Agree to Cooperate With Highland Park and Other Districts to Remedy Injustice Charged To Large Split Being Appropriated by County

A letter from the Highland Park Board of Education was received at the meeting of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education on Sept. 7 in which the Highland Park Board asks the cooperation of the local board in an effort to obtain greater justice for the School Boards of the County in the division of the 15 mill tax which has to be divided between County, Townships and Schools.

its share to 6.1 mills. Increase Pared Down This meant that the local school millage increase of 1.5 mills for operation which was voted four years ago by the Grosse Pointe school taxpayers has been correspondingly reduced so that now instead of getting a 1.5 mill increase for operation it only amounts to .3 of a mill. A similar situation confronts many of the schoel districts of the county and the Highland Park authorities are trying to arrange a conference of all the school districts to see what can be done about this injustice, which stems back to the constantly increasing share of the taxes which the county insists on taking, and which it gets.

Sale of the world's finest furs

have shown quick recognition of ST. CLAIR FURS' newly emphasized, highly dramatic low prices ... reminiscent of 10 years ago! These appreciative women have spread our fame wherever precious furs are esteemed. They have exclaimed over ST. CLAIR FURS' elegance of style ... steeped in Parisian artistry. With good judgement, they have stamped ST. CLAIR'S prices phenomenal; and ST. CLAIR'S limitless selections of the "World's Finest Furs" almost beyond belief ... like nothing Detroit has ever seen!

Now, behind all this is a story that has rocked and astounded the fur industry of the nation. Entering the fur markets with practically unlimited resources, our buyers selected the best of the pelts, the finest of coats . . . even buying just the designs in many cases. Cash on the barrel-head made possible incredible price concessions. We chose only the superbly best with meticulous care . . . taking full advantage of the changed circumstances of the Fur Industry . . . to bring you the, "World's Finest Furs" . . . and the world's finest fur values.

Laketront Assessment Problem

The ruling handed down by Judge Vincent M. Brennan last week cutting down the assessed valuation on a piece of property on the lakefront in Grosse Pointe Park may have a far reaching effect on the question of the assessments on this type of property in this community.

Most of these properties as a rule have not been assessed too high in relationship to their cost and value when first built and occupied.

Changing economic conditions however, both personal and general, have altered the picture for many of these owners of fine properties and the tax problem has become one of almost insuperable proportions.

The necessity of producing a certain amount of taxation within the Pointe community, has made the problem of the taxing authorities exceedingly difficult in trying to come to the relief of these dstressed owners.

Their effort to keep down the assessments on off-lake properties, so that this problem might not in turn become YOUR problem. Monsoooor deals only with breathing ... not burdensome to the owners of the more modest homes, is to staggering. be commended.

An angle of the problem appears however which is of deep concern to everybody in the Pointe. The people of this community are of one mind in insisting that Grosse Pointe shall be and remain a strictly residential community admitting only such commercial activities as are necessary to the support of residential community life.

If the force of economic pressure should compel some of the owners of lakefront property to seek ways of developing their properties for increased revenue and tall apartment houses should appear on these erstwhile lovely homesites, the movement would be diametrically opposed to the spirit and ideals which have dominated the Grosse Pointe development from its beginning.

The people of Grosse Pointe want light, air and space to be a part of their home life. Thus far this purpose has been admirably pursued.

To refuse taxation relief to some of these owners would

While we in Michigan were busy with our State Fair, Toronto was holding forth with a Fair equally as attractive and glamorous as ours . . . so we are told. Our spies across the border, told us about a medical outfit at the Fair ... where appeared a little man who gave "health hints" that had more to do with what we eat than with medicine. We are surprised that no one hereabouts has done anything concrete about Square Dancing, A friend recently returned from California tells us Hollywood is mad about the old-new Square Dancing rage. Two of the most vehement devotees being Mr. and Mrs. George Murphy, who go to all of them at the drop of a curtsey. Another pair of rabid Square Dancers are the Governor of Michigan and his Lady. In fact "Soapy" is requested to "call" so much that he hardly has time to dance.

Being the naive type (?) we raised our eyebrows way up to HERE when we first heard that Square Dancing was becoming popular again ... and in the most chic circles. We always paired it off with squeeky violins, off-key banjos, hog-callers, crinclines, and smelly barns and people of our great-grandmother's vintage. Just shows how stupid we can be! The young are wild about it ... and apparently it's as much fun to do while wearing evening othes as it is wearing dungarees. Why don't the local mean that their properties would go for tax sales and then latch onto a couple of Arthur Murray teachers to get them started ... then have regular nights of strictly Square Dancing with such Frank Cotter, Howard Smith, Wendell Anderson or Arthur Buhl Jr.?

outsiders will come in and, via court rulings, obtain for themselves an adjustment of the tax problems which we folks "calling" as George Black, Bill Boyer, Charlie Symington, have denied to our own original builders and owners.

The problem is a knotty one and calls for a sympathetic consideration which will not overlook the character, present and future, of Grosse Pointe.

America's Burning Light

From the American point of view there is vastly more than the economic salvation of England involved in the Washington conferences.

The big thing to us is whether or not we will be willing to seriously breach our own protective tariff walls. The British mission insists that the privilege of of trading advantageously with us is of greater moment at this time than the mere getting of more dollars. They are of course speaking of "more dollars" than those already figured on as coming to them through the scheduled processes of the Marshall Plan.

With her deteriorated and antiquated production machinery, plus the necessity of importing a large proportion of her raw materials, she is finding it increasingly difficult to manufacture and sell at a profit in the American market where the dollars lie which she must garner in to trade with us and to a large extent with the rest of the world.

makes is also made here. This could carry to a point where American manufacturers would be faced with a competition which had been directly subsidized by ourselves via cutting eign made goods offered at a price which we could not meet down our protective walls. The accompanying implication is the unemployment of American labor.

the tariff was the great issue upon which candidates for the in 1860 to nearly $200 billions in forty years. Our increase Presidency and Congress were elected or defeated.

Generally speaking, the South which was largely agrarian and was dominated by the Democratic party favored a lower tariff, sufficiently only to raise the necessary revenue to run the government, that then being our principal source of government revenue. Their cry was a "tariff for revenue" only."

The Republicans who had dominated the North since the slavery issue arose and where the chief industrial activity of far. We might call it altruism ad absurdam. the nation was located, laid greater stress on the protective qualities of the tariff. They favored a tariff high enough to can producer in general is our primary responsibility even at keep out, entirely if necessary, the products of the cheaper this moment of threatening chaos all over the world labor of Europe. Their battle cry then was "Protect the If America with its strength and its great hear Home Market and assure a full dinner pail for the American be forced into the Downward March, there would be no beaworking man."

The general experience in those days was that when the Democrats got into power and began meddling with the tariff we had an industrial depression and unemployment. Illustrating the point one can consult the affects of the Gorman (Texas) tariff law, the Wilson. (W. Virginia) tariff law and the Underwood (Alabama) tariff law.

Eventually, as the nation's industrial and general economic foundations became more secure, to get away from the eternal bickerings and politics of tariff schedules in Congress the United States Tariff Commission was set up whose powers have evolved from a mere fact finding organization on questions of trade, both foreign and domestic, into a body whose recommendations to the President are the basis upon which he may raise or lower existing tariffs as much as fifty per cent from prevailing schedules.

Whether or not our British friends have in mind to ask for changes in our tariff under the legal limit which the President can control, is not yet known.

What we do know with reasonable certainty is that they this punishment was permissible. wish to have our tariff manipulated to a degree which will have a direct bearing on America's whole production and which struck a near mortal wound at our naval sea forces trade operations.

Outside a movie, we have never seen a Square Dance being executed but if you skeptics think it's a fuddy-duddy dance, don't fool yourselves! We have a hunch it is about as quiet and dull as a Viennese Waltz., And that's another story. Strangely enough, we had never been asked to get up on the dance floor to do a Viennese waltz . . . that is until about a year ago. Up to that time we probably looked more like the slow fox-trot type or the Lambeth Walk. However, one evening, a brazen swain asked us to dance while a V. W. was being played. We thought to ourselves ..... "Ha, ha me girl, you must be getting ON ... a waltz, indeed!" Well, we got around the dance floor just once, then begged to be "let off" .... with what little breath we had left. We threw ourselves dizzily into the nearest chair and vowed that never again would we be enticed into doing anything more violent than a slow rhumba. Whew! That's what we mean about Square Dancing. We'd like to sit on the side-lines and watch YOU do it .... but US ... NEVER!

This means a reduction in our tariff which will enable this country on its guard. There has been a growing belief among tariff "intellectuals" in this country for some years The fly in the ointment for us is that much that England that the tariff is an obsolete function of government which can well be abandoned. They will sing another tune if our home markets should be seriously invaded by a flood of for-

Whatever the trade theorists of the present day may say let them remember that it was because of this very tariff The time once was, fifty to seventy-five years ago, when that this nation grew from a produced wealth of $16 billions in wealth is yet more effectively illustrated by the mass production of our mines, mills, forests and fields in this same period. Mere dollars are apt to tell only part of the story.

> What England or any other country has to sell and what we need and cannot produce; ourselves, we will buy, as we always have, but to admit their competitive goods into our own home market, merely as a good will gesture to help them out of a mess of their own creation is pushing the game too

Echo of Pearl Harbor

The Nation renews a pang of sympathy and regret in the passing of Major General Walter'C. Short at his home in Dallas, Texas.

General Short was an officer of the regular Army who had an excellent record. He had the misfortune to be the responsible Army commander at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese raid touched off World War II in the Western Hemisphere.

The joint individual responsibility of General Short or Admiral Husband Kimmel for our being caught unalerted for the attack has never been authoritatively determined. Animosity against the two ran high following the disastrous attack but the judgment of the investigating committee was that both should be relieved of their commands.

Public opinion was such at the time that nothing short of

Don't let your neighbors or friends plan and build your house—unless, of course, they intend to pay for it. Well meaning -but inexperienced-friends and relatives often mess up the original design and specifications, unbalance the financial set-up, add an unnecessary cost to the house; and leave considerable grief in their wake. Keep this fact in mind-it is the house which YOU are going to live in and for which YOU are paying. Don't try to "keep up with the Joneses" and don't be an "architectural guinea pig" for friends and relatives. Let them experiment on themselves.

Rotary Club Plans Benefit For Nov. 21

The Grosse Pointe Rotary Club's annual Thanksgiving benefit party will be held this year as usual in the Neighborhood Club. The party will be on Monday, November 21. This affair has become an institution in Grosse Pointe and the funds derived from it are the sole financial source for the extensive charity program from which the club carries on throughout the year. Preparations are underway to make this party the biggest and most successful of any yet held.

PILFERINGS

(From the Good Housekeeping "Guide to Musical Enjoyment.") A pupil of Rossini's brought him a composition and said, "Maestro, I wrote this march to commemorate Beethoven's death. What do you think of it?" Rossini studied the composition carefully. "It would have been better," he said, "if you had died and Beethoven had written the march."

Another time a young and conceited composer told the same Rossini: "I have written two new compositions." I'll play them both and you say which one is the better." The young man started to play his first piece. After half a dozen bars Rossini tapped him on the shoulder and said, "The other, my friend, the other."

Puccini, strolling along a Milan street, passed an organ grinder who was belting out Musetta's Waltz from LaBoheme. Puccini stopped and said, "You should grind that out faster." The next day the hurdygurdy man had a big sign on his organ-"Pupil of Fuccini.

"Your new symphony is quite good," another composer remarked condescendingly to Brahms, "but it reminds me of other music." Brahms snapped, "What other music? Your next symphony?"

All is concentrated on beauty and style and the theme is The Ensemble at WALTON PIERCE, CITY CLUB BRANCH. You really begin to appreciate the value of the ensemble as you watch it come to life in terms of the deft styles found here. First comes a black and coco toned daytime ensemble, the two piece suit of finest herring bone, smoothly tailored, and worn with knee length plaid coat in the same handsome color combination. The chapeaux suggested (and all of these are Walton Pierce originals which may be copied in your own choice of material and color) is a severely stunning park. The regatta was held un-der the auspices of the Grosse Pointe Kiwanis Club, with Arnold Diesing as general chairman of the affair. Six ships attended: "Ships" be-ing the designation of the organi-zation's units. These were Grosse Pointe No. 690, Birmingham, No. B-A, Wyandotte, WY-20, Detroit Kaiser-Frazer. No. 502 Detroit Kaiser-Frazer No. 502, Detroit was dramatic and exciting as all WALTON PIERCE gowns are! It combined a sweeping gunmetal slipper satin skirt with slim bodice of platinum alencon lace. A long-sleeved bolero of champagne satin was perfect for a more covered look at dinner. To complete the ensemble a velvet coronet resting lightly on the head and misted in billows of veil . . . in the color you prefer to touch off this wonderful gown.

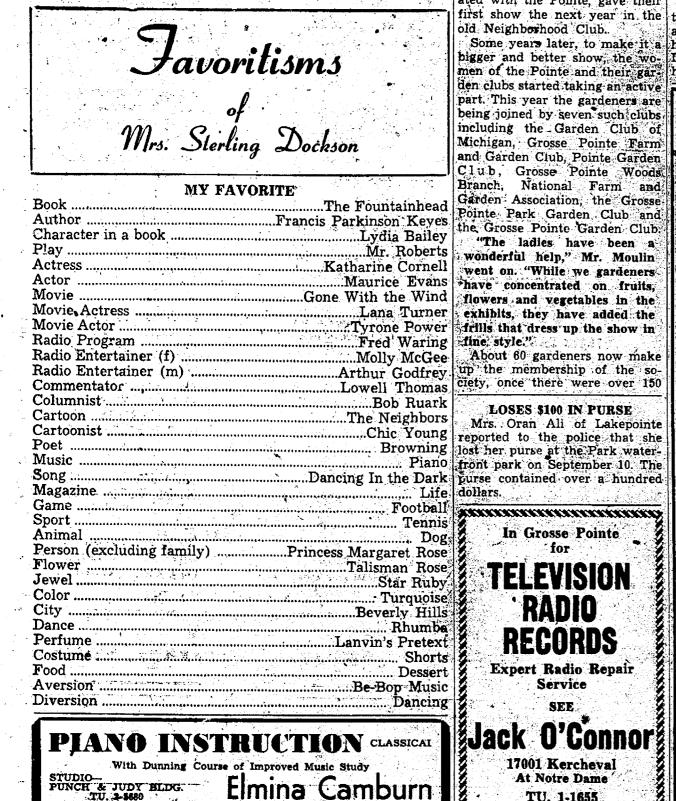

> Back to informality . . . if you aren't telling time by a Turnip Time Watch it just means you aren't young in heart and you aren't taking advantage of JACOBSON'S up-to-the-minute ideas. We've seen the more glamorous debs, with these colorful, old fashioned watches clamped to their belts. They're bright (they come in wine, red, black, yellow, green and blue cases and can be worn with matching or contrasting clamps!) The college crowd wouldn't dream of going back to school without a Turnip Timepiece. You'll also want to choose a leather wallet for your school girl at JACOBSON'S. These are real leather but cheap as cheap, in many different colors, and sure to keep safe folding money, train tickets, identification cards, etc. If shes' offly absent minded, then be sure to get one of those wallets that zipper all the way around and she'll get back to school with her allowance intact. School girl scarves abound in this same department .... every conceivable shape, color combination and style and all Jacobson smart.

The famous planist, Rachmaninoff, played occasional private duets with Albert Einstein who is not so good on the violin as he is at higher mathematics. They were playing along with Einstein hitting sour notes out of time until Rachmaninoff banged on the piano and yelled, "Einstein, please, please, can't you count? One, two ,three, four, one two, three, four."

Godowsky has become a legendary figure not only as a pianist and teacher but also as a wit.
