A year's hard work selling Christmas cards, holly and cookies and holding rummage and bake sales paid off last weekend for 12 girls and their leaders from Girl Scout Troop 201. They're shown arriving home after a trip to Buffalo and Niagara Falls. The car was shipped on the SS City of Detroit III. Making the trip were Judge MacNaughton, Emily Harding, Janet Holtz, Janice Gelhaar, Linda Huntington, Barbara Reed, Jane Joachim, Roberta Davis, Nancy Ramsay, Elle Frizzell, Anne Lampman, and Barbara Coffey. Mrs. Alton Huntington, their leader, and Mrs. Howard Reed accompanied them on the pleasant weekend excursion.

$5 Bid Loss Miffs Park Auto Dealer

Out-of-County Agency Wins Contract for Truck, $1,490 to $1,495

Tom Boyd, head of Tom Boyd's, Inc., is considerably "het up" over what he considers a rather raw deal he got at the Park Council meeting on June 13.

The Park Council was opening bids for a truck the village was buying. A number of bids were received, the lowest from a dealer outside the county, for $1,490. Boyd's bid was for $1,495.

Boyd's particular complaint is that he is a business man in Grosse Pointe Park, only a few yards from the Park's own City Hall.

Big Taxpayer
What he thinks is more to the point, he paid last year $2,646.74 in taxes to Grosse Pointe Park, not including the taxes on his home.

He was told at the Park municipal building that it was the rigid rule to award all contracts to the lowest bidder.

May Talk to Board
He is threatening to appear before the Board of Commissioners at the next meeting and have a frank talk with them on the matter.

It is a well known fact that the lowest bidder does not always get the job in some Pointe municipalities, and he thinks it only fair that this rule might be departed from where a home taxpayer is bowled out by such a small margin.

'Tricky New Auto Devices Spoil Thieves' Joy-Ride

Apparently inability to fathom the tricky starting devices on a brand new automobile was all that prevented a would-be thief—or thieves—from having a nice long joy ride last Saturday night.

According to Mrs. Busch, the lights were all blazing and the family, which had just returned shortly before, was relaxing on the rear terrace before Busch went to put the car away.

He had left the car, with the

255 Seniors Get Diplomas In Traditional Lawn Rites Ere Rain Sends 'Em Inside

Remainder of Grosse Pointe High School Commencement Conducted in Boys Gym; Total Graduated Since 1925 Reaches 5,429

The rains last Thursday night didn't prevent 255 Grosse Pointe High School seniors from realizing their desire to be graduated in the traditional outdoor ceremonies.

The grey-gowned seniors of the June, 1949, class received their diplomas on the school lawn before the rains came and forced shifting of the commencement exercises indoors to the boys' gymnasium.

There the remainder of the program was presented, highlighted by the three student speakers whose talks were in the general vein of "Looking to the Future."

"With Faith" was the topic ably presented by Barbara Orphal. She was followed by Martha Watkins, whose "With Hope" was heartily applauded. Concluding was Alan Bryant, who likewise was enthusiastically received with his talk on "With Charity."

Present "Blue Danube"
Two members of the graduating class featured the musical portion of the exercises with their presentation of "The Blue Danube." Gay Stephenson's rendition was accompanied by Milton Setzer.

The choir, under the direction of Mr. John E. Finch, was also accompanied in its two numbers at the opening of the exercises by Milton.

The traditional processional march, Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance," was played by the band under the direction of Mr. Dewey D. Kalember.

A total of 5,429 students now has been graduated by Grosse Pointe High School since the first class of 24 in June, 1925.

Three Ex-Servicemen
According to Principal W. R. Clemons, that total includes 241 boys who completed their requirements for graduation, while serving, or after serving, in the armed forces.

Last week's class listed three such boys, Henry Dewey, Richard Hazard, and Myron Wedyke.

Weird Tale Of Extortion Is Unfolded

Two Park Families Charge 'Seal of Saputo' Cost Them $800-$900

One of the most weird and fantastic cases involving alleged extortion by terror that ever has occurred in Michigan cropped up in Grosse Pointe Park last week.

Mixed in the simple case of extortion were aspects of misrepresentation, romantic interest and betrayal of those who had been friends in time of need.

It all began, according to police, when James N. Risk, aged 27, of 1814 Oakland, Detroit, got acquainted with John Murray, 13, of 990 Nottingham, a fellow worker in the Chrysler plant, and Murray invited Risk out to his home which was shared with two older sisters.

Risk, who is termed a remarkably smooth talker with apparent culture (backed by two years of college education) became a frequent visitor in the Murray household and through them made the acquaintance of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dennis of 97 Nottingham, the complaint alleges.

City to Bond Its Employees

The City Council at its June 20 meeting decided to accept the recommendation brought in by the insurance committee some time ago that all fire insurance on city property should be adjusted to a common expiration date.

The bonding of city employees, whose work and responsibility indicate the propriety of being placed under bond, was also decided upon. The amount of the bonds will vary with the responsibility and duties of the individual employee. All will be worked out by the insurance committee.

Scoter-Auto Collision Results in Broken Leg

As Raymond P. Brown, of 18403 Ardmore, was brake-testing his Chrysler on Chalfonte at noon on Saturday, young Robert Warren, 14, of 749 Rivard, came out of Rivard onto Chalfonte and ran into the automobile with his motor scooter.

Robert was injured and Mr. Brown took him to Dr. Usher's office on Balfour, where it was found he had suffered a broken right leg.

Dances Approved As Memorial's First Social Functions

Teen Aged to Cavort July 9, With Young Married Groups taking Over On Following Week; 13 of 15 Directors at Meeting

The first step in the social uses of the War Memorial will be taken next month when two dances will be held.

Mrs. Charles B. Lord, one of the directors of the Memorial and chairman of the junior group, asked for and received approval for two dances at the directors' meeting on June 20.

The first dance will be for teenagers and the second for the younger married groups and the age brackets above 20. The details of the dances will be announced later.

At this same meeting of the directors a large amount of general business was transacted and many steps taken looking to the rapid development of the War Memorial as a community center.

That the enthusiasm of the directors for the work is still high is evidenced by the attendance of 13 of a total directorate of 15 at the meeting.

The fiscal year of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association was fixed from August 1 to July 31.

Cornice Flood Lights
The plan for the front gate for the property that had been submitted by Remington Purdy was accepted.

A cornice flood light is to be installed on the pergola side of the building and another corresponding one at the service end. The pergola light will flood the beautiful formal gardens. It also was directed that new lamps be installed on the waterfront side.

Fifty card tables and 200 chairs have been purchased.

Lunch will be served at the installation of the American Legion officers, June 25.

Need Two Pianos
Mrs. Charles T. Ellis, chairman of the house committee, said they greatly needed two pianos, a grand piano for the main assembly room and an upright to move wherever needed for dancing.

She desired that this be made known to residents of the Pointe. If anybody makes such a gift they will be entitled to allowances on their income tax.

Suitable gifts of furniture and objects of art will also be gratefully received by the Memorial. Such gifts, all will pass under the judgment of the arts and decorations committee, which is composed of Robert Tannehill and David Hamilton.

Judgement of Arts Committee
This same procedure will apply to all tenders of furniture. The directors are most anxious that all furniture and art objects offered to the Memorial shall be suitable for use and display in the Memorial building.

The directors deem themselves fortunate to have the services of such critics as Tannehill and Hamilton, who have offered to do this work.

Commander Herbert Micou, in charge of alterations, submitted plans for the enlargement of the men's washroom on the lake level. The plans were approved and bids will be invited.

Permanent Secretary
Mrs. Tewkesbury, who did such valuable service in the campaign for the library, has been named permanent secretary. She is to be on duty in the building during office hours and will start her duties in a few days.

Bids for the painting of certain upstairs rooms and the kitchen are to be invited. These are to be opened at the next meeting.

Judicial Decree Regulates Pigeons' Leisure Hours

A. Sinteben, of 888 Rivard, was before Judge Uvick in City police court June 13 on a charge made by a neighbor of keeping pigeons which were a nuisance.

After patiently listening to the evidence, Judge Uvick decreed that Sinteben was to leave his pigeons out only between 6 a. m. and 8 p. m.

Just whether Mr. Sinteben was to lead his pigeons out on a leash for an airing between those hours was not clear to the bystander uniformed in the ways of pigeons. Experts on pigeons, however, of whom there are many persons

Seek Action At Council's Next Meeting

Hanson, Detroit's Ex-Chief Of DPW, Helps Draw Specifications

Completed plans have been prepared for the Grosse Pointe City enclosed swimming pool.

They were submitted at the Council meeting Monday night, but because of the press of other business which had to be disposed of at this meeting, and the time required for a detailed study of the plans, copies of the plan were furnished to each individual councilman for study, in the hope that determinative action can be taken at the next meeting.

The plans were prepared and submitted by Leslie Brown and Thomas Hanson, former Commissioner of Public Works for Detroit. Brown and Hanson now are members of the firm of Mason L. Brown Sons, who long have been the engineers for the City of Grosse Pointe.

The plans call for a completely enclosed pool, with pumping machinery which will permit frequent changing of the water and its chlorination whenever necessary.

The project will cost in the neighborhood of $100,000. The plans were prepared on the general scheme outlined by the Council and it is presumed they will be approved by the Council with only possible minor changes.

When Council approves the plans the whole question will have to be submitted to a vote of the people to authorize the necessary bond issue to pay for the project.

It is understood the pool will be enclosed with sheet steel piling which permits of a completely water-tight reservoir.

Woods Police In New Home

The Woods Police and Fire Department personnel are settling down in their fine new $20,000 quarters this week—and having a hard time getting used to the unaccustomed spaciousness.

The addition to the Village Hall also will mean more room for the village clerk's office and other village functions. These will be expanded into the old police and fire quarters as soon as remodeling is completed.

Chief Walter Goulette now will be able to make like a real chief. He has an office in the new quarters. There also is a squad room. Before, everything had to be done in the hall.

The new quarters also include a brand new two-cell jail—an innovation. Previously, whenever the Woods had a culprit to be incarcerated, he had to be "boarded out" in the Shores lockup.

Moving began Monday when the telephone company began connecting up the new phones in the freshly-painted new citadel of law and order. It was expected the force would have its "shake-down" of the new quarters completed by the week-end.

Postman's Holiday For Phil Danna, Teletype Expert

Phil Danna, the Wayne County teletype operator, who lives at 453 McKinley, wandered into the Farms police station with his cute daughter Annette, 13, Monday after he had stopped into City Hall for his pier permit.

Like the postman on his day off, Phil couldn't resist sitting down at the Farms teletype and razzing his co-worker, Bob Nelson, over the wires for having to work on the hot day.

Luckily, with Phil's daughter watching the message tap out on the paper, Nelson didn't fit his language to his physical temperature.

Shopper Hurt Slightly In Fall Through Trap

Helen Werback, of 17440 E. Jefferson, while shopping at the Pointe Market, at 683 St. Clair, on June 14, fell six feet through a trapdoor which had been opened to admit men doing electric work in the basement. She was taken to Bon Secours and treated for minor injuries.

City Council Rejects Plan For Loraine

One-Way Traffic Spurred On Advice of Chief Of Police

A letter was read at the June 20 City Council meeting from Attorney Frank E. McDonald, of 849 Loraine, suggesting that Loraine, which runs between Waterloo and Mack, be made a one-way street.

He said that the large number of children in the two blocks and the habit of so many car drivers using that street to avoid traffic lights on Cadieux had resulted in dangerous traffic on those two blocks.

Council considered the matter at length but was impressed with the opinion of Chief Trombly that to restrict traffic on this street to only one way would result in throwing more traffic on a parallel street on either side with similar complaints from residents there.

The Chief suggested that the erection of "Children-Slow" signs on the street might help some in slowing down traffic. The matter was referred to committee for further study.

James Kazanis, of 463 Calvin, reported to Farms police last Friday morning that his 1949 license plate had been stolen from his Model A Ford. The number is AY-40-21.

Small Touch Artist Given 30 Days to Mend Technique

Residents at 1129 Berkshire phoned the Park police at 8:40 p. m. Sunday night, June 8, that a suspicious looking man had just called soliciting money.

He had told them that he had come out to Grosse Pointe to see a sick friend and that his car had broken down and he had no money to either have it towed to a garage or even pay his bus fare home.

From the excellent description given by the members of the household, who had refused to give him any money, Sergeant Anthony Walsh and Patrolman Slusser picked up a man who gave the name of Hal M. Gilbertson, aged 65, of 2325 Case avenue. He acknowledged he was the solicitor.

Asked to show his broken down car he had neither car, license nor any of the other necessary accoutrements of car driving. He did have about three dollars in change in his pocket, ample for bus fare down town.

The police locked him up and the next day got a warrant charging attempted larceny by trick.

Gilbertson had a hearing before Justice C. Joseph Belanger on June 8 and was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail. He had no money although he makes good pay as an employee of the DAC.

As soon as he gets his pay he goes on a drunk and spends this money and then resorts to his "sick friend" or "broken down car" technique for a quick touch. He would never ask for any considerable amount, usually from $2 to $5. This small touch had its compensating features as when caught, the complainants rather than prosecute and expose themselves to a joshing by friends would refuse to go through with the prosecution with the dubious

The police found a motorcycle club with about 15 of its members out for their usual weekly outing. The club stops for a few on its rounds and departs with no greater damage to the neighborhood than considerable noise and chatter and smoke for a few moments.

Lawsuit Seen Over Issue of Fox Creek

A further meeting on the Fox Creek drainage problem will be held with the Detroit City authorities next Monday, June 27.

It is expected that all of the affected Pointe communities will be represented at this meeting, which is a continuation of the meeting held with the Detroit Common Council a week or 10 days ago.

The understanding is that all of the concerned Grosse Pointe Communities will make their formal answer to Detroit on this subject at this meeting.

Grosse Pointe City takes the stand that it is in no way, legally or morally, obligated to participate in the great expense of this project.

Its drainage area has not increased a square foot since the original contract was made with Detroit. Detroit, on the other hand, has greatly enlarged its area since that time.

All of the Pointe communities concerned, i. e. the Farms, City and Park, are set to contest this issue and the prospect of a law suit looms in the offing.

SUSPECT ARRESTED

Leroy Carson, 19, of 981 Le-lan, Detroit, a busboy, was arrested by Farms Detective Sgt. Elmer T. Labadie last Friday and turned over to the Detroit police women's division on a fugitive warrant. He was wanted for investigation of rape.

Anyway she seems to be quite engrossed in the digit despite the apparent consternation displayed by her twin sister, Sally Virginia, on whom the toe is fastened. Juvenile Motor-Bike Riding Banned by Farms Chief

Chief of Police Walter Hoyt of the Farms has placed the "no go" sign on the operation of motor-bikes or scooters by juveniles in the Farms.

An operator's license is required by State Law for any person operating a motor-driven vehicle but it is up to the local authorities to say whether or not a license should be issued.

The Farms chief does not believe any boy under 16 years old is emotionally or physically capable of driving any sort of motor-driven vehicle with safety to either himself or the public.

He says that salesmen sell such machines to parents with the assurance that there will be no difficulty in obtaining a license for their young hopefuls.

The salesmen get two or three hundred dollars for the machine and then fade out of the picture. Purchasers of these machines for their children in the Farms will be out of luck.

Cab Proprietor Arrested Again

The authorities of Macomb county sent a warrant to Chief of Police Louwers of the Park on June 15 with the request that he serve it on Alfred Alfchieny. The warrant charged uttering and publishing bad checks. It was served by Sgt. Anthony Walsh and Alfchieny was delivered to the Macomb authorities.

Alfchieny has had a number of unfortunate contacts with the Pointe police and it is probable that the Park Police will recommend to the Councils that his license as proprietor of the Lake Shore Cab company be revoked.

Vandals Sprinkle Oil On Residence Lawn

Paul Conrad, of 1431 Kensington, complained to the Park police on June 16 that some persons had put in practice a new form of malicious mischief on his property the evening before. They deliberately had sprinkled an area of about 15 square feet of his lawn with some kind of heavy oil, with the apparent purpose of killing his grass.

California Set To Send Phillos Holdup Suspect Back

The Park police have received word from Santa Cruz, Calif. authorities that Governor Warren has approved application for extradition of Herbert Williams, allegedly one of the three men involved in the Phillos holdup on Nottingham last Christmas.

If Williams waives an extradition hearing all that will be necessary will be for Detective Enders to bring him back. If he demands a hearing, Chief Louwers will be notified of that fact and the date of the hearing and then Enders will go prepared to state the local police case.

The Park police believe it will be impossible for Williams to avoid extradition.

This will leave but one of the trio to be accounted for. He is Sammy Leveigne who is alleged to have waited outside while Williams and Cameron did the job. Cameron is now doing time for the crime in Jackson prison.

Old Dodge Land Subdivision O.K.

After hearing the report of the building and zoning committee, the Farms Council on June 20 gave tentative approval to the proposed subdivision of Mrs. Wilson's property.

This is the former Dodge property between Lothrop and Whitney properties. The Council is providing that no structures are to be erected on the projection beyond Lake Shore road. This property, according to the proprietors, will be reserved for use of the property owners in the subdivision by right of a one-share interest for every lot in the subdivision.

Hospital Drive Will Double Cottage's X-Ray Facilities

(Editor's note: This is one of a series of "inside views" showing what modern hospital care means to the individual patient and to Grosse Pointe. The Greater Detroit Hospital Fund is beginning a campaign to assemble $19,728,000 to help enlarge ten leading hospitals and build four new ones in this metropolis. The over-all program includes the addition of a new wing to Cottage Hospital.)

Cottage Hospital has excellent x-ray facilities, ample even to care for the increased needs that will arise when the urgently needed new wing is built. Last year 2,238 x-ray examinations were made and 445 x-ray treatments were given at Cottage. The work of the x-ray department will probably be almost doubled when the hospital is enlarged.

Vital to Doctors

X-Rays are as necessary to a doctor today as his own eyes. With the help of these rays the doctor can see if and how a bone is broken, how certain organs function and can locate foreign objects lodged inside the body, from a bullet to a bullet.

But x-ray is more than added seeing power. It is power of healing also. While science has not yet explored all the uses and effects of x-rays, physicians do know that they are most valuable healing agents and give relief from pain. Because then can penetrate for beneath the skin, they reach parts of the body hidden from the eye or touch.

Destroy Bad Tissues

X-rays are normally high frequency currents. They destroy unhealthy tissue quickly because it is young and tender and does not resist the destructive rays as much as healthy tissue. When cancer is deep in the body, the lower frequency x-rays are eliminated by an aluminum and copper filter and the remaining higher frequencies pass harmlessly through surfaces and intervening tissue until they reach the depth at which they are effective. In treating surface cancer, high frequency x-rays are focused only on the malignant growth, which they destroy.

Cures Other Diseases

Cancer, however, is only one of about scores of diseases which may be treated by x-rays and they are being increasingly used for non-malignant conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, shingles, hyper-thyroidism, infection, scars, and warts.

When 50 beds are added to the facilities of Cottage Hospital, for which the Greater Hospital Fund has allocated $750,000, the excellent x-ray facilities of the hospital will be available to additional thousands of Grosse Pointe residents. A $2,000,000 allocation also has been made to complete the $4,000,000 sum needed to build the new 200-bed St. John Hospital.

Puppeteers Due For Convention

Nationally famed puppeteers will make Detroit, and the Tuller Hotel, their headquarters from June 28 to July 1, when they hold their national convention and festival, according to Mrs. Emery Kovach, of 263 Mt. Vernon road, the Pointe's member of the Puppeteers of America.

The program, which the public is invited to attend, according to Mrs. Kovach, will include daily performances by the puppeteers who have appeared from coast to coast. These will also appear on television.

Mrs. Kovach, whose interest in puppets began while she taught art in the public schools, also is a member of the Detroit Puppet Guild.

Later she began putting on shows as entertainment for her daughter's guests. Finally, due to popular request, she and her sister formed the Lily Paul Puppeteers and they presented shows all over town, including the Art Institute.

Anybody wishing further information on the convention and festival should call Mrs. Kovach at TUredo 1-2333.

Two Pointe Athletes Graduated at U. of D.

Included in the list of 11 varsity lettermen who will be graduated by the University of Detroit Wednesday, June 15, are Bob Kleinsmith and Pete Viviano of Grosse Pointe.

A product of St. Paul High school, Kleinsmith captained Detroit's tennis team in 1948 and has been one of the Titans' top netters for the past four seasons. He majored in biology at the University and resides at 1341 Bedford road.

Hot Ride Shakes License Loose

Park Village Commissioner Peter Koenig phoned the police at 4:00 p.m. June 18 that he had observed a car going at high speed south on Audubon from Mack. He had seen it pass two stop signs. He also got the license number.

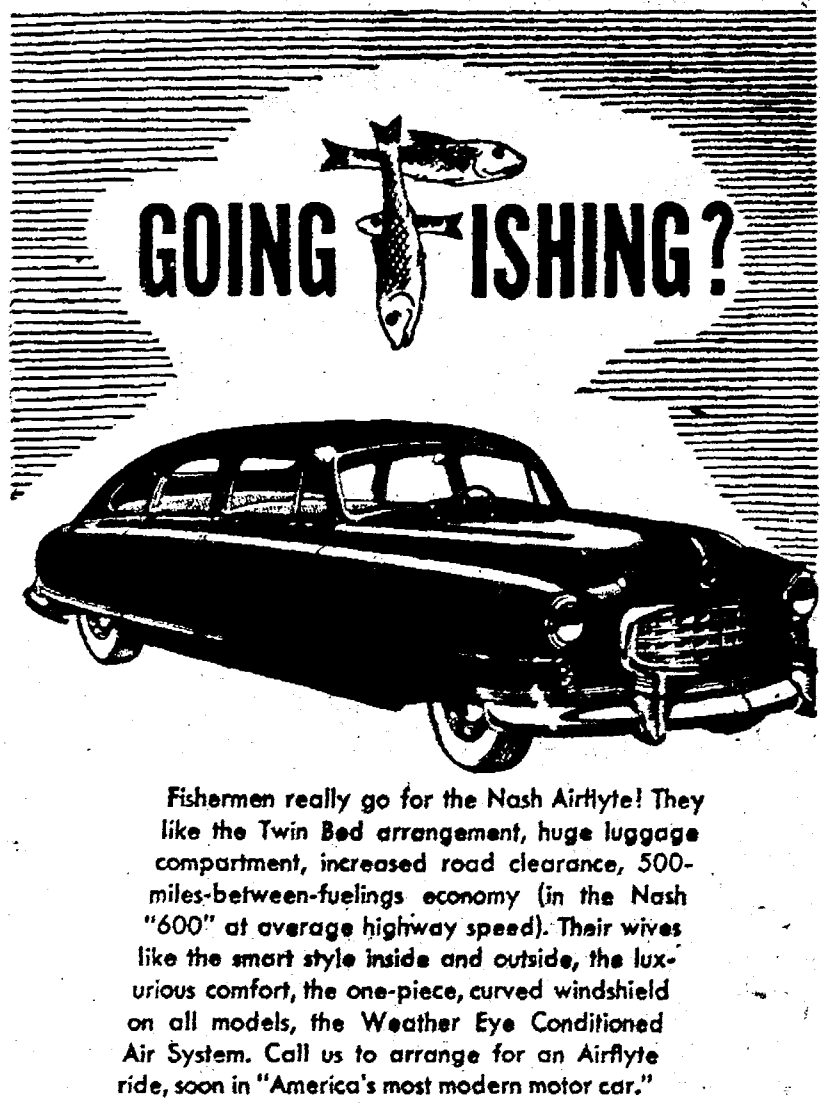

When police picked up the party, his car had no license plate on it. The plate apparently had fallen off during the hot ride. Commissioner Koenig however will sign a complaint and justice will take its course.

Pools Closed June 17, 18 By Pollution

The public swimming pools in the City, Farms, Shores and Woods were closed for 48 hours on Friday and Saturday, June 17 and 18.

The rains of the preceding Wednesday and Thursday had carried much Sanitary Sewage out of the Nine Mile drain into the lake, and this quickly showed up in the condition of the water offshore downstream.

Dr. Davies, the Grosse Pointe health officer, thought it wise to stop swimming for a brief period. By Saturday the water began to clear up and the ban was lifted Sunday.

No Long Suspensions
The Park, because of its enclosed cement pool, escaped this prohibition.

Dr. Davies says there will be no protracted suspension of swimming in the Pointe beach pools this summer. The Woods has enclosed its pool with a moat which has made a reasonably tight pool and pumping machinery will soon be installed.

This will permit the filling of the pool with fresh water which can then be chlorinated. When necessity dictates it can be pumped out and fresh water again put in.

Plans Well Advanced
The City already has its plans well advanced for the construction of a sheet steel piling enclosed pool. This also will have the necessary pumping machinery for filling and emptying.

This will then leave only the Farms and Shores without the protection of enclosed pools. These two communities doubtless will, before long, provide similar facilities and the entire beach front will be equipped with public swimming pools safe in all conditions of water for public swimming.

Deny One-Way On Hall Place

The petition of Hall place residents, presented at a previous meeting, that the street be made a one-way thoroughfare, was denied by the Farms council on June 20.

The chief reason was that the making of the street a one-way street would throw additional traffic on Muir road and Mapleton road in handling traffic between Grosse Pointe boulevard and Kercheval.

Council felt that this would create a serious hazard to children on the latter streets which are well populated. Precaution and warning measures have, however, been installed which will aid the existing condition.

Study Charge For Meters

Grosse Pointe City may soon start charging for water meters installed in new houses.

Heretofore the City has installed meters of three-quarters inch and one inch without charge to the property owner. For the larger sizes $35 was charged for the one and one-half inch meters and $50 for the two inch.

Mr. Blondell, the City assessor, said it was necessary to readjust these charges as the price of meters had been raised four or five times since the present rates were made.

He proposed that a charge of $28 be made for installing three-quarter inch meters and $40 for one inch. For the larger sizes he suggested $72 for the one and one-half inch meters and $145 for the two inch.

The matter was referred to committee with power to act.

Park Studies Conversion

The Board of Commissioners of Grosse Pointe Park has passed a resolution declaring in favor of the conversion of the municipality from its present form of village government into a city structure.

The resolution commended to the citizens and taxpayers their careful study of the proposal.

The various reasons which introduced the resolution have little bearing on the basic arguments for a change. Its size as the largest present village municipality in the state and the fact that it has now no rural suburb as in its beginning, have nothing to do with the pro and con of the issue from the standpoint of material advantage.

The fact that the City of Grosse Pointe has long been removed from the township, and the Farms soon will be, leaving the present Grosse Pointe Park to carry sixty per cent of the cost of the township, is a potent argument why it should leave the company of the township.

The fact that as a city the Park will have its own direct representative on the Board of County Supervisors, the real governing body of the County, is a valid political argument and worthy of consideration.

Heretofore Grosse Pointe's representation on the County Board of Supervisors has been limited to the one representative from the township and the City's representative. These two have been Carl Schweikart for the township and Councilman Chester F. Carpenter, for G. P. City.

Just how economies in the local public service are to be effected by withdrawing from the township is not so clear. It is obvious that as the different Pointe municipalities withdraw from the township and set up independent housekeeping for themselves each one will be compelled to care for on its own, for those services which the township has rendered.

This, experience may show, will cost them more than was their share when these expenses were met through the medium of the township tax.

The Pointe communities which have already shifted to City form, and the others which contemplate the change, are already trying to pool these functions under a single management or authority as against the time when they would otherwise be a separate responsibility on each. The recent creation of the Inter-Municipal Grosse Pointe Radio Service is the latest example of this plan.

If this can be accomplished in every field which the township now occupies it would be in effect consolidation without the name.

There are varying views held locally on the effect of each present Pointe community setting up as a city.

When the campaign was on in the Farms to change to city form one of the pieces of propaganda sent out by the Farms said in bold type "This is Against Consolidation." The thought there seemed to be that if the Farms and other communities became cities it would tend to consolidate their separate municipal status and hence postpone the day of consolidation of all the Pointes, who prize above all else the right to run their own show, municipally speaking, and is embedded in the long established Grosse Pointe sentiment for self government and home rule down to the smallest units of local government.

An entirely different result to the down cityward movement is envisaged however by some observant taxpayers in the Pointe.

They believe that the setting up of the five municipalities as separate cities will point more quickly to ultimate consolidation into one city. These persons are heartily of the belief that the whole public service can be more economically managed as one city than as five. They also believe that the great problems that are constantly confronting the whole Pointe can be more effectively met by a single city that by five, often working at cross purposes.

They think that a brief experience as five cities will soon convince the people here that the common-sense thing to do is to forget their petty isolationism and get together as one city, and that this conversion will come when they discover it costs more to run five municipalities than one city with the same population and bounds.

These persons are confidently looking forward to this shift in public sentiment soon after the "five cities" have operated on their own a short time.

The Three-Man Grand Jury

In a short time the Michigan one-Judge grand jury will be a thing of the past.

The bill which Governor Williams signed the other day provides for a three-Judge grand jury system in which two of the judges can make decisions but actual indictments can be handed down only by a unanimous vote.

The three-Judge system will doubtless minimize the criticism which has so often been leveled at the one-man jury. It will be commonly accepted that the composite judgment of three judges is better than one.

The Michigan grand jury is what is called in some other states a grand inquisition. It has usually to do with crime in its aspects towards the general welfare or abuses or neglect in the public service.

In some states the grand jury is a jury of as many as twenty-four persons who screen out for rejection or trial the vast number of petty criminal cases which are certified up to it by the minor magistrates. The juries return an ignored or true bill as judgement indicates. This is an expensive and unnecessary procedure. In this state the examination which follows arrest determines whether or not the accused goes to trial and this is usually performed by the magistrate before whom the accused first appears.

In these states with the many-member grand juries, the Court frequently refers to the grand jury sitting a question of common public interest or a public abuse, in which case the current grand jury becomes a grand inquisition charged with the investigation of a specific matter named by the court.

This becomes in effect the same as the present Michigan grand jury system.

Following September 23 this year Michigan's 'Grand Inquisitions' will be handled by three judges.

Grosse Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

"For somehow the poor old earth blunders along, Each son of hers adding his mite of unjustness, And, choosing the sure way of coming out wrong, Gets to port as the next generation will witness!" (James Russell Lowell)

When we wore knee breeches our elders took periodic delight in telling jokes about dentists pulling the wrong teeth. The thing went in cycles but was always good for a "howl." Sooooo, up to now we have looked upon dentists' mistakes as mere jokes told by fuddy-duddies. Last week... it ceased to be a joke for one local woman, anyway.

It seems that both she and her husband had an appointment with their dentist on the same day but neither one knew of the other's appointment. Madame was first and as she sat in the dentist chair she noted that the dentist was consulting a chart from a previous visit. Finally he said, prodding a lower tooth somewhere near the rear, "Having any trouble with this lately?" She allowed as how she was having a little trouble all over but couldn't place any particular tooth. Okay, sez the dentist, this one will have to come out. No use fooling with it any further. It said so on the chart. The little woman remonstrated but after all the dentist is bigger than she is so before she could say "Canasta" he had a shot of novocaine in her jaw.

The tooth out... Madame made her way home feeling like aich... and having a "novocaine shake" which was highly disconcerting. When her husband arrived home, she told him not to speak before he made her a good stiff drink. He did same while she sat moaning and holding her jaw against an ice bag. Finally he asked, "Toothache?" Then she told him about having her tooth pulled. He asked which one and when she showed him the empty gap, he exclaimed, "That's funny. I went to the dentist today and had my tooth pulled too... from the same place!"

Husband and wife looked at each other for a moment... and in a trice both were thinking the same thing. It so happened that about six months before, Madame had gone to the same dentist and he had suggested novocaine before grinding on a tooth he intended to fill. When she declined the novocaine he said he was sure she couldn't stand the pain without it. But this time she won and he DID grind without giving her anything. It didn't hurt a bit. Something that mystified her as much as it did the dentist. Finally he told her the tooth must be dead! Two weeks later, her husband had his appointment and had a tooth-filled in the same spot! Uh-huh, we think they're right about what they think and what they think of the dentist at this point, we can't print.

Before we leave the dentists' offices, we have to tell this one... told to us by a dentist to whom it happened. One day a patient came to his office and asked if he could make her some new teeth in a hurry. He had already made for her a few small bridges that were scattered here and there in her mouth and since it hadn't been too long ago, he looked at her in amazement and said, "But your bridges fit perfectly when I made them and it couldn't have been more than a year ago. Have you lost or broken any?" Then the woman explained that she hadn't done either... but she had SOLD them to her sister-in-law for fifteen dollars more than she paid for them! When the stupefied dentist picked himself up off the floor he asked what on earth her relative was going to do with them... to which the woman replied, "Oh they fit her perfectly. She needed them in the same places and wanted to know how they'd feel so I let her try mine. Now she wants to buy them from me."

This little saga is informative as well as amusing (we hope). You who have had trouble getting a little service done in the home when you were in a hurry for same, should appreciate it.

A young married couple who share a two-family house with another couple, thought one evening about 10 o'clock, that they smelled gas. After sniffing around their own premises for a bit, they decided the odor must be coming from the flat upstairs but since the people upstairs were out... they took it upon themselves to call the gas company to report it. That worthy organization sent a "fixer" on the double, as it always does. However when the little man arrived he informed them that what they were smelling was the gas from the "ice box" and it had nothing whatever to do with the gas company.

(We will thank you not to criticize our use of the words "ice box." It seems that the new fangled boxes that make ice by gas are all known by their trade names and the use of same in a story of this ilk is not allowable. So there!)

To get on with our tale, the now frantic couple immediately called the "ice-box" company to send a man to DO something right away. This company, which sports 24-hour service, answered its phone but the little operator explained that the man who took care of that particular district lived a good 25 miles from the house putting in the complaint. "So all right," wailed our hero, "What are WE supposed to do? Suffocate?"

We can now see the telephone operator biting her nails in deep concentration. Finally (lowering her voice to a conspiratory whisper) she said, "I'm not supposed to tell you this but... if you call the fire department, they'll fix it!" Our hero called the fire department and explained his plight. Sure enough like a shot, the good old men in the red suspenders screamed and sired up to the house in their red wagons... with everything blowing at once. They fixed the leak... then stopped on the way out to revive the couple who live upstairs, who had arrived home just in time to see the fire truck at their front door and had fainted with shock!

When Billie Burke was in town last week, she dined at a house in the Pointe and before leaving, very graciously agreed to give her autograph to members of the household who had asked for it. Since no one had a copy of Miss Burke's books, she suggested she sign a slip of paper that could eventually be pasted in the book when and if they obtained one. Fine.

One of the maids in the house timidly handed out a small book to be autographed by Miss Burke. It was a copy of Webster's Dictionary! La Hostess suggested in a dulcet tone (while pinching the maid on the side) that she didn't think the dictionary was very appropriate and that she'd better just get a slip of paper. Back came the chastened maid, this time holding out another little book... which turned out to be her Bible! Miss Burke signed it, happily.

Communism's Offer

Archbishop Beran's warning to his Catholic followers in Czechoslovakia to give no heed to any reported "confession" he may make, is merely the latest incident of a battle some call the struggle between Church and State but which in its truer and more basic sense is a struggle between Atheism and Christianity.

This conflict has been in progress ever since the Communists launched their first political state in Russia more than thirty years ago. They then sneeringly announced that "religion is opiate for the people" and have never deviated an iota from that line since that day.

It has been not only a challenge to the whole Christian World but a standing declaration of war against all men of any faith who believe there is a Divine purpose at work in all things. It denies the existence of spiritual life and ignores the fathomless universe whose depths are measured in Time not in Miles.

Communism would win mankind to the acceptance of a theory of life that all things start and end in this little world, a mere atom in space. It leaves mankind wholly without moral moorings.

Instead of the spiritual balm compounded of Faith, Hope and Charity, which Christianity has held before the world for two thousand years, it offers a hopeless void and a brew of poison.

Cool Fruit Drink Helps Beat Heat

Most urgent want on a hot summer day is a cool drink that is both thirst-quenching and refreshing.

The Visiting Housekeeper Association, a Red Feather service, says that many refreshing fruit drinks contain valuable vitamins and should be served often to both children and adults.

Popular combinations are orange, lemon and grape juices; and raspberry, currant and lemon juice.

A delicious punch may be made from lemon, orange and pineapple juices with strawberry juice and fruit added. Gingerale in combination with fruit juices is refreshing.

Also there are the old favorites of iced tea and coffee as well as iced cocoa for the children.

Lemon or Limeade
Three to six lemons, depending on desired strength; three cups of water. One to 1 1/2 cups syrup which is made of equal amounts of sugar, and water boiled 10 minutes. Lots of ice.

Orangeade
Use four oranges, one lemon and one cup of syrup. Lots of ice and a garnish of mint leaves or cherries make a colorful and pleasing beverage.

Ginger Ale Punch
To the juice of four lemons or three lemons and one orange, one pint of grape juice and syrup to taste, add a quart of ginger ale just before serving.

Ginger Ale Punch
Add one quart of ginger ale to the juice of four lemons and a pint of grape juice, sweetened to taste.

Iced Tea Punch
Mix the juice of three lemons and two oranges and one cup of iced tea. Add one-half cup of sugar and a pint of water. A pint of ginger ale should be added just before serving.

Why Not Improve Your Hearing?

By FRED M. KOPP, R.P.H.

Do you find yourself missing out on bits of conversation? Is it often necessary to ask to have a question repeated?

Perhaps it has never occurred to you that your hearing may be impaired. Loss of hearing is usually gradual and sometimes the person affected is the last in the family circle to realize his or her disadvantage.

Science and the medical profession today can offer help in overcoming many hearing difficulties. The first step towards better hearing is to consult your doctor. His valuable advice based on knowledge and experience will guide you correctly in attaining improved hearing through medical or scientific aid.

Dear Sir:

I want to congratulate your paper for the stand taken on the Grosse Pointe School situation. I'm glad to see the people of Grosse Pointe demand more for their "School Building Dollars." It shows that we are aware that taxes of all kinds are too high, and that our City Planners and School Board Members should recognize this fact and come up with something within reason of the average family.

Enclosed you will find a picture and article clipped from last Sunday's Detroit News having to do with schools. This ranch type school looks more like it—its cost is low, its maintenance is low, its child population decreases (as it did in the Park and City) the loss to the tax payers would not be anything like it is now.

I certainly think that the people in Grosse Pointe want adequate schools—but, we do not want palaces that will outlast the school population nor do we want to cripple ourselves by spending everything for school buildings that we are not able to afford a good teaching staff and equipment.

I hope you will keep insisting that our School Board be reasonable in their requests. I'm sure the people of Grosse Pointe appreciate your vigilance in regards to tax matters and waste in municipal spending.

Sincerely yours,
Robert F. Weber

Fired Washer Raises Fuss

Marvin Boutin, proprietor of the carwash and service station at 1524 1/2 Kercheval, phoned police on June 18 that he was having trouble with a car-washer whom he had just discharged.

The police found Rudolph Stewart making a great hullabaloo because he claimed a wallet belonging to him was missing and darkly suggested that it had been stolen.

He acknowledged there was no money in the purse, but said it had valuable papers. The police soothed him down and he went his way, minus the mysterious purse.

Charter Body Not Held to 90-Day Limit

Attorney General Rules Provision 'Directory,' Not 'Mandatory'

The commission which is working on the charter for the embryo city of Grosse Pointe Farms sent a letter to the Board of Trustees on June 20.

The supposition which first prevailed that the commission would have to have its draft of a charter prepared within 90 days of the election, it is now learned, according to the Charter Commission, is not so.

The 90-day provision is directory but not mandatory and the commissioner frankly states its work will not be finished within that time.

Text of Letter

The letter reads: "The City of Grosse Pointe Farms Charter Commission is mindful of the statutory 90-day period for the drafting and submission of a proposed charter to the electorate. We have held many sessions of the Commission, and they have been long meetings.

Better Results

"By doing a thorough job we feel that better results will be obtained in the long run. However, we intend to complete the charter as soon as possible, but it is apparent it will not be within the 90-day period.

"We have been advised that the 90-day limitation is directory and not mandatory, and that the Attorney General has rendered an opinion to this effect.

"This letter is merely to advise you of our progress and to let you know that we are making definite strides toward the completion of the charter."

School News

PARCELLS SCHOOL

Recently the children in Miss Ruth Switzer's 4A group arrived at school with well packed lunch boxes and plenty of energy for a trip to the Edison Institute in Dearborn. A group of thirty children accompanied by their teacher and two mothers, Mrs. William Schultz and Mrs. Robert McGregor, made the trip.

The students have been reading "Singing Wheels", and studying about early community life so that there were many interesting things to see. They were especially interested in the row of shops and the transportation section of the museum. After spending about two hours in the museum the bus driver found a lovely shaded spot with picnic tables where the children had lunch.

On May 25, the children in Miss Ruth Switzer's 4A class entertained their mothers at an informal tea and program. Co-chairmen for the tea were Judy Vanness and Bruce Carlson. Each child in the room worked on a committee. Announcers were Billy Waldeck and Carol Baude.

The program consisted of piano solos by Barbara Lass, Judy Vanness, Gretchen Shortz, and Bruce Carlson. John Mooney and Lonnie Van Noy played a trumpet duet, while a clarinet duet was played by Brian Mooney and Judy Hutter. Poems were recited by Judy Van Rosen and George Wilson.

Herbert Welling, Gilbert Behling and Gary Near formed a trio, while Shirley Delie, Nancy Habitzruther, De Ette Kissane, Nancy McGregor and Judy Weigold sang a song "Spring Fever." Carol Baude played a violin solo "Cruising Down the River," while John Osborne played "Jinrikisha" on his violin. Warren Appel gave a report on "New York," Roy Berry on "Gary, Indiana," and Dick Zuehlke talked about "San Francisco."

Kenneth Kroth gave a science talk about some experiments with "Magnets." The program closed with group singing after which the group had ice cream and cookies made by the girls in the room. Guests included the mothers, Miss Elinor Schrage, and Mr. Marshall Jameson.

Girl Scout News

The Trombly Brownies Troop No. 834, consisting of 24 girls, organized November 1948, and sponsored by the PTA took part in a program for Trombly PTA in May. The picnic held at Grosse Pointe Park on June 6 for Brownies and their families finished the year's activities.

The Brownies wish to extend their gratitude to Mrs. Fred Price, chairman of Girl Scouts at Trombly, for her helpfulness in many ways, also to Mrs. Howard Poppen, who is their leader and Mrs. Edward Kraner, Mrs. Elwood Riemer, acting co-leaders.

Rat-Proof Can Designed by Health Chief

Dr. Thomas S. Davies, the Grosse Pointe health officer, has designed and had made at rat and fly-proof garbage can.

His plan is to recommend its use to householders in the Pointe if it lives up to his expectations. The device is an iron receptacle with a hopper in the top in which the householder deposits the garbage. A turn of a lever drops it into a can in the bottom of the receptacle.

The garbage man on collection days opens a door in the bottom of the receptacle which is built something like a safe. The receptacle is completely enclosed against rat or fly entrance. The rat nuisance which exists at some places in the Pointe is caused by leaving garbage and other rat food exposed where they can get at it and feed.

Without food the rats will disappear quickly, the Doctor says.

Boys Pick Wrong File For Bunk House Wood

Dr. Flier, of 936 Trombly, reported to the Park police on June 16 that some boys were stealing lumber from a new house under construction on Harcourt.

On investigation, the police found that some 12-year-olds were in quest of lumber to build a bunk house, and had alighted on the most convenient stockpile. The thefts were not extensive. The parents were notified and promised to make any necessary restitution.

From Another Pointe of View

A junebug eyeview of the Junior League Country Fair. Despite the rain (which spoiled the afternoon fashion show) . . . despite the dishevelled appearance of gals we have always said looked j-u-s-t as if they had been designed by Mainbocher . . . despite the solid carpet of junebugs that clung to the grounds of the Emory Moran Ford estate . . . Everyone had a good time at the Junior League Country Fair . . .

All The World Loves Hamsters

Now a great deal of the population is interested in Junior Leaguers . . . but we learned that Junior Leaguers are interested primarily in Hamsters . . .

They're as new as television to the lay public . . . look like mink and ermine mice . . . and are valuable for experimental purposes in the field of medical research . . .

The Leaguers themselves worked like dogs . . . the depth of depression overtook us as we saw some we had even considered snooty . . . down on their knees mopping up water from the dance floor . . . and mopping off working dew from their pretty foreheads . . .

But for those who came to the Fair . . . they were charming hostesses . . . with ready smiles even as midnight neared. Just everyone was buying hamsters to take home and breed to help the science.

Mrs. Emory Moran Ford . . . at the afternoon session of the Fair . . . carried a Hamster bought especially for her little daughter, Laura . . . young Emory has two already and is quite jaded about all this johnny-comelately enthusiasm which has struck the rest of the Pointe.

Junebug Reporters

We walked rapidly to the end of the gardens where supper was served and where later, a tented dance floor lured those who like to trip the you know what . . .

We sat comfortably and let the junebugs fly the news to us . . .

One told us he had just overheard Allan Shelden III tell Torch Green what a simply magnificent feast she and Al had contributed to the Fair . . . they donated all that wonderful food . . . and even had their crew on hand to man the buffet . . .

Another pointed out to us that over there was Mrs. B. E. Hutchinson whose flare for color prompted her to brighten her black raincoat with a deep red umbrella underarm . . . and a black and white striped scarf at her throat . . . She had dinner with son-in-law Bill Laurie and a group of young people . . .

... And a Few Kind Words ...

Mrs. Edgar L. Fink was turning a deaf ear to her husband . . . who supplied in elegance with a table of menfolk and called raucously to her at frequent intervals.

"Waitress, another cup of coffee and don't put your thumb in this one."

Mrs. Fink . . . Mrs. Sandy Wiener who moaned, "Wouldn't you know the junebugs would make their 1949 appearance tonight!" . . . Mrs. Arthur H. Buhl Jr. . . Mrs. Cameron B. Waterman II . . . Mrs. Edward S. Evans Jr. . . Barbara Hughes (who looks like the Carsten Tiedeman girls) . . . all were "waitresses" in the supper gardens . . .

Luck O' The Irish

Mrs. William H. Herbert and her daughter, Mrs. Ames Howlett, two darlings and looking very pastel in blue and pink costumes, were overcome with Hommie's thirty dollar prize from the Pot of Gold . . .

We could commiserate with George Black Jr. who announced the winners all afternoon and evening . . . but didn't win a thing himself . . .

We never knew Albert and Muriel Mackey were so rich . . . but they must be billionaires because they won the Ford car and you know how the rich get richer . . . Bill Joy won a ham . . . to the delight of his pretty wife (Continued on Page 11)

Diane Dwyer Is Bride of Robert Fox

Society Attends Fashionable Wedding at Grosse Pointe Christ Church

Although it was a notably humid afternoon the guests who attended the Saturday wedding of Diane Dwyer, daughter of Mrs. Jewett Dwyer of Merriweather road, and J. White flowers were used at the altar and ivory tapers glowed in cathedral candelabra. The bride chose the music that softly filled the church before the ceremony. Guests turned to see the tiny bride in her dark ivory satin wedding gown. There was a hint of Duchesse lace from her mother's wedding gown used at the square neckline and edging the cuffs of the long, fitted sleeves. A shawl veil, fingertip length, was exquisite and she carried a small bouquet of stephanotis.

There were six attendants all gowned alike in bouffant yellow organdy with large milan hats trimmed in blue velvet ribbons. Their slippers were yellow straw and the attendants carried field flowers.

Even four year old Marcia Fox, niece of the bridegroom, was in yellow organdy but there were blue ribbons in her hair.

Boat Club Holds Teen Age Dance

Come those hot summer evenings and it's the boy whose Pop belongs to a waterside club who rates with the sub-debs and their older sisters. One of the favorite "clubs" is the Detroit Boat Club where last Friday evening there was a Teen Age Dance.

The bad weather still prevailing, the youngsters moved inside to the ballroom where Eddie Marshall's music was definitely to their liking. Dr. and Mrs. Edward Mair and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice V. James were chaperons for the dance.

Sports Windsor Regatta Humbles 'Regulars' Sports

Regular Weekly Winners End in Unfamiliar Spots

Windsor Regatta Finds Many in Also-Ran Finishes; Earlier Date Doesn't Swell Entries

BY FRED RUNNELLS

The day was bright and sunny, the wind, what little there was, was perfect for reaching but some of the regular weekly regatta winners found themselves in unfamiliar spots in their classes at the finish line off Windsor Yacht Club last Saturday June 19.

Ted Kuhn, the guy who has made life miserable for the other L class sailors for the past six years, wound up second behind Betty Pulford in the ten-boat fleet.

Bob Jenks must have missed a tack some where along the line and was beaten by a fellow club member, Bob Greig, in the Lawley 110 class which had six starters.

In the big Lightning class, 17 in all, Wes Wedrick defending DRYA champion, finished third behind Bob Dadd and Walt Rooney. It was Dadd's first gun of the year.

Four Minutes Ahead

Alex Allardyce continued his winning ways in the Star class, finishing better than four minutes ahead of Bob Reithmiller who took second place honors ahead of Meryl Am, the writer's "Brat." Arno Streit, Bill Gmeiner, Bill Douglas and Harry Meanwell.

Other winners were: Gordie Saunders, John Hahn, in the eight meters; Bruce Davenport, in the Luders; Hank Cawthra, in the Lawley 210's; Ray St. John, in the 30-square meters; C. K. Backus, in the Vineyard Haven class.

Gene Byusse put his dad's boat, "Last Straw," aground and failed to finish in the Cruising A division, which was won by Clare Jacobs "Revelry."

Only three boats came out to play in the Cruising "C" class which was won by Dodenhoff's "Medic" on elapsed time and corrected time.

Old Piece of Rag

Margie Van accompanied by her sports-writing husband, George, took top honors again in the K-class beating Duke Huber and his nice new sail.

Margie used the only sail she had, an old piece of rag that is

Boat Banter

By Fred Runnells

Local Star Class skippers began their quest for top honors in the first of five races in the local World Championship elimination series last Sunday.

The winner of the series will earn the right to represent Detroit in the Star Class World Championships to be held at Chicago, August 21 to 27.

A lucky wind shift gave Alex Allardyce's "Thistle II" the winning gun by a good margin. He beat the writer's "Brat" by 12 1/2 minutes. "Brat" finished second ahead of Meryl Am's "War Pain" by seven minutes and one second.

These three boats were the only ones of the eight starters to win points in the first race.

Fleet Captain Jack Tighe's rejuvenated "Old Crow" broke down early in the race when her main halyard slipped and let the big sail down around the ears of her skipper.

Canadian Bill Douglas hit the first mark of the course and was automatically disqualified and his fellow countryman, Harry Meanwell, threw away fourth place when he laddered before crossing the finish line.

Arno Streit, in "Desire," was seen sculling to get across the finish line by the judges and also was disqualified.

George Richardson, in "Cayuga," just gave up in disgust after rounding the second mark on the second trip around the three-mile triangle and sailed back to his Canadian post instead of finishing.

Next Saturday and Sunday, June 25 and 26, the fleet will tangle again in the second and third elimination races.

A large fleet of big boats is expected to start in the 29th running of the Mills Trophy race which is sponsored by the Toledo Yacht Club.

The first Mills Race was sailed way back in 1907 and was won by George B. Craig, in "Shark," out of T.Y.C.

In one respect this race will be interesting due to the fact it will be the first meeting of three 72-foot jobs: Wendell Anderson's big blue "Escapade," John B. Ford's "Royono" and Bob Timken's Cleveland entry, "Kittyhawk," recently brought here from the East.

All three ships sailed in the Bermuda race last winter in which "Royono" and "Escapade" finished second and third. "Kittyhawk" comes from the East with a racing record as long as your arm and should be a formidable competitor.

Ernie Grate's and Murray Knapp's sea queen "Blitzen," winner of the Miami-Nassau race last winter, is back in the water with a nice new shiny bottom and will be out to cop the winning gun in the Cruising A class. She won this race in 1945.

Charley Byusse's "Last Straw," 1946 Mills champion, will be there but it is reported her little skipper won't be aboard. His son, Gene, will be on the stick.

Toots Gmeiner's 1941-42 Mills winner will be at the starting line along with Ledyard Mitchell's "Soubrette" and Cleve Wellings "Vitesse." All are New York 32's.

In the racing division, Perc Darnell's eight meter "Pintail" will defend her title against a big fleet.

The race will get underway off of the Toledo Yacht Club at 4 p.m. and will be under the supervision of competent Dick Foote.

Cruising A class starts at 4 p.m. and will be followed at five-minute intervals by the Cruising "B" and Cruising "C" boats.

Fishing Contest Interest Lags

Gray's fishing contest is teetering on the brink of oblivion.

In fact, says Roland Gray, operator of the contest, unless there is a rush of entries after the bass season opens, it is doubtful if it will be held again next year.

Gray is very disappointed at the interest shown so far and the prizes, which are on display in the window of Gray's Sports Shop, "are well worth winning," he declares.

Safety Hints Offered for Swimmers

The drowning of 11 persons in this area in the space of a few days indicates the need for greater safety in water sports, declares Dr. Bruce H. Douglas, Detroit commissioner of health.

Water sports should be a source of pleasure and healthful exercise and should be a safe experience when a few simple rules are followed, Dr. Douglas said.

"Be sure you are familiar with the depth of the water where you swim. Never swim alone; if trouble comes there is no one to help you," the health official continued.

"Persons who have heart disease should consult their physician about the kind and amount of exercise which is safe and beneficial. Wait at least two hours after a meal before going swimming and longer if the meal was a heavy one made up of foods which are digested slowly."

"If you are a boating enthusiast, practice tipping the boat and righting it in shallow water so that if an emergency arises in deep water you are familiar with the practise."

"Refuse to get into the boat with a person who clowns or insists on taking unnecessary chances," Dr. Douglas concluded. "After strenuous exercise, cool off a while before you go swimming."

Everyone should have some knowledge of first aid and know how to administer artificial respiration. When it is needed, minutes are precious and it should be started at once.

Roland Gray of Gray's Racquet and Sport Shop, formerly in charge of the tennis program at the Detroit Country Club, will work with Dillon in providing an outstanding program of tennis instruction for the children of Grosse Pointe.

Participants will be expected to furnish their own racquets. Do not bring any tennis balls to class.

There will be no charge for the tennis instructions. If further information is desired, call the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, TU. 5-2000, Extension 25.

Scholarship Won By Pointe Grad

Milton Setzer, 804 University Avenue, recently was awarded the Hoff Scholarship to Kalamazoo College.

In announcing the award, E. R. Shober, dean and registrar of the school, indicated it was a $300 grant, supplemented by $150 to be earned by the student in campus employment. The scholarship is renewable.

Milton was graduated from Grosse Pointe High School, where he was an excellent student. He was an active member of the Pointe Players, the high school band, the Conservation Club, and was president of the Music Appreciation Club. Throughout high school he was a recognized as an outstanding pianist.

At Kalamazoo College he will major in music. It is his desire to become a concert pianist.

At present he is studying piano with Edward Bredshall. He has been receiving instruction in piano since the age of five, and also plays the French horn.

Milton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Milton Setzer, of Grosse Pointe.

Summer in East For Children Of Zimmermans

Mrs. Jessie Zimmerman, of Long Beach, Long Island, last week welcomed her four grandchildren, Doris, Jessie, Georgia and Louis Zimmerman.

Doris "chaperoned" the other three to Long Island and, while they will stay on for the Summer with their grandmother, the post-dob will return to the Pointe July 1 to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Zimmerman, of Kenwood road.

In the fall, Doris will join the Smith College students who are to study in Mexico City next season at the University of Mexico. This is the new system used by several Eastern Colleges for students who are majoring in Spanish. All classes are taught in Spanish.

Smith College has taken a house in the residential district of Mexico City, and staffed with chaperones, the girls will live there. Doris will spend Christmas in the Mexican city, returning to the Pointe the following June.

Extortion

single man, Dennis told Park police. In addition to his job with Chrysler he also owned an egg and poultry business which he said was worth $20,000.

He actually did peddle eggs and poultry and young Murray went around with him on one or two Saturdays and helped him deliver to his customers, police said.

When the friendship had ripened to the confidential point, Dennis said, Risk mentioned to his friends one day that he had an opportunity to make a deal in his business which would pay big returns. To do this he needed $300 at once, and for this accommodation he would pay a bonus of $260 in a few days.

What he really needed the money for was to pay the doctor fees and hospital expenses of his wife who was about to have a baby, according to police.

"Seal of Saputo"

The wife at that time, it has been learned, was with her folks in Canada. His engaging personality was so impressive that he is said to have obtained $291 more from his new-found friends on some "hokus pokus" excuse.

It was after the second "loan" that the "real skullduggery" is alleged to have begun.

He was being hounded by a society of highbinders known as the Seal of Saputo. This was a blackmailing gang and, as subsequently learned, non-existent, police said. The Dennis and Murray families supposedly also had come under the displeasure of the Society merely because they had loaned him money!

He appeared extremely concerned for their welfare, they told police. He suggested that they meet the demands of these wretches to stave off imminent harm that might even be murder. He would do his best to make this payment the last.

Held in Jail

He apparently was unable, however to prevent later and continued demands and succeeded in getting from the two families altogether about $800 to $900 in varying amounts which his friends scraped together, they charged.

He had succeeded in thoroughly terrorizing his friends. At last, in sheer desperation, Dennis laid the problem before the Park police.

Risk is held in the Wayne County jail in default of $3,000 bail.

A third party having said that Risk had predicted the attempted assassination of Victor Reuther several days before it occurred, the Detroit police are investigating this angle.

His examination was to be held last night.

Blowout Starts Chain Reaction

Lester Turner, 18, of 4235 Lakepointe, Detroit, might have gotten away with driving without his operator's license on his person, and with eight persons in his car at 6:55 a.m. last Sunday.

However, a blowout tripped him up—and wrecked his car, sending one of the passengers, Bob Bockema, 18, of 1441 Maryland, to Cottage Hospital for first aid.

The blowout caused the car to go out of control and over the curb at 431 Lake Shore road, and finally end on its side. Turner was ticketed for not having his license with him.

None so little enjoy themselves, and are such burdens to themselves, as those who have nothing to do. Only the active have the true relish of life.—Jay.

Holding Open House Friday

This is the New Home of Boos Motors, Inc., Grosse Pointe Dodge dealers. An all-day open house will feature the rather informal opening of this handsome new building nestled among the stately trees on Mack avenue in the Woods. The event is scheduled Friday, June 24. There'll be a door award consisting of a television set for adults and balloons for the youngsters. Latest service equipment and lovely new Dodge cars are among the things all will want to see.

Boos Motors' Spacious New Showroom Makes Bow With Open House Tomorrow

An open house event to run throughout the day, marking the opening of the newly completed home of Boos Motors, Inc., Grosse Pointe's new Dodge dealership, is scheduled tomorrow.

The building, which is nestled among stately trees in the wooded section of Mack avenue at Newcastle, is of face-brick construction and houses a spacious showroom, a large airy service department and a uniquely arranged parts department.

The management has made special arrangement for the friends and customers who will want to inspect the building and its brand new, highly efficient facilities on opening day and accordingly has procured a television set which will be given as a door prize, and also is providing balloons for the youngsters.

Pride of Two Brothers

If this new home represents a dream come true, as most new ventures do, then its beginning dates back more than a quarter of a century to the early days when Charles F. Boos, president of the firm, entered the motor industry, a field in which he, like many another Grosse Pointer, made history.

Charles Boos (Chuck to his many friends) held important posts with the Lincoln-Mercury division of the Ford Motor Company, Cadillac Motor Car Company, the old Wills-St. Clair Company and others.

The second brother, George F. Boos, vice-president of the dealership, only recently retired after a long eventful career with the Federal government. Among other posts, he was chief of the Michigan-Ohio division of the United States Secret Service, and was one of its best known operators.

agencies in recent years, is the manager of sales.

Roger B. Griswold is manager of the service department to which he brings long years of experience on low, medium and high-priced cars.

The parts department is headed by Walter W. Herbst who received his original training in the Mo-Pac Division of Chrysler Motors, and later gained years of actual parts experience with Dodge dealerships in Detroit. The department which is entered off the main salesroom, is of unusually fine arrangement.

So, on Friday, the latch-string will be out all day at Boos Motors, Inc., in order that every Grosse Pointer may see a new organization... in a new home keyed to give the best in service.

embodied in our business policy," Charles Boos said in announcing the opening.

Boos added that he had always stressed the importance of little, extra attentions without extra cost, and that this factor now becomes the hallmark of his and

Forced Off Rd., Must Pay Bill

Troubles came double Sunday morning for Louis G. Giardini, 21, of 3049 Gray, Detroit.

Returning from a fishing trip with four companions at 4:20 a.m., he was forced off the road by another auto as he was traveling south on Mack at Lancaster. His car crashed into a utility pole, causing considerable damage and injuring all five occupants.

All were released after treatment at Saratoga General Hospital. And, on top of it, Giardini was given a court ticket by Woods police to insure his settling for property damage to the utility pole.

The other car which forced Giardini into the pole? It's still going as far as anybody knows.

Park Tickets Lake Bathers

A resident at 15800 Lakeview Court phoned the police late Sunday night that there were swimmers in the water in front of her place.

The police issued tickets to three boys and three girls, under the recently enacted ordinance in the Park which prohibits swimming at any place on the lakefront except in the waterfront park.

Since this ordinance was passed the police have issued a large number of such tickets. They expect that a decreasing number will have to be issued as the people become more aware of the ordinance.

Council Asked To Buy Tractor

Councilman Carpenter, chairman of the streets and highway committee of the City Council asked Council at the meeting on June 20 to authorize the purchase of a tractor.

The two which the City has are both practically worn out, being from 12 to 15 years old, and the work of the streets department is badly crippled by this inadequate equipment. A new tractor, he said, will doubtless save money for the City in its street work.

He said that with one new tractor and the repair of one of the old ones the street equipment would be greatly improved.

The request was granted and City Clerk Neff, who is also director of Public Works for the City, was directed to ask for bids to be opened at the next meeting of Council.

The tractor will cost approximately $1500.

FAMOUS DIMPLES... those flashed by MRS. HUNTER WILLIAMS.

BIGGEST UMBRELLA at the Pointe is owned by diminutive MRS. JOHN N. LORD who carried the red plaid weather beater at the Junior League Fair and was able to offer covering to three friends at once under its spacious top.

TANGERINE... a really difficult shade to wear... is shown off to great advantage by the blond and lovely MRS. MOORE JOY... who chooses it for one of her best looking Summer frocks.

LEDYARD MITCHELL JR. outdanced the young men of the stagline at the Junior League Fair... good, too!

THE YOUNG SET are raving about the good looks of sub deb MARY STUART MACDONALD and simply l-o-v-e her clothes...

ONE OF THE BEST... and the most modest... gardeners at the Pointe is DR. EDWARD WISHROPP whose gardens at his Kenwood court home make the leddy garden club members get out their notebooks and write down where to get the posies that bloom there.

WISH someone would tell us the story of that stone Great Dane on the lawn in one of the early blocks of Oxford road...

JUNE weddings took on relatively old fashioned notes this season with one bride selecting her own favorite music for her wedding guests to enjoy before the ceremony... and another asking a friend to sing "Because" and "Through The Years"...

PILFERINGS

The New York Herald Tribune tells of a study made by the New York Telephone Company to learn which word is most frequently used in phone conversations. The word "I" won going away as they say in horse race circles. It was used 3,990 times in 500 telephone conversations.

The London Observer, bemoaning the decline of good writing in newspapers, cites as refreshing exception the following excerpt from a piece (in that newspaper oddly enough) by Lord Dunsany about a quick trip through the French countryside:

"The French are more practical than we and there are few flowers. Every acre is cultivated except where little woods shelter a farmstead and give that touch of mystery to the landscape without which the Muses, always dear to France, cannot live.

"Sometimes a square patch of a few acres of mustard all in flower, flashes out; a field of fairy gold, perhaps the brightest of all the colors that shine on the downs, either of France or England. And villages come by with their individual houses, built long ago, close together, and lilac flowering and a church with a spire."

E. V. Durling doesn't like this season's feminine bathing suits. "When what a woman wears makes her conspicuous she ceases to be attired smartly or in good taste," he observes. "It also places her intelligence open to question. It was Lord Chesterfield who reminded us that 'any affectation whatsoever in dress indicates a flaw in the understanding.'"

John Weinreich Now in Japan

WITH THE EIGHTH ARMY AT SAPPORO, JAPAN—Private First Class John E. Weinreich, son of Mrs. Blanche Weinreich of 2073 Van Antwerp, Grosse Pointe, Michigan, is presently serving in the famed 31st Infantry Regiment which is stationed at Camp Crawford, Japan, as a part of the veteran 7th Infantry Division. Private First Class Weinreich is assigned to the Headquarters and Headquarters Company of the widely acclaimed regiment, and he is currently on duty with the Intelligence and Reconnaissance Platoon. The regiment to which Private

First Class Weinreich is assigned has established a fine record of service and is often called "The American Foreign Legion" because, though it is a regiment in the United States Army, it has never been stationed on continental United States soil. Private First Class Weinreich joined the Army in October, 1947, and received basic training at Fort Ord, California. Upon completion of his training, he was sent overseas and was assigned to the 31st Infantry Regiment, then stationed in Korea, in April, 1948. Last December, he accompanied the regiment when it moved from Korea to its present station in Japan.

DAVID BEATTY OF PINE COURT

By Kisty Carney

For a thirteen-year-old lad, David Beatty already has a fine start on a lifetime hobby—stamp collecting.

For several years, David, a seventh grader at Detroit University School, has been saving stamps in two looseleaf notebooks. One notebook he reserves for his American stamps which date back to the year 1851, and the other contains his Canadian stamp collection dating to 1859.

The earliest American stamps were put out in 1847, David explained after a brief consultation with his Standard Postage Stamp Catalogue. He refers to his well-thumbed book whenever a check on his stamps is necessary.

David has enlarged his collection by trading, contacting stamp dealers and from his father who has his own collection of stamps. David has never actually counted his stamps.

The stamp fan, David pointed out, has to watch that the stamp's perforation and gum are good.

Worth $6.50

Among his more interesting stamps is a 10-cent Trans-Mississippi issue of 1898, which shows a family traveling across the plains in a covered wagon.

His oldest stamps are a series of 1851 heads of George Washington; his 1861 Washingtons are in varying shades of pink.

A 5-cent stamp from the Jamestown Expedition Issue of 1907, now worth $6.50 is David's most valuable stamp.

First Canadian stamps were issued in 1851, and David's collection starts with some 1859 samples.

He has a complete set of the 1934 National Parks issue, commonly called "Farley's Folly," the young collector explained, because when the postmaster put out an unperforated series for his friends, stamp dealers raised such a ruckus that he was obliged to extend the courtesy.

David also likes his Overrun Countries issue of 1943, each stamp bearing the flag of Norway, France or one of the 13 conquered countries.

Apparently would-be burglars aren't as tough as they used to be, in the opinion of Farms Patrolmen Harold Seelow and Frank Kerbrat.

At least it would seem that way. Patrolling at 5:30 a.m. last Friday, they found the screen on the back door of the Old Brick Inn, on Mack, west of Kerby, had been cut.

However, the locked door apparently discouraged the burglars, as nothing else was reported disturbed.

SWEET DILL PICKLES

Contributed by Mrs. Gilbert S. Van Hamm

Buy a quart jar of inexpensive dill pickles. Rinse the dill in clear water. Either cut in slices or strips.

Alternate one layer of pickles and one quarter inch of granulated sugar until you fill a jar. If any room left at top of jar fill with the sugar.

Let stand about a week (if you can keep the family out of the pickles!) and then keep in the refrigerator to use as you need. The syrup from the pickles may be reused.

Big Talk Job By DeGrimme

Auctions, to ladies of the Pointe, are a joy and to be classed with weddings, debuts and tea parties as delightful places to go.

To the Pointe's own art connoisseur, Joseph de Grimme, the recent auction of antiques owned by the late Walter Smith and held in Rochester wasn't all fun.

One hundred paintings were auctioned in the collection and our Mr. deGrimme was asked to be art advisor. In that capacity he explained to the visitors each of the hundred paintings... and at some length!

Among the Pointers attending the auction were Mrs. Howard M. Bingham, Mrs. William Clay Ford, Mrs. Wendell Anderson, Jr., Mrs. J. O. Wardwell, Mrs. Frank P. Eister, Mrs. James W. Dodge, Mrs. David P. Moore, Mrs. Lawrence Ruby, Mrs. William Finkenstaedt, Mrs. Gordon Weller and Mrs. Herbert A. Anderson.

Three Pointers will be officers of Fine Arts Society for the coming year. They are MRS. FRANK FITZ, secretary; ROBERT E. ROACH, treasurer; and MRS. DAVID W. STABLETON, who will serve on the board of directors.

Pointe Counter Points

By JANE

How to keep cool is truly a burning question here at the Pointe and as the saying is "Women and Children" first we shopped for the tots this week.

The Children's Department at JACOBSON'S seemed to us to have the very best answers for the wee ones who are trying to beat the heat. Materials are airated ser suckers and filmy pastel cottons that attract coolth. These frigid fashions are in sizes 2 through 6 in most cases. Crinkled cotton crepe nighties and pajamas are at JACOBSON'S and for the sunshine hours, terry cloth shorts. Little girls will love peasant tops that provide bare midriff and are worn with cute pastel-cotton skirts. All kinds of sheer pinafores for the little leddies; and a must are the seersucker robes for hot Summer evenings AND mornings. For your heir's informal hours, there are T shirts gaily striped or printed with matching trunks that have Tarsan in his most admirable poses. To keep the tiniest babies wool we'd recommend the play pens which have special guards so the Darling can't bump his noggin. They are padded with pastel quilted plastic material. Don't forget how cool sandals were for you when you were little and take the juniors to JACOBSON'S for those, too.
