Clean-Up Slogan Contest Winners Are Announced

Highlight of the Award Luncheon held at the War Memorial Center on Wednesday, April 29, was the announcement of the winners in the Slogan Contest for the Clean-Up Campaign sponsored by the Garden Club Council.

Attending this special event which officially opened the annual drive, were the officers of the Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council, members of all community Garden Clubs, officers of the Garden Center, and many representatives from the municipalities, schools, libraries, churches, business men, civic organizations, men's clubs and women's clubs, as well as young people from the scouts, Hi-Y, Y-Teens, Tuxis and Centerbury Clubs.

The Rev. Erville B. Maynard, Rector of Christ Church, gave the invocation.

The judges who had made the decisions on the winners in the contest, were: Ben R. Marsh, chairman; Norbert Neff, Mrs. Whitney Collins, Mrs. Hansel Dwight Wilson, and Robert Thibodeau.

Mr. Tribodeau announced the following winners: First Prize of $25.00 to Kenneth M. Reichle, Jr., 11 years old, "Keep '53 Rubbish Free." Second prize of $15.00, to Mrs. Kenneth McColl, "Time to Tidy the Towns." Third prize of $10.00 to Mrs. Harry Allen, "What Price Grime."

There was a special honorable mention awarded to David Strother for his entry "Shine Up the Pointes," but as it used a background of a star with each point named a Grosse Pointe, it had to be disqualified as a true slogan. It was suggested that it could be used as a Clean-Up emblem next year.

Honorable mention was awarded to entries from Christ Church Woman's Auxiliary, "A Clean Sweep Is to the Pointe," Mrs. Leland Kennedy, "Green-Up Time is Clean-Up Time," to Keith

In 1934, he joined the Military Police Reserve, and in 1938 was made a second lieutenant.

He served honorably in the European Theater of Operations, during World War II, from 1941 to 1946, after which he was discharged with the rank of captain. In September of 1949, he was elevated to the rank of major, and then to his present rank on April 6, 1953.

While a member of the Detroit Police department, he received the three stripes of a sergeant, in 1939, then was elevated to lieutenant in 1946 and finally to inspector in 1949.

He retired from the Detroit Police department in August of 1952, after 25 years of serving the Detroit public, and became head of the Woods police and fire department when the retirement became official.

I was invited to visit the "Senior Group" at the War Memorial Center. You have to be sixty to be invited, so I just got in (over the wire).

I was early, and watched the members gather for their bi-monthly meeting. Most of them had on their Easter outfits, and would have brightened any parade. Gowns and suits, dark and light, pastel shades, some wearing gloves to match; and many flowered hats. There were two beside myself who carried canes, but most were slight and agile.

Full of fun? A few of the jokes I'll have to tell.

One bridge player keeping score said that her husband would never let her do that job, for he said—"Figures can't lie, but liars can figure."

Another sprightly grandmother (just beautifully tanned in St. Petersburg, Florida) told us that her 11-year-old grandson was acting as school guard on the corner near her home. She opened the window and called, "Hey, patrol boy, you are making too much noise and talking too much." The boy took a quick glance at her and called back, "I take after my grandmother."

Some of the members were busy sewing for children in hospitals and one of their projects is making scrap books for shut-ins. But, most of them were playing canasta and bridge.

Indeed it is an interesting group and I guess I'll join.

The tea table was prettily appointed, and when it came time to pour, the member chosen to preside was wearing a blouse of forest green, matching the tall tapers in the chandelabra.

No dues are charged. They pay each time for their refreshments and once a year contribute a penny for each year they have lived. Some have little change from a dollar bill, and others leave the entire dollar for fear the amount of change returned would disclose their age.

The treasury had accumulated sufficient funds for a 25 dollar contribution from the organization for the War Memorial Campaign fund.

These Seniors can give many good tips to the Juniors.

Long may they wave!

Joan Bisceglia Queen of May

Joan Bisceglia will be crowned May Queen of Liggett School at traditional ceremonies beginning at 9:30 on Founders' Day, May 1.

"Anniversaries" is the theme of the dance program now being rehearsed for the queen's entertainment—a reflection of the school's 75th birthday being celebrated this year.

The program will begin with a wedding in the nursery school and continue with a reception dance for the kindergarten, a paper doll dance for the first anniversary, a wooden shoe dance for the fifth, the March of the Tin Soldiers for the tenth, and dances in silver and gold shoes for the 25th and 50th.

The 7th and 8th grades will dance to the music of "Anniversary Song" for the diamond 75th and then, in their ballerina dresses, conclude the program with the traditional maypole waltz.

As a feature of this year's special celebration, the queen will have the use of a Packard convertible for the day. She will have it for the upper school's Spring Fling, which will be held at the Boat Club that evening.

Valerie Oppenheim of the junior class is chairman of this dance.

There will be two performances of the Founder's Day program, at 9:30 and 11 in the school gym which will be transformed with flowers for the occasion. Other princess attendants who will make up the queen's court are Diane Keena, 9th grader; Patricia Bisceglia, the queen's sister, from the 10th grade; Lynn Markus from the junior class, and Marianne Johansson and Virginia Nair, seniors.

The younger attendants are Ferdinand Fendler and Christopher McRae, who will carry the queen's train; John Kretzschmar, who will bear her crown of flowers on a satin pillow; and Victoria Hefter and Marilyn Murphy, who will scatter rose petals in her path.

Wing Way to Convention

MRS. LOUIS HUTCHENREUTHER, left, and MRS. H. WALES PRICE of Birmingham, boarding a plane which took them to the national Welcome Wagon convention in New York last week. Mrs. Hutchenreuther is the Pointe representative of the national organization whose public relations activities have grown to be an American tradition.

The famous service program of Welcome Wagon, Inc., which has brought cheer into millions of homes in the past 25 years, may be expected to take root, too, in a number of European countries.

Already one of the best known and enthusiastically approved institutions in American and Canadian life, the friendship enterprise, which last week celebrated its silver anniversary with a convention of 2,600 of its 4,000 hostesses in New York City, has so seized the popular fancy that steps have been taken in certain European lands to set the unique idea in action there.

Returning from the convention, Mrs. Hutchenreuther said: "It was the first time a convention of such scope had been held by the organization. Heretofore, the general meetings have been regional. The quarter-century anniversary offered an opportunity to bring together hostesses from all 48 States, Canada and Hawaii."

Hundreds of the hostesses drove to New York in their Welcome Wagon automobiles and it was interesting to observe the stares of the big city folks as these cars with their familiar words, "Welcome Wagon," wove through the streets.

"Many New Yorkers, of course, are people long familiar with the Welcome Wagon activity in their home communities, but it was a new sight in Manhattan.

"New Yorkers learned a great deal about the service work of the organization, however, for much of it was told by hostesses over TV and radio and the newspapers carried reports and photos."

Many of the hostesses addressed the sessions on their experiences in giving welcome to families newly moved into a community, to newlyweds, to engaged couples, to new mothers, to principals on anniversaries and to others. The theme of service was stressed. Many instances were cited of churches that found the Welcome Wagon hostess service of exceeding importance in morale building.

Luncheons were addressed by several famous churchmen, including Rev. James Keller, Director of The Christophers; Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, Minister, Marble Collegiate Church, New York; Rev. Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, President, National Conference of Christians and Jews. General James Van Fleet addressed the convention.

Welcome Wagon, Inc., now possesses citations from the Treasury Department and the American Red Cross for its outstanding services in the savings bond and humanitarian fields; also the American Heart Association and National Association for Infantile Paralysis.

Welcome Wagon, Inc., is active in 1,500 communities and has 30,000 sponsors. It makes up to 100,000 calls a month.

Cissie Motschall Has a Party

Cissie Motschall is no fool, but her birthday does come on April 1. Because this year the date fell right in the middle of Holy Week, her party was postponed for two weeks when twelve of her young friends from Sacred Heart were invited to celebrate her thirteenth birthday.

The guests included Mary Palms, Kathleen Nebus, Gwen Thimm, Joan Littley, Debbie Mitchell, Cecile McCaffrey, Susie Herz, Chloe Irvin, Carol Reid and Mary Fitzgerald.

Two of Cissie's fond friends missed the fun, the movies and the outdoor games because Diane Clifford was in Arizona and Patty Dockson in Palm Beach. But Cissie saved for each of them one of the cunning little jeweled pen and pencil sets the girls took home as souvenirs.

There will be roving clowns, popcorn, balloons, pony rides, a fish pond, a toy booth, a puppet show, cartoon and movies, and an old-fashioned photo gallery and a fortune teller.

A mammoth flower stall is being readied and will have plants for early spring gardens, flowers for Decoration Day, and pretty posies for a table setting.

A snack bar will be handy for refreshments.

The skill of women members of the church will be demonstrated in the needlework booth and the baked goods shop. For rummage goods lovers there will be a large white elephant booth.

Pennant Won by St. Paul's For Traffic Safety Program

St. Paul's School, in Grosse Pointe Farms, for the first time files The Detroit Times Green Pennant, symbolic of school traffic program.

The Green Pennant Campaign was launched in the Farms as part of an intensive child safety campaign inaugurated by Chief Walter Hoyt and directed by Patrolman Joseph Miller and Frank Kerbrat.

Special emphasis is being laid on bicycle safety and launching of the Green Pennant campaign was part of a traffic safety week which ends with bicycle inspection sessions to make sure every bike is safe to ride.

Patrolman Miller said: "We are thinking not only of traffic safety for the rest of this school year but to establish the habits which will carry children through their summer vacations."

In presenting the Green Pennant on behalf of The Detroit Times, Miller reminded an assembly of St. Paul students that traffic safety is a 24-hour, seven day campaign—that carelessness on Sunday will lose the Green Pennant as surely as carelessness going to or from school.

Thirteen-year-old Tony Clark, of 193 Grosse Pointe Boulevard, captain of the Safety Patrol Boys, said:

"We can hoist the Green Pennant for which we have been working. Officer Miller will help us keep it flying."

Fr. LaSalle Lenk, of St. Paul, added:

"It is a memorable occasion.

But we must obey safety rules to keep this pennant."

The Green Pennant was accepted on behalf of the 642 students at St. Paul by Capt. Tony, of the safety patrol; Terry Hut-ton, 13, of 110 Moran, assistant captain; and John Brecht, 13, of 454 Moran; and William Kalk-hoff, 13, of 85 Muir road, safety patrol lieutenants.

As part of the traffic safety campaign in the school conducted by Sister Rose Ellen, the principal, and Sister Francina, the safety sponsor, all seventh and eighth grade pupils, have been preparing safety pamphlets as part of their regular class work. All home rooms have regular traffic safety sessions, conducted by Safety Patrol Boy officers as well as by teachers and policemen.

Park to Use 'Wet' Water In Fighting Future Fires

The Park Fire Department will become the first in the Pointe communities to use "wet" water, when it installs a Pyrodyne Wet Water System in its fire truck, Monday, May 4.

"The use of water active agents for fire fighting will soon be in effect in our Fire Department," said Fire Chief Edward L. Rector.

Ordinary water does not penetrate quickly, he added, due to the high surface tension or skin strength. It is this tension that gives the raindrop its shape.

Since the wetting value is poor, water tends to collect in pools or puddles. Each of these water masses will extinguish fire in its immediate vicinity, but most of it will be ineffective, because it will be unable to reach the burning material and its heat absorbing capacity remains unused.

Wet water does not alter the extinguishing properties of ordinary water, except to aid it by overcoming the surface and interfacial tension to rapidly spread, penetrate and diffuse to the surface of the fire.

"That is the reason that one gallon of "wet" water does the work of four or more gallons of ordinary water," explained Chief Rector. "Wet" water penetrates deeper, diffuses faster, wets to the seat of the fire and requires only about one-fourth of the amount of ordinary water."

It is estimated that 80 percent of ordinary water hosed on a fire is wasted, and its heat absorbing capacity unused. Wet water speeds up cooling due to its penetrating power.

When one gram of wet water is sprayed on a burning surface, it will heat to 212 F. and absorb 80 calories of heat, and then boil off as a vapor, during which process it will absorb 540 more calories for a total of 620.

"From an insurance and salvage angle," stated the chief, "the fact that wet water puts out fire faster than ordinary water is of the utmost importance. The use of this type of water also means markedly less water damage. This is especially true when fire is extinguished in the upper floors of a building and waste water can flow or leak to lower unburnt parts of the building."

Smoke damage to property and smoke poisoning to persons is practically eliminated when wet water is used. Instead of producing clouds of dirty smoke, steam is generated.

Biting Dogs Get Owners Ticked

Park police issued tickets to two dog owners whose pets bit children, neighbors, on Thursday, April 23.

Nancy Reeves, 6, of 1165 Harvard road, was bitten on the right shoulder by a dog whose owner was ticketed for permitting it to run at large.

The little girl was playing in her back yard when the dog, owned by Henry Walker of 16900 Village lane, passing by, jumped up and bit her on the shoulder, breaking the skin. She was treated at Bon Secours Hospital.

Kathleen Zabinski, 12, of 1173 Harvard road, was bitten on the left leg by a neighbor's dog. The animal stuck its head through a fence and bit the girl as she played in her back yard. She was treated by her father, Dr. Edward J. Zabinski, who made the complaint to the police.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Rudick of 1179 Harvard road, owners of the dog were ticketed.

Reckless Drivers Pay Up in Court

Only two traffic violation cases were heard in the courtroom of Park Judge C. Joseph Belanger, Wednesday, April 22, while two other violators forfeited bonds for non-appearance.

Anthony Ventimiglia of 608 Hollywood, was fined $17 for reckless driving and causing an accident at Mack and Nottingham, and for driving without a license.

Marian C. Craft of 73 Meadow lane, paid $15 for speeding on E. Jefferson.

Bond forfeitures were placed against Veronica M. Darcy of 14225 Ward, who failed to appear on a speeding charge; and Billy J. Smith of 686 Lemay, Detroit, who failed to appear on a charge of failing to stop for a stop street. The forfeitures were $20 and $12 respectively.

As a general rule the fellow who is in a position to do as he pleases never knows what to do.

Panel of Americans to Hold Discussion Here on May 4

Mrs. Albert A. Thornbrough of 415 Lakeland, will be hostess to Chapter AO of the PEO Sorority on Monday evening, May 4. This is to be an open meeting including husbands and friends so that they will have the opportunity to hear the Panel of Americans from Wayne University.

The Panel of Americans is composed of a Jew, a Negro, a Catholic, a Protestant and a Moderator, all students from Wayne University. They present a frank and friendly discussion to further better understanding among the people of diverse racial, religious, and cultural background in our community.

The Panel idea originated at the University of Southern California in 1947, where various religious groups have been combined for many years as the University Religious Conference. The Conference sponsored a Panel of Americans composed of six UCLA girls for an 11 week country wide tour. The panel appeared in 169 high schools and colleges in major cities and spoke to an audience of 150,000 young people.

This program was so successful and effective that requests were received from colleges and universities all over the country for advice and assistance in establishing similar groups.

The Wayne Panels have been in existence three years and have already spoken to 96 audiences, and on two radio programs and two TV programs.

People who think rules can humanize warfare should observe that we have traffic rules.

Teen-Age Safety Parley Planned

The First Annual Detroit Teen-Age Traffic Safety Conference will be held at the Veteran's Memorial Building Thursday, April 30 from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Three students from each of Detroit's 22 public high schools and one student from each of Detroit's 55 parochial high schools... a total of 121 students... will attend the conference as delegates. A student general committee of ten members has planned the conference and will conduct it.

Purpose of the conference is to (1) obtain frank views of teenagers on their own and other driving problems and accident causes and how they may be remedied, (2) to better understand the increasingly critical traffic safety problem, (3) to obtain recommendations from teenagers on how driving practices may be improved, and (4) to recommend for action to student bodies and to proper authorities resolutions that the conference believes will improve the teenage driver and other drivers.

The conference is being sponsored by the Detroit public and parochial schools. Co-operating with the schools are the Traffic Safety Association of Detroit, the Automobile Club of Michigan and the Michigan Inter-Industry Highway Safety Committee.

Students will conduct all sessions of the conference, which will open with a general session in the morning and close with one in the afternoon. In the intervening time, delegates will be divided into seven groups to discuss the following topics: (1) Traffic Laws, (2) Traffic Law Enforcement, (3) The Problem Driver, (4) Driver Education, (5) Driver Attitudes, (6) Family Car and Family Attitudes, and (7) What makes a Good Driver?

David Price, of Mumford High School, is general chairman of the conference; Isabel Francis, Immaculata, vice chairman, and Ann Hossie, Mackenzie, secretary. Other members are: Jane Morse, Redford; John Lindsey, Pershing; Pat O'Connell, Mumford; Roger Lindeman, Cass; Joanne Fleming, St. Ambrose; George Van Kula, St. Cyril, and Donald Dreslinski, St. Rita.

Baha'is' Temple To Be Dedicated

Baha'is from Grosse Pointe will witness on Saturday, May 2, the fulfillment of a dream begun 50 years ago, a building in Wilmette, Illinois, dedicated to the worship of God, regardless of race, nationality, or creed.

This unique building which has attracted the attention of over 100,000 visitors from many lands, was built entirely by contributions of the Baha'is themselves.

Not only did members in Grosse Pointe contribute, but also those in other states of the United States, the provinces of Canada, Alaska, the South American countries, Europe, Asia, and many islands of the Pacific. It is believed that this is the first time in history that people from the East have contributed to such an enterprise in America.

From Hawaii, Alaska, England, Europe, Japan, Puerto Rico, Mexico, Brazil, Israel, Iran, Chile, and many other countries, Baha'is are arriving by plane, boat and train for this dedication which will be highlighted by a special opening on Saturday. The program includes readings from the Sacred Scriptures of the world and selections by the A Capella Choir of Northwestern University.

Following the dedication there will be four days of a Baha'i Inter-continental Conference, one of four inter-continental conferences being held this year.

At this conference there will be distinguished guests from Canada, Israel, Iran and Ireland to address the thousands gathered and to lead to the discussion of the advance of these new Teachings in the remaining areas of the globe.

On May 10, the Baha'is of Grosse Pointe and Metropolitan Detroit will gather at the Veteran's Memorial Center to discuss the highlights of the conference and consolidate plans for the remainder of this year.

Milady Mows Electrically

With more and more women taking over the lawn-cutting duties, electrically-operated power lawn mowers are rapidly rising in popularity. Outstanding example of a rotary mower (easily cuts dense grass or weeds up to 3 feet tall) is the all-new Electric-Lawn, shown here, manufactured by Reo Motors, Inc. Why do women prefer electric mowers? They're more used to electric appliances, such as vacuum cleaners (this mower even looks like one). Electric mowers are noiseless—this mower has a "Spindicator" to show that the blade is in motion. Another big reason: low price.

Richard P.T.A. To Meet May 7

Proceeds from the two-day event are expected to swell their fund to $200,000, the amount the students pledged to raise over a four-year period.

Highlights of the Carnival will be the Midway composed of more than 50 booths, two evenings of dancing with songs by Patti Page, the personal appearance of Fr. James G. Keller, M.M., founder of the Christophers, and the running of the second annual Derby.

Entertainment the opening night, Friday, May 1, will include every type of booth from weight guessing to pie tossing. Also, there will be the awarding of the "American of the Year" title to Fr. Keller.

Knowledge of Fertilizers Important to Gardeners.

By V. R. DePetris

To the average person "Fertilizers" seem all important in the culture of all types of plants, with emphasis chiefly on the highly concentrated commercial types. Unfortunately this is not the case.

There is no disputing the fact that both the commercial and other concentrated plant foods will increase the yield, vigor and size of all plants provided they are properly applied. Moreover proper soil texture, careful watering and diligent cultivation of the soil must be ranked of equal importance to fertilizers.

The above statements therefore are not made to detract in any way from the great value of all types of fertilizers. They are made simply to awaken you to the realization that the haphazard application of fertilizers coupled with the neglect of the other very important factors of plant culture will in most cases render the applications of these vital nutrients highly ineffective if not harmful.

Fertilizers Needed Soil nutrients in the form of organic or inorganic fertilizers are needed to maintain soil fertility. The reason for this is because the harvesting of crops robs the soil of the elements which would be returned to it by the decaying plants and other vegetation were these not removed to serve our needs. Fortunately only the major elements are taken away in any appreciable quantity. These are nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

The minor elements which make up a small part of the plant structure will remain somewhat more abundant in the soil. These elements include calcium, magnesium, iron, sulphur, manganese, zinc, boron and silicon. A third group of essential elements used by most plants in very minute quantities are called the trace materials. These include iodine, copper, barium, aluminum, cobalt, titanium and many others, making a grand total of 42 or more minerals essential to healthy plant growth.

Striking Similarity

By this time I presume you have noted the striking similarity between the nutrient requirements of plants and animals, including the human beings themselves. We are all conscious today of the need of vitamins to maintain the health and well-being of human and animal life. We have learned of the great importance of the vital minerals in our daily diet. Also, that a deficiency of even one or two of these from our daily diet will in time become the cause of many complications, as for example, when the lack of iodine in our food will eventually cause goiter in many people.

From the foregoing it is obvious that soil fertility may be maintained by returning to the soil decayed vegetation such as decayed leaf mold, barnyard manure and fibrous peat together with commercial fertilizers of organic and inorganic types.

When To Apply

Complete fertilizers so-called because they contain all three major elements, Nitrogen, Phosphorus and Potash (Kallium) should be applied when the soil is prepared in the spring at the rate of 4 to 5 lbs. per 100 square feet or an area 10 feet x 10 feet.

Shrubs and trees should be fed in the spring just before the foliage develops and again after they are finished blooming.

No feeding with any nitrogenous fertilizers should be undertaken in late summer and early fall. The reason for this is because the growth cycle at this late season has been completed and therefore nitrogen in any form is not necessary. Moreover to stimulate plants into active growth just at a time when they should become dormant for the coming cold winter is contrary to everything which Mother Nature has contrived for the plant kingdom in cold winter.

These remarks of course are directed to perennial and hard wooded plants and not to annual garden crops.

Functions of Elements

It may be interesting to understand the functions of the three main elements namely Nitrogen, Phosphorus and Potash.

The first of these, Nitrogen, is utilized by plants chiefly in the formation of new growth and foliage. This is the reason why young plants and plants which are making new vegetation growth will require large amounts of nitrate.

Phosphorus is utilized by the flower, the fruit and the seed to a great extent, besides the stems of the plant. Phosphorus is also vital in maintaining vigor and in hastening maturity. It is also essential in the root system of all plants.

Roots Need Potash

Potash is utilized greatly by the root system. This is particularly true of plants which form tubers or bulbs. It tends to assist plants to remain healthy and resist disease.

It should be noted that Nitrogen becomes available much more quickly than either Phosphorus or Potash. This is one reason why meal is mostly all Phosphorus (the usual percentage being 2 nitrogen, 30 phosphorus and 0 potash) should be applied either in the fall or early spring.

For Best Results

To get the best results from fertilizers we should therefore make certain that the soil is well drained and contains an ample amount of well decayed vegetable matter such as leaf mold, fibrous peat or barnyard manure. Therefore we should apply soil nutrients in commercial form at the proper time and stage of the plant development.

Combine these suggestions with proper tillage of the soil to permit aeration, and careful watering so that the plants receive the proper amount of water at all times.

This last hint is quite important, since an excess of water not only checks air circulation in the soil particles but washes away much of the fertilizers, just as an insufficient amount of water will prevent the dissolving of the nutrients.

Frequency Varies

The frequency with which commercial fertilizers should be applied depends on the type of plant. Rapidly growing flowers or garden crops will require feeding every two or three weeks, while shrubs and trees only twice a season. Your best guide is to know your plants and use common sense in applying all types of fertilizers.

It should be remembered that excessive amounts of chemicals applied to plants will invariably be more harmful than beneficial.

How To Read Analyses

In reading the analyses of commercial fertilizers the common practice is to give the proportions of the major elements only. These are Nitrogen, Phosphorus and Potash, and the figures given always refer to these three major elements without exception always in the order given above. Thus a commercial fertilizer referred to 10-6-4 means that it contains 10 percent Nitrogen, 6 percent Phosphorus and 4 percent Potash.

As a further illustration that valuable organic fertilizer called Bonet ankaage is referred to as 5-20-0, meaning 5 percent Nitrogen, 20 percent Phosphorus and no Potash. Knowing the significance of these figures will prove helpful in knowing exactly what each particular type of fertilizer contains and what it may be expected to accomplish.

back prisoners who should be repatriated.

ENGLAND'S Prime Minister Winston Churchill received the highest order of British chivalry, when he was knighted by Queen Elizabeth II. He accepted the honor from the Queen, the same honor he declined from her father, King George VI. He was knighted The Right Honorable Sir Winston Churchill, Knight of the Garter.

JOHN L. LEWIS, head of the United Mine Workers, urged Congress to repeal major labor laws passed within the last 21 years. Senator Taft (R. O.) asked if this meant that labor will return to the law of the jungle. Lewis answered that labor has reached a mature stage, where they could expand and prosper without the protection of the Taft-Hartley Law, or its predecessor, the Wagner Act.

RED SOLDIERS threw 14 probing attacks at the Allied positions, the highest number since March 27. Four United States warships duelled with Communist shore batteries in the Wonsan area. The Navy said the ships were evacuating wounded troops from an island in the Wonsan Harbor, but gave no further details.

Sunday, April 26

FOR THE FIRST TIME in 199 days, Allied and Communist negotiators met to settle the Korean War. Thousands of South Koreans jammed the streets in Seoul, demonstrating in protest against the armistice negotiations. Meanwhile, the Communists released 13 more Allied prisoners, declaring they have finished delivering sick and wounded war prisoners. These were the end of a "bonus" group returned by the Reds, the last of 149. The Reds originally promised 120.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER's reaction to Moscow's latest peace statement indicated he interpreted the Kremlin move as a possible sign that something concrete might be done to settle East-West problems. Diplomats believe that the Soviet Union is sincere in its bid for peace, citing the careful wording of the recent Moscow peace statement, in which Russia stated it is ready to discuss and resolve pressing international issues.

SENATOR WAYNE MORSE (Ind., Ore.) broke all Senate speaking records with a 22-hour and 26-minute speech against the tidelands oil bill, which he denounced as a billion-dollar "give-away." He broke a record established by Wisconsin's famed progressive, Senator Robert M. La Follette, Sr., who spoke for 18 hours and 23 minutes. The tideland legislation will give title of submerged land to coastal states.

ACTING SECRETARY OF Defense Roger Keyes signed a new Pentagon security order, which would keep even top military public relations officials in ignorance of some developments of the Defense Department. The order was signed on behalf of Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

Monday, April 27

ALLIED AND COMMUNIST rejections of each other's proposals for ending the Korean War dimmed hope for a quick agreement at the renewed armistice conference. The first truce meeting between the two sides disclosed that they were still far apart on what to do about war prisoners who do not wish to return to their homeland. This is the only major issue blocking an armistice.

SOUTH KOREAN troops beat back two Communist attacks on the East Korean front. An estimated 114 North Koreans were killed or wounded. Still further east, Red units killed or wounded another 27 Reds, in twin raids on enemy trenches. The American Air Force, flying a record 1,400 sorties, dropped 140 tons of explosives on three big supply centers in the Hungnam-Wonsan area of the east coast.

THEODORE KAGHAN, acting deputy director of the United States High Commission in Germany, was ordered to Washington, by the State Department for questioning by Senator Joseph R. McCarthy's Senate Investigations Committee. The committee has been investigating Kaghan fol-son, head of the Senate Appropriation Committee, and Chairman Tabor of the House Appropriation Committee, were given notice in advance of the proposed suit.

Proclamation

WHEREAS, the annual Clean-up Campaign sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council is designed so that all residents can accept their responsibility for a clean community, and

WHEREAS, the goal of this Campaign is a more beautiful Grosse Pointe, and one which shall be kept that way throughout the whole year, and

WHEREAS, unity of effort is required for the success of such a Campaign,

NOW, THEREFORE, we, the undersigned, do hereby designate May fifteenth through May twenty-third as official Clean-up Week in the Campaign, and call upon all departments of our municipal governments, our commercial organizations, civic clubs, schools, churches, boys' and girls' clubs, and all other associations, and our people in general to take an active part in this constructive program for community improvement to insure its success.

This, the 27th day of April, 1953.

Mayor Homer Fritsch, G.P. Park,
Mayor William Connolly, G.P. Farms,
Mayor Ralph B. Netting, G.P. City,
Mayor Paul W. Rowe, G.P. Woods,
President Ernest C. Putnam, G.P. Shores.

Municipal Heads Back Clean-Up

Neat and orderly premises act as an incentive to neighbors and the passerby to follow this good example, while unkempt and disorderly premises tend to lead to general carelessness in that vicinity.

Your city will be kept clean and beautiful only by regarding the importance of these truths, and by making proper use of the public facilities offered to remove discarded waste.

William F. Connolly, Jr., Mayor, City of Grosse Pointe Farms.

It is the belief and attitude of the Council of the City of Grosse Pointe Woods, that continuing efforts be exerted towards the overall clean appearance of our community.

Our city personnel have been advised of this attitude and several steps have been taken to accomplish this, such as a Rat Control program started with Council approval during the last year. This proved quite successful. We have received excellent cooperation from the citizens of this community as evidenced by the excellent condition of their yards.

We believe wholeheartedly in an overall campaign and will proceed throughout the entire year with special emphasis on a good spring Clean-Up campaign.

Paul W. Rowe, Mayor, City of Grosse Pointe Woods.

City-wide organizations for the purpose of making our cities clean usually receive from the outset the official sanction and help of the Municipal administration. In some cities, city officials become active members to provide liaison with the city departments engaged in street cleaning and refuse collection.

The membership of such a group most often have recruits from civic groups, churches, boy scout troops, Chamber of Commerce, women's clubs and similar organizations. To lend further effectiveness to the organization, prominent citizens including both professional and business people are also solicited to assist in the educational program.

There is a need in the Grosse Pointe communities for a definite program of education and publicity. The common source in developing a program of this nature is through the public schools, newspaper campaigns, public reports, speeches, radio broadcasts, motion pictures and door-to-door campaigns, also Municipal exhibits in public buildings, libraries, schools and others.

Let's unite in one common endeavor to help make the Grosse Pointe communities the greatest cities to secure and maintain public support as the end toward

Experts to Study Farms' Parking Needs

The Farms council has ordered the acceptance of more bids before surveying the over-all parking needs of the city, including local and business districts.

The Farms has sought land from the Gabriel Richard playground, from the Board of Education, but that body withheld final decision on the matter pending the outcome of the April 21 special school election.

With the consent of the voters, permitting the purchase of the Country Day School property, the Board has a clear road in permitting the property to be leased. At first it was feared that if the voters had not consented to the purchase of the school, the high school baseball diamond would have to be transferred to the Gabriel Richard playground.

With the passage of the school proposals, two pieces of property, one at McMillan and Kercheval belonging to Frank Titus, local pharmacist, and a piece in the rear of Anthony's Beauty Salon, which were to have been used, to ease the parking congestion, were released to the pleasure of the owners. Both expect to build.

The St. James Lutheran Church which owns a small strip within the fenced playground, informed the members of the council it will cooperate with the city in providing a continuation of the 15-foot strip which would be acquired from the Board of Education.

This would make it possible for the Farms to develop the lot into five full tiers for parking. However, negotiations will not be completed for from two to four months, it is expected.

Another proposal which is pending more bids, is the repairing and improving of Fisher road from Mack to Kercheval. The project was classified as a necessity by City Engineer Murray Smith, in order to avoid a total loss of the existing roadway.

The road is the narrowest in the city, being 20 feet at its widest point. Traffic experts are also to study this problem, pending final decision. Residents are being consented.

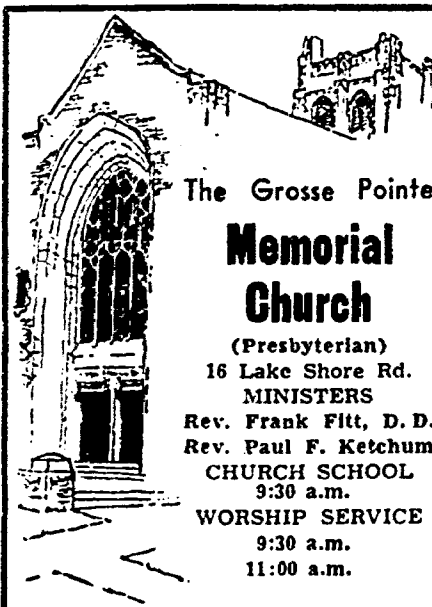

Three Car Crash Reported in Park

Richard DeWaele, 20, of 159 Breckenridge, Ferndale, was ticketed by Park police, Friday, April 24, for responsibility in causing a three car crack-up.

DeWaele, police said, was traveling south on Lakepointe and stopped at Charlevoix. As he proceeded across the intersection, he struck a car driven by Chris M. Youngjohn of 1399 Whittier road, damaging his right front fender and the side of the other car.

The impact of the collision forced Youngjohn's car against one owned by Thomas E. Stultz of 4015 Hereford, Detroit, which was parked along the curb, damaging the left rear end.

The Ferndaler was ticketed for driving through traffic at an intersection and causing an accident.

Clean-Up Comments

Mrs. James Morrison, President of A.A.U.W.:

"Switzerland is noted for its clean cities and beautifully kept countryside. Its youth is trained to respect public property and obey strict laws pertaining to the care of streets and parks. We can take a tip from this model nation in educating our own youth. Let us lay emphasis on civic pride."

Farms Valuation Up Five Million

The 1953 assessment valuation of real and personal property in the Farms showed an increase of well over five million dollars, as compared to the previous year, the council learned at a recent meeting.

After equalization and the addition of new buildings, the determination and comparison of the final values are as follows: for 1952 the assessment of real property was placed at $34,445,010, for 1953, at $39,678,000; an increase of $5,233,000.

Personal property assessments came to $3,452,500 for 1952, whereas the 1953 report showed a decrease of $11,000.

Total valuation for 1952 for real and personal reached $37,897,510; and for 1953, the sum was set at $43,119,500.

The increase for the 1953 real assessments resulted from the following: increase from reassessment at equalized level, $3,408,790; value of new real property, $1,824,290.

Rare Publications Acquired By The Henry Ford Museum

The first publication in which the Declaration of Independence appeared, Pennsylvania Magazine, has been acquired by The Henry Ford Museum, Hayward S. Ablewhite, chief curator, announced today.

The other "firsts" also acquired by the Museum include a copy of the first manual of arms of United States troops, prepared by Baron von Steuben; the first American Geography, published in 1789; and the first book printed in America using colored engravings. In addition, the Museum received a number of unusual and early books which will be added to its collection of old volumes.

The rare, bound edition of Pennsylvania Magazine, containing six issues from January through July, 1776, includes articles on everything from stock breeding for farmers to monthly reports from the English Parliament.

The first version of the Declaration of Independence, signed only by John Hancock and the secretary of the Continental Congress, was printed in the July issue.

The January issue of the magazine, of which Thomas Paine, famous figure in American independence, was an editor, reveals the typical British attitude of the Revolutionary period. In an address by King George III to the House of Lords delivered the preceding October, His Majesty gloomily presaged the revolution to come, noting that "they have raised troops and are collecting a Naval force, they have seized the public revenue and assumed to themselves legislative, executive and judicial power, which they already exercise in a most arbitrary manner."

The King pointed out to the House of Lords, as reported by the rare magazine that "the resolutions of Parliament (affecting the colonies) breathed a spirit of moderation and forbearance" and he concluded that "to be the subject of Great Britain, with all its consequences, is to be the freest member of any civil society in the known world."

Editors of the magazine appended to His Majesty's report the terse notation: "A number of lords entered a protest against the above address."

A copy of the first manual of arms for United States troops, was another rare edition received by the Museum.

Entitled "Regulations for the Order and Discipline of the Troops of the United States", the little drill and field service manual was prepared by Baron von Steuben, a professional Prussian soldier and staff officer under General Washington.

Using his practical knowledge of French, Steuben wrote each passage in longhand during the winter of 1778-79. One of his staff officers transposed it into literal French. Another translated the manual into literal English and still another transposed it into correct and simple English. The manual became the "blue book" and final authority on rules and regulations of the Continental Army.

The first edition of the first American Geography, also acquired by the Museum, was published by Jedidiah Morse in 1789. The book gained for Morse, whose son invented the telegraph, the reputation of "father of American geography". Maps of the United States drawn by Morse for the book were surprisingly accurate for their time.

News Notes From D. U. S.

Among the popular movies shown this year at assemblies at the Detroit University School has been the series of current event films called "The News Magazine of the Screen." These are provided by The Detroit News and are seen about once a month.

Last week Mr. William Bellows, special instructor in reading at D.U.S., attended the Communications Skills Conference for High School and College Teachers at Kellogg Center,
Michigan State College, East
Lansing. The theme of the conference was "The Improvement of Teaching in the Language Arts."

Outstanding experts assembled to discuss such subjects as specialized techniques in the teaching of reading, diagnosing disorders of oral expression, recent texts and equipment in the language arts. One group was concerned with the rather novel topic of "The Teaching of Listening."

Detroit Edison Honors Jacobo

cently received an Alex. Dow ments.

The awards, established in 1946 and named in honor of the electric industry pioneer who headed the Detroit Edison for 28 years, were presented by company president Walker L. Cislser. Each winner received a citation, a gold lapel pin, and engraved watch, and five shares of company stock.

Jacobso received his award for his studies in wood preservation and for application of his findings in the preservative treatment of wooden utility poles and cross-arms.

He is a graduate of the U. S.
Naval Academy at Annapolis,
Maryland. He served in the U. S.
Navy from 1917 to 1925, and was a member of the Naval Reserve from 1927 to 1940, and was on active duty from 1940 to 1946.

During World War II he acquired the rank of captain and upon his return to inactive duty was made Brigade Commander in charge of the Naval Reserve for the City of Detroit.

He has two sons, Leon, Jr., and George, both now serving in the U. S. Navy.

Girls' Athletic Association Busy

by Jo Hargis

After talking to Pauline Masak, of the Neighborhood Club, your reporter was surprised to learn that two of the three teams entered in the Girl's volleyball league are from Detroit.

Now that several weeks of hard practice has been completed, the Grosse Pointe Athletic Association is ready to roll.
The volleyball season, which will begin today, Thursday, April 30, still needs more teams in order to have a complete tournament. Only three teams have been entered, however, there are several girls who are waiting to be placed on a team.
Any other girl who has a desire to play some good hard volleyball, and above all, have a lot of fun, is welcome to join in on the game at the club.

Captains of the teams are:
Norma DeClercq of "GPAC", Francis White of "Frans Family", and Lorrie Kaulz of "The Gestures."

At the first meeting of the Girls' Athletic Association there was a guest who really surprised the girls. She was Mrs.
Rock of Hawthorne road, a star volleyball player at Detroit Turners. She is going to coach one of the volleyball teams, namely, "Fran's Family."

A challenge has been made!
Arrangements for a staff vs girls volleyball game are now in process. The staff will in-

Paul's students, Patrolman Miller said: "We are thinking not only of traffic safety for the rest of this school year but to establishing the habits which will carry children through their summer vacation." The students were reminded that traffic safety is a twenty-four-hour, seven-day campaign — that carelessness on Sunday will deprive the school of the Green Pennant as surely as carelessness on a school day.

All homerooms at St. Paul's have regular traffic safety sessions, conducted by Safety Patrol Boy Officers, as well as by teachers and policemen. Special emphasis is being made on bicycle safety. Every student's bicycle has been inspected to make sure it is safe to ride.

The week of April 19 was known to Paulites as Latin Week and was appropriately celebrated by the various Latin classes.
Regular Latin classes were laid aside. The time was devoted to a more enjoyable phase of Latin life.

Preparations for the annual Latin banquet were discussed:
customs of the Romans were explained and a project relating to Rome or Roman life was constructed by each student. The banquet became a reality on Thursday afternoon, April 23.

At this festive occasion, each Latin student became a Roman.
The freshmen served as slaves, while the advanced classes were the guests.

On Friday, April 24, the sophomores presented their annual spring dance. The theme, "APRIL IN PARIS," was carried into the decorations. Al Rossi and his orchestra furnished the music.

St. Paul Grade School children of Grosse Pointe Farms were greatly honored with the presentation of the Detroit Times
Green Pennant. Father LaSalle Lenk accepted this symbol of the school traffic programs from Patrolmen Joseph Miller and Frank Kerbert.

John S. Sweeney, III

To a meager, but enthusiastic audience, the Boston Symphony Orchestra played the opening concert of its nationwide spring tour at Masonic Auditorium on April 21. On the podium was Pierre Monteux, who is alternating as conductor during the tour with Charles Munch, the orchestra's permanent director.

The program was noisy enough to reach even the remotest corners of Masonic Auditorium. The "Roman Carnival Overture" of Berlioz opened the program, followed by "Siegfried's Rhine Journey" from Die Gotterdammerung and then the tone poem, "Don Juan," by Strauss. The concert ended with the major work, the Symphony No. 2, opus 43 of Sibelius.

The orchestra, which most will agree is the greatest of America's orchestras, gave a very distinguished performance but, probably due simply to lack of rehearsal, did not have its usual finesse. There were a few moments of uncertainty and roughness, but these few imperfections could not destroy the over-all beauty of this superb ensemble.

Although Mr. Monteux recently celebrated his 78th birthday, his conducting showed only the wisdom and experience of his years. His profound knowledge of the symphony orchestra and his wonderful baton technique were very much in evidence but, again probably because of the lack of preparation, the first half of the program seemed to lack his usual conviction. I liked best the Sibelius Symphony, in which the structure of this massive work was kept so beautifully in balance.

It was a thoroughly satisfying concert in every respect. But because it was the Boston Symphony Orchestra, one always expects nothing but the very best. No matter how good it is, we are always a little disappointed when it is not as great as we remember it.

Dangerous Men in Duel

James Campoli, Gregory Flynn and Arthur Schankin, left to right above, of the Grosse Pointe Sword Club recently captured three of the top four places in the Michigan State Open Individual Foil Championships. They are now qualified to fence in the Michigan finals and to represent the State in the Mid-Western Championships in Chicago and the National Championships in New York in June.

These men are part of the strong, well-balanced Grosse Pointe team that made the enviable record of winning all four Michigan Team Championships during the 1952-1953 season.

A week after qualifying in the Foil event Greg Flynn repeated by placing in the top four of the Epee elimination together with Al Kunzmann, also of the Grosse Pointe Club.

Campoli, Schankin and Kunzmann, all strong Sabre men, will enter the Sabre eliminations prior to the State Championship Finals to be held at the downtown Y. W. C. A. Saturday, May 2. Tickets for the event are available at the Neighborhood Club or at the door.

The Grosse Pointe fencers practice and hold classes at the Neighborhood Club from 7:30 to 10 each Tuesday evening. Anyone interested in fencing as a sport or physical conditioner is cordially invited to participate. There are no restrictions on either age or sex.

Pfc. Gilbert O. DeSandy Now Serving in Germany

BERLIN, GERMANY—Pfc. Gilbert O. DeSandy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeSandy of 1885 Faircourt, Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich., is now serving with the 8th Infantry Regiment at the Berlin Military Post.

His regiment provides security for American installations in the former German capital.

DeSandy, who entered the Army in February 1952, is assigned to Company F of the 2d Battalion. He took basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

Trio Attends Continental Congress in Washington

Mrs. Albert E. Cooney of Merriweather road, Mrs. Henry G. McCabe of Chatsworth road, and Mrs. Rudolph Hafelich have just returned from Washington D.C. where they represented Fort Pontchartrain Chapter D.A.R. at the annual continental congress held there.

Before going to Washington, Mrs. Cooney and Mrs. McCabe attended the dedication of the Memorial Bell Tower at Valley Forge, which was constructed by the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, in memory of American heroes.

A big heart does more for human good than a brilliant mind.

Pair to Feature Ancient Vehicles

Greenfield Village's third annual Country Fair of Yesteryear will be presented on Friday and Saturday, May 22 and 23.

A parade of historic vehicles, led by William C. Ford, president of the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village, will illustrate the evolution of modern transportation from 1750 to the present day and will begin the Fair at 12:30 p.m. Included will be carriages of all types, high-wheeled bicycles, show horses, and early horseless carriages.

Drivers and passengers in the 30-piece parade will be costumed in authentic dress of the period.

Featured attractions of the Country Fair will be demonstrations of the ancient handcrafts, a hobby show for Detroit-area students, early American dancing on the Village Green and the traditional decorating of the May Pole. There will also be a livestock show by 4-H Club members, a midway with dart and baseball games, and athletic contests for visitor participation.

Four local high schools will compete for top band honors. Highlight of the three-hour program will be a musical built around songs by Stephen Foster. The play will be staged by members of the International Player's Group of Detroit.

Ford Expects 750,000 Guests

Ford Motor Company expects to play host to three-quarters of a million people in its 50th anniversary year, according to J. G. Mullaly, special events manager.

More than 250,000 visitors will tour the Rouge plant at Dearborn, Mich., or one of 18 branch assembly plants in 1953. An additional 500,000 will see the Ford Rotunda at Dearborn, Mullaly predicts. The Rotunda, closed in World War II, will be reopened in June as the auto industry's top tourist attraction.

Ford's manufacturing and car assembly operations have fascinated visitors for more than 40 years, since the first moving assembly line was installed at the company's plant in Highland Park, Mich.

This year, at assembly plants outside Dearborn, industrial relations departments are in charge of tour services which will conduct groups through the plants on regular schedules. Manufacturing processes at branch plants closely resemble assembly operations at Dearborn.

Meanwhile, the Rotunda building in Dearborn has been completely remodeled as a display center. Originally constructed at the Chicago World's Fair of 1934, the building later was moved to Dearborn, where more than 5,000,000 saw its exhibits before the wartime demand for office space forced its closing.

In the new Rotunda, the manufacturing skills which go into the modern automobile will be portrayed in three-dimensional animated exhibits. Other displays will show how motor vehicles have contributed to American progress over the past half-century, and how they may fit into the city of the future.

Opening day for the Rotunda tentatively has been set for June 6. It will be open six days a week from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., and on Sundays from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Tours of the 1,200-acre Rouge plant, largest integrated manufacturing operation in the world, are scheduled five days a week on the half hour between 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Visitors will see the steel mills where iron ore is refined and rolled into finished steel, the stamping plant which produces auto body parts, and the final assembly line.

Ford Division assembly plants outside Dearborn are located at Atlanta, Buffalo, Chester, Pa., Dallas, Edgewater, N.J., Kansas City, Long Beach, Cal., Louisville, Memphis, Norfolk, Va., Richmond, Cal., Somerville, Mass., and St. Paul. The St. Paul plant also manufactures glass.

Lincoln-Mercury Division assembly plants are at Los Angeles, Metuchen, N. J., St. Louis, and Wayne, Mich.

At branch plants, visitors are urged to telephone for advance reservations when making plans for groups of five or more people.

Exhibit Opened At Fort Wayne

A new exhibit documenting the military history of Detroit has been added at the Fort Wayne Military Museum, which has opened for the summer season.

Five panels have been set up in the old Fort tunnel tracing Detroit's history from the coming of the French through the active days of Fort Wayne, according to James F. Hawken, curator.

The museum also has added an Indian exhibit in the public room. This display, prepared for the museum by Robert Wright, exemplifies bead and basket craft executed by Michigan tribes.
