THE UNITED STATES has developed revolutionary anti-sub weapons, it was hinted by Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas. In an outline he presented to Congress on the latest advances in the seagoing service, he told of a new secret weapon "which will revolutionize anti-submarine warfare," but did not elaborate on the subject. He said only that the Navy has such a weapon "on hand."

Unofficial observers believe that the Secretary was referring to an atomic depth charge. The Navy has steadfastly declined to comment on whether such a weapon has been developed. On other developments, Thomas said the Navy air arm is more powerful than many realize, and that carrier-based bombers can carry H-bombs almost anywhere.

THE HOUSE, following a hectic debate, approved a bill to increase pensions of World War I disabled and non-disabled veterans. The 364-51 roll call vote came in a topsy-turvy session that saw the House almost deciding to kill the measure.

In addition to increasing pensions of permanently disabled veterans, the bill would provide $90-a-month pensions for all World War I veterans who reach 65 and come within specified income limits. The bill must have the approval of the Senate.

J. Addington Wagner, national commander of the American Legion, termed the action "dramatic proof that the Nation has not forgotten or forsaken its defenders."

CHARLES E. WILSON, Secretary of Defense, who returned from a short vacation in Canada, said he has no intention of resigning from the Cabinet. He has been under constant fire in the Senate. He said that the price of progress is trouble and "I must be making a lot of progress."

He had stirred up quite a storm in the Senate last week when he termed Senatorial moves to increase the Air Force budget as "phony." Democrats demanded his resignation. Wilson later said that he was misunderstood and that he never meant to apply the word to the senators.

AT LEAST 38 POLISH WORKERS were killed when Polish tanks and troops crushed a six-hour demonstration in Poznan, Poland. The workers had rebelled in the presence of Western observers, and shouted for bread and a better life. Poznan is an important Polish industrial city. The demonstrators attacked Communist headquarters and government buildings, choosing a time when there were plenty of Western visitors. Many of the Westerners were in Poznan for the annual industrial fair and the bloody revolt unfolded before their eyes. The Warsaw Government said the revolt was crushed, and the Warsaw Radio charged the up-rising was fomented by the enemies of the country.

AN AMERICAN CIVILIAN, working in Cyprus, narrowly escaped with his life when a home-made bomb, which was placed in the gas tank of his car, exploded prematurely. British authorities of this Mediterranean Island said the American is Louis LaBauve, 28, of New Orleans, La., a State Department employe at the United States radio relay station near Nicosia. It was believed that the bomb, a glass tube filled with gunpowder, probably had been planted by youths from a nearby school house sympathetic to EOKA, the underground movement, which seeks, through shooting and bombing, to induce Britain to allow Cyprus to unite with Greece.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER is reported backing Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson in the secretary's summary report in the Nation's defense position. The Chief Executive saw Wilson for a half hour, yesterday, to review the summary, which will defend the Administration's de-

Cool Background Helps Lick Summer Heat

MRS. MARGARET MCKEE transformed the garage door above into an intriguing winter setting in just two days. It is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert J. Crawford of 1251 Paget court. Neighbor MRS. JOHN METES and her children sun themselves against the frosty scenery.

Boat Mishap Halts Traffic On Lakefront

Craft Overturns on Top of Girl Trying to Swim Ashore After Motor Trouble

A boating accident in front of 78 Lake Shore road held up traffic for half an hour Saturday evening, June 30. Joy riders cruising on the busy parkway stopped when they saw the Farms ambulance and two police cars which had arrived at the scene to give assistance.

Just before sundown Saturday, Joe Palms of 78 Lake Shore road, and Rose Marie Gaubert of Lakepointe avenue, overturned in a rented outboard boat 50 feet from the breakwall.

Motor Went Sour
Joe told police that the motor was acting up and causing a terrific vibration. He told Rose Marie to jump in the water and swim the short distance to shore. He then jumped, but the boat overturned and landed on top of the girl.

Two boys standing on the shore saw the accident and dove into the lake to help Marie to safety. They were Arthur Keyes of 463 Manor, and Bill Grunow of 472 Roland.

Taken To Hospital
The Farms ambulance took Gaubert and Grunow to Bon Secours Hospital where they were treated for possible shock.

The boat and motor were towed to shore and dragged onto the lawn at 78 Lake Shore road.

Pointer Holdup Victim As Bandits Grab $13,364

A daylight holdup on a busy East Side Detroit street Friday afternoon, June 29, netted a pair of armed robbers $6,364 in cash and about $7,000 in checks. Robbed was Michael Pastor of 1150 S. Oxford road. He received a minor gunshot wound on the left cheek.

Pastor, an office supervisor of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company branch at 13306 E. Jefferson, told Detroit police he was on his way to the Detroit Bank branch at 13900 E. Jefferson about 2:30 to make a deposit.

As he crossed Piper on foot, two men walking in the opposite direction tried to pass him a note.

Pastor tried to brush past them but one of the men pulled

Convention Delegates Held When Concealed Weapons Are Found in Their Car

Three Couples From Cleveland Stopped in Park for Traffic Violation; Prosecutor Turns Down Request for Warrant

Three Cleveland, O., couples, stopped by Park police on Sunday, July 1, for a traffic violation, were held on an additional charge of carrying concealed weapons in their car.

Det. Lt. Stanley Enders said that the couples, all deaf-mutes, were in Detroit attending a Deaf-Mute Convention which was being held in the Democratic Club, East Warren and Hastings.

Men Were Held
He said the men involved were held and the women released pending further investigation.

Held were James Lewis, Jr., 28, 7509 Decker, driver of the car; Joseph Henderson, 49, same address; and William Lee Mitchell, 36, of 7911 Keyes. The names of the women were withheld until the investigation has been completed.

Lt. Enders said that the car

Police Chase Aquacyclists

City police received a call from the attendant at the Municipal pier, Tuesday, June 26. He reported that two young boys were swimming at the foot of Lakeland avenue.

Investigation disclosed the lads were escaping the heat by riding their bicycles into the lake. Both boys were from Detroit, and had come to the pier to swim.

Because they did not have park passes they decided to use their bikes as a novel way to enter the water.

Try to Start Business on Bad Checks

Man and Woman Held Under $500 Bonds after Financing Scheme Catches Up With Them

A man and woman, arrested by Woods police on charges of uttering and publishing bad checks, were released under $500 bond each on Friday, June 29, by City Judge Douglas Paterson, following a hearing.

Judge Paterson substituted for vacationing Woods Judge Don Goodrow.

Released on bonds were Gabriel P. Stevens of 21513 Marine, St. Clair Shores; and Margaret E. Jones of 1245 Chalmers, Detroit.

Start Supply Business
According to Woods Det. Everett Plumb, Stevens established a supply business, selling paint, janitor supplies, and bar equipment, about six weeks ago, at Maxine and Mack, St. Clair Shores.

The detective said that Stevens allegedly financed the purchase of supplies by writing out a number of checks, made out to a Margie Jones the first day. The woman cashed the checks and the money was used to pay for the first day bills. The next day the woman cashed more checks to raise enough money for a bank deposit to cover the checks for the previous day.

Plumb said that the couple continued on this way since the establishment was started, by always cashing checks to raise money for deposit, to cover checks for the day before.

One Finally Bounced
This mode of doing business came to light on Wednesday, June 27, when a check for $94.28, cashed by the woman at a supermarket in Mack avenue, "bounced."

At the time of their apprehension, Plumb said the woman had cashed $900 worth of checks for that one day. He said there was $3,000 to $4,000 worth of checks, allegedly made out and cashed by the couple, at the present time.

They were arrested on a warrant for not having sufficient funds, when writing out the checks, and will be brought before Judge Paterson again on Wednesday, July 18, for examination.

RECREATION DOESN'T PAY
George Fox of 8900 East Jefferson, complained to Park police on Sunday, July 1, that while he was at the waterfront park, someone stole his wallet containing $35 in cash and personal papers.

Alert Police Grab Man Charged with Ransacking Home

Neighbor Identifies Parolee Who Served Time in Jackson Prison and New York; Being Held In Wayne County Jail

What might have blossomed into an epidemic of local robberies was nipped in the bud by alert City police action on Tuesday, June 26.

The station received a phone call from Mrs. Frederick Brownell at approximately 2 p. m. on Tuesday afternoon. She said she believed there was a prowler in her home at 16843 E. Jefferson.

Ted Vernier was cruising in patrol car No. 24. He was immediately dispatched to the scene. Captain Andy Teetaert and Sgt. Foster Mauck left the station in another car.

See Man Walking
As they approached Cadieux traveling at a high rate of speed, Teetaert saw a young man walking on the sidewalk on the north side of Jefferson. The man glanced briefly at the passing police car then quickly looked away. Teetaert jumped from the car as it pulled up in front of the Brownell residence. He instructed Mauck to keep his eye on the suspicious man walking down Jefferson.

Captain Teetaert tried the rear door of the home but found a chain lock prevented him from entering. He then rushed to the front door but it too was locked. By this time Mauck had returned and reported that the suspect had entered the Grosse Pointe Hardware store. Both officers then entered the Brownell home through a window and discovered that the two upstairs bedrooms had been ransacked.

Had Left Door Open
Mrs. Brownell said she had left the house for half an hour and when she returned she found the chain lock on the rear door.

She then rushed to a neighbor's home and called the police, because she distinctly remembered that the door was unlocked when she left for the store.

The officers then questioned Mrs. James McEvoy, Jr. who lives next door to the Brownells. She said she was working in the garden when she noticed a

Police Called To Halt Pranks

Franksters did all but drive E. M. Zimmerman out of his mind on Thursday, June 28. Mr. Zimmerman lives at 448 Neff road.

In the course of an hour, two taxi cabs reported to the house. Then a large order of beer was delivered from a local store.

Several telephone calls were answered from a "would-be hoarse player."

And when an Italian restaurant called to double check an unusually large order for pizza pie, Mr. Zimmerman called the police.

Two Pointers Lose Lives In Giantic Air Tragedy

Two Grosse Pointers were among the 128 victims of the worst commercial aviation tragedy in history.

Passengers on the ill-fated United Airlines DC-7 which left Los Angeles bound for Chicago and Detroit, included Peter Whyte, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Whyte of 22 Oxford road, and Mrs. Gertrude Coyne Book, wife of Frank P. Book, 354 University place.

The Civil Aeronautics Board immediately commenced a microscopic investigation to determine if the two airliners, flying from Los Angeles on parallel courses, collided in mid-air before the planes plunged into the Grand Canyon within a mile of each other.

Young Peter Whyte was returning from California, where he was visiting a friend, Tommy Keller, grandson of K. T. Keller, of the Chrysler Corporation. The trip was a reward for doing

Center Books Free Concert For July 22

Full Orchestra to Appear on Lawn For Presentation at 5:30 Sunday Afternoon

A rare treat is being prepared for Grosse Pointers. Through the cooperation of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association, the Detroit Federation of Musicians and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, a delightful "Lakeside Concert" will be presented by the complete Detroit Symphony at the Center at 5:30 p. m. on Sunday, July 22.

The program will be presented to the public entirely without charge.

First Local Appearance
This is the first time since the Detroit Symphony was reborn that it will play in Grosse Pointe. It is fitting that this important occasion should take place in the Memorial Center of which Pointers are so justly proud.

The audience will enter via the beautiful Formal Gardens and Trial Gardens and will be seated on the bowling green which by 5:30 will be completely in shade. The Board of Education has made available the large parking area adjacent to the High School auditorium on Grosse Pointe boulevard for overflow parking. Also, in case of rain, the concert, itself, will be held in the gymnasium-auditorium.

Popular Program
The program is guaranteed to please. It is popular and yet combines major symphonic works. Included on the program are:

WARNER, Prelude to "Die Meistersinger"

SMETANA, The Moldau
SAINT-SAENS, Bachanale from "Samson and Delilah"

Intermission
THAIKOVSKY, Symphony No. 5 in E minor

Andante: Allegro con anima
Andante Cantabile, con alcuna licenza

Finale: Allegro, moderato
Finale: Andante maestoso; Allegro vivace

The War Memorial Association is most anxious to have a large and representative audience welcome the Detroit Symphony and pay honor to its established excellence.

Vandals Damage Heavy Equipment

Vandals were responsible for damaging some heavy equipment owned by the Great Lakes Excavating Co., on Wednesday, June 27. The earth-moving machinery was being used at Mosselle and Chalfonte on the new Board of Education project.

When workers reported for work Wednesday, they discovered sand had been placed in the gas tank of a bull dozer, and the windows in a power shovel were smashed. Grease had been smeared on all the controls and door handles of the equipment.

Police cars will patrol the area until construction is completed.

Sneezing Spell Causes Crashes

Elmer T. LaBadie of 467 Belanger avenue, was seized by a sneezing spell early Wednesday evening, June 27. The attack occurred while he was driving his car east on Mack avenue.

The seizures caused LaBadie to lose control of the vehicle, which collided into the rear of a parked car owned by Dr. Richard J. Knoff of 606 Continental. The doctor's car then struck another belonging to Dr. John Koerber of 479 St. Clair avenue.

LaBadie sprained his wrist but did not wish to be taken to the hospital for treatment.

Total damage to the three cars was estimated to be about $300.

Friends have decided, with the permission of the Whytes, to create a memorial tribute at the St. John Hospital in memory of Peter.

Mrs. Frank P. Book was returning after a visit with her daughter. Mr. Book told reporters, "She wanted to take the bus in from the airport. I told her on the phone before she left Los Angeles that was silly. She agreed that I was to meet her at the airport."

Hear Reports On Symphony

Detailed reports of the past year's activities were presented at the annual meeting of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra Society held in the Parcells Junior High School recently.

The retiring president, David M. Sutter thanked the officers and board of directors and the many interested music lovers of the community for their fine support during the past season, which has been a most successful one.

Thomas V. LoCicero has been elected as the new president of the Symphony Society and he will be assisted by Mrs. Robert P. Armstrong, executive vice-president; Mrs. Reginald T. Murphy, vice-president; Miss Camilla J. Ayres, secretary; A. J. Chronowski, treasurer; Mrs. Winfield S. Jewell, Jr., Mrs. John C. Purcell and Mrs. Don J. Nigro, all members of the board of directors.

Thomas Nester is the founder and honorary president of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra and a member of the first violin section. The incoming president, Mr. LoCicero is also a violinist with the symphony and comes from a very musical family. Both he and Mrs. LoCicero, who is an outstanding musician herself, and is the recently elected president of the Michigan Opera Company Women's Association, do a great deal towards promoting interest in good music in the community.

Membership applications are now available for the coming year and may be obtained from a member of the committee or from Mrs. David M. Sutter, 46 Pine Court, Grosse Pointe, 36. Active memberships are $5 and student memberships, $3. They admit the bearer to all concerts of the 1956-57 season. It is hoped that all former members will renew their memberships as soon as possible and encourage their friends to join also, so that the orchestra will be able to offer even more interesting and exciting programs next year.

Simians' Play Dates Revealed

"Bell Book and Candle," the hilarious comedy by John Van Druten, has been chosen as the first presentation of the Grosse Pointe Simians' tenth anniversary celebration.

Winston Likert, brother of one of the founders of the Simians, has been chosen to direct the play. Ten years ago his brother and other college students interested in presenting finer theatrical offerings, presented the first play, "Campus Dilecti." The effort was there but the critics weren't. Undaunted, they returned year after year to present some very fine productions including "Mary of Scotland," "Rope," "Gaslight" and "Born Yesterday." This Grosse Pointe War Memorial has been host to Simians in the past years and the beautiful gardens and terraces enhance the production and give the audience the realism of the "Citronella Circuit."

The play will be presented July 12, 13, and 14, at 8 p.m. at the War Memorial Center.

Three Make Honor Roll at Alma College

According to information released by the Alma College Registrar, three students from Grosse Pointe have been named to the honor roll for the spring semester of 1956.

Inclusion on the honor roll indicates an over-all average in all class work of a "B". The students are: Bradley Randall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell W. Randall, 270 Lewis- ton; Max Luft, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Luft, S. 797 Washington road; and Charles R. Beltz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Beltz, Sr., 500 Lake- land avenue.

young man in a blue suit at the rear door of the Brownell home. Her description tallied with that of the suspicious man walking on Jefferson.

Tettaert and Mauck went to the hardware store but the man had left. They then went next door to the Harrison Rug firm. A salesgirl said the man in question had just left after asking directions to the Lochmoor Country Club.

Park Sends Help

By this time officer Charles French of the Park police department had arrived on the scene. Tettaert jumped in the car with French and they picked up the suspect at St. Clair and Jefferson.

Arrested on suspicion of breaking and entering, was Donald Mace, 32, of 472 Harding, in Detroit. He was taken to the scene of the robbery where Mrs. McEvoy immediately identified him as the man she had seen at the back door of the Brownell residence.

Had Served Time

Mace was then escorted to the police station where he was booked and finger printed. A check of his record revealed that he was on parole and had served five years in Jackson prison. He also did nine months in New York for an automobile theft.

Tettaert then returned to the scene of the crime to see if he could find anyone else who had seen the suspect near the Brownell residence.

The police found a boy's bicycle which could not be identified, near the rear of the house. A neighbor said there were some boys cutting grass in an adjoining yard that afternoon, but he did not know what firm they worked for.

A search revealed that the C & S Landscape Company had a contract with a home near the Brownells.

Boys Are Questioned

Tettaert questioned separately each of the two boys on the job. They told of seeing a man in a blue suit rolling down his pants leg as if he had been on a bicycle. He was standing at the rear of the Brownell residence about the time Mrs. Brownell called the police.

A few minutes later the boys saw the same man running from the front of the house. They thought his action was peculiar at the time, but were in a hurry to finish their job and move on. By the time the police arrived the boys had left.

Warrant is Issued

Satisfied that they had enough evidence to convict the suspect, Tettaert requested the Wayne County Prosecutor to give him a warrant to hold Mace on suspicion of breaking and entering a private dwelling during the daytime. The warrant was granted and Mace was arranged before Judge Joseph P. Uvick, Thursday evening, June 28. He pleaded not guilty to the charge.

On Friday, Mace was transferred to the Wayne County Jail where he will be held until next week. He will then be returned to the City police for examination.

When Mr. Brownell returned home on Tuesday, he made a thorough search of the house. He reported that nothing had been taken.

Promoted to Corporal

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (FHNC)—THOMAS E. RICHARDS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Richards of 559 Barington road, Grosse Pointe, Mich., receives his warrant of promotion to Marine Corporal at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif. Maj. R. I. Nelson, Commanding Officer of Headquarters Company, Headquarters and Service Battalion, made the presentation on May 23. Richards is serving as non-commissioned officer with the Classification and Testing Section at the depot. Before entering the service in August, 1954, he attended Ferris Institute in Big Rapids, Mich.

President Signs Rabaut's Bill

The bill, H. R. 692, to authorize the Postmaster General to use the words "Pray for Peace" on mail cancellation dies introduced by Congressman Louis C. Rabaut (D. Mich.) was signed by the President recently.

White House approval came exactly one year after the House acted favorably on this measure. On hearing that the President had signed his "Pray for Peace" bill, Congressman Rabaut said, "It has been a long uphill fight, but it was worth it. It is my hope that soon the meaningful words 'Pray for Peace' will be carried on the fact of our mail to the far corners of our country and the world, proclaiming to all peoples the peaceful intentions of this great nation."

"I further hope the Post Office Department will implement, in the near future, the desires of Congress, concurred in by the White House. It is now up to Postmaster Arthur Summerfield to transpose this desire of spiritual action into a reality. The good which an endeavor of this type can do is incalculable. It cannot help but remind people everywhere that there is only One who can actually provide the peace so urgently sought in these troubled times."

Cadillac America—He Loves You! Maybe he thought of it first in the cornfields of Iowa or Illinois or Indiana. Maybe along a Mississippi delta or in a street canyon of New York or Boston or Philadelphia. Maybe it came to him on a pony's back in Oklahoma or New Mexico—or on the sun-hot seat of a combine in Kansas or Nebraska. Maybe it was deep in the heart of Texas or on a trail in the High Sierras. Wherever he may have been when the thought came to him is unimportant. But the thought itself is of the essence: This is America—the land of freedom and opportunity—where a boy can grow up to be his own man. And so on this anniversary of American Independence, we greet and congratulate him—the man of commerce, the lawyer, the physician, the rancher, the banker, the actor, the politician, the statesman—the self-made man of accomplishment in every line of human endeavor. We know him well—and along with our congratulations on his success, we should like to register our own sense of gratitude. For such are the owners of Cadillacs—the men whose approval created the "Standard of the World" and made it a symbol wherever highways lead. It is a rare privilege to know these men—to sell them their cars—and to render them the type of service they deserve. We feel it is appropriate to acknowledge it, most gratefully, on this occasion when Americans do honor to their great nation and its unparalleled freedom of personal opportunity.

Jr. Chamber of Commerce Gets Off to Good Start

By Milt Boyd, Jr.
Just a little over a month ago, on June 2 to be exact, the five communities of Grosse Pointe took what might be called a giant stride in the old process of growing up. It was on that night at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, that a group of young Grosse Pointers became charter members of the new Grosse Pointe Junior Chamber of Commerce.

What is a Junior Chamber? In short, it is a civic organization for young men between the ages of 21 and 35, inclusive, and is dedicated to two purposes. The first is the improvement and development of the community. The second is the improvement and development of its individual members—to train them for business advancement and civic leadership. Here it is possible to assume leadership in community betterment at an age when such leadership would be denied in competing for offices with older and more experienced men.

no means a stagnant organization. They are currently sponsoring four young, promising Grosse Pointe tennis players in the state finals of the National U. S. Lawn Tennis Association Tournament to be held in Kalamazoo from July 9-11.

The Jaycee's have planned various youth group assistance activities, the most prominent one being the sponsorship of a Grosse Pointe Sea Scout troop. Plans for a huge inter-park competition program are made. Specifically, this will be a program whereby residents in each of the five Pointes will compete in an organized program of sports.

Health projects such as a diabetes detection aid for children and others and a Civil Defense Program for Grosse Pointe are also being considered.

Yes, Grosse Pointe is growing up—and its Junior Chamber of Commerce is growing up with it—helping to make it a better and friendlier place in which to live.

Club Offering Fun for Kids

Children of all ages who are looking for fun activities during the summer days can find lots of activity at the Community Club. There are games, crafts, sports, woodshop, cooking and singing.

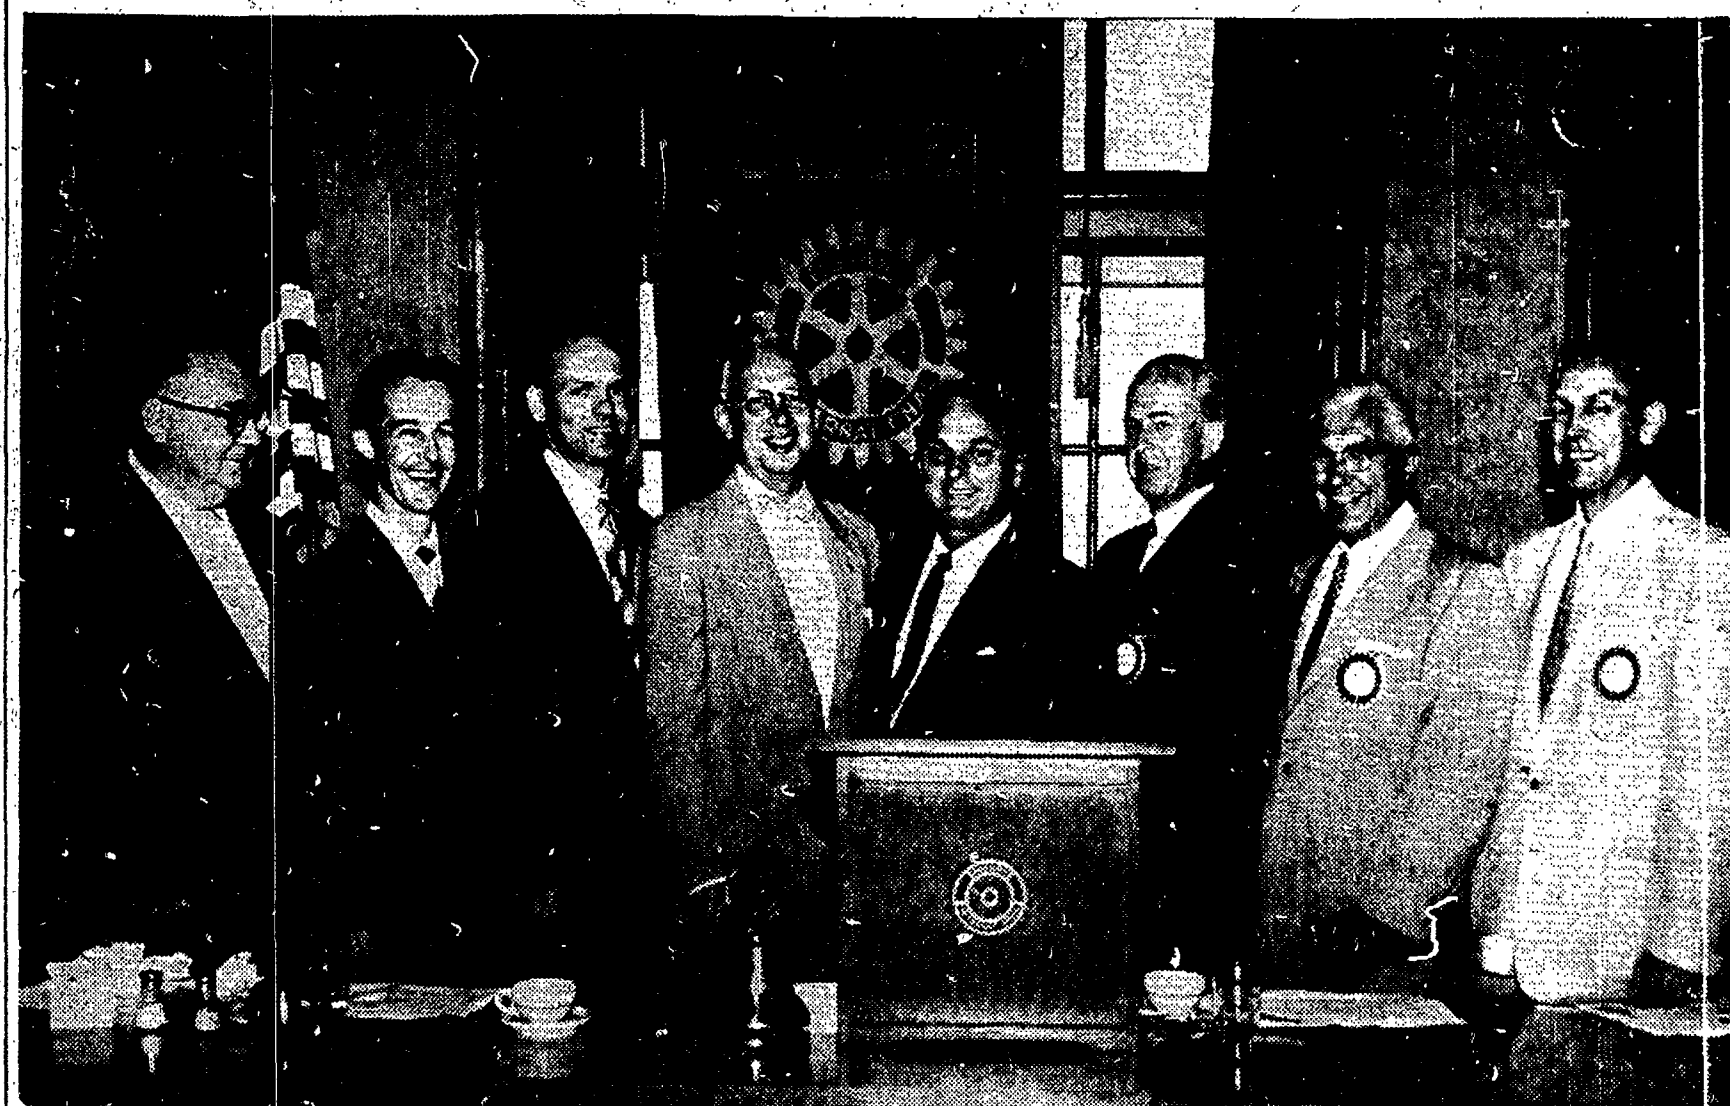

Monday and Wednesday afternoons are for First, Second and Third grade children; while Tuesday and Thursday afternoons are for Fourth, Fifth and Sixth graders. Afternoon activities are from 1 to 3.

The Department of Parks and Recreation now offers activities for all children each afternoon from 1 to 5 and in the evening from 6 to 9. The Community Club sponsors activities inside the building and the Department of Parks and Recreation sponsors the activities on the playground. Children participating in the in-the-building activities will need a Community Club membership.

There are still a few openings in the groups for kindergarten children and new four year olds. This age children meet on Monday and Wednesday mornings from 9:30 to 11.

Mothers, parents, and others in the community are invited to participate in the volunteer program at the Community Club helping as assistant leaders in games, crafts, cooking and playground activities.

Rotary Club Inducts New Officers

Church to Open Vacation School

The Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, 240 Chalfonte, will open its annual Vacation School, July 2 at 9 a.m. The Vacation School will meet every week-day morning through July 13 from 9 a.m. through 12 noon, for children four years through 11.

The theme of the school is "This Is My Father's World." The Kindergarten will study "Let's Go Out of Doors." Many nature crafts are planned under the leadership of Mrs. James Matujec, Mrs. Lewis Slater, Miss Mary Lou Rydall and Miss Sharron Kuhl.

The primary grades will use "The Earth is Full of His Riches" with a program of related crafts, stories, music out of doors and a mystery trip under the leadership of Mrs. Kenneth Wheeler, Miss Molly McClure, Miss Betsy Waldhott, Miss Beth Ramsay, Miss Carol Kröpf and Miss Janet Toepel.

The Juniors are working on "Living As Christians" in "My Father's World." They will have an interesting study as well as leather craft, outdoor games, a mystery trip and special service craft. They will be led by Mrs. George Crampton, Miss Janis Bushong, Miss Nancy Lenz, Alan Choate.

All the groups will share in the project of aiding the C. R. O. P. program which helps in the distribution of surplus foods. Mrs. Wilfred Lindberg and Mrs. Lee Nelson will act as registrars; Charles Schepel will teach music and Alan Choate will take charge of games. Rev. Marcus W. Johnson will tell the worship stories.

Youths Damage School Property

Two Farms police officers cruising west on Kercheval avenue at 2:30 Saturday morning, June 30, heard noises emitting from the Grosse Pointe High School athletic field.

They could see three boys congregated about the flag pole at the south end of the football field. The squad car pulled to the curb and the officers called to the boys.

When the police approached, the youths took off on foot in the direction of Grosse Pointe boulevard. The patrolmen arrived a few moments later and discovered 21 empty beer bottles strewn about the area.

They also noticed two broken windows at the tennis court side of the school. They had been broken with beer bottles. A 1953 Dodge was parked in the Fisher road lot of the high school. The police figured the boys would return for the car so they stationed themselves in the parking lot adjacent to the Farms market.

Apprehended was 17-year-old David Beste of 1898 Manchester. He was taken to the Farms station house and placed in its cell. The youth was extremely disorderly and smashed the light fixture in the cell. At 5:30 a.m. Beste was turned over to his parents.

Police returned to the high school and found several phonograph records, and some exam papers near the spot where the empty beer bottles were discovered. An interior search of the school revealed that a storage room had also been broken into.

New Shirt Laundry Open at Valet Shop

Paul Rousseau of the Grosse Pointe Valet dry cleaners at 17854 Mack Avenue, is announcing the full-scale operation of the firm's new shirt laundry which occupies the recently constructed addition to the plant. "We have been operating the laundry on a limited scale for the past month in which time we perfected our automatic equipment and trained laundresses for full scale operations," Rousseau said Monday, adding "now we know we have the most deluxe workmanship available anywhere. We have learned that machinery can actually excel hand work in many of the operations of laundering shirts." The new addition is open for public inspection.

Pike, 432 Maison rd., Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich., recently was graduated from the field radio repair course at the Army's Southeastern Signal School, Fort Gordon, Ga. The 25-week course trained Pike in the fundamentals of electricity and radio, the service and repair of radio transmitters and receivers and the use of radio testing equipment. Woods Swears In Four Policemen

Four capable-looking young men were sworn in as new police officers of the Woods Police Department on Monday, July 2, by Director of Public Safety Vern C. Bailey. Director Bailey said that one officer will replace a man who resigned three months ago and the other three were added to expand the personnel of the department.

Sworn in were: John Wells, 21, 21903 Stephens, St. Clair Shores; James Marini, 24, of 23840 Harrison, Mt. Clemens; Donald Sun, 28, of 22071 Eastwood, Warren Township; and Gaylord G. Golding, Jr., 23, 24505 Starvalley, St. Clair Shores.

Wells, who is single, worked with his father's firm for more than three years before taking up police work. He is a graduate of St. Gertrude High School, St. Clair Shores and attended the University of Detroit. He lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wells. Marini, also single, was recently honorably discharged from the Army after four and a half years of service. He served in Texas and Germany. He is a graduate of Lake Shore High School, St. Clair Shores, and lives with his step-father, Harold Sharhorneau.

Sun is married to the former Janet Marks, and is the father of two children, Cynthia, 2, and Kevan, who is one-year-old. Before joining the department, the new officer worked with a Detroit brewery for five years. He is a Coast Guard veteran of two years, receiving his honorable discharge in October 1947. He is a 1952 graduate of the University of Detroit, where he majored in general business. Golding is a two-year veteran of the Detroit Police Department from which he resigned to join the Woods department. His resignation became effective on the day he took his oath in the Woods. He is a 1951 graduate of Eastern High School in Detroit, and immediately following graduation, he joined the Air Force, serving for two years. He is married to the former Joanne Butler. The couple have one child, Lynn, who is three years old. The resigned police officer, Robert Hyde of 180 Moross, left the department in April after more than nine years. No reason was given for his resignation.

Babe Ruth League Game To Benefit Paraplegics

A championship game for the benefit of paraplegics is being planned by the Grosse Pointe Woods-Shores Babe Ruth League. It will bring together the champions of the American and National Leagues at Grosse Pointe University School field at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 25. Vincent E. Buttery, league president, said all proceeds will go to the National Paraplegia Foundation. The Babe Ruth League nationally is seeking to raise $50,000 for the foundation. "We will ask each player's family and friends of the league to contribute a dollar or more each for the benefit," Buttery said.

Police to Crack Down on Speed

To combat a 100 per cent increase in traffic deaths caused by speeding drivers, Detroit police have been ordered to step up their enforcement against motorists who violate speed laws. The action came following a meeting of the Traffic Co-ordinating Committee. Accident records presented at the meeting showed that speeding motorists had been responsible for twice as many deaths so far this year compared with the corresponding period last year. Superintendent of Police Jack Harvill ordered precinct scout cars to step up their enforcement against speeders to augment the efforts of Detroit's motorcycle officers. Alger F. Male, director of the Department of Streets and Traffic, presided at the meeting and increase in traffic fatalities from last year's 227 to 286, the highest point in the last 15 years, if the present trend continues. Donald Slutz, managing director of the Traffic Safety Association, said he believed drivers were traveling faster in Detroit. Enforcement by police is the only way to slow down drivers, who will not voluntarily observe speed regulation, he said. The Traffic Co-ordinating Committee, set up by Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins, is composed of representatives of the police department, the Department of Streets and Traffic, Traffic Court and the Traffic Safety Association.

Two Cars Tangle In Minor Crash

A minor accident resulted in scrapes and scratches to two cars which sideswiped each other on Lake Shore road, Thursday, June 28. Arthur Rauss of 1325 Aline was driving his 1954 Ford station wagon east on Lake Shore, the same direction as was driving Kenneth Warfield of Eastlawn, in Detroit. The two cars scraped together in front of 131 Lake Shore. No violations were issued. Damage was about $60 to both cars.

From Another Pointe of View

By Kitty Marriott

Pert, piquant Susie Barie is one of the most delightfully efficient brides-elect of the summer season. She not only is enjoying the usual whirl of gayety which is a bride's due, but she is masterminding plans for a new home and timing up a job for after the wedding trip as well.

Susie, who is the daughter of Mrs. Robert F. Barie, of Radnor Circle, will be married July 28 to Donald Henry DeKeyser in Christ Church.

When they are not partying, the pair are out at the Hillcrest road lot where their new home is progressing. Moving date will be early in September and until that day the couple will be living with Susie's mother.

New Home, New Job

With a spic and span new house to care for Susie felt she'd have plenty of spare moments to put her Garland school education to work, so come the school season she'll be on the roster of teachers at the Christ Church Co-operative Nursery School.

Now for the parties . . . Mrs. Frank Reid and her daughter, Sara, have already honored the bride to be with a miscellaneous shower and tea in their McMillan road home.

Last Thursday Mrs. W. S. Teetzel and Mrs. R. T. Johnston joined in hosting a luncheon in Mrs. J.'s Meadow lane home. All the guests were bidden to bring items to stock Susie and Don's new kitchen.

Another party for the bride-elect was the table top shower Mrs. Albert Wettlaufer and her daughter, Carol, gave at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Saturday's gala was a garden tea in the Lakeland avenue home of the Maurice H. DeKeyzers, Don's parents.

Party Calendar

On the calendar are a round the clock shower to be given by Mrs. Leslie Mitchell and her daughter, Joyce, in their Hendrie lane home and a barbecue bar shqwer with Susie's brother-in-law and sister, Dan and Peggy Loveland, the hosts in their home on Mapleton.

Mrs. Robert Gall and Mrs. Clyde Adams will see to it that Susie has reams of stationery for her thank you notes, for they've issued invitations to a paper shower in the Gall home in University place.

The Maurice Marrs, the bride's uncle and aunt, will honor the pair with a cocktail and supper do at their home on Chalfonte and the DeKeyzers will have the rehearsal dinner at Lochmoor.

Joyce Mitchell will be Susie's honor maid and the other attendants will be Mrs. Dan Loveland, her sister, Mrs. Robert Barie, her sister-in-law, and Marion DeKeyser, Don's sister.

Don has asked Ralph Cross, Jr., to be his best man and the ushers include Richard C. Nightingale, Richard Saunders and Dan Loveland.

Let all Fair Ones then apply with zest

To proving the truth of this epigram.

Only thus can womankind make this test

Not the stranger sex wins, but the best-dressed!

Pray regard then the plumage we have now for you

In styles and in sizes to please every whim

Enchanting cottons and prints of gay hue

Rustling silks, soft sheers and svelte things, too!

charming Oxford road home with Julie, Joey and Jeffrey back to Joe's home town, Saginaw.

A round of goodbye parties honoring the couple made the last few days of packing hectic. The William E. Lanes hosted a dinner party for the pair in their Hall place home and after dessert treated the guests to colored movies and tape recordings of the Junior League Follies in which Mrs. O. warbled the blues so enchantingly.

Saturday the Bruce Millers bid the Oemings' friends to their Fisher road home for a last goodbye and their next door neighbor on Oxford, Mrs. A. W. Spring, was hostess to Marty at a luncheon at Lochmoor earlier.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Lee Nelson with their three daughters will take possession of the Oemings' home. They are moving from Hillcrest.

Moving and Measles

Changes of address seem to dominate the news. Bill and Jane Hibbard have moved their tribe, Jack, Ann and brand new baby, Sally, to a new home on Colonial court from Country Club Drive . . . all this with measles, too.

Mrs. H. reports that as soon as the dust has settled, and the measles cleared up the whole family will join Bill's mother, Mrs. Charles F. Hibbard at Torch Lake.

Up from Indianapolis to join the conclave will be Chick and Betty Hibbard with their brood. To round out the gathering Barb and Ted Hibbard will be journeying to Torch Lake for weekends. The only glum note in this family saga is that all three branches of the family have pets to which they are devoted, but the dogs are sworn enemies. Isolation of the animals seems the only remedy for a happy reunion.

Garden Center Board Meets

A special meeting of the Grosse Pointe Garden Center Board was held at the new president, Mrs. J. Crawford Frost's home on Merrivewether on June 28.

Three former presidents of the board were present, Mrs. Wood Williams, Miss Marie Anderson and Mrs. Hansel Dwight Wilson.

ard Johnson, recording secretary, and Mrs. Richard Forsythe, assistant recording secretary, are the new slate for the year 1956-57.

SHOPPING ADVICE

A way to help your grocer is to be a good housekeeper when you are in his store. Take all the time you want to make your choice from his displays, but put the merchandise that you don't buy back in its proper place. Don't mess up displays needlessly and don't litter up the store by throwing trash on the floor.

Bride Wears Silk Taffeta with a Mantilla of Brussels Lace to Speak Vows to Parker Gilbert Montgomery in All Souls Unitarian Church.

In New York city Saturday afternoon Jan McMillan, daughter of Hugh McMILLAN, of Woodland place, and the late Mrs. McMILLAN, became the bride of Parker Gilbert Montgomery in the chapel of All Souls Unitarian Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a princess style silk taffeta gown with a fitted bodice. Her veil was a mantilla of Brussels lace and she carried white daisies and ivy.

Her only attendant was Mary Cumner, of Cohasset, Mass. She was gowned in a Wedgwood blue cotton eyelet sheath and carried mixed blue delphiniums.

Mr. Montgomery, who is the son of the Spencer Bishop Montgomerys, of Boston and Duxbury, Mass., asked John S. Howland II, of Boston, to be his best man.

Soup's On

With summer upon us, many homemakers give extra thought to preparing a nutritious lunch for the children. It's tempting to eat and prepare strictly cold foods during summer months, but simple, appetizing, and nutritious meals can be yours with the addition of hot soup.

Consumer Marketing Agents say, there are many varieties of soup available to food shoppers.

New flavors can be made by combining several soup varieties and adding seasoning for that extra zip.

Garnishes add eye and taste appeal. Bacon bits, croutons, grated cheese, minced chives and parsley are all good ideas.

Ask some men to take your part, and they'll take all you have.

Time has proven that the most accomplished men do not necessarily accomplish the most.

Oarsmen Give Boat Club Opportunity to Celebrate

When the Senior D-Club members of the Detroit Boat Club planned a dinner dance on Friday, July 6, for all alumni oarsmen, they didn't know they would have a double celebration.

On Sunday, in Syracuse, N.Y. Detroit Boat Club oarsmen won two Olympic berths. Walter Hoover, Sr., DBC's Olympic coach, will have two shells representing the United States in the Olympics in Melbourne in the fall.

The DBC won two of the seven places at the trials winning the fours without coxswain and the double skulls in the biggest row of the day.

Rowing the fours without cox were Jim McIntosh, John McKinley, Art McKinley and John Welchli. The double skull crew were Pat Costello, bow, and Jim Gardiner, stern.

The Senior D-Club dinner dance will be held out-of-doors near the band shell of the club, weather permitting. Invited for a grand get-together are all retired oarsmen, porch oarsmen, dock watchers and their wives and friends. Some of the members who plan to attend rowed DBC shells in 1910. Festivities start with hors d'oeuvres being served at 8 o'clock.

Reservations have been sent in by the following members:

Stewart Crampton, son of the Donald S. Cramptons, of 343 Moross place, caught a record green bass Sunday morning at the Farms pier.

The twelve-year old boy, a devoted fisherman, caught the 3 lb. 7 oz. fish on a minnow and will enter it in the season fish rodeo. The bass measures 17 inches.

Stewart was graduated from Kerby school this June and when he returns for his fourth summer at Camp Charlevoix will be a student at Pierce Junior High School.

Lumber Vanishes At Building Site

Mr. Richard Kimbrough of 316 Touraine road went into the Farms police station to report that during the night of June 28, some boys had stolen 100 lengths of eight foot two by fours from the lot on which he is building a home.

Police car crews will be patrolling the Dean lane area to prevent any further thefts. The value of the stolen lumber was estimated to be $150.

5,586 Elm Trees Sprayed in City

In its quarterly news-letter report to its citizens, sent on Monday, July 2, revealed that it has completed the spraying of 5,586 elm trees, of which 1,626 were on private property.

However, because of the cold spell this spring, the annual inspection of all elm trees has been delayed until sometime this month, during which time samples of trees suspected of having Dutch Elm Disease will be taken and sent to the Michigan Department of Agriculture for analysis.

Officials disclosed that it is not too late for residents to contract with the city, or with a private spraying concern, for the foliage spray of elm trees, which will be conducted this month.

WALTER MEEK BITTEN

Walter Meek of 508 University place was bitten on the right leg by a black poodle dog on Monday, June 25. The attack occurred in front of the Biglow residence at 405 Rivard boulevard. ## Woods Cyclist Injured by Car

Gerald Wiedyk, 7, of 2002 Ridgemont, was taken to St. John Hospital on Wednesday, June 27, suffering from a sprained ankle and skinned right knee, when he pedaled in front of a moving car.

According to a Woods police accident report, the boy was riding his bicycle south in an alley at Ridgemont, west of Mack avenue, and without stopping, ran in front of a car driven by John Boudeau, 58, of 2138 Ridgemont, heading in a westerly direction on the street.

Boudeau said that after seeing the boy coming out of the alley, he tried to stop, but couldn't make it in time to prevent hitting him. Witnesses verified his statement.

The car hit the bike in the middle, knocking the boy to the pavement. X-rays at the hospital showed the boy suffered only the minor injuries.

Boudeau was released after making his statement. No ticket was issued.

City Launches Swim Program

The City of Grosse Pointe's summer swimming program is off to a rousing start with a record enrollment of 250. This is partly due to a special class initiated for the first time this year; a "getting acquainted to the water" class for children ages 4 and 5.

The heaviest enrollment, however, is for the beginners' classes, where over 75 children are enrolled. Junior life saving has also proved to be very popular this year, with over 30 enrolled.

The classes will continue for the whole month of July, meeting twice a week for one hour each day. Red Cross awards will be presented to those successfully completing the course requirements on Saturday, July 28th, which will be the official dedication day of the City Park.

In addition to presenting the swimming awards, many other events are planned for the dedication day. Information on the other events will be announced later.

Police Holding Found Articles

Honest Youth Receives Reward

Johnny Schaible of 1387 Bishop road is richer by $150.

On Tuesday, July 3, Johnny's mother took him to the City of Grosse Pointe Police Department to pick up the unclaimed money he found a month ago.

While walking along Mack avenue near Three Mile grive he found the money on the sidewalk. He inquired in the nearest shop but the owner had heard of no one losing the money.

Johnny brought the money home and with his father John A. Schaible it was turned over to the police until claimed. The police department in the meantime had sent Johnny a letter of praise for his honesty, and named him a good citizen.

A student in St. Claire of Montefalco School, Johnny, aged 10 years, will add the money to his savings of four dollars and will use the money towards buying a savings bond.

Just a Thank-You Note

For a number of years the editorial page of this paper has carried a column called "What Goes On At Your Library". It has attracted a great deal of attention, because it has contained a wealth of information, not only about current books and standard literary works and comments on the classics, but it has also enabled our readers to become acquainted with the large staff which makes our library system the great force for community betterment which it has become.

In past years, the column has been discontinued during the summer months when its author, Miss Jean Taylor, has been on vacation. We are happy to be able to report that the column will continue right through the summer, with various members of the library staff acting as guest writers.

In making this announcement, it appears to be an appropriate time to pay a well-deserved pat on the back to the Grosse Pointe Public Library. Years of personal contact and myriad verbal comments form the basis for the plaudits.

The director of the local library system, Robert Orr, would be the last one to take credit for the most satisfactory growth and general development which have been experienced during recent years. He is ever-vigilant about the matter of extending praise to each and every member of the large staff which has helped in this development.

Great impetus to the library movement was given by the very generous contribution to the community of the magnificent new Central Library at Kercheval and Fisher by Dexter M. Ferry, Jr. The opening of this beautiful structure undoubtedly enticed many non-library users to its doors and introduced them to the many services offered there. Through this medium, many were induced to visit the various branches located in their immediate neighborhoods.

We have had many individual requests to "write something nice about the library", from residents who have been inordinately pleased by the personal attention they have received when visiting one or another of the headquarters of the Pointe system.

Many public institutions are cold and forbidding, and the personal contacts can be ominous and conducive to anything but friendliness. Our residents have found the opposite to be true in their contacts with their library. It is a nice tribute to each and every member of the large staff which carries on this tradition and practice of kindly, personal service and interest.

The development of this general atmosphere must also be credited in substantial measure to the affiliated organizations which have given more than normal attention to the library. The Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Library has grown within a relatively few years to a membership of more than 700. The proceeds from annual dues and donations are used to buy new books and to provide programs of general community interest, programs which give enjoyment and afford education to large numbers of our residents.

The Rotary Club has made a very great contribution in setting up and continuing to develop the large tool collection, available to all residents. Practically any item from a screw driver to a power saw can be borrowed by anyone with a library card, at a minimum rental fee.

A very large collection of records, both classical and popular, has been accumulated and they can be obtained for a few days or longer for a modest charge.

The film library has also assumed imposing proportions and there are any number and variety of movies which can be obtained by individual residents or organizations. The Grosse Pointe Motion Picture and Television Council has been very helpful in this new development.

The Central Library building also has rooms available for meetings of community organizations. Motion picture projecting equipment is provided for illustrated lectures. A unique installation of recording equipment allows as many as eight persons to sit around the same table simultaneously and listen by ear phone to their recordings, without interfering with their fellow music-lovers.

We well remember the day some 100 years or so ago when, as a raw freshman, we were listening to our college president give his address of welcome to the incoming class. He said that if, after four years, the college had taught us how to use a library intelligently, he would feel that a good job had been done towards getting us started on the road to education.

There has been a great deal of progress made by libraries since that long-ago day, and it's nice to be able to report that our own system has not only kept pace with the development, but gone ahead of it in many ways.

Those residents who have not yet become acquainted with the Pointe system are urged to lose no more time. Not only are the facilities practically unlimited, but the personnel takes great pride in its business, and has become expert in making the use of the library a pleasure for both the residents and the staff.

Burt Boyar IN NEW YORK

Hal March and I walked down Fifth Avenue in the East 80's. Total strangers who passed by waved greetings to the M.C. of "The $64,000 Question." They all had different jokes to fling at him. A cop swung by and wanted to know, "Got any samples?" A cab driver, waiting for a light, leaned out of his car and yelled, "Hey, Hal! Why doncha put me on? I'm a expert on streets." A lady walking her dog winked at him and instructed, "You can keep the questions. Just give me the answers." March smiled at them all. He's used to it. If he goes up to an information booth and says "I'd like to ask a question, please," it's even money the clerk will tell him, "Of course you do."

We kept walking till we arrived at the garage which houses his car. We drove up the block. A truck driver recognized my "chauffeur" and asked, coyly, "Are you one of the losers?" Hal's car is a Cadillac convertible. Hal told me, "That one I get all the time. A very old joke." He sighed, "Everyone's a comedian." But he likes being recognized. "Who doesn't?" It took a long time for it to happen.

We drove down Fifth Avenue to a meeting Hal had to attend for an NBC Spectacular in which he stars on July 15. "It's called 'The Bachelor.' I had to wait till I got married to do it," said March. "Carol Hancy and Jayne Mansfield are in it. Steve Allen wrote the script." Hal March's income from "The $64,000 Question" has been rumored at a thousand a week, not counting other income. But, because I am a spineless jellyfish of a columnist I didn't have the guts to ask him, "How much money do you make?" But I did ask what he does with himself all the rest of the week. "Well," he said, "first of all, these last couple of weeks have been pretty hectic. I've been taking a singing lesson every day for the Spectacular (he does six songs) and a golf lesson whenever I can sneak one in. Then, Look magazine is doing a text piece on me, so that takes a couple of hours every day." He looked at me, mildly disgusted. "You know, I've been remembering things I haven't remembered in years. And I'm getting pretty bored with myself."

"What goes on on the night of the show. I mean, what do you do before you go on the air?" I asked. He replied, "Well, I get there at about nine o'clock. The show goes on at ten. There's about a twelve minute rehearsal period, to time commercials and the mechanics of the show. I'll stand up there and make up questions like 'The man who first invented brain surgery was Charles Dillingwood, who, as everyone knows, had a sail on his right hip. Now, for a thousand dollars, tell me why he didn't like sail on his oatmeal.' Then, one of the kids from the office acts as contestant and we get an idea of how the show'll run. At ten o'clock we're on the air and by quarter to eleven I'm on my way home."

THE MYSTERY GUESTS: Topic A among show people is the singer who second fiddle'd to his very famous wife. Finally, after a good try, neither he nor she could stand it any longer, so they split. He re-married. Became big in his own right. Ironically, now, his second wife looks like she'll become bigger than his first. He's losing his voice and will probably be back in the string section again. The femme star of a Broadway click has her chauffeur meet her a block away so the rest of the cast won't learn how she squanders her $900 a week. . . The near-the-top hacker who'll gladly part with a five if the Sardi's maitre d' will seat him under his own caricature on the wall.

Tex McCrary was recently on Person-To-Person with the only Jinx we know that is good. We called to tell him what a beautiful house he has. (Something he wasn't sure about.) "I wish I saw more of it," he sighed.

We talked about the show. "You know, there was an amusing side to it. After we were off the air people called to tell us how lovely it was that Jinx and I were sitting so close together and looking so loving. Why, we even went out of doors together and by side, instead of one at a time. 'Very unusual,'" they said. I told Tex that I had, myself, noticed this delightful display of affection between them. "Well," he answered, "the gag was that Jinx' mike went out of order just before we went on the air. It was concealed in her clothes. So, she had to stay right on top of me so she could use mine. And, I guess you couldn't see it, but out of camera range there was a guy fumbling with her zippers and trying to replace the batteries on her hip."

"Another funny thing," he continued, "was that Felicia Sarnoff, Bobby's wife, called up just before the show and warned Jinx, 'Check your zippers before you go on because remember what happened to Pat Weaver's wife. Well, sure enough, the zipper burst on Jinx' dress right in the middle of the show.'"

Tex is getting up a large Public Relations office. He'll represent assorted clients, from a major metropolitan newspaper and on down the line. I asked him what in the world could make him decide he needed a little more to do in addition to the zilch. TV and radio shows they do every day. "Well," he said, "I've been in Public Relations all my life. It's just about time I started charging people for it. Mr. (Bernard) Baruch, who advised me on everything, told me, 'It's about time you learned the difference between a job and a business. Your radio and TV shows are wonderful but they are just a job. A public relations office can be a substantial business. In your own business you are the boss. From a job you can be fired.'"

Enjoy Water; But Safely

Enjoy Michigan's lakes and rivers, but be sure to safeguard the conditions under which you enjoy them. Dr. Joseph G. Molner, commissioner of health, suggests for those who plan to spend summer days at the lake or beach. Vacationers should remember that the water can be dangerous and that amateurs cannot expect to have the skill and endurance of experts. Last year 32 Detroiters drowned in waters inside the State of Michigan. Thirty-one were men or boys and only one was a woman. Throughout the United States, drowning is second only to motor accidents as a cause of accidental deaths among the five to 44 year olds. There were 6,200 deaths from drowning in the United States in 1954. Boating and swimming are fun when safe. Dr. Molner suggests you consider these simple rules when you go to the beach or lake: Always have another swimmer with you when you are in the water. If the place is unfamiliar to you, learn about it first and avoid taking chances. Delay diving until you are convinced the water is deep enough for safety and free from dangerous rocks. Even if you are an expert swimmer, don't overestimate your strength and skill. If you swim after dark, use extreme caution and stay near the shore. Avoid showing off or teasing others who cannot swim. Many safe swimming places are available to Detroiters. The Department of Parks and Recreation supervises many school pools during the summer in addition to several outdoor pools and Belle Isle bathing beach. All of these places are inspected regularly by the Department of Health. Almost anyone can have fun in the water if he knows when to swim and where and when to stop. Dr. Molner says. Detroit provides many opportunities for young people to learn safe practices in the water under wise counsel. Some of these organized groups are the American Red Cross classes, YWCA, YMCA, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls. YARDSTICK This would be a much improved world if we could all be measured by the things we are going to do tomorrow.

Americans who hope to serve as unofficial ambassadors anywhere. An absorbing and lively story told by the daughter of a former President of the United States, is "Souvenirs" by Margaret Truman. Here Miss Truman reveals the story of her life from childhood to the present and in so doing gives interesting sidelights on historic events as well as on the great and near-great. For anyone who likes "war" novels, two outstanding ones are "H. M. S. Ulysses" by Alistair MacLean and Harold Sinclair's "The Horse Soldiers." The first tells of the last seven days of the light cruiser, Ulysses, radar-equipped and assigned to convoy duty on the murderous Murmansk run. The second is the story of Colonel Benjamin Grierson's famous cavalry raid during the Civil War and is a tingling tale of fighting men. Both of these tales of heroism and disaster have great appeal for boys. Girls will find pleasurable reading in Mary Stolz's new book, "The Day and The Way We Met," which is a continuation of the author's earlier book, "Ready or Not." Another rewarding novel of adolescence is "Blueberry Summer" by Elisabeth Ogilvie which tells of a satisfied 16-year-old Cass who reluctantly gives up her vacation at a summer resort to look after a younger brother on their Maine Coast farm. Sports enthusiasts will enjoy "The Four Minute Mile" by Roger Bannister. The great English runner tells how he ran the mile in less than 4 minutes, the first man ever to do so. He explains why men run and why they must ever seek to break new barriers. For baseball fans, don't miss "The Tiger Wore Spikes" by John McCallum, an informal biography of Ty Cobb. Have you ever thought of exploring the great Egyptian pyramids? If so, you will enjoy Leonard Cottrell's "Mountains of Pharaoh." This is a book which one reads with pleasure and lays down with anticipation in hopes of someday visiting that fascinating land in the future. Happy vacations to all of you!

AAUW Devoting Attention To Symphony Attendance

So that no member need be caught with her musical culture sagging, the Grosse Pointe branch of the American Association of University Women is launching a program for attendance at Detroit Symphony matinee concerts.

Mrs. Edward F. Suits, chairman of the Arts committee of AAUW, arranged to obtain a block of highly desirable tickets for the nine afternoon concerts which will be repeats of every other program scheduled on the 1956-57 evening series beginning October 19 and running through March 15. They will be presented in the magnificent new Henry and Edsel Ford Auditorium.

To make the matinees doubly attractive, season subscribers will be invited to a series of pre-concert affairs. These range from luncheons with the solo artists to special music appreciation lectures on the programmed works of the afternoon. Group AAUW attendance at this phase of the program also is planned.

Guest artists include Jerome Hines, bass; Leon Fleisher, Grant Jhannesen and Myra Hess, pianists; Edward Druzinski, harpist, and Zino Francescatti, violinist.

The Grosse Pointe branch of AAUW was honored last week when Mrs. Frank W. Coolidge, of the Women's Association of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, appointed two AAUW members to the Committee of One Hundred which the Women's Association sponsors.

Those named were Mrs. John D. Jakle, chairman of the Music Section of the AAUW Arts Committee and Mrs. John Marshall.

Another interesting sidelight of this new venture is that for every five season tickets sold by Mrs. Jakle's committee, one student award ticket will be released for distribution to a music student by the Music Committee. Other members of this committee are Mrs. Emil O. Dauch and Mrs. William C. Quinlan.

"Matinee attendance at symphony concerts was extremely popular in Detroit way back in the days when the late Ossip Gabrilowitsch was conductor," said Mrs. Arthur B. Hillegas, newly elected president of the Grosse Pointe Branch, AAUW. "From the immediate response to this program it is apparent that it carries a strong appeal to our membership."

DAVID QUINLAN BITTEN
David Quinlan, age 6, of 378 Fisher road, was bitten by a Dalmatian dog owned by Dr. Edward Dale of 380 Fisher. The boy was riding his bicycle on the sidewalk on the afternoon of June 27, when the dog swooped down on him. Dr. Dale was instructed to keep his dog locked up for the ten-day quarantine period.

Student Driver Tears Up Lawn

A young student driver ran into a mess of trouble early Monday evening, June 25, when the car she was driving got away from her and went through a fence and 40 feet of lawn before it finally stopped.

Maxime Leslie Roe of 1033 Lakepointe, was driving a 1955 Ford on Maumee when she made a right turn onto Notre Dame avenue. The car continued over the east curb, through a wooden fence, and tore up the lawn of the James Ferratis on Notre Dame.

The driver was not injured, but the lawn will need some re-seeding.

M Club Offers Season Tickets

John M. Chase, of Lewiston road, president of the University of Michigan Club of Grosse Pointe, has announced that this year, for the first time, season tickets to any University of Michigan home football games will be made available through the club during the fall.

The home football games include UCLA, Michigan State, Army, Northwestern, Minnesota, and Indiana. Season tickets purchased through the Club will entitle the purchasers to seats in a section with other Grosse Pointe Club alumni.

Each season ticket will cost $28, plus 30 cents postage for each order. Checks should be made payable to the Michigan Ticket Department and mailed to Laurence B. Einfield, treasurer of the club, 317 Stephens road, Grosse Pointe Farms, 36.

In order to take advantage of this service which the club offers to its members and prospective members, orders will have to be in not later than Friday, July 13.

In the Antarctic, one Navyman consumes 115 pounds of beef per year.

Navy Offering School Program

The Navy is offering a four-year college course for enlisted men, it was disclosed by Roy Roberts, CM, USN, recruiting officer at the Park Municipal Building, 15115 E. Jefferson.

He released a bulletin in announcing a new program for training personnel in atomic-age vessels and aircraft.

Termed the Enlisted-Advance School Program, the training will include four years of college-level work at civilian institutions and advanced Navy schools. Two years of schooling will be broken by service with an additional two years of education guaranteed qualified male personnel.

The men must have three years of active naval service to be eligible for selection. The first classes will report to the Naval Preparatory School, Bainbridge, Maryland, on Friday, August 17.

Weary Swains Slumber in Car

A concerned resident of the Farms summoned police early Sunday morning, July 1, to check on a car parked in front of 411 Madison with four men in it.

A squad car answered the request and discovered four young men sleeping in the car.

They told the officers that they had driven from Clawson, Michigan, to squire some young ladies they knew. When the girls had been taken home, the four began to talk over the evening and then all slipped off to sleep.

'Operation Salvage' Helps Salvation Army Program

Thousands of Detroiters, including neighboring suburbs, make it their custom to call the Salvation Army whenever they have some old furniture, unwanted clothing or other discards to get rid of. But few of these have any real idea of the part this junked material plays in the salvaging of thousands of problem men at the Army's Social Service Center.

During the 61 years since this activity was inaugurated by the Salvation Army in this area, starting with four horses and wagons, this rehabilitation program has returned over 55,000 such castoff men to useful lives and gainful employment. This "Operation Salvage" to apply describe it, goes forward constantly as the new and modern Men's Social Service Center, located at 1220 W. Lafayette boulevard in the Motor City.

Behind its red brick front, this 4-story building with over 350,000 sq. feet of floor area is a completely-equipped institution for housing up to 265 down-and-out men during their rehabilitation program. Contained therein is one of the most modern kitchens which turns out 700 meals daily; a cafeteria that seats up to 300 men, along with a medical center, counseling rooms, library and club rooms, various shops for the re-creating of useful products from the donated waste material and comfortable dorms and bedrooms for these 285 beneficiaries.

Here is how your donated waste material contributes to the salvage of these human lives. As an important part of the center's rehabilitation program, this waste material and old paper serves as the raw material that this lost manpower is put to work on. This part of the work therapy sees these men recondition the junked furniture pieces, clean and repair the donated garments and shoes making from the waste resalable products.

The old paper is sorted and baled and sent to the paper mills. The recreated furniture, clothing, etc., is disposed of in the 15 Red Shield Army stores that are located through Metropolitan Detroit. This entire operation is self-sustaining, carried wholly from the proceeds from the reconditioned articles you donate.

The beneficiaries, as the men taking the rehabilitation course are called, receive weekly grants from the proceeds also. They are taught a useful trade, if unskilled upon entry. Last year 1,880 such maladjusted men—chiefly chronic alcoholics—were admitted to the center for this program. Of these 80 per cent have been returned to sobriety and to gainful employment.

Were it not for the opportunity thus afforded such men to rehabilitate themselves by the center, many would be a drain on our relief rolls and clog our police courts.

Important, too, is that the center receives not a dollar of your tax money or from any community chest or civic source. The center is under the management of Brigadier Byam Youngman and wife, assisted by a Board of prominent civil leaders.

Now that you know something of the importance of donated household goods such as indicated to the Army for its Social Service care and salvage of these problem men, always remember to call WO 5-7760 whenever you have unwanted items and have a Red Shield truck pick it up. The Salvation Army will be deeply appreciative.

GUNFIRE could still be heard in Poznan, Poland, as Red Polish Army units continued their efforts to mop up die-hard snipers in the broad-rebellion city. Communication closedowns all but sealed off the big industrial city from the outside world. The city was placed under martial law.

The latest report is that 100 persons, including soldiers and police, were killed during the rioting, which began Thursday, against poor living conditions.

The Nation's 650,000 steelworkers, in 27 states, walked out on strike when contract negotiations failed. Following the traditional policy of "no contract, no work" the United Steel Workers Union refused to enter the mills on the midnight shift last night.

Two top union officials said the strike could last a possible six weeks. Contract talks broke down in New York City, following the 45th session between representatives of the steel union and the industry's Big Three — United States Steel, Bethlehem and Republic. At least 90 per cent of the country's steel supply is reported choked off.

Polish rebels, in the third straight day of their uprising, continued a "terrific" gun duel with Communist troops. Sources said the death toll might run into the hundreds. The United States, in a dramatic gesture, offered to ship free food to the "bread-and-freedom" rioters.

Experts in this country believe the Reds will turn down this offer just as they did previously when the U.S. offered to ship free food to Iron Curtain countries. They were of the opinion, however, that the offer would have tremendous propaganda value.

Monday, July 2

The United States moved in for the first time since negotiations began between the United Steel Workers Union and the industry's Big Three—U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic. Joseph F. Finnegan, head of the Federal Mediation Service, said that he is trying to contact both union and management officials in an attempt to revive contract

Tuesday, July 3

In an effort to intercept rebel workers who were fleeing a massive police roundup, the Red Polish Army sealed off the Poland-East German border. West German travelers arriving from Poznan, where a bloody three-day "bread-and-freedom" revolt was instigated, said that the Communist Army had heavily reinforced its frontier garrisons and for the first time ordered tanks to patrol the Oder River. Diplomatic sources in Vienna said that previous reports of ## negotiations.

During the weeks of contract negotiations, the Government had not intervened. A get-together between the union and management will probably be delayed until after July 4.

Investigators of the Senate Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee have cited 32 cases of wasteful spending by the military in Washington. One case reported turned up, was that the Pentagon sold 23 million wooden picnic spoons and forks at bargain prices, while another agency was buying them under new contracts.

The investigators, headed by Senator Johnson (D., Tex.), said the military establishment "has been guilty of selling property as surplus and then turning around and buying new property of the same kind." The group called on Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson to correct these measures.

The Communists have laid the Poznan "bread-and-freedom" rioting at the feet of Allen Dulles, chief of the United States Central Intelligence Agency, and on Radio Free Europe. The propaganda mills continued grinding as Polish troops and police waged a house-to-house hunt for hidden rebels in the riot city.

Arrests were made by the truckloads. Witnesses estimated the dead in the fighting at between 200 and 300, including soldiers and police. A top Red official in Italy blamed the rioting on spreading discontent of the working masses in Poznan. He said the agents were able to exploit this discontent.

Wednesday, July 4

Crews of three large twin-rotor helicopters braved treacherous Grand Canyon in an attempt to move charred bodies from one of two wrecked airliners, which apparently collided in a total of 128 persons, including 13 from the Detroit area. The Civil Aeronautics Administration will wait until all the bodies have been removed before moving into the canyon to probe the cause of the disaster, termed the worst in American commercial airline history.

casualties may be outstripped by the latest casualty count.

Thirty persons were slightly injured when a fierce windstorm suddenly ripped part of the Ringling Brothers big top tent. The tent was half filled with spectators waiting for the evening performance. Police and firemen aided circus ushers in evacuating the huge tent and thereby averting a panic. The wind ripped the big top and tore loose inside poles and swung them around. A circus employe suffered back injuries while attempting to hold one of the poles. He was taken to the hospital. The circus moved to another town where performances continued on schedule, but without the main tent.

who, where and whatnot

by whoozit

Milady's chapeaux have an international flavor: MRS. DANIEL SCHAIBERGER rims her shallow black velvet sailor hat with a great white rose, smack in front, which a friend brought to her from Paris; MRS. HARRY SHORT likes a white straw pillbox, around which several shades of turquoise nylon net entwine to form a tiny streamer bow in back . . . colors match the blue waters around the Hawaiian Islands, where the Shorts vacationed this spring.

Tanned MRS. WELLINGTON HOAG JR., beats the heat with a handsome one-piece shorts outfit of coolish white pique.

MRS. HERBERT HART, dressed for town, dons a champagne raw silk frock with just the suggestion of a little white collar and wears a small hat composed of cherries.

And luscious red berries trim the white straw headpiece, that MRS. FREDERICK CURTIS chooses to wear with a black silk dress.

It is all blue for MRS. EDWARD MACAULEY when she decides to wear her powder blue linen jacket over navy skirt, with navy linen pumps, and even handbag combining powder and navy blues.

PILFERINGS

A certain antique collector tells that, bargain-hunting one day for things to add to his collection of rare bric-a-brac, he stopped at Sam Cohen's little curio shop, where he was able to pick up valuable pieces from time to time.

Browsing around, he saw nothing of interest and was about to leave. Then, just inside the door, he noticed a cat lapping milk out of a saucer. One glance told him that the saucer was a priceless antique. With a wild hope that Sam was unaware of its value he said, "That's a nice cat you have there, Sam. Would you sell him to me?"

"Well," said Sam, "I'd be willing to sell him for five dollars, I guess."

The collector paid the five, put the cat under his arm, then added, "I'll just take the saucer along. The cat is probably used to eating from it."

"Oh, no," said Sam, "I can't give you the saucer."

"Well, then, I'll buy it."

"Oh, no," said Sam, "I can't sell it to you."

"That's ridiculous, Sam. Why can't you sell me this old saucer?"

"Because," replied Sam, "from that old saucer, I already sold 139 cats."

Max Schling, New York florist, ran a whole advertisement in shorthand in the New York Times. Many a businessman cut it out and handed it to his secretary to translate. The ad asked secretaries to think of Schling when the boss wanted flowers for his wife.

Modern Selling

In place of the annual church bazaar, the Vicar of St. Johns, Waterloo, England, billed expected patrons as follows, inviting them to let their consciences guide them in filling in amounts: "Bus fare to hall . . . Entrance fee . . . Wear and tear on clothes . . . Wear and tear on tempers . . . Afternoon tea . . . Side shows . . . Useless articles bought . . . Total . . . Please remit."

Receipts were beyond all previous amounts.

On a crowded street car, a passenger apologetically handed the conductor a five-dollar bill, saying, "I'm afraid I haven't a nickel."

"Don't worry," the conductor assured him grimly. "In a minute you'll have 99."

Nathan's wife tells of his discomfiture the time the sheriff's funeral passed their gate. "It was a grand sight," she said. "Nathan was restin' in the hammock when it went by. I come out and told him who all was in the carriages and automobiles, and his kinfolk wavin' to him. Nathan was kinda peeved. 'Just my luck,' he said, 'I be facin' th' other way.'"

MR. MALCOLM DENISE OF ESSEX DRIVE

By Kitty Marriott

The wind-up phonograph in his rooming-house during undergraduate days at the University of Michigan first introduced Malcolm Denise to jazz. The machine had only two records, which were played more or less constantly, and they were Duke Ellington's "Limehouse Blues" and "Windup Stomp".

Instead of turning the college lad against all jazz, they heightened his interest in it. Today, about 25 years of record collecting, Malcolm Denise has from two to three thousand records . . . and most of them are jazz recordings.

Duke Ellington was and is his favorite through the years. The nine bookshelves filled with records and record albums in the den of the Denise home include probably 100 Ellington "platters" that Mr. D. favors.

Likes Jazz Piano

Listening to records is relaxation for lawyer Denise, who is general industrial relations manager, handling labor relations, at the Ford Motor Company.

While Mr. Denise keeps no exact directory of his records, he estimates he has 75 to 100 each by Benny Goodman and Count Basie. He likes jazz piano best, and although he was once partial to the late Jimmy Lunce-

Pointe Counter Points

Midsummer. Fashion change. This is the time for it. And it means new cottons . . . plaided in deep, dark colors . . . the clothes you can wear now and right through autumn. The identical dress we had drooled over on page 62 in the July issue of Harper's Bazaar we spotted in Margaret Rice's collection of midsummer cottons this week. It was designed in plaid . . . doubly collared in black velvet and buttoned up the front . . . shined up, of course, with a touch of silk and around forty dollars. The jacket type costume was evident . . . each jacket covered a pretty decolletage. There was a smartly tailored shall-collared button front sheath . . . a "Checkerboard" of new textured silk and cotton. "Deep Tone" a new block plaid in toast and royal blue or green and royal blue with black. See this last mentioned in Harper's, page 27, July issue . . . and find it at 76 Kercheval, on the hill.

If you've prowled for summer sheers . . . gay flowered cottons . . . and you are really hepped on COOL fashion, consider this . . . a one piece bra slip combination as designed by Mademé Adrienne. Cotton and nylon models are sixteen ninety-five . . . dacron and nylon lace combinations run twenty-two ninety-five. Just wear a lightweight panty girdle under this and you are set for torrid days. Top 'O The Hill, 104 Kercheval, on the hill.

Here's how to tan OR stay fair under the sun. To tan . . . use Elizabeth Arden's special sun creams and lotions. It helps you toast to a deep, even, smooth bronze. To stay fair . . . if you burn, blister and freckle under direct exposure to the sun and do not want to tan, there are special creams and lotions created to screen your skin from burning rays. Ask for Ardena Sun Tan Lotion, Sun Tan Oil, Sun Bloc Lotion . . . Protecta Cream helps you to stay as fair as you please. For bald heads there is nothing like Sun Proof Cream. It's light and fluffy . . . vanishes with contact to skin. Find these summery preparations at Trail Pharmacy, on the hill.

The surest place to find THAT man is in the windows. That man, here, being Mr. Bergen of Irving's, on the hill. The reasons are quite clear. They are selling wondrous things fast . . . right from the windows. Oftentimes summer offers some distinctive "little buys" like handbags. That's true here. There are soft straws with tortise shell handles . . . look wonderful. Colors run the gamut, coffee frost . . . natural . . . black . . . beige . . . white . . . pink . . . navy and sell for ten dollars and fifty cents. Oh yes . . . linens, too, with coin dots . . . roomy . . . just seven ninety-five.

As you saunter past that summery display window at Irving's, expect to find a nettie Rosenstein . . . Christian Dior . . . or Tena, Leser swim suit. Liked especially the bold dark plaid . . . pleated dressmaker suit . . . with its attractive matching skirt.

There is a whimsical, nostalgic charm about the informal Victorian wicker chairs at the Dants . . . and as summer's here and you'll be serving it up with iced drinks you'll need extra chairs. These are perfect for patio, terrace, or informal rooms . . . comfortable . . . tagged at twenty-five dollars. 98 Kercheval, on the hill.

The first things a bride gets are important. Face it. She will be luring her man and guests to the table from now on. The wise gifts . . . the crystal . . . the china . . . the stainless steel tableware are found at The League Shop, 72 Kercheval, on the hill.

Icy mountain narvas . . . China and Inner and Outer Mongolia are the origins of cashmere, the finest fibre known to man. It's the soft under coat of the shaggy cas'mere goat that is used. These goats are combed early in the Spring. The silky underdown must be plucked by hand or gathered with by tuft. What's the quickest way to tell a good cashmere? Color and softness is the answer. If the color is muddy or dull and the fabric has a course feeling you can be sure inferior top hair are there. At D. J. Healy's, in the village, they are showing new Einiger loomed Cashmere's. They are clear in color 'n soft. No codding needed either as they are pre-shrunk . . . Mittin proofed and guaranteed against moth damage for five years. Tags read 149.98. Another group of Kashmir Coats are eighty per cent wool, 20 per cent nylon, and 100 per cent wonderful. These are rare blends of alpaca and mohair . . . also luxury loomed by Einiger. 89.98. Colors? Charcoal, sable, bamboo, black and natural.

Scene: Bermuda shorts in profusion at Irving's, on the hill.

Midsummer finds . . . soft, soft, silk shantung ties . . . fully lined . . . madras bathing suits . . . Moygashel Irish Linen Jackets . . . wash and wear slacks . . . colorful plaid zippered picnic case, complete with sandwich box . . . two thermos bottles, and a set of breakproof plastic cups . . . lots of variety here at Kilgore and Hurd, specialists in men's attire, 92 Kercheval, on the hill.

Now that summer has actually moved in you'll find bow-quest of summer dresses in the Pointe in one or two piece styles. Stripes, plaids, prints, light or dark shades. One example of what we like is a two-piece cotton dimity in white, dotted black. The dress has a full skirt, bare top lined in cotton broadcloth, shoestring straps. The jacket is lined too, has white pique collar, pearl buttons. Petite sizes right through large ones in this summer bouquet of frocks at Margaret Rice's, 76 Kercheval, on the hill.
