

Rotary Working For World Peace

Rotary Clubs in 83 countries throughout the world are united in an endeavor to promote international understanding, good will and peace. That was the message of John Maynard of Detroit, Governor of District 223 of Rotary International, in addressing the Rotary Club of Grosse Pointe Monday, following a conference with local Rotary officers, directors and committee chairmen in the War Memorial Center.

In addition to the activities of Rotary's 7,300 Clubs in their own communities to promote this objective, Mr. Maynard explained, over a six-year period Rotary International is spending $1,500,000, principally to create better understanding among the peoples of different nations.

One of the ways in which this money is being spent is on Rotary Foundation Fellowships, which enable outstanding graduate students to study for one year, in countries other than their own, as ambassadors of good will. Since this program was established in 1947, 284 Fellowships have been awarded to students in 42 countries, with grants totaling more than $700,000.

"Devoted to service, Rotary provides a common ground for 350,000 business and professional executives throughout the world, regardless of nationality or political or religious belief," the Rotary District Governor emphasized.

All Rotary Clubs in the 223rd District are sponsoring a "Youth for Understanding" program—which is bringing boys and girls of high school age from Europe for one year's study to stay and learn our American way of life.

Forty-two young people have arrived here in the last two months and are making their homes with members of the 223rd District Clubs.

and Co. again made the audit without charge and the directors passed a resolution thanking the company for this great service.

The audit lists the assets of the association at $419,815.66, which includes the land and buildings donated by the Alger family, furnishings and equipment and improvements, valued at $269,811.59. Details of the audit are contained in the editorial columns of this issue.

To Remove Shrine

Vincent DePetris, chairman of the grounds and garden committee, announced plans for improving the grounds after the original honor roll shrine is removed from the lakefront. The small promontory on which it is placed will be landscaped and a test garden established, where new plants and flowers being tested will be on view to the public.

Mr. DePetris also said 2,000 additional tulip bulbs have been ordered for fall planting and that chrysanthemums are being donated by his firm to supply late bloom next season.

Robert Tannahill, chairman of the house furnishings committee, announced that several new gifts were received during the summer. Among these are a set of valuable amber glass, three oil paintings from Joseph deGrimme, and a second volume of the history of the association from Alger Sheldon.

History of Center

The books donated by Mr. Sheldon are huge, beautifully bound leather scrap books which contain newspaper clippings gathered from the inception of the Honor Roll Association in the early days of World War II. They tell the complete story of the birth and growth of the memorial center idea.

Mrs. Frederick Clifford Ford, chairman of the program committee, made a presentation at the meeting of a beautiful leather volume titled "The Book of Remembrances."

Honors War Hero

Dedicated to her son, Alfred Brush Ford, killed in World War II, the names of all donors who make gifts to the Center in memory of persons who have died, will be entered in this volume as a permanent record.

Reports of all committee chairmen revealed plans for increased activity in all phases of the extensive program at the Center during the coming year.

REMOVE TEMPTATION

A ladder placed up against an open window on the north side of the new Kerby School on September 12, attracted the attention of Farms patrolman Parsons and Elworthy. After determining that the building had not been disturbed, the officers closed the window and removed the ladder.

Sir William Johnson departed from Detroit thinking he had accomplished a masterly work of bringing future peace with Indians, on September 16, 1761.

When the City completes its off-street parking program this condition is expected to be eliminated. The overflow business parking on Notre Dame should be alleviated with the installation of the parking meters ordered by the City. It is planned to install a few meters on Notre Dame, Cadieux and St. Clair.

Neighbors who saw smoke issuing from the basement windows of 19283 Raymond on September 2, summoned Woods firemen. An automatic hot water heater was found to be the source of trouble. About $50 damage resulted. Peter P. Juratovac, the owner, was at the Woods lakefront park at the time.

Pointe Congregationalists Bring Peace to Fesankos

Peace is a thing some come by accidentally. But some have to fight, and suffer, or die for it. The Fesankos had to suffer.

Michael and Anna Fesanko, and daughters, five-year-old Helena and Annamaria, aged four, arrived in Grosse Pointe August 7 to find friends and help among the members and friends of the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church. The church, which is sponsoring them, had provided them with temporary housing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Friesema, 703 University, and Michael with his first job in a free country.

This was their big moment but the Fesankos paid dearly for it. Michael Fesanko, 37, dealt with many years of extreme hardship and suffering and with more than a year in a German concentration camp.

Michael saw his father, after the death of his mother, deported to Siberia to die. His only brother was taken prisoner of war and later put to death.

Anna, 27, was more fortunate. Born in Yugoslavia, when Germany occupied her country, she, like all able people, was taken to Germany and put to work in forced labor. Her suffering and years of hard work still show in her young face, but life in this country should erase those marks.

In 1945, Anna and Michael found some safety and hope in a displaced persons camp in Eisnitz, Austria. There they met and were married in that year. Through the Congregational Christian Service Committee, the Fesankos left the camp in July, arriving under the sponsorship of the Grosse Pointe Church last month.

English is a problem with the Fesankos right now. Anna taught herself a few basic phrases in the DP camp and from books on board the ship which brought them to America. Michael is so proud that he now can write his name in English. They say, "go to school in Americana — learn fast." Both speak Slavish, German and Russian.

The Fesankos are more fortunate than many — even though their little daughters had never known of anything but one tiny room in a barracks or some of the bare necessities. They are too young to have experienced the horrors of war.

When the family goes to Pointe grocery stores they are awed at the abundances—it recalls their years of extreme suffering from hunger—and that they had worked for three weeks for enough money to pay for one loaf of bread. Even today sugar is fifty-five cents a pound in Austria.

The Fesankos are a happy family. But they can never be as happy as the people of the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church who have had the privilege of starting a new life for this little family in the most peaceful country in the world.

A demonstration of Obedience Trained Dogs will be held Tuesday evening, September 25, at 7:30 p. m. in the boy's gymnasium of the Grosse Pointe High School. All dog owners are invited to attend. This will open the Owner-Dog obedience training program for the year.

The obedience classes, under the sponsorship of the Adult Activities Program of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, have created a lot of interest during the past four years. More than 200 Grosse Pointers have trained their dogs in this program.

The demonstration is designed to show dog owners what they can accomplish through these classes. An obedient dog is a better dog. You will enjoy your pet more and he will be happier because of this training. Any breed of dog, regardless of size or age, can be trained. The dog's problem is to understand what the owner wants him to do. The trainers teach the owner to teach his dog.

Dog owners from previous classes will show what they accomplished during their courses. Among these will be Lee Crooks, Walter Ahrens, Mary Lynn Eskridge, Jack Dobson and Bob Bauer. Advanced training will be demonstrated by Marion Kellogg, who will show his Weimaraner, Vir-Mar Tauper.

MICHIGAN CONSOLIDATED GAS COMPANY 100 YEARS OF SERVICE 1851-1951

We begin our second century of service

One hundred years ago the Detroit Gas Light Company made its first hundred feet of gas, sending it through small mains to a few scattered homes in which the newly developed gas lamps of that day were installed. Three days later the first gas lamps were lighted in the streets of Detroit.

From that beginning our Company has grown into the great distribution system which today serves more than 715,000 customers living in 69 cities, villages and communities of Michigan.

We enter our second-century with long range plans to keep pace with the growth of the communities served. We aim to maintain the highest standards of service, with a deep sense of our responsibility and our obligation to contribute in every way we can to the public good.

Adult Spanish Course Praised

When the average student graduates from school he closes his books forever. But there are exceptions. Some go on and on and on learning. And the Department of Adult Education of Grosse Pointe is geared to accommodate such persons.

An adult class must be exceptionally interesting or the seats are empty before long. Therefore, adult education calls for unusual teachers and unusual techniques. The use of ordinary academic text books merely yawns from grown-ups. The teaching approach differs widely from that of the high school or university classroom. The adult student must enjoy his classes. If they are boring to any extent at all he no longer attends.

This is well illustrated in Spanish classes. In the evening classes now starting in the Grosse Pointe

High School building there are students who have enrolled, not once, but year after year.

Hubert G. Goebel, Detroit Edison engineer, who has attended the Spanish classes directed by Clarence V. McGuire and Gertrude James for four consecutive years says of the instruction: "Each year Mrs. Goebel and I go to Mexico and before going I review my Spanish in the evening classes. They are so interesting that when Thursday night comes I simply can't stay away."

Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Jarre say: "Our knowledge of Spanish gained through this course has been very helpful to us on our trip to Mexico."

Miss Nina Galbraith, supervisor of office personnel, spring division, Eaton Manufacturing Company says: "It has been three years in a row with me at the Spanish classes of Mr. McGuire and Mrs. James. It is a remarkable fact to me that each year I seem to enjoy the instruction more and get more benefit from it than I did the year preceding."

Don L. Brown, sales executive of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company says of the classes: "I received three University of Michigan credits in Spanish and I have attended three semesters of the evening classes here at Grosse Pointe High School, so I am in a position to compare the two. Well, there just isn't any comparison. The adult classes here are superior from every standpoint."

Mrs. Marshall Troester says: "This will be my fourth year in the Grosse Pointe Spanish classes. Each year I seem to enjoy them more and get more benefit out of the instruction."

C. W. Hathaway states: "There are many in the classes who have been attending two years or more. I am one of them."

Phone Calls and Tea Break Monotony for Young Thieves

Two girls in their early teens began a series of digressions from the law on September 1 in rather a light hearted manner. After entering the new Kerby School, by removing a piece of plywood from the rear door, the girls brewed tea and devoured crackers, found in a cupboard.

The tea party concluded, the girls entered another room containing a telephone with an outside line and made some phone calls.

The girls are reported to have made about 15 calls, including one to Columbus, Ohio. Police stated the girls may have placed more out-of-town calls.

On approximately August 18, the girls entered new Kerby School by the same means. On that occasion, they took $5.46 from a teacher's desk.

The girls' experiences in crime came to light when they took money from the wallet of Walter F. Isley, of 20215 Warrington drive, on September 2.

The money was taken from Mr. Isley's wallet while he was working in his new house at 245 Stephens road. The girls took the money from Mr. Isley's wallet which he had left in the pocket of his street clothes.

Farms Patrolman Guy Miller picked up the girls shortly after the theft from description given by Mrs. Isley. The girls surrendered $9 to police. At the time of the theft, Mr. Isley reported about $20 missing, but after checking he told police only $9 was stolen.

The girls confessed having entered the Isley house on about August 5, also. They told police they took Mr. Isley's wallet on that occasion too, but became frightened and replaced it.

McCormick, founder and director of Grosse Pointe Nursery school.

Captain Bodycombe Granted Leave to Continue Studies

WIESBADEN AIR BASE, Germany—Captain Richard Bodycombe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Bodycombe, 724 Lincoln road, Grosse Pointe, Michigan, has received official orders authorizing him to attend the University of Michigan, on a temporary duty status.

Captain Bodycombe was graduated from Grosse Pointe High School in 1940, entering the University of Michigan in September 1941 for three semesters, and after World War II pursuing his studies at the University of Michigan, where he was graduated with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Education in June, 1948.

Bodycombe is one of many career Air Force officers, furthering their education through "Operation Bootstrap" and other educational programs while in the European Command, and taking advantage of the many opportunities offered by the Air Force.

The captain is returning to the United States to participate in the "Final Semester Plan" of "Operation Bootstrap", under the provisions of Air Force Regulation 34-52, dated in April, 1951.

Capt. Bodycombe stated that he would attend the Horace Rackham School of Graduate Study, located at the University of Michigan. He will enroll in February 1952, and upon graduation, sometime in August next year, he will receive a Masters Degree in Educational Administration, returning to duty with the Air Force.

Bodycombe, presently assigned to the 7167th Special Air Mission Squadron, Wiesbaden Air Base, Wiesbaden, Germany, enlisted as a cadet in the U.S. Air Force in September, 1942. During World War II, he served with a Heavy Bombardment Group, 15th Air Force, in Italy, as pilot on a B-24. He was discharged in November, 1945.

Capt. Bodycombe re-enlisted in January, 1949, and was immediately assigned to overseas duty, being sent to Wiesbaden Air Base, Germany, upon reaching the European Command.

With the delightful prospect of an evening with their family . . . and a sentimental dinner, too . . . (it was their fifty-sixth wedding anniversary) . . .

Nice . . . But Such a Bother

Couldn't help but think, as we toiled this week . . . there really should be some kind of insurance against society writers . . .

In a few telephone calls we managed:

To make it necessary for the dinner guest to put the steaks on while the hostess chatted with us . . . to keep two husbands waiting for their evening meals while their ladies faire gave us notes on coming charity events . . .

To cause one of the most elegant matrons intent to stop midway in an ear of corn to answer our infatigable questions.

We don't think the advent of television impressed us half as much . . . as the poise of the Lady and The Corn . . .

Nor have we ever seen anything so vivid on television . . . as our mental picture of the Lady on the other end of the telephone . . . scotching like mad half way cross the ear of corn to say, in voice dulcet,

"And now, you were asking . . ."

U. of D. Draws Many Paulites

Anyone making a tour of the campus of University of Detroit on McNichols might wonder if St. Paul High School graduates were trying to outnumber the other schools.

In the field of Arts and Sciences you could find Dot Ardito, Class of '50, Larry Hollerbach, Denny Furton, Ann Martz, Mary Lou Fisher and Terry Lynch, all of the Class of '51.
Some other members of this class pursuing the engineering field are Harvey Divens and Raoul Fett.
With business in mind, we find Tom Palmer, Celestine Blondell, Marie Couvreux, Leo Kennedy and Dick Cameron in Commerce and Finance.

These Freshman students are by no means the only ones from St. Paul, for if you look hard enough after Orientation Activities are over, you certainly could see many other Paulites there enjoying college life with many other Pointers.

National Kids' Day

The annual observance of National Kids' Day will take place in the Pointe area Saturday, September 22, under the sponsorship of the Grosse Pointe and Riverside Kiwanis Clubs in cooperation with the Kiwanis Metropolitan Council and thousands of Kiwanis clubs throughout the country. Despite the fact that ever since the GEORGE CHRIST-ENSENS have presented their sub deb KAREN with a fabu- lous hunter, all her own, that Mrs. C. has held her breath while her child takes the jumps . . . we saw her looking ever so calm and chic at the St. John's Hospital Benefit Night at the Trotting Races . . . in a banker's gray wool suit, cut divinely . . . and worn with accents of mustard gold wool.

Mustard gold velvet colors one of the velvet toques glimpsed on the pretty head of MRS. ### PILFERINGS

We knew we were in for worry when we sat down to Mrs. Stone's English Society, Vol. I.

We had hardly started the book (in the middle, as is our wont) when we came upon the account of the Hatfield Gala.

"The Earl of Salisbury, on Friday evening, gave a most elegant ball and supper, in his noble and venerable mansion (now everyone in Grosse Pointe will want us to say that about HIS home!) of Hatfield Palace, at which, above 400 of the nobility and gentry of both sexes were present . . ."

Next item:

"About one in the morning, the company sat down to supper—320 covers were laid . . ."

Now we are consumed . . . why wouldn't the Earl of Salisbury feed the 80 other guests? . . .

They missed, "all sorts of hot soups were first served up, and removed with game in the greatest plenty. Turkeys, tongues and various kinds of hams. There were two remarkable Savoy cakes in the form of turbans, besides different sorts of pastry and jellies."

A hundred gentlemen guests' names were listed and a scant dozen or so of the ladies mentioned. But there was an explanation, "The reason that so very few of the ladies are mentioned, is owing to the Gentlemen only giving in THEIR names, on their entrance, without mention of the Ladies in their company."

However, sez Mrs. Stone, one of the first society editors, "There were in all, about 250 ladies, most of whom were the county beauties of Herts, Hants, Essex and Middlesex."

Accidents at the fete were duly reported:

"Mr. Cuttin's carriage broke down—Miss Lee lost a diamond pin."

"The Tripolin ambassador and his attendants were there a full hour before any of the other guests made their appearance" . . . probably wishing they'd stood in bed . . .

"The lamps were badly managed—the oil was offensive in smell after they were trimmed, which was so long in accomplishing in the cardroom, that everyone felt for the worthy host and his partner" . . . We'll Bet!

Pointers of Interest

MR. and MRS. RICHARD S. SPENCER, JR., of MAUMEE AVENUE

Today's Pointer of Interest column is a family affair, for we sat down to an unmercifully early breakfast, one day this week, with Grosse Pointe News' newest columnists, Nelle and Dick Spencer, our drama and music critics.

It was easy to foretell they are headed for unusual success because they are the first critics we have ever known who would speak before noon.

Seriously, the honest interest the Spencers have in their subject should prove refreshing to followers of the footlight and baton. There isn't a jaded hair in their attractive heads and at the outset they stated, decisively, that after all, a review of a play or a concert is merely one man's opinion.

In this case it is the opinion of one girl and one man which should make it all the more fun. Debut As Critics

The new column is called, "All Eyes and Ears" and in its debut last week took up the matter of the local showing of Member of the Wedding, a play which they had seen in New York when their friend, and former Pointer, Julie Harris, was a distinguished member of the cast.

The Spencers felt when they had seen Julie as "Frankie" that was it. This might have spoiled the Detroit production except Ethel Waters just happens to be Dick's ideal on the American stage.

"I love her acting and I love her singing" said he in un-critical abundance of praise.

A strong point in their favor, neither of the Spencers is a frustrated actor. They just like appreciation when the pulse quickens for both Brahms Symphonies and Mr. Saroyan's "Commona My House."

It's this gamut of interest which we know will win the Spencers a large reader audience.

They particularly like the idea that they're breaking into the critic field just as Detroit meets its new Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Although their appetites are healthy and young, they absolutely forgot muffins covered with strawberry jam to exclaim over the engagement of Mischa Mischa-koff as concert master of the Symphony.

This Summer found Dick dashing out to State Fair Grounds to watch conductor of the San Francisco Orchestra Pierre Monteux, rehearse the Detroit Orchestra. He adored every minute of it.

Our young critics do not wish to be concert artists themselves, either. In fact only Nelle has ever mastered a musical instrument. It was a guitar which she bought, on the installment plan, from Dick when they were "just friends." She proved to be such an honest woman meeting payments on time, that he, married her then and there.

As persons, Nelle and Dick are stimulating and engaging. They represent, we are sure, another of the many couples who have found fame on a mutual beat.

Now . . . in addition to Katharine Cornell and Guthrie McClintock . . . Mr. and Mrs. North . . . Lynn Fontanne and Alfred Lunt . . . Della Street and Perry Mason, slips but they SHOULD be married . . . we give you Nelle and Dick Spencer and their different kind of criticisms of Detroit's music and theatrical world in which they become "All Eyes and Ears."
