NATO'S TOP MILITARY committee Wednesday tackled the question of missile needs—and presumably some members' reluctance to accept a new United States offer of intermediate range weapons.

The two-day secret meeting is preliminary to the summit conference opening Monday in Paris. The United States will make its formal offer of intermediate range ballistic missiles then. Some NATO nations are reluctant to accept the missiles. They fear they will invite Soviet retaliation. The Moscow propaganda machine is playing on these fears.

THE AFL-CIO WEDNESDAY called on its 138-member unions to press for even bigger wage increases for 13½ million members during 1958. Delegates to the federation's convention erased any lingering doubts that labor would ease up on its wage and fringe benefit demands.

The delegates also endorsed a shortened work week, which will be the UAW's key demand on the auto companies in 1958 bargaining.

THE TRANSIT AUTHORITY spurned mediation of New York's three-day subway crisis Wednesday and began replacing striking motormen with employees gleaned from its ranks.

A noticeable improvement of service during the day led Authority officials to scent a back-to-work movement. One of them predicted: "The worst is over. Tomorrow will see a substantial improvement in service."

Meanwhile, the tremendous turmoil that gripped the transit-crippled city subsided, somewhat. Traffic moved better, business absenteeism dropped, and subway congestion eased slightly.

Friday, December 13

MEMBERS OF A MOTORMEN'S union voted at a stormy two-hour meeting Thursday to continue New York's four-day-old subway strike until Mayor Robert F. Wagner agrees to their demands.

The action dashed hopes of an early end to the walkout and spelled added woes for the five million commuters traveling daily on the subway system. Merchants have lost millions of dollars, and additional staggering losses appear certain.

More than 1,000 members of the striking Motormen's Benevolent Association renewed demands already rejected by the New York Transit Authority. The strikers asked Wagner for bargaining rights with the Transit Authority, no discrimination and no reprisals, release from jail of four strike leaders and cancellation of a representation election scheduled next Monday.

RUSSIA PROPOSED a treaty Thursday night, with the United States to "proclaim the firm belief of both our states in developing the relations of friendship and peaceful co-operation between them."

The proposal came in an address by the Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister to the UN political committee, and also called for expansion of scientific, cultural and other ties between the United States and Russia.

A TEAMSTER OFFICIAL testified Thursday that Teamster president-elect James R. Hoffa was in Seattle at the time the Government has charged he was in Detroit making arrangements to have phone taps installed in union headquarters.

Another witness, Martin T. Noffsinger, comptroller at the Olympic Hotel in Seattle, produced records that showed a Mr. and Mrs. James Hoffa had registered at the hotel July 5, 1953 and had checked out July 10.

Newcomers To Be Feted At Center

Reception for Families Who Have Moved Here During Year Planned For Jan. 5

The officers and board of directors of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center are holding a reception for all families who moved into the Grosse Pointes in 1957, on Sunday, January 5, from 3 to 5 p.m.

One thousand invitations are being mailed to all newcomers for whom the Center has obtained addresses. The Memorial's directors, however, wish to emphasize that there may be many whose addresses the Center's staff has not been able to obtain and want to stress that all new residents are welcome and urged to come regardless of receiving the formal invitation.

The Center will gladly send the written invitation to any new neighbor on request. At the reception, which is for all members of the family, the very young on up, new residents will meet representatives of all the groups sponsored by and meeting at the Center, as well as representatives of the churches and other community organizations.

An effort will be made to acquaint everyone with the many groups and opportunities open to citizens in Grosse Pointe and extend a hearty welcome to become a part of any activity which interests them.

The house will be festively decorated for the affair and refreshments will be served for everyone.

Thief Robs Woods Home; Steals Car from Garage

A thief broke into the home of W. L. Valade, 1499 Renaud road, took some cash and other loot, and stole a car from the garage to make his get-away.

Valade told Woods police that he left home for a short weekend and returned on Sunday, December 15, to find his house looted and his car gone.

He told Det. Sgt. Walter O'Dell and Det. Leroy Tobian that he left his house about 11:45 p.m. on Saturday, December 14, and returned about 3:50 p.m. the following day. He said his house had been thoroughly ransacked.

Valade said that as far as can be determined, the thief

Tree Lighting Ceremony At Memorial Center Set For Sunday Afternoon

All Pointe Families Urged to Attend Traditional Event; Members of Youth Council Will be in Charge of Program

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial and Santa Claus will again play host to all the families of Grosse Pointe, especially the children, at the Annual Community Christmas program and Tree Lighting at 32 Lake Shore, at 5:30 p.m. on Sunday, December 22.

At 4:30, prior to the ceremony the Wayne University Puppets are producing "Mrs. Frisbie's Kids" in the Recreation Room, and the Center's Children's Theatre is presenting "Away in a Manger" in the Library. Both of these performances will be repeated after the ceremony for those unable to get in the first shows.

Youth Council in Charge. The War Memorial's Youth Council is in charge of the brief Tree Lighting Ceremony.

Cash, Whiskey Taken at Bar

Thieves who broke into the Manor Bar at 18450 Mack on Sunday, December 15, netted over $75 in bills and change from the cash register.

Owner of the bar, Mrs. Augusta Valke, told Park police that entrance was made by jimmying the storm door, and breaking the glass on the front door.

In addition to the cash stolen, also missing are 17 bottles of assorted whiskeys.

The bartender, James Screpnek, of 2128 Anderson, Detroit, said the theft happened sometime between Sunday evening and early Monday morning.

Mistress Bitten By White Mouse

"Don't bite the hand that feeds you," said Barbara Hopp, 15, of 723 University place—but her pet white mouse ignored the advice and nipped her on her right forefinger last Monday, December 9.

What's more, he died the following day!

He said the items were in a brown leather jewelry box, and were first missed as he was moving from his old home at 288 Provincial, to his present address.

The items were valued at $740.

O'Dell and Tobian said the invader entered the home by breaking the glass of the rear door, and throwing the latch.

They said he went through the kitchen drawers, a desk in the living room and all the closets in the house. The thief also loosened all the light bulbs to prevent the lights going on.

The detective team said the burglar apparently jumped the ignition switch of the car to start it.

At the last report, the vehicle had not been recovered.

Goodfellow Sale Best In History

Early Report Made At Luncheon Indicates $10,000 Goal Will Be Surpassed

The Grosse Pointe Lions Clubs' Goodfellows newspaper sales was the most successful in 29 years, it was revealed at a luncheon held in Detroit Turners, 8731, East Jefferson, on Monday, December 16.

The luncheon was given to honor members of the club, the policemen and firemen of the Pointe and others who participated in Monday's sale.

Carl Schweikart, Sr., and Carl, Jr., co-chairmen of this year's Goodfellow drive, said that unofficial returns showed that between $9,100 and $9,300 had been collected, with every indication that the goal of $10,000 might be reached or exceeded. They said it would be at least two days before the complete figure is known.

Thank Workers

The younger Schweikart, the first to speak, thanked the workers for their fine cooperation, and complimented them for a job well done. On behalf of the club, he thanked the policemen and firemen and others for their unselfishness in giving of their time and effort.

Carl, Sr., also expressed his thanks and stated that he was gratified to see that all five Pointes pulled together as a unit in raising funds which would benefit the needy families in the Pointe.

He stressed the fact that all funds collected will be used for the benefit of the Pointe needy only.

Good Chance to Meet

He also expressed satisfaction in seeing that a majority of the workers were together at the luncheon, which, he said, is an excellent opportunity for policemen and firemen to meet colleagues from other Pointes.

He paid special tribute to George Elworthy, Pointe Director of Welfare, "one of the finest men in welfare work," who handles all of the cases of needy families in the Pointe.

He called on all policemen and firemen to present the names of needy persons and families, whom they might contact in the course of their duties. The club's charitable work does not begin and end with the annual Goodfellow

Schools in Pointe Offer 12 Years of Math and Science

Figures Show Students Getting Far More Instruction Than National Average Claimed in Recent Publicity

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of articles compiled to inform the public about Grosse Pointe's school system and, specifically, how it answers today's need for a stronger emphasis on mathematics and science.

Grosse Pointe's school system offers 12 years of mathematics to its students. The first eight years are mandatory, but thereafter the student must elect these courses if he so inclined. This, admittedly, is where the teachers and the community as a whole, must improve in their efforts and help more of the capable students make up their minds to elect these so-called "tougher" courses.

Beginning, even in kindergarten, children are given some number and science experiences. However, no special emphasis is given to either subject at this time. The objective of the kindergarten background is to build a readiness for the more definitely planned experiences of the elementary grades.

Must Take Both

Beginning in grade one, and continuing through grade eight, every pupil must take both mathematics and science. The amount of time devoted to these subjects weekly is increased almost steadily through these eight grades. For example, in arithmetic the pupil has an activity program of up to 60 minutes weekly in the first grade where most of the time is given to instruction in reading. A more specifically planned program of 75 to 100 minutes weekly is begun in the second grade. Arithmetic classes now meet at least every other day.

Beginning in the third grade each pupil must have a daily period of arithmetic with the weekly allotment being from 150 to 220 minutes in grades 3 and 4, 175 to 225 minutes in grades 5 and 6, and 250 minutes in grades 7 and 8.

Periods Augmented

All mathematics courses in grades 9 to 12 meet for approximately 225 minutes per week as do the ninth grade General Science and Applied Science (formerly called Consumer Science) courses. Each of the laboratory sciences of Biology, Chemistry, and Physics meet for 315 minutes per week or a total of seven class periods within each five school days.

At the present time, in the Grosse Pointe school system, there are 998 enrolled in beginning Algebra and Higher Arithmetic. These are typically 9th grade subjects but the

Approve Lights For New Sub

Installation of eight new street lights in the new subdivision at Lake Shore road and Warren, was approved by the Farms City Council on Monday night, December 16.

The lumen output of four already there will be increased and four new lights will be installed. The increased cost to the city amounts to $31 per month for electricity. Detroit Edison will do the installation.

Pick Committee to Study Lines for School District

President Bert H. Wicking of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education has announced the appointment of a lay advisory committee to assist in drawing the lines for the new Samuel Miller Brownell Junior High School district. The committee includes the following laymen and women: Willis C. Bullard, 1330 S. Oxford; Mrs. Ernest Collins, 943 Lincoln; Harvey Dixon, 915 Hampton; Edward Glanz, 739 Sunningdale; Albert Klick, 81 Fontana; Robert Laitner, 820 Barrington; Anthony Manardo, 825 Rivard Boulevard.

Oscar Marx, 954 Lakepointe; Robert Pogue, Jr., 1899 Norwood; Mrs. Fred Rydhom, 428 Maisson; Mrs. O. R. Wilcoxon, 14 Radnor; Richard Young, 20243 Lancaster; Charles Zentgraf, 77 Sunningdale.

"In our opinion, this is a fine representative group of citizens," Mr. Wicking declared. "Members of the Board and Superintendent Bushong feel confident that these people, working closely with staff and board members, will provide us with a workable plan."

The lay group is working with school staff and Board of Education representatives, under the chairmanship of Paul E. Mawhinney, Director of Pupil Personnel. Mrs. Ruth H. Goebel is representing the Board.

The committee has held several meetings to date and is expected to present its recommendations to school officials by the first of the year.

New City Hall Turned Down Again

Plans Refused for the Third Time by a Vote of 932 to 871 at Special Election

For the third time in less than three years, Woods voters have turned down a bond issue for a new city hall.

After weeks of campaigning to inform the citizens of a need for a new municipal building, only a few of the electors of the city went to the polls during a special election on Monday, December 16, and rejected the appeal for a $340,000 issue by a vote of 932 against, and 871 in favor.

An apathetic attitude was apparent in that only 1,803 voters went to the polls. The Woods has more than 10,000 qualified registered voters.

Third Rejection

This marks the third time the citizens of the community "turned thumbs down" for a new building.

The first time was on February 21, 1955, when electors were asked to approve a bond issue for $320,000. This was rejected by a vote of 1,015 to 888.

During the regular spring election, April 1, of this year, the matter was again submitted to the people, this time for $475,000. Again the issue was defeated. The vote was 2,390 against, and 1,428 for.

Approximately 25 Woods citizen-taxpayers worked for weeks trying to make the people realize the present city hall was no longer adequate for the fastest growing Pointe.

Committee Worked Hard

The group, the Municipal Building Advisory Committee, met on its own time to devise means on how to pass on information on the necessity of a new edifice. It sent out literature, made personal phone calls, and submitted press releases.

The defeat of the bond issue climaxed the committee's efforts.

City Administrator William Lange said that even with such a low number of votes, if 60 percent of the ballots cast favored the issue, it would have passed.

He said that the next move is now up to the Woods council, which will meet tonight, December 19, at a postponed regular session.

The council will decide whether to try again at some future date, or devise other means for a new building, or let the matter rest.

Driver Ticketed Following Chase

Two Shores patrolmen pursued a speeder into St. Clair Shores, on Friday, December 13, to give him a ticket.

Shore Police Chief Fred Duemling said that Patrolmen Harry Hamilton and Chester Painter were cruising on Lake Shore, when they observed a car traveling north at an excessive rate of speed and took up pursuit.

They galed the car, driven by Gerald J. Juergens, 21, of 22610 St. Gertrude, St. Clair Shores, at 55 miles an hour. The limit is 35.

In their report, the officers said that due to heavy traffic and a bus in the center traffic lane of the curve at the Ford estate, they were hampered in their chase, and could not make an arrest in the Shores.

They said that after Juergens passed the curve, he picked up speed, driving at about 65 miles an hour, and came to a stop at Nine Mile road and Jefferson, St. Clair Shores, when the traffic light turned red. They waved Juergens over to the curb, and wrote up a ticket for speeding and gave it to him.

Goodfellows' Sale Success

Policeman Injured
Scheikart touched on a sad note.

"For the first time in 29 years," he said, "a Goodfellow's salesman was injured in traffic while selling papers."

City Patrolman Douglas Allor was seriously hurt when struck by a car at Jefferson and Fisher road.

He called on those present to stand in one minute of silent prayer, for the speedy recovery of the injured officer.

The co-chairmen said that it was fortunate that for the first time, the club had insured all Goodfellow workers against injuries while making sales.

"It was unfortunate that this accident happened," they said, "but rest assured that Doug will be well taken care of, and that his family will not need for anything."

In Bon Secours
Patrolman Allor is in Bon Secours Hospital with a broken pelvis. The insurance will cover hospital expenses, it was said. It will be several weeks before he will be on his feet again, he added.

Scheikart, Sr. then introduced a number of those present, all of whom were members of the Lions club, or associated with the Goodfellows movement. They are:

Police Chief Walter Hoyt and Fire Chief M. William Mason of the Farms; Police Chief Arthur Louwers and Fire Chief George deCaussin of the Park; Woods Director of Public Safety Vern C. Bailey; and Shores Police Chief Fred Duemling. The latter two are heads of their respective combined police and fire departments.

Others Take Bows
City Police Chief Thomas Trombly was not present, but a number from his police and fire departments took their bows.

Also introduced were: Frank Roland, a retired Park fireman, who got up from a sick bed to sell papers; Al Jacob, a Pointe businessman; Ledger Chauvin, retired City fire chief; Ed Reart, retired Park fire chief; State Sen. Harold Ryan; Harold Stoll, Wayne County treasurer, and Edward S. Ferris, Wayne County assistant prosecutor and chief of the Criminal Division.

S. Willard Hosking, president of the Pointe Lions Club, thanked everyone for a wonderful job with the help of all the "newsboys."

Phil Skillman Plays
During the luncheon, Phil Skillman and his orchestra entertained with music.

After enjoying the food, the assembly was treated to more music by Vere Werwilke and his orchestra, and a number of songs sung by charming Mary Ann Shepherd.

This was followed by acrobatic dancing by Toni Mara, and music by Ed Collins, "king of the banjo," who also sang and told jokes.

Margaret Hakke Wins High Honor

A senior at Grosse Pointe University School has been named a Semifinalist in the National Merit Scholarship competition, according to Headmaster John Chandler, Jr. She is Margaret Hakke, daughter of the Robert J. Hakkes, of Kensington road.

Miss Hakke is listed among the 7,500 high scorers on the Scholarship Qualifying Test, a nationwide college aptitude examination given in 14,000 high schools on October 22. She was one of the top scorers among 300,000 fellow seniors who took the exam, and thus moved a step closer to one of the $4 million in Merit Scholarships to be awarded in the 1958 program.

Officer Hurt

Seriously Injured
Allor, 40, was rushed to Bon Secours Hospital with a broken pelvis, possible skull fracture and two deep lacerations. He is married and the father of three children. He has been with the Grosse Pointe City police force since April, 1945.

One bright note in the picture is the fact that this year, for the first time, all policemen and firemen in the Pointe were fully covered by insurance while selling papers on Goodfellow's Day. This was put into effect by S. Willard Hosking, president of the Grosse Pointe Lions Club, and covers full medical and liability expenses.

There is a question as to whether Miss Freden's windshield was clear, and her vision unobscured. This is currently under investigation. She was ticketed for not having her car under control, and a court date has been set for February 5.

The trouble with a dollar nowadays is that it gets subtracted from, not added to—divided and not multiplied.

Pointe Schools Offer 12 Years of Math

(Continued from Page 1) total enrollment in the 9th grade is only 797, indicating that about 200 10th graders are enrolled, probably in Algebra. There are 874 enrolled in Geometry, a 10th grade subject—this number representing 77 per cent of the 10th grade enrollment, or 774.

Nearly Complete Enrollment

Considering the excess students in the 9th grade courses as being 10th graders, and allowing for the fact that some 11th graders are undoubtedly enrolled in Geometry, it is still obvious that nearly 100 percent of the 9th and 10th graders are enrolled in mathematics and will complete their high school education with, in most cases, a minimum of two years of mathematics.

Not as high a percentage will continue on to a third year of mathematics, but at the present time there are 259 enrolled in Advanced Algebra. If one assumes, and it is reasonable to do so, that the greater part of this number are 11th grade pupils it must be recognized that between 35 percent and 40 percent of the students will have had at least three years of mathematics upon graduation.

In the 12th grade, 99, representing 20 percent of the class, are enrolled in the fourth year of mathematics.

Tell Different Story
These figures tell a different story than those used in the recent national magazine survey.

HOME BROKEN INTO

The home of Grosse Pointe Park's newly appointed City Manager Robert Sloane, was broken into on Sunday, December 15, around 1:30 p.m. According to information supplied by Park Chief of Police Arthur E. Louwers, the house, purchased recently, was vacant, and it was broken into by breaking the glass in the kitchen window.

A case in point is the November 26 issue of NEWS-WEEK. It published figures leading readers to believe that about one in four high school students take Algebra and only one in eight take Algebra and Geometry. Only one in 20 take Physics, according to their statistics. Present enrollment in Physics at our High School is 133—or about one in every four students. Thus, to take these national figures at face value, it would appear that Grosse Pointe students are doing at least five times better than the national average in taking math and science courses.

Discourage Laziness

Grosse Pointe High School has long sought to discourage the tendency of some to seek an easier program during the final high school year, a time when the advanced courses should be taken. There has been some strengthening of this enrollment since the Board of Education's adoption of a policy on March 2, 1955 requiring a minimum of three "solids" in the senior year. Although this was not a popular decision, with some students, it has proved to be in their best interest and illustrates they can do college work with far less strain than their classmates from other high schools which still allow the "soft" program to be followed.

Best Students Work Hard

There is evidence that our better students do take the advanced courses more frequently than the less qualified. In a recent survey within the senior class at Grosse Pointe High School, it was found that the average pupil whose IQ was below 110 had taken a combination of three years of mathematics and science. Those whose IQ was between 110 and 120 had taken an average of four years, while those whose IQ was over 120 had elected over five years of these courses.

It would seem that the recent criticism of the educational program in America is a good thing. Renewed interest on the part of the general public, and a renewed effort on the part of school officials to re-appraise the present system can only result in a stronger and better educational program for Grosse Pointe.

Customer Not Always Right

In case you are thinking of buying a car soon, here's a little tip that's worthwhile remembering. Make sure the salesman is a friend, or this is what might happen...

At 3 p.m. on Monday, December 9, a customer, Henry White of 7515 Iowa, Detroit, walked into the Ray Whyte Chevrolet Company at Lakepointe and Jefferson, and said he wanted to speak to a certain salesman. When told he wasn't there, the man sat down and waited.

At 6:10 p.m., the salesman, Fred Wasnik came in.

Seeing him, White ran up and greeted him in very uncomplimentary terms. Wasnik hauled off and socked him on the jaw.

A report was made at the Park Police Station, but White did not wish to press charges.

LITERALLY FLIES

The only trouble with today's dollar is that it seems to have been built more for speed than for endurance.

TIP TO MOTORISTS

It can't be done without accidents—driving 1958's cars on highways designed to carry 1930's traffic.

Icy Pavements Cause Accidents

Monday, December 16, was a busy morning for City police. In addition to the accident in which one of their fellow officers was badly injured, there were two other mishaps, all within a space of one hour, and mostly attributed to icy pavements.

At 8:06 a.m. there was a three-car crash at the corner of Fisher road and Kercheval avenue. Initially, Mary Alice Luek, of 1011 Maryland, slid into the rear of a car that had stopped for the red light at that corner. Dr. Henry H. Sadtler, of 594 Rivard boulevard, was the driver of the second car.

Mrs. Luek got out of her car to inspect the damage, and as she was looking at her front bumper, a third vehicle, driven by Anna A. Fuhrman, 1245 Chalmers, careened into her. Police rushed Mrs. Luek to Bona Secours Hospital where she was treated for a badly bruised hip, though there were no fractures.

Both Mrs. Fuhrman and Mrs. Luek were ticketed for not having their cars under control and causing an accident. It would seem Dr. Sadtler was an (unfortunate) innocent bystander.

Shortly afterward, at 8:45 that same slippery morning, Moelle Elrod Cunningham, of 4374 Manistique in Detroit, was going east on Mack when he hit a piece of ice, and lost control of her car. She spun completely around and skidded backward into a new building on the southeast corner of Notre Dame and Mack, breaking a planter box but, fortunately, nothing more than that. She was not issued any violation.

Drivers Unhurt In Bad Crash

Charles, 67, was ticketed by Park police on December 16, after his car struck and overturned another vehicle on the corner of Charlevoix and Somerset.

Henry, traveling South on Somerset, said he failed to see the second car, (a cleaner's truck drive by Bernard Padberg, 53, traveling East on Charlevoix), till just before hitting the truck, turning it over.

Luckily, neither driver was so much as scratched, but both cars were badly damaged especially the cleaner's truck, which was totally demolished.

YULE CONCERT PLANNED

A Christmas program presented by the Detroit Edison Glee Club under the direction of John McKenzie will be telecast over WWJ-TV from the Christmas Fantasy setting, of Ford Rotunda on Saturday, December 21 at 6 p.m.

He and His Associates Made Sale Success

CORPORAL GORDON DUNCAN, JR. of the Park Police Department, put plenty of lungpower into his selling campaign as the Goodfellows took over the streets Monday for their annual sale.

Early reports indicated the quota of $10,000 would be reached, making it the most successful in the 29-year history of the movement.

Woods Judge Hears 9 Cases

Woods Judge Don Goodrow meted out fines to nine traffic violators who appeared in his court on Saturday, December 7.

The heaviest fine was handed to William R. Droste of 22436 Daniels, St. Clair Shores, charged with two counts of speeding. He paid a $15 fine on each count.

Also found guilty of speeding was George M. Starling of 30518 Tanglewood, St. Clair Shores, who paid a fine of $17.

A fine of $15 was levied against Dennis G. DeClerk of 1670 Ford court, who was found guilty of speeding.

It cost Herbert Rush of 1234 Anita, a fine of $4 for ignoring a stop street sign.

The following were found guilty of not having their cars under control and causing accidents in individual cases:

Robert C. Webb of 1632 Brys drive, who paid a fine of $10; Myrtle Mae Otto of 21818 Tanglewood, St. Clair Shores, $5; Anthony J. Schenk, 24321 Winton, St. Clair Shores, $5; and Joseph James Bauderer of 1098 Hawthorne, $5.

The good intention man who is always going to turn over a new leaf has been known to lose his place entirely.

Looter of Cars Gets Little Loot

These modern-day thieves are getting fancy ideas! A case in point is the one who was so busy last Wednesday night, December 11, in Notre Dame avenue, specifically, in the 600 block.

Both Bruce Kirk, of 619 Notre Dame, and Marshall Pease, Jr., of 629 Notre Dame, reported the following morning to City police that their garages had been entered and their cars broken into. What's more—both automobiles were Cadillacs!

Ironically enough, the thief failed to reap much harvest from either vehicle. Kirk reported, though his locked glove compartment had been jimmied open, only a plastic coin container with approximately 75c in it was missing.

Pease's glove compartment also had been emptied, and the (must-have-been) disappointed delinquent fled with a single pair of driving gloves, valued at $6.

Group Plans New Action In War Against Obscenity

Meeting at the home of Mrs. Edward Roney, the new Writers' Committee of the Grosse Pointe Council for Better Literature for Youth has formulated plans of action to combat obscene literature by direct appeal to the press.

The group plans to make a united effort to encourage and commend editors and publishers for specific articles and policies that alert the public to the dangers of pornography and obscene material.

By cards and letters the group plans to promote a greater awareness of the effects that editorial and pictorial policies have on the moral standards of this community.

Charter members of the group are co-chairmen Mrs. H. T. Stock, Mrs. Edward Roney, Mrs. Robert Baxter, Mrs. N. H. Hollerbach, Mrs. John Murphy and Mrs. Henry Petrie.

Said co-chairman Mrs. Roney, "There has never been such a need for public vigilance and civic responsibility as the present. No parent, teacher, or alert citizen can afford to ignore the danger that threatens our children and young people. Freedom demands responsibility, and the Pointe communities must respond to the need."

Those wishing to participate in the newly formed group, or in the Council for Better Literature for Youth are urged to contact Mrs. Jacob Wenzel, TU 2-6391. "Writing experience is not necessary," said Mrs. Roney, "Only a willingness to fight obscene literature is required."

Prowlers Visit Home in Park

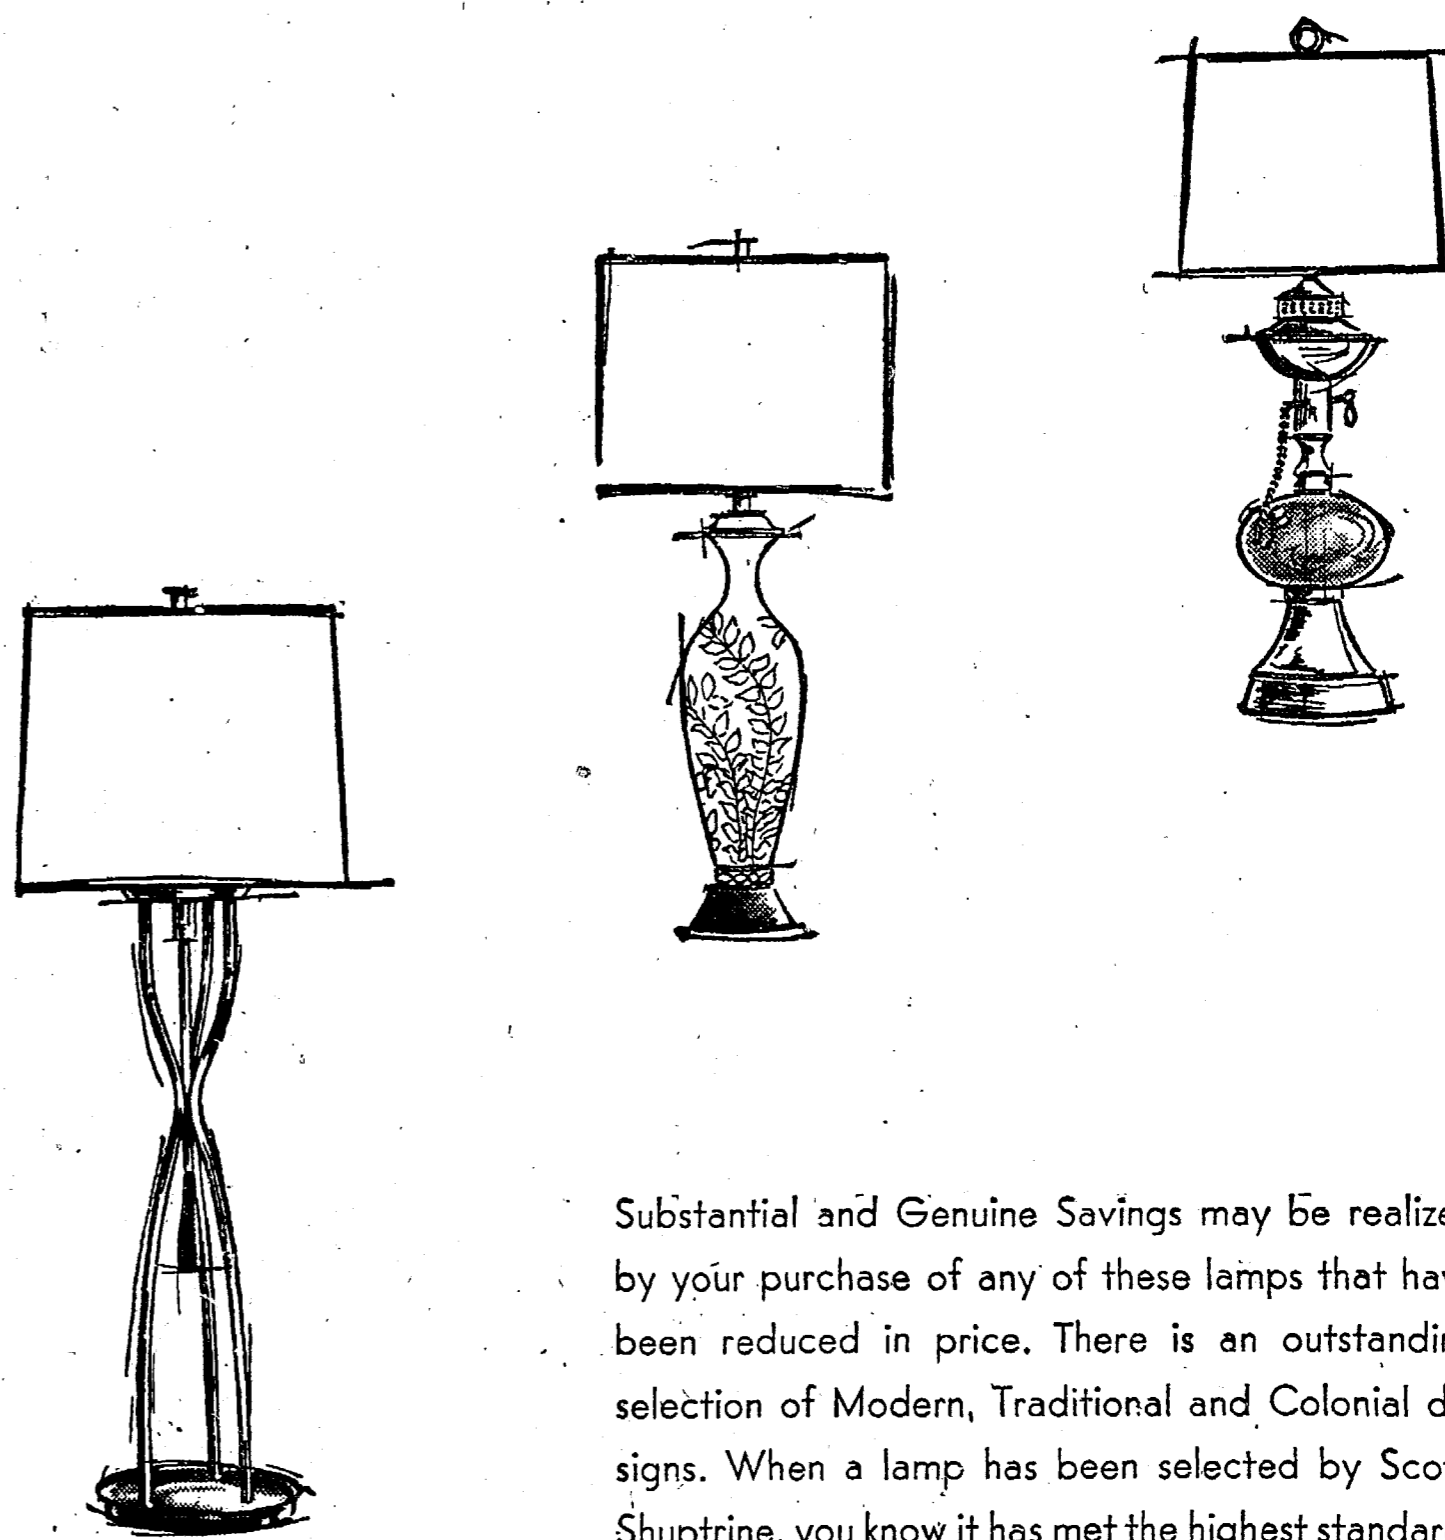

Ernest W. Nigg, of 850 Bal-four, reported to Park police on Friday, December 13, that the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Field, the elderly couple who both died the week before, had been broken into.

No one had been living in the house at 1036 Berkshire, since Mrs. Field, who was 63, hung herself from the rafters of her garage by a bathrobe cord, just six hours after hearing that her husband had died. He hung himself from a shower handle in his private room at University Hospital, in Ann Arbor.

Whoever broke into the house did so by breaking a window on the side door, but apparently nothing had been taken, according to the police report.

Drunk Drivers To Go to Jail

Detroit Traffic Court's policy of handing down straight jail sentences for persons convicted of drunken driving during the Christmas holiday period was in effect this week.

Judge George T. Murphy, who is presiding in Traffic Court this month issued a statement dealing with the drunken driver program. The statement follows:

"In the past five years, an average of 29 persons, nearly one each day, has been killed in Detroit traffic accidents during the month of December. Historically, December has been the worst month of the year for fatal and serious injury accidents.

"In the Court's opinion, there are three principal reasons for this record:

1. Most fatalities occur during the hours of darkness when it is harder for both the driver and pedestrian to see danger. There are more hours of darkness during December than during any other month, a factor which is further aggravated by foul weather conditions.
2. Christmas holiday traffic, both vehicular and pedestrian, is extremely heavy. Both drivers and pedestrians are often distracted by shopping and other holiday problems and relax their vigilance in traffic.
3. Most importantly, drinking reaches its peak in December. Christmas festivities in homes, at the office and in bars lead to too much drinking, often by a person who rarely takes a drink at any other time of the year. When such a person gets behind the wheel, he is a menace to himself and to everyone else.

"Traffic Court throughout the year deals sternly with motorists convicted of drunken driving, as well as with other flagrant violators. During the Christmas season, however, when drinking reaches its peak and other accident factors become more critical, we feel that a more severe penalty is required for the motorist who drinks to excess and then drives.

"For these reasons, we are again putting into effect our annual holiday policy concerning drunken and drinking drivers which follows:

All drivers convicted of drunken driving the holiday season will receive straight jail sentences, without the alternative of paying a fine. Such persons, under State law, also automatically lose their licenses for 90 days and must establish financial responsibility before they can get them back.

In other violations where drinking is a factor, those convicted can be certain their sentences will be more severe than if no drinking was involved.

"Although fatalities have increased alarmingly during the past two months, Detroit's traffic record for the first 11 months of 1957 was a good one. We believe the policies of this Court have contributed substantially to this record, as well as to the enviable record Detroit has established in past years.

"We sincerely urge voluntary observance to traffic laws on the part of all motorists, and particularly where drinking intoxicating beverages is concerned. This also applies to pedestrians, who often are to blame for their own deaths.

"Such observance will save both motorists and pedestrians trouble in Traffic Court. "It may also save them from a serious, perhaps a fatal, accident."

REPORTS STOLEN CAR

Robert Cucchi, of 1486 Wayburn, reported that his car, a 1950 Chevrolet Tudor, was stolen from his house on the night of December 12. Another car, found nearby, out of gas and listed as stolen from Detroit, is believed by Park police to have been stolen by the same person or persons.

$100 Fine, 90 Days in Jail Handed Reckless Driver

Judge Douglas Paterson held Justice Court hearings last Tuesday night, December 10. First, and most serious, of the offenders to be heard was Donald Eugene Marble.

Marble was the man who hit and killed Margaret Wade two years ago, at the corner of Jefferson and Roosevelt. This time he was charged with reckless driving and driving with a revoked license.

Judge Paterson gave him the maximum penalty for these offenses: a $100 fine and 90 days in the county jail.

Shores was found guilty of Peter John Smedes, of 22107 Trombly road in St. Clair Shores, was found guilty to a charge of reckless driving and fined $15.

Walter L. Pluckett, 1217 Hart avenue in Detroit, stood mute when faced with a charge of having driven through a red light thereby causing an accident. He was found guilty, but sentence was suspended.

John F. Mutch, of 16824 Stahelin in Detroit, pled guilty to a charge of reckless driving and was accordingly fined $10.

Shirley Young, of 158 Ridge road, stood mute when charged with reckless driving. She was found guilty of interfering with moving traffic and fined $25.

Mrs. Elizabeth Livingston, of 100 Mapleton road, pleaded not guilty to a charge of not having her car under control and causing an accident. Judge Paterson declared she was not guilty and her case was dismissed.

Gracomo Dimaggio, of 4429 Fisher road, in Detroit, was charged with simple larceny. He stood mute, and was found guilty. Judge Paterson fined him $25.

Shores Traffic Violators Pay

James R. Otey of 22444 Lake drive, St. Clair Shores, charged with reckless driving on Lake Shore road, was found guilty by Shores Judge John Gillis on Monday, December 9, and ordered to pay a fine and court costs of $107.50.

The judge added a year's probation, during which Otey is forbidden to drive.

Sigmund Kaminski of 7547 Stockton, Detroit, was found guilty of speeding on Lake Shore and paid a fine of $25.

Aldo V. Marroco of 11744 Sanford, Detroit, failed to appear for speeding on Lake Shore and for driving while his operator's license was expired, and a warrant was issued for his arrest.

William Tyrell of 90 Vernier road, accused of violating Section 2 of Ordinance 22, disturbing the peace by running a power saw on a Sunday, was found not guilty and his case was dismissed.

Edward D. Werner of 28212 Groveland, Roseville, was found guilty of speeding on Vernier, and fined $10 and costs of $7.50.

William A. Keller of 781 Harcourt, paid a fine of $50 when it was proved that he was driving at an extreme rate of speed on Lake Shore.

Samuel B. Pollock of 2230 Englehardt, St. Clair Shores, was found guilty of speeding on Vernier, and paid $17.50.

Prescott H. Cummings, Jr., of 518 Marlborough, Detroit, paid a fine and costs of $17.50 after being found guilty of speeding on Vernier.

Posts $100 Bond Following Crash

Jerry Joe Feldman, of 18431 Mack avenue, was ticketed for reckless driving, causing an accident, and leaving the scene of an accident.

All this occurred at the corner of Jefferson and University on Sunday, December 15, when he ran into the rear of a car stopped for the red light at that corner. Lee Adeline DiRocco, of 5067 Cadillac in Detroit, was the driver of the other car.

Feldman was picked up by police at 500 Parkview, in Detroit, and held at the City station for a $100 cash bond, which was put up later that evening.

ESSAY CONTEST ANNOUNCED

Establishment of a prize essay competition in philosophy for Michigan State University students has been announced by the M.S.U. department of philosophy. A $100 prize will go to the student who offers the best original discussion of some philosophical problem, text, author or movement. The competition is named for Prof. John M. DeHaan, late member of the M.S.U. faculty.

Drunken Driver Gets Jail Term

Walter Hicks, 36, of 2210 Ford, was arrested December 15 for drunk driving, and sentenced to serve 30 days in jail.

Standing trial before Judge Patterson, Hicks pleaded not guilty, and told the judge that it wasn't he who was driving the car at all, but rather his girl friend, who jumped out of the car and ran, after being stopped by Park Patrolman John La Pratt, going east on Mack, between Wayburn and Beaconsfield.

In addition to the drunk driving charge, Hicks was also found guilty of driving with defective brakes, for which he was given 10 more days, and an additional five days for driving without a valid operator's license, a total of 45 days.

G.P.U.S. News Notes
 Last week was the busiest of the semester at Grosse Pointe University School since it marked the taking of mid-year examinations by all students in the Upper School. With the exception of two or three exams scheduled for Monday, December 16, all tests were completed by Friday, December 13, and that was the day, too, when the official, pre-holiday Christmas program was presented.
 Following a tradition of many years, students in the foreign language classes performed as carolers in the language they are studying; thus there was group singing in Latin, French, and Spanish. Readings to introduce the carols and to describe the Christmas customs of the various countries were given by Joyce Green and Bill Garratt, both of the 12th grade.

 Besides students and faculty, a goodly number of parents and friends of G.P.U.S. came to observe the program, which ended with the audience joining the chorus in the singing of Christmas carols.
 In the final chapter of the semester, Headmaster John Chandler, Jr., assessed the work of the first term, discussing the "credits and debits" as they appeared after 12 weeks of school and suggesting areas where improvements could be made in school life while praising the students for jobs well done.
 Accompaniment for the hymns of this assembly was provided by a group of 10 students playing wind instruments and drum under the direction of Mr. David Arner of the Music Department. The musicians were George Bolter, John Golanty, John Lifer, Star Langston, George Lott, Peter Monroe, Frank Mungger, Stephen Norcott, Jac Ritter, John Veech, and Margaret VanDeGraaf.

ward to the trip with great excitement.
 Patsy Standart, of the 12th grade, has designed the cover for the latest issue of the Parents' Bulletin.
 A contributor to the local American Junior Red Cross publication, Junior Junta, is Lyn Hallett, of the 12th grade, who has written an article in it called "World and Community."

Another Christmas project with which G.P.U.S. students are busying themselves is that of the Junior girls, whose home room teacher is Miss Elizabeth Ferguson. They are sponsoring a trip to the Ford Rotunda for boys, aged 9 to 13, from the Casa Maria Community Center, 1500 Trumbull. The youngsters come from underprivileged homes, and the director of the community center says they are looking for-

STUDENT JOBS SOURCE
 Students seeking temporary employment during the Christmas recess have been finding fewer jobs than at any time in the past 11 years, according to Merland A. Kopka, director of placement services at Wayne State University. "In previous years, our office has had a backlog of companies student help during the Christmas rush," Kopka said. "This year there is no backlog. Requests are almost non-existent."

Millions of people are dissatisfied with the world, but only a few are trying to do anything about it.

This Saturday, December 21, marks the Chandlers' annual Santa Claus party for faculty children. Each year the Headmaster and Mrs. Chandler invite the teachers, especially those with children and even grandchildren, to come, and everyone waits for Santa to arrive and distribute presents.
 One of the faculty children, when she was a sixth grader, described it like this in a composition entitled "What Christmas Means to Me": "To me Christmas means the day of Christ's Birthday. A day of prayer. A day we should be thankful for. It also means a time of fun. The part of Christmas I like best is every year Mr. Chandler has a Christmas party. When he announces that Santa is coming, it just gives me chills to see all the children's happy faces."

A number of G.P.U.S. parents and teachers were among the audience at the Institute of Arts last Saturday night to see John Sweeney, D.U.S. '44, appear as guest conductor of the Detroit Women's Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Sweeney conducted a program honoring the late Victor Kolar, who had been the orchestra's conductor for the past 10 years. John Sweeney, a former student and protege of Mr. Kolar, is conducting symphony orchestras this season in Port Huron and Mt. Clemens.
 The G.P.U.S. Junior Red Cross Council sponsored a drive for food to be added to Christmas baskets for some 700 needy families living on Detroit's East Side. The drive produced an estimated $75 in canned goods, sugar, coffee, and miscellaneous non-perishable items. The baskets are distributed by the Santa Society, a group of citizens working in co-operation with city welfare agencies. The Red Cross officers, who led the G.P.U.S. drive, were co-presidents Lynne Randall and Dick Johnson and the following class representatives: 12th grade, Lyn Hallett, Judy Weckler, McGregor Doods, and Richard Kinder; 11th grade,

Bus Hits Taxi at Charlevoix and St. Clair

The corner of Charlevoix and St. Clair was the scene of a minor accident on Thursday, December 12. A Lakeshore bus, going east on Charlevoix, stopped for a fare on the southwest corner, and as it started up again, it hit the right side of a Veterans' cab which was going south on St. Clair.

The driver of the bus Edward John Majchrzak, of 22624 Avon in St. Clair Shores. The taxi-driver was Edward Linck, of 3914 Young street, in Detroit. Damage was negligible and no tickets were issued.

Sale of Christmas Seals Raises 163,000 to Dec. 13

Mrs. Harold E. Siebert, chairman of the Christmas Seal Summer Camp Committee, reported on December 13 that the 51st Annual Christmas Seal Sale had netted $163,000 so far.

This is the third year, according to Mrs. Siebert, that the Detroit Tuberculosis Sanatorium and the TB and Health Society have joined forces to promote the sale of one Christmas Seal.

"Both organizations are only interested in one thing," she added, "and that is winning the fight against tuberculosis."

"The Christmas Seal summer camp for children, operated by the Detroit TB Sanatorium is supported solely by the Christmas Seal funds. We can't operate the camp without money and we can't get the money if more people don't buy Christmas Seals."

The Christmas Seal camp is located on North Lake near Chelsea, Mich. It is in operation during July and August each year and has facilities to accommodate 450 children for periods of one month each.

Children from all walks of life attend the camp each year. Some come from families where the parents are hospitalized with tuberculosis. Others are children who have recovered from TB.

Approximately 60 paid staff workers are employed at the camp on a full-time basis as counsellors, cooks, recreation directors, etc.

The camp itself has many advantages. It relieves parents of the burden of caring for their children while there is illness in the family. It helps youngsters who have recovered from TB gain strength to ward off the dangers of a relapse from the disease. To some extent, it prevents children living in neighborhoods where the TB rate is high from catching tuberculosis.

"The summer camp performs a very necessary service to the whole community," Mrs. Siebert said. The cost of its operation, which runs into thousands of dollars each year, is paid for by Christmas Seals.

Mrs. Siebert emphasized that there is still time to buy Christmas Seals this year. "For those who may not have received Seals," she added, "they can be obtained by calling the TB and Health Society at WO 1-

Tourist Council Issues Ski Map

A revised edition of a state-wide ski map and winter sports guide has been released by the Michigan Tourist Council.

Some 50 thousand copies will be distributed throughout Michigan and the Midwest during the season, according to Robert J. Furlong, Council executive secretary.

Main feature of the folder is a 17x22 inch map which pinpoints sports areas and a listing of facilities offered by each.

points locations of the 64 winter sports areas are in the upper peninsula, 23 in west Michigan, 21 in east Michigan and six in the southeast section of the state. Nine of the winter sports centers are new this year.

Mr. Furlong said publication of the winter sports guide supplements advertising and promotion efforts of the regional tourist association, chambers of commerce and other interest groups of the individual winter resort areas.

Included in the Council's advertising campaign is sponsorship of the Bob Reynolds "Late Sports Report" radio program from Detroit as well as 24 one-minute spot radio announcements out of Ft. Wayne, Ind. and Chicago.

Single copies or quantity supplies of the Michigan winter sports map-guide are available free of charge from the Tourist Council, Lansing, 26.

Cite Holiday Liquor Laws

This year, as in the past years, all Grosse Pointe licensees are asked to pay special attention to the laws passed by the Liquor Control Commission of Michigan in regard to the hours of operation on Christmas and New Year's.

Section 19e of this law states that . . . "No licensee enumerated under Section 19 of this act or any other person shall sell at retail, and no person shall knowingly and wilfully buy, any liquor between the hours of 9 p.m. on December 24 and 7 a.m. on December 26 . . ."

Regarding hours of operation on New Year's Eve, the Commission has ordered that the rule prohibiting the sale and serving of alcoholic beverages after 2 a.m. be suspended for the purpose of permitting the sale and serving of alcoholic beverages for consumption on the premises until 4 a.m., Wednesday, January 1, 1958, with half hour for clearance of premises from 4 to 4:30 a.m.

This change in the hours of operation for the New Year's eve will be in effect throughout the State of Michigan unless otherwise prohibited by local ordinance.

The above law applies to all Class "C" owners, A-Hotels, B-Hotels, Clubs, but the change in hours of operation on New Year's Eve does not apply to SDM and SDD Licensees.

Science Teacher to Become Missionary

"The rate of loss on science and mathematics teachers is too high," says Charles Leavitt, Principal of Pierce Junior High School. "We lose one or two a year to industry or business and now we are giving up another. Norman Haupt has taught mathematics and science here for three years and has done an excellent job of it. Now he is leaving public school teaching December 20 to go to Africa to teach and do missionary work. We all wish him and his family every happiness and success in their new work. However, finding a replacement for Norm when science teachers are so extremely scarce poses a real problem."

These remarks spotlighted what is currently one of the most sensitive areas of public education.

MR. HAUPT, and his wife JUNE, and their two daughters, CHERYL, 2½ years and ANITA, 5 weeks, all pictured above, will sail for England January 3. Mrs. Haupt, a native of England, and the children will remain in England, with her parents until spring. Mr. Haupt will fly to Africa to assume his new duties immediately.

There, at Greater Soppo in the Southern Cameroons, he will take up a position as teacher in a Baptist Teacher Training College. The college trains natives to become elementary teachers in the local schools of this backward and undeveloped area.

Mr. Haupt is a graduate of the University of New Hampshire and Boston University. Mrs. Haupt is a graduate of Columbia Bible College of Columbia, South Carolina. Both have been interested in missionary work for some time and are looking forward to their new experience. The Greater Soppo Baptist Church is sponsoring them in their work for a three-year period.

Greater Soppo is located about 21 miles from the Atlantic coast and not too far north of the equator. It is located on the side of a volcano. The altitude is such that the temperature is modified to an average of 83 degrees. Mr. Haupt reports that the average rainfall statistic is somewhat startling. About 400 inches fall annually which is approximately ten times that of Grosse Pointe. Most of it falls in a four month period, however, and so for eight months it is not a serious problem.

Leaky Furnace Cause of Fire

A fire which broke out in a five-family apartment house at 1110 Maryland on Thursday, December 12, kept both the Grosse Pointe Park and City Fire Departments busy for over 2½ hours.

Caused by a leaky gas furnace in the basement, the fire burned for over an hour before an occupant in the building smelled the smoke and called the fire department. Firemen extinguished the flames, which by this time had reached all the way to the attic.

EMERGENCY ADVICE

The gas lines or connections in your home may spring a leak. If so, there is immediate danger of an explosion. The Institute for Safer Living says, if you should smell gas: First, turn off emergency switch to the oil burner in basement. Do not enter the cellar under any conditions. Throw open all windows and doors. Call the police or gas company for assistance.

Veterans Flock Back to School

Fall enrollments of veterans training under the Korean GI Bill in Michigan appear to be only slightly less than the all-time record established last fall, according to preliminary reports received by the Veterans Administration Detroit regional office.

On November 1—with complete enrollment figures still not in—the total had passed 24,431. This is only 4.8 per cent under the 25,684 veteran-trainees reported on November 1 a year ago.

IN CASE OF EMERGENCY

Often a child or even adult cannot pull his or herself free if contacting a live wire or in some cases an open or defective electric socket. The Institute for Safer Living says: Act fast! Any hesitation may mean electrocution. (1) Don't touch victim or wire. Knock the wire away with a non-conductor such as a broom or stick. (2) Or, clothing may be used to loop over wire and pull away from the victim. (3) When contact has been broken, apply artificial respiration. Meanwhile have someone call a doctor.

The University of Michigan Bureau of Appointments and Occupational Information handled more than 30,000 requests for personnel in 1956-57.

Caution Urged In Buying Toys

When you buy toys as Christmas gifts, make sure your first consideration is the child's happiness, but remember that safety and suitability for age are important if they are to bring this happiness. Dr. Joseph G. Molner, commissioner of health, advises. Wise selection of toys as gifts by aunts and other relatives will help to give the child's parents an additional delight in the child. Select toys that are durable to give to young children. They should be easily cleaned and not have removable parts small enough to be swallowed.

Each toy should stimulate its owner to some activity, either mental or physical. Some of the long-time favorites which meet this requirement include dolls, wagons which have pull strings with round handles and blocks with round corners. These are universal favorites with children, because they can be used by youngsters of different ages and under almost all circumstances.

Normal physical growth and personal development require opportunity for wholesome play and toys are the tools of play. Take into consideration the age and living conditions of the child before you buy toys. A sled or skates given to a boy who has no safe place to use them, only tempts him to take unnecessary risks and to use them in unsafe places, or else it makes him feel frustrated because he cannot use them.

The tiny baby's first toy should be a bright one to hang where he can follow it with his eyes, but not grab it. When he is three to four months old, he can grasp and hold a rattle. A child between one and two years is learning fast and he needs toys to push and pull, to lead and unload, to pile up and knock down again.

A young child will be happier if his holiday celebration is spread over several days. If he is given too many toys at once, he is merely confused and bewildered and his enjoyment diminishes by the confusion. Make sure the toys you give him do not have sharp points and that they will not break or splinter. Avoid stuffed animals which have glass or button eyes which might be swallowed.

Young children and babies are sensitive to the emotions of those closest to them. If there is a baby or young child in your family, surround him with the feeling of security and warmth of a happy family holiday and try not to make it too different from the experience he is accustomed to on other days. Don't overwhelm him with too many visitors, too many toys, or too much excitement. If you expect him to have a happy Christmas, make sure that he has enough rest by preventing over-excitement.

Recent Gifts Being Shown At Detroit Art Institute

The Detroit Institute of Arts has received a number of gifts which are on exhibition for holiday gallery-goers in the Recent Accessions gallery. Most important is the portrait "Girl With a Lute" by Giovanni Battista Tiepolo, Italian (Venice) 1696-1770, the fourth gift from Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford II in 1957.

"This picture, in rich colors of mauve, gold and blues, represents a definite aspect of his art and may be called the perfection of that kind of painting in the eighteenth century." Dr. E. P. Richardson, Institute Director said. "Its luminosity of color and freshness of touch, grace and ease, are unsurpassed in Tiepolo's work. We are fortunate to acquire such a brilliant addition to our collection of eighteenth century painting. The picture has never been published before. It came from the collection of a private French family. It will be discussed in an article by Antonio Morsani, the leading Italian expert on Tiepolo."

The museum is fortunate also to have the paintings Alexander and the Daughters of Darius of Tiepolo's middle period, and St. Joseph and the Christ Child, from his last great series of church decorations done in Madrid in 1769, as well as an early Madonna and Child of about 1730. These are in the Florentine Galleries.

The catalogue of the Institute's exhibition Venice in the 18th Century, staged in 1952, stated: "Tiepolo is the last great painter of the Venetian school and one of the great figures of eighteenth century European art. You might call him the last great universal figure of the long line of Italian artists which began with Giotto in the fourteenth century and produced figures like Leonardo da Vinci and Michelangelo in the sixteenth century, ending with Tiepolo in the eighteenth century. He was not only the great painter of Venice but he carried out huge commissions all over Europe. He painted great decorative projects, religious pictures, portraits, and in all aspects of his art is one of the greatest and most rewarding of the European artists of his time. Richness and ease, splendor and simplicity, gayety and elevation of feeling, grandeur and charm, are Tiepolo's qualities."

Other gifts from Mr. and Mrs. Ford this year have been a Rembrandt portrait, "Woman Weeping," a Meissen plate from the famed Swan service and an Italian 15th century wood sculpture of the Madonna.

Also of particular interest at this season is a Giovanni della Robbia plaque "Adoration of the Virgin and St. Joseph" which is the gift of Mrs. Josephine Nevins Keel. This is also on view in the Recent Accessions gallery.

This round plaque, about 15 inches in diameter, is glazed like the works of the early della Robbia but the faces of the figures, instead of being glazed and painted are left the color of the original terra cotta, thus giving a very pleasing and delicate difference of texture. The plaque is one of the few examples of Giovanni della Robbia (Italian, 1469-1529) in America, it comes from the collection of the last descendant of the della Robbia family, Marquis della Robbia of Florence. Two of the most important members of the family are already represented in our collection, in particular by gifts from Mrs. Edsel B. Ford and Mrs. Walter O. Briggs. The third member of that family, Giovanni della Robbia, who in many respects is as important as his father, Andrea, and his great uncle, Luca, is now represented in our museum by one of his masterpieces.

The new gift is small in scale, intimate in subject and wonderfully appropriate to the Christmas season. Other Christmas gifts for the Detroit Art Institute will be announced next week.

The man with an iron will is usually the first to rust out.

Lochmoor to Greet Santa This Sunday

Party Will Begin at 2 O'clock When St. Nick's Sleigh Bells Will Herald His Approach to Gaily Decked Ballroom; T. J. Newtons' Chairmen of Party

Strange isn't it, how that jolly old gentleman Santa Claus seems always to find enough time to crowd just one more pre-Christmas personal appearance in to his busy schedule.

He has ear-marked Sunday, December 22nd in his engagement book for his annual trek to Lochmoor Club, to visit with the children and grandchildren of the members, jot down a last minute request or two and reassure them that he will surely be stopping at their homes on Christmas eve.

Of course with his many, many duties, Santa Claus must of necessity enlist the aid of helpers in arranging details for the club party. This year Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Newton have volunteered their services to lighten his load. Assisting the Newtons will be Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Browning, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kemp and Mr. and Mrs. James Dodge.

The party is slated for 2 p.m. and while awaiting the sound of tinkling sleigh bells which will signal St. Nick's arrival, the children will be entertained in the ballroom.

Santa Claus will be seated on stage in a throne-like chair, surrounded with huge bags of gifts which he in turn will present to the boys and girls.

Refreshments are to be served in the California room around a giant Christmas tree literally laden with red and white striped candy cane.

The Newton children, Tommy and Lynn, will accompany their parents to the afternoon party as will the youngsters of the other committee members: Ann Dodge, Scott Kemp and Michael, Elizabeth, Geoffrey, Robert, Joan and Mary Browning.

Some of the young set planning to attend are: Sally, Kim Marie and "Clippy" Byrne; Chris Duffy; Mary Ellen, John Laurie, Ann, Sally and Mark Emery; Julie and Margaret Ann Tapert and Bill, Nancy, Sue and Tommy Maranette; Anne, William and John Bokram; Pinkie and Tim Sinclair; Sally, Pam, Tommy and Jeffrey Clark; Karen, Betty Ann and George Belanger; Richard, Paul and Clifford Dirksen; Tommy and Philip Jennings; Michele, Joanne and Kenny Fisher; John Walters; Robert and William Strange; Frank, Peter and Jeff Barrows; Marilyn and Donna Blaess and Suzanne and Robert Andries are others.

Patients Given Parties By Hospital Auxiliary

Two Christmas Parties for patients at Harper Hospital were given by members of Harper Hospital Auxiliary on December 17. Mrs. Ward F. Seeley and Mrs. Paul S. Pahrson, co-chairmen of the Pediatric Play Program were in charge of the party on the Pediatric Floor.

Members of the Auxiliary and a group of Red Cross workers assisted Santa Claus in distributing gifts to each child patient. Dr. Robert P. Richardson, a pediatrician on the staff of Harper Hospital, played the role of Santa Claus. After the gifts were distributed, ice cream and cookies were served. Place mats and favors for the trays were made by Mrs. Robert G. Wilson's Girl Scout Group.

Mrs. Richard M. McKean was in charge of the party for the orthopedic patients. Mrs. Carl J. Carlson of the Detroit Farm and Garden Group with her assistants brought greens which the orthopedic patients made into corsages.

Mrs. Joseph G. Verstraete, president of Harper Hospital Auxiliary, Mrs. Elton C. Foeller, chairman of Volunteers, Mrs. Sydney K. Beigler and Mrs. Edward J. Shumaker, co-chairmen of Social Affairs and members of their committees assisted at both parties.

PAYS AND PAYS Bad habits cost money, but many a man seems to think they are worth the price.

Indoor Christmas Decorations Add Greatly to the Holidays

By SUE HALLIDAY

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the house... every room sparkled with Christmas cheer. The woman of the house was "settled down for a long winter's nap," knowing that her house reflected the holiday spirit from top to bottom.

To start you off on "Operation Christmas," here are a few decoration hints that you and the whole family can follow. They are simple and easy, and if started now, you can enjoy that "long winter's nap" too.

You can easily adorn a mantel top with a miniature nativity scene. All you need are a few small plaster statues and blue sheet paper for a backdrop. The crib can be made from a cardboard box, with one side cut out, and disguised with brown shopping bags, turned inside out. Top and drape with tinsel and angel's hair. If you place your crib scene beneath the tree, your mantel top can display a tiny Christmas tree, festooned with gaily-colored ribbons tied to the branches, or bedecked with imitation flowers.

For a simpler arrangement, top the mantel with evergreen branches, on which you can place Christmas baubles and pine cones. Small dimedore shaving mugs can be wrapped in Christmas paper, or painted with the names of each member of the family. Pack the bottom with crushed foil, and insert candles, each tied with a large ribbon and gala bow. Set these on top of evergreen sprigs. Don't overlook apothecary jars, which can be filled with peppermint candies, or tied with large bows and filled with tiny Christmas ornaments. Or tie onto your wreath small clusters of lollipops—one for each young visitor.

A nice way to show off your Christmas cards is to hang them on a mobile, constructed with dowel rods and string. A red felt stocking or green felt Christmas tree is a perfect backdrop for cards, too. You can also tape them onto strips of 3-inch ribbon. Sew "jingle bells" onto the bottom of each ribbon, and hang them in the hallway.

Now for the windows and mirrors. You can trace a Christmas scene onto the glass with soap, but trace very lightly. Then cut out squares and triangles (very small) from colored art paper, and paste them into place on the glass. This creates an attractive mosaic effect.

A beautiful stained glass window effect can be achieved by cutting out silhouettes of the nativity scene, the star of Bethlehem, angels and shepherds and pasting them onto your front window. Light it from behind. To dramatize a picture window, dangle ornaments strung on thin wires taped onto your living room ceiling. Vary the lengths of the wires. Let the children decorate their own windows with green cellulose tape. They will find Christmas trees easy to make, or large stars. They can further decorate these with gummed Christmas stickers. Paper doilies can easily be cut into snowflakes, and taped to the window.

Old candles can be transformed for the holiday season. Place a saucepan, containing the old candles, in a frying pan half-filled with water, and melt. If you desire colored candles, add crayons or a few drops of food coloring. When the wax has melted, pour into a cardboard milk carton and place in the refrigerator until very cold. Then take them out and dip once more into the remaining wax for a smooth look. Or you could make a fluffy candle by whipping melted paraffin in a coffee can and pressing the foamy mixture onto your original candle with a knife. For a candle swirl, melt wax and pour into a square cake pan. Thickness should be 1/2 of an inch. Cut into 1/2 inch strips while still flexibly soft and wind each strip around the candle in a spiral fashion, pressing down one edge.

Lovely candle holders can be made from discarded tin cans. Scour them thoroughly and then bedeck with ribbons or wrap around with Christmas wrapping paper. Puncture a hole in one end, large enough for the candle, and sprinkle with glitter. Eggs are usually connected with Easter, but they can make enchanting Christmas ornaments for your tree. Blow out the inside through two tiny holes, punched in front and in back. Wash and dry thoroughly. Decorate with glitter, gummed Christmas stickers, paint or spray them. String them on a knitted cord, and hang on the tree.

Everything in your home is a possibility for a Christmas decoration. A stairway can be wreathed with holly. An overhead light is a mistletoe holder. Bases of lamps can be wreathed with Christmas ornaments, and gay bows can decorate tables and even door-knobs.

It's something to think about!

On a taxable income of $10,000 or more, you may be well repaid by investigating the advantages of tax-exempt State and Municipal Bonds. For instance, if you file a single return on a taxable income of $10,000, you would have to receive a dividend return of 7.45% on a taxable security in order to equal the yield from a 3.50% tax-free bond. Take Good Care Of Appliances

Modern Mrs. America will be getting more electrical gadgets this Christmas than ever before—yet she need not worry when it comes to their maintenance and care.

In fact, properly handled and cared-for, those electrified kitchen appliances probably won't tire until you tire of them!

Take the pop-up toaster. With modern toasters you can keep the mirror-like outer surface gleaming with a few strokes of a damp cloth and a light drycloth polishing after each usage. About the only other items of concern should be frequent removal of bread particles from the toaster's crumb-catcher, and care not to touch the heating elements inside the toaster with works or other utensils.

Then there's the electric coffee-maker. To assure perfect flavor every time, the inside of the appliance should be scoured daily with a small bristle brush, warm water and a detergent—not soap. A thorough rinsing, drying with a clean soft cloth, and storage with the lid removed will complete the necessary ritual.

Each month, because coffee oils tend to build up and create a bitter taste, you should fill the appliance with water, add a "coffee-stain remover" as recommended by the manufacturer, then heat the solution, empty it, scrub, and rinse thoroughly.

Should you scour the surface of your waffle baker? Generally, the manufacturers advise not. After the waffle iron cools with the cover open, the chrome-finished outside surfaces should be wiped with a damp cloth and mild soap.

Waffle grids usually may be cleaned adequately merely by removal from the baker and by dunking in a dishpan. Most modern waffle bakers are specially coated to prevent sticking, removal of that coating may complicate things.

Automatic electric fry pans pose no problems in care or cleaning. Most can be immersed except for a portion of the handle. Pans should be washed as soon as possible after use, especially if salt has been used. If food particles stick, run a small amount of water in the pan, set it on a flat surface and turn it on at 200 degrees for a short time. After it's off, food scours away easily.

For mixers, blenders and similar electrical appliances, the elementary rules for care usually are washing away food shortly after use, and drying with a soft cloth before storing.

When using your iron, take care not to use too much starch, lest the iron stick to the garment or starch collect on the soleplate. After using a steam iron, empty the reservoir at once, and set the still-hot iron on its heel rest, not its carton.

Never immerse the electrical mechanisms of appliances in water—and if water happens to splash into the electrical unit, don't begin operating the appliance until you're certain it is dry.

Remember, special rules for care of different appliances may vary according to manufacturers. Always follow those prescribed by the maker of your pride and joy—he should know.

Police Divers Get Cold Test

It was really cold outside for 17 Michigan State Police skin divers who were given a training test in diving under winter conditions.

The test was held at Higgins lake, where the troopers, representing all sections of the state, met at the conservation training school.

Air temperature hovered around zero when the officers, togged out in their diving suits, tanks and compressed air masks, submerged. It was first necessary to break a path through 40 feet of ice that rimmed the shore.

The troopers did their underwater swimming for intervals as long as 15 minutes.

The skin diving squad was organized last August and trained at East Lansing headquarters and in nearby lakes and streams. The divers have since recovered the bodies of several drowning victims and numerous articles of evidence.

The Higgins lake test was planned last summer, as the divers are expected to work under cold weather conditions as well as when the water and air are balmy.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor: When I was a little girl I was instructed to show great respect and courtesy to an officer of the law. They have a duty to perform and they are paid by the taxpayers to guard property and our personal welfare, which is commendable.

Out here in the district of East Warren avenue, extending to Outer Drive, these traffic policemen seem to me to overdo their job. I never saw faster workers: Woe to you if you should make the mistake of not having that nickel on your person for a parking meter. Hurry as fast as you can to get change at the first shop, you can't get back before the policeman is there writing up that ticket, and no explanation will be listened to.

I stop the car, engine running in front of a radio store, struggling out with a repaired radio and within that minute a policeman had arrived with his pad and no explanation could stop him from writing a ticket as it was a "loading stop." I presumed this sign was placed for the protection and convenience of the merchant, but guess I am wrong in that too.

There are a number of types of parking meters and placed in various positions in relation of the car. In Detroit there are no arrows to show you which meter belongs to which car and if you get your nickel in the wrong meter, that too is your fault. Three dollars, please.

I am taking my business to Grosse Pointe where the Police Department is not so greedy and the meters can be used for as little as one cent—which will take care of the matter until you can look up a nickel. If you are unavoidably and unexpectedly detained and your time has run out, the fine is $1.00 and considerably less if you go immediately to the station around the corner and pay. And Grosse Pointe has provided a number of metered parking lots where your pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters may be used, making it more convenient for us poor taxpayers.

Another instance of apparent greediness of the Detroit Police System, was when suddenly without warning a speed limit was reduced in a residence section to 25 miles per hour and this caught many of

The irony of that was that after we had that black mark on our records, just as suddenly a few months later, the speed limit was put back to the usual 30 miles.

Most of us are proud of a good record and resent a lack of consideration on the part of the police and a lack of common sense and politeness—all qualities asked of us motorists. This sort of thing will tend to make discouraged, resentful drivers out of otherwise excellent law-abiding people.

I am going to keep in the Grosse Pointe District for my shopping.

Mrs. William Cleveland.

Christmas Prayer Revised

This may be the year when we should revise our concepts of the physical boundaries of the area we would encompass in our Christmas prayers. Satellites and space ships pose the thought that perhaps it isn't enough for us to appeal to the Supreme Being for "Peace on Earth for all men of good will." Scientific achievements have made it increasingly clear that our hopes and supplications might well extend far beyond the tiny world which we have so long accepted as our total concern.

The accomplishment of the Russians in hurling a satellite into outer space lends credence to the beliefs which are held by ever-greater numbers, that it is completely possible that space ships have been visiting our planet for many years. Too many persons of unquestioned integrity and possessing sound minds have testified to seeing these unidentified flying objects, for us to slough off the reports as figments of the imagination.

Those things which we can see, we can believe. We see the sun and the moon and the stars, and the wizardry of the astronomers and the scientific instruments placed at their disposal have been able to give us almost incomprehensibly amazing measurements and predictions concerning the celestial universe.

Is it not somewhat stupidly conceited of us to think that out of this infinity, the tiny pin-point which is our earth must be the only heavenly body that is inhabited? Isn't it completely within the realm of possibility that there might be many planets supporting life for people who have advanced so far beyond us that their atomic age was born a thousand years ago?

We have heard astronomers say that were it not for religion they would go mad while dealing with the limitless wonder of this boundless space. In short, they have to accept the unexplained miracle of creation and all its entails.

The Bible tells us that the Lord rules over the heavens and the earth, but most of us have been so engrossed with our own little lives that we have given small thought to anything beyond our earth-bound influences. Perhaps at this Christmastime it would be well to let our vision roam beyond our horizons. We can be thankful that thus far at least, the Almighty Who has this whole great universe in His care, has kept our troubles rather local. If space ships are a reality, they must be manned by crews who have learned to respect the rights of others. There have been no reported instances of visitors from the outer regions attempting to inflict their will upon our world, through conquest or destruction of any kind.

Our conception of space may change, but it is to be hoped that the concept of moral values as best taught by the Christ whose birthday we are about to celebrate, will grow ever more pronounced and practiced. The best observance we could possibly make of this Christmas would be a re-dedication of adherence to the teachings which The Savior gave us more than 19 centuries ago. We could all pray for and work toward the day which will see the end of the creation of Frankensteins designed only to destroy while destroying themselves. We can hope and labor toward the end of such complete waste and the conversion to tasks which will spell greater good and happiness for all, wherever they may be.

"Camellias bloomed by the side of a hill, Rose to the sun... made my heart stand still; What a gorgeous reminder of my love for you, I remember I kissed you, where the Camellias grew.

Camellias, camellias... don't make me cry, You are a symbol of love gone by. I take the camellias so faithful and true Away from the garden... and send them to you.

As I stroll through the garden, your face I see; The camellias sway as they beckon to me. Could you leave my heart so dusty and gray... If I sent you a lovely camellia... TODAY?"

(William Gonet)

Having read a blurb in one of the dailies last week about the number of Christmas gifts that are returned to various shops each year... we were reminded of a talk we had with a grand old lady some years ago, who used to give the annual Christmas dinner for her very large family... consisting of sons and their wives, daughters and their husbands, children, grandchildren, aunts, uncles, cousins, et al... making a cozy group of at least 65 people. Since they all "exchanged" presents with each other... presents that were sent at least a week ahead and were opened in each home on Christmas morning... it became a rat race for the family to remember who sent what to whom, when the big night of the party came.

Our lovely heroine, who was then in her seventies, said she was the only one who could remember anything about the gifts. As each family group arrived at her house... she could greet them with ease and daring with such exclamations as "Thank you So much Sue for the lovely stationery"... or "Thank you dear children for the beautiful antimacassar"... and so on... never missing a detail. HOWEVER... the rest of her kinfolk were not so gifted. As she recalled it... one bachelor uncle would always arrive early and ask "Will you help me out with this list when the others arrive? I have everything I received written down but when they get here, I'll never remember."

Then there was the eldest son, married and with a number of children... who when he was thanked for a present would say, "I don't even know what we gave you. And incidentally, thanks for what you gave US."

Then there was the couple who rehearsed who gave them what... in the car on the way to the party... but invariably got it mixed up when they met everyone face to face.

Our lovely Madame told us she thought the smartest one in the lot was her youngest daughter-in-law. That gal called everyone in the morning after opening the presents... and thanked them on the phone... list in hand. Then when she arrived at the Christmas dinner, all she had to do was say "hello and a Merry Christmas to you-all!"

Before we leave Christmas... and with PLENTY of "spirit"... we'd like to say that in running around peering at all the lovely Christmas cards we've seen in various homes so far... among the most beautiful are those of the Forman Johnstons... Dale Davises... Januarius Art Mullens... Frank Donovans... Bruce Winkworths... Harry Eslings... and the Hale V. Sattleys.

We ADORE this true story told to us by a dentist. He allowed as how a woman (not a regular patient) brought her ten-year-old daughter to his office and said she would like to have bands put on the child's teeth. After one quick look, he decided the child didn't NEED straightening bands... but in order to reassure the parent, he took x-rays. The "rays" turned out to be perfect... as he knew they would... so he showed them to Ma and said she must be mistaken... he had never seen a more perfect mouth or better teeth. Mama dear replied: "Oh, I'm not surprised to hear that. I know her teeth are okay... but every other child in the block is wearing bands and I don't want the neighbors to think we can't afford them." WOW-ZE-DOW!

A little old lady who has recently taken to sipping a little sherry before dinner (on doctor's orders)... had planned on visiting her son over the holidays... someplace in Ohio. Before she left, her married daughter suggested that she give brother a big "kick" by asking him (during the before dinner cocktail hour) for some Bourbon-on-the-rocks. Since the son didn't even know his mother drank sherry... they figured it would give him quite a start.

Well, grandma arrived there the other day... and a perfect opening came when they had guests for dinner. When the host politely asked his mother if there was anything she would like... she replied... "Oh, I think I'll have 'Suburban on the Rocks.'" Cute, eh? And a very Merry Christmas to you and you and you.

Christmas Star Still Mystery

Which star in the heavens light in the southwest for about three hours after sunset, this planet is steadily growing brighter each evening, and will reach its greatest brilliancy two nights before Christmas. On the night of December 23, this object will be practically as bright as it ever can be, a striking symbol of the season.

But identity of the Star of Bethlehem will remain a mystery, she says. Because of the limited description of the star and uncertainties of the early calendars, any exact astronomical explanation is out of the question. If you're looking for a symbol of the season, however, then the planet Venus fits the bill, and is most often pointed out as possibly being the Christmas Star, she relates. "This particular Christmas season she is located in a very favored position. A striking President Eisenhower once planned to attend the University of Michigan, but a drought in Kansas prevented his financing the trip and he was offered an appointment to West Point at the same time.

Diabetic Detection By FRED M. KOPP, R. P. H. You may be one of the many unknown diabetics. It is estimated that there are at least a million in the United States. Diabetes can be controlled by the use of insulin, and of course the sooner it is detected the easier it is to control. With the use of insulin diabetics live long and normal lives. A simple test reveals diabetes. It is worth your time now to have it made. Whenever medicine is necessary to your health, you will find a conscientious pharmacist genuinely interested in supplying your needs.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Jean Taylor
Now it is Christmas of fifty-seven
And the writers who've toiled the whole year through,
Have certainly earned a place in Heaven
For supplying ourselves with something new.
So remember Saint Nick, these knights of the pen,
And give them a lift every now and then.
Bernard Baruch deserves much glory
For writing his Own delightful Story.
A Testament to Frank Lloyd Wright
May all his Christmases be bright.
To John Steinback and Pippin IV
A happy reign and many more.
For Ogden Nash, some Christmas cheer
To show him the way To There From Here.
To Perelman, Yule-tide spree
Under the Spreading Atrophy.
A Letter From Peking for Pearl Buck
To bring her always the best of luck.
Rally Round Max Shulman too
With wassail bowl and Christmas brew.
To Edward Weeks for Jubilee
A holiday filled with gaiety.
And Edward O'Conner, to you sirrah
A gay Noel for The Last Hurrah
But we've asked St. Nicholas not to bring
That odious Benji anything.
From Crusoe of Lonesome Lake, we know
Come special greetings to Leland Snow.
To see the Dream has plenty of zest
So raise the cup to Jessamyn West.
And brighten Bill Sansome's Loving Eye
With a bi-bolly bo and a spot of rye.
For Maurice Walsh a holiday tune,
Far from Danger Under the Moon.
James Gould Cozzens, By Love Possessed,
Rates, we believe, a long, long rest.
For John P. Marquand a brighter god
Than a dullish Life at Happy Knoll.
For Marjorie Houseman we could wish
A Houseful of Love as her own special dish.
We hope Nevil Shute is On the Beach
Sunning himself far beyond reach.
And now peak-out a Christmas bell
For all our readers and friends as well;
And last but not least a rousing cheer
For Bob Edgar's patience throughout the year.

Grosse Pointe News

From Another Pointe of View

By Patricia Talbot

It doesn't seem as though there would be enough gaiety left over from Christmas week to climax the holiday on New Year's Eve, but this biggest party night of the year promises some spectacular excitement.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford II will give a dance in their Lakeshore road home to toast 1958 and are planning on bringing that most popular of society orchestras, Meyer Davis and his contingent from New York for the evening's entertainment.

At the Hunt Club it will be black tie and swishing velvets and taffetas for the young married set who will dance the night away after dining on a sumptuous menu. Organizers of this soiree, which is becoming an annual affair are Robert Cudlip, Mrs. Edward Henkel, Mrs. Richard Fruehauf, Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Ruedeman and Mrs. Stevenson L. Edwards.

This party will be a subscription invitation with 100 on the guest list and after the frivolity at midnight a supper will be served.

More Auld Ange Syne

The Henry T. Ewalds, Jr., have invited a group for New Year's Eve to their lovely white brick Moross road home off the Country Club golf course.

This gala is also an annual affair and this season to give a different twist the Ewalds have written "please come in costume" on the invitations.

Coming on to the Ewalds from dinner together will be the Richard Gushes, the Albert Charles Dicksons, Jr. and the John Worcester. This sextet have been celebrating New Year's Eve together since they were all married some six years ago.

For the Ewalds this is the climax to a very gay mistletoe season for they will be hosts at a dinner dance with Mr. Ewald's mother, Mrs. Henry T. Ewald, of Vendome road, on December 28.

Their party at the Little Club that eve is in honor of Mrs. Ewald's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pfeifer, of Darien, Conn., who will be here to spend the last week-end of the old year in the Pointe.

After the Last Act

The theater on New Year's Eve holds a special charm and that Doremus drive coterie, (who now live all over the Pointe), have planned their celebration around "Most Happy Fella," which will open at the Riviera this Monday evening and run through the holidays.

The group will gather at the theater where they have a block of seats and then go on to the Robert Bacons on Whittier for a champagne breakfast.

Center Plans College Dance

This week invitations to a New Year's Eve Ball and Supper will be mailed to all Collegians for whom the War Memorial Center has addresses in the five Grosse Pointes. The first collegians back in town met Tuesday night to lay plans for the affair and address the bids. All Pointe Collegians are cordially invited whether they are on the Center's mailing list or not. The party this year remains a true bargain. Beginning at 9:30 it continues to the music of Don Barber's orchestra until 2:00 a.m. Everyone will be provided with favors and noise makers and at midnight there will be a temporary power failure so that the New Year may be welcomed in the proper style.

A fine ham and turkey buffet will be served just after midnight with service on two floors to expedite dining. The entire evening dancing, supper, favors, etc. remains the same price it has since 1949—$5.00 per couple. Though the whole building is opened for the occasion a 250 couple limit is a necessity.

The Memorial Association urges you to get your tickets as soon as possible to avoid disappointment.

LETHAL PIPE LINE

Your car has a maze of pipe lines, carrying gasoline, brake fluid, oil, water and exhaust gases. That last one, exhaust gas, contains death-dealing carbon monoxide. The pipeline carrying this lethal gas should be absolutely tight. If it isn't, seepage of exhaust into the car (especially in slow-moving winter traffic when windows are closed) can cause headaches, sickness or worse. Exhaust leaks should be checked on a lift like the one in your service station.

Wearry downtown shoppers are invited to drop by Central Branch YWCA, 2230 Witherell street, to rest and meet their friends, according to Miss Ruth E. West, Branch Executive Director.

"Our comfortable lounges, beautifully decorated for Christmas, provide an ideal place for families to meet when they're out on a shopping tour," Miss West said, "and we believe that many people, whether YWCA members or not, should enjoy using the facilities of one of the Torch Drive agencies."

Miss West also pointed out that the gym is available for couples or foursomes who want to play badminton, and that the golf practice room is available for one to four persons who want to practice golf strokes.

Origins of Christmas Food Revealed in History Books

By Sue Halliday
"The children were snuggled all safe in their beds. While visions of sugarplums danced in their heads."

Children and adults alike, when thinking of Christmas, find their thoughts drifting to family dinners and the traditional Christmas treats. Mince pie and plum pudding, was-sail and pastries and roasted game link themselves to part of the celebration of Christmas.

A knowledge of the magnificent Christmas feasts of the past, the customs of different countries in regard to traditional breads and pastries, and the beginning of popular Christmas desserts add further enjoyment to the Christmas celebrations.

"In days of old, when knights were bold," the English Christmas feast was a plentiful one. The tables of the English groaned under salmon, venison, and wild boar, which was served piping hot with an apple in its mouth. Bacon, swine, herons, bitterns and swan, teal, mallards and pigeons completed the meat menu. Honey and mustard, pancakes and apple pies, and custards were served as side dishes, if anyone was still able to eat.

All this was washed down with wine, mead, ale and cider.

At a medieval Christmas dinner, the board's load was carried in a procession to the feasting hall, accompanied by singing of "The Boar's Head in Hand I Bear." The dish, however, seems to have been roasted peacock, which was decorously placed on a golden platter.

At a dinner in 1860, seventeen main dishes were recorded as served at a single sitting, and there were sixteen other side dishes and pastries. Potatoes did not make their appearance until their common acceptance more than 100 years later.

As for fowl, the common people feasted on some large bird. The turkey was introduced to England from Mexico in the early 16th century, and it seems that King James the First took a fancy to it. At least, he is given the credit for making it a popular dish.

Sir Henry Grey of London is famous for all things, a pie. At a Christmas dinner in 1770, he ordered one to be baked nine feet in circumference, and demanded ingredients ranging from flour, butter and woodcocks to beef tongues and blackbirds. Little Jack Horner would have been a cial place was always set aside at this dinner for an unexpected visitor.

On December 6, if there was a mist, the Belgian children were told it was only Saint Nicholas baking zelten, Christmas cakes.

Many customary dishes sprang up by chance. Wassail was originally an Anglo-Saxon dish. "Was Haile" was a toast to "your health." Ingredients for the hot drink were ale, roasted apples, eggs, sugar, nutmeg, cloves and ginger.

An English Christmas pudding had a strange beginning. The tale is that an early English king was lost in a blizzard, but fortunately, there was a cook in his party. Ordered to fix a dish, the cook steamed a pudding from stag, flour, apples, dried plums, eggs, ale and sugar. Thus, the Christmas pudding was born.

Mince pie was originally termed "hakin," because the ingredients were hacked for the pie. The pastry was in oblong form, which represented the cradle, and a figure of the Christ Child usually rested on top. A religious controversy arose, called the "battle of the mince pie," and in the late 16th century, mince pie was forbidden in England. However, when the struggle was resolved, both parties won out. The pie was no longer outlawed, but it had now assumed a circular shape, and the figure of the Christ Child disappeared from the pie.

The pastry was originally used at Christmas time, because it was made of spices that the Crusaders had brought home from the Orient,

Christ's homeland. So many things were added to the pie, that it was once written, "the devil dare not show himself at Cornwall at Christmas time, lest he be baked in a pie."

Plum pudding was usually served wrapped in a cloth, soaked in alcohol, and brought flaming to the table.

One-third of the requests for teachers handled by the University of Michigan mentioned salaries of less than $5,500 per year during 1956-57.

brave boy to have put his thumb into this dish.

Many countries had their own traditional dishes for Christmas. In Ireland, England and Scotland, caraway seed cakes were given to each member of the family. If a cake happened to break, the unfortunate owner would have a run of bad luck. In Germany, and France, little Christmas cakes were baked, and a figure of the Christ Child, made of sugar, topped the cake. A custom in southern France decreed that a Christmas loaf, which was quartered, must be first offered to some poor person before the rest was eaten.

Similar to the French custom, the Greek peoples topped their little cakes with a cross, and these were frequently left out on Christmas Eve, in hopes that the Christ Child would eat one.

The Slavic peoples prepared wafers of white flour, which were eaten with syrup or honey. Called "bread of angles" by the Lithuanians, the wafer often had Nativity scenes impressed on it.

In Poland, the vigilia was celebrated. This was a meatless Christmas Eve dinner, consisting of special Polish dishes, kinds of fish, nuts, plums and Christmas pastry. The father of the family broke the Christmas wafers, which had been blessed by a priest, and distributed them to each member of his family. A spe-

Heart Patients Offered Class

There is still time for homemakers in Detroit to register for the free "Heart of the Home" classes in work-simplification to be offered at the Cannon Memorial Recreation Center, 5103 Guilford, corner Warren and Cadieux, Detroit, Michigan, by the Michigan Heart Association according to Mrs. Hannah R. Pretzer of the Wayne State University Department of Home Economics who conducts the classes. The first class of the series will meet from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. starting January 8.

Any homemaker may enroll in the program although women with an ailment of the heart or blood vessels; hypertension, hardening of the arteries, coronary heart, rheumatic heart, varicose veins, and other disabling diseases, will be admitted to the classes first. The classes are made possible by the Michigan Heart Association through funds received from the United Foundation Torch Drive.

Homemakers are given free instructions in practical ways of making their homemaking simpler and easier by eliminating unnecessary steps and wasted energy in the preparation of meals, washing and ironing, bed making, and other household duties.

Mrs. Hannah R. Pretzer has been a teacher of the classes in Work Simplification for cardiac and other homemakers since the first class was held at Wayne State University in the fall of 1950. She received her Bachelor of Science degree from Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio and her Masters degree from Wayne State University, Detroit. During her college and graduate work she specialized in management in the home and in equipment.

Each homemaker attends four (two-hour) lecture-demonstration classes which will be held on January 8, 15, 22 and 29 from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Any woman in Detroit who would like to attend the free "heart-saving" classes being offered by the Michigan Heart Association can do so by writing or calling the Cannon Memorial Recreation Center at TU 1-6467 or by calling the Michigan Heart Association at Temple 1-8550 for complete details.

The "Heart of the Home" Program is endorsed by the Wayne County Medical Society and Doctors of Medicine are being urged to refer their cardiac patients to the classes.

Tapert Family Europe Bound

The Julius C. Tapert family, of Devonshire road, are anticipating a wonderful trip in the very near future. Dr. and Mrs. Tapert and their three sons, Tom, Dick, and John will fly to Europe on January 11.

They will land in London and proceed from there to Paris and Italy. The boys will leave their parents for a week's skiing in the Alps, while the doctor and Mrs. Tapert tour Vienna. The quintet will fly February 5 from Zurich and land at New York's International Airport.

The three boys are all in college and, in order to join their parents on the tour, are taking their mid-term examinations a week early.

Simple Party Enjoyed Most

The Christmas holidays provide many occasions for delightful entertaining and hospitality. Chances are you've already started thinking about all the friends you would like to have during the Christmas season.

Keep your party plans simple, advises Anita Dean, extension specialist in foods at Michigan State University.

A dessert party is especially easy to plan and serve. Remember your guests have already eaten their dinner at home so keep servings of rich desserts small. Better still, let them cut a serving to match their appetite. Many people appreciate this opportunity.

Make your favorite cake, pie or torte. If possible choose a dessert which can be made ahead of time. Frozen, ice box and gelatin desserts are good choices. This gives you more time to visit with your friends. After all that's the real reason for having a party.

Appetites are apt to dwindle as the Christmas season progresses and too many rich foods have been served. You may decide to serve an attractive fruit salad with finger sandwiches or a fruit and cheese plate.

Whichever type of dessert you choose, plan its preparation and service ahead of time. You'll find that you'll be enjoying your own party.

Pointe Community Theater Holding Class for Directors

A directors' class is being given by Grosse Pointe Community Theater this winter, meeting weekly at the War Memorial Center under Mrs. Louis L. Bambas of Roslyn road.

A group of fifteen men and women with all degrees of experience, from veteran directors of the theater's major productions to earnest would-be's, have been discussing the do's and don'ts of production Tuesday evenings until they were thrown out bodily because the Memorial was closing for the night. And beginning the first week in January, they are going at it again.

This training is a real necessity because Grosse Pointe Community Theater productions are directed by members, and a high standard has to be maintained. Many little theaters, of course, are organized around one director, which solves the problem in one way. But it is felt that a community theater should offer the opportunity for direction if the members want it, and GPCT members most emphatically do.

Mrs. Bambas, a long time Theater member, is well qualified to teach, as she has a degree in drama from Carnegie Tech, and years of professional experience in stock and radio and with the beginnings of the Pittsburgh Playhouse, as well as work with amateurs. She has taught adult education drama courses in the Grosse Pointe school system and directed for the Junior League.

The seminar discussions began with the very basic consideration of the function of the director. "A play is not a play until it has an audience"—and exactly how do you go about getting it ready?

First of all, it was decided, a director must find out the intention of the author, then put it into effect by keynoting the play, evaluating characters, using technical devices. Then he makes a director-script for his own use, the master blueprint for the running of the play, with the entrances and exits, positioning of furniture, and playing spaces all worked out.

At this point the class went into action. Given a davenport, a coffee table, a chair and some classmates, three directors set to work on a husband-and-wife quarrel scene, and came out with three quite different versions. The class then proceeded joyfully to rip all three to bits, no holds barred. The study of the stage picture and control of actors' movements were developed.

Then, casting. What is a director thinking of when he casts a show? How do you match the actors to the parts? How do you tell who is going to be able to carry that big scene? Then there's the matter of physical appearance, the ability to play with others, and voice. The class went into action again, doing actual try-outs on a play, and later using a tape recorder.

When a director has his cast, he teaches the play to them, reading it over with them for understanding, then getting the actors on their feet and blocking out the action. Then comes the drill of rehearsals to set the parts, and the polishing and smoothing and perfecting the play for the audience.

By way of showing what they had learned, the class gave the entertainment at the December general membership meeting held at the War Memorial on Monday. Actors were Tom Stein, Rosemary Kleffman, Donald White, Carol Wilson, Esther Edwards and Bill Mehegan; director, John L. Wilson. They did one short scene twice over, once with as many things as possible done wrong, and once right. For instance—Rule: Avoid giving speeches from behind pieces of furniture. Illustration: Tom Stein sat behind a large table, stood up for every speech, then sat down again. The spectacle of Tom folding and unfolding was most impressive, and the audience all got that one. The only trouble with the demonstration was that the scene with wrong effects was so funny that the right version practically fell flat.

Something very close to a riot developed in the meeting afterward, as the other theater members demanded a chance to join the class, too. It has to be limited in numbers for practical reasons, but apparently half the membership wants to join in.

When the class meets again in January, there will have to be some new members. Dean Erskine, who has directed "The Glass Menagerie" and "Detective Story" for GPCT, will be directing "The Front Page," to be given February 28 and March 1, and he will take with him some of the others, who will be acting for him.

During the coming season the work will be more detailed. A director is in the position of a teacher in many respects, particularly when directing amateurs, who have to be taught technique as well as president, and JEROME BRAININ, of the Nursing Home, have scheduled some Christmas surprises for the patients on that day at the special party they will give.

learning the play during rehearsals. Some consideration has already been given to this: how to help the actors to memorize their lines, how to recognize and correct the more common errors in voice production and acting technique.

Now the class will work on the practical handling of these problems. All the members are amateurs themselves and have difficulties of one sort or another, and they can learn by working on each other how to handle a cast of actors.

For instance, there will be problems in "dramatic concentration." No matter what happens on stage, an actor must stay in part and react in character. How do you do it? The class has already discussed the actor's state of mind when he is acting. It is a sort of double consciousness, in which the actor has his mind on his part and its emotions, and thinks of nothing else, and yet he carries on the technique of moving properly, speaking clearly and all the rest, at the same time.

There are many stage stories which illustrate the process. Edmund Keane in Hamlet's deepest throes of despair, kicked a lost earring of Ophelia's very neatly into the wings. Tommaso Salvini, the Italian actor who wowed two continents, once upon a time was playing a highly dramatic Turkish part, with big red trousers. They came loose. In an access of dramatic frenzy, he threw himself onto a couch exotically covered by a tiger skin, wound the tiger around him, and finished the scene in this improvised kilt. Nobody knew there was anything wrong, and he was complimented on the vigor with which he played the scene.

Fledgling directors will have to meet such emergencies on stage in their practice sessions, as dictated by Mrs. Bambas' rather wicked sense of humor. Even technical exercises are never dull.

Materials used will be scenes from plays, to be acted by class members and utilized to illustrate various points. For example, "The Makropoulos Secret," which has just opened in New York in revival under Tyrone Guthrie's direction, has an almost melodramatic scene in which a beautiful, mysterious woman is questioned and finally confesses that she is 263 years old. It will be excellent for work on reaction, as the other cast members show their belief and disbelief.

Later, in the same play, the woman offers her secret of eternal life to the others: an old man, a young girl, two successful middle-aged men. That will make a fine pantomime study. There is Mary Stuart giving away her jewels in Schiller's great play, which Eva LeGallienne has been doing this fall. There's Sherlock Holmes in the grasp of the foul

Professor Moriarty. The whole literature of the drama offers material to work on. The Grosse Pointe Community Theater directors' class will be showing practical results for many years, as the members continue in theater activities. The most important lesson, which everyone has learned, is that directing is an art, and you can never learn it all. "The lyfe so short, the craft so long to lerne."

THE GOURD EARTH — Gardening experts will have to grow some to top Mrs. G. M. McDaniel of Memphis, Tenn., who displays the results of just planting a few seeds in her yard. One vine sprang up from the seeds, spreading over the garage and nearby trees, and bearing 60 giant gourds, some 40 inches long. If the things were good to eat, the McDaniels would be fixed for a year. Mrs. McDaniel says she plans to use the gourds as ornaments, bird houses, planters, dippers, and other things.

LATIN LADY ... Italian actress Luciana Paoluzzi perches on fence in front of Rome's Colosseum. She'll co-star with Victor Mature in "No Time to Die."

PIGEON-HOLED—Happy to find places of their own, these Malayan youngsters take their ease in convenient niches in the wall of the Habib Noor mosque in Singapore. Worshippers leaving the mosque after prayer often distribute coins to the children. The niches also provide shelter from the hot sun.

LADIES OF STRONG CONVICTIONS — Intent on a lecture concerning proposals for penal reform, these three demure Indian women have somewhat more than an academic interest in the proceedings. They are all serving life sentences for murder. Unguarded, they are seated in a convention of convicts held at Lucknow, capital of the Indian state of Uttar Pradesh. A total of 56 prisoners from jails throughout the country were temporarily paroled to attend the conference on ways to improve prison life. During the strange get-together, all the prisoners lived at a Lucknow hotel, completely free of guards.

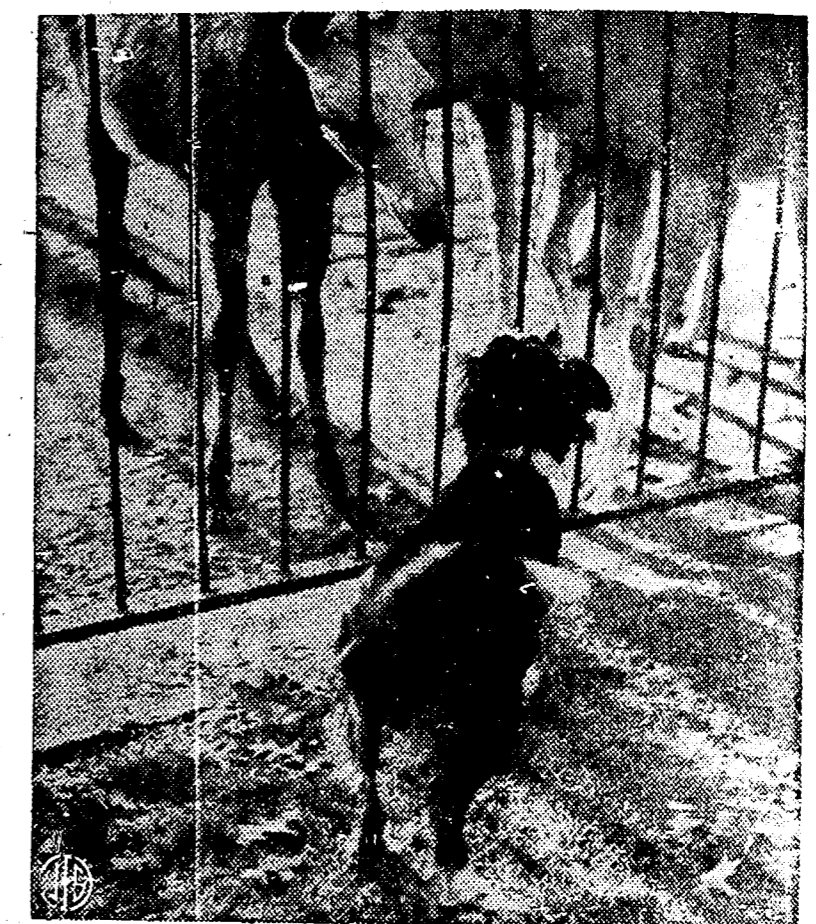

CLEAN SWEEP — "Street" cleaning isn't done with brooms in Venice, where the job of keeping the city's 500-odd miles of canals in shape is accomplished with nets, like the one wielded by this floating sanitation worker. He's making a "catch" on the Grand Canal, with the famous Rialto Bridge in background.

BUILDING THE "IMPOSSIBLE" — Free China builds a spectacular highway by hand! President and Madame Chiang Kai-shek inspect work on the 190-mile long "East-West" highway, much of it being cut through solid rock across the Island of Taiwan (Formosa). It will be the first road to connect the east and west coasts. This is the road that was once believed "impossible." More than 11,000 men, half of them retired soldiers of Chiang's army, are at work here doing all construction work by hand.

THE FULL STORY—Going about her business on roller skates, this attendant indicates why little time is lost in serving the customers at this modern filling station in Paris. Reason for the wheeling and dealing is that the pumps are a considerable distance from the main buildings of the station.

LLAMA GETS THE LLOWDOWN—It looks as though this llama at the Prospect Park Zoo in Brooklyn, N. Y., is getting the latest news right from the dog's mouth. Could be the pooch is bragging that his branch of the animal kingdom has become the first space traveler. The visitor from South America seems very interested.

THE GUARDIANS—Ready to mark the first anniversary of their historic step to maintain world peace, these soldiers of the United Nations Emergency Force stand guard near a U.N. flag in the Gaza Strip. The UNEF contingent arrived at Abu Sweir, Egypt, on Nov. 14, 1956, and now, like these troops at a Danish-Norwegian observation post, they are spread along the 25-mile Egypt-Israeli demarcation line, continuing the work for peace.

AHOY, LONG JOHN — Everything's kind of slipped-shape as these distaff skippers, Sue Hogan (left) and Susie Bertermann, hoist away at the Indianapolis, Ind., Sailing Club. They have little in common with that legendary old salt, Long John Silver, except for their sailing gear. Those long-handle woolies are just perfect for boating in 30-degree weather.

MEMPHIS MUTINIK — Ready for the take-off, the American answer to the Russian "muttnik" seems set for a trip to the moon or any other point of interest in outer space. The pooch with all the paraphernalia is an airdale named Firefight. His outfit consists of tiny red football pants and a red jersey, a parachute harness, plus goggles and earphones. The dog is being trained by Memphis citizens George King and Sonny Schmidt just in case Uncle Sam ever does decide to shoot a dog-satellite into the wild blue yonder.

THE WORLD'S THEIR OYSTER — Rulers of the "Pearly" kingdom, represented by London's colorful costermongers, or sidewalk merchants, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred West, accompanied by their niece, "Princess" Shirley Ashsmith, march proudly to church in their traditional costumes, encrusted with thousands of mother-of-pearl buttons. Named the King and Queen of Kent by their fellow street vendors, the Wests and Shirley carry gifts of bread and fruit to the Costermongers' Harvest Festival Service at Lady Margaret's Church.

SPREAD FORMATION — Barely showing the strain, Spain's Joachim Blume, the European gymnastics champion, flies high while demonstrating a difficult straddle-jump. Blume's agile acrobatics were among the highlights in the competition at the Berlin Sports Press Association. Gymnasts from all over the world took part.

HAVING A BALL—Wheeling and dealing, schoolboys scramble for the ball during a game of basketball on roller skates at the Carnot School in Paris. The youngster in white is Thierry de Miranda, the godson of French President Rene Coty. There are already some 50 roller-skating basketball teams in French schools and the game has become quite popular.

NEW ARRIVAL — Lovely Elga Andersen boards an American Airlines plane for Los Angeles where she is to have a screen test. Miss Andersen had just arrived in New York from Paris where she appeared with David Niven in the film, "Bonjour Tristesse."

NEW SLANT—Going formal from a new angle, the jacket of this new tuxedo features a silk-satin shawl collar slanted in towards the button front. The idea is carried over the satin-trimmed side pockets, which are also slanted. The coat, of imported Emsley mohair, also has satin cuffs that are detachable, in the After Six design.

Trim Lines Mark Restyled 1958 Oldsmobile

Trim flowing lines of the 1958 Oldsmobile are well exemplified in this "98" convertible coupe with its tastefully designed decorative moulding on the side panels. From the new four-beam headlamps in the front to the sweeping twin blades on the rear fenders, the 1958 Oldsmobile is an entirely new automobile. The body, rear quarter panels, front end, rear deck and rear appointments all are completely restyled. Complementing the new headlamps are a new recess-type grill with thin aluminum louvers, a lower sleek hood line and a new contour bumper with parking lights at each end. The genuine leather upholstery is finished in a clear design and is offered in bright and attractive colors. The top can be automatically raised or lowered. Choice of three Rocket engines with improved economy is offered in the 1958 Oldsmobile. Jetaway Hydra-Matic Drive is smoother and New-Matic Ride, the true air suspension, is a desirable option.

Jerry Earl's Corvette Wins in Nassau Race

Just back from Nassau, with a new trophy for his shelf, is industrial designer Jerry Earl, of Grosse Pointe boulevard. The prize was captured by his Corvette which was driven by top sports car pilot Curtis Turner. It won highest honors in the first race ever held over the new Oakes Field course in Nassau.

Jerry's father, Harley Earl, GM vice-president and head designer, designed the Corvette. The car also came in second in its class in two other events.

Back Benefits Could Be Lost

Disabled workers who were eligible in July 1957 for social security disability insurance benefits and who fail to apply before the end of December will lose up to $651, Charles I. Schottland, Commissioner of Social Security, has announced.

Mr. Schottland pointed out that under the law eligible persons who make application for disability insurance benefits before the end of December can be paid benefits back as far as July, when such benefits first became available.

For those who file after December, no back benefits can be paid. The law provides that in such cases, payments can begin no earlier than the month in which the application is filed.

Disability payments range from $30 to $108.50 a month, depending on the worker's average monthly earnings under social security.

Social security disability insurance benefits are payable to persons between 50 and 65 years of age who have worked under social security in the past but are now so severely disabled that they cannot do any substantial gainful work.

To qualify for these benefits, a disabled worker must have social security credit for at least 5 out of the 10 years before he became disabled, including at least a year and a half out of the three years just before his disability began.

Applications for the benefits can be made at any social security office. If a disabled person is unable to go to the office he may write or telephone for information or someone else may call for him.

Safety on Road Makes Fine Gift

Since Christmas is the season for giving, Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant, has prepared a list of "gifts" that motorists can give themselves and other drivers.

Here are her suggestions for the best "gift" of all — a Safe and Happy Holiday Season.

1. Give the other fellow on the highway the right of way when there's doubt at an intersection.
2. Give other drivers the courtesy of lowered headlight beams when you meet them after dark.
3. Give pedestrians the same break you expect if you were on foot.
4. Give your car a break, too. Check brakes, lights, tires, defrosters, and windshield wipers.
5. Give yourself, as a driver, additional time for traveling when road and weather conditions are hazardous.
6. Give yourself more space between your car and the one ahead on slippery pavement, and adjust your speed to give yourself better control of vehicle on snow-packed or icy highways.
7. Give your passengers the comfortable feeling that they are riding with a safe driver.

BEWARE OF "WHOLESALE" COME-ONS

BAIT ADVERTISING IS OUT TO GET YOU ... AT CHRISTMAS TIME MORE THAN EVER

BAIT advertising is calculated to lure bargain hunters into traps where they may be sold off-brand merchandise at padded prices... or marred models of known brands, minus service, warranties or exchange privileges. The claim by any retailer that he sells at "wholesale" is ridiculous. "Wholesale" means selling for resale—not selling to consumers—and the word should not be used and abused as a come-on. Bait advertising can be cleverly camouflaged so check these precautions and shop wisely!

- DON'T be hoodwinked by "wholesale" hokum. Padded price tickets and fictitious list prices are favorite devices of the bait advertiser.
- RECOGNIZE the earmarks of baiting. Ballyhooed bargains are often unavailable... or the advertised merchandise is knocked in an effort to switch to something the advertiser really wants to sell.
- IF you don't know the merchandise, be sure you know that the merchant is established and reliable.

Records Fall as Devil Swimmers Beat Acorns

Three swim marks were erased from the Grosse Pointe record book as Coach Paul Wheeler's Blue Devils manhandled visiting Royal Oak Dondero 66-30 to win its opening Border Cities League meet last Friday, December 13.

Jim Carne was the first to ascend the record breaker pedestal when he flew through the 100 yard butterfly breast stroke event to a new 1:02.3 school record. The old mark of 1:02.9 was held by Eddie Pongracz, who is now swimming for the University of Michigan.

Co-Captain Les "Clutch" Cutler cracked the other two marks when he blazed through his specialty, the 100 yard backstroke, to a new school and pool record of 58.9. This mark was a full two seconds better than his own school mark which he set last year and a full second better than the pool mark held by Les Nutter of Royal Oak.

TAKE ALL FIRST PLACES
The Devils captured first place in every event which included slams in the 100 yard butterfly breast stroke and diving events.

Royal Oak, visibly weakened by the split of enrollment this past fall, took only five second places to avert being shut out. Mike Kroyer got the Devils off to a one-point lead when he took the 40 yard freestyle ahead of Tim Greening and Bob Rose. Jim Carne then posted his record breaking performance and his teammate Bill Boyer followed four seconds later to take second place ahead of Bill Childs to give the Pointers a 13-5 lead.

Jerry Mehl easily won the 200 yard free style with Royal Oak's Doug Jamieson taking second just ahead of the Pointers' Dick Adams with a wonderful 40 yard spurt at the end which brought him from a poor third to a "squeeze out" second place.

CUTLER BREAKS RECORD
Cutler then brought the capacity crowd to its feet with his record breaking performance which was nearly six seconds faster than second place Acorn Rick Jamison and Pointer Steve VanderVoort who finished in that order.

Co-captain Chuck Babcock had no trouble winning the 100 yard freestyle over the Acorns' Bob Rose, who squeezed into second place.

St. Paul 78ers To Meet Gesu

St. Paul's 78er basketball team will meet Gesu School in the preliminary game to the U of D-St. Francis College game at the U. of D. Memorial Building, Saturday, December 21. Game time is 7 p.m.

St. Paul's sixth grade defending City champions will meet the Gesu sixth grade team in an abbreviated game during the halftime of the college game.

Devil Reserves Stretch Streak

Coach George VanderWeyden's reserve Blue Devils basketball team stretched its winning streak to three with a double victory last week over Mount Clemens and Royal Oak.

Paced by Jimmy Howard's 26 points the Devils clobbered visiting Mount Clemens 64-27 on Tuesday, December 10.

Passing with machine-like precision the Devils completely outplayed the Bathers. As a matter of fact at times they played rings around them as they raced to a 12-7 first quarter lead and a 29-9 halftime margin.

Coming back in the third period the Devils picked up right where they had left off and boosted their margin to 42-19 at which point Coach VanderWeyden began substituting with reckless abandon.

While the Devils were hitting well from the floor, their foul shooting left much to be desired. They connected on only eight of 18 attempts. But the Bathers were experiencing just as much trouble from the charity line, making good on seven of 24 tries.

Three nights later the Devils continued their winning ways, by tumbling Royal Oak 47-35 in their first league encounter on the Acorns' home floor. Behind the sharp shooting of Ron Harper the Devils raced into a 19-10 first quarter lead and managed to have a six point 28-22 margin at halftime.

A third period surge enabled the Pointers to hold a 39-28 lead going into the final stanza.

Coupling a good defense with a smooth offense the Devils managed to hold the Acorns in check while pumping in eight points to their opponents' seven.

Royal Oak's captain Luks captured scoring honors with 12 points and was closely followed by Pointer Ron Harper with 11 points.

The Devils will tackle Fordson on the latters' court on December 20, which will be the last game until January 10 when they meet the Monroe Trojans on the local court.

'Y' Plans Open Swim Meet

Young men ages 15-17, are invited to participate in the Y.M.C.A. Christmas Swimming Meet, on Thursday December 26.

This is an open meet with events scheduled for letter as well as non letter winners. The meet will be held at the Northeastern Y pool at Harper and Gratiot. The meet is open to young men from Detroit east of Woodward and from a number of east side suburbs. The following events will constitute the meet: 100 yard medley relay; 40, 100, and 220 free style; 100 back; 100 orthodox breast; 100 yard butterfly and 400 yard free style relay. Medals will be awarded first place winners, while ribbons will be presented to second, third, and fourth place winners.

Registration forms may be received by contacting the Physical Education Department of Northeastern Y.M.C.A. by calling Walnut 1-0770.

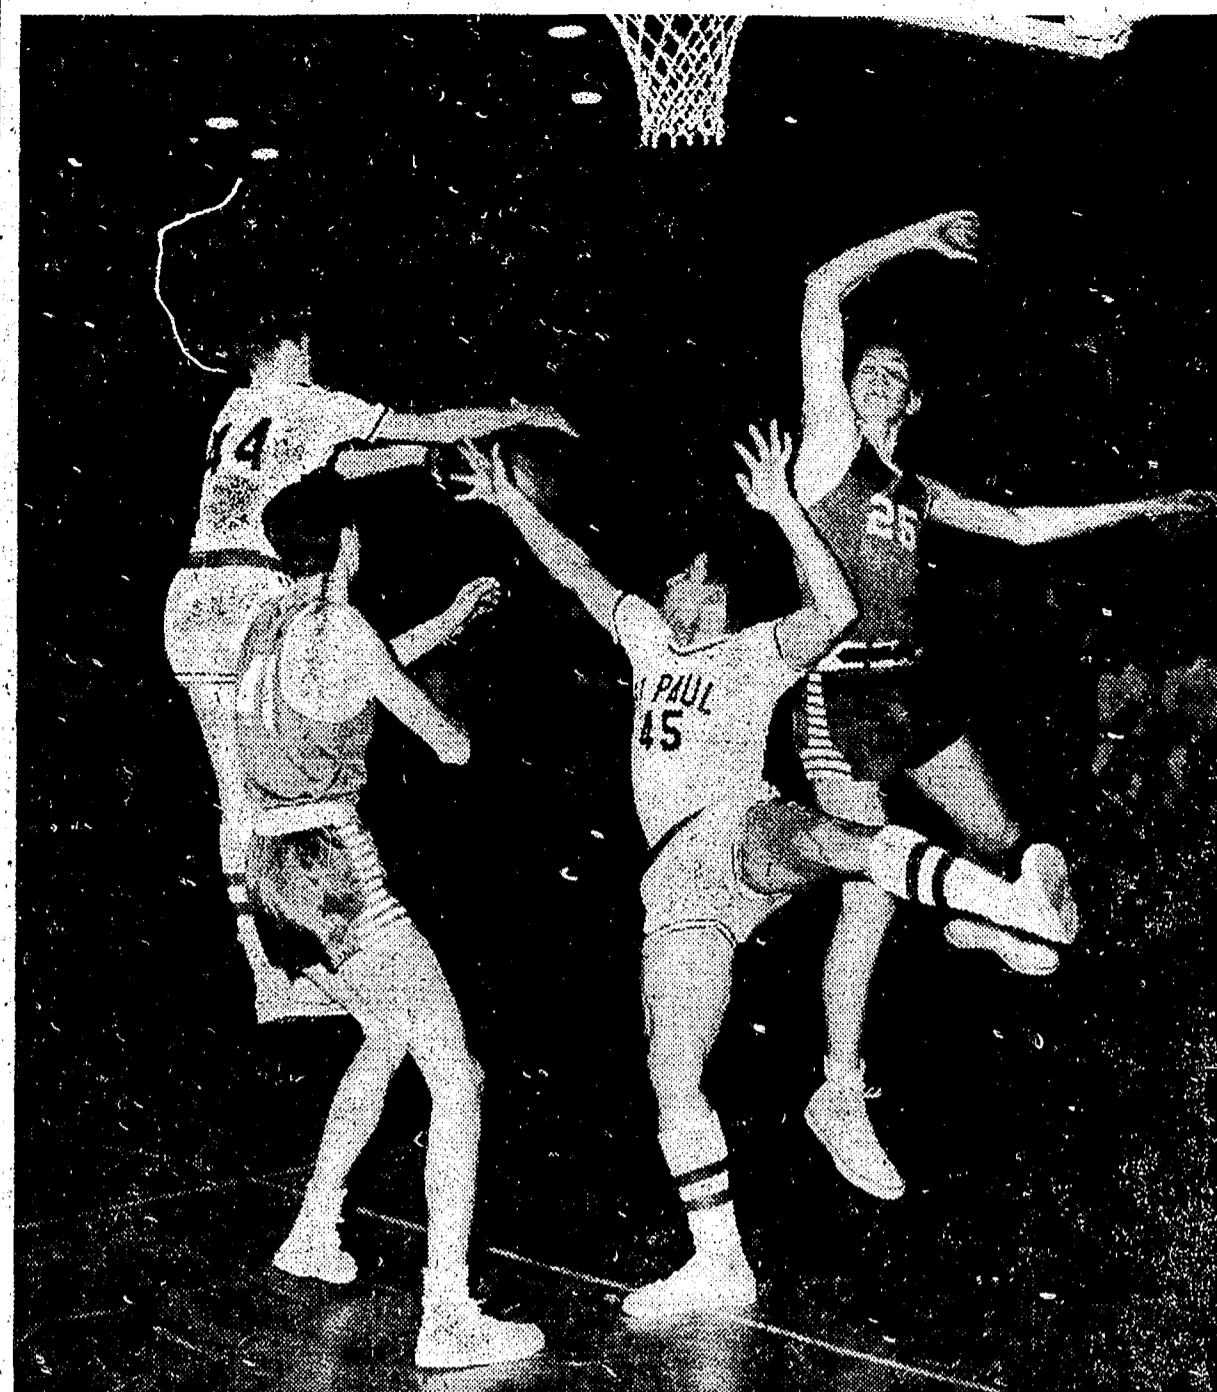

IN EVENT OF FIRE

Can you avoid panic if your home catches fire at night? The Institute for Safer Living lists the following life or death procedures, to be followed in order: (1) Before opening the bedroom door, feel panels to see if hot. (2) If safe to open doors, get family out of the house at once. (3) If hallway cannot be entered, use window as exit; by means of rope ladder, or makeshift knotted bed-sheets, when window is well above ground. (4) Make every second count. Call fire department. Give your address slowly, clearly. (5) Post someone at fire box at street to direct the fire department.

TIP ON TOYS

Get some real tools for the little boy who likes to build things, say child development specialists at Michigan State University. A real hammer may seem large but he can work better with it than with the very light toys. An adult often has trouble pounding a nail in with a toy hammer.

Dance Of Seven Veils Without Veils

Displaying the grace of ballet dancers, these St. Paul Lakers and Annunciation cagers vie for control of the bounding basketball in their game at Gratiot, Grosse Pointe High, Friday, December 13, which was won by the Lakers 78-31.

St. Paul Lakers Capture Lead in Parochial Loop

The St. Paul Lakers ran into surprising opposition when they met a determined Annunciation quintet last Friday, December 13, but managed to chalk up an impressive 78-31 victory on the Grosse Pointe High court before a small but noisy crowd.

The victory was the third in as many starts and the second league win, which gave the Lakers sole possession of the East Side Second Division Parochial League lead.

After grabbing a quick six point lead in the first minute of play the Lakers appeared to become overconfident. The Cougars sensed this and fought back to trail 10-16 at the end of the first quarter.

In the first two minutes of the second stanza the Cougars closed the gap and trailed 16-13, which forced Coach Eddie Lauer to make some fast changes in his lineup. From there on it was all St. Paul as they raced to a comfortable 31-16 margin at half time.

The final two periods were Laker breezes as they out-passed and shot the Cougars almost at will. The Lakers moved to a comfortable 54-22 margin at the end of the third period, which allowed Coach Lauer to substitute freely and every Laker who saw action contributed to the scoring.

Pacing the Lakers were Gary Anderson, Tom Parker, Tim Hutton, Dave Ayrault and John Jantz, who totaled 46 of the 78 Laker points. Anderson captured the individual scoring honors with 15 points. He was followed by teammate Tom Parker with 10 for runner-up honors.

Before calling a halt to the basketball wars for the holidays the Lakers will tackle St. Martin. The game will be played on the St. Phillip home court which is located at Dickerson and Charlevoix.

GPUS Defeats Thurston Five

Grosse Pointe University School stretched its basketball victory string to two straight last Friday, December 13, when it defeated Thurston 56-41 on the latter's home court.

It was the second meeting between these two teams in eight days. The first time GPUS just managed a 39-33 win on its home floor.

Bill Lewis paced GPUS with 15 points for individual scoring honors with runner-up honors going to Thurston's Len Wozniak with 14.

GPUS trailed at the end of the first quarter 10-11 but managed to move into a 24-17 halftime margin which was maintained throughout the third quarter.

In the fourth period GPUS staged a rally behind the sharpshooting of Bill Lewis, who netted 8 of the 21 point spurge that clinched the victory. Dick Baron and Bob Wood chipped in 7 and 4 points, respectively, in the winning surge.

Foul shooting was just as foul in this game as it was in the first meeting. GPUS was able to connect only 8 times in 22 tries from the charity line and Thurston wasn't a bit better, making 5 of 17 attempts.

Woodruff Paces Devils To Third Cage Victory

Co-captain "Torrid" Tommy Woodruff continued his scoring spree as he led the Grosse Pointe Blue Devils to their second and third victories of the season last week.

Tommy plunked in 20 points as the Devils slaughtered visiting Mt. Clemens 73-33, Tuesday, December 10, in a non-league contest on the local court. Three nights later, Friday, December 13, Woody followed up with a remarkable 34 point production that paced the Devils to a 79-64 Border Cities League victory over Royal Oak Dondero on the Acorns' home court.

Has Scored 78 Points
To date Woodruff has swished the nets for 78 points for a three-game average of 26 points per game, which is one of the best marks among Class A state high school cagers.

Grosse Pointe toyed with the Bathers from Mount Clemens when they jumped into a 15-5 first period lead and moved to a 31-17 lead at halftime. Working their last break almost to perfection in the third period the Devils made the scoreboard ring up numbers like a cash register at a fire sale in a five and dime store.

They held a very comfortable 54-25 lead going into the final period at which time Coach Howard MacAdam emptied his bench. Woodruff was the first to leave the game amid the thunderous cheers of the huge crowd. Bob Herrick who replaced him found the range for six points.

Center Rem Purdy and forward Marty Andrews annexed

the runner-up scoring honors with 11 points each.

Hits Nine for Nine
Against Royal Oak Woodruff led the Devils to a comfortable 45-25 halftime lead when he connected on all nine shots he took from the floor in the first two periods.

Terry Malloy paced the Acorns with 14 points for runner-up honors just beating Devil co-captain Bruce Boardman who netted 13. Boardman was outstanding on defense.

Royal Oak's only consolation was the fact they out-rebounded the Devils 31 to 27. In the foul shooting department the Devils were nearly letter perfect making 21 of 29 attempts from the charity line while the Acorns could count on only 14 of 28 tries.

Meet Fordson Friday
The Devils will take to the road for their final game before the holiday vacation when they tackle a powerful Fordson quintet on the Tractors home court, Friday, December 20. The Tractors are also undefeated to date and whipped Wyandotte 51-46 on a late rally in their BCL opener last Friday, December 13. Highland Park, who shares the BCL lead with Grosse Pointe and Fordson, toyed with Monroe 62-21 in its first league contest.

New Policy on Excuses Adopted at High School

No more excuses for the excused!

This new absentee policy has been adopted by the administrative staff at Grosse Pointe High School after long consideration.

Starting last week, any student who was absent had to present to his home room teacher a note explaining his absence on the day he returned.

In the event that anyone failed to bring such a note, he was sent home immediately to get one. Students failing to produce such notes were marked "E" for having missed class.

In the case of bad weather, or if no "signer" is at home, students will receive E's for the entire day.

When the new policy was discussed a few weeks ago, Student Forum representatives protested against its strictness. Pleas were made to extend the one-day deadline to two days.

Also brought up was the fact that some students just absently forgot to bring their notes. Should they be punished?

Donald R. Campbell, assistant principal of Grosse Pointe High, agreed that there would have to be some exceptions, but stated that the counselors wanted to give the new system a try.

The purpose of the whole policy is to reduce clerical work for the detail-laden counselors, as well as for the home-room teachers. The policy will also emphasize the importance of excused absences.

Boat Banter

Little North Star Sail Club held its annual election meeting, Thursday, December 5, and elected Edward Ochs, commodore; Phil Gentile, vice commodore and Bob Lovingson, rear commodore.

Henry Hodgson was elected Fleet captain; Bill Purdie, secretary; and George Smith, treasurer.

The new flag officers will take over their new duties at the January meeting and will receive their flags from Commodore Ray DeBlare at the Commodores' Ball early in March.

Currently, the club headquarters is located at the Emerald City Boat Harbor; however, future plans call for the relocation of the club facilities on property recently acquired on the Clinton River south of Mount Clemens.

If you're interested in figures the Outboard Racing Club of America and the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers have released the findings of the survey these two national boating trade associations have just completed.

In 1904 there were only 15,000 recreational craft on all American waterways. By 1930 the total had grown to 1.5 million and by 1947 had reached 2.4 million. The period 1947-57 saw the fleet nearly triple to its present level of 7,071,000 pleasure craft.

It is estimated that there are now nearly 5.2 million outboard motors in use plus 756,000 inboard gasoline and diesel engines exclusive of automotive conversions.

The report reveals that some 397 million gallons of gasoline was pumped into the fuel tanks of American pleasure craft during 1957 and more than 19 million gallons of lubricating oil went for marine use.

The American public spend 9.8 million gallons of marine paint and varnishes during 1957 which compares with the 8.5 million gallons used during 1956.

New production in 1957 accounted for 149 million square feet of sheet marine plywood, 45 million pounds of alumi-

Devils Unbeaten In Hockey Loop

Racking up their fourth victory in as many starts, the Blue Devils took a 3-point lead this week in the Ice Flair Winter Hockey League.

The Devils spread their scoring among four players as they outskated the Rangers 5-1 on Sunday, December 15. Dave Cook with 2, Tom Fitzgerald, Bob Wicks and defenseman Dick Auble tallied to send the Rangers to their second defeat in three starts.

The second-place Rockets fell another point off the pace as they were tied 3-3 by the Pointers. It was the Pointers' second consecutive tie. Bill Cook picked up his fifth goal of the season for the Rockets.

The Golden Eagles bulged the twine in every period as they handed the Warriors a 4-1 setback. The victory moved the Eagles into third place, two points behind the Rockets. The Warriors, who were expected to be title contenders at the start of the season, absorbed their fourth defeat.

This Sunday, December 22, finds the Blue Devils will collide with the Golden Eagles, in the opening game at 5 o'clock. A Golden Eagle victory would snap the Devils victory string and move the Eagles into a second-place tie.

The Rockets take on the Rangers and Warriors and Pointers will test each other in their bid for their first victory.

HOW TO FIGHT FIRE

Don't be alarmed if your oven should catch fire. You can extinguish the flames quickly and easily by following the simple steps suggested by the Institute for Safer Living: (1) Close oven door tightly. Then turn off the fuel supply—either gas or electricity. (2) Now open door slowly. (3) Throw a handful of salt or baking soda on flames. Do not use water or try to remove contents. Note: Also use salt or baking soda to extinguish pan fires on top of stove.

THE HEIGHT OF THE MATTER—Reaching skyward in dizzying fashion, this automatic fire ladder, with a man perched near its top, demonstrates its efficiency in Karlsruhe, Germany. The ladder, supposedly the tallest of its kind in the world, can be raised to its full height of 186 feet within 120 seconds by means of a 180-horsepower motor on the carrying truck. The upper part of the ladder has a small platform for the fireman and his hose. Beneath the ladder, a small lift can operate during rescue maneuvers for people trapped by a fire.

BASEBALL STARS BAG GAME—New York Yankees' Mickey Mantle (right), recently voted the MVP award; second-baseman Billy Martin (left), recently traded by the Kansas City A's to the Detroit Tigers; and New York's Harwyn Club owner Ed Wynne, a former baseball umpire, look mighty proud of the deer they bagged during their hunting expedition in Kerrville, Texas.

SWIM SWEATER — The sweater look is handsomely highlighted in this cardigan button-trim swim suit by Sea Nymph. Scooped almost to the waist in back, the suit is snugly buttoned like a sweater down the front. Boucle lastex molds to the figure, allowing easy, natural movement.

A ROSE FOR THE FIRST LADY—Dedicated to Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, this new rose is examined by a girl on the Italian Riviera at San Remo. The "Mamie Rose" will be presented to the First Lady on her birthday, November 14. Grown by Vincenzo Asseretto, the rose was isolated from a variety called "Glory of Rome" over a period of years. Its novel coloring is described as a "heavy, brilliant pink." The flower blooms on a long and rigged stem, the upper part of which is virtually thornless.

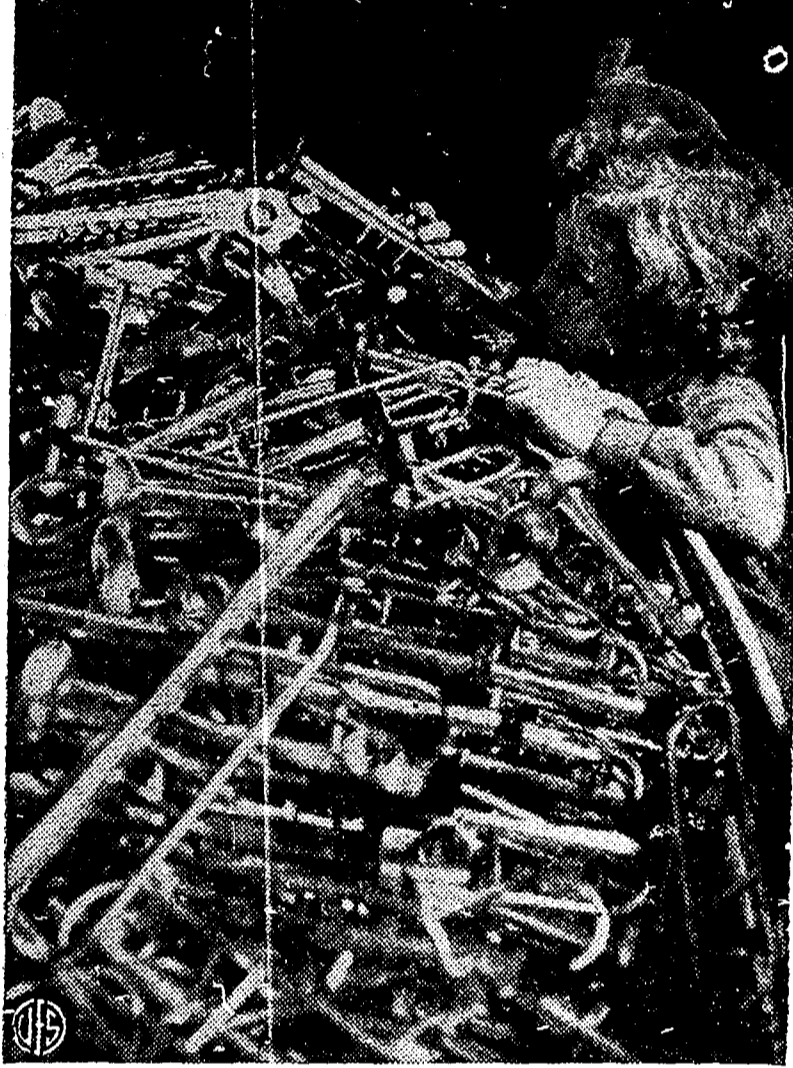

THE TENANTS MOVED OUT — Now that the occupants have departed, this huge hornets' nest is a source of interest to Mrs. Winifred Kincaid (left) and LaVonne Shaffer. The mammoth nest, made of a cardboard-like material and "light as a feather" when empty, was found on a farm outside Cleveland, Ohio, by Mrs. Kincaid's sons. The boys spotted it last summer and watched it grow bigger and bigger until it was raided by raccoons, evidently in search of honey. Hornets make honey for their own food and keep the honey chambers in the top of the nest.

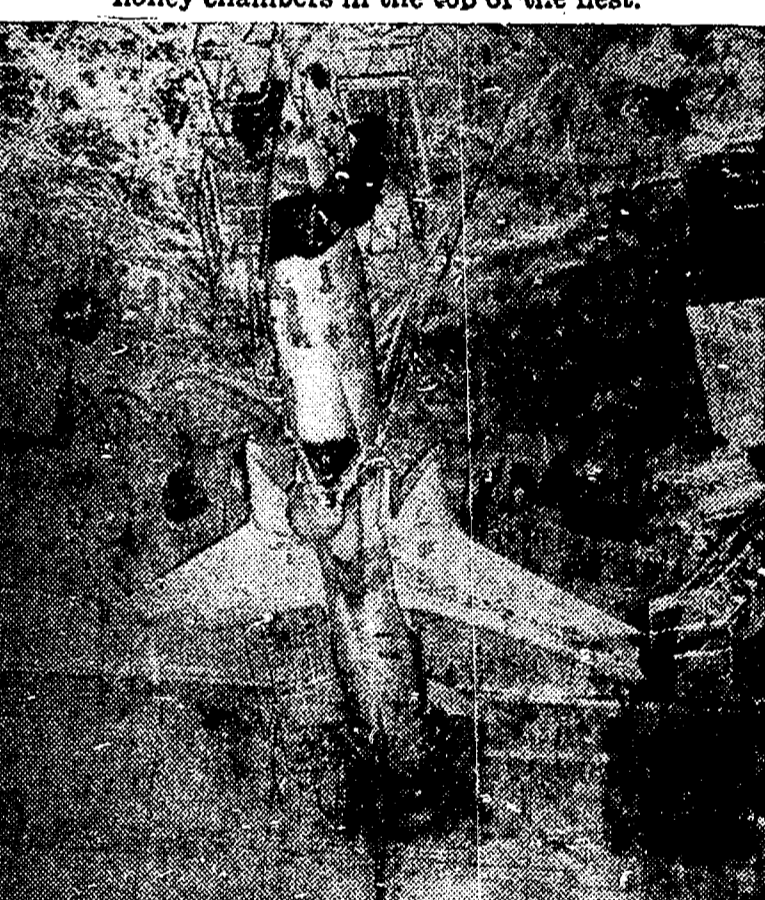

VEEP'S WIFE HONORED—Voted "The Ideal Wife" by 500,000 women of the Homemakers Forum, Mrs. Richard M. Nixon receives her trophy, a silver bowl, in Washington, D. C., from Howard S. Cohoon, founder and director of the Forum, as Mrs. Rita Beam (left) of Dayton, Ohio, outstanding "Homemaker of the Year" helps with the presentation.

CAUGHT! BUT WHO CARES? — The Florida Highway Patrol has found a way to make even traffic tickets pleasant, at least around Pensacola, Fla. She is Trooper Andree Couture. Although the face of the man receiving the ticket can't be seen in this picture, he is probably smiling. After all, who could get mad at such a pretty officer?

ALL-DAY PUCKER — Little Diane Walker seems caught on the horns of a dilemma as she tries to pick just the right music-maker out of a counter full of toys in a New York City department store. The four-year-old will need all the wind of Hurricane Diane to toot her way through the pile.

SUPER-FROSTED FLIER — That's man-made frost, produced by 65-below-zero temperature, encrusting this Republic F-105 Thunderchief being checked out in the USAF Climatic Laboratory at Eglin AFB, Fla., where the supersonic, nuclear-weapons-carrying fighter-bomber just passed rigorous cold-weather tests with flying colors. It will be flown next month to Alaska for flight and ground-testing under real-life Arctic conditions. Experts at Eglin said the Thunderchief chalked up the best test record of any fighter processed through that laboratory in the past four years.

DOWN IN THE MOUTH—Getting his just desserts, friend lizard is fed with a tasty worm at the animal clinic in Ilford, England. The tiny reptile was presented with the tempting morsel of compensation for a harrowing experience. The lizard was found stuck in the hole at the bottom of a flower pot and had to be extricated with care. Ewan Clarkson, who officiates at the clinic, takes charge of the feeding plan.

BOW PEEP — Hand tied bows gather the hemline and scalloped neckline of this imported Swiss cotton dress by Pat Premo of New York. Appropriately called "French Bows," it features delicate vertical stripes formed by dainty dots.

TAKING THE BUSS—An auto smackup is a pleasant experience for these two tot-rodgers in Paris, who forsake their kiddie cars to try some smooching. The youngsters, pigtailed Veronique Hepp, 3½, and Thierry Van Santen, 2½, are wishing each other well before the start of a pint-size auto race at the Children's Fair in the city's Grand Palais.

EARLY RISER — Displaying unexpected ability, Uebi the hippopotamus rises to the occasion and stands open for business under the urging of Red Parkey, attendant at the Overton Park Zoo in Memphis, Tenn. Puppy-like, Uebi follows Red as far as he can in the pool at the hippo house, playing hide-and-seek under water all the while. Final step of the game is to leap out of the water at Red.

SPLASHING THE BUCK—Dirty money is one thing that Mrs. Hortense Simmons, a cashier in the Wichita, Kan., Department of Finance, can't stand. She washes soiled bills, with soap and water (right), and then dries them with paper towels (left) before putting them in the cash drawer. Mrs. Simmons, who says the one-dollar bills are the dirtiest, estimates she has cleaned up more than a thousand over a period of 21 years.

DOUBLE DUTY—Designed for skiing by Robert Bruce, this convertible-collared pullover has a collar that can be worn as seen or tucked in to wear like a crew neck sweater.

SANTA'S SEAGOING SINGERS — Santa has a problem in Florida at Christmastime. It seems there aren't any reindeer there. But Marine Studios in St. Augustine, has a unique replacement for his usual helpers—porpoises, and singing porpoises at that. In this picture Santa can be seen teaching some new recruits the words to "Jingle Bells."

FICER, Lt. General James W. Gavin, proposed Friday night that the joint Chiefs of Staff military system be broken up. Gavin, chief of the Army's work on missiles, sprang the surprise suggestion at a meeting of the Senate Preparedness sub-committee. He said he proposed it in order to "get better military advice" to the Secretary of Defense.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER left by plane for Paris late Friday on a historic mission to buck up Western defenses against the challenges posed by Russia's missile-satellite successes. The President landed at Paris' Orly Airfield aboard his private plane, Columbine III, Saturday morning. He will attend the all-important "summit" meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council, which opens Monday.

The meeting was designed to revamp the Western alliance in the light of new Soviet achievements in the diplomatic and scientific fields. The President's determination to attend the meeting, despite his recent stroke, underscored its importance.

A DEEP-SEATED COLD, WAVE plunging thermometer the lowest in almost 60 years, dealt Florida a 25-million-dollar loss in winter vegetables Friday and spread serious damage through the citrus groves.

This was the most disastrous blow to Florida growers since the cold wave of Dec. 11, 1934 and the temperatures were generally much lower than were recorded that year.

The damage to the 300 million dollar citrus crop may run even higher than that suffered by vegetable growers. An estimated 26 million boxes of grapefruit—most of it ripe—were still on the trees when the cold hit.

Sunday, December 15 DAVE BECK, millionaire president of the Teamsters' Union, was convicted of stealing $1,900 from the sale of a union-owned Cadillac.

The superior court Jury of seven men and five housewives returned the verdict 20 hours and 29 minutes after receiving the case Friday afternoon. They spent about 9 hours in actual deliberation.

Beck's conviction followed by 12 days that of his son, Dave Jr., who had been charged with pocketing $4,650 from the sale of two other union-owned Cadillacs.

AN HISTORIC REPORT of Detroit's government ripped into the city's tax policies Saturday and warned that Detroit is faced with the growing threat of serious financial dangers.

The report urged the city to find quick remedies for its financial ills and proposed a return to a "pay-as-you-go" policy within the next few years.

Spearheading the 50-man committee that conducted the study was Joseph M. Dodge, Detroit banker, adviser to presidents and financial wizard.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER received a hero's welcome yesterday when he arrived in Paris and pledged that a united NATO would emerge from this week's summit conference to meet Russia's Sputnik-age challenge.

Later the President saw dramatic evidence of the regard which the French people, despite their government's serious disagreement with Washington, bear for the World War II liberator. Tens of thousands of Parisians lined the airport and gathered around the Paris residence of U. S. Ambassador Amory Houghton.

Monday, December 16 THE DETROIT LIONS proved they were old pros Sunday. Battling back from a disastrous first half, the Lions rolled to a 21-13 triumph over the Chicago Bears and a tie for the top spot in the Western Division with the San Francisco 49ers.

The 49ers moved into the deadlock with a 27-20 victory over the Green Bay Packers in San Francisco. Now the Lions must travel to the coast for the playoff to decide which team will face the Cleveland Browns in the championship game Dec. 29. The Lions will leave Tuesday and meet the 49ers in Kezar Stadium next Sunday.

Today is the day of the traditional Old Newsboys Good-fellow newspaper sale. For the 44th consecutive year the Goodfellows are selling newspapers on street corners, and in stores and offices. Helping out with the sale are hundreds of policemen throughout the city.

The goal is $250,000—and the purpose, to give some 55,000 needy children a happy Christmas. The Goodfellows have already collected about $70,000.

Low-Calorie Holiday Treat

Raisins and spice—and something extra nice: a sweet treat that's low in calories. Your holiday guests will enjoy these tasty cookies, and be grateful for the fact that they are sweetened with saccharin to guard grown-ups' waistlines and youngsters' mealtime appetites.

Saccharin is more than 400 times sweeter than sugar, but it doesn't contain a single calorie. And it's the calories in snacks, you know, that do such a good job of adding bulges to the oldesters while making the kiddies balk at their vegetables.

Here's another tip: if your Santa's getting pudgy, set these cookies out with non-fat milk for his Christmas Eve snack. That way, only the stockings will feel stuffed!

Raisin Spice Cookies

Turn on oven; set at moderately slow (350°). Dissolve 1 saccharin tablet (1/4 grain) in 2 Tbsp. water. Boil for 3 minutes in a quart saucepan.

- 3/4 cup water
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1 cup seedless raisins
- 1/4 tsp. nutmeg
- 1 tsp. cinnamon

Let cool until your hand can be held comfortably on the bottom of the pan.

Add dissolved saccharin and 1/4 tsp. salt.

Drop by tablespoons 2 inches apart onto well-greased cookie pan. Bake on oven shelf slightly above center for 8 minutes or until glossy and just barely soft to the touch. Remove from pan at once. Makes 2 dozen. (Calories in one cookie: 56)

Police Ticket Hit-Run Driver

Stephen H. McCarthy, 58, of 2153 Hollywood, tried to fool a Woods policeman, after a hit and run accident on Saturday, December 14, but was handed a ticket for leaving the scene of an accident.

An accident report disclosed that McCarthy was traveling north on Mack avenue, swerved to the left and then right, and struck an automobile driven by Otto E. Lang, 61, of 21751 Pleasant, East Detroit, who was driving about 30 miles an hour in the curb lane.

After hitting the other vehicle, McCarthy proceeded south on Mack for about two blocks, turned around and returned to the scene of the accident, at Hunt Club drive, and drove behind a business building. He got out and locked the car.

Patrolman Harry Lanstra, who was at the scene, saw the man and talked to him.

McCarthy denied being involved in the accident, stating that he just parked his car prior to picking up his wife who works at St. John Hospital.

Franklin Schmid of 22371 Englehard, St. Clair Shores, however, repudiated McCarthy's statement. He said that he witnessed the mishap and followed McCarthy from the scene and back.

McCarthy was issued a ticket and taken to the station by Lanstra, when McCarthy posted a bond of $150 to guarantee his appearance in court on December 21.

Lanstra, in his report, said McCarthy had been drinking.

Gamma Phis To Have Tea

Mrs. Russell K. Welch will open her Provincial road home December 27 from 2 to 4 o'clock for a holiday tea for members of Gamma Phi Beta and their mothers.

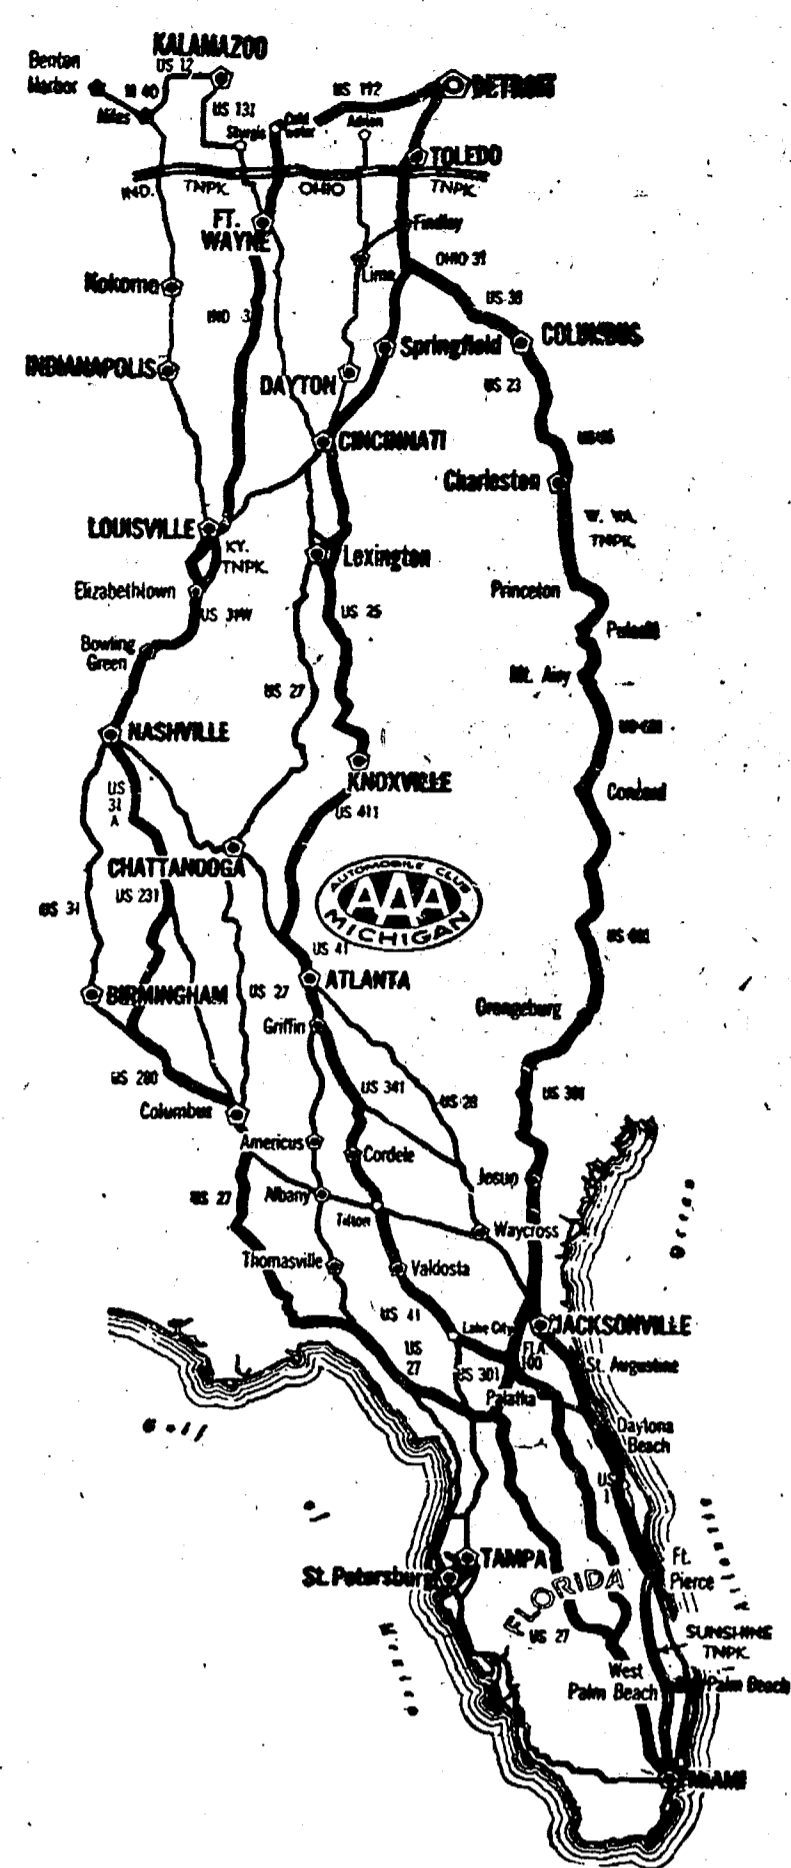

Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. G. P. Gessell, Mrs. Jack W. Mills, Mrs. Raymond W. Sibbert, Mrs. Allen R. Wilson and Mrs. John L. Shepherd.

Next year's International Convention in Victoria, B.C., will be the topic of discussion.

SPACE AGE

The main characteristic of the present day is the speed at which everyone is traveling.

Three Routes to Florida

Most of the 116,000 Michigan cars scheduled for Florida trips within the next year will use one of these three routes, according to Automobile Club of Michigan. Distances vary up to 125 miles but driving time is approximately the same.

Last year was a pace setter for the tourist industry in Florida but this year should establish another new record, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Much of the increase will be due to an estimated 350,000 visitors; 20,000 more than made the trip a year ago. Harry N. Rogan, Auto Club travel services director, stated. Advance reservations and early routing requests are up nearly seven per cent over 1956, he said.

"Approximately 85 per cent of the Michiganders will make the trip by car with a great majority using one of three main routes," Rogan predicted. "Two of the routes are long-time favorites while the third started gaining in popularity a year ago."

Shortest of the three is the central route which covers 1,425 miles between Detroit and Miami. Passing through Cincinnati, Knoxville and Atlanta, it includes some mountain driving. The western route through Louisville and Nashville is flatter but requires only an additional half hour of driving time.

The eastern route, which uses the West Virginia Turnpike, covers 1,516 miles. It will be preferred by many motorists, Rogan said, as it passes through only one major city, Columbus; traffic is relatively light, only a short distance of mountain driving is required and accommodations along the route are very good.

In suggesting alternate routes for return trips, he said the majority of drivers use the flatter route in winter when roads may be slippery or snow-covered but like the hilly routes during fall, spring and summer because of their added scenic qualities.

"Although many new motels have been built along all three routes, the record number of Florida-bound travelers will keep overnight accommodations at a premium," Rogan said. "Without advance reservations, drivers should plan on stopping about 4 p.m. for a chance at top facilities."

The Auto Club official said that with the new federal road program underway considerable new highway construction might be encountered in the south this winter. He also warned that southern states are maintaining strict enforcement of speed laws especially

Elementary School News

POUPARD SCHOOL

Poupard School, in keeping with the holiday season, has planned a group of Christmas activities. There will be two general assemblies, one for the kindergarten through second grades and the other for third through sixth grades. The assemblies will be of a quiet devotional nature where we emphasize the true spirit of Christmas. Carols will be sung and the Christmas story told. The children in grades three through six will be allowed to exchange gifts of not more than a value of twenty-five cents. The nature of gift giving will be determined in each room by the children and the teacher.

Room parties will be held on Friday, December 20, in the afternoon, with the exception of the morning kindergartens, which will arrange to have their parties in the morning.

The school will have a Christmas tree in the foyer which will be decorated with ornaments made by the children. In addition to the tree, Christmas carols will be played over the public address system before the final bell in the mornings and afternoons during the week preceding the holiday.

School will be released at 2:30 on Friday, December 20, and resume again at the regular time on Thursday, January 2.

Poupard Elementary School provides lunch facilities for children in the district who find it necessary to stay over the noon hour. Two supervisors are employed by the Board of Education to direct our noon activities. This year we have Mrs. Helen Morley and Mrs. Lois Holmes. Assisting the supervisors are a number of Service Girls from the fifth and sixth grades.

Due to the large number of pupils which must stay for lunch the children are divided into two groups. The first group, composed of the younger children, goes directly to the lunch room when the bell rings. In the lunch room the children are seated according to their grade.

Milk is available at three cents a bottle and can be ordered in the room each morning. The Poupard P.T.A. has provided a milk cooler this year to keep the milk cold until the children arrive in the lunch room. This feature has been much appreciated by the staff members as well as the children.

When the children have finished their lunches they are dismissed by tables. From the lunch room the children go to the playground where they are under the supervision of a noon supervisor who again is aided by Service Girls.

The older children have the same experiences, but in reverse order as they are on the playground first and eat last. We try to create an atmosphere in the school lunch room similar to the home environment. We encourage children to follow the rules of good manners and health so the noon hour will be a pleasant one.

Parents are encouraged to have their children come home for a hot lunch when possible as it provides the child with proper nourishment, rest, a "break" from school activity, and a chance to talk with the family.

If it is impossible for the children to go home, the parent is asked to write a brief note to the teacher alerting her to the fact the child is to be in school over the noon hour.

POUPARD SCHOOL

One of the lesser known ways our school serves the community is by making school buildings available to groups for after-school activities. This year Poupard is used by 13 separate groups. They are: the Girl Scouts, the Boy Scouts, the Cub Scouts, Brownies, Campfire Girls, Adult recreation groups, children's recreation groups, dance clubs, Dale Carnegie Speech Group, St. Joan of Arc, St. Lucy's, Notre Dame, and the Safety Patrol.

Holiday Cream Fudge

Noah Webster must have been something of an Ebenezer Scrooge to judge by his definition of fudge. Mr. Webster's dictionary calls it a "soft, sugary candy containing chocolate and nuts." And then he stops, leaving out the most important part—the fun of making or receiving a boxful for Christmas.

And if you're using this fudge recipe, you'll be preparing an extra batch to nibble on at home. The evaporated milk, blended with marshmallow and semi-sweet chocolate morsels, guarantees a creamy texture and rich flavor that will keep you in the kitchen making fudge all during next year, too. The fudge can be made in just a few minutes, and chances are that all the ingredients—including a can of evaporated milk—are on hand at all times.

If not, they will be—after you've made your first batch.

Holiday Cream Fudge

- 1 8-ounce jar marshmallow cream
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 12-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate morsels
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup chopped Brazil nuts
- Combine evaporated milk,

marshmallow cream, butter, sugar and salt in saucepan and bring to full boil stirring constantly. Boil five minutes over moderate heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; add semi-sweet chocolate morsels, vanilla and nuts. Stir until chocolate is melted. Pour into greased pan 8x8x2 inches. Chill until firm. YIELD: Approximately 2 3/4 pounds.

Unwanted Mice Find a Home

The unwanted house mouse has found a home!

A colony of 12,000 mice, representing 20 to 30 inbred genetic strains, will receive free cheese and lodging at The University of Michigan Laboratory of Mouse Genetics when renovations, now underway, are completed—probably next summer.

Funds for revamping the Laboratory of Vertebrate Biology for use as a "mouse house" have been provided by a $111,843 grant from the National Institute of Health (NIH), U. S. Public Health Service.

Prof. Dugald E. S. Brown, project director and chairman of the Zoology Department, says the U-M center will be one of five set up throughout the country by the NIH. Others are in the planning stage.

Its major function, Brown says, will be to train graduate and undergraduate students in mouse genetics. Two mammalian geneticists will perform the dual role of teaching and conducting research when the Center begins operation, Brown adds. This is expected to start next summer.

Secondly, the Center will serve as custodian of about 3,000 mice, including many important strains, as part of a national pool for research in basic biology and medicine. Thus, with centers spread throughout the country, inbred strains will be maintained in case an unforeseen catastrophe should wipe out a particular strain.

A mutant strain, Dr. Brown explains, is one which has inherited a tendency toward, a special trait, exemplified in the dancing mouse which has a nervous defect.

Under control breeding conditions, such as the new Center will provide, attempts will be made to develop new inbred strains which may be of value in genetic and medical research. An example of this development would be the appearance of a strain susceptible to a particular type of tumor, Professor Brown says.

The rapid rate of reproduction among mice and consequent generations produced in the laboratory, Brown explains, provide the geneticist with the best means of investigating the importance of warm-blooded animals, and "from such studies one might find a clue to some of the secrets of the inheritance of man."

Issue Brake Fluid Warning

Pointe motorists, garage mechanics and filling station operators are warned by the Pointe police chiefs to make sure that they only use heavy duty brake fluid in their cars.

Substandard fluids with low boiling temperatures can lead to brake failures, traffic accidents and possible injuries or death, the chiefs said.

The heads of the police departments pointed out that the Society of Automotive Engineers recently warned that all cars made since 1954 must have S. A. E. specification 70-R1 heavy duty brake fluids for safe operation.

The S. A. E.'s moderate duty specifications have been removed from the handbook because the boiling point of moderate duty fluid is dangerously close to, or below, brake drum temperatures developed in today's heavy, more powerful cars.

The chiefs pointed out that 12 states have already outlawed the sale of anything but S. A. E. 70-R1 heavy duty brake fluid. Safety authorities in these states have reported a reduction in accidents due to brake failure since they outlawed substandard fluids.

There are many quality brands of brake fluids on the market today, and any one of these is safe, so long as they bear the "S. A. E. 70-R1 Heavy Duty" on the label, the chiefs said.

most of the fund will have to come from what Detroiters pay for their special Good-Will newspaper.

THE VANGUARD SATELLITE launching stand, damaged in an unsuccessful test during December 6, will be ready for use again by Wednesday, an informed source said Sunday. Damage to the 12-foot-high structure was less than had been originally anticipated and repair work has proceeded swiftly. The stand is the only one among almost a dozen launching structures at Canaveral (Fla.) that can accommodate the 72-foot, 11-ton Vanguard rocket.

THE UNITED STATES Monday offered its Atlantic allies nuclear arms, increased economic support and, in any war with Russia, instant and forceful support. The response was tepid and inconclusive.

The first day of the NATO meeting, which is being attended by 14 of its 15 heads of government, began in an atmosphere of dedication. This was inspired by President Eisenhower's appeal that the nations "renew our strength and press on to that peace, freedom, which is our rightful heritage."

By nightfall the atmosphere of the Palais de Chaillot was charged with differences between the United States and its allies and heavy with conflicting national attitudes. It is clear that this will not be an "open-and-shut" meeting dominated by the U. S.

THE OLD NEWSBOYS filed to reach their quota in a Goodfellow paper sale yesterday, for the first time in 10 years. They collected $10,488.13 in downtown street sales—about $8,000 less than last year.

The Old Newsboys executive board will meet today in favor of Miriam's office to secure out a way to raise the missing $40,000, the total necessary to create a merry Christmas for 55,000 needy Detroit children.

POLICE WERE STILL looking early Tuesday for Chief W. Investigator Ralph Winstead, who vanished mysteriously Sunday after telling his wife he was "going for a long walk."

Winstead, 64, was to have left Monday in the 4 1/2 million dollar malicious prosecution suit brought by Carlina against the UAW and her defendants because of her arrest in the 1948 Walter Luther shooting.

A MEMBER OF THE Detroit board of assessors said that, because of the Dodge financial port findings, home owners will be forced to pay higher taxes.

Clifford A. Prevost, speaking unofficially, but as a member of the four-member board, said he didn't like the decision intended to fight it, but at the other three on the board have "already decided to let a portion of the burden of industry and business to home owner."

DETROIT RED WINGS yesterday completed an eight-year deal with the Chicago Black Hawks on a four for basis. Manager Jack Adams announced that going Chicago are Center Earl Abel, Left Wing Billy Deane, Right Wing Bill Dineen and Forward Lorne Ferguson.

Christmas past in the Pointe was a time to cheer your neighbor, to hitch up the surrey and gallop over the hard frozen roads to deliver holiday greetings. The small band of residents grew closer together as the year ended and they celebrated the Yuletide in St. Paul's Church and the small frame and stone Protestant chapel on the lakeshore.

Most of the great summer families went to town to their mansions in the Fort street and East Jefferson early in October for the social season which began then and lasted into the New Year. The great wooden castles along the lake were boarded up, surrounded by untracked wastes of gleaming snow. Inside the vacation homes furniture was covered with dust sheets and curtains drawn against the bright December sun. Occasionally a caretaker carrying his lantern and accompanied by his fierce watchdog checked the houses against marauders, but few penetrated that vast stillness until May, when with the first warm winds the families arrived on their summer pilgrimage.

But in the cabins and farm houses of the early French families Christmas was celebrated with great gusto. Early in December the head of the household took the interurban into town to Mr. McMillan's great grocery store and into his two gallon jug poured some special spirits to carry the revelers through the holiday. There was much Christmas calling, the families riding their buggies as far afield as Mack avenue, (then called the Clinton road) to visit friends.

All the roadhouses were kept open during the holiday welcoming guests around a filled Tom and Jerry bowl. Many Detroiters rode out from town to taste the hospitality at Aunt Kate Weaver's in Notre Dame, at Matt Kramer's in Edgemont park and at the Chauvin House. These gay hostilities served Christmas wild duck dinners; no frozen turkeys, then.

The landmark along the lake was the Edmund A. Brush home, where the family stayed through the holiday and received callers from town. By 1907 when gas lights were replaced by electricity and water mains were built, many of the summer families remained all year long for the skating, the ice boating and the horse races on the crisp shore.

In the two churches there were services especially for the children and midnight mass was the highlight of Christmas for the French settlers. After mass great hearty breakfasts were served in the tradition of Cadillac's day and the real party spirit of the season began.

Those long ago Pointers had none of the amenities of our Christmas, no Christmas street full of exciting shops, no merchants to deck their town, few comforts, but they kept the season with joyous hearts, in fellowship and reverence.

who, where and whatnot

by whoozit

Christmas Street is aglow from the top of Kercheval Hill to the last shop in the Village with green pines and glitter, merry carols, Yule greetings and the smiles of seasonal shoppers which make the Pointe the happiest of hamlets these late December days.

Everywhere there are last minute gift shoppers. . . Mrs. Daniel R. Simmons, Jr., booted and bundled against the bracing chill tripping from one haberdashery to another in search of the perfect present for Mr. S. . . Mrs. Robert T. Herdegen superintending the placing of a dainty pink tree in her car. . . Mrs. Robert Snow, (she of the champagne recipe on this page), deciding between a beige lace and emerald satin cocktail frock for one of this fortnight's spectacular parties. . . Sprightly and dimpled Mrs. John E. Caulkins in the post office line with packages for California admitting she hadn't addressed her Christmas cards yet. . . the boxful of toys delivered to the Karl O. VanLeuven home during school hours so there would be no peeping. . . these are the signs of Christmas.

Yule lights are shining on gardens all over our town . . . watch for the fabulous display on the Lou Maxon's . . . what the George J. Johnsons have planned for their Whittier road home, (last season it was a space ship twinkling on the lawn, all ready for a flight to the moon) . . . the heart warming municipal tree lighted before the Shores City Hall.

And the lovely ladies are never lovelier than when they shine at Yule parties. . . Dark haired Mrs. John Keogh so striking in black velvet topped with white lace. . . Mrs. Clinton R. Scharf in Dior blue lace over taffeta with demure rolled collar. . . glamour red head, Mrs. William D. Byron in black lace and peau de soie, scooped neck and so bouffant. . . Mrs. Owen Keeler in navy blue wool with white jewels sparkling.

And the season has its stresses and strains on all mammas and daddies. One small tot was a bit worried and at bedtime asked her father, "Do you and mommy ever have fights?" Believing in realistic child upbringing her father replied that of course now and then a difference of opinion did occur and he and mommy did argue. "Who wins?" persisted his five year old. Her sister answered, "Don't be silly, Mommy, of course. Don't you know that girls always go first."

PILFERINGS

'Twas the night before Christmas when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring,
Not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there:

Clement C. Moore

And it was always said of him, that he knew how to keep Christmas well. If any man alive possessed the knowledge. May that be truly said of us, and all of us! And so, as Tiny Tim observed, God Bless Us, Every One! . . . Charles Dickens.

Pointer of Interest

MRS. EVERYTHING TO EVERYBODY
By Patricia Talbot

—Picture by Fred Rummels

She is the spirit of Christmas past, present and future, full of the gayety of the season, thoughtful of others, the center of her family's joyful celebrations and the organizer of the myriad details which make this the most meaningful of holidays to her children, her husband, her friends and countless other folk who benefit from her overflowing heart.

Our Christmas Lady Bountiful is our holiday Pointer of Interest, who at this time of year more than any other appreciates her benefits and responsibilities and gives thanks. She is the torch bearer of so much that makes our town unique in its friendly warm heartedness, its tradition of giving, its neighborliness, its progress.

Many Things to Many

She is many things to many people all year long as well as at Christmas. She is your daughter's Brownie leader, your son's den mother, the kitchen helper at your church's many dinners, the chateleine of the PTA tea table, the Red Cross worker, a door bell ringer for the Torch drive, the devoted Garden Club member, the political campaigner.

From an efficient committee meeting she can dash home to prepare an exotic meal and receive guests in a frothy cocktail frock and impeccable coiffure, ready to enjoy an evening of congeniality, a small dinner with friends, which is the favorite entertainment of every Pointe weekend. She can care for a sick child and remember the tot who has no loving care. She can understand an erudite talk on economics or the Sputnik and judge the grocery bill. She can cheer her Little Leaguer at every crucial game and uncomplainingly chauffeur a car full of small ballerinas to a dress rehearsal.

Appreciates Her Position

She can enjoy life and know that hers is a fortunate lot. She can help the orphan, the aged, the citizens of a land not blessed as hers. She can sew a slipcover or a Cinderella costume for the school play. She can organize and sell tickets to a benefit to raise thousands of dollars for a hospital. She can keep a tight fist on an allowance and the keys to the family car.

Our Pointer believes in what tales of woe and joy, grandchildren will be coming to visit, friends stopping by for a chat and a bite. There is the tree to trim, the cards to mail, the packages to wrap, the cookies to bake, the snow to be shoveled, the holiday groceries to store away, and the bills to file.

You see her on the hill in her coat and slacks, trailed by a three year old and two dogs, in the supermarket chatting over the grapefruit with a neighbor, in the toy store pondering a jet gun or a doll that cries mama, at the War Memorial, in the hospitals, at the school party. She is everywhere spreading her own happiness and gratitude for all life has brought to her.

Rarely Seeks Praise

She rarely asks for praise or thanks, gives unstintingly of her work and talents, wishes and works for the best for her children, is a companion and confidant of her husband, expects little for herself but the love and understanding of those who matter most to her. For everything she is and has been, everything she may be we give her a gift of gratitude and wish her and hers the merriest of Christmases.

Pick Christmas Pup with Care

The Christmas puppy, growing in popularity as a gift for children, may prove to be a source of unhappiness for the child unless proper care is exercised in its selection, according to an official of the Michigan Veterinary Medical Association.

Disappointment and heart-break often follow when the pup proves to be sickly or begins to outgrow limited quarters, Dr. Stephen R. Kelly, president, said.

"All too often, the well-meaning parent or friend selects a puppy for its cuteness and without regard to condition, temperament or potential size," Kelly said. "This frequently leads to heart-break for the child, especially when it is discovered that the growing dog is too large and active for a small house, or is temperamentally unfit for handling by children."

Kelly's advice to prospective puppy buyers:

Buy from a reliable dealer. He will usually guarantee the pup's health. He also knows the breed's adult characteristics and whether it is suitable for the intended child and home.

Select the pup that is alert and responsive. Refuse the dog that coughs or is lacking in playfulness. The coat is the best indication of condition; it should be smooth and glossy. Eyes and nose should be clear and free of mucous, which is often a sign of serious illness.

As soon as possible, the buyer should be checked for internal and external parasites and immunization begun against infectious canine diseases. Modern veterinary medical practice calls for immunization that was standard practice a few years ago. The veterinarian will determine the appropriate age for immunization.

Sewing Basket

Full of Ideas

Your sewing basket can be a treasure chest for Christmas gift-wrapping ideas, says Jane Graff, home furnishings extension specialist at Michigan State University. You can use yarn, buttons and even hooks and eyes to make your gifts extra special this year.

Yarn is wonderfully versatile. Miss Graff suggests making a Christmas tree outline with green yarn or using a cluster of yarn pompons instead of a bow on your package. Colors are almost limitless and you can let your imagination run wild. A little glue holds them in place.

Buttons are nice for a gift of clothing for the man in your house. String rows of them together with yarn, use large ones for a border or make a design that's all your own out of them. Children enjoy yarn dolls with button eyes. You might try making some for your children and attaching them to the bow on a package.

On a narrow gift package for the "gal" members of the family, you may like to run a single strip of ribbon down the center of the package and glue large hooks and eyes across it.

If you don't want to spend a lot of money for ribbon this year, try using strips of material cut out of calico with children's patterns. Remember to choose a small pattern because a large one will be too large in scale for most packages. A gift wrapping is most successful if it has only one center of interest. For this reason, cluttering a package with many little items makes it messy rather than interesting. Choose one item such as the buttons. Make it look important by stringing them on a brilliant colored yarn and then placing the string on a strip of bright paper that contrasts with the package, suggests Miss Graff.

Three Pointers Make Dean's List at Yale

Three Grosse Pointe students at Yale University made the Dean's List for outstanding academic achievement during the past semester.

To qualify for the list the student must maintain a grade average in the top 25 percent of his class. Among those named was Robert Baylor Semple, Jr., son of the Robert Baylor Semple, of University place. He is a graduate of Andover and Wellington College, England, and a junior at Yale.

Others named were Alexander Loder Wiener, Jr., son of the A. L. Wiensers, of Woodland place. Also, a junior at Yale, he is a graduate of the Choate School. Donald Robert Worley, son of the John Kyle Worleys, of Merrivether road, was the other Pointer named to the Dean's List. He is a sophomore and was graduated from Grosse Pointe High School.

Museum Offers Dickens Classic

Charles Dickens' immortal "David Copperfield" will be the offering in the Great Films of the Century Series at Henry Ford Museum next Saturday and Sunday, December 21 and 22.

The sound film, based upon the classic written by Dickens more than a century ago, was voted the top picture of 1935. It stars Freddie Bartholomew, W. C. Fields and Lionel Barrymore.

Young Bartholomew has the title role of the orphan who strives to make a place for himself in nineteenth century London. His path is made a great deal harder by bullying relatives and conniving acquaintances. Fields plays the indigent, scheming Micawber. The current old movies series at the Ford Museum theater alternates each week between silent and sound pictures.
