorates Pointe War Hero

St. James Lutheran Church of Grosse Pointe will dedicate its new church home, 170 McMillan road, on December 5. A formal dedicatory service will be celebrated at 11 a.m. with festival services at 3:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. A week of activities will culminate in a second dedicatory service on December 12, at the close of which a memorial service will be held for Nelson L. Carr, U. S. Naval Reserves, commemorated in the new church home by the tower cross.

On December 5 the doors will be formally opened for the 11:00 a.m. service. The act of dedication itself will be spoken responsibly by the Reverend George E. Kurz, pastor of St. James, and the congregation.

The sermon will be delivered by a guest speaker, the Reverend Edwin L. Wilson, pastor of Our Savior Church of St. Louis, Mo., a vice-president of the English District, and brother of two prominent Grosse Pointers, Alfred T.

Wilson of Lochmoor boulevard and Walter Wilson of Fisher road.

The Reverend A. H. A. Loeber, pastor of Messiah Church, Kercheval and Lakewood, and the founding pastor of St. James, will be the liturgist.

Festival Services

Two festival services also will be held on that day with guest speakers appearing on both of them. The Reverend Oswald G. Riess, pastor of Bethany Church, East Outer Drive at Chatsworth, will preach at the 3:30 p.m. service and the Reverend Frank J. Schumm, pastor of Memorial Church of Toledo, Ohio, at the 7:30 p.m. service. Pastor Schumm is the visitor for the district circuit and will represent the English District president.

The guest liturgist for the evening service will be the Reverend Gilbert T. Olte, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Gratiot and Rivard. An informal reception will follow this evening service.

The St. James choir and organist have prepared special festive music for both the morning and afternoon services. At the evening service, the choir of the Lutheran Church of the Epiphany, 7-Mile road and Woodward, with Mr. Louis Beer, director and organist, will assume the musical portion.

Week Long Celebration

The dedication celebration will continue throughout the week. A divine song service has been planned for Wednesday evening at 8 p.m., at which time the Bach Choir, under the direction of Mr. Carl Munzel, will sing. This is a mixed a-cappella choir of about 50 voices representing members of the Greater Detroit Lutheran churches. They will give a sacred concert of festive and Christmas music.

On Tuesday, the Women's Guild is sponsoring a Christmas Fair in the church basement during the entire day and at night the men will have a fellowship gathering. The young people have their Christmas party scheduled for Thursday evening and Friday is family night with a dinner and the Reverend E. T. Bernthal of Epiphany Church as guest speaker.

Will Honor Hero

On December 12 at 11 a.m. a second dedicatory service will be held with Pastor Kurz addressing the congregation. Immediately following, a memorial service will be held for Nelson L. Carr—A.M. 3-c of the famed Torpedo Squad No. 8, reported missing in the Battle of Midway, June 4, 1942.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carr of 263 Kenwood court, he was a rear gunner on one of the six planes which, by reconnaissance of a Japanese fleet of 82 ships, was able to alert the American defense. It is his commemoration that the tower cross on the new church home is dedicated.

Scouts to Hear Hal Newhouser

Hal Newhouser, ace Tiger pitcher, will be guest speaker at Scouting's Trail Blazer Rally, 10:00 o'clock next Saturday morning, December 4, when 2200 Detroit area Scouts and leaders will gather at Mackenzie High School auditorium to learn about the Council's Adventure Trail in '49.

This adventure trail includes a Winter Klondike in January, a mammoth exposition at Convention Hall in April, one or more weeks in summer camp during July or August, several week-end hikes throughout the year, and an Eagle Court of Honor in October.

Admission to the rally at Mackenzie High next Saturday is by special tickets which have already been sent to Second Class Scouts expected to achieve First Class rating by next April; also 800 or more Scouts who were elected as Trail Blazers for '48 and who achieved the First Class rating since last April.

Newhouser's record this past season was the best among all Tiger pitchers. He won 21 games and lost 12—for a percentage of .636. Hal is a native Detroit and is much interested in the youth of this area. He helped organize many teams of junior baseball players, popularly known as "Hal's Pals."

Another feature attraction at the rally is a series of interpretive Indian dances displayed by the Hooka Wacipi Society, composed of local Council Scouts especially interested in Indian lore. Mackenzie's famous varsity band will present several musical numbers.

Other items of entertainment include songs, stunts and skits. Souvenirs will be distributed, and an autographed photograph of pitcher Newhouser will be given to every Scout and leader attending the rally.

The annual "Turkey Toodle" dance, given by the Tuxis Club, at G. P. Memorial Church, marked the beginning of a strenuous weekend for many, many people.

Seen dancing to the smooth music of ROSTON CLARK'S orchestra were Sarah Weed 'n Cal Purdy, Judy McMahon 'n Ted Laitner, Carroll Grylls 'n Bob Hansen, Janet Zerschmeid 'n Dick Smart, Meeky Van Zanem 'n Dick Redmond, Joannie Watkins 'n Ed Karrer, Marjorie Walling 'n John Sanford, Sally McNeff 'n Dick Moses, Mary Stover 'n Bob Striker, Marcy Wetherbe 'n Jim Stover, Marianna Larson 'n Ken Venderbusch, Barbie Brown 'n Bill McCauley, Alice Savage 'n Clarence O'Dell, Sally Andrus 'n Ted Osius, Jan Walker 'n Bob Slade, Jeanie Webb 'n Bob Borden, and Barb Orphal 'n John Walton.

BILL ISBEY was the chairman of that wonderful Junior Thanksgiving dance you've probably heard about, at the Lochmoor Club, last Saturday night.

RALPH BOWEN and his orchestra provided the sentimental swing for Marilyn Walters 'n Jerry Ewart, Eleanor Jackel 'n Wally Swayne, Jan Walker 'n Cliff Annon, Judy Gaylord 'n Don Osbourne, Sally McNeff 'n Dick Moses, Alice Savage 'n Clarence O'Dell, Pat Martin 'n John Corfield, Kathy Strek 'n Rich O'Connell, Carroll Grylls 'n Clark McPhail, Joanie Trefry 'n Jack Corden, Alice Anne Sichler 'n Bill Isbey, Dorothy Olsen 'n Russ Haskin, Susie Johnson 'n Bud Lang, and loads more.

Truly one of the loveliest teas ever given this year was the one when ANNE HINCHMAN served as the charming hostess. Wearing a corsage of white carnations Saturday afternoon, ANNE asked Annie Candler, Carroll Grylls, Sue Wheelock, and Jean Wright, to take turns at the tea table.

Arriving on Vendome road to greet ANNE were, Twig Wright, Carolyn Johnson, Barb Hannan, Jean Dowzer, Peg Dicken, Margo Gessler, Marti Watkins, Lois Holtz, Ginny Granse, Patti Perronne, Herb Orphal, Meg McKenzie, Lorna Bugbee, Barb Bauman, Merry Bauman, Marlene Hutton, Marilyn Walters, and many more all decked out in their newest and prettiest dresses.

All in all, it was a pretty full weekend, but remember, next week is the Junior Prom held in the boys' gym at G.P.H.S.

MARION ORTLOF designed the decorations, and she really did a beautiful job... Let's have a big turnout! See you next week!

World Market To Open Dec. 5

More than 25 nationalities will participate in the 18th Old World Market of International Institute, to be held this weekend through Dec. 5, at the Institute headquarters, 2431 E. Grand Blvd. It is open to the public each day from 2 until 10 o'clock and on Saturday there will be a program for children from 11 a. m. until 1 p. m.

This annual pre-holiday festival has brought near-fame to the Institute. Supplementing imported decorations are hundreds made by foreign-born men and women now residents of Detroit. Most of these were painted in the recreation room of the Herbert J. Woodall home in Oxford road, by volunteers who became interested through Mrs. Woodall.

Other Grosse Pointers, who are actively associated with the Old World Market, include Mrs. Frederick C. Ford, Mary Ann Dewey, Christine Caulkins, Jane Emery, Mrs. James A. Lafer, Mrs. James A. Dickson, Mrs. Benjamin O. Shepherd, Mrs. Hansel D. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hansen.

Mr. Hansen is general chairman of the Old World Market.

Wendin Defends Decision

second by adults, regardless of fine appearance, beauty, rarity, or in being "a wonderful asset to the community."

Large Circulation
The goal of every library if it is to serve its proper function, is large circulation. There can be no better Memorial than a library which meets that goal—and a library conceived through voluntary contributions of the community certainly deserves the cooperation of everyone.

The technical details of rejection have been well covered in the open letters of Mr. John Barnes, Superintendent of Schools, Miss Florence Severs, Director of Public Libraries in Grosse Pointe, and Charles Mohrhardt, Associate Librarian of the Detroit Public Library, which have appeared in the Grosse Pointe News.

Poor Location

The third and last point, namely the "unconditional gift" creates the impression that the Board would have had the moral and ethical right to sell the property immediately. While it was indicated that such right would be given legally nevertheless, as honorable individuals it would have been necessary to follow through on the understanding that the property would be sold only if the Memorial Association failed to raise sufficient funds to convert to a library. Assuming that approximately a half million dollars had been eventually made available to convert the building into a functional library, there still would be the problem of excessively high maintenance costs and relatively poor location. It was suggested at one of the meetings that the matter be submitted at a public referendum to the community, but since prompt action was apparently necessary there was not sufficient time available for this course of action.

Good Memorial

Since the building would have lent itself well to a Memorial, it was suggested that it be given directly to the Memorial Association, but apparently the donors were unwilling to consider such action. Suggestion was also made that it be given to the Board and then sold immediately for cash and proceeds applied to the building of a library in a more desirable location, but this thought was considered unfair and not worthy of consideration. It is to be doubted that the Algers would have given the property on the understanding that it would be accepted by the Board and then immediately offered for sale.

This is a summary background of the reasoning behind my decision.

Sincerely yours,
Sigurd R. Wendin

Drivers Fined In Park Court

In Park Police Court on Nov. 24 Judge John L. Potter fined Donald Arthur Bolton, 18, of 4752 Crane st., Detroit, $10 and $6.10 costs for reckless driving resulting in an accident.

Bolton was denied permission to drive for the next year, to be reduced to six months if there is no further charge against him for driving violations.

Sidney Charles Hobbs, of 2118 Bewick, was fined $5 and $5 costs for not having his car under control in front of 1241 Bedford, causing an accident.

Harold R. Hewey of 16931 Guilford was fined for a stop street violation at Charlevoix, $10 and $6.10 costs.

George Fraley of 2175 Hart, Detroit, for failing to stop at intersection of Nottingham and St. Paul paid $5 costs.

Also paid for having no operator's license and never having made an effort to acquire a license, he was fined an additional $50 and $5 costs.

Wallace H. McIntyre of 1039 Devonshire for failing to stop at Jefferson and Devonshire, causing accident, was fined $10 and $5 costs.

Cyril R. Boone, 1300 Nottingham, for making a left turn at St. Paul and Balfour without giving proper signal was fined $5 and $5 costs.

Francis M. Wilkinson, 1571 Dickerson, for traffic law violation at St. Paul and Balfour was fined $5 and $5 costs.

John Peter Christy, 652 Kit-chener, for allowing an unlicensed driver to drive his car, causing accident, was fined $20 and $5 costs.

Sullivan Furs In New Home

E. M. Sullivan, one of Detroit's better known custom furriers, is opening his new and greater home this week at 15226 Kercheval and Beaconsfield, in Grosse Pointe Park.

The removal comes after 16 years at Jefferson and Chalmers avenue, where the Sullivans built an unusually large clientele within the Pointes.

The new quarters, more spacious and with beautiful appointments will, Mr. Sullivan states, afford the rendering of better service to Grosse Pointers. The shop is open every day for inspection by old and new customers and friends.

Suffers Serious Wound

A. M. Rogers, of 830 St. Clair, while repairing an electric light wire in his home on Nov. 27, cut himself seriously in his right leg above the knee with a large knife.

Officers Moffat and Johnston took him to Bon Secours Hospital for emergency treatment.

Children Amaze Police With Power to Destroy

Mrs. P. Wood of 924 Grand Marais complained that someone had wrecked a child's playhouse in her back yard on Friday, Nov.

26. When the police went to investigate they found out the wreckage had been wrought by some children of the neighborhood, so small that they wondered at their physical capacity to do so through a job.
