Detroit Puts Heat On Pointes to Get New Drain System

Demands Quick Decision On Plan Which Would Obligate Three Local Municipalities To Pay $5,000,000 To $6,000,000 As Share of Project

When the three Pointe communities, the Park, City and Farms, received an invitation to meet with the Sewers committee of the Detroit Common Council on June 8 to discuss the question of the Grosse Pointe communities cooperating with Detroit on bypassing Fox Creek with their storm water sewage, and dumping the same into the Conner Creek outlet they presumed it was to talk with this committee only as the invitation had stated.

Meet Entire Council
When the local representatives appeared in the Council rooms they found themselves face to face with the Common Council itself, rather than a committee. Moreover the Council early gave evidence of desiring to rush the issue to a quick conclusion.

Request Arbitration
The Detroit Council came out boldly with a request that this whole issue be referred to arbitration within 30 days.

Demand Answer
The Detroit Council then stated that the proposition was well understood by the Pointe communities and asked that within the 30 day period some answer be made to Detroit's request; either yes or no on the proposition, or at least make an alternative proposition.

Bert Wicking Re-Elected to School Board

Defeats Lott by Three to one Majority, Winning in All Seven Precincts
Bert H. Wicking, president of the Board of Education, a candidate for reelection as a trustee of the board, was swept into office in Monday's School Election by a three to one majority over his opponent Thomas L. Lott. Wicking polled 1,442 votes as against Lott's 474.

The incumbent received more votes than his opponent in every one of the seven precincts, but it was apparent that Mr. Lott's advocacy of splitting the present school district in two, told heavily against him in the northern end of the district. The vote cast at Mason School alone was enough to give Wicking a victory. The vote by precincts follows:

	Wicking	Lott
1. Trombley	123	41
2. Deter	137	27
3. Maire	152	106
4. Richard	273	173
5. Kerby	152	102
6. Vernier	113	12
7. Mason	492	13

Two peculiarities of the election were that exactly the same number of votes were cast in each of the first two precincts, and that Wicking polled the same number of votes in two precincts, at Maire and Kerby Schools.

The trustees of the Board of Education will meet, probably on June 24, to elect officers for the coming year. It is expected all present officers will be re-elected. These are: Wicking, president; Mrs. Alice Sheaffer, secretary; Sigurd Wendin, treasurer.

Council Asks Residents to Shift to City

Resolution Urging Change to City Status Unanimously Approved by Commissioners

As had long been expected the Board of Commissioners of Grosse Pointe Park took the first steps at their meeting on June 13 on the road to incorporation as a city.

The Resolution
The resolution was adopted: It reads: WHEREAS, the Village of Grosse Pointe Park at the time of its incorporation as a village forty two years ago, was a semi-rural, sparsely settled community, and its original organization as a village was appropriate to its then condition; and WHEREAS, the Village of Grosse Pointe Park has since developed into a suburban residential community, without rural areas, and through the growth of its population to approximately 14,000 now constitutes the largest village in the State of Michigan and one of the largest villages in the entire United States; and WHEREAS, other Grosse Pointe communities, originally organized as villages, have found it advantageous to reorganize into the City form of government; and

WHEREAS, the reorganization of such other Grosse Pointe communities as cities has left the Village of Grosse Pointe Park as a village of Grosse Pointe Park as a form of local government more appropriate to present conditions; and would confer many advantages on the community including: the elimination of duplicating Township and Village services; the elimination of unnecessary confusion to the public in election registrations, assessment rolls and the review thereof, tax payments, etc.; the benefits of direct representation in the County Board of Supervisors; the elimination of divided responsibility for local government; an opportunity for some lowering in the cost of local government; and in general a more efficient and suitable form of local government.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the Village Commission of the Village of Grosse Pointe Park does hereby urge the citizens and taxpayers of the community to consider the advantages of the City Form of Government, with a view of initiating steps to have the question of incorporation as a City placed before the electorate at an early date.

Car Jumps Curb And Strikes Man
David Eck, aged 68, of 1387 Balfour, was struck and seriously injured by an automobile as he was walking on the sidewalk on the south side of Charlevoix between Somerset and Balfour just before noon on June 13.

Car Jumps Curb And Strikes Man
A car driven north on Balfour by Olive Harriet Lamparski, of 6151 Grayton, attempted to make a left turn onto Charlevoix and ran over the curb on the south side of the street, striking Mr. Eck.

Car Jumps Curb And Strikes Man
He was taken to Bon Secours Hospital where he was found to be suffering from lacerations of the face and head and a possible fracture of the right hip. Examination showed there was no fracture of the skull, which was first feared.

At the hospital the following afternoon his condition was reported as fair.

HUB CAPS STOLEN

Drain Project

 Attorney represented the Park at the meeting with the Detroit Common Council on June 8, made a lengthy verbal report on the results of this meeting at the Park Council meeting on June 13.

No Legal Claim
 The gist of Mr. Goddard's report was that, under the existing contract between Detroit and the Park village, Detroit had no legal claim on the Park for participation in the cost of carrying storm water sewage from the present Fox Creek outlet to the Conner Creek outlet; that even if this was done it was no solution of the greater problem of the pollution in the Michigan inland water courses which is the subject of earnest consideration by state and international authorities and that if the dumping of pollution should be completely prohibited, Grosse Pointe along with Detroit and other contributing communities would be wrestling with this problem on their own account.

Would Be Wasted
 In that event the undertaking proposed by Detroit would be money wasted.
 He also stated to the Detroit Council that the drainage area of that part of Detroit which figured in this problem was much larger than the part of Grosse Pointe involved, despite the fact that the Park, City and Farms are asked to contribute much more than half of the total cost.
 The insuperable cost of this work to the Park proportioned on its assessed value was illustrated by the figures that if Detroit had to pay towards the work on the same percentage basis its share of the cost would be more than $400,000,000.

Shun Arbitration
 Mr. Goddard said they had promised to make an official reply to Detroit's demand within the 30 days specified, but with no promise of an alternative proposition as Detroit had asked. The idea of submitting the question to arbitration was denied in toto by the Park representatives. Their belief was that under the circumstances there was nothing to arbitrate.
 President Fritsch expressed the thanks of the Board for Mr. Goddard's detailed report and the heavily concurred with the Commission with the stand the Park's representatives had taken. The report was filed and the next step is up to Detroit.

Parking Problem Studied in Park

Some time ago the residents of Beaconsfield between Kercheval and Mack filed a petition with the Park Council to confine parking to the west side of the street. The matter was referred to Chief of Police Louwers to have a survey made of parking needs in this area and he reported that there was ample private garage capacity in the neighborhood to accommodate the cars of the residents. Some preferred to leave them out on the street rather than take the trouble to run them in.

Besides reporting on this particular request the Chief recommended that in the area bounded by Wayburn and Somerset and from Jefferson to Mack as well as the Nottingham-Fairfax area south of Jefferson, all parking be prohibited between the hours of 5 a. m. and 8 a. m. and also in the same area parking at all times be limited to one side of the street; the side to be determined by the location of the fire hydrants.

The purpose of keeping the streets clear of cars for the two early morning hours was to permit the street service men to clean streets or remove snow from the whole street surface on both sides.

The heavy population of the area and the consequent large number of cars requires that one side of all streets in the area should be kept clear for reasons of fire routes and public safety in general.
 The Council refused the request of the petitioners and referred the Chief's recommendations for consideration by committee.

Pair Held Under Bonds On Charges of Assault

John Flannigan and Robert Ludwig, who were charged with felonious assault in Pete Moor's bar at 1:47 a. m. on June 11, had a hearing on June 13 before Justice C. Joseph Belanger. They were represented by counsel and stood mute. Examination was waived and they were held under $1,000 bond each with one surety for trial in Circuit Court.

POLICE CHIEFS TO MEET
 Police Chief Arthur E. Louwers of the Park will attend the convention of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police on June 29, 30 and July 1.

Wage Increases Granted by Park

The Labor and Wage Committee of the Park Council brought in a recommendation at the meeting on June 13 which is aimed to meet, in part at least, the request of employes for increased pay. The committee recommends that hourly wage employes be granted an increase of five cents per hour and that salaried employes be granted a flat increase of $104.00 per year. The recommendation was adopted.

Abandoned Bikes Trap Poachers

The City police have discovered that the abandoned bicycle is a good clue with which to locate beach park crashers.

On Sunday afternoon about 1 o'clock a message came in from the residents at 266 Lakeland, saying that there were several abandoned bicycles in the rear of their garage.

The police correctly surmised they belonged to some youngsters who had sneaked into the park through the back door. A little waiting disclosed the claimants for the machines, a boy and two girls, all from Detroit. They were hustled away with a warning to keep out of the City's beach park.

We cannot afford to be half-way in anything. The whole-hearted man is the one who succeeds in this world.

Scouts Enjoy Active Weekend

The Boy Scouts of District III eagerly awaited the arrival of the big weekend on June 11 and 12, when they all joined together in a two day camp-out at the Bald Mountain Recreation Area, near Lake Orion, Michigan.

About 50 of the East Side and Grosse Pointe Troops produced a total of nearly 500 boys and their leaders for a week-end packed full of activity, including camping and cooking by troops, competitive events, and a huge campfire assembly on Saturday night.

This District III "bivouac" is a prelude to the summer camping activities which are enjoyed by the Scouts, who can either camp by troops on Scout reservations; join a Reservation Troop for a number of weeks, or go "off reservation" and camp with their troops at private camping sites during the summer months.

Park Assessment Roll $35,119,440

The assessment roll of the Village of Grosse Pointe Park was approved by the Board of Village Commissioners at the meeting of Council on June 13. The total assessed valuation for 1949 is $35,119,440.

With the exception of the valuation on the seven commercial properties fronting on Jefferson avenue east of the Municipal building, no change was made. The move to increase the commercial property assessments on Kercheval, Charlevoix and Mack was not carried through.

COOK EVAPORATES

Residents in the 400 block of Lincoln road phoned the police at 4 o'clock in the afternoon on June 9 that a queer-acting man was calling at homes and stopping people on the street and offering to come into their houses and cook their meals. Officers Onstwedder and Johnston scoured the neighborhood to get a glimpse of the volunteer cook but without avail.

Great Progress Being Made Towards Getting Memorial Center into General Use

Directors Hold Another Enthusiastic Meeting: Give Authority For Purchase of Equipment and Grant Permission For Using Building

An enthusiastic meeting of the directors of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial was held on the evening of June 13 in the Memorial Center. The directors have decided to meet weekly on Wednesday evenings in the early months of the organization of the project.

Mrs. Charles Ellis, chairman of the House Committee asked for and received authority to purchase a large table and two other tables with folding legs along with a refrigerator and certain other preliminary kitchen equipment.

While this equipment in no sense represents all of the ultimately needed paraphernalia for the kitchen, it will be sufficient, she said, to provide for the entertainment of up to 200 persons, if the organization or groups using the furnish their own table equipment.

Furnishings Committee
Robert Tannahill has consented to take the chairmanship of the Arts and Furnishings Committee. Associated with him will be Mrs. Ernest Kanzler and David Hamilton. These persons are all closely associated with the arts and their participation in the development work of the Memorial is regarded as most advantageous.

Dancer Planned

Mrs. Charles B. Lord, who is heading the social activities work of the Memorial, reported that she had in mind to arrange for a series of dances for teen-age and younger married groups, these dances to be arranged for groups within the same age brackets. She would like to start these off with a dance sometime before July 15. Events of this kind, she said, need not await the complete furnishing of the Memorial and the property can be launched early on one of its intended uses. The suggestion was heartily approved by the directors.

To Be Flood Lighted

The property is already wired for lighting on the lakeside front and it was decided to go ahead with additional wiring so that the Jefferson avenue front and the formal gardens and grounds can be illuminated with flood lighting. Action is expected on this matter at the next meeting, on June 20.

Norbert P. Neff, chairman of the Veterans Committee, reported that progress is being made in the arrangement for the permanent display of the names of the war dead and service men in the Memorial building. Representatives from the Legion and the VFW will confer with him and Robert Tannahill, the chairman of the newly created Committee on Arts and Decorations, will also be consulted.

Adopt General Rule

Before the names are permanently entered in the building they will be subjected again to a careful screening. When they were originally displayed on the Honor Roll on the High School grounds the committee in charge of that work made every effort to have a correct list. It is recognized that errors may have been made and an opportunity will be given now to correct these.

The general rule which will be followed is that the names shall include all persons who actually went to the war from Grosse Pointe and who served in the combat forces.

Legion To Use Center

He reported that the American Legion Post 313 have asked to use the building for the installation of their officers on June 25 and that request has been granted.

From the reports submitted by both Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. Lord there is no doubt of the large cooperation of the public in using the Memorial.

This is a most welcome revelation to the Board of Directors. It has always been recognized by them for the Center to be a living adjunct to the Memorial.

this cooperation and interest by the community would be necessary.

The large number of clubs, social groups and private associations that have already applied for the use of the property is assurance that this angle of the Memorial will be realized.

Students Plan Activities for Vacation Period

A group of high school students met Tuesday to discuss plans for summer activities. Many of them have found that their plans for full time work during the vacation period have been changed, due to their inability to find employment.

Among activities discussed were weekly dances at the High School, roller skating and street dances, water competitions, theatricals, bicycle trips, overnight camping trips, neighborhood nursery schools, volunteer projects of benefit to the community.

Young people interested in these or other projects are urged to get in touch with the committee, among the members being Joe Fromm, Bill Anderson, Sparky Farguhar, Jean Parfitt, Dick Kuba, Dick Guenther, Peg Dicksen and Don Kelly.

The Family Life Education Committee has agreed to supply what adult assistance is needed. Clarence Pingston has promised to help with the water sports. Mrs. William Yeager with dramatics, Mrs. Morgan Sherman and Mrs. Clara Horton with neighborhood nursery play groups.

Any parents willing to help with projects are asked to call Mrs. Martin Hutchinson, TU. 1-4758; or Mrs. George True, TU. 2-3310.

Bartlett Named To Health Group

Lynn M. Bartlett, director of pupil personnel, Grosse Pointe public schools, was recently named a member of the School Health Committee, a committee of the Metropolitan Detroit Bureau of Cooperative School Studies.

The committee comprises representatives of the 40 public school systems and the University of Michigan and Wayne University which are all members of the Bureau, and the county and city health departments of the area. Grosse Pointe is included among these schools.

For the first time in the history of the area, there is now a committee whose primary function is to stimulate the improvement and to coordinate the activities of school health programs in the entire metropolitan area. Preliminary plans of the committee envision the promotion of conferences, institutes, workshops, demonstrations, etc., as a means of helping the public and parochial school systems improve their health programs.

Tentative plans call for an all-day school health conference to be held in March, 1950, built around the school health problems of member school systems. Sub-committees already appointed by the School Health Committee are the committee on dental health in the schools, headed by Dr. Joseph G. Molner, deputy commissioner of health, Department of Health, Detroit, and the committee to work with the volunteer and unofficial health agencies, headed by Lynn Bartlett, director of pupil personnel, Grosse Pointe public schools.

The former committee's functions are to assist the school systems in developing well-conceived and adequate programs of dental health education in the schools. The latter committee is intended to provide the means for closer and better coordinated relationship between the schools and the volunteer and unofficial health agencies.

School Board Drops Junior Kindergarten

Revision of Law Brings Relief To Crowded Conditions In North End

The Junior Kindergarten initiated in the Grosse Pointe public schools in September 1947, was voted out of existence by the Board of Education at its meeting on Wednesday, June 8.

A new minimum age for Kindergarten entrance in accord with a recent revision of the state law was adopted by the Board of Education. Children who will be five years of age on or before December 1, 1949 will be accepted for enrollment in kindergarten this fall. Children whose fifth birthdays occur after December 1, 1949 will not be eligible to enter the public schools until September 1950.

Will Give Relief

Abandonment of the two year Kindergarten program will give some temporary relief to the local school system in its problem of providing rooms and teachers for a rapidly mounting elementary school population. The Mason, Maire, and Kerby schools will each need one less room for Kindergarten classes than during the 1948-49 school year. Three less teachers will be assigned to Kindergarten classes in September than would have been required if the Junior Kindergarten had been continued.

Established in 1947

The two year Kindergarten program was established by the Board of Education in 1947 to care for children four and a half years of age. Children of that age were entitled to enter public schools under Michigan State law. Many Grosse Pointe parents insisted upon enrolling their four and a half year old children in Kindergarten. The two year Kindergarten program was considered to be the only satisfactory method of caring for these very young children.

Law Revised

The state legislature in its recent session revised the law relating to Kindergarten entrance so that only children who will be five years old by December 1 are entitled to enroll in public schools. The recently enacted State School Aid bill also provides that no state financial aid will be allowed for pupils enrolled in public schools who are younger than the minimum set for Kindergarten entrance.

Plea for Expert Planner Refused

At the last meeting of the Woods Council, held on Tuesday, June 7 the Planning Commission asked the Council for authorization to hire a planning specialist to make revisions in the present zoning and planning ordinance of the village to bring it in line with the most modern idea in city planning.

While in sympathy with the idea, the village commissioners denied the request now, as there is no item in the present budget for this purpose.

Action on this matter will have to wait over until next year.

"My home is lost," said Willie Sanford, 6, to police who found him after a three hour hunt.

Police Restrain Quarreling Pair

A call was received at the City police station at 8:30 p. m. on Sunday that a man was unmercifully beating a woman in front of the residence at 912 Neff road.

The police arrived to find a marital disagreement under way between a young couple, aged 20 and 18 respectively, who live in the Farms.

The young wife said her husband had not knocked her down, as the phone informant had stated; he had only "pushed her down". She did allege that he had "pulled her hair" pretty hard. The young husband had been drinking.

The police loaded the young couple into the scout car and took them home to their parents where each received a good lecture and promised to fight no more.

Scouts' Circus Locale Changed

The District III Cub Scout Circus which was originally scheduled to be held at the Denby High School Athletic Field this coming Saturday, June 18, will be staged at Manz Playfield, Corner at Mack, instead. This change was necessitated when city officials discovered that they had issued two permits for the use of the Denby Field on the same afternoon.

However, the Circus Committee, headed by Ben Kushner, assures all East Siders and Grosse Pointers that this change of location will not affect the size of the Circus, the seating accommodations for the expected crowd of over 5,000 visitors, nor the fun and enjoyment which children and adults are sure to have. There is no admission charge and all refreshments and novelties are being sold for a nickel each, regardless of cost.

The giant Midway opens at 1 o'clock with nearly 100 side shows, the big Circus Parade led by a marching band begins at 2:30, and the Circus itself starts at 3 p. m. The hundreds of Cub Scout performers have gone "all out" to make their exhibits and acts outstanding and their ingenuity will take the form of wild animal shows, acrobatics, hula-hula dances, cowboy stunts and a host of other interesting and entertaining features.

Church Social Set for Friday

This Friday night, June 17, the annual Ice Cream Social, sponsored by the Men's Club of the Grosse Pointe Methodist Church, will begin at 7 p. m. on the church lot, Morosa road between Kercheval and Ridge. The community is invited to attend this "dessert" serving, which will include ice cream, home-made cake and soft drinks. Committees are hard at work to make this year's social bigger and better, and to include many new diversions. A "fish pond" and other attractions for children are to be operated by Tom Munson's youth class. The committees include: Food—William Allison, chairman;

Lawrence A. Gilley, Bill Montgomery, Francis Brown. Facilities—Omer Scotts, chairman; Hugh Delts, Gil Burn, Clarence Slocum. Publicity—Glaude Streb, chairman; Virgil Walling, Charles Needham.

Young 'Daubers' Paint Car, House

Martin Bonkovich, of 1119 Nottingham, called up the Park police in the early evening of June 6 and invited them to come around to his house to view one of the most perfect cases of malicious damage to property they would ever witness. Patrolmen Mouton and Van De Ginste went around and found Mr. Bonkovich's car painted on one side with white paint. It was not a skillful painting job, nor were the smears which were daubed on the South side of the house. A little quiet sleuthing in the vicinity resulted in the apprehension of two of the most youthful "daubers" that ever came under Pointe police notice.

The big clue that led to the "arrest" was finding Richard Stackpool, aged 4, with white paint on his pants and hands, and Richard Giroux, aged 3, none too immaculate. The parents were contacted and the case was settled amicably.

meetings and informal discussion groups. E. Courtney Rankin reported on the progress of the local chapter—which is one of the most active in the state—pointing out that in less than one year its membership has grown to exceed 150.

Others who made reports to the meeting were: Mrs. Haldeeman Finnie, who detailed plans for informal "house meetings" of those interested in the idea of world federation. Nelson McCormick reported on details of a membership drive.

Federalists Hear Cheering News

The idea of world federation is rapidly moving out of the purely academic stage into the realm of concrete political action—at a pace faster than some of its advocates anticipated.

This was the tenor of discussions held Tuesday night at a meeting of the Grosse Pointe Chapter, United World Federalists, under the chairmanship of George P. Caulkins, Jr.

Thomas C. Tilley reported in detail on a resolution introduced to the House of Representatives in Washington, June 7 asking the United States government to press for strengthening the United Nations into the form of a world federation armed with powers to enforce world laws against aggression.

Tilley pointed out that 84 members of Congress, including a majority of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, sponsored the resolution.

"We think it most heartening," Tilley said, "that 'hard-headed' Congressional leaders are seeking concrete action toward world federation. It is particularly striking because a great many people who are working hard for world federation thought no such action could be expected from Congress for at least two more years."

The resolution introduced to Congress reads:

"It is the sense of the Congress that it should be a fundamental objective of the foreign policy of the United States to support and strengthen the United Nations and to seek its development into a world federation open to all nations with defined and limited powers adequate to preserve peace and prevent aggression through the enactment, interpretation and enforcement of world law."

Tuesday's meeting at the Neighborhood Club was the first held since the election of George P. Caulkins, Jr., as Chairman of the Grosse Pointe group. He outlined plans for further general

G. Merrill Lenox To Preach Here

On Sunday, June 19, the Rev. G. Merrill Lenox, executive secretary of the Detroit Council of Churches, will conduct the morning worship service of the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, in Richard School at 11 a.m.

Rev. Lenox, a graduate of Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, has held pastorates in Youngstown, Ohio and Minneapolis, Minnesota. He serves upon the Detroit Regional Planning Commission as an appointee of the governor of Michigan.

During the summer of 1948, Mr. Lenox traveled through Scotland, England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, Germany, and Holland, studying religious and social conditions. He attended the historic First Assembly of the World Council of Churches at Amsterdam. It is of these experiences that he will speak.

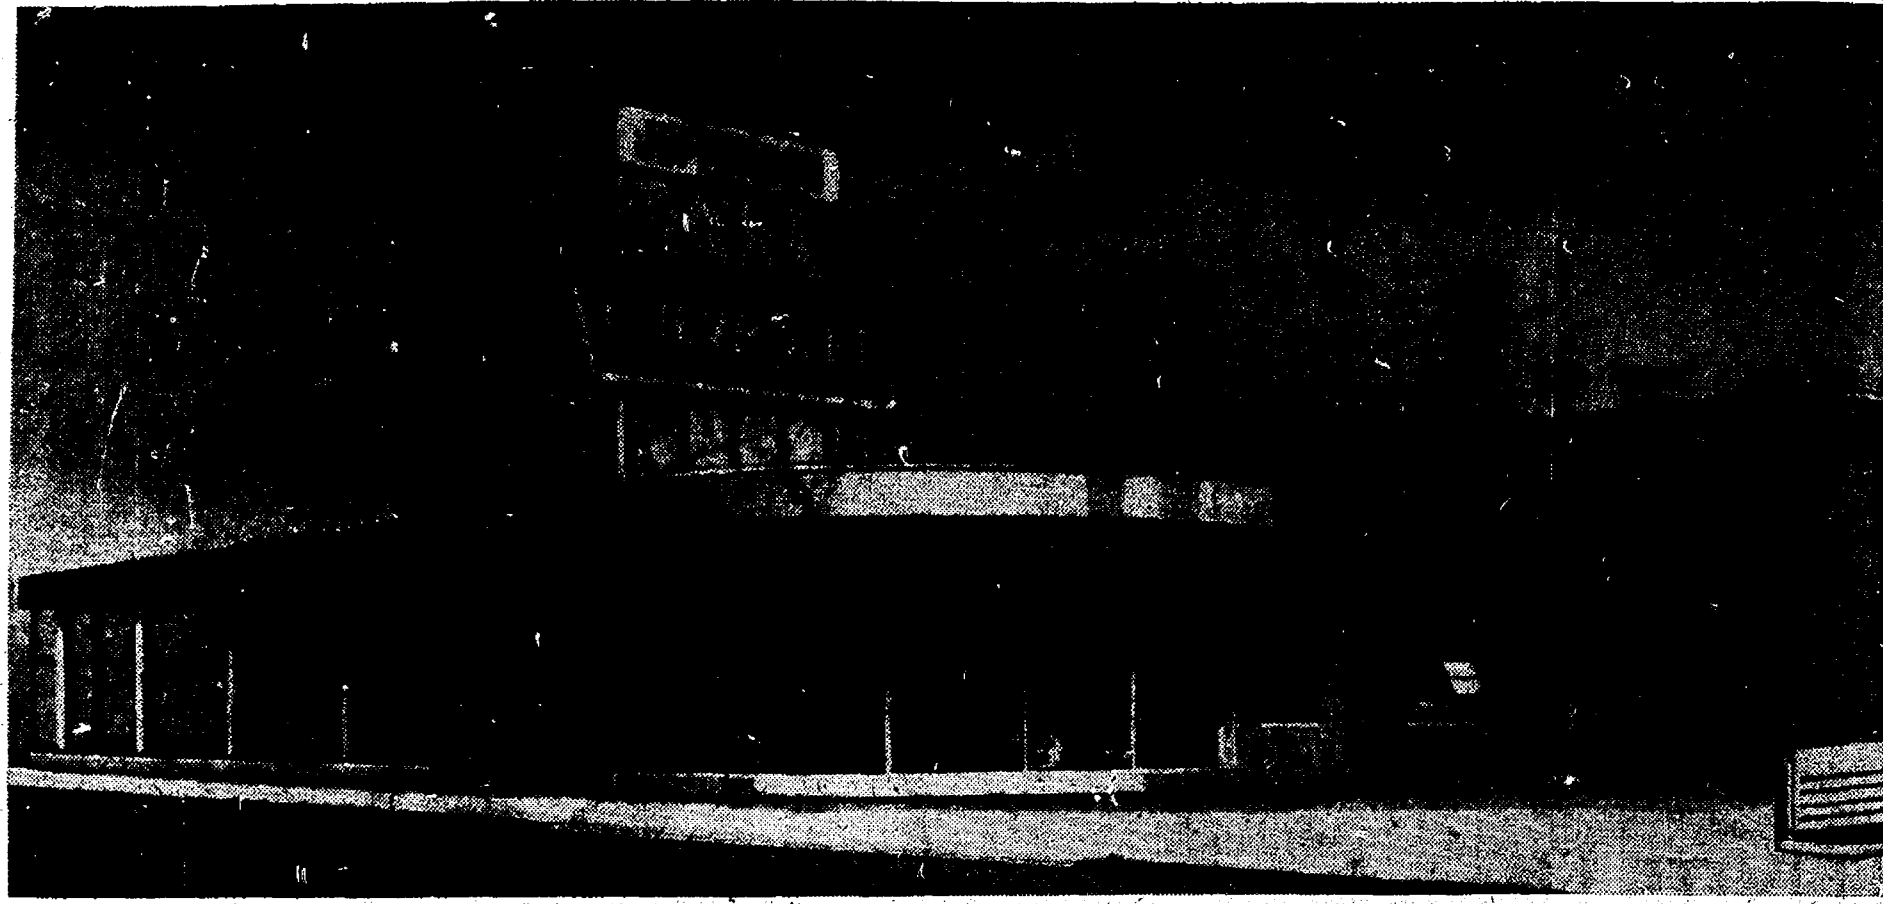

WOODS PAYS ARCHITECT. Architect George G. Vannoth, who prepared the plans for the alterations and additions to the Woods' municipal building, on Mack avenue, was paid his fee of $575 by the Woods Council at the meeting on June 7.

Jocelyn Ardin Mackay Speaks Nuptial Vows

Becomes Bride of Donald Barnhart McCaskill in Ceremony in Christ Church; Couple Attending Graduation at Princeton

"The bride attended her husband's graduation exercises from Princeton on Tuesday. Then they added the sheepskin to their luggage and continued on their wedding trip to Kennebunkport and Cape Cod."

This was the typical 1949 ending to the service last Saturday afternoon in Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, when Jocelyn Ardin Mackay became the bride of Donald Barnhart McCaskill of Arlington, Va.

The newlywed McCaskills will come back to the Pointe for a short visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Finlay Mackay of Charles place and then go on to Northern Canada, where Don will be an instructor at camp this Summer. And in the autumn it's back to school for the bridegroom, who will do graduate work at Harvard Business Administration School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. McCaskill of Arlington, Va.

The wedding itself was as orange blossom and sentimental as society writers are accustomed to. She wore a gown of white silk chantilly lace combined with cathedral satin. From a shirred illusion half-cap fell the long misty veil over the white train of the satin gown. White orchids centered her bouquet of stephanotis and valley lilies.

The Rev. Edgar H. Yeoman performed the ceremony at the unusual hour of 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and when Christ Church was quitted by the Mackay-McCaskill guests, another cheerful of guests arrived for the Potter-Cudlip rites.

Matron of honor was Marjorie Moore of Montreal and there were two senior bridesmaids, Elizabeth Alling of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Herbert Bryant of Montreal, and four junior maids, the bride's cousins, Helen and Jane Ecclestone, and the bridegroom's sisters, Joan and Margaret McCaskill.

All wore embroidered white swiss gowns over candy pink taffeta with white organdie caps following the design of the bride's. The junior maids' gowns had skirts not quite so full and they carried sweetheart roses, pink carnation and white larkspur, while the senior attendants' flowers were carnations, larkspur and rubrum lilies.

The bride's mother was in pastel shade green crepe with illusion swathing her matching French felt chapeau. Accessories and spray orchids were bronzed. Mrs. McCaskill wore Delph blue crepe, pink straw chapeau and pink tipped orchids.

Alan M. McCaskill was his brother's best man and bridesmen were John L. McKay, brother of the bride; J. Douglas Scythes and Richard G. Burt of Toronto, and J. Bryan Bell, Jr., of Washington, D. C.

The wedding reception took place at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

The bride traveled in a sheer gray wool costume with matching felt hat and brown accessories.

Erich Jastrow Married In Santa Fe on June 1

Erich A. Jastrow of Westchester road, was married to Mrs. Jo E. Irish of Colorado Springs, at a ceremony held June 1 in Santa Fe, N. M. They will return to the Pointe about July 1.

Sally Potter Becomes Bride of Jack Cudlip

Young Couple Leave for Bermuda Honeymoon Following Wedding In Christ Church and Reception In Grandmother's Garden in Ridge Road

Sally Potter wore her maternal grandmother's wedding veil of illusion and rosepointe for her marriage to Jack M. Cudlip Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in Christ Church, Grosse Pointe. Sally's grandmother is Mrs. William Howie Muir.

The veil fell over folds of the train of her white satin wedding gown and she carried white spray orchids and stephanotis. Sally was given in marriage by her uncle, Rowland F. Potter of Buffalo and the marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edgar H. Yeoman of Christ Church, who was assisted by the Rev. Dr. Frank Fitt of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

The bride had seven attendants. Honor matron, Mrs. Richard A. Franzen, her sister, wore lime green marquisette picture gown frosted in white dots. A matching shade was used in her wide brimmed hat and she carried white daisies.

All the other attendants including the junior bridesmaid, Julie Cudlip, sister of the bridegroom, were in pale yellow marquisette, their costumes fashioned after the honor matron's. Bridesmaids were Josephine Collins, Sally Sutherland, Sally Thompson, Mrs. Herbert V. Book Jr. and Mrs. Richard Anderson.

Robert S. Cudlip was his brother's best man and seating the guests were Frederick H. Murphy, John N. Brown, James F. Donovan, Ward C. Campbell of East Norwich, L. I., R. Glennon Daly Jr. of Greenwich, Conn., Edwin H. Chamberland of New Haven, Conn., and William R. Bromstedt of Evanston, Ill.

A floor length grey crepe gown with watermelon horsehair hat was chosen by Mrs. John H. Potter for her daughter's wedding. Watermelon colored tuberosus begonias at her shoulder complemented her chapeaux. Mrs. Cudlip chose an aqua crepe gown with matching hat and pale yellow spray orchids.

The reception was held in the gardens of the bride's grandmother's home on Ridge road. Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Cudlip left for Bermuda where they will spend a fortnight. Upon their return they will make their home for the remainder of the Summer with the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin A. Cudlip of Rivard boulevard.

In the Autumn, the young couple will leave for Arlington, Mass., where they have an apartment. Mr. Cudlip will complete his studies at Harvard in the business administration school.

While Mr. and Mrs. Rowland F. Potter were here for the wedding, they were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hosmer Preble of Rivard boulevard.

Chisholm Macdonalds to Observe Anniversary and Honor Guests

The large and elegant cocktail party given this Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Chisholm Macdonald of Mirabeau place to mark their 20th wedding anniversary, serves also to honor three out-of-town guests.

The others are Mrs. Macdonald's goddaughters, whose mothers were maids in her wedding party 20 years ago. They are Arline Bishop, daughter of the Clark W. Bishops, now of Phoenix, and Marianne Maree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Morgan Maree of Los Angeles.

The Macdonalds' daughter, Mary Stuart, has as her houseguest her Westover classmate, Elizabeth Anne Madden of Kansas City.

Woman's Page . . . by, of, and for Pointe Women

From Another Pointe of View

by Jane Schermerborn

Every June society writers get groggy trying to make hundreds of wedding stories sound just a little different . . . And just as they are bogged in despair and defeat . . . along come the engagements . . . by the dozens . . . to all sound alike, too . . .

Some one hundred and thirty-one years ago all this "the bride wore a gown of candlelight satin with fitted bodice, etc." started when John Frederick Ripley and Margaret Daimai were issued Michigan's first formal marriage license. It was signed by the Rev. Father Gabriel Richard, who was rector of old St. Anne's Church, then at Larned and Randolph . . .

And the wedding story is written today in the form it suffered then . . .

It Used To Be Like This

A little research would probably startle the maid of honor in today's wedding story . . .

Wonder if she knows her duties really encompass making (by hand) the bridal wreath . . . all the wedding decorations . . . and then at the last minute . . . helping the bride to dress for the happy day? . . .

Wonder if the bride ever sends a searching glance along the line of "knights" or "bridesmen" or "ushers"? . . . in the old days they helped the bridegroom "capture" his bride . . . willing or no . . .

Wonder if they stop to consider the wedding cake . . . (which took its present ornamental form with Mr. Dewey at the top in the days of the Merry Monarch, Charles II) . . . It didn't start out that way at all . . .

It used to be a thin cake which was broken upon the head of the bride . . . and things like that would enliven the wedding story today . . .

Merit The Space

A lot of the old customs would make the wedding story take on a new note of interest . . .

It's true that we have galleries of nursemaids and babes in buggies at today's weddings . . . especially those at Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, where the expansive lawns are wonderful parking places for the buggies . . .

But do we ever have a bride and bridegroom who toss coins to the children as their motor pulls away to the wedding reception? . . .

We think it's time the dramatic personae did something to merit the space weddings take in newspapers which cost a lot to publish . . .

Come on, now . . . who's wedding is news? . . .

Growing Her Own Orchids

Here's an example . . . there was a wedding date set this week . . .

Lovely girl . . . Gwendolyn Helm . . . daughter of the George Harry Helms of Kensington road . . . who has chosen June 25 for her marriage to Bernice Albert Bates, Jr. . . . son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Bates of Somerset road . . .

Do you know what she's doing? . . . growing her own orchids for her wedding bouquet . . .

Gwen majored in biology (both plant and animal life) at the University of Michigan, where she received her B.S. degree in 1947 . . . and her master's in 1948 . . .

Some months ago she decided to try her hand at orchids . . . she bought the plants . . . they're cattleya . . . and now they're coming into bloom . . . white ones with just a fringe of orchid color . . .

She is coaxing others along . . . pure white . . . and it is these she hopes will be just right on June 25 . . .

It Came Naturally

Except for the orchids . . . Gwen is leaving most of the tails of her wedding to the family . . .

The so-called Elephant Mound in Wisconsin is actually believed to be an effigy of a bear.

Emily Peter's Wedding June 2

A nice interlude in the heavy schedule of Saturday ceremonies for the June bride will be the Thursday (June 23) wedding date of Emily Peter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius C. Peter of Kerby road and Stewart McFadden, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McFadden of Alma, Michigan.

The marriage will take place at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church and Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hammond will be hosts at the reception in their Vendome road home.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Gardner are planning a cocktail party at their Haverhill road home for Pat and Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. William Jordan are to be hosts at a dinner party next Wednesday. Mrs. Edward P. Hammond will entertain the wedding party and members of the family at a luncheon the day of the wedding.

Big Fair This Weekend to Boost New Hospital on Moross Road

All is in readiness for the residents of Grosse Pointe to attend the second annual Fontbonne Festival at the St. Francis Home Saturday and Sunday for the benefit of the new St. John Hospital.

The festival, sponsored by the Fontbonne Auxiliary of St. John Hospital, will be open to the public from 11 to 11 p. m. on both days. St. Francis Home is located at 2701 Fenkell at Linwood.

The Sisters of St. Joseph of Nazareth, Mich., the religious order which will maintain the hospital to be located on Moross road at Chandler Park drive, extend an invitation to their friends and neighbors to attend this affair.

The Sisters, who are also teachers, conduct a school in this area—St. Joan of Arc.

Among the scores of auxiliary members who have taken an active part in making arrangements for the festival are many Grosse Pointe women. Mrs. Leo Fitzpatrick of Cloverly road is general chairman of the festival while Mrs. A. J. Fisher Jr. of Renaud road assisted her as one of the co-chairmen.

Other committeewomen are Mrs. John E. Peel of Roland, Mrs. Howard Klein of Mack avenue, Mrs. Roy Fruehauf of Kenwood road, Mrs. Ray M. Whyte of Oxford road, Mrs. Hugh C. Bevier of St. Clair, Mrs. Harold Frear of Lincoln, and Mrs. James Motchall of Merriweather road.

It took the ingenuity of Mrs. Peel, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Klein, to organize one of the most unique booths for the festival. The booth won't be one of the regular booths which dot the midways of festivals. Instead, it is going to be an old-fashioned parcel post office with all the trimmings.

The post office will contain packages which friends of the auxiliary have sent from all the states in the Union and from Canada as well. These packages will be offered for sale to the general public at the festival.

"Trimnings" mean orange crates nailed together to be used as the cages for the mail, the pot-bellied stove upon which to rest one's feet, and the Gibson Girl costumes to be worn by Mrs. Peel and Mrs. Klein.

The post office however, is only one of the many attractions which await the public on these two days.

For the children there will be toyland where girls and boys will find dolls and toys which they will want to take home. There will be a fish pond where youngsters will play "grown-ups" with their fishing poles and kiddie rides and gentle ponies which will give them extra thrills during the festivities.

Besides the traditional festival attractions and amusements, attractive and colorful booths will include aprons, plastic ware, baby articles and a host of other miscellaneous articles. Light refreshments will be on sale.

Double Event Scheduled By Huguenot Society

Sunday, June 19, will be a double event for the Huguenot Society of Michigan, both Fathers' Day and Founders' Day. Members and their families will motor to Hasbrouck House, Marshall, for a picnic dinner, where the Society was founded by Mrs. George W. Moran, on June 22, 1937.

Mrs. Lloyd DeWitt Smith, first vice-president, will conduct a brief meeting, following dinner. Mrs. Harry D. Pritchard, Grand Rapids, national historian, will present a short program, and report on the Federation of Huguenot Societies' meeting in Washington in April.

Among families attending will be the Lloyd DeWitt Smiths, the Sidney C. Proberts, Mrs. Henry Bourne Joy, the Arthur C. Gerows, and the Herbert K. Gardens, of Grosse Pointe area.

Pontchartrain Chapter To Hold Social Event

The annual June social affair of Fort Pontchartrain Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution will be held at the home of Mrs. Harold W. Stark of Geddes Road, Ann Arbor on Friday, June 17.

Attending from Grosse Pointe will be Mrs. Carl D. Macpherson, Mrs. George Hendrie Savage, Mrs. John P. Thomas, Mrs. Harry E. Barnard, Mrs. Edward J. Savage, Mrs. H. Sanborn Brown, Mrs. Ralph R. Johnston and Mrs. Arthur C. Erwin.

Detroit's Problem

The representatives of the Park, City and Farms who met with the Detroit Common Council on June 8 to discuss the Fox Creek-Conner Creek storm water sewage disposal, deserve the thanks of the people of these municipalities for not being stampeded into an agreement to arbitrate the issue without a much further examination of our respective rights in the premises.

The three Pointe communities have contracts of long standing which apparently make this storm water disposal problem Detroit's responsibility. The contracts with the Farms and City seem clear and explicit upon this point. The one with the Park leaves a loophole which might invite litigation.

The Detroit Councilmen wanted it submitted to arbitration within thirty days. The Pointe representatives said, "Not so fast!"

Whether or not they will agree to arbitrate is a grave question; certainly not within 30 days on a matter which has the potentialities of a bill of $5,000,000 or $6,000,000.

They have agreed however, as requested by the Detroit Council, to give an answer within 30 days on their own views, with a possible alternative proposition.

The irony of the situation is that even if Grosse Pointe should agree to participate with Detroit on the cost of this project, there is a possibility that within a short time the State of Michigan might decree against any pollution going into the Detroit river at any point, in which event the Pointe communities would be just where they started. Pollution at Fox Creek or Conner Creek is still pollution.

Cheap Insurance

In the days when Hitler was building up Germany both spiritually and materially for the Second World War one of the most common expressions heard among the anxious democracies was "You can't do business with Hitler." This thought was based on his consistent policy of lying, deceit, broken promises, direct or implied, his bombast and his reliance on thuggery as an instrument of policy in both internal government and in his foreign relations.

The only weapon with which the war-weary nations of western Europe then sought to restrain him was that of appeasement. The answer to this is in the bloody history and subsequent chaos of the last decade.

Today, the cycle of history moves in much the same groove, with the exception that the democracies, which must be the ultimate opponents of distastefulness in the garb of communism, have abandoned the appeasement role.

They are reconciled to the fact that the only means of opposing the Slav-Communist powers which holds any promise for the preservation of peace and the saving of the world from the coming of a new Dark Age, must lie in the argument of superior force.

This is the only language which dictatorship can understand and will respect.

The free states have banded together for defense and there is excellent reason to hope this will be effective. To encourage the belief among the Russians that they can have their way by planting discord and civil strife among the democracies, will only hasten the coming of a conflict which will then be inevitable.

The only hope for world peace is to follow the maxim of the late Theodore Roosevelt of speaking softly and carrying a big stick.

It is not a pleasant prospect we face. The allocation of a substantial part of our national wealth to readiness for war is repugnant to the American concept, but if it spares us and the democratic world from a new deluge of war which would probably destroy the civilization that has been so long in building it would be cheap insurance.

It seems to be the inevitable course which America and the other democracies must follow, willy nilly, for some time in the future.

Professional Military Leaders

So much has been bruited about through press and radio in recent months concerning the three arms of our national defense that there is danger of implanting in the public mind an entirely erroneous and unjust conception of our Army, Navy and Air Force.

Much of this recent unfavorable publicity has arisen through the painful process of welding the three groups into the coordinated and unified fighting machine which the Government and the people want it to be.

It should be realized that the loosening of the loyalties and traditions that have been building up for more than a century and a half in our Army and Navy and for the last thirty years in the Air Force, is bound to engender arguments and disagreements of tactical and strategic character among these trained professional fighting men. This in no manner reflects upon their basic loyalty to the overall problem of national defense which is their peculiar obligation to the nation.

These are problems which must be left to these professional minds and to the Congress which is their mentor and final controller.

Rather than to permit his mind to be harried and confused with matters on which he is wholly uninformed, the citizen should console himself with the certain knowledge that both the Army and Navy, and latterly the Air Force, have given a remarkable example of efficiency and the ability to deliver the goods whenever the test has arisen. This has been done within the framework of a real democracy which, tradition says, lends to military inefficiency.

In its infancy this Nation had the foresight to establish two military and naval schools for training young men for the professional leadership of our armed forces. These schools have long been recognized as among the finest of their kind in the world. It is recalled that a few years ago an outstanding British military man said of West Point "no finer military school exists on Earth." The same has doubtless been said of Annapolis.

The fact that the United States has never lost a war is attributable in no small degree to the fact that we have always had available a core of highly trained professional fighting

Grosse-Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

"Like an army defeated
The snow hath retreated,
And now doth fare ill
On the top of the bare hill;
The Ploughboy is whooping... anon... anon...
There's joy in the mountains;
There's life in the fountains;
Small clouds are sailing;
Blue sky prevailing;
The rain is over and gone!"
(William Wordsworth)

Just heard on Godfrey's program, a squib he read from a New York paper. Classified ad which went, "Wanted by a man with two heads... a girl with two heads. Object... to share a four-way cold tablet."

Wanna send something local to the New Yorker for their... "Most fascinating news story of the week, printed in its entirety?" In one of the Sunday dailies, Mrs. D. G. Kennelly, caterer of some note, was pictured going over a menu with a prospective deb. The last paragraph in the article read as follows:

"Even though every detail is mapped out days before the party comes off, sometimes a last minute upset calls for a complete change of plans. One time, for instance, when a garden luncheon was scheduled, wailing hot weather had Mrs. Kennelly perturbed as to menu plans. She finally settled on a sweetest salad." (Well now!)

No doubt you folks who own your own houses have had the experience over and over again, of having a little man (they are always little), ring your doorbell to tell you that your roof needs repairing or the house needs painting or your eaves need straightening or your trees need pruning or they're too wet or too dry or too something. Anyway, the general theory is that if you don't let this little man get RIGHT TO WORK on them, you will lose every tree.

We have had two such experiences this spring and summer and we don't know which one frustrates us the more. WAY BACK last winter, a little gent called on us to tell us he had been watching our house (scarey feeling in itself), and had decided that unless we had the outside woodwork (sills, eaves, trim, etc.) painted, that it would fall apart while we were looking at it. He frightened us out of our wits, so we made a date for him to gather his yeomen together and start painting at the first sign of a robin.

Just as the first crocus reared its lovely head above ground, our little man telephoned to say he was suddenly called to Europe... BUT he needed the job so badly (and so did our house), that if we would hold-off, he'd be back to tackle it on the first day of June. "Get it before the ivy starts growing over it" he sez. We gave in and sat down to wait for June one. About the third of June, he called on us again and said he was ready to start but his truck was out of order. Truck was being repaired and he would be here with paint in hand not later than the ninth of June. As you know it is now the sixteenth and we have seen neither: hide nor hair of Mr. Painter since: We are momentarily waiting for the walls to crumble about us but our friend apparently doesn't care anymore. He is probably spending his days driving around the Pointe scaring, hastraus into agreeing to have their houses painted... a dream he evidently has no intention of making come true. Just thought we'd let you know.

Our other experience (and in a way a more horrifying one), had to do with a tree surgeon. He too rang our doorbell to tell us that we had several dead branches that HAD to be removed... and that by and large most of our trees looked a might seedy. (No pun intended.) He followed us around the garden pointing to this and that blight and although the trees looked the same to us as they have for the past 25 years, he insisted they were infested with tricky-named diseases that left us no choice but to have them cared for.

Mr. Tree Surgeon DID arrive on the appointed day, armed with a truck, two helpers, a mammoth pair of pliers, several lengths of stout rope and a truck load of enormous shears tied to long poles. He also had a noisy (as we found out), drill and a nasty looking out-sized carving knife. Surgeon indeed, we thought! The hour was sometime BEFORE seven a.m. and the place he chose to start was just outside our bedroom window. We could hear him calling to his helpers... such phrases as: "Better start with this one Joe Looks like a goner all right"... or "Don't see how this one managed to live as long as it has"... or "If we hurry we might be able to save THIS one over here."

We had a sneaking suspicion he knew we could hear him, but nevertheless further sleep was out of the question. Up we got and out to the garden to see our "dying trees. Great branches were falling to the left and right of us as we wove in and out of the debris. Our little tree hero spotted us and crawled out of a tree to give us a blow by blow description of the horrible things they had found. Taking us over to our favorite old tree he said, "just look at this now"... whereupon he took a hatchet and slashed into the trunk with a vehemence that made us think he was mad at it. The tree split... naturally... who wouldn't with that treatment... but we still couldn't quite be convinced... so he split it in a little further. In order to prevent him from splitting it right in half to prove a point, we left him to his business and went away to hide. Now our trees are all wearing more metal than foliage and to us... they look like aich. But we are so gullible where little experts are concerned. Ah me!

men around which the vast fighting resources of this country could be mobilized and directed in war.

With few exceptions our top wartime leaders have come out of these establishments. Those who were not West Point men in the army have been graduates of high class private military schools, of which General Marshall is the latest example. Our Navy leaders have almost invariably been from Annapolis.

But the professional training of these men has been only half the story. At the same time that they have been drilled in the scientific conduct of fighting, they have had instilled into them a sense of honor, loyalty and personal uprightness that have stood them apart from most others. The personal digressions from the precepts instilled at these great institutions have been so rare as to make them conspicuous.

The job that this country did in the last two wars, the greatest in which the world was ever embroiled, is unparalleled in the whole story of military history. In both wars we started practically from scratch so far as preparedness went. In World War I we built up a fighting force in Army and Navy of 4,600,000 men and our leaders of that day directed them to victory. In World War II we mobilized and trained a fighting force of more than 13,000,000 men, which not only breached Hitler's Fortress Europa and drove him underground in Berlin, but at the same time fought Japan, a first rate military power, and pushed its forces from archipelago to archipelago across 4,000 miles of the far Pacific when, although our victory was unquestioned, to save the lives of countless thousands of our own boys, we gave him the coup de grace at Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

It was America's industrial might which gave our men the tools with which to fight, but the trained brains of our professional fighting men out of West Point and Annapolis devised these new tools of war and directed their use.

That a great peaceful nation, hating war and dedicated sincerely to the cause of peace, should be able in emergency to convert into the greatest fighting power the world has ever known is one of the fortunate anomalies of history. But all of these resources of spirit and material, of which we are so fond of boasting, would have come to naught had it not been for the trained brains that came out of our great military schools.

Work Progresses On Police Radio

Grosse Pointe's new Inter-Municipal Police Radio Service did not go into operation by the estimated deadline of June 15, but it is expected the system will be in operation in the not too distant future.

The transmitter is being installed in the Farms Municipal Building and receiving consoles have been installed at all of the police stations except the Woods. That village did not join the system until long after the other four municipalities had agreed on the plan. The equipment has to be made to order, so there is a delay in getting the fifth console. The Township Station WRDR will continue to function until the new system is completely installed and thoroughly tested.

Police Lock Up Drunken Driver

An anonymous phone call was received at the City police station at 7:30 p. m. on June 11 saying that two men in a car, and obviously under the influence of liquor, were driving north on University.

The police found the car parked on University and took the men to the police station. The driver of the car, a 25 year old resident of Indian Village, Detroit, was more intoxicated of the two. His friend, a young man from Canada, aged 23, was apparently able to navigate safely and was discharged in time to get his bus back home. The Detroit car was held until 11:35 that night and allowed to leave, bearing a summons to appear in Police Court.

Courting Sleep

By FRED M. KOPP, R.F.H.

Sometimes you can develop insomnia by thinking about how difficult it is to get to sleep. The way to court sleep is to have an easy mind and a tired body.

A normal, healthy person should get a sufficient amount of sound, restful sleep to enable him or her to do a good day's work. If you aren't getting that kind of sleep you had better check with your doctor. Loss of sleep can be very detrimental to health.

When your doctor gives you a prescription or advises medicine, buy it from a conscientious pharmacist.

Wes Wedrick Beats 20 Other Lightnings in Biggest Race

Crescent Sail Yacht Club Wins First Three Places in Star Class; Bill Hanson Captures Third Straight in Cruising C Battle

By Fred Runnells

Turning out 21 strong, the local Lightning Fleet displayed the largest class in Bayview Yacht Club's annual sailing regatta last Saturday, June 11. Wes Wedrick, 1948 River Champion, got the winning gun after a successful seven hand a half mile beat down river to the finish line off the host clubs dock.

One hundred and forty-six boats in 21 different classes crossed the starting line in a moderate eight mile an hour southerly breeze which gave the boats a broad reach, a close reach and a beat to weather to the finish line.

"Marbill" Wins Again Grosse Pointe Bill Hanson's "Marbill" topped the Cruising "C" class to get her third straight winning gun in as many starts this season.

The Gordon Saunders - Joe Hann owned eight meter "Armidra" sneaked home a winner by 48 seconds over Milt Cross' "Venture" and four other eights.

Al Grundy's "Joal IV" stepped up into the winners' circle in the 22 square meter class and another Pointer, Ray St. John, turned in a nice bit of fast steering to bring his "Starling" home first for her third winning gun of the season.

Crescent Does Well Crescent Sail Yacht Club, the biggest little sailing club in these parts, had the distinction of having the first three places in the Star Class. Alex Allardyce was first over the line, followed by Meryl Amo's "War Paint" and the writer's "Bral." Eight entries gave the Stars the third largest class of the regatta of one design boats. The second biggest fleet was the popular L Class which was won by River Champion Ted Kuhn. "Tis said Kuhn has never lost a Bayview regatta. Bayview is Ted's home port.

Other Winners Other winners were Clete Welington's "Vitesse" in the Cruising "A"; "Medic," owned by Doderhof and White in the Cruising "B"; Bob Neesley's "Malabar" in the schooner-ketch class; Carlyle Wilson's "Solenta" in Universal "A" class; R. W. MacKenzie's "Shoal" in Universal "B."

Per Valbo topped the individual CK Team class and helped give the Detroit Yacht Club top niche in the CK Team honors. Margie Van showed her husband, George, how much fun it was to win in the K Class. George lately has been sailing on "Blitzen" and side-stepped sailing his catboat which brought him so many winning guns in past years.

Had No Choice "Blitzen" was in dry dock having her bottom done over so George had to sail with his wife or else sit on the dock and watch the parade.

Herb Plegler topped the CK-Free-For-All and Neil Davison won in the Club Sloop class. Chuck Reynaud led the Privates home and Bob Greig took advantage of Bob Jenks' absence to cop a winning gun in the Lawley 110 class. Jenks, in the past has always been a sure bet to win the 110-honors and the rest of the fleet battled for second place honors as a consolation prize.

Has No Trouble Joe Staier had an easy time in the Thistle class being the only starter.

C. S. Backus had little competition in the Vineyard Haven class and beat the other two starters.

Next week the windjammers will vie for honors in the Wind-sor Yacht Club regatta Saturday, June 18.

R. McMinn Pitches Nine To Win Over Head's Tavern. For Third Victory

By Fred Runnells

Behind the two-hit pitching of Ronnie McMinn, Grosse Pointe Accessory turned back a hard playing Head's Tavern team, 1 to 0, Wednesday, June 8. The victory was the third in a row in as many starts for the Grosse Pointe team and moved it a full game ahead of the three teams tied for second place in the South Lake Night Softball League.

Closely Fought The Pointe team put together a walk and a hit to garner the only run of the closely fought contest.

Sid Loller gave up but four hits, but was credited with the loss. This was the third of the young season, which started May 31, for Head's.

The second game of the double header program saw the V.F.W. aggregation down Smileys, 2 to 1, behind the excellent pitching of Girard. He went the distance to get credit for the win.

Misplays Costly Misplays by Smileys coupled with timely hits by V.F.W. provided the winning margin.

On Thursday June 9, Grosse Pointe Accessory kept its record clean by edging Raynal Brothers, 1 to 0, in an extra inning contest.

Larry Rummels hurled for the Pointers and gave up three hits while his teammates were collecting eleven.

The victory moved the Pointers two full games ahead of the pack. In the second game of the June 9 double header, Dean and Glance scored five runs on six hits to whip Head's Tavern, 5 to 1 and capture its first win of the season.

Hard to Score Head's garnered five hits off Shirts but could only push across one run.

Wiley started the game for Head's but gave way to Sid Loller in the fifth inning. Wiley was credited with the loss.

The South Lake League is Grosse Pointe's only night league. Games are played on the South Lake High School athletic field every Monday, Wednesday and Thursday.

South Lake High School is located on Nine Mile road between Mack and Harper.

Boat Banter

By Fred Runnells

Grosse Pointe can lay no claim to the speed boat world, but most interested locals will be watching Horace E. Dodge's two boats, "Delphine X" and "Lotus I" when the time trials start on the Detroit River to select the three boats to represent the U.S. in the coming Harmsworth race July 23.

Originally Dodge had planned to have three boats ready for the trials but "Delphine IX", a veteran of Gold Cup competition, can't be readied in time.

Of the two Dodge boats the "Lotus I" seems to be the one to watch for speed. This boat is a 36-foot multiple step hydroplane with a 9-foot beam designed by Fred Lord of New York. Talk about power; "Lotus I" will have four 12-cylinder 2,700 horsepower Allison's. Simple addition gives us a total of 10,800 horsepower; more than the ocean liner "Queen Mary".

"Delphine X" is the longer of the two Dodge boats, being 38-foot long with an 8-foot 6-inch beam and packing a meager 3,200 horsepower provided by two 12-cylinder Allison's.

Pending the outcome of a protest lodged by the last place contestant, Alex Allardyce won the "A" Series trophy of the Detroit River Star fleet last Sunday, June 12 with a total of 60 points for the three race series. That's par for the course as 20 points go to the winning boat in each race. That's what Alex did, won all three handily.

The only thing that can keep Allardyce from winning the trophy is, if the protest by Bill Douglas, who incidentally finished way back in the cheap seats in the final two races, is upheld by the judges. Douglas claims the rest of the fleet, eight in all, rounded the wrong mark at the start of the second time around in the second race.

The air was hot and blue when the protest was filed with the judges. It will not be acted upon until the July meeting of the fleet.

Pending the protest Bill Walker finished second with 53 points and the writer's "Bral," winner of the trophy last year, wound up third with 49 points. Nine boats completed the series.

It seems "The Rock" (Alcatraz) wants no part of Star boaters according to a story received from the West coast.

Mel Harvey and his crew, Jack Gazzola, were forced to land their Star boat, "Ah-Me-Go" on the beach of Alcatraz when it sprang a leak during a race.

"Ah-Me-Go" another Star and began to sip water through a large hole in the hull. Harvey and Gazzola stuffed a sweater into the hole and with no alternative landed their boat and hopped out. Immediately, a stern faced guard with a loaded shotgun appeared and announced they were unwelcome. The guard promised to call the Coast Guard when he saw the boys' plight.

Harvey and Gazzola found a piece of driftwood and with a couple of nails made a temporary patch which with held the water while the Coast Guard towed them back to San Francisco. Ah, these Starboaters are a crazy bunch—hmmmmmm!

Former GPHS Tennis Stars Beat Dearborn Club Team

Coach Merlin Schultz Takes Quartet to Test Skill; Win Five Out of Six Singles Matches and Lose in Doubles, 3-2

By Fred Runnells Four former Grosse Pointe High tennis players accompanied Coach Merlin Schultz on a junket to Dearborn last Sunday, June 12, to test their skill against players of the Dearborn Tennis Club. The trip was successful, for the local lads won the match, 6 to 3.

The Pointe group of Jim Kennedy, Tom Willson, Dan Guy, Bill Casteel and Coach Schultz won five out of six singles matches while dropping two out of the three doubles matches.

Jim Kennedy Wins Jim Kennedy, now a member of the star studded Cornell University team, won the number one singles match from Neal Johnson in easy fashion, 6-3, 6-0.

Tom Willson, of the Kalamazoo College squad, displayed wonderful overhead and net play form to nip Harry Drewery, 6-1, 6-4, while Dan Guy, a former teammate of Willson's and currently playing on the Michigan State College team, had too much class in the number four singles and dumped Bob Sullivan, 6-4, 6-2.

Bill Casteel, of the Albion College team, took the measure of Nick Makar 6-3, 6-4, while Coach Schultz rounded out the Pointers' singles victories defeating John Wagner 6-0, 7-5.

King, once a sparkling star in high school, suffered from lack of practice and had trouble keeping the ball in play. King was a member of the Kalamazoo College squad last year and is now a West Point cadet.

In the Doubles, Coach Schultz and Dan Guy garnered the Pointers' only victory defeating John Wagner and Tom Post in identical scores, 7-5, 7-5.

Kennedy and Casteel lost to Churchill and Drewery in three sets, 7-9, 6-1, and 6-1. King and Willson dropped the last double match to Sullivan and Johnson, 6-2, 6-4.

During the last weekend the Park police gave tickets to ten youngsters for swimming in the lake off Trembley road. This was done under authority of the ordinance that was recently enacted by the Park Board of Commissioners prohibiting swimming in the lake off the Park village shores except in the regular swimming place in the Beach Park.

You see she's been busy correcting exam papers of the students she teaches at the high school in Van Dyke, Mich. . . . She has derived so much pleasure from her own studies biology that she wanted to impart it to other eager young minds . . .

Ever since her own childhood the bride-elect has been keenly interested in the subject . . . She used to paddle a canoe to find marine life at the lake . . .

So the ticklish chore of orchid minding was a joy to her . . . and what a touch for her own wedding!

Superstitious?

In parting, we came upon a bit of poetry, brides of many years ago considered seriously . . .

If taken to heart by the modern bride . . . wedding dates might undergo a great change . . .

ZurSchmiedes Fly to Bermuda

Mr. and Mrs. W. Tom ZurSchmiede, Jr. flew to Bermuda last Sunday to spend their honeymoon, after exchanging their nuptial vows at a candlelight ceremony on Friday evening, June 10 at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church with Dr. Frank Pitt officiating.

The bride, the former Helen Neal Grubbs, wore a cream white satin gown designed with fitted bodice buttons to the waist from a tiny round collar edged with imported Swiss illusion. The collar fell over a delicate yoke of the same net which was attached to the bodice by fine applique embroidery. A matching design of the illusion and embroidery surrounded the hip line of a satin hoop. Her full illusion bridal veil dropped to the long train from a crown of tiny shell orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley centered with a white orchid.

Helen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Douglas Grubbs and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Tom ZurSchmiede of Lincoln Road.

Margaret Ann Hallam was maid of honor at the all white 8 o'clock ceremony. Bridesmaids were Janet ZurSchmiede, Dorothy Donnelly, Nancy Dalrymple and Mrs. William Perkins of Howell, Michigan.

The attendants were gowned alike in white embroidered organdy with very full skirts. Off the shoulder ruffles of the embroidered organdy gave an old fashioned look to the dresses. Tiny white moss roses were fashioned into halo wreaths to complete the dainty effect. All attendants carried red rose bouquets tied with matching satin ribbon.

Mr. W. Tom ZurSchmiede assisted his son as best man. Paul Grubbs, Stuart Fraser, Robert Bridge, William Hammond, William Weston and Boyd Granger of Ann Arbor, Michigan seated the guests.

A large reception followed at the Lochmoor Club. To greet her guests, Mrs. Grubbs chose a delicate lace ankle length gown, wearing with this a crownless turban of white feathers. She pinned a white orchid to her shoulder. Mrs. ZurSchmiede wore an olive green taffeta gown with a matching hat to complete her costume. She wore a purple orchid corsage.

The couple left the reception for New York to begin their honeymoon after which they will live at Ann Arbor where both bride and bridegroom will continue their studies.

For traveling the new Mrs. ZurSchmiede, Jr. wore a navy blue light wool suit with white hat trimmed with white veiling. Her accessories were also white. Out of town guests who came to Grosse Pointe for the wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. ZurSchmiede, Mrs. Fred Bayer, Mrs. John G. Alberding, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yates and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rietze, Jr., with young Gail and Jeff Rietze, all from Louisville, Kentucky, and Mrs. Walter Hall of New Albany, Indiana.

Lieut. and Mrs. Harmon Grubbs flew from San Diego to attend their sister's wedding.

Hunt Club Capital of Horse Show World This Weekend

The Grosse Pointe Hunt Club will become the capital of the horse show world this week when it plays host to the 38th annual Grosse Pointe Horse Show from Thursday, June 16, through Sunday, June 19.

MRS. ELWOOD C. JOHNSTON cool and lovely in a violet chambray frock with long jacket, widely pleated below the waistline and belted in violet chambray with over design of golden leaves. Sleeves were short and the gold of the belt was picked up in a gold pin on the bodice. Gay straw flowers were used on the toes of wheat straw sandals.

Blending into the sunshine and green of Mrs. Roy D. Chapin's gardens the day of the Artist Market fete, MRS. CHARLES A. DEAN chose a yellow boucle cardigan suit with softest green undersweater. She wore wheat colored slippers and carried a wheat straw bag and her dashing coiffure (quite Spanish!) was protected by a deep brown veil caught at the back in a chou.

Deep blue stripes on a spanking white background set the tone for the smart cotton MRS. JOSEPH MAYCOCK wore for shopping at the Pointe. A navy leather belt finished the waistline of the sport frock and cooled of the day called for the short navy wool coat Mrs. Maycock threw over her shoulders. Brown and white spectator pumps completed the outfit.

Her shopping companion was MRS. A. A. ALLEN whose shirtwaist cotton frock was brown and white with a skirt featuring bias stripes and a belt of narrow brown leather. A gay ribbed green cardigan was chic and warm and she wore red shoes and carried a big red straw bag.

POINTE SNAPSHOTS

PILFERINGS

From a far-from-dry little pamphlet "Word Study" published by G. & C. Merriam Co.:

"Winston Churchill remarked in (My Early Life): I would make boys all learn English, and then I would let the clever ones learn Latin as an honor and Greek as a treat. But the only thing I would whip them for is not knowing English. I would whip them hard for that."

Of Churchill's own English and of English generally Colin Coote says in his clever introduction to the recently published collection of Churchill's "Maxims and Reflections": Churchill has a natural taste for the delicacies of the English tongue, which is, indeed, the supreme instrument both for delicacy and indelicacy. A case can be made out that it is the best language in which to write lyric poetry and the best language in which to swear."

The New York Herald Tribune not long ago sought to elicit from its readers a definition of the term "liberal." It received many suggestions including this from Frank Sullivan: A liberal is a man who is constantly and simultaneously being kicked in the teeth by the commies and in the pants by the National Association of Manufacturers.

From Table Topic (Bellows & Co.)

"When the late Frank Case was preparing his Algonquin Cook Book 'Feeding The Lions,' he wrote a certain dramatist inquiring as to the latter's favorite dishes and got this reply:

"I am embarrassed. My favorite dish at the Algonquin is those enormous pushover—popovers, I mean. Not just because they are free with lunch, but because they are wonderful to eat and can also be carried home and used as bath sponges."

The letter was signed, George S. Kaufman."

Pointer of Interest

MISS SALLY O'CONNOR OF GRAYTON ROAD

By Kitty Carney

The dramatics and speech director at Liggett School looks young enough to be one of her own students, but the pert dark haired miss is Sally O'Connor, daughter of the Jack O'Connors of Grayton road, and her interests lie mostly in the radio-theater line.

When she majored in speech and radio at Michigan State College, Sally also conducted a commercial serial for children three days a week over a local network. She is affiliated with Epsilon Rho, national radio honorary society and Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatics honorary.

Taught and Acted After graduation, Sally did some substitute drama teaching in the Detroit public schools, was in some local radio shows and worked in Jam Handy motion pictures. For the past two years, she has also been working for her Master's degree at Wayne University. She has been a member of the Radio Workshop at both State and Wayne.

Early this year Sally auditioned for Wayne's Radio Community Theater which is heard over Detroit radio stations. Her courses at the University include advanced directing and radio acting, as well as writing for radio and television shows.

Experience Put to Use Sally has been Liggett's drama coach for the third grade through the twelfth, for two years. Her end-of-the-year endeavors included directing each class in its final play. She uses her playwriting experience frequently by writing plays from stories or fairy tales or for Armistice Day, Book

Week and similar occasions to keep her pupils engrossed. This past year, the seventh grade, whose annual project is to read "Robin Hood," presented each chapter of the story in play form.

To Aid Veterans She hopes, this summer, to repeat her program of a year ago—organizing the Straw Hatters, a Liggett summer theater group of high schoolers. The Straw Hatters gave their three-act play to benefit Percy Jones-hospital.

Sally somehow finds time to work on a Humane Society radio script, and keep a finger in the Theater Arts, Fine Arts and the AWWV Little Theater projects. Her best story ideas, come, sez Sally, in the wee hours of morning, and she springs up around 3 a.m. to jot them down. In the back of her head another big dream is materializing—it involves formation of a Children's Theater.

High School '42 Class to Picnic

Old acquaintances will be renewed at the reunion picnic of the alumni of Grosse Pointe High School's Class of '42, on Sunday, June 19, at the Detroit Rowing Club just over the bridge on Belle Isle.

This reunion, the first in seven years, is being held mainly through the efforts of Frank Mumford, Doris Zens Gates, Robert Steiger, Marion Bishop Burghenal and Jean McConachie Cornelius.

Former classmates attending are expected to bring their wives or husbands and children. Mr. Vincent Peterson, Grosse Pointe High School's field counselor, who has helped with arrangements, and other teachers wishing to attend will be most welcome to come and note the progress of their students in the passing years.

Pointe Counter Points

By JANE

For some reason, poor Dad is the most difficult to buy a present for. In a way it's a left handed compliment to That Great Guy, because daughters and granddaughters and mothers and wives just think there isn't anything good enough for him. But this needn't be your problem. Grosse Pointe shops are filled with the sort of gifts that will delight him on his special day, this Sunday. Be sure his remembrance from you has that Grosse Pointe touch.

For instance what could be more wonderful than a Polaroid Land Camera . . . the magic new camera that lets you see the finished photo just one brief minute after you've taken it! GROSSE POINTE DRUG CO. is the exclusive Pointe distributor of this 1949 miracle. Mr. Schoch explains in a minute the simple directions and probably will get you outside to show you how it works. Here's the camera that says to the fan "well, sir, you can" in answer to that old heartbreaker, "Oh if only I had taken that picture over again to get it in focus!" No need now to lose the picture you wanted to have all your life . . . no stewing about having missed the one at your favorite spot on the holiday. For in one little minute you know what kind of a "shot" you got and if it isn't up to your best standard . . . just take it over again. There are accessories to go with the Polaroid Land Camera (a stunning case, for instance) and GROSSE POINTE DRUG CO. carries the film. Dad will swoon with joy if he gets this 1949 gift!

Over at JACOBSON'S the Man's Menu is carefully considered on all days but there's a nice emphasis for Father's Day. Countess Mara pure silk ties with the famous autograph to give them extra umphhhh . . . sheer pure Irish linen handkerchiefs with finely rolled hem . . . dreamy soft side calf two suiters . . . a great variety of good leather utility traveling cases with brushes, comb, soap container etc. . . a knife pencil . . . military brushes cased in leather AND a conversation piece bound to please him. It's a chrome ash tray to be carried in his pocket. Not much larger than a lighter, it has two tiny lids which lift up providing a place to put those ashes when there simply isn't an ash tray in sight. ALL at JACOBSON'S plus many more, including pocketsize game sets which under one cover give Dad all the trappings for checkers, solitaire, backgammon, cribbage, poker or horse races.
