DEVILS WIN STATE GRID CROWN

Record Crowd Sees Pointers Clinch Grid Title

Probably the largest audience that ever witnessed a football game on the High School field turned out last Saturday afternoon to see the Blue Devils beat Port Huron, 56-12, for their eighth straight win of the season. The victory wrapped up the State Class A crown, as well as the State Suburban championship. An estimated 4,500 turned out.

HEADLINES of the WEEK As Compiled by the Grosse Pointe News

Thursday, November 4
DELAYED RETURNS after the November 2 election showed that the Democrats blitzed the Republicans in the State of Michigan. Gov. Williams and his entire ticket were swept into office, the Governor becoming the first in Michigan history to be elected to that office for the fourth time.
In Washington, the Democrats won a majority in the House, and in the Senate, control will be decided when Oregon and New Jersey complete their returns. President Eisenhower, during a press conference, said that he will work with the Democrats for the good of the country.

Friday, November 5
RUSSIA MADE A BIG HULALOO of the defeat the Republicans suffered on November 2. Pravda, official Soviet paper, stated that the American people in voting against Republicans, "condemned the aggressive foreign policy" of the Eisenhower Administration.
It also pointed out that Senator Ferguson, despite the fact that the automobile magnates had placed unlimited funds at his disposal, and the praise he had received from the Detroit press and the entire State of Michigan, the voters did not take their advice and voted him out of office, replacing him with a local trade union leader.

Saturday, November 6
A PRISON BREAK involving "Crazy Jack" Hyatt, one of the principal ringleaders in the 1952 Jackson Prison riot, was nipped by alert Marquette Prison guards.
Gus Harrison, state corrections director, admitted that an imitation gun and two home-made knives were found in possession of Hyatt. He said that the incident began in August, but thus far, an investigation failed to disclose how Hyatt came to have the imitation gun and the knives. Hyatt is one of the most carefully guarded prisoners in Michigan.

Sunday, November 7
SENATE LEADERS of the Republican and Democratic parties promised the closest type of cooperation in the Senate under Democratic leadership next year. The pledge was made by both Senate Republican leader Knowledge of California and Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas.

Monday, November 8
PRESIDENT EISENHOWER must halt the slanderous activities of Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, if he expects good relations with the new Democratic Congress, warned Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell, who also called on Nixon to retract and apologize for vilifying Democrats during the Congressional election campaign.

Tuesday, November 9
ANGRY PROTESTS were exchanged between the United States and Russia over the destruction of an American bomber shot down by Russian MiGs off the coast of Japan. A United States note delivered to Moscow charged that the American B-29 photo plane was shot down over Japanese territory, and demanded that the Reds pay damages. Russia in return claimed that the aircraft had violated Soviet air space over the Kurile Island north of Japan and then opened fire when the two MiGs sought to intercept. One of the 11 crew was killed when they bailed out of the crippled plane. The pilot of the American plane was criticized for not returning the fire, by his commanding officer.

Wednesday, November 10
A NEW CLASH is brewing between the East and the West as the Soviet seeks to put on pressure against President Eisenhower's atom-for-peace program under the United Nations security council, in which Russia has veto power. The battle line was drawn when Russia demanded to know why the United States-backed seven-power resolution to set up an international atomic agency failed to specify that it should report to the UN Security Council. U. S. Chief Delegate Lodge countered that his government did not favor a setup whereby the council veto will paralyze the agency.

Woods Plans Bond Issue For Building

Voters Will Be Asked to Approve $320,000 Expense for New Structure

Woods voters will be given an opportunity, during the February primary election, to approve or disapprove a bond issue to raise money for the erection of a new Woods city hall.

The Woods council, at a meeting held on Monday, November 8, unanimously approved the placing of the bond issue on the spring ballot.

Would cost $320,000
The amount of the issue has been set at approximately $320,000, which is the estimated cost of the proposed building.

Members of the council were of the opinion that the new building was necessary for the fast growing community, and that it would definitely be an asset to the city.

Plans for the new edifice have already been drawn and were approved at a previous meeting.

Would Be in Park
The proposed new city hall will be located on that portion of Ghesquiere Park, fronting on Mack avenue, between Kenmore and Huntington.

THIEF TAKES CAMERA

Frank J. Jadowski of 22120 Mauer drive, St. Clair Shores, disclosed to Woods police on Saturday, November 6, that he had parked his car on Roslyn road, and when he returned to it, he discovered that his news-photographer type camera was missing. The value of the camera was not made known.

Woods Council Passes Law Requiring Garbage Grinders

The Woods council enacted an ordinance on Monday, November 8, pertaining to the installation of a garbage grinder in every new home and the placing of grinders, purchased by the city, if home owners petition for them.
Title to the grinders installed by the city, will be retained by the city, until the home owners have paid for them in full.
The total cost of the grinders has been set at about $130; and a down payment of about $30 will be required before they can be installed. Payments on the grinders, $5, will be added to the home owner's water bill, and will be payable quarterly.

Originally, it was decided that no down payment would be necessary, and that the home owners would have six and a half years

Solution of Water Shortage Seen in New Plan to Build Open Filter Beds in Farms

City's Determination to Stay With Farms Leads Engineer Murray Smith to New Idea Which May End Problem for Both

Hope looms for a solution of the plaguing water supply problem of Grosse Pointe Farms and Grosse Pointe City by next summer. The final edict is expected to rest with the State Department of Health, to which the plan now being perfected will be submitted shortly.

The City now receives all of its water from the Farms. The Shores also buys a portion of its supply from the Farms system. In the event, the present plan is approved and carried out, the Shores would also benefit.

The tremendous increase in growth in all of the involved municipalities led the Farms to serve notice on the other two that they would have to look elsewhere for their water. The Farms said that its system would take care of all present and future needs of its own residents, but it could not continue to supply the other two without a tremendous expansion program that would be most costly.

The City of Detroit is engaged in a vast expansion project that will enable it to fill all the needs of its present customers and to

Woods Boosts Permit Fees

The council has given approval to an amendment to the Grosse Pointe Woods Building Code Ordinance, providing that a minimum fee of $5 will be charged for building permits in the city. Previous minimum fee was $2.
The Woods' fee for building permits is fixed at a rate of $1 per $1,000 valuation of the building contemplated.

The issue has been far from dead, it was learned this week. The City has remained determined to find some common solution with the Farms, rather than become a customer of Detroit's.

Whereas the original idea of enlarging the Farms system along existing lines seemed to present a financial problem that was beyond the capacity of the City to solve, (despite its insistence that it could), Mr. Smith believes he has a new plan that would work, if the State Department of Health will approve it.

Filtering Bottleneck
Filtering is the chief bottleneck in the present setup. To expand the filtering equipment along the same lines as those existing, would be very costly. The building housing such equipment would be a great part of this cost. The Farms now proposes to

Jury Acquits Suspended Patrolman

Farms Officer Kilets Found Not Guilty of Charges of Window Peeping

A jury of four women and two men acquitted Thomas Kilets, Farms patrolman, of being a disorderly person and window peeper, following a trial held before Woods Judge Don J. Goodrow on Wednesday, November 3.

After the verdict was rendered by the jury, Judge Goodrow dismissed the charges against Kilets. The jury had been out for about an hour and had cast two ballots before arriving at a verdict of not guilty.

Kilets was represented by Attorney Harry Pliskow, and the people by Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Dale Devlin.

After the assistant prosecutor had made certain that none of the members of the jury had formed an opinion of the case and that none of them had any relatives on either the Farms or Woods police forces, members of the jury were administered the oath by Judge Goodrow.

Farms Submits Building Report

The Farms' building report for October, disclosed by City Engineer Murray M. Smith, showed that the number of permits for buildings has reached 194 since January 1. They have a total value of $4,160,495.

Four residential building permits were issued during October, and their value was set at $117,000. The four bring the total of this type of permits to 65 since the beginning of the year, with an overall value of $2,020,000.

No business buildings were authorized during the month, but eight have been numbered so far this year, and these are worth $339,000.

Miscellaneous permits numbered 22, valued at $31,745, raising the number since January 1, to 115 and the value to $335,495. Only one non-assessable building permit, to St. James Lutheran Church, on McMillan, was issued, and its value was set at $130,000. This brings the total of such building permits to six to date, raising the total value to $1,466,000.

Total number of permits for October came to 27, and their value was reported at $278,745.

Two Bond Issues Receive Approval Of Farms Voters

Officials Pleased Over Prospects of Being Able to Spread Costs of Sewer Improvements and Booster Station Over Many Years

Now that the November 2 election is past history, Farms officials expressed pleasure that the voters of the city overwhelmingly approved the two bond issues which were placed before them.

City Clerk Harry Furton said that city officials expressly thank the local newspaper, the people and organizations who helped campaign for the issues, and above all, the taxpayer-voters of the community, without whose approval the bond issues would not have been passed.

Two Total $530,000
The two issues were for $380,000, to improve the sewer system in certain areas in the city; and for $150,000, for a water intake booster station, which is already under construction in the Municipal Park.

Letters were sent out to all the voters in the Farms, asking them to vote for the two issues, and explaining the reason for their need and how the bonds would be retired over a period of years.

Will Spread Costs
A paragraph pertaining to the financing of the sewer bond issue reads as follows: "The council feels that financing major improvements of this type, conservatively estimated to have a total life of approximately 40 years, should not be borne by immediate taxation because of the immediate burden on present taxpayers and the resulting delay in construction. Therefore, it is proposed to spread the cost over a period of not more than 25 years by a serial bond issue to permit construction at once."

It goes on to state that the entire cost over a period of 20 to 25 years, would result in approximately 50 cents per $1,000 assessed valuation to the taxpayers.

Will Pay for Itself
The booster station bond will cost the taxpayers nothing. The issue will be retired over a period of time, from income derived from the water revenue.

Besides the letter sent to the taxpayer voters of the city, the Grosse Pointe Property Owners Association, which was behind the city in trying to pass the sewer bond issue, supplemented the city officials' plea for passage, by sending cards to all the home owners urging that they vote in favor of the bond.

Will Authorize Bonds
Mr. Furton disclosed that at a regular meeting which will be held on Monday, November 15, the council will approve a report submitted by the Board of Canvassers, after which the council will adopt a resolution authorizing the mayor to affix his signature to the bonds.

When this has been done, a discussion will be held to determine what type of bonds will be sold and the length of time that will be required to retire them. The engineer's report will play an important part in determining how the bonds will be offered to the lowest bidder, and which area is in need of the most relief first, that is, the areas which suffered most during the heavy rains.

The Farms voters approved the sewer bond issue by a vote of 3,794 to 925; the water booster station bond issue passed by 4,148 to 619.

Thief Doesn't Miss Steaks While Ransacking Residence

The Farms' police detective team, Sgt. Harry Seelow and Harold Beaupre, are investigating a breaking and entering into a Farms home, during the absence of owners, in which a gun, cash and other items were taken.

A police report disclosed that the home of Howard Bingham, 464 Chalfonte, had been broken into, and the thief or thieves had stolen a .38 cal. nine-shot automatic.

The crime was reported by the Bingham's maid, Estelle Bridgewater, on Wednesday, Nov. 3.

She informed police that she had found the door to the house open when she arrived for work. She said that the Bingham family was out of town for several days.

Police discovered that entrance was gained by breaking the pane of glass of the French door at the rear of the house, and that either a heavy screw driver or a jimmy bar was used to open the house door.

Port Huron Final Victim Of 8 Games

Pointers Make Decision All-Conclusive By Swamping Foe, 56 to 12

By Fred Runnells
More than 4,500 Grosse Pointers saw Coach Ed Wernet's Blue Devil juggernaut rip and smash its way to an overwhelming 56 to 12 victory over once-beaten and once-tied Port Huron last Saturday on the local gridiron.

The victory added more history making firsts which this 1954 squad has made a practice. Just a week ago the Blue Devils annexed the Border Cities League title for the first time in the school's history.

Win Titles Galore
The Port Huron landslide not only gave them a perfect season of eight wins as against no losses but also the Detroit Times Suburban and State Class A Championship and the Detroit Free Press State Championship. Representatives from both papers will make the awards in the very near future.

Striking with lightning-like precision and hitting with the impact of a runaway bulldozer, the Blue Devils virtually clinched the game in the first three minutes of play with two touchdowns and conversions.

Make It Decisive
Twice more in the first period the Pointers crossed the Hurons' goal line and before the half had ended held a very comfortable 42 to 0 lead. Striking twice more in the early stages of the third quarter the Devils rolled to a 56 to 0 lead before the first stringers took up their positions on the sideline to watch the subs become the victims of both Huron touchdowns in the final periods of play.

The touchdown parade started just eight seconds after the Port Huron kickoff to Dan Follis, who took the ball on his own 40 and stumbled back to the 46.

Dow Runs 64 Yards
On the first play from scrimmage Bill Dow cracked over his own right tackle, behind beautiful blocking of the Pointers' forward wall, broke into the clear and raced 64 yards to score standing up. Follis added the extra point and started the scoreboard attendant on his point racking marathon.

The Hurons' Jim Hines fumbled on the first play of scrimmage after Follis had kicked off and tackle Paul Christo plunked his 211 pound frame on the pigskin on the Hurons' 32 yard line.

Prince Breaks Loose
Halfback Don Eugenio, the Devils' little explosive ball of fire, rattled the Big Reds' line for 7 yards on each of his first two carries. Bill Dow added 5 more before fullback Bob Prince brought the crowd to its feet when he raced around the Blue Devils' right end to score at the two-minute mark of the first quarter. "Automatic" Follis converted his second of eight extra points.

Three plays failed to gain a first down for Port Huron after Follis had kicked off to the Reds' 36 and forced them to punt. Eugenio took the kick on his own 30 and raced back to the 41.

The Devils were penalized 5 yards for taking too much time in the huddle and referee Dave Beauvais placed the ball down on the Pointers 36.

Eugenio Goes Over
On the first play Eugenio slipped through his own left tackle, faked the Huron line-backer out of position, skirted to the sideline and raced 64 yards for the Devils' third touchdown in five minutes of play. Follis again made good.

A bad pass from center set up the Pointers' fourth score of the period. Dick Turner was back to punt after the Pointers had held the Reds for infinitesimal gains. The pass from center went high over his head and bounded around the Reds' 12 where he picked it up and ran back to his own 29, short of a first down. The Devils took over.

Start Pecking Away
Quarterback Jim Lineberger wasted no time in putting Eugenio, Dow and Prince to work battering the Hurons' line for short gains to reach the Hurons' one yard line. At this point the Reds stiffened momentarily.

Water Shortage Solution

build open filter beds, below the land level, on the pumping station site in Lake Shore road. Here, water could simply be poured over the beds and fed into the present pumping facilities, which are adequate for all present and future needs.

Many of the Farms residents who have been driving along Lake Shore and watching the construction of the new intake booster station in the lakefront park, have believed that this was the solution to the water shortage from which they have suffered for several years during the dry summer months. This is far from the truth.

Won't Boost Supply

The intake booster station had to be built to relieve the present intake, which is 88 per cent owned by Highland Park. While the Farms has owned but 12 per cent of the intake, it has been taking far more than this amount of water from it, to satisfy its needs and those of the City and the portion of the Shores which it supplies.

Highland Park had notified the Farms that it must correct this situation and build another intake so it could bring its proper percentage of water into its pumping system. This had to be done, or Highland Park could have cut down on the Farms supply any time it chose, which would have raised merry hob with Farms, City and Shores. So the intake booster station was undertaken this year, long before the voters were asked to approve long term financing for it at the polls on November 2.

It had to be built, to guarantee against any further curtailment of water supply through a Highland Park edict. But it will not add another pint of water to the present supply.

However, with the completion of the booster station, the supply problem narrows down to one of filtering capacity, and the construction of a new and larger main between the Farms and the City. The pumping capacity is adequate for all foreseeable requirements, Mr. Smith stated.

He added that plans for the open filters which would expand the plant to adequate capacity, could be ready for the State to inspect within a few days. If approved, Mr. Smith believes the project could be completed in plenty of time for the demands of next summer.

Would Drain in Winter

The abnormal demands only last during the hot periods of the summer supply. The rest of the time the supply is adequate. During the winter, with the lawn sprinkling demands removed, the open filter beds could be shut off and drained.

The City has already put itself on the line as willing to foot the bill for a large expansion program. With the new plan, at a much lower cost, it appears the whole thing is up to the State Department of Health. On its decision may rest the answer to the question of whether or not the Farms and City will have plenty of water next summer, or will have to go through another rationing session.

was imparting information gained from hearsay.

Among the witnesses called to the stand was Mrs. Martha Sabel of 1929 Allard, into whose window Kilets was alleged to have peeped, and who preferred the charges; and Frank Oswald of 1913 Allard, who had claimed that Kilets was peeping into the Sabel home.

Mrs. Sabel stated that at the time the offense was supposed to have been committed, she was in her home and was not aware that anything was amiss until she heard voices, one of which she recognized as Oswald's.

Didn't See His Face

She said that she had peered out of the window by lifting a slat of her Venetian blind. She said that she did not see Kilets' face, but she did notice his other physical features.

She related that she was too frightened to leave her house and at no time ventured out of doors.

Oswald, on the other hand, stated that he had been making preparations to retire, when he heard his dog barking and had looked out of his second-story window and saw Kilets at the window of Mrs. Sabel's home.

This was the window of one of the Sabel children's room, located on the first floor.

Oswald said that after he had seen Kilets peering in the window, he shouted to him to "freeze" and that he had a gun on him. (Oswald and Mrs. Sabel's homes are separated by a vacant lot.)

Got Gun Later

Oswald also stated, that at the time he shouted, he did not have his gun, but had gone to his bedroom after he ordered Kilets to stay where he was.

He testified that Kilets was antagonistic and at first refused to identify himself, but when he (Oswald) insisted, then Kilets showed his credentials and stated that he was a police officer.

When final testimony was given by the other witnesses, Kilets was called to the stand, where he denied that he had been "peeping" and steadfastly maintained that he was chasing two men he claimed had been tampering with his car.

He said that he had gone bowling at about 9 p.m. Thursday, October 7 (the "peeping" was said to have taken place at 2:30 a.m. the next morning), and had later gone to a party in Detroit. When he left the house where the party had taken place, and was going toward his car, he said he saw two men tampering with it and had taken up pursuit.

Man Had Vanished

He arrived at the vicinity of the Sabel home, when he saw a man standing at the curb and had gotten out of his car, which he stopped several houses away from the Sabel home, to investigate, but the man was gone.

He maintained that he had been looking for the man and had gone alongside the Sabel house and was headed towards the rear of the house when he heard Oswald's shout. He said that he had identified himself to Oswald as a police officer.

After character witnesses were brought forth in his defense and the summation was made by both the state and the defense attorney, Judge Goodrow charged the jury, and the verdict of not guilty was rendered after two ballots were cast.

Members of Jury

The following persons were members of the jury: Beatrice C. Gill of 1898 Fleetwood; Lillian C. Holdreth of 1618 S. Renaud; Lucille L. Cuyler of 1798 Hollywood; Ruth E. Estelle of 1717 Prestwick; Fred W. Leonard of 1340 Hawthorne; and Walter G. Hellwig of 1957 Kenmore.

Judge Goodrow revealed that to the best of his knowledge, the jury trial is the first in the history of the Woods. He said that six persons are selected for a jury trial in a justice court.

Kilets' attorney will formally petition the Farms council to have the suspended patrolman reinstated on the force.

Pierce School to Present Evening of Plays Nov. 19

(Submitted by John Cook and Kay Kerr)

Pierce Junior High School has been buzzing with activity after school for the past few weeks. The reason is the Night of Plays which is coming up next Friday, November 19, at 8 o'clock. The program is made up of two plays produced by seventh and eighth graders, and some musical entertainment.

First on the program will be a few numbers played by the Pierce orchestra. Following these musical selections will be two plays. The seventh grade will present "Easy As Pie" by Karim Asbrand, which is a comedy. It is one of those typical plays wherein a girl tries anything to get a certain boy's attention; consequently it ends humorously.

In this case we have Betsey Miller, played by Jane Pratt, who is trying to get the attention of Perry Milton, played by Mike David, who is a new boy in town. Several of the other characters who help out are Leanne Trebilcock, Jeffrey Fair, Susie Hykes, Karen Belanger, Pat Toll, David Markle, Joan Vermuel, and Charlotte Hastings. The prompters will be Barbara Herrick and Diane Wurst.

Betsey is interested only in Perry Milton, who is interested only in food. To impress Perry, Betsey enters a pie contest, in which she enters one of her mother's pies under her own name and wins first prize. Since Perry enjoys food so much he invites himself to dinner, and Betsey in despair, afraid that Perry will find out that she can't cook, puts her arm in a cast.

Immediately all of Betsey's friends start cooking dinner and in all the chaos, a few ingredients get left out. Consequently, dinner is a complete flop until Aunt Samantha comes to the rescue with some decent food. With her she brings a girl friend, who turns out to be Perry in disguise.

For the in-between-acts there will be two record pantomimes done by some pupils of the 7B dramatics classes. Another pantomime skit will be presented by the eighth grade dramatics class. The eighth and ninth graders are giving a performance of "The Pampered Darling." The story is about a little pampered brat who has always managed to ruin his two older "sisters' plans. This time they think they have kept the secret from him, until Dudley, a rather stupid, slow-witted boy, spills the beans.

Tickets will be sold at Pierce next week, as well as at the door on the Evening of Plays. Mr. Harry McCaffrey, Miss Virginia Hoelzle and Mr. John Mason are the faculty advisors for these productions.

Firemen to Help Battle Disease

Fire Fighter Alfred J. Martin, 1260 Beaconsfield, has been appointed Publicity Chairman of the Firefighters March for Muscular Dystrophy to take place in the Grosse Pointe Communities on Thanksgiving day.

In accepting the post, Fireman Martin asked co-operation of newspaper and radio and television stations in promoting a series of muscular dystrophy campaign rallies and other activities.

Funds are sought again this year to fight this crippling disease which has stricken more than 200,000 Americans, most of them children. The disease is 100 percent fatal in children.

The International Association of Fire Fighters, A.F.L., with 85,000 members in the United States and Canada, is spearheading the 1954 nationwide campaign.

With other fire fighters across the country, members of Grosse Pointe Park Fire Fighters Local 533 will go from door to door on their own time collecting contribution envelopes which will have been received in the mail earlier. They will be assisted by letter carriers and volunteer workers from various local organizations.

Sgt. Reynolds Returns From English Air Base

Sergeant James L. Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Loon, of Audubon road, has returned home after spending three years in England at the Burtonwood Airforce Base.

Plans are being made for him to go to Michigan State College to study Business Administration.

Wallfisch Duo To Play Recital

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center will furnish the setting for the recital of the viola-piano duo, Ernest and Lory Wallfisch, on Monday evening, November 22 at 8:30 o'clock.

This is Mr. Wallfisch's second season as principal-violist of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, and on Sunday, December 5, he will be soloist playing the Suite by Bloch.

The evening of November 22 will be his first Detroit appearance with his wife.

Ernest and Lory Wallfisch have just returned from a five months tour of European capitals where they met with amazing success. They have the unusual privilege of spending two weeks with the great Pablo Casals (Prades, France) playing for him many times. Casals issued them an invitation to participate in next summer's festival.

Mr. Wallfisch plays a very fine viola (Carlo Antonio Testore, Milan, 1741) which was put at his disposal indefinitely by Yehudi Menuhin.

The Zurich press last May carried this comment, "The duo Ernest and Lory Wallfisch, viola and piano, is a name which must be remembered; because one cannot hear a more beautiful and perfect playing than that offered by these artists in their Zurich debut."

The program on November 22 will contain standard works for two instruments by Haydn, Schubert and Schumann. A novelty group will be four impressions by Darius Milhaud, entitled "La Californienne," "The Wisconsinian," "La Bruelloise," "La Parisienne."

Mr. Milhaud, one of the greatest of the contemporary composers, will appear in Detroit in December and perhaps the choice of this suite is in honor of his approaching visit.

A social hour will follow the concert. Tickets priced at $2.50 (including tax) may be purchased at the Memorial Center. For further information call TU 1-6030.

David B. Harding Destroys Tour Aboard Destroyer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (PHTC) —David B. Harding, electronics technician seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Harding of 929 Trombley road, Grosse Pointe Park, Mich., is scheduled to return here October 31, completing a six month tour of the Far East aboard the radar picket destroyer USS Southerland.

The Southerland departed from San Diego on May 4, and joined the fast carrier Task Force operating off the Philippines shortly after her arrival in the Far East. After a period of operations with the Hunter-Killer Force, she was assigned to patrol duty in the Formosa Straits. After a second tour with the fast carrier force, the Southerland returned to Japan on September 22.

Although her operations were varied and extensive, the Southerland visited Hong Kong on two occasions during her stay in Asian waters. Many of the crew members returned with souvenirs from this and other Far Eastern ports.

Scoutleaders Plan Good Turn

Four hundred Detroit Area Scoutleaders met this week to complete plans for an all-out Thanksgiving Good Turn for Goodwill Industries. Thirty thousand Scouts and Explorers are making a house-to-house distribution of 400,000 empty bags on Saturday, November 20 and will pickup the filled bags on Saturday, November 27. As a result of the Scout good turn, Goodwill Industries, a non-profit organization employing hundreds of handicapped persons, hopes to obtain more than enough discarded clothing and shoes to re-employ several people laid off due to lack of salvage materials. Pictured left to right: BEN KUSHNER, 1422 Maryland; A. G. DENISON (District Special Events Chairman), 1888 Kerby, and Community Commissioner PAUL L. KOLVOORD, 1248 Lakepointe.

Ceremony Held By Tuxis Club

The annual installation of Tuxis officers and new members was held in the sanctuary of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, on Sunday evening, November 7.

As a symbol of dedication, white roses were offered to the newly installed officers. The 164 new members each received a red rose.

The young people, plus several hundred parents, were addressed by Dr. Frank Pitt, pastor of the Memorial Church.

The special music was provided by the Senior Young People's Choir under the direction of Miss Marie Joy Curtis.

Ice cream and cookies were featured at a reception held in the church gymnasium following the ceremony.

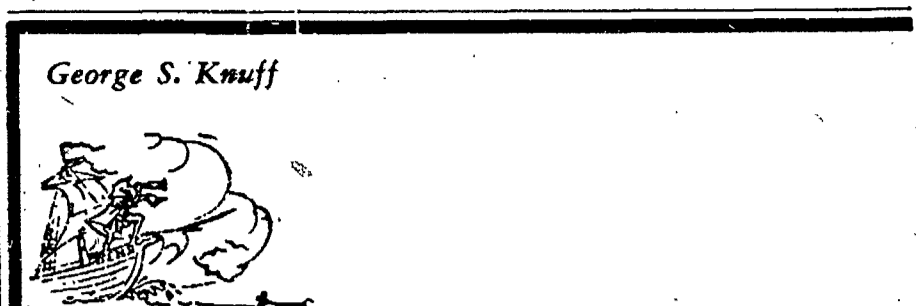

The officers for the coming year are: Jim Owens, president; Ron Rolley, vice president; Molly Marshall, secretary, and Robert Guenther, treasurer.

Composing the Tuxis cabinet are: Cynthia Lister, John Wresell, Joan Hill, Bruce Chambers, Sally Jo Rich and Richard Weber.

STONE BREAK WINDOWS

George Loosvelt of 464 Moran complained to Farms police on Thursday, November 4, that someone had thrown a stone, breaking a large front window and storm window of his home. Estimate of damages was not revealed.

New Ford Line Out Tomorrow

Ford will introduce an entirely new line—the high-leader Fairlane series—as the leader of its four lines of 1955 passenger cars to be shown in 6400 dealers' showrooms across the nation on Friday (Nov. 12). Locally the cars can be seen at Adam-Simms, Jefferson at Nottingham, and Steiners, Mack at Grayton.

Modern styling inspired by Ford's new Thunderbird personal car distinguishes the new Fords. The 1955 Fords have a wrap-around windshield and a new, lower silhouette. The Crown Victoria—a new model—is the first Ford under five feet in over-all height.

Ford, which offered the first V-8 engine in the low price field in 1932 and has built 14 million V-8's since, introduces for the first time three new engines.

Ford is introducing a new integrated air conditioning and heating system with its 1955 models. This new system will be dealer installed. New "Trigger-Torque" power gives greatly increased responsiveness in driving range and better maneuverability and flexibility in traffic. A 44 foot-pound increase in torque in the V-8 engine provides faster starts at lower speeds and also extra power for safe passing at higher speeds.

Hooded headlamps give the high front fenders a forward thrust look while rear fenders form a reverse angle above larger tail lamps. All the new Fords have a flatter hood and a longer rear deck.

New upholstery fabrics, many developed especially for the 1955 Fords, are available in a broad selection of colors and patterns. They are matched with 13 exterior colors in single tones and also in a variety of new and unusual two-tone treatments in the Fairlane series.

Ford, which produces 47% of all station wagons sold, has expanded its station wagon series for 1955 to include five models with all steel bodies—one more than in 1954. They include the eight-passenger Country Squire, with side moldings of wood grained glass fibre; an eight-passenger Country Sedan; a six-passenger Country Sedan, a Custom Ranch Wagon and a Ranch Wagon.

Larger brakes on all models with 25 percent more braking surface on station wagons, provide greater stopping ability and 50 per cent longer life.

New tubeless tires, first introduced in the low-priced field by Ford in 1954, are again standard equipment and offer greater safety because they retain air longer after a puncture.

Four driving assists — power brakes, power steering, four power windows and four-way power seats which, along with the conventional seat, can be moved two inches further back to provide additional leg room.

5,000 Brochures Mailed By UWF

The Grosse Pointe Chapter of the United Federalists has mailed a new publication, "Your Time Has Come for Decision," to 5,000 leaders of business, law, religion, and finance throughout Michigan.

This brochure was written and published by members of the chapter as part of the educational program aimed at supporting and strengthening the UN. The leaflet specifically deals with the Charter Review Conference which will be on the 1955 agenda of the UN.

Chiefly responsible for the text and form of the brochure are Mrs. Haldeman Finnie and John C. Chapin of Grosse Pointe. Certain present UN charter defects are outlined and amendments proposed by the United World Federalists to remedy these weaknesses are listed. This suggested program is in line with the fundamental UWF objective of "strengthening the United Nations into a world federation with powers limited to the prevention of aggression and control of armaments."

Accompanying each brochure is a letter signed by three prominent citizens of Detroit: The Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich, Bishop of Michigan; James K. Watkins, well-known lawyer; and C. Allen Harlan, electrical manufacturer.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has urged all Americans to form opinions on this important subject before the Charter Review Conference proposal arises in the UN in 1955. It is the hope and aim of the UWF organization to help every citizen learn the facts in time to influence these important decisions.

A simple dedicatory inscription not of a personal nature may be written in books but other unauthorized persons subject the parcel to the letter rate of postage.

Do not enclose letters or messages, no matter how brief, in parcels, as doing so will subject the entire parcel to the letter rate. Communications enclosed in envelopes prepaid at the letter rate may be securely fastened to the outside of parcels sent at the third- or fourth-class rate.

Christmas gifts should be insured or registered. Parcels containing small articles of considerable value should always be registered.

Perishable Matter
 Articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation and delivery are not acceptable for mailing. Parcels containing perishable matter must be endorsed "Perishable" directly above the name of the addressee, and should be sent Special Delivery or Special Handling.

Labeling
 About December 1, printed labels marked "LOCAL" and "OUT OF TOWN" will be distributed by carriers to Detroit residents for use in segregating and facing their Christmas greeting cards. The mailing public is urged to

Club Will Hear Talk on Birds

Meeting at 8 p.m. on Thursday, November 18, in the War Memorial Center, the Men's Garden Club of Grosse Pointe will present a comprehensive study of the gardener's friend—the bird.

During vacation trips many years ago, Clarence Messner thought about the satisfaction of being able to identify birds—perhaps a particular warbler with a reddish brown patch under its ear. From such curiosity developed an outstanding talent in the science of ornithology.

The principal of the Richard School, Mr. Messner has been president of both the Detroit and the Michigan Audubon Societies and his story of the need for birds and of how residents can attract them will be an important component in the Garden Club's program.

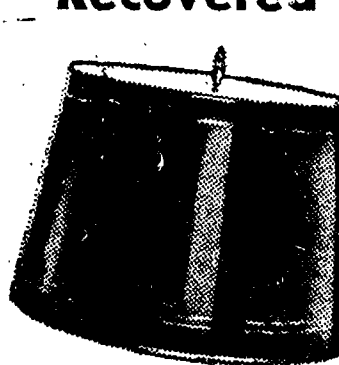

All men gardeners of Grosse Pointe are invited to attend the meeting.

Preferred by all active men who seek a dependable self-winding watch

The weakest point in ordinary waterproof watches is the fit of the crystal. Under extremes of temperature it expands or contracts. Each little opening permits dust or dampness to penetrate. The steel-rim, pressure-fitted Seamaster crystal maintains a perfect seal under all conditions. The unique Hydro-Seal back and Hermetic Crown give additional immunity. Of all water-resistant watches we consider the Seamaster best.

Yacht Club Members Plan A Masked Ball

Thanksgiving Fete at Grosse Pointe Yacht Club on Nov. 20 To Be Faced with Members Masked; Feminine Contingent To Don Fancy Masks, Domino Masks for Males

Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's social activities will be highlighted by two big parties in the current month. First will be the bridge luncheon and fashion show for the distaff side on Tuesday, Nov. 16. A few days later, there'll be the annual Thanksgiving Ball—on Saturday, November 20, to be precise.

The formal Thanksgiving Ball will have a glamorous new faked this year. It is to be a masked party, and for the past couple of weeks, a committee has been searching out and selecting fancy masks for the feminine contingent. For the men there'll be regular domino masks.

Charles E. Monahan and George C. Mitchell are general co-chairmen in charge of the festivity. The "mask" committee includes Mrs. Paul I. Moreland, Mrs. Paul L. Barker, Mrs. Rex L. Brophy, Mrs. Thomas C. Fox and Mrs. Robert F. Weber.

The masks will be given out as the party-goers arrive at the club. The ball is to take place in the big lounge where tables, decked with autumn flowers and lighted tapers, will be arranged around the dance floor.

The women's bridge luncheon of November 16, with Mrs. William P. Kinder as chairman, promises a capacity crowd. Mrs. Paul L. Barker is co-chairman.

This fete also will be in the club's big lounge. Here a runway will be arranged for an outstanding fashion show to be presented by Valerie DeGalan. Flowers around the fireplace and on the long gift table, and music for the fashion parade, will be festive notes.

Among those with early reservations is Mrs. Henry C. Weidner, who will entertain Mrs. Raymond E. North, Mrs. Ernest North, Mrs. Marvin E. Pushman, Mrs. J. S. Foote, Mrs. William Koester, Mrs. Leon Ratcliffe and Mrs. Benjamin Heyns.

Mrs. Alfred J. Dalton will entertain for her house guest, Mrs. Ralph Greer, of Chicago, formerly of Grosse Pointe. Mr. and Mrs. Greer are coming for the Michigan-Michigan State football game on November 13 and the Lions-49-ers on the 14th.

Mrs. Dalton's other guests at the GPYC bridge-luncheon fete will be Mrs. E. Wilson Wardell, Mrs. L. Jerome DuMahaut, Mrs. J. S. Booker, Mrs. Wesley Peoples, Mrs. Myrta Travis Schneider and Mrs. Thelma H. Savage.

Mrs. Karl W. Weber's guests will be Mrs. Joseph VanDeweghe, Mrs. William Trader and Mrs. Frank H. Brown. Mrs. Andrew L. Malott, Mrs. Robert F. Weber and Mrs. Clement A. Pennell each will have groups of eight and Mrs. A. W. Kleinschmidt will have a table of four.

Finest French Prints on View

An exhibition of French prints which authorities say is the best to be assembled in nearly 50 years, will be on view in the Graphic Arts Galleries of the Detroit Institute of Arts through December 31.

This show of 175 prints in all mediums, from color lithography to drypoint and etching, includes all of the important French 20th century artists who have worked in graphic arts—Utrillo, Matisse, Picasso, Braque, Roualt, Raoul Dufy, and new members of the Paris school such as Brianchon and Soulas.

"Contemporary French Printmaking" is an excellent complement to the current exhibition of French painting from 1855 to 1900 and provides an opportunity for a continued turn of the century art from the turn of the century to the present.

Gallery tours of the current exhibition of world-famous French paintings, "Two Sides of the Medal" are being conducted at 3 p.m. each Sunday in October by Detroit Institute of Arts curators.

The 150 paintings by such greats as Renoir, Gauguin, van Gogh and Degas, have an estimated value of $3,000,000 and are on loan from the world's greatest museums, including the Louvre. Closing date for the exhibition is Sunday, October 31.

Nancy wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle, its floor touching skirt fashioned with pleated front panel and a scalloped neckline finishing the slim bodice. From a crown of lace and beads fell the tri-tiered veil of imported silk illusion. Its scalloped edge was hand rolled.

The bride carried a bouquet of white Fuji mums and stephanotis.

Mrs. James E. Jeffries, of Atchison, Kan., was her sister-in-law's matron of honor. She wore a waltz length frock of aqua crystalettes with matching velvet headband and tiny veil. Her flowers were bronze Fuji mums.

The Jefferson Room at the Whittier was scene of the reception. The bride's table was covered with lace cloth, intricately lighted from beneath in soft pink tones. Centered by the three tiered wedding cake, the table also had arrangements of white bebe mums and stock.

When the newly-married couple left on their wedding trip, the bride's traveling costume was a beige wool tailleur with luggage tan top coat and beige toque.

Upon their return Mr. Salzmann will continue his studies at General Motors Institute of Technology, commuting from their Oxford home.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were the bride's aunts, Mrs. Carl Whitney, of Lakeland, Fla.; Mrs. Ruth Goshorn and Mrs. Helen Parsons of Anderson, Ind.; her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Taza of Pittsburgh, and her sister, Mrs. Warren Klug of Joliet, Ill.

Girl Scout Leaders to Attend Regional Conference Next Week

Many will gain new inspiration for their jobs of building American citizens at the Great Lakes Regional Conference of the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A., November 16-18.

The conference will be held in Grand Rapids. It is one of four conferences to be held in Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin, the four states which make up the Great Lakes region.

Theme of the conferences is "Girl Scouts—A Growing Force for Freedom." Sessions are divided around these phases of the theme—Responsibilities of Freedom, Leadership for Freedom, and Roads to Freedom.

Dr. Charles L. Anspach, President of Central Michigan College, will deliver the keynote address on the subject "Strength to Lead and Faith to Follow."

Miss Edith Conant, Director, National Program Department, Girl Scouts U. S. A., will speak on the topic, "The Promises That

We Live." She will discuss the Girl Scout promise which begins, "On my honor, I will try to do my duty to God and my country," and how Girl Scouts translate the words of that promise into action.

The role of the Girl Scouts in developing American citizens will be outlined by Mrs. John Carney, Director of Community Relations Division, Girl Scouts U. S. A., in her talk "Proud Emblem of the Free."

Some 92,496 Girl Scouts in Michigan, of which nearly 32,000 are in metropolitan Detroit, will be represented by the several hundred adult volunteers attending the conference at Grand Rapids.

Those attending from the Grosse Pointe District will be Mrs. Adam C. Cook, Mrs. Henry Walker, Mrs. John Bayne, Mrs. Emmet Egan, Mrs. Norton Waldbridge, Miss Muriel Reamore, Mrs. Kenneth Locke, Mrs. Edward Kay, and Mrs. Fred J. Schrieber.

The Senior Scouts will be represented by Frances Babcock, Karen Rogelin, Sharon Mason, Peggy Sims, Betty Brownson.

There will be dancing and refreshments. Everyone is welcome.

FOUR HUBCAPS STOLEN

Four hubcaps, valued at $50, were reported stolen on Wednesday, November 3. The owner, Joseph Tode of 894 Hollywood, informed Woods police that his car was parked in the side drive of his home when the caps were taken.

From Another Pointe of View, Long Islanders Feted

The Henry B. Joys Jr., incidentally, were hosts at a small cocktail and supper party in their Provencal road home last Saturday evening complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Reichner of Long Island. The Reichners were here for the Sunday christening of Benjamin S. Warren III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin S. Warren Jr. (Ethel du Pont) which took place in Christ Church, Grosse Pointe. The Rev. Erville Maynard officiated. Godparents for the young man included Mrs. Reichner, Mrs. Herbert I. Lord, Henry B. Joy Jr., and John Norton Lord. Following the church service Sunday, the Warrens asked family and friends to a christening tea at their Edgemere road home.

The Fair Today

We'll miss Mrs. Wesson Seyburn at Christ Church's super-colossal Christmas Fair today. She had a bad heart scare last week but it's nice to report she's out of the hospital, back in her East Jefferson avenue home. In the meantime, remember over at the Fair the children will love the miniature zoo to be found in Miller Hall. It's pretty wonderful and Mrs. Lewis S. Robinson is the chairman. Fair fun, which started at 10 o'clock this morning, goes on until 6 p.m.

Country Clubbers

The William J. Youngs Jr. gave a dinner party Saturday night at the Country Club with their guests including Mr. and Mrs. William L. Hurley, Marie Louise Hurley, Tom Keane, Mr. and Mrs. John V. Renchard, Edward D. Picard, The Edwin Fishers (Mr. Grosse Pointe Packard), and we're dazzled that his good-looking East Jefferson avenue agency has a floor of Italian mosaic. It was brought from Europe years ago by the late Alvan Macauley. Also at the Country Club on Saturday night were the Edward Ives. The Peter Koenigs with the Lou Cromwells. The Cornelius Rays.

Lobster Fest

Twenty-four live lobsters is cause for a party any day for a Boston gal. And that's precisely what Mrs. Joseph A. Maiullo II is. The young couple filled their Moran road home with pink mums the other evening. And treated their guests to a real New England broiled lobster dinner. Among the guests: Mr. and Mrs. James Merriam Barnes and their daughter, Toni. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Buttrick. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Barker. Mr. and Mrs. William A. Ternes and Phil Moses of Bloomfield Hills.

Four Layer Surprise

Before the William H. Bundesens, of Lincoln road, and their guests, Dr. and Mrs. Jose Dotta, of Argentina, took off for the East the other day. The Bundesens gave a farewell party with a true South American flavor. Castanets and maracas combined with Mrs. Dotta's smooth tangos at the piano and the fun was on. The Dottas, here two months, really were sad to leave "the beautiful Pointe." Before going to New York (by way of Canada so the visitors could see some of that country, too) the foursome went up to Lansing to see the Bundesens' daughters Lili—in her senior year—and Anna, who is a freshman. Pretty Mama Bundesen, who looks like a college gal, herself, carried a homemade four layer cake to Lansing to surprise Lili on her twentieth birthday.

Deb Due Thanksgiving

Karla Scherer, a beauty, will spend Thanksgiving week-end with her parents, the Robert P. Scherers of Lake Shore road. And go into all those dazzling details of her December debut. Looks as if the Country Club is going to have to engage in some of that sleight of hand again these holidays. For the decors will be elaborate and completely changed between the Robinson-Fisher Ball on December 21 (Gracie Robinson, daughter of the W. Dean Robinsons, and Margot Fisher, daughter of the William P. Fishers) and Karla's ball which takes place on December 22.

On that occasion six local residents, under the direction of Dallas Shapin, will be presented in an American Theatre Wing Community Play titled "For Those Who Follow."

Written by Esther M. Hawley, "For Those Who Follow" is a situation drama commemorating the Fiftieth Anniversary of the National Tuberculosis Association this year. The TB and Health Society is the Wayne County affiliate of the national health organization.

Featured in the cast for the November 16 presentation are: Mr. and Mrs. William Dennes, identified with Players, Fine Arts and Theatre Arts; Mrs. William C. Russell, active with Fine Arts and Theatre Arts; Mrs. Carl Zimmer, of Theatre Arts; Mrs. Jack Graham, of Fine Arts and Theatre Arts, and John Peters of Players and Fine Arts.

Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Zimmer are prominently identified with the Women's Committee of the TB and Health Society.

St. James Guild To Tour School To Wed in Fall

Trombly P.T.A. To Meet Nov. 15

The Trombly School P.T.A. plans to meet on Monday, November 15, at 8:15 p.m.

In response to a strong interest expressed in report cards, the Association is planning its program around this interest. Malcolm Denise, program chairman, has devised Frank J. Welzenbach, principal of Trombly School, to review and interpret pupil report cards.

Prior to the general meeting, parents are welcome to visit in the classrooms to see the children's work and to talk to the teachers.

Mrs. Woodward Warrick and Mrs. Alfred Miller, social chairmen, together with room mothers, Mrs. Alfred Entenman, Mrs. Robert Laitner and Mrs. James Chase, will welcome guests in the gymnasium for refreshments and a social period.

Teacher to Talk About Scotland

Life in Scotland as an exchange teacher provided an interesting year for Mrs. Muriel Kreski, who is a teacher of mathematics in Grosse Pointe High School.

She will relate her experiences and impressions of Scotland when she speaks to the Social Studies Group of the American Association of University Women, Grosse Pointe Branch.

The meeting will be held Tuesday evening, November 16, at 7:45 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Lowell Orebough.

Co-hostesses will be Miss Leona Weir and Miss Sue Barnett, with Mrs. Edward Grenard as chairman.

Boat Club Plans Luncheon Party

Thanksgiving and the Landing of the Pilgrims will be the theme for the final Women's Bridge Luncheon of the 1954 year at the Detroit Boat Club on Wednesday, November 17, at 12 noon.

The club will be decorated in the traditional manner with turkeys, corn stalks, pumpkins and autumn leaves.

Mrs. William B. Bowman is chairman of the party assisted by Mrs. T. Grover Amos, Mrs. William G. Buchinger, Mrs. Elmer A. Rolley and Mrs. Clarence W. Treadwell.

Ground Observer Corps Meeting

HELP WANTED, male or female, to work two hours per day, one day each week; qualifications: sense of civic duty and public responsibility, loyalty and patriotism; no wages, salary, overtime or fringe benefits, but rewarding sense of personal satisfaction and public appreciation guaranteed.

Citizens of the Detroit area will have an opportunity to enroll in the Ground Observer Corps and start their training, when a specialized USAF Training Team from the Grand Rapids Filter Center meets with local Observers at Cannon Memorial Community Center, Thursday, November 18th at 8 p.m.

In announcing plans for the class, Arthur R. Grau, Supervisor of the Saratoga General Hospital Post, urged every citizen who is curious about the GOC or who wants to do his part in the Nation's air defense, to attend and learn about its important work.

Declaring that the Detroit area is "stiff lagging behind," Mr. Grau said his post needs 100 more volunteers. "We cannot do our job effectively unless we have enough observers to keep our post operating around the clock," he explained. Observers at posts in this area are part of a warning system which is "guarding the entire Nation, from east to west and north to south."

He explained that observation posts, such as the one located here have been organized throughout the nation. Serving in the "first line of defense," observers relay their aircraft sightings to the filter center in Grand Rapids.

After the number, direction and height of unknown aircraft is determined, that information is relayed by the filter center to an Air Force radar station which, when appropriate, orders fighter-interceptors into action. These defender aircraft, armed and ready for action, are on the alert 24 hours a day, seven days a week to challenge any possible enemy aggressor.

Mr. Grau emphasized that the pilots of those fighter-interceptors "can't do their job-effectively unless there are enough fully-trained, active volunteers at every observation post."

Pointing out that GOC volunteers "work hand-in-hand with radar to keep the skies over our nation under constant surveillance," Mr. Grau asserted, "We are all part of a team—a team that may well prove to be the most important team in history, the air defense team. You do not have to be an expert in any sense of the word—if you can see, hear and use a telephone, you can qualify just as many of your neighbors have."

He asks that you consider this a personal invitation to attend and learn about the importance of the Ground Observer Corps or better yet, become a member of Operation Skywatch.

Appointed Packard Dealer

EDWIN FISHER has been appointed the Packard dealer for sales and service in Grosse Pointe, Clare E. Briggs, Packard vice-president of sales, has announced. The dealership, Edwin Fisher, Grosse Pointe Packard, Inc., 15205 E. Jefferson, will begin providing service for all car makes as well as Packards and Clippers immediately, Fisher said, although formal opening ceremonies are planned in January. Extensive modernization of showroom and service facilities will be carried out in the next two months.

A 20-year resident of Grosse Pointe, he attended Georgetown Preparatory School in Washington and Notre Dame University prior to receiving his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Detroit in 1928.

Following graduation, he joined the Cadillac division where he held various assignments in marketing and sales promotion before becoming branch manager for Cadillac at its East Jefferson location in 1937. Four years later he resigned to set up his own automotive sales engineering business.

As the Packard dealer in Grosse Pointe, Fisher will be delivering automobiles to many families for whom his father, A. Fisher, made buggies and carriages at the turn of the century in his plant at Fort and Sixth streets.

Commenting on his decision to purchase the Grosse Pointe dealership, Fisher said the introduc-

Police Practically at Scene When Motorist Rams Tree

Two Park police officers, Sgt. Richard Mead and Patrolman Henry Coonce were practically on the scene when an automobile rammed into a tree on Sunday, November 7, causing serious injuries to the driver.

An accident report disclosed that the two police officers were at the home of Mrs. Francis Jacobs, 123 Moran, taking down a complaint, when they heard a crash.

Investigating, they discovered a car over the curb in front of 16708 E. Jefferson, rammed against a tree. The driver was unconscious and bleeding at the mouth.

Park Patrolmen Charles Slusser and Arthur Conlan were called to the scene to assist their colleagues in removing the injured driver from his smashed vehicle and taking him to Bon Secours Hospital.

At the hospital, after the man regained consciousness and was able to talk, he informed police that his name was Julius Pollum of 44780 Ryan, Utica, Mich. He stated that he had fallen asleep at the wheel before the accident occurred.

Pollum suffered several fractured ribs and lacerations of the face.

He was issued a ticket for not having his car under control and causing an accident. Court date is pending.

Edison Plans Meeting At Henry Ford Museum

Detroit Edison will hold an informational meeting for the benefit of stockholders of this area next Monday, November 15; it was announced today by Walker L. Cisler, president of the company.

The meeting will be in the auditorium of the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn, and will open at two o'clock Monday afternoon. This place was chosen for the event so that those attending might view Light's Diamond Jubilee exhibits in the Museum. More than a million people have visited the exhibits since they were set up last May.

Stockholders also will have an opportunity to tour historic buildings in Greenfield Village. These include a replica of Detroit Edison's first power plant, in which the original generating equipment was put back into operation this spring and is now furnishing electricity to light a giant 50,000-watt lamp. The original power plant building, at the southeast corner of State Street and Washington boulevard in Detroit, is still in use by the company as a sales office.

Present at Monday's meeting, besides Edison stockholders from throughout this area, will be officers and members of the board of directors of the company. The president will report on matters of interest to stockholders, including the company's participation in atomic power development, and there will be a discussion period in which Edison executives will answer questions on company operations.

Planned for the special convenience of people in the service area who own Detroit Edison shares, the meeting is the third of its kind held annually by the company. More than 60 per cent of Detroit Edison's 75,000 stockholders live in Michigan, and of these more than half live within the company's 7,600-square-mile service area in the southeastern part of the state.

Causes for Rejoicing

Grosse Pointe Farms may have two of its weightiest problems, both caused by water, solved before another summer rolls around. City Engineer Murray Smith is fairly optimistic about the outlook.

The voters helped out with both of the problems by approving two proposed bond issues totalling $530,000 on November 2. One of the issues, for $380,000, will finance the cost of improving weak spots in the city's sewer system. This proposition was turned down twice some years back, when it would have cost less money.

It is to the credit of the present crop of voters that they have finally given their approval. Every hard rain brought floods to hundreds of basements in both homes and business establishments in these sections where the sewer systems had been outgrown by the rapid development of the areas. It was an intolerable situation and had to be taken care of.

The Farms is now in a position to proceed as rapidly as possible with modernizing the bad portions of the system. Mr. Smith says he expects this can all be taken care of before the deluges of another rainy season hit the Pointe. That will solve Problem Number 1, of Too Much Water.

The second problem has to do with Too Little Water, during the hot, dry periods of summer when every civic-minded resident wants to sprinkle his lawn and gardens. The arid spells when water for sprinkling has to be rationed do not last through the entire summer, as every rainstorm brings relief for at least a few days, but when they do occur, it is most annoying.

In many sections the pressure has become so low that residents have not been able to get water on the second floor of their homes. Garbage disposers failed to work and refreshing shower baths have been reduced to exasperating trickles.

The chief causes of this lack of water have been insufficient intake capacity from the inexhaustible supply of Lake St. Clair, and limited filter capacity. Some of the original water mains still in use, are also too small, and will have to be replaced.

The Farms was forced to build an intake booster station to get more water out of the lake, even without the additional filter capacity which would get this added water to the consumers. Highland Park owns 88 per cent of the present intake and has long been putting pressure on the Farms to build a booster. Highland Park claimed, and the Farms admitted that the Farms was using more water than it was entitled to. Highland Park was in a position to lay down an edict at any time, forbidding the Farms to use any more than its 12 per cent.

The booster station in the lakefront beach park was started and is now well under way. The voters last week approved the proposition of the bond issue to string out the financing of this $150,000 project over a period of many years, rather than have to meet the costs as the work progresses.

Completion of the booster station will not add another pint of water to the amount the consumer receives, unless additional filters are constructed. This seemed to constitute an expense of such size that it could not be met now, even with financial help from the City of Grosse Pointe, which wants to remain a Farms customer rather than get its water from Detroit when that city completes its own big expansion program within the next year or two.

Now Murray Smith and the Farms' consulting engineers, Hubbell, Roth and Clark, have come up with a new idea which could mean the solution to this whole problem. Instead of building expensive structures to house the added filters, it has been proposed that open beds be built below the ground on the present pumping station property at Lake Shore and Moross.

This would appreciably cut the costs, and inasmuch as the shortages are felt only during the summer months and there is plenty of water at all other times of the year, the open beds could simply be cut off and drained during the winter months.

The final word on this plan rests with the State health authorities, which are about to be approached. The local officials and engineers feel that permission will be granted.

With the City of Grosse Pointe willing and anxious to take on the financial load, there is plenty of reason to expect that the end of this long plague may be in sight for these two municipalities. It is to be hoped the councils and special committees of both cities will waste no time nor effort to see that this is accomplished if the state gives the green light.

Mr. Smith is confident the whole thing could be completed before summer, which would provide a most happy ending to Problem Number 2.

Grosse Exaggerations A. PRYOR

'The snow had begun in the gloaming, And busily all the night Had been heaping field and highway With a silence deep and white. Every pine and fir and hemlock Wore ermine too dear for an earl, And the poorest twig on the elm tree Was ridged inch deep with pearl. I stood and watched by the window The noiseless work of the sky, And the sudden furies of snow-birds Like brown leaves whirling by.'

(James Russell Lowell)

We were almost inclined to take up the entire column this week with the above lovely poem... which is much, much longer and deserves to be read by everyone. However, that isn't our only reason. We just haven't TIME to write an entire column because we are too busy with this week's Bonanza Bill puzzle again. After that lone woman winning all the 'dough' last week... a single winner out of some 88,000 entries, we are beginning to get a complex!

Good old hateful Bonanza Bill announced in the Free Press last Sunday that most people missed the same four words: child, paws, wily and catch. Well, he need not get so cocky because we had 'em all... only we missed eight others and they don't pay off on just the hard ones. If anyone thinks we are crazy, there are several people of our acquaintance who send in 10 to 12 entries each week and none has won yet.

One man who sends in ten each week can't understand why he doesn't hit it on at least one. If he reads this column it will enlighten him but he won't believe us. To give you a rough idea, say there are ten ambiguous words which can mean any of three things... like fog, fog, or fog. In order to be SURE to win with one of the combinations... you would have to buy over a million copies of the Free Press and fill in the blanks, mailing same.

We are not an Einstein... in fact we never got beyond the second grade in grammar school... but figuring a million copies (to start with an even number)... at fifteen cents a copy, should be about $150,000 dollars. On top of that you have to have a million 2 cent postcards... that's, let's see, well, it's two million pennies anyway. To get rough again... your outlay would be about $170,000 but at least you would win.

If you get that enthusiastic however... you might as well add a latching or two to the hundred and seventy thousand, and BUY the FREE PRESS... then you could win every week. Don't tell US we haven't got good ideas!!! This is the kind of thing that trying to win that puzzle does to one.

To turn to brighter subjects and before the papers are fraught with pre-Christmas book reviews, we should like to mention briefly a book written by a Grosse Pointe couple, that we think you will find interesting. The book is called 'Beethoven and his Nephew'... the authors, Editha and Richard Sterba, M.D. We didn't have time to read the whole book this week, but we liked what we DID read and so will you. It is documentary but far from dull. We were fascinated with it. Don't get the idea you have to be 'musical' to enjoy it. If you care to put it on your Christmas list... it will make its public debut on November 22. Congratulations to the Sterbas for a splendid piece of work.

Reminiscing the other day with a retired nurse, she told us one of the most interesting cases she came across years ago while on hall duty at one of the hospitals... was a guy brought in for an emergency x-ray because he had a fish bone stuck in his throat. The thing that made it fascinating was that he was with the circus, then playing in town... and was a Sword Swallower!

If you sit home all winter and envy the people who can go to Florida, you would have changed your mind had you seen Arlene Francis' program, 'HOME,' last Monday morning. The entire show was right in Miami, Florida, for its hour program, which unfortunately was done out of doors. We say unfortunately because it was blowing a gale... and while the cast of 'Home' may not have minded it, the Miami Chamber of Commerce must have been crying in its beer.

The girls' dresses were flapping about, their hair in windy disarray and their voices were all but drowned out due to the roar of wind coming through the hand microphones.

However, they were back in New York again the next day and the program is one of the tops... in spite of small lapses like being 'gone with the wind.' There isn't anything the hausfrau does in her home that isn't covered by this 11 a.m. to noon show. The time may interfere with house work, but who wants to do that anyway?

Which reminds us of the woman who gave her husband canned baked beans and delicatessen cold cuts every evening for supper for a week. Finally when he complained, she said: 'Well... I'm busy all day reading my new cook books.'

Plan For Medical Care

By Fred Kopp, R. Ph. If sickness is regarded not as something to be cured but as something to be prevented, we have finally become educated in the matter of health. Knowing what to do is not enough, action is needed also; and provision of time and money to secure medical advice. By setting aside a small amount each month in our budget we can take care of the expense; by making an appointment with the doctor well in advance we can find the necessary time. Quality drugs, carefully compounded are important to health protection. Secure them from a pharmacist with a reputation for excellent prescription service. What Goes On at Your Library

By Jean Taylor

Are you puzzled as to which books your children might like to find underneath the Christmas tree?

Visit your library during Book Week, November 15-20, and you'll discover gift book suggestions for every taste among the many new and old books on display. This is the time when publishers, book sellers, librarians and all who are interested in children's reading concentrate their efforts on publicizing the best in books for boys and girls.

Unlike adults, a child's little interest in the publication date. Any book is a new book to a child until he has read it. King Arthur, Robin Hood, Tom Sawyer, The Wind in the Willows, Grimm, Anderson, Kipling, et al are still favorites and warrant a place on every child's own bookshelf. Your library will be glad to suggest attractive editions of these perennials.

Space permits us to mention a small sampling only of the many recent books in the library exhibit.

An unusual gift book for teenage youngsters is THE CAVES OF THE GREAT HUNTERS by Hans Baumann, Pantheon $3.00. Four boys stumble by accident into a cave in Lascoux, Southern France, where they discover a hoard of great primitive paintings. The book is a happy combination of information on primitive man's culture and a well-written adventure story.

Another book about which this age group is enthusiastic is GOODBYE, MY LADY by James Ullman, Lippincott $2.75, a dramatic mountain-climbing tale centering about a young Swiss boy.

Older boys will enjoy BANNER IN THE SKY by James Ullman, Lippincott $2.75, a dramatic mountain-climbing tale centering about a young Swiss boy.

THE SILVER CURLEW by Eleanor Farjeon, Viking $2.75, is a fanciful story with a magic touch, based on the folk tale commonly known as 'Tom Tit Tot' or 'Rumpelstilzkin'. Natalie Carlsons ALPHONSE, THAT BEARDED ONE, Harcourt $2.50 is an amusing tall tale about a bear cub, who masquerades as a soldier.

Adults and children of the picture book age will chuckle together over THE HAPPY LION by Louise Fatio with illustrations by Roger Duvoisin, Whittlesey, $1.95.

There's always room for another Mother Goose and Marguerite de Angeli's BOOK OF NURSERY AND MOTHER GOOSE RHYMES, Doubleday $5.00, with its charming illustrations is highly recommended for home libraries.

Again it's Story Time at the Library. A story hour will be held at the Central Library every Friday at 4 p.m., beginning tomorrow, November 12, at the Woods Branch every Thursday at 3:45 beginning today, November 11, and at the Park Branch on Saturday mornings at 10 o'clock, beginning November 13. All boys and girls are welcome.

Young authors and artists from all parts of Grosse Pointe have contributed their best creative efforts for the libraries' Book Week displays. Original stories and poems, as well as pictures illustrating favorite books, will be exhibited.

A movie program will be held at all the libraries to culminate Book Week festivities and there will be special recognition for the boys and girls whose entries receive honorable mention.

The Book Week movie program will be held at Central, Saturday, November 20, at 10:30 a.m. and at the Woods Branch at 2:30 p.m. The program at the Park Branch will be Friday, November 19, at 7 p.m.

Nab Teenagers Carrying Beer

Two teenagers were caught in the very act of walking out of a drugstore carrying a case of beer which they had purchased a few minutes earlier.

City Patrolmen Robert Van Tiem and Virgil Beaupre, while cruising on Kercheval avenue on Saturday, November 6, spotted two teenagers leaving a Kercheval drugstore, carrying a case of beer between them.

Suspicious, because the youths did not appear to be the right age to purchase alcoholic beverages, they stopped the youths and took them to the station.

Both boys were booked for illegal possession of alcohol, and the store from which they made the purchase is being investigated for possible prosecution for selling to minors.

Paper Shuffling Costly Business

Paper shuffling in offices throughout business cost the country 71 billion dollars last year, according to a speech made to the Office Executives Association in New York City last week by Robert C. Chope, Office Service Manager, United States Rubber Company, Detroit.

Mr. Chope, a resident of Grosse Pointe, and nationally known for his contributions to office personnel training methods and procedures, stated that 8 million clerical workers were involved in that paper work and that 25 per cent of the total manhours worked in the nation were devoted to clerical operations.

In the light of this, Mr. Chope said, the development of the individual office employee is paramount in business needs. He went on to say that in modern business one company has little technical advantage over another. With a few notable exceptions, the speaker pointed out that competitors had a "pretty good idea of what the other fellow is doing. We can walk into their offices, look at their plants and see what's going on."

"Training of the individual, then, becomes the critical factor in the progress of a company. Trained people can make the difference between success and failure of a business enterprise."

Mr. Chope pointed out that, recognizing this factor, many businesses were today sending supervisory employees to universities to develop specific personal skills in reading, speaking and writing.

Increased skills of those kinds, the speaker said, were essential if business was to develop communications between management and employees, make better use of employee time and improve overall employee morale.

J. LESTER DRYDEN Memorial services were held on Monday, November 1, for J. Lester Dryden, pioneer automotive parts manufacturer, at the Long Manufacturing Divisions, 12591 Dequindre street plant, and at Long Manufacturing Limited plant in Frank Cass.

Mr. Dryden moved to Detroit as treasurer of Long Manufacturing Company, who at the time were building automobile radiators. He soon became general manager of the firm and a few years later was elected president of the company.

Mr. Dryden was primarily responsible for two major contributions to the advancement of the automobile industry. He recognized the need for additional beauty and protection for the radiators and introduced the first automobile grill.

Later in 1921, he was responsible for the final development and manufacturing by the Long company of the single disc clutch. This simplified the method of easily transmitting power and is now being used by every automotive manufacturer.

Mr. Dryden was stricken with a coronary attack on Wednesday, October 27, while at his estate in Charlotteville. He died on Friday, October 29. Burial was at Charlotteville on Monday, November 1.

He is survived by his wife, Helen A.; a daughter, Mrs. Marion Kellogg; a son, John Roger Dryden and two sisters, Mrs. E. E. Hershey and Mrs. Harvey Allen.

MRS. MINNIE W. KAMM Services for Mrs. Kamm, 67, of 360 Carver, were held on Sunday, November 7. Cremation followed at Mayville, Mich.

A & P Offering Redesigned Store

Gaily decorated inside and out with colorful pennants and balloons, A & P Food Stores is presenting in a carnival atmosphere its redesigned store at 17120 Kercheval avenue in Grosse Pointe.

The food firm announces a five-weeks promotional program to celebrate completion of the extensive remodeling program started early in the year.

Contest awards to be made at the end of the five-weeks period will include such items as automatic coffee makers, aluminum cooking ware, portable radios and children's toy school houses.

A rearrangement of the entire store interior, with wider aisles and more space allotted to each department, was made possible by a 40-foot addition to the rear of the building.

This added space has been used for a rear entrance-convenient to a 175-car community parking area, and for preparation and storage rooms.

Frank H. Bucher, vice-president of the Detroit Unit which operates stores in this area, said that the remodeled supermarket "includes virtually all improved methods of modern-day food merchandising."

"We have added to the building area and redesigned and enlarged the various departments," he said, "and we believe we now have a store where Grosse Pointers will find shopping convenient and efficient."

A king-sized meat department with 1370 square feet of space and featuring a refrigerated conveyor packaging system is an outstanding section in the revamped supermarket.

Meat items move along a refrigerated trough located in the sales area. Each item is weighed, price-marked and packaged. It is then moved directly into the 66 feet of gleaming display cases, ready for customer selection.

"This new system," said department head Morris Esse, "will give our customers an opportunity to see the care with which we package self-service meats."

"And, of course," he added, "customers may still order whatever special cuts they want."

In the produce department, 33 feet of latest-type, temperature-controlled cases will maintain the freshness and nutritive values of fruits and vegetables. Ample dry rack space for staple produce items has been provided. The department is directed by Gaspar Migliore.

The dairy department is equipped with 37 feet of two-tier, reach-in cases and carries a comprehensive line of dairy products. Included are many types of domestic and imported cheeses.

The store also has complete bakery, frozen foods and staple groceries sections. The coffee department custom grinds A & P's three famed brands—8 O'clock, Red Circle and Bokar.

Check stands have been installed at both front and rear of the store. Air conditioning will add to summer shopping comfort.

Cub Scout Pack Plans Carnival

Cubmaster Charles Zentgraf has announced that Cub Scout Pack 290 will hold its yearly Fall Carnival at the Mason School gymnasium on Friday evening, November 19, at 7:30.

The Carnival is the big fun event of the year for the Cubs and also is the one money raising project of the pack. Funds raised are used to purchase athletic equipment for the boys.

Assistant Cubmasters Dudley Marvin and Paul Colby, working with the Pack Committee, have prepared a full evening's entertainment for the boys.

There will be many games such as the ring, toss, target game, hockey and bowling games, a fish pond and other attractions with prizes for all. There will also be movies with both comedies and educational subjects.

In conjunction with the Carnival, the mothers of Pack 290 will hold their annual bake sale. In the past the bake sale has always proved most popular and a quick sellout.

All parents, friends of the Pack and prospective Cubs are all cordially invited to attend.

African Violet Show Sponsored by Spoutz

The Spoutz African Violet Greenhouse are holding their Third Annual African Violet Show, opening November 7 and continuing through November 21.

More than 75,000 plants are growing in the double greenhouses, covering 80 varieties selected for their fine growing habit and plentiful bloom.

Included will be the annual climbing African Violet cousin "Episcia Cominae" which has flame red blossoms and deep lush-like bronze-green leaves with emerald veining.

Also on display are new named varieties with marbled cream, chartreuse and green leaves, and unnamed seedlings in full bloom, grown by number alone.

This greenhouse range is devoted to America's favorite houseplant — nothing else is grown but violets. The owner, Clarise L. Spoutz, is on hand to answer questions about the care of violets in the home, and experienced employees also grow these plants in their homes as their hobby.

In October Mr. Spoutz visited the greenhouses of fine leading hybridizers from Ohio to Minnesota, hoping to buy or borrow for this show any one or all nine of the truly different double pinks, but it was impossible. None are being released by hybridizers until next year.

The Spoutz African Violet Greenhouses are located at 34365 Moravian drive, corner of Schoenherr and 14 1/2 Mile roads, Fraser, Michigan, near Mt. Clemens. During the show the greenhouses will be open daily till 5 p.m. and Sundays from 10 a.m. till 6 p.m.

CITY OF

Notice of Hearing
Zoning Board of Appeals
Notice is hereby given that the Board of Appeals will meet in the City Hall, 90 Kerby Road, on MONDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1954
at eight (8:00) o'clock in the evening to consider the appeal of Alice Kales Hartwick, submitted by her Attorney, Trent McMath, from the building inspector's refusal to issue a building permit to construct an extension and garage on the rear of her house at 66 Touraine Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan, the back wall of which would be 14 feet from the rear property line in violation of Section 4.04 of the City's Zoning Ordinance.
The petitioner contends that a great hardship will be incurred due to additional expense in changing plans and specifications should such permit not be issued, and makes the appeal under the provisions of Section VIII (g) which permits the Board to modify provisions where there are practical difficulties or unnecessary hardships.
Hearing will be public and interested property owners or residents are invited.

News Notes from G. P. U. S.

Marking period is a time which occurs usually far too often for both teachers and students in any school. For both it means much extra effort. For the pupils it's a case of reviewing for exams and doing a lot of studying; for the teachers it means making out and correcting those exams and then figuring out grades.

At Grosse Pointe University School, in the upper school section, this is the week when the teachers hand in the marks they've arrived at after much addition and division.

But there's more to it than just a mathematical grade. Each teacher writes out a comment on every single pupil he has, in which he discusses the student's progress or lack of it, ways that might be used to improve understanding of the course, evidence of either effort or its opposite.

All the comments about a given boy or girl are assembled under one cover and given to that pupil's class adviser. He ponders all the evidence thus collected and writes a generalized report or comment which accompanies the marks that go home to the parents on the school's printed report form.

There are, however, oral as well as written comments on individual pupils. On Tuesday of this week the upper school faculty got together for an evening meeting after a pleasant dinner. At their meeting they discussed every pupil and what his strong and weak points were.

More than academic strengths and weaknesses, too, entered the discussion. It's not unusual at any faculty meeting to discuss a boy's social and athletic, extra-curricular characteristics as a way of finding out why he may at the moment seem to be succeeding or failing in his studies.

Very often the light is shed on a pupil's performance by oral and written comments made on him as he is seen in action daily in all phases of school life. Produces the basis for a thoughtful and useful report to parents.

The purpose of these weekly news notes from the new Grosse Pointe University School out on Cook Road is to inform people about what is going on there. All that includes not only the events of the permanent approaches that departments and individuals may have to their work.

Thus it may be of interest to know what point of view governs the conduct of various parts of the curriculum and what long-range hopes teachers and supervisors may have in their separate fields.

Reading, for example, is something with which everybody in all phases of school life is concerned. Reading is, of course, not only taught in reading classes. When a math or science teacher observes pupils with reading difficulties, he attempts to show the nature of the words that give trouble; he breaks them down into their parts and explains them.

When, however, pupils manifest signs of marked reading difficulties at any level of academic life, they are assigned to reading specialists who work with pupils of designated grades and ages.

At G.P.U.S. those specialists are Mrs. Doris Peiter for grades 1-3, Mrs. Donna Hodgman for grades 4-6, and Mr. William Bellows for grades 7-12. Each of these individuals has had long experience in the kind of corrective work he's doing; each works exclusively in this area.

The fundamental objective for all levels is, says Mr. Bellows, essentially the same. Reading teachers are anxious that their pupils should match their achievement to their capacity.

That is, if a child is reading all that is expected, in theory, of one of his age and grade but is still not reading up to the level of his actual capacity, he is a legitimate subject of concern for the reading specialist, since such a pupil may become restless and a behavior problem.

If a child, then, is behind his capacity, he needs help, whatever his accomplishments may be in relation to his group.

Up to the 8th or 9th grade reading classes are usually held for very small groups, though individual conferences are held during help periods and by appointment with a teacher. After grades 8 or 9, Mr. Bellows explains, if reading problems are uncovered or still exist, they are best attacked on an individual basis.

Mr. Bellows is not an enthusiast about the use of machines in correcting reading difficulties, though he will occasionally use a metronome to indicate that effective eye movements are a major part of the reading process. He is likewise not striving for vast accomplishments in speed of reading. What is essential, he points out, is developing greater comprehension of the material being attacked, no matter at what level of school life.

His emphasis is on word building and vocabulary and word recognition as the tools that will "unlock" weaknesses in reading and stimulate greater comprehension. He stresses the value of books with reading appeal for the children using them. Certain titles have perennial appeal. The editions need not necessarily be "watered down," either.

Mr. Bellows strikes a note of caution when he points out that progress varies in remedial cases and depends on a number of elusive factors.

It is often an area in which everything will suddenly fall into place for a youngster who has reading problems. He cites the case of a young man who had great trouble in mastering successful reading skills.

He took four years of reading classes along with his regular classes but with only indifferent success. In the fifth year the floodgates were unloosed, and all at once reading presented no more major problems. That young man has since gone to college and medical school and is now interning in an Eastern hospital!

Five students and a teacher from the Grosse Pointe University School attended the annual High School Institute for Democratic Living presented under the auspices of the Junior Round Table of Metropolitan Detroit on Saturday, November 6, at the Rackham Memorial Building.

The Junior group works as a young people's adjunct of the Detroit Round Table of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Attending from G.P.U.S. were Karen Koch, Avery Kimerly and Sam Daune, all of the 11th grade, Elizabeth Pearce and Robin Ryan of the 12th grade, and Mr. John Conley, faculty.

The sessions began at 9 a.m., included lunch and both group and general meetings, and ended at 3 p.m.

Speaker at the general morning meeting was Mr. Alan Canty, director of the Psychopathic Clinic of the Detroit Recorder's Court, who spoke on "You and Your Community."

Among topics discussed at the various section meetings and then reported on to the general luncheon meeting were ones like these: Developing Better Religious Understanding without Compromising One's Own Beliefs, Encouraging "Non-Joiners" to take part in School Activities, Good Sportsmanship among Spectators at High School Athletic Events, How we can Eliminate our Prejudices, the Significance of the Supreme Court Decision on Segregation, Fraternities and Sororities in High Schools, and the 18 years old vote.

Seek Yule Gifts to Cheer Patients in Polio Hospital

Thoughts at this time turn to the approaching Holiday Season and plans for a joyous Christmas at home with loved ones.

But for 45 patients in the Sister Kenny Polio Hospital at Farmington the coming Holidays hold no such promise.

Believing that many persons and organizations would welcome an opportunity to bring a little extra gladness to these less fortunate children and adults, a committee has been formed to organize a Christmas Party at the Hospital in Farmington.

The Committee is appealing to all organizations or individuals who wish to help with gifts or funds to call Mrs. James O. Hoyt, TU 5-2887, Mrs. Felix T. Brown, TU 5-2362, or The Sister Kenny Foundation at WO 1-6000.

MAIRE SCHOOL

The second grade children in Mrs. Parent's room presented the play "Rabbits Halloween," for their mothers and fathers on October 26, in the Maire auditorium.

Twin bunnies, Paul and George Schultz, were in charge of the stage properties. A witch and a cat were at the curtain controls.

Peggy Smithers, an artist, ghost, had painted the pictures for the witch's house. Mr. Adams' fifth grade room made the owl's tree.

The characters in the cast were: Rabbit, John Perkin; Fox, David Donaldson; Owls, Barbara Begg, David Beyer; Cats, Jane Joki and Mary Walker; Witch, Sandra Fritsch; Jack-O-Lantern, John Haberkorn; Ghost, Catherine Miller.

The joy and enthusiasm in the Halloween play has been transferred to our gym classes where the children have voluntarily divided themselves into relay teams of rabbits, ghosts, witches, jack-o-lanterns, foxes and cats.

RICHARD SCHOOL

By Clarence Messner, Principal

More than half the staff members of the Richard School are taking in-service training courses this fall. They carry on this work to improve their status as teachers and for mere enjoyment. They join with professional and non-professional people all over America, in the back to school movement for adults. More and more is education being considered a life-long process, beginning at birth and continuing on even in retirement.

Thirteen members of the teaching group are carrying on six different courses. Four of these subjects are offered here in the Pointe under the auspices of the Board of Education in conjunction with Wayne University, Michigan State College and the University of Michigan. The programs are planned through suggestions of teacher committees and arranged for by Dr. James Bushong, Superintendent, and Dr. Leroy Selmeier, Director of Instruction.

The mental hygiene course is being taken by Miss Lillian Goodwyn, Mrs. Jennie Dombrowski, Miss Joyce Wiek and Mrs. Letrice Petree. This type of course, a very important one these days, gives the student opportunities to learn how to deal with children who are having emotional problems. It helps the teacher to do better those things for the child which will enable him to fulfill his promises as a learner and as a person.

Doing the course in audio-visual education are: Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart, Miss Elsema Nault, Miss Sydney Snell and Mr. William Hoover. All educational institutions are doing a great deal with film, posters, radio, tape recorders, television and every form of seeing and listening device. Learning how to use these challenging instruments and where to find new materials is, therefore, important to all who teach little folks.

A public relations course is being pursued by Miss Ruth Bockes and Mr. William Mabel. As our schools grow in enrollments and as new methods and materials of instruction are being employed, the school and home need to work together. A public relations course gives school people skills for explaining to the citizens of the community just how the modern school operates.

A course titled masterpieces of literature, and dealing with some of the great literary works of the centuries is being studied by Mrs. Marian Schwaler. Several teachers are downtown students. Miss Lillian Koby taking a course in the teaching of arithmetic at the University of Michigan Rackham Center. Mr. William Mabe doing a graduate seminar at Wayne, and Mr. Clarence Messner pursuing geology at the Rackham building.

DEFER SCHOOL

Defer teachers reported their studies, travel and interests at their faculty meeting October 12. The school's roving reporter was so fascinated by the variety of activities, hobbies and ideals, that she thought the Grosse Pointe Park parents and pupils would like to hear about their teachers.

Mrs. Sophia DeLoria, teacher of the ungraded room was the first one to report. She said that she had very recently taken fourteen credits of advanced study. At the same time she has carried her full teaching load.

When Mrs. DeLoria was asked her compensation for the work she was doing she replied, "My work is important to me, because of helping children, who otherwise have no outlets."

Mrs. Very Haney, teacher of third grade, was at Higgins Lake this summer in Michigan State Conservation Training Camp. There you have it, a busy teacher, interested and taking time out to study conservation.

Mrs. Haney is at present taking a course in Library Science at Wayne University. This is all being done plus her regular teaching and other school work. Mrs. Margaret Long, teacher of second grade, says that she feels the social contacts with the parents of her young students are most important.

Mrs. Long likes travel and her latest trip was to California. She likes to study also and her most recent work was taken at Wayne University in Audio Visual Aids.

Miss Martha Ream, the music teacher at Defer says, "Children are wonderful. A squeak of a fiddle or a blast on a trumpet is routine."

Miss Ream's most recent study has been at Wayne University and it's a fact that she has sold her last two term papers as professional articles for an educational music magazine. Participation in community music and string quartet playing is the usual recreation, plus travel to a dude ranch in Colorado last summer.

Mrs. Evelyn Kyzivat, "Miss

Evelyn" to her young charges in the Defer kindergarten, was asked why she liked teaching. One little boy came up with the answer before she had time to reply, "Miss Evelyn, do you teach because you like boys and girls?" She answered, "Yes, it is fun to see boys and girls like you grow from day to day." The little face glowed with pleasure.

Last year "Miss Evelyn" was a member of the philosophy workshop group. She is an accomplished pianist and a singer in a church choir. She accompanies artists and no small service is her excellent accompaniments in the school music programs at Defer.

St. Florian Speed Cuts Down Flyers in Season's Finale

By Dan Wernhoff
Blessed with a brace of gifted and speedy backs, St. Florian ran the socks off Coach Eddie Lauer's St. Paul Flyers to chalk up an over-helming 47 to 7 victory in the season finale played on the Neighborhood Club gridiron last Sunday, November 7.
The loss, the first in Big 12 Conference play, knocked the Boulevard Boys from second place down to fourth place in the final standings, with a record of four wins, one loss and a tie.
Score Five Times
Up to last Sunday's game the Flyers had given up only two touchdowns to conference foes and appeared to be well on their way to nailing down second place in the league. But St. Florian, the pre-game favorite, bowled over Flyers right and left during the five touchdown onslaught that left the local lads hanging on the ropes.
St. Paul was immeasurably handicapped because of the injuries to halfback Phil Van Tiem and end Bob Keller, which forced them to watch the St. Florian steamroller tactics from the sidelines. In a move to plug the gap in the backfield, Coach Lauer switched Ken Oxley to the quarterback post and shifted regular quarterback Gene Graham to halfback.

St. Florian hit fast and forcibly for its first touchdown. Ray Bidus took Jim Ayrault's opening kickoff on the twenty-yard line and broke away for 80 yards down the right sidelines, outracing his closest opponent by 20 yards.
The score stood at 6-0 for only a short time as the Flyers struck for a TD on a recovered St. Florian lateral which put them ahead for the first time in the game. Graham whipped into a pileup of players, grabbed the flying pigskin and raced 50 yards into the end zone for the tying tally. When the Oxley-to-Ayrault extra point combination clicked, the Flyers held a 7-6 lead.
Before the St. Paul fans had stopped cheering, however, St.

Florian pulled ahead to stay. Bidus swept around right end 50 yards for his second TD of the day.
The winners then struck again quickly. Ted Karpowicz took Ayrault's punt on his own 48, wheeled by three Flyers and was on his way 52 yards for the third straight long run by St. Florian.
Two more touchdowns of the same variety were executed before the half ended, with St. Paul on the short end of a 34-7 score.
The Flyers seemed to come to life in the second half when two sets of finely constructed plays came within an ace of scoring.
Stopped at Goal
One series of plays moved the ball to the three yard line, but it was lost on downs. Oxley had passed to Ayrault on the 28 to set up the play. From there Oxley, swamped by the St. Florian linemen as he went back to pass, tore away from them until he was tackled on the 18 for a first down. After the ball had been moved to the fifteen, Oxley heaved a pass to Graham on the five, but the ball was lost on downs after Fred Van Tiem had banged his way to the three.
Another excellent opportunity came in the final seconds of play, when the Flyers drove to the one foot line but then the gun sounded.
St. Florian added two more to its total before the game ended, on comparatively small gains. One was on a twenty-yard pass and the other a run from the fifteen-yard line.

game via the air route.
Eugenio and Dow combined on two plays to give the Devils a first down on the Hurons 46, from where Dow knifed over his own right guard and raced all the way to paydirt without a hand being laid on him.
The blocking on this particular play was magnificent. There was a hole big enough to drive a truck through. There was hardly a Huron lineman standing as Dow toted the pigskin over the line of scrimmage. Follis added another extra point.
Dan Follis set up the Devils' slipped out of this situation when Bob Prince asked for his old blue and gold sweat shirt. The victorious mentor gladly handed it over and the team busied itself with cutting it into 55 pieces, which were divided up as souvenirs among the squad.
In the meantime Coaches Bauer and Kurvink slipped into the sanctity of Athletic Director Frank Banach's office adjacent to the noisy locker room.
Everything has been rosy all season long at the school on Fisher road, and come what may the lads were having trouble finding a place to stand.

A short Huron punt sailed out of bounds on the Reds' 37 and once again Lineberger cocked his arm and flipped a perfect pass to end Dan Follis who grabbed the ball on the Hurons' 5 and was brought down from behind on the 2.
Two quarterback sneaks by Lineberger netted the Devils' final touchdown after six and a half minutes had expired in the period. Follis added the point again.
With victory all but certain, Coach Wernet began spot substituting as the Hurons put the ball in play on their own 26. After three downs failed to gain, the Hurons punted to Dan Bauer, who was nailed in his tracks on the Devil 38.
Two five yard penalties stalled the Devils and forced Follis to get off a booming punt to Roger Hanton on the Hurons' 22. Hanton gave the meager Port Huron crowd something to cheer about when he raced 78 yards for the Reds' first touchdown. A bad pass from center thwarted the try for the extra point.
Port Huron bottled up the Blue Devil subs for the remainder of the period.
A Grosse Pointe fumble on its own 7 yard line set up the Hurons' final tally early in the final quarter. It took four line plays before McAuley sneaked over from the half yard line for the score. Another bad pass from center was kicked around by Dan Capps and Bob Hanton long enough for the Devils to swarm all over both of them to halt the conversion.
Coach Wernet was reluctant to send his first stringers back into the game as the final minutes ticked away, but finally gave in to the insistent coaxing of the crowd and his players. A big cheer went up when the regulars trotted back on the gridiron some of them wearing the Blue and Gold of Grosse Pointe High for the last time. Only time kept the first stringers from scoring again.
When the game ended Coaches Wernet, Bud Kurvink and Ernie Bauer and principal Walter Cleminson were hoisted aloft on the shoulders of the players and carted from the field.
In the locker room, not a single player doffed his game togs until their coaches walked in. When Wernet, Kurvink and Bauer made their entrance the squad was intent on tossing the trio into the showers.

sixth touchdown when he smashed through the Hurons' line and batted McAuley's pass high in the air.
Right there Johnny-on-the-spot—was tackle Windy Bremer, who snatched the ball from the air on the Reds' 45 and rumbled his 180 pounds down the field like a scabback to score unmolested. Follis booted the extra point over the crossbar. At this point the Blue Devils held a very comfortable 42 to 0 lead as the half ended.
Coming back in the third quarter the Pointers didn't let down for an instant. On the third play, after the Pointers had kicked off to the Reds, linebacker Jay Hooker intercepted another McAuley pass at midfield and ran to the 41.
On the first play Jim Lineberger collaborated with Bill Dow on a beautiful pass play. It was a 31 yard throw which Dow gathered in on the Hurons' 10 and actually walked across the goal line. That is how well he fooled the Huron secondary.
Follis added the point with one minute gone in the third quarter. By now the scoreboard attendants were utterly confused. After all there was just so much room on the platform behind the Blue Devils' antiquated scoreboard, and Woe is me—scooped again. But it's not our fault. Just because we work for a weekly paper the daily sheets have every opportunity to scoop us, and don't think we don't take a ribbing when we have an article in this column that has appeared in one of the dailies.

That's what happened on the announcement by Bayview's race chairman Lynn Stedman, Jr. (and to think he is from our own club), that next year the Mackinac race would see the fleet split into four divisions and that the antique Barnacle Trophy would be rededicated by its donor Ed Campbell and be the perpetual prize for one of the four cruising classes to sail.
Yup, it has finally come to pass—four classes for the July classic.
What the dailies didn't report is where the impressive Barnacle Trophy, a 100-year-old compass corrector, came from. It seems a workman ran across it in J. T. Wing's warehouse and knowing Campbell as a collector of such rare articles gave it to him. Campbell at the time was sailing in a schooner and donated it as a perpetual prize for the schooner class.
Later he rededicated it to the cruising yacht having the best corrected time in Bayview's annual Spring regatta. Inasmuch as the race committee was forced to send the big and small cruising yachts around the same course, normally this doesn't happen in weekly regattas, in order to determine which yacht made the best corrected time for the Barnacle Trophy.

Mackinac race serves two purposes — it gets Bayview's race committee out of a fickleish spot and gives the Mackinac boys a dandy trophy to sail for in deep water.
How the division of classes will be made has not yet been determined but will be announced later when a new race chairman takes over Stedman's job. Lynn is stepping down from his tough assignment which he handled better than most of his predecessors.
The Detroit River Yachting Association nominating committee, under the direction of Commodore Art Summerlee, got together Friday, October 29, at Edison Boat Club and chose the 1955 DRYA slate. It includes Murray V. Knapp for commodore, Bruce Tappan for vice commodore and Hal Smith of Bayview and Paul Adam of Grosse Ile Y.C. for rear commodore. The delegates from the DRYA member clubs will go to the polls on December 3, when the annual meeting is to be held at Edison Boat Club.

Plan Big Rodeo To Aid Boysville

Frank A. Alter, rodeo chairman for Columbian Charities, Inc., has announced the appointment of Herbert W. Hart of Windmill Pointe drive as chairman for the Celebrity Day which will open the World's Championship Rodeo for the benefit of Boysville on the evening of November 18.

The rodeo, which will bring to Michigan for the year's final championship competitions, will run through 21 performances, ending on the night of November 28.

Roy Fruehauf and Sid Allen were named co-chairmen with Hart for Celebrity Night. They are inviting prominent Detroit and Michigan personalities to subscribe to rodeo box seats, through sale of which Hart hopes to raise $25,000 for Boysville.

A non-profit organization, Columbian Charities, sponsors of Boysville at Macon, Mich., was organized April 14, by John A. Baker, Anthony J. Rathnaw, Wilfred T. Connelly, Eugene J. Fisher, Thomas M. Kavanaugh, Raymond W. Adam, Frank A. Alter and Jerry Moore, to sponsor an annual Rodeo, or other fund raising activities, in the City of Detroit, for the support, maintenance and improvement of Boysville of Michigan.

The Rodeo has played Madison Square Garden to packed audiences for 28 consecutive years, each engagement running four to six weeks. All the big name rodeo actors and riders will appear in Detroit. CKLW-TV star, popular "Range Rider" (Jack Mahoney), and Casey Tibbs, world champion all-around cowboy, plus hundreds of hard riding cowboys in steer wrestling, bronc riding, calf roping, bareback riding and Brahma bull riding will appear throughout 21 performances. Also on hand will be champion cowgirls doing rope acts and trick riding stunts.

Boysville is a project of the five Roman Catholic dioceses in Michigan in collaboration with Michigan Knights of Columbus and is located on 130 acres of wooded farm land, about 45 miles from Detroit on US-112.

The school helps needy boys of high school age to become self-supporting and respectable citizens. Officially it is a trade school and a rustic rural home. Boys from broken homes, and where death has hit the family make up its enrollment.

The school was opened October 8, 1948, and dedicated on October 24, and the slogan is: "It is better to build a boy than it is to mend a man."

Ballet Russe Opens Tonight

Good news for all who love dancing is the coming appearance in Detroit of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, which will again present superlative performances to American audiences after an absence of two seasons from the American stage.

The Ballet Russe arrives on the stage of Masonic Temple for a three day engagement beginning Thursday evening, November 11, and continuing through Saturday, November 13, with a single matinee on Saturday.

The distinguished company, under the direction of Sergei J. Denham, is topped by America's most brilliant prima ballerina, Maria Tallchief, who professional debut as fledgling of the Ballet Russe Corps de Ballet led to her eventual stardom and international fame.

Opposite Miss Tallchief is British-born Frederic Franklin, a favorite in this country since the Ballet Russe's first American season (1938-39) when he delighted audiences as the dashing Baron of "Gaité Parisienne." Franklin returns to the company after a two-year tour as Stanley Kowalski in the ballet version of Tennessee Williams' prize-winning play, "A Streetcar Named Desire."

Ranking as ballerinas are Polish-born Nina Novak, the beautiful "Coppelia" of the company, Gertrude Tyven, born in Brooklyn of Finnish parentage, whose successes have been equally divided between classic roles and comedy parts, and demure blonde Yvonne Chouteau, who joined the Ballet Russe when she was just 13 and had to prepare high school lessons between performances.

RICHARD V. ANDERSON OF BEAUPRE ROAD

By Jane Schermerhorn

Anything can happen when a man with a Puck-ish sense of humor happens to be a hi-fi fan, hi-fi being that most modern of inventions which brings astonishing life-like qualities to a record. Well,

Our man is Richard V. Anderson, the sort who can look out the windows of his home on Beaupre road and see a neighbor peacefully reading the newspaper on the terrace across the way.

It's then, that Mr. Anderson steps quickly, quietly to his hi-fi set—flips one of the many Buck Roger switches and soon the air trembles with the crash and cymbals and drums of a band marching right through your temples. Effect? The neighbor drops his newspaper, dashes off the terrace and looks up Beaupre to see what the parade is all about.

A few days later Mr. Anderson and his neighbor have made up again.

The Unexpected

The interest we had in Mr. Anderson's hi-fi was the amazing thing he's done to a product of the atomic age.

You see, he and Mrs. Anderson collect early American pine antiques. Two of these house the intricate mechanism of their hi-fi set.

The sound comes from within a charming old cupboard in the living room (its 10 cubic feet of space, 3-1/2-ft. right for the Anderson hi-fi set) and the record player is beneath the cover of a cobbler's bench, which also serves as an end table in the Anderson living room.

There are four little Andersons who are growing up with a feeling for antiques because their parents, happily, collect the kind that scratches and kicks mellow all the more. To a kit they all adore hi-fi.

Hi-Fi Fans

Christine, nine; Eddie, seven; Bonnie, five; and Richard Jr., just one, share their parents' love of music—all kinds of music from jazz to symphony—providing it's hi-fi.

"Why, with the volume up all the way, one year old Dick can go to sleep listening to hi-fi!" declared pretty Mrs. Anderson.

Christine and Eddie are already producing music on the grand piano in the living room. There's a hush on top of the piano, waiting for one of the boys. Mr. Anderson was a trumpet player in his teens, preferring now to get his music from hi-fi.

"There's just no comparison to the performance of hi-fi and the old record players," said its champion, Mr. A. "That hum you took for granted on the old machines—it doesn't exist in hi-fi. Listen to those low background tones. Do you notice the lack of distortion in that flute? And that intermodulation?"

Well, we've never been able to understand card tricks, either.

Functional

When the Andersons fell in love with early American pine, they started moving their mahogany period furniture and leather-topped coffee tables to the recreation room.

It was Mrs. Anderson who discovered the very first project—a wall cupboard with satin blond pine hiding beneath several coats of ugly orange and green paint.

"Let's buy it and put it in the garage. I'll re-finish it!" she said to her husband.

They brought it back to the Pointe from Kalamazoo (the Andersons can find all the antiques they want in Michigan) and Mr. Anderson, who at first was a bit disinterested in the whole thing, soon found himself as enthusiastic as his wife as they rubbed and scraped, applied alcohol and finally beheld the original wood in all of its loveliness.

A wood box, auctioned for two dollars when the possessions of a wealthy eccentric were liquidated by the county, is not only a shining, handsome woodbox in the Anderson living room. The collectors put a pine lid on the box and now it is functional as an end table as well.

Practical Antiques

"When you have four children growing up, your antiques must be practical," the Andersons told us.

The pine tavern chairs (they came from outside Jackson, Mich.) can take all the rough and tumble treatment the small Andersons wish to give them.

A Salem rocker, really a knock-out in the grace of its lines and the sheen of its blond finish, is so sturdy no one ever need say:

"Ooop! Not that one. It's an antique, you know."

It occurred to us, as we sat with this attractive young couple in their living room, that the Anderson home must be an ideal one in which to celebrate Thanksgiving. Except for the hi-fi (which is hidden, you know, in that cupboard) everything about the house makes you dream of early America, of the family gathered around the hol-day table in the candlelight of a happy evening.

A wonderful blue and white turkey platter on that hi-fi cupboard, lends its touch to the decor most of the year but at holidays it's put to use to hold the golden bird.

A wicker horn of plenty spilled bright little squash and gourds on the coffee table before the fireplace. The coffee table originally was a pine bread board, polished now to silken gloss. It has been set on a pine luggage rack and presto . . . it's a coffee table.

Antiques with Ideas

The bread-board-turned-coffee-table and a chest of drawers came from Mt. Clemens to continue the saga of Michigan as an antiquers' paradise.

Before we left we inspected eight pairs of cherry wood shutters which Mr. Anderson has just brought back from a sale some place in Michigan. He had spent 15 hours refinishing one shutter and it was a beauty. Four of them may be put together to form a dividing screen between the dining and living rooms; then again, they'd be awfully nice in the cabin the Andersons hope to build in Northern Michigan.

If it's to be a dividing screen, we hope the shutters are left sufficiently ajar so that visitors may see and admire the "dry sink" just now being converted into a 1954 bar. Rescued from the back porch of a Michigan farm house, the sink will be lined in copper and on it will be made the cocktails the Andersons love to serve their friends.

Now, that Michigan farmer's wife who once toiled over the sink had only done the same thing years ago . . . think how much easier her life would have been!

Girl Scout News

Have you seen the new official jacket for the alternate Senior Girl Scout Uniform? They're really tops for a smart uniform ensemble. The official Senior Hat, in the overseas style, comes in the same fabric as the jacket, with perky white cord trim.

Geel! Haw! Can't you just hear the shouts at the horses when four Brownie Troops and one new Girl Scout Troop from Mason School went to Jack's Riding Stables, for a hayride on October 28?

There were 78 girls and 20 mothers. Not only did the girls enjoy the hayride on the country roads, but they had fun eating their nose bag lunches out doors.

Later they made "Smores" over the outside fire. After a few games and a closing circle, the girls went home, cold, tired, but happy.

Thank you for this information Janet Britton.

L-o-o-k, will you, at this Mason School News . . . Mrs. Greenholt's Brownie Troop is investing nine girls as Brownies . . . Mrs. Steen's Brownie Troop is investing 11 and Mrs. Bryce's 14. GOOD WORK.

Agree with us, won't you, that black, gray, and navy are pretty mournful colors unless you wear them with accessories that liven them up? So much for men's suits. Those pink shirts and blue ones help . . . so does the very new shade helitrope. These shirts have elegant French cuffs. And there is a good selection of ties to match. We just couldn't get past the men's department in Jacobson's last week . . . we loved the soft sport shirts . . . the unusual cuff links . . . and the jackets! We even bought one. One was fingertip length with a zipout lining that had a leather backing. Right next door, in the accessory department, were bow ties with flowers . . . clan plaid cuff link sets that included tie and belt . . . three piece fur accessory set dyed to match or blend with the latest cashmere sweater colors . . . real glamour stoles . . . AND the luggage sets at this moment are complete.

She loves the sultry charm of Christian Dior's new skirts. Maybe it's because it features the long torso midriff . . . it exemplifies the new middle. The Dior skirt is fashioned of black taffeta. It is the kind of a skirt she can wear from p.m. to the early hours of the a.m. And because, she disdains the commonplace, picked out yet another costume, the blouse of which was fashioned of sheer, floating organza . . . and a pink taffeta skirt. Later, she'll wear it in resorts. She chose these from Margaret Rice's collection of cocktail clothes. 76 Kercheval, on the hill.

If you have some good small color slides or transparencies you can do something with it. You can have it enlarged to a 4 x 5 inch transparency and set it in a beautiful oak frame with a light behind it to give the picture depth and life. Altogether striking. The frame and the enlargement costs $5.95. Delightful to see in the Camera Center, 17114 Kercheval, in the village.

They are selling oranges and lemons by the dozen now at Trail's Pharmacy, on the hill. Bronnely . . . the finest soap makers in England and Trail's got together . . . so-o-o-o in attractive wooden boxes you'll find twelve lemons or oranges, soap, of course . . . What an aroma. What a good gift idea!

Boxes . . . trappings and wrappings . . . just what you'd expect to find in a bi-gift shop, isn't it? In some of the boxes on the front table just as you enter the store, were bath sets. In some of the boxes on the front table just as you enter the store, were bath sets. These consist of two pure linen guest towels and two glasses. Both the towels and the glasses are covered with George Briard designs. The colors are pink, white, blue, black with gold. Five dollars for the set. Elsewhere, among a myriad of gifts are modern brass dog and cat letter holders for a little gift . . . one dollar and twenty-five cents. Jacobson's Home Decorative Shop, in the village.

From this week on the strongest phase of separates is dressy. Here at Town 'n Casual Shop are separates and dresses that glide through cocktails, dinner and dance all night. Never before have they had quite the collection of dressy clothes. A couple of Gay Gibson taffeta dresses are twelve ninety-five . . . and then there's the metallic striped sleeveless one with a flared skirt and empire waist for around twenty-five. Evening tops for the velvet and taffeta skirts can be discreetly decollete . . . scooped necklines or sleeveless blouse types. Even pick up some dramatic jewelry while you're at Town 'n Casual, in the Woods. 20445 Mack.

You're only as young as you feel. And a store is only as Christmas-y as it feels. And even if Jacobson's had this one gift table . . . and not all the baubles and bows and tinsel and surprises in all their departments . . . it would give us that Christmas feeling. We found many gifts at one dollar and many at much more. The hand-painted gift boxes of soap were different . . . motor cars . . . dolls, animals . . . angels . . . and even cactus from California were prettily wrapped. Cosmetic fitted cases . . . perfume, colognes . . . sachets . . . atomizers . . . loafa foam bath sponges in rainbow colors and terry foam pillows for the bath in the same colors . . . feather mocs of fine imported glove leather. Polka dots on pink, blue, white, white and in a darling glove leather bag . . . the easier to tote.

Sweet . . . like sugar candy and frosting are the party clothes that arrive regularly at Young Clothes, Inc., on the hill. There are ones fashioned of linen . . . velvet . . . and embroidered taffeta ones with cape sleeves . . . and for evening, airy-fairy nets over blue, pink or yellow taffeta . . . the frostings are gay nosegays dotting the over-skirts. These are for evening wear for girls who wear sizes 7 to 14 and pre-teens, 110 Kercheval, on the hill.

This is the season for it. The season for a different haircut . . . a really stylized permanent. Perhaps you want to lighten or darken the basic color . . . make it warmer . . . Give it greater intensity or tone it down . . . whatever . . . you will agree with us that every hair-do is a tribute to the stylists you find at the Yvonne Beauty Salon, 84 Kercheval. For appointments call TU. 2-9440.

And if some member of your family wants a Christmas list filled after six o'clock have them call Margaret Rice's for an appointment. Scarves . . . belts . . . bags . . . jewelry . . . blouses . . . unusual collars . . . dresses . . . cashmere sweaters . . . and all kinds of sportswear beautifully gift wrapped, are available. We're almost positive you won't be disappointed. TU. 1-7020. 76 Kercheval, on the hill.

Church Holding Building Drive

In order to keep pace with its expanding membership, Jefferson Avenue Baptist Church has announced an $85,000 building improvement program.

Featured in the plans are a new kitchen and Fellowship Hall on the main floor. The Hall will be equipped with folding partitions, allowing dining accommodations for various sized groups.

A new Music Center will provide in one area ample facilities for the church's six choirs, including large practice hall, robe and music storage, and office for minister of music. New staff offices, a work-shop conference room, and a new apartment for the Church custodian will be centralized on the second floor.

The top floor of the church will be converted into a Youth Center, featuring a gymnasium with showers and dressing rooms, and a youth lounge equipped with pingpong table, juke box, television set, and modern kitchenettes. The young people will also have a prayer and meditation room on this floor.

Rearranging the structure of the building will also allow new and larger quarters for practically every department of the Church School.
