Truck Rams Into Tree on Lake Shore

Driver Says He Was Forced Off Road by Passing Car; He and Passenger Hurt

Two persons were injured on Tuesday, November 13, when the truck in which they were riding crashed into a tree on Lake Shore road near the Macomb County line.

Robert Brown, 21, of 133100 Filbert, Detroit, driver of the truck, said he was attempting to avoid hitting another car which crowded him, when he lost control and struck the tree. He could not identify the other car.

Riding as a passenger in the truck was Frances Frazho, 18, of 13144 August, Detroit. Shores police took both of the injured to Cottage Hospital.

Brown suffered a fractured right tibia and lacerations. He was discharged from the hospital November 17. Frazho suffered abrasions and a cerebral concussion. He was discharged on November 18.

PEEPING TOM FLEES

Mrs. Thomas Munson of 817 Washington road reported to City police on Tuesday, November 13, that a young man about 20 years old was peeping in the front windows of her home. When her daughter opened the upstairs window to see who it was, he fled. Police were unable to locate him in the neighborhood.

"This excellent return in so short a time," Father Edward J. Sweeney, A. A. assistant Honorary Chairman of the drive, said, "is due in no small measure to the outstanding performances of the men volunteers of all our committees. Likewise, it is wonderful to see the support that the parishioners have so far given and the spirit of charity and fraternal understanding on the part of those who are not of our faith, but who are so generously supporting the drive."

Pointe Community Council Invites All Organizations To Meeting on November 29

Renewed Interest In Activities Which Council Could Sponsor Is Cited By Its President, Grant E. Armstrong

Proposals for future projects that could make a substantial contribution to Grosse Pointe family living and civic improvement will be discussed at a meeting of the Grosse Pointe Community Council at 8 p.m. Thursday, November 29, at the Neighborhood Club.

A short refreshment and get-together period will precede the business meeting.

All delegates from the Council's 50 member organizations are urged to attend and to make suggestions for specific activities which their organization would like to see the Council sponsor.

New organizations, not previously represented on the Council, are asked to send delegates, and all Pointe residents interested in the Council program of community betterment are invited. Young people and delegates from youth organizations especially are asked to participate, because some of the previous youth delegates have joined the armed forces or are in college.

"Renewed interest in the Council among mothers, clubwomen and new residents in the rapidly growing Pointe has been called to the attention of the Council's executive board," said Grant E. Armstrong, president. "Some delegates already have received suggestions from their own organizations of concrete projects they want to bring before the Council. For this reason we believe this will be a significant meeting."

"We feel there is a definite need in Grosse Pointe for an organization that will improve family life and help plan and carry out projects for our young people. The Grosse Pointe Community Council can do this by integrating all Pointe organizations. The newer sections of Grosse Pointe should be aided in joining in community spirit with the entire district. The Council can become the means through which all groups and individuals can present plans for the improvement of community conditions, and obtain help in carrying them out."

The Council is an outgrowth of the highly successful Family Life Institute which, in April, 1949, attracted more than 1,000 Pointers to its discussions of the problems of family living and child development. Prominent speakers from the University of Michigan, including Dr. Howard Y. McCluskey, consultant in community education, representatives of other communities, educators and experts in many fields of family and community life participated.

One of the proposals at the coming meeting may be the sponsorship of another Family Life Institute. A plan to work with the Office of Civil Defense to prepare Grosse Pointe for possible enemy air attacks may be considered.

Discussion of a new edition of the popular "Directory of Grosse Pointe Organizations" is expected. The first edition was issued by the Council in May, 1950; the second in March, 1951. The directory lists presidents and secretaries of virtually every Grosse Pointe organization, with their addresses and telephone numbers and has been used widely for reference.

"Many people have told us of the great service this Directory performed by helping various Pointe organizations arrange their schedules," said Armstrong. "We also want to discuss resuming the publication of the weekly calendar of events. The Council compiled this and the local press carried it from February to June, 1950."

On Monday evening, November 26, the third general report meeting will be held at 8 p. m. in the school hall. Frank Alper is general chairman.

Park Struck By Epidemic Of Robberies

Five Homes Broken Into; Burglars Chiefly Interested In Finding Money

A series of robberies hit Grosse Pointe Park last week with the soft shoe thieves turning their talents mostly to collecting currency.

The first case to come to the attention of the Park officers on November 13 was the entry into the Charles Salloun residence at 1178 Audubon. The light fingered fellow broke a breakfast nook window to get in out of the cold and ransack the house taking $25 in cash.

Gun Among Loot

The D. K. Badertscher home at 833 Grand Marais was ransacked sometime between 6 p. m. on November 14 and 8:20 a. m. on the following day. A gun, an overnight bag and several small miscellaneous articles were taken.

The burglar who attempted to rob the S. Fekete home at 1005 Bishop on November 13 was thwarted after he had broken a basement window to gain entry, only to find a strongly locked first floor door.

Sleep Through Visit

One very bold thief walked right through the unlocked front door of the Russell J. Van Houten home at 1014 Yorkshire sometime between midnight and 8 a. m., while the Van Houtens slept, on November 19. The burglar searched a number of purses and removed an undetermined amount of cash and left without being detected.

More Sleeping Victims

Also on the same night, the robbery at the home of Charles Stinchfield at 1021 Harvard, followed the same pattern, with the thief breaking a small section of the first floor lavatory window to gain access to the house while the owners slumbered upstairs.

Police believe it was the same culprit who rifled the Van Houten home because he took nothing but cash and disregarded valuable jewelry that was right alongside the billfold which contained the money on the bedroom dresser. Forty dollars were missing.

FALLS OFF ROOF

Alfred Thompson, 30, of 3533 Concord, Detroit, fell off the roof of the home at 28 Harbor Hill at 1:47 p. m. on November 15. He was rushed to Cottage Hospital by Farms police officers Pelkey and Martin and attended by Dr. Graf. He was released following treatment.

City Set to Install 100 Parking Meters In Business Area

Hope to Have Job Completed Before Christmas Shopping Rush Hits Full Stride; Will Extend Beyond Store District

Parking meters will be installed along Kercheval avenue in the Village shopping district within the next several weeks, it was disclosed Monday. Norbert Neff, City Clerk, said it is hoped to have all the meters in place before the Christmas shopping rush gets into full swing.

The total number of meters to be installed is about 100. They will be on both sides of Kercheval from Cadieux road to a point about 150 feet east of Neff road.

Protecting Residents

The purpose in installing meters beyond the actual business district is to protect those residents who live so close to the shopping area from having their curbs jammed with thoughtless all day parkers.

The meters will be placed about 22 feet apart. They are of the same make as those installed in the Farms and Park. They are regulated to take anything from a penny, which allows 12 minutes of parking, to a nickel for a full hour.

Work With Businesses

The City is also continuing its attempt to regulate the parking of the owners and employees of business establishments in the area. There are 265 owners and employees in the section, 150 of whom drive their cars to work. Considerable educational work has been done with this group about using valuable parking space in front of their places of business, which might be used by relays of shoppers.

Preparing Big Lot

The City has purchased a large lot behind the buildings at the southeast corner of St. Clair and Kercheval, which will eventually be largely set apart for the day-long use of these business people. It is not known whether it will be possible to pave this area this fall, but it has already been cinched.

When this lot is completed the City business establishments will enter into an agreed-upon plan to share the maintenance of the off-street lot.

Escapes Injury As Car Upsets

Miss Catherine Strisar of 1824 Hollywood, a teacher at the St. Joan of Arc School, had a narrow escape when the car she was driving rolled over on Lake Shore road near Oxford road Sunday morning, November 18.

Grosse Pointe Shores police said the road was very icy at the time. Miss Strisar's car went into a spin, crashed into the island in the center of the road and rolled over.

She was taken to Cottage Hospital in the Shores police ambulance. An examination showed she suffered no injuries and she was released from the hospital following treatment for shock.

LOSES CONTROL

Five instrument panel control knobs were stolen from a car owned by James E. Morrison of 667 Washington road while it was parked in the Memorial Center parking lot between 8:15 and 11 p. m. on November 15. The Farms police were notified of the theft by Kathleen Morrison.

Doors of Old Kerby School Close as Teaching Center

The last pupil has crossed the threshold of Old Kerby School to attend classes in the ancient building that has been the alma mater of thousands of Pointers. News of its closing must bring a wave of nostalgia to many residents.

The final sessions were held at the school on Friday, November 16. The new addition to New Kerby School, located a few blocks down the street, is sufficiently completed to enable the shift of the remaining pupils from the old building to the new.

Among those who will miss the activity at Old Kerby most are the members of the Grosse Pointe Farms fire and police depart-

Leaving Pointe

The REV. CHARLES W. SCHEID will preach his last sermon as pastor of the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, Chalfonte at Lothrop, on Sunday, November 25, completing a pastorate of more than 11 years.

Rev. Scheid has accepted a call to become pastor of the South Congregational Church in Grand Rapids, Michigan, on December 1. Notice of his departure was regrettably received by the congregation early this fall. No successor has been named.

On Monday, November 26, final tribute will be given to the Rev. Scheid and his family, by members of the congregation, in the form of an organ recital of his favorite selections at 6 p. m. in the sanctuary, followed by a "Bon Voyage" dinner in the church social hall at 6:30.

Was First Pastor

As first pastor of the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, the Rev. Scheid came here with his family in September, 1940. The first sermon was given to a gathering of twenty-six people at the Mairie School on September 8. During World War II, Sunday services were changed to Richard School.

Under his guidance and leadership membership of the local church has grown to a total of 550 members. Church attendance has increased to the point that it was necessary to inaugurate a second morning service each Sunday, a year ago last September.

Built New Church

During his pastorate, plans were formulated and carried out for the beautiful new quarter-million dollar church home at Chalfonte and Lothrop. Dedication of the new sanctuary was on January 15, 1950, when 1,418 persons participated. Members of the congregation feel that the new church is a lasting tribute to his leadership.

Smart Work By Policemen Snares Pair

Robberies of Many Pointe Residents Solved by Arrests; Great Quantity Of Loot Recovered

The robberies at the Moran road homes of Heartyly W. Anderson and George H. Barton, reported in last week's issue of the NEWS, have been solved, along with a number of other recent Pointe burglaries. The jobs have been effectively pinned on two 18-year-old Negro youths.

Farms Police Sgt. Jack Paisley and Patrolman Tom Kilets are being congratulated for a fine piece of police work which broke the case. Events leading up to the solution started at 3 a. m. on Wednesday, November 14.

Spot Parked Car

Paisley and Kilets were cruising on Lothrop road when they spotted a 1951 Ford tudor parked in front of 131. They investigated and found that the keys were in the ignition. The temperature gauge showed the engine was still warm.

They took the car keys, then drove their scout car around the block, and with lights out took up a position where they could watch the Ford without being detected. Within five minutes they saw a man come out from between houses and get in the car. The officers approached and questioned him. He said he had had business with the residents of the house, but didn't know their name.

Family Aroused

The police went to the house and found that the Floyd Beitzel family had been awakened by the noise outside, but knew nothing of the colored youth and had not ever seen him before.

At the police station the boy gave the name of Charles G. Golsen of 1985 Dearing, Detroit. The police say this is an alias he used and his right name is Charles D. Caver.

Carries Stolen Articles

He was carrying a watch with initials H.W.A. and a cigaret lighter with the initials G. H. B., which immediately linked him with the robberies of the week before at the Anderson and Barton homes. He denied knowing about either of these burglaries, but he was tripped up when Detective Sergeant Elmer Labadie found he was carrying an altered driver's license.

He had erased the original name and address and typed in his own, and erased the "fe" from female. But he made the bad mistake of overlooking the fact that the license had originally been issued to a white person. A quick check with Lansing revealed that the license had been issued to Mrs. Grace Pollard Kiernan, of 917 Lake Shore road.

Never Reported Loss

Mrs. Kiernan told Sergeant Labadie that she had never reported the loss of the license. She said she thought her purse had been picked while she was shopping in Detroit on November 7.

Caver then confessed that he had entered the residence at 917 Lake Shore between 1 and 2 p. m. on November 7, while a companion sat outside in a car watching. Mrs. Kiernan was working in the yard at the time, and a maid was in the basement.

Also Took Radio

Caver went to the second floor, found the purse and extracted the wallet containing the license and $45 in cash. He also took a portable radio. He said he threw the wallet away after he had taken out the money and license. He still denied having anything to do with the Anderson and Barton robberies and said he bought the watch and lighter at a pawn shop.

Caver was put in a cell in the Farms police station. Later that morning Sergeant Labadie and Detective Eugene Boylan enlisted the aid of some men from the Detroit Police Holdup Squad and an officer from the 11th Precinct and visited Caver's home with a search warrant.

Mother Is Reticent

They weren't making much progress with Caver's mother, who denied knowing anything about any burglaries or stolen goods, until Sergeant Labadie happened to lift the corner of some bed covers and spotted a Hudson's Bay blanket. Two of these had been stolen from the Anderson home. Then things started to develop. Labadie noticed that the bed pillows were unusually large ones, filled with down. Carver's mother couldn't tell where they came from. They too, had been stolen from Andersons.

Find More Loot
 In a closet the police found an electric blanket, some new sheets, five men's white shirts, a portable TV set, a large table radio, the chest with a complete set of sterling silver flatware which Mr. Anderson had given Mrs. Anderson last Christmas, a movie projector, movie camera, electric iron, electric clock, a riding crop and sundry other items. Also recovered were cuff links, a portable typewriter, a plastic case full of screw drivers, a cushion, several suits of clothing and a gabardine top coat.

New Clue Located
 On top of a medicine cabinet was a man's wrist watch with the initials D. A. W. That reminded Sergeant Labadie that there had been a robbery at the Donald A. Williams home at 34 Old Brook lane several weeks ago. A watch and several dollars in change had been stolen.

While all this searching was going on, Detective Boylan had learned some more valuable information talking with a youngster outside the house. He had been informed that when Caver brought the loot home he had been accompanied by "his cousin Eli." From Caver's mother they learned that Eli was Eli Liggett of 3289 East Congress.

Call for More Help
 Fearing that if they left Caver's mother alone she would telephone the Liggett home and send out an alarm before they could get there, the police then enlisted the aid of another Detroit holdup squad team and sent it to search the Liggett home.

This team found another electric blanket and another Hudson's Bay blanket, another camera (taken from the Barton residence), a man's kit bag, containing a sport coat, suits, ties, socks, shirts and a bathrobe.

Arrest Liggett
 Young Liggett was arrested that afternoon at the Miller school, where both he and Caver are students. He was held by the Detroit police overnight and turned over to the Farms police on Thursday.

When Sergeant Labadie and Detective Boylan confronted Caver with all the loot they had found in the two houses, Caver broke down and started to talk.
Tells of Car Theft
 He said the car he was driving was stolen from the McCarthy Steamship Lines auto shipment parking lot on East Jefferson about two weeks ago. Brand new then, awaiting shipment by boat, he had driven it 1,600 miles since, and so hard that it is now a wreck, according to the police. He had cut a hole in the fence surrounding the lot, and moved two Chryslers out of the way before he drove out the Ford. He also admitted stealing a brand new Kaiser-Fraser from the factory new car parking lot at the Willow Run plant about two months ago. He and Eli were caught in this car and taken to court in Ann Arbor. Eli was released when he convinced the authorities he had nothing to do with the actual theft. Caver was released after being bound over to circuit court under $500 bail. This case is still pending.

Chance Phone Call
 The pair stole another yellow Kaiser-Fraser about three weeks ago. Eli has been driving this one, and had it with him at school on November 14. He happened to telephone home and his mother told him the police had just been there.

Eli quickly contacted a friend, David Snow, and told him if something happened before school let out, for him to take the car and plant it somewhere until he could contact him later. Detroit police picked up Snow in the stolen car on November 15.

Entered Webber Home
 The youths also have confessed to stealing three other cars in recent months. Caver likewise has confessed to entering the Richard Webber home at 437 Lake Shore road last October 27. He took $13.75 from a jewel case in the bedroom of a maid, Julia Patrick, and a lady's gold wrist watch. He also got $45 from the purse of another maid, Annie McMorran. He missed $100 which was in the next room.

On the night he was arrested Caver had entered the home of Wayne E. Long at 155 Lothrop road. He was scared by a noise and made a hasty exit, grabbing as he went, an automatic shotgun he had seen standing behind a chair. As he left the house he saw Paisley and Killets at his car and he hid until he saw them go.

Drops Stolen Gun
 When they returned, he dropped the gun on the grass along the curb. The police did not discover it until they returned to the scene later. Caver denied knowing anything about it, and Labadie canvassed the entire neighborhood to find if anyone had lost a gun.

At the Long home he was informed there had been no theft there, and when Labadie noticed that a gun was missing from the racks in a gun case, he was told that one had been loaned to a friend of the family for the hunting season.

Recall One More
 Then it was suddenly remembered that there had been another gun behind the chair. When it was found that one had disappeared, the mystery was solved. Caver then made a full confession of having broken into the house. Giving a detailed account of the Anderson and Barton robberies, Caver said he had pulled the first job alone, on the night of November 9. He had entered the Barton home through an unlocked door while the Bartons were out from 6:30 to 8:10 p.m. There he stole a movie camera, a $5 bill and some small change, a woman's wrist watch and some pencils he found in a vest pocket.

Sees Big Chance
 He drove on down Moran road to the Anderson house at 180. He cut the screen away from a kitchen window, and found it unlocked. Once inside, he saw that there was plenty of loot available and decided it could best be handled by two.

So he left the door unlocked, then drove to Liggett's home and picked Eli up. They went back to the Andersons' and completely ransacked the house.

Mr. Anderson is the famed line coach of the Chicago Bears, professional football team. He is familiarly known as "Hunk." He and Mrs. Anderson were in Chicago that weekend, where he had the double misfortune of seeing his team beaten by the Detroit Lions.

When Caver was arrested he was wearing one of Mr. Anderson's white shirts and a suit with William Anderson's name sewed to the inside pocket. Bill Anderson, a son, is a former athletic star at Grosse Pointe High School and now a student at Duke University in Durham, S. C. He is also a member of the Marine Reserve Corps.

Much Still Missing
 Sergeant Labadie says there are still many items missing. Other Pointe police have been questioning the pair and Park Chief Arthur Louwers has obtained a confession from Caver that he attempted a robbery at 805 Three Mile Drive, but was scared away when he was discovered by a woman. He had his car around the corner and made his getaway before the police could answer the call.

St. Colomba's Bazaar Nov. 29

The St. Colomba Episcopal Parish Bazaar will be held on Thursday, November 29, in the parish house at 1021 Manistique. Women of the church guilds have been busy for many months preparing for the event.

Mrs. Elmer A. Freiwald, general chairman, promises all kinds of surprises and a larger variety of articles on sale than ever before. An auction of all unsold items will close the fair.

Council

 cil takes time to develop, and the Grosse Pointe Council is no exception. Through the Directory and Calendar are its major contributions to date, we hope the organization will continue these and, at the same time, push on to other vital matters.

A feature of the Thursday meeting will be a report by four Grosse Pointe women who participated in a "Working Conference for Community Councils" at the University of Michigan. The reports will be made by Mrs. H. Ray Will, recording secretary of the Council; Mrs. William M. Adams, Mrs. Edward Kay, and Mrs. Robert King.

"This stimulating, all-day conference showed us the importance of developing leaders in community activities," said Mrs. Will. "We reported our own progress and heard of many things other communities are doing. There are more than 50 community councils in Michigan."

"Birmingham, for instance, has had a community council for 12 years. It plays an increasingly important role of leadership and has a good record of achievement. It has sponsored a successful recreational program for young people."

"Dr. McClusky told us that a council's value should be judged by the character of its achievements and the extent to which it leads the community to assume responsibility for the solution of its own problems."

Officers of the Council, in addition to Armstrong and Mrs. Will are: Mrs. C. Q. Swenson, vice-president; W. R. Maas, corresponding secretary; J. H. Downie, treasurer.

Others on the executive board are: Thomas Blackwood, Forrest Geary, Nathan Goodnow, Remington Purdy, Dr. Walter Tuttle, Murray Smith and Mrs. Daniel L. Wells.

and an accomplishment of which he can be justly proud.

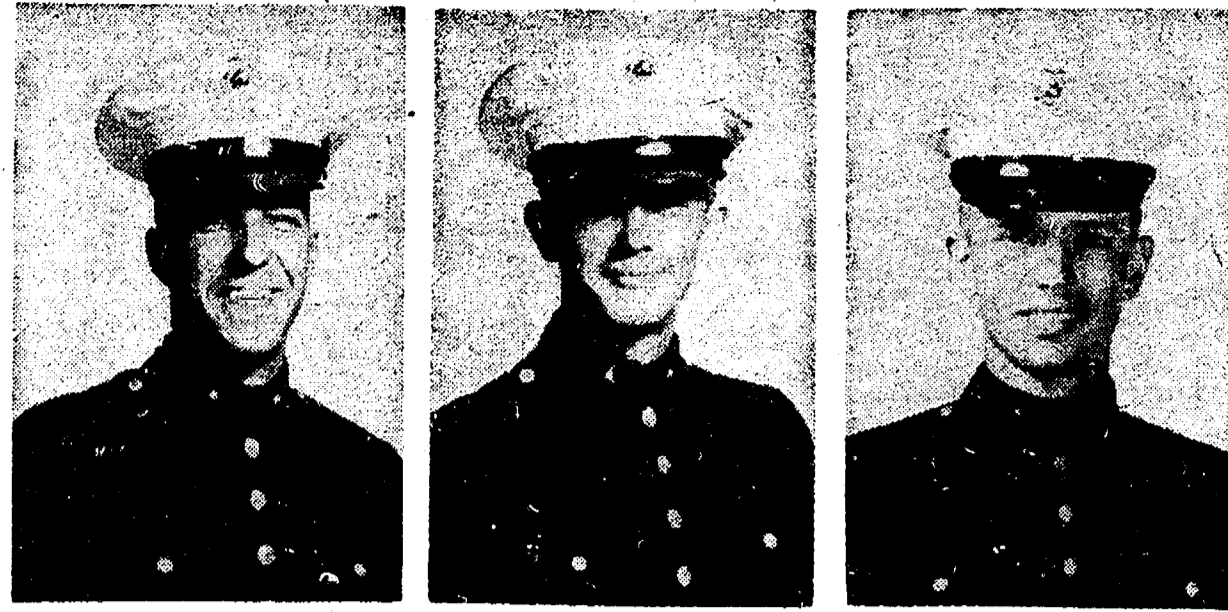

Many Activities

His prominence and esteem in civic, social and religious circles is reflected in the following activities:

He was President of the Board of Religious Education for the Detroit Council of Churches; chairman of its Leadership Training Committee; chairman of the Finance Committee and member of its Board of Trustees.

Trio Receives Marine Promotions

LEONARD M. CONSTANTINE JOHN W. BUTTERFIELD THOMAS J. DIETZ

These three Pointers were all raised to the rank of private first class upon completion of their boot training at Parris Island, S. C., on November 5. All also qualified for the marksman medal on the rifle range. During the past eight weeks of recruit training, as a result of field experience and classroom lectures, the new Marines have become well versed in such military subjects as precision drill, first aid, hygiene, and field antics. In addition to firing the famed Garand rifle for qualification, they fired other infantry weapons such as the .45 caliber pistol, carbine, and Browning Automatic Rifle. They also witnessed demonstration firing of the Machine Gun, mortar and flame thrower. Immediately following their "Boot Camp" graduation they were given a ten-day leave, after which they will be transferred from Parris Island to a Marine Corps unit serving on land, sea or in the air.

Tar Kettle Gives Crowd Rosy Show

A tar kettle trailer which caught fire in the lot next to the NEWS office at noon Friday, November 16, provided considerable excitement and a spectacular blaze which was witnessed by a large gathering of shoppers.

The kettle, owned by the J. H. Strobel Company of Seminole avenue in Detroit, was being used to repair the roof of the Pongraz jewelry store. The kerosene tank which provides the fuel to heat the tar, ignited, and almost immediately billows of flame were shooting high in the air.

The Farms fire department arrived and subdued the stubborn flames with chemicals. The only real damage incurred was the loss of the tires on the trailer. They were burned off.

The Farms firemen recalled that not so long ago the city's own tar kettle had caught fire and burned in much the same fashion. As the entire piece of equipment except for the tires is made of metal, little damage can be done by fire.

Robert Vereeaker, of 3407 Gray, Detroit, driving north on Fisher, failed to stop for the sign at Ridge, according to the Farms police. Vereeaker was driving west on Ridge.

Phi Beta Kappa Members Plan Big Birthday Dinner

The Detroit Association of Phi Beta Kappa will hold an important birthday dinner on December 7 at 6:30 p.m. in the Whittier Hotel. This will be a "1776 Commemorative Dinner" celebrating the 175th anniversary of the founding of Phi Beta Kappa at William and Mary College at Williamsburg, Virginia.

The main speaker for the dinner will be Dr. Harlan Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan. This will be one of his first public appearances after his inauguration on November 27. He will be introduced by Dr. David Henry, president of Wayne University, and will speak on "Creative Scholarship."

All 900 members in the Detroit area have been invited to attend, as well as members of all the honor societies in Detroit. If a member of any honor society in metropolitan Detroit should not receive an invitation, he may make a reservation by calling Dr. Alexander Brede at Wayne University.

People from Grosse Pointe planning to attend the dinner are Mr. and Mrs. Stuart G. Baits, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn M. Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Glen M. Coulter, Mr. Richard L. Maxon, and Dr. Edward D. Spalding.

Phi Beta Kappa was founded at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia, on Dec. 5, 1776. A handful of youthful William and Mary College students, eager to discuss the exciting events of the day, met in the Apollo Room of the Raleigh Tavern and decided to band together into a permanent organization.

This was the birth of the first college fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa. In 1781 the College of William and Mary was closed, its buildings being occupied for military purposes in turn by the British, French and American troops. The society would have ceased to exist had it not been for a grant made by Elisha Parmele, one of its members, in 1779 to establish "meetings" or chapters at Yale and Harvard.

This was done at Yale in 1780 and at Harvard in 1781. In 1826, the society became purely honorary, admitting to its membership a certain proportion of scholars of highest standing, usually in the classical courses and members of the graduating class.

In 1875 two women were admitted to the Vermont chapter of the society, and since that time women have been elected to Phi Beta Kappa on the same basis as men.

When John D. Rockefeller, Jr., a member of Phi Beta Kappa, began the restoration of Williamsburg, Charles Beecher Warren, of Lake Shore road, Grosse Pointe, Ambassador to Japan and Mexico in the twenties, gave a complimentary dinner for about 100 Detroit members of Phi Beta Kappa. Mr. Rockefeller offered to come to the dinner to help raise money for the Phi Beta Kappa Hall in Williamsburg, but Mr. Warren felt that they could do well by themselves.

Two of the guests attending the dinner were Charles H. Haberkorn, Jr., and Oscar Webber. At that dinner subscriptions were given to raise money for the Phi Beta Kappa Hall at Williamsburg and Mary. As a result, the old dining room of the Raleigh Tavern was transferred as an atmosphere room to the Phi Beta Kappa Hall on the 150th anniversary.

The organization of Phi Beta Kappa in Detroit was confined mainly in the twenties to those about whom Mr. Warren knew. Then this loose association became defunct.

In 1936, Glen C. Wilbur, Jr., inaugurated the present association. When Mr. Shimer, secretary of the United Chapters, came to Detroit for an address, Albertus Darnell, H. H. Rice, Frank Kemmer, and Miss Katherine Chamberlain and he discussed the plans for a more constitutional organization.

On May 18, 1937, the Detroit Chapter was organized and all Phi Beta Kappans who could be located were invited to a meeting. Allan Campbell was elected president, and Edgar P. Richardson was elected vice-president.

Subsequently, in 1938 a constitutional chartered organization came into being with these men serving as presidents in the following years: Allan Campbell, Roy D. McClure, Fred L. Black, E. P. Richardson, Charles A. Parcells, David D. Henry, and the present president, Tony Barone. Alexander Brede, Professor of English, Wayne University, has served as Secretary-Treasurer for all but one year of its existence.

The society's motto of "Love of Wisdom—the Helmsman of life" has been reflected in its speakers who have been chosen for their dignity and scholarly character. The Detroit group has listened to T. R. Knott, Editor of the second edition of Webster's New International Dictionary, Dr. Paul Harrison, missionary doctor in Arabia, Rollo Walter Brown, free lance writer and biographer of Americans, and Charles F. Kettering.

Allen Crow was responsible for the first regional honor societies' dinner in 1941 at which time Mr. Frank D. Eaman presided.

Now the Detroit Association of Phi Beta Kappa with a potential 900 membership is looking forward to contributing group leadership to a city whose culture dates back 250 years.

Accident Caused By Icy Streets

Sixteen year old William Miller of 685 Lincoln road at least has a good idea of one driving rule in the book. That is, don't make a left turn into moving traffic.

Last Sunday, November 18, Miller, driving his mother's 1951 Chevrolet east on Jefferson with a temporary driving permit, elected to make a left turn off Jefferson onto Grand Marais and right into the path of William N. Day of 337 Rivard.

The hard packed snow caused Day's 1949 Buick, going west on Jefferson, to crunch into the right side of the Miller car.

Young Miller suffered a scalp laceration and probably his mother's anger.

The Park police made no estimate of the damage to either automobile.

When Mr. and Mrs. Philip Newell Skillman return from their Eastern wedding trip, they'll go to the campus of Michigan State College at Lansing to resume their studies.

They were married last Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in St. Hugo of the Hills Church, Bloomfield Hills, with the Rev. Father John Howard officiating at the nuptial mass.

Mrs. Skillman was Jane Taylor Hood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Hood of the Hills, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Skillman of Fisher road.

For her wedding, the lovely bride wore a gown of lustrous white satin combined with Chantilly lace. It was fashioned over length, its snug bodice distinguished by a Vionnet neckline with lace sleeves worn fitted to the wrists.

From her tiny lace cap fell the elbow length veil of French silk illusion and Jane carried white orchids surrounded by white roses.

Katherine Hood was her sister's maid of honor.

She was gowned in forest green taffeta, its off the shoulder neckline achieved by a deep shawl collar. A matching halo chapeau had slight veil and her flowers were pink camellias.

Bridesmaids were Janice Skillman, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Robert Foss who wore frocks like that of the honor attendant only theirs were toned in dusty pink with matching hats. They also carried pink camellias.

Philip J. Skillman was his son's best man and guests were seated by Roland Rinke, Roger Hood, and Robert Tobin.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hood chose a costume of dark green taffeta with toque to

Ann Watson Hostess At Party for Visitor

Sub Deb Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Watson of Meadow Lane Entertains at Pre-Holiday Supper Party For Shirley Smith of Harbor Springs, Mich.

A friendship that grew in Harbor Springs this past Summer inspired one of the gayest of the Pointe's sub deb Thanksgiving parties.

Ann Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Watson of Meadow Lane, spent last Summer at the Michigan resort with her family, and it was there she met Shirley Smith of Harbor Springs.

Then Shirley came down from the North to spend the holiday with her cousin, Laurie Smith and her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Lawson Smith of Sunningdale drive. So sub deb Ann took the opportunity to fete the visitor at a buffet supper party Wednesday evening.

Later the entire party of young folks went on to the Tuxis Thanksgiving dance in the church house at Grosse Pointe Memorial.

In the center of the buffet stood figures of Priscilla and John Alden that have been part of the Thanksgiving table in Mrs. Watson's family for many, many years.

Of papier mache, the figures are done in costumes of black and gray. Priscilla's yellow cape lending a note of gay color.

Silver candles flanked the figures which stood in a large circle and miniature turkeys reminded guests of the holiday ahead.

In the living room, where the young folks carried their supper, Priscilla and John appeared again. This time they were in the form of carved candles done in black and gray.

Most of the girls Ann asked to meet her guest of honor were students at Grosse Pointe High School and many of their escorts are home from college for the holiday week-end.

Those greeting Shirley included: Laurie Smith, Carol Lungren, Janet Hoffman, Gail Sisson,

Cordon Bleu Cooking School Attracts Pointe

Mrs. Dione Lucas, Owner of Famous Cooking School, Arrives in February to Teach Morning, Evening Courses Under Auspices of Eastern Women's College Group

The most popular Christmas present in the Pointe this year (this on the advice of c-o-u-n-t-l-e-s-s people you know) will be tickets to the series of lectures being given by Dione Lucas, owner of the Cordon Bleu Cooking School in New York and author of the Cordon Bleu Cook Book.

Mrs. Lucas will appear in lecture demonstrations at Veterans Memorial Building (downtown) beginning Tuesday, Feb. 12, and will speak and teach five consecutive Tuesdays. Each Tuesday Mrs. Lucas will appear at a morning course (from 10 a.m. till noon) and in an evening course, from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. which means that many of the Pointe's gentlemen chefs will take advantage of this expert advice on how to prepare heaven-high omelets and everything else delectable. Each lesson will find the Cordon Bleu lady preparing an entire meal from first to last course and a drawing will give each masterpiece to some lucky person in the audience to take home and consume.

Mrs. Orvil R. Aronson is general chairman for the Detroit Cordon Bleu Cooking School and her executive committee comprises Mrs. Harold B. Tyree, Mrs. James Graves, Mrs. John Hammond, Mrs. Herbert Bartlett, Mrs. Eugene Hawkins, Mrs. Wendell C. Goddard, Mrs. James W. Lee II, Mrs. H. Thanksgiving-----1951

It is most fitting that Thanksgiving Day is a purely American holiday. No other nation in the world has no much for which to be thankful. The arrival of the annual observance of thanking our Creator for the bounties which the year has bestowed upon us is a proper time to take stock of our blessings and compare our lot with that of people in the other countries of the earth.

This custom was originated in 1621 by the Pilgrims who were celebrating their first harvest. A period of unbelievable hardships which began with the crossing of the Mayflower and extended through that first frightful winter in the new land, preceded the observance. Progress towards the sought-after goal was interminably slow and hardships were intense, but progress had been made and thanks were due the Great Power which had given them the strength to endure.

Compare the situation of the Pilgrim fathers with our lot today. While thanking our Maker for the beneficences extended to us, we should include an expression of gratitude for those hardy forebears and their offspring who gave birth to this nation and laid down the concepts which have made it great. And we should thank the succeeding generations who fought for the preservation of these privileges, and pray for strength to resist those who would take them away from us.

Here's One Title You Don't Want

Don't YOU be the one in a million! In cities about half the people killed in traffic are walking.

People still get off buses without looking where they're going, come from between parked cars and cross streets carelessly. They seem to deliberately put themselves in the way of traffic. Over and over we all need to be reminded to walk with care.

"So follow the safe walking rules and DON'T WALK YOURSELF TO DEATH!"

Here are the rules supplied by the State Safety Commission for the state-wide November Pedestrian Safety Program:

- 1. Cross streets in marked crosswalks.
2. Obey WALK signals, traffic lights, or the traffic officer.
3. Look to the left, the right, and for turning vehicles before stepping off the curb.
4. Where there are no sidewalks, walk to the left of the road, facing traffic.
5. At night, on unlighted roadways, wear light colored clothing and carry a light.
6. Don't expect drivers to see you. Be sure they do.

"As a fond mother, when the day is o'er, Leads by the hand her little child to bed, Half willing, half reluctant to be led, And leave his broken playthings on the floor, Still gazing at them through the open door, Nor wholly reassured and comforted By promises of others in their stead, Which, though more splendid may not please him more; So Nature deals with us, and takes away Our playthings one by one, and by the hand Leads us to rest so gently, that we go Scarce knowing if we wish to go or stay, Being too full of sleep to understand How far the unknown transcends that what we know!"

(Henry Wadsworth Longfellow)

Fairs, rummage sales and auctions have always fascinated us... even as the gypsy whose palm we cross with silver and the mysterious character who tells us what is what in our lives by "reading" our tea leaves. To take them in order... our first experience at a rummage sale, happened many years ago, when we attended one with a rather prominent author of the day. Like a fly to the spider, our heroine was drawn to the book stall of the rummage sale and suddenly we heard her exclaim, "I don't believe it!"

The treasure she had found was a book written by herself some years previous. That in itself was no great shakes BUT the inscription in her own hand writing on the fly leaf read: "To my dearest friend Peggy... in the hope that our friendship will last forever and be as deep and loyal as it is today." Our authoress-heroine purchased the book at the sale for 15 cents. WHAT a loyal friendship! And incidentally, the "Peggy" in question was still very much alive!

The next experience we had... and it was our very OWN, was when we attended a church fair at a church not our own. With a companion, we wandered about hoping to pick up a bargain here and there, and found ourselves at the "white elephant" table. There in the middle of said table was a pair of white alabaster urns that were positive looked mighty familiar. Picking one of them up and turning it upside down, we were sure we were right. A small mark of personal identification assured us that they were the very same urns we had given a relative for Christmas a couple of years before. It made us feel SO G-O-O-D !!!

As for auctions, we are the greatest sucker ever born at one of those minutes Barnum talked about. Innumerable times we have fallen for the "surprise" package... the one that looks like a million dollars but is usually bid up to $4.85 tops. We have at various times, opened our prize to find an old antinaccassar worth about seventy five cents... a small sachet worth about fifty cents... or a linen egg cozy worth about nothing.

HOWEVER, we feel much better about our stupid naivete, after having attended an auction recently with a MALE friend. Our hero was hoping to pick up a few yards of carpeting for a flight of about eight narrow steps. On looking at the carpeting before the sale, he realized there was MUCH more of it than he could possibly use, so when bidding time came, he asked if he might buy a portion of it. The auctioneer allowed as how it had to be sold ALL IN ONE PIECE... so our pal made a wild bid, (completely losing his mind), for the entire thing for two hundred dollars!

Before you could say "Bill Silbert," the gavel wielder said "SOLD" and our hero found himself with 250 yards of carpet... of which he could use THREE! On top of this screwy deal... it cost him $10.00 to have it carted away and another ten to have it cut off and laid. The remainder is still reposing in his garage... where it will probably remain gathering moths until he decides to donate it to another auction or rummage sale... where someone will take it off his hands for seventy five cents!

Last but not least, we come to the tea leaf reader. Some years ago, we were with a woman who had her "leaves" read... when the fortune teller told her she could see an accident happening to the woman's husband... an accident having to do with a boat. She then advised our companion to keep her husband away from any possible boat trips. Laughingly, the woman assured her there was no danger there... as her husband hated anything having to do with boats. He wouldn't go near them... or the water... for anything in the world. So be it.

About three weeks later, the husband was walking down a business street on a very windy day, when suddenly an outdoor sign came loose from its moorings and hit him on top of the head, leaving a sizable gash in same. After the hubbub died down and the patient was safely being cared for in the hospital, an investigation was made into the accident. The object that cracked his cranium turned out to be a large brass plaque swinging out over a bookshop. The plaque was an old sailing vessel! Will you have more tea, Madame?

A REPORT FROM Washington shows America is suffering battle casualties in Korea at a rate higher than in World War II. As Korean War approaches the end of its 17th month the U. S. has suffered 100,000 battle casualties. In World War II this mark was reached in the 20th month of fighting.

I want to thank you for the fine publicity to our Holiday Fair of the Congregational church which you gave us in your paper.

Our fair was very much a success and I feel that a great deal of the credit goes to you as I heard many people say that they had read of the fair in the Grosse Pointe News.

Thank you again.

The other day we were discussing current books with Mrs. Helen Boothe of the library staff. Mrs. Boothe had been checking some popularity charts of recent titles and we found her comments on the longevity of best sellers interesting and enlightening. We have asked her to pass her findings along to you.

What makes a best seller? Fortunately, many a book gains its top rating through sheer merit. If so, it will probably hold its rating consistently for many weeks, perhaps even months. Best seller lists are compiled, as you know, from the weekly sales reports of the leading book stores throughout the country.

A book, though inferior in quality, can however, have a wide sale and thus reach the best seller list, (usually temporarily) as a result of many things: sensationalism, a heavy advertising campaign, wide public interest in the author or the subject, and a variety of other reasons. The "prime" object of a book store is, after all, to sell books. A bookseller has to be more concerned, economically, with the sale of a book than with the quality of its writing.

The librarian, freed from the necessity of "selling" her product for dollars and cents, can promote a book solely on its merits. Thus there may be a wide difference in the list of best sellers and library favorites; or, depending upon the books published at a given time, the two lists may bear a close resemblance. This fall, with an unusual wealth of material in both the fiction and non-fiction fields of the book world, the latter is true.

Among the stimulating and thought-provoking books already favorites on both lists are: Wouk's "Caine Mutiny", Monsarrat's "The Cruel Sea", Wellman's "The Iron Mistress", Stone's "The President's Lady", Keith's "White Man Returns", Pearson's "Dizzy", and many others, including several mentioned later in this article.

When a book has both outstanding merit and popular appeal, how long can it retain its place on the best seller list? Kon-Tiki is an interesting answer to that question. Most of you are familiar with Thor Heyerdahl's exciting tale of his adventurous 4,000-mile trip across the Pacific Ocean, with five companions, on a primitive balsa raft. His attempt to prove that Polynesia was originally settled by natives of Peru, makes a breath-taking narrative that appeals to both sexes and nearly all ages.

Kon-Tiki first made the best-seller list on Sept. 24, 1950, immediately following its publication, when it held 2nd place. In just two weeks it had jumped to first place. For an entire year it continued to hold that position, with the exception of nine weeks.

Two books, Look Younger, Live Longer by Gaylord Hauser, and Washington Confidential by Lait and Mortimer, took the top spot away from Kon-Tiki for four weeks each. One week A King's Story by the Duke of Windsor held first place.

But on June 10, 1951, Kon-Tiki was back at the top, and stayed there consistently until Rachel Carson's delightful picture of life in the ocean depths, The Sea Around Us, went slightly ahead of it on Sept. 23, 1951. Since then, the two books have been running, in racing parlance, almost "neck and neck," with Rachel Carson's holding a slight margin.

On the best seller list for Sunday, November 11, Kon-Tiki was edged out of second place by Millis' edition of The Forrestal Diaries. Does this mark the beginning of a steady decline in Kon-Tiki's sales popularity; or will it regain its high position? It will be interesting to watch.

Do you know of another non-fiction book which held the spotlight for so long?

Several musical and theatrical attractions will be about this week and next.

A new Broadway-bound comedy by John Patrick entitled "Lo and Behold" opened for a week's stay at the Cass Monday night. Mr. Patrick is also author of "The Hasty Heart," which saw Broadway in 1945, and "The Curious Savage," which had a short-lived New York run last year. We will review his present play in next week's column.

Coming to the Cass on 26 November for two weeks is Wolcott Gibbs' hit comedy, "Season In the Sun." This is a play adapted from the many stories Mr. Gibbs wrote for the New Yorker magazine about Fire Island, a Long Island summer resort, and it promises to be excellent entertainment.

The Shubert Theater lights up again on November 25 to present Rogers and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma!" which is beginning its ninth nationwide tour. The company on view here for two weeks will be, largely, the one that played in the Berlin Festival recently at the U. S. State Department's request. Ridge Bond and Patricia Johnson head the cast.

Musically, the future is bright, too. Last week there was no Detroit Symphony concert, but Thanksgiving night Paul Paray will take the podium once more, and the guest soloist will be the young American pianist, Eugene Istomin, a protégé of M. Paray. He will play Mozart's Concerto in E flat. Unfortunately, this is M. Paray's last concert as guest conductor. He will be succeeded next week by Jonel Perlea, who will conduct six concerts with the Detroit orchestra.

On November 27 the Toronto Symphony will make its first U. S. appearance at Masonic Auditorium under the baton of Sir Ernest MacMillan, the distinguished Canadian musician who has been its conductor for twenty years.

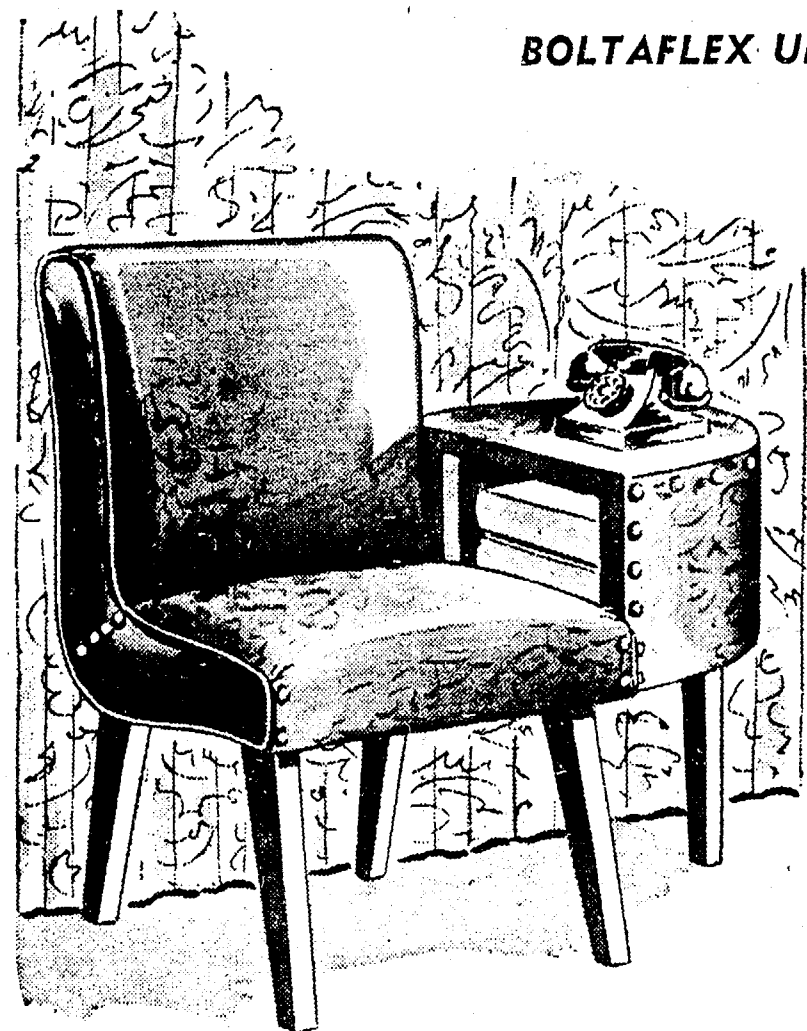

Masonic Auditorium will then work a small miracle and bring in "Holiday on Ice of 1952" December 3 through 9.

Parcels Student Government Officers Installed

—Picture by Carl Joyner

Although some portions of their new building are not yet completed, the young people at Parcels are finding it possible to go ahead with many of their regular student functions. While the auditorium remains unfinished the school is carrying on a number of student assembly programs in the boys' gym. The officers of the Parcels Student Government were recently inaugurated at such an assembly program. The picture shows student government president, CAROL SEIDEL, taking her oath of office, which is being administered by MR. WALTER SEIBEL, faculty adviser.

Other student government officers inaugurated at the same program were: Robert Schofield, vice-president; Judy Campbell, secretary; and Carolyn Stoup, treasurer.

A further highlight of this same assembly program was the short talk given by the principal, Mr. Vincent Peterson. He gave a warm welcome to the students and pointed out the importance of each individual pupil to the total school welfare.

Other assemblies planned for the near future include a student song fest and another at which candidates for student offices will give their campaign speeches.

Library Group Holds Meeting

Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Library held their first community meeting of the year, devoted to business, Tuesday evening, November 13, at the Public Library. An interested group heard reports and participated in a general discussion of the Friends program for the year.

Marion K. Kellogg, president, called upon Miss Melitta Roemer for minutes of the last meeting, then upon Mrs. Fred K. Hauck, substituting for Willis Bugbee, to discuss plans of the Program Committee.

Robert M. Orr, Director of Public Libraries, gave a progress report on the new Woods Branch, and on the new Central Library building.

Charles A. Parcels, Jr., chairman of the Fund Committee, gave a report for his committee, followed by Mrs. George R. True, chairman of the Membership Committee. All of the reports were thoroughly discussed and a great many concrete suggestions were passed on to the group's officers to help them in their plans for the year.

Mr. Kellogg thanked the group for their participation and promised that every effort would be made to carry out their suggestions. Following the program, refreshments were served by the library staff.

Inter-Church Basketball League Bigger Than Ever

Seven churches already have indicated they will enter a team in the 1951-52 Inter-Church Basketball League this year.

At a meeting at Grosse Pointe High School last Wednesday, November 14, seven church representatives met with the league officials to discuss plans for the coming season.

Already in the fold are those old standbys Grosse Pointe Memorial, last year's winner; Christ Church, Grosse Pointe Methodist, Woods Presbyterian and St. Paul. The new entries are St. Ambrose and St. James Lutheran.

Coach Eddie Lauer indicated he would like to enter two teams from St. Paul again this year. This would get the league started in its third year with eight teams.

Probably the biggest change that might affect the league this year and expand it would be the division of the eight teams into two divisions. It is hoped that at the end of the first round of play that the four top teams can play one another in the second round of play and the next four teams play each other for the second division title. This move might be made to make the games more evenly matched between the bigger and smaller teams in the second round of play.

Also this would leave the way open for any church that has a large group of boys to floor a second team in the second round of play thus giving more boys a chance to compete.

The season championship would be decided in a playoff game at the conclusion of the schedule between the winner of the first round and the winner of the First Division in the second round.

There is still hope that Grosse Pointe Congregational Church will assemble a team and maybe one or two other churches still not heard from file an entry.

Any church within the Pointe's borders is eligible and urged to contact League Director Fred Rummels at TU. 5-8405 before December 1.

Kerby Students Hardly Softies

By Fred Rummels

People talk of Grosse Pointe getting soft but if these people could have seen 16 Kerby School kids do battle on the New Kerby school playground last Sunday, they would change their minds.

The Kerby Midgets, coached by Michigan State's former All-American, Johnny Pingel, walloped the Kerby Raiders, 32 to 12, on the snow covered field.

Actually the game was pretty even in the first quarter with the Raiders holding a 12 to 0 advantage. That was before the midgets acquired the services of a thirteen-year-old from St. Paul. The St. Paul boy made the difference because of his size and his hard running, accounting for four of the five Midget touchdowns.

Your reporter refereed the game which was played under regular rules—first downs and all.

Billy Hart's mother made the day a huge success for everyone concerned when she rolled up with the trunk of her car loaded with cold soft drinks and doughnuts. The loss and victory were soon forgotten as the warriors consumed enormous quantities of the goodies in the below freezing temperature and swirling snow.

Instrumental in Winning Gridiron Title

Lakepointe Club Bowlers Busy

The ladies at Lakepointe Country Club are as enthusiastic about bowling in the fall and winter as they are about golf in the spring and summer—perhaps even more so.

The end of the first month of bowling for the Lakepointe ladies' league finds 12 teams composed of Lakepointe members in a spirited rivalry for the President's trophy, presented each year by Lakepointe Proxy Louis G. Palmer.

In first place this week is team No. 2 composed of Mrs. J. T. Bowling, Mrs. J. C. Danforth Jr., and Mrs. John J. Remillet, of Grosse Pointe Woods, and Mrs. Gordon C. Waldo of Detroit.

The team captained by Mrs. Bowling has won 17 games and lost 7. High individual average among the 60 Lakepointe lady bowlers is Mrs. Edward J. Puga with an 18-game average of 176.

The league competition runs for 18 weeks. The general chairman for the Lakepointe Bowling League is Mrs. Robert W. Grebel of 1605 Prestwick road, Grosse Pointe Farms.

The Central Volunteer Bureau, a Red Feather service, placed 1,051 volunteers in social agencies during 1940, who served a total of 26,537 hours.

Walker Keglers Leading League

The Glenn Walker Motors bowling team continued to lead the St. Paul Ladies League by a three point margin.

The biggest thunder of the November 14 competition was Dorothy Dreary's 215 to give her the highest single individual game rolled so far this season. Dorothy also copped the evenings high three game series with a 512 total.

THOUGHTLESS PRACTICE
Calling your neighbor or friend at mealtime may insure your finding her home. But it may not be the thoughtful, considerate thing to do, says Dorothy Greey, of the home management and child development department, Michigan State College. Family talk and family relaxation around the table is a precious commodity which should not be interrupted.

Harvey Nelson's 265 Tops League

Harvey Nelson's 265 closing game saved Mondry Cleaners of the Rotary Bowling League from a shutout at the hands of Motor City Tires, who copped the opener with a 910 game and edged out the Cleaners in the second.

Nelson's big game plus Mondry's 905 closer made it two all for these two teams.

Another high single was scored when Village Wine's Colombo blasted 253 in 612. Farms Market again was on the losing end, dropping four to Village Wine Shop who are trying desperately to overtake the Judy's.

Punch & Judy Cocktail Lounge, back in stride again, toyed with Wolverine Potato Chips, who seemed to be lost without their captain, Henry Peplinski. Miner Wilson hit 226 for the Judy's.

Piche's Barber Shop got the breaks for a change and cashed in. Steiner Ford dropped four points to the Kercheval "hair stylists."

Kopp's Pharmacy caught Earl Holbough's Motors on an off night and came out on top, winning four points.

Auto Club averted a shutout by winning the last game from Middle Atl. Transp. Co.

Gridders Feted At Dad's Dinner

The Grosse Pointe Dads' Club honored the Grosse Pointe High School's junior and senior football teams at its seventh annual Football Round-up party at the High School last Tuesday, November 20.

The program started off with the usual dinner in the cafeteria at 6:30 p. m., for several hundred dads and their boys. The girls were invited too, but none showed up, making it strictly a stag affair.

Following the dinner there was a program in the auditorium featuring sports.

The Dads' Club treasury paid the bill through generous contributions of the dads.

PARKED CAR HIT
Rhinehart Hanswirth of 3957 Lakeview notified the Farms police that someone had run into his car while it was parked in front of 270 Grosse Pointe boulevard at 11:20 a.m. on November 15.

Take Flood Control Measures in Woods

This culvert on the Milk river at Vernier road is being removed, to be replaced by a single span above high water mark. Heavy rains have proven too much for the small culverts to handle. The water has backed up behind them, causing floods. This picture was taken from the Lochmoor golf course looking towards Vernier road.

Princeton Triangle Club's Show Coming on January 2

The Princeton Triangle Club's sparkling musical comedy, for 1951-52, "Never Say Horses," will be presented Wednesday evening, January 2, at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, Masonic Temple.

The Princeton Club of Michigan is breaking a precedent in bringing the Triangle show to Detroit two years in succession, Gaylor W. Gillis, Jr., president, said. Because "Too Hot for Today" was such a smashing success in 1950, and most of the actors, musicians and writers of last year have star roles in the current show, it is felt that "Never Say Horses" will be equally successful.

The actors, "chorus girls" and other members of the Triangle Club, will be guests of honor at an informal subscription dance at the University Club following the play. The Princeton Club of Michigan invites not only Princeton alumni, but all persons attending "Never Say Horses" to attend the dance.

The Triangle Club is one of the outstanding collegiate dramatic organizations in the country. Composed entirely of undergraduates of Princeton University, it is in its 60th year, carrying on traditions stemming from Triangle's first president, Booth Tarkington. Later Triangle graduates who are present successes on Broadway and in Hollywood include Joshua Logan, Jimmy Stewart, Jose Ferrer and Myron McCormick.

The story for "Never Say Horses," in the making for more than half a year, gives the audience a look at New York's Bowery and Battery society, and carries on into medieval castles, gala night clubs and a "real live medicine show." Expert observers pronounce it a sure fire hit.

The Detroit appearance of the Triangle Show is to benefit the scholarship fund of the Princeton Club of Michigan. Ticket applications are being mailed by the committee, headed by James W. Lee, II.

Other Pointe committeemen are: Grant E. Armstrong, William J. Croul, John E. Farley, J. Thomas Farley, James M. French, Sherman Fitzsimons, III, Daniel W. Goodenough, Laurence B. Higbie, John N. Lord, Douglas F. McClure, Burt E. Taylor, Jr., and Daniel L. Wells.

Library Friends To Meet Dec. 4

Mrs. Fred K. Hauck will be the featured speaker at the next meeting of the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Library to be held Tuesday, December 4, at 8:30 p. m. in the Main Library, 15430 Kercheval avenue.

Edison Elects Cisler President

Walker L. Cisler, of Devonshire road, executive vice-president of the Detroit Edison Company, has been elected president and general manager succeeding on December 1, James W. Parker, who will then reach retirement age. Mr. Parker will be engaged by the company as a consultant and will remain on its board of directors.

Cisler's election to the presidency of the company came after his recent election to the Detroit Edison directorate. A former executive engineer of Public Service Electric and Gas Company, New Jersey, he has had long experience in the electric power field. Following notable service with the War Production Board during the first two years of World War II, he was employed by Detroit Edison in 1943 and granted a leave of absence to serve in the Army, where he attained the rank of colonel and served on the staff of General Eisenhower in Europe, and later General Clay in Germany.

He is chief consultant on electric power for the Economic Cooperation Administration and has served our government and others as a consultant on power and other matters.

Cisler is a director of the Detroit Bank and is active in industrial development work in Michigan. He took a prominent part in Detroit's 250th Birthday activities.

Instructions for Christmas Mailing

To insure delivery of gift parcels and greeting cards before Christmas, the following mailing schedule should be followed closely, according to Postmaster F. C. Middel: Mail not later than December 6 for Zone 8; December 7 for Zone 7; December 8 for Zone 6; December 10 for Zone 5; December 11 for Zone 4; December 13 for Zone 3; December 14 for Zones 2 and 1; December 15 for all local mail; and for all points in Canada, December 1.

The postage on letters and sealed Christmas greeting cards is 3 cents per ounce. Unsealed Christmas cards bearing no written message may be sent at 2 cents for the first two ounces and 1 cent for each additional ounce. Cards sent at this rate will not be forwarded or returned to sender in case of non-delivery.

Christmas cards should be bundled with the stamps facing the same way and tied with string.

Special Delivery and Air Mail parcels should be handed in at the post office separately from ordinary mail.

Advertising matter, other than that for Christmas business, should not be deposited in the mails after December 1 and before December 27.

The Post Office does not provide directory service. Extreme care should be taken to see that all mail matter is completely addressed including street, number, city, and state and delivery zone number.

Pack articles carefully and tightly in strong durable containers. Wrap and tie packages securely with good quality paper and cord, but do not seal them unless name and address of sender are shown together with the printed inscription reading, "Contents, Merchandise — Postmaster: This parcel may be opened for postal inspection, if necessary," as sealed parcels not so labeled or endorsed are subject to the letter rate of postage.

The name and address of the sender may be handwritten, hand-stamped or typewritten on the labels.

Parcels sent by air or as fourth-class matter are limited to a maximum of 100 inches in length and girth combined.

The limit of weight of first- and fourth-class matter, including air parcel post, is 70 pounds.

To encourage early mailing, senders are permitted to mark parcels "Please Do Not Open Until Christmas." In addition, written salutations, such as, "Merry Christmas," "Happy New Year," "With Best Wishes," as well as numbers, symbols, etc., for the purpose of description, may be enclosed with third- or fourth-class (parcel post) mail. A simple dedicatory inscription not of a personal nature may be written in books but other unauthorized written additions subject the parcel to the letter rate of postage.

Do not enclose letters or messages, no matter how brief, in parcels as doing so would subject the entire parcel to the letter rate. Communications enclosed in envelopes prepaid at the letter rate may be securely fastened to the outside of parcels sent at the third- or fourth-class rate.

Articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation and delivery are not acceptable for mailing. Parcels containing perishable matter must be endorsed by postmasters or postal employees with the word "Perishable" directly above the name of addressee.

Plans for the St. Michael's second annual Yuletide Dinner Dance at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, December 7, are gaining momentum as chairman Mrs. Leonard Roche and her committee swings into full stride.

The event sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary, will feature a five-piece orchestra and entertainment by the Bill Wilson School of Dance.

Tickets can be obtained by calling Mrs. Roche at TU. 2-9641 and early reservations will be greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Roche's committee consists of Mrs. Reginald Park, Mrs. Geraldine Dewherst, Mrs. Paul Rawe, Mrs. David Forbes and Mrs. Nelson Fisher.

Dr. J. F. Bender
To Give Lecture

"How to Get Along with Others" is Dr. James F. Bender's subject at Detroit Town Hall, Wednesday morning, November 28, at 11 o'clock in Fisher Theater.

Dr. Bender heads the National Institute for Human Relations in New York City. He founded the Institute to answer a long-felt need among business corporations for competent advice on personnel problems. The clinic now helps both men and women solve their personal difficulties.

A prolific writer, Dr. Bender has authored more than 350 articles on psychological themes. Among his best known books are, "Leadership: How to Develop It," "How to Sleep," and "Personality Structure of Stuttering."

Little Theatre
Announces Play

The International Little Theatre Association will open its seventh season as Detroit's community theatre with a production of "Feathers in a Gale," an historical comedy in three acts. Friday and Saturday evenings, November 23 and 24, at the International Institute, 111 East Kirby Avenue, corner of John R.

The play is produced by J. F. Carrico, of Nottingham road, founder of the Little Theatre, and is directed by Don Wadley with a cast including: Louise Stanton, Elizabeth Markey, Elizabeth Seregov, Dorothy Magda, Virginia Takessian, Estelle Van Baalen, Patricia Lockhart, Henry Kaminski, Robert Guldage, Jervis Wattles, Gust Paros and Karl Dumas.

Tickets are on sale at the International Institute every Friday night after 8 o'clock.

Girl Scout News

Kerby School's Troop 618 is busy collecting worn and out-grown footwear—shoes, boots, rubbers, tennis shoes, ice skates, etc.—to be repaired by the Goodwill Industries. Contributions will be accepted gladly, by Mrs. Monrad at 233 Beaupre, TU. 1-9331. These scouts hope to take a trip through the Goodwill building soon, to see first hand how their contributions help the workers there.

The Brownie Scouts of Troop 868 at Kerby had a surprise party given them by the leaders, Mrs. Fred Toepel and Mrs. Wallace Jensen, recently on the troop's 2nd birthday. This was in the form of a cook-out. Most of these girls are getting their torch awards.

Scouts in the 6th grade (or older) may still join the new chorus group which meets Wednesday at 4 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church. Mrs. E. W. Allison is the new director. Please call Mrs. Sutton, TU. 1-2181 for information.

Troop 257 at St. Paul invested six Brownie Scouts on November 5: Janet Beaupre, Mary Ellen Endos, Stephanie Farley, Karen Oxley, Gail Phillips and Sherry Snay. The mothers were invited, refreshments of cocoa and cookies were served and the brownie story was dramatized.

Richard School's Troop 204 visited Jack Miner's bird sanctuary near Kingsville this fall. They spent the whole day there and at the fish hatchery. A picnic lunch was taken along.

This troop celebrated its 3rd birthday, at which time Mr. and Mrs. Louis Smith presented them with a troop flag. Mr. Smith also helped the girls make wooden booklets. Mrs. C. G. Browne and Mrs. A. A. Thornbrough are the leaders of Troop 204.

A new Brownie Scout troop was invested at Richard School on November 20, with Mrs. John Bockstanz and Mrs. Donald Shuur as leaders.

Checking up on modern Priscillas we find in the Pointe . . . MRS. JOHN O. BLAIR (Priscilla Bailey) . . . MRS. PHILIP CAREY (Priscilla Pollard) . . . MRS. JOHN POSSELIUS (Priscilla Zeder) . . . and not a single JOHN ALDEN . . .

You are old time Detroiters if you remember when calling days were fashionable . . . and the old Dau's Blue Book . . . printed calling days of socially prominent women . . .

Some of them (copied from the Blue Book of 1914) were: MRS. FRED T. MURPHY . . . who was Mrs. Frederick M. Alger and who received callers on Tuesday at her Grosse Pointe home . . .

MRS. STRATHEARN HENDRIE . . . who received Saturday afternoons . . .

MRS. HARRY M. JEWETT . . . who received on Fridays at Maplehurst, the Jewett Grosse Pointe home . . .

MRS. WILSON W. MILLS . . . who was Mrs. Sherman L. Depew . . . and who received on Fridays at her home at 825 East Jefferson avenue . . .

MRS. HORACE E. DODGE . . . lived in Grosse Pointe Village . . . and received callers on the second Tuesday of each month . . .

MRS. JOHN GAINES RUMNEY received on Tuesdays at her Grosse Pointe Farms home . . .

MRS. JAMES THAYER McMILLAN'S day for callers was Friday at her Grosse Pointe Park residence . . .

And MRS. THEODORE A. MCGRAW, who then lived at 1710 East Jefferson avenue . . . also received callers on Fridays . . .

The name of one of the most handsome gentlemen ever to hail from Grosse Pointe is being romantically linked with GLORIA SWANSON'S out there on the West coast . . .

Didjuno: That the brothers . . . HERBERT V. and FRANK P. BOOK attended the University of Munich in Bavaria . . .

PILFERINGS
A Chicago gentleman . . . B. J. GRIGSBY . . . regularly publishes a small newspaper for the enjoyment of his friends scattered over the country . . .

He calls it the Spoon River Journal . . . and a recent edition was devoted to a "Report on the British Elections, 1951" . . .

In this particular edition he tells one of London's favorite pre-election stories when Clement Atlee was touring the countryside in an Austin, the devoted Mrs. Atlee at the wheel.

After an unusually strenuous day of stumping, Mrs. Atlee, who generally accompanied her husband to the platform, found she was too exhausted and remained in the car.

This was explained by Atlee, who said, "Mrs. Atlee is sleeping in our car but I can assure that come Oct. 25, she will be sleeping at No. 10 Downing street."

And then a cockney voice peeped out of the gallery, "Wot! Oo with—Winnie!"

Bits from the enchanted life of Alexander Woollcott:
Once when Woollcott and Charles MacArthur went to Europe together, Robert Benchley, wishing to give them a present of something they couldn't get in Europe, left a plate of wheatcakes in their cabin . . .

In a letter to Thornton Wilder while he was a houseguest of the Ben Hechts: "The other night I lay in Ben's bed and wished him dead, and this his inconsolable widow would go to Cyprus for five years so that I might rent her house."

In a PPS to Rebecca West: Woollcott writes: "I have an impression from a faithful reading of Dorothy Thompson in the Herald Tribune that she may sail at any minute in order to strangle Neville Chamberlain with her own hands. Would this be a good thing?"

In a note to Noel Coward: "I do not know whether you are aware that during the greater part of the time since last we met I have been on a bed of pain. For some time in the Spring I was at death's door but the old fool was out."

MISS VIRGINIA JOHNSTON OF POUPARD SCHOOL

by Ann Schrage

To the children of Poupard School, Thanksgiving may have a special meaning this year, not only because of their spanking-new school building, but also the first graders have a charming vivacious teacher who just last August returned from a year's stint teaching children of American Army occupation troops in the small town of Landshut, forty miles from Munich in Bavaria, Germany.

She is Miss Virginia Johnston, formerly of Bay City, who before her assignments in Poupard School and in Germany, was for 8 years an elementary grade teacher in Mason School.

Dresses Colorfully
The children love her of course, because she wears colorful costumes and clothing purchased on her many week-end and holiday travels about Germany, Switzerland, France and Italy; because she shows them many of her colored slides of her travels and has interesting stories to tell them befitting their ages. She brings her little treasures for them to see. Humel figures, hand-made ceramic animals and birds, and her Florentine silver jewelry.

Their Own Halloween
They particularly love to play with the little brown teddy bear hand puppet from Germany. (The teddy bear originated in Germany, Miss Johnston tells us.) She tells them how German children in Bavaria celebrate the Feast of the Three Kings as American children do Halloween here with disguises and begging. "It all started," said Miss Johnston, "with a flying ten-day Christmas trip to Europe with my sister in 1919. We visited Holland, Switzerland and England. This brief visit made me determined to return and see more as soon as possible."

Reads About Chance
A newspaper article finally showed her the way, when the Army called for American teachers to take posts in Europe to teach children of Army occupation troops. There followed sessions with the University of Michigan Bureau of Appointments in Ann Arbor; a leave of absence from the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, and Miss Johnston was on her way in August of 1950 to the very old picturesque town of Landshut, whose history dates back to the year 1000.

Barracks Converted
A troop barracks was fitted into a school for the 48 American children in that area. Miss Johnston taught Grades 1, 2 and 3. Instruction was almost identical to that taught children here in Grosse Pointe, with the exception of a daily instruction in German by German teachers. It seemed odd to watch her 6-year-olds making friends with 12-year-old German children because they start learning English about that age and could talk and play together. The American children pick up German quickly. Only children of well-to-do families, mentioned Miss Johnston, can give their children a higher education after 13 years of age and most are apprenticed to learn a trade as in olden times.

People Work Hard
Everywhere in Bavaria and especially Landshut (a town whose population has grown from 35,000 to 50,000 since the last war, mostly refugees from the Eastern Zone about 40 miles away), people work hard and with their hands. Roads are still laid with stone; many farm tasks like thrashing and cradling wheat are still done by hand. Beautiful gardens flourish everywhere, which may account for the delightful custom of townspeople always always bringing flowers to hosts of any gathering, and when one has a dozen guests one receives quite a few flowers). People were afraid of and avoided unemployment so that they would not be assigned to live in other areas.

Army Inspects Meat
Miss Johnston shared a home with 5 other young American women. Meat was purchased only in shops inspected by the Army. Miss Johnston said in Landshut people liked steaks as well as we do and didn't notice any trend to so-called German cooking. All milk used by Army occupation forces is flown in daily from Holland and Denmark. Food was plentiful and children of that area are well fed, Bavaria being the "bread basket" of Germany. Housing and fuel were the greatest shortages, she said.

Want Troops to Stay
Questioning Miss Johnston about the feeling of the people of Landshut in regard to withdrawal of American troops, she said it was their greatest fear because of the threat of Russian occupation. Miss Johnston was within a day's travel of Italy, Switzerland, France and Austria, so in the course of the year she attended a Christmas festival in Rome, the festival in Britain, Tulip Time in Holland, the Passion Play at Oberammergau, an Easter performance of "Parsifal" in LaScala, Milan, and a beautiful outdoor production of Schiller's "William Tell" at Interlaken. She also visited Pompeii and Capri.

Going Back Again
Because she was unable to visit the Scandinavian countries, Miss Johnston wishes to do so this summer. We wish her happy traveling and good shopping and know that the children of Poupard School will have more slides, more stories and toys to enjoy when she returns.

PUMPKIN PIE

Contributed by Mrs. Joseph Arinea

This is truly Pumpkin Pie time of year and the following recipe was contributed to St. Clare de Montefalco Church's Archconfraternity cook book "For Goodness Sake."

- 1 1/2 c. cooked or canned pumpkin
 - 3/4 c. dark brown sugar, packed
 - 1/2 tsp. salt
 - 1/2 tsp. ginger
 - 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
 - 3 eggs slightly beaten
 - 1 1/2 c. milk, scalded
 - 1/2 c. cream
 - 1/2 recipe for flaky pastry.
- Blend pumpkin, sugar, salt and spices; add eggs, scalded milk and cream. Pour mixture into nine inch unbaked pie shell.

Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) for 10 minutes, reduce heat to 325 degrees and bake for about 35 minutes or until filling is set.

Serve warm or cold, plain or topped with whipped cream. Slivered almonds, chopped pecans or almond meats may be sprinkled over top.

Gardeners Hold Scavenger Hunt

The November meeting of the Grosse Pointe Garden Club was held on Tuesday, November 20, at the home of the president, Mrs. Sherwood Reekie.

A special feature of the day was a scavenger hunt through nearby fields in search of plant material to use in indoor arrangements.

Members were asked to bring their own containers, holders and driers, and after gathering dried stalks, seed pods, berries and other plants, everyone returned to Mrs. Reekie's house and made arrangements which were put on display.

A business meeting and luncheon preceded the scavenger hunt.

THANKSGIVING DAY!

What a wonderful All-American holiday. It sets on the top of my list. This is a day about which an inspired writer could say many beautiful things. However, I'm not an inspired writer so I'll pass. I couldn't begin to express the things that day means. All I can do in my own way, is to wish you all the happiest of all wishes and to express my thanks for the continued patronage year after year of so many wonderful people. One of my greatest joys comes from knowing that I have pleased someone, somewhere, with a portrait or a Candidograph album. Among a wealth of other things, this stands out on my Thanksgiving Day.
