THURSDAY, May 27
AT THE GENEVA CONFERENCE, it seemed that France was moving toward an acceptance of a partitioned Indochina. The extent of the territory to be yielded to the Vietnam and the new line of defense depends on an international guarantee of the partition, in which the United States and other nations at the Geneva conference will join.

Friday, May 28
GUATEMALA HAS OFFERED to sign a bilateral non-aggression pact with Honduras, Foreign Minister Guillermo Torriello of Guatemala announced. He said that his country had proposed an early meeting between the two nations to discuss the pact.

The step was apparently designed to alleviate tension and remove the danger of any border incidents between the two countries. Honduras, recently expelled three Guatemalan consuls for distributing Communist propaganda.

Saturday, May 29
STRONG FRENCH FORCES broke a Communist siege of Yenphu, a vital strong point which guards the approaches to Hanoi. A French official report said French tanks and amphibious vehicles cut through rebel lines with substantial reinforcements. At one time in the fighting the Communists were reported to be within 250 yards of Yenphu's outer defenses. Yenphu became the next Vietnam target after the fall of Dien Bien Phu. It is located 30 miles southeast of Hanoi.

Sunday, May 30
IN THREE EAST COAST CITIES, FBI agents arrested seven apparent heirs to the top Communist Party echelon in the United States. The arrests were announced in Washington, D. C., by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. Three were seized in a New York City art studio during a secret underground meeting.

Three others were captured in New Haven, Conn., and one was taken into custody at West Hartford, Conn. The three arrested in New York were ordered held in bonds of $40,000 each.

Monday, May 31
A MIAMI NEWSPAPER, quoting an authoritative source, disclosed that a Communist plot to kill Gen. Anastasio Somoza, president of Guatemala, failed because the 10 million-dollar shipment of arms to Guatemala did not arrive in time. The authoritative source, which was not identified, also said the Communists had plotted a detailed plan to start a revolution in that country, hoping that if a revolt came about, the country's president would be killed.

It was also revealed that a revolt in Honduras was planned. It was said that American and British intelligence agents helped prevent the plot from being carried out.

Tuesday, June 1
PRESIDENT EISENHOWER took a slap at all of those seeking power, referring to Communists and demagogues. He spoke out against those who seek to establish power over the United States, whether they be agents of a foreign state or "demagogues thirsty for power and public notice." Declaring the world is divided into two hostile camps, the President said that there are millions of people on the sidelines "still undecided in active loyalty." He said that the Reds clearly express their fear of the free world by constantly trying to divide and weaken it.

Wednesday, June 2
GUATEMALA will go before the UN and demand the real motivation behind the agitation of its sovereignty, stated Guatemala Foreign Minister Guillermo Torriello. There had been previous reports that Guatemala might go before the UN and plead that her sovereignty had been threatened by the United States, through the calling of world attention to a shipment of arms which arrived in the purported Red dominated Central American country from behind the Iron Curtain. Relations between Guatemala, neighboring Honduras and Nicaragua have steadily deteriorated. The latter two countries are receiving arms from the United States.

Auditorium-Gymnasium To Be Completed by Spring

By JANET CLARK
GPHS Journalism Student
Construction on the auditorium-gymnasium at Grosse Pointe High School is approximately one month behind schedule. This delay was caused by several factors. The steel did not arrive as scheduled, the various sub-contracting companies could not for a time obtain sufficient laborers, and delivery of the glaze structural tile is three weeks behind schedule. In spite of these problems construction is progressing rapidly on the building. The plumbing and heating are now 95 percent completed, and the underground electrical work is finished. The corridor cement work and the auditorium-gymnasium floor cement are now poured. Placed on top of the cement flooring of the

Catch Bandit Who Admits 20 Burglaries

Arrest Made Shortly After He Held Up Imperial Cleaners on Mack

A cab-riding bandit was arrested by Detroit police on Wednesday, May 26, as he emerged from a Detroit clothing store, and within only two hours after he had held up a Park dry cleaning establishment.

According to Park Det. Lt. Stanley Enders, the bandit, Theodore Szepepanik, 34, a roomer at 1074 Lakepointe, had held up the Imperial Cleaners on Mack avenue, at 9:35 a.m. on May 26.

Holds Up Sign The bandit entered the front door of the cleaners, and going up to the counter, held out a piece of paper which read, "This is a stickup," to Barbara Winstead, an employe. He held his right hand in his pocket as though he had a gun.

After taking $31 from the cash register, Szepepanik told the woman to keep quiet, that he did not want to hurt her. Then, forcing her into the rear of the store, he tied the woman's hands with a cloth belt and shoved her into the storage room, admonishing her not to make a sound for 30 minutes.

Robbed Dress Shop Early in the afternoon the same day while at home Lt. Enders received a call from Detroit Det. Sgt. Bob Smith, who stated that Detroit had arrested Szepepanik, as he emerged from a dress shop immediately after holding up

An unknown thief entered through a rear door of a local bookstore on Friday, May 28, and pilfered money from a safe and a purse.

According to a complaint made to City police by Mrs. Dorothy Comerford, assistant manager of the Doubleday store on Kercheval, someone entered the rear of the store while she was out of the room, and had taken $50 from a company safe and $4 from her purse which was on top of the safe.

She told authorities that the rear grille door had been closed, but not locked at 1:30 p.m., and at 2:45 p.m., she found the door wide open and the money gone.

All Sports Trophy In BC League Won By Grosse Pointe

League Crowns Won by Baseball and Tennis Teams Clinch All-Round Title for Seventh Time in History of Award

Success in spring sports enabled Grosse Pointe High School to capture the Border Cities League All Sports trophy for the seventh time since its inception in 1936.

Scoring 30 points in both baseball and tennis by winning the league titles, and 15 points for finishing fourth in track, the Pointers compiled a total of 125 points for the 1953-54 school year to take the much sought-after, well worn trophy.

The balance of the points came from a fourth place in football and two second place ties in swimming and basketball. The Pointers tied with Royal Oak in swimming and also wiggled out a tie with Fordson in basketball.

Enjoys Top Record Grosse Pointe has the distinction of being the only school to win the All Sports trophy seven times. Also included in this amazing record is a tie with Fordson which came in 1951. The Pointers held a strangle hold on the trophy for three consecutive years, something none of the other five BCL schools has matched yet.

Fordson is running a distant second to the Devils having won the trophy on four occasions. Monroe and Wyandotte are tied, each having won three times. Royal Oak and Highland Park have never won the trophy.

Actually championship teams are not necessary to win the honor and the trophy is based on consistency of finishing in the upper half on the standings in all sports. First place in each sport is good for 30 points, second place 25, etc.

Final results cannot be tabulated, inasmuch as the baseball race has not been completed. Regardless of the results of the final baseball standings Grosse Pointe High has won the trophy outright for the seventh time.

Pay High Figure For Figurines

Farms police are on the lookout for a man who is believed to have sold merchandise for more than their actual value on Thursday, May 27.

A Farms police report revealed that Thomas Morris, of 38 Lakecrest, had complained to authorities that a man, who called himself Amiel Halkau, came to his house and sold several Dresden figurines and some linen to his wife. She had given the man a check for $225 for the items purchased.

Morris stated that after a closer examination, the objects bought by Mrs. Morris were proven to be far below the actual value. They tried to stop payment on the check, but were too late.

Police said the man used a Florida driver's license as identification in cashing the check and that he was driving a foreign make car.

MAKE 7,734 ARRESTS

Michigan State Police made 7,734 arrests during April, of which 6,843 were for traffic offenses, according to the department's monthly report.

Burglars Involved In Park Cases Sentenced to Prison

Park police authorities marked two burglary cases closed when the principals involved were given jail terms early last week. Claude Campau, 17, of 7245 Gartere, Detroit, was given 2-15 years in Jackson Prison on Monday, May 24, after he was found guilty in Recorder's Court of breaking and entering the home of Dr. Gordon Myers, 789 Westchester, on January 3.

Campau and three other companions, Adolph Schultz, 17, of 2215 Lawndale; Leslie W. Hans, 18, of 7250 Carpenter, and a 16-year-old youth all of Detroit, were arrested after burglarizing the home in the absence of the doctor and his family, who were in Florida at the time.

They took a tape recorder, a set of silverware, a portable radio, two table lighters and a quart of whiskey. The recorder, radio and silverware were later recovered. Hans was recently given a suspended sentence and ordered turned over to the Wayne County Probation Department for violation of probation. Schultz, who had no previous record, was given a suspended sentence, provided he entered the Armed Services; and the 16-year-old was not prosecuted. He appeared as a witness. Campau, it was brought out, was in violation of parole, and must serve the unfinished sentence prior to his parole, before starting the 2 to 15-year term. Forest Jackson, 29, of 332 Tenesse, Detroit, received a three to five-year term in Jackson Prison. He was sentenced in Recorder's Court after being found guilty of several breakings and

Late Donors Expected to Swell Total

Goal Must Be Reached to Balance Budget for Maintenance and Operation

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center's Annual Drive on Memorial Day reached $25,685.00. Although this is about $4,500 short of the 1954 goal, nevertheless this year's Drive, as of Memorial Day, brought in $664.45 more than last year with an increase of 21 givers over 1953.

At this time last year 1861 contributions had been received. After the official close of the drive nearly 300 other persons brought the total up to over $27,000.

Board is Grateful

The Board of Directors of the War Memorial Association is pleased that the community has repeated its support of the Center and wishes to thank all donors and the many volunteer workers who have given so much.

The 1954-55 budget, because of increased costs and the greater services which the Center performs, is $5,000 more than it was for the 1953-54 season, when the amount sought was $25,000.

Hope for Late Gifts

The Board is hopeful that those people who have failed to give as of Memorial Day will follow the practice which others have in years past and send their donations in even though Memorial Day is behind them. In this way it is hoped to reach the goal of $30,000 and obtain a substantially larger number of donors.

Ask Candidates To State Views

Candidates seeking election to the Board of Education on June 14 will speak at 8 p.m. Tuesday, June 8, in the Parcels school auditorium.

The meeting is sponsored by the Citizens Association of Grosse Pointe Woods who will give each candidate an opportunity to tell of his qualifications and publicize his reasons for seeking office on the Board.

The Citizens Association does not back any candidate, but believes the voters may be able to form a more definite opinion of the candidates and cast votes in a more intelligent manner if all candidates and their views are known to them.

In addition to the talks by the candidates Franklin P. Dougherty, treasurer of the Board of Education will speak on the Bond issue coming up for vote on June 14.

Every resident of the school district is most welcome to attend this public forum.

Motschall Home Scene of Blaze

Extensive damages were caused by a fire at the home of Anthony Motschall, 824 Lake Shore Road, on Wednesday, May 26.

According to Shores Police Chief Fred Duemling, a fire which began in a tool shed at the rear of a two-car garage on the premises, completely destroyed the tool shed and its contents. The fire, he said, spread to the garage, in which there were two cars.

Motschall only had time to remove one car. The other was a total loss. Chief Duemling disclosed that the fire was brought under control within 30 minutes. The fire had had a good start before the fire department was called. He said, firemen battled the blaze an hour and a half. There was slight smoke damage inside the house itself. The garage interior was scorched and charred.

The exact amount of damage was not known at the time, but it is believed to be several thousands of dollars.

Cleaning Woman Admits Larceny

Mrs. Mary McCurry pleaded guilty before Shores Judge Victor DeBaeke on Friday, May 28, to a charge of committing larceny from a dwelling. Judge DeBaeke presided in the absence of Farms Judge Grant Armstrong.

The guilty plea was accepted, and Mrs. McCurry, who lives at 4859 Vinewood, Detroit, was placed on one year probation and referred to the Wayne County Probation Department. In addition she was ordered to make restitution of $80 she had taken and must pay $15 court costs.

According to a Farms police report, the woman was arrested on Thursday, May 27, as she left the home of William Baker, 414 Barclay, where she worked as a cleaning woman one day a week. She had $16 of marked money in her possession at the time she was taken into custody.

The arrest was made by Farms Det. Harold Beaupre and Farms Patrolman William Elworthy, on complaint of the William Bakers. The woman admitted taking money found in her possession, and other sums, over a period of time.

Catch Bandit

The place. He had taken $80 from there. The arrest took place at 11:27 a.m.

Sgt. Smith revealed that the bandit had gotten out of a cab in the 6400 block in Chene, and a jeweler, who had noticed him, was suspicious of the man's actions as the thief peered through windows, and thinking he might become a victim of a holdup, called police.

Train Guns On Bandit
Police arrived in time to apprehend Szczepanik, just as he emerged from the rear of Harp's Dress Shop, 6439 Chene, Detroit, and trained their guns on him.

Whereupon, the bandit raised his hands high and said, "I'm sorry, I have a cap pistol in my pocket."

Lt. Enders said that the money Szczepanik took from the dress shop was in the thief's possession, but that which the bandit later confessed he had taken from the Imperial Cleaners, was not on his person. It has not yet been disclosed what he had done with it.

The robber confessed that he had committed, besides the one in the Park, about 20 holdups in Detroit. Police think this figure may be higher.

Police said that Szczepanik had the cap pistol in his pocket when he held up the Park business place, and that the "This is a stickup" note was also used in the Detroit crime.

The Imperial Cleaners woman positively identified Szczepanik, during a police showup, as the man who robbed her.

many of the home owners in that area, who expressed their displeasure against the erection of this type of dwelling and where they were to be located.

The second amendment has to do with the business zoning ordinance and is designed to give flexibility to the law, whereby it would be up to the council to decide whether or not business establishments must have their fronts and entrances on Kercheval avenue.

Wouldn't Permit Changes
The change would not permit, however, the present businesses to change their fronts on Kercheval.

The amendment was brought about through the request of the Grosse Pointe Bank, which is contemplating the erection of a building in the rear of the Waiton-Pierce store, with an entrance facing on St. Clair avenue.

He gained entrances to homes by forcing milk chute doors and windows.

He was surprised in the home of James H. Stone, 1223 Buckingham, when a nurse, Mrs. Agnes Burns, had gone downstairs during the night to investigate a commotion caused by the Stones dog.

Mrs. Burns, thinking Mr. Stone had come home, went to the front room calling his name. Whereupon, Jackson sprang from behind a door, whipped out a pistol, and fled, but not before his features were seen.

He was identified when he was arrested later after committing another crime in Detroit.

Government Aide Gets Promotion

Clyde M. Adams, of Merriweather road, secretary of the Bohn Aluminum & Brass Corporation, has been appointed Director of the Aluminum and Magnesium Division, Business and Defense Services Administration of the Dept. of Commerce, it was announced today by Charles F. Honeywell, BDSA Administrator.

Mr. Adams has been on loan to the government from Bohn under a rotation system by which industry makes available the services of experienced personnel for short periods of time. On February 2 of this year he was appointed Deputy Director and on April 14 Acting Director. He has been with Bohn continuously since its formation in 1924, and has served as secretary and director of the company since 1949.

As Director, Mr. Adams will be responsible for the operation of one of the key divisions of the BDSA. The Business and Defense Services Administration came into being in October, 1953. It is a combination of the old National Production Administration and the Bureau of Domestic Commerce. The 25 divisions represent all industries in the United States.

Mr. Adams was born in 1890 at Topeka, Kansas, the son of Charles and Susan Miller Adams, pioneer residents of the city. After receiving his early education in Topeka, he attended the Engineering School at the University of Kansas. In 1915 he entered the foundry business in Detroit with the Aluminum Castings Company.

Enlisting in the army as a private in World War I, he served through the ranks and was honorably discharged from the Corps of Engineers in August, 1919, as a first lieutenant. Upon leaving military service, Mr. Adams joined the Charles B. Bohn Foundry Company. In 1924 that firm became part of the then new Bohn Aluminum & Brass Corporation.

Mr. Adams is married and has three grown children. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity; the Masons Ashlar Lodge, Detroit; Past Commander Cadillac Post American Legion, Detroit; Detroit Athletic Club; Grosse Pointe Yacht Club; Detroit Board of Commerce; and the Economic Club of Detroit.

The first man really needed a conscience—he had no neighbors.

Haberkorn Leaves Banking Business

C. H. Haberkorn, Jr., of Grosse Pointe Farms, vice-president and trust officer of National Bank of Detroit, retired June 1, under the bank's retirement plan.

As a member of the advisory committee, Mr. Haberkorn helped organize the bank in 1933 and, shortly thereafter, took charge of forming the bank's trust department. His previous banking experience included top executive positions in several of Detroit's large financial institutions, including chairman of the board of the old Bank of Detroit, which was founded by the late Senator James S. Couzens.

He is president of C. H. Haberkorn & Co., and The Beck Corp., and director of Mechanical Handling Systems.

A member of one of Detroit's pioneer business families, Mr. Haberkorn was a Phi Beta Kappa graduate from Harvard University and has served many civic groups throughout his business career.

Among these are: Children's Aid Society, as vice-president, trustee of Hillsdale College, trustee of Detroit University School and Grosse Pointe Country Day School, president of the Harvard Club of Detroit; president of the Bankers Club of Detroit, president of Friends of the Detroit Public Library, and secretary and director of the Detroit District Golf Association.

In announcing Haberkorn's retirement, Charles T. Fisher, Jr., bank president, said, "During his 21 years of association with the bank Mr. Haberkorn contributed immeasurably to the growth of our trust department and deserves the highest praise and commendation for the fine reputation our trust department has earned."

A Touch of Nostalgia

The long holiday weekend, with its sampling of the bright, warm days ahead, provided time for reflection and a visitation of nostalgia that carried us back through the years. Summer is approaching, the end of another school year is here, and thousands of youngsters are eagerly looking forward to the vacation months ahead. Memory took us back to the first year we were "farned out," when we had the first "away from family" vacation which is such an important part of growing up.

This goes back a full 40 years. A brother two years older was going to Boy Scout camp for the first time, and the family was evidently concerned about how this first separation of the two boys would work out. A diversionary tactic was decided upon, sending the nine-year-old to the country as a paying guest at a farm which took in summer boarders. It was a great success. Instead of staying just the two weeks when the scout camp would be in session, we refused to be budged from the pastoral scene until after Labor Day, when attendance at school again became a necessity.

Looking back on that summer, we are led to wonder how many kids today ever get to know the wonder of the first real contacts with farm life. So many conditions which existed then have been so changed by modern inventions that it would be difficult today to find such a setting. This was the year when the Crown Prince was assassinated at Sarajevo and the European continent and later the United States were plunged into World War I. The particular farm at which we stayed was located in the hills of north-eastern Pennsylvania. The owners were of German extraction who had lived in this country for a number of generations. A majority of the some dozen boarders were from Brooklyn and most of them were also German. The arguments over the conduct of the war made a profound impression on the mind of a nine-year-old.

There were no such things as radios. There was a telephone on the kitchen wall, but it was worth one's life to get a connection completed, and in the event this miracle was accomplished, half the countryside was on the line listening in and it was practically impossible to hear anything.

There was no electricity, and one of the daily chores was cleaning the smoky lamp chimneys and refilling the kerosene reservoirs. We acquired quite a number of these chores. We remember distinctly that after we had been there about a week we were informed we had achieved the honor of becoming "just like a member of the family." In fact we were moved out of our room and shared one with the grown son of the family, just behind the kitchen. This son, the mother and father, and three daughters ranging from about 17 to 30, ran the establishment. There were no hired hands.

Our weekly bill, room and board, was dropped from $7 to $2 because of these chores. We got the cows in from the pasture every morning around dawn, helped with the milking, took them back to the day pasture. This was repeated at night. We chopped firewood for the wood-burning stove with the big water tank on the side, fed the chickens, helped churn the ice cream for Sunday dinner, sharpened tools in the tool shed, helped with the haying, weeded in the garden, gathered vegetables and fruit, emptied and cleaned the slop jars. Indoor plumbing had not yet reached this farm.

The entertainment was extremely varied, simple and wholesome. Gala occasions during the summer included long rides through the surrounding hills in a surrey with fringe on top, hay rides to picnics at nearby lakes or to church suppers at neighboring farms. There were taffy pulls, with the candy brewed in gigantic cast iron pots slung on tripods over the outdoor fire, berrying parties, ice cream socials sponsored by the Methodist church whose little white-spired building was just up the road.

There was an old upright piano in the parlor, with an accumulation of years of copies of "Etude." The old gentleman who owned the farm, then in his late sixties or early seventies, played a fine accordion and could often be coaxed into accompanying the piano or producing a solo or two. Some of the boarders had good voices and all of them loved to sing.

There was a magnificent Dodge touring car in the brand new garage. It was only taken out about every three weeks, to drive into the nearest town 10 miles away for necessary shopping. The boarders came by train and were taken out to the farm by livery.

There was another farmer in the neighborhood who had a Model T Ford that he drove only on the Fourth of July. After he and his wife had completed the grand tour of the countryside, the Ford went back in the barn, was carefully dusted and its metal work oiled, the wheels jacked up and put on blocks, then the huge muslin cover put back on for another year. The last time we saw that Ford was almost 20 years after this period, and it looked as though it had just come off the showroom floor.

There were lazy swims in the tranquil river down in the valley, trout fishing in nearby brooks and excursions for bass and pickerel and catfish on the river. There were long, exploratory wanderings deep in the woods, accompanied only by Teddy, a big collie; and many secret hideaways were built of pine boughs. We tried sleeping out in one of them once, but the mosquitoes were too familiar.

All meals were a super-colossal spectacle in themselves. The food, all produced on the farm, was piled high on huge platters, plates and bowls. Everyone sat at one gigantic table and passed everything. The daughters waited on table and as fast as a receptacle was emptied, it was miraculously full again.

A horse shoe throwing contest usually followed supper, while the women tatted, or knit, or embroidered. The kids rocked in the hammock or took turns on the big chain swing, slung from a high branch of a towering maple in the side yard.

A tremendous, ever over-flowing rain barrel on the back porch was the water supply. It was fed by gravity through a pipe connected to a large spring on a nearby hillside. We took our baths in a big galvanized wash tub on the lawn, with most of the boarders looking on and applauding. We wore a complete bathing suit for these occasions, as the days of swim trunks had not yet arrived.

It was a wonderful summer. We couldn't wish anything finer for all the youngsters who are now engrossed with their plans for the next few months. We feel a little sorry for them, contemplating all the time which they will spend looking at television shows and movies, listening to radios and riding back and forth in slick new station wagons to the super markets and fancy drugstores in the towns nearest their camps. They miss a lot by not being able to spend a summer on a farm typical of the days gone by.

Grosse Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

Editor's Note: Pryor has been absent these too many weeks, due to the necessity to keep a date with a brace of surgeons within the confines of a hospital. She will tell you all about it when she returns, which we hope will be almost immediately. In the meantime, this space so yawned with the emptiness of her missing column that kind friends volunteered to do something about it. They asked that Pryor not be blamed for what follows:

A local gentleman who has often been heard to complain that nothing good ever happens to him, has been given cause to change his tune. The great metamorphosis took place while he was in residence recently at his farm, not far from Detroit.

He was discussing with one of the two little men he has been able to hire, the rigors of farming these days, without sufficient help. Plowing time was here and the necessary chore looked more impossible than ever as they gazed over the vast expanse of unturmed soil.

Their mutual desolation confab was broken up when a car pulled alongside the road close by and a very nice-looking, complete stranger approached. You might imagine how flabbergasted they were when he put the question: "Do you want any help with your plowing?"

The upshot of the whole thing was that the stranger was employed by the Ford Motor Company. It had developed a new tractor which it was anxious to test, and if there were no objections, it would like to try some of them out. Permission granted with alacrity, the gentleman farmer was informed that no less than 10 of the tractors would be appearing almost momentarily, with three crews to work around the clock.

The only thing that seemed to bother the representative from Ford was that there were only 1,000 acres in the farm. We haven't heard yet whether the 10 tractors and three crews plowed and re-plowed until the test was completed to everyone's satisfaction. Our last information was that our local friend was worrying a bit as to whether or not the herd of welcome invaders would leave enough grass to pasture his large herd of cows.

Two stories we have heard recently, which seem to merit passing on, are attributed to that well-known purveyor of art and wit, Joseph deGrimme.

It is told that Joe was being given the treatment by a masseuse who was complaining that he had been robbed. Penicillin, he declared, had been invented by him. The discovery had been stolen before he could patent it.

When the massage was over, Joe paid the pummeler his fee, plus a good tip. Then he solemnly handed the muscled man another 50 cent piece. When asked how come the additional largesse, Joe answered with a perfectly straight face: "You invented penicillin. It has done so much good to so many people, including me, that I figure all of us who have benefited should help to compensate you for your loss. This is my share."

The second story goes way back to Vienna in the fine old days before World War II. Joe and a group of his male companions used to have luncheon nearly every day at a popular sidewalk cafe. And, practically every day, a Salvation Army lassie canvassed the street, always stopping at the table and getting a collection from the gallant gentlemen.

This had been going on for some time when one mid-day the customary procedure was interrupted by a query from one of the table tipsters. "What," he demanded of the S.A. lady, "is this money used for?"

In a significantly decorous voice the young lady explained: "We use it to help fallen girls."

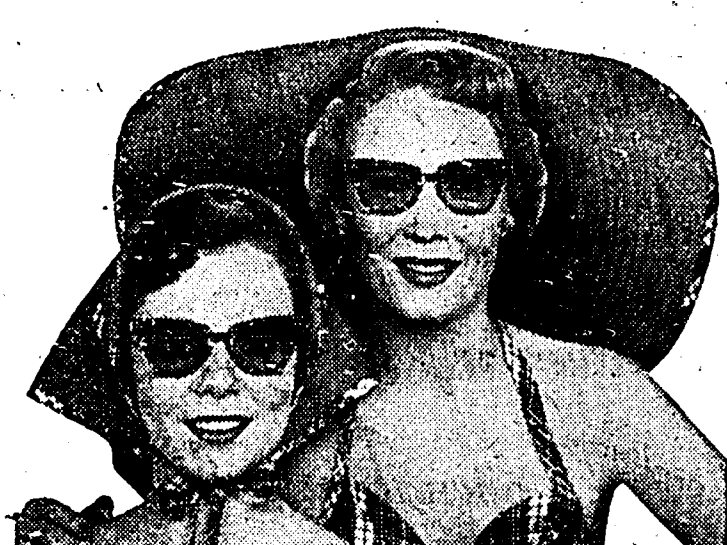

Luncheon came to a boisterous conclusion when the fact-finder then announced: "Oh, well, no use in my contributing here. I pay mine direct."

Advertising Plans Announced by Dodge

Renewal of two Dodge national network television programs for the summer months and remainder of 1954, along with an intensified newspaper campaign, were announced today by Jack W. Minor, Dodge Director of Advertising and Merchandising. Both the television programs and the newspaper campaign are being placed by the Dodge agency, Grant Advertising, Inc.

The renewal orders cover the Danny Thomas show, "Make Room for Daddy," carried over 124 stations on an alternate week basis, and the Bert Parks "Break the Bank" show carried weekly by 162 stations.

More than 4,000 newspapers, many of them weeklies, across the country will carry Dodge advertising during June and July.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Jean Taylor

By George F. Jones, Guest Columnist

"Something to Read" To those who seek a form of insurance against being so victimized, the writer suggests the collections of short stories, of which your library stocks a wide selection, as being worthy of investigation.

Survey type volumes (The Beside Book of Famous American Stories, for example) can provide many hours of reading of infinite variety and time-proven high standard. For those well-read in the classics of the field, the Martha Foley series of the best short stories of each year provides a means of reading a selection of the year's best, many reprinted from magazines, one would ordinarily not see.

Each year countless copies of War and Peace, Gibbon's Decline and Fall, even Marx's Capital, must make their way to ship and shore, to mountain and meadow and metropolis, only to return each year with a more travel worn jacket enclosing unscanned, possibly uncut, pages.

As the owner of a set of Anna Karenina which spent four summers at a lakeside cottage before being retired (pages uncut), the writer has given some thought to the problem. He suggests that the selection basis by which such titles are accorded baggage or car space may reflect not only an overestimate of our desire to read the more formidable classics but a misconception of when and under what circumstance much vacation reading is done.

While there may be those who can sit in unfamiliar surroundings and work their way through Tolstol with single-minded intent, is not most vacation reading a matter of something to pick up at the otherwise blank time—the rainy day at the outdoor resort, the hour on the train when opening conversational gambits directed at fellow travellers have produced no responses sufficiently provocative to justify pursuit, the empty hour in the big city hotel, innumerable distractions and attractions within easy reach but with the loneliness of crowded places pressing in? It is at times such as these that the right something to read can prove worth its packing space.

In many instances those who choose currently popular works fare little better than the bearers of classics: the Southern novel which was expected to yield a mixture of history and romance played against a background of magnolia framed Greek Revival porticoes proved to be a search among ruins—moral, intellectual and financial; the psychological novel selected as offering a meaningful clash of sharp and living personalities proves strictly no contest—implausible protagonists talking their interminable way through a plot, without focus.

While the pocket book has done much to break it down, there is, in the minds of many readers, an unjustified respect for material printed in hard covers versus that originally appearing in magazines. The fact is that the best of short story writing compares very favorably with full length works. The selection process in anthology compilation rules out most of the weak and frivolous material which tends to lower the average level of magazine fiction.

Increase Your "Good Days"

By Fred Kopp, R. Ph.

Are the days you feel really well rare occasions? Do you feel fatigued, listless most of the time? This is a condition from which many persons suffer, yet few know how to do about it.

On the contrary, your doctor can help restore your energy and of course improve your health and increase your zest for work and play.

The average person would be amazed at the number of carefully developed drug products that are available to counter-act mineral deficiencies in the body. Let your doctor determine your needs by a physical examination.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION

Monday, June 14th

Vote for

ROBERT F. WEBER

Highly Qualified...

3 Children in G.P. Schools Pres. Purcell's P.T.A. Pres. Goodwill Industries Pres. Elect Vernier P.T.A. World War II Veteran Sunday School Teacher Owns and Manages Lumber Co.

From the Grosse Pointe Board of Education To the Citizens of all the Grosse Pointes

The annual School Board Election will be held this year on June 14. We urge everyone to vote.

Also on June 14, at the same time, your Board of Education is presenting three proposals for your approval.

These proposals have to do with the current needs of the Grosse Pointe Public School System.

At the present time, with approximately 7900 boys and girls in our public schools, we are 16 rooms short in our supply of classrooms. Next year we expect to have 8600 boys and girls in our system.

We are building a new school now, which you as voters in this School District, approved last year—the Ferry School. It will be ready this fall but even with it in use we will still be 14 rooms short then. In the fall of the following year we will be 31 rooms short.

To bring our facilities up to date—to provide adequate rooms for our current population of boys and girls, we are asking you to vote on June 14 for...

- a 14-room addition to our Poupard school. a 2-room addition to our Kerby school. a new 17-room elementary school on our Torrey Woods site.

These additional facilities will meet our elementary school needs in the fall of 1955. To have them then we must get your affirmative vote now.

The second thing you will be asked to vote on will be the money to pay for these new school rooms. They will cost $1,225,000. The tax increase necessary for this is .8 mill - or $.80 on each $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

So - to recap - you will be asked on June 14 to approve the new facilities and you will be asked to authorize the tax to pay for them.

The third thing you will be asked to do is to provide much needed operational funds to run these new buildings and bring our teacher salaries up to competitive levels.

We have always had the finest teachers in the country in our school system and we want to keep it that way. Our salaries now are lower than most in the surrounding area and we are asking you for funds to bring them in line. The salary schedule must be raised if Grosse Pointe is to satisfactorily compete for the woefully inadequate supply of teachers.

We shall ask you on June 14 to vote 2 mills for additional operational expenses—and to continue the 3 mills operational expenses which you have authorized in previous years—a total of 5 mills—$5.00 per $1,000 of assessed valuation of which $3.00 is old and $2.00 is new.

The .8 mill we are asking for the new school buildings is to run for 20 years or less—it will stop as soon as the schools are paid for. At the present rate of tax collection this should be in about 10 years.

The new 2 mills operational tax and the continuation of the old 3 mills are to run for 5 years.

The final decision concerning these matters is up to the citizens of Grosse Pointe. If we are to maintain our public school system as one of the finest in the country, we need your approval of these matters.

We Hope A Large Number of Citizens of the Grosse Pointe School District Will Vote. The Voting Centers are the Elementary Schools which Serve Each District

William Denler Enlarges Shop

William Denler, Grosse Pointe's pioneer in the interior decorating business and head of the firm bearing his name, is this week announcing completion of a full floor addition to his shop which has been located at 77 Kercheval avenue, in the Farms since 1938.

Mr. Denler also announces an open house period through June 10 to mark the firm's sixteenth anniversary and to permit friends and customers to visit the new, greatly enlarged quarters where showrooms and displays simulating French panelling, another with printed silk wall covering and one with a floor covering of pigskin leather. Furnishings in these rooms are definitely blended combination of periods which introduced the new contemporary charm that can be found in so many of Grosse Pointe's lovely homes.

Has Circular Staircase
 A trimly designed circular staircase leads from the main to the new second floor, and in the roof directly above it is a smartly done skylight, known as a plastic bubble. It is made of a tinted plexiglass to admit sunlight.

The Denler shop along with the Sign of the Mermaid and the Arthur Paselk flower shop were the first to be built and opened in the business block on Kercheval avenue which has since come to be known as "Kercheval on the Hill."

It is often said that these three shops molded the pattern for the high calibre of establishments that have since been attracted to this compact shopping area.

Wins National Recognition
 Mr. Denler, who graduated in architecture from the University of Michigan and studied basic and advanced art and decorating in Europe, began business here in 1938, using for his first shop a second floor space in the Punch and Judy building.

He has served two terms as president of the Michigan chapter of the American Institute of Decorators and has been a director of the National Board for the past three years. In this latter post, Mr. Denler has had much to do with the preparation of an original approved practice manual for decorators which will come off the press in June, and which treats technically with matters pertaining to the profession.

Grosse Pointers and their friends visiting the shop during the open house will have the guidance of the firm's staff members. The hours are daily from 9 to 5 o'clock.

It's a fact money cannot buy happiness, but it places the possessor in an excellent bargaining position.

Society News Gathered From All of the Pointes

From Another Pointe of View

By Jane Schermerborn

The best show in town is the Follies of 1954 at the Cass... starring the Junior League... directed and staged by Bill Latta of the Jerome H. Cargill Company, New York... talent... beauty... and humor... give the whole affair the light touch the chorus sings about... And ever since we watched dress rehearsal (our deadline made it impossible to report the opening, last night)... we haven't been able to decide whether the Junior Leagueurs have always been so talented and beautiful... or if the fun of the evening is a result of Mr. Latta's genius and that of his assistant, Wallie Dunn... We guess it's a combination... The Follies, which run this evening (Thursday) and Friday... are well worth your while and in addition, the money you pay for your tickets goes to the League's new and fine project, The Senior Center on Baldwin avenue. But make no mistake... here is a show that stands on its own... far outside the realm of amateur theatricals.

Troupers Now

At rehearsal Mr. Latta turned out to be a hard task master if a courteous one... Leaguers turned into members of the chorus... featured players... bit players... and we forgot their Pointe identities and enjoyed them as stage personalities... In the long weeks of rehearsal Mr. Latta (did you know he's Mrs. Benjamin S. Warren's nephew?) relieved the Junior League of any self-consciousness pardonable in non-professionals... and turned its members into troupers. We could well understand an overheard remark at dress rehearsal made by a League husband, "Gosh, what are we going to do with ourselves now that we won't be rehearsing any more?" They all enjoyed the hard work and we admired them for their real effort.

High Points at the Follies

At the Follies you won't see Mrs. Woodie Crouse streaking like a comet, all over the place, as she pursues her tasks as a member of the talent committee... you won't see the ticket committee members at work... the prop committee, the men's advisory committee engaged in duties... because most of them are part of the show on stage in addition to the work accomplished beforehand. Some of the high lights jotted down in our note book include: the excellent singing choruses... the Grunvons adding a lot... the thrilling voices of Mrs. Richard Williams, Bud Day, Bill Lane, Murray Dodge, Mardy Oeming... The dancing of Lydia Kerr, Mrs. Berrien Eaton, Jr... the roisterous comedy of Marv Louise Goodson's diva... the neat humor of Dan Buell's Senator McCarthy... William R. Witherell's eyes and mugging as a Stranger in Paradise... Bob Palms, Peter Prince, Jim Standart, Sandy Wiener, Jim McMillan, Bill Boydell, Joe C'skey and Jean Mesritz in Tally-ho Tantivvy... Joanie Henry as "Bubbles"... Watch for "The Magic Steppers"!

Mrs. Ford A Charmer

Mrs. F. Clifford Ford, Jr., is another high point in the Junior League Follies... She is charming as the little Cinderella in the review of mink, sable, ermine and chinchilla (and the night we saw the rehearsal these million dollar furs were (Continued on Page 10)

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Here the decorations were in orange and black, the Casaroll colors, the decor having a racing theme throughout. A small replica of the Indianapolis track was arranged on a separate table. Operating swiftly around the track was a small, engine-powered race car. Bowls of orange-hued flowers were used around the room and on the tables seating eight. Tiny cars were used in lieu of place cards, each having a hidden ticket numbered to correspond with those of the actual cars entered in the Indianapolis Classic. Shortly before 10 p.m., chartered buses, whipped the party from the DAC to the Michigan Central station to board the Casaroll's reserved Pullmans and club car attached to the Indianapolis Speedway Special train. Also aboard for the entire trip were the strolling players who had furnished background music at the dinner.

Addition Planned for St. James Church

This architect's drawing shows one of the proposed two wings which will be added to the Lutheran church building in McMillan near Kercheval. The congregation has voted to go ahead with the project and an every-member canvass is being conducted to raise funds for the enlargement.

St. James Lutheran Church, McMillan near Kercheval, is proceeding with the erection of a Sunday School wing to the north and a kitchen and office room to the south of the Church edifice.

The north wing will contain, on the first floor, a nursery and a kindergarten department, the latter planned for 60 to 65 children, as well as an office for the junior department and young people's social room, designed for approximately 80 juniors. This room will have a kitchenette for the social hour, and also contain robing rooms for the men and women choristers.

The primary department will be located on the second floor and will accommodate 85 to 90 pupils and also a bible class room. Adequate toilet facilities will be provided on each floor.

The intermediate and senior classes will be housed in the present social hall which has been increased about 25% in size by the addition of a room adjoining the north transept and the removal of the kitchen in the south transept, which kitchen will be housed on the ground floor of the south wing.

This wing will also provide room on the first floor for a pastor's study with book cases and lavatory, as well as a business office with vault and a conference room which will serve as a church parlor and contain a fireplace. A separate entrance is provided to this south wing and will serve as an exit from the church and an entrance to the chancel.

The style of the church is Colonial and the wings will be in keeping. The brick work will be in flemish bond. The trim will be of stone and white painted woodwork with a slate roof and with metal work of copper. The heating will be of steam or hot water with ventilation provided for the assembly room.

The building will cost in the neighborhood of $115,000.00.

The original architects for the building, George D. Mason & Co., have been retained to plan these additions. Edward Bauman, chairman of the original building committee, is serving as chairman for the new building. Members of the building committee are: Ernest G. Moeller, Dr. Austin Neeb, Tom Couser, Walter Kneisel, Kenneth Michel, William Schumacher, and Frank Mann.

The two additions to St. James will be financed by members and friends through the purchase of 10 year participation notes bearing a 3 per cent interest rate. Members of the finance committee are: Alfred T. Wilson and Warren Wessel, co-chairmen; Victor Dhooze, John Howard, A. C. Munderloh, Harold Rieth, Marshall Noecker, Carl Carlson and Frank Mann.

The pastor of St. James is Reverend George E. Kurz, who has been with the church since its start in 1939.

Club to Present Student Award

Four years ago The Neighbors' Club was formed by the Program Committee of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center. Its purpose was to welcome women new to Grosse Pointe, and to interest them in activities which were cultural, educational, and recreational.

Just a year ago the organization which had grown from an independent, well-organized group of 25 members to an independent, well-organized group of over 200 members was accepted into membership in the Detroit Federation of Women's Clubs. The new organization became known as the Grosse Pointe Women's Club.

Because one purpose of the Woman's Club is furtherance of educational and social interests in the community, its members desired to make a tangible contribution to the youth of Grosse Pointe, recognizing scholastic ability, leadership, good citizenship, and sound character.

Announcement has been made by Mrs. John G. Scales, the club's president, that an award of three hundred dollars shall be granted to boy or girl graduate of the Grosse Pointe High School at the June Commencement Exercises.

The outstanding student (January or June class) will be chosen by a committee of the Grosse Pointe High School faculty on the basis of the rules formulated by the Woman's Club Scholarship Committee, and unanimously accepted by its executive board and general membership.

Graduation Date Set by H.W.H.S.

The Third Commencement Exercises of the Harper Woods High School will be held in the gymnasium on Wednesday, June 16, at 8 p.m. The 1954 graduating class includes 63 students.

 Reports of the Building Department, Treasurer, Police and Fire Departments were received.
 A request to reconvey the public walkway between the Grosse Pointe News building and Wrigley's Market in the local business district to the original owner was denied.
 The meeting adjourned at 10:30 P.M. to 8:00 P.M. on Monday, June 7, 1954.

Key Alarm Patented By Local Bus Driver
 Sam Sweet, who has been a bus driver on the local Lake Shore Coach lines for many years, is now the manufacturer and distributor of a new key alarm for automobiles.
 The device is described as a unit that is attachable to the engine block and which automatically sounds off when a driver parking a car forgets to remove the ignition key, or when he forgets to release the hand brake before putting the car in gear, or forgets to observe a low pressure on his oil supply.
 Sweet who calls his firm the Key Alarm Company has offices at 12000 Kercheval avenue in Detroit.

GLASS RUINS TIRE
 Rene De Meerleer of 6325 Woodhall, Detroit, complained to Farms police on Saturday, May 29, about the loss of a tire. He said that his car was parked near a cafe on Mack, and when he returned to it, he discovered someone had placed glass under his left rear tire. He removed a big piece and did not notice another still there. He said the tire was cut beyond repair.

Detroit Yacht Club Regatta Opens Sailors' Race Season

The 134 boat local sail fleet was out testing its wings in the Detroit Yacht Club's 39th annual regatta last Monday, May 31. It started out in a flat calm, was spotted with and ended up under bright sunlight and a whistling southeaster.

As usual the Detroit Yacht Club got the interclub racing off to a fine start despite the fact the 10 boat Cruising A fleet got a bit mixed up on which course to sail when the judges changed the course card shortly before the starting gun, due to the diminishing southerly breeze.

Seven Sail Wrong Way
Three of the Cruising A skippers were sharp enough to note the fast switch and Toot Gmeiner's "Apache", Pat Collin's "Vites" and Arvid Lundell's "Nordic" finished in that order over the fifteen mile triangular course. Gil Pingree's "Red Head" was the first to cross the line; above Peche Island, to lead the "wrong way Corrigan" seven boat fleet around the 21 mile "E" course triangle. Following Pingree were Clarence Jacobs "Falcon", Nobby Sarns "Revelry", Dick Jeffrey's "Last Straw", Chuck Burbach's "Marita", George Naumann's "Estrellita" and Davie Sloss' "Kathmar II."

After the race there was some talk of protesting to chairman Art Summerlee's race committee for switching the course card after the five minute warning gun had been fired, but a check of the North American Yacht Racing Union rule book, (the sailor's bible for yacht racing), exonerated the race committee when the rule stated the race committee may "change or shorten the course at any time due to unfavorable weather."

Two Protests Lodged
In the hot Cruising C class two protests lodged and gave Art Summerlee's hard working crew fits for a while following the race. Finally Jimmy Carlin's Pilot "Glory Sea II" was disqualified. Susie Fisher's "Old Rarity" won by two minutes and 40 seconds over the syndicate owned (Nagel, Nicol, Desmon) "Balquhider" which took second ahead of Hank Dunlap's "Albacore", Hank Burkard, 1953 Huron-Mackinac winner, pushed "Meteor" into third place ahead of Gerd Schneider's "Margaret M", which tied for fifth place on corrected time with Walt Kunow's "Tempress". Chet Reynaud, 1953 Privater River Champion, sailing his newly acquired Pilot "Maybe II" finished sixth.

Bob Westley Wins
Bob Neesley's rigged schooner "Malabar" beat Andy Langhammer's "Rambler" in the Schooner-ketch class by a country mile on both elapsed and corrected time.

Bill Calder, the skipper who changes boats like he changes shirts, captured the Universal B with his little Rebel sloop "Tartan" on corrected time. Bill crossed the line fifth in his class. In corrections M. J. McCarthy, of the Grosse Pointe Sail Club, was second with "Agnes", Dick Hill, sailing his new fiber glass sloop, "He Do Tu", which he built himself, for the first time took third.

The "Ol' Gray Fox" Ray St. John and his 30-square meter "Lil Singva" wound up to win his class, with George and Jay Gonyeau's "Mistmar" second, and Ed Ofter's "Doris" third. Al "Cheerio-my-Deario" Gregory tried to win this boat race the hard way. Al left all but one piece of head canvas on the dock. His wife said after the race "You might just as well have left your head."

Champion Defeated
Guy McNaron clipped Tommy Hansen, 1953 L class river champion, by more than three minutes with cigar smoking Freddie Jensen taking third in the 12 boat fleet. Could this be an indication that Tommy might be dethroned?

Warren Jones, 1953 President's Cup winner, clipped the thirteen boat Lightning fleet after going through all kinds of gyrations while towing to the starting line behind "Balquhider". Dick Fairchild finished second and national Lightning champion "Port Tack" Cawthra was third.

Pat Clancy, for years one of the finest catboat skippers around these parts, tried hard to lead the Edison Boat Club catboat team to victory when he won in the CK-team, but the St. Clair Yachtsmen, took the team prize with DYC finishing second ahead of Edison and Detroit Boat Club in that order.

Lo Sherry finished third behind DYC's Howard Donaldson to pace the St. Clair outfit to victory. Bob Drea's fourth place and George Brewer's ninth clinched the team title for St. Clair.

Boston Loses First
Howard Boston lost his first race in the Thistle class in a good many moons when Lynn Babcock Jr., took first ahead of Tom Rochford with Boston placing third.

Bobby Ford had almost three minutes on LeGee Motchell at the end of the Luder race with Dexter Ferry taking third in the six boat fleet. F. W. Pawlik gained the dubious distinction of being the only skipper in the entire fleet to gain a DNF (did not finish).

Ed Darling nipped George E. Van by 55 seconds in the K class and Riney Zeidler took third with two minutes behind Van, who has been nursing a twenty six year old sail through the last couple of seasons. Van will have the museum piece up on "Fiddler's Witch" in the next race if the wind isn't above a whisper.

The writer's "Wind Toy" (and the Privater guys kid me when I say that), squeezed in ahead of Jimmy Trudell's "Gin Jam" to win. Don Pixley, the new owner of Chet Reynaud's "Maybe", took third ahead of Doc Sandler's "Band II", Bobby Roadstrum's "Cotton Top", Sid Marsh's "Indian Drum" and Charlie Haug's "Naid". Pixley, Sandler and Marsh are sailing in the Privater class for the first time this year.

Bob Greening, L Rand and Art Holler finished in that order in the CK-Free-for-all. Fred Dickinson was the only starter in the C boat class, so obviously he was the winner.

J. Burke C. Taylor in the Lawley 110 class and G. Munro was the only starter in the Vineyard Haven class but he didn't have his time taken. Did you pay your two buck membership in the DRYA, eh?

Next Saturday, June 5, is an open date but will be followed by Bayview Yacht Club's annual regatta on June 12.

Under the leadership of Coach Ed Wernet the Grosse Pointe Blue Devils made history when they finished the Border Cities League baseball campaign with a record of 7 wins and 3 losses to win the first baseball title since the league started in 1936. The best the Pointers had ever finished prior to this season was second, but that was in the old, South-eastern Michigan League when Coach Wernet was a standout player in 1931. The players that helped the Blue Devils earn the crown are: first row, left to right; MGR. JIM PASSANTE, KEN STEEL, CHARLES MOCERI, ART WIBLE, DON EUGENIO, JIM MACMILLAN, JIM CLYMA, WALTER EVERSMAN and DWIGHT WATKINS, mgr. Second row; BOB SCHEURLE, STEVE HORN, BILL DOW, AL UNDERWOOD, SAM MOCERI, BOB RITTER and NORM WOLFE. Third row; COACH ED WERNET, DAN FOLLIS, TERRY BROWN, TOM IRELAND, BILL ROSS, FRANK BILLNER, BOB SEALBY, JOHN RUSSELL, DOUG MCBRIDE, ASSISTANT COACH ERNEST BAUER and JIM GARZA, mgr.

LITTLE LEAGUE WOODS

Grosse Pointe Woods Little League Baseball got off to a grand two day start in its first season with two major league and four minor league games being played over the Memorial Day weekend, May 30 and 31.

The parade from the Monteith School to the newly constructed Little League field at Ghesquiere Park attracted enough players, coaches, managers, civic notables and others interested in the league to form a line of march three quarters of a mile long.

Opening day, Sunday, May 30, attracted 1500 spectators and the hot dogs and refreshments ran out in less than two hours after the crowd arrived at the ball park.

Afield the youngsters were terrific and visibly enthused, proud and encouraged over the fact their parents' and friends' turnout to see them perform.

In the major league game on May 30 the Tigers thumped out 9 hits for 5 runs to beat the Red Sox, who collected 8 hits but could manage to score just one run. Dave Lowery had the honor of being the first winning pitcher in the Woods Little League. His battery mate was Jerry Phillips.

The other major league game played on Monday, May 31, was won by the Indians over the Yanks, 6 to 4, behind the three hit hurling of Russ Cramer. His catcher was Bob DeCorte.

In the minor league the first home run of the season was hit by Sam Tucker with the bases loaded to help the Royals beat the Athletics 10 to 4. Tucker was also the winning pitcher.

Uncle Toot and Auntie Ruth Gmeiner staged their annual Spring Gismo party at the Grosse Pointe Club (Little Club) last Saturday, May 29, and what a party it was. Everyone was there and to try and name them all would be foolish because we sure would forget someone and that's the last thing we would want to do, so we won't list names at all. From what we can remember the Gismo started about 10 years ago and it was Uncle Toot and Auntie Ruth who got the ball rolling and have kept it going ever since. Actually the first Gismo was held in the Fall when the New York 32 skippers used the Little Club as their headquarters to sail a round robin series to climax the sailing season.

The Fall Gismo was so successful that the event in the Spring was added. Sailors just plain like to have fun and are always looking for an excuse to have a party and the most fun loving of the whole bunch are Uncle Toot and Auntie Ruth.

Will some member of the "Frigate's" crew please return the boat fenders you guys borrowed from us when you stepped your spars?

If the greens keeper at Lochmore Golf Club never sees Bobby "Divot" Bryant and Tommy "Bunker" Lott it will be too soon. Bob and Tom are using "cow pasture pool" as a means of soaking up some sunshine while waiting to join Wendell Anderson's "Escapade" crew for the Bermuda race the middle of this month. Bobby said "I'm not a golfer but you should see that guy Lott make the sand fly. If they put the hole in the sand trap Tommy would have made a hole in one everytime." Tom replied "Any-one can stay on the grass. It takes an expert to hit those little sand piles."

A new phase of R boats may be on its way. Lee Wilson, owner of "Cotton Blossom" launched his new fiber glass R which was made from a mold taken from the "Blossom's" hull. The launching took place at the Rocky River Y. C. in Cleveland.

Bayview Yacht Club will hold its second annual Fleet Revue

All of these girls have been active in G.A.A. and are well qualified to take over their new responsibilities in the association. Mary, president, has been active in intramurals, served on the banquet committee, managed badminton, and served as G.A.A. treasurer last semester.

Pat Patterson, vice-president, has also been active in intramurals and clubs. She has served as Badminton Club treasurer and managed both baseball and basketball.

Marie Pongracz, secretary, has participated in baseball, basketball, and tennis intramurals. She served on the banquet committee for two semesters.

Sue Mann, treasurer, a newcomer to Grosse Pointe High School, has achieved this honor while only in the 10A. Sue participated in intramurals, Tennis Club, Hockey Club, Basketball Club, and has served on the banquet committee for one term.

Mary Lou Tanner, retiring president, has this to say: "Having personally known these girls for some years, I feel certain that the Grosse Pointe Athletic Association will be in capable hands and will achieve many high goals this coming semester."

WEBER FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Crown Clinched With Win Over Royal Oak Acorns, 7-2

Faced with having to win one of its last two ball games to clinch its first Border Cities League baseball crown in the history of the school on Fisher road, the Grosse Pointe Blue Devils did just that. On Tuesday, May 25, Bob Bealby set down the Royal Oak Acorns with three hits while his teammates were building up a 7 to 2 victory on the local diamond.

As the last Acorn fell before Sealy's masterful pitching bedlam broke loose as the wildly cheering Devil fans roared the Pointers with resounding congratulatory back slaps.

Not over looked in the excitement was coach Ed Wernet, who took over the baseball reins from Pat Kaulitz two years ago and built the Pointers into champions. Prior to this year the Pointers had not finished higher than fourth place in the six team league.

On the following day the Devils traveled downriver to take a licking from Wyandotte, when they became the victim of a two hit performance by Monty Weaver and lost 4 to 0.

The defeat wasn't a disastrous one because the crown was already locked up and did nothing more than enhance the Wyandotte Bears' chances of finishing second in the final standings. Final results are not available as yet, inasmuch as all the teams have not completed their schedules. Oddly enough Wyandotte had the Indian sign on the Devils and were the only team to score two wins over the "Pointers", who finished the season with a record of 7 wins and 3 losses. The other loss was administered by Royal Oak, who by coincidence was the team that enabled the Pointers to earn their first title.

In the last game of the season Ken Stiel was the losing pitcher. He allowed all four runs and gave up 6 hits in his five inning stint on the mound. Art Wible, a senior, relieved with none out in the sixth inning and set the Bears down with no hits and no runs.

Ernie Bauer, assistant coach, received high praise from coach Wernet for his able assistance. Bauer played baseball at Wisconsin, side by side with Harvey Kuehn, and was a teammate of Red Wilson, a catcher recently acquired by the Tigers in a trade. Bauer also assists Wernet with the Blue Devil football duties.

Golfers to Vie With Ben Hogan

Detroit's golfers will be able to play against Ben Hogan, 1953's triple crown champion on National Golf Day, June 5, in the event sponsored for the third consecutive year by the Professional Golfers Association in conjunction with Life Magazine.

Each golfer pays $1.00 to compete, at his golf course, or any public one, with all the proceeds accruing to the USO and the National Golf Fund. On that day, Hogan will shoot from scratch at the Baltusrol Golf Club in Springfield, N. J. where 12 days later he will defend his U.S. Open Title.

Golfers throughout the country oppose Hogan on National Golf Day by using local handicaps or the Callaway system on local courses. It is estimated that 12% will "defeat" Hogan and win "Beat Hogan" bronze medals. Also something new has been added this year in that anyone tying Hogan will win a special certificate and another certificate will be awarded to anyone competing.

All golf courses, both public and private, in the Detroit area are participating in the event, as they are throughout the state and country. Every penny of the $1.00 entry fee goes 50-50 to the USO and the National Golf Fund, as Life Magazine underwrites all costs of conducting the tourney.

HOW TO PROFIT THROUGH TAX EXEMPTION

With today's high tax levels, investors in medium and high tax brackets are turning to tax-free Municipal Bonds for income that they can keep.

If you have a taxable income of $10,000 or more, you may be well repaid by investigating the advantages of tax-exempt State and Municipal Bonds. For instance, if you file a single return on a taxable income of $14,000, you would have to receive a dividend return of 7.45% on a taxable security in order to equal the yield from a 3.50% tax-free Bond. It's something to think about!

Our New Booklet, "How To Profit Through Tax-Exemption" explains in plain language your need for tax exemption, tells how much these high-grade investments can be worth to you. There's no obligation. Send for copy today, or phone.

LITTLE LEAGUE BASEBALL

Grosse Pointe City's Little League got under way Memorial Day with a double header involving all four teams.

tured by 2 home runs by Paul Gilliland. The Braves scored 7 runs on 4 hits. An extra inning was necessary to decide the game.

The second game between the Dodgers and the Cardinals was won by the Dodgers who scored 4 runs on 4 hits shutting out the Cardinals.

Woods Policemen Win Ball Game The Woods police ball team has started to make good its threat to take on and lick all comers, as evidenced by the first game which was held on Thursday, May 27.

Driver Injured In Shores Tangle Richard R. Stofflet of 29128 E. Jefferson, St. Clair Shores, received injuries when he lost control of his car and collided with another on Sunday, May 30.

Phillies Lead Babe Ruth Loop

There was a lot of baseball going on around the Babe Ruth League over the holiday weekend with double headers in each league on Sunday, a game in each regular weekly roundup at both fields during the week.

The feature game was the meeting between the American Division leaders, the Boston Red Sox, and Philadelphia, on top in the National. The game was played Sunday afternoon at the High School field, score 4-0, with Gordon Sachs the winning pitcher, and Bob Herrick, the star Red Sox chucker, a thirteen-year-old up from the Farms Little League, losing a tough one.

New York knocked off Brooklyn in the other Sunday game at the High School, while over at Neighborhood Field the Milwaukee National leaguers won their first game by conquering Cleveland, and Chicago won for the Americans over St. Louis by coming from behind in the last inning to score six runs and sew up the contest. So it is two winners for each division in the first inter-division play.

On Monday morning New York knocked Boston out of first place in the National by slipping past Dick Manard, the Boston chucker who pitched a brilliant game. At the Neighborhood club the Philadelphia Phillies kept out of the loss column by winning their fifth straight at the expense of Brooklyn.

There are two tie games in the National, which will be replayed at a later date, and do not show in the standings. Brooklyn and Milwaukee tied on May 25, and Brooklyn and St. Louis played to a tie on the 26th.

 Dwight D. Eisenhower, President of the United States of America, has awarded custodianship of the famous pen with which he signed the St. Lawrence Seaway Bill to the Detroit Historical

At a ceremony on Sunday, May presented this historic item to George W. Stark, City Historiographer, who accepted it on behalf of the Detroit Historical Museum.

Senator Ferguson also presented to the Museum the pen of solid gold which he used in signing the enabling legislation for the bill.

Two always dignified Pointe matrons were glimpsed at a recent tea, mixing together the remains in two cocktail shakers . . . Surprised in the act, they called out gaily, "We're having a MARhattan!" . . .

The old Murray Sales' greenhouse (the Robert Breitenbachers now own the property and home) is rented by four Pointe flower enthusiasts: Mrs. Edna Lee Root, Fred W. Parker, Jr., Mrs. Leslie Hatcher and Gilbert Wynand.

Mrs. S. Robert Scott is described by her fellow Junior-Leaguers as "tall, blonde and gorgeous" . . . She deserves all the adjectives and a fourth: gracious . . .

Josephine Scherer's black straw cartwheel hat was the only one at the recent Republican Women's luncheon which equaled that of the speaker of the day: Hedda Hopper. Jo was in all black, terribly chic. Hedda wore a huge cartwheel of yellow organza decorated with seeds of yellow daffodils.

PILFERINGS

The most dangerous thing in the world is to try to leap a chasm in two jumps.—David Lloyd George.

Four men, one of them minus an eye, were playing poker in a West Texas saloon. Suddenly one of them yanked out a gat and intoned, "I ain't calling no names, but the next rat I see dealing from the bottom of the deck, I'm gonna shoot his other eye out!" . . .

Thomas Craven, author of Men of Art, has a young son who was asked by his history teacher to name the principal contribution of the Phoenicians. The youngster's answer, given without hesitation, was "Blinds."

Senator Barkley told the Washington Press Club that just after President Grover Cleveland allowed a tax bill to become law without his signature, Mrs. Cleveland woke up in the middle of the night and thought she heard burglars in the house. "Not in the house, my dear," said Cleveland. "In the Senate."

Sir Harry Lauder attended a dinner of twenty one evening. It was of the caviar-champagne variety, and when the check came it was a whopper. Several guests reached for the check, but Sir Harry's voice rang out, "No, no, gentlemen! This dinner is on me!" The next morning's headline, avers Sir Harry, reads, "Scottish ventriloquist murdered."

"This dog," Mr. Weber once said to Mr. Fields, "is worth five hundred dollars." To which Mr. Fields replied, "How could a dog save that much money?"

Two race horses fretted impatiently in adjoining stalls the night before a Kentucky Derby. "You might as well save yourself the effort of competing tomorrow," spoke one, "I've got the Derby sewed up." "Says you," scoffed the other. "What makes you so sure of yourself?" "Didn't you see my owner whispering in my ear just now?" said the first horse. "He was telling me that if I won tomorrow, he'd give me two extra bales of hay. And, brother, that ain't money!"

Church Group Seats Officers

The installation services for the new officers and chairmen of the Women's Association of the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, on May 25, was opened with choral music sung by girls from the Grosse Pointe High School Glee Club.

Joan Cyr, Martha DeBoer, Dorothy Dornbrock, Sharon Duke, Sharon Haskin, Barbara Marco, Barbara Maynard, Joan Rine and Claire Winfield sang: "Can't Stay Away, Lord," "Little Mother of Mine," "Rio Rita," and "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings."

Mrs. Marcus W. Johnson, in charge of the services, gave a short resume of their duties, as she presented corsages to each of the newly elected officers and chairmen and the appointed group chairmen. A luncheon was served before the meeting and the hostesses, members of Group 1, were: Mrs. George Brigham, Mrs. Harcourt Caverly, Mrs. Carl Swanson and Mrs. Homer Wyckoff.

The activities of the Women's Association will conclude this year's program with a final meeting of the various groups on June 8, in homes of their members.

Some people give advice, others sympathy — and occasionally someone takes hold and gives a lift.

Pointer of Interest

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM BUNDESEN OF LINCOLN ROAD

By Jane Schermerhorn

The William Bundesen family are still in the exciting stage of making discoveries in their new home. They've been in the Pointe almost five years now, arriving here from Buenos Aires.

It was a shade of an accent, a fascinating one, that led to the story of the Bundesens. Its owner proved to be our Pointer of Interest who loves the way, her new friends call her "Elly"; she finds it a refreshing innovation after the formality in which she was reared.

Perhaps we should start the story the day a young Dane, of Aaberg, William Bundesen, graduated from the University. He was hired by an American firm—Parke-Davis—and sent to Argentina.

In the city of Cordoba he met the girl he knew he'd marry, although there was some family resistance because her father thought her too young. But the family finally consented, and the young Dane and the girl from Argentina, were married.

Their First Snow They lived first in Rosario, second largest city in Argentina, and finally in Buenos Aires, where it was their daughters Lilli (now a student at Michigan State College majoring in foreign service) and Anna, (who graduates this June from Grosse Pointe High School) grew up.

When Mr. Bundesen was moved to Detroit by Parke-Davis, to become vice president in charge of Overseas Division, he came on ahead of his family and proved himself a man of fine discrimination by deciding to settle in Grosse Pointe.

That was almost five years ago, as we've mentioned, and the Bundesens are still excited about America and Grosse Pointe. They had never seen snow before and that first snow fall found the feminine members of the family at the window, perched on chairs, watching the strange sight.

Loves Her Club As Mrs. Bundesen recalled how fascinating that snowstorm had been, we were sitting in the same pleasant living room where they had watched. On the walls are pictures of the Bundesen daughters as curly-haired babies; book cases hold a collection of soft blue Copenhagen plates the family collected in Europe last Summer, and music on the rack of the grand piano signifies a music-loving family.

"Clubs are so different here," commented our Pointer. "In Buenos Aires the ladies meet and talk of a new dressmaker, a beautiful new material just imported from another land, what to buy next, their children. And then we have tea. Here, club women are serious and civic minded as well as being charming to talk to about lighter things. I belong to the Grosse Pointe Women's Club and love the book reviews the literary group meets to hear once a month. We never had anything like that at home."

Mrs. Bundesen has piled up a pretty impressive number of hours on worthwhile projects. She is sewing for a church fair and created the plastic-lined toilet kits she's making; has 400 hours to her credit with the Children's Hospital Auxiliary; 150 hours working in the Red Cross blood bank.

Another thing that Mrs. Bundesen loves about her club is that all the members call themselves "girls" and that's so much more fun than being referred to as "ladies" a la the Argentine way. All the Bundesens were amazed to find American homes are built without shutters; that the familiar (to them) high fences and walls do not exist here, "It's so much more friendly this way."

Then the buffet supper was an entirely new form of entertaining to the gracious young hostess. A good staff of servants is necessary for a dinner party in Buenos Aires (which Mrs. Bundesen has learned to call B.A. in true American fashion).

Of course, a Buenos Aires dinner is rarely served under seven courses: cocktails and hors d'oeuvres; soup; fish; meat or fowl with vegetables; salad; fruit; and dessert with demi-tasse.

Here the breezy informality of a buffet supper won immediate approval from the new Pointer who also has high regard for cake mixes although she sticks to the old-fashioned way even measuring ingredients by grams and liters as she did in South America.

Her cakes, incidentally, are famous. They have been the subject of the talented camera of Mr. Bundesen, both black and white and in color. We were sorry he hadn't taken a picture of the most recent birthday cake his wife baked for a young friend. It was decorated with space ships and cadets. The overjoyed recipient was an eleven year old boy.

While we chatted the young daughter of the house arrived from school. Incidentally the pretty Misses B., who took 13 subjects in Argentine Scholastic applied the lighter schedule here. Anna's a brunet beauty and already as American as apple pie, affectionately teasing her mama if a South American word slips into the conversation.

The Bundesens who have been to Europe and back to Argentina for a visit since their residence here, will go to California this Summer. Mr. Bundesen will pack rolls of film for his movie camera and record the holiday for next winter reminiscing. Mr. Bundesen, a stamp collector, is also about to take up golf for the first time in his life.

The whole family has learned to ice skate since living here and as you might have guessed, adores travel.

As a member of the War Memorial Garden Club Mrs. Bundesen raises her own roses, tulips and peonies and there were several "proud specimen of African violets blooming in the dining room. She is a member of the Y.W.C.A. and the family belongs to the Detroit Boat Club.

Unlike most travelers who come to America for the first time, Mrs. Bundesen and the girls didn't get to see the Statue of Liberty because they were filling out custom papers as their ship passed one of the world's most impressive sights.

But when they went to Europe last Summer, on the homeward trip, the foursome were at the ship's rail to greet the Great Lady. "It was beauty worth waiting for," was the gentle comment of the lady from Argentina.

Pointe Counter Points

by Roberta Isley

Let's face it. Your bride will be luring her family or guests to the table from now on. And the first things she gets are important. The new Sunbeam Frypan could make her days easier. Its square design makes it ideal. She can fry a full half-pound of bacon . . . AND all the strips will lay FLAT in the pan. Another wonderful point in favor of this pan is that the highly accurate thermostatic control maintains the proper "controlled heat" for perfect cooking and frying results without constant watching. It's built of cast aluminum with the tubular 1150 watt element embedded right in the bottom. If this doesn't suit your fancy you have the choice of the automatic cooker and deep fryer . . . the coffeemaker and percolator . . . the toaster . . . the steam or dry iron . . . Waffle baker or egg cooker. All these wise gifts are at Fromm's, in the village.

You've heard that only good theater weathers the summer. Plays like Kismet . . . The Solid Gold Cadillac . . . The Tea House of the August Moon . . . in New York. In Chicago, right now, is Me and Juliet . . . The Seven Year Itch. Yes, they'll weather the summer. And only cool, cool suits weather the summer, too. These Junior sizes in charcoal, blue, pink, white, toast, and maze have the glow of bits. Some are belted . . . some button up the front, and we noted one box style. There were a few corded ones in the group. The tags read . . . seventeen ninety-five. Jacobson's Coat and Suit Department.

Beauty is everywhere in Marie Bird's Salon atop the hill. You're aware of it the moment you enter this popular house of fashion . . . whether you choose the direct entrance from the parking lot at the rear of the building or the front entrance at 117 Kercheval. The air conditioning is a comfort to everyone in this delightful haven. Beautiful permanents . . . beautiful intra-curl cuts . . . beautiful manures . . . all given by the most capable attractive girls we've seen in a long time. Truly, this is Grosse Pointe's favorite house of beauty. TU. 1-6833.

On your porch or terrace your color scheme is limited only by your own sense of what feels cool and serene in the garden . . . or bright and gay. Here is your chance to make your porch or recreation room just like the breezy deck of a sailboat. Use Denim in stripes and plain colors. Mix and match. These good-looking washable fabrics have infinite versatility as curtains, slip-covers, upholstery or accent material. If you use it lavishly against a neutral background they create a color scheme. Noted four new designs in Glo-sheen. One was modernistic like Collanna in white, blue, and carnal. Verona or Princess Gardens are good provincial designs. Jambalaya is gold with a white background. Recipes are scattered throughout the pattern. The custom shop at Jacobson's Home Decorative Shop, in the village, does handsome work on slipcovers and draperies. You'll love the way they fit.

Have you heard about the "Petitcoat Bob?" It is an example of boyish femininity. Tendrils fall airily on the pomp. The sides show loose directional lines. A permanent . . . and a shaping are the first requisites for its styling. This is only one of something wonderful they feature at the Ann-Louise Beauty Salon, 405 Fisher Road. They also feature the "reversible hair-cut." This styling lends itself to many different hair dos. For a new hair-styling . . . call TU. 2-7511.

A certain man in the village said . . . "Tell them to remember the old man this month." We will. He was from the Camera Center, in the village. Hint, hint. We're to remember him with a you-know-what this Father's Day.

Big headlines in a New York paper stated "Sophistication has a place in the sun this summer." New York doesn't hold the corner on that, however. We have summer sophistication in the Pointe, too, in the form of multi-colored frames splashed with jewels and rhinestones and pearls. The lens itself is made exactly to your prescription. It's the service that the Bayne Optical Co. proudly extols. Repairs are made in a jiffy. Why break or misplace your glasses or sunglasses? Play safe and wear a specgripper around your neck. They snap on and slide to snug fit. Instantly they are detached . . . turn . . . twist . . . off! Bayne Optical Co., 407 Fisher Road. Ample parking facilities.

Is your favorite bobby gardening? Then this is for you. Since 1950 Scuit has become the widest used of the crabgrass controls because of effectiveness and ease of application. The clean, dry granules provide fungus disease control, stops emerging weeds and grasses and is specific control for spreading crabgrass. Not only Scuit . . . but weed and feed, 4x4 weed control and Scott's Spreaders are on display at Fromm's, in the village.

Let's chat about women and their middles. We won't call it fat around the middle . . . but the small spare tire. In a particular type of girdle designed by Tru-Balance . . . the salient characteristic is its balanced diagonal control. It lifts in the front and pancreas in the back. It is fashioned of nylon with an edging of net trim. The flatters . . . your back straightens . . . slims without squeezing. Miss Loney, in Jacobson's Lingerie Department recommends a Tru-Balance garment under full petticoats. You see it comes up high enough to act as a cincher, too. Around fourteen dollars. In this same department padded bras that are soft and made by Marja, in cotton for around four dollars abound. As do garter belts and waist cincher combinations for around four dollars. For younger girls these are ideal.

When the sun goes down your fun begins. It's the fun of a late afternoon party . . . cool drinks on the terrace . . . gala dining . . . fun in dressing for it. Have a gown a little on the sophisticated side . . . maybe a light bodiced one of pure silk dashed with fragile flowers . . . a little sheer with its skirt breezing out over your crinoline . . . a beguiling plique one. There is all this choice and more at Margaret Rice's, 76 Kercheval, on the hill.
