Thursday, January 28

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER, citing the Bible's parable of the Prodigal Son, promised that Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson will be given a fair and just trial. He said, however, that the Army had done the right thing in giving the 21 Americans who refused to return to freedom, a dishonorable discharge.

In Korea, the Reds took custody of the pro-Red Americans, whom Secretary of State Charles E. Wilson denounced as a "disgrace to their service and to their country." The President said he was disturbed when Dickenson was arrested, but felt that Secretary Wilson will see that justice is done.

A PLAN, wrapped up in a constitutional amendment which would require the approval of the voters of Michigan, calls for a 500-million bond issue to build new highways in the state. The bill was submitted to the Senate by four Republicans and one Democrat.

Before it can reach the people of Michigan, the bill must pass a two-thirds vote in the Senate and House. California and Ohio pay off their bonds by increased gasoline taxes. Michigan will leave its present rate of four and a half cents a gallon, and the Federal Government will return the gas taxes collected in Michigan.

RUSSIA stalled the Berlin conference by sidetracking the German peace problem and insisting that the Western Powers recognize "Red China as an equal Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov refused to accept a "no" from the Allies regarding a Big Five parley with Red China, in May or June.

Spearheading Western opposition, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, stated that the unification of Germany and the granting of Austrian independence was the sole issue of the Big Four conference. He said this must be taken care of first before heavier problems can be solved.

Friday, January 29
IN A SURPRISE MANEUVER, Russia proposed an unlimited world conference on armaments reduction, and the solution of the problem of atomic weapons. The proposal was made by Molotov, the Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, at the Big Four conference on Berlin.

His suggestion also provides for a request for a parley of the nations attending the meeting with Red China. The suggestion caught the Western Powers by surprise because it was believed that the present conference had bypassed the question of Communist China and a Big Five meeting.

IGOR Gouzenko, the ex-Red who broke the back of the spy ring in Canada, warned the United States against Russia. In an interview with news reporters, the ex-Red wore a mask. He had granted the interview despite the fact he was reluctant to testify before the Senate Internal Security Committee.

However, when informed that the American people know the exact attitude of the Russian High Command towards war with the United States, he consented to talk. He said that the only thing Russia respects is armed force.

A FEMALE DRIVER did it. Police of Baton Rouge, La., called to a scene of an accident, established that Barbara Leonard was more or less at the controls of a car that crashed through a plate glass of a grocery store. But they said it will have to be overlooked as far as they were concerned.

Barbara somehow got the car in motion before it went through the glass. She and the store shoppers escaped injury. No one protested the police decision. Barbara is only two years old.

Despite winter weather, construction is proceeding on the new Auditorium-Gymnasium on the Grosse Pointe High School property. The dotted outline shows area the new structure will enclose. It is estimated it will take 320 days to complete the building, which, with fixtures and equipment, will cost close to a million dollars.

Commencement Exercises for January Class Featured by Students' Speeches

By Laila Sadi

Three graduating seniors representing the midwinter class of 1954 were the Commencement speakers on Thursday night, January 28, at Grosse Pointe High School.

"Opportunities," was the theme of their speeches. "In Vocational Life" was discussed by Louis Hribar; "In Family Life" by Sandra Dickely; and "In Civic Life" by Peter Gall. Sandra Dickely summarized the point of view which prevailed in all the speeches when she said, "Your opportunities have just begun, and along with them come many responsibilities."

Drop in Park Accident Rate Disclosed in Survey Made By Police Chief Louwers

Combined Efforts of Traffic Divisions Credited With Gradual Trend Downward Despite Increase in Number of Cars

An accident report for the past three years, submitted by Park Police Chief Arthur Louwers, showed that accidents in the Park are slowly declining. Chief Louwers credits the decline to the combined efforts of the Divisions of Traffic having to do with engineering, education and enforcement.

In his report the chief stated that from 1948 to the present period, the increase in vehicle registration in the State of Michigan has jumped 60 percent. The steady rise increased the volume of travel use of the Park's streets, he added.

Year's Totals Tinted

In 1951, the accident total for the year was recorded at 344, of which 92 resulted in injuries and two were fatal. In 1952, accidents were set at 291, with 66 injuries and no fatalities; and in 1953, the number was 289, 59 of which were accompanied by injuries and four were fatalities.

One of the 1953 fatalities occurred when a woman fell out of a car after a collision and after getting to her feet, she collapsed and was rushed to a hospital, where she was pronounced dead. An autopsy disclosed that she had a bad heart, but because she died, directly or indirectly, as a result of the traffic mishap, her death was counted as a traffic fatality.

Speed Traps Help

"Purchase of an electrical speed timer in the latter part of 1953," explained Chief Louwers, "and its continuous daily application against speeders, has been a definite factor in the reduction of speed in this area."

The Bicycle Safety Inspection, Program, conducted with the assistance of the public and parochial schools in the Pointe, was the first such program conducted in this area, the chief pointed out.

State Asked To Donate to Protect Elms

Farms Sends Copies of Resolution Asking for Help, to State Lawmakers

Copies of a resolution, recently adopted by the Farms council, requesting State aid in combating the costly Dutch Elm Disease, have been forwarded to State Senator Harold M. Ryan and State Representative Edward Carey, Farms City Clerk Harry Furton announced.

"The battle against Dutch Elm Disease has reached such proportions," stated Mr. Furton, "that we feel the State of Michigan should be called upon to help try to eliminate the blight."

Points Have Donated

In a letter, sent with the copies of the resolution, to each of the state legislators, it was pointed out that the Pointe communities have appropriated funds for the last several years to aid in combating the dread tree disease, and hope that the State will regard the battle to stamp out the disease as a serious one and thus provide funds to further the fight against this menace.

The resolution calls upon the State of Michigan to recognize the necessity for immediate action on a State, as well as a local level, to preserve the beauty and dignity of the Forest state now threatened by the ever spreading Dutch Elm Disease.

Asks For Consideration

It asks that every possible consideration be given for the allocation of funds to the State Department of Agriculture, to provide for the enlarging of present laboratory and personnel facilities of the State in locating, identifying and removing the disease, so that preventative measures can be taken to combat the blight before it can spread to surrounding areas.

Driver Injured As Car Hits Tree

Peter Weinart, 60, of 15087 Fordham, Detroit, suffered a head injury when he lost control of his car on Friday, January 29, and it crashed into a tree while he was driving on Lake Shore road.

Farms police, while cruising east on Lake Shore, noticed the car against a tree. They stopped to investigate, and found Weinart in it.

Farms firemen rushed the injured man to Bon Secours Hospital, where he was treated for a cut on the right side of his head and x-rayed for other possible injuries.

Weinart, who told police that he had lost control of his car and that it had jumped the curb and struck the tree, was not ticketed.

Snowball Causes Heap of Trouble

A snowball tossed by a 14-year-old boy on Friday, January 29, resulted in an accident, a reprimand for the boy and a ticket for one of the drivers, who was without a license on his person.

According to a Farms police report, the 14-year-old tossed a snowball at a passing car, which was driven by Mildred Ungertwuter of 311 Beaupre.

When the boy threw the icy missile, the women stopped her car in the middle of the road, and another car, driven by Leon C. Gauthiers of 2086 Ridgmont, struck hers in the rear.

The Ungertwuter car suffered an estimated $100 damage and Gauthiers' about $75.

The boy was taken to the station and charged with throwing a snowball, and turned over to the Detective Bureau, for disposition of the matter.

Gauthiers was ticketed for not having his car under control and for not having a driver's license on his person.

Sale of Garbage Disposal Units Regulated in Woods

Since the installation of garbage disposal units and home incinerators have become a prime issue in the community, the Woods council on Monday, February 1, ruled that no firm can be permitted to sell these items without first obtaining the approval of the council and posting a $1,000 surety bond.

Councilman Waid McKnight pointed out to the members of council, that already several organizations have approached Woods home owners and stated that their products have been approved as the right type of disposal or incinerator to be used.

He revealed that City Manager Ray MacArthur has already been burdened with numerous applications from firms anxious to sell their products in the Woods.

Councilman McKnight brought out that no garbage disposal unit

SNOWBALL BREAKS SIGN

Achiel VanBeelaere, a Mack avenue businessman, reported to Woods police on Friday, January 29, that someone had thrown a snowball, breaking a neon sign in front of his business place. Damage was set at $25.

CLERK STRICKEN

Miss Florence Mitchell of 1594 Cadillac, Detroit, was removed to Bon Secours Hospital, on Saturday, January 23, when she became ill in Jacobson's, where she is employed. City police answered the call.

WINDOWS SHOT OUT

Woods police answering a call on Friday, January 29, to the home of Mrs. W. E. Baker, 21221 River road, were shown by the irate woman, where someone had sent a BB shot through her storm window and inside window of a bedroom.

DR. FITT BACK ON JOB

Dr. Frank Fitt, who was hospitalized recently, will resume his work at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church next Sunday, February 7, preaching at both the 9:30 and 11 o'clock services on "The Blessings of Adversity."

Crossing Guards Given Pay Boost

The Woods council, at a meeting held on Monday, February 1, approved an increase in the salaries of the school crossing guards, who watch the crossing of children at Mack and Vernier.

The salary of the guards was raised from $4 a day to $5, because it was maintained that the women in charge of that section, were in a sense doing double duty.

It was pointed out that the guards were responsible for the safety of children from three schools and this entails extra time and duty.

The schools involved are Mason, Parcels Junior High, and St. Joan of Arc.

FARMS BUYS COURIER

The Farms Fire Department took delivery of a brand new Ford Courier on Monday, February 1. The cost of the vehicle was set at $1,300 plus the old truck.

Contract Awarded For Constuction Of New City Pier

Project Costing $174,400 Expected to Be Ready For Use by July 4; Council Studies Budget in Seven Hour Session

The contract for the construction of the new pier at the City of Grosse Pointe's lakefront recreation park was awarded at a special meeting of the council held on Saturday, January 30. The low bid of $174,400 for the project was approved.

The successful bidder for the pier construction is Candler-Rusche, Inc. Russell Candler, one of the founders of the firm, is a resident of the City, living in Rivard boulevard. His son, Tom, also active in the firm, lives in Grosse Pointe Shores.

Six Bids Submitted

Six bids for the pier project were studied at a regular council meeting on Monday, January 25. The two low bids at that time were within $300 of each other, but there was a considerable variance between the quotations on several items.

The two low bidders were asked to submit supplemental bids, which were received at Saturday's meeting. The approved contract is nearly $9,000 less than the original low bid.

To Be Finished in July

Tom Candler stated Tuesday morning that his company expected to get started on the project within the next two or three weeks. Enclosure of the swimming area is expected to be completed by the end of May and the entire pier should be ready for use by July 4.

The final capping of the pier with a cement cover cannot be done for at least another year. The pier shell will be back-filled, and this will have to settle before the final covering can be installed. In the meantime, a gravel top will probably be used during the coming season.

600 Feet Long

The new pier will extend approximately 600 feet out into the lake. It will be L-shaped. The main projection will be 20 feet wide. The outer end, which will have the diving boards for adult swimmers, will be 30 feet wide.

There will be ample room for boat mooring space, protected from the prevailing winds. There will also be an inner swimming area for younger swimmers, in addition to the wading pool for children, which was completely re-built several years ago.

Strenuous Session

The council put in a strenuous session Saturday. The meeting lasted from 10 in the morning to 5 in the afternoon. In addition to awarding the contract for the pier, much of the proposed annual budget was studied and tentatively approved.

Woods Grants Permit for Subdivision

Recently Imposed Restriction Lifted to Settle Pending Application

The Woods council, by a vote of four to two, approved on Monday, February 1, the lifting of a no-more subdivision restriction to permit developing of the Hunt Club Lane Subdivision, on the east side of Cook road, near the Hunt Club.

Ernest Putnam, contract builder, represented at the council meeting by Victor DeBaeke, requested permission from the Woods council to develop the subdivision.

President of Shores

Putnam, who is Village president of the Shores and DeBaeke, Shores justice of the peace, appeared before the council as builder and his attorney.

They based their request on the fact that the Hunt Club subdivision and two other subdivisions have had their cases before the Woods council since 1950, and that inasmuch as the two other subdivisions had been granted permission to develop, before the restrictions were passed, then the Hunt Club subdivision should be granted the same privilege.

Mayor Abstains from Voting

A voice vote showed four for the lifting of the restriction and two against. Mayor Paul Rowe did not vote.

At a recent meeting, the Woods council voted to suspend any future subdivisions developments until the community has licked its sewer and drainage problem.

Councilmen Harry Pratt and Elsie Friedrich, who voted against the lifting of restrictions, said they did so because of this problem.

The Wood's city engineer had disclosed there was nothing to hinder the lifting of the restriction and based his report on a thorough investigation he had conducted.

Boy Scouts Join to Observe 44th Birthday Anniversary

Corner lot encampments, store window displays, religious award presentations, Blue and Gold Banquets, Old-Timer Reunions, Father-and-Son Dinners, Courts of Honor, Scout Sabbath Services and other special programs will highlight Scouting's 44th Birthday Anniversary during the next two weeks.

Most of the celebrations will occur during the official Boy Scout Week period of February 7 to 13. Each of the local Council's 1,212 Units (Cub Packs, Scout Troops or Explorer Units) is planning a birthday party of its own to celebrate the Incorporation of Scouting on February 8, 1910, and the Federal Chartering of Scouting, by Congress, on June 15, 1916.

Nationally, Scouting's membership is over 3,000,000 Scouts and Leaders, by far the largest of 47 different countries which en-

Boy Blames Bible For Stab Wound

A 16-year-old youth, a Farms police report disclosed, blamed a self-inflicted stab wound on the Bible.

Police were called to Cottage Hospital on Saturday, January 30, to investigate the cause of a stabbing of the boy, who had inflicted a wound about a half an inch deep.

The boy disclosed that he had had an argument with his parents about a letter he alleged they were withholding from him. When he asked them about it, they stated it had not arrived and he accused them of intercepting it. He accused his parents of taking other mail intended for him.

During the course of the argument, the youth stabbed himself in the right leg with his pocket knife.

The boy informed the Rev. H. Arthur Doersan of Christ Church, that he had great faith in the Bible, and it was the Bible that had caused him to wound himself.

The lad was released after treatment.

Course Offered On Construction

The second training course for building officials and inspectors and members of the construction industry began on Thursday, January 28, according to Herbert Heger, Public Park Service Department head and president of the Building Officials' Conference of Michigan.

The course, sponsored by Wayne University's department of Public Administration and the BOCM, is being held at the Redford High School, where registration took place on the night of the first class meeting. Registration fee is $5.

Classes will meet every Thursday, from 8 to 10 p.m., and will last for six sessions. Courses covered will include: new material; code and ordinance requirements—plan checking and zoning; inspection procedures and standards; licensing—local and state relationships; judicial aspects of enforcement; and public relations. Prominent construction, judicial enforcement and engineering officials will instruct the classes.

"I strongly urge all inspectors and officials of the east side communities to attend," said Heger. "There is a lot that can be learned, and too, it may lead to a uniformity of the building code in the area."

Reformers say fewer people would get off the straight and narrow if they could tell the difference between vice and advice.

proved a resolution to that effect and an amendment will be worked out.

The Woods, it was revealed, has been issuing its own advice regarding the garbage disposal units, by mailing letters to all its home owners, and pointing out that after two years of study, it was found that the cheapest means of disposal of garbage is through the disposal units in a sink.

One On Display
The letter also stressed that for any person interested in obtaining additional information regarding the units, the city would have one on display at 1007 Vernier, every Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5 p.m.

A copy of a recently published resolution pertaining to the city's intention to pass an ordinance amendment regarding pickup and disposal of garbage, and that the city hopes to have garbage collection discontinued by July 1, 1955, was enclosed with the letter, as was a warning to the citizens who plan to install their own units.

Warned About Units
These citizens were warned not to install their own units unless the type purchased has been approved, or has been purchased from a reputable firm with an adequate service guarantee.

An application and petition were also enclosed giving Woods residents an opportunity to petition the city to discontinue garbage pickups by July 1955, and state how they wish to pay for disposal units, if they desire the city to install them.

THE MOVE TO MODERN LIVING
See why the trend is growing to the 1954 Lincoln
The facts are simple: Lincoln is the one fine car whose sales have more than doubled in two short years. There are good reasons why this trend keeps growing. The great new Lincoln for 1954 is the most dramatic edition of the car that started the big change in American motorists' ideas about fine cars. Take, for instance, Lincoln's new styling—from the stunning new grille to the crisp, new rear deck and distinctive new taillights. It is a completely new design—akin to the ground-hugging, functional look found wherever the living is modern. Note, too, how well Lincoln's new colors and fabrics go with Lincoln's new styling—dramatic new shades in nylons, gabardines, and leathers. Above all you have incredible performance. Lincoln's world-famous V-8 engine has the new automatic 4-barrel carburetor—gives you superbly controlled action at all times. Add to all this the optional features—power steering, power brakes, the 4-way power seat and electric power window lifts—and driving becomes practically effortless. You'll know what we mean the moment you drive a wonderful new 1954 Lincoln or Lincoln Capri.

Performance proof: Lincoln again won 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th places over all stock cars in the 1,912-mile Mexican Pan-American Road Race.

Don't miss the big television hit, "TOAST OF THE TOWN" with Ed Sullivan, Sunday evening, 8:00 to 9:00, Station WJBK-TV, Channel 2.

Pedestrian Hurt When Hit by Car

Irving Schemansky, 45, of 3656 Bedford, Detroit, was seriously injured on Tuesday, January 26, when he was struck by an automobile on Mack avenue at Nottingham.

According to a Park Police report, Schemansky was struck by a car driven by Alfred J. Bonneau, 43, of 22401 Doremus, St. Clair Shores.

The driver claimed that he was driving east on Mack, directly behind another car, when the car in front swerved to the left, and he (Bonneau) swerved to the right. It was then, he said, that he saw the pedestrian, and jammed on the brakes, but it was too late.

Schemansky was rushed to Bon Secours Hospital where an examination disclosed he was suffering from a cerebral concussion, compound fracture of the right leg, fractured left ankle and possible internal injuries.

Bonneau was issued a ticket for not having his car under control and causing an accident. He will appear in court on February 17.

Taxis Round Up Hit-Run Driver

Eddie Herzman, 32, of 1141 Nottingham, may have been wanted for a hit and run accident in Detroit, but all the Park Police wanted him for, as far as their department was concerned, was for violation of the Michigan Drunk Motor Law.

On Thursday night, January 28, Herzman ran a red light at E. Warren and Connor, Detroit, and struck George Van Havel, 9, of 12311 E. Warren, a Hamilton School second-grader, who rolled under the car when hit.

Paul P. Chappus, 29, of 5532 Hurlbut, Detroit, a cab driver for a Harper Woods concern, witnessed the incident, and when Herzman failed to stop he took up the chase. While in pursuit, he called in the details to his dispatcher, Ray Veenstra, who notified police and directed 11 other cabs to the chase scene.

Herzman led Chappus a round-about chase through alleys in Detroit, the Farms and the Park.

Park Patrolman Pat Conlan and William Crandall arrived just as Chappus and two other cab drivers forced Herzman to the curb at Three Mile and E. Jefferson. They made the arrest. One of the cab drivers was James Machris of Lakepointe.

According to Park Police Chief Arthur Louwers, one of the cabs was damaged while forcing the alleged hit-runner to the curb.

Herzman was booked by Detroit police for leaving the scene of an accident, and following arraignment in court was turned over to Park authorities, who charged him with drunk driving and causing an accident, and driving while his license was revoked.

Van Havel was released after being treated in Saratoga General Hospital.

Gillis Becomes Township J. P.

John H. Gillis of 75 Vernier road, son of Recorder's Judge Joseph H. Gillis of Detroit, was sworn in as a Justice of the Peace of Grosse Pointe Township on Tuesday, January 26.

Judge Gillis was appointed by the Township Board to serve a one year term. He must run for election in February 1955.

Prior to the appointment, Judge Victor DeBaeke was the only Justice of the Peace in the Township.

Judge Gillis will aid in trying cases and will also take over in the event of illness or absence of Judge DeBaeke.

Frank Heabeart Retired by City

Relatives and friends in the City government honored Frank Heabeart, 70, of 643 Notre Dame, on the occasion of his birthday and official retirement after 36 years of service with the City's Department of Public Works.

Heabeart officially retired on his 70th birthday, Friday, January 29. The following day, Saturday, January 30, his wife, Charlotte, their eight children, 40 grandchildren and two great grandchildren joined forces to help Heabeart celebrate his birthday.

The couple's eight children are: Mrs. Edith Hamilton and Mrs. Dorothy Lane Lappin of Detroit; Mrs. Hazel Barnes, Mrs. Alice Latorre and Mrs. Beatrice Kiger, all of the Pointe; Ernest, of St. Clair Shores; Robert of Lincoln Park and Mrs. Jeanne Santoro of Roseville.

Mr. and Mrs. Heabeart, married for 44 years, are expecting to become great grandparents again, in about two more months.

Heabeart, who claims the distinction of being one of four persons to have been born on Belle Isle, at the time known as Snake Island and later renamed Pig Island, began his career with the city on January 1, 1918.

At that time, John F. Neff, the City's Public Works Commissioner, and uncle of Grosse Pointe City Clerk Norbert Neff, approached Heabeart and offered him a job with the City's Public Works Department. Heabeart accepted and had been with the City ever since, earning the respect and good will of his fellow employees, the citizens and City officials.

Yesterday, Wednesday, February 3, friends, fellow employees and City officials, utilizing the huge space in the city Municipal garage, united in giving a party in Heabeart's honor.

The retired City employee, did not make public how he intended to spend his retirement, but it was disclosed that he was a hunting and fishing enthusiast, so conclusions can be drawn from that.

Get into politics and you'll find out things about yourself you never knew before.

Jefferson Avenue Church Celebrating Its Centennial

President Eisenhower's minister, Dr. Edward Elson of the National Presbyterian Church, in Washington, D.C., will speak at the Centennial Banquet of Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church, 8625 East Jefferson avenue, on Monday evening, February 8. The Alma College A-Cappella Choir will sing.

The banquet is part of an eight-day Centennial Observance to commemorate the founding of the original Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church at the corner of Jefferson and Rivard avenues near downtown Detroit in 1854.

Dr. Samuel H. Forrer, Pastor Emeritus of this church and its minister from 1919 to 1945, is returning to Detroit for the occasion and will preach on Sunday, February 7, at identical services at 9 and 11 a.m. His theme will be "Looking Backward."

HOLIDAYS COMING UP

Harry Furton, clerk of the City of Grosse Pointe Farms, has announced the municipal offices will be closed on both Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays, February 12 and 22.

Farms to Survey Building Needs

An extensive study will soon be under way, whereby architects will seek to determine whether the Farms Municipal Building must be added too, or just how the space now available can be used to the best advantage, according to Farms City Clerk Harry Furton.

The survey must be conducted, stated Mr. Furton, because as things stand now, the various city departments are almost checked for space.

When everything has been finally worked out, it will help to afford Farms citizens better service from all departments, including that of police and fire.

All of the Farms' municipal departments, are under one roof.

Nowadays one has to have a pull to get ahead and it takes a good head to get a pull.

The man who puts his heart into both work and play gives his life purpose and direction. When illness comes, he is ready to fight it with a disciplined will. Add to this the skill of a competent physician and the combination is hard to beat. We are prescription specialists.

- (4) WE HAVE AN APPRAISAL SYSTEM TIED IN WITH OUR SELLING PLAN which can help you get the top dollar without wasting your time—and your money—on false hopes. This system, of long standing, is unique. National recognition of it is given in the following quotation from the Appraisal Journal, published quarterly by the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers:

"A leading brokerage concern, specializing in the sale of better type homes in the somewhat exclusive Grosse Pointe area of Detroit, has for the past twenty-five years made a detailed appraisal of each home they list. They also follow the same procedure on many of the homes listed by their competitors. The home is measured and cubed and a reproduction cost per cubic ft. arrived at after careful inspection . . . This firm has established . . . basic market factor rates . . . determined by the actual sales prices of similar homes of approximately the same general design, price class, location . . . The foregoing shows the desirability of competent appraisals of property. This is particularly necessary in a changing market."

It is well known that business success in most lines of endeavor can be achieved in two ways: by exploiting the public or by serving the public. Our policy has been to serve the public. It is the slower and harder of the two methods and carries many disillusionments. But there is a lasting satisfaction in seeing this principle prove itself. For it is only through the practical success of this method that the free way of life will eventually prevail in the current critical battle for the world.

Congregational Church Fashion Show Set for Wednesday, Feb. 10

With the spring just around the corner, a lady's fancy turns to thoughts of crisp, colorful cottons. And to the center of the stage steps Nelly Don's spring collection... that is to the center of the stage at Grosse Pointe Congregational Church.

This designer has great talent for creating high-fashion cottons at a price within easy reach. Other fabrics shown in this spring collection are silk shantung, lightweight butcher linens and a group of season-spanning rayon twill and crepes. All are available in sizes for the matron, for the girl who likes the jaunty-ness of junior fashions yet requires a misses' size.

All this sounds like a big order, but you can see for yourself that it's true next Wednesday afternoon. For then, the Town 'n Casual Shop and the Women's Association of the Congregational Church on Chalfonte join forces to present the Nelly Don collection.

Among the styles to be shown will be the newest of Fair Weather suits. It is a woven-stripe seersucker—a sashing, semi-fitted suit with a fresh-as-a-daisy face. The small rolled-collar and turn-back cuffs are of solid chambray, the skirt is softly gored. A decidedly elegant cotton with a custom-made look.

Silhouette interest in the collection centers on the sheath, the doomed princess line and the cut-in-one sleeve shape. A scene-stealing cotton print with picket-fence motif, shows skirt lined to arch the hips and accent the rounded line.

Looking toward summer or for sun-resort travelers is a group of double-exposure sun ensembles, made simply and with charm. The bateau neckline of one of these is sparkled with rhinestone-studded trapunto embroidery. The molded bodice is curved to the waistline, skirt held by tiny unpressed pleats that bell out toward the hemline into a modified flare.

In every Nelly Don dress, no matter how modestly priced, are many extra features. Lingerie tapes are sewn in the blouse to hold shoulder straps in place. Removable shoulder pads snap in and out. Belts are laminated to prevent crumpling. Devotees of Nelly Don dresses know that much of the charm in wearing this designer's styles lies in these custom touches not usually found in mass-produced dresses.

Mrs. Werner Lueckhoff is general chairman of the luncheon, which will be at 12:30 on Wednesday, February 10. Group 2 is serving the luncheon under the direction of Dolores Smith. Tickets will be available at the door.

Mrs. Adam C. Cook is chairman of the fashion show and will also do the commentary. Among the association members who will don the frocks will be: Mrs. Robert Tonge, Mrs. Kenneth Jones, Mrs. Wilford Lindberg, Mrs. Sidney Morgan, Mrs. Thomas Mahoney, Mrs. Charles Walker, Mrs. Marcus Johnson, Mrs. Loyd Weed, Mrs. Robert Hannah, Mrs. Fred Sherwood, Mrs. James R. Sagel will be at the piano.

February Folklore: Wonder if you knew the system of "cutting in" at dances was introduced to Detroit by the debutante Helen Ryan (today's Mrs. Charles A. Dean, Jr., of Lewiston road) . . . As a deb she had been a guest at the Veiled Prophet Ball in St. Louis . . . swung over to Louisville, Ky., to lead the German and at both fetes was enchanted with this "new system" of cutting-in during a dance . . . She came home and introduced the vogue at her own coming out ball . . . Before that, all dances were program affairs . . . and she remembers the young men were rather upset by this new fad . . . wondering if their elders might not think it rude to interrupt partners as they danced . . . But the new idea took . . . and ever since Detroit has held to the cut-in as a favorite.

Grosse Pointe Coterie

The George Ryersons are members of the Pointe's very new Grosse Pointe Coterie . . . which is holding its first dance at Grosse Pointe War Memorial this Saturday evening . . . Coterie is comprised of some thirty young married couples who will meet the first Saturday of each month with their theme song, "Let's Get Acquainted With One Another" . . . Tom Ellington is president, Mrs. Robert Rein, Secretary, and George Pomeroy, dance chairman . . . the Coterie is War Memorial sponsored . . . There are no dues . . . the party is $2.50 per couple and that includes refreshments and parking . . . If you wish to enlarge your circle of Pointe friends, call Mrs. Rein to make your reservation for this Saturday's dance . . . Other young Pointe marrieds interested include the Robert Laitners, the William Laitners, the Leslie Spitzleys, Dr. and Mrs. LeRoy Selmeir, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Forster and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Handloser . . .

Do Your Saucers Fly?

This was our week for flying saucers . . . We kept bumping into people who take the whole thing very seriously . . . and who even think there are folks from other planets among us right this minute . . . A young man, after one glass of port wine, told of meeting a god-like creature in Texas . . . He was sure he was a Martian . . . and though Mrs. Walker Cisler, who wore a This Planet white satin chapeau that was lush, didn't contribute any such "mutual encounter" stories . . . she did tell us how surprised she was to find a company in the East manufacturing space suits . . . She thought these were strictly comic strip fare . . . A young lady in the gathering was an authority on Venusians and we felt very Old Hat in such advanced company . . . Noticed a couple nights later, when the young man with the Martian experience appeared at a reception, he wasn't accompanied by any other planet gods . . . just some old earth bound folks . . .

Mrs. Music

We met Mrs. Cisler at the Women's Symphony Association's tea for the press at the Detroit Athletic Club . . . Other Pointers at the party included Mrs. Jerome H. Remick, Jr., and Mrs. J. Leslie Barry . . . Everyone was wishing luck to Mrs. Bertram Bell, who is chairman of the Symphony group's upcoming maintenance fund drive . . . She's had a nice vacation in Hawaii to pep her up for raising the necessary funds Detroiters will be asked to contribute . . . Another charmer (Continued on Page 16)

Virginia Apple Bride Of William Ditzler

Reception Follows Ceremony in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church; Couple to Live in Waukegan After Florida Honeymoon

Virginia Apple and William Ditzler spoke their wedding vows at a 3 o'clock ceremony last Saturday in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Apple, of Clairview court, and Mr. Ditzler is the son of Mrs. Stanley Ditzler, of Freeport, Ill., and the late Mr. Ditzler.

Following the church service, Mr. and Mrs. Apple were hosts to the wedding guests at a reception in the church parlors. The blue-eyed bride's love of pink was reflected in her wedding bouquet, departing from tradition, she tucked pink sweetheart roses in a cascade of white carnations.

Virginia's mother made her wedding gown, a lovely bouffant confection of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The tight-fitting lace bodice had a deeply scalloped neckline, filled in with sheer nylon net to end in a tiny, round collar. Sleeves were long and fitted and the great skirt was formed of three layers of taffeta and tulle.

Medallions cut from the lace were appliqued onto the taffeta skirt which was misted in a double froth of nylon. The skirt had hooped effect and fell floor length.

From a bridal cap of lace and seed pearls, Virginia's Chantilly lace veil was sparkled with iridescent sequins.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Walter Kevern, of Dixon, Ill., who served as honor matron. She was dressed in a Nile green taffeta and shirred net frock, a net stole covering the shoulders of the strapless bodice. Her flowers were pale yellow carnations.

Walter Kevern was best man for the bridegroom and ushers included Thomas Black and Daniel Teare of Flint.

At the reception, a Pointe de Venise lace cloth covered the bride's table which was centered by the tiered wedding cake. A nosegay of pale pink carnations topped the cake and also on the table were white tapers in silver holders.

The young Ditzlers will make their home in Waukegan, Ill. and in April plan their wedding trip in Florida.

For the occasion, Mrs. Apple chose a gown of poudre blue lace over taffeta, her small matching felt hat trimmed with a blue rose. Mrs. Ditzler's wood-brown crepe gown had café au lait be-creo embroidered in heading and her chapeau repeated the lighter tone of her costume. Both mothers wore corsages of gardenias.

DAR Chapter Holds Meeting

Members of the Elizabeth Cass Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Grosse Pointe Farms went to Detroit Monday, February 1, for their regular February meeting.

In the absence of the Regent, the meeting was presided over by Miss Gretchen Wyeth, vice-regent. Mrs. Dwight T. Randall was the day's program chairman. Mrs. Randall, the organizing Regent of this Chapter presented, for the benefit of the newer people and as refresher course for the members of long standing, a panel discussion "What the Daughters Do." Mrs. Randall outlined briefly the history of the D.A.R. and the objects of the organization as set forth by the National Society.

Other members of the panel were Mrs. Donald M. Carson who has served the Elizabeth Cass Chapter in various capacities in past years including the offices of Registrar and Vice-Regent; and Mrs. Lenora Reigel who has been active in many phases of the work for many years, not only in Michigan but in the State of Pennsylvania where she first joined the D.A.R.

Mrs. Carson brought to the attention of the group the actual eligibility requirements for membership in the D.A.R. and tried to stress that contrary to common belief, there are services other than military that a woman can claim for eligibility when filing her application for membership in this organization.

Mrs. Carson further pointed out that Elizabeth Cass Chapter can provide help for prospective members in finding proofs.

Mrs. Reigel outlined the work of the various committees of the National Society, D.A.R. and answered questions regarding how the individual members and the Chapter can have a part in every phase of the varied work which includes aid to the mountain schools, work with the American Indians, Cooperating with the American Red Cross, promoting the conservation of the country's natural resources and assisting the foreign born to become oriented and good citizens of the U.S.A.

The National Society publishes a "Manual for Citizenship" that members of the Chapter under the direction of Mrs. John Finch, 842 Cadieux road, make available to new-comers to the country, libraries and schools. The manual is published not only in English but in 17 foreign languages.

Women from the Grosse Pointe area who were present at this meeting included Mrs. Jesse Shields and Mrs. Edwin Pratt, both of Neff road; Mrs. John A. Bell, 214 McKinley road; Mrs. Oscar Markus, 835 Ellar place; Mrs. Edward O. Meier, Vernier circle, and Mrs. C. R. Williams, Bishop road.

Elizabeth Waldbott Weds Baron Ramsay

Reception in Home of Bride's Parents Follows Ceremony in Grosse Pointe Congregational Church on January 24

Elizabeth Lynn Waldbott, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George L. Waldbott of Balfour, Mich., became the bride of Anders E. Ramsay, son of Baron and Baroness Johan Ramsay of Angelholm, Sweden. Vows were exchanged at an afternoon ceremony in the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church on January 24, before the Rev. Marcus W. Johnson.

The bride designed her wedding gown, using lace from her mother's wedding dress. It was ballerina-length pink-hued egg-shell satin with lace at the low neckline. She used more of the lace for a softly draped mantilla. Lace mitts and a garland arrangement of roses, stephanotis and ivy completed her costume.

Edith Waldbott, as maid of honor, was her sister's only attendant. She wore a pale blue point d'esprit, net dress, ballerina-length, and carried yellow roses. Niles Lucander, formerly of Helsingfors, Finland, was best man.

A reception followed the church ceremony in the Waldbott residence. Mrs. Waldbott chose a mauve lace gown for her daughter's wedding, with a tiny matching velvet hat, and pinned an orchid to her shoulder.

Following the wedding trip, for which the new Baroness Ramsay wore a navy suit with white bead trim on the lapel and pockets and matching accessories, the couple will make their home in Canada.

In this highly motorized age it takes at least one steering wheel to complete the family circle.

Unitarians Hear Isabelle Finnie

Isabella Holt Finnie (Mrs. Haldeman Finnie) is speaker for the monthly program of the Women's Alliance of the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church next Tuesday at 2 p.m. at Unitarian House, East Jefferson avenue at Rivard. The Pointer-author will speak on "The Birth of The American Constitution."

Rev. William Hammond has devoted a number of sermons to various phases of this theme, and so it is a familiar but ever-interesting topic for Unitarians. Mrs. Finnie is an artist and dramatist as well as being an author. She was born in Lake Forest, Ill., and studied portrait painting with George Bellows, Hawthorne, Beckenridge and later with John Carroll.

Her short stories have been published by McCall's, The Ladies Home Journal, Saturday Evening Post, Good Housekeeping and Colliers. "My Son and Heir" and "Rampole Place" are the latest of her eight novels.

In World War I, Mrs. Finnie did canteen work in France and during the second World War she traveled and produced U.S.O. shows.

Her Pointe home is on Ellair place.

SAD PREDICTION

If all the residents of Richmond, Mich. (population about 2,000) were killed, and all the residents of Bay City (population about 57,000) were injured, that would be the equivalent of the predicted traffic toll for Michigan in 1954.

These figures were brought out at the second annual Michigan Highway Safety seminar at Michigan State College's Kellogg Center for Continuing Education.

IT'S A FACT

Is Woods' Decision Wise?

The City of Grosse Pointe Woods council has approved a plan to construct its own incineration plant, thus eliminating that city from the joint authority created by all five Pointes and the City of Harper Woods for a common solution to the garbage and rubbish disposal problems of all these municipalities.

This is one of the oldest problems which has plagued this fast-growing area. For many years each of the cities and villages has had to make individual contracts with farmers or other property owners far removed from the Pointe, for the privilege of dumping and burying or burning this refuse. Costs have been very high and the whole process has been an inefficient one.

Action by the joint authority to solve the problem was started several years ago. Intensive study was made of various methods of disposal and engineers' plans for an incineration plant to cost nearly a million dollars were approved. When it appeared there would be smooth sailing to the final solution, a monkey wrench was tossed in the works when the residents of the Macomb County community where the plant was to be located, flooded their officials with petitions protesting the granting of permission for the construction of the plant.

Several other sites are now under construction and the authority has gone ahead with its studies of the complete problem. Action can be expected soon, it is stated.

With all the delay, the Woods can scarcely be blamed for seeking an early solution. Whether or not it has come up with the right answer, only time will tell.

Prior to the decision to build its own incinerator, the Woods council approved a plan calling for the installation of mechanical garbage grinders in every home. The residents may buy these through the city and pay for them ever a period of six and a half years. But after July 1, 1955, according to the official edict, the Woods will pay for no more garbage collections out of tax money. If the residents don't want disposal systems they may still have their garbage collected, but will have to pay for it themselves.

The new incinerator, to be built on Marter road on the six and a half acre site where the new municipal garage will also be constructed, will not handle any garbage, according to the announcement. Only rubbish will be disposed of there.

If individual garbage collections have to be made, it appears the Woods may be letting itself in for some involved bookkeeping, and will still have to find localities where the garbage can be disposed of. Some critics of the plan also want to know what is to be done about such items as lawn cuttings, leaves, shrub prunings, etc. that make up a large percentage of rubbish collections at certain periods of the year. If these are to be burned in the new incinerator, then why not garbage?

The Woods' decision poses the question of economy as well as efficiency. It seems a foregone conclusion that the cost of one large incineration plant, shared by six municipalities, would be far less than if each one has to build its own.

It is understood the Woods has been assured by its engineers that the saving on hauling costs alone will pay for the same argument could doubtless be made for the building in 10 years.

The same argument could doubtless be made for the joint plan, as all of the participating municipalities are faced with these same exorbitant costs.

The cooperative-plan idea proposes a complete disposal solution instead of the partial one which the Woods' plan seems to promise. It is quite possible that it might be wiser for the Woods to remain with the joint authority and exert all its influence towards getting some fast action.

With its plans just in the preliminary stage, it would seem that the authority could have a complete plant in operation before the lone municipality can erect an incinerator that will only partially solve the problem.

Headlines of the Week

Although the issue of a united Germany received priority attention from the Big Four, the United States and Russian ministers also discussed atomic energy control.

THE GOVERNMENT of Italian Premier Fanfani collapsed when it was defeated on a vote of confidence after the Cabinet was formed. Fanfani, an economic expert, had planned to crack down on Communists and institute financial reforms in Italy. Former Premier De Gasperi used his parliamentary prestige to save the government, but to no avail.

THE MURDER mystery that has been making the headlines for the last week, broke onto the front pages again, when John P. Lange, 51, of Detroit, confessed to the shotgun slaying of John W. Mattson, 53-year-old Detroit steel company executive.

Lange stated that he had purchased a gun shortly before Christmas, and had shot the steel executive on January 25. Detroit police, working with almost no clues, grilled Lange for five days until he cracked under the strain hydrogen bomb, was finally revealed by the Atomic Energy Commission. It was hinted that the first bomb of this type was built in the laboratory which has been operating since mid-1952.

Livermore is where Dr. Edward Teller is known to have completed his work when he was in charge of building the "device" which created the world's first hydrogen explosion on November 1, 1952. The Commission also stated that 1,500 persons are employed there.

THE DEFENSE DEPARTMENT announced that the Eisenhower Administration has formulated plans that will end segregated schools on the Nation's military posts by September 1, 1955. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State College and assistant secretary of defense, said the plan was worked out by the Health, Welfare and Education Department on orders from the President.

It is believed that the key to the plan was an agreement under which the Federal Government would reimburse the states which have laws forbidding nonsegregated schools and which now finance 21 schools on military posts.

VIETNAMESE TROOPS, won over by Communist propaganda, have deserted 38 outposts in Cochinchina, French authorities stated. In an attempt to check the defection, French and loyal Vietnamese troops were rushed to the areas.

Report of the desertion caused considerable anxiety in Saigon, a section of Cochinchina, which has not seen any form of military action for about a year. Sharp clashes occurred between the French and ambushing Vietnamese with heavy artillery and air

Grosse Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

"As you kiss me I see through drowsy eyes The blue lagoon of the midnight skies, Studied with tiny water lilies Of white flame. As you kiss me I bear the hidden waterfall Of wind in the summer trees, And its softer echo in the billowing grass."

We have long thought that society reporters by and large do an inadequate job of covering weddings. What the bride wore, what the mothers wore, a smattering of guest list and that about sums it up. All weddings read alike. All one has to do is substitute names. It would pay these reporters to take a pointer or two from the small town papers that go all out for wedding reporting and just to help them, we are reprinting here VERBATIM (with the exception of names) an account of a wedding that we snatched from a Pennsylvania newspaper last June. Please bear in mind that we have changed nary a comma in this fabulous social item.

Underneath two large pictures of the wedding reception and headline: "Blank-Blink Wedding Reception Highlight of Summer Social Events" . . . is the following: "A highlight of the region's Summer social season was the Blank-Blank wedding reception Saturday night at the Lake Whozis Summer home of the brides' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Blah Blink. "The reception followed the 6 p.m. marriage service in (name of church) and the wedding story appears on page eight of this issue. The lawn of the Blink home, extending to the lake's water line, and dotted by towering trees, provided a lovely natural setting for the reception.

"To that were added the thoughtful, careful man-made preparations designed to assure the every comfort of the 350 guests and promote cordial spirit of the gay and sparkling occasion. The centre of activities was a huge, open-sided tent, measuring 90 by 40 feet.

"There, the bride, charming and poised, and the bridegroom, handsome and beaming, received their guests in a line which moved steadily for more than an hour and a half. A canopy 340 feet long extended from the street to the reception tent. About 1,000 40-watt bulbs lighted the tent and the approach to it.

"A four piece band, which noted the arrival of the wedding party from the church with traditional 'Here Comes the Bride' later provided music for dancing. Some 30 waiters and waitresses circulated among the guests with an assortment of refreshments.

"At one end of the tent were the tables burdened with food of every sort . . . eight turkeys, 10 rib roasts, four hams, unnumbered salads. A smaller, 30 by 30 foot tent was the focal point of the catering operation. The food had been prepared by the (Soandso) Club and was trucked to the reception scene. Mr. James Hossenpfeifer of the Club, supervised.

"Carl Jamesson, of this City, was in charge of placing the tents and the canopy. He said his phase of the preparation required a week's work. A straw carpet covered the ground under the canopy leading to the reception site. A floor of pressed hardboard was placed to provide comfortable footing.

"Tables crowded with champagne, punch and cigars were arrayed along one side of the tent and a long table for the bridal party and members of both families lined the opposite wall. Guests were served buffet style.

"Immediately in front of the bridal party table was a small table with the wedding cake. The giant cake contained four platforms, each divided by tiny pillars, and was crowned by a vase filled with roses. Tiny swans decorated the cake.

"The interior of the main tent was decorated with greens, including holly. Four supporting poles were covered in green vines. The lawn in front of the main tent was crowded with guests almost to the lake shore. The guests, including many persons prominent in the business, civic, judicial and political circles of this County, were dressed in formal wear for the most part. Most of the men wore white dinner jackets, while many of the women wore fine party clothing. Many fur pieces were worn by women to ward off a chill from the cool evening air.

"Parking of many cars was planned beforehand. A large area on the bench was pressed into service. Men stood by at the entrance to the grounds to take the cars to the parking area as the guests went directly to the reception tent. Police Captain Blah Blah, working on his own time, supervised the parking work. He was assisted by another off-duty local policeman. The whole affair went off without a hitch.

"The wedding was scheduled for 6 p.m. and the bride arrived at the church with her mother and father (who is president of the Soandso Company), right on time. A long canopy extended from the street to the church door. A man in full dress with a high silk hat was on duty in front of the church.

"Following the brief ceremony, the bride and groom were driven to the reception in a long, sleek automobile. A few moments later their parents arrived. Two photographers dressed in white coats took candid shots of the bridal party throughout the reception. One photographer was using the latest thing in his trade, a three dimensional camera. The reception was for grown-ups only. There were no children in or around the main reception tent."

Well, that's it kiddies. Now THERE is a place where the newspaper is impressed with a wedding. It's not just a "take it for granted" thing. Facts . . . that's all we want, brother . . . just give us the FACTS.

and finally confessed.

Tuesday, February 2 RUSSIA'S V. M. MOLOTOV drafted off a two-year-old Soviet draft of a peace treaty which the West will not accept. He proposed a Soviet-styled peace treaty for Germany which would unite the country, but leave it virtually defenseless and at the mercy of the Russians.

The pact also called for Communists in key government positions. It would condemn Germany to exist alone with only anti-aircraft guns to defend it. Molotov, in a speech at the Berlin conference, made it clear that the Soviet Union will refuse any deal that would permit even one German soldier to join the Western Defense System (European Defense Community).

DIAGNOSIS DISCLOSED that Felice Scandina of Naples, Italy, was in need of an operation when he complained of a stomachache. On the operating table, doctors removed from his stomach 28 penknives, eight metal keys, three silver spoons, half a dozen metal coins and bits of glass. Scandina told doctors that he was training for a bet. He wagered a friend that he could eat an automobile windshield, tires and all.

NO PLANS are being made by the State Department to make a top-level diplomatic issue of a mixed battle over Korea in which a Communist MIG-15 was shot down while attacking a United States reconnaissance plane. But military officials made it plain that the Red attack could be brought before the Armistice Commission at Panmunjon as a violation of the truce.

The Air Force indicated that the American plane was over international waters when it was attacked. A State Department official stated that no protests have been made and none are contemplated.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 3 SENATOR McCARTHY demanded that Army Secretary Stevens hold up an honorable discharge of a major who he accuses of setting up a Communist cell at Ft. Kilmer, N. J. He insisted that the soldier be court-martialed instead. The senator made public a letter that he sent to the army secretary, in which he formally made the charge. The major, who was not named, is a dentist at Ft. Kilmer, and is charged by the senator of recruiting soldiers into the party and attending a Communist leadership school. The senator also called for full disciplinary action against the major's superiors who knew of the soldiers activities but failed to stop him.

THE U. S. SENATE received a bill introduced by Senator Case (R, S.D.) in which it was asked that the government expend two billion dollars for the nation's roads. The senator said the bill was put in after he had polled state and federal highway officials as well as a number of his associates in Congress.

He said that President Eisenhower had joined the acclaim for good roads in his campaign speeches. The bill, if passed, will allocate a billion dollars a year; for two years, for better roads and highways.

A RUSSIAN DIPLOMAT, who sought refuge with a special U.S. Intelligence unit in Tokyo, was spilling secret details for a Far Eastern Soviet spy ring which may involve several Americans in Japan. Yuri A. Rastvorov, missing second secretary of the Soviet mission in Japan, was disclosed as giving information to U. S. agents, but he stated that there was no certain knowledge which Americans were involved.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Jean Taylor

Grosse Pointers will have thirteen new films available to them for free loan from the film collection in the Central Library for the month of February.

When added to the permanent collection of approximately 25 titles, this will make a wide range of materials available for home movie showings, organization program planners, and teachers. Three films of current event interest are included in the new titles — "What You Should Know about Biological Warfare," "Education for Peace" and "Indonesia, an Empire's Problem."

Exemplifying the power of the film to take the viewer to far places and to bring far places to the viewer are the travel films on Ireland, Mexico City, Peoples of the Skeena, and the Cathedral of Chartres.

Art lovers, active practitioners and those who merely appreciate, will find interest in the titles "Art and life in Italy," and "Paint as You Please."

Two fine technicolor nature films are included: Blooming desert, depicting the wild flower life on the Western deserts in the springtime; and the zoo, which takes in a tour of the Brookfield Zoo in Chicago. Inquiries and reservations for these and other films are invited. They may be made either in person or by telephone to the Central Library at TU. 4-2200. An adult library card, a sound projector, and a competent projectionist are the only requirements for making use of the library's film collection.

We are happy to have Mrs. Cameron Patterson, a student from Western Michigan College, on the library staff for three weeks to complete her assignment for practical work in library science.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson moved to Kalamazoo from Grosse Pointe a year and a half ago when Mr. Patterson made a new business connection. Mrs. Patterson's many friends in the community are delighted to welcome her back for her brief sojourn here. Formerly a frequent user of both the Park and the "late" City Branch, she is well known to many members of our staff. In her new role of librarian, Mrs. Patterson is enjoying a different perspective, looking upon the library picture from the inside, out.

A very small borrower placed his books, due over two year ago, on the Woods Branch desk and announced nonchalantly, "Here are your books, I'm through reading them now."

Wilbur Bezeau, Director of Music for Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church since January 1950, directed his final services there on Sunday morning, January 31.

During the scant four years under Mr. Bezeau's guidance, the Chancel Choir of the church has been built from a small group, to 50 voices, equipped to handle oratorios and cantatas.

An organ with speakers has been installed along with a chancel piano, a vested Youth Choir of 30 voices was organized, a brass choir as needed, as well as a children's choir under the direction of Mrs. Wesley Black. An annual Choir Dinner was instituted, a complete choir room was equipped and an extensive, catalogued library repertoires of classics, standards and moderns was built with two librarians in charge. Added, also, were two choir robe mistresses and assistant volunteer pianists, as well as special ensembles for Lent and Summer use.

A farewell gathering was held on January 28, after last Thursday's Choir Rehearsal, at which time the choir expressed appreciation for Mr. Bezeau's many innovations during his tenure, and his personal interest and meticulous care, which was mandatory in building the musical stature of the church. Members presented him with recordings of Bach's Passion According to St. Matthew.

Honoring Mr. Bezeau, choristers turned out enmasse, completely filling the church's chancel for the rendition of Verdi's "O Spirit Immortal," the spiritual, "Steal Away" and "Hear Thou Our Prayer, O Lord," with Barney Brogan, George Thornberg and Ruth Burnie as soloists and Mrs. Fred Young at the organ and piano.

St. Paul Flyers Rack Up Two Impressive Victories

The St. Paul Flyers fly a little closer to the Big 12 Conference cage title with two impressive victories over last weekend. The 49 to 34 victory over off-beaten Annunciation on its own floor on Friday, January 29 was the Flyers' seventh league win; and Monday, February 1, at the Neighborhood Club they clipped St. Bernard, 56 to 37, for their eighth victory.

This enabled them to remain in a two-way deadlock for first place with St. Florian. St. Florian stayed at the top of the heap by rolling over St. Philip on Friday.

Louwers High Scorer

St. Paul's lanky captain, Bob Louwers, paced his team to victory over Annunciation with 15 points to take high point scoring honors away from big Jim Ayrault, who notched 12 points. In this game the Flyers were never in trouble after the first minute of play which saw them jump into a 11 to 4 lead in the first period and continue to stretch out their margin.

The Flyers trailed only briefly in the first stages of the St. Bernard game, when Bill Listman gave his team a 1 to 0 lead on a successful foul shot in the first 45 seconds of play.

Jim Ayrault dumped in a bucket seconds later to get the Flyers off on a scoring spree which saw the move into a 11 to 5 lead at the end of the first period.

Nearly Tie Score

The second quarter saw St. Bernard move to within one point of a tie, 19 to 18, shortly before the halftime, but St. Paul pulled away to hold a 23 to 19 half-time advantage. From that point on it was just a question of how large a score the Pointers would win by.

Jim Ayrault annexed the scoring honors with 27 points and was closely followed by captain Bob Louwers with 15. St. Bernard was better in only one department—foul shooting. St. Bernard connected on 11 of 14 free throws while the Flyers were missing 6 of 11 tries.

Reserves Also Win

The St. Paul reserves also continued on the victory trail by beating Annunciation impressively 45 to 15 and followed up with a 40 to 20 victory over St. Bernard in the preliminary contests to the varsity games. Danny Monahan topped the Flyers reserves by solving the St. Bernard defense for 13 points for individual honors.

Iceboaters Set For World Events

Local ice boaters and the Anchor Bay Ice Yacht Club will be host to the International Skeeter Association World Championships to be held on Anchor Bay this weekend, February 5, 6 and 7, with two races being held Friday, two Saturday and the final race on Sunday.

Commodore Art Bentler expects at least 50 E class boats which include Skeeters and Renegades. The majority of the contestants will be from out of town and the biggest contingent coming from Pewaukee, Wisconsin, Lake Geneva, Fox Lake, Madison, Wisconsin, and the Four Lake Ice Y.C.

About 30 boats will come from those five points, all located in Wisconsin, and will be headed by Harold Worschauer fresh from his recent victory in the Northwest Regatta held two weeks ago, January 20-21. Sixteen-year-old Chuck Kotovic, Jr., free-for-all winner in the NW regatta will bring his "Snow Goose" and former ISA winner Bill Perrigo and defending champions Frank Trost and Wally Ketter, all from Pewaukee, will be on hand to race over the slick course Mother Nature has fashioned on Anchor Bay.

Harvey Bongard and Ed Stanger are a couple of Canadian hotshots who figure to give the boys plenty of trouble.

Representing Detroit will be such well known racers as Jack Moran, recently elected commodore of the Northwest regatta for 1953, Howard Boston, Elmer Millenbach, only two time ISA winner, Doug Prevost, Art Bentler and Wally Cross.

In connection with the Men's World Championship, the Women's World Title will be at stake. Gail Gaylord, of Pewaukee, will be defending her title from such local lasses as Doris Sarns, former champion, Lolly Boston and Jean Swanson as her most formidable contenders.

The ISA International were begun back in 1940 and have been held each year with the exception of two during World War II. The trophies at stake will be the two beautiful ISA trophies designed by Clair Lindstedt and the Lindstedt Memorial, which goes to the winner of the first race of the series.

The races on Friday and Saturday are tentatively scheduled to get under way at 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. both days, and the final race will be at 11 a.m. on Sunday, February 7.

Plenty of Action In Girls' League

The Metropolitan Club was defeated by the St. Paul Seniors 49 to 39 in a real battle last Thursday, January 28 in the girls' basketball league at the Neighborhood Club.

Mary Allor set the pace for high scoring honors with 23 points while JoAnne Hargis and Gloria Strehlau shared the honors for Metro. The half time score was 16 to 14 favoring Metro. Both teams committed 11 fouls.

The East Side Sport team, led by Suzanne Pepinski's beautiful hook shots, continued their winning ways by defeating the St. Paul Varsity 54 to 29. Marilyn D'Hooghe led the Varsity in high scoring. Half time score was 28 to 18 favoring East Side. Total fouls for the game were 18, East Side having 5 and the Varsity 13. The St. Paul Junior team drew a bye.

This evening, February 4, the 7 o'clock contest will feature a battle between the East Side Sport team and the St. Paul Seniors; and at 8 o'clock the St. Paul Varsity will play the St. Paul Juniors. Metro will draw a bye.

North Star Skippers Receive Awards at Commodore's Ball

Honor Athletes At St. Paul's

St. Paul High School honored its senior athletes, both boys and girls, at its annual Athletic Banquet held at the school last Sunday, January 31.

Rev. LaSalle Lenk, athletic director, acted as toastmaster and announced St. Paul would have a new athletic director starting in June, when Rev. William J. Goldrick takes over those duties.

Coach Eddie Lauer presented each senior with a gold plated "Oscar" for his contribution to St. Paul's sports program during the four years at the school in Grosse Pointe boulevard.

The dads who make up the St. Paul Board of Athletic Control served the dinner to the capacity crowd of athletes and their parents and added a note of frivolity when they marched to the speakers stand in a group and turned in their aprons to Esther Lenk after they had completed a wonderful job.

Assistant coaches John Conti, Joe Belanger, Harry Hammond Jr., and girls' coach, Mary Allor, received a standing ovation along with head coach Eddie Lauer. Incidentally, Lauer received his Master's degree at Wayne University on Tuesday, February 2. The guest speaker was Rev. E. F. Barry, a bachelor who made it clear to the audience that it wasn't that he didn't like girls, but he liked boys better. A guest was Sam Madden, Parochial League athletic director.

Many Big Scores In Business Loop

There was a time not too long ago when any bowler in the Pointe Business Men's Bowling League could be proud of a 500 series but now he is strictly run of the mine unless he rolls a 600 series.

The Testa team had the brother combination of J. Bosco and A. Bosco roll identical 631 series as they paced their team to a sweep of four points over Art Young's and a 2826 team series.

Another stellar performance was put on by Barrett's as they took three points from Bruce Wigle by rolling a 2776 series, wherein each man rolled well over 600, including Roy Barrett who surprised himself with a 572 series.

Bob Gross helped his Bankes-Lightbourne team to four points over Revere by rolling a swell 624 series. D. Davidson paced Turner to a sweep of four points over Vermeulen with an identical 624 series.

The three highest games last week were Reid 237, Gross 237 and Grabowski 234.

Little-Leagues Taking Shape

Under the driving force of Marvin Boutin the formation of Little League Baseball in the Park and Woods is beginning to take shape and it is all due to the sponsorship of the Grosse Pointe Optimists Club, which originally offered to sponsor the leagues in both communities a few weeks ago.

Playing sites have already been procured. In the Park a section of the Defer school yard has been set aside for the regulation Little League diamond and in the Woods a portion of the Mack Park site, between Huntington and Kenmore, will be landscaped to form a diamond.

In a couple of weeks Boutin will have questionnaires in all the schools in both communities, which will be distributed to all boys between the ages of 9 and 12 years old. These in turn will be filled out by the parents and returned to the league officials.

From that point on the Leagues will be able to acquire the services of parents willing to work on the various committees necessary for the leagues to obtain their franchise from the main office in Williamsport, Pa.

Walter Keenan of 1443 Harvard road is heading up the Park contingent, and Boutin, of 1678 Newcastle road, will be acting in the same capacity in the Woods.

Louanne Borden Swims In College Tank Meet

COLUMBIA, Mo. — A Grosse Pointe student took part in the annual junior-senior swimming meet at Christian College Saturday. She is Miss Louanne Borden, the daughter of Mrs. Arthur R. Borden, 421 Chalfonte. The meet, held in the Christian College pool, resulted in a victory for the juniors, 40-34.

Miss Borden, a senior, won third place in the 100-yard free-style competition, was a member of the winning team in the 80-yard free-style relay, and on the third-place 60-yard medley relay team.

SCOOP — FLASH — BULLE-TIN — or what have you. There have been some changes made in the 1954 Mollory Cup, according to Commodore George Gossaboom, who was sent to the North American Yacht Racing Union meeting on Wednesday, January 20, by the Grosse Pointe Y. C. as the representative for this area.

George is in charge of the local Mollory Cup eliminations and he tells me the final will be held at the Southern Y. C. in New Orleans starting September 8.

Here's the big change. It was previously reported the finals would be sailed in Raven class sloops. This is not so now. That is, not since the meeting of the NAYRU, at which it was decided to sail the finals in Lightnings.

This news will give cause to considerable conversation during the next few weeks, we'll bet. It will give the local Lightning skippers something to shout about no doubt. Warren Jones, past president of the Detroit Lightning Fleet said "That's good, that's the way it should be."

One Cruising C skipper was heard to say "What are they trying to do, make it another Sears Cup? If it starts for the Sears Cup I wouldn't take my crew to Mt. Clemens if they held the finals there."

There you have it, the word of two well known local tars. How do you feel about it? Cossaboom also reported the 1954 Sears Cup finals will be held on Lake Macatawa, near Holland, Michigan, on August 30. This event will also be held in Lightnings. Isn't there any other kind of a boat in the world except Lightnings?

We asked Cossaboom "How come Lightnings were chosen for the Mollory Cup final after we had been led to believe they would be sailed in Ravens?" It seems the committee, headed by chairman Hinman, had the choice of seven classes and most of the people representing the eight districts in the country wanted Lightnings, so that was that.

As far as the Sears Cup finals are concerned the choice of Lightnings is fine, because they will be sailed by youngsters up to and including 17 years old.

Actually, the Sears Cup should have been awarded to the Sandusky Y. C. but because Sandusky lacked the necessary facilities to stage the event they chose Lake Macatawa. Sandusky had the right to make the choice because the Junior member Otmian won the title last year.

Harry Macfarlane, the local representative, brought back good news from the annual International Lightning meeting held in New York on Saturday, January 23. The International Lightning heard awarded the 1954 Internationals to Crescent Sail Y. C. and the Presidents Cup to the Grosse Pointe Y. C.

Both regattas will be held concurrently starting September 1 and running three days, during which time five races will be sailed in both events. Harry Macfarlane will be the general chairman for the Internationals. Henry Cawthra is the defending champion.

You know North Star has something in these Working Jibs, which are made up of blood relatives of members of the club. However, the Working Jibs are a separate organization and comprise the Women's Auxiliary of the North Star Sail Club.

Actually, as is the case in most small clubs, the Working Jibs are the girls who do all the work for the social events. From the way pretty Joy Kagel tells it, the girls love to handle the frilly parts of the parties for their men folk. Gosh, they are wonderful.

We visited the club again Sunday, January 24, to watch the fleet of DN. 60 ice boats compete in a three race series. Before we knew it we had a boat at our disposal and were whisking over the water-covered ice in a dandy 12 to 15 mile an hour breeze.

No, we didn't race but 18 of the club members did. Bill Spoor in his pretty "Foot" captured all three races and the daily series. Past Commodore Paul Koller took second in the first race ahead of Alec Chapman and then finished third in the next two races behind Ray DeBlair.

The North Star outfit holds ice boat races every Sunday the ice is good, out in front of the club which is located next to Jefferson Beach.

Chet Raynaud figures to go into a bigger boat this summer.

Howard French is handling the details which will bring the old "Hoot Mon", a Pilot Class sloop, from Chicago. "Hoot Mon" originally owned by McGregor when she was new. Chet, as you know, is a hot private skipper and he loves his "Maybe" but the Missus likes the comfort of a big boat—so they compromised — Chet is buying a bigger boat.

We just found out that shortly before Christmas Fred Stacey's "Miz Beaver" almost sank and only by the heroic efforts of Fred and Big Jim Markie did she keep from going to Davey Jones' locker in the Bayview Y. C. slip.

Seems Fred wanted to move, the boat to another mooring after the ice had begun to form and in the process the ice punched a hole in "Miz Beaver's" bottom. "That water is pretty thin stuff," said Markie after he had bailed almost five hours in waist deep water.

Little North Star Sail Club held its eighth annual Commodore's Ball at the St. Clair Shores Civic Center, on Saturday, January 30, and what a BALL it was, in honor of the 1953 Flag Officers Commodore Alle Chapman, vice commodore Fred Kagel (recently elected 1954 commodore) and rear commodore Tom Hansen.

The whole affair was emceed by jovial past commodore Ray Erb who was very much concerned about using up too much time so the trophy presentation to the 1953 club winners was rushed through posthaste. The winning skippers honored were Ray Young, Bill Spoor, John Liston, Paul Koller, O. C. Hall, Ray Erb, Bill Purdie, Bob Livingston, Al Bortolotti, Bob Janeway, Mike Kerzka and Commodore Fred Kagel.

Ray Erb was chairman for the event and he did a terrific job of entertaining the more than 200 members and their guests. The club has a membership of 83 so the capacity turnout was a tribute to the fine job the 1953 Flag Officers completed at the smallest club in the Detroit River Yachting Association that sails the year around.

Erb was ably helped by the Working Jibs, whose officers are Fern Ochs, president; Joy Kagel, vice-president; Pauline Young, secretary; and Maude Liston, treasurer.

That snowfall we had Monday, February 1, was the cue a flock of local sailors had been waiting for to give them an excuse to take off for parts far below the Mason-Dixon line. Of course the Lipton Cup (February 6) the Miami-Nassau (February 9) and the Governors Cup (February 13) races have nothing to do with their decision to seek a warmer climate for the next couple of weeks, Oh NO?

Wendell Anderson's "Escapade" is the only Detroit boat which will take part in the winter circuit races but she's a big boat and has a terrific crew in skipper Wendell Anderson, Jack Anderson, Wendell Jr., Bobbie Bryant, Ted Coggin, Howard Finch, Tommy Lott, Dave "Deacon" Sloss, Al Thomas, Eddie Wunsch, Clark Swart, and Ray Engholm from Toronto.

Little Club Commodore Johnny Detwiler and wife Phyllis along with Carter Saies will be flying down for the races also. Most of those mentioned will be taking off Friday, February 5.

It makes us a little jealous of these lucky people, for it was just a year ago that we took off for the same type of a winter vacation, but guess we will have to be content to read about the races and dream a little of lolling on the warm sands of Paradise Beach in Nassau and attending those after the race parties staged by the Symonettes and the Nassau Y. C. Oh, well, there's always another year, we hope.

FOOD WRAPPED IN OIL
Today's pre-packaged food must be wrapped so that their coverings will not stretch, wear, puncture, tear or allow vapors to seep in or out. An oil-derived plastic may help to solve some of these problems. Made into loose-fitting bags, the plastic can be immersed in water at about 200 degrees Fahrenheit and will shrink 30 per cent to form a skin-tight package, just fitting the contents as they are sealed. Solving problems for business and industry is an everyday occurrence for oil-derived plastics.

Lakepointe Gets Big Golf Events

The Michigan State Open Golf Championship and the Michigan Professional Golfers' Association Championship tournaments will both be staged at the Lakepointe Country Club this summer. Announcement was made jointly by Louis G. Palmer, Lakepointe President, and Tommy Shannon, Michigan PGA President.

It was also revealed that the PGA tournament would once more revert to the traditional match play as it was before World War II. Reversion to match play is expected to add even more color and competitive interest to the event.

Dates for the tournaments were set at a joint meeting of PGA officials and the Lakepointe Executive Committee. The Michigan Open will be held July 30 through August 1st. The Michigan PGA September 12 through 15.

Lakepointe has guaranteed $5,000.00 in prize money for the events, with $4,000.00 prize money earmarked for the Open, and $1,500.00 for the PGA.

Cavaliers Beaten Twice in Week

The Saint Ambrose Cavaliers dropped two consecutive decisions during the week; one to Saint Stanislaus, 45 to 38, on Thursday, January 14, and the other to the Saint Joseph Blue Jays, 75 to 50, on Friday, January 15.

Although the Cavaliers led at the end of the first three quarters 34 to 30, they were unable to halt the keyed-up offense of Saint Stanislaus who scored 15 points in the last quarter, while holding the Cavaliers to 4 points.

The Cavaliers once again boasted the leading scorer of the game in Tom Brown, star junior guard, who bagged 6 baskets and 5 foul shots for a total of 17 points. The Broncos were paced by Al Wasik, who scored 11 points.

The Friday game with Saint Joseph Blue Jays was a high scoring affair with the final going to Saint Joseph, 75 to 50.

The high flying Blue Jays showed a flashy offense while downing the Cavaliers. Their superb ball-handling and control of the boards demonstrated why the Blue Jays are contenders for the league lead.

The Blue Jays were paced by Tom Geoddeke, the huge forward, who dropped in 12 baskets and 4 foul shots for 28 points.

Dick Ferdinand, Saint Ambrose center, displayed a one-handed jump-shot while bagging

Bayview Officers Hold Flags Of Office

Bayview Yacht Club's 1954 Flag Officers pose with the flags of their respective offices following the annual election meeting which saw WILLIAM NAGEL, center, move up to the commodore post, BILL WIARD, right, take over the vice commodore's job and BOB BENKERT attain the rear commodore position.

Court League Holds Meeting

A meeting of coaches and persons interested in the Midget-Giant Basketball League was held January 20, at the Neighborhood Club.

The topic of major interest was the proposed banquet, which it is hoped will be held at the end of the season. This being a post-season activity, and not as yet a part of the regular program, facts and figures were prepared for presentation to the sponsoring Service Clubs.

Among other items of business was an agreement to allow teams more freedom in making substitutions by allowing "substitution times out," which put players in on jump balls without stopping the clock, (the league plays by running time).

Also, due to lack of money, it was decided that the league would be unable to have paid referees for the second round, although it was hoped that they could be provided for next year's entire season.

In order to assure accurate scorekeeping, Doug Drake, Jim Chouinard, Frank Boyer and Ted Trefzer will act as official scorers for the league.

Finally, several rules changes were suggested for next year's league, including:

1. Teams need carry only 2 players under 11 years old.
2. Use of a new zoning system, or an entirely new system of forming teams.
3. Make deadline for registration and date for submission of final rosters the 4th game of the season.
4. Wave rules to allow last place teams as of 4th game to obtain better players.

8 baskets and 3 foul shots for a total of 19 points. Tom Brown also bagged 12 points for the losers.

This boosted the Cavaliers' star guard's point total to 78 points for a 15.6 average for the first 5 league games.

Clubs to Hear Sportsman Talk

The Grosse Pointe Exchange Club will be host to the Grosse Pointe Kiwanis Club at its weekly meeting, Tuesday evening, February 9, at the War Memorial Center.

The feature of the evening will be an illustrated lecture on hunting and fishing by Ray P. Rath, lecturer and sportsman, according to Exchange Club Program Chairman Robert W. Betzing.

Mr. Rath's lectures are directed toward helping those interested to develop and increase their skill in hunting and fishing, and to encourage conservation and good sportsmanship.

Raymond J. Lynch of Oxford road is president of the Exchange Club and Rex Johnston of Hunt Club is president of the Kiwanis Club.

DUS to Provide Driving Lessons

Samuel Shreeman of Grosse Pointe is going to teach students at Detroit University school to drive an automobile. How much does he know about driving?

That's what the faculty at the 22nd Semi-Annual Driver Training Institute sought to find last week. Thirty-four teachers from all over Michigan attended the session sponsored by the University of Michigan, State Department of Public Instruction and Automobile Club of Michigan.

The teachers, who were specially selected by their school to instruct driving, were put through a series of examinations to test their driving ability. Actual behind-the-wheel efficiency was examined. This test determined how well they had mastered the mechanics of driving a car.

To learn their physical and psychological abilities, the teachers took a series of examinations on psycho-physical testing devices. Carefully measured were how fast they could apply brakes in an emergency, steadiness of hand, ability to recover from glare and how effectively they could see from the corner of their eyes.

A written test on knowledge of laws, operation of the automobile and common sense principles of driving was also taken by the teachers.

Shreeman's report card was: Written test 23 out of 25 possible points.

On both ability to drive and psycho-physical tests, all students received "A" or "B" ratings.

Two Graduated As Navy Ensigns

NEWPORT, R. I. (FHTNC)—Graduation exercises were held Jan. 29 at the Navy's Officer Candidate School here for approximately 770 newly Commissioned Officers in the Naval Reserve.

Among the graduates were: William J. Kennedy, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Kennedy of 1078 Audubon road, and David C. Kilgore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester C. Kilgore of 1065 Beaconsfield avenue both of Grosse Pointe.

Rear Admiral Charles B. Momen, USN, Commandant of the First Naval District, presented the new Ensigns with their Commissions and was the principal speaker at the ceremonies.

The graduates, representing more than 280 different colleges and universities, have undergone a 4-month course in Naval Science similar to that presented to NROTC students at colleges throughout the nation. Completing courses in Engineering, Orientation, Naval Weapons, Seamanship, Navigation and Operations qualifies the new officer as a Junior Officer aboard any one of the Navy's floating or shore based commands.

After a short leave period, most of the new Ensigns will report directly to sea billets. However, many have been accepted in the Navy's Special Training Program, both long range and short term officer courses. Approximately 98 officers have been ordered to Navy Flight School, Underwater Demolition, Salvage Submarines and Explosive Ordnance Training.

A successful man has the horsepower of an optimist and the emergency brakes of a pessimist.

Silver Anniversary Party Conducted at Mason School

Mason School celebrated its 25th anniversary at P.T.A. meeting on January 26. The occasion was a gala one with bouquets of gladioli, roses and carnations, and a letter of congratulation from Dr. Samuel Brownell, present United States Commissioner of Education and Superintendent of Education of Schools in Grosse Pointe at the time Mason was built in 1929.

The program of the evening, presented by the faculty of Mason, was an illustrated review of the outstanding events of Mason's history presented in the form of a TV show and entitled "Mason, This Is Your Life."

Miss Beulah Markhus directed the show, Roger O'Connor acted as master of ceremonies, and Miss Clare Gustafson was the voice of Mason.

Community members who participated in reminiscing were Mrs. Gladys Vandenberg, Mrs. Dorothy Christian, Mrs. Anna Boardman, Mr. John Bockstanz and Mr. Franklin Dougherty, member of the Board of Education, along with Miss Ethel M. Tucker, principal of Mason.

Included in the program was a forward look in which Miss Ethel M. Tucker and Miss Pauline Sagala, both of Mason, Dr. James W. Bushong, Superintendent of Schools, and Robert Duncan, president of Mason P.T.A., expressed their aspirations for the future years of Mason School.

Honored at this occasion were

Mrs. Ethel M. Tucker and Miss Pauline Sagala, principal and teacher, respectively. Friends were generous with flowers and gifts to these two, who had served loyally for 25 years each.

Culminating the festivities were delicious punch and anniversary cake served by the Room Mothers under the leadership of Mrs. Clara Steiner and Mrs. Florine Conway.

The Mason staff expresses gratitude to all the many friends in the community who assisted with the program or sent congratulatory messages or flowers. In the words of Mason School, "It was a wonderful birthday."

You have to travel fast these days just to stay where you are.

"Top Look" This Year's Theme For Beauty and Fashion Show

A top-ranking hair stylist, beauty editor, a New York milliner and a radio woman's editor will team together to present the "Top Look," North American Beauty and Fashion Show's 1954 theme.

To be held February 7, 8 and 9 at Detroit's Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel, and attended by hair-dressers and cosmetologists from all over the United States as well as from every area in Michigan, this show will offer for the first time a complete, coordinated picture of hairstyle and hat fashions.

Millinery designer Sally Victor is bringing a bevy of her spring creations from New York, pointing out in her talk how the new lines of hats, set straight on the brow, complement the back-brushed theme of hairstyles with their own emphasized back interest.

Thomas Frank of Chicago, the hairstylist star of the show, predicts shorter styles for the coming season, with snug, brushed look replacing the recently popular Italian Boy cut.

Interesting feature to be brought out in his daily clinics is his clever use of bleach to create light streaks-emphasizing natural-looking lines of the hair.

His demonstrations of cutting techniques and his expert and dramatic styling offer those attending the clinics a worthwhile refresher course.

Catherine Finerty, beauty editor of Charm Magazine, plans to key her lecture to consumers' views on grooming problems and shop services as gleaned from close contact with the readers of her column.

Mary Morgan, CKLW's women's editor, who is well-known throughout Michigan as a charming lecturer and radio star, will emcee the Show, keeping the conversational ball rolling in her usual adroit manner.

The Show exhibitors, more than fifty in all and covering both fourth and fifth floors of the Sheraton-Cadillac, offer shop owners attending the show an opportunity to see and buy for their shops the most modern and efficient equipment and supplies ever assembled.

Promising to be far from the least of the show attractions are the demonstrations to be put on by some of the country's top cosmetologists for these leading companies.

During the Porch Light March for polio funds last Thursday, a motor volunteer in the Farms area was surprised and delighted when Susan Roehle, aged 11, contributed her savings of over a year, exactly $8.35, to the 1954 March of Dimes.

Susan had saved her money from a penny carnival given sometime ago, also from Christmas carolling and her allowances, Susan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl P. Roehle of Roland road.

Gives Savings To Fight Polio

City Managers Honor E. B. Lane

John Patriarche, city manager of East Lansing, was elected president of the Michigan chapter of the International City Managers' Association (ICMA) during its meeting at the University of Michigan.

The business session was part of the three-day Management Institute presented Wednesday through Friday, January 27-29, in Ann Arbor by the U. M. Institute of Public Administration, in cooperation with the Michigan Municipal League and the Michigan ICMA.

City managers elected to positions as vice-presidents include: first, Everett Lane, Grosse Pointe Park; second Max Davenport, Cadillac; third, Robert Wright, Clawson; and fourth, Ralph Speer, Sault Ste. Marie.

Bayview Helm Given to Nagel

One of the saltiest of local salts took over the reins at one of the greatest sail yacht clubs in the world—Bayview Yacht Club, when William Joseph Arthur Nagel was unanimously elected commodore at the annual election meeting.

"Old Bill" carries on the line of commodores in the Nagel family which was started by his dad, the late Joseph Nagel, who was commodore not once but twice at Edison Boat Club and was once commodore of the Inland-Lake Yachting Association.

"Old Bill" will be the first to admit that he isn't the best sailor around these parts and we often heard him state "I can't sail on the jenny because I am too accustomed to sitting on the high side, big, fat and happy on a little boat."

Bill has been around the river since he was a kid and learned his sailing the hard way, by accepting any berth offered. His dad once despaired of him ever being anything but a "river bum" but "Old Bill," (he's only 42), fooled not only his dad but himself when he humbly accepted the commodoreship of Bayview.

He is the last of the "Lagoonatics" and proudly carries a membership card in the defunct "Pneumatic Punt and Collapsible Kayak Club."

It was Nagel who teamed with Joe Matte and the late Morrill Dunn to get the now famous North Channel Race started almost 15 years ago. There were a couple of other guys who were in that first race, but we can't remember their names.

One thing we know for sure, Bill will be the best story telling commodore of all time, and we're betting he will be one of the best commodores in Bayview history.

Helping Nagel to pilot the club through the 1954 season will be capable and efficient Bill Ward, who moved up to the vice commodore post, and Bob Benkert who took over the rear commodore job. With the election of Benkert to the rear commodore post it marked the first time in memory that two brothers had ever held a flag officers job in a club. Brother Boyd was Bayview's commodore in 1951.

Johnny Fette and Frank Allen were elected to the directorate. Harold Otis was elected to the Control Committee to complete the slate.

Sailor Dunlap, a darn good L boat sailor, stepped down from the commodore's chair after a highly successful season and has earned a well deserved rest. Hank plans to get down to some real serious sailing in the L class in 1954.

Model Gowns Of Yesteryear

Among the members of the Detroit Historical Society Guild who modeled gowns from the collection of the Detroit Historical Museum at their annual meeting last Monday, January 25, were left to right, JEAN PERETT, MRS. A. E. TRUBEY and MRS. RICHARD W. ALLEN. Mrs. Allen was elected to the board of directors of the Museum at the meeting.

Kay C. Jameson Given Navy Musician Rating

WASHINGTON, D.C. (FHTNC) Recently completing the basic course at the U. S. Naval School of Music here was Kay C. Jameson, musician seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall C. Jameson of 2008 Lancaster, Grosse Pointe, Mich.

He is assigned to Unit Band 196, Commander Cruiser Division 1.

Sixty-five Navy bands are now providing ceremonial and recreational music on the Navy's ships and principal shore stations all over the world.

Training at the music school during the six-months course includes work in harmony, ear-training and sight-singing, music survey, plus private instrumental lessons. In addition daily instruction in concert and dance band performance is a popular part of the student's schedule.

The musicians are able to use their musical training in actual performing experience while in Washington.

The making of programs for symphony concerts is an art in itself, Antal Dorati, world famed conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, which will be heard at Masonic Auditorium on Tuesday, Feb. 9, in Detroit, Mich., believe firmly.

The putting together of an adequate program requires just as much study and inspiration as the interpretation of it, he states. It is an art which is sadly neglected in the music schools of the day.

If put together well, a program is an artistic unit in itself, presenting a well-balanced series of musical works, the conductor, who has directed great orchestras in all parts of the world, declares.

A series of concerts then, in its entirety, must present a balance throughout a season, a well-proportioned variety of music. In an even wider approach, each season's program should contrast and supplement those of another. To use an agricultural simile, Mr. Dorati says, "One has to change the crops to keep the soil fertile and fresh."

Members of St. Mary's Guild under the chairmanship of Mrs. Henry C. Hollister, will be in charge of the luncheon following the meeting.

The next regular meeting of St. Michael's Women's Auxiliary will be held on Tuesday, February 9, commencing at 10:30 with the celebration of Holy Communion. A short meeting will follow the service.

The guest speaker will be Mrs. Rex Quency, who is the Woman's Auxiliary Chairman of Education for the Diocese.

Members of St. Mary's Guild under the chairmanship of Mrs. Henry C. Hollister, will be in charge of the luncheon following the meeting.

The Northeastern Women's Club will meet in St. Mark's Church on Monday, February 8, at 12 p.m. Following a board meeting and a South Sea Island party, a talk "Taking the Mystery Out of Wills" will be given by a Detroit Trust Company Vice President, C. B. Leonard.

Officers of the group are Mrs. William Robertson, president; Mrs. D. A. McGinty, vice-president; and Mrs. William Aris, recording secretary.

Word has been received that Corporal Dean E. Fosroe, on duty with the United States Marine Corps in Korea, has recently been promoted to Sergeant, Military Police, Headquarters Battalion, 1st Marine Division.

Sgt. Fosroe, who is a 1951 graduate of Grosse Pointe High School, has been in Korea since June, 1953.

Prior to that, after completion of boot training at Parris Island, S. C., he was assigned to Military Police duty and has served in Puerto Rico, Cuba and Cherry Point, N. C.

Before leaving for overseas he received additional training at Camp Pendleton, California.

News Notes From D. U. S.

This week marks the beginning of the second semester at the Detroit University School, and after all the hectic examining of last week, life has now returned to its normal pace.

The second phase of the winter activity program has now begun also, and 7th and 8th grade boys who have been engaged in one (non-athletic) extra-curricular activity for the past seven weeks will now change to a new elective. Among the available choices are creative writing, word derivation, riflery, fly-casting, reading group, and library techniques.

The older boys are joining the girls of Grosse Pointe Country Day School in their annual winter show, and more will be heard of that in the weeks ahead.

The staffs of the school publications, The Periscope (the newspaper) and The Periscript (the annual literary magazine), meet regularly as do classes in journalism. All three groups are made up of D.U.S. boys and C.D.S. girls working together.

This week the boys of D.U.S. took the annual current events test sponsored by Time magazine. Students who receive the highest grades in the tests are awarded prizes, usually books or bronze medals.

Thursday night, January 28, the day exams ended, the "U" Club, the D.U.S. letter organization, sponsored an evening of games and fun in the school gymnasium. Admission donations went to the March of Dimes.

In the course of the evening there were intra-mural basketball games, volley ball games, and relays. There was a tug-of-war, and intra-squad midget games.

The feature of the evening was the spirited student-faculty rivalry. At first the students won, 15-13, in volleyball, but the faculty came back to vindicate their honor by winning in basketball, 27-24.

Wellington V. Grimes, assistant to the headmaster at the Detroit University School, spent a week at Princeton, N. J., at the headquarters of the College Entrance Examination Board where he was one of those engaged in the correcting of the winter College Board exams in English. Mr. Grimes teaches senior English at D. U. S.

Speaker at a Friday morning assembly was Verne Bailey, Director of Public Safety in Grosse Pointe-Woods. Director Bailey discussed careful driving and safety on the highways.

Another assembly speaker at D. U. S. recently was Gordon Hall, Boston author, who discussed "The Hate Campaign against the United Nations." Hall exhibited and described little known publications which are being circulated throughout the country in an effort to discredit the U. N.

Various activities are available to boys in the twenty to twenty-five minute recess period after lunch each day during the winter schedule.

Some play basketball in the gymnasium. Others go outside to skate. There are also documentary films of travel and outdoor life and in the arts which may be seen, too, in the assembly.

If none of these possibilities interests a pupil, he may seek out a teacher for a consultation or go to either library or study hall.

A few of the other parties given both before and after the Prom were at Sylvia Reuter's, Denine Brills, Jerry DeGrott's, Sally Snowday's, and Larry Mape's.

Mrs. Mary Asselin, 151 Lewis-ton road, and Mrs. Laura B. Pevsley, 363 Beaupre, were graduated Thursday (January 21) from the third occupational therapy training course for volunteer assistants conducted by Wayne University and the Central Volunteer Bureau of United Community Services.

Grosse Pointe, Mrs. Carl Grell, 868 Notre Dame, was awarded service stripes for having given more than 150 hours as an occupational therapy volunteer assistant. Mrs. Grell is a graduate of a similar course conducted during 1952.

Speaker at the graduation ceremonies at Detroit Orthopaedic Clinic, 5447 Woodward avenue, was Dr. Frank J. Sladen, medical consultant, Henry Ford Hospital. Service stripes were awarded by Samuel H. Rubiner, UCS vice-president.

Volunteers taking the course conducted at Detroit Memorial Hospital pledged to give a minimum of 150 hours service to Detroit agencies during the coming year. They will work under the direction of registered occupational therapists.

From Another Pointe of View

Notes of a Gadfly

At the Jean Goldkette Concert in Masonic Temple: Gov. and Mrs. G. Mennen Williams taking time out from a schedule-heavy evening to go backstage and wish Jean well... Mrs. Williams wearing a glamorous antique gold and jet supper frock, that injured hand carried in a cast, chiefly covered in black Chantilly lace. The hand aches constantly and further surgery is going to be necessary... At the D.A.C., where Eddie Peabody was a roundly applauded substitute for the ailing Jane Pickens (she was forced to cancel her D.A.C. appearance after the first night because of illness and was in a Gotham hospital by first of the week), the supper crowd included: Mrs. C. James McKinney, simply beautiful in black corded silk frock with pert black straw chapeau. At her table, the Fred Shaders and daughter, Carlotta, dreamy in black taffeta, radiant too after an emergency appendectomy, and son, C. James McKinney, Jr. In another group, the William M. Days and Mrs. Merry McAlpine (and don't you always envy her that head of naturally curly jet locks!)... and the Allen Lomaxes with a large group of friends, applauding the floor show...

Art Institute Discloses Gifts

More than a million dollars in gifts, nearly all of it in works of art, was received by the Detroit Institute of Arts during the calendar year 1953, it was announced at the annual meeting of the Detroit Museum of Art Founders Society, January 29.

Gifts totaled $1,054,460.99 of which $991,173.18 represented works of art, among which are some of the greatest treasures of the Institute's permanent collection.

The high figure for 1953 is due partly to the important bequest of paintings and sculpture from Mr. and Mrs. Edgar B. Whitcomb and the gift of arms and armor from the Hearst Foundation; but over and above these, it was a year of notable gifts.

Institute Director Edgar B. Richardson praised the generosity of friends of the museum and citizens of Detroit in building one of the greatest collections of art in America, but pointed out that the Institute was still very poor in cash for activities not provided for in the City budget.

"We owe profound gratitude to all who have helped make our city's art collection famous all over the world," he said. "At the same time, we are financially embarrassed in our activities for the people of Detroit and our ability to present special attractions."

Some 70 individuals, organizations and funds contributed 477 art works in 1953. In the same time, the Founders Society added only 250 members for a total of 3,241. Average dues for "regular" memberships are $10.00 annually.

The Whitcomb bequest of 16 paintings and two sculptures helped make Detroit's Italian, Dutch and French galleries among the best anywhere, and the Hearst armor put Detroit's display of full suits second only to the unrivaled Metropolitan Museum.

Other gifts of extreme importance enriched the Italian and French galleries. These were: the painting by the 15th century Italian artist, Sassetta, completing a set unique in America, gift of the Ralph H. Booth Fund; a triptych painting by the Master of St. Cecilia from the earliest days of Italian painting, gift of Mrs. Lillian Henkel Haas; an heroic bronze statue of "Eve" by the great 19th century French sculptor, Rodin, gift of the General Membership Fund.

A bronze bust by the great 18th century French sculptor, Houdon, gift of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie H. Green; an 18th century French silver toilet set, unique in this country, gift of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Firestone, Jr.; a late 15th century Italian portrait by Ghirlandajo, gift of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Fisher; and another masterpiece of the same period, "Madonna and Child Enthroned with the Infant St. John the Baptist" by Lorenzo di Credi, gift of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Fisher.

Folks who have plans for tomorrow shouldn't insist on passing cars on hills and curves today.

PILFERINGS

Brown met Smith in a restaurant. "Why do you live in the country, Brown?" asked Smith. "So as to save money." "Food cheaper, eh?" "Not much saved that way." "How, then?" "Well—no theatres; no swell restaurant dinners; no taxicab fares; no distractions of any kind. Get the idea?" "Um, yes!" said the gay Smith. "But look here, old man, couldn't you save more money if you died?"

"I asked her if I could see her home." "And what did she say?" "Said she'd send me a picture of it."

Recruit: "Say sergeant, where do I wash?" Sergeant: "Oh, anywhere where you are dirty."

A college graduate was walking down the street one evening with a friend of Irish descent, and, pausing to look up at the starry sky, remarked with enthusiasm: "How bright Orion is tonight!" "So that is O'Ryan, is it?" replied Pat. "Well, thank goodness there's one Irishman in Heaven anyhow!"

"Bill," said the heavy tragedian of a traveling theatrical company, while peering through the curtain, "the house is just about empty." "Can't understand that," reflected the comedian, "We've never been here before, have we?"

Pointer of Interest

MRS. CHARLES F. HAMMOND OF HILLCREST ROAD

By Jane Schermerhorn

A glamorous legend is a Pointer again for a few months. She's Mrs. Charles F. Hammond, the beautiful Juliet, who's come back from La Jolla, Calif. for a nice, long visit with her daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Belanger of Hillcrest road.

Her hair is steel gray now but her eyes are as deep blue and dazzling as when she was the sweetheart of Detroit, a truly great beauty whose vibrant personality made itself felt from one end of the city to the other.

The memory of Juliet Hammond, leading a Red Cross parade of World War I in those dramatic uniforms (hers were custom made by Berdorf Goodman) is something stamped indelibly on the minds of older Detroiters. She is an exciting combination of beauty and intelligence (at seventy-eight, she is fascinating) and she's as modern as her grandchildren, now young marrieds.

In La Jolla, she is devoted to the tropical garden in her patio ("I am now trying to orient myself to Northern flowers after raising camellias and birds of paradise" and she's been ever so active with the Republican Women of California. "Worked like nails for Nixon!" She's an omnivorous reader (two huge boxes of new books were awaiting her inspection in the outer hall), keeps up with magazines and never misses her New York Times.

She has had close scrapes with her health lately but she's the brave Juliet, long famed for heart no matter what the going . . . be it scaling the peaks or battling through the valleys of life.

Sang for Victoria

She electrifies a room when she enters it. The other afternoon she greeted us in a slim and simple deep heather woolen frock. There were a pair of gaily jeweled costume clips at the neckline.

She lowered herself gracefully into a wing back chair and lit a cigaret with the grace of Bernhardt.

"Now, what's on your mind?" was her teasing query. "Everything about you," said their admiring audience. "Is it true that you studied singing in Europe as a young girl and did you do two command performances for Queen Victoria?"

"We're not going back THAT far, are we?" she laughed.

Her European Years

There were seven or eight wonderful European years devoted to voice study. The very young Juliet Klemmon (she was born in New York, her mother came from Edinburgh and her father was a very Proper Bostonian who finally halted her singing career) was settled in the home that adjoined Assumption Convent in Paris.

It was a residence for ladies who wished to lead a semi-religious life and she was the baby, wide-eyed in the company of the Napoleonic royalty and old French royalty in residence there. The two factions fought wildly.

The young Juliet (Klemmon's was her stage name) had studied with Emma Eames in New York and later with the German operatic soprano, Lotte Lehmann. Her musical debut was as Elizabeth in Tannhauser with the Grand Opera Company in Salzburg.

"Go On Singing!" She traveled to London in the nineties, to study oratorios with the great Italian composer, Alberto Randegger, who at the time played the organ every Thursday for Queen Victoria at Windsor Castle. "How would you like to try your voice in the big hall at Windsor?" Randegger asked his beautiful young student. The very next Thursday it was a date. "Suddenly I was conscious of something having happened in the hall and when I turned there was the Queen. In a Hanoverian Scotch burr, she ordered, "Tell the girl to go on singing!"

When she had finished, the Queen bid her to tea and asked all sorts of questions. Learning her mother had been born in Edinburgh, the Queen announced "That explains your beautiful complexion."

There were two command performances before Victoria at Albert Hall for Juliet Klemmons, in 1897 and 1898 but her father's disapproval of a stage career and her marriage to Charles F. Hammond ended forever those dreams.

America At War

Just before World War I, the Hammonds had dinner with Herbert Hoover at the Detroit Club. The rumors of war were oppressive but the real confirmation that we were going to be in it came to the young matron when Mr. Hoover said to her:

"I'm going to send you some material on food substitutes. You should know all about them and you should be organizing women's committees to help educate the public in this field the minute we are in the war."

Mrs. Hammond organized the League of Women's Service and a few weeks later, America at war, she and her volunteers (she especially remembers Sally Macaulay, now Mrs. Harold L. Wadsworth . . . and Mrs. Thomas H. Simpson) were doing the seemingly impossible job of feeding 2,100 soldiers, three full meals a day.

With her volunteers she had equipped two work rooms on Madison avenue within two days. Hers was the direct method. Edwin S. Barbour was appealed to for stoves . . . six or eight at once. When a government check was slow to arrive and her bill at the green grocer's and other food shops was $1,500, she decided this was a business arrangement, refused to use personal funds but walked down to Emory Clark's bank.

"Emory," said the Commander of the League of Women's Service, "This is war!" She explained she wanted to borrow $1,500 to pay food bills for the soldiers. The money was immediately forthcoming. So was the government check and the loan was repaid three days later.

"Fastest payment of a loan on record," laughed the bankers.

Red Cross Days? Soon the big army bases were moved to Grayling and Mrs. Hammond saw her Women's League drifting into the entertainment field, providing recreation and activities for soldiers. It was then that the late Gustavus Pope, as president of the Red Cross, called her. Cooper Wood, E. C. Wetmore, the late Joseph B. Schlotman, all Red Cross leaders, were there.

She was asked to take over the canteen. Everything about it was dramatic. The canteen moved to the Michigan Central Depot. Mr. Ledyard, at his own expense, turned the main floor of the depot into dining rooms, hospital rooms and officers' dining rooms with Mrs. Hammond given carte blanche to arrange everything as she wished.

Soon she had 7,500 Red Cross volunteers helping her feed 20,000 boys a day.

The first triple A canteen flag in the United States came from Washington for Mrs. Hammond at the Michigan Central. The Red Cross kitchens could bake 5,000 cakes at a time. They were equipped to prepare special food for the wounded; the coffee turned made eighty gallons at a time; 1,000 chickens could be cooked at once.

The canteen workers had several different methods of feeding the boys. Sometimes they set up tables on tracks alongside the troop trains. Sometimes, the trains paused just long enough for box lunches to be pushed through windows to the hungry soldiers. Then there were tables in the depot canteen, a regular restaurant.

Col. Hammond By this time, it was Col. Hammond and the beautiful lady were especially awarded pips on her uniform.

There were no excuses for those 7,500 volunteers. Headaches and tea parties were out and failure to report for service, unless the excuse was gill edged, meant that woman was no longer a member of the Red Cross canteen.

"They were wonderful women," Mrs. Hammond reminisced, "and never for a minute forget that some of the greatest work was done by housewives who could least afford the time and the effort the work took." Twenty thousand soldiers a day, we thought to ourselves, and we remembered what a feminine contemporary of Mrs. Hammonds once told us: "Every one of those boys left that canteen, carrying a picture of the glorious Juliet in his heart. I always thought every one of them left there, living for the day when the war would be over and he'd see her again."

Marchers In addition to the canteen work, Col. Hammond and her volunteers were much in demand for parades when with red, white and blue veils, they marched in formation of the human flag, a living Red Cross.

Sometimes these were marches to inspire in a bond drive, sometimes to cheer a new legion of troops on its way. Col. Hammond was at the head of the parade which marched with the first war dead returned to Detroit. She closed her lovely eyes as she remembered it, the other afternoon. It was the kind of experience that has made her the great lady she is.

It was well after World War I that she fainted for the first time in her life. It was when she won the Irish Sweepstakes, in 1936. She and her daughter, Ethel (now a Magdalen Sister at the Monastery of the Infant Jesus, Order of the Good Shepherd at Providence, R. I.) went to Ireland to collect the booty.

We can remember when she won the Irish Sweepstakes. We can remember not being terribly surprised because it was the kind of thing you expected to happen to the unpredictable, the beautiful Juliet.

Ran for Congress

Then in '38, she ran for U. S. Congress in the fourteenth district. "Ran miserably," she declared gamely, "but Louis Rabaut said I was a clean campaigner." And that made it a nice experience to her.

So now she's back with us—spending her time with her own Julie (Mrs. Belanger) and her son and his family, the Charles F. Hammonds, Jr. She has eleven great-grandchildren and soon it'll be an even dozen.

We hope it's a nice, long visit and we hope she knows we love having her once again.

Pointe Counter Points

By Roberta Isley

Remember our January 14 issue? Marie Bird predicted that the fashion news this season would be in the "AMERICAN LOOK". In other words, Grosse Pointe's own Marie Bird out-scooped Vogue. Browse through that wonderful fashion mag . . . February 1st issue. Beginning on page 120 and for several pages following you'll find a comprehensive picture of the "American Look". This isn't surprising to those who visit Marie Bird's Salon regularly. We know it is a fashion pace-setter. Every stylist at Marie Bird's reflects the forward thinking and high standards on which she has built her reputation. You might think all of this is terribly expensive . . . but here the best costs no more. Why not dial TU. 1-6833 and make your appointment for a hair cut and a permanent? The styling, of course, will be in their own illimitable manner.

They've traveled . . . they've wired . . . they've ordered . . . the snootiest collection of new glass cases you'll ever see here abouts. Doubts, the kind of a case that holds two pair are fashioned of felt . . . in navy . . . lined with pink. Calif-skin ones are alligator grained . . . come in six colors. The striking leaf designed felt ones will make you blink Spring is here the moment you own one. In the genuine morocco . . . red or black . . . you'll find the gusset insert . . . put there to give you more room. There are brocade ones, too, in this super collection at Johnston's Optical Co., on the hill.

Fashion Pointer. Indications that Spring is on it's way is in evidence on the hill. Keyed for casual fun is a glorious array of children's barefoot sandals . . . play shoes . . . sport shoes in color combinations. The colors are glowing . . . vivid . . . ready to take South, and use at home. You won't be disappointed either when it comes to sizes . . . Clyde Hornung's have them all.

Imported barrettes from France (the kind that STAY in place) . . . miniature picture frames . . . bubble bath crystals . . . Grandmother Stover's surprise bags . . . velvet flower shaped book marks . . . felt mouse book marks . . . water flower wonder shells . . . these are a few of the UNUSUAL valentine gifts . . . (or we'd pick up a few for birthday gift giving) . . . at Young Clothes, Inc., on the hill. All the gifts from their gift bar . . . those that we've mentioned . . . are from the dinky price of fifteen cents to two dollars.

The shape of Spring is curved. Mostly high curves . . . Empire curves . . . you'll find them in dresses, suits, and even lingerie. It's the shortie nightgown and brunch coat about which we want to rave. The bust-line of the nightie is high and shirred . . . the chemise skirt has a scalloped hem line. And will you please note the salient characteristics of the duster . . . velvet bow at neckline . . . peter pan collar . . . the skirt, ruffled, tier on tier. This is Jacobson's Lingerie Department.

We told you last week to make Fromm's your headquarters for cleaning supplies . . . well, add this to your list . . . there is a choice of good rug cleaners like Rosenthal liquid cleaner . . . Mystic Foam . . . Amazo . . . Soilax and Spic 'n Span are in evidence.

Some dresses rest on hangers. Some don't. Like the B. H. Wragge, Sloat, and Evan Picone two piece linen golfer's you find at Margaret Rice's, on the hill. (The tops bare your arms to the sun because they're sleeveless. Heavenly shades of sun-tan . . . lush pink . . . navy 'n beige. These two-piece linens could start life traveling to summer climes . . . only to return to greet Spring here. See you at M. R.'s!

When you give a party, do you ever get the jitters? Thinking that maybe you will not have something special to do? Well, one smart hostess we know rents a camera and projector plus a couple of good films. She calls the Camera Center, in the village, because they have deliveries daily. That's where she goes, too, when she wants black and white or color developing done, or when she wants to duplicate copies of her Polaroid pictures. Incidentally if you're in need of repairs on your camera they can fix it.

If you're operating on a piggy bank budget and your dining problem has taken on a drab dull look . . . and even the furniture has lost it's youth, here's one way to do something about it . . . Pick up a tablecloth of the Harvest Family in Jacobson's Home Decorative Shop. On purple you'll find the eggplant design . . . on green the artichoke . . . on brown the walnut . . . on pumpkin the pumpkin itself designed in black outline. Linen, for just what we said, a piggy bank budget.

The surest way to rule (a man's heart for instance) is to shop the Casual Dress Corner in Jacobson's. Here you'll find new season dresses that will whisk you through your daily dates in a way you'll love. Buttons march down the front of a burnt orange one . . . round neckline . . . full skirt with a crinoline petticoat. Comes in powder blue, too. Sun dresses are peeking through . . . and the celebrated tabbed skirt dresses, Italian inspired, is in this collection. You've been reading the r-a-v-e notices about these. They're around eleven dollars.
