STATE SENATOR ELMER R. PORTER (R., Blissfield) said today that a recent letter presented to the Board of Governors at Wayne State University was not intended to be constituted as a threat to cut off appropriations. That's the way his remarks sounded, however, to Chairman of the Board Leonard Woodcock, who said that he was "very upset."

Porter, who is chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, had written that "he would not tolerate" the board's recent stand on lifting the ban on communist speakers. He added that as far as he was concerned, the university would be hard put to find "any further Michigan tax dollars" as long as the ban is lifted.

VIOLENCE has subsided in the New Orleans integration crisis, but 95.5 percent of the white students in two newly-integrated schools are boycotting classes. The school board asked a United States district judge to let it go back to segregation. Members said they were tired of using the schools as a battleground for Federal vs. states' rights.

BECAUSE OF a dwindling automobile market in the medium price range, Chrysler Corporation confirmed that it is discontinuing DeSoto. Corporation officials said that DeSoto dealers can now concentrate on other Chrysler models which are running 42 percent ahead of sales for last year. When Chrysler introduced the DeSoto as a six-cylinder, 55-horsepower car in 1958, it was produced at the rate of 200 a day. Last week, officials said, only 250 DeSotos were produced.

THE FIRST serious accident in six years on Japan's 12,400-foot Mt. Fuji occurred yesterday when an avalanche of snow killed at least five and injured 45 of a group of 55 Japanese climbers caught at the 8,000-foot level. The other five climbers are still missing. The avalanche was blamed on an early morning thaw accompanied by rain which loosened the snow mass and started it thundering down the mountainside.

IF REPORTS from London's Sunday Dispatch are accurate, the countries of the world will need to find a new way of detecting overhead jet flights. Reports from London said yesterday that British planes equipped with a new anti-radar defense system flew over New York, Detroit, San Francisco, and other major American cities undetected, even though the flights were announced ahead of time and the U. S. radar net was ordered to track them. This report was denied by official sources.

FORTY-FIVE-YEAR-OLD Bob Scheffing has been given a $30,000 a year, two-year contract to manage the Detroit Tigers. His first task: to select a coaching team to help him lift the Tigers out of their sixth place position in the American League.

THE STAFF SYSTEM of administrative government built up by President Dwight D. Eisenhower is going to be the first thing to go in the administration of John F. Kennedy. The President-elect let it be known that he does not intend to fill the post of assistant to the President, formerly held by Sherman Adams. Many of the other 51 members of the current White House staff will also have no place in the new scheme. Senator Kennedy is expected to exercise the full powers of the Presidency himself without the aid of powerful policy making assistants between him and top administration officials.

Both Losers In Car-Bus Scramble On Kercheval

Picture by Robert H. Cooper

A 17-year-old driver, coming out of Grayton road, slammed into a Lake Shore Coach lines bus, forcing it out of control and wrapping it around a tree on the night of November 18. The new car took quite a beating, as can be seen, and the bus found itself with the tree growing through a corner of the cab. Injuries, fortunately, were surprisingly few.

The driver of the car, a 17-year-old boy, was one of two passengers on the bus, was believed injured, but he left the scene before police arrived. His identity is still unknown.

Police, Mail Inspectors Probe Theft

Woods Woman Reports Loss of Check; Opened Envelope Found in Field

Woods police and postal inspectors are investigating the theft of a check from the house mailbox of a Woods woman on Friday, November 18.

Algidine O'Neal of 2160 Ridgmont, missed her check, which she said she receives on Fridays, from the Russell Kelly Girls company in the amount of $39.07.

When she failed to get the check, the woman said she contacted her regular mailman, who stated that he put the envelope containing the check in her mailbox. He said that he had seen an envelope, similar to the one he put in the box, in a field near by.

The envelope was found, and it was the same as that in which she has been receiving the checks, and it was dated Thursday, November 17. The envelope was torn open and the check missing.

Det. Sgt. Walter O'Dell said that postal inspectors were notified of the theft, and that an investigation is underway.

FARMS PAYS BILL

On recommendation of City Engineer Murray M. Smith, the Farms council on Monday, November 21, consented to pay the sum of $4,837.32 to Floris DeMeunerae, the balance owed on a contract for the repair of curbs and sidewalks throughout the city. The total cost of the project was $11,537.32.

Five Persons Hurt As Car Comes Out of Side Street And Shoves Bus Into Tree

Driver of Lake Shore Coach Most Seriously Injured When Vehicle Goes Out of Control and Wraps Around Tree on Kercheval

Five persons, possibly six, were injured on Friday, November 18, when a car struck a Lake Shore Coach Lines bus on Kercheval at Grayton, causing the bus driver to lose control and smash his vehicle into a tree.

The sixth person, a 14-year-old boy, who was one of two passengers on the bus, was believed injured, but he left the scene before police arrived. His identity is still unknown.

The most seriously injured was the bus driver, Virgil T. Blair, 47, of 1282 Glover, Detroit, who suffered internal injuries, and possible broken thumb and ribs.

His second passenger, Karr Schneider, 12, of 66 Mapleton, Detroit, received lacerations about the body and a broken right hand.

Others injured were: Kent B. Lamkins, 17, of 859 Bedford, driver of the automobile, head; his passengers, John McLean, 17, of 839 Bedford, head; Robert Johnson, 15, of 1009 Balfour, head.

Blair and McLean were admitted to Bon Secours, the rest, including the 12-year-old, were released after x-rays and treatment by hospital doctors.

Park Police said that Blair was traveling west on Kercheval, and Lamkins was going north on Grayton. Lamkins stopped for the stop sign and then edged out into Kercheval, it was stated.

Blair, who was driving between 20 and 25 miles an hour, saw Lamkins but could not avoid a collision, police said. Lamkins' car slammed into the front wheel of the bus, causing Blair to lose control.

Blair's bus jumped a curb and smashed into a tree, impaling the front end of the bus around the tree trunk. The front of the auto was also damaged. Both vehicles had to be towed away.

At the hospital, Blair told police that he was going about 20 to 25 miles an hour when he noticed the car about 30 feet ahead, and tried to give the car all the room he could, to avoid hitting it, but was not successful. The car struck the front wheel of the bus and he lost control.

Armed Thugs Rob Farms Party Store

Escape with $70 from Cash Register After Forcing Clerk to Lie on Floor

Two young thugs, one armed with a revolver, held up the Club Party Store, 383 Kercheval, Monday evening, November 14, and escaped with money taken from the cash register.

Michael Belanger of 2631 Eastlawn, Detroit, store clerk, who was alone, told Farms police that the two robbers entered the store and one drew a nickel-plated gun and ordered him to open the cash register and then lie face down on the floor.

The store owner, Linville Stover of 1423 Coplin, Detroit, said the thieves took about $70.

Both Wore Masks

Both bandits were described as being young, about 18 to 25 years old, each five feet 10 inches tall and weighing about 150 pounds. Belanger said that both wore black cloth Halloween face masks, and one of the men had long, dark hair. Both wore short jackets, one black and the other green.

A woman witness told police that she saw the robbers leaving the store, run down Kercheval to Tonnacour. Another witness, living in Tonnacour, said she saw the men running down her street to Lake Shore and toward Morris and then disappear.

Farms Det. Sgt. Jack Paisley said that no clues as to the identity of the thieves have been uncovered, but did say that it is believed that the same men were involved in two hold-ups in Detroit and one in St. Clair Shores.

Pair Robbed Bar

On November 1, two men answering the description of the Farms bandits, robbed a bar at 16240 Harper, firing two shots at the bartender, which missed, before escaping. It was not disclosed how much was taken.

On November 12, a lone white male, answering the description of the long-haired bandit, robbed a party store at 24112 Greater Mack, St. Clair Shores, escaping with $30.

And again, in Detroit's 15th Precinct, a store was held up by the same man on November 16. This time, he got away with $191.

In all the robberies, the method of operation was the same, and each time, the culprits wore Halloween masks and a nickel-plated revolver was used.

Farms Sifts Plans To Provide Needed City Office Space

Could Remodel and Enlarge Present Building or Build On Property at Kerby and Chalfonte; Architects Advice Being Sought

The Farms council will seek interviews with several experienced architects, and will pick one to conduct a space proposal study, to determine whether it will be feasible to remodel the city's present municipal building or construct a new one.

The council, on Monday, November 21, authorized City Manager Sidnet DeBoer to contact the architects for this purpose.

Since September 12, the council has held in abeyance, the question of whether the present building should be remodeled and an addition constructed, or if a new municipal building should be constructed on the city-owned property on Chalfonte avenue.

Planners Make Report

The matter was put in the hands of the Mayor's Advisory Planning Committee, which presented its recommendations to the council Monday evening. The Planning Committee met on Monday, November 14, to discuss two points, whether additional facilities are necessary, and if so, where they should be located.

City Engineer Murray M. Smith presented floor plan studies of the departmental functions, administrative, police and fire, now being carried on in the present building. The floor plan studies were also given to the council Monday evening by Smith, who also presented a chart which indicated three alternative proposals open to the council.

Alternatives Listed

The alternatives are: 1. Remodel and enlarge the present city hall to adequately operate the administrative, police and fire departments; 2. Plan a new city hall for administrative functions on the city-owned (Continued on Page 2)

Farms Submits Building Report

Construction permits granted in the Farms for the first 10 months of 1960, numbered 129, and were for buildings worth a total of $1,904,350, according to an October report submitted by City Engineer Murray M. Smith.

Since January 1, the report revealed, 22 residential construction permits, valued at a total of $1,104,000, have been issued; 105 miscellaneous permits, worth $507,350, were granted. Also a permit for a business place, valued at $25,000, and one permit for non-accessible property, valued at $268,000.

During October, two residential construction permits, for property worth $103,000 were issued; and 14 miscellaneous permits, for an over all value of $149,500.

The residential permits were for the construction of an $80,000 home at 157 Kenwood, and for a $23,000 home at 215 Lakeview.

One permit for demolition of a masonry garage at 270 Grosse Pointe boulevard, was also approved last month, Smith disclosed.

Hillcrest Road Residents Protest New Street Signs

A group of residents living in Hillcrest road, between Ridge and Chalfonte, petitioned the Farms council on Monday, November 21, to remove the "No Parking" signs installed on one side of their street.

The residents objected to the signs because of the inconvenience to themselves, and especially to visitors to their homes, who must find other places to park, when the other side of the street is filled.

Police Chief James Furton, who was present at the council meeting, defended the posting of the signs, stating the street is only 24 feet wide and parking on one side makes it easier for passage of fire department vehicles to go through in the event of a fire.

The chief disclosed that the signs were posted about three weeks ago, on the west side of the street.

William Day Fills Berth On Council

President of Michigan Bell Telephone Co. Accepts Call to Municipal Post

Long-time City Councilman Alonzo C. Allen was appointed Mayor of Grosse Pointe City by the Council on November 21 and William M. Day was chosen to take Allen's place on the Council.

The vacancies occurred through the resignation of Mayor Kenneth Bergmann, who resigned November 1 after the Boroughs Corporation transferred him to Grand Rapids.

The new Mayor, who lives at 412 Lincoln road, has served as City Councilman since October 24, 1950. His chief contribution is in the area of city parking. Largely through his efforts and foresight, Grosse Pointe City has followed a policy of providing adequate space for business parking before the situation became critical and business suffered. Thus the City has not experienced the growing pains that hit other areas of its size.

Is Investment Broker

Mayor Allen is vice president of Blythe and Company and a member of the Board of Governors for the Investment Bankers Association. He is a past president of the University of Michigan Club of Detroit.

He and his wife have a son, Bruce, who is now living in Chicago.

William M. Day, president of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, who was selected to fill the Council vacancy left by Mayor Allen, has a long record of service in Detroit-area and state-wide projects. He is director of the Detroit United Foundation and served as president of that organization for 1960.

Councilman Day is a director of the National Bank of Detroit, trustee of the Founders' Society, Detroit Institute of Arts, director of the Standard Accident Insurance Company, chairman of the board of Southeastern Michigan Metropolitan Research Corporation, and chairman of the Committee on Michigan's Economic Future.

Fills Other Posts

He is a trustee of the Children's Hospital, trustee of the University of Detroit, chairman of the board of the Metropolitan Building Fund, and chairman of the Michigan Economic Development Commission. He lives at 372 Lakeland avenue.

A Grosse Pointe City ordinance provides that when a Mayor resigns, a new Mayor should be appointed from within the Council's membership to serve the remainder of the term and that the vacancy thereby created in the Council be filled by Council appointment. Both Mayor Allen and Councilman Day will serve the year remaining in the unexpired terms of their predecessors.

Newspaper Boy Right on Target

Arthur Van Becelaere, 510 Notre Dame, complained to City Police that an unknown person threw something at his house and broke a front window, November 14.

He said he believed the damage was done by a boy riding a bicycle.

Police found that a current edition of a Detroit newspaper had been rolled up for delivery and thrown at the door, breaking the storm door.

LARCENY REPORTED

H. O. Dixon of 915 Hampton road, lost four hubcaps to thieves it was reported on Thursday, November 17. He told Farms police that his daughter drove his car to the Grosse Pointe High School, the day previous, and parked it near Christ Church, on Grosse Pointe boulevard. The hubs were stolen while his daughter was in school. Dixon stated.

FARMS AUDITORS PAID

The Farms council approved the payment of $3,000 to the firm of Ernst and Ernst, city auditors, for auditing the city's records for the year ending June 30. The council took this action on Monday, November 21.

Earl to Design Pavilion For Italian Exposition

Two of the world's top industrial designers, former Grosse Pointe resident, Harley Earl and Gio Ponti, met to draft final plans for next year's International Labor Exposition in Turin, Italy.

This will be the largest exposition taking place anywhere in the world in 1961, and is the only one in which the U.S.A. will participate. Its opening will mark the one hundredth anniversary of the Unification of Italy.

The industrial design firm of Harley Earl Associates, Inc. has been retained by the U.S. Department of Commerce (Office of International Trade Fairs) to design the Pavilion for the American portion of the exhibit. The firm will be performing its functions in close cooperation with Mr. Ponti, one of Italy's leading architects and designers, who has been appointed by his government as overall design consultant for the Exposition.

James Earl, president and son of the founder of the Warren, Michigan industrial design firm, has named Manuel Jarrin and Craig Paul to head up the company's team of exhibition design experts. These men will work with representatives of the State Department, U.S. Information Agency, and the Department of Labor in addition to the U.S. Department of Commerce.

At a luncheon given in honor of Architect Ponti were representatives of some of our country's leading companies which will participate in the exposition. Among America's exhibitors will be: General Dynamics, International General Electric, Westinghouse, R.C.A., International Business Machines, American Telephone and Telegraph, Upjohn and Health Corporation.

Each of the nineteen nations represented in the "Italia '61" Exposition will have a different motif. Overall theme of the Exposition, which will run from May 1 through October 31, 1961, is "Man and His Work," with all exhibits housed in a striking structure of towering reinforced concrete pillars and sweeping arches designed by Italy's foremost architect, Pier Luigi Nervi.

The general theme of the U.S.A. exhibit will be "Technological Development in Industry," but because of the broad nature of this subject, the bulk of the exhibit will be focused on the communications industry, using the sub-theme, "Man and Communications." In order to establish continuity between the many exhibits within the overall U.S.A. display, the entire project was assigned to the one design firm.

"Primary reason for the decision of the Department of Commerce to retain our services stemmed from our experience with other projects of this type both here and abroad," said Mr. Earl. "Most recent of these accomplishments was our work last year in connection with the International Trade Fair at Zagreb, Yugoslavia."

"The major design problem facing us at Turin was not simply to assemble an exhibit of newly developed electronic marvels, but rather to show these exciting machines in the context of their effects on the individual. This we feel we have done, and the United States Pavilion will tell a story of the marvelous opportunities opened up to man by his conquest of the techniques of communications."

The Harley Earl organization, established in 1945, is one of the largest design groups in the country. They are active in all fields of industrial design, including product development, packaging, corporate identity, interiors and exhibits.

They are widely known for the diversity of their work. In addition to many striking exhibits and displays, they have handled assignments ranging from the appearance design and human engineering of a line of earth moving equipment to the creation of new forms of packaging for grocery products.

Two Tell How To Tour France

Travel always presents challenges, but possibly one of the biggest concerns the budget.

The "Meet the Travelers" series at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial on the evening of December 7 at 8 o'clock will introduce two young men from Grosse Pointe who set out to tour France, (an especially tough nut to crack), on a budget comparable to that of a native French tourist. How they did it, what they saw and the experiences they had add up to a most entertaining and enjoyable evening.

The two young Grosse Pointe men are Alex Sucek and Jerry Meadows. Alex, of course, started with two factors weighted strongly in his favor. He speaks fluent French as well as seven other languages, and he plays a fine guitar and has an extensive repertoire of folk and popular French songs.

The two started in Paris exploring the Montmartre and left bank sections as well as the usual tourist attractions. Then they made their way through the French Alps to the Cote d'Azur, Arles and Nimes, the little chateau country and the Loire Valley.

The French, when the guitar was brought out, always expected "rock and roll" ala Presley and were pleasantly surprised to hear their own songs being sung in their own language. One Frenchman even ran for his tape recorder, to capture this rarity from an American source. In cafes the performance usually brought not only free drinks for the performer but for patrons all around.

The one place Alex and Jerry admit the French got the better of them was in the flea market, but that they feel was worth the experience! This should be a fun and worthwhile evening for all interested Grosse Pointers.

There are no highways in heaven so there's no sense in going there by car.

Farms Studies Plans For Larger Municipal Building

property at Kerby road and Chalfonte avenue, and remodel the existing building for the use of the police and fire department; and 3. Plan one or two new buildings to be located on the Kerby road and Chalfonte avenue property to eventually house all these departments with the elimination of the present city hall.

Smith told the city council that the first proposal will cost an estimated $150,000. He said the estimated costs of the other alternatives have not yet been determined.

The city engineer's plans were recommended to the council by the Planning Committee, and they are:

First Floor Offices
First-floor administrative office space where the public can be better served; large first-floor public service area for the Police Department; adequate council chambers and court room space, conference rooms, public rest rooms, offices for the city manager, clerk, accountant and engineer (separate from stenographic, bookkeeping and filing space); adequate stairs to the second floor.

Also more Fire Department garage space, police squad room, new fire department dormitory, parking meter repair shop, police radio repair servicing area, police pistol range and other facilities.

The floor area in the present building totals 8,498 square feet, according to Smith. The administrative area is 2,176 square feet; police, 3,155 square feet; and fire, 3,167.

What is required, Smith stated, is a floor area of 14,537 square feet, of which 6,168 square feet is needed for administrative; 4,096 square feet for police; and 4,273 square feet for fire.

absent from Monday night's council session, favored constructing a new city hall at the Kerby-Chalfonte location, and remodeling the present city hall for the exclusive use of the Police and Fire Departments.

If the Farms proposes to remodel the present building, it will need about 40 feet of the front yard of the old Kerby School, which it adjoins. A deal for a sale, or lease, for the desired property will have to be negotiated with the Grosse Pointe Board of Education.

After some discussion, the Farms council voted to table the city hall matter, pending the architectural study.

Pointe Landmark Yields To Wreckers

The familiar frame one story building that has stood for more than a quarter of a century on the corner of Harcourt and Jefferson yielded to the wrecker's tools last Sunday, November 20, when the workmen literally knocked the slats from its sides. Originally it was a division headquarters of the Stormfeltz-Lovely Real Estate Company which sold property in the development of the Windmill Pointe area.

The award, presented by the Italian-American Chamber to a Detroit area resident of Italian descent "who has distinguished himself in his chosen profession," was made by Judge John A. Ricca, who received the first award in 1957.

Frank Angelo, Detroit Free Press managing editor, and Tony Spina, chief photographer of the Free Press, are previous recipients.

Talent Helps Love For Navy

Her father's an Annapolis graduate. So is her husband. But if she hadn't possessed unusual talent, Cynthia Netting Scales wouldn't have been successful in her ambition to design the official insignia for the U.S. Naval Submarine School at New London, Conn.

Cynthia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Netting of 657 Lincoln road. In addition to being a graduate of the Naval Academy, he was also mayor of the City of Grosse Pointe for several terms not so long ago.

When Cynthia's husband Dick, son of the John G. Scales of Washington road, and also a graduate of Grosse Pointe High School, was at Submarine School in 1958 after being graduated from Annapolis, there was a movement afoot to create an insignia especially for the Sub School.

This was a challenge to Cynthia, whose original Christmas cards always created quite a stir among her friends. She was a girl with not only talent, but a great flair for originality.

Many designs were submitted. Tinsey's was chosen, but it wasn't until late this year that adoption became official. Capt. E. P. Huey, U.S. Navy Officer in Charge of the Submarine School, wrote her:—

"It gives me a great deal of pleasure to present to you a plaque and photograph of the now official Submarine School Insignia. I hope they will serve as a constant reminder of the sincere appreciation of myself and my staff for the many hours of work you, the designer of this plaque, expended in designing Submarine School's original insignia.

"The Submarine School is extremely grateful for your talents and efforts in its behalf. Sincerely . . ."

In the meantime, Tinsey's husband Dick had served in the submarine service and "qualified for submarine duty." He was a member of a small group personally selected by Admiral Rickover, father of the nuclear submarine, to return to New London for the study of Nuclearonics. He was present when the insignia became official and saw it cast in brass and mounted over the door of Gilmore Hall.

If a policeman waves at you while you're driving he's just being friendly. He wants to give you something.

League Of Women Voters Lauds Con-Con Approval

The big news of the November 8 election to members of the League of Women Voters of Grosse Pointe was the resounding endorsement of the Con-Con amendment.

Weeks and months of unremitting effort brought the hard working women to the tense hours of election night when the vote for the Constitutional amendment was being tabulated.

Mrs. Leonard Slowin, president of the Grosse Pointe League said, "The election victory of the Con-Con proposal for which we had worked so hard was very gratifying to us. The vote showed that the people of Michigan are anxious to take the steps necessary to build a state government structure and fiscal system adequate to the needs of these times. We are now ready to move forward to the calling of a Constitutional Convention by the voters in April.

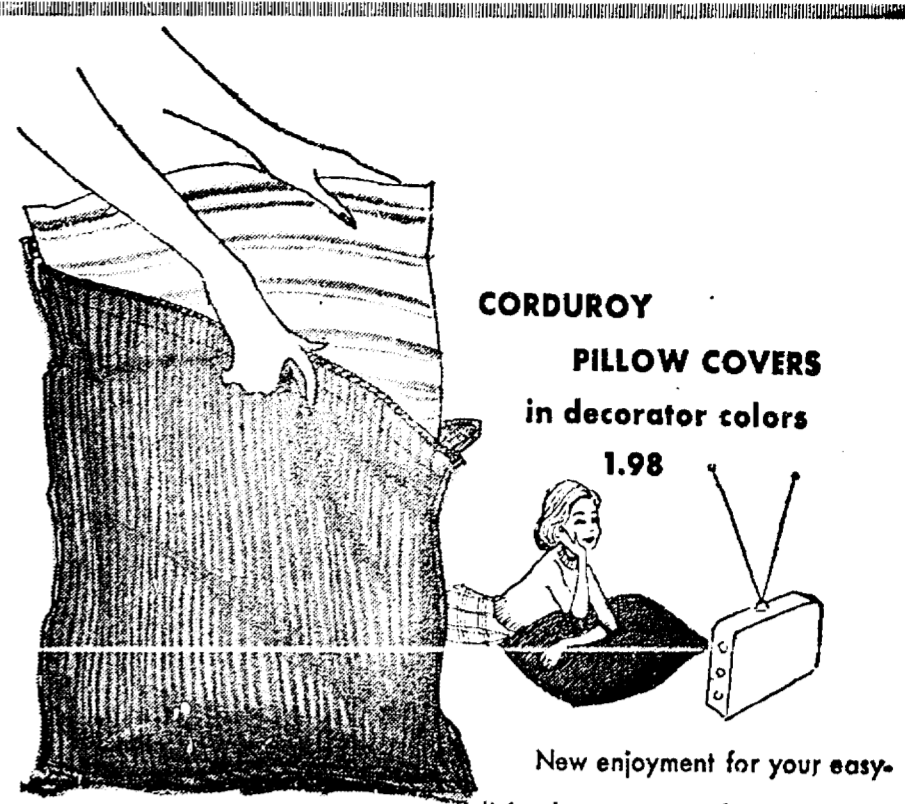

"We feel sure that the people will endorse as fully the calling together of distinguished men and women of Michigan who will have the history-making opportunity to prepare for submission to the voters a new state constitution."

Chairman of the Constitutional Convention Item for the Grosse Pointe League, Mrs. Douglas Graham commented, "We would like to pay particular tribute to the work of the many organizations, individuals, and the press whose help was indispensable to final success. As we move toward the election in April we are looking forward to continued effort with these groups who have so well demonstrated their interest in good government."

Point System Fair, Says Hare

Does every driver who gets 12 conviction points automatically lose his driver's license? The answer is "no."

This is a question which appears frequently in mail received by the Michigan Department of State. During the past months a safety poster bearing the slogan, "12 Points And You're Out" has brought this question into numerous public discussions and in "Letters To The Editor" columns.

Secretary of State James M. Hare reassures motorists that the point system enacted by the Legislature does not automatically take away a driver's license as do laws in many other states.

"The system set up by the Legislature was never intended to be arbitrary or inflexible," Hare said. "The intent was to set up a procedure for making an orderly review of each violation-prone driver's record. This is done by trained and competent driver improvement specialists."

According to Hare, careless motorists with 12 or more points are cited in to discuss with Departmental experts ways in which they can improve their driving habits.

"Contrary to popular belief," Hare said, "less than 50 percent of the men and women called in are taken off the road. For a great many this may be the first time they have had a series of moving traffic violations."

"An interviewer may find out that the driver has made a series of improper turns during the past year because his eyesight has deteriorated. A visit to an eye specialist and a new pair of glasses may be all that the motorist needs to avoid traffic tickets in the future. There is no use taking such a man off the road longer than he needs to get his corrective eye glasses.

"Many times a cited driver may merely have been thoughtless. A trip to a County Driver Safety School may straighten out his driving habits. Nobody here is interested in punishing people. We want them to become responsible drivers. Often we get help from members of the family unit who, knowing that a son or husband has been cited in, remind him to be a more courteous or law-abiding driver."

Statistical proof of the leeway given in the case of driver interviews is shown by the fact that only 21,152, or less than 50 percent of the 42,951 motorists called in during the first nine months of 1960, had their licenses suspended or revoked.

"We want to make sure that the chronically irresponsible driver, the drunk driver, and the habitually reckless drivers are kept off of Michigan highways," Hare said. "But we do not want a hard-boiled system which automatically takes a bread-winner off of his driving job or treats a 'first offender' the same way as it does a man or woman with a long and re-occurring conviction record."

IN THE VILLAGE

Is Now Open

Where in the world but in Grosse Pointe Village can you find fabulous Christmas Street

Once again Christmas creates an aura of enchantment and joy, as we see the Village's Kercheval Avenue transformed, as if by magic, into a Winter Wonderland scene . . . highlighted by those very special symbols of the Yuletide season.

Christmas Street (Kercheval Avenue in The Village) is lined with fragrant Christmas trees, and gaily decorated wreaths and boughs of cedar greens look down from lofty heights. Christmas is everywhere, with sparkling window displays and Christmas music in the air. Warm refreshments will emphasize the familiar Village hospitality in some of the stores.

Above is Christmas Street in Grosse Pointe Village as interpreted by Detroit's artist Rachel. This fantasy, first published in the Grosse Pointe News in 1957, again heralds the opening of Christmas in this fine shopping district.

Yes, fabulous Christmas street, where Grosse Pointers who insist upon the best, can select gifts of wide variety, especially chosen to suit their needs and tastes. It is said that more hand-picked merchandise is to be found on Christmas street than anywhere in the Midwest. AND REMEMBER, suggest that the man of the house buy the item on which you have your eye, during MEN'S NIGHT, MONDAY, DEC. 5th.

From Neff to Cadieux, Kercheval becomes the Street of Joyous Yuletide!

G. P. U. S. News Notes

Seven students from Grosse Pointe University School and two of their teachers attended the Lake Erie Religious Conference, at Oberlin College, Ohio, last week-end. They were Philip Angell, Martha Bicknell, Patricia Birmingham, Carol Johnson, Richard Klynn, James Page, Stephen Parks, and Miss Elizabeth Ferguson and William Hindle.

The senior girls and their mothers had tea last Friday afternoon with the ladies of the G.P.U.S. faculty.

Chapel services last week were led by Judy Tipton on Friday, and by a group of 10th grade girls on Monday. They were Linda Heller, Lee Pearce, Justine Trubeby, and Judith Robinson. On Wednesday there was an assembly, at which Susan Sadler showed color slides of Versailles and recounted its history.

It will be of interest to friends of Grosse Pointe University School to know who are the officers of its various clubs and organizations. Here is a list of some of them: The "U" Club, the organization of varsity letter winners: president, Paul Weiss; vice-president, Sandy Coe; secretary-treasurer, John Siegmund.

Red Cross Council: co-presidents Carol Johnson and John VanDeGraaf, and class representatives Meredith Rieman, Hal Rieman, Neil Clark, Adena Wright, William Olm, Pam McClelland, Wayne Pressel, Sally Duff, Myron Sherer, Susie Jenks, and "emeritus" senior representatives (last year's officers) Renee Bowdy, Ford Ballyntyne, Tom Henry, and Peggy Carpenter.

Pericon, the school yearbook, has its officers: Cindy Beeman, Darcy Chandler, Susan Sadler, Peter Grossi, Selden Kaufman, Paul Weiss, John Hoag, Walter Hirschberg, and Adena Wright.

Periscript, the school literary magazine, includes these students: co-editors, Olin Jennings and Betty Carpenter; assistant editors, Brooke Janis and Stephen Parks; art editors, John Fisher and Marcia Macdonald; junior editors, Patricia Birmingham and Harold Martin; assembly editors, Charlotte Flintermann and Robert Davis; business editors Penny Court and John VanDeGraaf; and typing editors, Susan Daume and Terry Seyler.

The Periscope, which is the G.P.U.S. newspaper, has Noel Savignas as its editor-in-chief, and the following editors and reporters: Philip Angell, Jean Worley, Mario Polizzi, Marcia Macdonald, Lynn Leitbauser, Penny Court, Al Blixt, Ed Reizen, John Siegmund, Richard Gershenson, Ken Perry, and Rosalie Morrison.

Glee Club officers are Stephen Parks, president; John Fisher, vice-president-librarian; and Virginia Barnes, secretary-treasurer.

Members of the Athletic Council, the student group which with coaches' advice decides on their own authority who will receive letter awards in the various sports are the following: Sandy Coe, president; Paul Weiss, vice-president; Lynn Walker, secretary; Dan Johnson, representative-at-large; Henry Franch, grades 7-8; and Arthur Getz, Lower School.

The winners in the competition to see which classes would be the most generous contributors to the United Foundation drive were the 12th grade boys and the 12th grade girls.

G.P.U.S. alumnus Henry D. Peiter, now a junior at Brown University, Providence, R. I., has just been named to the Dean's List. Mr. Peiter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don H. Peiter, of Grosse Pointe. Mrs. Peiter is a teacher in the Lower School at G.P.U.S.

Nursery school children and their fathers had a good time together on Saturday, November 12, from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. In addition to listening to stories, making dough, hammering at the workbench, the fathers seemed particularly to enjoy singing to the auto-harp and playing the "Hokey-Pokey" in a big circle with their children.

Some of the fathers remarked at the end of the morning, "It is interesting to discover how much the children learn as they play." Others expressed their appreciation for becoming acquainted with the story level for their children and with activities that will carry over from school to home during the long winter months. Mrs. Harvey Fruehauf, Jr., contacted the parents for donations of doughnuts and set up an attractive refreshment table. Mrs. William Oard served the coffee which the men enjoyed as they talked and became better acquainted with one another.

Fathers are invited to join mothers in attending the Christmas program followed by a luncheon at the field house on Saturday, December 10, at 10:30 a.m. The Parents' Committee, Mrs. Albert Ruedemann, Mrs. Ivan Dunlap, Mrs. Stephen Fisher, Mrs. William Oard, and Mrs. George Kushner, particularly asked that the program be set up a week earlier so that all parents could take part in the festivities rather than being pressured by the Christmas rush. The field house is a delightful place to gather because of its open fireplace and ample room to socialize. Wayne State University Art Education students, student nurses, and some of the South Lake High School girls will assist with the children's luncheon to be served in the nursery school while the parents lunch in the Field House.

The Mothers' Art Workshop was called off for Tuesday, November 15, because there was so much illness among parents and children. It will be held after the first of the year.

Nursery school parents have cooperated in a program to observe their children in the Observation Booth weekly. Mrs. Bradshaw McKee and Mrs. Harlow Stahl acted as co-chairmen in scheduling hour observation periods in the booths from 8:45 a.m. until 9:45. As a result parents ask many questions during their interview with Mrs. Bacon following the observation. Mrs. George Frederickson's schedule of parents helping with lunch seems to be working out effectively. More children have joined the luncheon group recently.

Zoar Society Holding Bazaar

The members of the Zoar Society have set the date for the annual Christmas bazaar and supper. It will be held on Saturday, December 3, from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Evangelical Home for Children and Aged, 8700 West Outer Drive.

Fancy needlework by the members will be featured as well as many Christmas gift items. All proceeds from this event are for the aid and support of the home.

General chairman of this annual project is Miss Frieda Egger. Assisting the chairman on various committees are the following members from this area: Mrs. William Ludwig, 421 Touraine road; Mrs. W. Martin, 22734 Englehardt drive, and Mrs. Franz Georgi, 20920 Lake-Land court.

March for MD Set for Nov. 29

The lives of all Muscular Dystrophy patients in this area will be in the hands of thousands of volunteers from every city and community, within the tri-counties, on Tuesday evening, November 29, from 7-9 o'clock in the March Against Muscular Dystrophy.

The ninth annual house-to-house drive will be the highlight of Muscular Dystrophy Month, November 15 through December 15, sponsored by Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc. Seventy-five percent of contributions to the MD fight is spent on research, in the hopes of finding the cause and cure of this fatal disease. Currently, there are over 100 research projects in medical laboratories and colleges throughout the United States and Europe.

In this area there are projects at the University of Michigan, University of Detroit, and Wayne State University. MDA, Inc. sponsored, built, and supports the $5,000,000 Institute of Muscle Disease in New York City, the first research center in the world devoted exclusively to the study of muscle and its pathologies.

The balance of contributions is used locally for the Patient Service Program, whose goal is to keep the patient in the best possible physical, mental, and emotional condition while waiting for the cure to be found. "The money helps maintain clinics such as the one operated here at Detroit Memorial Hospital under the direction of Dr. Max K. Newman, prominent in this specialized area of medicine," states Paul J. Mittello, Regional Director of MDA, Inc. There are more than 200,000 MD victims in the United States and over 300 in the immediate area. Dystrophy strikes children between the ages of 3 and 7, gradually deteriorating the voluntary muscles. The disease progressively weakens and disables its victim to the point where a minor ailment, even a cold, may be fatal.

Health Council Work Praised

Periodic fluoridation and tooth examination was stressed by Dr. John Pericin at the last meeting of the Mothers' Health Education Council, Inc., of Grosse Pointe.

He explained the necessity of fluoride application when the teeth erupt, thus reducing tooth decay considerably. Grosse Pointe, he added, is ahead of other areas by at least 10 years due to the present program as sponsored by the Mothers' Health Council.

The present schedule for fluoride treatments in the local school system is as follows: Defer, November 21; Barnes, November 29; and Perry, November 30. Dr. John Pericin, Dr. Thomas Kelly, and Dr. Richard Knoff have treated 221 children at Mason, Brownell, and Pierce this past month.

Fluoridation is available to any child in the 2nd, 5th, and 8th grades in the Grosse Pointe school district with a minimum cost to the parents.

The Mothers' Health Council, Inc. was founded by Mrs. Stanley MacKenzie in 1944 at the request of the Board of Education to serve as a "link between the school and home." She related to the group that the main function of the council now is to teach dental care; however, if an emergency or need arises their services are readily available.

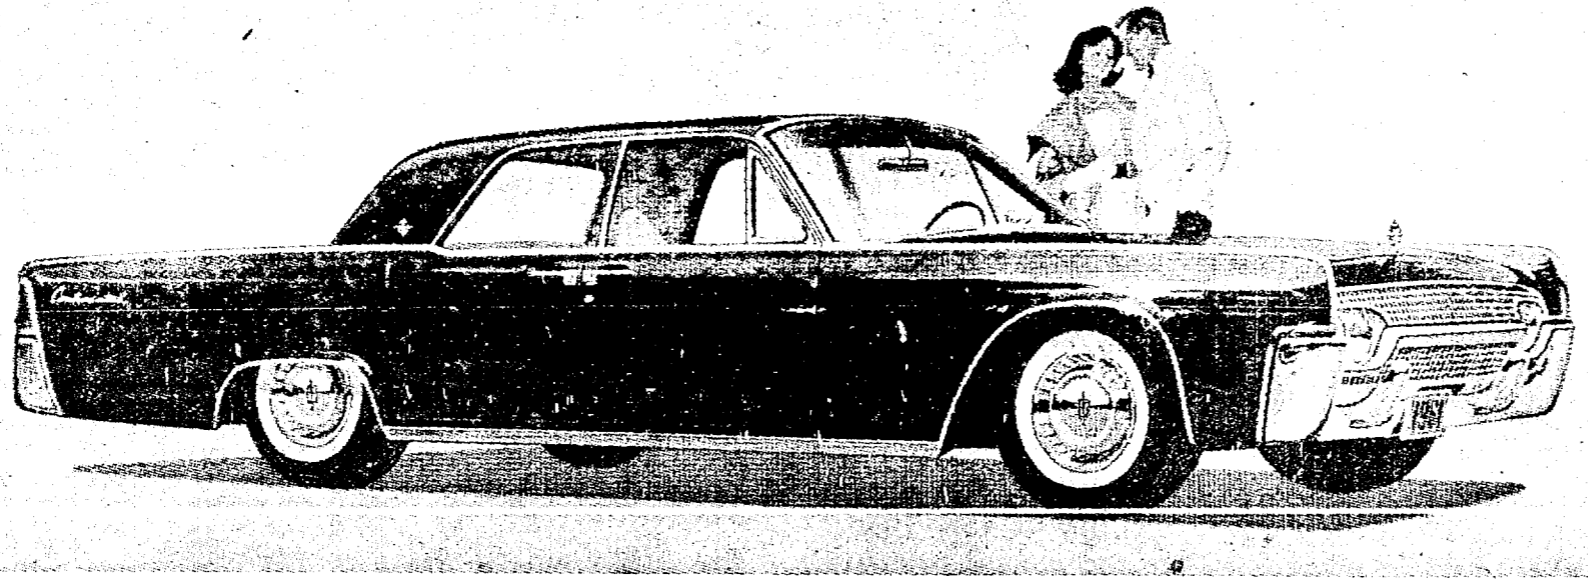

The membership is composed of four delegates from each area school, meeting bi-monthly with terms of two years each.

Mrs. William Savage has arranged talks by the visiting teachers of Grosse Pointe, for the next meeting, November 28, at 1 p.m., at the Public Library. Miss Caroline Wheeler promises an interesting and informative discussion regarding psychological and neurological work being conducted in the schools.

New Lincoln Continental Bows In Pointe

Two fabulous models of the new Lincoln '61 Continental are stars in the exclusively Grosse Pointe auto show opening today at Frank Adam Salon, 130 Kercheval avenue, in the Farms. AAUW Groups Take Holiday

In the interest of turning out perfect pumpkin pies and cranberry sauce, the following groups in the Grosse Pointe branch, American Association of University Women, are not meeting this month—Status of Women, Legislative, Drama, Mass Media and Education.

Chalk up a social note for the usually-serious Creative Writing Group, who entertained their husbands at a pot-luck buffet in the Three Mile drive home of the Edgar A. Hahn's last Sunday. Highlights of the evening were the showing of fascinating slides made during their year's stay in Greece by the Hahns.

Mr. Hahn, who has won innumerable photographic awards showed his beautiful stereo slides of nature studies made in Arizona, New Mexico and California last summer.

The new Book Group will meet Monday, November 28, with Mrs. Albert D. Conkey of Pemberton road as hostess. Following the salad luncheon Mrs. Edgar A. Hahn will review the best-selling new biography "Robert Frost—The Trial by Existence," by Elizabeth Shepley Sargeant. Studio Arts and Drama chairman, Mrs. Urban A. Boresch, will give readings of the more significant of Frost's poems.

All members of the community, as well as AAUW members, are asked to explore the possibilities for 1961-62 grantees for the 40 fellowship awards open to women of the United States. The stipends range from $2,000 to $5,000, to be used for study abroad or in the United States.

Candidates are unrestricted as to age or field of study, but must qualify by holding doctorate or having fulfilled all the requirements for the doctorate, except the dissertation, by the time the fellowship year begins.

A third group to qualify are women who already have attained professional recognition but wish to pursue research or study.

Application forms may still be obtained from the Fellowship office, AAUW Educational Foundation, 2401 Virginia Ave., N.W., Washington 7, D.C. The deadline for filing is December 1.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. James H. Graves, TU, 2-8955, chairman of the Grosse Pointe Fellowship Committee.

Delta Delta Deltas' Junior Group to Meet

The December meeting of the Junior Group of Delta Delta Delta will be held on Wednesday, December 14, at 8 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Leo Lenhard, 27500 E. California, Lathrup Village.

Scissors and bathroom tissue rolls will be brought by the members. Holly leaves and berries will be added to make Christmas tray favors for Receiving Hospital. Others will finish bun warmers for prizes at the January bridge benefit.

Any interested Tri-Deltas recently graduated are urged to come. For further information call Mrs. Robert Weston LI 1-7244.

GPYC to See Sailing Films

Grosse Pointe Yacht Club will present Alfred F. Loomis, associate editor of "Yachting", next Wednesday, November 30, with his lecture and movie of the 1960 Bermuda race, the Malory cup races, and the wind-up of the race to Sweden. Time and place are 8:30 p.m. in GPYC's ballroom.

A special chicken dinner is to be served beforehand in the club dining room from 6:30 to 8:30 o'clock.

Crash Blamed On High Speed

Excessive speed and failure to enter an intersection without due care and caution were blamed for an accident November 15 on the corner of St. Paul and Neff road.

Police said Amesta Coughlin, of 4015 Courville, Detroit, was driving northward on Neff and failed to see a car on St. Paul. She attempted to cross the intersection and her car was struck in the left front by an automobile driven by Stella Irene Sapieliah Dettloff, 1630 Faircourt.

Mrs. Dettloff received a ticket for driving too fast for the condition of the road. A violation was also issued to Miss Coughlin for failure to exercise due care.

Hanson-Simon Nuptials Read

Eleanor Ruth Simon, daughter of the Jack Simons of St. Clair Shores, became the bride of Thomas James Hanson at recent rites in Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church.

Mr. Hanson is the son of Mrs. Margaret Hanson of Shoreham road. After a wedding trip to Los Angeles, Hawaii and Mexico the pair will live in Shelbourne road.

Benefit Sponsored By Tetartos Council

Tetartos Council of Sigma Alpha National Sorority is sponsoring the opening night performance of "Andersonville Trial" starring Brian Donlevy, December 5, at the Shubert Theatre.

The proceeds will be used for the national sorority project, Institute of Logopedics, Wichita, Kansas, which treats children for speech defects and deafness.

Mrs. A. W. Sturdevant, of Lakeland avenue, is in charge of arrangements and Mrs. William M. Wibel is chairman of the ticket committee.

Smaller But Faster Cagers Carrying Hopes At Austin

Austin Catholic, the scourge of the Parochial Central Division and outstanding Class A power in state prep circles, is face to face with a critical stage in its history as the 1960-61 season nears.

The Friars have seven lettermen returning this season, but of that number only two, Joe Kramer and Bill Coyro, are veterans with a certainty of starting assignments when the Friars open the season against non-league St. Patrick Tuesday, November 29, on the Austin court.

they see the Friars take the long shot and have the big boy grab off the rebound for a tip in score. According to Hollosy his 1961 team will play a controlled game and wait for the best shot. Or when the situation permits the Friars will use their speed for a race horse type game.

Coach Hollosy isn't taking a defeatist attitude because he has a small club. He says, "This bunch has the greatest desire, terrific spirit and is less afraid to work than any of the five teams I have had since we started basketball here five years ago."

Replacements Sought

Coach Chuck Hollosy must find adequate replacements for graduated Bob Brinkman, Bill Fitzgerald, Paul Zosel, Bill Hodgeman and Walt Connolly. To date Carl Soverby, 6-3, appears to have the inside track at center. Joe Kramer, 6-2, has one forward spot locked up and Bill Coyro, 5-8, is entrenched at one guard spot.

Coach Hollosy feels he will have a strong bench this year, which is something he couldn't count on last season when his five iron men carried the school colors to new glory. Hollosy feels that Bill McGuire, a transfer from Oklahoma, junior Bill Billand, 6-5, and sophomore Doug Winkworth, 6-3, will add to the bench strength as the season progresses.

Smaller But Faster

Unlike previous Austin teams the 1961 Friars are smaller and faster and because of this the pattern of play will be entirely different than that to which Austin fans have become accustomed to. No longer will

In league competition the Friars lost only one game in 12 starts last season and had an overall mark of 18 wins as against 4 losses.

The first taste of fire the green Friars will have will come against Pontiac Central in a full scale scrimmage on Friday, November 25, on the Friars' home court. It wouldn't be far fetched to say this scrimmage could draw a full house if coach Hollosy chooses to open the doors. Very likely the scrimmage will be held in secret as the exact time has not been released.

Engel to Give Talk On Marine Museums

Marine Museums of New England, an illustrated talk by Grosse Pointe resident William H. Engel, will be presented by the Great Lakes Maritime Institute in the Dossin Great Lakes Museum on Belle Isle, on Friday evening, November 25, at 8 p.m. Admission is free, and adults are invited to attend.

The Scramble's On For Starting Cage Berths

ST. PAUL LAKER cage candidates are typical of thousand of schoolboy athletes across the nation who are waging hot battles for starting assignments on the varsity teams as the 1960-61 season draws near. Coach Ed Lauer finds himself in the enviable position of having a group of red hot juniors and three returning letter men to choose from. Shown left to right: CHICK HIENER, JEFF GENTILE, STEVE HANDLOS TOM MOXLEY, JAY FISCHER, GARY SCHICK, JOE AYRAULT, MIKE CANTWELL and JACK WACHTER.

Little League Hockey Started

With the ever-increasing interest in youth hockey in the surrounding areas, a group of hockey enthusiasts of Grosse Pointe met last Friday evening and named Charles R. Beltz, of 500 Lakeland, as Director of the newly organized Grosse Pointe Little League Hockey.

The formation of this league will afford an opportunity for those boys living in the Pointe community to participate in Little League Hockey, America's fastest-growing sport. The Grosse Pointe League will be comprised of eight teams for the present season, divided into two divisions. The Pee Wees division will have four teams for boys of 12 years and under. There will be four teams in the Bantams division for those under 14.

It is planned that all the games will be played at the Grosse Pointe Ice Lair, located at 15001 Charlevoix.

All interested adults who would be willing to coach or manage teams and all youths of 14 years or younger as of August 1, 1960, who are interested in participating in league activities may contact Mr. Beltz between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. at Valley 2-6965 for further information.

Tryouts will take place within the next two weeks.

Woodruff, Western Set for Cage Season

Tom Woodruff, former all-state basketball player at Grosse Pointe High School, is a starter on Western Michigan University's high-powered cage team this season. Woodruff is a junior, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Woodruff, 1943 Severn, Grosse Pointe.

The Broncos, under Coach Don Boven, open their most ambitious schedule in history. Thursday, December 1, at Northwestern University, then move to Cincinnati for a game with the rugged Bearcats, Saturday, December 3.

Glenn Davis of the Detroit Lions is an ambidextrous shot-putter who his college coaches say can hit 45-foot right-handed and 37 feet as a southpaw.

Change in Little League Rules Distresses Officials

Robert E. McKenna, Grosse Pointe Woods - Shores Little League president, has called a special meeting of associate members Thursday, December 8, at 8:30 p.m., in the Parcels Junior High School auditorium, to discuss a recent player rule that by-passes parental authority.

President McKenna says the rule brought many protests from parents. Under the new rule, any boy may be transferred to any team or league without consulting his parents and without parental consent.

Many parents are fearful that 9 and 10-year-olds, if potentially good players, might be drafted by a major league team and then benched for one or two years until the player is old enough for competition with 11 and 12-year-olds.

In the past, even with the consent of parents, given with the expectation their boy would play, a younger boy drafted by a major league team and benched, has been the major cause of criticism of little league and friction between board members, managers and parents.

Enrollment Sets Record At MSU

Michigan State University enrolled a record 23,373 students during registration week, which ended Sept. 23.

The total is 2,504 higher than last fall's 20,869, Registrar Kermit H. Smith announced. It includes 908 students at MSU-O and 1,284 taking courses through the resident extension centers. The on-campus enrollment in East Lansing reached 21,181, compared with 19,161 last year.

Among the students are 4,790 members of the Class of 1964, the largest freshmen group to enter Michigan State. The newcomers number 25 per cent more than last year's freshmen, who in turn totaled 26 per cent more than the preceding year.

President John A. Hannah called the new record enrollment "a further vote of confidence of the people of Michigan in the high quality education offered by Michigan State University."

A heavy increase in applications for admissions gave enough advance warning so that "every one of these additional students will be well

Good music is assured for the Grosse Pointe War Memorial annual Thanksgiving Collegian's Homecoming Dance this Friday night, November 25, from 9-12 o'clock. Earle Perkin's own Pointe band of superb music makers will furnish practically continuous dance music throughout the evening.

Intermission time will be doubly enjoyable with much table hopping being expected as the college set catches up on the goings on and gossip from different campuses and as the refreshments pass from the refectory table to the candlelit cafe tables spread throughout the lower floor.

Invitations to this affair have been mailed to the homes of all collegians in the Grosse Pointe car pools of the University of Detroit and Wayne State. Cards have also been mailed to the homes of all recent high school graduates. It is anticipated that parents of students returning for Thanksgiving from out of town will have forwarded these cards to the various campuses.

Decorations appropriate to the occasion are being planned and made by Mary Kotcher, Jim Wright, Andy Campbell, Carol Peters and Sandy Flemming under the chairmanship of Judi Miller.

The dance is for couples and the dress is informal date clothes.

Black Knight Cage Team Under New Coach Bill Long

The Black Knight cagers at GPUS are in for a complete overhauling before the 1960-61 season gets underway against Lamphere on Friday, December 2.

Bill Long, the new cage coach who replaced former mentor Bill Bellows, favors a fast break offense and a zone press defense. This type of a game takes man power which is something of a premium at GPUS.

fast break type of game will get the best effort out of the material he has to work with. He feels the Knights will develop into a good running ball club and if any other style of attack is used, in other words a controlled ball style, the Knights will be just another mediocre basketball team.

One thing in Long's favor is the fact he has five returning lettermen back in Sandy Coe, 5-11 guard, Herbe Parke, 6-1 center, Pete Monroe, 5-11 forward, John Adair, 5-10 guard, and Terry Saylor, 6-1 forward. All are seniors.

Coach Long played basketball for two years at Beloit College before being injured and forced to give up the game. He was graduated from there and took post-graduate work at Dartmouth, where he helped with the freshman team and also with the Hanover High School squad the two years he attended Dartmouth.

There is only one hitch in the starting five—they won't be able to play together in all games. Saylor, because of illness, missed a season and is now classified as being a fifth year man and will not be permitted to play in games against public schools. His only action will come against the private schools on the GPUS schedule.

The Knights don't play in a league but a 13-game season is on tap against both public and private schools. The first home game will be against Cherry Hill on Tuesday, December 6, which will be the only opportunity the Knights will have to show before their own fans before the holidays.

Backing up the five man nucleus, Long has a red hot freshman in 5-11 George Perin who has exhibited a good jump shot in practice and will be a hard boy to keep out of the starting lineup. Tom Neilson, a non-lettering varsity member from last year's squad, appears to have the edge over former junior varsity players Brooke Herrington and Paul Sheridan. Both are juniors.

The highlight of past seasons has been the Maumee Valley tournament, which will be held February 24-25 this year. The Knights carried off top honors the second year the tourney was held.

Realizing the shallowness of his bench, Coach Long feels the guests of honor. Michigan's head football coach, Bump Elliott, was an All-American half-back on the same 1947 team.

Chappius and Elliott sparked the 1947 team to an undefeated season, coach-of-the-year honors for retiring head coach Fritz Crisler, and the record 49-0 trouncing of Southern California in the Rose Bowl.

Thanksgiving 1960

It is Thanksgiving Day 1960, nearly three and a third centuries since that first poignant offering of gratitude made by the Pilgrims on the rocky New England coast. What a long way we have come! That tiny band of God-fearing newcomers to a strange land expressed thanks for being able to count survivors from the terrors and deprivations of their efforts to establish a new home. Today the nearly 180,000,000 residents of this greatest nation on earth are blessed with an abundance that would befuddle the imagination of those hardy pioneers. We have come far, but we still have a long way to go. There is much to deplore among our accomplishments. There are many in our own land whose lot we must better. There are myriad prejudices to be overcome and compassion must reach ever-rising heights. But it is doubtful if the poorest and the most put-upon among us today has to face the constant trials and tribulations with which all among that valiant group were confronted day by day and hour by hour. We give thanks this day, not only for having attained a measure of well-being hitherto unknown to man, but for the accompanying ability to help the many who still need help. Never before in all human history has there been such a display of this spirit of thanksgiving. It is evidenced in the annual outpouring of individual packages of food and necessities for the most desperate; in the adoption by American families of the children orphaned by the scourge of war. And on the larger scale, it is seen in the veritable river of wealth which flows towards those countries which appear to merit the opportunity to raise their own levels of productivity and lift themselves to the plateau of self-subsistence. The rehabilitation of one mortal soul is a magnificent accomplishment. The elevation of unnumbered down-trodden humans to the status of self-respecting citizens is something for which we can indeed be thankful. Let us all count our blessings today. Let us be grateful that the first expressions of thanks which emanated from our Pilgrim Fathers have been carried on into a world-wide crusade for the betterment of all mankind. The purpose and underlying meaning of the first Thanksgiving have never dimmed in the vision of those who have maintained America as the land of freedom and human dignity.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir: Since little or no information has appeared in metropolitan newspapers about the November 8 referendum regarding fluoridation, your readers would no doubt be interested in the outcome. Cincinnati, Ohio, citizens rejected fluoridation 107,782 versus 89,065; this was its second defeat at the polls. In November 1953 they voted 76,155 against, 56,246 for fluoridation. In Saginaw, Mich., citizens defeated fluoridation 15,632 versus 11,842 likewise for the second time at the polls. In 1954 they voted to abandon fluoridation which had been in operation since 1950. In Wisconsin, two towns voted to abandon fluoridation, two rejected it. Weyauwega, where fluoridation was put into operation in 1954 discontinued it. Antigo citizens voted 2,609 versus 1,777 to abandon fluoridation started in 1949. Antigo's vote determines that Merrill, a nearby town, will likewise keep its water unmedicated. Merrill's City Council decided in advance to abide by the outcome in Antigo. Waukesha rejected fluoridation 5,712 versus 3,612. Montello voted 293 versus 258; this was its second vote against fluoridation in the last five years. In Joplin, Mo., 8,258 citizens voted against, 6,758 for fluoridation. Freeport, Ill., citizens rejected fluoridation for the third time. The vote: 6,586 versus 5,203. Two Minnesota towns, Fairbault and Willmar, defeated fluoridation: the former 2,900 versus 2,400; the latter 2,767 versus 1,948. In Fairbault fluoridation, adopted by City Council action, was terminated in March 1955 after 18 months operation when the citizens voted against it. As in Cincinnati, in Marin County and in Sacramento, Calif., fluoridation was forced to the ballot for the second time by proponents. Fluoridation was rejected by a much larger margin than the first time in Marin County and in Sacramento to: 30,958 versus 24,116 in the former; 40,525 versus 31,868 in the latter. Fluoridation has been defeated in every 1960 California referendum. Sunbury, Pa., rejected fluoride 4,400 to 1,400; Kenton County, Kentucky, 17,683 ver-

10,719; Covington, Ky., 17,000 versus 10,000; Galesburg, Illinois, defeated it 6 to 5. Galesburg water originally contained fluoride naturally. Due to water supply problems a new system was installed which contains less fluoride than proponents consider desirable. Galesburg voters, apparently not impressed by effects of natural fluoride water, voted against fluoridation. McMinnville, Oregon, and Ocala, Fla., are the only places known to me where fluoridation received a favorable vote. So that your readers will have access to this information, I suggest that you publish this letter. Yours truly, Edith M. Waldbott 1144 Balfour Road Grosse Pointe 30 November 20, 1960

To the Editor: Without getting into the merits or demerits of the anti-Con-Con distribution which was, except in Harper Woods, given out at the same time as literature supporting my candidacy, I think your paper should publish my position. Nor do I think this untimely. In April we will vote on what the many people who asked me about this matter thought they were going to vote on in November. The changes made to our state constitution on November 8 were not adequately explained to the public because they were "too complicated" and because, I believe, they couldn't stand the light of good election practices. Let me run through my thinking over the years on this thing. I have voted for Con-Con in the legislature as early as 1955 and I voted for it on the November 1958 ballot. When the League's proposal appeared I studied it and saw that it set up a special election for delegates opening the doors for a special election, also, for submitting a new constitution. From my experience as chairman of the Elections Committee of the House, wherein we have made considerable study of special elections, I can see that this would most likely exclude the average citizen, allowing decisions to be made by the few. This is undemocratic, to say the least. To correct this I introduced

What Goes On at Your Library

by Jean Taylor

Among the many attractive books for children to tempt Christmas buyers this year are some unusually lovely picture stories for the child just entering the world of books.

Bruno Munari's "ABC" will be an incentive for today's child to learn his ABC's. This is an enchanting alphabet book. Many familiar objects, the apple, dog, cat, fish et al, which have been used through generations to teach letters to a child, here have a delightful contemporary quality. Impressive in design and lovely in coloring, this is a book which the small child will enjoy and remember long after his ABC days are over.

The charmer "Anatole," that ingenious mouse, cheese taster par excellence, who made his first appearance a year or two ago, is back again in a new picture story by Eve Titus "Anatole and the Robot." The text and Paul Galdone's illustrations are gay and amusing, and after many vicissitudes, Anatole again emerges a hero.

Whether or not "The Happy Lion" is already well known to your children, they will enjoy the new picture book "The Three Happy Lions" by the husband and wife team, Louise Fatio, who does the text, and her husband Roger Duvoisin, who makes the amusing illustrations. Francois, the cub, is the cause of concern on the part of his parents, who worry about his future. All ends happily.

Hannelore Hahn has written an unusual picture book "Take a Giant Step." This tells of the use made of stilt all over the world, although they are known to few children in this country. The book shows that stilts can make music, and how they are used in different countries for racing, reaching, dancing and running. In India stilts are used to promote a good harvest. Colorful and decorative illustrations enlarge the very simple text. The long narrow shape of the book suggests the stilt which form its subject.

Two favorite stories by the Brothers Grimm, have appeared recently in picture book format. "The Sleeping Beauty" is simply told for younger children with a minimum of text and many softly colored illustrations by the Swiss artist, Felix Hoffman. This is a book to stir the child's imagination.

The other favorite Grimm tale to be made a picture book this year is "The Shoemaker and the Elves." The story of the impoverished cobbler and his magic Brownie helpers has whimsical colored pictures by Adrienne Adams.

"A Gaggle of Geese" by Eve Merriam is an interesting book to please both the picture book age and older children as well if they can overlook the picture book format. Children love unusual words, and here the words to describe various groups in the animal world are presented with large full page illustrations in color by Paul Galdone, a gaggle of geese, a pride of lions, a sloth of bears, etc. The words are authentic as explained in the foreword, and many will be unfamiliar even to the adult reader.

One of this season's handsomest picture books is "The Magic Jewel" by Roderich Thun. When the Orient Express was forced to make a surprise stop near his home, small Peter made friends with a little princess from India, who was one of the passengers. The loss of her precious magic jewel brings Peter exciting adventures. The illustrations are dramatic with many double spreads in color.

Of the several books which describe how to tell time, a recent publication "Time Is When" by Beth Gleick, is perhaps the simplest. It explains how to tell time by clock and calendar. Interesting pictures add to the book's appeal. The text may be read by beginning readers and provides answers to questions many children inevitably ask.

Ford Offering Xmas Fantasy

The Santa Claus residence at the North Pole, usually seen only in the dreams of good little boys and girls, is re-created at the eighth annual Christmas Fantasy opening November 26 at the Ford Rotunda in Dearborn, Mich.

Billed as Santa's Wonderland, the make-believe village has just about everything youngsters see in their "dream visits" to this land of enchantment. Animated elves man the manufacturing assembly line for toys. Santa himself is seated in his castle, ready to take his young friends' Christmas orders. A candy kitchen and bakery are operated by toy workers. Wooden soldiers guard the castle gate.

Nearby are Wee Willie Winkie and several of his friends from fairy-tale land, including an animated Humpty Dumpty perched atop a brick wall. All the king's men stand by in case Humpty topples to the ground.

Elsewhere in the Rotunda are most of the other popular items in Santa's line of merchandise—dolls, bicycles, trains and Christmas cards from all over the world. Animated jungle animals are housed in mobile cages with peppermint sticks for bars. A live, 40-foot-tall Christmas tree glitters with 15,000 colored lights.

Among the dolls on display are 2,000 dressed by the Ford Girls Club for distribution by the Goodfellows to underprivileged children.

As usual, cartoons are shown

Here It Is!

THE WOODS KITCHEN

in the Rotunda auditorium during the Fantasy.

At the entrance to the Rotunda's center court, the mood changes to the religious theme of Christmas. A cathedral facade with carillon music ringing from 40-foot spires adorns the court's entrance. Inside is a Nativity scene with life-size figures of the Holy Family, the Wise Men and their camels, and shepherds with their sheep. A silhouette of the town of Bethlehem is in the background. An organ alongside the Nativity scene provides Christmas music.

Rotunda hours for the Christmas Fantasy are 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily. The special exhibition will end at 3 p.m., December 24, when the Rotunda will close for the Christmas holiday.

More than 651,000 persons saw last year's Christmas show, raising to almost 4,400,000 the total attendance for the seven Fantasy productions.

"How about one of those wonder drugs?"

By FRED KOPP, R. Ph.

"I've got a cold," the man said, and he went on to ask for a "wonder drug." The pharmacist sold him some aspirin and advised him to see his physician. As it happened the aspirin fixed him up fine, but the point is this: Pharmacists are not physicians, providing the drugs and medicines they prescribe. We have a professional knowledge of the powerful new "wonder drugs," so we know how important it is to use them correctly. Please do not feel offended when your pharmacist refuses to sell you a certain drug. It is for your protection and in the best interest of your good health. Always see your doctor when potent medication is required. This is the 835th of a series of Editorial advertisements appearing in this paper each week.

Society WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Kitty Marriott

Grosse Pointe has called her own from all corners of the country, and Thanksgiving Day 1960 finds them responding in traditional fashion to the traditional appeal. Collegians, travelers, one and sundry make their way homeward if at all possible to spend the festive day with their families.

After a week in Sarasota, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Stroh Jr., have returned to Merriweather road in time to share Thanksgiving Day dinner with their daughter Linda, who, in turn, had come in from Knox College.

Thanks to the Elmer A. Clarks' perseverance at the airlines' reservations desk, their daughter Anne is here from Wheelock to spend the weekend in her Rivard boulevard home. She is a sophomore at the Boston College. Her brother Tony, a Princeton senior, is not so fortunate; after a brief pause today only to give thanks, he'll continue working on his thesis at school.

Walls of the Alfred W. Massnick home in Bishop road bulge happily today as they encompass the senior Massnicks, their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Julian Guidot and their six children; the junior Alfred Massnicks of Birmingham with their two offspring, and another son-in-law and daughter, the John Murrays of Warren with their two youngsters.

If all went as planned, Dr. and Mrs. Windsor S. Davies got back to Audubon road last night after seven weeks of air travel around the globe. After stopping in Paris last week, they were to leave London by jet Wednesday, the holiday eve. Keeping close check on their travels via maps at home have been their children, Windsor and Terese, and the doctor's parents, the Windsor R. Davies of Kensington road.

And at the Hunt Club

President Edwin Peabody and his family are among those who plan to gather around the festive board today at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. In recent years the club has been featuring family style Thanksgiving Day dinners with each family unit being served an individual turkey.

Others who will be there today include Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Osius, the Albert Mayers, the Kenneth Kahns, Mrs. Herman Petzold, and the Lawrence Verdiers.

Friday night last the Hunt Club held a seafood party. The J. Henry Smiths, Erbin Wattles, Donald Martins, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Maschmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Dockson and the Thomas Blacks were among those attending.

First schooling show of the fall season comes the Sunday after Thanksgiving, and December 3 is another big day on the calendar. It's set aside for the President's Ball.

Letters from Australia

There's an interesting scrapbook in Hidden lane, where Mrs. Paul F. McNally installs each letter from daughter Shari in Sidney, Australia. It's summertime now in the land down under. Shari reports with temperatures in the 80's.

The Pointe lass has been doing a lot of weekend hiking in the beautiful Blue Mountains, an hour's train ride from Sydney. "Come hell or high water," she writes,

Fashion Show Opens GPYC Yule Season

Halls Decked with Holly and Christmas Trees and Ornaments As Ladies Gather for Bridge Luncheon and to See Models

The Christmas season at Grosse Pointe Yacht Club really began last Thursday, November 17. Yuletide holly, Christmas tree ornaments and two decorated trees at the head of the grand staircase transformed the ballroom for the club's "Holly Holiday" bridge luncheon and fashion show that day.

Everyone seemed to have a jolly time, and everyone declared it a beautiful party. The fashions presented by the J. L. Hudson Company were all in holiday mood: the models appeared before a white felt backdrop, then pirouetted down the runway—high on the back drop, glistening holly spelled out the "Holly Holiday" theme. At the sides festoons of holly were hung with bright-hued Christmas tree ornaments.

Furthering the theme, a standard at each side of the stage held a large sized cherub with a big basket overflowing with holly, evergreen branches and ornaments. The gift table, with its heap of green ribbon-tied prizes, had a huge driftwood piece decked with holly and multi-hued Christmas balls at one side, two simulated small Yule logs with candles on the other. Luncheon tables were Christmas-y with red satin ribbon bands on glistening white cloths.

Mrs. Herbert W. Hart, as chairman, was busy as could be—her stunning black broadcloth suit had a portrait collar of white mink and her white mink hat was in the Cossack style. Her busy co-chairman, Mrs. James Quello, wore a black crepe dress and a little hat quite covered with small green fruits.

Mesdames Hart and Quello lunched with Mrs. Glenn Walker, chairman of women's activities (she was in a black wool dress and short jacket, with a feather hat in shades of purple), and her guests Mrs. Joseph Quinn, Mrs. Gerald Jordan and Mrs. John Finn.

At a long table were Mesdames J. Henry Pichler, William L. Davis, Fred A. Rohn, Bliss Wolfe, Allan A. Wales, McCormick Ward, Orville McCormick, A. Griswold Herreshoff, Marion K. Zwolinski, Lewis P. Kalb, George Stocum, John McNeil Burns, Leo Fitzpatrick, Joseph B. Hester, Herman Scarney, Elton MacDonald, William O'Neill Kronner, Cassius Selden, George Cassidy and Leo Schulte.

Mrs. Harlow Stahl, chic in a brown dressmaker-type suit by Irene and brown accessories, was inestess to Mrs. Eugene Fully, Mrs. Ronald Kingham and Mrs. Hugh Windisch. Mrs. John W. Bray's guests were Mesdames Frank Olds, Alfred Cytacki and Chester Jankowski. In Mrs. Clement Pennell's party were Mesdames Gaylord Hulbert, Arlington Lecklider, Ray Venderbush, Arthur Hirt, Louis Asmus, Charles Wainman and Hurst Montec.

Mrs. Henry Weidner's smart dress was an Adele Simpson, of black taffeta with an overskirt effect—with it she wore a small white satin cloche hat. Her guests: Mesdames Glen Jury, E. L. Weber, William Fricker, Robert Butz, David Crandall, Harold McCracken, Tade Walsh.

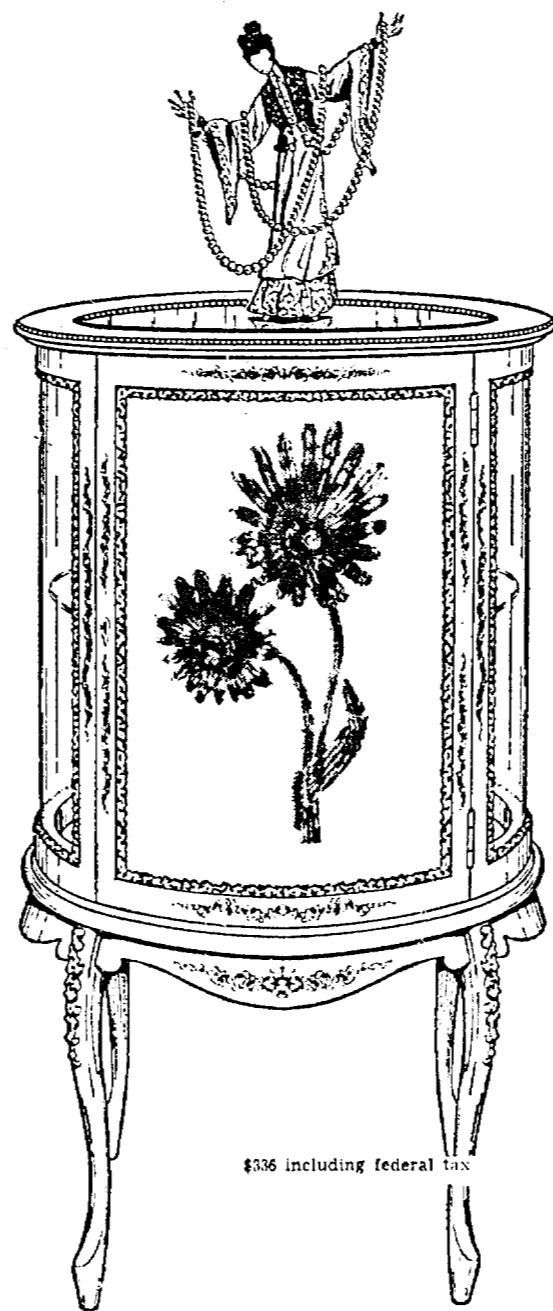

With Mrs. Harold E. Cross were Mesdames Hamilton Kotcher, Charles McKenna, John Verbiest, John Clifford, Arthur Schult, Frank McKee and Raymond Little. Mrs. John W. Norman, smart in plaid wool in avocado green and navy shades, and Persian lamb jacket, entertained Mesdames William Oard, Bruce McCullough and Donald Schuit, and it was special fun because it was Mrs. Norman's birthday.

Mrs. Wayne Long's guests were Mesdames Fred A. Hood, Jr., Donald Ford, Haford Kerhavy, Arthur Stringari, David Turner, Cyril DeFeever; with Mrs. Hans Gehrke Jr. were Mesdames Francis Seylor, James Gagne, William Carroll, James Kurtz; with Mrs. George Trendle were Mrs. Harry Dodd, Mrs. Edward Blake, Mrs. Emmett Gentleman.

David Piche performed the duties of best man for his brother. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. David Piche of Moross road.

Seating the guests were Jim Cross, Nick Dara, Bill Arpino, Jay Bocci and David Piche, nephew of the bridegroom.

It will be shown under the sponsorship of the Grosse Pointe Ski Club in the Great Hall of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center which is now equipped with a new giant size screen.

LIST THEIR REASONS

Women today rank companionship first among reasons for marriage, according to the December Reader's Digest. Second is the chance to have children; third, understanding and emotional support; fourth, love and affection; and fifth, financial benefit. These are the findings of a recent study by University of Michigan investigators.

"you stop and build a fire and have 'billy tea' morning and afternoon."

Christmastime will find Shari and former MSU classmate Jean Tompkins, of Lansing, moving about a thousand miles across the continent to Brisbane, where they'll spend the holidays with Aussie friends. Then, the pair expect to move on; they've mentioned Java, China, Japan, Africa, India and Europe as possible stops. So Mrs. McNally should have a number of intriguing postmarks in the scrapbook before Shari reaches home base.

From 1910 to Now

Exactly 50 years to the day that the Players were inaugurated, (when one Guy Brewster Cady summoned 12 gentleman friends to dinner in a small German restaurant in downtown Detroit to discuss the formation of a club for men to be devoted to the profession of acting . . . and thank you, George Stark, for the background information!), the group will mark their golden anniversary on Saturday, December 10.

Traditional club "frolic" evening, the first Saturday of every month from November through April, will be moved up this time only to the anniversary date. Annual meeting of the 20-year club members has also been switched to December 10, in hopes of achieving a grand turnout of some 250-300 members for the all-important occasion.

Cocktails and dinner will be served for members at the club, a unique item itself, according to President Frank T. Judge, Jr. The Afterglow will feature three one-act plays including: a musical revue of excerpts from musicals "way back when" with Howard Snyder at the helm; a show put together by the youngest members of the Players, and Richard Forsyth's revival of a revival of a revival, "The Lone Blackball". He hopes to include such members of the original cast as former Army Secretary Wilbur Brucker and Arthur "Red" Motley, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Remarkably enough, that same date will mark the 35th anniversary of the Players' Playhouse on East Jefferson . . . and architect member William E. Kapp, who designed the playhouse, is whomping up sets for the December anniversary frolic.

Thanksgiving Dinner Fixed Much Faster Than In 1621

The Pilgrim homemaker boiled and toiled for days to prepare for the first Thanksgiving dinner in 1621. But, thanks to methods of food preservation she never dreamed of, her modern sister can put a similar feast on the table in a matter of hours.

It was almost 200 years after Governor William Bradford decreed a day of thanksgiving that canning was invented. A candymaker named Nicolas Appert published the report of his invention in 1810, after collecting the prize of 12,000 francs that the French government had offered for a method of preserving food for its troops. Now the housewife can simply open a can of mince-meat, pumpkin, or cranberry sauce—or any of the other foods that bring the yearly retail value of canned foods to approximately $4.5 billion.

Or, she can roast a frozen turkey and open a package of frozen corn, part of the $2 billion worth of frozen food that is produced annually, according to World Book Encyclopedia. The Pilgrims probably kept some foods on ice, but it was the mechanical refrigeration developed in the late 1800's and the quick-freezing process of Clarence Birdseye developed in the 1920's that made freezing an important means of food preservation.

In Thanksgiving dinners yet to come, the housewife may serve a freeze-dried turkey, one that has been quick-frozen and the moisture removed. Freeze-drying was used in the days of the Pilgrims but only for preserving biological specimens in the laboratory. Just a few decades ago, scientists began to apply this method to food. A shipment of freeze-dried food currently is nourishing the World Book Encyclopedia Scientific Expedition to the Himalaya, led by Sir Edmund Hillary.

Recently scientists have been experimenting with irradiation as a method of preserving food. If further experiments are successful, tomorrow's turkey dinner may be chock full of gamma rays.

Wible-Milanowski Nuptial Vows Said

Saturday Ceremony in Grand Rapids Unites Two in Newspaper Work in Chicago; Parents of Bridegroom Plan Reception Here

Arthur Edward Wible Jr. claimed Marcia Milanowski as his bride at noon Saturday in St. Andrews Cathedral, Grand Rapids, Mich. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Charles W. Popell officiated at the wedding.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Wencil A. Milanowski of Grand Rapids, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Wible Sr. of Buckingham road.

A reception followed in the Milanowski home.

After a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains, the pair will be in Grosse Pointe Saturday, December 3. On that date, the senior Wibles will give an afternoon reception for relatives and friends in their home.

The newlyweds will then leave for Chicago, where the junior Mr. Wible is employed by the Chicago Tribune, and his bride by United Press. They will make their home in Evanston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of sole designed gown with square neckline and featuring tiny bows down the front to the hemline.

Mrs. David L. Milanowski attended her sister-in-law as honor matron. Margaret Wible, the bridegroom's sister, was bridesmaid.

J. Patrick Doherty of Chicago was Mr. Wible's best man. Walter P. Stern, also of Chicago, ushered.

David Wible and Stephen Milanowski, brothers of the bridal pair, served as junior ushers.

LEFTOVERS IN FREEZER

When you plan to store leftover cooked foods in the freezer, hurry the process. The sooner these foods are frozen after cooking, the better. Home economists at Michigan State University suggest you do not freeze leftover cooked vegetables since they develop off-flavors very rapidly. It is better to store these in the refrigerator and use them within a day or two.

Get Ready For White Christmas Ball

St. John Hospital will benefit from the event being held on December 10 at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. Among those helping prepare the decorations and taking care of other

A pessimist is a driver who thinks he can't but keeps on going anyway.

Both drivers end up as a fatal list.

WSU Professor To Speak Here

Prof. Lawrence Patrick of Wayne State University will speak before the Lake St. Clair Chapter of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers, at 8 p.m. on November 28 at Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lake Shore road.

Professor Patrick will present movies and slides along with verbal discussion dealing with his engineering studies in relation to the human body — its strength, resistance to shock, impact, gravitational forces and the effects of flight.

Professor Patrick has carried on this experimental work in Bio-Mechanics at the Wayne State University Engineering Department under the auspices of the U.S. Air Force.

This work was carried out with the constant advisement of medical doctors and involves the application of engineering analysis to the human body. Many of the experiments have been with the human body, and some animals are used.

The information thus gained is used in the design of protective equipment for flight personnel and in the past has proven valuable for auto traffic safety studies.

SPACE MONKEY PRESENTED TO SMITHSONIAN—Able, one of the monkeys, and the space capsules used in the first successful U.S. launching and recovery of animal life from outer space have been presented to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C. The monkeys, Abel and Baker, were recovered after a 1,500-mile flight in a Jupiter rocket. Able died from causes not induced by the history-making flight. She has been preserved and is mounted in the capsule shown. Examining the display are Dr. Leonard Carmichael (left), Smithsonian secretary, and E. P. Warnken, president of the Cincinnati Test Laboratories.

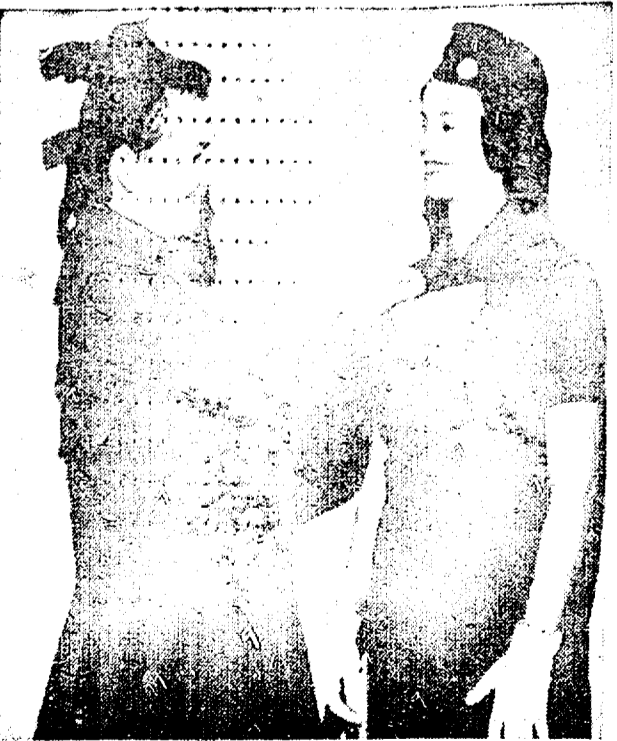

A MERRIER CHRISTMAS IS IN THE CARDS—Christmas greeting cards have come a long way since the first known card (lower left) was designed in 1843 by John Calcott Horsley, R. A., British painter and illustrator, for Sir Henry Cole. In 1846, 1,000 copies were lithographed, hand-colored and sold in London. The Greeting Card Association of New York City says there are nearly 50,000 different kinds of Christmas card designs this year, predicts nearly three billion greetings will be mailed. LOS ANGELES 'RUSH' HOUR—The strike of Metropolitan Transit Authority mechanics caused this mammoth traffic jam during the evening rush hour on Main Street in the downtown area of Los Angeles. Waiting cars were packed solidly for many blocks.

THREE FIREMEN DIE IN 9-ALARM FIRE—Flames leap from one of six buildings burning on lower Broadway in New York City. Three firemen died of suffocation while trapped in the cellar of this 5-story loft building. Six others were injured. The spectacular, 9-alarm fire raged out of control for nearly eight hours. About 100 policemen guarded the area while 350 firemen battled the flames with 54 pieces of firefighting equipment.

Mich. Dept. of Conservation
Emerging from his underwater home, Mr. Muskrat probably senses there are better places to be than in his favorite marshlands at this time of the year. It doesn't take any usual intuition for him to figure this out, not with trappers busy setting and checking trap lines around him. As No. 1 furbearer on the Michigan trappers' "wanted list" which currently includes mink and raccoons, he'll be doing his own version of the "muskrat ramble" to escape their sets in the weeks ahead. The state's three-in-one season runs Oct. 25-Dec. 31 above the Straits, Nov. 10-Jan. 15 in the northern lower peninsula, and Nov. 25-Jan. 31 in the southern lower peninsula. In 1959, trappers took 230,000 'rats. Still and all, these furbearers remain under-harvested in most areas.

WANTED—Described as a ruthless, dangerous killer who had vowed he never will be taken alive, John E. Everhart has been added to the FBI's list of "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives." Everhart, who reportedly spends much time sketching Biblical scenes and who may be masquerading as a preacher, is wanted on the basis of a federal warrant issued in Athens, Ga., in 1958. He is accused of fleeing the state of Georgia unlawfully to avoid confinement after conviction for murder.

Helps Her Dad; Helps Melt Ice

Little Sally Smith of Racine, Wis., daughter of the H. A. Smiths, and whose father is a calcium chloride field engineer is one of her dad's best "salesmen." Here (left) she goes to work sprinkling some calcium chloride on the walk in front of their Racine home. It gets plenty cold in Racine, which is right on Lake Michigan and in winter snow piles high, later turns to ice. Removing ice is no easy matter but it can be if you have some calcium chloride handy. Picture at right shows walk after Sally has done her job. Calcium chloride will do the same on any walk or driveway. It's good for melting ice in a hurry and eliminates back breaking work as it can be shoveled off as flush to make the sidewalk dry and safe.

Two teenage boys get it big from fire hoses, and screaming girl is carried off by police.

NEW ORLEANS AROUSED—Police link hand-to-hand to hold back a packed anti-integration throng near the New Orleans, La., School Board offices. It took fire hoses and a flying wedge of police on motorcycles to disperse them. Teenagers predominate in crowd.

'THE KING IS DEAD . . .'—Clark Gable, who died in Hollywood at 59, is shown with his wife Kay in a photo made this year, and with Marilyn Monroe just after they finished "The Misfits" a few days before a heart attack felled "The King." He was looking forward to birth of his first child early next year.

Girl Scout News

Girl Scouts in Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods are presenting a booklet containing 100 year old 'recipes' and cooking hints to the home economics departments in all Junior and Senior High Schools in this area.

The booklet, entitled "Centennial Recipe Book", was compiled this year in honor of the 100th birthday anniversary of Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouting in this country. It is made up of recipes used by Mrs. Low when she was a young girl.

Although it is not expected that many of the recipes will be used as such, they do make an interesting contrast between both methods and ingredients used today and a century ago. Among the interesting recipes is one for turtle soup, which warns the reader to be sure to kill the turtle before 7:30 a.m. Others include directions for making moonshine (a non-alcoholic dessert) and peach leather.

Schools receiving the books from the Girl Scouts include: Harper Woods Junior and Senior High Schools; Grosse Pointe High; Parcels, Pierce, and Brownell Junior High; Academy of Sacred Heart; St. Paul's High School, Our Lady Star of Sea, Queen of Peace, and St. Clare Schools.

Senior Mounted Patrol Scout Troops (821 and 1427) are planning a Hobby Show to be held in the recreation room at Parcels Junior High on Tuesday, Nov. 11, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. In addition to the show there will be a ceremony at which the Scouts will receive their Five Point and Senior Pins.

Two 4th grade Brownie troops and three Intermediate Girl Scout Troops from Kerby School combined forces recently for a large successful hayride party. Including leaders and driving mothers and fathers, a total of 118 trekked out to Rochester for lunch and the hayride. The party was organized by sixth grade troop No. 305 with Mrs. Fred Altman, leader, and Mrs. Donald Wicke and Mrs. Howard Krieger, co-leaders.

Girl Scouts from Our Lady Queen of Peace and Our Lady Star of Sea will have a ball at a "Harvest Fun" get-together next Monday evening, November 14, in the club room at Star of Sea. An exciting evening of square dancing, with Dave Taylor calling, has been planned for the 100 girls and leaders who will attend from three intermediate and one junior high troop.

Kappa Alpha Theta Grads Meet Nov. 30 Detroit Alumnae Group I of Kappa Alpha Theta will meet Wednesday, November 30, at the home of Mrs. Paul G. Hykes, Rivard boulevard.

Mrs. Clarence L. Fox, a member, will talk on volunteer work in the Children's Aid Society.

Not being able to go down the road of expediency on the League proposal, I made the following statement to them before the August primary.

"Our Constitution needs revision by convention. There are too many interrelated areas of possible constructive change to be accomplished by uncoordinated piecemeal amendment. Some are: election on appointment of officials; administrative reorganization, four-year terms, civil service, judicial selection, restrictions on taxing and spending power, fiscal controls, 15-mill limit and local government, particularly county government.

"Reform should not be imposed on the majority by a minority. A process as far reaching as this should be undertaken only when a majority of Michigan voters affirmatively want it.

"Delegates to a constitutional convention should be elected and the final document submitted for approval at general elections to lessen the voice of organized and highly financial minorities seeking changes in basic American concepts. The current proposal puts expediency ahead of these safeguards."

This was circulated throughout Grosse Pointe, a service for which the League is to be highly commended.

In the America we hope to preserve it is still improper to pursue the noblest of ends by improper means. In my opinion special elections are improper in a project so important to us all.

Robert E. Waldron State Representative

Dear Editor: I was distressed to see your editorial column carry on a smear campaign against Mrs. G. Sam Zilly apparently because she had the temerity to speak out against Res. No. 3 (Con-Con). Many Republicans and Democrats alike in this area took similar stands and were not included in your article.

Many voters thought they were voting for a constitutional convention when they voted on November 8 and now find out that they do not vote on that issue until April 1961. Now they ask, "What did I vote for?" The polls were very crowded and many did not take time to read the resolution.

It was not hard to have a non-partisan approach on this issue because members of both parties did not agree on all issues. Labor apparently was split on the issue, too. The November 11 issue of "The Building Tradesman" carried this headline, "Blgd. Trades Score Victory on 'Con-Con' and the article states as follows: "In addition to the success of its own slate, the DBTC (Detroit Building Trades Council) won a 'personal' victory when the voters approved the calling of a state constitutional convention (con-con) by a wide margin." The same article goes on to say "The DBTC had not only helped con-con win a place on the ballot, but the building trades sent out scores of poll workers in its support." Is not the above council a part of the Mich. AFL-CIO and should not this be checked too?

"Delegates to a constitutional convention should be elected and the final document submitted for approval at general elections to lessen the voice of organized and highly financial minorities seeking changes in basic American concepts. The current proposal puts expediency ahead of these safeguards."

This was circulated throughout Grosse Pointe, a service for which the League is to be highly commended.

In the America we hope to preserve it is still improper to pursue the noblest of ends by improper means. In my opinion special elections are improper in a project so important to us all.

Dear Editor: I was distressed to see your editorial column carry on a smear campaign against Mrs. G. Sam Zilly apparently because she had the temerity to speak out against Res. No. 3 (Con-Con). Many Republicans and Democrats alike in this area took similar stands and were not included in your article.

Many voters thought they were voting for a constitutional convention when they voted on November 8 and now find out that they do not vote on that issue until April 1961. Now they ask, "What did I vote for?" The polls were very crowded and many did not take time to read the resolution.

It was not hard to have a non-partisan approach on this issue because members of both parties did not agree on all issues. Labor apparently was split on the issue, too. The November 11 issue of "The Building Tradesman" carried this headline, "Blgd. Trades Score Victory on 'Con-Con' and the article states as follows: "In addition to the success of its own slate, the DBTC (Detroit Building Trades Council) won a 'personal' victory when the voters approved the calling of a state constitutional convention (con-con) by a wide margin." The same article goes on to say "The DBTC had not only helped con-con win a place on the ballot, but the building trades sent out scores of poll workers in its support." Is not the above council a part of the Mich. AFL-CIO and should not this be checked too?

(Continued from Page 12) H.J.R. "S" on March 21, 1960, which used the same apportionment as the League's proposal but decided the question of whether or not to have a Con-Con on November 8 and elected delegates at the General Spring Election in 1961. This failed.

Not being able to go down the road of expediency on the League proposal, I made the following statement to them before the August primary.

"Our Constitution needs revision by convention. There are too many interrelated areas of possible constructive change to be accomplished by uncoordinated piecemeal amendment. Some are: election on appointment of officials; administrative reorganization, four-year terms, civil service, judicial selection, restrictions on taxing and spending power, fiscal controls, 15-mill limit and local government, particularly county government.

"Reform should not be imposed on the majority by a minority. A process as far reaching as this should be undertaken only when a majority of Michigan voters affirmatively want it.

"Delegates to a constitutional convention should be elected and the final document submitted for approval at general elections to lessen the voice of organized and highly financial minorities seeking changes in basic American concepts. The current proposal puts expediency ahead of these safeguards."

This was circulated throughout Grosse Pointe, a service for which the League is to be highly commended.

When the POINTE was growing up...

By Pat Talbot

Farming founded the Beupre family fortunes but golfing increased it. Eugene Beupre was rather a late comer to the Pointe's French colony, arriving here from Quebec in 1865, but he quickly made up the 100 year gap between his arrival and that of such pioneers as the Rivards and the Trombleys.

He married Catherine Trombley and settled on a huge tract of land which ran from Lake St. Clair to Harper Avenue, in the vicinity of Ridgemont road. His sons Albert, who lives in a brick home in Kerby road, and Michael were the Beupres who developed golf courses.

Albert, educated in Grosse Pointe schools, early began working to develop the streets of his home town, one of which bears the family name. He served as Highway Commissioner for the Farms from 1910-1920 and then turned his attention to real estate, buying and building homes. He joined with his brother in the development of Plum Hollow Golf course. In 1903 he married Catherine Beaufait, daughter of another pioneer French family, and the couple had nine children, all of them reputed to be excellent golfers.

His brother Michael Beupre began as a farmer on the family acres and then he too went into contracting and building. He served as supervisor and township clerk and then with Louis A. Moran he built the Ridgemont golf course, later turning his attention to Plum Hollow.

Michael Beupre also married a native Pointer, Lydia Cox, and they had ten children. The eldest, Ralph, began a hardware store. Another child, Evelyn allied the family with the Gouins, whose ancestors owned land here before the Revolution. There are still Gouins living in St. Clair Avenue.

Another son, Edwin, became a fireman, but the Beupre, probably best known, is Harold, of the Farms Police Department. Harold was instrumental in capturing the "cat burglar" the notorious thief who broke into many of the Pointe's most lavish homes about seven years ago.

Beupres still own land from the original grant that Eugene held in 1865. Harold makes his home in Ridgemont road, and there are Beupres as far north as Oxford road and as far south as Dearborn.

It's Thanksgiving Day... with young and old returning to parental manses to share the holidays... and we just can't help wondering how one local set of grandparents solved their particular problem.

We mention not the name... but this devoted grandpa purchased one of those handsome surreys to entertain his ten assorted grandchildren when they arrived for the Big Day... proceeded to assemble same in the basement according to directions... AND found himself confronted with one king-size question: how to get the conveyance out of the basement since its measurements now exceeded the inches which the door frame would allow?

"The Siege", one of the TV series of "Have Gun—Will Travel," should have more significance for Pointers if they know that Bernard Yuncck 15, former Grosse Pointe Woods resident, appears therein. The son of the Bernard Yunccks II, now of Mesa, Ariz., has his first speaking lines portraying the son of an irate citizen, in the popular television program which stars Richard Boone.

Some of the best-looking of milady's costumes in the Pointe these days are so simply elegant that they don't lend themselves to descriptions. However...

Mrs. Clarence Johnston is stunning in black wool skirt, short jacket of black broadtail with blouse of black and white striped taffeta and wide cuffs of taffeta showing below the jacket's three quarter sleeves.

Mrs. C. A. Pennell, who always looks as though she had just stepped from the proverbial "bandbox", was at a recent fete wearing a navy sheer wool crepe, long sleeved and very slim skirted with a narrow band of matching tie silk outlining the rolled collar.

Mrs. Troy Maschmeyer's dress was a grey satin sheath with silver and pastel brocade flowers. Below the narrow high collar was a grey satin bib with crystal buttons.

PILFERINGS

A government worker sat at the table after breakfast one morning, engrossed in his newspaper for over an hour. Finally he asked for another cup of coffee. "Coffee!" echoed his wife. "But look at the time. Aren't you going to the office today?"

"Office?" exclaimed the startled man. "Heavens! I thought I was at the office."

"When I got home last night," the young husband related, "my wife greeted me with a big kiss. She had a wonderful dinner ready, and afterward she wouldn't let me help her with the dishes but made me sit in the living room and read the paper."

The old married man sighed. "And how did you like her new outfit?" he asked.

A Labor Undersecretary once reported, "My first speech was made to a group of South Dakota farmers. I had a carefully memorized talk, and delivered it in my best public-speaking-class style. After it was all over, I asked one of the farmers what he had thought of it.

"Well," he said, "it wasn't too bad. But a half-hour rain would have done a damn sight more good."

Gentleman farmer: One with more hay in the bank than in the barn.

"Pull over, Buster," bawled the motorcycle cop to the motorist. "You haven't got a taillight."

The driver stopped, got out, and examined the back of his car. He looked so positively horrified that the policeman was actually moved to sympathy. "I'll have to give you a ticket, of course," he said in softer tones. "It's bad mister, but not all that bad."

"It's not my taillight I'm thinking of," exclaimed the motorist as he gradually recovered his voice. "What on earth's happen to my trailer?"

JEAN MIZER OF COUNTRY CLUB DRIVE

By Kitty Marriott

They call themselves simply "Future Nurses of America", and the collective work they handle would do any adult proud. They are high school lasses eyeing medical careers, getting first-hand knowledge of their prospective field and doing a service to their community at the same time.

Currently, they are the 55-member Future Nurses Club of Grosse Pointe High who serve as volunteer aides at Cottage Hospital. This unit of the national club, in its tenth year at the high school, last year accounted for 2,800 volunteer hours at the hospital.

Senior Jean Mizer is a typical hard-working Future Nurse. She wears proudly a heart-shaped gold medal on a chain with the inscription "Honor Award 1960—Women's Auxiliary of Cottage Hospital." Jean, who is about 20 hours shy of receiving her 300-hour stripe, was surprised at the June tea last year to find herself recipient of the second annual award presented by the auxiliary to the most outstanding club member.

Initial member of the award in June, 1959, was Susan Orr, daughter of the Robert Orrs of Village Lane, who is now in nurses' training at Deaconess Hospital.

Hospital Service Jean, who expects to go into nursing or an allied field, began her club career by assisting the nurse in the school clinic for one period each day, then serving as club treasurer and summer chairman in 1959.

Summer chairman isn't a "fun in the sun" job either. The aides work six days a week in the summertime from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., excluding Sundays, and the chairman sees to it that five girls are on duty each day.

During the school year the aides follow the same schedule at the hospital on Saturdays and holidays. Since many of the club members have part-time jobs, it takes a heap of doing to keep their hospital project staffed.

Club Sponsors Co-sponsors of the Future Nurses Club are the High School, represented by Miss Viola Elson, school nurse, and the Women's Auxiliary to Cottage Hospital. Mrs. John C. Purcell, volunteer guild chairman, is the auxiliary's representative to the club.

Club members have been volunteer aides at the hospital for about 5 years. Members of the auxiliary are always on duty with them, so Mrs. Robert Howard, chairman of Saturday workers, is one of their favorite people.

Each girl receives 20 hours training from another aide who has served at least 50 hours. Last summer 35 girls were trained as volunteer aides; that project alone represents 1,400 hours work, since another aide or auxiliary member was on duty with each novice for the initial 20 hours.

Hospital Duties What do the aides do at Cottage Hospital? Well, explains Miss Mizer, they deliver mail, escort patients to X-ray, take prescriptions to the pharmacy, take discharges to elevators in wheelchairs, give fresh water to patients, take requisitions to central supply, work in the records room and do any number of similar errands.

The maternity wing of the 103-bed hospital is one of their favorite places. Here, they have such tasks as counting infant clothing supplies for the day, recording weights and temperatures and delivering baby photos to happy mamas.

Variety of Projects Cottage is their main project, the girls agree, but somehow they also find time to make holiday favors for and visit patients in the Brooks Convalescent Home, serve as foster parents to 10-year-old "Pat" at Lapeer State Home and Training School by mailing her cards at requested holidays, and sending Christmas gifts to two other youngsters at Lapeer.

They hope to repeat last year's money-raising project, a spring bake sale at Penneys, 7 Mile and Mack. On the side, they assist at such community enterprises as blood banks and polio clinics.

Induction Service The Future Nurses hold bi-monthly Wednesday meetings after school. Last Wednesday night marked their annual candlelight induction service for new members held in Christ Church.

Meetings find them listening to such speakers as surgical nurses, occupational therapists, student nurses, X-ray technicians, and speech correctionists.

HOLIDAY SALAD

Contributed by Mrs. Thomas Cusack

- 2 c. fresh cranberries
- 1 1/2 c. sugar
- 1 thick-skinned California orange
- 1 pkg. raspberry jello
- 1/2 c. water
- 1/2 c. chopped celery
- 6 chopped walnuts

Preparation: cook sugar in water until completely dissolved; dissolve jello in this liquid. Set aside.

Wash and drain cranberries. Put cranberries and cut up orange including rind through food chopper, using medium coarse blade.

Add this to jello mixture along with celery and walnuts. Pour into square or oblong mold and chill. Cut into 8 portions for serving.

This is an excellent recipe to prepare several days ahead of time and store in refrigerator.

Invite Newcomers

While club members belong to 10th, 11th and 12th grades, in recent years they have invited junior high graduates to join them for work at Cottage Hospital in the summer and then continue on with the Future Nurses at the high school.

One of Jean's favorite hobbies is attending open house at the nursing schools in and around the area. Here, she gets a firsthand view of what she may expect if she enrolls.

Jean, however, is being pressured by her sister Nancy, a sophomore at Central Michigan University, to join her on the Mt. Pleasant campus. They are daughters of the Donald E. Mizers.

Work Appreciated

While the Future Nurses feel that work at Cottage Hospital is first-hand experience and a great help to them, the Women's Auxiliary to Cottage Hospital more than matches their enthusiasm.

"They are so responsible, loyal, dependable that they present a picture close to home of young people busy doing worthwhile things," says Auxiliary President Mrs. Sidney H. Morgan. "They do a tremendous job."

And to this, the Grosse Pointe community including the hundreds of patients whom the pert young lasses have served, add an enthusiastic "Amen!"
