Public Libraries Director Writes Letter of Thanks For Year of Fine Progress

Robert M. Orr Reports Great Growth in Woods Branch And Impending Opening of Beautiful New Main Library on January 26

Below is presented a special New Year's letter from Robert M. Orr, Director of Public Libraries.

With 1953 upon us, the Public Library staff looks back on a year that has been memorable, difficult, but extremely rewarding. Last January, the new Woods Branch in the Mack wing of Parcels Junior High School was opened for service and has made a remarkable record for the year with over 900 new registered users and a 50 per cent increase in circulation.

New Library Nearly Ready
In spite of a good many delays, the new Central Library building is rapidly approaching completion and its dedication is scheduled for Sunday, January 25; its opening for service on Monday, January 26. These two buildings, the new Woods Branch made possible by taxes, and the new Central Library by the family of D. M. Ferry, Jr., constitute the first new additions to the Public Library since 1939, and give Grosse Pointe completely modern library facilities.

Hard Work Rewarded
While these buildings have involved the staff in a great deal of hard work and planning, they do embody a most appropriate reward to those who have devoted 24 years of service to the community with facilities that were less than adequate.

It is with genuine regret on the part of the staff and many patrons that the City Branch closes the last day of 1952. The City Branch goes back to February, 1926, when it was first opened in the building now housing the Thrift Shop, the gift of D. M. Ferry, Jr., interestingly enough. Later the branch was moved to Cadieux, then to its present site on Notre Dame.

Under Miss Jean Taylor, the City Branch has established through the years an enviable reputation. Working under many difficulties, Miss Taylor influenced the lives of countless boys and girls as well as adults who became devoted patrons. Miss Taylor's many friends will be happy to know that she will have an office in the new Central Library where she will personally direct children's service in all four libraries, as well as maintain a much closer contact with all the schools of the community—public, private, and parochial.

Through the years, your Public Library staff has given Grosse Pointe a library service that was highly personalized. There has been a close, warm contact with patrons that has made it possible for the staff to give service not found in larger metropolitan libraries. In spite of new and finer facilities, it should be made clear that every effort will be made to maintain the same warm relationship.

It seems entirely fitting and appropriate to express my appreciation to all those who have done so much for the Public Library during the past year.

Thanks to All
While space does not permit mentioning the many, many who have contributed in one way or another, the writer would like to take this means of expressing his appreciation to D. M. Ferry, Jr.; to the family of the late Murray W. Sales, the Junior League of Detroit, the Charles A. Parcels family, Walter and Josephine Ford Fund, Mrs. Helen Newberry Joy, the Grosse Pointe Rotary Club, and the many other donors who have made possible a Central Library completely equipped; to the Superintendent of Schools and the Board of Education for their interest and support; to the friends of the Library, under President Marion K. Kellogg, who have done so much for the library during the past year; to the 12,000 men, women and children who have been registered users of our libraries during the past year; to the library staff, the most devoted group of public servants that I have ever had the privilege of working with; and to the editor of the Grosse Pointe News whose interest and cooperation have meant so much.

Finally, with gratitude to the many who are working with us in the building of a finer Grosse Pointe, and with confidence that the coming year will bring us tremendously improved opportunities for service, we wish all of you and this wonderful community of ours a New Year full of happiness and progress.

Coriden had told his mother earlier that afternoon that he expected to attend a Christmas party and would not be home for dinner.

He was a graduate of Grosse Pointe High School and later attended Michigan State College and Michigan Normal College. He had worked for a short time in the drafting department at Hudson Motor Car Co.

Coriden had enlisted in August in the Navy after two years in the naval air reserve. He was to return to his training base at Norman, Oklahoma, on January 4. Beside his parents, he is survived by a sister.

Crash Pops Earrings Off Girl in Car

Two Injured When Auto Jumps Curb and Hits Pole on East Jefferson

Park Police, investigating the scene of an auto accident on December 28, on Jefferson at the corner of Edgemont park, discovered a pair of earrings that had been worn by a 17-year-old girl, a passenger, about 8 feet from the front of the wrecked auto.

Ann Tiderrington, of 431 Cloverly, was taken to Bon Secours Hospital for treatment of cuts suffered in the accident, which occurred when the car driven by Remy F. Bamble, 18, of 14642 Glenwood, Detroit, hopped the curb and crashed into a light pole.

Front End Smashed
The front end of the car was badly smashed and the windshield knocked out. The impact apparently pulled the earrings from the girl's ears.

Gamble suffered a cut inside his mouth. He explained to the police that another auto, entering Jefferson from a side street had forced him over the curb. He was ticketed for not having his car under control.

Auto Smashes Telephone Booth

A two-car accident at the intersection of Kercheval and Cadieux on December 24 resulted in injury to one person and a demolished telephone booth that stood on one corner.

Involved in the accident were Laurin A. DeVine, stationed at one of the army encampments that ring the Detroit area, and Marcella Addison, 543 Lakepointe, Detroit.

DeVine smashed into the Addison car when he ran the red light at the corner, forcing the car over the curb and into the telephone booth.

Injured was Kenneth Kane, of 22015 Van Dyke, Detroit, a passenger in DeVine's car. He was taken to Bon Secours Hospital by Park police for examination. He had suffered a hip injury.

Car Radiator's Contents Explode

Donald Marize, an employe at the Park Super Service, 15302 Jefferson, was treated for facial burns at Bon Secours Hospital, December 28.

Marize had been checking the alcoholic content of a car radiator with light from a cigaret lighter when the alcohol exploded in his face.

Police Halt Street Fight In GP Woods

Gang's Attempt to Crash Party Blamed for Start of Battle; Traffic Blocked

Woods police broke up a gang fight at the corner of Charlevoix and Hawthorne roads on Saturday night, December 20, and arrested seven youths on charges of being disorderly persons.

The fight was reported shortly before midnight. It was said to have started when a group of minors attempted to crash a party on Hawthorne.

Mob Blocking Traffic
On their arrival, the police found a mob gathered at the corner and milling in the street, blocking traffic.

Arrested were Paul D. Madson, 19, of 418 Madison; Martin H. Allard, 17, 468 Notre Dame; Robert Lundy, 17, 15681 Crescentwood, Detroit; Allan G. Seitz, 18, 22355 Elmwood, Detroit; Robert E. McGhee, 19, 15794 Nicolai, Detroit; Remy F. Gamble, 18, 14642 Glenwood, Detroit; Walter R. Monreal, 18, 1465 Lakepointe.

Fines Meted Out
Woods Judge Don J. Goodrow meted out fines to the charged at the Municipal Court session held December 27.

Martin, Seitz and McGhee were fined $5 apiece. Lundy received a $10 fine. Madson, Monreal and Gamble each received fines of $25 after pleading guilty.

Hitching Post Target for Car

Farms police estimated damages to the 1950 Buick driven by Wendell J. Birdsall, Jr., of 274 Mt. Vernon, to have been $150 after he had crashed into a post on Radnor circle, December 28.

Birdsall's car jumped the curb at a curve and ran into an ornamental hitching post on the lawn at 25 Radnor Circle, the home of Dr. Hugh Stalker.

Couple Injured As Cars Tangle

A two-car accident at Kercheval and Yorkshire on December 27 resulted in injuries to two persons. Frank Brown, Jr., of 2260 East Willis, Detroit, suffered fractures in his right leg and shoulder when he cut in front of an approaching auto driven by Robert J. Schaible, of 32147 Clairwood, St. Clair Shores.

Schaible's wife, Virginia, received an injured right ankle and lacerations about the face. Both Mrs. Schaible and Brown were taken to BonSecours Hospital by Park police.

Brown was ticketed for cutting into moving traffic.

Heavy Damage Done by Blaze

A fire that reportedly started in the furnace room and swept through the basement of Mrs. Margaret C. Baker's home, at 219 Lincoln road, December 27, caused flame and smoke damages estimated unofficially at $5,000 to $10,000.

Neighbors reported the fire to the City fire department, when smoke was seen billowing from the roof of the home shortly after 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. Baker, widow of Harold D. Baker of the Baker-Whildin Coal Co. was visiting friends in Cincinnati at the time.

The flames were confined to the basement but had started up the walls when City firemen arrived. Considerable smoke damage was done to the rest of the house, however.

Farms firemen and all off-duty City firemen were called in to assist in extinguishing the blaze. The departments remained at the fire for over two hours.

Hits Parked Car On Kercheval

Farms police ticketed Margalo Bley, of 1584 Cook road, for not having his car under control, December 28, after he had smashed into the rear of another auto parked on Kercheval avenue.

Damages to the Bley car were estimated at $150. Damages to the parked car, owned by C. C. Shuert, of 275 Kercheval, were about $125.

Christmas Eve Caller Runs Into Abundance of Trouble

Richard McCurdy, 4424 Lenox, Detroit, borrowed a friend's car to call on his girl friend in Harper Woods on Christmas Eve and while driving on Huntington road in Grosse Pointe Woods, collided with a parked car causing about $150 in damages to the other car.

He drove on a little further, abandoned the car, and left on foot to call the owner of the car he had borrowed. He persuaded the owner to call Harper Woods police and report his car as stolen, but almost immediately, the caller had a change of heart and again called police and told them who had been driving the car and where he could be found.

McCurdy was arrested and turned over to Grosse Pointe Woods police, where he was charged with reckless driving, leaving the scene of an accident, and operating a motor vehicle after his driver's license had been suspended.

Investigation disclosed that he had been recently convicted of reckless driving in Grosse Pointe Shores, and because of numerous other moving violations during 1952, his license had been suspended by the State Police for a period of one year on October 29. McCurdy pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident and driving on a revoked license. He paid a fine of $75 and was sentenced to serve three days in the Wayne County jail.

Donald M. Connor, 22705 Liberty, St. Clair Shores, was found guilty of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, at 3:30 a.m. on Christmas Day. He was fined $75 and had his license suspended for six months.

The holiday cocktail parties this year carried more news than newspapers. It was the favorite means of announcing engagements here in the Pointe. Mr. and Mrs. W. Gordon Johnstone of Grosse Pointe boulevard gave such a party to tell of the engagement of their daughter, Susan Louise, and Thomas Norville Hubbard. Guests attending the Friday evening party learned that Sue and Tom are planning a Summer wedding.

Society News Gathered From All of the Pointes

From Another Pointe of View

By Jane Schermerhorn

We have a new definition of the perfect party . . . It's one where society reporters become so interested in the scene before them they forget to take notes . . . yet don't have a moment's hesitation about everything they saw when confronted by the typewriter . . .

That's what happened at the Ernest Kanzlers' ball for their daughter Katrina when she made her debut at the Country Club . . . so handsomely transformed into an Eighteenth Century Venetian Palace we fully expected gondolas to pull up to the entrance with arriving guests . . .

It was a special evening in society . . . for it everyone donned especially glamorous and becoming feathers . . . And the genius who plucked Mr. Edison's every-day lights out of the chandeliers . . . and replaced them with the most heavenly and flattering pinkish bulbs should be forever blessed . . .

We don't care who says we're extravagant with adjectives . . . everyone looked downright beautiful . . .

A Ball to Remember

The ice blue and pink overtones of the ballrooms and supper rooms came to life with the entrance of Mrs. Kanzler and her debutante . . .

The overtones were copied from the exquisite shades of their Mainbocher gowns . . .

Double pink lilac Duchess satin for Mrs. Kanzler, swirled and touched with magic, it was a real bal gown . . .

Katrina was graceful and ever the debutante in crystal embroidered ice-blue brocade satin, its waltz length skirt resembling a huge tulip cup turned upside down . . .

Mr. Kanzler completed this handsome trio as they formed the receiving line in the club's French Room before a huge baroque screen relieved by pillars holding white urns filled with spicy pink carnations . . .

For over two hours the Kanzlers and Katrina received Detroit society . . . from debutantes to great grandfathers . . .

Star Dust on Eyelids

The younger set, after being received, went immediately to the Venetian ballroom . . . their elders finding places in the supper rooms where they could enjoy the passing scene of color and beauty . . .

Some of the memories that come tumbling down onto our typewriter: the debs who wore sparkling stardust on their eye-lids, fetching but not too satisfactory when it drifted into champagne glasses . . . the court of admirers encircling Mrs. Roy D. Chapin, who wore a vivid blue gown . . .

the arrival of Miss Sara Burnham who pinned huge orchids to her shoulder and gave the receiving line an approving glance . . .

The Henry T. Bodmans and the James McMillans arriving together . . . Mary Boyer in shell pink stiffened satin gown wearing kid ballet slippers to match . . . Mrs. Louis Mendelssohn in midnight blue lace laughing modestly as friends twitted she didn't spend half enough time in the Pointe . . . with her, the C. Henry Buhls, she in glamorous

Parties for Debs End At Schreiber Dance

Anne Schreiber's Debut at Little Club Closes 1952 Season; Marcella Seymour Presented at Tea; Four Debs Share Honors at Country Club Ball

A short but merry debutante season ended Saturday evening when members of the deb set headed toward the Little Club for the dance which Mrs. James Thayer McMillan gave for her granddaughter, Anne Schreiber.

Anne is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. Frederic Schreiber of Three Mile drive.

Snowmen and Santa Clauses were much in evidence at the dance, giving a truly holiday air to the foyer of the club and to the ballrooms.

Mrs. McMillan, the Schreibers and the debutante received their guests in the drawing room of the club.

Anne wore a becoming gown of floor-reaching white taffeta, a flash of garnet taffeta cutting the strapless bodice and at back forming a pouf bow which extended in two wide streamers to hemlength.

She carried her father's gift bouquet of garnet sweetheart roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. McMillan was gowned in French blue lace with which she wore a corsage of purple orchids.

The debutante's mother was in soft blue lace, net trimming the bodice and being repeated on the full opera length skirt. Her flowers were deep red camellias.

Red carnations marked the ushers for the debutante. They included her cousins, Henry E. Bodman II and Richard Bodman, William K. Muir Jr., John Watling, Murray Dodge, Gary Symington, Peter Paddock, Arthur Hudson, Stanley Muirhead and Fred Fisher.

Earlier in the day the debutantes and their mothers met Marcella Seymour who was presented to society by her mother, Mrs. Bartholomew A. Seymour at a reception in her Edgemont Park home.

Christmas greens formed background in the drawing room where Mrs. Seymour and her daughter greeted their guests.

Early in December Marcella made her debut in New York at the Gotham Ball.

For her Grosse Pointe bow, she donned a classic gown of white tulle satin, its skirt foamed tulle reaching to the floor.

Her flowers, from her father, were Happiness roses and ivy.

A gown of blue taffeta was chosen by the debutante's mother who wore a corsage of white spray orchids.

Each of the deb's assistants wore her gift of white carnations. They included her sisters, Isabel and Kathleen Seymour; Carole Jatko, Diane Bachle and Suzanne Hurley.

Out-of-town guests here for Marcella's debut were her Trinity College classmates: Ann von Boetticher of Port Washington, L.L. Kathy O'Connor of Buffalo; Ruth Learly of Fall River, Mass.; Lore Carlisle of Dubois, Pa.; and also Louise Haenn of Philadelphia.

On Friday evening the young set congregated at the Country Club where four debutantes of the season bowed at a Rose Ball.

They were Alexia Angell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Angell; Eunice Hefferan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Hefferan; Jacqueline Jenks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah V. Jenks and Susan Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Richardson.

In the French room where the debutantes and their parents formed the receiving line, great arrangements of roses ranging from pastel pink to garnet red were used in the decor.

All the debs were in white. Alexia was in white taffeta and pleated net; Eunice chose white nylon net and taffeta with net flower applique; Jacqueline was in white tulle and taffeta with long sash embroidered in pearls; and Susan's strapless white tulle had gleaming rhinestones on the bodice.

Newcomers Club Has Gala Party

More than 150 members, guests and alumni of the Grosse Pointe Newcomers Club recently attended one of the gayest parties of the holiday season in this area. The affair was the Newcomers' Eighth Annual Christmas Party held at the Lakepointe Country Club.

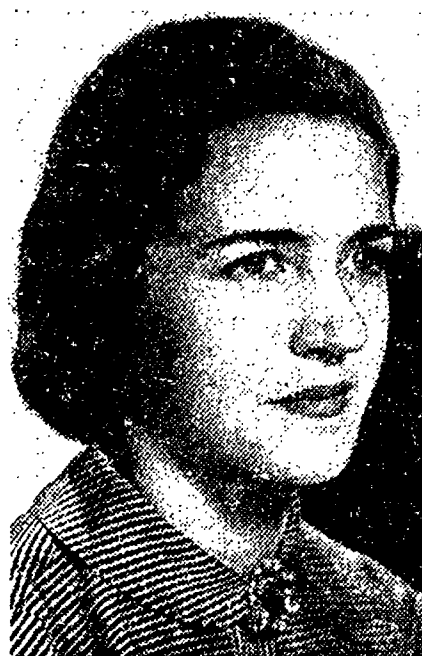

Among the outstanding features of the party were unique table and wall decorations and an innovation which helped those who attended get better acquainted prior to the main event.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Olson of Lockmoor boulevard, created the interesting and colorful table and wall decorations which drew a great deal of praise and pointed up the theme of the Christmas holidays.

The get acquainted innovation, which was introduced by the Newcomers especially for the Annual Christmas Party, consisted of a number of cocktail parties which were held at the residences of various members prior to the affair.

Hosts and hostesses at these parties were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trapp, Fisher road; Mr. and Mrs. William Evans, McKinley road; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Kinsey, Barrington road; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith, McKinley road; Mr. and Mrs. William Sedam, Belanger road; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller, Whittier road; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thornbrough of Lakeland avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sutton, Mt. Vernon avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Karl Van Galow, Ridgmont avenue; Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Woodruff, Maumee avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow W. Wilson, Grayton road; Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, McKinley road; Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, McKinley road; Mr. and Mrs. George Cutler, Fairway lane, and Mr. and Mrs. Clare Goodsell.

Nauman-Hannon Rites Solemnized in Pointe

Constance Nauman Exchanges Vows With Robert Hannon Jr. at Ceremony in St. Paul's on The Lake; Will Live On East Jefferson Avenue

A mid-Holiday ceremony in St. Paul's-On-The-Lake last Saturday morning united in and Robert Lee Hannon, Jr.

Constance is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Nauman of Moran road and Robert's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Hannon of East Cleveland, O.

A gown of rich white velvet was chosen by the brunet bride. She carried an arrangement of white camellias, ivy and stephanotis in her wedding bouquet.

The bodice of the frock had portrait neckline finished in Swiss applique. Sleeves were above-elbow length and the fitted bodice was attached to a drift of accordion pleated net.

From a bridal cap of Swiss applique fell the elbow length veil. Susan Spain Tower was maid of honor and Constance Preble was the bridesmaid.

They were identically dressed in iridescent champagne taffeta, designed with opera length skirts and off shoulder necklines.

Gay cherry red velvet ribbons held brief veils on their matching taffeta chapeaux and they carried bouquets of cherry red floraria lilies and camellia leaves. Ray Langer came from Cleveland to be his brother-in-law's best man.

The guests were seated by Don Nixon, Lawrence Verdier, and the bride's brother-in-law, Walter France Torrence, Jr., of Waterbury, Conn.

Mrs. Nauman pinned a green orchid to her bronze brocade satin costume suit.

The bridegroom's mother wore a costume of platinum taffeta with navy accessories and a pink blossom hat. Her flowers were small purple orchids.

Following the church service, Mr. and Mrs. Nauman gave a small reception and wedding luncheon at the Country Club. They received their guests in the club's French Room.

Upon their return they will make their home on East Jefferson avenue.

Pamela Sattley Is Debutante

Pamela Sattley, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hale V. Sattley to be presented to Detroit society, made her debut on Christmas Eve at a tea dansant in the Little Club.

Yulitide decorations dressed the fashionable club.

The blonde and attractive debutante wore traditional white, an Empire gown of lace over taffeta. Soft folds of the material finished the strapless bodice and the skirt was full and waltz length.

A narrow Christmas red velvet ribbon circled the deb's slim waist and ended in back to form small bow and long streamers.

She carried her father's gift of pink sweetheart roses and blue Japanese iris tied in iris toned ribbons which were finished with single rosebuds.

Mrs. Sattley wore for her daughter's coming out party a gown of silk organza in opal hues.

Ushers for the debutante at the tea dansant were Peter Paddock, Rusty and Stan Muirhead, Harry E. Bodman II, Fred Fisher, Mike and Bill Murphy, Fenton Renick, Bill Howenstein, Peter and Ben Paddock, Bob and Dave Cudlip and Earl Stewart.

Pam will be a bridesmaid Jan. 3 in the wedding party of Susie Joy and Woodson K. Woods Jr.

A Tragic Lesson

All of the anticipated joy of the Christmas season was blotted out in a split second for one family. A speeding car accomplished the feat, as effectively as a snuffer plopped on a gleaming candle.

Igloo, the family's beloved dog, had been let out by one of the children when she returned home from a dance. She left a note for her brother and sister, saying Iggy was out and to be sure and get him in when they returned. But in the next few minutes, as Iggy was crossing the street close by, a car hurtled through the early morning darkness, crashed into Iggy and sped on.

His cries awakened a neighbor, who called the police. They recognized Iggy and notified the family. He was rushed to a hospital, subjected to a major operation, but failed to rally. After fighting for his life for two days, days of tenderness and anguish for all the family, Iggy died on the night after Christmas.

Where does one find the right words to console the young in such a period of grief? Spoken expressions of faith are a poor substitute for the physical presence of one who has played such a vital part in the lives of children and grown-ups alike. Philosophizing is difficult when one's emotions are so intense.

There is the natural surge of bitterness against the irresponsible driver of the car, who could create such tragedy and then demonstrate such a lack of courage and understanding by failing to stop and give help. As the long hours pass there comes the realization that perhaps the worst punishment which could be meted out to such a person would be to have him a constant witness to all the agony his reckless action had caused.

One tries to tell the children that surely the Great Power which guides the destinies of all of us, has provided a place where great spirits of the animal kingdom are taken to their reward. We try to make them understand that one who has led such an active, happy life, should be spared the probability of going through future years as a crippled invalid.

The words sound hollow, but Iggy, who taught us all so much about loyalty, devotion and courage, is able now to endow us with added faith and strength, through his death.

And he has also taught at least the members of his immediate family a last poignant lesson... the tragic consequences that can be exacted by careless driving. Somehow we feel that Iggy knows this, and that he is happy for having contributed towards the possible saving of the lives of others. He was that kind of a dog.

EARLY AMERICAN ART

Everyone with a taste for American history of antiques will enjoy the unusual exhibition of early American wood carvings and glass which goes up January 5 at the Art Institute and continues through February 2. Including fine carvings of eagles and other rare pieces, this group has been loaned by Mr. and Mrs. James O. Keene of Birmingham.

POLISH EXHIBITION

An exhibition of paintings and other works by Polish artists, lent by Detroit art collectors, and dating from the 15th to the early 20th century, continues through January 8. Another event of art interest is the official presentation to the museum, on January 4, at 4 p.m., of two 18th century miniature portraits by the Detroit Society of the Friends of Polish Art.

*"Do all the good you can,
By all the means you can,
In all the ways you can,
In all the places you can,
At all the times you can,
To all the people you can,
As long as ever you can."
(John Wesley)*

Now that all the "oohs and ahs" are over... and all the "Where on earth do you suppose she bought that?" and the "What am I supposed to do with THIS thing?"... and "I wonder if this is the box it came in, so I can exchange it?" stuff is also over, we can sit back and contemplate the fact that there are only 306 shopping days left 'til Christmas. We received one thing in our stocking that bird lovers should look into. It cannot be bought on the market, but we understand that this gadget was made by Philip Wright who runs the "Repair" shop. It is a bird drinking fountain made of wood and stands about a foot and a half square. The inside of the box contains a light bulb that can be turned on and off by a small chain. Over this sits a small square pan of water and attached to the box is a long outdoor electric cord with plug. Around the "water hole" is a narrow shelf where the birds can sit while they drink. It will also hold bird seed to attract our feathered friends.

Over the weekend, we attached the gadget to the outdoor electric outlet, filled the fountain with water and waited to see what happen. Within twenty minutes the fountain was black with birds... all drinking and bathing happily. What fascinated us really, was that when we snuck out at midnight (weather near zero) the water was just about tap temperature! That little light bulb is just enough to do the trick and eliminate the constant breaking of ice so the birds can get at it. Every back yard should have one of these wonderful things... along with the bird food. We promise that it will give the owner as much pleasure as it does the birds.

Teen-agers never cease to amaze us... especially during the holidays. They swarm over the local scene like locusts and make everyone feel young again. (Who SAID that? WE?) Families once again develop inferiority complexes over the telephonitis of the young and every daughter is the epitome of "Penny" of the cartoon strip.

We had occasion to call a gent who has a fifteen-year-old pretty-as-a-picture daughter, who kept lifting the receiver on the extension as we talked. Finally he yelled at her to hang up and wait until he was through speaking. She then squeaked into the phone: "But Daddy MY call is important! I have to get in touch with Liz right away. It's desperate... I mean REALLY desperate!" As usual father gave in and hung up on us in the middle of a semi-colon.

Another teen-ager we know presented to her mother for Christmas, a rather badly dented silver-plated tea pot. Mothers being what they are, our heroine made great exclamations of glee over the present but as the furor of opening presents subsided... and mother's curiosity came to the fore... she asked dear daughter why all the dents in an otherwise lovely looking tea pot! Thereby unfolded a tale of ingenuity of the first water. It seems that this particular "Penny" is bent on a thespian career, so she attends a school for theatrics and as is usual in those cases, the kids have to start at the bottom and work their way up to becoming Helen Hayes's. Starting at the bottom entails everything from painting scenery to mending costumes... and as a reward they might get a line or two to speak in each play of the season.

It so happened that our Deb was scheduled to be in charge of properties for the pre-Christmas play... and one of her assignments was getting (by hook or crook) a silver tea pot for a drawingroom scene. She took the direct route and went right to the local jewelry store to beg the loan of a tea pot. Her plea granted, she boarded a bus with her treasure and in alighting from the bus fell on her face with the teapot UNDERNEATH!

But the show must go on! So they used the dented teapot but Mr. Jeweler wasn't having any part of taking it back as is... so the only solution was for our poor little actress to buy the thing. Since it cost her a week's salary... she decided to give it to understanding mom for Christmas! Mom now finds she has to pay twenty-six dollars to have the thing undented... but daughters will be daughters... especially when they are actresses!!! And a HAPPY NEW YEAR TO YOU and YOU and YOU!

Home Care For Mental Patients

By FRED M. KOPP, R. Ph.

Fortunately society is beginning to recognize mental patients for what they are persons suffering from a serious illness. Doctors realize that these patients need the interest and attention of others as well as medical treatment.

Because mental hospitals are so crowded many mental patients must be cared for at home. If the family learns something of the patient's illness from the doctor and tries to be helpful and considerate life is easier for all concerned.

For all medicine prescribed by your doctor rely on a skilled, experienced pharmacist.

Naval Air Cadet Bob Olson Stars in All-Alumni Game

By Fred Runnells Taking time out from his duties as a Naval Aid Cadet, Bob Olson paced the White Alumni team of Grosse Pointe High to a 61 to 41 victory over a group of old time alumni players in the preliminary game of the annual Varsity-Alumni game last Friday, December 26, at the High School.

Heading a team of Tom Wilson, Bob Hafer, Jerry Allen, Dick Rydberg, "Sparky" Farquhar, Duwayne Peterson and George Mantho, Olson swished in nine field goals and six free throws to annex the individual scoring honors with 24 points. His teammate, Jerry Allen, found the bucket for fourteen points for lunkerup honors ahead of George Verdoneck, captain of the Old Timers, who had nine points to lead his team's attack.

Verdoneck had such former stars on his squad as Dan Cronin, Tom Ireland, Gene "Jeep" Del Barba, Adolph Neeme, Gene Wallace, Glenn Coury, Dick Dillon and George McBride.

With Olson popping points with machine-gun-like regularity, the Whites pulled into a comfortable 15 to 6 lead in the first period and were never headed. The Whites increased their margin over the somewhat bewildered Old Timers to a 30 to 15 margin at the halftime and held a 46 to 24 lead going into the final period of an exceptionally clean game.

Only 21 Fouls A total of only 21 personal fouls were called, which under the new "one and one" foul rule gave the Old Timers 21 free throw attempts. They cashed in on 11. The White team had 19 charity tosses, of which 11 were good. For the most part the Old Timer team was made up of players of the late 1930's and early 1940's era, whereas the White team was composed of players from 1947 to 1950 period.

Surprisingly enough the game was a good one to watch and not like many All-Alumni games where a bunch of old duffers get together to run up and down the floor a couple of times before checking out to watch someone else test their basketball shoes. These Old Timers were in there all the way, even though the score doesn't indicate it. In the locker room after the game talk had already started about arranging for a game again next Christmas. These boys are all hepped up for another game next year, although, some of the Old Timers admit "The spirit is strong but the flesh is weak."

who, where and whatnot

by whoozit

Every time we saw that velvet girl, Ann Woodhouse and her fiance, Murray W. Sales III at the Christmas parties . . . we were reminded of the time, two years ago, when we decided to find out what the stagline members were going to do as life's work, once school and all that sort of thing was behind them . . .

We got absolutely nowhere . . . most of the boys were so young they could only gasp and say, "Look, we've got at least four long years ahead of us . . . and then there's the Korean thing . . ."

It was all that way until we met up with Murray. Sure, he knew exactly what he was going to be.

"A plumber!" was the proud and instant reply.

Political trends: Frederick M. Alger III cutting in on Mrs. G. Mennen Williams at a Country Club ball . . . a smart local haberdasher sent, for customers, three Christmas presents to Ike and one to Tom Devey . . . The Lady Who Knows, Mrs. Charles A. Dean, Jr., says there'll be at least one special train going from these parts to the Inauguration in Washington . . . We'll wager Frederick M. Alger, Jr., will be with Ike in Washington despite all those rumors of a foreign minister-ship . . .

Our own particular Christmas Star, now turned nine, gave solemn pronouncement on the joys of Christmas at the end of a happy day.

"It was underwhelming!"

And her little brother, now six, fell out of bed Christmas night . . . all three teddy bears taking the spill with him.

Their holiday guests are still talking about the new lush seafoam green and pink living room at the William J. Lillys . . . (she's a knock-out looking blond gal!)

Pointers a-d-o-r-e invitations to the R. Alexander Wriggles' intimate parties at their Chalmers avenue home . . . we liked the white Christmas wreath they used over their green mantel . . . the decor of their living room is in green and tangerine . . . they did their Christmas tree in these colors . . . and the bay window was lighted by a row of ten twinkling green vigil lights . . .

PILFERINGS

Will someone pass us that twenty-five pounds of old newspapers we annually hand out to the best display of imagination of the year?

We want to present it to the fashion group in New York, which each year at this time calls out the names of America's Ten Best Dressed Women.

Such surprises in store for us every year!

The Duchess of Windsor has headed the list ever since the fashion whizzes heard Edward's abdication speech. We'll lay ten to one they had never seen the Duchess' wardrobe.

They probably still never have inspected the Duchess' wardrobe but have viewed the candid shots of her in the daily press even as you and I. Newspaper space being as valuable as it is, we can't remember having seen a full-length picture of the Duchess since her Bermuda days.

Even the Duchess would agree that any gal, given an unlimited wallet, could doubtless produce an eye-appealing wardrobe. We've wondered why some department store salesgirl with but a few dollars to spare for clothes, didn't rate recognition. Now if THAT girl is well dressed she merits a medal.

As far as we can see, the fashion group (this year their surprises were Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower and Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby!) is like the ship reporter who tackled the late, great Robert Benchley asking him to name,

The Ten Most People.

(Benchley replied that he supposed at one time Mrs. Dionne could have been considered the ten most people. The reporter was furious at his flippancy.)

Pointer of Interest

WILLIAM B. HURLEY OF RIVARD BOULEVARD

By Jane Schermerhorn

This has been an eventful December for our fellow Pointer William B. Hurley of Rivard boulevard. He had his sixty-fifth birthday on the eleventh of the month, celebrated by a memorable party, and the day Grosse Pointe News reaches you—Dec. 31—he is retiring after 41 years of active business life.

Today he is closing his desk as staff engineer of the Detroit Edison Company. Well, that's how the story goes, but he's really not turning the key in the lock because this life of utter ease and fun is going to be nicely spiced with special assignments for Edison, where he'll be "on call" in a consultant capacity.

It was easy to detect that although our Pointer of Interest has long looked forward to the day when he might re-visit Europe with Mrs. Hurley; explore our own South and West; catch up on all those books he's wanted to read . . . it's easy to see that the gentleman has far too much restless energy to live a life completely void of the work he loves.

But anyhow, he told us the nicest part about this retiring business was the party his sons, Bill and Bob gave for him on his birthday.

Sagittarius

It was a stag affair and took place at Bob's house on Fisher road.

To mark the occasion the boys prepared a commemorative brochure entitled, "Biography and Friendships of Bill Hurley, Sagittarius". In it they told the story of their father's life.

The east of the life's story is much the same as the birthday party guest list and Mr. Hurley beamed when he said all his friends were really much more impressed with the thought and work the boys gave the party than they were about his birthday or his retirement.

Those born between Nov. 22 and Dec. 22 come under the astronomical sign of Sagittarius.

So the Hurley boys quoted, on the cover of the birthday book, the characteristics of its people.

"Have art of understanding many things that puzzle the average person . . . have the power of saying pleasing things and become social leaders without effort . . . have broad understanding which makes them successful in large undertakings . . . love deeply and return affection where it is sincere . . . will win life's rewards and attain happiness and the respect of all."

The Hurley Story And then they tell the Hurley story. It started in Wabash, Ont. and at the age of the seven the senior Bill Hurley moved to Ann Arbor with his mother and sister (his father died before he was a year old). He attended the schools of Ann Arbor and entered the University of Michigan where he graduated, in 1911, as a chemical engineer.

From those Ann Arbor days the guest list drew classmates Dave Allerdice, Harold Baxter, Henry Bogle, Balty Brown, Doug Campbell, Ralph Culley, Percy Donovan, Doug Jamieson, Fred Lawton, Rusty McNair, Grover Penberthy, Morry Quinn, Vern Taylor, Al Towar and Jim Watkins.

Mr. Hurley started his business career as a metallurgist at the Frost Gear and Machine Co. in Jackson, Mich. (where he met birthday party guests Bob Bucknall, Charley Platts, Don Davis and Bob Ford).

Next he went to Philadelphia to work for the Midvale Steel Company, making guns, armor plate and shells for World War I (here his friendship with Eddy Webb had its beginning).

Met Rickenbacker

When he was assigned to the United States Airplane Mission to Europe in 1917, he visited England, France, Italy and Spain. His friend Ralph Vall was also a member of the mission.

On that trip he fell in love with France and met a man who had never been in a plane but who was destined to become America's ace pilot in the first war . . . Eddie Rickenbacker.

He was Major of Ordnance assigned to Watertown Arsenal, Boston when he met Marie Therese LeFevre. When they were married the ill-fated society editor reporting their wedding wrote: "The marriage of Captain Emile LeFevre to Marie Therese Hurley, daughter of Major William Hurley . . ."

Best man was party guest Harold Foster.

And then along came son Bill, and daughter Mary Lou, son Bob and daughter Suzy.

Birthday Guests The Sagittarius, in the meanwhile, was connected with Dodge (where friends included Ed Chapman, Al Conney, Francis Kettaneh, Freddy Lamborn and Dave Wallace.)

And finally, there was Edison which meant Charley Bay, Harold Hall, Sterling Sanford, Fred Sheridan and Ty Tyree.

The former KARIN LINDH, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gunnar Lindh of Rivard boulevard, was married on December 27 to Capt. Richard Bodycombe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Bodycombe of Lincoln road.

The ceremony was performed in the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church in the presence of the immediate families.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in the Bahamas.
