

Shores Suspension Case

(Continued from Page 1) September 20 for a mutually convenient date, which call was never received, except through a letter sent to him by Vance. Prete said he could see no reason for such a long adjournment date, inasmuch as Police Chief Fred Duemling would return from his vacation on October 10, and when the chief returns, Prete said, a hearing date would be consented to by his client and himself.

Prete said that he will seek an open hearing, without the necessity of locked doors, as at the first hearing, since the case of the suspended officer is important to the village taxpayers. Countercharges Filed The attorney said that Lietke filed countercharges against his superiors in the department, and that they will be released to the newspapers, if necessary, to "insure that the whole matter gets before the public," as well as preventing Lietke having a "fair and impartial hearing" and then fired anyway. If there be an official offer made of the unofficial "offers" of retirement to Lietke, carried by "volunteer emissaries," Prete stated to Vance, he is sure that Lietke will consider them, if public retraction of the charges be made and withdrawn with no loss of salary or pension rights.

Pay In Park Stays Same

(Continued from Page 1) After all, he said, the Park is a municipal corporation and the council must look out for the interests of the taxpayers.

He moved that the matter be tabled until next April at which time the city manager will present a tentative budget for the fiscal year 1961-62. The council, with three members absent, approved his motion. The fiscal year begins July 1, 1961.

Present at the council meeting were Mayor Kenneth Cunningham, and Councilmen Wehmer, William Oddy and John Doelle. Absent were Councilmen Kent Zimmerman, Matthew Patterson and Charles Ives.

Park policemen and firemen receive $5,898 a year, without longevity benefits. They are given a uniform allowance.

The Shores, which has an integrated department, pays its police-firemen $6,190 a year, plus longevity pay of $100 for every five years to a maximum of $300 for 15 years or more of service.

Farms policemen and firemen get $5,898 a year. They do not receive longevity pay, but the city recently granted them an increase in life insurance, from $2,000 to $5,000, of which the personnel pay on $1,000 and the city pays the premium on the balance.

City policemen and firemen receive $5,900 a year. They do not receive any longevity pay.

The Woods, which has an integrated police and fire department, pays its police-firemen $6,167 a year, plus longevity pay of $100 for every five years up to a maximum of $300 for 15 years of service. With insurance paid by the city, uniform allowance and other fringe benefits, the pay is approximately $6,500.

The base salaries, of course, refer to that of the patrolman and fireman, with corporals, sergeants and higher ranking officers receiving pay corresponding with their positions.

WOMEN DRIVERS

Of the 81,500,000 drivers in the United States, nearly 40 percent are women. A survey of car use by women drivers shows that nearly half use their car on a daily basis.

Driver Fined, Sent To Jail

A 20-year-old youth was found guilty of reckless driving and driving without ever acquiring an operator's license, and was sentenced in Woods court on Monday, October 3.

Gerald E. Stram of 17877 Rowe, was fined $50 and sent to the Wayne County Jail for 15 days by Woods Judge Don Goodrow.

Justine P. Hajduk, 19, of 7184 Iowa, Detroit, will appear before Judge Goodrow on December 3, to answer a charge of permitting an unlicensed driver to operate her car.

Two other Detroiters, a boy and girl, who were in Miss Hajduk's car at the time were not held.

According to Patrolmen Donald Sabel and Robert Sass, the car containing the foursome was spotted at the corner of Beaufait, at Mack at 4:45 a.m. Monday. When they approached to investigate, the officers, said, the driver of the car, Stram, pulled away from the curb and drove off at a high rate of speed going west on Beaufait.

Then, the patrolmen stated, the car ran a stop street at Helen, another at Canton and Harper in Harper Woods, turned north on Harper, turned east on Lennon, ran a stop sign on Canton in Harper Woods, and came to a stop on Lennon, near Canton.

Sabel and Sass said they found Stram at the wheel, and when they asked for his operator's license, he said he did not have one. The officers took the car and its occupants to the station.

At the station, Stram was given a ticket for reckless driving and one for never acquiring a driver's license, and Miss Hajduk was handed one for allowing Stram to drive.

Parents of friends of Stram will have until the 15-day jail term ends to pay the fine, or the youth will have to spend extra time behind bars.

Charles H. Locke Taken by Death

Charles H. Locke, 75, retired City police lieutenant and superintendent of Norbert P. Neff Park, died on Wednesday, October 5. He lived at 541 Neff road.

Mr. Locke joined the City Police Department on April 1, 1913, and was one of the Pointe's early motorcycle officers. During the days of Prohibition, he was shot and seriously wounded by unknown assailants while patrolling on what is now Cadieux road, near Mack.

He retired from the department on March 31, 1933, with the rank of lieutenant, and later assumed the duties of superintendent of the municipal park, and remained in the post until he finally retired on October 15, 1954.

He was born in Detroit on March 31, 1885, and moved to the City with his parents in 1912, living there since.

Mr. Locke is survived by his wife, Ella; two sons, Marvin of the Pointe, and James of Mt. Clemens; three daughters, Mrs. Valarie Baumeister of the Pointe, Mrs. Charlotte Smart of Detroit, and Mrs. Helen Schreff of the Pointe; 13 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Friday, October 7. Burial was in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Cottage Hospital Finishes $200,000 Renovation Job

The freeing of a number of rooms for patients on the lower levels of Grosse Pointe's Cottage Hospital has been one of the principal achievements of a recently-completed $200,000 third-floor renovation project. It had been necessary to use these rooms for residents' sleeping quarters.

The attractive new area is an excellent example of how proper utilization of the combined talents of architect, contractor, decorator and administrator can create usable space from cluttered attic area.

The project was started approximately a year ago and just recently completed. Reclaimed from attic space, previously used only for limited storage, were four residents' sleeping rooms, a conference room, a lounge for resident doctors, volunteers' office, patients library, expanded locker areas for employees and planned storage units.

Furnishing of the new rooms was handled by Hospital Interiors, with consideration toward budget, wear and maintenance. Plastic coverings were used on all furniture seatings and fabrics were utilized only on windows and in bed spreads.

"Off-the-floor" furniture was selected to keep cleaning and maintenance to a minimum. Tile floors were used throughout in furnishings and coverings so as not to conflict with interior decorating colors previously chosen by the architect.

Along with the freeing of patient rooms, the third-floor project makes space available on the lower level which can now be utilized as a doctor's library and reading room.

When people say a man is regular in his habits they usually refer to his bad ones.

This production will be under the direction of Douglas Campbell who directed Stratford's "Midsummer Night's Dream" this summer and has just completed starring role in Tyrone Guthrie's production of "H.M.S. Pinafore".

Douglas Campbell has filled the cast with a group of actors from the Stratford Shakespearean Festival. They include William Needles, Max Helpmann, Merwyn Blake and Claude Bede. Miss Pat Gallo-way plays Portia, and is joined by Nancy Kerr as the other lady of the drama.

The Canadian Players in their initial engagement here last year, delighted a capacity audience with their brilliant presentation of "The Taming of the Shrew".

Five Pointers Taken Off Road

The driver's licenses of 545 Michigan motorists were suspended and those of 277 were revoked during the week of September 13, according to the latest report from Michigan Department of State.

One Pointe motorist had his license suspended for one month, and returned, and four others are still under suspension or had their licenses revoked.

Driving privileges were restored to Valerio J. Polluto of 1167 Lakepointe, who was taken off the road from September 9 to October 9, for having an unsatisfactory driving record.

Henry B. Joy III of 274 Provenal, had his license suspended from September 1 to December 1, for having an unsatisfactory driving record.

Alfred E. Saylor of 954 Balfour, has been forbidden to drive for a period of three years, from September 2, 1960 to September 2, 1963, for violating the State Drunk Motor Law.

Two other Pointers had their licenses revoked. They are:

David W. Elliott of 1527 Hawthorne, on August 16, for having an unsatisfactory driving record; and Robert E. Mathews of 1026 Nottingham, on September 14, for having an unsatisfactory driving record and for failing to appear for re-examination.

In the report, James M. Hare, Secretary of State and chairman of the Michigan State Safety Commission, disclosed that from 2,000 to 3,000 conviction-prone motorists have their licenses cancelled, revoked, or suspended each month.

Erring drivers, whose conviction record reaches or exceeds the 12-point level within a two-year period, are cited in for interviews with trained driver improvement personnel who review the case history with the motorist.

Some are warned, some given a restricted license, or are sent to driver school. Habitual traffic violators are more likely to lose their license for 30 days or more, Hare said.

Pointe Teachers Report On Experiences Overseas

Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education two Pointe teachers presented a resume of their travel and teaching experiences of last year.

Perhaps there was a time when England's battles were won or lost on the playing fields of Eton, but times have changed, according to two Grosse Pointe teachers who have just returned from a year in England. Anne Wallace of Trombly and Charles Jorgensen of Pierce, under the International Teacher Exchange Program, traded places with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hutton of Liverpool, England. There they found an educational system which was different from the average American's concept of English schools and which was an interesting contrast to our own.

Anne and the Jorgensens found that Great Britain, despite its small size, was made up of smaller areas each with its own kind of people, dialect, and scenery. From centrally-located Liverpool, it was but a day's or a week end's drive to reach such diversified places as the Lake District, Yorkshire, Scotland, Wales, the Isle of Man, Ireland, the Midlands, East Anglia, Cornwall, and the Cotswolds.

Three Major Events

Three events of high importance to the English people and of interest to the world in general occurred during this exchange year. The national election, held every five years and far more restrained than the American variety, kept the Conservatives in power with their leader, Macmillan, as Prime Minister. Another great occasion brought out the seldom-flown British flags to herald the birth of Andrew, the Queen's second son. And, of course, every television set in the land was turned on to show the marriage of Princess Margaret to "the Jones Boy."

Other events of less general but more personal importance included the reception given by the Queen-Mother for all the exchange teachers. This was held in the gardens of Lancaster House in London where each guest was individually presented to the charming mother of the queen. Also present were the Lord-Mayor of Westminster, Lady and Sir David Eccles (British Minister of Education), and American-born, but thoroughly English Lady Astor.

On another "posh" occasion, the exchange teachers were guests at a reception in London in the beautiful home of the American ambassador, John Hay Whitney. A third highlight of the year was a four-day course given at Stratford-upon-Avon which included three plays and a series of lectures on Shakespeare.

Travel on Continent

The extended school holidays at Christmas and Easter (three weeks in each case) gave Miss Wallace and the Jorgensen family time for two trips to the continent. Despite these personal activities, Anne and Chuck spent most of their time on the job of teaching in two schools in Liverpool. The Florence Melley Secondary Modern School for Girls and the Bankfield Secondary Modern School for Boys.

England's Education Act of 1944 and earlier reforms have done away with the aristocratic concept that good education and leadership should be for the privileged few. Now ability is recognized regardless of economic background, and a college education is available to those who merit one. However, according to our returning teachers, English free education still falls short of the aim here of equal opportunities in education for all. Here is the pattern of state-supported education in England:

Until the age of eleven, boys and girls attend infant and primary schools together where work is basically the same as it is here, although we have perhaps greater opportunity in creative activities such as art, writing, dramatics, and music.

Must Take Examination

When the child is eleven, he is given a test, an "11 plus examination," which, as one Englishman put it, "broods like a monster over every home in England, in which there is a child between the ages of seven and eleven." This exam determines the educational future of the child unless his parents are wealthy enough to make other arrangements.

Approximately the top 20 percent are sent to the grammar schools where boys and girls are separated for a five or six year course of study to prepare some of them to enter college or university. Fewer than 10 percent of the grammar school students go on to college.

The 80 percent who failed the 11-plus exam, (or rather those who were left out when the grammar school vacancies were filled), are sent to a "secondary modern" school, which is the type in which Anne and Charles taught. Although these average-and-below students are given two other chances to pass tests to transfer to grammar or technical schools, few do. The secondary modern is a terminal school, and, as the school-leaving age is 15, almost all leave as soon after that birthday as possible to find work, many going into apprenticeship to a trade.

New Movement Afoot

There is a movement in some areas of England toward the comprehensive school which puts both boys and girls and both grammar and modern school classes into the same building. However, only about six percent of the schools are now "comprehensive."

In British schools, classes generally are "streamed" according to ability, so that unfair competition is reduced. Reports to parents which generally are sent home only twice a year may give comments about the child in each course, but in addition his rank is also shown, so that a child who is the best in his class ranks first or "tops his form," while some one in a class of 32 will rank thirty-second.

An interesting sidelight to this involves the Jorgensen girls, Gail, in the ninth grade, and Karla, in the eighth. They attended the Wirral County Grammar School for Girls in Bebington, where the Jorgensens lived across the Mersey River from Liverpool. The headmistress suggested at the time of enrolling that the girls would face an interesting but difficult year, for, she said, "You will find the English schools are superior." It was an interesting year for them and at the end of each term's examination, Karla ranked in the upper fourth of her class, while Gail topped her form.

Life More Formal

Life is more formal in English schools. "Sir" (pronounced "Suh" in Liverpool) and "Ma'am" or the teacher's name are dropped into every child's response. Uniforms are worn in most schools and always on the blazer or jacket is the embroidered school badge the size of the breast pocket. No jewelry nor make-up are allowed in girls' schools. Boys wear shorts (Bermuda length) until they are about thirteen. The children pass in lines from room to room, or, if they remain in a room while the teachers change, they rise when he enters.

The teacher in England is more authoritarian. Often he or she, headmaster will use physical punishment with ruler or cane; and some are prone to use sarcasm in dealing with children. As the teacher is less apt to be regarded as a friend, there is generally an alliance against him, so that it becomes a constant game for the pupils to try to "put one over" on him.

Cite Good Features

Although it is easy to be critical, Anne and Chuck would like to call attention to certain favorable features in English education. Schools there are generally smaller than ours, averaging between 200 and 700 pupils, which is conducive to greater attention to individuals and which give each a greater opportunity to participate in school activities.

Sports for everyone is generally emphasized; this is true for girls as well as for boys. The size of the playfields is an indication of the importance placed on physical development, for the Grosse Pointe High School athletic grounds would rank with the smaller ones in England.

The brightest students do get more attention under the separate grammar school set-up; we here have been attempting to do something similar in recent years with the honors classes. Brains are no drawback in English schools, for personality is not enough for popularity; good grades are needed too. As teachers are almost always grammar school graduates, there is no question of their intellectual ability; and the teacher in England enjoys a higher prestige with the general public than he does in the United States, although, it has been pointed out, the situation in the classroom is in reverse.

Stress Three Things

Of special importance in English schools is neatness, penmanship, and formal manners. Although there seems to be less emphasis placed on creative thought, there is greater attention given to the organization of ideas in writing.

Both Anne Wallace and Charles Jorgensen say they are happy to have had the opportunity and the responsibility of teaching in an English school. However, they are quite content to return to this familiar scene where, in their opinions, schools are better organized, where children have more fun while learning just as much, and where teachers can call their principal and their superintendent by his first name.

In addition to the activities reported by Miss Wallace and Mr. Jorgensen Grosse Pointe children will also profit from the fascinating experience of another professional staff member.

A three months lecture tour in England and a trip around the world was last year's agenda for Miss Margaret Casteel, history teacher and counselor, at Grosse Pointe High School. The three things that captured her interest most were the kibbutz's in Israel, the progress

Introducing The Pointe's Newest Teachers

Mr. Leavitt is discussing one of the more than 300 separate structures which compose the anatomical model recently purchased by the Grosse Pointe Public Schools under Title III of the National Defense Education Act.

Looking on with interest at the extreme left is Mrs. Frances Gillis, social studies teacher. Mrs. Gillis is an experienced Grosse Pointe teacher having taught at the Monteith Elementary School since 1955. She is a graduate of Connecticut State Teachers College and Wayne State University. The Gillis's have three children, David, a Grosse Pointe High graduate now attending Yale University, Dorothy a Grosse Pointe High Junior and Stephen a 9th grader at Brownell.

Next to Mrs. Gillis is another fine addition to the social studies department Miss Joanne Ortwein. A graduate of Grosse Pointe High School Miss Ortwein received her B.A. from the University of Michigan. She has also attended Wayne State. Joanne lists her special interests as skiing and travel.

Mr. Herman Klein, 4th from left, is a native Detroit. He attended Cass Technical High School and Wayne State University where he was awarded both the B.S. and M.S. degrees. He joins the Pierce music department having served as music teacher at Jackson Junior High, Detroit for the past five years. Mr. Klein is active as a church organist and choir director. He is married and the Kleins have one child.

Miss Julie Post a recent graduate of Purdue University has accepted an assignment as teacher of French. Miss Post was born in Detroit and is an alumnus of Grosse Pointe High School. She was extremely active in campus activities while at Purdue and lists her major interests as sports and philosophical reading.

Teachers Tell Experiences

India's Matters Progress
 "I would like to go back to India ten years from now just to see the progress they have made," Miss Casteel commented and added despite the poverty and evergrowing population India is still making great progress.

The kibbutz's or co-operative farms in Israel are run on a socialistic basis. They are set up so that the poor may obtain a decent living and an education. Each different age group has its own unit, where the children both play and learn. Each child must spend one hour every day learning how to care for animals on the farm. Everyone in the kibbutz takes part in the actual work. Profits are used for building new units and improving the farm. Each kibbutz in Israel specializes in one product. At the one visited by Miss Casteel, eggs were the specialty.

During her lecture tour in England Miss Casteel gave lectures to schools and to many different auxiliary and service groups. In some lectures her subject was a comparison of the American and English school systems. Lectures on our federal government seemed to hold the interest of the boys' schools.

Miss Casteel is appreciative of the opportunities to know and understand the history and customs of other countries. She feels this is of vital importance to America's future.

Teachers' Future Panels
 Miss Wallace, Miss Casteel,

Mr. Jorgensen, and Mrs. Muriel Kreski, Brownell mathematics teacher who taught in England in 1953-54, summarized their activities and commented upon foreign educational practices for over 200 fellow Grosse Pointe teachers at the September meeting of the Grosse Pointe Education Association. Their panel discussion was extremely well received. Those attending came away feeling that our community and our nation had been extremely well represented abroad by these outstanding teachers and that Grosse Pointe indeed gains much by having four staff members who have had such worthwhile educational experiences.

A fellow can't add to his stature by multiplying his words.

And drying with a modern gas dryer costs 1/5 as much

Boys will be boys! But there's something so inviting about fluffy towels—fresh and fragrant from a modern gas dryer. And keeping up with such unexpected laundry is easier and costs so little with a gas dryer. You spend less time, less energy and so much less money when you dry with gas.

New gas dryers operate at just one-fifth the cost of other types, yet offer every convenience—timer cycles, dial-a-fabric settings to let you dry every fabric, ultraviolet lamps to give clothes a sunny fragrance. So choose a gas dryer now from those displayed at Gas Company offices and dealers.

U. Of M. Dean To Speak Here

Tickets to the Fifth Annual Dinner for University of Michigan administrative officers to be held at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial on Wednesday evening, October 19, are going fast, according to Mrs. Hubert G. Goebel and Mrs. Stuart G. Baits, co-chairmen.

Inasmuch as the capacity of the War Memorial is limited, only a few tickets remain for distribution. Dr. James H. Robertson, Associate Dean of the College of Literature, Science and the Arts of the University, will speak on the subject, "The Heart of the University, The Literary College." The affair is sponsored by the University of Michigan Club of Grosse Pointe and will commence with a reception at 6 o'clock. Tickets, while they last, may be obtained from Mrs. Goebel, TU 2-0277, or Mrs. Baits, TU 5-4355, or from any board member.

Pictures indoors without flashbulbs? Just clip on the wink-light — the eye makes the correct settings automatically.

Outdoors in bright light you don't even have to focus. Just aim and snap. Everything in the picture from 3 feet to miles away will be sharp.

Remember, your picture is ready on the spot, only a moment after you snap it. Isn't this the way you want to take pictures?

Society WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Patricia Talbot

Watchers of the Great Debate between Presidential candidates Nixon and Kennedy Friday night were legion. All social activity was suspended while dinner and cocktail party guests gathered about television sets.

Guests at the George Tait Halls in Washington road were fortunate to have an objective observer from Great Britain in their midst. Mrs. Hall's mother, Lady Moore, wife of Admiral Sir Henry Moore, of Kent, England, was here for a short visit. She had never seen the candidates on TV and dinner party guests at the Halls were interested in her comments.

Lady Moore flew home Wednesday to attend a traditional ceremony in Westminster Abbey. She came here en route home from Washington, where she also made a brief visit.

House Hunting

In New York house hunting over the week-end were the Kneeland Welches. They have sold their Mapleton road home to John DeFoe, and hope to find a new house on Long Island. Mr. Welch has already moved to the big city.

From Paris to New York

Already in from Paris to New York is Mrs. D. L. Smart of Westchester road. After a very successful showing of her paintings in Paris this summer the artist has been invited to have a one man exhibit in the Ligora Duncan Gallery in New York.

The three week show opens this Saturday and will offer 20 of her recent oil paintings. Mrs. Smart is no stranger to one man shows. She has had one at the Women's City Club here and also exhibited with the Michigan Artists Exhibition, the State Fair and the Regional Show at Ann Arbor.

Her paintings reveal her impressions of her trip to Europe, her interest in the Orient and industrial buildings in Detroit. Mr. Smart makes the very handsome frames for his wife's paintings.

Lochmoor Show

In the non-partisan spirit a donkey and an elephant, symbols of the two great political parties, will greet guests at Lochmoor's bridge luncheon and fall fashion show next Wednesday.

Mrs. W. Tom Zurschmiede, Jr., and Mrs. Donald C. Wood are co-chairman of the party. Added feature will be a hat bar set up in the foyer so members can purchase a new chapeau on the spot.

Those with reservations include Mrs. Sidney M. Harvey, Mrs. James Cunningham, Mrs. E. L. Weber, Mrs. David C. Lowe, Mrs. Thomas Zurschmiede, Mrs. Ralph C. Wilson, Mrs. A. P. Teetzel, Mrs. Norman Nicholl and Mrs. Walter Horn.

Junior High Halloween Frolic

Halloween is coming and preparations are well in hand for the traditional witch and goblin costumes along with an up-to-the-minute assortment of space suits.

At the Boat Club on October 28 the junior high set from all the clues has been invited to a holiday frolic. Joe Van, radio disc jockey will be on hand to flip the

Gould will play Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 5 in D major and Beethoven's Concerto No. 2 in B flat major on a program which includes Mendelssohn's Symphony No. 4 in A major ("Italian") and the first Detroit performance of Howard Hanson's "Elegy to the Memory of Serge Koussevitzky."

The evening before Thursday's regular subscription concert Gould appears with the orchestra at a special Invitational concert in Ford Auditorium sponsored by Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co.

Under Paray's direction, the concert will serve as the first in a series of pre-show events for the National Automobile Show of the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

Wednesday's concert will take on added interest with the world premiere of Nikolai Lopatnikoff's "Festival Overture" dedicated to the automobile industry of the United States and commissioned by Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co.

Talk may be cheap, but it could be expensive in the long run.

Cousins to Talk At Town Hall

Norman Cousins, editor of Saturday Review, will discuss world news when he appears before Detroit Town Hall on Wednesday, October 19.

The lecture, the second of 12 in the Town Hall series, will be held at 11 a.m. in Ford auditorium, followed by a luncheon at the Detroit Club.

In 1959, Cousins lectured in the Soviet Union under the American-Soviet cultural exchange program. He was the first American to speak on questions of foreign policy before the Presidium.

That same year he organized a group to bring 38 Polish women—all of them victims of Nazi medical experimentation—to the United States for medical and psychological care. He carried out a similar project to aid Japanese victims of the Hiroshima A-bombing.

In 1956 Cousins received an award from Wayne State University. President Eisenhower said of him, "A distinguished editor who stands as a symbol of America's creative, crusading, sensitive mind."

Cousins is honorary president of United World Federalists, a national organization working for world peace through world law. He will be introduced by Robert Frehse, secretary of the Detroit Round Table of Christians and Jews.

Single tickets are available at Grinnells, WO 2-1124, or at the auditorium the morning of the lecture. Half-price student tickets of $1 are available at the Detroit Town Hall office, 1613 Kales Bldg., WO 3-5617.

Guys and Dolls Gala At GPYC on Oct. 21

Floor Show Will Feature Fashions at This Unusual Dinner Dance; Mrs. Russell D. Van Houten, Chairman

Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's exciting "Guys and Dolls" festivity, slated for October 21, is to have a most unusual twist. It will feature a fashion show on the order of a floor show as the glamorous highlight of a "do" combining cocktails, dinner and dancing.

The show will take over the dance floor at 10 o'clock with a series of terpsichorean skits. The dresses will all be of the after-five and evening wear varieties.

A special backdrop will provide a screen so the model's entrance is not apparent until she is spotlighted on the bandstand. Led out by a dance partner (in black or white tie garb), the couple then will dance, their fox-trot, cha-cha, waltz or tango illustrating the type of function at which the dress would be worn.

The announcement to members says, "Guys, bring your dolls; Dolls, bring your guys." Programs on dinner tables around the dance floor will describe in sequence the dresses and name the dances.

"It will be a real glamour party," says Mrs. Russell D. Van Houten, chairman. "We wanted something different from the afternoon bridge, luncheon and fashion show with a runway; a party our men would enjoy too." As far as Mrs. Van Houten and her chief assistant, Mrs. Glenn E. Walker, know, there's never before been a style presentation in the manner of this "first musical fashion show."

chestra will be on the bandstand; decor will be in autumn colors; dinner-dancing will start at 8 p.m. after the cocktail hour; bridge play will be available in the card room if wanted.

Early reservations have been made by the Earl Frasers, Dr. and Mrs. Christopher E. Smith, the George L. Cassidys, the James Fishers, the Robert H. Pattersons, the George DeClerks, Bryan Chaplows, William O'Neill Kronners, Walter Horns.

The first lecture two weeks ago covered the differences between the Fourth Gospel and the other Gospel stories. Mr. Atwood commented on the value of the Dead Sea Scrolls for our understanding of John, and on the purpose of the author.

Parents Go to Class At GPHS October 18

Parents of Juniors Will Follow in Their Children's Schedules Beginning at 7:30 O'clock; Mothers Club to Serve Refreshments

Back to School Night, an evening when parents follow in juniors' school steps will be held Tuesday, October 18 at the Grosse Pointe High School.

Last year when this type open house was first initiated it proved an unusual success. Parents were heard to say, reverting (despite their educational evening) to the vernacular of their progeny "We really got the picture."

A printed folder has been mailed to all parents which includes a map of the classrooms and a schedule to be filled out by the pupils for their parents to follow.

Parents are requested to bring the program and ask their child directions to classrooms on the building plan.

First class starts at 7:30 sharp. Six minutes will be allocated for passing from one class to another and it is suggested the ladies wear walking shoes.

During each class period of 15 minutes the teacher will explain the course of study for that class for the year, objective, the instructional materials and techniques to be used and bravely answer any question.

The staff is to be highly commended for this type of program for after a full day of students then to repeat for the parents each class period at night must be no easy job.

There will be no study halls. Instead it is suggested that the parents take a "breather" and have some cider and doughnuts in the cafeteria or in B48 or B61 if they are in the Annex.

The Mothers' Club Social Committee headed by Mrs. Kenneth Smith has the following hostesses dispensing the refreshments: Mrs. Donald Neill, Mrs. Gerald Schroeder, Mrs. Bernard Martin, Mrs. Ben Hubbard, Mrs. Clarence Anderson, Mrs. Carl Asmus, Mrs. Frederic Steiner, Mrs. Frank Bromley, Mrs. Howard Gandelot.

The Hospitality Committee of the Mothers' Club will welcome the opportunity to meet parents. Mrs. J. B. Frey has on her committee as some of the greeters Mrs. Russell Peebles, Mrs. Curtis Mower, Mrs. William Beers, Mrs. John Hock, Mrs. E. W. Taube and Mrs. Parker Stough. To direct parking the HI-Y members will be on hand and the Y-teens will act as hall guides. Mothers' Club membership will be available for all mothers during the week of Oct. 17-21. If mothers haven't already done so by mail or carrier dues at the Back to School Night.

Tables will be set up throughout the school manned by a battery of 10th, 11th and 12th grade mothers. Mrs. Charles Huber who is in charge of the Membership Committee is making it especially easy to pay the one dollar dues this year. Memberships will also be available every day from 8-8:30 a.m. and at lunch time at the ticket booth in the new gym. The Mothers' Club dues money goes for student activities and scholarship grants.

Opens Home For Symphony

Mrs. Sam Olejniczak opened her attractive home in Fontana lane last Wednesday, honoring the board members and friends of the Grosse Pointe symphony, following the fashion show held at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. The hostess was assisted by her daughter-in-law Mrs. Thaddeus Olejniczak and by her daughters Mrs. Eugene Kopiczki and Mrs. Carl E. Nowicki.

Mrs. Olejniczak's third daughter is Mrs. Alfred D. Moran, member of the symphony board whose activity has assisted in the development of the organization.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Leslie Berry, Mrs. Winfield S. Jewell Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nester, Mrs. Thomas LoCicero, Miss Camilla Ayers, Mrs. Bogdan Baynert, Mrs. Mark K. Edgar, Mrs. Gerald L. Stotzer, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Nelson, and others.

Tuesday Musicales

AAUW to Hear Dr. Aldo Bonura

Dr. Aldo Bonura of the audio-visual department of Wayne State University will be the speaker at the October general meeting of the Grosse Pointe branch, American Association of University Women, to be held at the War Memorial Center.

The time is Thursday, October 20, at 1 p.m.

This meeting is under auspices of the Education Group whose chairman is Mrs. C. W. Wachner. Miss Thekla Martin is co-chairman.

Dr. Bonura is not only a specialist in electronic teaching aids, but he is one of the few educators in the country who has made a complete study of the recently-developed teaching machine.

According to a September article in the Saturday Evening Post, "Can Machines Replace Teachers?" the teaching machine is a device that asks and answers questions. With its use students quickly can master material that once took months to learn. A manufacturer of these machines says "they either sound like robots and scare everybody or they sound so innocuous that nobody realizes they are revolutionary."

Following the meeting, tea will be served by Mrs. Henry C. Egerton and her committee.

The October board meeting, followed by luncheon, is scheduled for the morning of Thursday, October 13, at the home of Miss Louise Rau on Neff Rd. Co-hostess is Mrs. Urban Borsch. Group chairmen are asked to bring reports and material for newsletter.

Mass Media Group will hold its first meeting of the year at the Balfour road home of the chairman, Mrs. Oswald M. Robbins on Friday, October 14. After the salad luncheon, it's fair to guess there'll be considerable controversy when members examine the role of newspapers and periodicals in interpreting the political conventions and current campaigns. Members should bring their own demonstration material.

The chairman of the Status of Women group, Mrs. Raymond H. Wertz, will be hostess for a planning meeting in her home on Balfour Rd. at 1 p.m. Monday, October 17. Various projects of community interest will be discussed and voted upon.

The Tuesday Evening Group, made up largely of business and professional women members, such as teachers and librarians, will meet on the evening of Tuesday, October 18 at the Barrington Rd. home of Mrs. C. G. Turrell who will be assisted as hostess by Miss Mary Edwards.

Following dessert and coffee, Mrs. William T. Krebs will give a talk on the constitutional and convention proposal. Mrs. Krebs is well known locally as an astute political analyst who can present issues objectively.

Welcome Club Meets Oct. 20

The Welcome Wagon Club of Grosse Pointe will have a bridge-luncheon Thursday, October 20 at noon at the War Memorial.

Reservations are being handled by Mrs. E. W. George, TU 5-8923 or Mrs. John N. Spain, TU 2-9133 and must be in before Tuesday noon.

Braille Classes Starting Today

American Red Cross Braille Transcription Classes begin today, Thursday, October 13, at 10 a.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center. There is still need for volunteers to learn this skill which enables one to be so helpful to the blind. The Red Cross has many materials waiting for translation into braille so that the blind can use them.

There is no charge for this course except a small fee for materials. It is taught by Miss Ella McLennon, herself blind, assisted by Miss Carrie McMullan of the Red Cross. The group meets at the Center each Thursday, from 10 to 11 a.m. through the winter. Graduates receive a certificate from the Library of Congress entitling them to do transcription work. It is not too late to join the class next week.

Folks who save money by not taking a vacation trip probably figure a roll is better than a loaf.

Pointers to Exhibit At Federated Show

Showing of Table Settings and Flower Arrangements Will Open October 20 at the Charles W. Warren Co., Sponsored by Federated Garden Clubs

Grosse Pointe women figure prominently in the exhibition of table setting and flower arrangements sponsored annually by Charles W. Warren and Company at their downtown store, 1520 Washington boulevard.

This year's show, announced for October 20, 21 and 22, will be staged as usual by District Number 1 of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan. Hours: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The public is invited and there is no admission charge.

The theme for 1960 — "Reflections of Freedom" — was evolved by Mrs. Keith B. Wiltoughby, chairman, and her 14-member committee four of whom are Grosse Pointers: Mrs. Longyear Palmer of Washington road, Mrs. Frederick J. Schumann of Devonshire road, Mrs. F. F. Stetekluh of Handy Lane, hostess chairman and Mrs. John F. Hering, of Kercheval avenue, coordinator.

They chose the theme as singularly appropriate for this important year in the life of our country.

One table, set by Mrs. Hansel Dwight Wilson, will be staged in the main lobby of Warren's — with red, white and blue as the color scheme.

A round top English antique table is centered with a French arrangement of fruits and flowers. While the American made plates, with scenes of historic Detroit, further carry out the title "Detroit's Heritage." And because Detroit was originally laid out in the shape of a wheel, Mrs. Wilson used a round cloth. Her dinner table set for four depicts Detroit under three flags — French, English and American.

Social to Help District GOPs

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tompkins of Windmill Pointe drive will entertain some of their friends next Sunday, October 16, with an old-fashioned box social. The boxes, beautifully decorated and filled with supper for two, will be auctioned off to the highest bidder and the funds so raised will be donated to the 14th District Republican Headquarters.

Several of the Republican candidates are expected to be present including Al Bentley, running for the U. S. Senate from Owosso, Lois Nair, running for Congress, Robert Waldron, State Representative, and J. Richard Pierce, Robert L. Halbrook, Ross Christie, Mrs. Marie Anne DeNardo, Edward Peterson, Edward Jablonski, Joseph McLaughlin, and Donald Taube, all running for posts in the State House of Representatives.

The money is to be used mainly for postage stamps to mail out nearly 125,000 pieces of literature prepared by the 14th District Republican Headquarters. At least $1,000 is hoped to be raised among the 100 couples invited.

Prepare for Annual Exhibition

The display of table settings and flower arrangements staged every year by the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan at the Charles W. Warren and Company's jewelry store at 1520 Washington boulevard, will be held on October 20, 21 and 22, from 9:30 a.m.
