Hearing Aid Transistor

This miss is exclaiming over a transistor, the tiny electronic discovery that may change our world. Used to benefit the hard of hearing for the first time, it has resulted in the smallest Sonotone in history. No longer a promise for the future—this tiny Sonotone transistor hearing aid is actually available and in use.

valuation of the area, which would produce more taxes and would directly benefit the school district through its share of these taxes.

The Board of Education has asked James Bushong, superintendent of schools, to submit his recommendation in the matter, and it is believed the board will act on his advice.

The Farms has already made an offer to the Board of Education of $10,000 for the area it wishes.

estimation, is an ideal place, with its citrus groves and natural beauty, and it is the place she is thinking of making her permanent home. After she got her son started in school there, she started working on her master's degree, then decided to come back to her alma mater, the University of Michigan, to finish it.

Just after Mrs. Wagner had finished school, the depression struck. When she was asked if she would teach at Grosse Pointe High School by Dr. S. M. Brownell, Superintendent of Schools, she accepted.

Mrs. Wagner organized the Conservation Club in January 1937, and it has continued ever since, under her supervision. During the war the club was very active, even to the extent of growing from seed, 2,000 tomato plants in flats in the conservatory adjoining room 124.

In 1939 she became the vice-president of the Board of Directors of the Teachers Credit Union, another position she has held ever since.

Her son attended Grosse Pointe Schools from the sixth grade on and he married a Grosse Pointe girl.

Mrs. Wagner hates to give up her career as a teacher, since she has always loved science and teaching. She has enjoyed working in room 124 and with the conservatory with its plants and the many pets that have inhabited it. Working with young people and the Conservation Club has always given her a great deal of enjoyment.

She has found in her many years of experience that one needs patience and a passion for the job, and humility, and that no teacher can be perfect. Her motto has always been, "To cease to be active is to begin to die," so she hopes to keep busy in the field of science in her retirement.

Ensign Carl F. Bachle, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Bachle, of La Salle place is aboard the attack cargo ship U.S.S. Winston, sailing to Subic Bay in the Philippines.

The Winston has put in at Yokohama and Sasebo, in Japan, and was in Hong Kong, China, shortly before Christmas.

Volunteers

the hour long drive will visit every house where a lighted porch or a light in the front window indicates that the occupants wish to join the fight against polio. All volunteers will be assigned to approximately 10 homes in the blocks in which they live.

The contact mothers, it was stressed at the meeting, will form the main spring of this event, and the efforts of these women will be essential to the success of the drive.

Mrs. Warmbold reported volunteers are still needed in three Grosse Pointe Park areas. Women living in the area, bounded by Mack, Wayburn, Nottingham and Vernor, may call Mrs. Irving Froehlich, Valley 1-4741.

Mrs. John Fry asks volunteers living inside the Essex, Devonshire, Mack and Nottingham area to call her at TUxedo 2-0014. Women living between Barrington, Whittier, St. Paul and the lake may call Mrs. Albert Law at Valley 2-9295.

Mrs. Louis E. Clarke has asked all Grosse Pointe City volunteers to call her at TUxedo 2-2044. Mrs. Henry Reynolds reports women are still needed in all sections of Grosse Pointe Farms. Her phone number is TUxedo 1-7183.

Women in Grosse Pointe Woods are asked to call Mrs. Albert F. de Manigold at TUxedo 2-8586. "A look at the record will show," Barton said at the meeting, "why we need all the help we can get in Grosse Pointe. By the end of 1952 the nation had suffered more than 55,000 cases of infantile paralysis, the highest polio incidence ever reported."

"The number of volunteers in the campaign will have to be increased this year in the same proportion that polio has widened its impact across the nation."

"We must keep pace with polio," Barton declared, "if we are ever to overtake this dread disease. Only through bigger contributions to the March of Dimes will that become possible."

More than 50 per cent of the money raised in Grosse Pointe will be retained locally for payment of local patient care bills. The other 50 percent finances research, education and epidemic emergency aid when chapter treasuries dwindle under the impact of patient care costs.

Adult Education Classes Offered

The 1953 winter program of Adult Activities offered by the Grosse Pointe Board of Education will offer several new courses in addition to a continuation of those begun in the fall.

Those of special interest to people who want to forget winter and concentrate on the spring that is sure to come, are the courses in fly tying, fly casting, bait casting and vacation planning, stressing the National Parks. If enough home owners are interested, a course in landscaping will also be offered.

Courses offered in the fall which are again available are: oil painting and water color, beginning and advanced; china painting; ceramics; leather carving; enameling and silver jewelry making; English for the foreign born; practical public speaking (intermediate); parliamentary procedure; comptometer and adding machine operation; bookkeeping and accounting; shorthand, beginning and advanced; typing; art appreciation; music appreciation; conversational French; lip reading for the hard of hearing; woodshop; badminton; bridge; ballroom dancing (intermediate); square dancing; round dancing; gym and swimming for men; swimming for women; photography; mathematics; blue print reading and orchestra.

Courses offered in homemaking are: knitting, interior decorating; basic cooking; clothing design and pattern drafting; upholstery; lampshade making; millinery; sewing, beginning and advanced tailoring; hooked rug making and slip cover making.

Some classes have both day and evening sections; others are day or evening only. For reservations and additional information call the Dept. of Community Services, Grosse Pointe Board of Education, TU, 5-2000, Extension 25.

Klondike Derby Set for Sunday

On Sunday, January 18, the Boy Scouts of District Three will meet at 8 Mile and Vernier roads, between Kelly and Beaconsfield, for their annual Klondike Derby. This calls upon scout-craft skill in First Aid, Knot-tying, Fire-building, and Use of the Compass.

More than 150 Sledge Teams comprising 1,500 Scouts and Scouters, are expected to participate in this colorful event. They will use a variety of vehicles, including Klondike sledges built by the Scouts, Toboggans, and Sleds.

"The event is to be run irrespective of prevailing weather conditions," reported Lyle Hudson, Chairman for the Klondike. "All teams should be registered well in advance, in order to receive final instructions. Late registrations may not receive these instructions in time," he added.

Scouts will check in at noon at a Registration Post located near the woods on Beaconsfield road, and continues until 1:30 p.m., Sunday. The first teams will shove off on the two-hour problem journey at 12:30 p.m.

Visitors may park their cars in a field adjacent to Beaconsfield, or on nearby cross streets, depending on weather conditions.

First Aid quarters and other facilities are being provided for care and comfort of the participants. Two-way mobile radios will be used for communication work during the event, through the courtesy of the Inter-County Amateur Radio Club.

Many are so busy standing up for their rights that they lose their privileges.

Mixed Chorus Being Formed To Present Spring Concert

People in this vicinity who enjoy group singing may join the new mixed chorus, directed by Malcolm MacLean Johns, to start rehearsals Wednesday evening, February 4, at the Charles A. Parcels School.

Fifteen consecutive Wednesday evening rehearsals from 8:15 to 9:45 p.m. in the rehearsal room of the beautiful new junior high school at Vernier road and Mack avenue will prepare the Community Chorus for its initial Spring Concert on Friday evening, May 15, in the school's large auditorium.

Mr. Johns, organist and choir-master of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church and member of the faculty of the Music department of Wayne University, has started this organization in response to many requests for a mixed adult chorus.

A group, invited to help organize and to serve as the first board of the chorus, met Sunday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johns to discuss plans. The Department of Community Services of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education will co-sponsor this new organization.

A varied selection of music, interesting both to the participants and to a concert audience, will be chosen by the director. There will be an opportunity for at least 75 men and women to join the chorus. Tryouts will not be necessary, just an earnest desire to sing in the group. Prospective members should register immediately by telephoning the Board of Education at TUxedo 5-2000, extension 25.

Frank J. Sladen, Jr. was elected president of the first board of directors, which will conduct the business of the chorus and assist with its activities. Other officers, committee chairmen and directors include: Marshall C. Jameson, vice-president; Mrs. George A. Dickey, secretary; Charles A. Parcels, Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Frank J. Sladen, Jr., accompanist; James A. Lafer, membership chairman; Mrs. Richard E. Williams, Mrs. Parcels, and Mrs. Dickey, telephone committee; Mrs. James A. Lafer, publicity chairman; Mrs. Harry Schroeder, James S. Vaughan and Lawrence Verdier, additional directors.

Honeywell Temperature Control Units Serve Many Pointe Homes

An electronically controlled heating system that can outwit a Michigan winter at its worst is that being installed in many Grosse Pointe homes by the Whitehead Brothers, Inc., local installers for the Minneapolis-Honeywell Company.

The unit consists of super-sensitive electronic thermostats, both in and out of doors. These thermostats team up to provide a steady, comfortable temperature in the house, room by room, no matter how rapidly or frequently the weather changes.

Perfected by Minneapolis-Honeywell heating engineers, the system employs principles that evolved from development work Honeywell did during the war on airplane cabin temperature controls. In that application it was necessary to provide comfort in a plane that might be in a temperature of 110 degrees on the ground and 40 below in the air five minutes later. Naturally, the system would have to make compensations for variations every split second of flight.

One of the largest installations in the Pointe, and which has received much national mention, is that in the Chas. Verheyden Funeral Home, where temperature never varies regardless of the weather or size of attendance. The Whitehead Company, operated by three brothers and located at 23055 Gratiot, is one of the oldest and largest distributors and installers of Honeywell units in the Detroit area.

YW Sponsors Ladies' Day Out

What housewife does not sometimes ask herself the question, "How can I get out of doing my housework today?"

The YWCA supplies an answer — which, it believes, makes housekeeping a more interesting job and the housewife a more alert and interesting woman.

A program known as "Ladies' Day Out" at the YW's Northern and Central branches and as "Ladies' Afternoon Out" at Dearborn Branch and Northeast Center YW gives the homemaker an exciting and profitable day away from household chores.

Supervised nurseries are provided, too, for pre-school children who must tag along with mama.

Ladies' Day Out program begins this week at Central and Northern. Gymnastics, swimming, crafts, millinery and dramatics are a few of the activities and classes offered.

Tuesday is Ladies' Day Out at Central Branch and Wednesday at Northern Branch. Registrations are still available at both branches.

No one knows where death, behind the steering wheel, will strike next—drive safely.

Tea will be served preceding the program by Mrs. W. H. Bunderson, hostess, and her committee, Mrs. W. R. Richardson, Mrs. Walter Brumer, Mrs. E. B. Erickson, Mrs. J. G. Scales and Mrs. Jack Funk.

Mrs. Ray Walmoth will introduce the speaker, Mrs. Paul G. Hykes, who will review the two recent books by Giovanni Guareschi, "Don Camillo and His Flack," and the companion book, "The Little World of Don Camillo."

Mr. Guareschi might be described as an Italian James Thurber, since his drawings and writing seem to catch human beings in attitudes which are universally funny and pathetic. Due to the delightful charm and wit of the author's writing, both of these books have reached the best seller lists.

The purpose of the Neighbors' Club is to welcome and acquaint new women in Grosse Pointe with the facilities of the Center and to interest them in its activities, which are cultural, educational and recreational.

HENRY T. EWALD, 1885-1953

The nation's newspapers paid tribute to Henry T. Ewald who died last Friday morning in Grace Hospital . . . That was proper for he was one of his country's distinguished and successful sons . . . But it wasn't the brilliant advertising executive . . . who could in such facile fashion ponder up the cunning Chessie to make Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad a family friend . . . that we'd miss . . .

It was the Henry Ewald who had an insatiable and kindly curiosity about people . . . who dug deep to find how he could help persons and causes . . . who was as sincere a philanthropist, as twenty-four-hour-a-day Christian as we've ever known . . .

A Christmas Purse

He didn't have to have his charities pointed out to him . . . and although he spent thousands of his own dollars to publicize causes of organized good works . . . He went beyond that to give help where it had never been given before . . .

Do you know what a human mule is? He's that heart-breaking, ragged creature who wraps newspapers around his legs in Wintertime trying to stave off biting cold as he winds through the alleys and backstreets of a city dragging a handcart filled with trash.

You don't see many of them nowadays. You didn't see them when men were employed as human mules UNLESS you looked.

Mr. Ewald saw them. It was some eighteen years ago that he first filled a Christmas purse for those forlorn souls.

No False Pretenses

Perhaps we've told you before a story of his generosity that impressed us in our own early newspaper days . . . We were assigned by our newspaper to get consent of prominent Detroiters to use their names as patrons at a benefit being given for the family of a dying newspaperman. Such a list would give us a chance to tell about the benefit in the society pages . . . and the newspaperman's friends wanted the story told in every part of the paper . . . so that in turn, other friends would buy tickets for the event and a helpful fund could be turned over to the needy family . . .

A reporter always has a list of gracious friends who'll cooperate in such matters . . . and our own particular list bore the names of Mr. and Mrs. Ewald practically from the day we went to work . . .

We called Mr. Ewald for his permission.

"We don't want you to buy tickets. Mr. Ewald, just permission to use your name so we can make a society page appeal."

The consent was immediate. So was his check for a hundred dollars with a characteristic note, "Don't want to be in there under any false pretenses. Sincerely, HTE."

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Sherwood Reekie, of Renaud road, and her bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Boydell of Berkshire road.

The bride's mother entertained wedding guests at a reception in the Country Club following the church services. Tiny satin buttons closed the back of the slim, long torso bodice of Sue's wedding dress which had off-shoulder neckline finished in ruffing and long, fitted sleeves.

The full skirt swept into formal train and an illusion wedding veil, fingertip length, was attached to a juliet cap of heirloom lace and orange blossoms. She carried Roman hyacinths with white orchid center.

Five bridal attendants were gowned in soft, French blue tulle. Bieif boleros were worn over the shirred bodices and the full skirts fell waltz length. Bands of pleated claret velvet were worn on their heads and all carried bouquets of claret toned carnations which were shaped in the form of hearts.

Mrs. Harry J. Gee attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Mrs. Richard K. Spear, Mrs. James D. Beyster, Mrs. John S. O'Brien and Mary Lou Cudlip.

course of two fund raising campaigns for the Red Cross. He was volunteer director of campaign publicity. The impact of his ideas and his heartfelt fervor for Red Cross gave those campaigns life and made them dramatic.

And while he always amazed with his knowledge of thousands of people, great and humble . . . just as many knew and cared about this vivid man . . .

You remembered he liked gray and red . . . that deep red roses were his favorites . . . somehow you came upon the intimate fact that during their lifetime together he never missed nightly telephoning Mrs. Ewald no matter how far away he might be . . . you felt his devotion for his wife and family . . . not from what he said but what he did. Your admiration for him came through tales others told of how far afield he went to help those who hadn't shared his measure of worldly success.

You'll remember, in his search for talent, "Little Boy Blue" (Po Field, son of the poet, Eugene Field) worked for him . . . that his vaulting imagination once envisioned a Detroit automobile sign atop the Rock of Gibraltar.

That he dreamed of a day when he, retired from active business, would establish an office to direct free publicity campaigns for charity.

And then you'll remember always the tribute you felt was most touching of them all . . . it was there amid the gardens of deep, red roses, gardenias and orchids sent in farewell to this great and gentle man . . .

It was a brave and beautiful white bouquet with the simple card, "From the Scrubwomen of the General Motors Building to Mr. Ewald."

Six meetings are scheduled, the first three to be conducted by Miss Lillian Hogue, president of the Detroit Chapter of the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters. The following general subjects will be covered:

January 23—How Personal Estates, Joint Property, Families and Business are Affected by Federal Taxes.

January 30—How Finances of Families and Business can be Preserved Through Wills, Trusts, Gifts and Business Agreements.

Oscar Buhr, vice-president of the Detroit Trust Company in charge of investments, will lead the fourth and fifth meetings:

February 6—The Objectives in Investing Money.

February 13—Types of Investment and Stock Market Actions and Trends.

The last lecture will be under the direction of Ernest Matlock, monetary expert:

February 20 — The American Dollar and its Diminishing Value.

This course is being sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Branch of A.A.U.W. and is open to all interested women in the community. The time of the meetings is 10 a.m.-12 noon. For additional information call Mrs. Edward Gehrig, VA. 2-6614.

Christ Church is the oldest Protestant church in Detroit, having been in its present location since 1845, making it 108 years old. It continuously has occupied the same site.

The parish is the mother church of four other parishes in the locality; Christ Church of Grosse Pointe, Church of the Epiphany, Church of the Messiah and St. Columba's Church. It is a quaint and venerable edifice with the dignity of a more quiet age; with carved and solid pews, stained glass windows and shining copper plaques, memorials to revered ones whose children also now have passed away.

Sibley House, directly east of the church, is the oldest house on Jefferson avenue. It dates back probably to 1835. Recently it has been restored to its former charm through the efforts of the Woman's Auxiliary, aided by friends of the parish and the Detroit Historical Society.

Edison Observes 50th Birthday

The Detroit Edison Company—founded in 1903—has completed its first 50 years of electric service to the people of southeastern Michigan.

Opening event in observance of the company's Golden Anniversary will be a half-hour television show scheduled for 8:30 Thursday night, January 15, on WJTV (Channel 4). The theme of the program will be the history and future of the company and the strategic area it serves.

On Friday, January 16, Open House will be held at Edison's three Eastside offices, located at 9980 Gratiot avenue near Harper, 14313 E. Jefferson avenue near Lakewood, and 14222 E. Seven Mile road, near Gratiot.

Visitors will be served cake and punch from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Will Publish History

Edison's fifty-year history, now being written by Prof. Raymond Miller of Wayne University for publication later in 1953, is a chronicle of the kind of dramatic progress and growth that has characterized the development of Southeastern Michigan during the past half-century. For example: In 1903, Detroit Edison started with some 6,000 customers in a community of about 300,000. Now its meters number a million and it serves nearly three and three-quarters million people—more than half the population of the state.

In 1903, less than 200 persons worked for the company. Now it employs nearly 12,000.

In 1903, Edison's service area was limited to the central Detroit metropolitan district. Now electricity is available to every home, store, farm and factory in the company's 7,600-square-mile area, which stretches east from the Canadian border to near Lansing, and south from Pointe aux Barques at the tip of Michigan's Thumb to near the Ohio state line.

Fifth Plant to Open

Fifty years ago, the company's electric generating capacity was about 4,900 kilowatts. Today, its four steam electric plants at Trenton, Delray, Conners Creek and Marysville are capable of carrying a load of about 1,900,000 kilowatts or more than 2,500,000 horsepower. And a highlight of Edison's anniversary year will be the starting—next August—of the first turbine-generator at the company's new St. Clair Power plant.

Now under construction between St. Clair and Marine City, this new plant will eventually bring the total system generation up to 3,350,000 horsepower, doubling the company's pre-World War II generating capability.

Scholarships Offered
In another observance of the 50th anniversary, Edison will offer 50 scholarships at various colleges of the state. The scholarships, valued at $200 each, will be open to students in the high schools of Southeastern Michigan.

Among other special company activities is the preparation of an illustrated historical booklet which will be distributed to share-owners, employees and others interested in the parallel growth of Detroit Edison and the key Michigan area the company serves.

The other nine schools for troopers will be held between February 23 and May 8.

Korean Doctor to Address Unitarian Church Meeting

An outstanding meeting of the Women's Alliance of the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church will be the appearance of Dr. Eung Soo Han on January 21 at 1:30. His subject will be "Resolutions for 1953."

Dr. Han recently studied public health methods at the Maybury Sanatorium, Northville, under the sponsorship of the United Nations. Selected to come to this country three years ago by the new South Korean Government, Dr. Han has learned to speak excellent English and is absorbing a lot of information on treatment and prevention of tuberculosis which he intends taking back to his own country when he returns on February 1.

Alliance Members are making every effort to make this meeting one of vital interest to the entire community, and have extended a general invitation to all Grosse Pointe churches to hear Dr. Han. Mrs. A. Boynton Hartz, program chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Raymond B. Baer, Mrs. Lot Hamlin, Mrs. John S. Hammond, Mrs. Thomas P. Henry and Miss Marcia Heath.

Now, more than ever before, people are conscious that most illness is preventable. The day is fast approaching when much sickness will be questioned.

Lack of care, and of common sense precautions are now pointed out as reasons for the presence of most ills. All sickness is not preventable, but much is for those who have regular examinations by their Doctor.

Let's Roll Up Our Sleeves

Pointers are once again being given the privilege of contributing to the vital blood-collection campaign tomorrow, Friday, January 16, when the Red Cross Bloodmobile comes to the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center.

So much has been written, broadcast and telecast on this subject that it is doubtful if there is anyone who is unfamiliar with the need for these donations of blood.

Possibly the most penetrating lessons we have learned about the importance of whole blood and plasma have come to us from the soldiers, sailors, marines and airmen who have been wounded in battle.

There is a further need for making this and all blood collections successful. Not only must shipments be sent constantly to the battle fronts, but blood banks must be maintained in the hospitals throughout the whole country.

In cases of severe wounds, or serious illnesses, many pints are often needed by a patient. The donations of many residents are required to save a single life.

Those who have made donations in the past, and there are many who have given their blood time and time again, know how quick and painless the process is.

The Pointe has done well in the past towards doing its share. Each collection taken here has been larger than the preceding one.

A new high in the number of pints collected is expected. This cannot be accomplished unless each of us takes our responsibility personally.

It will help a great deal if donors will make their appointments through the Center, TUxedo 1-6030.

Let's all roll up our sleeves tomorrow and share in this great movement to save lives.

Troop 96 Holds Court of Honor

Twenty-two boys of Troop 96, Boy Scouts of America, sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, received advancements and honor awards at a family night dinner and Court of Honor last Monday evening.

Scouting's highest honor, the rank of Eagle Scout, was bestowed on Charles Harris. It was announced that two others, Bradford Tisdale and Bill Quinlan had both completed their requirements for the Eagle Scout rank.

Ben R. Marsh of Irvine Lane, president of the Detroit Area Council, just back from a world cruise, was on hand to congratulate the scouts. He said he had seen much of scouting in his cruise and thought the Pointe troops were well up to the highest standards in the world.

More than 150 members of the families of the boys in Troop 96 attended the dinner and witnessed the impressive ceremonies of the Court of Honor.

Samuel G. Thorne, chairman of the Troop Committee, and Otto Strek, scoutmaster, officiated at the ceremonies. The Rev. Dr. Frank Fitt, pastor of the church, welcomed the group.

The boys who won the Life Scout award are: John Jakle, William Quinlan, William Reeves, John Wallace Smith, Peter L. Wells and Donald Worley. Those who became Star Scouts were Robert Franseth, Harold Quackenbush, John Thorne and Jack Whiting. Merit badges also were awarded to David Law and Joe Washburn.

Becoming Second Class Scouts were Jim Carne, Terence Donovan, Charles DuCharme, Bruce Gillis, William Herrick, Charles Kendeo and Remington Purdy. New Tenderfoot scouts are John Davidson and Howard Snure, Jr.

Woods police are investigating the theft of a car radio and cigaret lighter that occurred in the Woods Theater parking lot shortly before midnight, January 10.

The theft was reported by Donald H. McKinnon, of Roseville, Michigan. The radio was valued at about $85, police said.

Grosse Exaggerations

"Unfold, unfold! take in his light, Who makes thy cares more short than night, The joys with which his day-star rise He deals to all but drowsy eyes; And (what the men of this world miss) Some drops and dew of future bliss." (Henry Vaughan)

A friend of ours, planning to the West coast recently, got into conversation with a fellow-passenger... an Englishman bent on business. In the course of back and forth chat, the Britisher gave forth with a hasty account of his past.

One of the more pleasant things that has happened to us in '53 is the return to the air waves of Jim Crowley ("Your Washington Man"). When Mr. Crowley so unceremoniously left radio several years ago, we wondered why some local sponsor didn't snap him up.

For some reason the following story (found in the mail bag) tickles us and we hope it will you. A certain Mr. Smith had longed all his life to be able to afford an expensive suit made by a top tailor.

The following day our hero took his problem to the tailor... who immediately agreed with him, but added that if he touched the sleeve NOW, it would throw the collar out of line.

It isn't new to us to hear an opera singer... having attended the Met many times in the past and having heard myriad fine voices on records and radio.

Her voice is out of this world, but that isn't the half of it. She has great charm, poise and dynamic personality as well as an UN-operatic looking figure!

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (PHNOC) -Scheduled to arrive here today aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Bon Homme Richard, after a nine month Korean combat tour, is Richard W. Augustine, airman, USN, husband of Mrs. Dolores S. Augustine of 1346 Kensington road, Grosse Pointe, Mich.

During her second tour of duty in Korean waters, the Bon Homme Richard served as flagship for Task Force 77.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Jean Taylor

It has been settling-in week at the Central Library. If you had taken a peek behind the scenes the last few days, you would have found the library staff at work in smocks or blue jeans and arms loaded and faces smudged.

With all the "goings-on" we have had little time to even peek between the covers of the new books. We list here a few of the recent titles we noted on the fly and bear with us please...

A COW IS TOO MUCH TROUBLE IN LOS ANGELES, by Joseph Foster... "A moving and compassionate novel of a Mexican peasant family and the vicissitudes they endure in Los Angeles after their illegal entry into the United States."

Another book with a "new American" background is "COME BACK TO SORRENTO" by Joseph Petracca. "Papa works on the Brooklyn docks and saves his money in a boot so he can go back to Italy and buy an olive grove..."

GIVE US THIS VALLEY by Tom Ham... "A sixteen year old bride travels with her husband from Pennsylvania to Georgia in 1837. This is a pioneering story which, while not literature perhaps, is good reading with characters that are real rather than stereotypes." In LYING IN STATE by Stanton Griffith, a recently retired noncareer diplomat reviews a life of bewildering variety.

Holding Exhibit Of Sports Cars

Evolution of the sports car is the subject of a new exhibit at The Henry Ford Museum opened to the public on Friday, Jan. 9. Featuring some 30 American and European cars, the show, sponsored jointly by the Ford Motorsports Club and The Henry Ford Museum, traces the sports car from a cutdown roadster of antique design to today's sleek competition models of watch like precision.

The earliest car in the exhibition is a special 1910 Ford which once topped 103 miles an hour and was able to open the sports car era. Other early cars include a 1914 Thomas Flyer, a 1927 Mercedes, and a 1929 Bugatti and M. G.

Modern sports models include an American Nash-Healy and Cunningham; an Italian-made Fiat 1100s, a Ferrari, and a special Abarth Bertoni; a British Jaguar XK-120 and M. G.; and a German Mercedes 540K.

The exhibition will be open for three weeks with movies showing sports cars in action.

KID BITS

Since Jack Frost ruined the plans for the Blue Devils' basketball game Friday night, January 9, lots of kids decided to get together anyway. One such group dropped in at Dianne Quinlan's house. Some of the kids there were Pete Wardle and Janie Hester, Bob Burner and Bee Burrows, Jay Newberry and Pat Smith, and Phil Beach and Frances Butterfield.

Still more who had lots of fun playing cards and dancing were John Corey and Ginny Halbrook, Dave Johnson and April Cameron, Earl Lyons and Mary Jane Clementi, Jerry Goebel and Martha Slavin, and Wayne Stavoe and Mary Hoover. Dianne Quinlan's date was Dave McKee.

Another group got together the same night for a birthday party at Judy Nixon's. June Stock, Pat Nichols, Carol Roland, Donna Jean Mumford, Theima Muirhead, Ann Blackwood, Kara Walki, and Maggie Kennedy were all on hand to wish Judy the best birthday ever. All agreed that the supper served at Judy's was terrific, and the charades were loads of fun.

The Memorial Center was the scene of another of those terrific canteens on Saturday, January 10. Although there was no skating as had been planned, there was plenty of dancing for Wayne Stavoe and Nancy Seydler, Sally Fisher and Earl Lyon, Miller Foster and Judy Zeeb, Joan Carver and Mike Luberto, Terry Kuhn and Walt Hoover, Pat Beran and Joan Anton, John Bonbright and Ruth Snell, and Bill Adams and Bev Hudson.

Dale Petrowsky also had a few over on Friday night, January 9. Dancing and TV were the main attractions (besides the food, of course) for Carolyn Stoup and Hank Crawford, Toni Gazarrato and Eddie Wroblos, Sig Olsen and Chuck Lamb, and Donna Robertson and Chuck Floyd. Still more who "went ape" over the luscious snacks served at Dale's were Cynthia La Fond and Don Omar, Margaret Stapleton and Dick Gallette, and Andie Backley and Art Griffith. Dale's date was Marylou Bruneau.

Mary Dahlen's house was the scene of a four-barrelled birthday celebration on Sunday, January 11. Judy Wilson, Liz Mitchell, Donna Smith, and Ann Orebaugh were all surprised by a huge birthday party given by Mary and some of their friends.

Some of the kids there to surprise the four when they walked in the door were Sue Squire, Betty Sykes, Pat Nelson, Nancy Seydler, Nancy Wyckoff, Carole Vollmer, Sandra Strehler, Judy Goodrow, Sylvia Reuter, Penny Schneider and Bev Hudson.

Lyric Soprano Musicale Star

Mrs. Harley J. Earl invited members of Grosse Pointe Morning Musicale, which has just concluded its Country Club concert for the season, to a musicale in her Touraine road home.

The star was Mrs. Earl's friend, Maria Leone, lyric soprano and winner of the Metropolitan Opera Association's regional contest of 1951.

The singer recently returned from a South American concert tour.

who, where and whatnot

by whoozit

If you're a good girl or boy you wouldn't know either why crime investigator Rudolph Halley was in town the other day . . . Pointers spied him at Al Greens (at Willow Run) with his beautiful bride . . .

Christmas every other year . . . and then there'd be a chance to rest up between holidays . . .

The things we gals won't do for beauty . . . Take little Vicki Joy, for instance. When she was flower girl at cousin Susie Joy's wedding to Woodie Woods she was standing off there for a last-minute inspection before her trip up the middle aisle. Mama (Mrs. William Moore Joy) was agghast to discover that the silken lacings of Vicki's pink ballet slippers had slipped and were curled down around her ankles. Scotch tape was called into use and we'll bet you couldn't see it as pretty Vicki marched by!

Still think one of the high points of the past deb season was at Ann Schreiber's ball at the Little Club . . . When uncles, James and William McMillan and cousin, Henry E. Bodman II . . . donned the McMillan dress kilts for the evening.

Look out, dearie, your psychiatrist may be watching while you market . . . and Time magazine says you only buy "prestige foods, such as caviar, truffles, expensive but smelly cheese, vintage wines" for their snob appeal. We cringed when we read that excessive use of coffee or tea is traced to attempting to reassure one of his adulthood (as if these old gray hairs and all those creaks didn't take care of that!).

PILFERINGS

Mr. Schultz called frantically, "Doctor, doctor, come quick. Open and just now a mouse ran down her throat!"

"I'll be right over," advised the doctor, "but in the meanwhile try waving a piece of cheese in front of her mouth and maybe the mouse will come out."

When the doctor arrived at the Schultzes, he found Mr. Schultz in his shirt sleeves waving a seven pound flounder frantically in front of the prostrate Mrs. Schultz.

"What's the idea?" said the exasperated doctor, "I told you to wave a piece of cheese. Mice don't like flounders."

"I know, I know," moaned Mr. Schultz, "but we've got to get the cat out first."

Jimmy Durante boasts of his uncle who can play two instruments at the same time. "With the left side of his mouth he plays 'Life Is Just a Bowl of Cherries.' With the right side he plays, 'Don't Sit Under The Apple Tree,' and with the middle of his mouth, he spits out the seeds."

Mr. Mayes shook his head wonderingly. "Just look at this suit I am wearing," he observed. "The wool was grown in Australia, the cloth was woven in New England, the thread comes from India. The suit was made in Baltimore and I bought it in Buenos Aires."

"What's so unusual about that?" asked his friend. "Isn't it wonderful," mused Mr. Mayes, "that so many people can make a living out of something I haven't paid for?"

The history professor asked, "What was Louis XIV chiefly responsible for?" And the eager student in the first row put up his hand, "Louis XV, sir," he replied.

Pointer of Interest

MRS. JAMES W. LEE II OF CHALFONTE AVENUE

We called on that delightful gourmet, Mrs. James W. Lee II, last Saturday afternoon and ate a mud pie.

Well, we're taking advantage of a slight bit of poetic license because first we had a heavenly turkey something with madeira in it (all the Pointers of Interest must feed the reporter).

And then the littlest in this family of gourmets, wee Nini Lee, entered the living room bearing a plate. She had made her own pastry (library paste) and her darling Eli, a beautiful Bavarian girl who presides over Chez Lee, had supplied the chocolate sauce that made it look so tempting.

Mrs. Lee is every inch the modern mother. She actually started eating the dainty. Nor does she brook any old fashioned ideas visiting reporters may harbor about eating baked library paste.

So we topped off the luncheon that was so fine with Nini's pie while that young one, woman-like, refused to give the recipe but urged us to eat on and on.

Those of you who attended Dione Lucas' classes last Winter at Veteran's Memorial, downtown, will need no urging from us to reserve places in this year's school.

Women told us the charm of Lucas plus the interest she inspired in French cooking gave life more fillip the Winter of 1952 than would a mink coat, a cruise on the Caribbean, a new convertible.

This year again, Mrs. Lee takes over a job she adores. She meets the great Dionne at the airport or railroad station each Tuesday and is at her command until Madame Cordon Bleu takes off again in the evening for New York and her cooking demonstrations on TV.

It is true that we've all been awed by the magic Madame Lucas exhibits when it comes to turning out, in jig time, complicated souffles, Dodos, Tortes, brioche and so forth. But the magic of the Lucas personality, according to Mrs. Lee, makes her highest souffle seem flat. Invariably there's a problem luncheon was ready, the lady pinched up her shoes, placed them under an arm walking to her table in stocking feet with the aplomb of a Duchess.

Mrs. Lee blushed and loved her.

Lucas Influence
Lucas influenced the Lee household just as she did that of every one of her pupils here. Mr. Lee invested in scads of cast iron or cast aluminum cooking ware; has a collection of whips and whisks, and now uses bovril and tomato paste in practically everything he cooks. And he can cook!

He created the turkey something we referred to many paragraphs back and his family boast he excels in anything he attempts.

He confided to us that when he and Mrs. Lee became engaged, she bragged she was master of two specialties; a fish dish with white grapes, and a creme brulee. He will never believe she can concoct the brulee but has warm praise for the fish and white grapes, a recipe handed down in her family.

With a trace of reluctance he also bows low to Mrs. Lee's ham souffle and the way she can paint snail shells with garlic butter.

There are two more members of this engrossing family: daughter, Penny, whose forte is the piano and Patsy, a balletomane who asked for a tumbling mat for Christmas. She got it and flips over it, high in the air, to the enchantment of family and friends.

Mrs. Lucas will not only give away the foods she prepares but also the containers in which they're arranged so elegantly.

Reflections

by paul gach

From our facts and figures department, here's a note worth mentioning. We took a gamble this year on fifty of our graduation sittings. From each set of proofs, I selected the proof which I thought was the best. It was fully retouched and we presented a beautiful vignette print for approval. In all but two cases the order came from the pose which had been picked originally. It proved that we do know pretty well just what our clients want and has certainly opened the way to better portraits for the future. Research, always research. It also proved something else. If the weather is fair up until Christmas, it'll be horrible after New Years.

CORNISH PASTIES

Contributed by Chet Sampson

The pastry was developed by the Cornish as a one-dish meal which miners could take down into the mines with them, and which would keep warm for several hours. That it will do if it is wrapped up in many layers of paper and towels.

Enough for five or six pasties: Blend four cups of flour, one cup of lard and one tsp. salt, adding enough ice water to make the paste quite soft but not sticky. Roll out a piece of pastry the size of a dinner plate. This is the most difficult step in making a pastry as the pastry must hold together without breaking when the filling is in it.

On half the pasty place the following ingredients: 1/2 cup diced rutabagas (sliced quite thin, 1/2 cup diced potatoes, also sliced thin, 1/2 cup finely chopped onion (save a bit to place on top of meat), 3/4 c. diced, lean round steak (from 1/2 inch thick steak) more if possible; one rounded teaspoon of salt, plus pepper and one pat of butter.

Moisten the edge of the pastry on one side. Bring one side over to the other, sealing them securely. To add to the sealing, twist the edge together. The sealed edge should be the upper edge of the pasty.

Cut a small hole in the top center and bake at 400 degrees for one hour. Turn up heat at the end if pastry doesn't brown. Add a pat of butter to the hole after removing from oven.

About our NEW GAS RATES

A recent increase in the wholesale price of natural gas has made necessary a slight change in the gas rates of the customers of Michigan Consolidated Gas Company. These new rates became effective on January 13, 1953.

The new gas rates, which will give us only enough additional revenue to pay the higher wholesale cost of gas have been approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

The amount of increase in our rates is less than two-tenths of a cent for each 100 cubic feet of gas you purchase.

Those who buy gas under our General Service Rate, which includes ordinary household use, will pay a net increase of just .194 of a cent for each 100 cubic feet. Customers who purchase gas under the Space Heating Rate will pay the same amount of increase on the first 2,000 cubic feet of gas they buy each month. The cost of their additional gas will be raised by .184 of a cent net for each 100 cubic feet. Our rates to industrial customers are increased proportionately. The net minimum bill will be $1.00 a month.

The bill of our average customer who uses 2,600 cubic feet of gas a month will be increased only 5 cents. Those who heat their homes with gas will pay about 31 cents a month more.

Gas—by far the best fuel—will remain cheaper than coal or oil.

We are paying the higher wholesale price of gas to our principal supplier, Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Company, under a bond which requires that the pipe line refund any portion of the additional gas cost which the Federal Power Commission or the courts may later find to be unjustified. A Michigan law fully protects our gas users in the event the Company receives any such refund.
