EIGHT NATIONS issued a warning to Communist aggression in Asia through their representatives who affixed their signatures to a mutual security pact, temporarily called the Southeast Asia Collective Security Defense Treaty. The pact is aimed at repelling any aggression against the soil of the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines. The treaty may extend to the Indochina states of Laos, Vietnam and Cambodia, although they are not signatories. These three and Thailand fear they may be the next Communist targets.

PRAVDA, official Communist Party paper, centered a blistering attack at Clement Attlee, former Prime Minister of Britain, accusing him of slandering the Soviet Union and Communist China. The paper claimed the slander occurred immediately after he enjoyed the hospitality of the two Red countries. It called him a tool of reactionary circles in the United States and Britain, and that he was no friend of Russia or Red China, and that the slander, which occurred during a news conference in Hong Kong, was done in order to curry favor with America.

ADLAI E. STEVENSON, the Democratic Party's 1952 presidential candidate, began his campaign to win control of Congress for his party, by taking a slap at President Eisenhower's foreign policy. In his attack, he asserted that the Administration's foreign policy "wallows aimlessly and dangerously while a bunch of bickering helmsmen quarrel at the wheel." He also took to task the GOP's new slogan "peace and prosperity."

MARILYN BELL, 16-year-old professional swimmer, reached the Canadian side of Lake Ontario after a 32-mile swim. It was the first crossing of Lake Ontario and the longest swim ever attempted by a professional. She reached the breakwater at Sunnyside Beach, 21 hours after entering the water at Youngstown, N. Y. Florence Chadwick, famous English Channel swimmer, gave up an attempt to cross the lake after suffering from acute nausea for 15 miles. Two other swimmers, who made the try at about the same time, also gave up when complications arose.

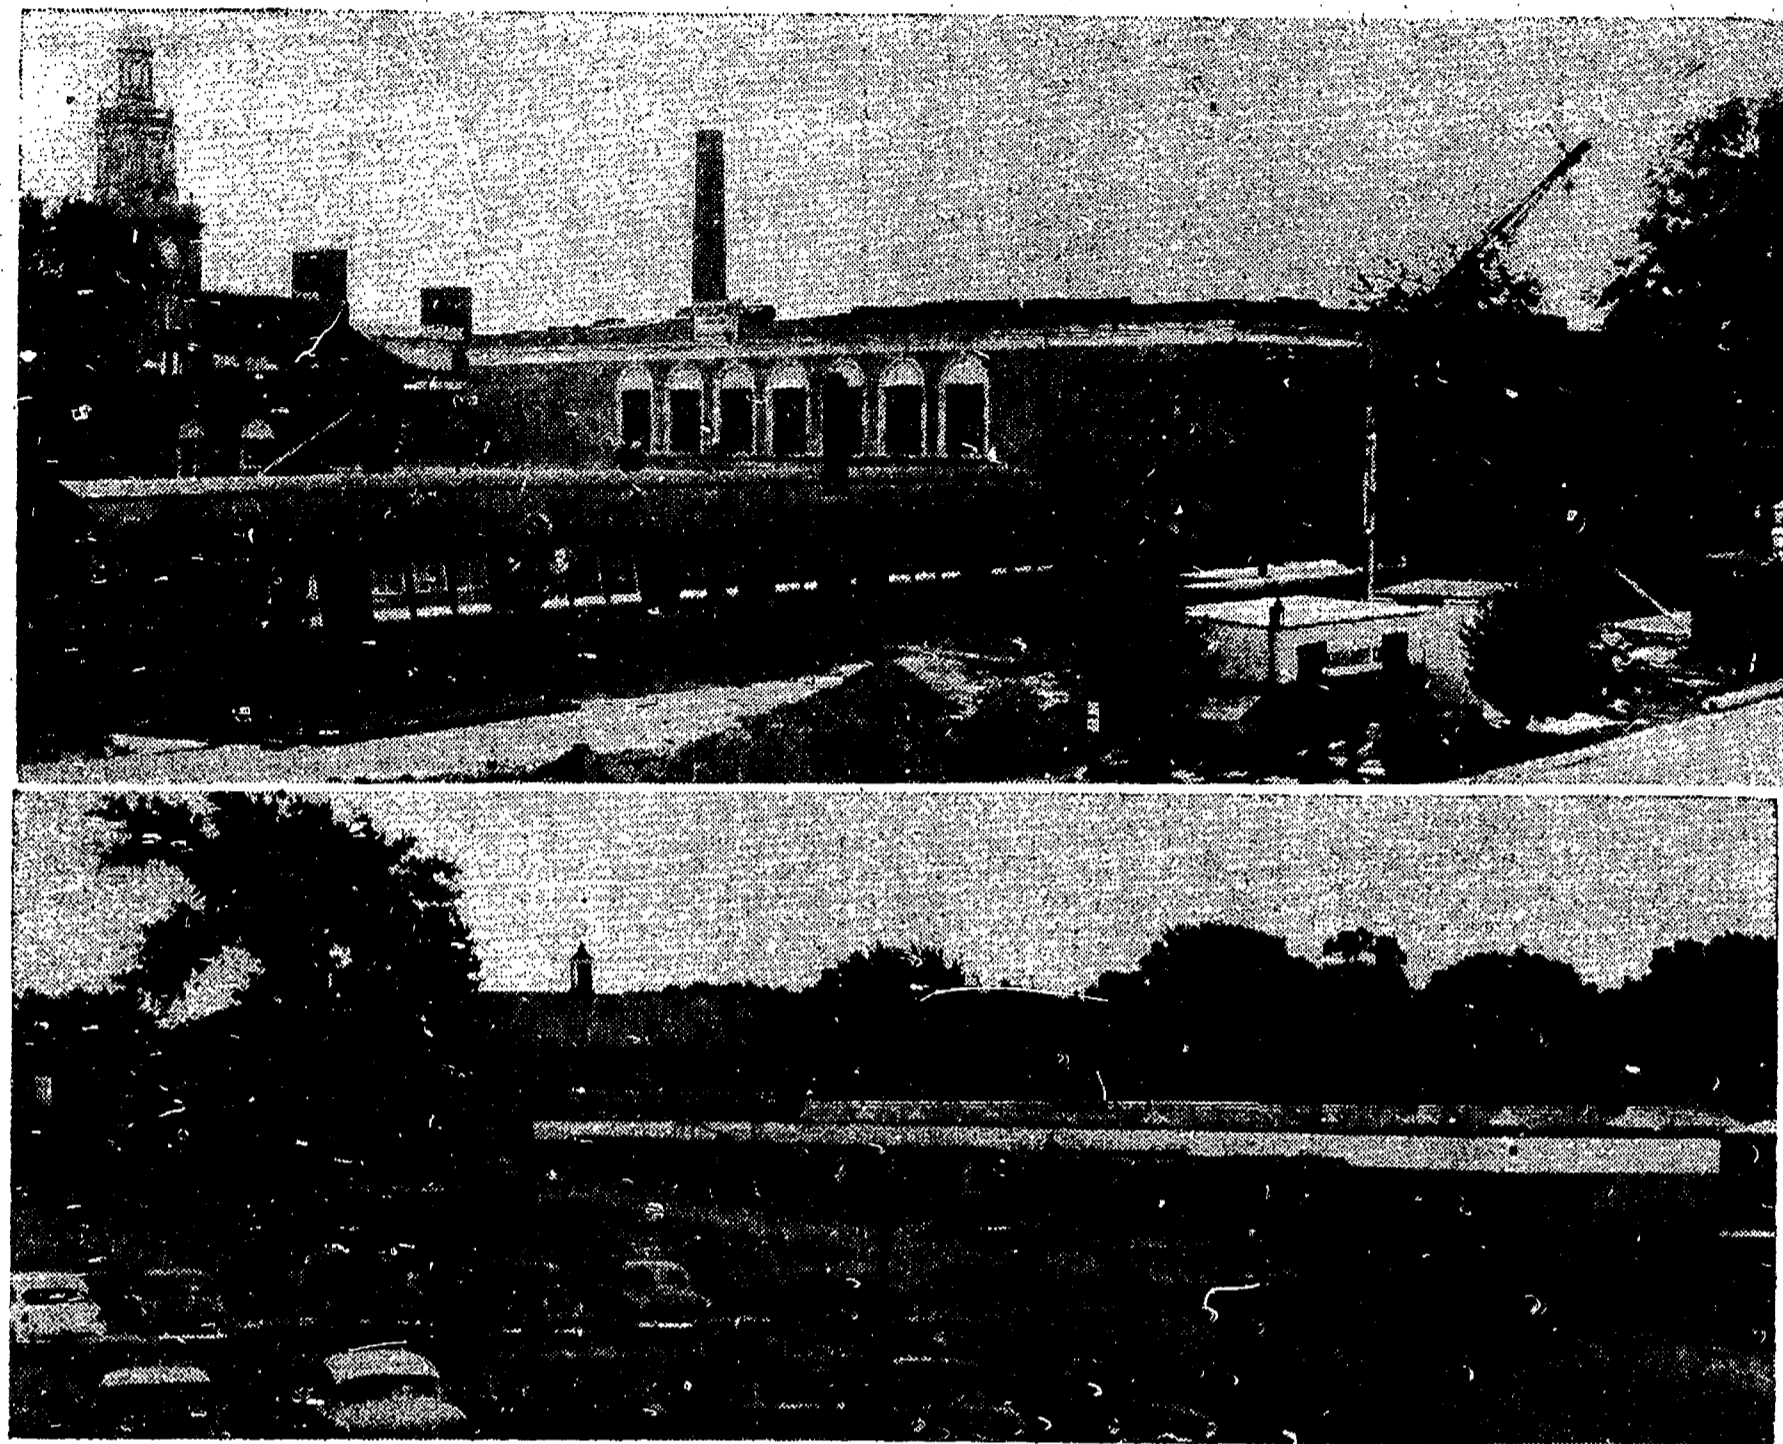

ANTHONY EDEN, British foreign secretary, will soon have top-level talks with heads of four European governments, regarding rearmament of West Germany. He will first go to Brussels where he will confer with ministers of Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. Then he will fly to West Germany to have talks with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. He will then fly to Rome, to talk with Italian Foreign Minister Alcide De Gasperi, and then to France to wind up his discussions by seeing French Premier Pierre Mendes-France.

AN EARTHQUAKE struck Northern Algeria, killing an estimated 1,000 persons and injuring thousands more. Some of the victims died when walls came crashing down on them while they were still in bed. Smashed telephone and telegraph lines made a check on the actual count of dead and injured difficult. Hardest hit was Orleansville, where it was reported 200 were killed and 1,000 injured. The quake, which lasted for only 12 seconds, is believed to be the worst in 40 years.

THE EASTERN TIP of Long Island felt the brunt of a hurricane which hit the eastern coast. At least 500 persons have evacuated from the Montauk Highway area, which had been inundated by the rising waters of the Atlantic, and the tip of the island cut off. The storm was headed for southeastern Massachusetts. New York City was whipped by gales. The hurricane, the fifth of the season, was reported more powerful than the one which killed 68 persons and caused

Park Police Request Pay Raise of 7%

22 Patrolmen Signed Petition To City Manager; Previous Request for 12%

Park Mayor Homer Fritsch, with the approval of members of the Park council, appointed a committee to look into a 7 per cent increase in pay asked for by the Park's police officers.

The action which took place at a council meeting on Monday, September 13, followed a reading of a petition signed by the 22 patrolmen of the city and addressed to City Manager Everett B. Lane.

In a previous petition, the patrolmen had requested a 12 per cent increase in salary, to bring their pay scale up to "living standards."

Already Have 5%

The 22 policemen, along with other employees of the Park, received a blanket increase of 5 per cent in salary, besides a yearly uniform allowance of $75. The raise took effect on July 1 of this year.

The police officers maintain that their wages are inadequate.

Four Pointe Communities Announce Year's Fire Loss; Park Toll Heads the List

Combined Damage for 1953-54 Over $80,000; Fire Chiefs List Safety Rules; Request Residents' Cooperation

Four Pointe communities have a combined fire loss of $81,576, according to reports submitted by the respective fire departments.

The Park, which receives a fiscal report annually, marked a loss of $47,681 for 1953-54; the City, which makes a calendar year report, revealed a fire loss of approximately $6,000; and the Shores, which also makes a calendar year report, suffered $20,195 in damages, the Woods' loss came to $7,431. These losses include various types of property and their contents.

The Farms had not yet tabulated its loss for the year.

Chief Asks for Help

Fire Prevention Week is only about three weeks away, but the fire chiefs of the Grosse Pointes are interested in placing certain facts before Pointe residents in hopes that every week will be dedicated to the prevention of fire.

Although there is a slight decrease in residential fires in the United States, about two per cent, the ultimate goal for the prevention of fire is still a long way off.

Last year's 295,000 home fires almost equaled that of 1952, and the list of their causes bears a discouraging similarity to the figures for previous years.

Basic fire safety rules may be an old refrain to some people, but it must be stressed that most fires are caused because these rules were carelessly forgotten or ignored.

Chief Cause Smoking

The chief cause of home fires, in fact of all fires, continues to be matches and smoking. To prevent such fires, the following safety rules, endorsed by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, should be applied:

1. Provide plenty of big ashtrays—the kind that won't tip over easily—and use them.
2. Never throw a cigarette or a match from a car window. Use the car ashtray instead.
3. Never smoke in bed.
4. When emptying ashtrays, be sure that every match and butt is out.
5. Never toss a lighted match away. Hold it for a minute after blowing it out, then put it in an ashtray.
6. Before going to bed, especially after entertaining, inspect the living room or the game room to be sure no butts are smoldering under cushions or on tables.

Misuse of Electricity

Misuse of electricity is also responsible for many home fires each year. To guard against sparks and overheating that result in electric fires, adhere to the following:

1. Fifteen ampere fuses are recommended for most household circuits. Never use oversized fuses or tamper with the ones already in the box.
2. Don't try to run too many appliances from one outlet; you will overload the circuit. If fuses blow frequently, even without overloading, have an electrician inspect the wiring.
3. Look for the UL label on all electric cords and appliances you buy. It means they passed Underwriters' Laboratories tests for

Schools in Pointe Faced With Shortage of Nurses

The five Wayne County Health Nurses maintained throughout the Grosse Pointe School District, has dwindled down to two, with the recent resignation of a nurse, it was disclosed by Grosse Pointe Health Commissioner Dr. Thomas Davies.

The two remaining nurses are supplemented by three other nurses employed by the Grosse Pointe Board of Education. There is one part-time nurse at Pierce Junior High and another part-time nurse at Parcels Junior High. The county also has a part-time nurse supervisor in the district.

Grosse Pointe High School has the only full-time nurse in the school district.

The two Wayne County nurses are at different schools at different times of the day, and check the health of students in both the public and parochial schools.

The Board of Education feels that there are not enough nurses to look after the health needs of the Pointe pupils, to which the county health department agrees.

Every effort is being made to replace the county nurse who recently resigned. The new nurse, however, must be able to meet certain requirements governing the job with the County Health Department, considered the highest qualified department in the county.

Nurses interested in obtaining the job must first of all have a degree in nursing and at least one year in public health nursing.

Applicants must apply at the Wayne County Civil Service Department, or, contact Miss Amalia Krause, director of Public Health Nursing, WO 5-2750.

Polio Strikes 29 in Area This Year

Harper Woods With 11 Cases Has Been Hardest Hit to Date

At the latest report submitted by Dr. Thomas Davies, Grosse Pointe Health Commissioner, polio struck in the Grosse Pointe-Harper Woods area, 29 times to date this year.

Hardest hit was Harper Woods, which reported 11 cases since the beginning of the year.

The Farms came second with eight cases; the Woods and the Park, revealed four apiece; and the City had two. So far, the Shores has escaped the disease.

Vaccine Effective

According to Dr. Davies, Salk vaccine, discovered by Dr. Jonas E. Salk, is working well. He disclosed that a preliminary report showed injection of the serum creates a blood immunity comparable to levels corresponding to those found in persons who have had a naturally acquired infection.

In tests conducted last year, persons injected with the Salk vaccine were examined seven months after they have been given treatment, and their bloodstream was found to still contain antibody; and when given "booster" shots, their immunization against polio mounted considerably.

Active Antibody

Dr. Davies stated that the Salk vaccine is very effective and creates permanent immunization. This is because it is an active antibody, as compared to gamma globulin, which is passive.

In distinguishing the difference, Dr. Davies explained that gamma globulin, a passive antibody, is not of a permanent nature and in time its immunization effect wears off, whereas that of the Salk vaccine does not.

John W. Reed Reports To Naval Air Station

PENSACOLA, Fla. (FATNC)—Among the Naval Aviation Cadets who recently reported to the U. S. Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Sauley Field, here, for formation flying training was John W. Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Weed of 380 Neff road, Grosse Pointe, Mich.

Hot-Rodders Hire Lawyer to Fight Woods Crackdown

Ticketed Driver Will Have Test Case Before Judge Goodrow on Oct. 7; Police Vow to Continue Arrests for Violations

Hot-rod car owners in the Woods have determined to make a legal issue of the community's crack-down on noisy hot-rod auto mufflers.

A test case, involving George Helwig, 22, of 1627 Anita, will be heard on October 7, before Woods Judge Don J. Goodrow.

George A. Beauchamp, of 11 Vernier road, an attorney, stated that he had been retained by Helwig and several other hot-rod owners, who have been ticketed since the campaign against the hot-rodgers was announced by Woods Director of Public Safety Vera Bailey two weeks ago, to carry the issue to court.

The controversy centers around Hollywood mufflers, which police assert make too much noise; the owners maintain the gadgets give their cars more power and greater gas economy.

Citizens Complain

Numerous complaints have been received by the Woods police department from irate citizens who protest the noise made by the hot-rodgers' vehicles.

It appeared that Director Bailey's crackdown was bearing fruit; when a noisy hot-rodger was ticketed recently, on complaint of a citizen, and the charges stuck and the driver was handed a stiff penalty.

Garages Help

Following the first week of a drive to rid the community of the hot-rod craze, Director Bailey disclosed that an average of four cars a day have been impounded.

A check of garages, in and around the Woods, brought out that many cars had been serviced and the peace disturbing mufflers and other noisy equipment had been removed and regulation equipment installed.

Law Violation

Not only is the using of Hollywood mufflers in the Woods a violation of a city ordinance, but also not having a muffler on the car, or having straight pipes bypassing the muffler.

Director Bailey has received considerable cooperation from parents of the hot-rod owners, and citizens at large of the community, in trying to get rid of the noisy vehicles.

Awards Results

The apparently successful efforts of the Woods police to remove the noisy nuisances from the city streets have brought praise from noisy weary citizenry, who have called in by phone or sent letters commending the department of its anti-noise campaign.

Director Bailey disclosed that the campaign against the hot-rodgers has been so successful that they are no longer known to be driving around the community's streets.

He said that he was anticipating the outcome of the legal contest in October.

Each school semester, the Police Traffic School Division, displays the traffic visual education slides to the Junior High and High School students. The Behind the Wheel Driving Course conducted at the High School receives a semi-annual traffic school with lectures.

The school safety work of the Grosse Pointe Police Department has paid dividends, in that not one single child has been killed going to and from school.

Children first starting school will be advised by the school safety directors as to the safest route to and from school. Precinct police officers will talk to these students.

Police officers assisted by the A.A.A. Safety Division will have periodical visual education classes and lectures to the student body and to the Safety Patrol Boys of each school.

Safety Patrol Boys will be stationed at essential intersections to guide the school child and assist the employed School Guards and police in their safety work.

Farms to Vote On Sewer, Water Lines

In Special Meeting Council Approves Program for $530,000 Project

Two bond issues, totalling $530,000, will be placed before Farms voters at the November election.

At a special meeting held on Monday, September 13, the Farms council, deeming the issues to be of vital importance, approved the presenting of a bond issue for $380,000, for storm sewer relief, and one for $150,000 for construction of a water intake station in the Municipal Park.

The importance of the sewer relief problem manifested itself on August 19, and again on August 25, when on both days, a brief, but heavy concentration of rain caused many homes to have flooded basements. Some of the homes had not experienced flooded basements for several years, and some had known this catastrophe for the first time.

200 Complaints

It was disclosed at the time that at least 200 persons had called the Municipal Hall to complain of flooded basements, and city officials were of the opinion that many more had the same trouble, but had not made it known.

Only a handful of people attended the special meeting, but those that were present, including residents bordering flooded areas, expressed their opinions regarding the need for storm sewer relief and backed the council's move to have the issue placed on the ballot in November.

Heavy Rainfalls

A period of concentrated rainfall poured down within that period of time, causing the basements to flood.

The August 25 rain lasted half as long as the previous one, but the intensity of rain equaled that of the other, registering more than an inch, (1.05).

Farms City Engineer Murray M. Smith disclosed that following the last rainfall, the Municipal Hall was kept busy answering 200 phone calls of persons whose basements had become flooded.

Third Opportunity

This marks the third time that the bond issue will be placed before the voters. The people turned down the issue twice in 1947, but now, the need for relief has become more acute, hence the matter will be placed before the people.

The bond issue, if passed, will bring relief to one-third of the homes in the Farms. There are approximately 3,500 homes in the community.

Most in need of storm sewer relief are the Vendome road area with 736 homes, and the Fisher-McKinley area, with 231 homes.

A breakdown of the expenditures, if the bond issue is approved are as follows: the Vendome Road area, $185,000; Fisher-McKinley area, $130,000; Lake Shore overflows, $35,000; and

Opening of School Brings Increased Safety Efforts

The Police Departments of the Grosse Pointes are pointing their safety efforts to the opening of the school term.

Those departments having civilian school crossing guards have held meetings with these employees on the emphasis of safety, which is the School Guards' responsibility.

Officers of each department will direct their enforcement in the area of the schools, emphasizing the time periods when the children are going to and from school.

Children first starting school will be advised by the school safety directors as to the safest route to and from school. Precinct police officers will talk to these students.

Police officers assisted by the A.A.A. Safety Division will have periodical visual education classes and lectures to the student body and to the Safety Patrol Boys of each school.

Safety Patrol Boys will be stationed at essential intersections to guide the school child and assist the employed School Guards and police in their safety work.

13 Bicycles To be Auctioned

Bikes for all ages are numbered among the 13 to be offered for sale by the Grosse Pointe Farms police department on Saturday, Sept. 18.

Unclaimed bicycles and tricycles which police have recovered from streets where they have been abandoned will be auctioned to the highest bidder beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning at the police station, 90 Kerby Road.

This is the first sale of this kind in three years. The bicycles which are unclaimed and unlicensed so that they cannot be traced to their owners include 4 tricycles and 13 two wheelers.

They will go on exhibit two hours before the sale in front of the police station. All money received from the auction will be paid into the general fund of the City of Grosse Pointe Farms.

Work Begins On Farms Lot Despite Fight

Council Announces Improvement of Municipal Parking; To Cost $19,438

Work on the municipal parking lot on the north side of Kercheval, between McMillan and Muir roads, got under way with the approval of a bid by the Farms council on Tuesday, September 7.

The bid, $19,438, lowest of four submitted, was well below that of an estimated cost of $28,013.63, given to the council at a recent meeting by Farms City Engineer Murray Smith. The highest bid submitted, $27,235.50, came closest to the estimated figure.

On Monday, July 19, despite strong opposition from the business owners in the Kercheval-on-the-Hill business district, the Farms council furthered plans to improve the parking lot and unanimously agreed to finance the improvement through a special assessment levied at Kercheval business.

Asked for Delay

At the time, business owners asked for a two-month delay, so that further study of the plans could be made, but the council ignored the request and announced that it will go ahead with the plans and the special assessment.

Business owners then informed members of the council that if the city persists in going ahead with the project at their expense, there will be a legal battle.

Headless of the threat, the council gave its approval, and stipulated that property and firm owners on Kercheval will have 60 days within which to pay up their shares without being charged any interest.

To Fight Assessment

About three weeks ago, the Farms council was served with a notice of intention to commence action in Wayne County Circuit Court to enjoin the city from making collections and to void the special assessment which had been imposed on them (business men).

They stated also, that first and foremost they were interested in working out a solution to the overall off-street parking problem.

Completion of Field House Expected By End of Year

Plans are still incomplete for the dedication of the new Grosse Pointe High School Field House, but tentative arrangements call for the opening around Christmas time.

It was reported this week, however, that certain work difficulties might delay the completion of the project as much as three months.

At the present, workmen are putting the first beams in place for the roof and masonry work is supposed to be completed by the end of the month. After the bricklayers are out, subcontractors will move in to finish off the various fixtures and appointments.

According to the construction supervisor for the job, the summer was mild and excellent for working. "There were no unplanned holdups due to the weather."

Spokesmen for the Kreighoff Construction Company said that barring any undue tieup in the future, the building should be ready by January.

The one feared holdup that did not arise was the problem of loose ground for the foundation. When the high school was built back in the 20's, construction engineers had a difficult time with the quick sand and loose dirt hit when digging progressed.

Although loose in some spots, the construction foreman said that it was no major problem. "We had to go down a little deeper than usual in some spots, but I wouldn't say that it was anything out of the ordinary."

The old gym will still be used for all athletic purposes including the basketball games this winter. "It is highly improbable that any more than one or two games, if any at all will be played in the new gym this year," Principal Walter Clemmison said.

Bank Branch Now Open in Farms

Parking Lot

lem and requested the council to act on it immediately.

One of the main reasons that business opposed the Farms move, was that the city will benefit through substantial revenue from the lot's parking meters. But, they were assured by the council that parking will be free.

Willing to Meet Council
Members of the business group, through their attorney, stated that they were willing to meet with the council to discuss a practical and long term parking program satisfactory to both sides.

No court date has yet been set for the court battle, but when it comes and the Farms should lose, then funds for the lot improvement must be gotten elsewhere. But, come what may, the city officials are determined that the improvements shall be carried out.

Police Pay

stating that their pay, depending on income tax and other deductions amounts to about $75 a week take-home pay.

Only $3 a Week Added
They said also, that the 5 per cent increase adds only $3 a week to their pay, after all deductions. If their request is granted, the pay hike will reach to $5,174, which would be slightly above that of Detroit's five-year policemen who are getting $5,162 a year.

The committee appointed to study the problem are: City Manager Lane, Councilmen Robert McKean and Stephen Walker and Park Police Chief Arthur Louwers. The findings of the committee will be presented at a future council meeting.

Special Teacher Plan Explained

The special teacher education plan whereby Wayne County men and women with Liberal Arts college backgrounds can become certificated schoolteachers will be continued this fall, it was announced today by Dr. James W. Bushong, Superintendent of Schools in Grosse Pointe.

This is the cooperative southeastern Michigan plan which won county-wide attention when it was explained to a group of outstanding educators who met in Washington last month to discuss methods of solving the national teacher shortage.

The Wayne University cooperative plan was named the most practical and the United States Office of Education and other national and state agencies are urging that its format be adopted elsewhere.

The program offers men and women with bachelor degrees or at least three years of successful academic work at an accredited college an opportunity to complete the required courses, workshops, and in-school teaching needed for a Michigan teaching certificate in less time than is ordinarily needed.

An intensive Teacher Education Program in Royal Oak has already been authorized. The workshop will be located in the Longfellow Elementary School, Eleven Mile road and Maxwell, near Woodward avenue.

If the number of interested teacher candidates is large enough, centers will be established elsewhere in the greater metropolitan area.

This program received its impetus from a number of southeastern Michigan superintendents who indicated their belief that there were many civic-minded, intelligent women residing in or near their school district, who had already had three or more years of college work but who had not had the professional preparation needed for employment in this field.

Residents of Wayne County interested in participating in this intensive program can get application forms and further information from Dr. J. Frank Campbell, Coordinator of Off-Campus Programs, in Room 121, Main Building, College of Education, Wayne University, Detroit 1, Michigan. He can be reached by telephone at TE 1-1450, Extension 536.

PTA groups, university women's clubs, and similar organizations may obtain information for their members from the university of through local school officials.

A good reputation always proves to be good business capital.

Ford Motor Co. Official Dies in Pointe Home

Funeral services for A. K. Mills III, 52, director of the Ford Motor Co. archives, Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum, were held this Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Peter and St. Paul's Jesuit Church. Interment will be in New York.

Mr. Mills, of 294 Lincoln road, was found dead by a servant in his bedroom Sunday morning. Mr. Mills had been under doctor's care for a heart condition.

Joining the Ford Motor Co. in 1949 as director of public and employee relations for Ford International, Mr. Mills had wide experience prior to this post in promotional work and in the field of public and employee relations.

He directed the Ford Motor Co.'s 50th Anniversary Plans in 1933 as well as guiding Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum. He was graduated from the University of Missouri School of Journalism and later worked on the Kansas City Star.

He was the director of public relations for the famed aviatrix Amelia Earhart when she made her 1928 flight to England. He was an expert in aviation public relations and handled the press work for the first Admiral Byrd expedition to the Antarctic.

He next joined the public re-

Magazine, serving as the first European editor of Life in London.

During World War II, he served with the Air Force.

Mr. Mills is survived by his wife, Louise; two children, Pauline and Peter, and his mother, Mrs. A. K. Mills, of Webb City, Mo. Mrs. Mills and the children were visiting in New York City at the time of his untimely death.

Trenches Injure Church Lawn

The mounds of dirt and the cavernous trench that marred the spacious beauty of the Christ Church front lawn were nothing more than another necessary step towards the completion of the new Sunday school building.

Now only a bumpy scar of dirt, the trench was dug for the installation of water, gas and electrical lines.

The existing water main running from the municipal pipe to the church was enlarged from 1½ inches to three and extended into the new building; a gas main for heating purposes was also run from the present church to the new building and additional electrical cables were laid.

Only one major mishap occurred and that came on the first day of work, August 30, when a high pressure gas main was burst during the digging operations.

A mistake on the part of Consumers Power as to the placement of the main led to the trouble.

The main, running actually under the front walk up to the church, was said to run diagonally across the lawn. Hand digging at the estimated intersection of the trench and main uncovered nothing.

Digging with power tools was continued and the main was struck as the sidewalk was raised.

H. C. Curtis, sub-contractor for the excavation work, said that time schedules would not allow for further probing and hand digging for the main.

A sectional stop-cock was closed and the main was repaired immediately.

Except for this set-back, the contracting moved on schedule.

Planning Business Men's Fall Campaign

Scout Plans Set At Defer School

Scout Troop 147, sponsored by the Defer School PTA, will hold its first Fall meeting Thursday, September 16, 7:30 p.m. in the Scout Room at Defer School.

Stan Morrison, of 1007 Somerset, was host at a preliminary meeting where organizational changes were announced and program plans developed. In what may be one of its largest attended noonday meetings of the year, the Grosse Pointe Business Men's Association will be given details on the combined drive of the membership and advertising committees which will be waged early this Fall. The luncheon meeting, the first to be held in the Woods, will take place in the banquet room of the Howard Johnson's Restaurant, Thursday, September 30, at 12:15 o'clock. "Troop 147 Scouts compiled a new District high in troop and individual competitive events, plus an amazing record of individual advancement during their summer stay. The many accomplishments made by these boys will give other Scouts something to shoot at for many years." Carl Macpherson, Jr., was announced as assistant scoutmaster. Stan Harrett was appointed camping chairman. Stan Morrison, Grosse Pointe Community Commissioner, Paul Kolvoord, and Ted Wilner make up the Institutional Relations Committee.

Richard Staff Travels Far and Wide on Vacations

Richard School staff members, 23 in number, returned from varied vacations last week to welcome the 565 children for a new school year.

Some of them went to summer school to learn the new and better ways of working with boys and girls. Others had experiences in travel, recreation and relaxation. They returned refreshed and eager to carry on.

Among those who went to summer school are: Mrs. Betty Juennemann, Miss Lillian Koby, Mrs. Olive Stringer, Miss Sydney Snell and Miss Joyce Wiek, and Mr. William NoDen. Summer Schools represented in their attendance were: the University of Michigan, Wayne University and the New York State Teachers College. Mrs. Juennemann finished up her work for her A.M. degree. Miss Elsemu Nault taught in the local summer school held at Grosse Pointe High.

Several went to conferences and workshops of short duration. Mrs. Elizabeth attended a church conference. Mr. Sydney Power and Mr. Nate Anderson, of the custodial staff, went to a custodial workshop held at Michigan State College. Mr. Clarence Messner went to several conferences at the University of Michigan; a Writers Workshop, the school of Education week-long conference, a music educators' session, and a symposium dealing with the implications of the atom's age.

Engaging in the fascinating experiences of travel were six in number. Mrs. Lois Arends visited in the New England area. Mrs. Betty Juennemann and her new husband took their wedding trip to the Atlantic coastal area. Mrs. Patricia Birch, also recently married, and her husband traveled in the eastern part of the country. Mrs. Marian Schwaller visited in New York state. Miss Clara Blank traveled all the way to the Pacific coast, visiting with relatives in Stockton, California. Mr. Clarence Messner with his wife and son traveled in northern Michigan as far as the Isle Royale National Park, out in Lake Superior. There he assisted with the park naturalists program of outdoor nature education and gave an illustrated lecture to the guests at the Rock Harbor Lodge. Son Robert and two college pals packtripped out into the remote wilderness areas of Isle Royale. Daughter Diana worked with 26 teenagers at a church service project, painting a Navajo Indian School at Ramah, New Mexico.

A number of teachers relaxed at home or in nearby Detroit. Mrs. Jennie Dombrowski spent part of the summer at Bear Lake near Lewiston. Miss Rosalie Tomb vacationed at Lake Chemung and at Glen Lake. Miss Lillian Goodwyn was at her home in Saginaw.

Mrs. Letrice Petree, a newcomer to the staff, moved to Detroit from her former home in Okla-

George Essington Taken By Death

George E. (Tubby) Essington, 53, of 630 West road, prominent area executive and one of the most illustrious graduates of Ohio State University, died Saturday, September 11, following a heart attack.

Mr. Essington, a vice president of the Cadillac Color Plate Co. was dead on arrival at Detroit's Receiving Hospital. He was found by police slumped over the wheel of his car on West Jefferson, near Wayne.

A graduate of Ohio State University in 1924, Mr. Essington gained fame as drum major for the popular Ohio State Marching Band. His style of strutting set the pattern that most collegiate drum majors use today. His collegiate career was climaxed in 1924 when he was chosen Drum Major of the Year by the All American judge Walter Camp.

He was an active member of and belonged to the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, the Detroit Boat Club and The Players. He was born in Newark, Ohio.

Surviving are his wife, Leetha; a son, Kinder; a daughter, Mrs. F. A. Oversek, of Grosse Ile, and his mother, Mrs. U. K. Essington, of Grosse Pointe.

Funeral services were held today, September 16, with burial in White Chapel Cemetery.

Fireman Retires After 19 Years

Park Fire Sgt. Jack L. Burnett of 1875 Lochmoor, resigned from the Park Fire Department after 19 years of service. The resignation became effective on Wednesday, September 15.

Sgt. Burnett disclosed that he has accepted a position with a New York sales firm, and that he will handle the firm's products exclusively throughout Michigan and Ohio. His headquarters will be in Detroit.

He joined the Park Fire Department as a pipeman on October 7, 1936 and was promoted to sergeant on December 1, 1949.

Examinations for a fireman recruit will be held in the Park Municipal Building on Tuesday, September 21. Applications may be had from Park Fire Chief George de Caussin at the Fire Station Building.

College Receives Largest Gift

Alma College has just received a large gift from Mrs. Annie Reid Knox of Manchester, N. H., widow of the late Colonel Frank Knox, to finance the construction of a new administration building, according to an announcement made today by Dr. John Stanley Harker, President.

The new structure will be named the Reid-Knox Administration Building. The gift also covers the cost of all furnishings and modern office equipment, and in addition the landscaping of the campus in the immediate area.

Construction will start as soon as possible on the new structure which will be of colonial design and it is expected that the building will be completed in time for formal dedication ceremonies in conjunction with commencement exercises next June.

The Reid-Knox Building will be located in the center of the campus directly in front of the library and facing on Superior street.

The new structure will have three wings; one will include the President's offices and a beautiful large conference room, to be dedicated as the Colonel Frank Knox Board Room; the main wing will house the personnel offices including those of the dean of the college, the dean of women, the dean of men, the director of admissions, the college chaplain, and the registrar; the third wing will provide quarters for the business offices, public relations, publicity, and a mailing room.

The main corridor will have attractive cases in which the many awards and honors of Colonel Knox will be on permanent display.

Both Mrs. Knox and the late Colonel Knox attended Alma College and were members of the class of 1898. Dr. Harker stated that the gift of Mrs. Knox is the largest ever to be received from an alumna of the college.

what YOU should know about your child's eyes!

When a child lags behind in school it's easy to assume he's to blame. So often it's not his fault—it's because he can't see well.

And yet he doesn't know it; if he's always seen things blurry, he thinks it's natural and that all people see that way! Even those who do well in school may be straining their nerves and eye muscles to make up for ocular defects. Eventually headaches occur, or "upset stomach."

Play safe with your loved ones. See that they get a thorough professional eye examination before they start back to school this Fall.

To aid parents in recognizing and understanding the danger signs and results of poor vision, Johnston Optical Co. is offering a booklet, "What You Should Know About Your Child's Eyes" to the public without charge. To obtain the booklet, write or call the

World Politics Study To Resume at Library

How much freedom can a democracy afford? Can we defeat unacceptable ideologies without resorting to methods we despise? Does a worthy end in international affairs justify harsh means? These and other curiously basic questions will be discussed in the World Politics group starting Tuesday evening, October 5, at the Central Library, Kercheval and Fisher.

The group, to meet for two hour sessions on ten successive Tuesdays, is under the local sponsorship of the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Library. The materials and national direction of the course are under the auspices of the American Foundation for Political Education.

The Foundation, whose activities are financed partly by participants' fees but largely by a grant from the Fund for Adult Education, was the result of a group of business and professional men deciding to make a positive move against what they conceived to be one of the weak points of our American democracy—the lag in political thinking of many otherwise highly literate adults.

It has thus set up a program not designed primarily to convey information but instead geared to emphasize critical reading, reflection, and stimulating exchange of opinion.

Each of the weekly sessions is based on a group of readings totaling about sixty pages. Each weekly quota includes a number of pertinent selections from political leaders whose views—whether tasteful or distasteful—represent one stand on a basic question of national or international policy.

The two discussion leaders do not promote their own views; rather they attempt to facilitate a joint inquiry from which each individual will draw his own conclusions.

Among the Pointers who have participated in past World Politics groups are: Mr. and Mrs. Waid McKnight, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Rankin, Rev. William Shoberg, Mr. and Mrs. Marion K. Kellogg, Miss Helen Nurnberger, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tilley, Mrs. Fred T. Murphy, Mr. Roger McCaig, Mr. and Mrs. John Garlinghouse, Miss Leona Weier, Mr. and Mrs. Kneeland Welch, Mrs. William T. Krebs, Mr. George Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Parcels, Jr., Mr. Arthur Dowell, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Barr, and Mr. C. W. Hooper.

The fee for the course, $10, includes a set of readings which the participant retains; couples are given a special rate of $15 for which they share one set of books.

A brochure describing the objectives, methods, and content of World Politics is available at any one of the three Grosse Pointe libraries, with further information available from Mr. Jones or Miss Preuthun at the Central Library. Advance reservations may be made with them or at the first session on Tuesday, October 5, at 8 p.m. in the Friends Room at the Central Library.

This fall for the first time a new course will be offered for those who have previously attended the World Politics series. The topic will be United States Foreign Policy and the meetings will be held each Monday for ten weeks starting October 4.

Bond Issue on Ballot

 various neighborhood areas, $50,000.

Water Intake Station
 The bond issue of $150,000 will be used for the construction of a water intake station in the Municipal Park, which is imperative because of a water supply agreement with Highland Park.

The station will increase the intake capacity of raw (lake) water to help alleviate the summer water shortage, but will not solve the problem entirely.

Problem Not Solved
 Mr. Smith stated that this problem will not be solved and there will not be sufficient water until the City, which is serviced by the Farms, begins to draw all of its water from Detroit. This, he said, should be in about two more years.

Farms City Clerk Harry Furton revealed that the $380,000 bond issue will be paid for through a slight increase in taxes. He stated that there is enough room in the tax rate, which has a limit of $20 per $1,000 assessed valuation, to handle this very neatly.

Farms property owners now pay a tax of $15.42 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

He also said that the $150,000 bond issue will be paid out of the city's water revenue. Payments on both issues will be spread over a period of years, with the length of time to be determined by the council, when and if the voters approve passage.

Coach Service Express to Loop

An express coach service to downtown Detroit, with a seat for every rider and providing non-stop transportation on Jefferson Avenue between Grand Boulevard and Grand Circus Park, went in to operation Monday.

The route follows Jefferson to Woodward to Grand Circus Park and return down Woodward and out Jefferson.

Every bus will automatically begin express operations (no more passengers will board) as soon as the seats are filled.

The express service will pick up passengers on the in-bound trip between Alter Road and Grand Boulevard. Passengers may get off at any point beyond Congress and Woodward.

On the out-bound trip, passengers may board at any point between Grand Circus Park and the corner of Jefferson and Woodward.

First AM express bus leaves Alter Road on Jefferson at 7:00 a.m. Last bus at 8:45 a.m.

First PM bus leaves Grand Circus Park at 4:30 p.m. Last bus at 5:45 p.m.

The fare will be the regular DSR express fare: twenty-five cents or a transfer and five cents.

The Jefferson line will continue to operate as usual. For further information call WO 2-9233.

Eight thousand take-ones explaining the new service will be distributed on the Jefferson line and on other lines in the area.

Twenty-two thousand brochures on the service will go by direct mail to homes and offices in the area served by the Jefferson line.

Fire Losses in Pointe

shock safety and fire; 4. When an electric cord or appliance needs repairs, don't let a "home handyman" tinker it. Take it to an electrician.

5. Extension and repairs to wiring is also a job for a professional. Wiring done by amateurs has caused many fires; and, 6. Don't string wires over hooks and around nails, or run them under rugs where they may be walked on. Insulation will break or wear out.

Child Fire Deaths

The National Board of Fire Underwriters, after studying numerous newspaper clippings of hundreds of fires, noted the child deaths resulting from fires are increasing. Estimates indicate that today, fire claims the lives of about 3,000 youngsters under 14 years of age.

Stress is placed on the following rules: 1. Never leave children home alone. In some cases, older children have caused fires by playing with matches.

2. Keep your home fire safe, as smoke and deadly gases have killed children, and sometimes parents, before the fire could warn them; and 3. Teach children what to do in case of fire.

Show your children at least two ways to get out of the house from their bedrooms. Wake the children at night for this "drill" they may need to remember instructions when they are foggy with sleep.

Check your home for fire hazards today. Don't wait for Fire Prevention Week, which is set for October 3-9.

If you have problems or questions regarding fire safety or fire preventions, call your local fire departments, whose members will be glad to give you any information desired.

The Park Fire Department number is VA. 2-6400; the City, TU. 5-2950; the Farms, TU. 5-1000; the Shores, TU. 1-5500; and the Woods, TU. 5-1900.

Clinic Services Being Extended

Pointe members of Detroit
League for Planned Parenthood met Sept. 14 at the Engineers
Club for luncheon and to plan for the extension of the group's clinic services. The extension is necessary to meet the rapidly growing patient load.

Mrs. Virginia W. Stinson, chairman of the League's Fund Raising Campaign, introduced the speaker, Ronald F. Boardman, vice president of the City National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago.

The speaker is a member of the League's National Board and the Board of the Chicago Planned Parenthood League. He highlighted the problems of a rapidly growing health service and outline plans for meeting this need.

Mrs. Stinson says that the six clinics located in Detroit hospitals offer health services to patients. During the last year, doctor's referrals for this service have greatly increased and the clinics are filled for weeks in advance.

Planned Parenthood recently has opened an additional clinic at the Northwest Branch of Grace Hospital. The group maintains clinics also at Woman's,
Grace and Harper Hospitals and North End Clinic.

The hospitals' cooperation in making space available has contributed to the work of the medical staff in seeing patients quickly and efficiently.

Supper Shows Begin At Detroit Athletic Club

Pointers Will be on Hand for First of Club's Shows Next Thursday; Metropolitan Soprano Jean Fenn Stars in the First; Football Specials Arranged

Many Pointe members of the Detroit Athletic Club have sights set on the upcoming dinner-show gala which will inaugurate the DAC's fall and winter social season.

The festive dinner-show, first of the club's 1954-55 series for members and their guests, will open on Thursday, Sept. 23, and will continue for the nine evenings (excluding Sunday) through Oct. 2.

Groups and foursomes will gather around 7 o'clock for dinner and dancing. The show will be presented at 10 p.m., and in the manner of these popular festivities, the evening will wind up with dancing.

Lovely Jean Fenn, Metropolitan Opera soprano, will be the bright luminary of the first show. Miss Fenn sang in Detroit's Grand Opera Festival last November. A week later she made her debut at the Met in the role of Musetta in "La Boheme."

Sharing the DAC's double bill will be Paul Sydel with his dog act.

Background music for the show as well as for dancing will be in the hands of Leo Reisman and his Orchestra. The famous Reisman Band will come into the DAC on Sept. 20 for an extended stay, to play for dancing in the main dining room and to present some of their wonderful "just for listening" music.

Among Pointers who have reserved tables for the Sept. 23 dinner-show opener are Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Prevoy, Mr. and Mrs. C. Olaf Talla, the Fay L. Seeleys, the Russell D. Van Houtens, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Wilson, the David T. Sicksteels, the Edwin Kriehoffs and Mr. and Mrs. Herman C. Joos.

A few of those with reservations for one or another of the following evenings are the Charles M. Fosters, the Albert Waltons, the Arthur G. Kirchners, the Ralph R. Irwins, the Adolph Jacobsons, the John T. Condons, Dr. and Mrs. Fred O. Lepley, the Taylor H. Seebers, the William F. Rossiter and the Hans A. Ernes.

Another DAC series will start on Oct. 3 when the Sunday afternoon mixed family swimming get-togethers will get under way for the fall and winter.

These Sunday sessions from 2 to 5 o'clock at the pool are just for the fun of swimming and they bring together the aquatic-minded DAC members and their respective wives, sons and daughters.

Among "regulars" at these Sunday swims are the Charles L. Langs, the Frederick K. Cods, the David Scott Burnetts, the Bill O. Brinks, the Calvin Gauss, Jr., the Henry Forsters, Jr., the Thomas J. Morans, Jr., and A. H. Moormans, Jr., with their families.

The DAC has arranged to make Pullman reservations for its members on the special football trains to Ann Arbor for each of the University of Michigan's home games.

Football special trains will leave the Union Station at Port and Third Sts. at 12 o'clock, noon, for the October games and at 11:30 a.m. for the November games.

GROSSE POINTE, MICHIGAN

Pioneer Resident in Pointe, Mrs. Lucy Wingard, 92, Dies

One of Grosse Pointe's oldest residents, Mrs. Lucy Ann Wingard, died Sunday, Sept. 12 in her home at 1387 Bishop road.

Services were held Wednesday, Sept. 15 at 10 o'clock in St. Clare of Montefalco Church. On this day Mrs. Wingard would have celebrated her 93rd birthday.

News readers will remember Mrs. Wingard's reminiscences of the Pointe in the days when her family farmed here. As Pointer of Interest in the Sept. 20, 1951 issue she recalled her grandfather's tales of battles with the Indians on Lake St. Clair under their famous chief, Pontiac.

She was the youngest of 13 children born to Grosse Pointe's first justice of the peace, Augustus A. Delmas and Felicitia Goulin.

She often journeyed with her father into Detroit to sell farm produce at the market where the County Building now stands. The Delmas' land, a tract granted by the government, included the area from St. Clair to Gratiot roads from the lake to Gratiot avenue.

Mrs. Wingard was married in Dearborn, July 3, 1875, and she and her husband wished to travel to Grosse Pointe for their wedding trip but it was so far that they stayed in Detroit.

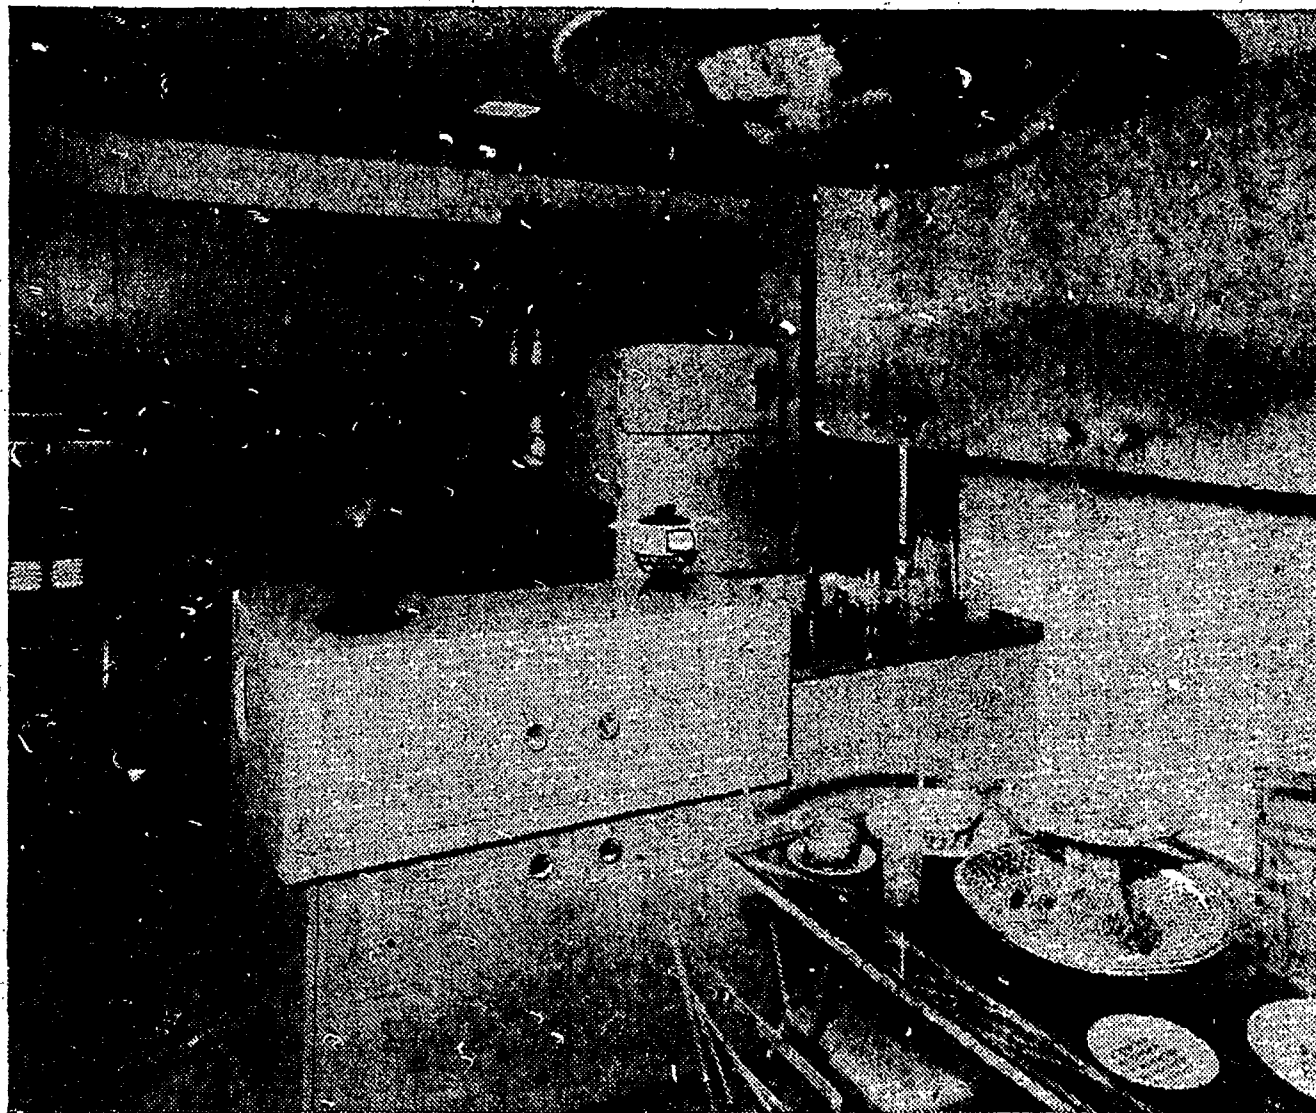

She is survived by her daughter, Miss Estella Wingard, her grandson, John Schiabe and her great-grandchildren, John and Lucy Schiabe.

Announce Birth

A seven-pound, 6-ounce son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Beyer, Jr., 308 Merriweather Road, Grosse Pointe, at St. John's Hospital, Sept. 10.

The Beyers have named their first child Daniel Gordon. He is the first grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gordon Sickels, 863 Grand Marais Road, Grosse Pointe. Mrs. Beyer is the former Barbara Jean Sickels.

Sixth Annual Holiday House Opens

At the rate of 2,500 persons per day, visitors are enthusing over Cox & Baker's Sixth Annual Holiday House, 440 Barclay road, Grosse Pointe Farms. The exciting modern home, all one floor, was designed by William Baker, architect for Cox & Baker, and has been furnished by Grinnell's. The home's living room, shown here, has a color scheme of turquoise and mocha accented in lemon yellow and rouge.

Every Day's a Holiday In 1954 Holiday House

Those planning to build new homes, some on the verge of re-doing present homes, and others who just want to dream as guests up at 440 Barclay road, in Grosse Pointe Farms, to see Cox & Baker's sixth annual Holiday House.

The model contemporary home, designed for gracious living, and dedicated to making every day a holiday is being visited at the rate of 2,500 persons per day. It is open daily and Sunday from noon to 8:30 p.m. and on Saturdays from noon to 5:30 p.m.

William Baker, architect for Cox & Baker, has set another trend with his 1954 Holiday House. For instance the high ceiling of yesterday has been heightened (to 20 feet) in the living room. With deft touch, architect Baker combines atomic age glass walls and fireplaces. Holiday House is a low, one-floor home of brick and stone trimmed in soft grey-green. Visitors enter it over a ledge-rock terrace to find themselves in a wide and attractive foyer, its multi-toned slate floor bound to please artistic eyes as well as the practical lady of the house.

The studio living room, boasting that high ceiling has been decorated by Grinnell's, who have done all the furnishings in turquoise and mocha tones accented in lemon yellow and rouge. Sheer traverse draperies, in blue and mocha and white, are used on one entire wall of slatted architectural glass (assuring privacy even when the curtains are not drawn).

Bright and livable colors, the newest in furniture designs are to be found in all the rooms of Holiday House which has dining zone, activities room (converted by flick of fingers to guest room), a miracle kitchen so scientifically planned it's a joy, two bedrooms, two baths and a patio.

The public is cordially invited to pay a visit, or two or three, to Holiday House from now through October 16. It is most easily reached by driving out Mack, one-quarter mile beyond Moross road to Colonial Farms. Turn right on Lexington and left onto Barclay road. Holiday House is on the left-hand side of the curving street.

Red Cross Urges Women To Join Home Nursing

This is the week to enroll in a Red Cross home nursing class, Dr. Joseph G. Molner, commissioner of health, suggests. Women should take advantage of this opportunity to be better prepared to meet any health emergency, including some which might occur in relation to civil defense.

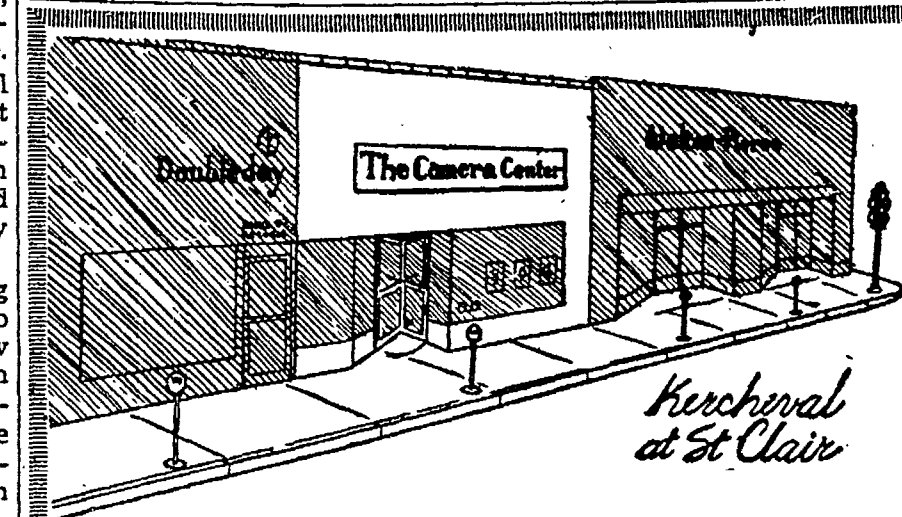

To improve your own mental health, Dr. Molner advises that you treat yourself to the assurance and personal satisfaction that comes from being prepared to serve both your own family and your neighbors.

In a Red Cross home nursing class, you will learn what to do before the doctor comes and how to give simple treatments which he orders. You will learn a number of skills which add to the comfort of anyone who must remain in bed and you will learn what is necessary to protect children from catching diseases.

Classes in Red Cross home nursing are taught by graduate registered nurses. You may join a class that meets either in the morning or the afternoon. The classes last for two hours and meet once a week for a period of seven weeks. They are held in a number of centers including, St. Clair Community Center, 4535 Fairview; Lasky Community Center, 13200 Fenelon; Kronk Community Center, 5555 McGraw; Marygrove College, 8425 McNichols; Northwest Health Center, 14585 Greenfield. What Makes a Hot-Rodder?

Life is full of puzzling situations and to make any headway at all in an attempt to understand why people act as they do requires the extended efforts of thousands of psychologists, psychiatrists and others whose work leads them to study the behavior of man.

We have exhibitionists who find flagpoles serving their peculiarities; others whose unnatural bent is expressed in fantastic garb, divergent hair arrangements, or affected speaking. We probably could find reasons for all these actions, although it does take some doing, but the one peculiarity in the makeup of man that completely eludes us is the addiction to hot-rods. The hot-rodder is a singular animal, worthy of study by great minds with a doctoral thesis as the object.

What makes a hot-rodder? We have probed the depths of our mind and devoted hours of observation to this peculiarity, but though defeat comes hard we must admit that the blank wall is there before us. The understanding of the hot-rodder, not unlike the mathematical theories of Einstein, will probably remain throughout the ages as one of man's most perplexing problems.

Attention on this matter has been focused by the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Department. An officer of the law, knowing that he must act in the most direct manner to achieve results, solves the problem by going to the source of the trouble and, like a nurse, cuts it out. The Woods police, plagued by these noisy contraptions, have started a crack down that has brought immediate results. These results may not be lasting and they certainly won't answer the questions that are still in the minds of those who have a deeper interest in the actions of man, but there appears to be no other solution at this time.

When a surgeon, to which we previously referred, finds a gall bladder acting up he cuts it out. The finest medical minds have never been able to determine the exact function of the gall bladder, nor what exact purpose, if any, this organ serves. He knows that from this troubled spot other complications might arise and so he takes the most effective steps his knowledge of the situation permits him to. He cuts it out.

A policeman, we are certain, has no acceptable explanation to the actions of the hot-rodder and so he follows the only course of action that he knows will remedy the situation. One young man, protesting this decisive treatment he received at the hands of the Woods policemen, stopped by this office to claim that "cops are jerks" and proclaimed that something should be done about it. He related that he spent $50 "on my heap" to get an elaborate set of "twin exhausts." "And these guys," he reported, "ordered me to take them off. Ain't this a free country?"

Although it was a busy day, we spent the better part of an hour observing this young man. We felt a little vicariously in having this specimen directly before us. Almost, you might say, at our mercy. In a giddy moment, we felt like one of the slightly cracked scientists Hollywood and TV have brought to prominence who finds an innocent specimen in his secluded laboratory and who has volunteered to sacrifice his mind to further some mad cause.

We put the question to him, simply: Why do you want to make so much racket with your car? He went into an explanation of the innards of the vehicle, strayed a bit back into his condemnation of policemen, and ended up by asking how far Henry Ford would have gone had the neighbors on Bagley (as they did) raised such a commotion over the noise of the horseless carriage. The young man left, convinced that our sympathy is entirely with the policemen, which is true, and that we had no understanding at all of modern youth, which is not true. We felt that we had flubbed a great opportunity to find an answer to this perplexing matter and that never again would we have the chance to study a hot-rodder at first hand.

The offended youth came to us seeking solace and he left unsatisfied, we are sure. If this will give him any comfort, we would like him to know that his visit sorely troubled our day and dropped us deeper into that unknown abyss populated by that most peculiar individual, the hot-rodder.

Grosse Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

"When you wear a cloudy collar and a shirt that isn't white, And you cannot sleep for thinking how you'll reach tomorrow night, You may be a man of sorrows, and on speaking terms with Care, And as yet be unacquainted with the Demon of Despair; But I rather think that nothing beats the trouble on your mind Like the knowledge that your trousers badly need a patch behind."

(Henry Lawson)

One of things we have always wished would happen to us before we leave this mortal coil . . . is that someone, anyone at all, would remember us in his or her will! So far nothing has happened, but if and when it does, we hope it won't turn out like the one we read recently in which a local woman was the legatee. The letter from the lawyers to this woman read (in part) as follows:

"Dear Mrs. Blank, I am writing this letter to all the persons to whom bequests were made in the will of Mrs. Soandso in the purpose of explaining that there will be some delay in the closing of this estate because of the following assets in the estate." (There followed a list of bonds, giving their par value as of 1925 . . . and after each listed bond was the notation, "No Value.")

After a lengthy explanation of nothing in legal talk, came this paragraph: "We are sorry for the difficulty which has arisen because of these bonds but we feel that you would want the matter disposed of so as to avoid future problems. We will do all we can to expedite the closing of the estate as soon as the information as to the validation of these bonds has been received. Of course, if the bonds are not validated they have no value and then there is no problem."

In short, our local gal is just where she started!

No doubt you have noticed that all novels and many t-v shows are covered by the sentence, "Any similarity between characters in this book and any persons living or dead is purely coincidental. All characters are fictitious." Well, now, that's just fine. That means if you name a character Joe Doakes and there happens to actually be a Joe Doakes, he can't sue the writers and publishers because of that sentence in small print. HOWEVER, a newspaper gal "don't got" that kind of a break. For example, if we wish to tell a story and someone in it has to have a name to make the tale plausible, we have to make up one. Our pet is Mrs. Soandso . . . and we can only hope that some fine day a real Mrs. Soandso won't haul off and give us trouble.

We have toyed with using several names in our column that we figured couldn't POSSIBLY belong to anyone but sometimes we've been fooled. Take for example, if YOU were a writer . . . wouldn't you think you might be safe using the name Fideus Blunk? Well, you wouldn't be safe at all because it belongs to one of the production men on the Dave Garroway program. "Today," We had to look twice to be sure . . . and we were right. Why we didn't go into the plumbing business is still a mystery to us, but NO, we have to be creative yet and get calls from lawyers!

Remember ye old chain letters that were going around like wild fire some years back? Some were for friendship, some for dough and some just gotten up by people who have nothing else to do. The latest one we've heard about is a "recipe" chain letter. You get a new recipe to mail to ten people and each of those people send out another recipe, etc., etc., etc. Mathematically (if everyone does what she is supposed to do) thousands of people end up with a batch of new recipes. GEE what fun!!! Anyway, a local woman gave us the one SHE received in the mail last week as part of the chain deal. Her's read, very simply: "My favorite recipe . . . Gin and Tonic." That ought to keep the chain gang quiet for awhile!

Last Sunday we had the extreme pleasure . . . and we MEAN extreme . . . of meeting a long time favorite movie and t-v star, Preston Foster . . . and his beautiful wife. Mr. Foster was in town in connection with his weekly t-v show, "Waterfront," which is sponsored by Stroh's beer, and can be seen every Tuesday night at ten (or ten-thirty) on channel 7. It is one of the best half-hour programs we've seen in many moons and we hope it goes on forever.

To get back to Mr. Foster, the star of the series, we wangled an invitation to meet him for a couple of reasons . . . one: we've ALWAYS admired him, and two: we are a bobby soxer at heart when it comes to show people. Preston Foster did NOT let us down. In the first place he LOOKS just like he does on the screen . . . but we were mostly impressed with his friendly manner and the feeling one gets that he LIKES people. He hasn't one ounce of "ham" in his makeup . . . a refreshing thing to encounter in any big movie star. He might be your next door neighbor dropping in to share a beer (Stroh's, of course!) or the guy across the street asking how your corn crop is doing. You feel at home with him the minute you shake hands . . . which we did for quite a few minutes . . . we were that happy to meet him.

Before we leave Mr. Foster (and we wish we didn't have to), it is only fitting to tell his many fans that his charming wife is as delightful as he is and a beauty worthy of the Miss America title. In spite of their glamour . . . they are "folks" . . . and the kind you welcome into your livingroom. We are sorry to see them leave town, but at least we can see Mr. Foster every Tuesday on our t-v screen. Incidentally, the woman who plays the part of his wife in "Waterfront" is the well remembered Lois Moran. Take a look-see folks . . .

What Goes On at Your Library

By Jean Taylor

New shoots are a sign of a healthy plant, our gardening friends tell us. By the same token, we believe a new member on our staff now and then makes for a stronger, better balanced whole. Each one brings with him new ideas and a fresh viewpoint which we welcome.

We have had several additions to library personnel during the last six months and this September there has been some transfer of staff members from one library to another. We should like to have our library users know the new people who serve them at their library.

Miss Irene Mischler, while not brand new, is a relative newcomer. A native of Bloomington, Indiana, Miss Mischler received her Bachelor of Education from Illinois State Normal College and a graduate degree in Library Science from the University of Illinois. She worked for a time in the Public Library, Saginaw, Michigan and before coming to Grosse Pointe was connected with the Indianapolis Public Library.

You will find her frequently at the Readers Advisor's desk in the Central Library. The section set aside for young adults is Miss Mischler's special province. She knows what teen agers like and is always on the lookout for something new in their field.

In the children's room at Central is a brand new face and such a merry countenance it is, the small fry already regard Miss Jacqueline Hosking as an old friend.

Miss Hosking received her Bachelor of Arts from the University of Western Ontario and a Bachelor of Library Science from the University of Toronto. She comes to us from the Windsor Public Library's children's department.

New to us last month is Miss Peggy Lutton who works in the Book Processing Department. Miss Lutton is a graduate of the Grosse Pointe High School and has been a resident of Grosse Pointe Farms since she entered ninth grade. At Michigan State her interest centered about TV and writing. She has literary aspirations and thinks scribbling is fun even if it's hard work.

We were sorry to lose Mrs. Beverly Olney from the circulation department at Central. Mrs. Olney came to us from Florida, a bride of only a few weeks, when the new building was opened. We lost her to Indiana this summer when her husband moved to that state.

Curiously enough her replacement is another Beverly, also a bride of only a few weeks. Mrs. Beverly Niedermiller, formerly a teacher in Illinois, has a good-natured air that both borrowers and staff find contagious.

Another newcomer at the cir-ulation desk is Mrs. Helen Doherty. A resident of St. Clair Shores, Mrs. Doherty is a busy and conscientious mother with son, Philip, a high school senior, and Susan, who has just entered fifth grade.

Ushers of the Woods Branch will be interested in knowing Miss Suzanne Souder, who although not new to the library system, was formerly at Central. Miss Souder gave many book talks in this community last year. A versatile young woman, she handles water skis and a camera with equal dexterity.

Mrs. Betty Seifert has moved from the Park Branch to Central where she tells us she meets many of her former friends since there is considerable reciprocity between the two libraries.

All three libraries would be badly crippled without the help during after-school hours of several high school students. Both boys and girls have served as student helpers. At the present time, purely by happenstance, we have only young femmes serving in this capacity and a capable group they are.

All five are twelfth grade students. Two are from Grosse Pointe High, June Stock who works at the Park Branch and Janet Wilson who works at Central. Also at Central is Regina Knock from St. Paul School. Two St. Ambrose students are at the Woods Branch, Mary Jane Wilson and Barbara Goulette.

It is interesting that Barbara's mother, formerly Ruth Bundy, worked in the first public library in Grosse Pointe, a Wayne Municipal station in the Shores Municipal Building and later at what was then known as the Village Branch on Waterloo.

Shock

By Fred Kopp, R. Ph.

Shock often occurs after severe injury. Or may be brought on by loss of blood, exposure, or great emotional stress.

It is a condition that can cause death! Few people realize this, nor do they know how to recognize shock or treat it.

Doctors describe the shock patient as being cold and clammy, pale with very little pulse. First aid treatment consists of applying warmth quickly, keeping the patient in a horizontal position.

A doctor's aid should be enlisted as quickly as possible when such emergencies occur. Depend on a trusted druggist to supply your medical needs promptly.

Specializing in Grosse Pointe Real Estate

Requirements:—

Well educated, between 25 and 45 years of age. A gentleman — naturally inclined to give courteous service to customers and to be generous in exchanging information with his fellow-workers. We have found that this quality, when coupled with our unusual selling plan, is likely to get results. Not required, although sometimes desirable, is previous real estate experience.

During the first eight months of 1954 about $400,000 per month in Grosse Pointe Real Estate was purchased through our eleven salesmen. Should you prove only an average producer, you should earn around $10,000.00 a year.

Office frictions are practically non-existent due to:—1) High grade personnel, 2) Office regulations carefully developed by the group over many years, 3) The fact that the management does but little selling.

Kim Henry Makes Debut

Mrs. Thomas P. Henry introduced her daughter, Kim, to society at a reception and tea in the family home on Ridge road last Thursday afternoon.

Guests were received in the drawing room where mother and debutante stood before an antique breakfast. Pink rapture roses, carnations and greens were used in the room.

Kim was gowned in a bouffant waltz length frock of pink peau de soie, with pearls, rhinestones and bugle beads embroidered on the snug bodice and scattered over the full skirt.

Her sweetheart roses and ivy were the gift of her grandfather, Edgar R. Ailes.

Mrs. Henry greeted the guests in light pearl gray, silk satin brocade.

Shaded yellow blossoms were used in the dining room and on the terrace of the home.

The tea table was laid with gold satin cloth under Pointe de Venise. A crystal and silver epergne was arranged with yellow flowers and lemons, limes and grapes.

In the gardens a gay marquee attracted guests to its punch bowl.

Assisting Mrs. Henry at the debut were Kim's godmothers, Mrs. Merrill O. Bates and Mrs. Edward N. Hartwick; and Mrs. Edgar R. Ailes, Mrs. E. H. Tucker, Mrs. Robert McKean and Mrs. Carsten Tiedeman.

They all wore corsages of gardenias.

The deb's assistants wore wristlets of pink carnations at the party.

They included her cousin, Brooke Tucker, Jean Vance, Kitie Smith, Helen Frost, Rosemary Chesbrough, Jennie Hagen and Lillian McMath.

Junior assistants were the deb's younger sister, Pamela, and Ann Hartzell.

Following the afternoon party, Mr. and Mrs. Henry entertained at a family dinner in the Country Club.

Kim left Sunday for Ann Arbor, where she will study this winter at the University of Michigan.

To Study at Academy

Mary Jo Olp will bid goodbye to her parents, the M. Robert Olps, of Harvard Road, this week, and be off to Monroe, Mich. There she will begin her first year as a student at St. Mary's Academy.

Homemakers May Confuse Soaps and Detergents

That often-used phrase "soaps and other detergents" is confusing to homemakers.

"To clear up the confusion, Lucille Ketchum, Extension home management specialist at Michigan State College, offers this explanation:

A detergent, by definition, is a cleansing agent. Soap is a detergent. So is water. And so are the many special cleansing agents you can buy.

But the word "detergent" has come to be widely used to indicate a particular class of cleansers which are really synthetic detergents.

Synthetic detergents are manufactured by complicated chemical processes—in contrast to soap, which is made simply by combining fat, lye and water in the right proportions.

The term "synthetic detergents" seemed complicated for everyday use. So we fell into the habit of saying "detergents" to designate the special group of manufactured products.

But a fairly new word, which you may have seen, is "syndet"—a good word to describe a synthetic detergent.

Syndets are convenient to use in hard water because they don't combine with the minerals (as soap does) to form soap scum or curd—the source of that "tattle-tale gray" we used to talk about.

Because you don't use a soap curd with syndets, they are easier to rinse out. The greater ease of rinsing makes syndets in general more satisfactory for use in an automatic washer—and easy to use in any washer.

But many syndets produce a great deal of suds. And suds may give trouble in an automatic washer, causing what manufacturers call a "suds lock."

So manufacturers went a step further and gave us low-sudsing syndets. Though we have always associated suds with cleansing, it is a fact that the low-sudsing kind of syndet may do as good a job as a high-sudsing syndet.

In spite of syndet advantages, some of us still stick to soap for certain jobs.

Soap is best for removing soil from fabrics—IF used in soft or softened water.

If you live in a hard water area, you would choose between using a syndet or using softened water and a soap. The best answer for softening water is a softening system installed in your home. Next best is the use of a non-precipitating water softener, or "water conditioner" as they are often called.

Also—trisodium phosphate is an old standby as a water softener and cleanser. And it is the principal ingredient in many commercial softeners. BUT—although it is an excellent softener, it leaves a precipitate in the water which gives it a white cloudiness. Being quite alkaline, too, these softeners are hard on colors and on some fabrics—especially if you use too much.

Whichever kind of softener you use, you must use it in the first rinse—or in the automatic washer's deep rinse—as well as in the wash water, to get good results.

It is generally all up with a man when he starts going down hill.

Dublin Players To Open Series

The world renowned Dublin Players will open the 28th consecutive season of Detroit Town Hall, Wednesday morning, October 13, at 11 o'clock in Finner's Theatre: "Pygmalion", classic comedy, will be presented by the Company which comes directly from the famous Abbey and Gate Theatres in Dublin.

Eighteen varied programs are to be given under Town Hall sponsorship during the fall and winter season.

Among the speakers who will talk on world and national affairs are Inez Robb, syndicated columnist; Congressman Douglas R. Stringfellow, of Utah; General W. H. Wilbur, former combat officer and internationally known diplomat; William H. Stringer, Washington Bureau Chief of Christian Science Monitor, and William F. Buckley, author of "God and Man at Yale" who will discuss modern education.

Featured under the heading of entertainment are Edward Weeks editor of Atlantic Monthly magazine; Ogden Nash, noted humorist; Kenneth Richer and Yew Char, world travelers, who will show color films of Greece and Hawaii.

A Christmas program is to be given by Robert Weede, baritone star of Metropolitan and San Francisco Opera companies.

Following the weekly programs—the regular Town Hall celebrity luncheons will be held in the Louis Embassy room of Chanticleer's, located on third floor of the Fisher building.

Season memberships for the 18 programs are available at Detroit Town Hall, 1613 Kales Bldg; WO. 3-5617 or WO. 3-5225.

No Such Thing As 'Bluebird', Says Professor

ANN ARBOR — A bluebird? There's no such thing, according to Olin S. Pettingill Jr., professor of ornithology at the University of Michigan's Biological Station on Douglas Lake.

According to the professor, a bluebird's really brown, its feathers just reflect light so as to give the effect of blue coloring. As proof, he wet a blue feather and it came out brown!

"Actually," he adds, "the only true colors in bird feathers are red, yellow and brown—all the many different hues come from combinations and reflections."

The bright impressions are used by the males as "a means of advertising their availability," the professor says.

For example, he points to the Costa Rican hummingbird, one of the world's smallest birds. It appears to be all dressed up in patches of its many iridescent feathers.

Following this fashion is the Ruby-Throated Hummingbird, found only in the East and the smallest bird in these parts. Its seemingly ruby-colored throat makes the male look like he just walked out of a jewelry store.

"A turnabout comes with the Northern Phalarope, found in the Arctic, after its migratory flight," Professor Pettingill explains. In this case the colorful female does the courting and then leaves the male to incubate the eggs and raise the family, a kind of perpetual leap year.

Hospital Seeks Volunteer Help

Volunteers to help at the Ypsilanti State Hospital are being sought by hospital representatives.

Persons interested in volunteer work at the hospital may contact the Social Service Department at the hospital by calling Ypsilanti 2040, Ext. 216, or writing Ypsilanti State Hospital, Box A, Ypsilanti, Michigan.

The idea of citizen volunteers, both men and women, in State mental hospitals is not new, according to officials at the Ypsilanti hospital. The program has been in use in other states and in other Michigan mental hospitals. The volunteer program at the Ypsilanti institution is scheduled to start September 1.

Activities of volunteers will include working with patients through music, crafts, painting, drawing, sewing, leatherwork, dancing, weaving, knitting, reading, writing, letter-writing and other recreation. Volunteer work not only is planned to promote more happiness among the patients but also to help interpret the function of the mental hospital to the community.

The hospital is interested in recruiting any civic group or individual who can give a few hours or a day or so a week of his time. Any person more than 21 years of age and who is not related to a patient or an employee of the hospital may volunteer.

Ford Delivers Utility Truck to US Army

A new experimental army quarter-ton utility vehicle, named the Ford XM-151 was formally delivered to the Army Ordnance Corps today by Ford Motor Company.

The ceremony at the Ford engineering staff test track in Dearborn, Mich. marked completion of a two-year project during which Ford, in cooperation with the Army Ordnance designed, engineered and built a lighter, stronger, faster quarter-ton vehicle literally "from the ground up."

Ford was asked to design a vehicle that would weigh less, cost less to produce, have improved mobility, performance, and ease of maintenance, and advanced engineering features, without using light-weight materials such as aluminum and magnesium that could become scarce during wartime.

As delivered to the Ordnance Corps for testing, the new vehicle is almost 600 pounds lighter, has a higher power-to-weight ratio, and 30 per cent more cruising range on the same fuel load, compared to the present standard army quarter-ton vehicle.

The Ford XM-151 was presented to Col. Gunner C. Carlson, Deputy Commander, Ordnance, Tank-Automotive Command, by L. D. Crusoe, vice president Ford Motor Company, and general manager of Ford Division, and E. S. McPherson, vice president engineering, Ford Motor Company.

"The cooperation between Ford Motor Company and the Ordnance Corps during the course of this project is a good example of the kind of industry-government relationship essential to a strong national defense. We believe the new vehicle will meet the modern needs of our country's armed forces," Mr. Crusoe said.

Thousands of test miles were logged on experimental vehicles at the Ford test track and the Ordnance's Aberdeen proving ground in Maryland.

Mr. MacPherson explained that the XM-151 is powered by a new, modern lightweight four cylinder overhead valve engine, designed especially for the new vehicle. The body and frame are of integral all-steel welded construction with space for a driver, three passengers and their equipment.

"In addition to improved stability on rough ground and increased performance which will give soldiers more mobility, the Ford XM-151 has low pressure, wide tread tires, better driving characteristics and more gas economy. The XM-151's parts are designed for maximum inter-

Men's Chorus Seeks Talent

The Grosse Pointe Men's Chorus, a non-professional organization of men who enjoy singing, are starting rehearsals for the winter season.

Prospective members will be accepted without the embarrassment of an audition and are welcome to attend any rehearsal.

The chorus is under the direction of Mr. John E. Finch, musical director of the Grosse Pointe High School.

The man who learns from his own mistakes will be learning something new all his life.

Dog Owners Reminded of Law

With children walking back and forth to school the Grosse Pointe police will redouble their constant efforts to have dog owners keep their dogs under control.

Dogs must be tied at all times unless being exercised on a leash. Lt. James Furton, of the Grosse Pointe Farms police department, reports that the average dog owner is very watchful and considerate.

About 100 dogs are licensed in the Farms and less than 15 tickets were issued last month for violations of the ordinance. Lt. Furton reminds careless dog owners that the department is always on the watch for stray dogs. The animals will be impounded when caught by the dog warden. The officer reminds owners that there are no exceptions to the ordinance.

Careful policing of the dogs has kept the area free from the rabies scare that has invaded other communities where the ordinances are more lax.

CAMERAS CATCH PICTORIAL NEWS OF INTEREST FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

HE'S WELL CAST—Although it's not much of a smile, it's the best you can expect from an English bulldog, especially under the circumstances. Tuffy, all rigged up with a traction splint on the leg he broke in a tumble downstairs, won first prize in the Detroit Bulldog Club's puppy show recently, and hopes he will have a nice career in "show business" when his leg heals.

FAMILIAR LINES—Twenty-four-year-old Sylvia Daneel sits on the floor of a rehearsal hall to study her lines for a forthcoming television show in which she'll play a refugee from the Communists. Miss Daneel is well up in the part, since she is a refugee of the Communists, having made a dramatic escape from Red-controlled Warsaw, her native city.

PICASSO'S INSPIRATION—Sad-faced Sylvette David, 19, holds a portrait of herself sketched by famed artist Pablo Picasso. Currently the Spanish painter's favorite model, Miss David posed for Picasso's last 13 paintings, which are on display in a Paris art gallery. She lives in Vallauris, France, where her father directs an art gallery.

HISTORY IN THE FLESH—Jacob Lone Tree, an eight-year-old Winnebago Indian, reads up on his ancestral history as he begins the second grade at a school in Wisconsin Dells, Wis. His classmate at right appears fascinated at having a real Indian boy in the class—especially one with a savage-looking haircut.

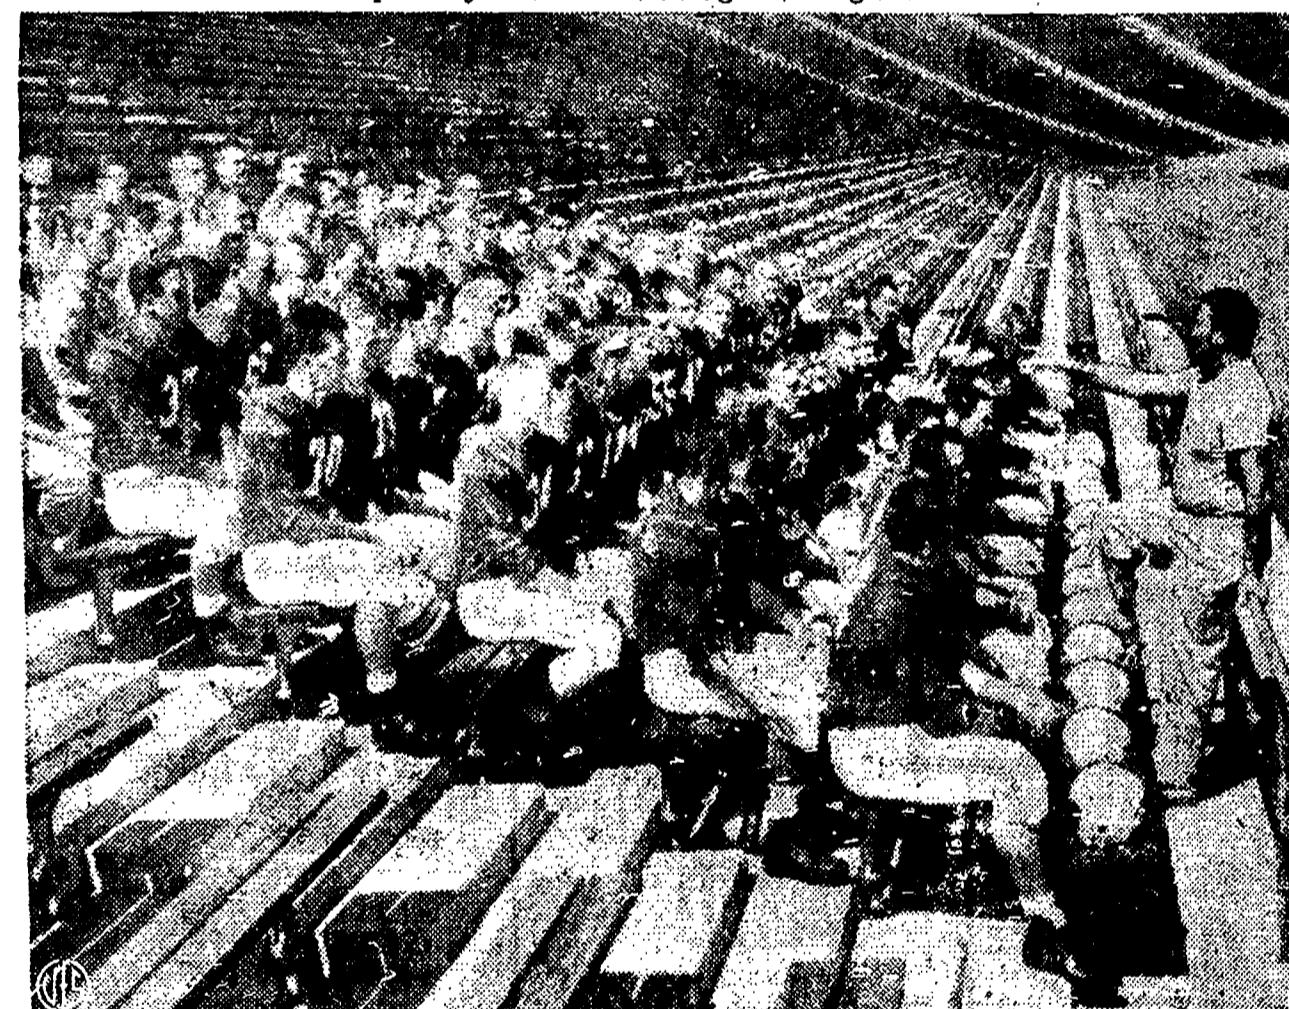

WELL-BALANCED—Battersea power station's chimneys appear to be stepping-stones for Fred Tonelli, 23, one of the two Tonelli members of a famed German circus family. Appearing at the Festival Pleasure Gardens, London, members of the family defy death 120 feet above the crowds in their "Slide-for-Life" act.

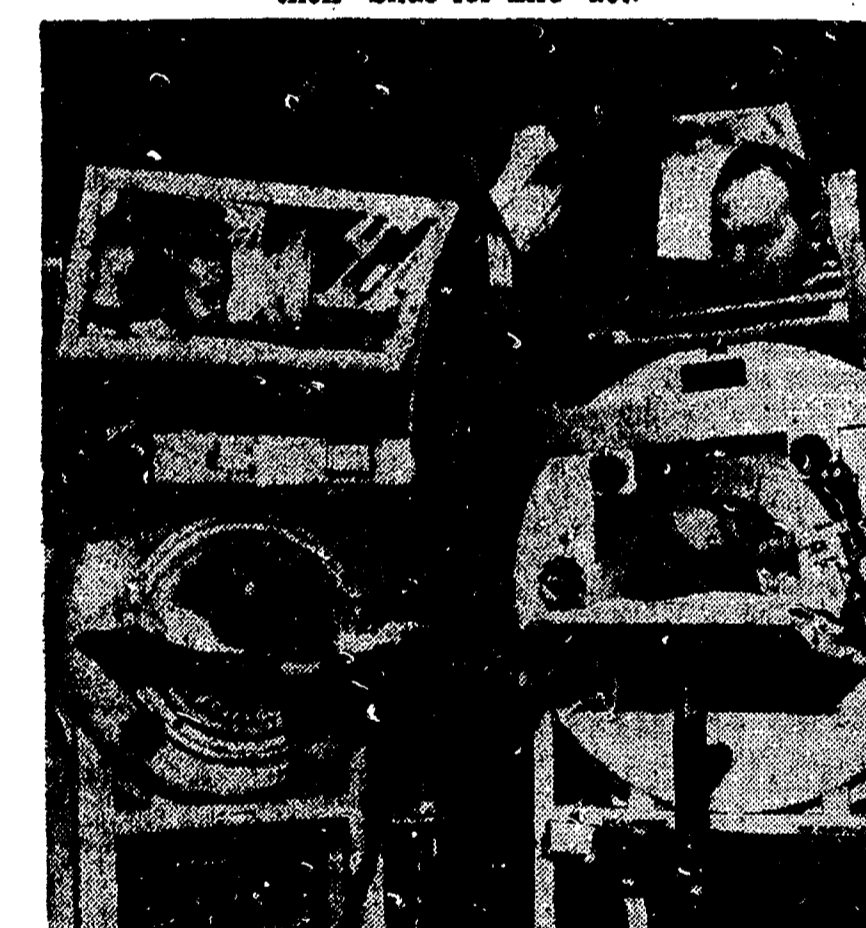

TWO FOR ONE—Doubly lovely is Carol Jane Abney, whose shapely reflection is caught in a mirror in the sand. It's twice the treat for all viewers who happen to notice Carol Jane on the sands of Miami Beach.

THE OLD AND THE NEW—The colorful Bedouin still sways aboard his rugged camel while an Israeli policeman straddles the motorcycle he uses to scoot over the arid land near Beersheba in Israel. More than 11,000 Bedouin tribesmen live much like their ancestors have for centuries—in the barren hills of Israel's southern desert.

HOPE TO BOWL OVER FOES—The University of Maryland's head football coach Jim Tatum gives a pep talk to gridiron hopefuls as football practice gets underway at College Park. Tatum, who undoubtedly hopes for a repeat performance by his team, which went to the Orange Bowl after a very successful 1953 season, seems to have lots of muscle on tap to build another powerhouse.

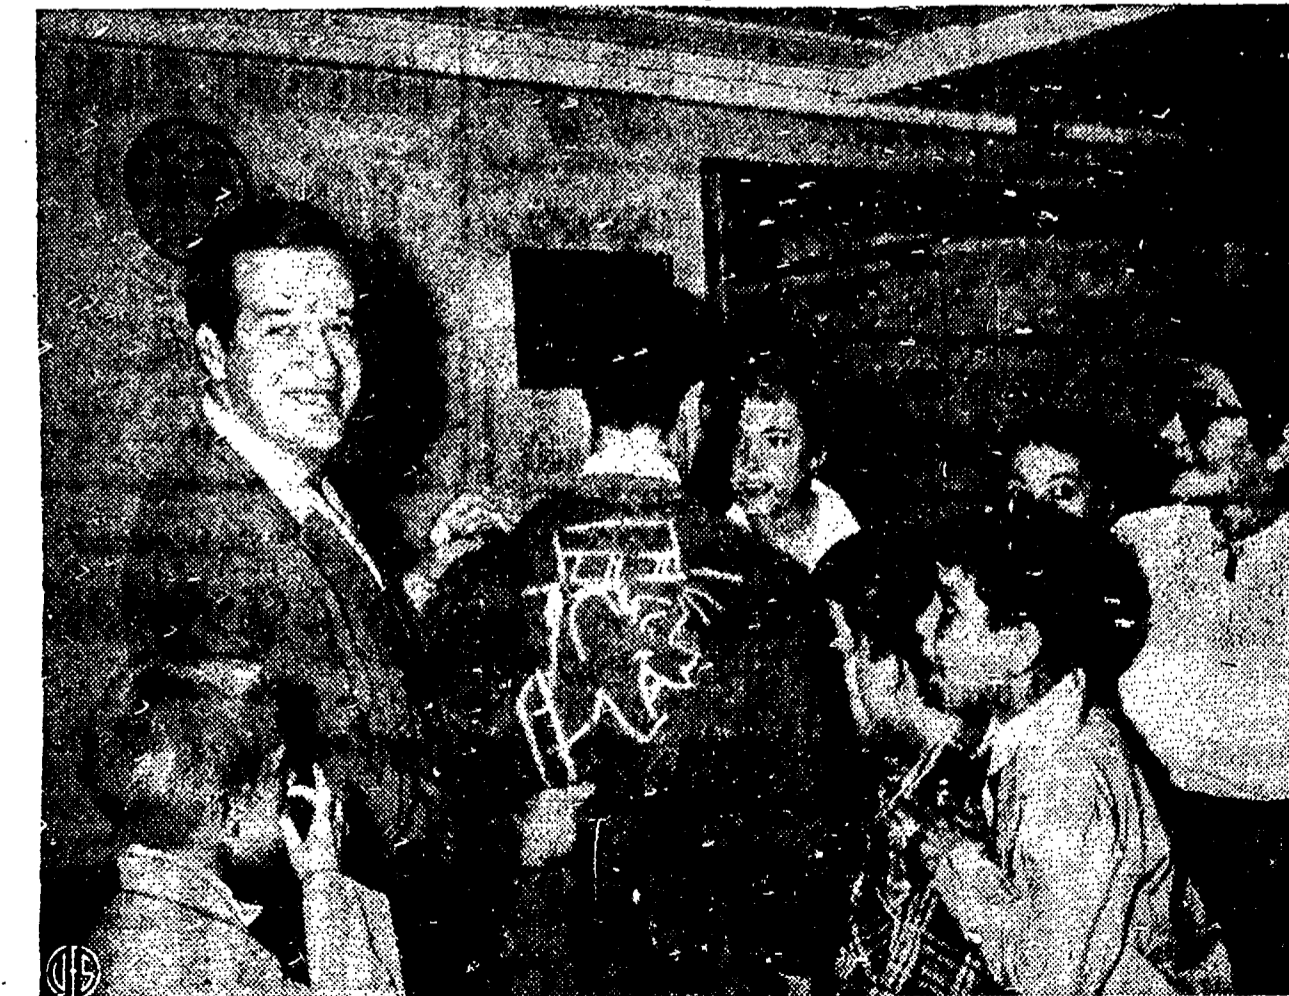

AGE MEANS NOTHING—At the age of 45, Clarence Crone was stricken by polio, just as tiny Diane Belknap was hit at the age of two. Both are iron-lung veterans at this time and each boosts the other's morale as they converse whenever they are brought together. They are shown at the Rancho Los Amigos Respiratory Center near Los Angeles, the world's largest center for respiratory polio cases. Now 2½, Diane may soon be freed from the iron lung after nine months of artificial breathing. Crone has spent over four years in the machine.

VEST-TIE—It's a tie and a vest and a pretty addition to a tailored suit for fall and winter. Done by Manguin in shimmering dark blue satin, the striking gilet is tied about the waist and knotted at the collar of the blouse worn beneath the suit.

TWO FOR THE SHOW—Arrayed in furs and sparklers, actress Gloria Swanson chats animatedly with her beautiful daughter, Michele Farmer, at the Fifteenth International Film Festival in Venice. Films from 15 nations are competing for the coveted Venice prizes awarded to the best movies of the year.

SHMOO-TH SAILING—To the delight of fellow passengers aboard the French Line's Liberte, sailing for Europe, cartoonist Al Capp, creator of such well-known figures as L'il Abner, Daisy Mae, the Bhmoo and others, sketches a Dogpatch-type character on the back of one of the ship's porters. Capp is sailing with his wife, daughter, and son.

NOSE FOR NEWS—Eleven-year-old Martha Jayne Blisswell of Harrisburg, Pa., screws up her face in consternation as, with fish-hook claws, a shiny Japanese beetle crawls up her wrinkled nose. This type of beetle, found near Philadelphia some 35 years ago, has, in 1954, forced a quarantine throughout the entire state of Pennsylvania.

TAKES PLENTY OF ZIP—Helga Bittner finds her hands full trying to unzip what is claimed by St. Erik's Fair authorities to be the world's largest zipper—a title that is probably untested even by the Russians. Helga's with the West German pavilion at the Stockholm, Sweden, fair, which is exhibiting the products from some 28 different countries.

NO MONKEY BUSINESS HERE—One of the main attractions in the biology course at St. Petersburg High School in Florida this year will be Quito, a woolly monkey from South America, owned by teacher Adrian Davis. The nine-year-old monkey will be used in connection with the study of anatomy structure.

DYC Sweepstakes Whipped By Strong Northwest Wind

A chill wind blew out of the northwest last Saturday, September 11, for the Detroit Yacht Club's 57th annual Sweepstakes regatta, but for those who captured one of the many perpetual trophies it was a good wind.

For the second year in succession the Sweepstakes race, annually the last inter-club DYCA regatta on the sailing schedule, provided the sailors with plenty of wind and a choppy Lake St. Clair.

The Weather Bureau reported northerly winds between 16 and 20 but what they didn't report was the offshore gusts that sometimes reached a velocity of 25 to 30 miles per hour. This was fine for the big yachts which circled the 21-mile triangular course in near record time. The little boats had almost more than they bargained for.

Calls for Caution

Cautious small boat skippers reefed their mainsails and hoisted the smallest head canvas they had in their possession before crossing the starting line at the head of Peche Island on a bumpy weather leg to the first mark along the American shore.

Once around the weather buoy most shook out reefs and bent on larger head canvas for the broad reach across the lake to the second pin, where they jibed and raced back to the finish line, in the lake, in jig time. On the little boats spinnakers were conspicuous by their absence as they churned along at hull speed on the second leg of the course.

Pulls Out All Stops

Veteran Clare Jacobs pulled out all the stops as he paced the Cruising A fleet around the long course to win the ancient Brewster's Trophy, with "Falcon," by a scant 5 seconds over his second place rival, Toot Gmeiner, who is fighting to win the River title for the tenth time since becoming the owner of the fabulous "Apache."

Both are New York 32 sloops. Pat Collins' "Vitesse" was fourth to finish behind Gil Pingree's big "Red Head," who won the Governor Hazen Pingree Bowl, donated by his grandpappy, but took third place honors on corrected time.

The Pingree Bowl goes to the yacht that circles the course first and "Red Head" just barely beat out Bob Neely's beautiful schooner, "Malabar VI," by eight seconds. "Malabar's" consolation was the schooner-ketch prize.

Starting Results

In Cruising B and C there were some startling results too. Johnny Detwiler, Little Club commodore sailing his sloop, "Vashti," in its second race since coming from the East, captured the George W. Gardner Bowl for winning Cruising B.

Bill Nagel, the salty commodore from Bayview, and his partners, Johnny Nicol and Ed DeLeonard, had a gay time at the club after they were awarded the huge Commodore Arthur Summerlee Cup. Breaking tradition, the trio side stepped the customary champagne and filled the cup with scotch on rocks and everyone had a good time.

The Summerlee Cup was rededicated, through the efforts of portly Walt Kunow, to the big Cruising C class, which was the largest single class in the 140 boat fleet. "Balquhider," a 17-foot sloop, has been taking her lickings in this class all the long, except for the Mackinac race, when she finished third.

Chips On The Line

But when the blue chips were on the line she came through in grand style. Lwyd Ecclestone's new Leki yawl, "Bikini," got her feet on the ground for the first time and led the class around the course only to lose on corrected time to Balquhider. Chet Reynaud's Pilot, "Maybee," sneaked in third.

Only one mishap marred the day. Veteran catboat George Smith of the host club capsized his catboat on the first leg of the race due to a jammed mainsheet. The DYC workboat and the Coast Guard was right on the job and took Smith, his son and the boat back to their club in good order.

Jay Gonyeau's 30-square meter "Mitimar" wrapped up the River title in that class with a third place behind Ed Offer's "Mistress" and Ed Kiefer's "Madrid," of Port Huron, in that order. Gonyeau dethroned Al "Cheerio my Deario" Gregory, the 1953 champ.

Wonderful Show

The Stars put on a wonderful show with fifteen of the sleek racers and their acrobatic crews slamming their way around the nine mile course. Alex Allardyce won handily and was followed by Doc Black of Chicago, and Bob Boudeman of Gull Lake in the next winning slots. This race counted as the first of a three race Fourth District Fall Round-up series which was completed the following day off Crescent Sail Yacht Club and was won by Allardyce.

Ernie Hamner, of Cleveland, was second ahead of Doc Black in the final standings. Allardyce, a skinny Star veteran, who weighs not more than 115 pounds soaking wet, had trouble lugging home the huge 70 pound, bronze, J. T. Wing perpetual trophy which goes to the winning Star in the Sweepstakes.

Out of Hospital

George Van, after spending a week in the hospital, whipped his "Fiddler's Witch" around the course ahead of the other privately owned catboats to retain the Edgemoor Bowl. George had to win the bowl because his wife Marge keeps her sewing in it and he had strict orders before leaving the dock to bring her sewing basket back home. Riney Zeldner's "Page Two" was pushing Van the man all the way and was a scant 22 seconds behind at the finish. Duke Huber was third.

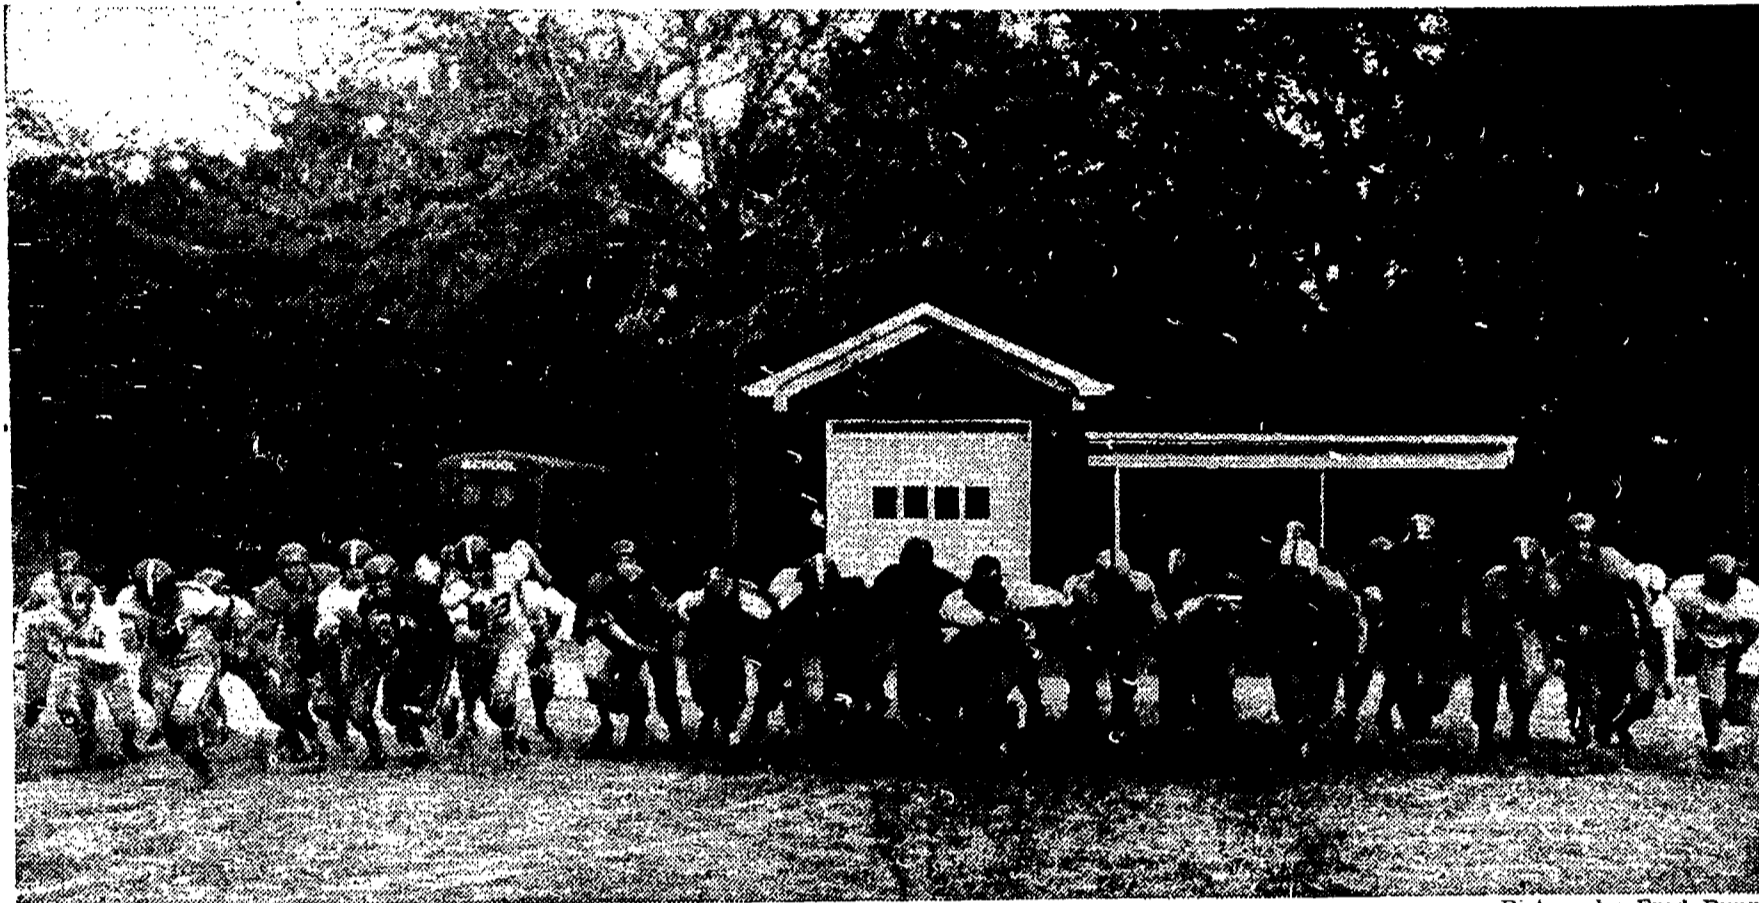

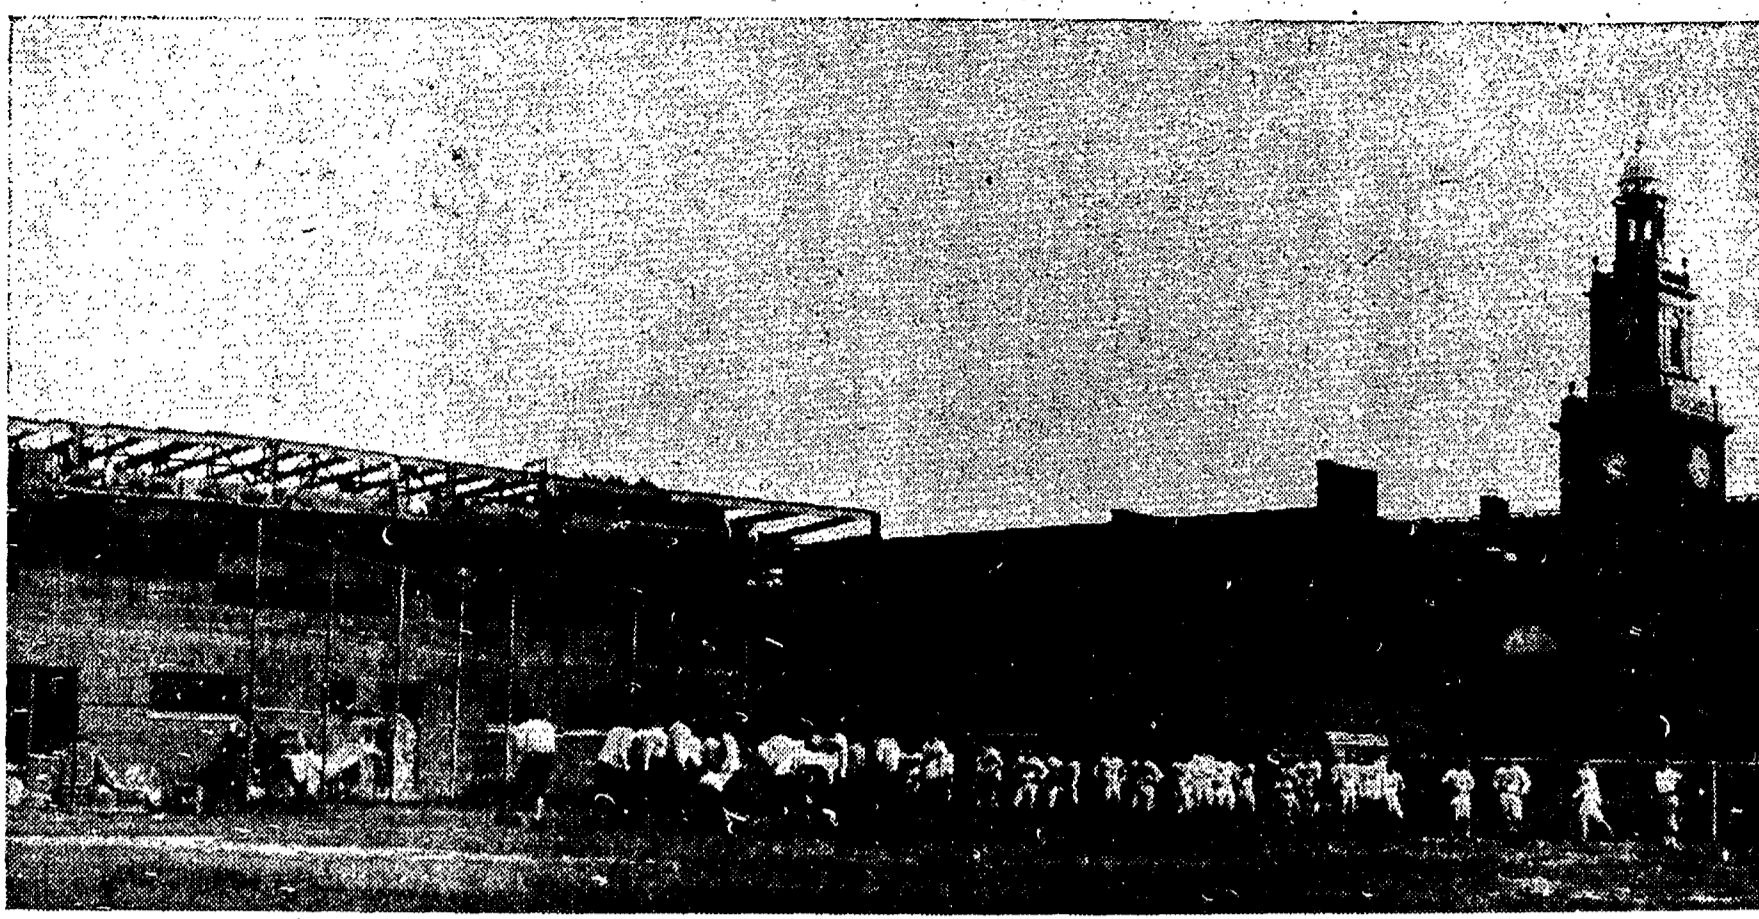

"Wind Toy" paced the Privaters and got her sixth winning gun of the season ahead of Jimmy Trudell's "Gin Jam," sailed by Ted Nowak, and Sid Marsh's "Indian Drum."

Other Winners

Other winners were: Allie Chapman, Tom Hansen and Fredie Jensen in the L class; D. Dipboye, John Hutton and Bob Livingston in Universal B; Lyn Babcock and Dick Hill in the new Crescent class; Ken Smith and Dave Cowles in the Club Sloop class; Lib Mistle and Vic Zane in the 22-square meters; Ledyard Mitchell, Bob Agee and Chuck Phalen in the Luder class; Lyn Babcock, Jr., George Devlin and Tom Rochford in the Thistles; Junior French and G. Munro in the Vineyard Lightnings; Fred Dickenson, Bill Gmeiner and Bob Schroder in the C class; Bill Mastero, Don Hanna and J. Burke in the revived Lawley 110 class and Joe Drake and W. De Fries in the Universal A class.

The Sweepstakes winds up the season for most of the small one design classes but the big boats and yachts like L boats, Luders, C boats and Privaters will be back at it again next Saturday, September 18, in Bayview Yacht Club's All Night race and the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's Blue-nose regatta on September 25. The Blue-nose will wind up the season for the big boats but the little boat guys will carry on with the North Channel race on October 2, just to prove all the nuts don't grow on trees.

King Football Gets Under Way in Pointe

Practicing in the shadows of their school and undeveloped auditorium-gymnasium, the Grosse Pointe Blue Devils go through conditioning workouts before getting into the more strenuous practice scrimmages in preparation for the forthcoming Border Cities League campaign. The St. Paul Flyers, bottom photo, charge towards the camera as they begin drills, under Coach Eddie Lauer and line coach John Conti, to condition themselves for the long autumn schedule in the Big 12 Conference in the Parochial League.

Pointers Win Star Series

Skipper ALEX ALLARDYCE, left, and his crew, ALLEN ROBERTSON, happily clutch the sail that enabled them to win the first annual Fourth District Fall Round-up series sailed over last weekend, September 11-12, on Lake St. Clair. Allardyce also is the Michigan State Star Class champion.

Boat Banter

By Fred Runnells

A letter from Avery Macklem, secretary of the Cruising Club of Detroit, which arrived after we went to press last week cleared up a tangled issue regarding points in Cruising A and B.

It was the consensus of opinion among the skippers that the DYC Sweepstakes would be for triple points in Cruising A and double points in Cruising B inasmuch as they competed in earlier races which went into the record as no race because the time limit ran out. Macklem's letter to all skippers in the Cruising Club pointed out that the Detroit Boat Club and the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club race committee were within their rights, according to North American Yacht Racing Union rule 41 in the 1954 edition, to award their regatta trophies on the results of the DYC Sweepstakes regatta sailed last Saturday, September 11.

Avery went a point further, however, when he stated paragraph E of the Season's Championship Rules of the CCD covered the point tangle amply. The rule reads: "A postponed, called off or cancelled race resailed on any subsequent day listed in the schedule set forth in paragraph A, which allows yachts to compete for trophies not awarded in a previous race, will not be recognized in determining the yacht's championship rating. In the event a race is postponed, called off or cancelled and not held at a later date as a single individual race, the number of races required to qualify for the season's championship, as set forth in paragraph A, shall be reduced by one."

There you have it. The Sweepstakes did not count double on triple points. The lucky skippers were just able to pick up extra prizes.

Tom Clark, regular crew member on Hank Burkard's "Meteor II," is on the prowl for a Cruising C class yacht for next summer. Tom is all hepped up on being a boat owner since his wife Margaret presented him with his first crew member, a six pound web foot answering to the name of Jim Francis at Harper Hospital recently. If Tom has his way, young Jim will get his first taste of a blow boat before he gets his sea legs next Spring. In the meantime Tom will lend a hand in the chore of folding spinnakers for Jimmy for the next few months.

Devils and Flyers Begin Building for Grid Campaigns

Hopeful candidates from both Grosse Pointe High and St. Paul High answered the call to grid practice with the opening day of school. With only a few days of conditioning under their belts both Blue Devil coach Ed Wernet and St. Paul coach Eddie Lauer admit it is still too early to tell what to expect in their respective leagues.

The Blue Devils campaign in the strong Border Cities League and the Flyers compete in the Parochial Big 12 Conference.

Looking at the Blue Devils on opening day it was discovered Coach Ed Wernet has a veteran backfield to open the season. Slated for an opening assignment is Bill Dow at left half, Eugenio at right half, Bill Prince at fullback and Jim Lineberger at quarterback.

The biggest problem confronting Wernet is building a strong forward wall to give the veterans a chance to operate from a combination of single wing and split T formations.

Sorely missed will be the powerful running of Louie "Tweedie" Duntz, who graduated last June. Also All Starter Rees MacFarland and Dick Hegland left big holes at the tackle positions.

Coach Eddie Lauer is pretty much in the same boat with his Flyers although his line problem is quite acute. With Fred Van Tien at fullback, Phil Van Tiem and Jim Lombardo at the halfback spots and Gene Graham at quarter the Flyers have the same combination that finished the 1953 campaign which saw the Flyers win four and lose four in overall competition. One of the defeats was a non-league game.

Seniors Bob Keller and Jim Ayrault have already nailed down starting assignments as flankers and Dan Monahan holds the same distinction at right guard. From the balance of 50 candidates Lauer and line coach John Conti will attempt to find a guard, two tackles and a center. The most promising candidates are Larry Pirtle, a 220 pound sophomore; Dave Conn, a 190 pound lad, out to earn one of the tackle spots. Pirtle can play either center or guard.

Slow Court, Sloppy Play Mar Tennis Exhibition

Two things marred the caliber of tennis displayed at the Hunt Club, September 9 as Australians Lewis Hoad and Rex Hartwig squared off against Forest Hills champ Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert.

One was the loose top, tediously slow court. The other was the obvious lack of seriousness displayed by the four players.

In the first match, Tony Trabert, the number one ranked player in the U. S., easily cut down 19-year-old "down under" ace Lewis Hoad in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2.

Seixas and Hartwig split their sets, Seixas winning the first 6-3 and dropping the second by the same score, 3-6.

In the doubles exhibition that pitted the Americans against the Aussies, Trabert and Seixas had to go some to salvage the second set 9-7 after dropping the first to Hoad and Hartwig, 5-7.

Those were the pairings and results, the real story lies in the court and the attitudes.

Only in the doubles was there a display of tennis as it should be played and that was even at times spotty.

Of the four singles player, Trabert seemed to adapt best to the slow ground conditions. He got his cross court volleys working right off and the court seemed made to order for his chop shots as he dropped and crossed Hoad time and again with beautifully executed net placements.

Undoubtedly the best single shot of the entire exhibition was executed by Trabert. It was a cross court drop and was made in the second game of the first set, allowing the crew topped Cincinnati to break Hoad's service.

After a baseline volley, Trabert returned a mid-court blooper and Hoad was on it like a cat. He cut a beautiful cross-drop placement that nicked the left side net. Trabert was there and he completely fooled Hoad who had moved with him when he recrossed for an ace placement.

The Hoad-Trabert match, a short one, only 40 minutes, was marked with errors despite the Trabert romp. Hoad committed 16, 10 in the first set and six in the second and Trabert miscued 12 times, six and six.

The other singles match was a different thing. Both Seixas and Hartwig had their time to shine.

In the first set, Seixas wasted no time breaking through as he won the first game by breaking Hartwig's service. The Aussie came right back to win the second, but Seixas kept the pressure on, took Hartwig's second service and coasted the rest of the way.

The loose topped court took its toll of ground strokes, badly impairing the back court volleys.

In the doubles, the four tennis aces seemed to be playing for the crowd rather than against each other, and this too had its effect. Exhibition-wise and strangely enough tennis-wise also, Hartwig stole the show. Cleverly, sometimes almost unnoticeably, he would hit a second ball out of his hand on a passing shot. It won the crowd.

Seixas kept his clowning strictly to the off moments, feigning dismay, futility (once he even offered his racket to a linesman) and such. Trabert passed a couple of serves and Hoad was the somber member of the troupe, hardly ever cracking so much as a smile.

The troupe played before a crowd of approximately 1,200.

Roland Gray Still a Winner

Roland Gray, former tennis pro at the Detroit Country Club and now respected Sports Shop owner on the hill, and his tennis partner Bill Stevens are strutting like pouter pigeons these days.

The reason — they soundly trounced a couple of boastful, comparative youngsters in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2 at the Little Club in a special grudge match recently.

Gray, who admits to 46 birthdays and his 40-year-old partner Stevens, became a trifle tired of listening to 28-year-old Paul Ameel and 27-year-old George Neirnick, both clerks in his shop, and agreed to the match.

Prior to the match Ameel and Neirnick talked like they wrote the book on how to play tennis but once on the court they didn't practice what they preached.

After dropping straight sets to their elders there was great silence. They didn't even talk to one another.

Today proprietor Gray is taking great delight in needing his two crushed employees but he knows it is just a matter of time before they will screw up enough courage to challenge again.

ARTHRITIS?
I have been wonderfully blessed in being restored to active life after being crippled in nearly every joint in my body and with muscular soreness from head to feet. I had Rheumatoid Arthritis and other forms of Rheumatism, hands deformed, and my ankles were stiff.
Limited space prohibits telling you more here but if you will write me, I will reply at once and tell you how I received this wonderful relief.

Heirloom Veil Worn By Patricia Morrissey

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond K. Morrissey is Bride of John Harold Murphy II; Her Wedding Veil First Worn by Bridegroom's Great Grandmother

The deep ivory satin of Patricia Clare Morrissey's wedding gown set the tone for her bridesmaids' frocks when she was married last Saturday morning to John Harold Murphy II.

St. Paul's on the Lake Shore was the scene of the September wedding of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond K. Morrissey, of Cloverly road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Murphy of Bedford road.

A reception took place at the home of the bride's parents.

Patricia's bridal cap and wedding veil of silk tulle was first worn by the bridegroom's great-grandmother.

The veil floated full length over the cathedral train of the ivory satin wedding gown. An embroidered band of seed pearls distinguished the gown's fitted bodice and sleeves were long and fitted. She carried a bouquet of tea roses and ivy.

Mrs. James Seaborn, of Hollywood, Calif., was her sister's matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Elizabeth Remick, Dolores Gonzo, Marjorie Emmert, Mrs. Charles B. Murphy, Mrs. Michael J. Murphy II and Mrs. Andrew G. Creamer.

All carried arrangements of vari-colored gladioli with their waltz length satin frocks.

Sally Murphy, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a dotted Swiss frock with pink headband and carried pink blossoms.

Ushers were Richard Robbins, Robert E. Dailey of Rochester, N. Y., Bayard Wilson, Jeremy D. Webster, Murray Dodge, Charles

B. Murphy and James D. Standish III.

Mrs. Morrissey's charcoal gray taffeta gown was combined with large brown and gold sailor hat. She had a coral orchid.

The bridegroom's mother was in gray silk taffeta and orchids. When the Murphys left for their wedding trip to Williamsburg, Va., the bride changed to an English tweed suit with which she wore luggage tan accessories.

Pointer Claims Bride At Bloomfield Rites

Richard McCormick Chesbrough Weds Joyce Woolfenden at Candlelight Ceremony in Christ Church, Cranbrook; Reception at Orchard Lake Country Club

Guests at the wedding of Joyce Barden Woolfenden and Richard McCormick Chesbrough (Friday at Christ Church, Cranbrook) danced at a reception in Orchard Lake Country Club following the evening ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Woolfenden, of Bloomfield Hills, and Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chesbrough of Yorkshire road.

Cathedral tapers were used in the church for a candlelight service. Joyce wore robes of antique ivory satin and Chantilly lace. Seed pearls outlined the portrait neckline and the gown's great skirt ended in a chapel train.

A three-tiered illusion veil and bridal cap were applied in family heirloom lace of Duchesse and rose point design. Flowers were a cascade of stephanotis, white orchids and Iceland Pothos foliage.

The bridal attendants were dressed alike in imported silk frocks designed on princess lined with fitted bodices, draped necklines and full waltz length skirts. They wore silken bands, in gown-matching tones, with brief veils. As maid of honor, the bride's sister, Carolyn Woolfenden, was in burnt orange and carried yellow Fuji mums with variegated croton foliage. The honor matron, Mrs. John R. McCarthy, of Fort Campbell, Ky., and the maids were in peacock blue with butterscotch Fuji mums and croton leaves. Bridesmaids were Carolyn Luttrell and the bridegroom's sisters, Rosemary and Elizabeth Chesbrough.

Assisting his brother as best man was William L. Chesbrough and the groomsmen were William Wood, Richard Hamilton, Peder Field, Joseph Butler, Jr., George E. McKean II and John D. W. Hair.

Mrs. Woolfenden's gown was a waltz length, pale blue silk, trimmed at neckline in iridescent sequins and bugle beads. She wore a jeweled chapeau and pink spray orchids. For her son's wedding, Mrs. Chesbrough's costume was beige taffeta with jeweled togue, brown accessories and bronze spray orchids.

Another important wedding guest was Mrs. E. J. Knight, grandmother of the bride, who wore soft blue lace with matching hat and corsage of garnet roses.

When the young Chesbroughs return from their honeymoon in Harbor Beach, they will be with her parents, temporarily. For traveling, the bride donned a red tweed suit with boxy jacket and mandarin collar.

LANDSLIDES and floods followed in the wake of Hurricane Edna, as it sideswiped New England, broke freakishly into two storms and headed for the Canadian Maritime Provinces. The main force of the storm, with winds up to 135 miles an hour, stayed out to sea, but enough came overland to knock out power lines and telephone down trees and tear off shingles. The sixth hurricane of the season has developed in the southwest Gulf of Mexico, the New Orleans Weather Bureau reports, with winds up to 75 miles an hour.

JOHN FOSTER DULLES, secretary of state, disclosed that the United States will turn back any Red military assault on Nationalist Formosa, but refused to state whether the U. S. would defend Quemoy. He made a report to President Eisenhower and the National Security Council, during an extraordinary session at the summer White House, in which he expressed concern with the global aspects of the Communist threat. SHIRLEY DAVIS AND HAZEN J. SCHUMACHER, JR. Picture by Fred Rannels

By Jane Schermerhorn

Shirley Davis and Hazen J. Schumacher, Jr., live just eight blocks apart in Grosse Pointe but it took television to bring them together. We might add television does a pretty thorough job, too, for they'll be married Sept. 25 in St. Mary's Chapel in Ann Arbor.

We stopped by Shirley's home on Bedford road (she's the daughter of Mrs. Harold S. Davis) to talk to the pair who will continue their work in Broadcasting Service Television, a division of the University of Michigan after they're married.

Well, the interview's over and technical television is still outside our ken (we're sure we'll wake up some morning to be told we dreamed the whole thing) but we do know this young couple are on their toes, dedicated to their work, living and breathing TV.

Hazen has worked four years on University of Michigan's Sunday program which comes your way through channel 4, WWJ-TV. He's program and production manager of the University Broadcasting Service and takes time away from turning out programs on kinescope film to talk to the college students working on their masters in radio and television.

Met at Class

That's really how the pair first met. He lectured before a class of which Shirley was a member.

Hazen probably thought a lot about color TV as his eyes lighted that lovely member of his audience known as Shirley Davis (she has copper gold hair and blue, blue eyes).

They discovered next that they were practically neighbors in Grosse Pointe; each had majored in political science at college (Shirley at William and Mary, Hazen at Michigan). He had his master's in radio and television and she received hers last June.

They discovered all manner of mutual enthusiasms: football, tennis, reading, people, horseback riding, hockey, television, each other.

The future was settled by their second date and in the meantime Shirley, as one of the twenty-five graduate students' assistants, was working as floor manager for her producer-production manager fiancé.

Secret Out

They kept their secret well until the other workers (there are thirteen full time members of the station staff in addition to the student assistants) heard that first "honey" slip when Hazen gave Shirley an order.

They've worked together on the U. of M. Sunday Hour, driving from Ann Arbor every Sunday morning at 5 o'clock to Detroit and WWJ. They breathed a great sigh of relief when they told us that this fall the station in Ann Arbor (it has its own building and has been greatly improved in the past few months) will do the program from its own studio.

They worked together on the twenty-seven half hour programs Hazen has just completed for hundreds of groups visiting the experimental station.

They will live in a very modern apartment in Ann Arbor and will probably have some rough moments over just which television program they'll watch on their own set. (When the wedding date was decided upon and Hazen broke up his bachelor quarters, the boys he lived with flipped a coin for the community TV set. He won!)

Love Ann Arbor He likes Mr. Peepers, the Philco and Goodyear TV programs. Shirley becomes rapt over Dragnet.

Seriously, they share a taste in programs, too, and both admit they are still ga-ga about TV, and have to force themselves to give it a rest every so often.

The opportunity in a station connected with the University is more interesting to Hazen than its commercial counterpart and they both are Ann Arbor fans.

They tossed out scientific terms for our unscientific pencil. We probably will never understand the duties of switchers, audio men, video engineers, liaison men, but we like the channel we were tuned to the afternoon we met Shirley and Hazen.

Cancer Workers Invited to Parley

Volunteer workers for the American Cancer Society are invited to attend the annual three-day training conference at Michigan State College campus. More than 300 are expected to attend this conference, back again at Kellogg Center after an enthusiastic season last fall.

Chief topics for the workshop include leadership training, public relations, and cancer control. Outstanding medical authorities in Michigan and Cancer Society officials have been secured to serve as leaders.

Major speakers will include Waldo Stoddard, president of the Michigan division of the American Cancer Society, and C. Allen Payne, Grand Rapids medic, who is chairman for the Michigan Cancer Coordinating Committee.

Jack Pickering, Detroit newspaper reporter, winner of the first Michigan State Medical Society award for outstanding medical reporting, will be the featured speaker at the noon luncheon, Friday, Oct. 15.

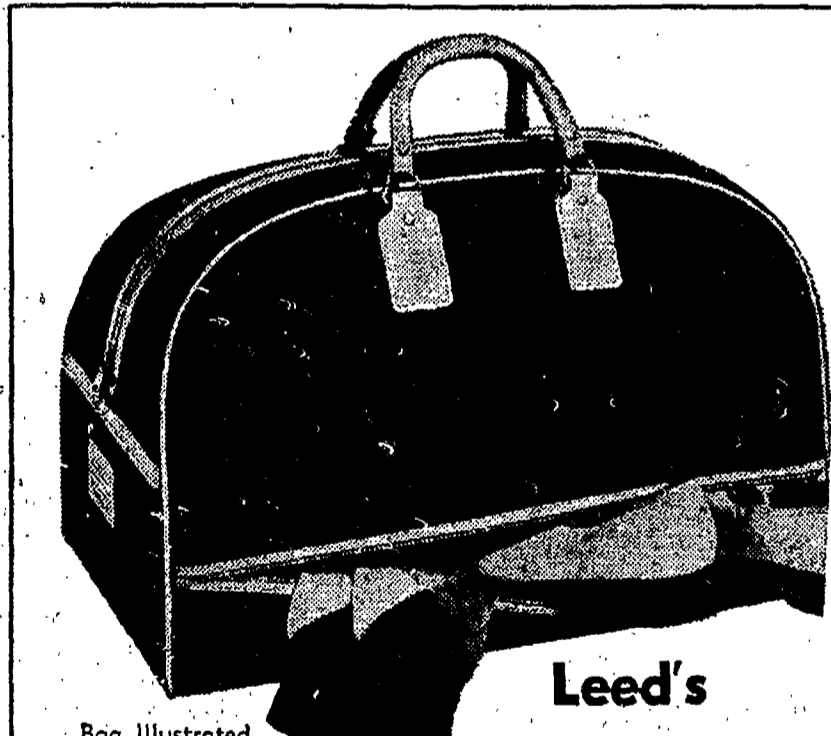

Up-to-date information about cancer control will be given on cancer in children, cancer of the lung, and breast cancer.

This conference, co-ordinated by the M.S.C. Continuing Education Service, is sponsored by the Southeastern Michigan and Michigan divisions of the Cancer Society, and the Michigan Cancer Coordinating Committee.

PURSE STOLEN

City police recorded a complaint made by Mrs. Bessie Arnold of 1129 Wayburn, in which it was reported that someone had stolen her purse while she was shopping in a Mack avenue supermarket on Thursday, September 9. The purse contained $19 in cash, a personal check and miscellaneous papers.

Pointe Counter Points

by Roberta Isley

"Stars at Noon" is already a much talked about book . . . even though Little Brown and Co. will not release it until October 13. It's an autobiography by Jacqueline Cochran, the poor little girl who reached for the stars and found them. Besides being a famous aviatrix she heads one of the better cosmetic houses. In this area it is Trail Pharmacy, one of the exclusive stores featuring Jacqueline Cochran's full cosmetic line. Incidentally, the author and beauty expert is the wife of financial wizard, Floyd Odium.

A jungle blossom and the ingenuity of man can make an intriguing story. High among towering tree tops of Coconut palms, among the graceful sweeping fronds . . . there you'll find the fragile and delicate coconut blossom sheathed in a softly curved case called the Coconut Spathe. Siney natives skilled in Jungle Lore, climb the snake-like palm trunk to dizzy heights and, armed with razor sharp machetes, cut the prize coconut spathe from its resting place. The spathe is carefully lowered to the ground, where Candle-lite craftsmen separate the halves and work each one into an object of exquisite grace and beauty . . . into an unusual serving tray in nature's own sun-splashed colors. Delicately curved, they hold fruit . . . perfect as a centerpiece, they're a beautiful setting for fresh or artificial flowers. Hors d'oeuvres look prettier and tastier on this lovely tropic tray. They are found in Jacobson's Home Decorative Shop, in the village.

Via air mail from Cannes, France, came this message last Friday. "Dear Roberta: Wish that you were cruising the Sun-Lane Route to Europe with us. You would love the constant parade of beautiful and fashion-wise women from all over the world. Here, as in New York, short hair is an odds-on favorite . . . true, there is a little more length and fullness than we have had in the last two seasons . . . definitely an improvement over the extremely short styles that weren't too flattering on a great many women." It was signed Marie Bird. We stopped in at the salon last week. Although Marie Bird is away business and excellent service goes on just the same in her salon a-top-the-hill. The capable all-girl staff is able to satisfy your every beauty need. Call TU. 1-6833 for an appointment.

She knows the care of her watch . . . her French or travel clock . . . is very important. But it is possible that she did not know of the long, long, experience (twenty-four years) in the care and repair of them by Pongrach, Jeweler and Silversmith. Here is a jeweler right in Grosse Pointe expertly staffed . . . the better to perform these services . . . general jewelry repairing, bead stringing, sizing of rings or designing the old ring into new . . . either in platinum or gold. It's so convenient to leave your jewelry at 91 Kercheval, on the hill.

For parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles looking for a special little package . . . from one of Grosse Pointe's smartest children's shops . . . are soft as a kitten angora knitted things . . . gloves . . . head warmers punctuated with metallic trimmings . . . pixie hats . . . berets . . . and the trimmest collars to wear with a dress, a sweater or a blouse. These range in price from two to four dollars. From that smart children's shop come these little packages . . . Peter Pan, Inc., 17045 Kercheval, in the village.

Ambidextrous is a good word. According to Webster it means . . . unusually dexterous; versatile. It occurs to us that this adjective is applicable to Monday Cleaners because there is the answer to your tailoring, repairing, and relining problems . . . and that's not all . . . their cleaning is superb. For delivery call TU. 5-4800, or drop it off at 369 Fisher Rd.

It isn't the night before Christmas. This is September 16. That means there are still two weeks left to take advantage of the ten per cent discount on all Christmas cards at The Dants . . . that gift shop extraordinary . . . 88 Kercheval, on the hill.

"Would you like to see something fabulous?" This query came from Dorothy Layne last Friday. She heads the coat and suit department at Jacobson's. "We?" Natch, we most certainly would and did. We were in for a double surprise. The first was a fabulous suit of eyelash brushed wool in the jacket and sparkled with a huge quaker collar of white dyed natural sheared beaver. The skirt was polished broadcloth . . . straight and slim . . . the price tag read two hundred and eighty nine dollars. The second was an imported Brownville tweed coat done by Donald Norris in Paris for Bellocino. It was softly belted with an elegant sable collar for two hundred and forty-nine dollars. Why not conspire to get one . . . or both?

Herbert Sontheim, the designer blew (or was it flew?) into town this week. He had a good press. But you thought right along, in order to view Sontheim's fashions you'd have to make a trip downtown. 'Taint so. If you like H. S.'s fashions (and who, oh who, doesn't?), we have them here at 76 Kercheval. The ones we saw were exceptionally good classic or basic dresses. Jersey was teamed with silk faille . . . another was an olive green jersey . . . so fine . . . so detailed. The brown wool was accentuated by a brown polished leather belt. These were from Margaret Rice's collection of better dresses, suits, and coats . . . 76 Kercheval, on the hill.

Most of the Ann Fogarty designs we've looked at this month feature the princess silhouette for the full petticoats . . . snowflake tweeds . . . soft Forstman wool . . . embroidered velvets . . . and striking plaids. Most of them were good basic dresses. Draw a circle around September 22. That is the date of the all-day trunk showing of Ann Fogarty originals. Five winking rhinestone buttons adorn the long slim sleeves of a royal wool. It is cut princess style and should be worn with many petticoats. The pale blue snowflake tweed possesses a high round neck . . . short sleeves and a full skirt. The prices of Ann Fogarty fashions range from twenty-five to seventy dollars. Plan to be there September 22.

As far as your grass is concerned you should be taking advantage of the crisp, clear, sunny . . . and rainy days. Scott's, Weed 'n Feed . . . Scott's Grass Seed and Turf Builder . . . are just what your grass needs now. Fromm's, in the village, carry Scott's products.
