Carolers Active as Christmas Comes to Pointe

Cheerful Christmas carols floated through Grosse Pointe's fog laden atmosphere last Monday evening, December 22, when the Zeta Sigma Phi Club serenaded the residents of the Farms community for the purpose of preparing the residents for the glorious birthday of Christ. Donations collected by the group are to be turned over to the American Red Cross. The carolers are from left to right GAIL GITRE, MARILYN PALMER, DIANNE BICKLE, LOUANNE NELSON, SHARON McNALLY, JOYCE GESELL, JOANNE MEIER, BARBARA LaBROSKE, MARY JOAN VAN WASSENHOVE and LOUISE WINOGROCKI. The little children are BOBBY LANNON, DEBRA GIRTE and ANDREW LLEWELLYN.

Safe Defies Burglar at Best's Store

Failed Thief Believed to Have Gained Entrance to Building Through Roof Window

Burglars broke into the Best clothing store at 18828 Kercheval avenue last Saturday night, December 20, but failed to get away with any money.

City Police Lieutenant Van Beclarae, in the neighborhood the following morning, noted that the rear door had been tampered with and began an immediate investigation.

Store manager Frederick James was contacted for a preliminary inventory. Police found the store's safe, which contained an undisclosed amount of cash, battered but unopened.

The rear door, where entry had been attempted, was found locked. Investigation led police to believe that the burglar entered through a window on the roof of the building.

TIME FOR A REST
Rest from your Christmas shopping and other preparations before you get "dead tired," is the advice given by Dr. Joseph G. Molner, Detroit commissioner of health. He says in the long run you may save time because when you let yourself get overtired you increase the likelihood that you will have an accident. That is true for children as well as for adults.

Chet Sampson's Cavalcade Alumni to Hold Big Reunion

In a season noted for entertaining, one party this week stands out as probably the largest of the Christmas season. On Saturday evening, December 27, one thousand of Grosse Pointe's young men and women will gather for a reunion.

The group consists of all those who have participated in Chet Sampson's Western and Christmas tours over the past 14 years. The Memorial Church Gymnasium will be the scene of the party. The big attraction of the evening will be the showing of colored movies and slides taken on all of the trips over these years. Each group will have its own private reunion during the evening to look at the pictures taken during that specific year. Wives and husbands will join the group and enjoy the old pictures of their partners taken long years ago. To be especially feted will be the 20 boys who, in 1938, as mem-

War Memorial Center Plans Gala New Year's Eve Party For Vacationing College Set

Tremendous Success of Event in Past Years Prompts Repeat Performance; Tickets Available Now at $5 Per Couple

Due to the tremendous success of the event in past years, the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center has again planned a New Year's Eve Dance for the college set home on vacation. This has always been the highlight of the holiday season for Grosse Pointe's high school alumni, and a full evening of entertainment and enjoyment has been planned for this year's party.

For the first time, the entire beautiful War Memorial Center will be available for the festivities. Dancing will take place throughout the evening, from 9:30 to 2 a. m., to the music of Ray Buck's orchestra, which has been brought back by popular demand of those who took part in last year's celebration at the Center.

Light refreshments of punch and sherbet are to be served throughout the evening, and a midnight supper is planned for the bewitching hour of 12. Cold turkey and chicken, ham, salad, cake and coffee will be served.

The dancing during the evening will be interspersed occasionally with some planned entertainment. Loz Zay Sheridan, one of the talented graduates of Grosse Pointe High, class of January, 1952, will be featured in a dance; George Papich, an accomplished violinist, will present a solo; and the Holiday Hangover Quartet, comprised of Dick Saunders, Neil Smith, Ralph Cross and Winnie Likert will do several renditions.

Gun Interrupts Sleeper's Plans

Park police held Thomas J. Rivers for investigation of auto theft on December 18. Rivers, who lives at 12320 Wade, Detroit, was held at gun-point by Gervase Flury and his step-son, Wayne Lanter, after he had allegedly tried to start Flury's automobile, which had been parked in front of his home, at 266 Grosse Pointe boulevard, early that morning.

Rivers told police that he had come to Grosse Pointe by bus and after leaving the bus had entered the car to go to sleep. A disorderly person charge was placed against him, and a court date was set for January 7, 1953.

Police Officers Hold Graduation

Graduation exercises for 135 police officers from Detroit and adjacent communities were held at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club on December 18, on completion of a 90-hour training course. The program is sponsored by the Southeastern Association of Police Chiefs. Seven police officers from the Park, Farms and Shores were graduated.

Five Persons Injured in Bad Accident

Two Cars in Serious Tangle at Intersection of Merriweather And Ridge Roads

Five persons were injured in a two-car accident at the intersection of Ridge road and Merriweather, Sunday night, December 21, when a 1949 Cadillac driven by Bee Burrows, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Burrows, of 1274 Vernier, crossed onto Ridge, striking the car driven by L. Glen White, of Roseville, Michigan.

The impact threw White and his wife, Elizabeth, from the auto and caused injuries to their two sons and a passenger, Clare Schumacker.

All in Car Hurt
Schumacker, who lives at 21901 Lakeview, St. Clair Shores, suffered three broken ribs. The White's sons, Paul 5, and Mark, 3, received cuts about their faces. White suffered a bruised knee.

Mrs. White was found under the car, which had bounced over one curb and gone 150 feet before coming to a stop. She was badly hurt.

Two Not Injured
Neither Miss Burrows nor 16-year-old April Canum, of 1610 Anita, a passenger in the Burrows' car, was injured.

Police estimated the total damages to the cars to have been $700. City police helped Grosse Pointe Farms police transfer the injured to Cottage Hospital.

Credit Mailman With One Assist

Two Detroit juveniles were caught by an on-duty mailman, December 16, after they had been seen taking a pocketbook containing $5 from an automobile parked on Mack avenue near Kensington.

The youths were spotted by the owner of the auto, Stephen Book, of 3071 Jacob avenue, Detroit, and chased them but lost them in the crowd.

They were later apprehended by Edward Hay, of 17116 Hickory, at the corner of Yorkshire and Kercheval. Hay held the youths until the police arrived.

A check of their records by Park police revealed that one of the boys was on probation for a burglary. They were turned over to Detroit police for prosecution.

Jefferson-Fisher Traffic Hazards Subject of Study

Officials of Both Farms and City to Make Joint Investigation Of Conditions at Dangerous Intersection at Boundary Line

Grosse Pointe City and Farms officials will shortly begin a study of the existing traffic hazards at the corner of Fisher road and Jefferson.

Several residents have advised that some action be taken to reduce the danger at the intersection, which described by them, is created particularly in the evening when west-bound traffic on Jefferson must approach the traffic light against the sun.

Visors Block Vision
Traffic accident probability is increased as drivers make the approach with visors down, due to the slope from Beverly road to Fisher, spokesmen stated. These elements, coupled with the low position of the sun tend to obscure the traffic light.

The danger to people waiting on the northwest corner at the intersection for bus transportation was also described.

Many Miss Turn
There have been a number of instances when west-bound drivers have failed to negotiate the turn onto Fisher and have gone over the curb at the point where people wait.

Plans for a joint study of the conditions have already been proposed.

John Dickinson Korean Casualty

John Dickinson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Dickinson, of 852 Beaconsfield avenue, has been wounded in Korea, according to word received by his parents.

John, a Marine, has been in Korea less than two months. He saw action at Jane Russell Hill. Details on his wounds have not been received.

He was in the Navy for three years, then re-enlisted in the Marines. He spent two years in Japan before being sent to Korea.

John is a graduate of Grosse Pointe High School.

Arrests Solve Two Burglaries

Two arrests made by Detroit police on December 19 resulted in the solving of a burglary in Grosse Pointe Woods. Two 20-year-old youths, William Frazer and Eugene Jobe, both of 7614 Kercheval, Detroit admitted having stolen $25 in cash from Joseph Schwab's gas station, 19733 Mack avenue, on December 12.

They were picked up by Detroit police after an argument in which Frazer shot Jobe in the arm with a high-powered air pistol for refusing to continue as his accomplice in other burglaries.

Later admissions by Frazer also cleared one burglary and two other attempts in Grosse Pointe Park on December 14.

Frazer and Jobe had entered Switzer's Creamery, at 15212 Mack; Thompson's gas station, 15422 Mack, and Boutin's gas station, 15246 Kercheval. Total haul for their efforts, however, amounted to only 50 cents.

The pair are also responsible for at least 25 other burglaries in Detroit. They were held by Detroit police for prosecution.

Pastor Delivers Christmas Message to Pointe Rotarians

Each year the Grosse Pointe Rotary Club asks the Rev. Andrew Rauth, a member of the club and minister of the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, to give an annual message on Christmas. This week the theme of his message was, "A Bombs and A Baby."

"The observance of Christmas can be engaged in by all age groups. As children, we think of the baby Jesus, a Christmas tree, Santa and presents. As adults, we think of God's love, the incarnation, a Saviour and a needy world.

"The observance of Christmas in 1952 can cause us to think of innumerable things. One theme worth thinking about is 'A Bombs and A Baby.' We must remember we live in an age of the A-

Preparations Complete for Gay Holidays

Police and Firemen Warn Against Letting Accidents Mar this Joyous Season

As the NEWS went to press early this holiday week, the Pointe was poised for what promises to be the merriest Christmas season in its long history. Cars, trains and planes have been pouring the student set homeward and most families are reunited for the traditional celebration.

The main shopping rush nears its end and merchants are tired but happy over the biggest sales records their stores have ever known. The establishment of countless new business firms in the Pointe in recent years, and the enlargement of many old ones have concentrated a far greater shopping activity here than was formerly true.

Heavy Social Season
The social season, already under way, offers a full calendar for all ages. Private clubs and the War Memorial Center have planned traditional gala events for the season's observance. Outdoor decorations seem more numerous than ever before.

The Grosse Pointe Kiwanis Club will hold its annual Christmas party, to which all the children of the Pointe are most cordially invited. It will be held in the Parcels Junior High School auditorium on Friday, December 26, from 2 to 4 p. m. There will be varied entertainment, including movies, and candy for all. There is no charge.

Needy Are Remembered
The Pointe's underprivileged have not been forgotten. The Goodfellows and the Toy Club see to that. The Goodfellows' annual newspaper sale brought in some $8,000 on December 15, under the sponsorship of the Grosse Pointe Lions Club. Christmas baskets, toys, clothing and other gifts will be distributed. To the end that no needy family shall be overlooked, the Lions Club has announced that all the police and fire chiefs of the community have been appointed to serve with George Elworthy, welfare director for the Pointe, in locating every needy case.

Public Asked to Help
Anyone who knows of a family that will need help if Christmas joy is to be experienced in their home this year, is asked to communicate with Mr. Elworthy at the Neighborhood Club, TUredo 5-4600; or with their fire or police chief.

All of the churches have planned special services to celebrate the birthday of the Saviour. The houses of worship will be crowded Christmas Eve as candlelight services will be held, and religious music will feature the Christmas Day programs. Most of the religious institutions have scheduled parties for all departments.

Community Tree Lighted
The first community tree-lighting ceremony was observed Tuesday evening at the big yule tree erected in the circular entrance courtyard at the War Memorial Center. The service organizations were sponsors of the event, with all municipalities being represented by their officials.

With Christmas falling on Thursday, the Center staff was given a special present, the long holiday week-end for a vacation period. The Center will be closed from Wednesday night until Monday, when it will again be open with its gay Christmas decorations for the many events scheduled to be held there.

Warnings Issued
The police have issued repeated warnings about the prevalence of accidents during the holiday period and have urged all to drive carefully lest their Christmastime be marred by tragedy. The fire departments have also cautioned about the added danger from fire in this period of lavish decorating and overloaded electric outlets.

Another Christmas is with us. May it be a safe and happy one for all our readers.

FORD GIFT FOR MSC

Michigan State College has been given $100,000 by the Ford Fund for Adult Education for further development of the college's television program, according to M.S.C. President John A. Hannah. The grant came a short time after the Federal Communications Commission authorized Michigan State to construct a TV antenna and install a transmitter to operate on ultra-high frequency channel 60.

Christmas Eve Music Service

Music for the Annual Christmas Eve Service of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church will begin at 10:40 p.m. with Carillon and Organ Preludes by Malcolm MacLean Johns. The choir will process at 11 p.m. for the Service proper at which the Reverend Paul F. Ketchum will give a timely message on "The Spirit of Christmas in Our Lives."

The four-generation-old MacDonal Family Bible, a recent gift to the church by Mrs. Fred

J. MacDonald, will be used on the Communion Table in a setting of poinsettias presented by Mrs. Joseph B. Schlotman in memory of her late husband. Mrs. James Cope has been in charge of the special decorations for this and other Christmas Services.

Paul Kelly, tenor, will be the soloist in "O Holy Night." Choral music by the Senior Choir and the Junior Choir Boys will include: "A Joyous Christmas Song" Gavaert, "To Bethlehem"—Williams, "Sing Gloria"—Davis, "Angel Hosts"—Tanner, and "Jesu, Jesu, Little Son"—Day.

Fourteen boy sopranos have been attending extra rehearsals for the past five weeks in order to provide part of the special carol music for this service along with the Senior Youth Choir under the direction of Marie Joy Curtiss.

People planning to attend are advised to come early. In the past many have been unable to obtain seats.

Veterans to Hear Convent Singers

The Glee Club of the Academy of the Sacred Heart, Grosse Pointe, will provide some of the entertainment at the Veterans' Hospital in Dearborn next Sunday evening.

The school bus will afford transportation and upon arrival, the students will be escorted through the wards where they will sing traditional Christmas carols under the direction of Jacqueline Murphy Greer.

The accompanist for the Glee Club which is composed of fifty-seven members is Dorothy Little, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Little of Vendome road.

Name Collinson To Post in Park

The appointment of Melville H. Collinson to fill the unexpired term of William C. Oddy on the Grosse Pointe Park Plan Commission was recommended last Monday evening, December 22, at the regular Park council meeting.

Collinson, who lives at 704 Westchester, is president of the Parent-Teachers Association, member of the Citizens Association and has long been active in civic affairs.

At the time the NEWS went to press, his appointment had not been verified, however.

Oddy gave up his duties as a member of the Plan Commission last November, when he was appointed to the city council to fill the unexpired term of A.J. Bloodworth.

Chi Omega Junior Group Plans Annual Christmas Tea

The Junior Group of Chi Omega will be hostesses to the Detroit, Grosse Pointe, Birmingham and Dearborn groups at the annual Christmas tea on Tuesday, December 30, from 3:00 until 5:30 o'clock, at the Women's City Club. Honor guests will be all pledges and active members of Chi Omega who are home for the holidays.

Sudden Deaths Sadden 3 Homes Just Before Christmas

G. Glenn Anderson, president of the Aero Tool Co., died of a heart attack, December 21, in Cottage Hospital. He had been stricken at his home in 229 Merriweather. He would have been 60 on Christmas Day.

He was founder of the Automotive Tool & Die Association, and he had been instrumental in setting up a machine shop for paraplegic veterans at Percy Jones Hospital, an Association project.

Surviving him are his wife, Mildred E., and two sisters, Mrs.

Charles Chrest and Alma Anderson, of Indianapolis, Indiana.

Services are being held Wednesday, December 24, in the J. A. DeSantis Funeral Home. Burial will be in White Chapel Cemetery.

MARILYN SUSAN MILLER
Marilyn Susan Miller, 16, died suddenly at her home, December 20. She was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Michael M. Miller, of 902 Balfour. She was a member of the senior class at Grosse Pointe High School. Cause of death is believed to have been a cerebral hemorrhage.

Besides her mother and father, she is survived by a sister, Margo, and brother, Michael.

Funeral services are being held at Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, December 24. Burial will be in White Chapel Cemetery.

Howard C. Lamont

Howard C. Lamont, assistant manager of the Testing Division of the U. S. Rubber Co., died December 17, of a cerebral hemorrhage. His home is at 230 McKinley road.

He is survived by his wife, Florence M.; son, Gene D.; mother, Mrs. Peter Lamont; sisters, Mrs. Russel Lynch and Margaret Lamont, and one grandchild.

Funeral services were at the chapel of the W. R. Hamilton Co., Saturday, December 20. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery.

Thomas C. McMahon

Thomas C. McMahon, formerly of 275 Merriweather, husband of Eva; father of Thomas and Mrs. Lee Janis; brother of James. William, Mrs. Jess Cavill, Mrs. Richard Monroe, Mrs. Sidney Foster and Frank, died at Powers, Michigan, December 19.

Funeral was from the Verheyden Funeral Home, Tuesday, December 23.

Caution Urged During Holidays

Police, Traffic Court judges and safety officials joined today to urge Detroiters to drive and walk with redoubled caution during the Christmas Holiday week, the most dangerous in the year for traffic accident fatalities.

Traffic Court Judges George T. Murphy and John D. Watts, pointing out it was not their intention to discourage any gaiety, emphasized that the policy of sending drunk drivers to jail for longer terms was again in force during the holiday season. This applies also to reckless drivers who have been drinking, they said.

Director of Traffic James A. Hoye said that additional police officers have been assigned to Detroit's most dangerous areas during the times accidents most often occur. They will be particularly alert for pedestrians who endanger their own lives by darting into the street in front of oncoming traffic, he said.

"The officers have been instructed to issue tickets, not warnings," Director Hoye said. "We must save pedestrians from their own folly. Nearly nine out of ten of the persons killed so far in December have been persons afoot and most of them have been wholly responsible for their own deaths."

Donald Slutz, managing director of the Traffic Safety Association, recalled that one year 25 persons were killed in traffic accidents in Detroit during the week between Christmas and New Year's. Most of them were pedestrians who were struck at night, he said. He also urged those attending parties not to drink and then drive.

"If you have had too much to drink, get someone to drive you home, or 'take a cab,'" he said. "Arranging for rides or calling cabs for those not in condition to drive is also a good tip for every host. No one wants his party to be the cause of a tragic accident."

State Police Arrests Jump

Michigan State Police made 6,612 arrests in November, an increase of four percent over the 6,388 in the same month a year ago. Of the total, 5,785 were for traffic offenses. Not included in the total were 418 juvenile offenders—minors involved in traffic offenses or delinquent and wayward—as compared to 331 a year ago.

There was a 10 percent increase in complaints handled in all matters, 6,739 over 6,122. Mileage traveled in all activities was 752,650. Troopers also made 20,726 property inspections and 3,281 liquor inspections.

The East Lansing headquarters identification bureau received 3,770 sets of criminal fingerprints and 2,212 non-criminal. Through fingerprint identifications, 87 of 644 applicants for licenses to carry concealed weapons were found to have criminal records. Likewise, nine persons wanted by police as fugitives from justice were identified.

Three Injured In Two Crashes

Two auto accidents in Grosse Pointe Park on December 20 resulted in injuries to three people. Park police took all of the injured to Bon Secours Hospital for treatment.

Eugene C. Mancini, of 21120 Hunt Club drive, suffered chest injuries when he lost control of his car and smashed into two others parked on Mack avenue. Mancini told police he had fallen asleep at the wheel.

Owners of the parked cars are Robert Weisenburger, 4177 Drexel, and Harold S. Howe, 3998 Haverhill.

Elaine H. Weiler, of 21845 Gaukier, received cuts about her face and a bruised knee when she crashed into the side of a truck that cut in front of her on Kerchival near Devonshire. Driver of the truck, Vincenzo Cammarata, 4657 Lakewood, Detroit, received an injured shoulder.

None of the injuries proved serious, police said.

Unruly Prisoner Damages Cell

Harold D. Ernst, 40, will appear before Judge Don J. Goodrow on January 3, 1953, to answer a disorderly person charge.

Woods police arrested Ernst and Merrill J. Hodgson 46, of 2065 Ridgmont, after they had gotten in a fight in a Mack avenue bar, shortly before 1 a.m., December 20.

While in the cell block at the Woods police station, Ernst, who lives at 1659 Hollywood, became violent and caused considerable damage to his cell. Woods Director of Public Safety, Verne Bailey, said that the damages amounted to about $40.

Sergt. Labadie On Retirement

Elmer T. Labadie will end his duties as Detective Sergeant in charge of the Grosse Pointe Farms Detective Bureau today, December 24, after 25 years of service.

Labadie, who is 47, lives at 482 Belanger. He was promoted to sergeant and made head of the Detective Bureau in 1946. He will remain on an inactive status until February 16, 1953, when his retirement will officially take effect.

Farms Approves Investment For Efficient Bookkeeping

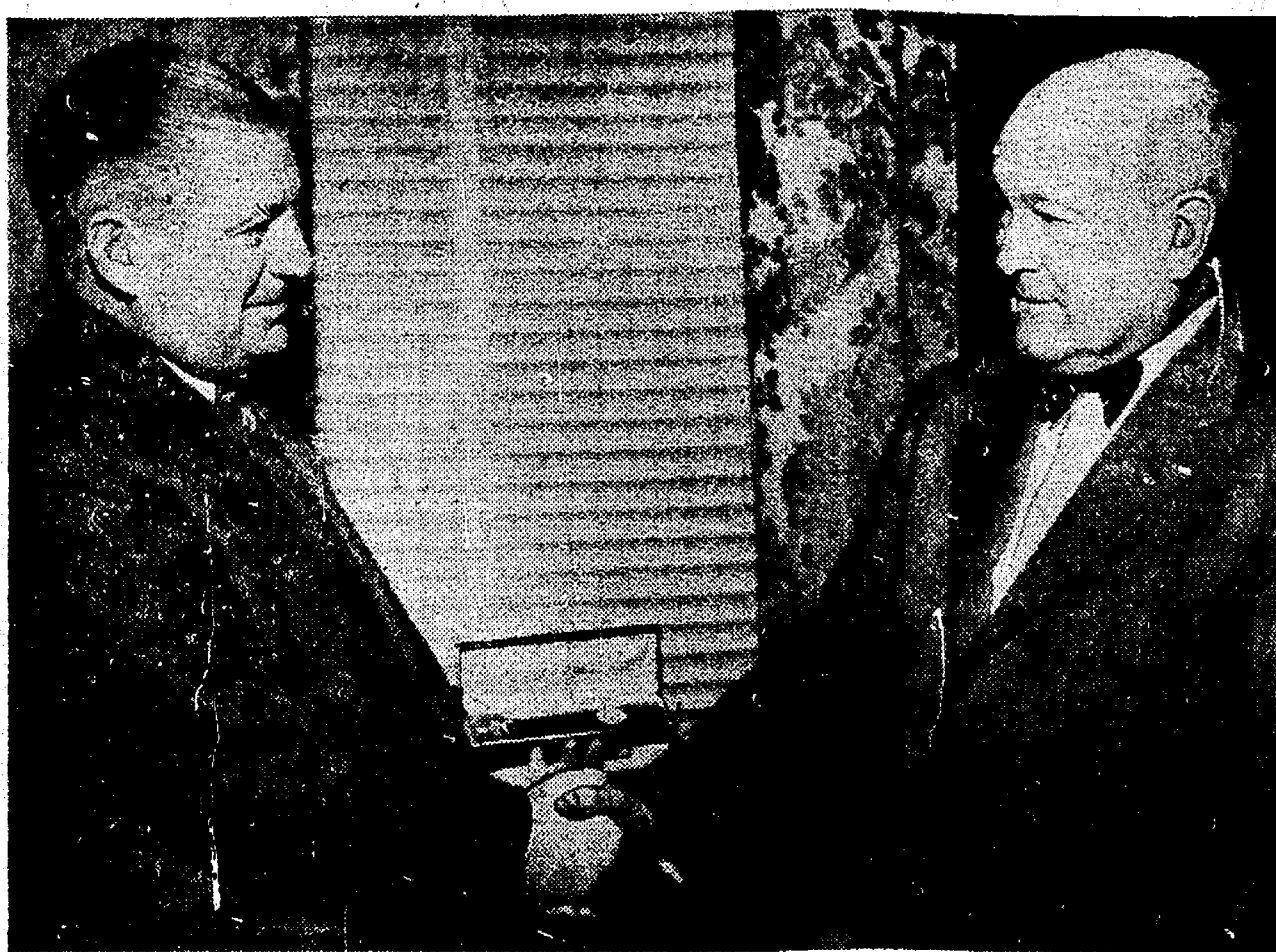

The Grosse Pointe Farms city council approved the purchase of a bookkeeping machine at an expenditure only slightly above an original appropriation of $1,950, at its regular meeting on December 15. Principal advantages:

1. That cash receipts and disbursements can be posted daily on an appropriation ledger or revenue sheet without having to handle or close out at any given date all revenues or invoices which have accumulated.
2. The conditions of an appropriation can be given from the ledger sheet at a glance, thus assuring ready budget control which is impossible in our present system of operating.
3. Department heads can be readily informed of budget balances in the matter of minutes, together with all encumbrances to date, a condition which is impossible under the present system.

4. It would also provide the following record which from past experiences are valuable to the City without the necessity of additional work, as the records are made at the time of original posting. This cannot be done in our present system without a great deal of additional work.
 - (a) Record of purchases by vendor.
 - (b) Detail of payments to vendor attached to remittance.
 - (c) Detail of payment by City attached to bills.
 - (d) Numerical cross reference for locating vendor or disbursement record.

Furton added that the machine will not be a time-saving device in that the additional filing, required by its installation will offset those items which represent time saving; however, its purchase will be in line with modern practices.

From One Pointer to Another

Parke, Davis and Company held a banquet in the Veterans Memorial Building in Detroit to honor 320 veteran employees who have rendered long years of distinguished service to the outstanding drug concern. Among these 320, all of whom received gold watches, was HOMER FRITSCH, right, executive vice-president of the company and mayor of Grosse Pointe Park. He is shown receiving his watch from HARRY J. LOYND of Neff road, president of Parke, Davis. The service of all those honored at the dinner totals more than 10,000 years. Mr. Fritsch has been with the company for almost 37 years.

Reckless Drivers Pay Up in Court

Judge C. Joseph Belanger heard 11 cases at the December 17 session of the Grosse Pointe Park municipal court.

Two defendants failed to appear to answer speeding charges. Each forfeited bonds: James L. Gallagher, 1606 Hillger, $15; Raymond La Rose, of 725 St. Jean, $11.

Jerusha M. Morrison, 780 Grand Marais, and Mrs. Marie E. Kitchen, of 1427 Buckingham, were exonerated of charges placed against them. Morrison had been charged with reckless driving, and Mrs. Kitchen had been charged with causing an accident.

Reckless driving fines of $20 were handed down to John Fiscelli, of 588 Harding, and May C. Robertson, 1010 Harward.

Edward W. Bazyldo, 857 Beaconsfield, was fined $10. He had been involved in an accident.

For speeding and passing improperly, Joyce M. Adams, 1744 Shepherd, Detroit, received a $20 fine.

Ordered to pay court costs of $5 was Joyce E. Matheson, 1029 Beaconsfield. She had been charged with reckless driving, causing an accident.

For violation of the drunk motor law and causing an accident, Frank J. Morissette, 5573 Bluehill, received a $75 fine and had his license revoked for 6 months.

Placed on 6 months probation and fined $75 was Frank Zubach, 731 Tennessee, who had been charged with reckless driving.

J. A. MacCartney Honored by APA

John A. MacCartney, trade relations manager of Parke, Davis & Company, has been elevated to first vice president of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

The 47-year-old executive will be installed with other new officers at the annual convention in Salt Lake City the week of Aug. 16. He has served during the past year as second vice-president of the association, which represents approximately 30,000 pharmacists throughout the United States. It is the oldest such organization of its kind.

As trade relations manager of Parke-Davis, MacCartney makes more than 100 speeches before professional groups across the country each year. He also supervises the pharmaceutical firm's unique plant tours, which attract over 10,000 persons annually. The visitors, who pay their own expenses to and from Detroit for the privilege of walking 10 miles through the Parke-Davis laboratories, are connected directly or indirectly with the pharmaceutical industry—practicing physicians, pharmacists and dentists; hospital internes and resident doctors; and upperclassmen from schools of medicine and pharmacy.

A native of Claysville, Pa., MacCartney was graduated from the College of Pharmacy at the University of Pittsburgh in 1928 and almost immediately joined Parke-Davis. During World War II, he served with the U. S. Army medical corps in the Pacific and was in charge of medical supply during the first occupation of Korea in 1945. He rejoined Parke-Davis in June, 1946, and soon afterwards was promoted to trade relations manager.

St. Paul League Pushes Classics

St. Paul High School's Latin Department is promoting an appreciation of Roman culture and Latin classics through the Junior Classical League. The members of this organization are students in the Latin II, and Latin III classes.

The officers of this club which was chartered two years ago are: Consul, Blanche Finney; Scriba, Joan Marks; Aedile, Wally Hogue; Editrix, Charlotte Klein, and Quaestor, Don Reid.

The J. C. L. held a general meeting on December 17 and invited the high school students to be its guests. The usual procedures of the meeting were replaced by the presentation of three one act plays.

Wally Hogue introduced the program while explaining to his dummy the origin of the Roman feast, Saturnalia, which is parallel to Christmas. Elaine Barbret and Kay Ann Addy depicted Romans and Joelen Clapsaddle and Barbara Beaupre were Americans in a skit comparing the two celebrations.

The Freshmen presented the play, "Little Red Riding Hood," in Latin. The cast included Susan Sepic in the title role and James McCusker as the big, bad wolf.

Next the Sophomores dramatized "Cinderella," starring Gail Dodge, Robert Lowers, Delores Krauss, Rosemary Hanzl and Suzanne Francis.

The selection of the Latin III class was "Saturnalia." Featured in this were Richard Schlaff, Thomas Dixon, Charlotte Klein, Ellen Connelly and Don Reid.

Thief Ransacks Service Station

The Sinclair gas station at 18480 Mack avenue, was broken into December 16, its main office having been completely ransacked.

The entry was reported by owner William Mastoriannis on opening the station for service that morning. Farms police investigating the incident stated that entry had been gained through a rear window.

No merchandise was taken. Mastoriannis told police that he had left no cash in the station.

Pointe Toy Club Remembers Kids

Under the direction of Park Police Chief Arthur Louwers and Fire Chief Edward Rector, the Toy Club of Grosse Pointe will provide Christmas toys for underprivileged children again this year.

The Toy Club fund, which attempts to see that "No (Pointe) child will be without a toy on Christmas" is established by the Pointe Rotary and Lions Clubs. Last year, the Toy Club distributed toys to at least 275 children.

KID BITS

By NANCY MacDONALD

The victorious Blue Devils were well supported on the home court last Friday, December 19, by both students and alumni.

Some of the "bleacher-sitters" that night were Jean Leete, Carol Vestal, Mary Jane Clemente, Maral Moleaneaux, Barb Marco, Janet Fildew, Karen Temple, Scofield, Stu Smith, Terry Keys, Mary Hoover, Skip Clark, Carol Cumberworth, Cathy Marick, Phil Beach, Nancy Thomas, Shirley Pressel, Bob Prince, Kurt Ewend, Betty Sykes, Frannie Crowley, Doris Rock, and Jim Stockwell. Peg Moreland, George Bashara, Sue Armstrong, Norm Laska, Jane Rowe, and Cleo Bonbright were some of the old alumni there.

After the game lots of kids went over to the War Memorial for dancing and refreshments. Terry Snowday, Barb Burrows, Carol Thomas, Tom Richards, Ruth Snell, John Bonbright Chris Froelen, Sue Hurt Marsha Murphy, Bruce Crowley, Janie Thompson, John Sylvestri, Fran Stricker, and Bill Brabb were just a few of the kids seen there that night.

Donna Mae Smith's house was the scene of another post-game celebration. Munching on potato chips and punch there after the game were Reese McFarlane, Hal Drinkaus, Anne Orebaugh, Marty Potter, Judy Wilson, Sue Squire, Dave Hulbert, Nancy Seydler, Alex Forester, Carole Vollmer, Nancy Venderbush, Lee Clancy, and Randy Fitch, to mention only few.

Saturday night, the 20th Peggy Guinane had some girls over for a pot-luck dinner. Theresa Gazerato, Sally Rae, Janie Hester, Barb McGrath, Sue Fairchild, Ilene Bryant, Anita Hatch, Janet Wotta, Annette Danna, Julie Trombly and Jeremy Conway were some of the kids there. Still more: Marietta Cashen, Barb Lowe, Margie Payne, Evie But-ton and Audrey Gayer.

There was lots to do in the home of Joan Rivette Sunday night, December 21. Joan had a few friends in for a Christmas package wrapping party. Besides wrapping packages, it was also a good time for a hag party. Some of the "Santa Clauses" that night were Mary Manning, Carolyn Mithcell, Carolyn Piotrosky, Doris Rock, Mary Roll, Janet Roberts, Dianne Gabriel, Judy Roach, Ginny Vlietinck, Carol Schumann, Elaine Fetzer, and Janet Raetzl.

Surviving him are his wife, Mildred E., and two sisters, Mrs.

Caution Urged During Holidays

Police, Traffic Court judges and safety officials joined today to urge Detroiters to drive and walk with redoubled caution during the Christmas Holiday week, the most dangerous in the year for traffic accident fatalities.

Traffic Court Judges George T. Murphy and John D. Watts, pointing out it was not their intention to discourage any gaiety, emphasized that the policy of sending drunk drivers to jail for longer terms was again in force during the holiday season. This applies also to reckless drivers who have been drinking, they said.

Director of Traffic James A. Hoye said that additional police officers have been assigned to Detroit's most dangerous areas during the times accidents most often occur. They will be particularly alert for pedestrians who endanger their own lives by darting into the street in front of oncoming traffic, he said.

"The officers have been instructed to issue tickets, not warnings," Director Hoye said. "We must save pedestrians from their own folly. Nearly nine out of ten of the persons killed so far in December have been persons afoot and most of them have been wholly responsible for their own deaths."

Donald Slutz, managing director of the Traffic Safety Association, recalled that one year 25 persons were killed in traffic accidents in Detroit during the week between Christmas and New Year's. Most of them were pedestrians who were struck at night, he said. He also urged those attending parties not to drink and then drive.

"If you have had too much to drink, get someone to drive you home, or take a cab," he said. "Arranging for rides or calling cabs for those not in condition to drive is also a good tip for every host. No one wants his party to be the cause of a tragic accident."

State Police Arrests Jump

Michigan State Police made 6,612 arrests in November, an increase of four percent over the 6,369 in the same month a year ago. Of the total, 5,785 were for traffic offenses. Not included in the total were 418 juvenile offenders—minors involved in traffic offenses or delinquent and wayward—as compared to 331 a year ago.

There was a 10 percent increase in complaints handled in all matters, 6,739 over 6,122. Mileage traveled in all activities was 752,650. Troopers also made 20,726 property inspections and 3,281 liquor inspections.

The East Lansing headquarters identification bureau received 3,770 sets of criminal fingerprints and 2,212 non-criminal. Through fingerprint identifications, 87 of 644 applicants for licenses to carry concealed weapons were found to have criminal records. Likewise, nine persons wanted by police as fugitives from justice were identified.

Three Injured In Two Crashes

Two auto accidents in Grosse Pointe Park on December 20 resulted in injuries to three people. Park police took all of the injured to Bon Secours Hospital for treatment.

Eugene C. Mancini, of 21120 Hunt Club drive, suffered chest injuries when he lost control of his car and smashed into two others parked on Mack avenue. Mancini told police he had fallen asleep at the wheel.

Owners of the parked cars are Robert Weisenburger, 4177 Drexel, and Harold S. Howe, 3998 Haverhill.

Elaine H. Weiler, of 21845 Gaukier, received cuts about her face and a bruised knee when she crashed into the side of a truck that cut in front of her on Kercheval near Devonshire. Driver of the truck, Vincenzo Cammarata, 4657 Lakewood, Detroit, received an injured shoulder.

None of the injuries proved serious, police said.

Farms Approves Investment For Efficient Bookkeeping

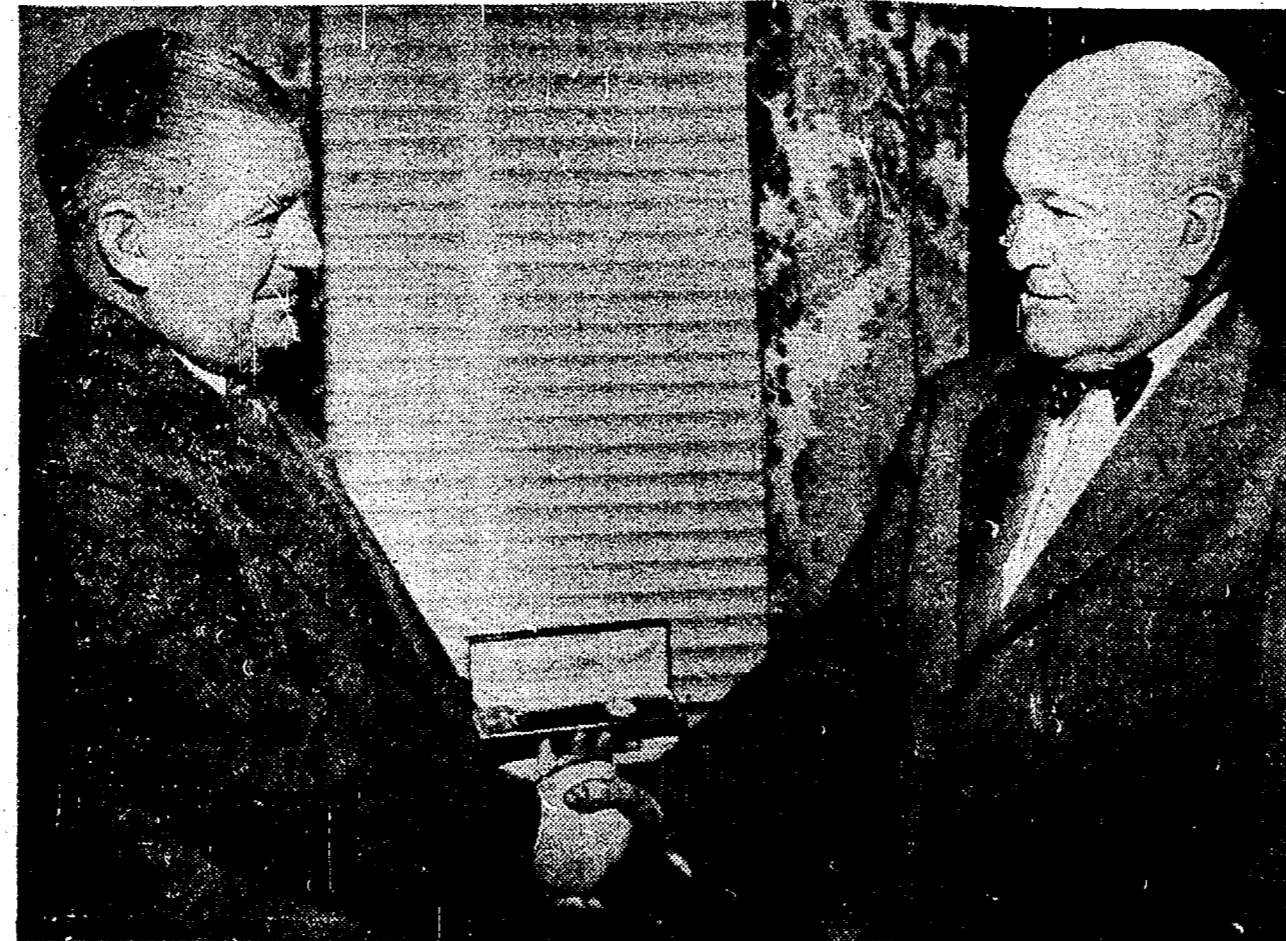

The Grosse Pointe Farms city council approved the purchase of a bookkeeping machine at an expenditure only slightly above the original appropriation of $1,950, at its regular meeting on December 15. Principal advantages:

1. That cash receipts and disbursements can be posted daily on an appropriation ledger or revenue sheet without having to handle or close out at any given date all revenues or invoices which have accumulated.
2. The conditions of an appropriation can be given from the ledger sheet at a glance, thus assuring ready budget control which is impossible in our present system of operating.
3. Department heads can be readily informed of budget balances in the matter of minutes, together with all encumbrances to date, a condition which is impossible under the present system.

4. It would also provide the following record which from past experiences are valuable to the City without the necessity of additional work, as the records are made at the time of original posting. This cannot be done in our present system without a great deal of additional work.
 - (a) Record of purchases by vendor.
 - (b) Detail of payments to vendor attached to remittance.
 - (c) Detail of payment by City attached to bills.
 - (d) Numerical cross reference for locating vendor or disbursement record.

Furton added that the machine will not be a time-saving device in that the additional filing, required by its installation will offset those items which represent time saving; however, its purchase will be in line with modern practices.

A native of Claysville, Pa., MacCartney was graduated from the College of Pharmacy at the University of Pittsburgh in 1928 and almost immediately joined Parke-Davis. During World War II, he served with the U. S. Army medical corps in the Pacific and was in charge of medical supply during the first occupation of Korea in 1945. He rejoined Parke-Davis in June, 1946, and soon afterwards was promoted, to trade relations manager.

The J. C. L. held a general meeting on December 17 and invited the high school students to be its guests. The usual procedures of the meeting were replaced by the presentation of three one act plays.

Wally Hogue introduced the program while explaining to his dummy the origin of the Roman feast, Saturnalia, which is parallel to Christmas. Elaine Barbret and Kay Ann Addy depicted Romans and Joleen Clapsaddle and Barbara Beupre were Americans in a skit comparing the two celebrations.

Pointe Toy Club Remembers Kids

Under the direction of Park Police Chief Arthur Louwers and Fire Chief Edward Rector, the Toy Club of Grosse Pointe will provide Christmas toys for underprivileged children again this year.

The Toy Club fund, which attempts to see that "No (Pointe) child will be without a toy on Christmas" is established by the Pointe Rotary and Lions' Clubs. Last year, the Toy Club distributed toys to at least 275 children.

With best wishes for Christmas!

In appreciation for your valued friendship we wish to express our sincerest wishes for A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year.

KID BITS

By NANCY MacDONALD

The victorious Blue Devils were well supported on the home court last Friday, December 19, by both students and alumni.

Some of the "bleacher-sitters" that night were Jean Leete, Carol Vestal, Mary Jane Clemente, Maral Moleaneaux, Barb Marco, Janet Fildew, Karen Temple, Scofield, Stu Smith, Terry Keys, Mary Hoover, Skip Clark, Carol Cumberworth, Cathy Marick, Phil Beach, Nancy Thomas, Shirley Pressel, Bob Prince, Kurt Ewend, Betty Sykes, Frannie Crowley, Doris Rock, and Jim Stockwell. Peg Moreland, George Bashara, Sue Armstrong, Norm Laska, Jane Rowe, and Cleo Bonbright were some of the old alumni there.

After the game lots of kids went over to the War Memorial for dancing and refreshments. Terry Snowday, Barb Burrows, Carol Thomas, Tom Richards, Ruth Snell, John Bonbright Chris Froelen, Sue Hurt Marsha Murphy, Bruce Crowley, Janie Thompson, John Sylvestri, Fran Stricker, and Bill Brabb were just a few of the kids seen there that night.

Donna Mae Smith's house was the scene of another post-game celebration. Munching on potato chips and punch there after the game were Reese McFarlane, Hal Drinkaus, Anne Grebaugh, Marty Potter, Judy Wilson, Sue Squire, Dave Hulbert, Nancy Seydler, Alex Forester, Carole Vollmer, Nancy Venderbush, Lee Clancy, and Randy Fitch, to mention only few.

Saturday night, the 20th Peggy Guinane had some girls over for a pot-luck dinner. Theresa Gazerato, Selly Rae, Janie Hester, Barb McGrath, Sue Fairchild, Ilene Bryant, Anita Hatch, Janet Wolta, Annette Danna, Julie Trombly and Jeremy Conway were some of the kids there. Still more: Marietta Cashen, Barb Lowe, Margie Payne, Evie Button and Audrey Gayer.

There was lots to do in the home of Joan Rivette Sunday night, December 21. Joan had a few friends in for a Christmas package wrapping party. Besides wrapping packages, it was also a good time for a hag party. Some of the "Santa Clauses" that night were Mary Manning, Carolyn Mitchell, Carolyn Piotrosky, Doris Rock, Mary Roll, Janet Roberts, Dianne Gabriel, Judy Roach, Ginny Vlietinck, Carol Schumann, Elaine Fetzler, and Janet Raetzl.

Cynthia Hobart's tea last Sunday officially opened the holiday for lots of kids. Some of those who came to wish Cynthia the traditional "Merry Christmas and Happy New Year" were Nancy Naragon, Barb Eyre, June Lang, Nancy Rosnagle, Glenna Howell, Mary Hoover, Karen Temple, Sally Tripp, Emmy Galbraith, Sue Cleminson, Nancy Ryan, Mary Manning, Sally Fisher, and Carol Parnall. Terry Khun, Janet Roberts, Ena Casey, and Mary Roll were just a few more of the kids who thought the Christmas punch Cynthia served was just terrific.

New Year Fete At Boat Club

Pointe members of the Detroit Boat Club are making plans to see the New Year in at the club on Belle Isle.

The John T. Seebers will be hosts to 34 of their friends at cocktails before going over to the club for the New Year's Eve Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy DeHart of Harvard road have invited 20 guests for cocktails in their home. Commodore Frank Reid and Mrs. Reid will entertain members of the yachting committee in their McMillan road home and then go on to the club for dinner and dancing till '53.

Still others who'll be hosts at New Year's Eve parties at the Boat Club are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Treadwell, Mr. and Mrs. John Kinsey, and Tom Mercier.

Co-chairmen of the party are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Massnick and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel M. Carne who are being assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Woodward Warrick and Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Allison.

The buffet breakfast will be a sturdy affair, its lavish menu containing even filet mignon.

Mr. and Mrs. Addison M. Holton were hosts to the debutante set at a buffet supper party Sunday evening honoring Katrina Kanzler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kanzler.

The party took place in the East Jefferson avenue home of the Holton's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Kammer Jr.

The party was most informal, a sort of first get-together before the season's serious debuts got under way. Christmas decorations were used throughout the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Holton also will give their family dinner party this year.

On Saturday they will leave for the West coast to divide their time between Palms Springs and the Huntington Hotel in Pasadena until late February.

On Wednesday, December 17, the Paulites began their Christmas Triduum, praying before the Crib in the corridor. After the Triduum exercises, they proceeded to the gym where the primary grades of the Grade School presented a Christmas program.

During the afternoon, a radio skit about Christmas and Russia was presented by several Sodalis. Following this, the Latin classes entertained the students with two plays.

Phi Kappa Theta Pledges Initiated at Formal Dinner

Phi Kappa Theta sorority of Dominican High School held its formal initiation on Saturday night, December 15. The traditional dinner was held at the Whittier Hotel.

President Barbara Lenz read the ceremonial constitution, which was followed by the presentation of awards and scrolls to new members.

Best Pledge award was presented to Margo Jeckel. Honorable mention went to Arlene Warren.

Wednesday night the St. Paul Freshman girls played the St. Paul Sophomore girls. The Sophomore girls defeated the Freshmen 12-9. Barbara Herron and Mary Sutherland were Sophomore high scorers and Margaret Sutherland and Joyce Barton were Freshman high scorers.

Thursday afternoon the grade school gave another Christmas program for the high school.

On Friday afternoon, the students re-enacted the Christmas scene. Gifts were presented to Father Melvin, our pastor, Father Cress and Father Link, to the faculty, and the coaches.

Friday evening St. Paul boys met St. Florian at the Neighborhood Club. St. Paul Reserve won 20-19. St. Paul varsity lost, 39-38. Reserve high scorer was Bob Taylor and Varsity high scorer was Tim Champine.

On December 29, the Alumni games are being held at the Neighborhood Club. We hope all Alumni will be present.

THE G SPIRES OF FAITH REACH HIGH this Christmas

It is good for us, at Christmas, to look through the stained glass of our churches and the vaulted arches of our cathedrals . . . to the temples and mosques of the world . . . Look not for differences but for likenesses . . . and we will find them . . .

And, finding them, realize the full meaning of Christmas in Good will to all men . . . There are many nations, but one world . . . Many creeds, but one faith . . . Many men, but one God. We value our world only as we value the rights of all nations . . . We respect our faith only as we respect the beliefs of all creeds . . . We will live in peace under God only as we live in Good Will with all men . . . our brothers.

From Another Pointe of View

By Jane Schermerborn

This corner wishes you the Merriest Christmas . . . and as you tap a dainty toe waiting for Christmas morning . . . and a-l-l those Christmas presents . . .

Let us tell you that the season is holding true to all the time honored customs . . . and Christmas parties and debuts are finding engagement announcements keeping right in pace for social importance . . .

The newest bride-elect, for instance, is pretty Ann Taintor Woodhouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Woodhouse of Lake Shore road . . .

Whose engagement to Murray W. Sales III was announced yesterday at a cocktail party at the Woodhouse residence . . .

The engagement brings together two of Detroit's oldest and most distinguished families . . .

A Surprise Announcement

Invitations for the cocktail party had been out for some time . . . and all the young guests thought they were going to a gala honoring two post debutantes . . . Florence Phelan and Alice Jane Hooker . . .

When presto—the engagement announcement was made. Ann made her debut in the Summer season of 1951, bowing to society at a ball in the Country Club with her cousin, Lee Wadsworth . . .

She is a graduate of Dobbs Ferry . . . and a member of Tau Beta . . .

Will Return to College

Murray is the son of Mrs. Frederick H. Cole of East Jefferson avenue and the late Carter Sales . . .

He attended Fountain Valley School at Colorado Springs. The bride-elect was ever so attractive at her announcement party . . . choosing a waltz length frock of palest blue velvet for the occasion . . .

No wedding date . . . and after the holidays Ann will return to her schoolbooks at Bennett Junior College . . .

Annette Baker - Bride Elect

The Woodhouse-Sales engagement was the second within three days concerning a 1951 debutante . . .

The first was that of blond Annette Baker Torrey, daughter of Mrs. Charles Russell Lea of Rye, N. Y., and William Ford Torrey of Savannah, Ga., and Grosse Pointe . . .

Who'll be married to Francis Peck of Lake Shore road, son of Mrs. Rankin Peck and the late Mr. Peck . . .

And here again will be a wedding involving members of families whose names reach splendidly into Detroit's early history . . .

The news was told at a cocktail party given last Saturday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Torrey at the home of the debutante's grandmother, Mrs. Harry Norton Torrey of Lake Shore road . . .

Made Debut In '51

Annette came out in the autumn of 1951 . . . the first debutante of that season . . . at a ball in her grandmother's home . . .

She graduated from Grosse Pointe Country Day School and presently is a student at Sarah Lawrence College . . . Her bridegroom-elect, who served in the U. S. Navy during World War II . . .

Attended the University of Pennsylvania and Detroit College of Law . . .

Leave For Georgia

For the remainder of the holidays, Annette will be with her grandmother . . . and after the first of the year . . . will return to Sarah Lawrence . . .

Gertrude Ford Bride Of Samuel E. Cutler, Jr.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burdette E. Ford Repeats Vows With Easterner at Ceremony in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church; To Live in Concord, Mass.

Christmas Day 1952 finds lovely Gertrude Ford the Pointe's newest young matron. She was married Saturday afternoon to Samuel Ernest Cutler, Jr., in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

The Rev. Frank Fitt officiated at the 4 o'clock ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Country Club of Detroit.

Gertrude is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burdette E. Ford, of Sunningdale drive, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ernest Cutler of Newton, Mass.

A shimmering gown of pale ivory satin was worn by the bride. Hand corded Alençon lace fashioned the deep necked bodice and long sleeves of the gown. The great skirt extended into a cathedral train.

The bride wore a Dutch bridal cap which held fingertip veil of imported silk illusion.

Her flowers were white spray orchids and lilies of the valley. Seven of Gertrude's friends were her attendants. All were gowned in hyacinth blue opera length frocks.

Tiny illusion veils in blue were finished with brief nose veils and all the attendants carried small bouquets of crisp pink carnations.

Elizabeth Kemp was Gertrude's maid of honor.

The bridesmaids were Ann Louise, Smith, Mrs. William P. Fisher, Joan Mooney of Toronto, Betsy Cutler of Newton, Mass., sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Thomas B. Whittingham and Suzanne Reekie.

Serving as best man was M. Parker Butts Jr. of Newton and the bridesmen included Douglas Donald Jr., Charles E. Holman II of Topeka, Kans., Richard E. Cutler of Squantum, Mass., William C. Boydell, William Bellows and Ray A. Eusden Jr. of North Andover, Mass.

Attending her daughter's wedding in navy lace opera length gown, Mrs. Ford pinned white spray orchids on her handbag. Her small hat was also designed of navy lace.

Mrs. Cutler, mother of the bridegroom, chose for the occasion a gown of wine lace with small hat of dusty pink feathers. Her corsage was of pink spray orchids.

Bridal white and Christmas greens formed the background for the Country Club wedding reception.

The Cutlers left in the early evening on their wedding trip to Lake Placid and New Hampshire.

In mid-January they will arrive in Concord, Mass., where they will make their home.

Charm of Old Venice Colors Kanzler Ball

Country Club Transformed Into Eighteenth Century Venetian Palace For Debut of Katrina Kanzler, Daughter of The Ernest Kanzlers of Lake Shore Road.

One of the most brilliant balls in Detroit's social history was given Tuesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kanzler of Lake Shore road presented their only daughter, Katrina, to society at the Country Club.

For the occasion the interior of the Country Club was completely transformed and guests walked into a wondrously exotic Venetian palace of the Eighteenth Century.

Venetian pink and ice blue, complementing the bal gowns designed by Mainbocher for Mrs. Kanzler and the evening's debutante, were the predominant colors of the beautiful scene.

Guests walked into a gallery canopied in pink and white with tulle and walls gaily flanked by the soft brilliance of chiffon flags in the manner of festive occasions in Venice of two centuries ago.

The gallery was lined with lemon trees made of cotton and hung with real lemons, and from balcony, black Venetian lanterns accented the decor with a delicate diffusion of pink light.

Mr. and Mrs. Kanzler and Katrina received their guests in the French room which had been completely changed into a severely formal Venetian drawing room. They stood in front of a baroque screen flanked by columns holding flower-filled classical urns.

The debutante's bal gown was in three shades of poudre blue French brocade, its strapless corsage completely embroidered in pattern accentuating the lilac flowers and leaves of the brocade. The tremendous bouffant skirt had the same embroidery in wide diagonal bands that sparkled with twinkling crystal bugle beads.

Mrs. Kanzler was gowned in heavy Duchesse satin toned in deep French lilac pink. An entirely new treatment was used by Mainbocher on the corsage, a note of striking simplicity, and the great skirt was floor-touching. The skirt was worn over a pale lilac crinoline petticoat.

Leaving the drawing room, guests found the club's English lounge the duplicate of a baroque ballroom camouflaged by vividly painted fies (or festival banners) and backgrounds. Here the decor was again pink and white with overtone design of Venetian fans, musical instruments, bizarre masques, urns and greenery.

Even the chandelier of the club ballroom was converted to resemble Eighteenth Century Venetian crystal. There were chiffon streamers from banner poles adding a feeling of movement and gaiety to the ball.

Jack Marshard's Boston Orchestra played from a dias covered in deep pink encircled with black and gold balustrades.

Proceeding into the lounge bar, which had been stripped of furniture and its own decoration, walls were done in overscale indirectly lighted shadow boxes revealing motifs associated with the charm of a Venetian night. A milk bar for the young set was painted in harlequin design and immense Venetian urns held iced refreshments for the guests.

As the last guest was received, the Kanzlers and Katrina left the drawing room which was immediately (and amazingly) changed into an intimate supper room for the breakfast that followed the ball.

Dozens and dozens of white clad chefs found places behind a huge rectangular table, draped in gold and white, bearing chafing dishes and handsome serving dishes filled with the ambrosia gourmets' dreams are made of.

Each corner of this buffet had a large gilded epergne (reaching almost to the ceiling) overflowing with grapes and fruits of the season.

The fuchsia cloths of the supper tables were centered with golden baskets holding favors for the guests (packets of matches with the deb's name on them, etc.)

For those who wished a more intimate atmosphere, the club grill had tiny tables covered with Schiaparelli pink cloths (each signed with the deb's name in large scroll). The scene was lighted by pink hurricane lamps, at each table, holding golden baskets.

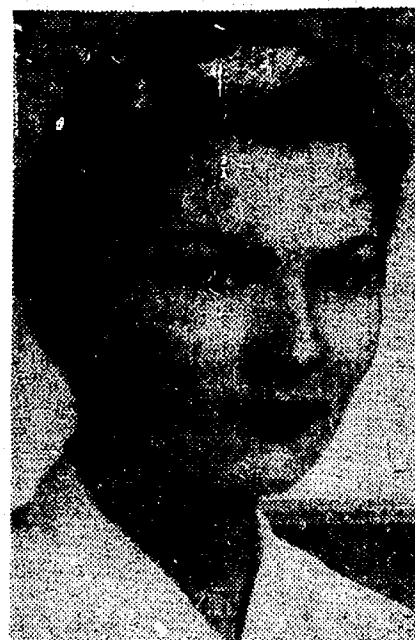

The debutante's ushers for the ball were George R. Beatty, Richard Bingham, Henry E. Bodman II, Joseph Buell III, Lawrence D. Buhl Jr., Henry Caulkins, Benjamin Chapman, Frederick J. Fisher Jr., James Fitzpatrick Jr., Gordon Ford, Robert

Dance Honors Anne Phelan

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Phelan, Jr. of Moross road gave a dance for the sub-deb at the Little Club Saturday evening to compliment their daughter, Anne.

Anne wore a dancing frock of yellow and gray tulle for her party which brought together some one hundred and fifty members of the boarding school crowd.

Mrs. Phelan chose a black velvet gown, its opera length skirt lined in flame satin.

The club was in holiday dress for the evening, a huge wreath over the fireplace in the dining room was trimmed in musical instruments.

A big brandy snifter filled with holly was used on the punch table set on the glassed-in porch of the club. There were holly and mistletoe in the chandeliers for the young merry-makers.

Proceeding the Phelan dance there were a number of dinner parties given by some of the guests.

Frederick M. Alger, Jr. III, who was celebrating his eighteenth birthday, was honored at a dinner party given by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Alger, Jr. in their home on East Jefferson avenue. About 20 guests were invited.

Another young man of the sub-deb stagline, George Villerot, Jr. was given a dinner before the dance by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Villerot. It took place at the Country Club.

Anne and her younger sister, Terry, will spend the holidays with their parents and on the sixth of January leave for Washington D.C. where they attend Visitation Convent.

To Premiere 'da Vinci'

"Leonardo da Vinci," the feature-length color film biography of the fabulously gifted Renaissance genius will have its mid-west premiere showing at the Art Institute Auditorium, December 28 through 30.

This spectacular movie, covering the life and works of Leonardo through his paintings, his private notebooks, his anatomical drawings and his startling inventions is a climax for Detroit's month-long celebration of the 500th anniversary of his birth.

Detroit was selected for this first showing outside New York because the career of the 15th century artist and inventive genius is of particular interest here. Da Vinci not only painted the "Mona Lisa" and the "Last Supper," he designed the first automobile, the flying machine, the helicopter, the military tank, the machine gun, even the monkey wrench and the jack.

During the five-day run, there will be continuous showings (six daily), from 1:30 p.m. to 11 p.m., with the last complete show at 9:30 p.m.

The film was made on actual locations in Rome, Venice, Milan, Paris and New York. Among the world famous da Vinci paintings here brought to life for film-goers for the first time in full detail and color are the "Mona Lisa," "Maddonna of the Rocks" and others from the Louvre in Paris, "The Last Supper" from Milan, "The Adoration of the Magi" from Florence, and "St. Jerome" from the Vatican Galleries, Rome.

Close-ups of da Vinci's sketches and notebooks (in which he wrote backward to confuse prying eyes) and working, scale models of his inventions trace his discoveries in engineering and anatomy. The Italian countryside, the cities and buildings in which he lived and worked are a background for the record of his achievements.

Produced by Picture Films who were responsible for "Picture-Adventure in Art," the movie is presented in Detroit for the benefit of the Detroit Museum of Art Founders Society.

Jane Suzanne Slade Season's First Deb

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Blount Slade of Edgemere Road Presented to Society by Mother at Afternoon Reception and Tea at Detroit Athletic Club

It was easy to see why the young set so eagerly anticipated this holiday's debut season when its very first debutante, Jane Suzanne Slade, bowed prettily at a late afternoon reception Monday in the Detroit Athletic Club.

The debutante, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Blount Slade of Edgemere road, was presented to society by her mother. She was a charming selection to open the series of Christmastime debuts.

Borrowing colors of the holiday season in the decor, the ladies dining room of the club rang merrily as some 200 members of society called to meet the first debutante.

She was lovely in the classical version of a deb's coming out gown. It was a cloud of white tulle designed with sculptured bodice and bouffant skirt that reached floor length.

A single line of rhinestones twinkled from the tulle shoulder straps of the dress.

Jane carried her father's gift bouquet of pink roses which found complement in her tiny pink satin slippers.

Mrs. Slade received her guests in a handsome frock of black taffeta, fashioned waltz length. The bodice had smart scoop neckline and push-up sleeves and the black was relieved by neckline embroidery of encrusted pearls and rhinestones.

Mrs. Slade's flowers were white orchids.

The afternoon's tea table had

Christmas.....1952

By the time this is read the last frantic preparations for the celebration of Christmas will have been completed. The harried shopkeepers and their equally harried clerks and customers will have surmounted the last great surge of selling and buying. Tired mothers and tired housewives will have checked their lists for the final time. Tired businessmen will have attended their last office parties and even tired newspaper people will have wrestled their last abnormally heavy issue of the year off the press.

Tired schoolboys and girls, endowed with too much youthful stamina and exuberance to realize they are tired, will have taken their first holiday galas in stride and be waiting eagerly for all the succeeding ones.

Footsore and weary postmen and auxiliary post office helpers will have delivered their last greeting cards and packages. Harrassed cooks will have decorated their last Christmas cakes and cookies and all the turkeys, ducks and geese will have been stuffed and ready for the oven.

The Great Day will be here and the strenuous preparatory past will be buried under the joys of presents received and given, the glitter of the Christmas tree and the warm feeling that comes in homes decked with holly and mistletoe and pine and filled with friends and loved ones.

With all the frenzy of getting ready, and all the excitement of the actual arrival of Christmas, will there be time for a solemn contemplation of the real significance of this greatest day of the Christian calendar? Will there be a pause to give thanks for our greatest gifts, the ones bestowed on us early nearly two thousand years ago when the Lord sent the Christ Child to teach His people a new way of life?

The light brought into the world by the Babe of Bethlehem has flickered into near darkness at times. But the impact of His lesson was so strong that there were always inspired followers to fan it back to brilliance and to enlist replacements in the legion of the devout.

Faith in this Divine Leadership has been our strongest weapon during all the terrible times of trial to which we have been subjected. It remains our strongest weapon in our present struggle to achieve the goal for which he constantly strived: "Peace on earth... to all men of good will."

At the close of World War II it appeared that this goal might be closer than at any time in history. The succeeding years have brought frustration at the hands of an atheistic power, but the fight continues. It will go on as long as the influence of the Child in the Manger remains.

At this Christmas season we may be thankful for the great strength we have derived from the Saviour whose birthday we celebrate. May we continue to use the power with which He has endowed us, towards the end of achieving enduring peace, prosperity, happiness and humility for all of His children, everywhere.

(Edgar Allen Poe)

Some time ago we read an article in the newspaper about a quartet of bandits who held up some guests at a dinner party and got away with a sizable amount of loot. We read it with mild interest, since it happened in Indiana instead of around the corner. Recently, we ran into a man who knows the guy whose house WUZ robbed that night... so the story takes on a little flavor.

It seems that the host of the party in question is one of those good-time Charlies who is everybody's friend when he's had a few under his belt. (Drinks, that is, not friends.) On this particular night, he and his wife were entertaining in a plush style for some 200 guests in their home. The party being what it was and the host being what he's worth, the lady guests were dressed up to HERE in mink and diamonds and the men toted large sums in their wallets for possible card playing after dinner.

'Twas around midnight when the party was really under way, that four nice looking characters in dinner coats, walked in the front door (which was open) and the first man they spotted was the host who happened to be passing through the hallway at the time. One of the men, who had his hand in his pocket in a "nasty" way said: "This is a stick-up!" Our genial host who was now full of bubbly water and good will, roared with laughter and said, "That's a good one. Come on in and make yourselves at home." He then proceeded to usher them into the drawing room, where he announced to his guests that "Haw, haw, haw, this is a stick-up." A few of the guests joined in the merriment and laughed along with the host... but not for long!

Within ten minutes they had emptied every pocket in the room and had the women dump their jewels into a towel on the floor. During this operation, the fourth "Jimmy Valentine" took off for the upstairs rooms, where he relieved the female guests of their valuable furs, which he dumped in the waiting limousine. That's all there is to the story except to point out that there are times when you can be TOO genial to fancy-looking callers who look familiar to you... but only because they look like George Raft in a gangster role.

We are a little tired of the fun men make about the oddities with which women cram their purses. Up to now we haven't quite known what to say or do about this truism... but now we do! We sat between two gentlemen at a recent dinner party and as one word led to another, both men got out their wallets to find a card to prove something rather vague. It would take a page of this newspaper to relate what was in those two wallets, but with mouth agape we took note of the following: Snapshots of the kids and the Mrs., club cards, a variety of worn looking cards dated as far back as 1934 that neither man could remember the origin of (one was still carrying a 1934 automobile license!); there were odd cards telling the world that Mr. Soandso was a member of the "Hotcha" Club and there was a four leaf clover stuck in the wallet to prove it; some of the cards were from obscure hotels around the country (in spots in which they admitted they'd never be AGAIN!), granting them the privilege of cashing a check! We could go on and on with this nonsense but most wives must be familiar with it by now.

We had no sooner gotten over the shock of all this when one of the men wanted to show off a lucky piece, whereupon he hauls out of his pants pocket a key chain that held (we counted them) 35 keys! This is at a party, mind you, where you couldn't possibly have any use for a key other than the one for your house and car. When we asked him about it, he said he felt "undressed" without them and ALWAYS carried them! If this is the general trend for the male population then all we have to say is... don't try to be so funny about what we gals lug around. At least we USE the stuff!

Department ala gourmet: A woman of our acquaintance, the mother of two teen-agers, got a rush call from one of her many "boards" that they were calling a meeting at such and such a time and she must be there. She was in the midst of preparing a 6:30 chicken dinner when the call came, so she promised to hurry the job and get there as soon as possible.

Her simple menu of chicken, mashed potatoes and peas was in the process of being prepared when her husband wandered into the kitchen and said: "I hope we're having gravy with that." Gravy was the furthest thing from Madame's mind, but being a good hausfrau, she decided she could whip some up in no time with a little corn starch. She called to her daughter to bring her the box of corn starch and when the latter returned with the box our heroine proceeded to mix a batch of gravy post haste.

Not bothering to wonder why the gravy wasn't thickening enough, she rushed through the job, poured the gravy over the chicken and potatoes and set the dishes on the table... excusing herself the while in order to primp up before leaving for the meeting.

Within five minutes, the frantic voice of her husband brought her downstairs again, where she found the children gassing in the bathroom and her husband looking a little pale. He asked what in aich she had given them... that it must be poison because it even smelled funny. A quick investigation in the kitchen brought to light the fact that instead of corn starch... dear daughter had handed her a package of perfumed clothes starch! In her absent minded frenzy to get out of the house she had made some charming perfumed starched gravy to douse the food with! P.S. Everyone survived, but the master of the house has hired a permanent cook!

What Goes on at Your Library

by Jean Taylor

The dark ages, so called because of the intellectual darkness characteristic of the period, lasted for seven hundred years. A literary blackout is about to descend on Grosse Pointe, not we are happy to say for seven centuries, but for a little better than seven days.

The City Branch and the Park Branch will dim their lights December 31 at 5 p.m. These will not be relic at the City. After its long and checkered career, this branch has earned a place in Valhalla or wherever good little libraries go when their work is done.

The Park Branch, 15430 Kercheval, will reopen January 12 at 10 a.m., freshened with new paint. Users of this library will be glad to know Miss Ann Studnicki will be the Branch librarian. If names and faces do not always connect in your mind, Miss Studnicki was described to us by one little girl, as the library lady with the dimples.

Perhaps we should have described this ten day respite as a gray-out rather than a black-out because the Woods Branch in the Parcels school remains open to carry the torch for us and it is a very bright one indeed. The hours are Mondays and Thursdays 12:30 to 9, Fridays and Saturdays 10 to 6 p.m.

Again we remind you that your library card may be used in any Grosse Pointe Library.

If you do not know our Woods Branch, which will celebrate its first birthday in new quarters shortly, now is the time to make its acquaintance. With Christmas packages to be mailed, you have no doubt discovered the whereabouts of the new post office. Continue on Mack a mile or so farther and you will find the Woods Branch.

The brightest star on the present library horizon, as we mentioned last week, is the prospect of the opening of the new Central Library, Monday, January 26. The dedication will take place Sunday, January 25. In the meantime be sure to circle the 25th on your calendar.

Said seven year old Sally, returning overdue books at the City Branch desk... "My books are overdue!"

"Overdied?" queried and amused bystander. "No"... struggled Sally, sensing an error... "not overdied... They're... overdone."

Whether your books are overdue or underdone, you may wish

Friends of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra were enlightened at last Thursday evening's concert, with performances of the Overture to "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart, Brahms' "Symphony in E-Minor, No. 4, Op. 98" the Prelude to Act I of "Lohengrin," by Wagner, and Ravel's "Bolero."

We were particularly interested in the "Bolero" because we believe it is a tour de force of orchestration. Although it is more of an experiment in psychology than a musical masterpiece... The execution of an unvarying rhythm beyond the point of boredom to the verge of madness, is superbly original and effective... and the constant use of the same orchestral theme in always new and interesting, inasmuch as each time it is re-presented the powers of the orchestra are more heavily drawn upon and the brilliant colorations are revealed... this rhythmical theme is sufficiently typical of Spain to have originated in or below the Pyrenees... The cumulative effect of monotony to an agonizing degree, is exactly the effect which Ravel desired to create... and it has been said that it is an "exemplification of the old Chinese torture of the endlessly repeated drops of water... singly they are harmless, but their relentless repetition drives one toward frenzy."

We regard Monsieur Paray as an exceptionally proficient interpreter of orchestral music... and all music lovers should plan to attend a Detroit Symphony concert in the near future.

Plan To Meet That Emergency

By FRED M. KOPP, R.Ph.

If some member of your family were confined to a hospital in an emergency could you afford the cost?

Doctors who encounter such cases constantly know the hardship a long hospital confinement can cause to a family. On the other hand the family who are covered by a hospital insurance need have no great fear of having their savings erased by a serious illness. More than that they are able to get the medical care they need at once, such as X-rays, laboratory tests, etc.

Prepaid medical care is the best plan to assure your health and finances. Ask your doctor about it.

Blue Devil Varsity Favored In Alumni Game on Friday

By Fred Runnells
Grosse Pointe's Alumni basketball team will be a definite underdog when the fifth annual Alumni game gets underway next Friday, December 26, when it meets Coach Howard MacAdam's unbeaten Blue Devil varsity team on the local court.

Boasting a five game winning streak, the Blue Devils are looking forward to chalking up the second victory in the series and add number six to its chain of wins this year.

Well Balanced Squad
With Dave "Stretch" Johnson, "Long Jaw" Smith and Jerry "Bulldog" Goebel leading the way the well-balanced high-scoring varsity squad figures to make a run away game of it and it has the "horses" to do it.

However, the Alumni squad, led by Jim Davisson, currently playing Junior Varsity ball at Ohio State, hopes to spring a few surprises of its own and they are far from beaten. Says Jim, "We may be few in numbers but we have experience on our side and if the boys are on their game we could very easily spring the upset of the year and that's what we are shooting for."

Won't Affect Standings
If the Alumni team makes good its boast the defeat won't count in the Blue Devils' season standings because of an agreement put into effect prior to the first Varsity-Alumni game five years ago.

Reserve coach Bob Kurvink will handle the Blue Devils in the absence of coach MacAdam, who is taking advantage of the long Christmas holiday to vacation in Florida. Kurvink isn't taking the game lightly and has scheduled daily practices for the Blue Devils just to make sure

Records Fall As Tractors Beat Devils

By Fred Runnells

Fordson's swimming team chalked up a 45 to 39 victory over Coach Frank Banach's Blue Devil team BUT they had to break three of their own pool records to do it last Friday, December 19. Fordson's unusually strong second line swimmers and the Tractors' 200-yard speed relay team turned the trick.

Going into the final event Fordson held a narrow 37 to 35 margin and everything depended on the outcome of the 200 yard relay. Fordson won this one by less than a foot margin and captured the most thrilling meet the Tractors have engaged in since they won the State Class A title last year.

Gest Topples Record
Gest broke the Fordson 50-yard freestyle pool record with a 24.3, finishing just ahead of Grosse Pointe's Stuart Smith, who swam a 25.2, and Pat Burke, who took third to tie the Devils' 4 points in the very next event, the 100-yard breast stroke. Kwashey swam a 1:05.3 and his teammate Mike was third behind Walt Clarke.

Walter Pear pushed Fordson's Black to a new pool record in the 100-yard freestyle event which was established at 54.2. Pear had a 56.1 for second place ahead of the Tractors' Schaffer.

Adamski Scores Win
Don Adamski notched the first first place for the Pointers in the 100-yard backstroke. Dan Reaume, son of Denby High's swimming coach Bill Reaume, splashed into another first place for the Devils in the 150-yard individual medley relay event.

The Pointers were able to take only two other firsts and they came when Bruce Crowley beat out Stujanovich in the diving event. Jack Adams gave the Devils third place.

Medley Team Wins
The medley relay combination of Adamski, Clarke and Pear put the Pointers within striking distance of a victory.

The defeat marked the second time in four meets the Devils have been squeezed out and both times the defeats were handed out by the two teams that tied for the Border Cities League title last year. The only two victories so far this year came at the expense of non-league rivals.

Blue Devil followers believe things are bound to get better when their team meets the Monroe Trojans on January 9 in the ONLY Grosse Pointe pool.

Rampaging Blue Devils Beat Fordson Quintet 61 to 39

By Fred Runnells

Displaying a well balanced attack, Coach Howard MacAdam's unbeaten Blue Devil basketball team chalked up its second consecutive Border Cities League victory and fifth of the season when it handed Fordson a 61 to 39 beating on the home court before a capacity crowd that jammed the tiny Grosse Pointe gymnasium to the rafters last Friday, December 19.

The victory enabled the Blue Devils to keep pace with the unbeaten league-leading Highland Park Polar Bears, who knocked off Wyandotte the night previous. The nets with 24 shots while the Tractors collected 11.

Tractor's First Loss
It was Fordson's first defeat in three starts. The Tractors chalked up wins over Wyandotte, 47-33, and a 70 to 60 win over Saginaw High, which is considered one of the top Class A teams in the State this year.

Coach MacAdam almost had a case of nerves worrying about the Fordson game but he was able to sit back and enjoy the contest after the first half of the game. The Blue Devils built up a comfortable 30 to 19 margin at the halftime intermission after the Tractors had hung on desperately in the first quarter to trail by a slim 15 to 12 margin at the end of the Smith, Fraser Star

"Long Jaw" Smith and slippery Sean Fraser gave the coach a chance to relax when they collected 11 and 6 points respectively to lead the first half Blue Devil attack.

These same two boys wound up as the game's leading scorers with Fraser collecting 12 points and Smith 11, which gave him runner-up honors.

MacAdam cleared his bench in the final quarter with the last player entering the game with three minutes left to play. Of the 14 players used, 11 of them found the range for scores.

Fouls Plague Johnson
Dave "Stretch" Johnson, the Devils' beanpole center, found the going a little rougher than in the past two games in which he annexed the individual scoring honors while leading the Pointers to victory. Johnson was plagued by personal fouls and left the contest in the final period after sitting out the third quarter after having accumulated four personal fouls.

He didn't stay around too long in the final period when Referees Frank Connolly and Earl Meyers got tough on the boys for not raising their hands quick enough after having a foul called on them. Johnson collected five points, all of which came on foul shots.

Had Comfortable Lead
However, the loss of Johnson in the final period didn't jeopardize the Pointers' chances of winning because they held a very comfortable lead at the time.

Jerry "Bulldog" Goebel didn't get in the game until halfway through the second period but managed to get 10 points for the Pointers' cause for third place scoring honors.
In only one department did the Tractors excel. They were better from the foul line, getting 17 out of 30 tries as compared to the Devils' 13 of 33 attempts. But the Pointers made up for this in the field goal department, swishing

Nelson Paces Reserves to Fine Victory

By Fred Runnells

Gordie "Buzz Bomb" Nelson was as hot as his red hair indicates last Friday night, December 19, when he came into his own and racked up 25 points to pace the Grosse Pointe Blue Devil reserve cage team to an impressive 63 to 48 victory over the Fordson Tractors on the local court.

The victory was the fourth in five starts for likeable Bob Kurvink, the reserves' new coach who took over when Howard MacAdam moved up to direct the Blue Devils' varsity squad this season. It marked the second straight Border Cities League victory for the reserves.

Devils Start Slowly
Starting slowly, the Devils managed to work out a 13 to 3 margin by the end of the first quarter and a 20 to 15 lead at the halftime intermission after the Tractors had tied the score and taken the lead by a single point halfway through the second period.

All this time Nelson was gradually warming up to his one-man act by collecting two points in the first quarter and five in the second stanza before he broke out in a rash in the final two periods in which he whipped in 18 points.

Nelson is Sparkplug
Nelson sparkplugged the Devils' 18 point third period by collecting half of the total. He kept his hot streak going into the final period and nicked the nets for 9 more points before retiring from the game with three minutes left to play, accompanied by one left to play, accompanied by one left to play.

The Devils were better in every department of play. They hit 25 field goals as compared to Fordson's 17. Both found the free throw range with 12 shots although the Pointers had 22 chances to the Tractors 27.

Devils Much Improved
The Devils were better in every department of play. They hit 25 field goals as compared to Fordson's 17. Both found the free throw range with 12 shots although the Pointers had 22 chances to the Tractors 27.

Coach Kurvink's charges won't see action again until January 9 when they meet Monroe on the Trojans home court at a preliminary game to the Trojan-Blue Devil varsity game.

Standing alone at the foul line Bob held the outcome of the contest in his two hands. But apparently the pressure was too great and he missed his first free throw attempt.

New Basketball Foul Rule Unpopular With Coaches

By Fred Runnells

The new foul rule which provides an extra chance on most trips to the foul line is generally unpopular among high school coaches and players alike and it is the consensus that it won't be in the book next season.

The new rule which was passed by the National Basketball Association and approved by the Michigan State High School Athletic Association "cannot be erased from the book this season" according to Charles Forsythe, State Director.

Has Three Parts
The rule, in three parts, allows an extra free throw on most fouls; makes all fouls compulsory two shot fouls in the final three minutes of the contest; denies the shooting team the chance to take a foul shot and take the ball out of bounds instead.

It is the first part of the rule that most coaches and players don't like and it is possible that if the entire rule isn't tossed out it may be revised and the "one and one" part excluded.

From what we have seen of the rule so far this season we don't like it either. It appears to slow down the game and for the most part puts the emphasis on foul shooting instead of ability to shoot from the floor. The spectators don't like it either because once an official blows his whistle they don't know whether the fouled player will be awarded one or two foul shots. The referee's discretion.

Just a Range Finder
Actually, the extra free throw could be called a "range finder" for that is just about what it is. It provides the shooter a chance to practice on his first shot and make the second attempt. This takes the pressure off the player for he knows if he misses his first charity toss he will get another chance.

The second part of the rule, which makes all fouls a two shot penalty in the last three minutes of play, tends to cut down the deliberate fouling by the trailing team as it attempts to get possession of the ball. In the past many close games have almost gotten out of hand because a trailing team would take a chance on fouling the ball handler in order to get possession of the ball. And this in turn has caused the losing team's followers to become angry when their team is penalized. In some cases the spectators have become so wrought up that they take out their anger on the winning team's followers outside the school after the game.

The third part of the rule, which allows a team a chance to refuse its foul shot and take the ball out of bounds, is a strategic maneuver of a team to retain possession of the ball while trying to protect its lead in the dying moments of the game. This will not prevent the leading team from stalling the clock out but it does give a trailing team a chance to get possession of the ball.

A new experiment was tried out by mutual agreement by the coaches of the four teams that participated in the Motor City Classic basketball tourney held at the University of Detroit.

"Six Foul" Rule
It was a "six foul" rule which allows a player three fouls in each half or six for the entire game instead of the present customary five. Here's how it works. If a player accumulates three fouls in the first half, he will sit out the remainder of that half. He can come back in the second half for three more fouls. But if he gets only one or two in the first half he will not be put out in the second half until he has a total of six fouls.

As the rule stands, a player must leave the game when he gets five fouls whether they are in the first five minutes, first half or second half.

This is a regulation which the National Basketball Coaches' Association has been debating for a couple of seasons and which it has urged on tournaments for experimentation.

Merry Christmas!

To Carol Robinson (daughter of the W. Dean Robinsons) and to Bliss Caulkins (daughter of the Edward B. Caulkins, Jr.), who celebrate birthdays on Christmas.

To Provencal road . . . the New Year's boulevard of brides . . . (Jan. 3 Susie Joy marries Woodie Woodson) . . . (Jan. 3 Nancy Chapman marries Don Lewis Nix) . . .

To Mainbocher—who personally designed the bal gowns worn by Mrs. Ernest Kanzler and her debutante, Katrina, at their Venetian Ball in the Country Club Tuesday evening . . . Incidentally, neither Mrs. Kanzler nor Katrina wore flowers . . .

To the white iron reindeer on the mantel of the Merlin A. Cudlips' dining room on Lake Shore road . . .

To the Thrift Shop—which made beautiful toys available (for practically nothing) to parents who otherwise couldn't have afforded Christmas fun for their children . . .

To all the Pointers who have made our hamlet lovely as a Christmas card scene with lights, wreaths and ribbons outside their homes . . . and especially to that person who turned on the Christmas Star at the home of the late Murray W. Sales . . .

To all who eat, drink and make too merry but who still will have hearts filled with good will for all men . . . a Merry Christmas . . .

PILFERINGS

"Don't worry about the size of your Christmas tree. In the eyes of children they are all 25 feet tall," says William Vaughan.

Regardless of vintage, we still like the story of the brash and too-suddenly rich manufacturer's agent who moved to a sedate Connecticut village because his wife decided that was the proper thing.

A High Church vicar lived next door and was cordial despite his bafflement at the doings of the strident newcomer.

Christmas Eve the latter entertained a lot of city pals—a typical big shot brawl.

The vicar encountered his neighbor's 12-year-old daughter Christmas afternoon. They exchanged greetings.

"I'm glad your family reveres the old Christmas traditions," said the clergyman, "I noticed last midnight they carried in the Yule log."

"That wasn't a Yule log," the little girl replied. "That was daddy."

Merry Christmas to E. B. White, that shy and gentle genius who edits "Talk of the Town" for the New Yorker and who sends Christmas greetings to all and sundry (through his column) in part as follows:

"Greetings of the season to unemployed actors and the black-listed everywhere who suffer for sins uncommitted. Greetings to wives who can't find their glasses and to poets who can't find their rhymes. Merry Christmas to the unloved, the misunderstood, the over-weight. Joy to the authors of books whose titles begin with the word 'How' (as though they knew). Merry Christmas to people who can't stay in the same room with a cat. We greet the boarders in boarding houses on 25 December, the duennas in Central Park in fair weather and foul, and young lovers who got nothing in the mail.

"We send, most particularly and most hopefully, our greetings and our prayers to soldiers on land and sea and in the air—the young men doing the hardest things at the hardest time of life. To all such, Merry Christmas, blessings and good luck."

Pointer of Interest

THE MAN OF THE HOUR

There he is, that Man of the Hour, poised for the briefest moment before starting out once again on his round-the-world Christmas Eve visit to men of good will.

Santa Claus is always the Pointer of Interest in the Christmas issue of THE GROSSE POINTE NEWS. A community that plunges so gayly into the spirit of the season wouldn't have it otherwise.

A Grosse Pointe Christmas means Santa Claus . . . mistletoe in the chandelier . . . a holy wreath on the door . . . the most beautiful Christmas trees in the world . . . and mail boxes filled with Christmas cards from all the Pointers of Interest.

So, while we let that Man of the Hour enjoy his moment's rest, let's look at some of the cards Pointers are sending this season.

Santa Claus Cards There are the Santa Claus cards, for instance. The Dan Hollies sent their friends a nautical Santa Claus gazing out to the horizon through a big spyglass. He's wearing a yachting cap and from the expression on his jolly face we'd say he likes what he's spying.

The Walter Buhl Fords II's Santa Claus card shows the gentleman arriving in the deep country for his annual visit. The reindeer gracefully stretch around the card, drawing Santa's gift-packed sleigh. The colors are modern: soft turquoise, terra cotta and white. Inside the Buhls say, "May Santa Come Your Way at Christmas."

The Lewis S. Robinson's card looks like a big playing card with Santa arranged in face card fashion, at top and bottom. It's all done in red, white and black.

Santa a Duckhunter The Hudson Meads sent their friends Santa drawn in the Steinberg mood . . . a line drawing of old St. Nick on a white card bordered in gay scarlet.

Santa goes duck shooting on Mr. and Mrs. Woodhouse's Christmas card. He's standing deep in the marshes and that gun he holds, toward a trio of ducks, moves!

The John V. Kenchards have the merry old gent running right toward YOU with a bag chock full of presents. The card is red and white with Christmas tree and a big DEC. 25th on the cover.

The Joseph G. Standarts have also chosen a Santa Claus to carry their season's greeting to their friends. The John B. Fords III, other Santa Claus devotees, send one with eyes that m-o-o-v-e!

Noel Among the cards which dedicate handsome covers to the simple word "Noel" are those sent by Mr. and Mrs. William A. Ternes (a stunning silver Noel on Mediterranean blue background) and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Stroth, Jr., whose card is red and white.

Then there is a beautiful series of Madonna cards circulating around the Pointe this year. From California, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ulrich have sent a bronze robed Madonna and Child on a French blue card . . . Mr. and Mrs. Otis U. Walker's card has a scarlet red, turquoise and white nativity scene . . . A blue, white and silver Madonna and Child covers the Christmas greetings of Mr. and Mrs. James MacDonald.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sheldon III again this year are greeting their friends with a card bearing the photograph of their three charm-ers, Lisa, Susan and Allan III. And the senior Mrs. Sheldon's Christmas card will keep year 'round; it's a green, gold and white calendar for 1953.

Mrs. Wesson Seyburn is another who favors the new year's calendar instead of conventional Christmas cards.

Gay Greetings The Bill Torrey's good looking white card has South Sea island (or is it just Sea Island) characters dragging home the Christmas tree.

And Mrs. Young LeGro has Santa's bird (you know, that one who sees when you are naughty and then tattles to Santa) wearing a divine chapeau, bright green trimmed in holly sprig.

Sequins appear on the 1952 Christmas card, Jack Navin's cinnamon brown and white card has a reindeer head with golden sequins hanging from the antlers . . . a glistening sequin forms the flame for a candle on Libby Archer's card this year.

The Richard P. Joys, Jr. have sent a silver card with double sprig of holly on its cover, graceful white snowflakes tumbling all around. Black and white reindeer stard in a forest of black and white fir trees on Mrs. Phelps Newberry's Christmas card.

Post deb Doreen Booth greets her friends with a light hearted card showing a little boy nailing up the biggest Christmas stocking we've ever seen.

The Christmas tree comes into its own in cards being sent by Bob Burkhalter (a black background with modern baubles giving the impression of a Christmas tree) and the Alfred J. Mayers, Jr. (a color photo of a beautiful Scotch pine decorated in the old fashioned way).

The Ewald's Card The Pointe always looks forward to Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Ewald's card. Ever since their own Ted and Shirley (Mrs. Brewster Loud) were tots, the children of the family have been featured on the Ewald's cards.

Mrs. Loud's sons appeared for many years and then along came Ted's wife—to be the Christmas Card.

This year in utter darling, the junior Ewald's little daughter, Wendy, takes baby steps all over the double card, smiling around a message that read:

Wendy Makes a Wish for You Now that she is nearing two, Wendy makes a wish for you, May your Christmas Season be

Just as joyous as is she. Now she's walking, as you see, Maybe not too steadily, Still her course is straight and true

Right into the heart of you. Now she waves a dimpled hand To make sure you understand That she hopes with all that's best

You and yours are ever blest. Oh, Wendy's the spirit of youth eternal, Dearer by far than all the world's gold,

As she joins with her grandparents paternal In this greeting that never grows old.

Another Christmas card at the Pointe which has family photograph is that sent by the ice-skating enthusiasts, Mr. and Mrs. Allen M. Lomax and their little daughters, Holly and Judy. The nice foursome are right out there on the ice in skating costumes, smiling prettily at you.

Peace for the World One of the gayest of gay red cards went out from Mr. and Mrs. M. Robert Olp. Two Christmas bells are cut out to reveal a Christmas girl and boy and the white writing inside says, "Mary and Bob Olp" are wishing you the Merriest of Christmases and a Happy New Year.

Some of the cards are so exquisite they merit framing. The Joseph de Grimmes, for instance, always send a work of art on the cover of their card. This year it's a vivid seascape.

And the card we keep going back to so many times comes from Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Madell, Mrs. Mildred Madell Peterson and little Rickey Lee Peterson.

It's an ancient color map of the world bordered in dull gold and its simple, meaningful message reads, "May universal peace lie like a shaft of light across the land."
