ITS DECISION to permit Western Germany to become a member of the North Atlantic Alliance, was reaffirmed by the French National Assembly, and that body by 286 to 268 permitted the Germans to rearm. The vote to rearm a half a million Germans was put off until a session that was held today.

The vote reaffirming France's approval of Germany as a NATO member was 287 to 256. Premier Mendes-France told the Assembly that rearmament of Germany has been under discussion for four years, and that Russia has made no move to justify its postponement.

Friday, December 31

RELUCTANT APPROVAL was given to the rearming of West Germany by the French General Assembly, thereby saving an alliance between France, the United States and Great Britain. The favorable vote touched off a demonstration by the Reds of the Assembly, but the demonstrators were ignored.

President Eisenhower and other Western leaders hailed the French action as an important gain for the free world. Moscow Radio stated that the vote has but one meaning, and that is the aggravation of danger of a new war.

Saturday, January 1

GEORGI MALENKOV, Soviet Russia's premier, revealed that he would welcome diplomatic negotiations to settle matters of the Far East. However, he did not indicate whether he would welcome a Big Four conference of heads of governments on the question.

Malenkov's statements were made when he answered questions put to him by Charles Edward Shutt, chief of the Washington Bureau of Tele-News. The interview was published in Pravda, Communist Party newspaper, and all other major Soviet newspapers.

Sunday, January 2

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER has set January 31 as the day the Korean GI Bill will terminate. Sources stated that the cut-off date will eventually save the Government billions of dollars in special veterans benefits.

The presidential order provides that persons who enter the Armed Forces after January 31, will no longer be eligible for such benefits as education allowance, GI loans and 26-week Federal unemployment compensation. The action also ends tax exemptions on pay of military personnel in the Korean combat zone.

MACHINE GUNNERS ambushed and killed the strong man of Panama's politics, President Jose Antonio Remon, and one of his bodyguards. The assassination took place while the president was attending a cocktail party which was being held at the Juan Franco Racetrack following an afternoon racing meet.

One witness said that two of three assassins escaped. The National police were called out and a huge manhunt was staged to look for the killers.

Tuesday, January 4

THE UNITED STATES is ready to use atomic weapons in the event the Communists renew aggression in Korea, according to a statement made by Adm. Arthur W. Radford, the Admiral, who is chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, made in the comment at a news conference in Seoul, Korea.

He did not mention any specific type of atomic weapons which might be used. He also remarked that he did not know if there will be lasting peace in Korea, but it is something that can be hoped for.

Wednesday, January 5

THE NATION'S traffic death toll on the highways exceeded that predicted by the National Safety Council, which called it a "major national disaster." The latest report disclosed that 204, just 24 more than safety experts of the council predicted, lost their lives over the 54-hour holiday weekend.

In addition, 25 persons were killed in fires, and 33 in miscellaneous mishaps for a violent death total of 322.

Plan Dedication Ceremony At Grosse Pointe University School on Sunday, Jan. 30

Completion of Big Expansion Program of Merged Institutions Recalls Past History and Many Famous Alumni

Although 650 students began their school year September 22, at the new campus at Cook and Chalfonte roads, Grosse Pointe University School will not come into official being until January 30.

On that Sunday afternoon the school buildings will be dedicated at a ceremony to begin with a tour of the school plant at 3 o'clock and end with an address in the newly completed auditorium by Dr. John E. Gunmore, headmaster of the William Penn Charter School.

Merger in 1941
Pointe residents remember the merger in 1941 of Grosse Pointe Country Day School and Detroit Country Day School. Old student rosters of both schools are lined with such prominent Pointe names as Alger, Buhl, Chapin, Depew, Dodge, French, Joy, Rumeny, Sibley, Schlottman, Trowbridge and Whitney.

Grosse Pointe Country Day School through most of its years has been the big two-story English frame and stucco building at 43 Grosse Pointe Boulevard. This building was sold to the Grosse Pointe Board of Education in April of 1951 for $710,000.

Started in Attic
The school traces its beginnings back to an attic where Mrs. Paul Deming taught in her home near the present site of Grosse Pointe High. Her school grew so large that she moved her classes to a nearby white frame cottage where she directed the school from 1912-1915.

Grosse Pointe in the meantime had become so heavily populated that community leaders, feeling the need for a private school, erected the present Grosse Pointe boulevard building.

They named it the Grosse Pointe Private School. In 1936 the school under the name of Grosse Pointe Country Day School was organized as a non-profit organization.

Early Records Fragmentary
Early records are fragmentary until 1925 when the board of directors included such important names as Edsel Ford, D. F. Altman, C. S. Trowbridge, Roy D. Chapin, Richard H. Webber, Percival Dodge, Frederick C. Ford and Harry Newman. Children of these directors attended the school as did the offspring of Stevens T. Mason, descendant of the first governor of Michigan, and Charles E. Warren, former ambassador to Japan and Mexico.

Under Dr. John Mateer, president of the Country Day School board, the merger with DUS, whose board was headed by Edsel Ford, took place in 1941. Merger had first been proposed in 1939 but was not accepted. The headmaster of GPCDS, Lambert F. Whetstone, which was at this time co-educational through the tenth grade, was appointed to head both schools. From that time on GPCDS has been co-educational from nursery school through the third grade and a girls' school from fourth grade through twelfth. DUS has been

Shores' Sewer Nearly Finished

Approximately two more weeks will be required before the Shores' new sewer system will be completed, according to Village Superintendent Thomas Jefferson. Yet to be completed, Mr. Jefferson revealed, is an overflow chamber on Lake Shore road, which will take about two weeks, and a cross connection at the curve adjacent to the Edsel Ford estate, which he said will be finished in anywhere from three days to a week.

Sewer pipes already installed are being given a final inspection, he said.

He also added that he did not know for certain, on what date the Village homes, new and old, will be able to tap-in on the new system.

State Tells Builders to Halt Filling

Submerged Lands Bordering Lakefront Belong to Public Domain, Firms Warned

Six companies have been ordered to cease filling in submerged lands for real estate development in the Park, or face court action.

The order was issued by Michigan conservation officials on Friday, December 31, with the backing of the State Attorney General's Office. The directive was made by Assistant Atty. Gen. Nicholas V. Olds.

Laws Are Cited

Conservation Director Gerald E. Eddy cited laws which set aside submerged lands as public hunting grounds, and signed an order which requires the companies to remove sheet piling sunk into Lake St. Clair. They are given 60 days to comply.

The order stated that if this is not complied with, the companies will be regarded as trespassers against the State of Michigan.

Three lots fronting on the lake and owned by the companies are involved in the dispute. They had started filling part of the lake and adding to the property.

Land is Public Domain
Others have filled in underwater land and built cottages. The land is actually in the public domain, conservation officials said.

Olds revealed that the case may become the first major legal test of the principle, which might involve hundreds of other property owners.

He said that any attempt to recover property which has already been taken, will be left up to the Attorney General.

The order was filed against Cox and Baker, Inc. of 19511 Mack; Colonial Farms, Inc., same address; Frank Diamond, 806 Bishop; Howard W. Wilkins, 1908 Catalpa; Berkeley; Lawrence K. Sweet, 12908 Sherwood; Huntington Woods; and Ackerman Construction Company, Mt. Clemens.

CATCH KIDS TAKING BULBS

Shores police, acting on a complaint registered by Mrs. Fred Thistlewaite of 85 Colonial road, on Thursday, December 30, apprehended two youngsters who removed several bulbs from the Thistlewaite's outdoor Christmas tree. The youngsters were made to replace the bulbs.

Hospital, 4 Homes Visited by Thieves Within Two Days

1955 Looks Like Good Year for Burglars If Early Pace Is Maintained; Dictophone, Yule Gifts Among Loot Taken

Four Pointe homes and one hospital were visited by burglars on the first two days of the new year. On January 1, officials of Cottage Hospital, informed Farms police of the theft of a dictophone and receiver, which were taken from the basement of the building. Total value of the items is $750.

Two Farms police officers, Det. Sgt. Harold Seelow and Det. Harold Beaupre, stated that it has not yet been determined how the instruments were removed without being seen.

Farms Homes Looted
They also revealed that two Farms homes were broken into in the absence of the owners.

They took a report from H. F. Enzer of 414 Manor, who told them he had returned home about 7 p.m., on Sunday, January 2, to find the side door glass broken.

He said a check of the house revealed that a ball point pen, valued at $5, was taken from beneath the Christmas tree. Also taken was a man's yellow gold watch, worth $50; a man's rose-gold watch, valued at $50, and a man's garnet yellow gold ring, which cost $60.

Back Door Broken
The other home burglarized was that of N. B. Dancy, 467 Calvin, who said that he arrived home at 9 p.m. to find someone had entered the house by breaking the back door glass.

Missing were: a straight edge safety razor, no value given; a pair of yellow gold cuff links, with white shrine emblems, valued at $45; and a man's pocket watch, costing $18.

No clues have been uncovered so far, the officers said. In the Woods, Det. Everett Plumb disclosed that two homes in his community were broken into on New Year's day.

Jewelry, Cash Stolen
He stated that Anthony Venimiglia of 608 Hollywood, the first to make a report, had informed him that he had left his home at approximately 9:45 p.m. New Year's Eve, and returned at 6:30 a.m. the next day to find that several valuable articles of jewelry and a large sum of cash were missing.

The burglar, who entered the house by forcing the fenestra window just above the kitchen sink, took a lady's wrist watch, worth $35; man's gold wrist watch, valued at $18; a lady's white gold lavallier with a diamond setting and matching brooch, valued at $300; a cameo lavallier in yellow gold, worth $22, and $430 in cash.

The second home robbed was

She said that the woman, whose description she gave to the authorities, was in the store at the time, and when she left the items were missed.

School Board Cooperation Is Promised

High School, One of Worst Offenders, Will Have Oil Furnace in Few Years

The Farms and the Grosse Pointe Board of Education are joining hands in trying to eliminate the smoke nuisance which causes complaints about polluting the Pointe atmosphere.

The most recent survey, conducted at the request of Board of Education Superintendent, Dr. James Bushong, was made on Tuesday, January 3, by John DeFoe of the Farms Engineering Department.

Farms Claims Violations
The Farms contends that the schools under the jurisdiction of the Board are in violation of the Farms Smoke Abatement ordinance.

Dr. Bushong, however, was of the opinion that this was not so and asked that the survey be conducted. He stated that the Board of Education certainly did not want smoke, but if it is present, the Board will do everything in its power to eliminate it.

The matter is of such importance the Board placed it of its agenda for its regular meeting which was held last night, January 5. Inasmuch as the News had already gone to press, the results of this discussion have not yet been revealed.

Editorial Comment
The News has taken up the issue of the smoke nuisance previously, commenting on it in several editorials.

The Farms, according to a report submitted by Farms City Engineer Murray M. Smith, conducted a smoke survey in March 1954.

The survey, conducted for three consecutive days, showed that the High School was the worst offender, with evidence showing that especially during morning hours, the High School's chimney was giving out thick, black smoke.

Pictures Were Taken
Pictures to substantiate the claim were taken by Mr. DeFoe, who did the checking in March.

In April, the findings were submitted to the Board of Education by Mr. Smith, along with the photographs, pointing out where the conditions exist, and asking the Board's full cooperation in helping to rid the community of the nuisance, and asking that they render reports on how they intended to correct the problem.

The letter also pointed out to the Board, that the grade of coal, firing equipment and the methods used in stoking and controlling the school furnace are all pertinent to the problem, and "that the burden of proving your equipment and methods of firing rest with you."

Would Avoid Citation
Mr. Smith expressed hope that the situation can be remedied without the city bringing a violation charge against the Board under the present smoke ordinance.

Dr. Bushong revealed that the high school furnace, installed in 1927, is coal-burning, and that sometime in the near future, an oil burning unit will be installed. He said that the use expectancy of a unit of the present type is about 30 years.

He added that the heating unit in the new gymnasium-auditorium is oil burning, and that before it was put into use, the high school's heating system was utilized to heat the new building.

Parking Tickets Christmas Gifts

The City police again granted a respite for parking meter violators during the last minute Christmas buying rush, according to City Police Chief Thomas V. Trombly.

Chief Trombly disclosed that the annual policy of placing a warning and a Merry Christmas wish on the cars of persons who were found parking at expired meters, was carried out again this year. No violation tickets were issued.

He stated that at least 75 such "tickets" were placed on an equal number of cars.

DUS Even Older

DUS traces its origin even further back than GPCDS. The institution with that name was founded in 1899 by Henry Gray Sherrard and Frederick Leroy Bliss and was located in the old building of the Michigan Athletic Association on Elmwood avenue between Larned and Congress streets.

At this time no public school in Detroit had gymnasiums or manual training shops. By initiating these, DUS founders proposed to give boys complete education in the physical as well mental aspects of their school careers from first grade until ready for college.

The first two students enrolled were C. Henry Haberkorn, jr., and Joseph Berry Sherrard. The faculty numbered 18 and the enrollment for 1899 was 155. In 1901 DUS was incorporated and purchased the business and good will of the Detroit School for Boys.

In 1918 the Elmwood building was sold and DUS moved to a site on Parkview avenue where it remained until the Cook road campus was purchased in 1928 under the sponsorship of Edsel Ford, Allan Shelden and Mr. Haberkorn, all alumni.

Mr. Fletcher Retires

In 1939 Mr. D. H. Fletcher retired as headmaster after 23 years of service to DUS and was succeeded by Clifton Orville Page, who headed the school until the merger in 1941. In 1949 John Chandler, Jr., assumed the leadership of the schools and the merger into Grosse Pointe University School has become a reality, academically and physically.

The new facilities constructed on the 43 acre Cook road location, named Grosse Pointe University School, are grouped around the former DUS building. The remodeling and design of the new plant won the School Executive Design prize for its architect, Minoru Yamasaki, of the Detroit firm of Leinweber, Yamasaki and Hellmuth and was constructed by O. W. Burke and Co.

New Has 650 Students

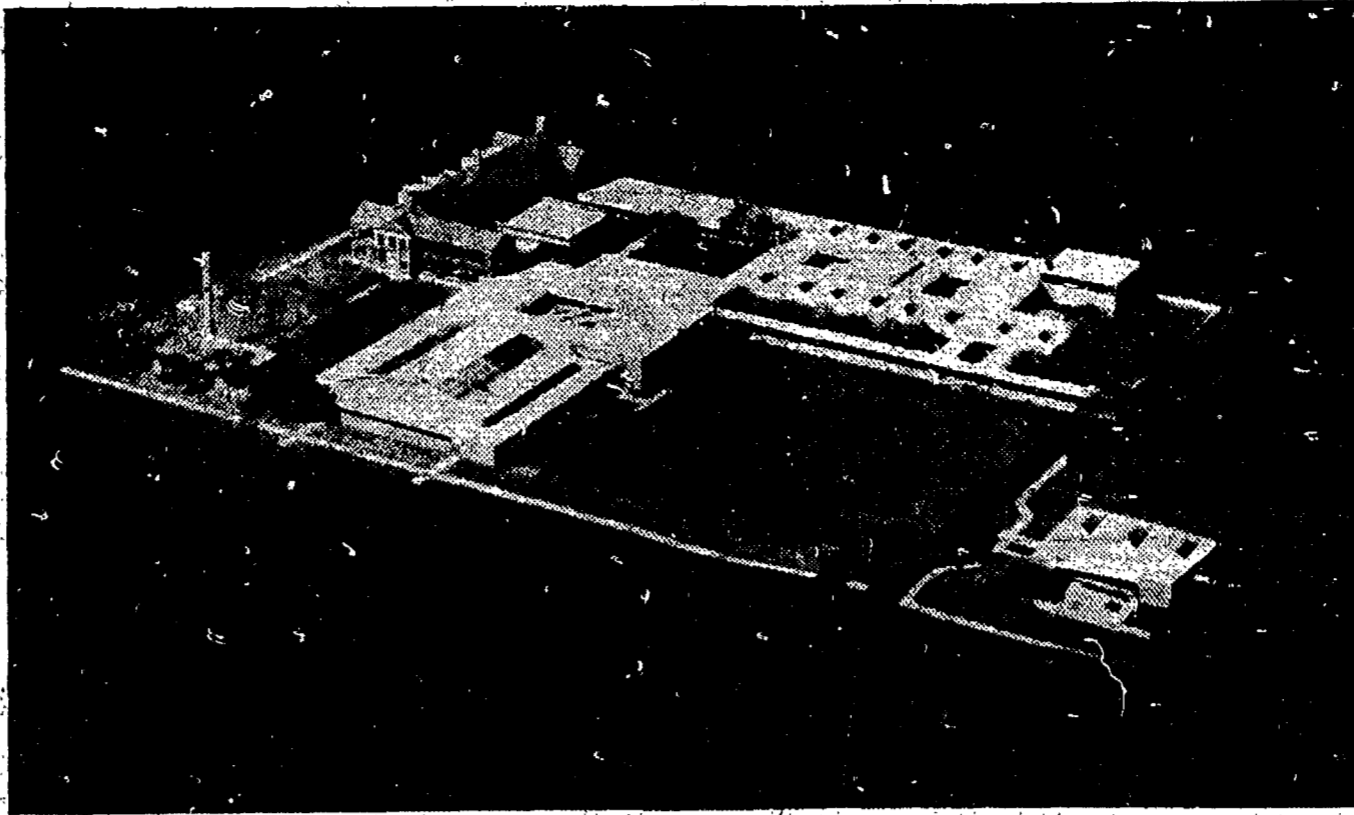

GPUS has 650 students from 3 to 18 years on its rolls, served by 63 faculty members. Competitive scholarships are available in the Upper School where more than 10 percent of the present scholars are studying with this aid. The best in co-education with the best in completely separate education, an experiment not possible in public schools, combines the advantages of common facilities with parallel teaching. Each division has its own territory, the nursery being completely apart. With a modern plant shortcomings in dining facilities, gyms, art, music, library and teachers' rooms have been eliminated.

The Founders Day ceremony of Sunday, January 30, will be followed by an open house on February 6 to introduce Grosse Pointe University School to the community which it hopes to serve, and the general public.

CHECK THEIR HEARING

The child who does not come when he is called; the child who is restless or inattentive in school; the child who does not follow directions; the child who has a strained facial expression—these children are not necessarily disobedient or naughty; they may be hard of hearing.

Architect's Model of New Pointe School

The greatly expanded facilities of the school have been developed around the former Detroit University School building on the Cook road campus. The original building, which has been given a modernizing, is in the left background. All the other structures are new. The segregated building in the right foreground is the nursery school.

If you have time available this coming year and want to put it to good use, you may do so by joining the corps of volunteer workers at the Community Club, who are already making possible for many children in our community, a small group experience in which the children not only have a good time, but in which they learn new skills, learn how to enjoy relationships with other children, learn how to participate in group activities and where they are encouraged to develop their individual potentials as a person.

Some men are so greedy they won't even refuse a second helping of trouble.

Det. Plumb stated that the Battista's daughter, Annette, 18, had come home in the morning to discover the front door open and the house completely ransacked.

The burglar had gone through every room in the house, emptying the contents of all drawers on the floor.

Stolen were $55 in cash, two cheap watches, no value given; a portable radio, a Christmas

CAUGHT DOING SO

Eddie C. Deckard of 2262 Gray, Detroit, was found guilty on Thursday, December 2, of speeding 80 miles an hour on Lake Shore road by Shores Judge John Gillis, and fined $57.50 and placed on 30 days probation. The trial was held the same day of the offense. Deckard is on leave from the Navy.

The reason some men keep going backwards is because their heads are turned.

Usually the man who bumps into bad luck blames somebody for pushing him. It's easy for a man to give up the bad habits he didn't care for in the first place.

The film collection of the Grosse Pointe Public Library will offer for circulation during January, six new titles. These supplement the Library's permanent collection of between thirty and forty 16 mm. sound films.

Any Pointers who may have recently acquired a projector are especially invited to become users of the Library's film service. All films are loaned without charge—an adult library card is the only requirement for the borrower.

The film service is offered from the Central Library at Kercheval and Fisher, with telephone requests for information and bookings welcomed at Tuxedo 4-2200.

The titles being added for the month of January are: BLUE WARRIORS OF THE PACIFIC: 10 minutes, sound, color. Shows sail fishing off the coast of Acapulco, Mexico, where the fishermen battle the hundred-pound fish patiently and assistants pull the catches aboard by their long, bony snouts.

ENGLAND, BACKGROUND OF LITERATURE: 11 minutes, sound, color. Shows the areas of England that produced and inspired the great writers of England. Many scenes of London, the countryside, and the seaside are shown, with the narrator describing the historical significance of the scenes and quoting from well-known authors.

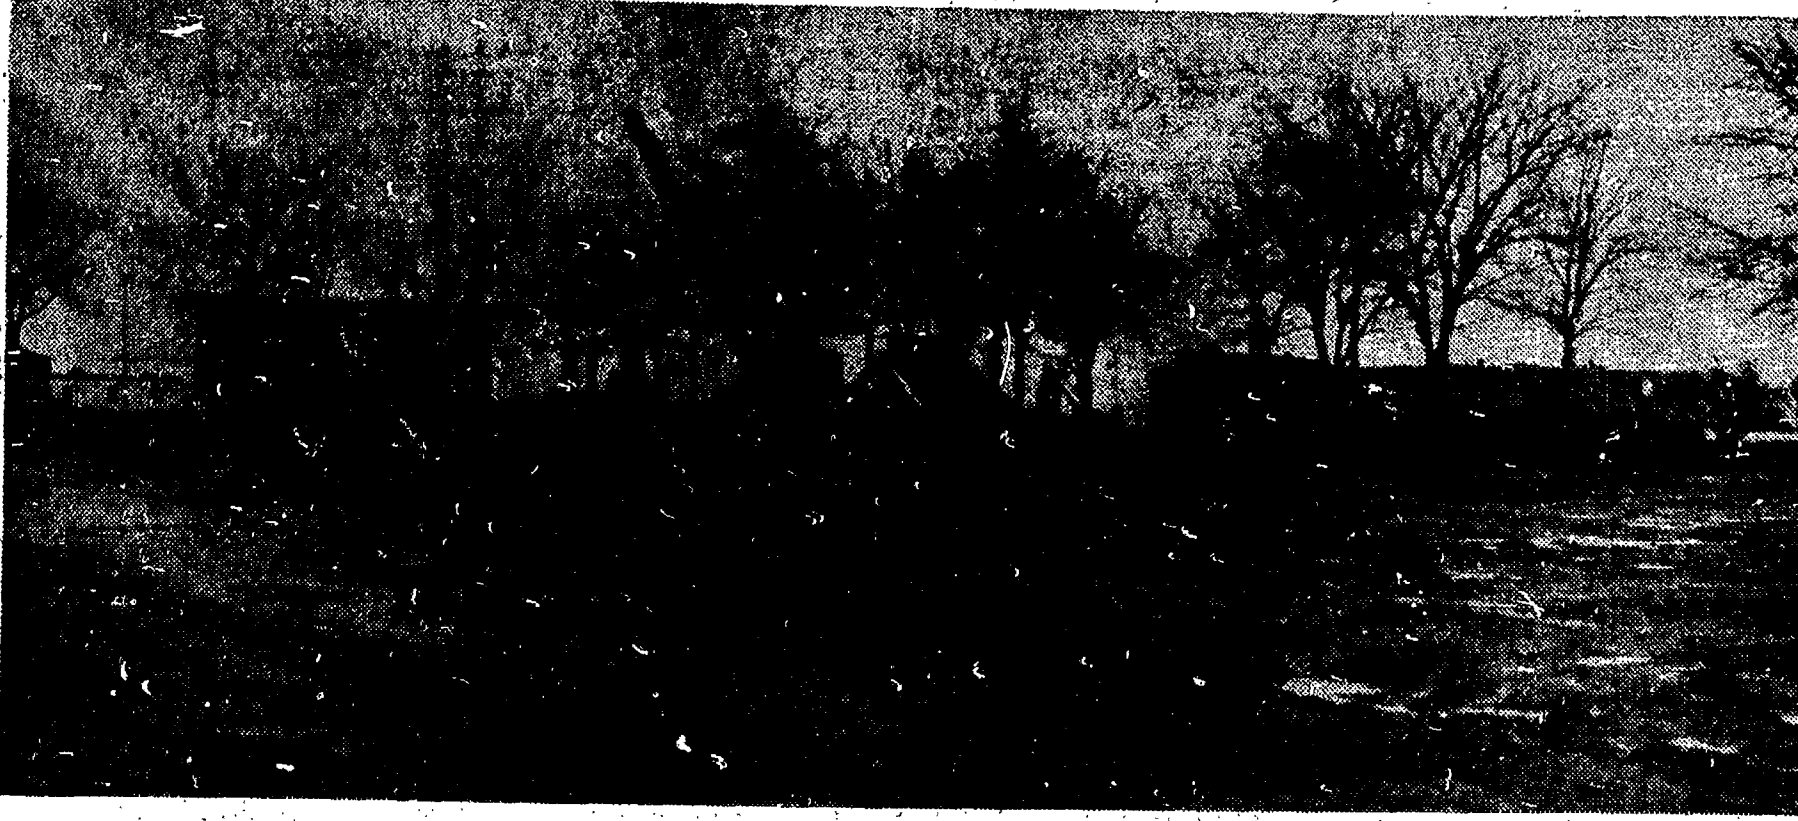

MONASTERY: 20 minutes, sound, black and white. In the quiet confines of their monastery at Saint-Benoit-du-Lac, Quebec, Benedictine monks pursue their life of prayer, service and devotion, conveying their dedication to the "narrow way" which they have chosen.

NEW NORTH: 10 minutes, sound, black and white. The northwest, opened to ordinary ground traffic for the first time by the Alaska Highway, is here pictured.

ROAD TO CUERNAVACA: 11 minutes, sound, color. Pictures three well-known towns of Mexico: the modern homes and beautiful flowers of Cuernavaca, the picturesque silver-mining town of Taxco, the spectacular harbor of Acapulco.

STAND BY TO JUMP: 22 minutes, sound, black and white. This film shows the routines of parachutists' training from the gym floor calisthenics, through the high jump tower where fundamentals of landing are practiced, to the actual jump training under sub-zero weather conditions.

New Buildings Arise at Farms Beach Park

The new gatehouse, left foreground, and bath house, right rear, appear to be emerging from a swamp created by the unseasonal weather as work progresses on the half million dollar expansion of facilities at the municipal park. The derrick in the background is working on the basin for the new booster pump for the water system.

Second Family Film Night At Library Set for Friday

Travel and sport films will make up the program for the second in the series of Family Film Nights which the Grosse Pointe Public Library is presenting through the winter months.

The showing is scheduled for this Friday, January 7, at 8 p.m. in the meeting room of the Central Library at Kercheval and Fisher.

Mexico and one of the most popular of the American national parks will comprise the travel items on the program.

In YELLOWSTONE the viewer will see at close hand, and in color, the sights which have made this the most famous and heavily patronized of the country's national parks. The geysers, the bubbling, hot springs, and the many varieties of game with which Yellowstone abounds are all shown.

Of special interest are the shots of Old Faithful, which has been exploding its fountain of water into the air at regular intervals since the park first became known to man many decades ago. YELLOWSTONE is one of the series of films produced by the Ford Motor Company to familiarize Americans with the many scenic wonders and beauties of their country.

A visit to three of the most colorful of Mexico's cities is offered in ROAD TO CUERNAVACA. The film presents the brilliant, almost harsh, colors of the Mexican landscape through showing the three towns which are, perhaps, of greatest tourist interest—Taxco, Cuernavaca, and Acapulco.

Mexico, offering much of the color and contrast of a trip abroad within the reach of the motorist, is rapidly becoming recognized as an outstanding holiday possibility for those who wish to drive to their vacation destinations.

The film, narrated by Tyrone Power, offers a brief taste of the possibilities of securing many of the advantages of a trip to a foreign land by driving down the Pan American highway.

Sport fishing lovers will find much of appeal in BLUE WARRIORS OF THE PACIFIC. Showing the catching and landing of the enormous sailfish of the waters off Acapulco, the film follows the fisherman from the setting out for the day's excursion through the sport in the open sea to the return to the dock with the day's catch to be admired and photographed.

Shot in technicolor, the film catches effectively the thrill known to all fishermen—that of hooking, playing and landing a king-size fish on lightweight tackle. A brief children's film will round out the program which will be of about one hour's duration.

Residents of the community are cordially invited to come to the Central Library this Friday evening at 8 o'clock to see these four films. Children of junior high or elementary school age can be admitted only if accompanied by a parent or other responsible adult.

Parents to Hear Noted Educator

Miss Esther L. Middlewood of Lansing, Director of Mental Health Educations for the State of Michigan, will be the featured speaker before an audience of parents on Monday evening, January 10, at Grosse Pointe High School. Sponsors of the program are the Mothers' and Dads' clubs of the high school.

Miss Middlewood speaks from a varied experience. She was a public school teacher for fourteen years before she took training to become a psychiatric social worker and, subsequently, served in this capacity for two years at the Muskegon Child Guidance Clinic.

In 1947, Miss Middlewood undertook the duties of mental health consultant for the State Department of Mental Health, and one year later became the Director of the Education Division.

She is the author of numerous articles for professional publications and other magazines and has written a booklet entitled, "These, Our Youngsters" which deals with parent-child relationships.

A panel of students from Grosse Pointe High School's Effective Living classes will also be present to answer questions submitted from the audience pertaining to the parent-child relationship.

All parents of Grosse Pointe High School students as well as other interested persons in the community are invited. The program is scheduled for 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium. Ample parking facilities are now available in the new school parking lot between the high school and the annex.

Fire Damages Garage in Park

A fire damaged a garage at the rear of 1015-1017 Beaconsfield on Sunday, December 26, before Park firemen arrived to extinguish the blaze.

A Park fire report disclosed that the fire damaged the shingles and roof boards at the rear of the garage, and that a car in the garage had been removed before it was damaged.

The blaze, of undetermined origin, was believed to have started on the roof of the garage. The property is owned by W. G. Retzlaff of 859 Lochmoor.

The man who aims at nothing in life is almost sure to hit it.

A SPECIAL MESSAGE

REGARDING OUR

JANUARY

Savings Value!

As you well know, S. Stein & Co. of Grosse Pointe opened its doors a month ago. When we did so, we presented fresh, crisp new merchandise, dedicated to the finest desires of the Pointe's men.

For S. Stein & Co. of Grosse Pointe, to stage a clearance sale in the usual sense of the word, would be utterly impossible.

However, we do have a situation calling for immediate action and here it is:

Many shipments of men's wear due in our store for Christmas selling did not arrive in time. We have decided therefore to DRASTICALLY REDUCE such merchandise to dispose of it now, rather than carry it over. It means a rare savings value opportunity for you!

STARTING TOMORROW

We have arranged this merchandise in a special grouping... reduced prices... and we now invite you to shop for these values at SUBSTANTIAL SAVINGS!

Mrs. Francis M. Steele of Mapleton avenue, president of CWVS, invites interested women with one year of college training to contact the CWVS office by telephone, TRinity 5-7450.

The Cancer Center is but one of the many social agencies served by CWVS members. Others are Detroit Orthopedic Clinic; Travelers Aid; American Red Cross; League for the Handicapped; Friendly Visitors; as well as hospitals, community houses, and youth organizations.

Women of Methodist Church Hold Meeting

After a devotional period led by Mrs. Walter Hicks, Miss Annetta B. Eldridge, Metropolitan Executive Director of the YWCA was the speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Grosse Pointe Methodist Churches Women's Society, on Wednesday, January 5, at 12:45 p.m.

Her talk, "A Young Girl Moves to the City" is based on actual experiences of "Y" girls in the past.

The Susannah Wesley circle were hostesses for the day and tickets for the February 9 benefit luncheon bridge party at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center were distributed for members to sell.

Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Swan, of Roosevelt place, announced the engagement of their daughter, JEAN CATHERINE, to William C. Buhler, at a family dinner recently.

William, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Buhler, of Lochmoor boulevard, is a student in the school of Chemical Engineering at the University of Detroit.

Both, the bride-elect and her fiancé are graduates of Grosse Pointe High School.

A wedding date has not yet been set by the couple.

Pointer Takes Bride to Florida

Of interest to the Pointe was the Dec. 27 ceremony in the Holy Comforter Church of Kenilworth, Ill., at which the Pointe's Lieut. Harvey C. Fruehauf, Jr., and Susanne McMaster exchanged nuptial vows.

Lieut. Fruehauf's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey C. Fruehauf of Three Mile drive.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. McMaster of Evanston, Ill.

For the wedding, Susanne wore robes of ivory satin distinguished by four back panels of Pointe de Lyons lace which formed the gown's long train. The same lace was used on the gown's long sleeves and in the bridal Juliet which held her fingertip length veil of imported silk illusion.

The bridal bouquet was composed of Amazon lilies.

Kaye McLatchie, as maid of honor, set the fashion pace for a quartet of attendants.

Her waltz length gown of emerald antique taffeta was worn with mink-trimmed shrug. A headband of the mink accented the touch of fur. Her flowers were Amazon lilies.

The bridesmaids comprised Barbara and Ann Fruehauf, sisters of the bridegroom; Mrs. Deane H. Stolz of Norfolk, Va., and Mrs. Peter D. Baldwin of Skokie, Ill.

John Cosgrove, of Grosse Pointe, was best man and the guests were seated by Pointers James Touseany and Harry C. Van Wormer, Jr.; Brent McKee of Birmingham, Mich., and Richard A. Reeves of Erie, Pa.

The mother of the bride was gowned in silvery gray satin, trimmed with silver beading, combined with a gray satin capeau.

Mrs. Fruehauf was dressed in mauve silk organza and lace and topped her costume with a small beaded hat.

Following the church service, the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the Winnetka home of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. McMartin.

After a honeymoon in Miami Beach, Fla., the new Mr. and Mrs. Fruehauf will travel to Quonset Pointe, R. I., to make their home while he is in service.

Your opinion is all right if you can get others to endorse it.

Club to Mark Twelfth Night

The College Women's Club will have a Twelfth Night Party on Friday evening at the home of Sylvia Dauch in Bedford road. There will be a 6:30 o'clock dinner.

Special guests for the evening will be past president of the club which now is headed by Catherine Kirlin of Grosse Pointe.

On Jan. 19 the group is to meet at the Kenwood court home of Carolyn Krieghoff to make Twinkle Toe Dolls.

Still another January event for the College Women is a membership tea on Friday, the twenty-eighth, when Elsie Conkey is opening her Pemberton road home to the club. Members have been invited to bring a prospective member for the tea and special program.

STICK IT OUT

See to it that the new leaf you turn over this year won't be as blotted as the old one.

Frederick-Vance Ceremony Held

In the presence of immediate families, Mrs. Ruth Frederick and Joseph A. Vance Jr. were married Tuesday, Dec. 28 at a ceremony in the First Presbyterian Church.

The former Mrs. Frederick was attended by her daughter, Patricia Frederick and Mr. Vance's daughter, Jeanne Vance. Jeanne's fiancé, Keith Smith, performed the duties of best man.

For the wedding, the bride chose a street length frock of Dior blue organza; the neckline trimmed in flowers of the material. Mr. and Mrs. Vance will make their home in Hendrie lane upon return from their wedding trip to the Château Frontenac in Quebec.

USE OF TACT

Diplomatic language is a form of speech that usually has all its merit on the surface.

Some people doubt because it is easier than investigation.

At least it's better to borrow trouble than to make it. The man who works only for his pay seldom does his best.

CATERING SERVICE

It is our pleasure to announce a Catering Service specializing in French and American cuisine. Facilities ample to accommodate up to 300. Private dining room for banquets, parties, receptions. Special entertainment. Ample parking. Prescott 6-1349. Every day except Mondays 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Red Cross Asks Nurses to Help

The Detroit Chapter American Red Cross nursing service has issued an appeal for graduate registered professional nurses who are not now regularly employed to join the ranks of volunteer instructors who teach Red Cross-sponsored classes.

"This is a challenging opportunity for the nurse whose occupation now is homemaking, but has leisure time for volunteer service," said Mrs. Hugo Freund, volunteer Chairwoman of Nursing Services, Detroit Chapter. "Classes in nearby centers offer a chance for the nurse to continue her interest in nursing and keep up-to-date in community affairs." The Red Cross offers day and evening instructor conferences for the new volunteer, beginning in January 1955, which will prepare her to teach classes in Home Care of the Sick. Interested nurses are asked to call Nursing Services at Chapter Headquarters, Woodward 1-3900.

Two 32-hour Instructor Training Courses already are scheduled. A day time class will meet from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on four days: January 20, 21, 28 and February 4. An evening class from 7 to 10 p.m. meets on Wednesday, January 19 and Friday, January 21, continuing for 9 successive weeks, on either Wednesday or Friday, as the class decides.

Betrothal Told

At a family dinner in their Lakepointe avenue home, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar B. Marx, Jr., announced the betrothal of their daughter, PATRICIA ANNE, granddaughter of the late mayor, Oscar B. Marx, to Gordon M. Keyser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Keyser of Tecumseh, Mich.

The bride-elect attends the University of Michigan, where she is affiliated with Chi Omega. Her fiancé was graduated from the University of Michigan and is now in the Armed Forces.

Pointe AAUW Planning Events

Joining hands with five other area branches of the American Association of University Women, Grosse Pointe Branch will sponsor a Detroit Symphony night, for the performance of January 20, when the featured soloist will be Robert Casadesu.

Members are taking guests to the concert, their first annual sponsorship of a community musical activity.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Charles Killins, plans are being made for a series of gala pre-concert gatherings. Reservations for the concert may be made with Mrs. Harold Fleming, VA. 1-9842.

Coffee in the War Memorial Board Room will feature the first meeting of the new year when the board of the AAUW, Grosse Pointe Branch gathers at 9:45 a.m., Jan. 6, to discuss matters. Hostess for the meeting is Mrs. Edward Grenard.

The Contemporary Literature group of AAUW will meet Thursday evening, Jan. 6, at 7:45 in the Main Library to hear Mrs. Arthur Hillegas review "Many a Good Crusade" by the educator Virginia Giddersley. Discussion of the book and a preview of new books will follow the review.

New Classes At the YWCA

"Start the New Year right by learning something new!" Harriet Bowe, YWCA general and health education director, advises.

From a variety of folders, each describing classes at a YWCA branch or center, may be selected the course for almost any particular interest or hobby, Miss Bowe points out.

As a sample of the range of subjects covered, Northwest Center YW, 17268 Redford avenue, offers a class in oil painting for the amateur on Monday afternoons and a class in bridge for men and women on Monday evenings.

Golf lessons will be available at Central Branch, 2230 Withereil street, Lucy Thurman Branch, 569 East Elizabeth street and Dearborn Branch, 1034 Monroe boulevard, Dearborn. Swimming promises to continue in popularity at Central, Northern and Lucy Thurman, Miss Bowe believes.

Activities for junior and teenage girls have also been scheduled at each branch and center.

Registration for all courses is now open. First of the classes will begin the week of January 10.

League to Aid Crippled Children to Meet Jan. 14

The annual meeting of the Michigan League for Crippled Children will be held on Friday, January 14, at the Stockholm Restaurant, 1014 East Jefferson at Rivard.

The board meeting will be held at 11 a.m. followed by luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

The general annual meeting and election of board of directors will be at 2 p.m.

Girl Athletes To Fete Moms

By Pat Patterson
Journalism Student

Grosse Pointe High School's Girls' Athletic Association has announced that January 11, will be the big night for the semi-annual mother-daughter banquet.

Turkey a la king, peas, cranberry sauce, rolls, beverage, and dessert will be served at 6 o'clock in the Grosse Pointe High School cafeteria. Members of the Gold Hi-Y have volunteered to serve the dinner.

Mrs. Everett Roll, Mothers' Club president, and Mrs. Ruth Flom, dean of girls, will be the association's guests of honor.

Mrs. Roll, who attended last semester's banquet, commented, "I am looking forward to meeting the mothers again in the informal, friendly atmosphere which prevails at the mother-daughter banquet."

Mrs. Roll will present to the Girls' Athletic Association a new Outstanding Girl Athlete Trophy that was purchased by the Mothers' Club.

Cynthia Lister, social chairman, has full charge of the banquet. She got things underway by appointing a committee to help her work out details.

She appointed Pat Patterson, ticket chairman, Pat Herrick, programs, and Alice Adelman, publicity chairman.

Joy Taylor, entertainment chairman, has cleverly woven skits around the theme of "Winter Melodies."

Julie Van Loon will show the audience how the hula dance is done in Hawaii. Leona Collins will play the violin and Roberta Jaworski will display her musical talents on the marimba.

New G. A. A. officers will also be announced during the entertainment part of the evening.

They will receive corsages from the retiring officers.

Tickets for the mother-daughter banquet will be sold in the Student Council Booth and by board members from January 3-8. Tickets cost $1.65 per person.

Girls need not be a member of the Girls' Athletic Association to attend this banquet, nor does a girl have to be accompanied by her mother.

As Cynthia Lister, social chairman, said, "Mothers deserve a treat once in a while, and I can't think of a better way of entertaining them."

Reveal Program For Gray Ladies

American Red Cross announces the 1955 program for enrolling Gray Ladies in the Detroit Chapter. Applicants will be interviewed at the Gray Lady office, 153 E. Elizabeth, from January 5 to 22, including Saturdays for the convenience of business women.

The office will be open from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Applicants must have proof of citizenship, a high school diploma or its equivalent, and be at least twenty-one years of age.

"Twenty hospitals are now being served by Red Cross Gray Ladies," Mrs. Cameron W. Ryckman, chairman of the Gray Lady service for Detroit Chapter, said. "Gray Ladies are called on to give patients as well as staff, non-professional assistance. We do shopping errands, write letters, distribute library books and other reading materials, read to patients, and lend a sympathetic ear to their problems. For the staff we assist in keeping records, arrange flowers in the wards, act as receptionists."

The Gray Ladies serve in the following hospitals: Brent Deaconess, Detroit Memorial, Grace (main and Northwestern branch), Harper, Mt. Carmel, Oakwood, Parkside, Providence, St. Francis, St. John, Sinai, Trinity, U. S. Public Health (formerly Marine), Veterans Administration, Wayne County General and the Induction Center at Ft. Wayne. In addition to the hospitals, it takes at least 10 Gray Ladies a day in the blood center and mobile unit program.

Thirty-five hours of orientation and instruction are required before the Gray Lady starts to serve the 150 hours she pledges each year. Further information and an appointment for an interview may be secured by calling the Gray Lady office, Woodward 1-3900.

Society News Gathered From All of the Pointes

From Another Pointe of View

By Jane Schermerhorn

Just when most folks are packing up to head South, Mrs. Frank W. Goldie pulled a delightful switch and went to Palm Beach to pack for a Pointe return. Nothing could be nicer for us than to have her back—bound to stir up lots of fun, settled there on St. Paul avenue. She's not unpacking either until after Thursday, Jan. 13—the date of the final Pointe Morning Musicales of the season. Mrs. Goldie is one of the founding members of this Pointe institution and she says next Thursday's concert will be particularly interesting with Fred Kendall, tenor, the soloist. . . . The Musicales take place at the Country Club and are followed by luncheon. Sure to be on hand are Mrs. Henry B. Joy, Mrs. Henry P. Williams, Mrs. Richard P. Joy, Mrs. Frederick S. Ford, Mrs. Allan Sheldon, Mrs. Charles A. Dean Jr., Mrs. Jerome H. Remick Jr., . . . and a very new Morning Musicales enthusiast, Mrs. Horace Caulkins Ford. . . .

Symphony Fashion Show

It takes real bravery to face-up to a busy schedule the first week after Christmas holidays when the inclination is to sink back for a long winter's nap. Members of the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra are not only facing-up but beating the drums for the Fashion in the Round show they're giving March 15-16 at Veterans Memorial Building, all to benefit the orchestra maintenance fund. Doris Otter Graham haloo-ed to us from out there at Apple Towers in Bloomfield Hills to say the divisional chairmen are having a meeting at Mrs. Alfred R. Glancy Jr.'s Lake Shore road home next Tuesday. Following business, Mrs. Glancy will give the chairmen tea. . . .

The Dressy Male

The John Nash Stewarts gave one of the merriest holiday cocktail parties at their Mount Vernon road home last Thursday. Guests got an eye-opener when the host met them at the door. He wore a red corduroy jacket with black velvet collar and lapels. Mr. S. was definitely the center of attention until one of his guests arrived wearing kilts. We know the haberdashers have been plying the lads with gayer, gayer colors and newer, newer styles but where is this going to end? Soon, society writers will have to describe what the stagline is wearing to the big parties. That, incidentally, is the day we hope they hang a padlock on our typewriter. . . .

Tropic Moon Shines For Final Deb Dance

Mary Page Fuger and Pamela Waterman Honored at Dance in Twin Gates by Mrs. John H. French and the John Frenches Jr.; Elizabeth Remick Makes Debut

Last Thursday a tropical moon cast its romantic light over the debutante crowd as the final dance of the December season was given by Mr. and Mrs. John H. French, Jr. and Mrs. John H. French in the latter's Lake Shore road home, Twin Gates. . . .

The house dance honored two of the season's buds, Mary Page Fuger, who had made her debut at a reception a few hours earlier; and Pamela Waterman who bowed on Dec. 23 at a dance in the Little Club. . . .

The third floor ballroom at the French residence has bamboo-like walls which were most effective with hangings of Spanish moss, palm trees, kumquats and other Southern decor. Cabaret tables, set around the dance floor, were covered with green cloths and in the center of each bloomed a small kumquat tree. One wall of the ballroom was devoted to two life-sized photographs of Mary Page and Pamela. . . .

That final day of the deb season was a busy one for the young crowd. In the early afternoon, Mrs. James A. Remick gave a tea in her Ridge road home to present her daughter, Elizabeth. . . .

Mrs. William R. Post, the deb's maternal grandmother, received in the living room with Mrs. Remick and the debutante. . . .

White carnations and greens were used in the room, backgrounding the gay white organdy gown, dotted in holly red coins, worn by the deb. . . .

Wrist bands of white carnations marked the deb's assistants, including Emmaline Bishop, Linda Carden, Betsy Davidson of Rye, N.Y., Mary Page Fuger, Anne McKnight, Sally Mitchell and Julie Watson. . . .

The deb greeted guests in a floor touching white silk frock with off shoulder neckline and girdle of deep red taffeta. She carried a spray of red carnations. . . .

Pointer Weds Lansing Girl in Church Rites

Lieut. Donald Theodore MacKinnon Jr. Marries Jane Carol Noack at Ceremony in St. John's Episcopal Church, Royal Oak; To Live in Tombstone, Ariz.

Lieut. Donald Theodore MacKinnon claimed Jane Carol Noack, of Lansing, as his bride at a ceremony last Thursday evening in St. John's Episcopal Church of Royal Oak.

Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Noack, and her family were former residents of Royal Oak and returned—especially for the wedding ceremony.

Lieut. MacKinnon is the son of Mrs. Donald T. MacKinnon, of Washington road, and the late Mr. MacKinnon.

The bride chose an opera length gown of ivory crystalline for her marriage. Designed on princess lines, the slender bodice fell into bouffant skirt. Heirloom lace was drifted on the deep yoke of the gown and also formed its long, fitted sleeves. A shoulder length veil of imported silk illusion fell from her bridal Juliet.

Jane's flowers were white orchids and stephanotis.

Nancy, Huston, of Highland Park, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids included Pat, Shea, of Huntington, Woods, and Barbara Lonerger of Royal Oak.

The trio of attendants were gowned in crimson crystalline waltz length frocks, also following princess lines. The strapless bodices were covered with matching stoles and their flowers were bouquets of white carnations, cream toned sweetheart roses and ivy.

Charles MacKinnon was his brother's best man.

Seating the guests were groomsmen: James Stewart, Don Schmitz, Gene McCracken of Farmington, Mich. and Dave Arnold of Cleveland.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Noack was dressed in a Ceil Chapman deep blue taffeta frock, combined with small white satin capelet. Her flowers were white camellias.

Mrs. MacKinnon's costume was silver toned antique brocade worn with tiny chapeau of multi-toned sequins. She wore a corsage of green spray orchids.

Following the church service, which was performed in a setting of Christmas greens, tall markers of holly and ivy marking the center aisle of St. John's, the parents of the bride gave a reception and wedding supper at Northwood Inn.

Lieut. MacKinnon and his bride are motoring back to his base at Tombstone, Ariz.

For traveling, the new Mrs. MacKinnon donned a black faille eyelet tulle over blue silk. She wore a small black hat and black velvet coachman's coat, pinning her bridal orchids to coat lapel.

Among out of town guests at the wedding were the bridegroom's aunts and uncle, Mrs. High Scott, and Mr. and Mrs.

Miss Montigel Slade Fiancee

The bride-elect attended Michigan State College and is a member of Alpha Phi Sorority.

Lieut. Slade attended Michigan State and was graduated from the Army Language School in Monterey. He is in the Defense Department in Washington.

A February wedding is planned by the young couple.

Mrs. E. R. Holtz Hostess At Party for Sorority

Course Teaches Faster Reading

So, you think you can read?

Don't take offense, we know you learned to read in school! But one evening spent at the Reading Efficiency class offered by the Department of Community Services of the Grosse Pointe Public School System, will add skills to your reading abilities that you didn't dream possible.

One thing of which you will be certain is that you must have been a "slow" student in reading, for this class demonstrates just how much speed and concentration an adult should attain when reading properly.

Alton Raygor, Research Assistant in the Evaluation and Examinations Division, and teaching Assistant of the Reading Improvement Services, Bureau of Psychological Services, of the University of Michigan, who conducts the class on Thursday nights, maintains that the average adult falls short in his reading abilities.

Most readers maintain a speed of 250 words per minute, when they should be reading 500 words per minute—and there are speed demons who can read at 600 to 700 words per minute.

This might indicate that the faster one reads the less one absorbs. However, research has proven that isn't so, for in the reading tests the reader learns to concentrate more completely. In fact, concentration is necessary in fast reading, and results in the student absorbing more of what he is reading.

Among the mechanical devices used in increasing reading efficiency, is a tachistoscope (a slide machine) which flashes digits and series of words on a screen at startling and varying rate of speed.

The course will include group discussions and class exercises which are designed to help the individual improve his reading rate, critical reading skill, concentration and vocabulary. Other phases of how to improve reading skills will be determined by class personnel.

Classes will be held at the Department of Community Services, (formerly Country Day School), 43 Grosse Pointe Boulevard. Since enrollment is limited, those interested are asked to call TU 5-3806 for reservations.

DAC Watch Nite Gala Helps Pointe Greet '55

Large Contingent of Pointers Hosts and Guests at Glamorous New Year's Eve Fete at the Detroit Athletic Club; White Poinsettias and Silver Tapers Set Scene

Even though the super-gaiety of the holiday season, circa 1954, is now of the past, its memories linger—and especially those of last Friday evening, the glamorous, thrilling New Year's Eve.

Detroit Athletic Club was the scene of a merry hubbub with a capacity throng welcoming 1955—and not the least of memories for the many attending Pointers was the clement weather which made driving easy for the trip downtown.

The DAC setting was beautiful, with white poinsettias and tall, silver-tipped candles decorating the corridors, and the Yuletide accent of greenery in doorway swags and window wreaths.

Dancing took place in the handsome Pontchartrain room where the Leo Reisman orchestra had its place. The adjoining main dining room on the one side, and ladies dining room on the other were given over to glistening white-covered tables where groups dined and visited.

At midnight there was all the traditional jollity of noisemakers, fancy paper hats, serpentine streamers, and singing of "Auld Lang Syne"—then dancing went on and on.

There was an especially happy time at the table of Mr. and Mrs.

Walter A. Crow, of Berkshire road, as their party combined a birthday fete for Mrs. Crow with the New Year's Eve celebration. Their guests, all Grosse Pointers, were Mr. and Mrs. David Williams, the Robert G. Wayllets, Harold Flemings and Mr. and Mrs. David Burgess. Mrs. Crow was lovely in yellow chiffon, waltz length, with pearl and bead trim.

The David T. Sicklesteels were there in a foursome with their son and daughter-in-law, the Robert D. Sicklesteels, and the J. Henry Pichlers and Bruce A. Kirks were together, Mrs. Kirk in a stunning evening gown of black faille, the floor-touching skirt featuring a side pocket from which spilled flowers in shades of red.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Alef, who had spent 10 days in Rock Island, Ill., with Mrs. Alef's parents, the Blair Johnsons, arrived home in time to spend New Year's Eve at the DAC with Phil's parents, the Marvin J. Alefs, and his sister, Mrs. Richard Bauhof. Lieut. Bauhof, on duty in Korea, was of necessity absent from the

Lochmoor Club Holds New Year Eve Party

Many Members Give Cocktail Parties at Home Before Going on to Gala Event Which Included Dinner at 10 p.m.

The energetic committee for Lochmoor Club's New Year's Eve party met for several sessions and made all the lovely green and gold decorations for their New Year's Eve party on Friday night, December 31. The coral room was decked in evergreens and gold sprayed leaves and bells formed the table centerpieces.

Murray L. MacDonald was chairman of entertainment and on his committee planning this party were Karl E. Schmidt, Henry R. Klein, Robert O. Artnier and Robert N. Kendall.

Instead of a late-starting party, Peter J. Galette, Lochmoor's new president, decided to try to get the crowd at the club earlier this year. So for the first time a dinner was held before the welcoming of the new year.

Noisemakers, balloon decorations and gaily decorated paper hats all added to the evening's festivities. Dancing to the music of Mark Otis and his orchestra began at 10 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney M. Harvey, who were hosts at a table for 10 at the club, entertained at cocktails at their home in Berkshire road. Mr. and Mrs. Klein had asked 20 friends to cocktails at their home in Touraine road.

Cocktail parties were given by Mr. and Mrs. Merton L. Lamkins, of Bedford road and Mr. and Mrs. W. Tom ZurSchmiede at their home in Touraine road. Both groups will join at one large table at the club.

Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald were hosts at cocktails at their home in Roslyn road and then joined a subscription party for dinner. Included were the Galettes, Mr. and Mrs. William Siebert, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Reichle, Mr. and Mrs. Brent M. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Giroux and Mr. and Mrs. David C. Lowe.

The Artners shared a table with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Diegel, Ella Mae Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harrison of 926 Balfour road, entertained 80 of her Grosse Pointe High School classmates at an annual tea given by her parents on Sunday, January 2, in their home.

Two girls, Ann Reeves and Julie Michael, poured the tea; and serving the punch at the punch bowl were Anne Kohring and Joanne Ortwein.

All the guests were girls of the school's 11th grade.

Happy Birthdays

Just heard of a Pointe grandmother who is blessed with 24 grandchildren and in novel fashion she solves all problems at the birthday party she gives for them each year. All 24 angels are deposited at grandma's house. After birthday luncheon there's a cake for the girls and a cake for the boys. Gifts are arranged in neat departments and then grandma takes the center of the stage. "And those who are five years old please come get your gifts." And so it goes until all ages have received presents. The children adore it and they say their faces, as they wait for their ages to be called, is something for a page in Life magazine.

Champion swimmers and divers of the University of Michigan swimming team will invade Grosse Pointe High School's pool next Thursday, January 13, for a swimming and diving exhibition and clinic.

Leading the squad will be Captain Burwell "Bumpy" Jones, Olympic swimmer and Big Ten and National Collegiate individual medley champion, who holds several national records in addition to the World Record for the 400 yard individual medley.

The team just returned this past week-end from its annual swimming jaunt to Florida. This will be the first appearance of the boys in this area this year.

Two drivers, both claiming they had a green light in their favor, were ticketed by Park police on Saturday, January 1, when they became involved in an accident at East Jefferson and Beaconsfield.

'These Are the Times....'

The old year slammed by in a kaleidoscopic, optimistic haze, crammed full of good cheer and happy prophecies. Everyone was stuffed with joy and all the gifts were welcome... even the hideous, harlequin socks which had been chewed together by the frantic needles of Phrenetic Francis, the cousin whom Uncle Will allows out but once a year.

All the too, too wonderful happenings which a too, too wonderful year is going to unfold, have been prematurely bared to our bleary eyes, and it is only now, when the dull, rosy haze is beginning to lift, that we can see things in their true perspective. What a ghastly jest this is to which we have been subjected. Everything has touched a new low.

Our bright new year is far too young to be afforded an adult appraisal. We don't know whether he is going to come up with a smiling disposition, or be a snarling adolescent who snaps at the affectionate, feeding hand. The brilliance of the yule season has faded in a sickening array of broken ornaments and candy canes, shriveled mistletoe with faded ribbons, squat, dead candles, stiffly yellowed needles cast off by the proud evergreens, warped Christmas cards dangling irregularly from their hangings... and a formerly snow-white angel who has suddenly acquired a dull, faith-shattering overcoating of dust.

The holiday spirit has lost its bubbles and there remains but a stale, flat feeling, too reminiscent of a sucked grape. Left-over Christmas cookies in a half-closed jar only cause us to wince. The despicable little hunk of shunned fruit cake almost induces nausea. Gay yule wrappings continue to peek brazenly at us from the semi-covered rubbish cans in the courtyard. The tree's bare skeleton glowers at us accusingly while waiting for the merciful collection which will consign it to a flaming reward of permanent peace.

The youngsters have returned to school, and the house is full of a silence we would like to shatter with their so-missed babble. Even the Christmas puppy, which raised such havoc while all was bright and gay, hides under a chair and casts sadly-fearful, but hopeful looks in our direction. The sudden cessation of frivolity is beyond his comprehension.

Two big, double-dips of holiday weekends inoculated us with a false sense of freedom from work, and we find ourselves lacking both the inclination and physical ability to plunge back into our everyday jobs. The full meaning of the word hangover forces itself on both imbibers and abstainers.

The bills (or most of them) have arrived. We can never be certain just which ones we have forgotten, incurred during that last surge of largesse in the closing hours before presents were to be unwrapped. We have discovered that the gifts we attempted to exchange or return didn't come from the places which their boxes inferred. The denouement is complete.

We need something tangible, some stout spar to cling to in the grasping waters which would drag us deeper into the murkiness of this post-celebration period. We think of the lines: "These are the times that try men's souls." We would swear they were inspired by just such an experience as this, if our book-learning didn't tell us that the great patriot Thomas Paine penned them shortly before Christmas. They first appeared in the Pennsylvania Journal on December 19, 1776, when everyone in this great country was fighting for his life and the life of our nation.

Which thought supplies the perfect antidote for all our present ailments. What manner of weaklings can we be who could find self-pity in our over-indulgence of happiness?

Strength and good-humor surge back to the bursting point. We toss the challenging gauntlet. Come back, Christmas! Let's have at it again, and may the true, underlying spirit of the joust stay with us always.

Letters to the Editor

December 31, 1954

Gentlemen: Regarding the turn-about of D.S.R. buses at Wayburn and Jefferson avenues.

Much confusion and congestion is caused by the D.S.R. buses stopping at the south curb at Alter road and then immediately attempting to pull to the center of Jefferson to make the left turn into the "turnabout".

I would like to suggest that the D.S.R. buses be kept at the south curb of Jefferson between Alter and Barrington, as are the Grosse Pointe buses, with all parking prohibited, and then be allowed to make a left turn into Wayburn when the signal light is red for Jefferson, and then continue right around the "turnabout" circle and back into Jefferson between the building and east of Wayburn.

This method will remove the D.S.R. buses from parking in the center of Jefferson in Grosse Pointe Park, and will keep them on the right side of all streets; it will further keep them out of the center of Jefferson avenue and give a loading facility on D.S.R. property, off the street.

Yours truly,

WILFRED A. STEINER.

P.S. Why are not the Grosse Pointe light at Wayburn and the signal light at Alter road synchronized properly?

Grosse Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

"Be patient, Oh, be patient! Put your ear against the earth; Listen there how noiselessly the germ 'o seed has birth; How noiselessly and gentle it upheaves its little way Till it parts the scarcely broken ground, and the blade stands up in day!" (William J. Linton)

The first thing that happened to us in 1955 is one for the book. On Jan. the first, to be exact, our doorbell tinkled at about 3:30 p.m. and when we answered it, a small-boy stood on the threshold wearing a typical Nabisco ad yellow slicker with fisherman's helmet to match. He hung onto the handle of a small cart in which were some twenty large sprigs of rather tired pine branches. He asked if we would like to buy some!

In spite of a splitting you-know-what from the night before... we gave a small lecture as to the futility of trying to sell pine boughs on the day most of us were throwing them out. Undaunted, he held up a handful and said: "You can have these for twenty-five cents." We didn't have the heart to tell him we picked up a ten-foot Christmas tree for a dollar and twenty-five cents two weeks before... but just suggested that he go home and forget about it. "I can't," said he, "I gotta make some money." We handed him a dime (for free) with the feeling that we had just started a future bank president on his way to fame and fortune!

The strangest things happen when we telephone people. Last week we called a local woman on business and while we were talking to her, she kept making "asides" to someone obviously in the room with her. Nothing could be more disconcerting, especially since we couldn't hear what she said, exactly. Finally, she made no pretense at the sotto voce stuff... she merely called out to the entity in her presence, "Well tell her to melt the wax and come up in five minutes."

Well now, we are frank to admit that this is something we can't shake off lightly. Wax for what? The woman is not an artist nor does she sculpt; she is not the local Madame Tussard of the famous wax works nor does she own a harp or spinning wheel. It couldn't be more mystifying and has caused us many a sleepless night.

If you know where to get a trick pair of false teeth (that look like the real McCoy), we know how you can have some fun at the next big party you are invited to. (So all right, we ended a sentence with the word "to"... sue us!) A man we know who fancies himself quite a joker, went to a New Year's Eve party... one of those great big "no one knows anyone there" affairs, to which the hosts had merely asked everyone in sight to drop in.

Just before our hero left the party, he surreptitiously lay the joke set of false teeth just down inside one of the sofa cushions; and that was that. What followed shouldn't happen to a dog. The hostess, finding them the next day, was frantic to know who they might belong to but was timid about calling any of the guests to ask, "Have you missed your false teeth?"

She DID call a few of her close friends to see if they might furnish a clue but nobody knows nuttin' about anything! In the meantime she is worried for fear the owner of the teeth might be gumming his or her way around town, mad as all get out for having lost them... but she doesn't know how to go about finding out... for fear of hurting someone's feelings... who thinks he is keeping his false teeth a secret. Anyway, it's an idea if you want to stir up some excitement.

Our next true story has to do with a local mother, her fairly new maid who "spik little broken Ongleese" and the pre-Christmas rush. Our heroine bought a rather fancy set of chess for her teen-aged son... and on the day it arrived, without undoing the package she handed it to the maid and said, "Put this chess down in the basement." Inasmuch as she kept all the household presents down there, she presumed the maid would understand.

Came Christmas eve... and the usual hauling upstairs of all the gifts to put under the tree... but no chess set. Mother hunted high and low throughout the basement but it just wasn't there. Well, Christmas came and went and junior was told he had a chess set coming but it had gotten lost in the shuffle and he would have to wait until it turned up.

Now we get into the day before New Year's eve... when Madame goes to her deep freeze to get out a turkey for her New Year's party. Nestling in between the turkey and a wild duck, she spies a familiar looking package. You're right... the chess set. Investigation into the matter brought to light the fact that the maid thought our heroine had said "Put the CHEESE in the basement"... so naturally she thought it belonged in the deep freeze. Ain't we got fun?

What Goes On at Your Library

By Jean Taylor

The last glittering ornament has been tucked away, the tinsel discarded and the tree, like Hans Christian Andersen's Little Fir, lies disconsolately on the rubbish heap. Christmas and New Year's are over.

Our Christmas plants however are putting up a brave fight. They eye us accusingly when we are tempted to toss away their dying beauty with the other faded debris.

"You work in a library, don't you?" We swear that poinsettia actually pulls away from us when we try to pick it up. "Don't you ever look inside those books that you handle every day? You know very well there are some books there that would tell you how to save our lives, if you'd just take the trouble to read them."

"Our apologies to you, Poinsettia. You are not as lovely as you were, but perhaps we CAN do something about it. Don't expect too much however.

Early at the library the next day, we thumb through the card catalogue... "Plants" see also "House Plants". We thumb through the "H" drawer. Here we are. Well we declare.

Ever so many people have written on the topic. What number does Mr. Dewey designate for this subject? 716... Over to the 700 shelves we go. Not all the books mentioned in the catalogue are here. That means a number of them are in circulation. Perhaps somebody else has had a brush with his poinsettia too and is trying to find out what to do about it.

We scan ALL ABOUT HOUSE PLANTS by Montague Free. This book is certainly easy to follow. It has a good index and running our eye over the table of contents we find "Give Them a Chance to Live." You do make it sound easy, Mr. Free. We'll take you home, read you carefully, try to follow your instructions and see what happens.

Perhaps we had better take a look at some of the other books on the subject to discover whether or not the authors agree. Here's a likely sound one by D. H. Jenkins published in 1954, HOUSE PLANTS FOR EVERY WINDOW. Another that follows this slant is GARDEN IN YOUR WINDOW by Jean Henney. W. H. Clark's PLANTS IN POTS and PICTURE PRIMER OF INDOOR GARDENING by M. O. Goldsmith also appear to have some interesting ideas.

We recall seeing an article along this line in a recent magazine, but what was it called, and in what magazine was it? We can track it down in a matter of seconds, of course, through the Readers Guide to Periodical Literature. Sure enough, we found it listed under "House Plants" in "Make Your Gift Plants Last Longer," Better Homes and Gardens, December 1954. This seems to be a perennial problem. There is an article in Better Homes and Gardens, December 1953 also, "House Plants Can Make Your Christmas Longer."

One of our co-workers, who discovers me searching for material on house plants, remarks, "You know, don't you, that we have a couple of specialists right on our staff? Surely you have seen the lovely poinsettias, both red and white, that Melitta Roemer has coddled for three or more years."

Anne Studnicka is famed for her green thumb that can coax anything to grow in the house or out of doors. Right now at the Park Branch, she has seven little pots of African Violet plants in embryo. Mr. William A. Stanton, an indoor garden enthusiast, presented her with seven leaves in the seven pots. If we know our Melitta, they will be blooming plants in no time.

If any of our readers are struggling with drooping azaleas or cyclamens we suggest that you look through some of these books on house plants. We are becoming increasingly optimistic as we find ourselves on better terms with our poinsettia.

Success to you!

Basic Steps in Diagnosis

By FRED M. KOPP, R. Ph.

When you consult a doctor about a serious condition, he usually advises a blood test, urine analysis, X-rays or fluoroscope of the area in which pain is felt. It may even be necessary to take one or more tests that will show if certain areas or organs are affected.

While this involves more expense and time in the beginning it means surer and swifter control of the illness. In the long run it is less costly in time and health than the methods doctors had to follow before the development of these valuable aids.

This is the 22nd of a series of Editorial advertisements appearing in this paper each week.

Rear-End Crash Occurs at Light

Mrs. Antoinette Poma, 30, of 26761 Belanger, Roseville, was ticketed for not having her car under control and causing an accident at East Jefferson and Bedford, on Saturday, January 1.

According to Park police, Herbert Gerhard, 24, of 563 Arlington drive, Detroit, had stopped his car for an amber light when it was struck in the rear by another driven by Mrs. Poma, with enough force to damage both cars.

Mrs. Poma's son, Arthur, Jr., 5, a passenger in his mother's car, suffered a cut lip; and Gerhard's mother, Mrs. Gertrude Gerhard, a passenger in her son's car, suffered a sprained neck.

Both injured persons were taken to Bon Secours Hospital for treatment and released.

Mrs. Poma's court date has been set for Wednesday, January 19.

CAMERAS CATCH PICTORIAL NEWS OF INTEREST FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

WATCH THOSE TOES!—Sawmaker Frank White gives a preview of his latest big-toothed giant to a fascinated audience of one — seven-year-old Calvin Hudson — in Atlanta, Ga. The 295-pound saw is one of two ordered by a firm in non-Communist-held Indo-China. The blades of each are six-and-a-half feet in diameter, and their combined value is nearly $2,000. The only explanation in the order was: "They have big logs in Indo-China."

BEAUTY SLEEPER—This beautiful peignor, cut dramatically to slant back from just above the knees, doubles as a sleep coat. Designed by Rogers, the lounging outfit is of black Ametex nylon with contrasting nylon sheer.

PLAYING BY EYE—A modern method of teaching music is shown by its inventor, Robert Westling of Stockholm, Sweden. As he strikes notes on a piano, letters light up above the same notes on the wall keyboard behind him. A staff above shows how the note looks in printed music.

ARRESTING—Mrs. Ruth Miller wields the pencil as she checks the Miami Beach parking situation with Mrs. Virginia Phillips. Along with four other women, they recently were trained to serve as motorcycle cops for parking-meter collections. Mrs. Miller's husband is a policeman, too. He's on the Miami police force. Both women are former St. Louis, Mo., area residents.

"MOST BEAUTIFUL OF ALL" WEDS—Carrying her lucky mascot, Honey Bear, as she arrives for her wedding is Malayan millionaire's daughter Young Siew-Lee, whose name means "Most Beautiful of All." She was married at Caxton Hall, Westminster, in London, to Ng Kam-Kew, also from Malaya. The bride is the daughter of Yong Shook-Lin, millionaire lawyer and member of the Federal Legislative and State Councils. The bridegroom, 23, is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

FACE SAVER—Lovely Glendale, Cal., museum employee, Elisa DeViolini helps to pretty up one of the mysterious-looking stone faces imported from lonely Easter Island. Relic of a recent South Pacific treasure hunt, this grotesque sample of primitive art only tantalizes the scientists, as they have as yet found no answer to the questions: Who made the statues? What year? For what purpose?

PIPE THIS—Lovely, blonde actress Sandu Scott has taken up pipe-smoking and for other would-be initiates she illustrates some of the fine points. At top left she removes old ashes with the help of a bobby pin, then (lower left) she moistens bowl with water before putting in fresh tobacco (upper right) pinch by pinch. After lighting the entire surface area she puffs firmly several times to get pipe going well. Sandu prefers her long-stemmed, white-bowled Kaywoodie trimmed with rhinestones and she found that it smoked better when filled only half full the first few times.

BALANCED DIET—Frank Murray demonstrates an egg trick that will increase egg sales, provided all the kids try to duplicate the stunt. Murray is the new director of field service of the poultry and egg division of the Missouri Farmers Association. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture.

LEATHER LONGIE—Leather goes hand-in-glove with this year's look of casual sophistication in after-dark fashions. A becoming complement to dress-up clothes for evening is this long pigskin glove in softly textured leather by Alexette Bacmo of New York. So versatile it can also be worn with daytime tweeds, the longie comes in parchment, nutmeg and a variety of candy pastel tones.

MODERN MARINER—Sailor's choice is pretty Pat Crawford, 17-year-old high-school senior who has been chosen Queen of Miami's Sunshine Regatta, which will be held off Dinner Key, January 8-9. Pat is a veteran skipper and has been sailing boats since she was seven.

BIRTHDAY BAPTISM—The old and the new star in this unusual baptismal ceremony at the Church of Hatuna, in Raby, Sweden. Celebrating her 100th birthday, Mrs. Charlotta Hedin presents her baby great-grandson, Nils-Anders Henning, for baptism by the Rt. Rev. Bengt Enstrom.

A PRETTY KETTLE—Spurning his plate and water bowl, Baby takes his liquid refreshment from the spout of a tea kettle. The little raccoon, pet of the Raymond Burdicks of Oconomowoc, Wis., has been drinking from the spout ever since the first day he saw Mrs. Burdick fill his bowl with water from the kettle.

Awaits Sentence In Theft Case

A former woman employe of the Grosse Pointe Nursing Home, Inc., 315 Fisher road, charged with converting the institution's funds to her own use, was found guilty and referred to the Wayne County Probation Department before sentencing.

The woman, Elizabeth Williams, 45, of 286 Belmont, Detroit, was arraigned before Wayne County Circuit Judge Arthur Webster on December 15, and was found guilty and referred to probation.

A warrant charging the woman with embezzlement of the Home's funds, was signed on September 2, and the woman was taken before City Judge Douglas Paterson for examination, and then bound over to Circuit Court.

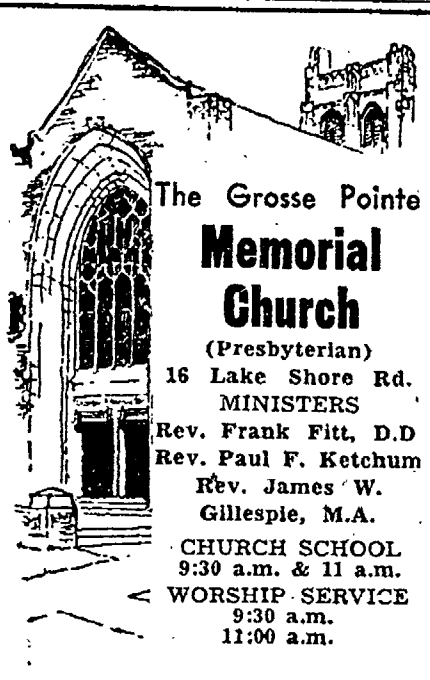

The shortage was discovered by Jerome Brainin, president of the Home, who at the time, informed City Det. Lt. Andrew Teetaert that his auditors had found the institution's bank account short $1,100.

The shortage was pinpointed to the time the woman was hired on August 14, 1953 to the date of her discharge on April 30, 1954, during which time she had been entrusted with the banking of the company's funds.

When confronted, the woman confessed that she took $416, although the Home officials stated that they can prove that she took at least $476.

Lt. Teetaert revealed that a formal warrant, charging the woman with taking $150, was signed by the Prosecutor's Office.

He did not disclose when the woman will appear again before Judge Webster, for sentencing.

Xmas Week Double-Header Suggested for Next Season

For the first time in six years there wasn't an Alumni basketball game played at Grosse Pointe High school during the holidays. And believe me when I tell you I heard about it from numerous former Blue Devil players who had come to regard the Alumni game as an annual affair. Letters and phone calls flooded the News sports department and the voices on the other end of the line all had the same question, "Why aren't we going to have a game this year?"

To this question your reporter had only one answer: "School officials who handle the game in the past don't like to have their Christmas holiday broken up by having to come back to the school midway in their vacation for a single game."

Want to Play in New Gym
Also last year's All-Alumni game didn't appear to have the spectator appeal that the five previous Varsity-Alumni games had. This explanation didn't satisfy the former Blue Devils. They wanted to know why they couldn't have the opportunity to play in the new Auditorium-Gymnasium which they had helped to bring into being while they were in high school.

This question we were at a loss to answer, but promised to see what could be done around another Christmas rolls around.

If it were left up to Harold Husband, of the Board of Education and your reporter, these former players WOULD have the opportunity to play in the new gym in a Varsity-Alumni game.

Suggests Double Header
All these questions got us to thinking, particularly after witnessing the St. Paul Varsity-Alumni game. Wouldn't it be great next Christmas if plans could be worked out to play both the St. Paul and Grosse Pointe Varsity-Alumni games on the same night in the new gym as a whopping big double header. I personally believe these two games, with their great appeal to all alumni in Grosse Pointe, could pack the new gym.

It not only would provide some great basketball between past and present cage stars from both St. Paul and Grosse Pointe High but it would give the alumni one common meeting place during the holiday season.

Dance Might Follow
Past Grosse Pointe alumni games have drawn well and a double header program, with possibly a dance following, could bring in revenue that could be channeled into a common cause such as purchasing more athletic equipment for the new gym which is a community project.

These ideas are strictly your writer's, and possibly the school officials will shoot holes in them.

but we have never been one to back down under fire and they will have to show good cause why a double header Varsity-Alumni program cannot be staged.

I still feel former students of Grosse Pointe High should have the opportunity to use the new gymnasium which they all worked to get, even though they knew they would be out of high school before it was completed.

Dr. Jim Bushong, superintendent of schools, Mr. Husband, Frank Banach, Blue Devil athletic director, and principal Walter Cleminson are the men who can best answer these questions. How about it men—are we going to have a Varsity-Alumni game next Christmas?

Church Cagers Set for Action

Following a two-week layoff for the Christmas holidays the Grosse Pointe Inter-Church Basketball League will swing back into action at the Grosse Pointe High School next Saturday, January 8.

In the first week of action three games were played in the Senior division and one in the Junior division with the St. Paul Panthers drawing a first round bye.

Yods Presbyterian squeezed past the Memorial Diesels 29 to 25 and the St. Paul Longhorns nudged St. James, 24 to 19. The surprising Methodist Mustangs served warning in the Senior loop when they nipped the Christ Church Tigers, 27 to 25.

The Memorial Juniors and the Christ Church Lions provided the thrills of the day when they tangled in a knock-down, drag-out double overtime affair which was eventually won by Memorial, 12 to 10.

One of the outstanding performances was turned in by Bob Herrick in the Methodist-Christ Church contest when he clicked on 14 of 17 free throw attempts. Herrick's sharp shooting from the foul circle enabled the Mustangs to take a 13 to 4 lead in the first period when he hit for 9 of 11 attempts.

Another Big Sports Year Predicted for Pointers

Now that we have all the hustle and bustle and confusion of Christmas behind us, with the exception of changing that outrageous Christmas tie Uncle Joe gave us, let's take a quick backward glance at the old year of 1954 and then a glance into what the brand new year of 1955 can offer us.

To improve on the overall 1954 record will be difficult when one remembers the great things that came our way thanks to our school boys and small fry.

Looking at the 1954 picture, not necessarily in order, we remember first of all Coach Eddie Lauer's great St. Paul Flyer basketball team that swept up almost everything in sight: First it won the Big 12 Conference crown and then went on to win the Second Division Parochial City title and the Harper Woods District championship before bowing out of competition in the finals of the Pontiac Regional.

Now we turn to Grosse Pointe High School whose teams vaulted our community into statewide prominence.

First in the Blue Devils accomplishments we remember Coach Ed Wernet's baseball team which captured the Border Cities League title for the first time in the school's history.

Coach Wernet also figured prominently in the Pointe's greatest sports achievement of the year when his Blue Devil football team not only chalked up a perfect 8-0 grid campaign, but won the Border Cities League crown for the first time in the school's history, then went on to earn the Detroit Times Suburban League crown and the State Class A championship and the Detroit Free Press Class A trophy.

Another championship came the Blue Devils' when Coach Bud Kurvink's tennis team captured the Border Cities League title in its second year under the "reaction of its likeable coach. It was Kurvink who, when he took over the tennis reins two years ago said, "I'm not a tennis coach but I hope I can field a team that will be a credit to the school and the community."

It was the Pointe tennis team's surprise victory in the Border Cities League that enabled the school on Fisher road to earn the league's coveted and battered All Sports trophy for the umpteenth time. The Blue Devils have earned this trophy more times than any of the other five teams in the league.

Grosse Pointe Woods vaulted into the championship picture and but for a technicality would proudly be technically the Jack Lowther Little Football League trophy in its first year in the league. Eligibility mixups, which plagued every team in the league, forced league officials to forego the trophy but despite this the Spartans had the best won and lost record in the league and deserved the trophy.

The wonderful year of 1954 also provided an expanded baseball program for the small fry in all of the Pointe communities under the leading of Little League Baseball. It marked the first time Grosse Pointe Park and Grosse Pointe Woods had joined in the Little League Baseball program which was brought to the Pointe two years ago by Grosse Pointe Farms and City.

The Neighborhood Club again enabled the "small fry" the opportunity to play basketball in the expanding Midget League and the Inter-Church Basketball League originated by Roland Gray, Forrest Geary, Harold Husband, George Elworthy and your reporter, enjoyed its fifth consecutive successful season. This time it was under the direction of Ty Tyson, who took over the chores of director.

Last but by no means least, the long awaited Grosse Pointe Auditorium-Gymnasium moved into its first concrete stages of becoming a reality when Board of Education President Bert Wickling turned the first shovelful of dirt, thus ending a long, hard campaign by numerous sports minded men to give the Pointe the best indoor athletic facilities in the state.

Yes sir, it will be an extremely difficult task for our teams to match the record they established in 1954. Even if they fall a little short in 1955 we can always look back to 1954 as the best sports year in the history of Grosse Pointe.

Now for a look at the prospects for 1955.

Coach Howard MacAdam's Blue Devil basketball team has, so far, surprised everyone including themselves by winning its first three games of the 1955 campaign. Currently, the Devils are perched at the top of the Border Cities League standings along with defending champion Highland Park.

How far the Devils can go in the 1955 cage race is still a big question mark but based on the fight and will to win attitude displayed in the first three games the Devils might just possibly turn the trick with a break here and there along the line.

Coach Eddie Lauer, although his team has not embarked on its 1955 league campaign as yet, appears to have a contender in the Second Division East State Parochial race. Two straight wins over a non-league opponent and the Flyer-Alumni team, stamps the 1955 Flyers as a threat with veterans Jimmy Ayrault and Bobby Wright holding the key to success or failure.

Blue Devil Coach Frank Banach has seen his swimming team suffer slim defeats to league opponents Royal Oak and Fordson. But the veteran mentor labels the 1955 campaign "One of the closest in the history of the Border Cities League with no team going through undefeated."

In other words two losses on the books don't necessarily mean the Blue Devils can't at least tie for the title.

Coach Ed Wernet's 1955 baseball team could be a repeater inasmuch as the Devils' winningest coach has able replacements for the graduated members of his 1954 squad.

Coach Bud Kurvink's tennis team also will be looking for a repeat performance and tennis history being what it has been in the past at the school on Fisher road, there is a very good possibility for another title contender.

We will be the first to predict the Blue Devils' 1955 football team will not repeat as State champions but on the other hand we will be the last to say they won't win the Border Cities League title. The precedent was set in 1954. The Devils proved to themselves they no longer need the doormat of the league. From now on you can look for the Pointers to be serious title contenders.

Little League Baseball will be bigger in the Pointe in 1955. This has already been indicated by Farms officials who have plans to expand their league to take care of all the small fry who wish to play ball.

The "forward look" in Little League Baseball will not stop there either. Undoubtedly, Grosse Pointe Park and Grosse Pointe Woods, which enjoyed successful seasons in their first year, will make plans to expand their operations.

Little League Football will expand into Grosse Pointe Farms in 1955 and join the Woods and Park representatives come next fall.

There is a 50-50 chance Grosse Pointe sailing enthusiasts will have the opportunity to see the United States Sailing Championships on Lake St. Clair next summer. George Cossaboom, of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, will represent the Detroit River Yachting Association at the annual North American Yacht Racing Union meeting, to be held in New York later this month, and put in a bid for the famous series.

One thing we do know for sure, Howard Boston will defend his Thistle International title on Lake St. Clair next August because his club, Bayview Yacht Club, already has given the "Green light" to the Detroit Thistle Association to make a serious bid for the series.

Crescent Sail Yacht Club, another well known sail club within the confines of Grosse Pointe, will play an important part in the series inasmuch as it has offered its facilities to stage the regatta under the direction of Bayview's race chairman.

Yes Sir, it looks like a good year ahead for Grosse Pointe teams, sportsmen and spectators.

CAV BATTERY STOLEN
David Wark, 18, of 1304 Berkshire, complained to Farms police on Wednesday, December 22, that someone stole the battery from his car while it was parked in the Country Club parking lot.

St. Paul Varsity Conquers Alumni; Alumnae Also Win

A group of one time St. Paul basketball stars came out last Tuesday, December 28, to test the strength of Coach Eddie Lauer's 1954-55 cage team in the annual Varsity-Alumni game at the Neighborhood Club and came off second best, 43 to 23.

Led by big Jim Ayrault, who notched 18 points for individual scoring honors, the varsity completely subdued the Alumni in a low scoring contest before a fair sized group of spectators.

Varsity Never Let Up
The Varsity jumped off to an 8 to 2 lead in the first quarter and never let up on the old grads until victory was certain with two minutes remaining in the game. The halftime score found the varsity holding a 19 to 14 lead, which was increased to 26 to 16 at the end of the third period.

City Police Chief Tom Trombly and his family had a hard time deciding which team to cheer for but regardless of which team they favored they couldn't lose. Jack Trombly, St. Paul's great center of a couple of years ago, was playing for the Alumni, which included other former stars Teddy Monahan, Bob Luwers, Bob Barrett, Terry Lynch, Gerry Fitzgerald, Dick Connors, Karl Kiefer and Duane Streb.

Representing the Trombly clan on the varsity was lanky Tim Trombly who, showed his big brother a trick or two on a couple of occasions.

Alumni Look Rusty
The alumni showed signs of being rusty from lack of competition with the exception of Teddy Monahan, who paced the Alumni with 11 points to capture runner-up scoring honors of the night. Time after time the Alumni had shots at the basket but their judgment was a trifle off the beat, resulting in missed scoring opportunities.

On the other hand the Varsity was a fast moving, sharp shooting, precision passing outfit which completely befuddled the Alumni at times.

It was only the second outing for Coach Lauer's quintet but with a little polish here and there they will be a team to be reckoned with when they begin league play shortly after the first of the year. This year's players will have a king size job on their hands if they hope to reach the lofty mark established by the 1953-54 quintet, which won a basketful of titles which included the Big 12 Conference City crown, the Harper Woods District title and runner-up in the Pontiac Class B Regional tourney.

Alumnae Beat Girls
In the preliminary game the St. Paul girls Varsity found the Flyer Alumnae girls a trifle too tough and bowed 30 to 22 after trailing throughout the contest.

The Alumnae paced by Marilyn D'Hooghe, who notched 16 points for scoring honors, and Nancy Mason, who collected 13 points for runner-up honors, charged into a 11 to 7 lead at the end of the first period. The more experienced Alumnae maintained their four point margin and led 19 to 15 at the halftime intermission.

Pat Cavanaugh and Mary Sutherland, who scored 7 and 6 points, respectively, tried their best to halt the high flying Alumnae sextet and through their efforts kept the score a respectable 26 to 19 in favor of the Alumnae, which were hard pressed to stay ahead of their younger counterparts.

Collins Handled Games
Walter Collins, popular Pointe referee, handled both games exceptionally well, especially the girls' game, in which he was strictly unfamiliar with the rules. Of course girls' rules differ so greatly from the boys' game that an innocent bystander would never recognize the game if it weren't for the ball.

With each team having six players on the floor and the players limited to two dribbles and the fact that there is no bodily contact without a foul being called the game is very confusing.

However, after watching this game and the pretty contestants give their all in a bid for victory we figured out why girls' basketball teams have six players. They must have six players or otherwise they couldn't be called a SEXTet.

Turners to Hold Big Swim Meet

The American Turners-Detroit will sponsor the M.A.A.U. Swimming and Diving Championships for boys 10 years of age or under.

This meet will be held at the St. Clair Community Center, 4353 Fairview, Detroit, with trials at 6 p.m. on Friday, January 7, and finals at 7 p.m., January 8.

Medals will be awarded to the first four in each event, and a permanent trophy, and traveling trophy will go to the high scoring team.

Entries are expected from most teams in the state, but swimmers who are not affiliated with any team may be entered by their parents, unattached.

Blanks may be obtained from Roy Pouliot, care American Turners-Detroit, 8731 East Jefferson, and entries will close there on January 4, 1955.

DeRonne Keglers 1st Half Champs

The Grosse Pointe Businessmen's Bowling League crowned their first half champions last Thursday night when the DeRonne team steam-rolled over their nearest opponent, the Barrett five, for four points, to make them the first half winner.

Jim Matthews was the big gun for the winners when he slammed home games of 222, 220 and 220 for a new second high series of 662.

The Bruce Wigle team took over second place in the final standings by rolling over the high powered Kennelly team for three points.

Next week the teams start all over again in the race for the second championship.

Boat Banter
By Fred Runnells

Normally this time of year there is plenty of buzzin' among our sailin' cousins about who is going down to the famous Miami-Nassau race, which incidentally starts February 1 this year.

But this isn't a normal year, or so it appears. Local tars have been strangely quiet and the only sure bet among the local lads appears to be "Uncle Toot" Gmciner, Dace "Deacon" Sloss, Earl Meininger and Jack Boyle. They've got a boat and a good one too in the New York 32 "Away."

Billy Lav makes the fifth Detroit slated for the ride across the gulf stream the first of February. He is the captain of "Away" and a durr good one too.

We had a rumor fall upon our shell-like ears the other day and seeing it was about "Escapade" we thought we had better check with "Den Mother" Clark Swart which we did.

Clark squashed that rumor in a hurry when he said, "Nope, none of the old 'Escapade' crew is figuring on making that one last ride on the famous queen." He continued by saying "The reason 'Eski' is in Miami is strictly for storage and nothing else."

Well, that took care of that rumor and boy, are we glad we checked before we printed hear-say. We'll wager the old main sheet off our "Wind Toy" (that it wouldn't take much to get guys like Tommy Lott, Al Thomas, Ted Coggin, Harry Watson, Jack Longley, Ted Buttrick, Eddie Wunsch and Clark Swart on a southbound plane if one of them got an idea "Escapade" would Star members will honor their outgoing commodore, Fred Kagel, at the annual commodore's ball to be held at the St. Clair Shores Community Center.

That's just another way these guys are different. Most Clubs give their new commodore a ball before he does Job One in his executive position. Not North Star—they wait until the commodore proves to them that he deserves a party. All we can say is that Freddie Kagel has a wing ding party coming up in his honor. That's the kind of a job he has done this past year.

Say, we just figured this out. If hardly none of the local sailors are going South this winter there certainly must be one of them our size who won't be giving us summer formal. That gives us an idea—why don't we go? Guess we will, if we find the summer formal so we can go to the winners' dinner at the Nassau Yacht Club on February 5.

Grosse Pointe Power Squadron Commander Vic Nelson, J.N., will preside at the Squadron's first meeting of the year on January 11. The highlight of the evening will be guest speaker George Simon, owner and driver of the unlimited hydroplane "Miss U.S.". George will show an interesting film on racing boats.

Twenty eight new members passed their final exams in the Piloting course, which included nine ladies.

Atlantic Editor To Give Lecture
Edward Weeks, witty editor of Atlantic Monthly magazine, will discuss the new books, and American culture in general at Detroit Town Hall, Wednesday morning, January 12, at 11 o'clock, in the Fisher Theatre.

In this talk, Weeks picks the cream of his reading, discusses the highlights, tells about the authors—but does not tell the story.

The critic is one of the most sought-after speakers on the platform. He has appeared more than 20 times by request at New York's Town Hall, and 12 times at Columbia University.

Pointe Theater Casting Play

The Grosse Pointe Community Theatre has called members and others interested to casting auditions Thursday, January 6, and Friday, January 7, at Cannon Memorial Auditorium, at 7:30.

The play is the well-known comedy, "Gramercy Ghost," by John Cecil Holm, produced by Roger Clark in New York in 1951.

The cast includes some very interesting character roles, such as August Ames, an elderly woman lawyer who keeps falling asleep while reading the will of Miss Bullock, who has just died at the age of 103.

Miss Ames is always happy to have people come to her office to consult her because it is so cozy having tea in front of her gas fire. However, please phone her before coming, as she must notify the gas company.

Miss Bullock has left her house and an income for life to her long-time friend and housekeeper, Margaret Collins, a fine strong person in her sixties, with some excellent dialogue. To Nancy Willard, tenant of Miss Bullock's in the neighboring house, she left Nathaniel Coombes.

No one can seem to remember whether Nathaniel Coombes was a parrot or a cat Miss Bullock used to have but which had long since died. Parker Burnett (with two t's) arrives to show Nancy the blueprints of the house he plans to build in time for their wedding in June, followed by Charley Stewart, a young newspaper reporter who wishes to write an article about a person living so long in busy New York City in the house her father built.

The condition of Nathaniel Coombes causes the arrival of Officer Morrison and two women ambulance drivers with some of the best lines ever written for any play, anywhere.

Three characters called "Irv", "Rocky", and simply "Girl", are small, but full of interest. Clyde Adler is directing; June Erskine will stage manage, and Louise Lehotskey is to be producer.

Production dates for "Gramercy Ghost" are set for February 25, 26 and 27 at Cannon Memorial Auditorium.

The general membership meeting of this active theatre group takes place Monday, January 10, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, Veteran's Room, at 8:30. After announcements of interest to the members, a special program will be presented by Chuck Daugherty, chairman of the Workshop Committee, followed by refreshments and visiting.

Anyone interested in the activities of this east side little theatre group is invited to visit on this night.

Girl Scout News

There is still time to enroll in the Grosse Pointe Red Cross First Aid Course. Every Wednesday from 1 to 3 o'clock at the Neighborhood Club the group meets with Dr. Eckland.

This course was set up by the Grosse Pointe' Girl Scout Camp Committee especially for Girl Scout Leaders who may be planning to take their troops on camping trips, but it is open to any person interested.

If you have any questions in regard to this course call Mrs. Harry Findlay, TU 1-2749.

By the way, this is the Standard Red Cross First Aid Course, which must be renewed every three years to be considered current by both the Red Cross and the Girl Scouts. Therefore, anyone who completed the course before the spring of 1955 should renew the training.

Thank you Elizabeth Wright.

Big plans have been made for the Girl Scouts for the coming season. One outstanding event is the Girl Scout Day at the Detroit Symphony Concert. It will be held Sunday, February 20, from 3:30 to 5 p.m.

This will be an all Gershwain Concert, conducted by Valter Poole. Earl Wild, internationally known pianist, will be guest soloist.

Troops, here is your chance to tie the Symphony Concert and program with the Music Appreciation Badge and other activities in the music field.

A Girl Scout Flag Ceremony will precede the concert.

Look forward! Look forward to the 43rd Girl Scout Birthday celebration that will take place March 5 and 12.

It was a happy birthday party for Mrs. Eddy's Troop 1556 at the Trombly School. The mothers were guests of the girls. Congratulations! And may your second year be as successful as your first!

Paul Rawson Retiring From Michigan Bell

Paul J. Rawson, 735 Hampton road, retires this month from the Michigan Bell Telephone Company after 30 years of service. He has been an exchange transmission engineer in the company's general engineering department.

A luncheon in Michigan Bell's headquarters building yesterday, (Jan. 5) honored him.

A unique fact in Rawson's career is that he went to college 14 years after he graduated from high school in his native Coldwater. He had worked during high school as a night operator for the former Southern Michigan Telephone Company. He became vice chief for that company, then resigned to continue his education.

He was graduated from the University of Michigan with a degree in electrical engineering, then joined Michigan Bell in 1925.

Rawson is a registered engineer and a member of the Engineering Society of Detroit. He is also a member of the Telephone Pioneers of America, an organization comprised of telephone men and women with 21 or more years of service in the industry.

Mr. and Mrs. Rawson have two sons. Donald serves in the United States Navy, with the Pacific Seventh Fleet and William is a student at Wayne University.

News from GPUS

One of the nicest parts of the holidays was the part played by pupils in all grades from the Lower School through the Senior Class in helping make the season a cheerful one for aged people.

Through the American Red Cross each student had received the name of some elderly person who might not otherwise receive any gift or remembrance at Christmas time.

Of interest to the student body recently and to the faculty was an article in the Sunday Detroit News by John H. Gill describing "coeducation" and "parallel education" at G.P.U.S., which means the years when boys and girls have their classes together and when they are separated.

Shown in an accompanying picture were English teacher Mrs. Kay Welchenbach, and students Julie Cudlip, Barbara Shover, Robin Ryan and David Strother.

Also pictured in the Sunday News with a group of fellow alumni was Frank Sladen, Lower School teacher, who is one of a group of Yale graduates planning the annual Yale Alumni Club dance this Saturday at the Country Club for the benefit of the club's scholarship fund.

An annual tradition at Grosse Pointe University School is the Christmas party given by Headmaster John Chadler, Jr., for faculty, children and their parents. Sant' Claus makes an appearance, and the younger children receive presents. This year's party, on Tuesday, December 21, from 5 to 7, was the first at the headmaster's new home on Chalfonte on the school campus.

On Tuesday night December 14, an open house was held at the new G.P.U.S. nursery school. The school played host to a meeting of directors and teachers from 125 nursery schools which are members of the Pre-School Association of Metropolitan Detroit.

Program chairman for the association this year is Mrs. Jane Bacon, director of the G.P.U.S. nursery school. There will be several meetings "through the school year. They will be arranged by area; this one was for the east Grosse Pointe area. Speaker for the evening was Mrs. William DeCou of the Millen Nursery School in Grosse Pointe Shores. Her topic was "Nursery Schools in England." Mrs. DeCou has just returned home after a three-year residence in England. Also on the open house program was a film, "The Organization of a Nursery School."

Mrs. Bacon has just finished the last of a series of three lectures that she has delivered to the parents of the Lakeshore Cooperative Nursery School. The lectures were an orientation course for people guiding the activities of pre-school age youngsters. The first two lectures were held at Southlake High School, the third at the new G.P.U.S. nursery school.

Two Pointers In Navy Picked For Promotion

WASHINGTON, D.C. (FHTNC) —Selected for advancement in rate are Robert E. Kinville, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Kinville of 853 Westchester, Grosse Pointe Park, Mich., to hospital corpsman second class, USN, while serving with the medical department of the U. S. Naval Station Sangley Point in the Philippines.

John Onstwedder, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Onstwedder of 392 St. Clair, Grosse Pointe, to damage controlman third class, USN, while serving aboard the heavy cruiser USS Des Moines with the Atlantic Fleet.

The USS Des Moines returned to Norfolk December 20 after a three-month Mediterranean cruise.

During its tour as flagship of the U. S. Sixth Fleet, the Des Moines visited Lisbon, Portugal; Valencia, Spain; Leghorn and Naples, Italy; Beirut, Lebanon; Villefranche, France, and Istanbul, Turkey.

The ship is slated to enter the Norfolk Naval Shipyard in early January for a routine overhaul and leave period.

The advancements are effective January 1, and are based on a Navy-wide competitive examination which tested military and professional skills.

To be eligible for advancement, personnel must demonstrate high qualities of leadership and proficiency in their Navy job specialties.

Suggested change in wording of invitation to the cocktail party . . . When the hosts wish their guests to remain for supper . . . the word "Supper" should be included on the left hand bottom of the invitation . . . Ever so many cocktail party guests told us how be-fuddled they were to attend 4 to 6 o'clock invitations and then learn they were also expected for supper . . . Taking the 4 to 6 literally, they had made previous plans for later in the evening . . . and all was confusion . . .

Because those who are in it wish to be out, and those who are out wish to be in.
- Why is a girl in a flowered dress like anything published?
Because she appears in print.
- Why is a corn-field like an electric current?
It produces shocks.
- Why is a college man like a thermometer?
Because he is graduated and marked by degrees.
- Why is a button-hole like a cloudy day?
Because it is overcast.
- Why is a pack of cards like a garden?
Because there are spades in it.
- Why is a slave driver like a dog after dinner?

Pointer of Interest

THE NEW 1955

—Picture by Fred Rummels

By Jane Schermerhorn

The Pointer of Interest department of this newspaper called upon the mayors of the five Pointes, to jot down their New Year's greetings to their constituents.

Never have we found five men more solidly interested in sewers: If we dwell more often on Page One perhaps this wouldn't have come as such a shock. They're determined.

Mayor Homer Fritsch of Grosse Pointe Park, convalescing in Jenning Hospital after surgery, asked Park City Manager Everitt Lane to convey his greetings for the New Year to all his friends.

City Manager Lane lost no time in explaining why '55 is going to be such a banner year for Park residents.

"Our program is vast and underway," he told the NEWS. "For instance, there's Fox Creek, where we are working out a plan to provide an outlet which will prevent discharge of combined storm water into its channel. We have scheduled new water extensions and new hydrants."

Big Year for Park

And these were but two of the big jobs of the new year.

City Manager Lane talked of the new street lighting the Park is getting. In 1955, Park officers hope to install improved and ornamental lighting from Mack avenue to the Lake, as far east as Somerset. Eventually the entire area will have this modern illumination.

There will be more parking space at the waterfront park. The city fathers have just purchased property between Alter road and Windmill Pointe drive which will give 145 additional spaces this summer for the swimmers and boaters.

A new 700 foot dock just has been completed at the Park and another 500 foot will be added in the waterfront dock construction program. This will delight those who moor their craft at the Park docks.

New curbing, five miles of it this year, and asphalt re-paving of some of the streets are part of the New Year for Grosse Pointe Park.

New Park in '55

Mayor of the City of Grosse Pointe, Frederick W. Parker, Jr. is enthusiastic about the big rehabilitation program on the City park and thinks the best New Year's greeting for residents of his area lies here.

"We should be ready by Decoration Day with the park providing City Pointers a real summer vacation this year," said Mr. Parker.

The piling and structural work at the docks has been completed. In a couple of weeks, new lighting fixtures will be installed. Paved walks are to be put in . . . and then the park, which was practically useless last year due to storm damage, will be a warm weather paradise.

Mr. Parker and his co-workers plan 700 parking spaces in the City area this year—welcome news to merchants and residents alike. Having recently acquired half of Fisher road, formerly belonging to the Farms, the City will begin a re-paving and resurfacing program.

Inasmuch as 1954 was spent hard at work on many of these plans, Mayor Parker hopes the residents can just sit back and enjoy the fruits of the labor in 1955.

Parking Space

Grosse Pointe Farms Mayor William F. Connolly, Jr. is another absorbed with rebuilding the community's waterside pier. For the past six months work has progressed on a new dock.

His New Year's greeting to the Farms gave promise of new sewers before the Spring rains.

"This year the Farms' water supply (the nice kind) will be increased by six million gallons a day due to a new booster pump.

"And we're working with the Board of Health on filter beds to help ease the seasonal water shortage," said Mayor Connolly.

There's the matter of more parking space and traffic surveys are at work on linking this problem. It is hoped that the Farms will be able to use some of the Board of Education's property between Kercheval and Ridge for a necessary and even larger parking lot than that already existing.

The Master Plan

President of Grosse Pointe Shores Jack Williams is a city

official with great civic pride in his community, too.

"We have long range plans for tremendous expansions in the Shores," he said this week, "all part of the Master Plan. Remember that Grosse Pointe Shores is the one community in all of the United States that was completely planned before any building was started."

Its land takes in that from Provincial road, up to and including the estate of Mrs. Edsel Ford. It is entirely residential.

"The new look on the Lake Shore is going to be wonderful," said President Williams, referring to transformation of many of the big estates into subdivisions. "The Shores will see its biggest building boom and find itself blossoming into an even more beautiful community."

Wishing Shores residents a Happy New Year, the head of their city government pledged himself and fellow-workers again, to all-out effort directed toward making this community a model for gracious living.

New Subdivisions

Mayor of the Woods, Waid McKnight, vacationing in California, was represented in the New Year greeting story by the Mayor Pro Tem, Harry Pratt, an ardent Woods man to be sure.

Mr. Pratt extended greetings of the season to all the Woods and paid tribute to the neighborly cooperation his section has always enjoyed from all the other Pointes.

"The Big Plan," said he, "is of course the drainage project. As soon as that is completed, and we sincerely expect this problem to be well under way this year, we will begin a new subdivision of Woods acreage."

"At present our population is over 15,500. We have a potential of between 22,000 and 24,000."

There will be a big paving project in the Woods.

But the No. 1 aim is to keep the water out of the basement . . . and with the kind of determination shown by Mr. Pratt that will be a mergery before you know it.

Dorothy Marks Moves Agency

The wealth of years of experience plus a highly rated reputation backed the opening of the Pointe's first nationally recognized, fully accredited complete service advertising agency which opened on Monday, January 3, at 20551 Mack avenue.

Previously located in the Penobscot Building, the D. A. Marks Advertising Agency, personally owned and supervised by Dorothy Ann Marks, has an enviable background of nearly 16 years in this profession.

In 1950, Miss Marks was appointed to the management committee of the Advertising Hall of Fame in New York; in 1951, to the Board of Trustees of the American Cancer Society; and in 1952, she was chosen Detroit's "Advertising Woman of the Year."

Miss Marks' agency presently handles 22 accounts, national and local. The organization plans, prepares and executes all advertising, including newspaper, direct mail, radio, television and outdoor.

All copy is under the direction of Robert McBride of Sunningdale drive, who has been with the agency for more than a year. He formerly supervised the commercial copy for radio station WCAR, Pontiac.

Miss Marks, a native of the Pointe, is married to Russ Chauvin, a member of one of the Pointe's oldest families. They reside in Vernier road.

Here it is January 6. The season's midpoint really. And it's far from being drab and without news. JANUARY BLOOMS. For example the stage is full of actresses in full flower as well as budding ones. And in fashions January is the beginning of Spring. Bathing suits for the fuller figure are designed by a fuller figure corset house. Skirt types with a built in panty girdle have high waistbands . . . the better for figure control. And should adjustments be necessary Florence Riley can give the same personalized fittings she gives on garments. Nylon fabrics and cottons in gay or subdued colors are available in sizes 36 to 44, as are smaller sizes in ten to eighteen at Florence Riley's, 371 Fisher Road.

Then if you're flying Southwest why not have your broken fingernails rebuilt? They look wonderful . . . these new Patti Nails . . . they're real nail builders and can stop you from biting yours . . . and last ever so long! Another service you might need is a good pedicure. Marie is a specialist in both at the Greta Turner Beauty Salon, 373 Fisher Rd., TU 2-6240.

As we cruise into Spring you'll note California's colors . . . navy and white. Those printed skirts are especially for tropical skies. Jacobson's Sportswear Department has all the earmarks of being a well-plotted tropical garden this Spring. We looked at their current collection of resort fashions and decided to get excited about their Nardis of Dallas group. These new-looking fashions in beige, navy, and toast actually give you "two for the money." Smart Eisenhower jackets go beautifully over the moulded torso sleeveless sheath dresses . . . over a skirt . . . or pair of slacks . . . for they are all fashioned of the nubby soap and water fabric. If you prefer a straight boxy jacket have that. In another line there were dainty tailored blouses in pongee . . . the design on the pockets looked all the world like a monogram . . . the skirts were printed with half moons in deevine shades.

January is blooming at Peter Pan, Inc. in the village. They are winging their way to New York this week for a Spring shopping spree. To make room for all these summer things they are in the throes of a January Clearance Sale. This includes toddlers snow suits . . . little folks coat and legging sets. All are twenty per cent off. Some pre-teen coats are included. Tables are full of wonderful values like . . . blouses . . . petticoats . . . hats . . . ear muffs . . . skirts . . . and jeans!!! Wonderful . . . wonderful values . . . we think.

Kitchen Organizers in gleaming triple finish for wood or metal are on display at Jacobson's Home Decorative Shop, in the village. These organizers consist of spice shelves, wax paper or foil dispensers . . . towel racks . . . paper napkin box holders . . . Soap and cleaner shelves . . . cup racks hold twelve cups and eliminate stacking . . . plate and saucer holders and drinking glass racks. So reasonable, too. From one dollar to around a dollar and a half. Then the white sale is zooming right along. To add to the list we mentioned last week are tea towels with modern designs for thirty-nine cents . . . linen dish towels . . . two for one green bath . . . and Playtex pillows of foam latex. The regular size is four ninety-five . . . extra plump ones, six ninety-five and jumbo sizes are eight ninety-five. NOW is the time to refurbish your closet . . . your bedroom . . . your bathroom at a savings.

As usual Margaret Rice has linen dresses that have been highly endorsed for day in white and pastels . . . and as usual they are simply styled as backgrounds for monograms . . . or jewels. Her Slat Bermuda Skirts . . . and skirts and sleeveless blouses are already in. The skirts are softly gored and the pocket detailing on the skirts and shorts match. These blues . . . and navy. And of course there is more news from Margaret Rice's. This week marks the beginning of the store-wide clearance sale of dresses . . . both daytime and evening . . . suits . . . coats . . . etc. See you there, uh? 76 Kercheval, on the hill.

If you are interested in soaking up compliments under the sun . . . and resorting in a happier clime . . . then take a look at the CARNIVAL CALF PLAID Roman sandals in Jacobson's Shoe Department. Out of the house of I Miller . . . here is a gay . . . refreshing . . . foot covering that will look equally lovely lurching on the terrace . . . or dancing under the stars. See we told you that January is fashion's first lovely beginning of Spring . . . that Spring IS on it's way.

Before you leave for the sunny South pick up a handy mail container from the Camera Center, in the village. Maybe your resort developing will not be up to par. Just send the container with your undeveloped film back to your own home town and it will be ready for you upon your return. This goes for either black and white or color shots. The best idea ever. 17114 Kercheval.
