Boy Admits Setting Fire To Park Flat

Aged Couple Rescued From Flames By Firemen After Youth Spreads Coal On Paper

Arson charges were lodged against a 12-year-old boy who admitted setting fire to a four-family flat at 1008 Beaconsfield.

The fire almost caused the deaths of Daniel Tanner, 85, and his wife, 77.

Firemen rescued Tanner, who is blind, and his partially blind wife.

Park Det. Sgt. Stanley Enders said the boy made a complete confession Thursday, March 29.

Hired to keep the furnace free of ashes, he spread glowing coals on waste papers in the basement, police said.

Fire Chief Edward Rector had previously blamed defective wiring.

The boy was released to his parents pending further investigation of the fire which occurred Thursday, March 22.

Till is Tapped At Shoe Store

Sidney Rein, manager of the Sherman Boot Shop at 20725 Mack avenue, told the Woods police that $15.35 in change was missing from the cash register in the store when he opened up for business Tuesday morning, April 3. There were no signs of the place having been broken into.

Rein said that after he discovered the loss he recalled that the door had unlocked unusually easy. He said there was a possibility that it had not been locked when he used his key.

The family, which had been in Florida for a month, returned while the officers were still in the house.

There had been no ransacking and nothing was left in disorder. But missing were a sheaf of government bonds, (Mr. Moore said probably about $1,000 worth), a Marlin pump shotgun, a Brown-

Churchmen Making Talents Work Overtime to Obtain Funds to Complete Project

Methodists Taking On All Manner of Odd Jobs to Raise Money to Finish Paying For Building and Putting Parking Lot in Shape

The men of the Grosse Pointe Methodist Church are conducting a Talent Campaign to raise $10,000 for the final payment to the contractor for their new church and to install the parking lot at the Moross road site.

The men knew that the Kroger Company was opening a big new super market at 18850 Mack, right in the heart of their church area. Believing there was a good opportunity for cooperation between business and the people of a church community, the Talent Campaign was explained to Kroger officials.

The company was quick to realize that each could help the other, with the result that a group of seven churchmen was hired by the store to help out on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights and all day Saturday, the week before last, and on Thursday and Friday nights and all of last Saturday.

Large badges bearing their church identified the part time employees. Company officials and the churchmen agree that the public relations value of the stunt was tremendous.

Double Accomplishment
The churchmen earned about $250 for their fund, but they also accomplished something else that they consider even more worthwhile. They met a great many people and found a large number of prospects for membership in the church. One entire family learned with enthusiasm of the new church in this area and announced they would join immediately.

The store officials were delighted to see the number of new customers attracted through the church contact.

Others Also Working
Jack Gates, a professional electrician employed by Chrysler, is open for all kinds of electrical jobs after regular hours. He has already put in a number of extra plugs in the Horsch home. All money he earns for these overtime jobs will go to the church fund.

Ted George, another Chrysler employe, is selling raincoats, shirts, ties, pajamas, belts, slippers, and socks in his spare time. Chairman Horsch has also bought one of the raincoats.

Willis Bugbee, a patent attorney, is taking on extra legal work obtained through church channels, with all fees going into the fund.

Sells Cars On Side
Afton Sauer, an attorney with the Fred Saunders Company, is selling Chrysler cars on the side, with all commissions dedicated to the church.

Francis H. Brown, an accountant, is available for tax work and accounting in his spare time.

Dan Abbey is doing carpentry work and Chairman Horsch is selling pig iron and steel. Kenneth Kimmel is selling individual (Continued on Page 2)

Peterson to Be Principal Of Parcels Junior High

Vincent L. Peterson, who has been appointed principal of the new Parcels Junior High School, will leave his position as field counselor of Grosse Pointe High School in April, when he will begin organizational work for his new position.

A native of Youngstown, Ohio, Mr. Peterson attended Cadillac High School in Cadillac, Michigan, and the University of Michigan where he received both his bachelor's and master's degrees.

He joined the staff of Grosse Pointe High School in 1931 as an instructor in history and math. He took a leave of absence in 1938 to return to the University of Michigan for graduate study. Mr. Peterson has since completed all course work for his doctorate.

Having returned to the high school in 1939, he continued teaching until he became field counselor in 1943.

L. M. Pittman Accepts Big Defense Job

Veteran of World War II Forming Advisory Committee of Top Executives

George Elworthy, Director of Civil Defense of the Grosse Pointe area, has announced the appointment of Lansing M. Pittman, of Three Mile drive, lifelong resident of Grosse Pointe, as Chief Air Raid Warden.

Pittman, who is president of L. M. Pittman and Associates, manufacturers representatives, attended Grosse Pointe public schools and is a graduate of the Babson Institute of Business, Boston, Mass.

Member of Box 12
He is a member of Box 12, a civic minded group of citizens interested in the Detroit Fire Department and has long been associated with emergency practices. He is married to the former Sally Book and is the father of three sons. Both Mr. and Mrs. Pittman are widely known in the Grosse Pointe area.

During World War II Pittman served as an enlisted man in the USN, volunteering for service in Grosse Pointe in 1941 and serving as a Photographer's Mate in Naval Aviation in the Solomon Islands.

To Pick Committee
He plans to contribute both his personal time and services to Civil Defense from the air raid aspect and shortly will name an advisory group of representative citizens in the area to assist him in his work. He has at the present time extensive organizational plans which, with the cooperation of the citizens of Grosse Pointe, will make this area one of the most alert and well organized sections in the state.

Needs Cooperation
Grosse Pointe, although residential in character, will undoubtedly through its geographical location, loan assistance and shelter to its neighbors in Detroit in the event of an air raid and, therefore, it is imperative that the citizens in this community rally behind Mr. Pittman and loan him whatever assistance he may need. He has long identified himself with civic enterprises, and on two occasions has run for office in Grosse Pointe Park.

He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Detroit Chapter of the American Red Cross. He is also a member of the Detroit Club and the Detroit Country Club.

To Make Appearances
Mr. Pittman is at the present time planning to make a series of personal appearances before local civic groups to discuss the program now being planned. He has announced that the temporary headquarters for the Air Raid Warden Group will be located in the Neighborhood Club in the office of Elworthy, and any volunteers may offer their services to the community as an Air Raid Warden there.

Civil leaders in the community are at the present time extending their congratulations to Mr. Pittman and he has received a letter from General Clyde E. Dougherty, Chairman of the Office of Civil Defense for Wayne County, congratulating him on his appointment.

Reckless Driver Saved from Jail
Hugh A. McLaughlin, of 16254 Wildemere avenue, Detroit, asks a retraction of a story which appeared in last week's NEWS, stating that his son, David, had been sent to the Wayne County Jail on March 24 to serve 10 days on a reckless driving charge, when he was unable to pay the $50 fine imposed by Judge Don Goodrow.

McLaughlin was arrested after his car went out of control at Mack and Vernier on March 16. Woods Police Chief Walter Goulett says he had been drinking. The car struck a utility pole and careened 40 feet, also hitting a tree.

The NEWS reporter was in the police station when McLaughlin said he could not pay the fine and would have to go to jail. Within a short time after the reporter left, David's brother arrived with the $50 and David was released.

While re-checking the story with Chief Goulett, the chief remarked: "He should have gone to jail."

Movie Council Hears Address

"When your child comes home from school and says, 'We saw a movie today,'" said Mrs. Wanda Daniel, curriculum assistant in the Grosse Pointe Public Schools, "be glad that he has had a real educational experience."

Mrs. Daniel, speaking to the Grosse Pointe Motion Picture Council about "Communication" continued, "Through the use of audio-visual material, the child sees as well as hears the materials being presented in the classroom. The three Rs are being effectively supplemented."

To make her point, Mrs. Daniel showed flat pictures highlighting the history of communication. The flat pictures were shown on the opaque projector. At the same time, the explanation of the picture was being given over a recording. Next, Mrs. Daniel showed a film strip of similar material. This time the sound effects were produced on a tape recorder. Next the curriculum assistant presented a sound film which showed more details in the history of communication.

Mrs. Daniel very graphically presented the fact that educators no longer expect the child to learn from books alone. The radio, movies, television, recordings and pictures — even the comics vie for his attention and can be most effective learning aids.

Motion Picture Council Lists Approved Movies

The Grosse Pointe Motion Picture Council recommends the following pictures for the month of April:

For children: "Kim," "The Great Manhunt," "Mr. Universe," "Come to the Stable," "Mystery Submarine," "High Lonesome," "Watch the Birdie."

For Teen-Agers: "Hamlet," "Halls of Montezuma."

Spring Takes Rap For Errant Clerk

John Nodrawski, manager of the new Kroger market on Mack near Kerby, was very surprised when his car was missing from the adjoining lot Wednesday, March 21.

Nodrawski's young clerk, Arthur Martins, 17, of 14508 Spring-garden, was also missing.

After waiting anxiously for more than an hour, the store manager called Farms police. He told them that Martins left the store to fix a flat tire on Nodrawski's auto.

Martins eventually returned and explained:

"It's spring and I felt like going for a joy ride to see Grosse Pointe."

The store manager, who is still young enough to remember his childhood ventures, did not press charges.

Farms to Buy Emergency Car

Farms Council approved the purchase of an especially built two stretcher emergency car to be assigned to the Fire Department.

The emergency car would enable the Fire Department to handle all resuscitator and ambulance calls.

At present, the resuscitator calls are handled by the Fire Department and accident calls are handled by police. Very often both departments respond with separate trucks.

The cost of the new truck would be about $2,900. It is expected to replace the 13-year-old patrol wagon which may be converted into a dog catcher wagon.

Buhl and Sally Ann Watters of Grosse Pointe, Mrs. David Cluett of Coronado, Calif., Paula Phelps Secor, Eugene Ward Lamb and Elizabeth Spitzley Bentley, all of Perrysburg, Barbara Bradford Dake of Andover, Mass., and Marjorie Beach of Saginaw.

Mrs. Robinson's costume was by Christian Dior, a navy blue taffeta and lace with camellia pink straw and velvet hat. Pink camellias were pinned to her handbag.

The Roricks entertained the wedding guests at a reception in the Toledo Country Club following the church ceremony. For the wedding, white lilies, stock and gladioli were used at the church. Monsignor Anthony J. Dean officiated.

When they left on their Bermuda wedding trip, the bride traveled in a two tone woolen sharkskin suit trimmed in a deeper gray. Dark gray velvet was used for her small gray straw bonnet and she pinned a white amazon lilies to her shoulder. Georgia Trip Follows Wedding in St. Catherine's Chapel Last Saturday; Former Gertrude Whelden Lovely Bride In Antique Ivory Satin and Heirloom Lace

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Hull III left their wedding reception Saturday afternoon to motor to Sea Island, Ga., where they are spending a fortnight following which they'll return to the Pointe to make their home.

The former Gertrude Whelden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ford H. Whelden of Norwich, N.Y., and formerly of Grosse Pointe, was married at a noon ceremony in St. Catherine's Chapel of SS. Peter and Paul Jesuit Church, to the son of Mrs. Charles B. Hull, Jr., of Mr. Vernon road and the late Mr. Hull.

Following the church service, guests were invited to a wedding breakfast and reception at the Country Club.

Gertrude wore antique ivory satin classic wedding gown distinguished by a deep bertha of rosepointe lace. Its great skirt of unpressed pleats extended into a cathedral train and from her coronet of rosepointe lace and tulle, fell the long ivory tulle veil. The bride carried a colonial bouquet of lilies.

Roxanne Whelden was her sister's maid of honor in a bouffant embroidered white organza frock worn over pink cotton sateen. A dark sash finished the waistline of the frock with which she wore a white fish net hat trimmed in pink flowers. She carried a bouquet of pink geraniums. Mrs. Frederick W. Campbell, Jr., of New York, matron of honor, and bridesmaids were all gowned like the maid of honor and carried identical bouquets.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Edmund C. Grainger, Jr., of New

Mary Ann Doyle Bride Of Paul John Meldrum

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney E. Doyle Married on Her Birthday Anniversary; St. Agnes Church Ceremony Followed by Whittier Breakfast, Reception

Altogether, Mary Ann Doyle's wedding day was a completely sentimental one. The brunet bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney E. Doyle of Bedford road traveled across town to be married to Paul John Meldrum last Saturday in St. Agnes Church. There her cousin, the Rev. Frank McQuillan, is pastor and he heard the young couple's vows.

And then Saturday, March 31, was also Mary Ann's birthday anniversary. For her marriage to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Meldrum of Muir road, she chose a gown of white chantilly lace and a marquisette designed on princess lines. The fitted bodice ended in a tiny, stand-up collar and the great skirt was center paneled back and front, in a wide band of the sheer lace. The back panel continued into a cathedral train. A veil of French silk illusion fell from the chantilly lace bridal cap and Mary Ann carried a white orchid encircled with white carnations and streamered in ivy.

The five bridal attendants were gowned alike in flower blue marquisette, frothy capes covering the strapless bodices of the floor length gowns. Their picture hats were in matching horsehair. Peggy Deneen, maid of honor, carried an old fashioned bouquet of pink carnations. The pink blossoms were combined with pale creme carnations in the bouquets of bridesmaids Helen Ann O'Connor of Jackson, Mich., a cousin of the bride; Margaret Ann Marshall, Marie Meldrum, sister of the bridegroom and Judy Brenner.

David Brideau was Mr. Meldrum's best man and ushers included his brother, Fred Meldrum, Joseph G. Doyle, brother of the bride, Traver Boucher and Sherman Marsack. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Doyle was gowned in larkspur blue chiffon, floor length, with chapeau of violet and blue tulle. Her flowers were purple orchids.

Mrs. Meldrum pinned purple orchids to her lime green marquisette gown with which she wore a matching hat. Mr. and Mrs. Doyle were hosts to the wedding guests at a breakfast and reception in the Whittier following the church ceremony.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Meldrum left on a Southern motor-trip for their honeymoon. The bride traveled in a slim navy blue suit trimmed in white pique with small, matching navy hat. Over her shoulders she donned a sea coral Spring topcoat.

Square Dancing Party at Center

"Swing your partner!" and "Circle right!" will be heard at the War Memorial Center about 8:30 Friday night, April 6, when Wes and Julie Ray will again lead all the Pointe's young adults in the square dancing they have helped to make so popular in the community.

This will highlight an evening of fun and fellowship for all young men and women of college age and up, including the young married couple. After the square dancing, ballroom style will round out the evening. Ping pong and cards will also be available according to Jackie Hirt, general chairman of the evening.

Working with Jackie are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Edwards, Frances Arditto, Arlene Fraser and Art Wisehart. Refreshments will be served as part of the "50¢ covers everything" fee and Barb Boothe, Ginny Luchtman and Don Kuhn will see that big square dancing appetites are well taken care of.

Hostesses for the evening include Carol Sanford and Muriel Gilette. Julius Huebner is in charge of the music.

The "Informal Evening" will wind up at midnight. Dates for the party are not at all necessary as the evening is designed to be a mixer style.

"A BURIAL PLACE FOR KINGS"

The name "mausoleum" was given to a tomb erected to Mausolus, king of Caria in Halicarnassus, a Greek city of Asia Minor, by his widow, Artemisia, in 352 B.C. This great and beautiful structure was one of the seven wonders of the ancient world, and because of its splendor and the fact that it was in honor of a king, the word "mausoleum" came to mean a "burial place for kings."

Even at that ancient date, 352 B.C., this form of burial was not new. It was as old as Abraham, who buried Sarah in a cave in the field of Machpelah, a family tomb which he, too, later occupied. It is as old as the pyramids, the tombs of Egyptian monarchs on the desert border of the Nile.

No, Mausoleums are not new, but for centuries this form of burial was restricted to the great and the rich of earth. But now, here in our own inventive and resourceful America, an America where the best of everything has been made available to the common man, this hitherto royal and exclusive privilege of burial, above ground, in the clean, dry, protected tombs built for eternity, is available to all at prices you can afford, no higher in fact than comparable burial in the earth.

Space in beautiful GETHSEMANE MAUSOLEUM for you and your family can be had at prices and terms that will amaze you, with no interest, no carrying charges, no taxes. When the MAUSOLEUM will be completed these prices will of course be much higher.

THE BOOK MENTIONED BELOW CONTAINS A LARGE COLOR PICTURE OF THE MAUSOLEUM, AS WELL AS INTERIOR VIEWS; ALSO DIFFERENT CRYPT ARRANGEMENTS.

$8,058.50 in hospital and medical bills!

"That's what Blue Cross-Blue Shield took care of for us. Without this protection, we'd have been in debt for years."

—WM. C. BOWERS Detroit

Bill Bowers, a 23-year-old machine operator, went to the hospital last year for what seemed to be a routine appendectomy. But 110 days of hospital care were necessary before he could get back on his feet!

Luckily he was a Blue Cross-Blue Shield member, and these plans provided $8,058.50 in hospital and medical benefits for him—on this one case.

Since Bill Bowers first enrolled three years ago, he and his family have received more than $8,400.00 worth of protection from Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

Here's how the Bowers' hospital and medical bills were figured:

Drugs	$3,813.00
Room and Board	1,375.00
Intravenous therapy	838.00
Oxygen	432.00
Laboratory services	542.00
Physiotherapy	266.00
Operating Room	125.00
Other services	120.00
Total Blue Cross-Blue Shield benefits	$7,511.00

In addition, for medical-surgical services Blue Shield paid... $47.50

Total Blue Cross-Blue Shield benefits... $8,058.50

Here's What These Plans Do

BLUE CROSS COMPREHENSIVE GROUP HOSPITAL PLAN covers up to 120 days of care in any of the 182 participating hospitals in Michigan. NO CASH LIMIT on the benefits covered.

BLUE SHIELD MEDICAL-SURGICAL PLAN pays liberal amounts for stated surgical procedures—pays toward your doctor's visits to the hospital, in non-surgical cases. It's worth many times the low cost of these plans, just to know substantial payments will be made toward your doctor's bills!

Speak to your employer—ask him to get the facts!

Blue Cross-Blue Shield is available to employed people without physical exam or health statement. Talk to your employer about making these plans available where you work.

This event is to raise funds to defray the expense of printing the monthly bulletin of approved motion pictures which is sent to all Grosse Pointe schools and member organizations, and to present to the Grosse Pointe Public Library a check to augment its film library. Films may be drawn from the library free of charge to anyone having a library card.

For this "auction" each member makes something . . . knits a sweater, makes a ceramic piece, bakes a cake or bread, paints a picture, sews an apron or lunch-cloth set etc.

Grosse-Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

"The sun was warm but the wind was chill.
You know how it is with an April day:
When the sun is out and the wind is still,
You're one month on in the middle of May,
But if you so much as dare to speak,
A cloud comes over the sunlit arch,
A wind comes off of a frozen peak,
And you're two months back in the middle of March!"
(Robert Frost)

Breathes there a man with soul so dead . . . who never to himself hath said: "I think I'll go on a diet!" The trouble with diets, as we see it, is that there is no immediate compensation for the poor dieter; nothing he, (or she), can "get his or her teeth into" in a "soul-satisfying" way in lieu of a stomach-satisfying way. BUT we have come up with the answer!

In printed form, there are numerous diets . . . the "eat all the meat you want" . . . the liquid diet . . . the "cut-down on portions and eliminate all fats diet" . . . the latest "egg, steak and prune" diet . . . and of course, there will always be a Hauser! Any sane person who has ever tried a diet, (no matter how easy and pleasant the ads sound), knows that the mere cutting out of even ONE drink . . . combined with the fact that salt is verboten . . . is enough to make the victim slap-happy within twelve hours. This is where OUR helpful hint comes in.

Attached to each caloric list of do's and don't's, we would have the following suggestions printed in large type:

1. The dieter may indulge in being disagreeable at all times . . . especially at mealtime.
2. He may be contemptuous of his "life-partner" and chide that partner with sly barbs about people who haven't sense enough to go on a diet when they are obviously getting out of shape.
3. If he has children, he may be permitted to be impatient with them at this time.
4. He might also indulge in a small amount of guest-insulting . . . especially if the guests are at HIS house . . . and are NOT on a diet.
5. He should make an effort to seek out other suffering dieters, so he will have something to talk about.
6. Last, but by no means least, it is perfect etiquette to shoot on sight . . . the friend who "rides" him about his diet . . . and sez, "Old man, what you need to snap you out of this case of jitters is a good stiff drink and a decent meal WITH SALT. Where's your sense of humor?"

We are convinced that this simple set of rules . . . to be followed along with the diet . . . will make the whole performance more palatable for both sexes. Sejah.

There is a program on tee-vee called "Famous Jury Trials" and although we have never heard or read about any of those we've seen portrayed . . . we believe every ad we read! Whether or not they are REAL cases doesn't matter, since it gives a lot of struggling actors work . . . but what DOES matter to us is the way the trials are presented.

If we were bent on a career of petty crime, we'd think first, (for example), before hiring any of the lawyers we've seen on the program. Last week, a poor goof of a boy was being tried for murder. (Personally, we doubt very much that he DID it!) The prosecutor summed up in a few thousand words . . . then the lawyer for the defense faced the jury and said, "Ladies and gentlemen, surely you can see the move here to punish this poor confused boy for a crime I don't believe he committed. That's all." And by George . . . that WAS all. No plea, no nuttin.

Just as we feared . . . after a rather lengthy commercial . . . the jury returned with the verdict of "guilty of first degree murder." Now THERE'S a lawyer who couldn't get you off a charge of jay-walking . . . much less mayhem. Things like this make us understand why radio and television critics keep banging away at programs of this ilk . . . chiding them for the ridiculous fare they try to feed the general public. After all, if we are dopey enough to sit up until midnight to see and hear their danged programs, they ought to be sporting enough to feed us something we can swallow.

If you are now employing . . . or ever have employed a gardener, (or gardeners), from the "Old Country" . . . you should like this true tale told us by a local gent who maintains one of the larger estates hereabouts. Our hero was fortunate enough to obtain the services of TWO gardeners at the same time . . . about TWENTY YEARS AGO . . . and they are still working for him. That in itself is quite a record . . . but the point of this story is that the gardeners haven't spoken a word to each other in EIGHTEEN YEARS!

It seems that just that many years ago, they had an argument over a pitchfork. "Amos" claimed a certain pitchfork was HIS . . . and "Andy" said not at all . . . the pitchfork was HIS. What they both lost track of in the heat of the discussion . . . was the fact that BOTH pitchforks really belonged to the man who employed them!

Be that as it may . . . the "boys" had at it for several hours . . . then never spoke again, although they are frequently obliged to work side by side. Our hero sez it doesn't disconcert him a bit. They are both excellent at their particular work . . . and besides . . . they spend their days working instead of visiting! A nice idea. From Our Mail Box:

TWENTY MILLION PEOPLE CAN'T BE WRONG!

We have heard and read that 20,000,000 natives of this Country engage in gambling in one form or another. (Personally, I don't like to gamble when I'm asleep.) However, I'm willing to risk a bob that the twenty million estimate on those who take a chance on making an honest dollar, is far too low a figure if we include all the men, women and children who bet on horses, football, cards, canasta, baseball and the time of day.

Senator Kefauver is a smart man. He has sensed that the saturation point in public investigations has been reached and from here in, everything would be anti-climax stuff. On the other hand, it would seem that Senator Tobey wants the show to go on . . . he wants to "bring down the house," so to speak, not realizing that his crocodile tears are a dime a dozen. He claims to have received 11,000 letters from people who are against gambling. So what? Some other national figure on television could come out against cottage cheese and upwards of 100,000 would agree with him. People have different tastes. That's why there is enough herring to go around.

It is one thing to stop dope peddlers, murderers, etc., but quite another to stop the half a buck horse better . . . but here the music goes round and round . . . ad infinitum. A guy is still considered a good citizen if he makes his wager inside a fence . . . but should he beware of the devil if he places a bet on his favorite nag in his favorite cigar store? There is only ONE thing that will stop (temporarily) a horse or chariot better and that is NOT Senator Tobey . . . it is the percentage against him! The old story is so true . . . if a stranger in Rome wanted to find a bookie, . . . let him follow the first guy he sees with a patch on his pants. For all I know, the Mafia may get a percentage on patches!

However, I DO know that hope springs eternal in the little man who thinks today is HIS day to pitch the daily-double, to play bingo or to hit the jackpot. Try and stop him, Mr. Tobey. Shakespeare said: "All life is a gamble." He just didn't quote the odds!

What Goes on at Your Library

by Jean Taylor

"Where have you been, my pretty maid?"
"I've been 'Kefauvering' Sir," she said.

Now that the pretty maids plus the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker can be pried from their TV sets for a time, business picks up at the Public Library.

The television extravaganza of the Senate's Crime Investigation is over but interest in crime and court doings continues to rocket as evidenced by requests that come over the library desk. Many of the hardest whodunit fans now want their trials factual.

We have little knowledge of either crime or law but we pass along to you some of the critics' comments about books on these subjects.

One of the most popular books of its kind is Quentin Reynolds' COURTROOM. Published last year, this is the story of Samuel Leibowitz, one of America's renowned criminal lawyers. It is told in terms of the trials of the men and women for whose life he battled. The author reveals the testimonies behind many of these cases. "This story has a lot of fascination, particularly for those interested in law and crime. It presents an intense earnest man of considerable personal probity, whose unorthodox unpredictable defense tactics won him some long shot success."

CONVICTING THE INNOCENT, by Edwin Borchard, is a "picturesque re-telling of sixty-five stories in which an innocent person was convicted. Court records of both this country and England have furnished the material."

A book that sheds some light on the devious criminal mind is MY SIX CONVICTS by Donald P. Wilson, excerpts from which appeared in Life and The Atlantic Monthly. The author, a psychiatrist, spends three years in Leavenworth Penitentiary to study drug addiction. The Book-list says of this . . . "Although the doctor is human enough to appreciate a good story and to tell it well, accounts of a prison break, a beserk laboratory attendant, a series of women smuggled into the prison, and a sadistic artist are unsensational. A rewarding book."

In the MEANING OF TREASON Rebecca West studies the traitors, international criminals and grotesque hangers-on who figured in the treason trials in England of William Joyce (Lord Haw Haw), John Amery and Baillie Stewart.

HOW IT BEGAN
The Anglo-Saxons held the month of April sacred to Eostre, goddess of the teeming life that bloomed anew in the Spring. The Book House for Children relates how "her great festival was celebrated by the exchange of (colored) eggs which were the heathen symbol for the beginning of life." With the advent of Christianity, the pagan custom evolved in England into the beautiful festival of Christian significance: "observed with the gladness of a new solemnity," and called Easter.

DIAMOND PIN MISSING
A. P. Nauman, of 126 Moran road, reported the loss of a diamond bar pin valued at $600 to Farms police.

Why Endanger Your Health?

By FRED M. KOPP, R. Ph.

There are many miracle drugs on the market today, drugs that, carefully administered by a doctor, can often restore health in a matter of hours.

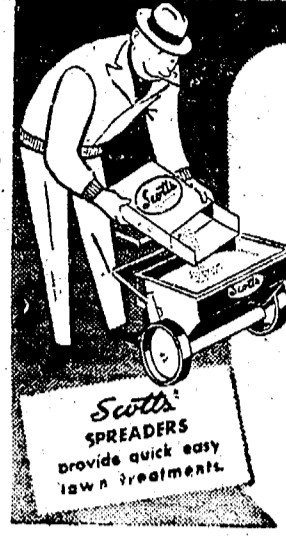

In view of this it is amazing that any one would endanger his health by purchasing a medical preparation he knows nothing about. Yet people continue to do so.

To prescribe medicine requires not only a complete knowledge of what effect drugs will produce in the body, but an understanding of your physical condition at the time medicine is prescribed.

That calls for the services of a physician, just as prescription compounding calls for the skill of an experienced pharmacist.

This is the 338th of a series of Editorial advertisements appearing in this paper each week.

Three questions to ask about any automatic drive—

Before you buy any new car today, ask these questions about its automatic drive . . .

Does it end clutch-pushing and gear-shifting? If the answer is "No," then it isn't as simple and smooth and safe as a modern automatic drive should be. (In Packard Ultramatic, there's no clutch-pushing—and no gear-shifting.)
Can I rock it in snow, sand or mud? If the answer is "No," then it isn't as flexible as it should be. (With Packard Ultramatic Drive, you can change instantly from Forward to Reverse.)

Does it cruise in solid, direct drive? If the answer is "No," then it isn't as efficient as it should be. (Packard Ultra-

On these three counts—and on every count—Packard's exclusive Ultramatic Drive leads the field. Come in—drive it! ASK THE MAN WHO OWNS ONE

Voices Crying in the Wilderness

Local residents must have been among the most avid lookers and listeners during the Kefauver Crime Investigating Committee hearings on TV and the interviews which followed. The entertainment must have worn them out so completely that they entirely missed the greatest lesson which this dramatic expose had to offer.

This lesson was that the only cure for the rottenness which exists, linking politics to crime, is possessed solely by the electorate of this country. The ballot is the specific.

The frightening apathy or stupidity of the local electorate was too vividly demonstrated Monday when less than one out of four of the registered voters bothered to exercise the right of franchise.

Offer Your Services

The Pointe is fortunate to have enlisted the services of Lansing M. Pittman as Chief Air Raid Warden in the Civilian Defense program. It is an important assignment and one which he should be able to handle capably if he is given the cooperation which should be willingly proffered.

The Pointe, like most other communities throughout the country, has been extremely apathetic to the call for volunteers vital to the setting up of an efficient civil defense program. This residential community would probably never be the intended target of a bombing attack, but its proximity to the tremendously important Detroit production center might very possibly cause it to become the victim of near-misses.

Should Detroit be attacked, the Pointe would surely be called upon to render all possible help and serve as an evacuation center.

Mr. Pittman's task is one of those thankless ones which call for great sacrifices of time and energy. He will have to do a heroic selling job to surround himself with all the help he will need. He deserves to have this job made as easy as possible through the cooperation of all the residents.

There are already a number of patriotic residents who have signed up as auxiliary police and firemen, ham radio operators, etc., who are taking first aid courses and getting ready for an emergency which we all hope will not come. The number is far too small.

The air raid warden program is going to call for volunteers in every block of the community. It is a big recruiting task. Don't wait to be called upon. Offer your services now, for any job that needs filling, by calling TUxedo 5-4600.

A Salute to the Rotarians

Grosse Pointe is to be honored on April 10 and 11 when representatives from 38 Rotary Clubs of the 223rd District hold their annual convention here. The Lochmoor Club will be the scene of the conference events when the local club plays host to the delegates from all units in Wayne and Monroe counties in Michigan and Essex County in Ontario, Canada.

Rotary is one of the great movements for good will, tolerance, charity, cooperation and enlightened helpfulness in this country and throughout the whole world.

The international service organization was founded on February 23, 1905, by a Chicago lawyer, Paul P. Harris. His vision, ripened by rich experience, planted a seed of fellowship which has flourished to produce a crop of inestimable value, shared by mankind the world over.

Born in Racine, Wisconsin, in 1868, Harris was sent to a paternal grandfather in Vermont when he was three years old. He was schooled in two Vermont academies, then continued his studies at the University of Vermont, Princeton University and the University of Iowa. Upon his graduation from law school in 1891 he determined to spend five years acquainting himself with his fellow men and seeing something of the world before he settled down to practice.

Paul Harris worked as a reporter on newspapers in San Francisco and Denver. He taught in a Los Angeles business college, worked on a California fruit farm and in a raisin packing factory. He acted in a Denver stock company and was a cowboy on a Colorado ranch. He picked oranges in Louisiana and traveled extensively throughout the south as a salesman for a marble and granite concern. He made two trips to England as a hand on a cattle boat, and later returned to Europe to visit the granite regions of Scotland and the marble centers of Ireland, Belgium and Italy.

His experiences and his associations gave him much which he passed on to the organization which was to grow in the next 45 years to include 7,200 clubs in 83 countries of the world, with a total membership of more than 344,000.

When Harris settled down to the practice of law, as he had stated he would, at the end of his five years of travel, he was imbued with the idea of the need for an organization which could unite businessmen and professional men in friendship and fellowship. With a definite philosophy of business relations, he discussed the idea with three law clients, a coal merchant, a mining engineer and a merchant tailor.

They were the nucleus of today's Rotary International. The name was derived from the fact that the members took turns meeting at their various places of business.

The Rotary Club of Grosse Pointe can be proud of its healthy growth and the manner in which it has carried on the fine Rotarian tradition of service and friendship. The development of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center, aided by Rotary itself, has enabled it to move its weekly meetings there, out of Detroit and to become a truly Pointe institution.

Now comprising almost 100 members, the local club has built up a record of charitable accomplishment that is greatly to be envied. Every worthy cause that has been launched in the Pointe since its inception has found Rotary high on its list of donors. Many students have been helped on their way to higher learning through a gift of the Rotarians. The poor, the sick, the needy have felt balm from its hands and from its great heart.

Entertainment, and band uniforms, and toys have been provided for youngsters who could not provide their own. Churches and hospitals struggling to erect their own buildings have been aided by substantial gifts. Safety programs have been sponsored and fostered.

Into every walk of human life where a helping hand was needed, there has Rotary been found, its hand extended. The Pointe is a better place because of Rotary. So is the country, and so is the world.

Big Properties' Assessments Cut

The Farms Board of Review has made adjustments on some of the "mansion type" properties which have cut the assessment rolls of the city by $732,000. It had been predicted earlier that the cuts might total as much as $949,340.

The reductions made in the Farms and in the other Pointe municipalities on the suggestion of the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation, take into consideration obsolescence of an extraordinary nature on these larger properties. The recommendation of the county tax body was that the owners be allowed a maximum credit of 1 percent per year for the first 15 years, and 1/2 of 1 percent per year for the next 15 years, on dwellings having a reproduction cost, under the assessment schedule, of $45,000 and over.

RIVERSIDE KIWANIS

The program for the meeting of the Riverside Kiwanis on April 12, at the Whittier Hotel, will be sponsored by Captain Arnie Cedowal, who will show a film with narration, entitled "Street of Lost Hope."

Scouts to See Rose Bowl Film

Members of three Boy Scout troops will play hosts to their parents at a joint gathering in Mason School next Monday night. Highlight of the program will be the showing of the colored moving pictures of the Rose Bowl football game played last New Year's Day in Pasadena, Cal.

J. T. White, former Michigan star and now a member of the coaching staff at the university, will be on hand to handle the commentary on the game.

Troops participating are Nos. 479, 290 and 546. Members of the Cub Scout Pack at Mason School have also been invited to be guests.

Fluorine Treatment Started in Public Schools

The Grosse Pointe Mothers' Health Education Council on Monday saw a project on which it had been working more than a year, launched in the public school system. A dental health program to prevent tooth decay among younger children took a big step forward when sodium fluoride applications were made available in the schools, to second grade children. This is considered the ideal age at which to start the treatments. First to be treated were students at the Defer and Mason Schools. This picture was taken Monday afternoon at Mason School.

Christian Science Lecture by Arthur Perrow, C. S.

Given Under Auspices of the Several Churches of Christ, Scientist, Detroit, Mich. March 29, 1951

A Lecture on Christian Science

Entitled

Christian Science: The Way of Present Salvation

by Arthur Perrow, C. S. of Chicago, Illinois

Member of the Board of Lecturers of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:

Everyone would like to be assured that there is a way of realizing salvation, at least ultimately. Perhaps to some salvation seems possible only after death—no! Would not each one of us like to know that the Biblical term "salvation" means more than that which has been generally thought or believed on the subject? Through Christian Science, the more than three hundred references to salvation and its equivalent found in the Bible have been vitalized with all obscurity removed. That which is regarded as a possible ultimate is found to be possible of present attainment. Hear the words of Isaiah (1:18): "Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow."

The Scriptural invitation points the divine way of presently overcoming and avoiding discordant conditions, of realizing man's conscious dominion, peace, without further delay. And that is the only salvation that is real, much to be desired, and now available and provable through Christian Science. The assumption that salvation means being saved from a place of future torment, either for ourselves or others, is not a very encouraging prospect.

The belief that there exist two places in what is often referred to as "the great unknown," one for good persons which is headed by God and the other for evil persons which is headed by a supposed, self-created devil, is an emanation of orthodox theology. The human race cannot remain in subjection to the belief in an imaginary partnership. This notion of devil and power between God and devil has been accepted by many without analysis or questioning because of lack of spiritual enlightenment and understanding of the real meaning of salvation.

Such false beliefs or misconceptions are far from the Scriptural promises. Through the spiritual understanding of the Bible these promises remove the threat of death and everlasting punishment and proclaim salvation to be for all here and now.

In the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, we find many references to salvation. One of these defines salvation as: "Life, Truth and Love understood and demonstrated as supreme over all; sin, sickness, and death destroyed" (Science and Health, p. 593).

Being saved, that is, actually experiencing freedom from sin, sickness, and other mortal sense limitations, is the result of knowing the truth which Jesus said would make us free, free from all the temporary aggressive suggestions of evil. Carnal or mortal impulses are ungodlike and unreal and last only so long as we give them supposed entity. And when those errors of thought are put off through spiritual understanding, the one and only Mind is revealed as our natural and harmonious consciousness.

False concepts regarding God and His perfect and only man must be replaced by spiritual truth. Demonstrable results follow through the understanding and application of Christian Science as clearly set forth in the textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by that great spiritually-minded woman, Mary Baker Eddy.

Mrs. Eddy has written that "heaven is not a locality, but a divine state of Mind" (Science and Health, p. 291), and St. Paul writes, "The kingdom of God is not meat and drink, but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost" (Rom. 14:17). When we recognize and practice man's natural and God-given dominion over the physical senses, then we shall prove that salvation is never elsewhere than at hand.

Man that is born of the Spirit, not of the flesh, as the Bible emphasizes (and that is the only man there is in the sight of God), is forever spiritual. He lives in Spirit, above mortal limitations, and ever-operative law of God, god. This is the real and only man, referred to in St. John's epistle in the words, "Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin; for his seed remaineth in him; and he cannot sin, because he is born of God" (1 John 3:9).

The Bible says, "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works" (II Tim. 3:16, 17).

A pupil in a Christian Science Sunday School upon reaching home was met by her mother at the door. The mother's greeting to the seated child rendered, "Dear Mother is not feeling well today. Something has gone wrong with Mother."

The child, who had learned something of the Bible statement, "God hath made man upright; but they have sought out many inventions" (Ecc. 7:29), said to her parent, "Mother, don't you know that God made you up right? He didn't make you up wrong." That calmly expressed truth arrested the attention of the mother, who very soon thereafter found herself healed—free from the false belief of physical disease.

Salvation Demonstrable
The infinite presence of divine Love is always the saving and redeeming presence. Its realization is conscious salvation. The presence of God, good, that fills all space, leaving no room for anything else, dispels the false sense of darkness with light; the sense of fear with confidence; the lie of error with truth; the sense of failure with success. This divine presence expels the sense of disease, revealing the presence of health, and raises human consciousness from mere belief to demonstrable understanding; that is, from temporary material sense and confusion to spiritual sense and peace. As the only real man, the only because God is the only Mind, the All-power, without competition, without opposition, in spite of false human impulses to the contrary.

St. Paul said in clear, direct, and unmistakable language addressed to every earnest seeker, "Behold, now is the day of salvation" (II Cor. 6:2). And my dear friends, now is the only time there is. We cannot build a bridge from yesterday to tomorrow, nor from today to some future time.

As I look at my watch I see, for example, that there is presently a new minute putting in its appearance, with apparent purpose. That particular minute has never existed before in the history of the universe.

If a minute could talk to one who is entertaining fears of aggressive or recurring disease, fear of the future, fear of any discord that seems to be accentuated by what is called time, the minute might say: "Don't be afraid of me, I haven't a thing within me that is worth anything. I am not carrying over any beliefs of heredity or any notions of the past; and of course, I can't do anything with the future, because I am not part of it. I have done, don't give me credit for having any dominion or any power, for I am useless, without substance, without intelligence, without entity. I am merely a human illusion. It is subject to your dictation alone. Make of me what you will, for I am just a temporary belief. I want to, I must, be your servant, never your master."

In this connection Jesus admonished that we "take . . . no thought for the morrow" (Matt. 6:34). And Mrs. Eddy has lovingly shown us the way to fill each moment with the consciousness of Truth and Love, so that sin, disease, and death cannot enter.

Right now we are in the midst of a basic law of our very presence that operates as the law of immortality and harmony. To know this law of God, to be governed by its unchanging beneficence, means to have that consciousness which is free from all evils, emanations of a supposititious carnal mind, referred to in the Bible as "enmity against God." There is no mind in evil, no intelligence, for God is the only Mind.

If one could explore the infinite, never-ending there be found the slightest suggestion or indication of beliefs of error or discord of any name or nature. In the words of Habakkuk (1:13), "Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and dost not look on iniquity." The Bible directs us to be concerned with that which is eternal, and that means to reflect intelligence, forever harmonious, and not to be identified with the mortal, transient illusions that the senses reveal. The indulgence of mere human impulses need to be guarded against so that they do not register in our thoughts as realities.

The purpose of the Bible is to point us to the grandeur of the one and only Mind, Spirit, the grandeur of the only creator and His unchangeable goodness and power. Our Father-Mother God is forever fulfilling the Biblical promise, "As one whom his mother comforteth, thus will I comfort you" (Isa. 66:13).

The precious promises of the Bible are vitalized in the light of Christian Science, and they show us how to express everlasting Life, the only Life there really is or can be. The Bible counsels each of us to accept his established identification with the eternal and be at peace. It says, "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee" (Isa. 26:3). There is only one such positive and reassuring statement to be found in any secular writing. And after all, the Bible should be our guide in such an important and fundamental truth as that relating to the availability of individual peace.

We cannot improve on perfect peace. And here in the verse just quoted we are assured of this much-desired attainment as being possible here and now—not in a special locality, but in the only place where peace can be realized, our consciousness.

Christian Science shows us the way to demonstrate, with attendant joy and freedom, the words of Christ Jesus, "Behold, the kingdom of God is within you" (Luke 17:21). That statement is a great truth, declared for our guidance. Could there be a more direct and positive assurance to man that the kingdom of heaven is available, at hand, than this?

Cognizant of the human tendencies toward confusion, fear, sickness, and other discords, Jesus said, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God: and his righteousness: and all these things shall be added unto you" (Matt. 6:33). The great Way-shower meant that declaration to be a call to mental action right now. Surely, seeking first (never second) the kingdom of heaven did not mean that we entertain a desire to die and then automatically reach some mysterious locality. He meant, rather, that the kingdom of heaven, harmony, is available to everyone through spiritual understanding.

Mary Baker Eddy's Spiritual Light
Mary Baker Eddy searched the Scriptures prayerfully and devoutly. She experienced the fruition of the words of Christ Jesus, "Seek, and ye shall find" (Matt. 7:7). She beheld through inspiration, spiritual discernment, the golden vein of pure, unadulterated truth appearing throughout the Old and New Testaments. Then after many proofs of healing (including her own of a physical condition pronounced incurable by a physician), she gave to the world in what she called her "rules" demonstrating this glorious, provable Truth, relying upon the Scriptural dictum, "By their fruits ye shall know them" (Matt. 7:20).

The Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, has healed, and will continue to heal, multitudes who come to the refreshing waters of Truth with an honest heart.

Mrs. Eddy says, "The divine has been made into a new heaven and light and life, a fresh universe" (Retrospection and Introspection, p. 27). She says also: "I had learned that thought must be spiritualized, in order to apprehend Spirit. It must become honest, unselfish, and pure, in order to have the least understanding of God in divine Science" (ibid., p. 28).

I shall never forget the illumination that came to me after I had collapsed in my office and was taken home by a physician who pronounced my case as being too late for healing by medical means. I turned to Christian Science and procured a copy of the textbook. I read the first chapter, entitled "Prayer," and immediately realized from its opening sentence that this was the truth for which I had been seeking and praying. I was healed instantly.

I had been teaching the Bible in a men's Bible class of an evangelistic church, but often would find myself totally limited interpretations. But now, at last, all ambiguities of the Bible disappeared, and I thanked God I had found the pearl of great price—the understanding of God and man's relationship to Him, with the kingdom of heaven no longer in the possible distant future, but at hand, as close to everyone as is his thinking.

And so the spiritual interpretation of the Scriptures, presented to the world for the first time in the history of religion, is proving to be the great light which had remained dimmed throughout the centuries. Now it glows anew to cure all the ills of mortal sense testimony, including sin, sickness, and other human discords.

God, Good, Infinite
The relationship between God and man is an eternal, unchangeable one. When St. Paul said that man, the real, spiritual, and only man, lives, moves, and has his being in God, the declaration was unconditional, made without reservations. This statement is absolute. It means a permanent God-ordained relationship.

There is nothing in the whole universe that can interfere with the God-established relationship of Father and Son, for God is the only power, the only creator, the only intelligence. The Bible says, "With [Him] is no variableness, neither shadow of turning" (James 1:17). And in the one hundred and thirty-sixth Psalm, in each of the twenty-three verses, it is declared that God's mercy endureth forever.

The "nowness" of God is also the "nowness" of man as God's image and likeness. It will ever remain so. This glorious relationship will never change, nor can it be over-emphasized. Nothing can separate the only real man from God, and Christian Science is proving this glorious fact of true and everlasting being. Not even the thinnest partition exists between the infinite Mind and man, God's idea, held forever in the bosom of the Father.

The Bible says, "Neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God" (Rom. 8:39).

Mary Baker Eddy writes, "The right thinker abides under the shadow of the Almighty. His thoughts can only reflect peace, good will towards men, health, and holiness" (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, p. 210). Genuine peace can never change to an opposite quality of thought when its only and permanent source, divine Mind, is known and maintained as the basis of true thinking. There is no peace in the world, no such positive thinking that he does not wish to think.

The Bible declares that "God is light, and in him is no darkness at all" (1 John 1:5). Light knows nothing of darkness, truth knows nothing of error, the spiritual knows nothing of the material. We cannot improve on perfect peace. And here in the verse just quoted we are assured of this much-desired attainment as being possible here and now—not in a special locality, but in the only place where peace can be realized, our consciousness.

temporary, baseless, and counterfeited. The God of peace—and divine expectancy the supply appeared when needed. Mrs. Eddy points out, "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need" (Science and Health, p. 494).

As a young man listened frequently to sermons and other discourses relating to some future punishment. It seemed to me that if an architect built a structure capable of falling and that later the structure was condemned and did fall, the fault was not in the structure, but rather the blame rested with the architect or builder.

And so, why punish the object, the unit which had no choice in the kind of material or structure it involuntarily represented? I decided that surely, and justly, I would not be expected to stand the consequences of those uncontrolled actions the source of which had been supplied in the beginning by the builder.

Then after mentalizing the subject of good or bad existence and its origin, I asked myself this question, "If I were the only person in the world and I thought good only, where would I be? There could be no such thing as an inevitable part of existence, but that it was always made to individual order, as it were, and that it brought with it, while it lasted, its own punishment."

Mrs. Eddy defines hell (Science and Health, p. 588) as: "Mortal belief; error; lust; remorse; hatred; revenge; sin; sickness; death; suffering and self-destruction; self-imposed bondage; that which 'worketh abomination' and maketh a lie." Heaven she defines (Science and Health, p. 587) as: "Harmony; the reign of Spirit; government by divine Principle; self-education; bliss; the atmosphere of Soul."

In order to avoid the results of sin, one must stop sinning and seek to be governed by the law of God, forever operating in man's behalf, with harmony and salvation its inevitable and God-ordained result. In the words of Ezekiel (33:1), "Turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O house of Israel?" The Psalmist said, "If I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there" (Ps. 139:8), meaning that God goes with us to present to deliver from claims of evil.

Every son of God, dwelling forever in the bosom, in the midst, of his Father—Mother creator, has the everlasting power of the infinity of good. The opening sentence of what is man's use, God's precious gift to everyone is power, love, and a sound mind, says the Bible, which is never separated from God's likeness, man, regardless of any mortal evidence to the contrary.

The recognition of this great truth and the use of the precious gifts of the Father—power, love, and a sound mind—mean freedom from all that would present itself to human consciousness as evil before God. The weakness is instantly overcome by this God-given power; hatred, including its array of evil and discordant results, is overcome by this God-given love—not human emotionality, but Love of God, the Father, and the Father's aggressive suggestions of evil are overcome by this God-given sound mind, free from fears, failures, sin, sickness, and other human discords.

Prayer and Healing
A person asked a Christian Science practitioner if he could be healed of some conditions which had become alarming to him, but with the understanding that he wished to retain his indulgence in a certain habit of years' standing. That is, the inquirer was willing to accept the application of the law of God, harmony, a part of the way, but not completely. He wanted to continue his self-assumed, although fleeting, pleasure so called. The practitioner answered that he would endeavor to answer out all the Scriptural admonitions except one, that through disobedience to this one other error of belief might claim entrance to one's thought. The inquirer saw the necessity of waiting until he had a clearer realization of pure and undisturbed peace—salvation.

Mary Baker Eddy defines angels as: "God's thoughts passing to man; spiritual intuitions, pure and perfect" (Science and Health, p. 581). Through spiritual understanding we may entertain angels with full awareness and joyous results. The abode of angels is spiritual consciousness. Their presence, and the exalted ministry that leads to a clearer realization of man's God-ordained salvation.

Discords seem real when compared to material things and experiences. But how insignificant is any error or relation to the vastness of the universe and its laws of precision when we contemplate that, according to astronomy, light traveling at the rate of 186,000 miles per second from a distant planet takes millions of years to reach the earth. To relate any error—sin, sickness, or other material belief—to the immensity of the universe, helps us to reduce its claim to an insignificant fraction of things.

Salvation includes freedom from business difficulties. Solutions may be found to meet any situation that arises. The Christian Scientist, in all his activities, may draw on limitless reserves, built up through spiritual understanding of God.

If confusion seems to appear, the reserves of confidence and peace are available; if hatred and its discords seem to have sway, Love divine is at hand; if aggressive suggestions of any kind seem to assert themselves, then and there are spiritual reserves available to offset—to destroy—the disturbing negatives. Spiritual confidence and peace are reserves more positive and effective than the material reserves employed in successful business practice.

The student of Christian Science can prove the efficacy of prayer, as illustrated in the Bible, under any circumstance. In the business world, what a privilege it is to give heed to the words of Jesus, "I must be about my Father's business" (Luke 2:49). The Father's business is the activity of right ideas. There can be no failure, no depression, no recession in Mind.

What a privilege it is to seek divine Mind's guidance in our daily activities, always with signs following—proofs of healing, evidences of progress, and hearts filled with gratitude and joy for the truth and its ready salvation from all discords. Such salvation is now available through spiritual understanding and is revealed to all the world in Christian Science.

Mary Baker Eddy says: "For victory over a single sin, we give thanks and magnify the Lord of Hosts. What shall we say of the mighty conquest over all sin? A louder song, sweeter than has ever before reached high heaven, will be given to the Father and the great heart of Christ; for the accuser is not there, and Love sends forth her primal and everlasting strain" (Science and Health, p. 568).

Inspiration is natural to the receptive, alert consciousness. Inspiration is always possible. It is from the Holy Ghost, the Christ, the ever-active Spirit of Truth. There is something we must do with every inspiring thought: we must carry it into execution. In the vision, which is always the "angel of his presence," must lead to demonstration. One of the many beautiful references to inspiration is found in Isaiah (30:21): "And thine ears shall hear a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walk ye in it, when ye turn to the right hand, and when ye turn to the left."

A New York group was told recently by a prominent doctor that so-called incurable cancer yields to the power of mind. This helpful statement shows progress in medical diagnosis, but, of course, in Christian Science practice the human mind is not utilized. The healing is done through the divine Mind alone.

Reforming the sinner and healing the sick are fundamentals in the teachings and practice of Christian Science. These works are being repeated today in Christian Science, as proved in innumerable cases testified to weekly at Wednesday meetings held in Christian Science churches throughout the world, as well as in written testimonies appearing in the weekly Sentinel and monthly Journal of The Christian Science Publishing Society.

Uplifted Consciousness
In demonstrating our freedom, our salvation, from material tendencies and their array of discords, the Bible and the Christian Science textbook counsel us to ascend mentally, that is, to look up, to dwell above the temporary false beliefs of the carnal or mortal so-called mind. Isaiah put it, "Arise, shine; for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee" (Isa. 60:1). This is a call to spiritualize one's thought.

The Psalmist said, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help" (Ps. 121:1). The acceptance of that invitation means obedience to the highest standard of consciousness. And against the Bible states, "He that dwelleth in the secret place, and the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty" (Ps. 91:1). Such a one is saved then and there. He experiences the salvation of knowing God, the one infinite, eternal, and unchangeable, thinking, better health, better business—real, harmonious living. Those are glorious invitations to rise above the temporary din of materiality and to experience here on earth the unlimited beauty of true and lasting salvation which awaits everyone.

Referring to the necessity of this uplifted consciousness as a prerequisite to peace, Mrs. Eddy says: "Rise in the strength of Spirit to resist all that is unlike good. God has made man capable of doing nothing can vitiate the ability and power divinely bestowed on man" (Science and Health, p. 393).

Dwelling, abiding, above human vicissitudes, we shall taste and see man's natural and God-established salvation. We shall abide in the consciousness of good. The good, we shall not seek to enter some place or escape from another, but shall rejoice in the precious realization of pure and undisturbed peace—salvation.

Mary Baker Eddy defines angels as: "God's thoughts passing to man; spiritual intuitions, pure and perfect" (Science and Health, p. 581). Through spiritual understanding we may entertain angels with full awareness and joyous results. The abode of angels is spiritual consciousness. New Reading Room Opened By Christian Scientists

A new Christian Science Reading Room, open to the public, has been established at the southeast corner of Warren avenue and Courville with a view to making the Bible, the writings of Mary Baker Eddy and other literature on Christian Science more readily available to those seeking information about Christian Science.

According to an announcement from Sixth Church of Christ, Scientist, Detroit at Kercheval and Manistique, the location of the new Reading Room in a business section will serve to meet the needs of the increasing numbers of newcomers and strangers interested in Christian Science, as well as those who study it regularly. Interest in Christian Science has been greatly accelerated in the past few years as evidenced by the fact that the annual sale of textbooks has greatly increased during that time. "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" written by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, is the textbook of this religion, and is used together with the Bible (King James version) for the weekly lesson sermon.

The new Reading Room is located on the first floor and is divided into two parts, a large, carpeted "quiet room" where anyone may come in and read the Bible, Mrs. Eddy's writings, as well as current Christian Science periodicals. In the smaller, outer area, authorized literature, including the textbook and The Christian Science Monitor may be borrowed or purchased from the free lending library.

The decorations are in soft green, with adequate light for reading, comfortable furniture, and air conditioning to provide year around temperature control. Visitors are cordially invited and a special invitation is issued to all to attend open house from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, April 6 and 7, and from 2 to 4:30 p.m. on Sunday, April 8. The regular hours of the Reading Room will be the same except that on Wednesdays the Reading Room will be closed at 6 p.m. and re-open for a short time at 9:15 after the regular Wednesday evening service.

Missionary to Describe Life Under Communists

The Rev. Paul Lindholm who has recently lived in China under the Communist regime will speak at Eastminister Church on Sunday, April 8.

In 1941 the Lindholms went to the Philippines because of the impending war, with the coming of the Japanese they fled to the hills and remained for three years. Mrs. Lindholm and their four children escaped by submarine, but Rev. Lindholm chose to remain until the island was liberated.

Rev. Lindholm will speak of these experiences and many others during his many years of bringing the word of God into the foreign field.

ANTIQUES Duplication of the bridal present greatly diminishes when your selection turns to antiques of merit. Our interesting and varied stock permits modestly priced and choice accessories, that most folks cherish and appreciate years after the glamour of wedding bells are memories.

An odd Hitchcock chair—a fine pair of andirons or brass candlesticks or a Lowstoft cup and saucer or clock find their way to that never, never land—the top shelf in the fruit closet or a kitchen cupboard and remember—their value, like real love increases with the years.

LOVELY AS SPRINGTIME

MRS. ROY D. CHAPIN... slim as a debutante... in black crepe frock with small brushed white felt chapeau, swathed in fine black veiling... a mink jacket to defend, chichly, from the breezes...

MRS. CHISHOLM MACDONALD... in gay finely lined Roman striped silk frock... of many strong hues... worn with white straw bonnet flecked with navy grosgrain on the crown... a mink coat for Michigan's spring...

MRS. LESTER S. MOLL... topping her sleek navy suit with white pique pancake cloche, rolled at the brim in deep blue velvet and veiled in a mist of the same tone... over her shoulders, a handsome mink cape...

BRIDE-ELECT ISABELLE CASGRAIN... in charcoal black taffeta skirt and matching blouse buttoning to high neckline... her dark hair tucked into a white straw chapeau veiled in black... and of course, a fur jacket...

MRS. LANE DONOVAN... in a good looking dark chartreuse silk suit... speckled in deeper brown... and worn with cinnamon brown felt hat... and a fur jacket...

MRS. HAROLD H. EMMONS, JR., wearing an enormous corsage of deep pink camellias with all black costume... and her black straw hat repeating the same shade of the corsage in its floral trim...

MRS. CAMERON WATERMAN II in gray wool two-piece suit lined in charcoal stripe... and a smoky blue straw hat, tiny, its brim edged in narrow roll of velvet... completing the outfit... a mink jacket...

PILFERINGS

A-1 the Pointers returning daily from Jamaica, Florida, Arizona, California, Bermuda and other Winter havens, may like to be reminded of the verse written by Bert Lesta Taylor, whose poetry appeared in the Chicago Tribune, entitled:

POST VACATIONAL

You have heard that midwived story,
That tradition horned and hoary,
That it wearies one to roam,
Past a doubt;
That one daily on vacation
Tries to find recuperation,
Till he hunts his happy home
Tuckered out.
That abroad there is no comfort,
That a man must journey home for 't—
You have heard that whiskered wheeze,
Have you not?
'Tis a commonplace to cavil
At the "luxuries of travel,"
For in travel lack of ease
Is your lot.
You have heard that gag historic;
It was sprung by Yorick;
It's as old as Noah's ark
And its crew.
It's the commonest (at basis)
Of all common commonplaces—
So I merely would remark
That—it's true.

Comes to our desk a clipping from the Miami Sunday News... it's from Mary Marley's column, "About People"... "A lady in Lexington, Ky., went into Joe Houlihan's book shop and said to Joe... 'I'd like a copy of Dr. Kinsey's Report... Joe said, 'Yes, mam,' and came back with it wrapped and said, 'That is $6.60, Mrs. ...' and she said, '$6.60... Oh, my.' Joe said... 'Yes, that is the price,' and Mrs. ... said 'Oh, ... well... just take it and put it back on the shelf... I won't pay $6.60... I'll just wait and see the movie.' Joe said... 'Yes, mam... you do that.'"

JOE GRATZER TIM LEACH NEIL SMITH DICK SAUNDERS

The ladies who dash out to Fontbonne Auxiliary's April Showers Party next Wednesday at Grosse Pointe Yacht Club are going to be serenaded within an inch of their lives by one of the music world's most amazing organizations—Rowdy Richard's Ragtimers.

Because Fontbonne's party has a Hawaiian theme, the Ragtimers will don their shipwreck regalia and do their island routine which is as breezy as a grass skirt.

The membership of the Ragtimers is composed mostly of Grosse Pointe High School Seniors and the quartet of which we speak today includes Dick Saunders of Bedford road, Joe Gratzler, also of Bedford road, Neil Smith of Severn road and Tim Leach of Lincoln road.

This summer the group will be a year old. When full complement is present and the quartet becomes the Ragtimers, joining them are Winnie Likert, Tom Saunders and Dan Webb.

We think you'd say the moving spirit of the organization is Dick Saunders who with Tim used to harmonize down at Grosse Pointe Park of summer afternoons and evenings. They easily found the other musical companions and their first public appearance was at the park. Tim accompanies the quartet on a banjo uke and when they really get going on 'icky Ticky Tumbo' or 'I've Got A Feeling for Ophelia' they swell to chorus volume.

MEET JELLY ROLL

The quartet is sympathetic and polite if you ask what they think about Arthur Godfrey's Hawaiian efforts... but they've delved much deeper. From the Library of Congress they've gotten authentic sea chanteys, they're currently corresponding with Honolulu High School for native music and they listen to long playing records of genuine New Orleans jazz.

Talking to the boys, you wonder how you ever thought anything but New Orleans to be the nation's capitol. Everything begins and ends there and of course you've heard of Ferdinand Jelly Roll Morton. You call him Mr. Jelly Roll if you're hep. He's the Father of American Jazz and he came from New Orleans. Why, his biography has been made into a book and the Ragtimers know it by heart.

Well, after the park sessions, the orchestra and quartet found itself much in demand. Last year, at Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center's college dance, the quartet entertained at intermission.

LEMON PIE

Contributed by Mrs. Thomas F. Cashin, Jr. 1 1/2 c. sugar 7 Tbsp. cornstarch 1 1/2 c. boiling water 3 egg yolks 3 Tbsp. butter 4 Tbsp. lemon juice grated rind 1 lemon Mix sugar and cornstarch. Stir in boiling water. Cook over direct heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and boils. Set over boiling water and cook 10 minutes longer. Beat egg yolks slightly, beating in a little of the hot mixture. Then beat into hot mixture in double boiler. Cook five minutes stirring constantly. Remove from hot water and blend in butter, lemon juice, rind. Cool. Pour into cooled baked pie shell. Cover with meringue. For a change and most delicious, cover with whipped cream. The pastry is extra good if you use milk instead of water for the liquid and add just a pinch of baking powder.
