Council Gets Report from Plan Experts

Exhaustive Survey Made of Possibilities for Area South of Jefferson Avenue

Councilmen and other officials of the City of Grosse Pointe are engaged in the study of a voluminous report on "The Future Development of Property Lying Between East Jefferson Avenue and Lake St. Clair."

Major Problem

Development of this area has long been one of the major problems facing the city administrators. Upon it they rely for added tax income through increased valuation. Sufficient revenues to operate the city and continue expansions in services and facilities have been badly needed.

Very Valuable Area

The report labels this section of the city as one of its most valuable areas, "confronted, however, with pronounced changes in economic and urban conditions, and present development is growing obsolete from the standpoint of modern conditions and requirements."

Redevelopment Needed

The land south of Jefferson is largely occupied by large, palatial homes. In numerous instances the houses and grounds are too large to be maintained under the present help and income problems. They are obsolete from the standpoint of present demands and needs.

See Great Opportunity

The authors of the report see a great opportunity for residential development which would not only maintain the desirable characteristics, but which would improve them. They cite the fact that the absence of streets in much of this area now would provide an opportunity for laying out the property in a most attractive manner.

Investigation revealed that Ernst had been drinking for about two hours shortly before the accident at a local bar. He admitted having had seven or eight beers.

As of Friday morning, January 30, Mary's condition was reported as improving. Her nurse, Melba Smith, stated that Mary was "feeling much better," and that she had been able, that morning, to recite part of "Mary had a little lamb . . ." Her condition earlier had been described as critical.

Further check by police revealed that Ernst had no record in Michigan of moving traffic violations.

Award Explained
In his remarks Mr. Clemons explained the basis for the citizenship award. "One of the important functions of the chapel is to train for good citizenship. In 1951, the faculty accepted a new plan developed by the senior high school forum. According to this plan," Mr. Clemons continued, "each 12A homeroom recommends by primary election those of its members who should be considered, on a ballot from all the homerooms of the class. The faculty may add or subtract names in determining the ballot. A careful study is made of the qualities of good citizenship before the class makes its final decision by ballot. The results of this election shows that the class identifies more than five percent as outstanding. According to the Forum plan, only the top five percent are named."

Seven Are Named
He concluded with naming the seven students who received the award. They are Nancy Bruneau, Ernest Nigg, John Finch, Dorothy Higbee, Kay Jameson, Walter Pear and Charles Schaller.

The Bausch and Lomb Award is given to a member of the graduating class whose record in science and mathematics is exceptionally high and who gives most promise of future distinction in the field of science. The medal went this semester to Charles Schaller, class president.

Jo Anne Hargis is Honored
The outstanding girl athlete trophy was awarded to Jo Anne Hargis. She was selected by a committee of four faculty members, the principal, Dean of Girls, the teacher of girls' physical education and the presidents of the Girls' Athletic Association and the Aquatic Club, on the basis of outstanding achievement in the development of individual athletic skill, service and leadership in the physical education program, and her consistent demonstration of good sportsmanship.

Boy Picked in June
Upon the recommendation of the coaching staff, the award for the outstanding boy athlete is selected in June, with members of both the January and June graduating classes eligible. Scholarships are awarded in the same manner.

The graduates left the auditorium to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance." Reverend Sandrock gave the benediction.

Following the exercises, graduates, parents, and friends were invited to the girls' gymnasium for refreshments. The Mothers' Club members were hostesses.

P-TA Meeting at Monteith Attended by 671 Parents

Approval of an appropriation of $800, to be used for needed equipment for the Monteith School, highlighted the regular membership meeting of the Monteith P-TA held Thursday, January 28, in the school's auditorium.

A large and enthusiastic group of parents, teachers and friends witnessed the approval of the funds, which will be used to purchase silverware, dishes and miscellaneous items to be presented to the school at a future date, by the P-TA.

Glenn D. McDonald, vice-president, presided at the meeting in the absence of President Jay O. Ortwein, who was out of the city at the time.

Singing of several numbers by the Grosse Pointe Men's Chorus, under the direction of John E. Finch, opened the program.

Principal speaker of the evening was the Rev. Robert D. Richards of Plymouth, Michigan, who spoke on "The America I Know," an enlightening talk on true Americanism, presented with sincere enthusiasm and simple humor.

It disclosed the thoughts of a naturalized citizen towards the United States, and stimulated the thoughts of the listeners concerning the true ideals of this great country.

The P-TA sponsored a gift of $10, to be presented to the classroom showing the highest percentage of parents attending the teachers' visitation period. This was won by Mrs. Saile's fourth grade classroom, which showed a 64 per cent attendance.

A total of 671 parents signed the registers and talked briefly with their children's teachers.

A social period followed the meeting and refreshments were served while parents and teachers visited.

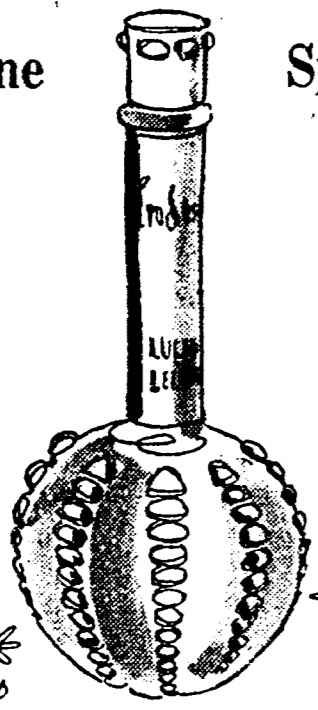

It may take two to start a fight, but usually only one gets the worst of it.

Praise for Traffic Experts Voiced by Judge Belanger

Praise for the experts who are working to reduce traffic accidents and save human lives, was voiced by Justice of the Peace J. Joseph Belanger of Grosse Pointe Park, in the following letter, a copy of which has been received by the NEWS.

January 30, 1953
City Commission
Municipal Building
15115 E. Jefferson Avenue
Grosse Pointe Park 30, Mich.
Attention: Mr. Everitt B. Lane,
City Manager
Gentlemen:

I attended the First Michigan Traffic Court Conference held January 15 through January 17 at Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan, and wanted to file this as my report in connection therewith and in representing Grosse Pointe Park.

At this conference all phases of traffic problems were discussed and studied in great detail, and those attending had the pleasure and privilege of hearing remarks and addresses by the leaders in this field, as well as from judges and prosecutors throughout the State of Michigan. Among those taking an active and leading part were Mr. James S. Economos who is associated with the Traffic Institute of Northwestern University and the American Bar Association; Mr. Robert L. Donigan, counsel of the Traffic Institute at Northwestern University; Mr. Franklin M. Kreml, organizer of the Traffic Institute at Northwestern University and the Traffic Division of the International Association of Chiefs of Police; and Mr. Maxwell Halsey, executive secretary of the Michigan State Safety Commission. These men were the guiding spirits of the conference.

It is practically impossible to go into detail as to the value and the worth of the education received by all of us attending with particular relation to the educational, engineering and enforcement angles of traffic matters. Suffice to say that, among all other things, the court and the general traffic problem, civil and criminal responsibility in traffic accident cases, laws of arrest applying to traffic cases, traffic law court decisions, education by the court, traffic law enforcement and laws, public attitudes on traffic law enforcement, use of complaints form on American Bar Association version of the Michigan uniform ticket, trial of charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquors and in connection therewith scientific aspects of breath and body fluid tests, legal aspects of chemical tests, publicly announced court policies, functions of a prosecutor, parking violations bureau, uniform rules of procedure, uniform minimum fine schedules, and mutual problems of the police and the courts were all discussed in great detail.

It was brought out very strongly that the importance of the role of the traffic court in traffic law enforcement cannot be overestimated, that the weight that can be brought to bear by traffic court judges is educating for public safety is immeasurable, the work of the prosecutor in proper preparation and presentation of traffic cases is indispensable, scientific techniques and procedures in the preparation of evidence reinforce the work of the traffic courts, adoption of model legislation can do much to expedite the work of the courts, uniformity in procedure can build public confidence in and respect for the courts, and that good public relations create the public support necessary to uphold and sustain effective court work.

I cannot too strongly evaluate the worth of the efforts being exerted by the men behind this grand movement to do everything possible to save human lives and to prevent injury to persons and property and the inspiration we all received from the intelligent and cooperative leadership in this movement by Mr. Economos, Mr. Kreml, Mr. Donigan, and our own Michigan State Safety Commission Secretary, Mr. Maxwell Halsey, to whom congratulations are in order for assuming the details in connection with the carrying on of this conference.

Respectfully submitted,
C. Joseph Belanger,
Municipal Judge.

From Another Pointe of View

By Jane Schermerburn

Dione Lucas... the only gal we've ever known who could turn cooking into a social event...

Arrives in town next Tuesday... to open the Cordon Bleu Cooking Classes of the Seven Eastern Women's Colleges Scholarship group...

And on the eve of her arrival we find the Pointe doing nip-ups... the committee taking care of those last minute details...

The students... sharpening pencils and making sure they're handbags are equipped with note paper... as they prepare to jot down her special "asides" on how much Buttah and how much sherry it takes to dazzle a dinner guest...

Classes at Art Institute

We might come down from this culinary cloud long enough to remind you that this, the second season with Mrs. Lucas, takes place in the auditorium at Detroit Art Institute.

The classes will be held five successive Tuesdays...

And there is only one class each Tuesday... it to begin at 1:30... especially planned so that you won't have to wrinkle your pretty brow fighting traffic to and from the Institute...

Ready for Dione Lucas

Mrs. Hall Lippincott has had the fascinating task of buying the groceries for the lessons...

Her shopping list is hat-raising... everything from truffles to duck livers to special peppercorns...

All ingredients... and the very special French pots and pans... stoves and work tables with huge overhead mirrors so that every reserved seat will have a wonderful view... will be ready...

When Mrs. James W. Lee II brings Mrs. Lucas from an early breakfast to her Tuesday "kitchen"...

Single Class Tickets Available

Mrs. Allen Lomax is spending the week checking ticket sales and a million other items such as the printed menus and recipes which will be handed to all the "pupils"...

Incidentally... for this first class... "one time" tickets are available... at three dollars each... and all seats are reserved...

If you hurry you may get yours from Mrs. James Grace or Mrs. Herbert Bartlett at the Pointe...

Recent Grads to Usher

Mrs. Henry C. Kohring is lining up recent college graduates of the seven Eastern Women's Colleges to usher at the cooking classes...

Gals from Smith will take over next Tuesday...

And before we get into a list of Pointers whose Spring-time dinners and luncheons will reflect the artistry of Lucas, we might tell you that this year the foods Mrs. Lucas prepares will be awarded "in one piece" and in the container in which they're to be served...

Baumgarten-Webster Plans Are Announced

Patricia Baumgarten, Daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Elden C. Baumgartens of Lochmoor Boulevard, to Marry William Webster at Ceremony in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

The schedule of today's young engaged couples is an awesome one. Take Patricia Baumgarten, for instance. She'll be married April 4 to William Webster at a 4 o'clock ceremony in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

But before their wedding date, Pat, who's the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Elden C. Baumgarten of Lochmoor boulevard, and Bill are busy furnishing the attractive new Chester avenue terrace they'll occupy after their marriage.

And then the popular young bride elect must complete a Southern wear trousseau for she and Bill are off to Bermuda when they take their wedding trip.

Nor can we forget to mention the long list of pre-nuptial parties complimenting both Pat and Bill. The list is growing daily. Six bridesmaids will include Bill's sister, Leila Webster of Chicago, Mrs. Henry Berry of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. Herbert A. Bayer Jr., Mrs. Malcolm Barnum, Mrs. Edward Elder, Jr. and Laird Beamer.

Dr. Thomas Baumgarten will be the best man for his future brother-in-law and the groomsmen include John Spaulding, Willard P. Kerr, Robert Hamill, Charles Moore, John McKenzie and Henry Reynolds.

About those pre-wedding parties, the first will take place on Saturday when Mrs. Clifford P. Loranger of Lake Shore road entertains at a luncheon and miscellaneous shower for Pat at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

dral candleabra filled with ivory tapers.

The bride's waltz-length gown of beige lace was fashioned with full skirt, moulded bodice which had square neckline and long, fitted sleeves. Pearls were embroidered on the tiny turned-down collar. A very short veil fell from a cap of the same lace and she carried freesia and pale green orchids.

Eleanor Corfield was her sister's only attendant. Her gown of blue lace and nylon net was also designed waltz length.

CAMERAS CATCH PICTORIAL NEWS OF INTEREST FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

MOMENT OF MEDITATION—The harsh winter temperature on the Korean front was relieved recently, when the sun warmed the battle area with a heat boost of 20 degrees. Pfc. L. M. Renfrow, taking the opportunity to bask a while in the open air, reads a Bible outside his bunker. He said it felt like a summer day, even though he had to wear his cold-weather garb. Renfrow hails from Selma, N. C.

WARBIRDS HUDDLE—At a U. S. Air Force base in Japan four C-124 Globemasters form this striking pattern on the night line, between combat cargo missions on the Korean airlift. This unusual photo of the three-story air mammoths was made from a helicopter while the C-124s were getting routine maintenance. They were parked this way to make maximum use of a central pool of equipment and supplies. The four giants together can carry 800 passengers, 100 tons of cargo or more than 520 litter patients at a time.

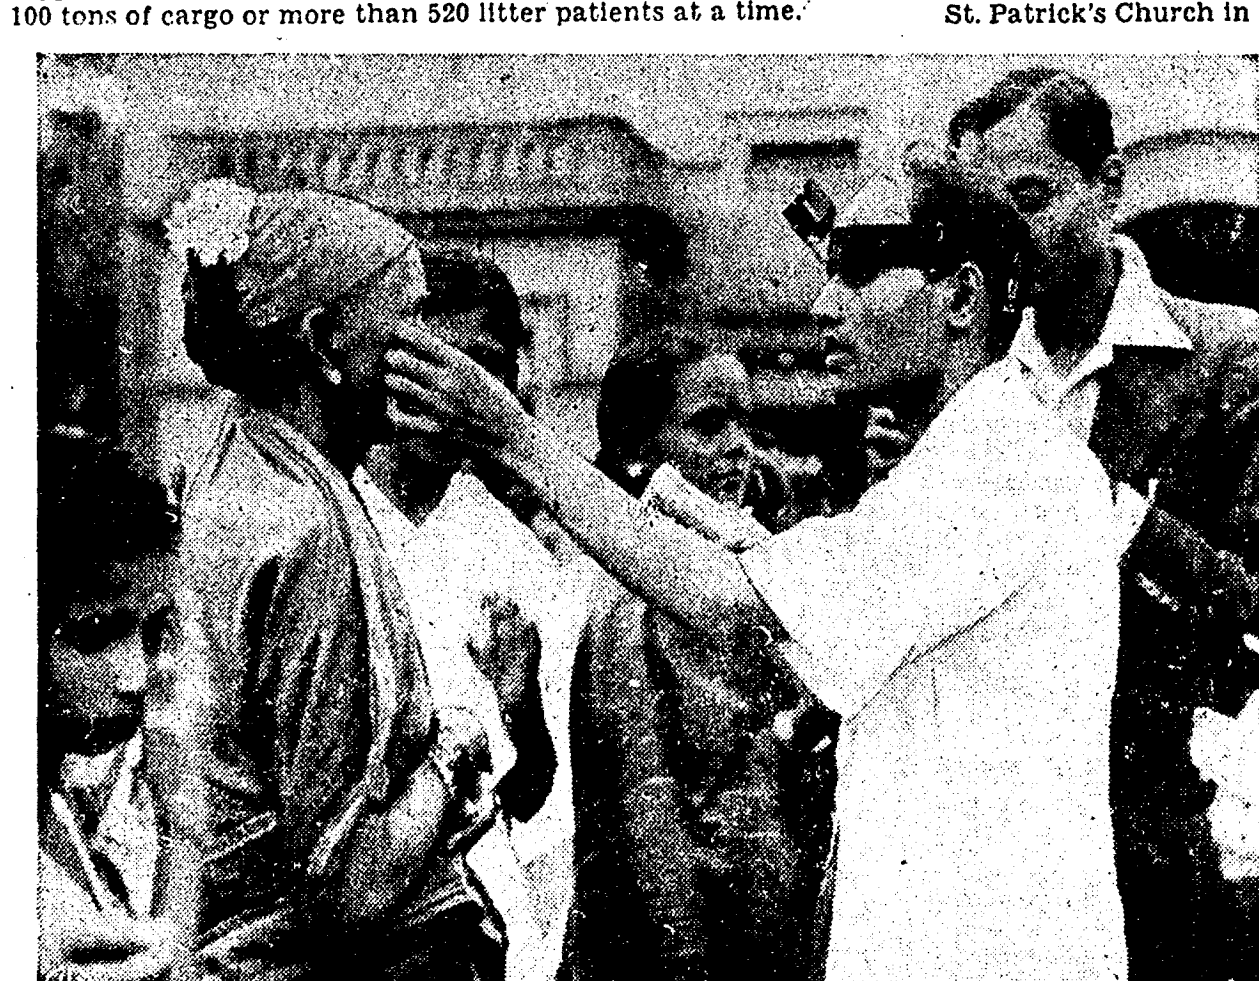

FITCHER AND BRIDE—New York Giants' pitcher Al Corwin not only made a fine reputation for himself on the baseball diamond in 1952 but also proved himself very adept at pitching the woo, as is evidenced from this picture. Here, the rookle star cuts the wedding cake with his bride, the former Patricia McMahon, following their wedding in St. Patrick's Church in Newburgh, N. Y., recently.

LIVE WHITE BLOSSOM—A long-legged flamingo looks like a new genus of flowering plant as it dives its head into the water, searching for food at the London Zoo. The point of view is all.

FRONT-SEAT SAFETY—More protection against car accidents or sudden stops is offered by a German manufacturer, who has produced a device consisting of a strong, flexible steel frame coated with rubber. Front-seat auto passengers would be protected from being slammed into the dashboard or windshield, by the shock-absorbing accessory.

TREATMENT FOR BLIND—Dr. M. U. Modi, an American-trained eye doctor who treats patients free of charge in India, where there are an estimated 2,000,000 blind and 6,000,000 partially blind persons, examines a patient in Bangalore as others wait for attention. Dr. Modi uses monies donated by Indian philanthropists to help care for the sightless.

GOING "BATTY" OVER BASEBALL—Boston Red Sox outfielder Al Zarilla shows off his hobby of making lamps and ashtrays out of bats and baseballs at his Los Angeles home. Zarilla served with three different clubs last season but said he was "sure tickled" to be back with the Red Sox this year. He said he hopes to equal if not better his 1950 hitting percentage.

ROCKY GETS A BELT—Decked out in "soup and fish," heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano sports the $10,000 Ray Hickok belt, which is awarded to the top pro athlete of the year. Marciano became the first boxer to garner the diamond-studded award. Phil Rizzuto, Yankee shortstop, won it in 1950 and teammate Allie Reynolds gained it in 1951.

NEW TWIST—"Kitten in a heart" is something special in the way of Valentines prepared by TV actress Julia Meade for February 14. Julia diverts her little pet with a roll of cellophane tape, instead of the time-honored spool of thread.

"EGYPT'S HERO" HER HERO—After extolling him as "Egypt's hero," a peasant woman kisses the hand of Premier Naguib, as he walks across a field outside of Cairo. Returning to Cairo after a visit to a village where are destroyed 194 homes, the Premier stopped at a small farm and spoke informally with a little group of "fellahin." The peasants were overwhelmed at the unexpected visit and cheered him wildly as "the leader of the revolution."

ETIQUETTE AT THE FRONT—Battle-begrimed Peteo Bileckj of New York City scoops food out of a tin can with the aid of a knife. It's not standard operating procedure according to the Army or Emily Post, but it's effective. Keeping a rifle close at hand is S.O.P., though.

ENSEMBLE FOR SPRING—A black and white print of paper taffeta is teamed with a black raw silk coat lined with the same print material to make an elegant spring ensemble designed by Mollie Farnis of New York. The dress has slim lines and a scoop neck while the coat has a Peter Pan collar and cuffed sleeves.

WATCH THE BIRDIE? DARN RIGHT!—Two of the more than 250 cats entered in the recent Empire Cat Club show in New York City take time out for some serious photographic chores. It was without any trouble that the puss in the basket concentrated on "watching the birdie" for the feline photographer behind the camera.

Chronic Breaker of Motor Laws Given 30 Days in Jail

For driving while under the influence of liquor, his second offense, a Grosse Pointe Woods man was sentenced to 30 days in jail and assessed a $100 fine, Saturday, January 31, by Judge Don J. Goodrow of Grosse Pointe Woods Municipal Court.

According to a police report, Harold Feucht, 1969 Lancaster, was arrested on charges of drunk driving with a revoked license.

Last week, Feucht spent three days in jail for driving without a license, and after his license plate had been confiscated by the Secretary of State. An investigation revealed that he had gone home after serving his sentence and returned to the police auto pound with a second set of keys, which he used to drive away his car.

Barbara Mullen, 937 Vernier road, was fined $10 for making an improper turn and causing an accident. Mark W. Brown Jr., 28023 Larchmont, St. Clair Shores, was found guilty of speeding on Mack Ave. He was fined $10.

John Edmund Allard, 1348 Maryland, Grosse Pointe Park, pleaded guilty to reckless driving and excessive speed. His operator's license was revoked for three months, and in addition, paid a fine of $40.

Easter Return For the Kuhns

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kuhn of McKinley place, who are traveling in the Orient, are planning their Pointe return just before Easter.

They will be on hand to greet their debutante daughter, Airlie, who'll arrive for her Spring vacation from studies at Wellesley.

The Kuhns are planning a far-from-home reunion with Mrs. Kuhn's sister, Mrs. Archibald McKay of the Indian Village Manor, when their itineraries cross in Japan.

Their Play Will Benefit Memorial Center

Cooperation is the keynote for the second production of the Grosse Pointe Theatre, which is John Patrick's "The Curious Savage," being presented Friday evening, February 6, at 8:30 o'clock, in Pierce auditorium.

First of all the play is a benefit for the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, whose Young People's Club is strenuously selling tickets for the event.

Secondly, an unusual number of husbands and wives are taking an active part in the play. John Wilson plays one of the sons of Mrs. Savage in the play. Carol, his wife, is not only holding book on the play, she is also in charge of ticket sales for the theatre.

Jack Sinclair, president of the group, is doubling as poster designer as well as coordinator, while Dorothy, his wife, is in charge of ushers for the play.

Dean Erskine is designing and building the set, and June, his wife, has the arduous job of collecting props for the play, which include among other strange things, a violin that will give forth even more horrible noises than usual when played by an amateur, and a one-eyed teddy bear, in good condition.

Both Doubleday's in the village and Jacobson's are cooperating by selling tickets as is the War Memorial. A member of the theatre group has staffed a table where tickets may be purchased at Jacobson's from Monday, February 2 on. The staff at Doubleday's will sell you your ticket, or call Carol Wilson, TU. 5-4217, or the War Memorial, TU. 1-6030.

See the window display at Jacobson's for more pictures of the cast.

Schools Offering Lipreading Class

Approximately 125 persons in the Grosse Pointe area wear hearing aids or need instruction in lipreading, according to Stahl Butler, director of the Michigan Association for Better Hearing.

Working in cooperation with the Community Service program of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, the Association is planning to offer a class in lipreading for adults in this area who have hearing difficulties.

One out of every ten persons does not hear clearly the noises and sounds about him. Many of these are unaware that they have a hearing difficulty. They blame other people for not speaking loudly or clearly enough; they refuse to admit to themselves or their families that they have difficulty hearing.

Modern medicine and science make it possible to prevent many difficulties of the hard of hearing, or to remedy them after they have started. If those who do not hear well admit their difficulty they can be helped. Lipreading is one solution to their problem.

The Lipreading class which will be held at the Board of Education Building, 389 St. Clair, is scheduled to begin on Monday, February 9 at 7:30 p.m. It will be taught by Mrs. Pearl M. Brown, who at the present time is teaching a class of hard of hearing children at the Eastern Unit for the Deaf, Stephens School, Detroit. Mrs. Brown received her special training at Wayne University and has taught adult education classes in the Detroit school system.

Those interested in attending the Lipreading class may register for it or obtain additional information regarding it by calling the Department of Community Services, Grosse Pointe Board of Education, TU. 5-2000, extension 25.

Grosse Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

"I am the wind that whavers,
 You are the certain land;
 I am the shadow that passes
 Over the sand."

I am the leaf that quivers;
 You . . . the unshaken tree;
 You are the stars that are steadfast,
 I am the sea.

You are the light eternal,
 Like a torch . . . I shall die,
 You are the surge of deep music,
 I but a cry!"

Apparently the new library is a huge success and we are happy for everyone concerned. The only "whatsit" that hangs from the ceiling in the main room. It could have been a model for the title of the song: "The Thing," but we understand it is referred to as the "Mobile." One man at the opening was overheard saying he thought it would look better in a super-market . . . and a woman asked her companion if it was hung there because the school children made it!

Speaking of art (?) we read a comprehensive letter to the editor in one of the Sunday papers that we couldn't agree with more. The theme was that TRUE art can be and is appreciated by almost everybody. When you have to explain it or pointing to an object in a painting say, "This is supposed to be a tree" . . . it is no longer art except for the chosen few. We have seen numerous modern and abstract paintings consisting of crooked wheels, straight lines, off-side cones and wire eyes that leave us very frigid indeed. They couldn't look more like the stuff our niece brought home from her first lessons in kindergarten drawing . . . except that her's were better.

The best example in the world of this sort of "art" is the ferinistance that occurred in New York years ago at an art gallery show. The first prize went to one of these abstracts . . . and it wasn't until days later . . . that the judges learned the painting had been hanging upside down when they awarded it first prize! Well, upside down, rightside up, sideways or flat on the floor, it doesn't make much difference to most of us.

On the other hand the Blue Boy and Whistler's Mother, to mention only two out of the portraits, can be understood and appreciated by all of us. One is the portrait of a charming boy and the other a sweet motherly looking woman. No circles, no clocks in the middle of the stomach and no drunken looking tones and no tricky complications. Just every day meat and potatoes art and it's heavenly. We don't object to these nightmare artists if only the critics didn't try to push them down our throats as if they were Mona Lisas.

As you know, columnists . . . even small fry like us . . . occasionally receive a small sample of a manufacturer's product so that we may try it and say a kind word about it if we are so minded. Some time ago, a distributor of Lucien Lelong's line of cosmetics and perfumes sent us a bottle of Abra Ca: Dabra perfume mist (Sirocco) and we were so enchanted with the elegant perfume that we wrote about it in the column. Shortly thereafter, we received from the same gentleman, a "Harem" lipstick . . . which we presume he sent for our deff effort on behalf of Monsoony Lelong.

That would seem to be that, except for one teeny weeny little detail that our hero knows nothing about and won't unless he reads this column! One day last week, we received a package about the size of a small bread box. Noting the name of Lelong on the outside, we hastened to open it . . . a feat which cost us two broken fingernails, a bent nail file and fifteen minutes of our time. (Cartier never sealed a box with more zeal!)

When we finally got through the outside wrapping, we dove through wads of tightly packed tissue and uncovered a small gold box tied fancily with pretty blue ribbon and bow. (Isn't this EXCITING so far?) We untied the ribbon and opened the box (which was marked "baguette perfume") and LO and behold . . . it was as empty as Mother Hubbard's cupboard!

We have no doubt that the donor (after all that wrapping) must have thought he had enclosed the bottle we presume comes in that box . . . but as it stands now, we can thank him for but NOTHING. HOWEVER . . . Lucien Lelong "smellies" have long been favorites of ours, so we hold no malice toward our hero and his well meant intentions. Tee-hee.

In the mail this week . . . on pretty Japanese note paper . . . a few lines from E. B. Rall, from Okinawa. He sez: "Dear Pryor, Am a long way from the "38th Parallel," the further away—the better, but will soon be back again . . . from summer to winter. Flowers are blooming and a cool wind is coming in from the China Sea. There is a moon and a sandy beach but Ah, me, the send you: 'off limits.' When I get back to Tokyo am going to sign you some chop sticks. Some fun trying to eat a meal with them when you are hungry."

Nice to hear from you, boy. How about letting us know what WE can send YOU? That would seem to be nearer the point.

We like you! The Scotch call our open toed shoes. In an article from a Scotch paper recently, we read that the Queen was wearing "peep-toed" shoes. Cute?

Traffic Safety Plan Shows Gain

The State Police administer the program in Michigan for the State Safety Commission. It is sponsored nationally by the safety council, which acts for the president's highway safety conference. Participation is limited to cities of 10,000 or more population and splendid progress has been made in the last year with nearly double the number of cities participating. Harry Porter, senior engineer for the National Safety Council, reported at a meeting of officers assigned to the safety and traffic division of the State Police.

The traffic safety inventory program in Michigan has shown of the 55 eligible in this state 35 took part last year as compared with 18 the year previously. On the basis of detailed reports submitted by the cities and covering various factors such as traffic law enforcement, engineering, accident records and related subjects, the safety council prepares an annual inventory analysis showing the ratings of each community as compared with national standards and improving recommendations for improvement.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Jean Taylor

Among the throngs viewing the new Central Library the past week were librarians, trustees, commissioners and friends from various parts of Michigan and neighboring states and Canada. Also many Grosse Pointe residents who were not former library users came to look about and remained to register and to take books home with them.

During the first week new applications were received from 200 adults and 150 children. 1279 books were circulated on Monday, January 26, the opening day, and statistics show a total circulation for the week of over 4,000 books and magazines.

Classes have come from nearby schools, also Girl Scouts and Brownie troops with their leaders "for to look and for to see". A group of Wayne University students who are studying modern architecture and Marcel Breur in particular, were given a tour of the building and expressed much interest and enthusiasm.

Jean McEvoy, a fourth grade student at Country Day School writes us: "The whole library was so beautiful it would take me hours to tell you how beautiful it was. I loved all the chairs and tables especially in the children's room. I loved the mobile most." One group of Brownies stopped to inspect the "Adult Room". This is a room set aside for adults only, excluding high school students, where they may read and smoke in comfort away from the maddening crowd. Said one bright eyed moppet . . . "Isn't there a kids' room like this where we can shut the door and keep all the grown-ups out?"

"With so many new borrowers we venture to point out once again some of the features of your library, although it is an old story to our seasoned library users.

As well as books, magazines and pamphlets, films, records and tools may be circulated as well. The listening table where two records may be played at one time while eight people listen with ear phones, is proving popular. This may be used by all adults including high school students or by children accompanied by an adult.

Long playing records are circulated for home use at 8 cents a day. The films are for use on a 16 mm. sound machine and are circulated as are the tools, free of charge.

Every generation has been regeled by the preceding one about the hard winters grandfather knew as a boy, as compared with the winter of today. This year the oldsters would seem to have truth on their side. A ten-year-old lad topped the pile of books he was taking from the library last week with "Skiing for Beginners" by Conrad Brown. Said he . . . "I have the skis, I have the book that will tell me how but . . . where in heck is the snow?"

Carelessness Greater of Accidents
 By FRED M. KOPF, R.P.H.
 Almost a hundred per cent of accidents are caused by nothing more than carelessness . . . automobile, fire, drownings, falls. The remedy is simple, be careful at all times . . . this takes constant awareness and practice.

It is natural as we come to live in more densely populated areas that accidents will increase if we do not take extra precaution to prevent them. Being careful pays off in big dividends, practice it daily, your efforts will be rewarded when opportunity for accidents occur and you can successfully avoid them.

You won't need to regret the accident that never happened. This is the 434th of a series of Editorial advertisements appearing in this paper each week.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:—
 Two hundred and fifty high school students gathered together Sunday evening at the Grosse Pointe Methodist Church to worship in an interdenominational service.

All over the United States young people from Protestant churches united in community services such as this as the final service of Youth Week which was emphasizing youth and unity in Christ.

Students at this particular meeting were from the Grosse Pointes and surrounding areas and many churches who so ably led the service. Our future leaders of the country were sitting there intent upon worship and learning—this being duplicated many times over the country—and it was heartwarming and gratifying to know that in these troubled times there are those who are willing to work with the youth of our communities and there are parents who encourage their youth to go to these gatherings.

Is there anything more inspirational than to see your boy or girl lead in singing, prayer, usher or participate in the choir? If you had been there Sunday night you would have been proud of your youth.

My deep gratitude and humble thanks go out to all youth leaders and may their fine work be an inspiration to others to do the same. I may add that the students had their fun afterwards!

Blue Devil Cagers Sharing Lead in Border Cities Loop

Grosse Pointe's Blue Devil basketball team gained its quest for State recognition last week when it added two more victories to its 1952-53 record. The double victory enabled the Blue Devils to retain sixth place State ranking and move into a three-way tie with Highland Park and Fordson in the Border Cities League title race.

On Tuesday, January 27, the Pointers whipped Coach Reed Laughlin's Port Huron quintet, 66 to 48 and three nights later, February 1, the Devils tripped up off-beaten Monroe, 68 to 59, on the Trojans' home court.

Smith Stars in Both In both games the Blue Devils captain "Long Jawn" Smith paced the Pointers to victory. Against Port Huron, Smith counted 20 points, and against Monroe, 18 points.

Port Huron gave the Blue Devils a scare in the early stages of the contest and held a 21 to 19 advantage going into the second period. However, the Pointers burst out of their foul shooting lameness and moved into a 35 to 31 lead at the halftime intermission and from there on in proceeded to build up their 18 point victory margin.

Everybody in Act Coach Howard MacAdam had an opportunity to empty his bench in the late stages of the game and every player, with the exception of one, figured in the victory.

Dick Daly paced the Hurons with 14 points to annex the runner-up honors and his teammate Frank Moeller took third place with 13 points. Moeller could have easily captured the scoring honors if he could have found the range from the free throw line. He had 15 chances but could only cash in on five shots.

The Devils, having learned the value of the free throw in the game of basketball collected 20 of 35 charity tosses.

Dave Terris missed the game due to a leg injury suffered in the now famous Highland Park game, which saw the Devils' winning streak snapped at eight games.

The Port Huron contest was a non-league affair and didn't count in the Devils' campaign for the championship of the Border Cities League but it did enhance the Pointers' chances in the State ratings.

It was the Pointers' impressive 68 to 59 win over Monroe that enabled the Devils to move into a three-way tie for first place in the BCL standings.

In this game Monroe's Dean Pinchoff stole the scoring honors with nine field goals and six out of six free throws for a total of 24 points.

Guard Johnny "Tweddie" DeCiccio put the Pointers on the victory road shortly after the opening tip-off and the Devils were never in danger in scoring their ninth victory in 10 starts. With "Long Jawn" Smith and DeCiccio chalking up 7 points each in the first quarter the Devils climbed into a comfortable 20 to 12 lead going into the second stanza. By the halftime intermis-

St. Paul Five Hops Back on Victory Plane

By Bob Barrett St. Paul High School again hopped on the Victory Plane last Friday night with a resounding victory over the radical St. Bernard cagers.

The final score was St. Paul 54, St. Bernard 35. In the opening quarter the Flyers' Victory Plane was in the warming-up stages, inasmuch as the game was a see-saw affair, but at the two minute mark of this quarter, with the Flyers in the lead, 5 to 3, the plane made a zooming takeoff in quest of another victory for old St. Paul.

Ayraul is Pilot Pilot in Friday night's flight was big Jim Ayraul, who led the Flyers throughout the contest. Jim played a terrific game on both offense and defense, but his presence was felt most on offense, due to his being high scorer with 14 points.

Co-pilot in St. Bernard's alertness was Tim Champagne, whose alertness, as well as shooting ability, helped through the rough weather. The role of navigator was played by Glen Walters, who has been absent in the past two games with "believe or not" CHICKEN POX.

In spite of his absence he played a great game, scoring eight points and taking most of the rebounds off the backboard. Two Good Gunners Gunners of the Victory Plane were Bob Barrett and Bob Wright. Both boys spent half the night knocking down enemy passes and converting them into St. Paul scores.

The Bombarrier position on the Victory Plane was played by Bob Lauers, who has just become eligible to play on the Varsity. Bob bombarded the enemy basket for 70 points and showed great promise in helping the Flyers in the future. Coach Ed Lauers has great plans for Bob.

With this victory the Flyers' league record is seven victories and one loss, which leaves them in second place behind the undefeated St. Florians. Many Pick Parkers Many are picking the Parkers to retain their State Championship won last year. Since they dropped their lone decision to Fordson they have been chopping down opponents with machine-like precision. They will be particularly customers to knock over, particularly on their own court.

Bringing you the news of the Blue Devils basketball games for the next three weeks will be Alex Forrester. He will be pinch hitting for your reporter, who is going to take a vacation to soak up a little sunshine and get in some ocean racing to Nassau. However, we will be back in time to cover that important Highland Park game and follow the Blue Devils in the Regional tournament which starts in March. Bye now.

Neighborhood Club League's Standings All Scrambled Up

Last week heads rolled in the popular Neighborhood Club Midget Basketball League as the eight teams completed the seventh week of red hot competition under the Direction of Athletic Director George Holley and Will Desrocher.

The Grosse Pointe Lions quintet, coached by Bob Wright, suffered its first setback of the campaign when Eddie Langs flipped in the winning basket to give the V.F.W. quintet a thrilling 13 to 11 victory.

The V.F.W. team is coached by Doug Drake and he almost flipped his lid when Langs' game-winning shot wrinkled the net with 55 seconds remaining to play. Langs also annexed the scoring honors with 9 points. Marun Mualan paced the losers with 5 points for runner-up honors.

The victory created a two-way tie for the top spot in the standings between the Lions and V.F.W.

Post 303, managed by Bill and Dick Elworthy, squeaked out an 18 to 15 win over Andy Teatart's Metropolitan Club quintet and dropped it from second to third place. The victory in turn elevated Post 303 into a two-way tie with the Grosse Pointe Businessmen's team for second place.

Larry Bruzesse paced the Metro quintet with 5 points for scoring honors and G. Haggarty and P. Wright of Post 303 tied for runner-up honors with 4 points each.

The coachless Grosse Pointe Optimists team was forced to forfeit to the Businessmen's quintet, which enabled the latter to move into a tie with Post 303. Donahue paced the Rotary Club team to a lopsided 39 to 3 win, with an 18 point spree which netted him the individual scoring honors. His teammate Reno notched 10 points for runner-up laurels. Devil Reserves Conquer Monroe

In a hair raising thriller, Coach Bob Kurvink's Blue Devil reserve basketball team squeezed out a 39 to 36 win over Monroe last Friday, February 1, and it was a happy gang that enjoyed the long ride home from Monroe.

Paced by Art Wible, who tied for scoring honors with the Trojan's Spangler at 11 points each, the Devils played a touch and go game throughout the first three periods. During that time the score was tied eight times and the lead changed hands 11 times before the Devils managed to work out a scant three point margin early in the fourth period. They held this lead to the final whistle.

Big Tom Barry was the hero in the final quarter when he pumped in four rapid field goals. These kept the Pointers just out of the reach of the determined Trojan quintet. Altogether Barry chalked up 10 points, which gave him runner-up honors for the night.

Monroe was better in one department when it collected 8 out of 19 free throw attempts as compared to the Devils' 5 of 18 tries. Grosse Pointe will next meet Royal Oak on the local court on February 6.

Forfeit Keeps Kegglers on Top

Dr. Tuttle's bowling team had four points handed to it last Wednesday, January 28, when Art Young's quintet was forced to forfeit. The four points enabled the Tuttle team to remain at the top of the standings of the Grosse Pointe Businessmen's League as it swung into the second week of its split season.

Breathing down the necks of the leaders was the Bruce Wigle team and the H. M. Seldon quintet, when both annexed four points. Pointe Insurance chalked up the second high single game of the season, posting a 958 total. Only two 600 series were rolled last week. Ray Pety registered games of 225, 211 and 192 for a 628 series and Hazen Kraus put together games of 153, 226 and 221 for an even 600 series.

City Moves To Organize Ball League

The City of Grosse Pointe has set the wheels in motion to organize a baseball league to enter the famous Little League.

Under the direction of Paul Blackburn the initial organizational meeting for the City's League was held at the Neighborhood Club last Monday, February 2.

With time running short, the City will follow the same organizing pattern set up by the Farms, which has been at the job of forming the Farms' Little League since last November. The City plans to form four teams and four farm clubs which will be made up from boys living within the boundaries of the City and who are between the ages of 9 and 12.

John Lindemuth, assistant national commissioner of the Little League, was on hand and explained the League to those present. Tiger pitcher Art Houtteman was scheduled to appear on the program but was unexpectedly called out of town. In his place Bud Hudson of the Chicago White Sox talked to the boys and their parents.

The City League will be the sixth city in the Detroit area to embrace the program. The others include the Farms, Farmington, Birmingham, Livonia and Lincoln Park.

Chairman Blackburn announced the next meeting, for fathers only, to be held at the Neighborhood Club on Tuesday, February 10. At this meeting officers of the City League will be elected and the chairman of the various committees appointed. Already the City has received the assurance from Neighborhood Club Director George Elworthy that the League will have the full cooperation of the club and will be allotted ample space on the club grounds to construct the special diamond and erect proper dugouts from which to operate.

The youngsters play 18 games a season on 60-foot diamonds with full equipment and uniforms. Individual teams will be sponsored by firms or clubs and the eight sectional tournament winners each summer are taken to Williamsport, Pa., birthplace of the Little League, to compete in the national tournament.

Motion Picture Council Lists Approved Movies The Grosse Pointe Motion Picture and Television Council recommends the following pictures for the month of February: For Children: "Montana Territory," "Blazing Forest," "Springfield Rife," "Miracle of Our Lady of Fatima," "Crimson Pirate," "Water Birds," "Girl in White," "Stars and Stripes Forever," "Kansas Territory," "The Jungle," "I Dream of Jeanie," and "It Grows on Trees."

For Teen-agers: "Something for the Birds," and "Prisoner of Zenda."

TO ADDRESS KIWANIS The Grosse Pointe Kiwanis Club will hear a talk by J. Stewart Kelly, of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, at its regular meeting in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center on Tuesday evening, February 10.

Inter-Church Cage League Crown Won by Memorial

The final day, January 31, of the first round of play in the Inter-Church Basketball League provided plenty of action for the six teams in the Senior circuit. The outcome of all three contests decided the winners of all six positions in the standings.

Coach Alex Forrester's Memorial Diesels took the first round championship with an impressive 29 to 20 victory over Coach Lee Clancy's Christ Church Tigers. Both teams had not tasted defeat in four previous contests and this was a game for all the Blue Chips and the pressure on both quintets was visibly noticeable.

Right from the opening whistle the contest had all the earmarks of developing into a rough and tumble ball game but referees Gordon Lindblom and Bob Van Tiem, very wisely kept the boys in check by calling all infractions of the rules closely during the first two periods. Once the players knew they couldn't play rough they settled down to some red hot basketball, much to the satisfaction of the large crowd of spectators who turned out to see the battle for first place.

The Diesels moved into a five point, 21 to 16, lead at the end of the third quarter and this eventually proved to be the winning margin as the Memorial lads held the Tigers in check during the first five minutes of final stanza and then froze the ball for the last two minutes of the game.

Chambers notched the high point honors while pacing the Diesels' attack and little Dave Lamb collected five points for the Tigers losing cause which enabled him to tie the Diesels' Tom Kaser and Dick Douglas for runner-up honors.

The victory automatically qualified the Diesels for the season championship playoff which is necessary. Coach Forrester and his Memorial cagers can eliminate the need for a playoff game if they can win the second round which starts next Saturday, February 7.

Coach Johnny Auckland's St. Paul Flyers squeezed out a 30 to 27 victory over the Woods Presbyterian quintet behind the sharpshooting of Terry Hutton and Tommy Fredal, who annexed 7 and 6 points respectively. However, Dick Miller captured the individual scoring honors when he hooped 12 points for the Woods losing cause. The victory gave St. Paul a clear cut claim to third place and the Woods dropped down to fourth place. Coach Bob Wayland's Methodist Mustangs found the St. James "tall boys" too much to combat and dropped a 37 to 16 decision. The defeat was the fifth in a row for the Mustangs who captured the Junior Division championship last season. Bob Evans, coach of St. James, was optimistic after the game and figured his team had "finally found itself" and would be a serious contender for top laurels in the second round of play. Gerald Olson paced the winners with 17 points for scoring honors and his teammate, Len Sacks, took over the runner-up honors with 7 points. Tom Ketzler and John Asmus led the Mustangs attack with 6 points each.

In the Junior Circuit the St. Paul Midgets chalked up their first win of the season when they nailed the Memorial Juniors, 16 to 8, behind the leadership of Larry Law, who captured scoring honors with 8 points. Once again it was a tight defense plus the inaccuracy of the Memorial team that meant the difference between victory and defeat.

Tom Lester was the big gun for the Memorial Juniors by notching 6 of the 8 points his team scored. The other basket was registered by the coach's brother, Norman Forrester. Next Saturday, February 7, all teams will start from scratch again with the exception of the Junior circuit which is playing a nine week schedule ending on February 28. If two teams are tied for the lead at this time they will meet in a playoff game. The date will be announced at the conclusion of the second round of the Senior Circuit.

School Courses Developed With Pointe Metamorphosis

By MARY ROLL

GPHS Journalism Student

It was the fall of 1929. A pretty blond girl named Alice sat talking to her high school homeroom teacher. They were planning her schedule for the next semester.

When they came to the item "domestic science" in the list of electives, Alice was curious about it. She had never heard of such a course. When the adviser explained that domestic science was a class in cooking, while "domestic art" was sewing, Alice said she would like to take domestic science. "I don't think my parents will let me, but I can try to persuade them," she said.

That night when Alice produced her schedule, her mother was horrified when her eyes rested on the words "domestic science."

"You wouldn't really think of taking that, would you?" cried her mother. "What do you want to be, the laughing stock of all Grosse Pointe?"

"But why, mother?" asked Alice. "It's only learning how to cook. Besides if I ever get married I might need it."

"Well, if you marry someone you have to cook for, I'll disown you. You know we're not sending you to school for that. Both your father and I want you to go to that exclusive girls' school in the East, and they certainly aren't going to accept you on your merits in domestic science," exclaimed Alice's mother.

Believe it or not, the opinion of Alice's mother was quite frequent in Grosse Pointe in 1929. Since the people of that era were usually wealthier than those living in Grosse Pointe today, a common attitude was to look down on those having to cook for themselves or wear home-made clothes.

It was probably just as well Alice didn't take domestic science or art, for that matter. The course offered then was undoubtedly dull since all the girls made in clothing was dish towels, or piece of embroidery, or perhaps a slip or nightgown.

As the years passed and the depression came, the population began to change in Grosse Pointe. Real hardships had to be endured by many people, and a new set of people with new ideas moved in. A different attitude toward keeping a home developed in the community.

The new people had a different type background and didn't look down on domestic art and science as older Grosse Pointers had done before them. This was the beginning of the development of home economics in Grosse Pointe.

The years between the depression and World War II brought changes to Grosse Pointe High School's domestic arts and science classes. The department was beginning to be accepted more and more, and the classes were made more interesting and useful. The sewing classes, now called clothing, began teaching how to make clothes, and the foods classes, as they were now called, taught how to cook whole meals instead of just cookies or cakes.

Then came the world war. The shortage of maids or any kind of help in the community became critical. People who had thought it below them to cook or sew were in a predicament. This was the period of the greatest change in the home economics curriculum at Grosse Pointe.

The leaders of the community began working for the Red Cross and other activities to aid the war program. It was considered smart to know how to cook and sew. The women had great fun canning and sewing together.

In 1939 the adult education classes started here too, but they were just coming into their own at the start of the war. Classes in sewing and tailoring were started. The classes teaching how to make clothes over were especially popular since the clothing shortage was so great. Millinery classes were crowded, with the emphasis on making hats over because of the hat and material shortage.

When rationing came into effect, many wives had a hard time making meat and eggs stretch. Classes in how to plan and prepare meals with a minimum of rationed items were overflowing. People came to their class, cooked a meal, and then took it home to eat with their families.

The term "domestic art and science" became "household arts" during this war period. Household arts included the whole department and added courses in child care, interior decorating and

Girl Scout News

Trombly School Brownie Scouts of Troop No. 138 really got the Christmas spirit this year and made up two complete baskets of food for a Christmas dinner for a needy Grosse Pointe family. The Grosse Pointe Park police delivered the baskets for the girls Wednesday, Dec. 24.

Trombly Brownie Troop No. 1242 made four sets of kindergarten blocks painted and packaged them and on Monday, Dec. 15 they presented them to Mrs. Donna King, kindergarten teacher and Mr. Frank J. Welchenbach, principal of Trombly and representative of the school P-TA. Brownie Cheryl Owen made the presentation speech thanking the school for sponsoring scouting and offering the blocks in appreciation of the fun they have in Brownies. The girls sang several carols and then returned to their troop room for their Christmas party which the troop committee Mrs. Clare Briggs, Mrs. Richard Miller, Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. Howard Steele gave for them.

Our hats off to those smart little Brownies who did such a grand job of selling tickets for the Wayne University Players performance of "Hansel and Gretel." It was a complete sell out, and the play was so interesting not even the "tween act run to the water-cooler was in evidence. It would seem that everyone was glued to their seats. Our thanks also to those "teenagers who ushered and kept watchful eyes on the smaller guests and parents.

As an additional service project for the month of February, the girls in Mariner Troop 385 are gathering used clothing to send to Japan and will welcome contributions from other troops or adults. Clothing may be left at 1245 Balfour or call VA. 2-3302 and arrange to have it picked up. Washable articles should be clean but not ironed; heavy garments should be thoroughly brushed.

At the election of officers at the Detroit Girl Scout Annual Council meeting, Jan. 29, Mrs. Warren B. Cooksey was elected president of the Girl Scouts of metropolitan Detroit. The Pointe is represented by Mrs. C. D. Blessed, who was elected vice-president of metropolitan Detroit Girl Scouts, and also a member of the Membership Nominating Committee of metropolitan Detroit.

Mrs. James B. Webber, Jr., a former member-at-large, was elected to the metropolitan board.

RICHARD MASON SCHOOL. On Wednesday evening, Jan. 28, nearly 100 parents of first grade children attending the Richard School came out to hear their children's teachers discuss the school program in an informative and interesting manner. The session was held as a means to answer some of the common questions asked by the patrons of the school. How is beginning reading taught? When do children learn the ABCs? What effect do emotional problems have upon school work?

Through the use of the public address system, the tape recorder, the opaque projector, instruments of the modern school, Mrs. Drew, Mrs. Lidjcoat and Mrs. Stewart gave a most helpful series of brief talks on what constitutes the task of the first grade staff. Mrs. Dombrowski, audio-visual coordinator, assisted with the program and Mr. Messner acted in the capacity of chairman.

Like all other phases of our living experiences, education, too, changes over the years. That which has brought many new and startling gadgets to make family life happier and less strenuous, has also brought about modification of educational techniques. The newer communicating devices, radio, television, the airplane, have made for a much smaller world, and have also enlarged the educational horizon of our school.

Times Produce School Courses

(Continued from Page 15) home management as well as the former cooking and sewing. Today homemaking I and II include all phases of home management from scrubbing floors to entertaining. Washing, ironing and waxing furniture are only a few of the items in the course. The general feeling today in Grosse Pointe is that every woman should know how to take care of a home whether she has to do it or not. Homemaking III is child care and Homemaking IV is interior decorating. Anyone who can do these things now, along with making her own clothes, is considered a very smart woman. The real revolution of homemaking in Grosse Pointe High School was brought about by the parents. They were the ones who participated in the adult education classes and proved to themselves the value of knowing how to run a home. They made themselves as well as their daughters realize that life wouldn't be soft for them and that they might not always have a maid to do the house work. Grosse Pointe High School now has a complete household arts 20 years to evolve. In applying department although it took some for entrance into a midwest college or university, girls find that household arts' credits are gladly accepted along with history and English. Colleges of today have come to realize the importance of homemaking skills—as have the citizens of Grosse Pointe.

Recreational Centers Await Cooperation of Weatherman

Christmas skates, sleds, skis and fishing tackle will have a real work-out at the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority's Parks, if the weatherman cooperates. At Kensington Metropolitan Park near New Hudson, bulldozers recently completed work on a new toboggan run and everything is in readiness for ice fishermen and skaters. The park is one of the few areas in this part of the state offering ski and toboggan slopes.

At St. Clair Metropolitan Beach, as many as 4,000 cars were parked in a single day; fishermen were estimated at over 2,000. Skating rinks at both parks are lighted for night skating. At Kensington Park the closing hour is 11 p.m. and at the Metropolitan Beach the hour is 10 p.m. There are warm shelters at both locations and no charge at any time.

At St. Clair Metropolitan Beach, hazy tanks at the new Bait and Tackle Shop are loaded with 30,000 minnows and arrangements have been made for a limitless supply to accommodate the thousands of fishermen expected as soon as the ice is safe for fishing. Free parking space for 6,000 cars, constantly kept snow-free, make the Metropolitan Beach the most popular fishing spot on Lake St. Clair. The large Food Bar is an added attraction for fishermen and also skaters who use the rink, 140 by 250 feet in size, located nearby. Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, director of both services, "Brotherhood Begins with Fatherhood"; 7:30 p.m. Tuxis Club. Christian Faith Area, Kay Martin in charge of the program.

PILFERINGS

The principal of a school in Kentucky moonshine country asked a gangly scholar:

"How much is seven and seven?"

"Ten," hazarded the scholar.

"Well, I'll mark you passing," said the principal, "seen' as how you only missed it by one."

And then you have heard of Mr. Malaprop who also was afflicted with poor memory?

He went to a drugstore and found he had lost his prescription.

"It sounds like the name of a big city," said the forgetful one to the druggist.

"New York? London? Liverpool?"

"That's it," cried Mr. Malaprop, "Carter's Little Liver-pools."

"Where did you stay in Atlantic City?" a merchant asked his partner after a long week-end.

"At the Benjamin Franklin," said his partner.

"The Benjamin Franklin? That isn't in Atlantic City. That's in Philadelphia," corrected the merchant.

"Ah HAH," said the partner. "No w-o-n-d-e-r it was such a long walk to the beach!"

Little Jerry came downstairs bellowing dustily. "What's the matter now?" said his mother.

"Papa was hanging pictures and just hit his thumb with a hammer," said Jerry.

"That's not so serious," soothed his mother. "A big man like you shouldn't cry at a trifle like that. Why didn't you just laugh?"

"I did," Jerry sobbed.

A Broadway columnist declared he always praised the first show of a new theatrical season.

"Who am I," he asks, "to stone the first cast?"

FRED WOLF OF RIVARD BOULEVARD

By Jane Schermerhorn

Fred Wolf says the first tracks down Kercheval avenue every morning are his. He's probably right, too, for he's on his way to work slightly after 5 a. m. (IF there can be anything slight about 5 a. m.)

By 6 o'clock he's on the air, conducting a three hour wake-up radio show which has Hooper ratings that gallop and which is such a shock to anyone who tunes in, sleep is impossible thereafter.

"Come on, get out of bed! Jump into your old potato sack and get rolling. It's six thirty and you're going to be late!" is one of the wake-uppers he sends out over the airways from a glass broadcasting studio called the Wigloo.

For some reason the listeners obey. There is a tone in his voice that may send you back to school days when, early in the morning, mother was calling you for the fifth time.

Three breakfasts The delightful part about it all is that a pretty blonde, not a speck over five feet two, has been calling the same warning to Fred Wolf a few hours earlier.

She's his wife, Emily, who will tell you that though Fred's Swampy Joe program is going into its third year, he's not a bit easier to get-going in the morning than he ever was.

Before 5 o'clock though, Fred's had his first breakfast with Mrs. Wolf. It's grapefruit, toast and coffee.

At 7:15 when his station mate, Dick Osgood, gives the news, Fred leaves the Wigloo (at Iroquois and Jefferson) for a quick cup of coffee and a sweet roll at a nearby restaurant; this is pretty fine timing, giving him about 12 minutes for the repeat.

Then at 9 o'clock he has what he calls his real breakfast: fruit, eggs or French toast, sometimes pancakes or waffles, and lots more coffee.

New Diet

Because, as a popular sport caster he's presiding at a microphone far into the night, the radio man gets very little sleep.

So even with three breakfasts he's managed to lose 15 pounds since he first started hauling Detroit and the suburbs out of bed every morning.

Your men folk can tell you Fred knows and loves sports. They like to listen to him announce wrestling, hot rod races, basketball horse races, the Gold Cup or Port Huron and Mackinac sailing races.

The morning dick jockey show was someone else's idea, not Fred's, and he's sincerely surprised that the program's audience is growing every day.

How He Started

When his friend, Johnny Slagle, was going on vacation, one Summer, he asked Fred if he'd fill in for him.

"Oh, I'm not a disk jockey. How'd I ever handle it?" Fred wanted to know. But he's fond of Slagle and he became his sub. He went back to sports again only to be asked to take disk jockey Ross Mulholland's place when he was vacationing. Then Mulholland left Detroit and Fred was called into the front office.

Station manager Jim Riddell suggested that he take on the morning show as a regular feature. Fred didn't want to do it. He still thinks it's odd his boss won the battle.

If you're an early riser you'll like the easy way "Swampy Joe" slides in and out of commercials. He has a healthy respect for sponsors but he believes there's a way of making audiences enjoy being sold on a product.

Because he's so near traffic-heavy Jefferson avenue, he gives many at-the-scene stories of ambulances and scout cars zooming into the news.

He thinks his favorite occurred the morning he saw a motorcycle policeman, siren shrieking, circle a street car. The officer stopped the car, the motorman got out and accepted a ticket for reckless driving. The street car had run a red light!

Regular listeners know the format of the Wolf show.

Broadcasting from the Wigloo was Fred's idea, too. At first he used a regular studio in the radio station. When the hot days of Summer were on him, he would make a dash for the front porch and a breath of air while the news was broadcast.

He decided he'd take a portable mike to a table on the porch for the duration of the Summer. He hated to move back even when autumn winds started to bite, so he hit upon the idea of the glass studio. Today it's filled with all sorts of Wigloo lore and is hailed by motorists who flash a "hello" with searchlights and headlights.

I receive so many wonderful comments about my "Complete Edition Candidograph Album"—This is the only wedding candid book of its kind. While all my own Saturday hours are reserved exclusively for those assignments, we also make a candid "Portfolio". It is designed especially for budget weddings. The prints are enclosed in plastic and there are twelve or more views. For those who are planning summer weddings, this is the time to make arrangements. Many summer dates are already filled. If you are not familiar with our work, why not stop in and see samples and get a copy of our printed information sheets? In any event, make sure you have a written price quotation before you arrange to purchase wedding photographs. This is for your own protection. Any reputable studio will be glad to quote prices freely.
