MICHIGAN'S FALL ELECTION promises a neck-and-neck gubernatorial contest, with George Romney pitted against incumbent Governor John B. Swainson. According to the results of last Tuesday's primary, the Democrats, for the first time in several years, have a real battle on their hands. The Republicans gave Romney, running unopposed, 446,398 votes. Swainson, also unopposed, received 318,396 ballots.

In Wayne County, Democratic voters ousted six of their incumbent legislators. This almost unheard-of event is considered highly significant, as veteran politicians can remember only one other instance of a Democratic incumbent losing a Wayne County primary race since the legislators allowed themselves "incumbent" designations on the ballot.

In outstate counties, Republican voters kicked six of their veteran lawmakers out of office, and many other incumbents, both Democratic and Republican, were re-elected by surprisingly narrow margins. Although Romney received considerably more votes than Swainson, his (Romney's) victory margin is impressive only because the Democratic vote was light. Swainson chalked up a mere 175,000 ballots in Wayne County, smallest total for a Democratic gubernatorial candidate in a primary election since 1946. Romney's Wayne County total was 95,000. Two years ago, 91,000 Wayne County voters cast their ballots for Republican Paul Bagwell. Outstate, Bagwell captured 389,000 votes in the 1960 primary; this year, Romney's outstate vote was 350,000. All things considered, this fall election promises to be one of the most exciting Michigan contests in years, with even professional politicians hedging on outright predictions as to the winner.

Friday, August 10
AN EMERGENCY PUBLIC WORKS BILL, now pending before the Federal House of Representatives, is expected, it is passed, to bring thousands of jobs to Michigan workers. Detroit would derive the largest benefit from the relief measure, designed to include the entire metropolitan area from Port Huron to Monroe and 35 other Michigan counties as well as 13 other Michigan cities. Eligible cities are Adrian, Bay City, Escanaba, Marquette, Traverse City, Battle Creek, Muskegon, Holland-Grand Haven, Ionia-Belding-Greenville, Iron Mountain, Jackson, Mt. Pleasant and Sturgis. The emergency bill, at maximum could authorize 12,500 jobs, directly and indirectly, within the State, provided Michigan matches some $90 million in Federal funds.

The House Rules Committee, by a vote of 8 to 6 under an open rule permitting amendments, sent the bill to the floor yesterday, and debate is expected to begin some time next week. In its present form, the measure gives the President authority to spend up to $900 million on public works in high-unemployment areas, with not more than 10 percent of the entire appropriation ending up in any one state. One-third of the funds would be earmarked for rural areas only, and all projects must be located in distressed labor surplus areas.

The bill provides for establishment of a new Federal agency to direct future public works planning, establish Federal aid grant priorities, and help small cities and rural areas in long-range planning projects. The House Committee vetoed a similar Senate-passed bill giving the President stand-by powers to invoke a huge public works program as an anti-recession measure, but efforts to restore this stand-by provision may be made during floor debate.

Will Reduce School Taxes Once Again

Board of Education Sets Rate for Coming Year at 1.45 Mills Below Present Level

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education acted to formally set the tax rate and tax levy for the 1962-63 school year at its regular monthly meeting Monday. For the second year in a row taxpayers received the good news that rates and levies for school purposes would be lower for the coming year.

Tax rates for the Grosse Pointe School District will be reduced 1.45 mills ($1.45 per thousand of valuation), a decrease which will show up in the tax bills to be sent householders next December. Coupled with a decrease of .61 mills a year ago, tax rates will be more than 2 mills lower than they were in December, 1960. Thus, homes valued for tax purposes at $13,000, approximately the average for the district, will be taxed about $26 less this year than then.

The total tax levy for school purposes to be raised locally in the current year will be $5,360,854.38. This is $291,873.94 under the 1961 levy which totalled $5,655,252.00 and $318,462.72 less than the 1960 levy which was $5,679,317.09.

Farms-City Fishing Rodeo Scheduled for September 1

The young people of Grosse Pointe Farms and Grosse Pointe City are again, as in the past, looking through tackle boxes, rummaging through closets, and asking Dad for a few extra cents, so they may be ready for the Grosse Pointe Boys' and Girls' Eighth Annual Fishing Rodeo.

The Rodeo is sponsored jointly by the Farms and City for their residents under the age of 17. The starting gun will go off at 8:30 on Saturday, September 1.

All contestant's must report to their own park at 8 a.m. on September 1 and they will be transported to the Farms Pier. Everyone will receive a prize at the award ceremonies

Public Schools Provide Facilities for Enjoyment For Many Besides Students

Use of Buildings by Groups and Private Citizens Increase Every Year; Rentals Last Year Reached Total of $18,000

Schools don't always close at 4 p.m. Neither are they unused week ends or during summer months. In many ways, Grosse Pointers are utilizing their schools and play grounds from early morning to late at night most days of the year.

Recent reports of school authorities reveal that many individuals and groups make extensive use of public school buildings and facilities in "after-school" hours throughout the year. Annual summaries of such activities show that more than 70 organizations and thousands of individuals used the schools nearly 16,000 hours during the 1961-62 school year.

The reports indicate that such community usage has grown steadily each year. Last year's total was just under 15,000 hours. Five years ago the number of hours usage totalled approximately 10,000 hours. Scouts, churches, musical organizations, square dance clubs and civic organizations are examples of the groups using the facilities.

Some Pay Rent

Only groups made up largely of residents are eligible to use the schools for the many activities carried on evenings and week ends. Some are charged a rental fee, such fees totaling in excess of $18,000 this year. This covers overtime labor costs, lights, heat, water and other costs incurred as result of the use.

The community swimming program operated by the Grosse Pointe Public School System in the school pools served 11,076 individuals during the 1961-62 school year. Of this number, 2,832 were in school-age classes, 254 were enrolled in Adult classes, and the balance participated in the Family Night and Family Open Swimming offerings.

In addition to the above, school officials reported several local parochial high schools made extensive use of the pools. St. Paul, Austin, and Star of the Sea used the Public School pools from early November until April 15 for their swimming teams. The Grosse Pointe Area of the Boy Scouts of America also used the pool facilities from October through May. A total of about 200 individuals involved in the above institutions' programs used the pools each week.

Many Adult Swimmers

Family Night and Open swimming opportunities were offered weekly, the former in all three junior high school pools. Total attendance was 7,990 per (Continued on Page 3)

Nab Youngsters With BB Guns

Two Pointe youngsters were arrested by Farms police on Thursday, August 9, for shooting BB guns.

Officers picked up the boys at Cloverly and Ridge after receiving a complaint call. Their pistols were concealed in their clothing and belonged to one of the boys' father.

Louis Goudreau, 590 Parkview, and gardener for the Skelton family, 273 Ridge, saw the boys shooting on the grounds.

The Farms officers turned the case over to their detective bureau. Both boys were sent home and their parents were notified.

Get Schools In Shape for New Season

Comprehensive Program of Renovation and Rehabilitation Carried Out During Summer

A comprehensive program of renovation and rehabilitation has become a summer tradition in the Grosse Pointe Schools. This year is no exception as efforts are continued to improve, repair, revamp, replace and otherwise make ready the entire school plant for another year of hard use.

J. Harold Husband, director of administrative services has submitted an extensive list of the projects completed, now under way, or scheduled to be done before school opens September 4.

Improvements to playgrounds such as enlarging slag covered areas or blacktopping them, constructing new recreational facilities such as tether-ball courts and baseball backstops are legion. New sidewalks or repairs to sidewalks are extensive. Tuck-pointing of masonry and painting as needed are other outside projects.

Within the buildings the whole gamut of trades and crafts to upgrade facilities is being carried on. New recreational outlets, revamped science rooms, sanded desk-tops and gym floors, new fire doors where needed, formica tops on counters, sanding of blackboards, painting, washing, glazing, new clocks, exhaust fans, acoustic tile, cleansing of tile, and terrazzo, partitioning space for new uses, installation of water and sinks in older classrooms, audio-visual drapes where needed, replacement of a boiler at Mason School, and a multitude of other endeavors all suggest that the classrooms and facilities will be even better equipped this fall to do the job of educating.

The whole program speaks well for the philosophy of the Board and its oft-expressed intent to provide the best possible educational opportunity in cars for the youth of Grosse Pointe.

DIDN'T GET MESSAGE

Woods police impounded a '53 Plymouth owned by John Edward Therssen, 21650 Gascony, East Detroit, early Saturday morning, August 11, when the car was observed travelling east on Mack with no visible tail lights. Therssen had been stopped three days previously, when he received a ticket for the identical violation. The car was held until Therssen had the tail lights fixed later in the day.

Republican Voters Heed Romney Plea To Replace Durant

Action Committee Candidates Sweep Precinct Delegate Field with Vice-Chairman of District Organization Soundly Beaten by Waldron

14th District Republicans placed themselves squarely behind George Romney in the Tuesday, August 7, primary election, as Republican Action Committee candidates swept the precinct delegate field, ousting ultra-conservative Richard Durant and his supporters in a district-wide drive.

Romney and Durant clashed publicly at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial on Saturday, July 28. "If the delegates reject this man," said Romney, referring to Durant, a "proud" member of the John Birch Society, "or delegate to him the responsibility of leadership, then you will have repudiated me."

Prior to his breakfast speech at the War Memorial, Romney had asked Durant privately to resign. The conservative District vice-chairman, admitted "power behind the throne," occupied by figurehead chairman Stanley J. Baldwin, refused.

Made Public Attack

Romney then attacked Durant publicly, stating that he was "not prepared to become identified in any way with Welchism." Robert Welch is the founder of the John Birch Society.

Organized 14th District opposition to Durant began some two months ago, with the founding of the Republican Action Committee. Several prominent Republicans, dissatisfied with "far right" control of the district's GOP organization, banded together to oppose Durant and project a new "liberal" Republican image to district voters.

According to chairman Charles H. King, 125 Action Committee precinct delegates, were elected in the primary, as opposed to only 50 Durant delegates. The Committee has been working throughout the past week, contacting 125 delegates, (from that portion of East Detroit included in the 14th District), who are, as yet, uncommitted.

Confident of Victory

More than 150 votes are needed to control the 306-precinct district, but King is "certain" his group will come up with the necessary majority.

Action Committee candidate for convention chairman is State Rep. Robert Waldron, who beat Durant 460 to 147 in a home district face-to-face contest. The delegates met last night to elect district officers, but the meeting was too late to be covered in this week's NEWS.

Among Action Committee members elected precinct delegates from the 14th District are such prominent citizens as Wilbur M. Brucker, ex-governor and Secretary of the Army under Eisenhower; John Feikens, former Federal Judge and a past GOP state chairman; Charles King, dean of the Detroit College of Law and an Eisenhower appointee to the Federal Communications Commission; and Mrs. Edith Bagwell, whose husband, Paul, twice ran for governor on the Republican ticket.

Police Seek Armed Pair Who Threatened Youths

Two Pointe youths were threatened by criminals wanted by the Detroit police as they were leaving the Dairy Queen, Marseilles and E. Warren, on Thursday evening, August 9.

The boys phoned Farms police to inform them of the incident when they reached the corner of Moran and Mack. They said the men were carrying guns and they had fairly good descriptions of them and their car.

One man carried a blue automatic pistol, was about 6 foot 3 inches tall, had dark hair and wore a white shirt and shorts.

The other was dark and shorter, about 5 feet 8 inches tall, and carried a small gun in the palm of his hand.

Their car was a '61 or '62 black Corvair, lic. MN 8864.

Detroit police are looking for a car answering to this description. The men are armed and have a Detroit Police radio in their car. They are wanted for several breakings and enterings.

The youths were turned over to Detroit police for further questioning.

BIKE STOLEN AT CLUB

Robert Ottaway, 348 Touraine, phoned Farms police on Friday, August 10, to report that his son's bike was stolen from the Country Club of Detroit between noon and 5:30 p.m. the day before. Police picked up the bike, a boy's 26-inch black racer Schwinn, on Sunday, August 12, on Grosse Pointe boulevard west of Hendrie.

At a special meeting held on Wednesday, August 1, the Farms council approved partial payments on three projects and full payment for a truck chassis.

Floris DeMeulenaere received $6,800, of which $4,000 is for work completed to date on the repair of catch basins and manholes, and $2,800 for work done so far on the repair of and replacement of curbs and sidewalks.

Thomas McCully Asphalt company partially completed its contract on the sealing of public streets and was paid the sum of $9,000, with the balance of $1,887.68 to be paid when the work is finished.

GMC Truck and Coach Division of General Motors Corporation was paid $5,167.83, as payment in full for delivery of a 28,000 G. V. W. truck chassis which was ordered last May 8, for the Department of Public Works.

A rubbish packer unit will be removed from an old chassis and mounted on the new one. City Engineer Murray M. Smith said the new chassis met the specifications of the city and recommended the payment.

Young Scientists Achieve Success

PAUL GRAHAM, left and ELLIOTT BLANK keep close rein on the Ground Effects Machine they built, so it will not move while in its idling position, hovering an inch or so above the ground.

Bright young men, new ideas and experimentation just seem to go together, and when two such young men get together, a new project is almost always in the making.

This is what happened when Elliott Blank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland J. Blank, 596 Lakeland, and his friend Paul Graham, 769 Notre Dame, got together to create a physics project for their senior physics class at Grosse Pointe High School.

Having read about the Ground Effects Machine principle, in which generated air pressure is used to raise a craft just off the ground allowing it to ride friction free on a "cushion" of air, the boys decided to build one of their own. First, they tested the theory, which is in some dispute in scientific circles, by mounting a model airplane engine over the cutout bottom of an old salad bowl. The salad bowl craft was an astounding success — it quickly lifted off the floor and hovered just an inch above the surface.

Convinced that they were on the right track, the boys began searching for a design and blower system for their machine. After one or two false starts on plans taken from journals, magazines and friendly engineers, which were either too complicated for their limited engineering experience or too rich for school boy pocketbooks, Elliott and Paul remembered their experience with the old salad bowl, and began designing a model following their own specifications. Using aluminum sheeting, plywood and a discarded lawnmower motor, the boys created their machine much along the lines of the salad bowl shape they had found so feasible. Their main problem was finding a manufacturer who would build a propeller to their exacting specifications.

When the shop work was done, they took it outside for its first test. As they started the motor, the craft rose quickly off the surface and idled just an inch or so off the ground. Blasted at their success, the boys elated at their craft, they found an even greater delight—the craft weighed almost 100 pounds and could lift an additional 50 pounds. This meant that their machine was five times more efficient in lifting power than professional engineers predicted it would be.

Flushed with success, the boys plan further experimentation this summer. They hope to reduce the gross weight of the craft to enable it to carry a passenger.

The scientific team of Blank and Graham will split up this fall, when Elliott leaves for Michigan State University in East Lansing to study industrial design and Paul moves to the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor in pursuit of an engineering degree. We wish them good luck—but we have a feeling they won't need it.

The necessities of today were the luxuries of yesterday.

Many Using The Schools

Ferry, Mason, Parcels and Monteith schools. The Farms Little League and Babe Ruth have diamonds on the high school athletic field. Church-league basketball uses many of the school gyms for practice and contests. St. Paul High School uses the high school auditorium-gym for home basketball games and the high school athletic field for other sports. Excellent, two-way cooperation in such usage is a must and what's more, is a reality, school spokesmen state.

Singers Use Auditorium
Symphony and choral groups make good use of the several excellent auditoriums possessed by the public school system. Parochial schools also stage some of their dramatic presentations there. So do other organizations such as the Community Theatre, the Pointe Players and Tuxis Club.

"We are more than pleased to have so many worthwhile activities going on in the schools after the regular school day has ended," Superintendent James W. Bushong stated. "Not only does this make the return on the community's investment in the land and building greater, it also gives us the opportunity to know and work with many who would not otherwise come into contact with the public schools. We hope the trend towards the schools becoming community centers in every sense of the word will continue to develop and grow. It will make Grosse Pointe a still better place to live."

Plea to Push Books Denied

lic Schools" and "Crime and Immorality in the Catholic Church" are highly critical of Roman Catholicism, according to the Catholic church of fostering high educational standards and high crime rates.

Mrs. Cassil charged that library authorities are "definitely favoring the Catholic Church" by their refusal to put the books on the "open" shelves. "We are adults. We should be able to pick our books and read them," the Grosse Pointe housewife said, adding that she is happy her children go to GPUS, not to the public schools, because at GPUS there is "freedom to think."

Now in Library

The books in question are at present in the library, available to anyone who asks for them. They have been placed on the "restricted" list, however, and may be obtained only on request.

Mrs. Cassil offered to provide the library with copies of both books at her own expense, as she felt that every American should read them "for the good of the country." She stated that she received a "silly letter" from Mr. Orr requesting her offer on the grounds the books attacked a specific religion, the reviews on them were not good, and that other libraries in the area did not have copies.

She charged that Mr. Orr turned the books down without ever bothering to read them.

In rebuttal, Grosse Pointe School Superintendent James W. Bushong gave a brief summary of the library's purchasing policy, noting that some 13,000 new books are published each year, and that the Grosse Pointe Public Library buys about 3,000 of these.

Two Guides Used

The library's purchasing decisions are guided by national reviews and by the residents' demands. If there is enough of a demand for a specific book, even though reviews of it have been universally bad, the library will purchase that book. But if, in the opinion of the Board of Education, (which operates the Grosse Pointe Library system) the book is considered offensive or detrimental, it will be placed on the "closed" shelf, as the library refuses to sell or advertise such materials.

Dr. Bushong noted that the books in question were of a type the library usually would not buy, that they were generally not even reviewed, and that those publications which did review them, such as the Protestant "Christian Century," generally gave them bad reviews.

In conclusion, Bushong stated: "I did not and do not propose to put these books on the open shelf (as it is not my intention to sell or advertise materials which would be most offensive to approximately half of the taxpayers in the school district."

He added that the books are available and are catalogued, and that a citizen has only to ask for them.

Presents Petition

Mrs. Cassil presented a petition, with 75 signatures, asking that McLoughlin's books be placed on the open shelves. Bushong stated that he had already had calls from three of those who signed, requesting that their names be removed from the list, and remarked that it is easy to get people to sign a petition.

Mrs. Cassil objected, stating that she had spent hours on the phone trying to get signatures.

"That," Bushong said with a smile, "is precisely the point I was trying to make."

The Rev. Paul Downie, 1835 Norwood, an Episcopal clergyman, disputed Mrs. Cassil's conclusions, stating that "Crime and Immorality in the Catholic Church" was "filled with inaccuracies, distortions, half-truths, and a good deal of what I would describe as rather lurid pornography." He charged the book, written in a highly emotional tone, "could only have the effect of 'stirring up religious animosity in this community.'"

Another Episcopal clergyman, Rev. Whitaker, Dean of Faculty of the Episcopal School of Theology, Diocese of Michigan, noted that the books were "written obviously by a man very much disaffected with his former church."

Comments Decision

"In my own opinion," Rev. Whitaker said, "they are hardly worth the paper they're written on." Rev. Whitaker observed that the concept of "freedom" carries with it the obligation of "responsibility," including responsible purchasing and handling policies. He commended the Superintendent and the Library Board on their "common sense."

The Board of Education voted unanimously to issue a formal denial. Mrs. Cassil's "censorship" charge and a resolution supporting the present policy regarding acquisition and display of books in the public library.

Mrs. Cassil, in a statement to this reporter immediately following the meeting, revealed no specific plans for carrying the matter further. "We will wait and see what happens," she said. "I still feel there is censorship and favoritism in the library."

Referring to Rev. Downie's description of "Crime and Immorality in the Catholic Church," she remarked: "I don't think he (Rev. Downie) and I read the same book."

Angry at Board

On Tuesday morning Mrs. Cassil telephoned the NEWS office. She stated that she had spoken from her heart, and that the basic question is one of censorship, not religion.

"I do not think it was fair the way the Board of Education closed the meeting and no one had a chance to refute either Whitaker or Downie," she complained, adding that she and several others had their hands raised, requesting permission to speak, when the Board suddenly declared the meeting at an end.

Mrs. Cassil also mentioned that Emmett McLoughlin is scheduled to speak in Detroit on October 23. She was not sure precisely where he would appear, but predicted a large turnout.

Driver Tagged For Violations

Charles L. Boykins, 58, of 3939 Twelfth street, Detroit, was arrested by Shores police Tuesday evening, August 7, and charged with two counts of traffic violation.

He was arrested at Lake Shore road and Deeplands by Patrolman Chester Painter, who observed that Boykins was driving a panel truck with the license plate attached to the roof, and no rear lights.

When Boykins could not produce an operator's license, Painter took him to the station, with the assistance of Patrolman Gordon Swartz. Enroute, Boykins told Painter that he had left his license at home.

At the station, a teletype was sent to Lansing to confirm whether the man did have a license. Before the reply was received, Boykins admitted that his license had been revoked because of a bad driving record.

Painter gave the man a ticket for improperly displaying a rear license plate and no plate light, and another ticket for driving while his license was revoked.

Boykins was released after posting a bond of $100, pending a court appearance on August 27 before Judge John Gillis.

Tries to Crash Party in Truck

A young man who attempted to crash the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's Junior Showboat Party last Friday evening, August 10, received a ticket for driving without a license, obtained a driver's license, following a hit-and-run complaint from GPYC gateman B. T. Morrow.

The youth, 16, and two teenage companions, arrived at the club in a 1955 Dodge dump truck, were refused admittance, and left the premises, driving rather erratically. On their way out to Lakeshore, the driver rammed his vehicle against a light pole, one of several lining the club's driveway.

Morrow observed the collision and called Shores police, who issued an all-car alert for the vehicle, last seen going south on Lakeshore.

A few minutes later Farms Patrolmen W. Elworthy and Earl Field observed the truck traveling south on Chalfonte in the Farms. They stopped it, questioned the driver, and returned truck and occupants to the Shores.

Although the GPYC light pole was found undamaged, it was discovered that the young driver had never bothered to obtain a driver's license. He was turned over to Farms police for further disciplinary action, and eventually released to his mother. The dump truck was impounded.

Police Arrest Bail Jumper

An accused dope addict, charged by Woods police for an attempted burglary of a doctors' clinic, forfeited a bond of $1,000 when he failed to appear in court on Wednesday, August 8. He was re-arrested when he arrived at the Woods station to give an explanation.

Arrested was Manson C. March, 27, of 3714 Fourteenth, Detroit, who was scheduled to appear before Judge Don Goodrow on August 1, but was granted a postponement to morning of August 8.

When March failed to show up, Judge Goodrow ordered his bond forfeited, and ordered that March be re-arrested and held.

Wednesday evening, March called the station and asked to speak to the judge, and was informed that he would have to come in person. When he arrived at the station, March was taken into custody by Patrolmen Harold Lanstra and Everett Plumb.

Judge Goodrow set another bond of $2,500, and remanded March to the Wayne County Jail until the bond was posted. Somehow, March raised the money and he was released, pending another court date.

March was arrested last July 21 by Woods Police Sgt. Roland Symons and Patrolman Harold Collins, after they received a radio run to the clinic at 2055 Mack avenue. The officers nabbed the man as he was trying to enter the building.

Det. Sgt. Walter O'Dell and Det. Leroy Tobian said that March, a known dope addict and narcotics peddler, might have been trying to get into the building to look for money to buy dope, or perhaps to find some narcotics in one of the five doctors' offices.

Detroit authorities have an outstanding warrant against March on a charge of selling narcotics.

Fifty Years Gives 50 Years To His Church

On Sunday, August 19, the Reverend A. H. A. Loeber will be honored for his full half-century of devoted service to the congregation of Messiah Lutheran Church, corner of Kercheval and Lakewood avenues.

To mark the anniversary, former and present members of Messiah Church will assemble for a special church service at 4 p.m. Following the service, there will be a banquet at Bethany Gymnasium, East Outer Drive and Chatsworth, at 6 p.m.

These 50 years span four generations, and certain to be present on this occasion are some of the great-grandchildren of the first people to whom Reverend Loeber ministered.

Reverend Loeber is the 7th consecutive minister in the Loeber family to serve the Kingdom of God. The first Loeber minister, Reverend Christoph Loeber, was ordained at Goessnitz, Germany, during the year 1659. The fourth Loeber minister, Reverend Gotthold H. Loeber, left Saxony, Germany, with his family in the year 1838 and landed in the United States in 1839. He settled in Perry County, Mo., and was once the little faculty member of the little Altenburg (Mo.) College (forerunner of Concordia Lutheran Seminary in St. Louis).

Reverend A. H. A. Loeber was born on March 18, 1890 in the city of Milwaukee, Wis., the son of the late Reverend Gotthold Loeber (1853-1944) and his wife Bertha Loeber, nee Gast (1863-1951). He was the fourth child in a family of ten children of whom four were boys and six were girls.

Reverend Loeber was baptized in St. Martin Lutheran Church in Milwaukee where his father was the pastor. He attended a parochial school for six years and on April 5, 1903, at the age of 13, he was confirmed. Five months later, in September, 1903, he entered Concordia College in Milwaukee, where he completed the six-year course without missing a single day, graduating in 1909 with a perfect attendance record!

At the age of 19, he left Milwaukee in 1909 and entered the Concordia Lutheran Seminary in St. Louis, Mo. He graduated in June 1912, at the age of 22, with a class of 85 students. He was ordained and installed as pastor of Messiah Lutheran Church in Detroit on August 18, 1912. The service took place in the wooden chapel which was constructed in 1911 on the northeast corner of Kercheval and Hillger Avenues. More than 12 years later, on October 26, 1924, Reverend Loeber preached the first service in the present building at Kercheval and Lakewood Avenues.

On August 2, 1916, in Hilbert, Wis., Reverend Loeber was married to Miss Magdalena Wichmann, the daughter of Reverend Paul and Agnes Wichmann. This marriage has been blessed with one son, five daughters and twenty-four grandchildren.

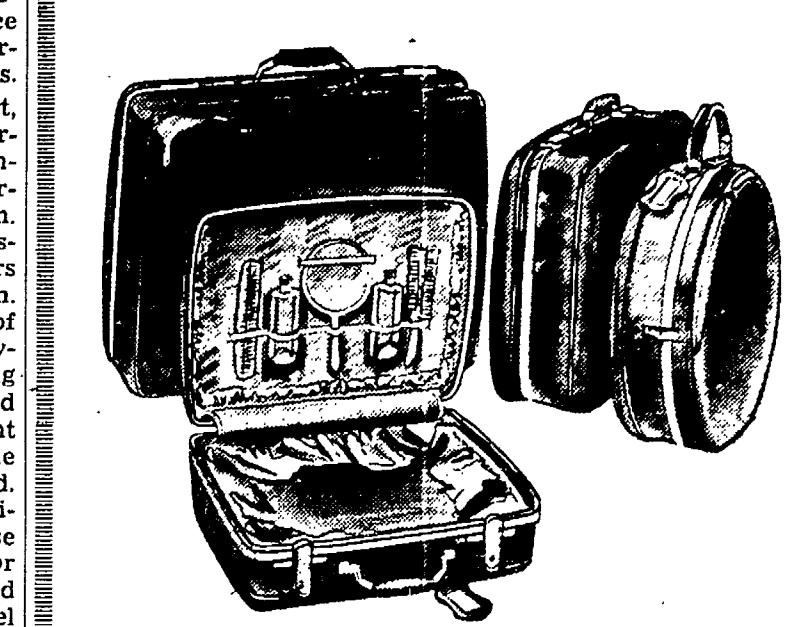

Throughout the 50 years of his continuous ministry, Reverend Loeber has been serving his congregation tirelessly and faithfully, maintaining constant diligence in carrying on the soul-saving work of the Lord. He has been especially conscientious in ministering to those people who have been ill or confined and when their need to hear the comforting Gospel message has been particularly great.

His wife also has given generously of her time and effort toward the work of the congregation during their 46 years of married life. Their combined effort helped Messiah's membership roll increase in number to over 1200 communicant members in 1947. During the past 50 years, Reverend Loeber has performed the following number of official acts: Baptized, 2,938 — Confirmed, 1,702 — Married, 1,180 — Buried, 652.

As he begins his sixth decade in the ministry, the 72-year-old pastor has no intention of retiring or being retired. "God has been good to me in health," he states, "and there is a shortage of ministers."

Toys for Tots Day Proclaimed

Mayor Alonzo C. Allen has proclaimed Saturday, September 8, as Toys for Tots Jamboree Day in the City of Grosse Pointe.

On that day at Edgewater Park, the United States Marine Corps Reserve will kick off its annual national campaign in behalf of needy children.

The park has been bought out for the day by WXYZ-TV and WXYZ-Radio, who are sponsoring the event with the Marines.

Admission to the park will be gained by presenting a new, unwrapped toy at the gate. Then, all rides are free all day and the WXYZ stations will present free shows with television, radio and recording personalities.

Toys collected will be distributed to less fortunate children at Christmas by the Marines through county and city welfare agencies and the Goodfellows.

Soupy Sales, long-time favorite of both children and adults in this area, will headline the shows and serve as master of ceremonies. Other network and motion picture stars will participate.

In addition, WXYZ-TV and WXYZ-Radio talent will be on hand to entertain. Such favorites as Johnny Ginger, Sagebrush Shorty, Ricky the Clown, Rita Bell and Kookie the Kat will perform. Radio personalities Fred Wolf, Joel Sebastian, Paul Winter, Lee Alan and Don Zee will spin records right from the park all day.

The autograph center, a popular feature of last year's Jamboree, will be repeated. This is a special area where fans can meet and mingle with their favorite entertainers as well as sports stars from the Tigers, Lions, Red Wings and Pistons. Officials have announced that the center will be stocked with celebrities throughout the day.

Burglar Robs Radio Station

Ross Mulholland of Radio Station WGR, Mack avenue and Hunt Club road, reported the theft of approximately 60 long-playing classical music records from the station.

He told Woods police that the records were stolen from the station sometime within the past 45 days prior to the discovery of the theft.

The records, valued at more than $130, were in a storage closet in one of the offices, Mulholland said.

Patrolman Norman Handley who was dispatched to the radio station, said that his investigation disclosed the possibility that the molding around the closet door had been pried off with a fine instrument.

Pry marks indicated that the instrument could have been made of thin, strong metal, the officer said.

Det. Sgt. Walter O'Dell and Det. Leroy Tobian have been assigned to investigate the matter.

Farms Hosting Fire Chiefs

The Southeastern Michigan Fire Chiefs Association held its annual picnic at the Farms Pier Park on August 9, as guests of Farms Fire Chief M. William Mason and Farms officials.

Chief Mason said that the picnic was in lieu of the August monthly meeting of the group, and that the chiefs brought members of their families to the outing. Approximately 160 persons attended, he said.

Also invited to the affair, were city officials and police chiefs from the Pointes and Harper Woods, partners in the Mutual Fire Aid and Mutual Police Aid Pacts, Chief Mason said.

Warren Carson, radio technician for the mutual Pointe-Harper Woods Emergency Radio System, was also asked to be a guest.

Edison Retires Weinheimer

Claude M. Weinheimer, widely known scientific researcher and staff engineer for Detroit Edison's research department, has retired after nearly 42 years of service with the company.

Mr. Weinheimer won national recognition in the engineering research field for his work in developing commercial uses for fly ash. Fly ash is the talcum-powder-fine combustion product which is retained by collecting devices in Detroit Edison plants and prevented from escaping into the atmosphere.

He also earned industry-wide recognition for his studies concerning the characteristics of concrete materials and thermal insulation.

Mr. Weinheimer, a native of North Tonawanda, N. Y., joined Edison in 1920, soon after earning an electrical engineering degree at Cornell University.

He advanced through several posts in the company's production and purchasing departments and was assigned as senior engineer for the research department in 1938. He was appointed supervisor of the mechanical division in 1941 and promoted to staff engineer in 1958.

Active in many professional groups, Mr. Weinheimer is a registered Professional Engineer and a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the American Society for Testing Materials.

He also has been active in the Engineering Society of Detroit and the American Society of Heating, Refrigerating and Air-Conditioning Engineers and has served with the Michigan Good Roads Federation, the Concrete Improvement Board and the Building Research Council.

Mr. Weinheimer and his wife, Fay, who have a daughter, Mrs. Janet Scribner, live at 1268 Balfour road.

Hatie, of 1128 Whittier road, local publicity chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Palmentier, of 1975 Fair Court, banquet chairman, and Harry H. Winning, of 754 Washington road, tours chairman.

This is the 71st annual convention of the American Numismatic Association and the 9th annual convention of the Canadian Numismatic Association. The convention is open to the general public until 11 p.m. through Friday, and until 2:30 p.m. on Saturday.

There will be a very large and active bourse comprising 120 coin dealers, who will have tables in the Grand Ballroom and Founders' Room of the hotel, where they will sell coins, medals, tokens and paper money at prices anywhere between 5 cents and several thousand dollars. There will be 93 dealers from the United States, 25 dealers from Canada and 2 dealers from England.

There will also be auction sales on numismatic items Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday afternoon, which will be conducted by internationally known United States and Canadian dealers.

There will be numerous exhibits covering a span of approximately 2500 years. On display will be coins of ancient Greece struck prior to 600 B.C., coins mentioned in the Bible, coins of the Roman Republic and Roman Empire and coins and medals of the middle ages. There will be substantially every type of coin used in this country, such as Pieces of Eight, Pine Tree shillings, Continental dollars, all types of coins struck by the United States Mint since its inception in 1793 and $50 gold slugs from the California Gold Rush days.

There will be shown all types of Canadian coins and tokens, tokens used in the United States in place of coinage during Colonial times, President Jackson's administration and the Civil War, paper money dating back to the 17th century, foreign coins, odd and curious money and practically everything that comes under the category of numismatics. Irving Moskovitz, George D. Hatie and other well known exhibitors will compete for beautiful trophies, plaques and medals.

There will also be special non-competitive exhibits of the National Bank of Detroit Money Museum, Bank of Canada, Henry Ford Museum, Cardinal Spellman, Amon Carter, Jr., Irving Moskovitz and Art Lovi.

An educational program has been arranged for Thursday evening, at 8 p.m., which will feature noted numismatic experts from the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

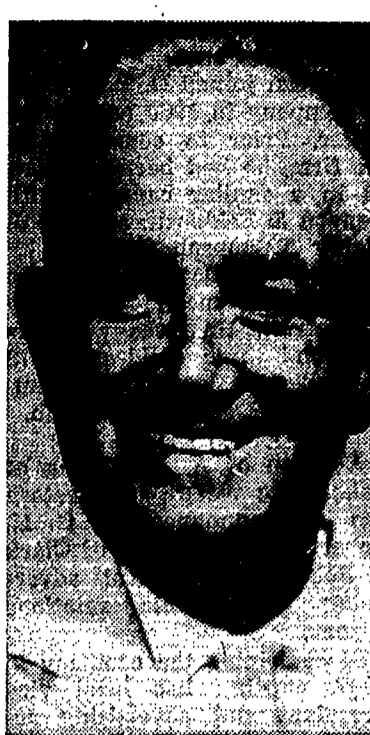

Certain other numismatic societies will hold their meetings during the convention, such as the Tokens and Medals Society, Society of Paper Money Collectors and Collectors of Numismatic Errors.

Among those attending are many internationally known persons, including Miss Eva Adams, Director of the Mint.

Arrangements have been made for tours to the Money Museum of the National Bank of Detroit, Greenfield Village and Hiram Walker Distillery. There will be a luncheon, special tours and other activities for the ladies. A cocktail party is planned for Saturday and a banquet will close the convention on Saturday evening.

It is not necessary to be a member of either association to attend and anyone may visit the bourse rooms and see the exhibits without charge. Those who wish to register may do so at a cost of $3.00. In addition to certain features of the convention which are limited to those registering, each registrant will receive an attractive convention badge to which is affixed a very beautiful medal designed by the internationally famous sculptor, Marshall Fredericks, whose works include "The Spirit of Detroit" monument located at the Woodward Avenue entrance to the City-County Building.

Park Rejects Sewer Survey

The Parks Council decided in their meeting Monday evening to reject plans for a complete sewer survey in their city.

An $8,000 estimate for the survey job has been made by the firm of Hubbell, Roth, and Clark.

The Park, which has been having trouble with flooded basements during this rainy summer, will, however, take other less costly methods for alleviating this condition.

Worst areas affected by flooding are Pemberton and Westchester roads and a spot where Trombley, Harcourt, and Bedford meet Windmill Pointe drive.

Two years ago the Park did have a fairly complete sewer survey taken. As a result of this survey additional sewers were installed on Balfour and Charlevoix.

The Council decided to re-view that survey and, if possible, correct the new flooding problem on the basis of it.

Follow the straight and narrow path and you'll seldom get adverse publicity.

Pickett of Chicago under the auspices of Sixth Church of Christ, Scientist, 14710 Kercheval, one block west of Alter road.

The subject of the lecture will be "Christian Science: The Unfailing Power of God Made Practical." The public is cordially invited to attend without charge. The infants' room will be opened to care for small children.

A native of Ohio, Mr. Pickett was educated in Georgia and North Dakota. Formerly president of his own investment banking firm, he liquidated his business affairs in 1942 to enter full time practice of Christian Science. He was a Christian Science Warfare Worker during World War II. Prior to that he had served in active field service on the Illinois Flood Relief Committee of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. Since becoming a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, he has traveled throughout the United States, South America, and Canada.

Man's dominion over the bondage of materialism will be set forth in Christian Science churches this Sunday.

Selections from the Bible and correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will comprise the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul." The Golden Text is from Exodus (20): "I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other gods before me."

This citation will be read from Science and Health (p. 14): "Entirely separate from the belief and dream of material living, is the Life divine, revealing understanding and the consciousness of Man's dominion over the whole earth. This understanding casts out error and heals the sick, and with it you can speak 'as one having authority.'"

Traffic Laws Trip Couple

Park police arrested a Detroit woman and her husband on Wednesday, August 8, and charged them with violating State Traffic laws.

Arrested were Diane E. Dawson, 20, and Quillis Dawson, 35, of 5031 Belvedere.

The woman was arrested driving on Jefferson by Patrolman Henry Wilson when he noticed the couple's car had no rear tail lights.

The woman was asked for her driving license, and when she stated she had none, Wilson took the couple to the station. A teletype from Lansing disclosed that Mrs. Dawson had never acquired a valid Michigan license.

Wilson gave the woman a ticket for driving without ever acquiring a valid license, and her husband was handed one for permitting an unlicensed person to drive.

Mrs. Dawson was released on bond of $100, her husband was released without bond. Both are scheduled to appear before Park Judge C. Joseph Belanger on August 22.

Lochmoor Club Tankers Beat Oakland Hills Team

Lochmoor Club's swimming team defeated Oakland Hills Country Club 165-129 last Thursday night at the Lochmoor pool to end the dual meet season in a three-way tie for third place in the Blue League of the Michigan Inter-Club Swimming Association.

Along with the other eleven Inter-Club teams, Lochmoor will compete in the twenty-third annual Inter-Club Championship Meet at Plum Hollow Golf Club during the weekend. Preliminaries for the 26 events are to be held Saturday afternoon with the finals on Sunday afternoon.

Lochmoor Coach Roy Poullet predicts that the results of the championship will roughly parallel the results of the dual meet season. Detroit Golf Club with 5-0 league dual meet record and Western Golf and Country Club whose loss to the Lochmoor Club made its season record 4-1 are the favorites for the top two spots. Third place should be a battle between the three teams that tied for third in the Blue League with 2-3 league records — Lochmoor Club, Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, and Detroit Boat Club — and White League champion Red Run Golf Club.

Good in Individuals
Against Oakland Hills, Lochmoor won only four of the eight relays but took 14 of the 13 first places in individual events to build a 36-point margin of victory.

Bob Schaltenbrand and Leslie Beckenhauer were triple winners for Lochmoor. Both swimmers won the freestyle, backstroke, and breaststroke races in the 15-16 year old class.

In the 11-12 year old age group, Ann Zosel for Lochmoor and Steve Matthews for Oakland Hills won both the freestyle and the backstroke events.

Results
Girls 100-meter medley relay (12 years old and under): 1. Oakland Hills (Stark, Kelly, D. Thompson, C. Carino); 2. Lochmoor (Schaltenbrand, S. Peitz, A. Zosel, Wilkins); Time: 1:15.8.

Boys 100-meter medley relay (12 years old and under): 1. Lochmoor (McNamara, M. Gardner, J. Godin, Wagner); 2. Oakland Hills (Vinton, Sanden, Matthews, S. Thompson); Time: 1:18.0.

Girls 25-meter freestyle (eight years old and under): 1. Lisa Beckenhauer (L.); 2. L. Thompson (OH); 3. B. Simon (L.); 4. Marty Shannon (OH); Time: 16.7.

Boys 25-meter freestyle (eight years old and under): 1. Michael (L.); 2. J. Godin (L.); 3. Mike Shannon (OH); 4. B. Thompson (OH); Time: 16.8.

Girls 200-meter freestyle relay (total age limit; 56 years): 1. Lochmoor (G. Peitz, K. Zosel, C. Gardner, S. Clarke); 2. Oakland Hills (Stark, White, Karen Trimmer, J. Mestier); Time: 2:14.4.

Boys 200-meter freestyle relay (total age limit; 56 years): 1. Oakland Hills (T. Schroeter, Bullock, Dungan, B. Prew); 2. Lochmoor (Hennessy, F. Zosel, Schaltenbrand, Schaltenbrand); Time: 2:04.7.

Girls 50-meter freestyle (9-10 years old): 1. L. Simon (L.); 2. S. Mestier (OH); 3. Ambrose (L.); 4. Jensen (OH); Time: 39.8.

St. Paul Gridders Must Be Fitted
Coach Ed Lauer, looking toward the upcoming 1962 St. Paul High School football season, this week advised all Laker varsity players to make arrangements as soon as possible to be fitted with new molded mouth protectors.

All boys intending to try out for the 7-8 football team will also have to be fitted with the new teeth protectors.

This year, the State High School Athletic Association requires that all football players wear the new, fitted mouth protectors. In the interests of getting all the boys fitted in time, we urge everyone who possibly can do so to make an appointment, and to be fitted before the start of football season.

Hunt Club Tank Team Defeated

A hard-working and steadily improving Grosse Pointe Hunt Club swimming team closed its 1962 season Sunday afternoon with a disappointing loss to the swimmers from Forest Lake Country Club.

The meet was held in the Hunt Club pool and was followed by a light dinner.

Forest Lake, a member of the suburban Inter-Club Swimming Association, gathered most of its points in the boys events, while the always strong contingent of Hunt Club girls dominated their events. In a meet twice interrupted by rain, Forest Lake had to win the last two relays in order to stave off the constant challenge of their hosts. The final margin of victory was 12 points, 140-128.

The starter for the meet was Tim Kenmary; timers were Tom Thompson, Edward Henkel, Mr. Bedoin, and the Forest Lake coach, George Russel. The official scorer was Mr. Lilly, and the Hunt Club president, Edwin Peabody was the announcer.

In two other recent meets the Hunt Club tank team also found itself slightly outside the winner's circle — by margins, only, of 1 and 3 points! The one point loss came at the hands of Lochmoor Country Club (team B), on July 29, a loss which ironically reversed last year's decision for Lochmoor. Roy Poullet's swimmers were able, in this meet, to lose the final relay and still come out on top, though the margin was shaved to 98-97. A week later Hal Willard's Country Club of Detroit (team B) swimmers managed to squeak out a 3 point victory, 107-104. Again, the last relay proved to be that deciding boost which granted victory to the winners.

Thus, on paper, it seems to have been a very disappointing end for the Hunt Club swimmers. However, anyone who happened to be at one of these meets realized that the defeated spirit was nowhere evidenced by these boys and girls. Instead the interest and determination and spirit displayed was ample enough to dispel any gloom of defeat.

The team, getting off to a slow start because of the Hunt Club horse show late in June, grew in quantity and quality as the season progressed, knowing their meet schedule only less than a week in advance. The swimmers put in many hard and long hours in practice each day, and now look optimistically ahead to next year when they may be competing in the Suburban Inter-Club Swimming Association.

Coach Bill Hoffa, and the enthusiastic Hunt Club parents and members who supported the team so well this year are equaly proud of Chris Squires, Nene and Troy Henkel, Tim, Mary, Cheryl, and Jane Lynch, Pam Wringley, Kurt and Wally Schmitt, Richard Connolly, Cathie Lilly, Paul Reidt, Mira and Hedwig Sesi, Troy and Kathy Maschmeyer, Sheila Cassidy, Jane Peabody, Jim and Dorothy Conway, Rexie and Valerie Dunlap, Alan Hoffman, Tom and Theresa Black, Sue and Laurie Smith, Diane and Debby Werthmann, Anne and Cathy Champion, and Marnie, Laine and Peg Quinn.

Sophomore Detroit Lions lineman, Dick Mills' son, Dan LaRose, became fathers within a two hour period, with Mills welcoming his second child, a son, while LaRose boasted of a daughter. Incidentally, they are roommates with the Lions.

Roger Brown, 300-pound defensive tackle for the Detroit Lions, has a 34-inch thigh.

The Grosse Pointe Ski Club is sponsoring a European Skiing House Party. On February 23 the group will leave from New York via jet for 17 days, skiing in several of Europe's most famous areas.

They will spend 7 days in Zurs and 5 days in Klosters with numerous side trips available to such areas as St. Anton, Innsbruck, Davos, Lech, Arosa, St. Moritz, etc. Also on the itinerary is a week-end in Paris extension. Then they will jet from Paris to London and home from London nonstop to Detroit.

The official crackdown has the full approval of Detroit's Convention and Tourist Bureau, whose executive vice president, H. E. Little Gridders Must Register

All eligible boys who are interested in playing organized football are being encouraged to sign up for Little League Football. The season will start shortly after Labor Day.

Eligible for Farms play are boys, 9 years old or on before September 1, including boys 12 years old on or after September 1, who are either residents of the Farms or in the Montclair School district (which includes part of the Woods).

The boys may register on Wednesday, August 22, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Neighborhood Club. They must bring a birth certificate. There is no registration fee.

Try-outs will be held Labor Day, September 3, at 10 a.m.; Tuesday, September 4, at 4 p.m.; and Wednesday, September 5, at 4 p.m. Boys must attend two out of three try-out sessions.

Three teams will be formed — the juniors, the junior varsity, and the varsity.

standing between unions and building officials on many phases of operations there," said Boning. "The new policy is not an agreement. It is simply a statement of the city's position and it means the city takes over its own property — Cobo Hall — and specifies exactly how it will be run."

Boning anticipates no injury to any union as a result of the new policy, and hopes the unions accept the inevitable gracefully. "It should impose no hardship on them (the unions)," he noted. "It will bring in a greater volume of business and consequently more work for their members than under the old situation."

Cavanagh's charge that "certain shop stewards, business agents and even workmen" were abusing their positions in Cobo Hall was at first greeted in union circles with stunned disbelief, but present indications are that they will acquiesce to most of the mayor's demands, and begin to operate under the new rules.

Sunday, August 12
SOVIET MAJOR ANDRIAN Nikolayev has completed many earth orbits in his spaceship, Vostok III, and appears to be in excellent physical and mental condition. The 32-year-old ex-lumberjack was blasted into orbit yesterday at 3:30 a.m. (Detroit time). Present information indicates that he may be aloft a full week, perhaps more. Nikolayev is whirling around the world every 88.5 minutes, at altitudes ranging from 156 to 113 miles.

According to TASS (official Soviet News Agency), the major relayed messages indicating that all is well, that he is carrying out research assignments, and that temperature and pressure inside his cabin are normal. After his fifth orbit, the Russian cosmonaut wriggled out of his harness, rose from his chair, and moved about his space cabin. He reported no ill effects from weightlessness, and mentioned that his appetite is good. Portions of Nikolayev's flight were televised to Moscow viewers, and 15 minutes after take-off Moscow Radio relayed his first message back to earth: "I feel good. Everything normal on board. The earth can easily be seen through the porthole."

Pictures of Nikolayev were televised to ground checkpoints during his third and fourth orbit, when he exchanged brief congratulatory remarks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, after which he (the major) ate a meal and rested for an hour. Russian scientists state Vostok III is mechanically equipped to remain in orbit 10 days or more, inferring that Nikolayev may be up a considerable length of time. TASS reports blastoff was accomplished without complications, and that the major without acceleration well. His flight is officially designed to study man's capacity to work while weightless, to get data necessary for future space flights, and to improve the spaceship's communications and control systems.

Monday, August 13
A SECOND Russian cosmonaut has joined Major Andrian Nikolayev in orbital flight, and the two Soviet spacemen are currently racing each other around the earth. Soviet Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich blasted off early Sunday morning, his spacecraft going into orbit close to that of Nikolayev's Vostok III. The two men are so close (only 75 miles apart, according to one report), that they can see each other's ships and communicate via radio. This historic feat, a fantastic advance in the field of rocketry, puts the Russians approximately a year and a half ahead of the United States, which cannot hope to duplicate such a double orbit until sometime late next year. There is even a possibility that the pilots, whirling independently above the earth at approximately 18,000 miles per hour, may maneuver their two capsules together. According to an official Russian announcement: "The task of setting two spaceships on orbits close to each other is to obtain experimental data on the possibility of establishing contacts between the two ships, co-ordinating the actions of the pilot cosmonauts and to check the influence of identical conditions of space flight on human beings."

Sir Bernard Lovell, head of Britain's huge Jodrell Bank Observatory and one of the world's leading space scientists, has expressed doubt that the Russians will attempt an actual rendezvous on this flight, but considers the "obviously technical reason" for launching two vehicles must be "to explore the rendezvous possibility. Public announcements from Moscow gave no clue as to how long the ships will remain aloft, but one British expert has revealed that Moscow told him the two cosmonauts would remain in orbit a few days practicing close maneuvers. There are some unconfirmed reports from the Russian capital, however, indicating that Popovich and Nikolayev may be brought back to earth Monday afternoon.

Five Champions Crowned In Annual Diving Contest

A record number of entries made the 4th annual Diving Championships held last Saturday at the Farms Pier the best ever. There were 28 competitors diving for the titles in the five divisions, nearly double last year's entry list of 16.

Four champions returned to defend their titles but only two, Shari Strachan and Lynn Messner, both from the City, were successful. Cynthia Hassig from the Woods made strong bids in the junior girls and boys divisions respectively to retain their crowns but were dethroned.

In the junior boys event for boys 12 years and under, Deacon Chapin from the Farms rolled up 81.1 points to win the title. Steve Gibson from the City and Doug Colton were tied for second at the end of regulation competition and had to dive off for the second spot. Steve managed to just barely edge Doug with a well executed swan dive.

JoAnn Luzadre a 10-year-old from the Park won the Junior girls title as she rolled up 60.3

points. Nancy Hendee for the City with 56.0 points was second and her team mate Ann Fischer with 50.2 was third.

In the intermediate division, including boys and girls from 13 to 15 inclusively, Shari Strachan from the City defended her title in the girls division and Mark Gibson from the Farms won the boys title.

Shari rolled up 103 points to win easily. Shari is a perennial champion in this event having now won her fourth championship in as many years.

Mark, a newcomer to the diving contest got his roughest competition from Richard Turner and John Chapin, both from the Farms. Mark's winning total was 53.9 as compared with Richard's 51.1 and John's 47.3.

Lynn Messner successfully defended his title in the Senior men's division when he bested Richard Green 131.8 to 107.6.

Lauren Bowler, Mary Ann MacDonald and Paul Attar acted as judges in this contest and John Chase, the "Voice of the Farms Pier," provided the commentary during the event.

ing out research assignments, and that temperature and pressure inside his cabin are normal. After his fifth orbit, the Russian cosmonaut wriggled out of his harness, rose from his chair, and moved about his space cabin. He reported no ill effects from weightlessness, and mentioned that his appetite is good. Portions of Nikolayev's flight were televised to Moscow viewers, and 15 minutes after take-off Moscow Radio relayed his first message back to earth: "I feel good. Everything normal on board. The earth can easily be seen through the porthole."

Pictures of Nikolayev were televised to ground checkpoints during his third and fourth orbit, when he exchanged brief congratulatory remarks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, after which he (the major) ate a meal and rested for an hour. Russian scientists state Vostok III is mechanically equipped to remain in orbit 10 days or more, inferring that Nikolayev may be up a considerable length of time. TASS reports blastoff was accomplished without complications, and that the major without acceleration well. His flight is officially designed to study man's capacity to work while weightless, to get data necessary for future space flights, and to improve the spaceship's communications and control systems.

Monday, August 13
A SECOND Russian cosmonaut has joined Major Andrian Nikolayev in orbital flight, and the two Soviet spacemen are currently racing each other around the earth. Soviet Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich blasted off early Sunday morning, his spacecraft going into orbit close to that of Nikolayev's Vostok III. The two men are so close (only 75 miles apart, according to one report), that they can see each other's ships and communicate via radio. This historic feat, a fantastic advance in the field of rocketry, puts the Russians approximately a year and a half ahead of the United States, which cannot hope to duplicate such a double orbit until sometime late next year. There is even a possibility that the pilots, whirling independently above the earth at approximately 18,000 miles per hour, may maneuver their two capsules together. According to an official Russian announcement: "The task of setting two spaceships on orbits close to each other is to obtain experimental data on the possibility of establishing contacts between the two ships, co-ordinating the actions of the pilot cosmonauts and to check the influence of identical conditions of space flight on human beings."

Sir Bernard Lovell, head of Britain's huge Jodrell Bank Observatory and one of the world's leading space scientists, has expressed doubt that the Russians will attempt an actual rendezvous on this flight, but considers the "obviously technical reason" for launching two vehicles must be "to explore the rendezvous possibility. Public announcements from Moscow gave no clue as to how long the ships will remain aloft, but one British expert has revealed that Moscow told him the two cosmonauts would remain in orbit a few days practicing close maneuvers. There are some unconfirmed reports from the Russian capital, however, indicating that Popovich and Nikolayev may be brought back to earth Monday afternoon.

Imagine a whole town full of houses like that located on an out-of-the-way peninsula by- passed long ago by the high velocity progress of the 20th century. Add a blue water cove bristling with the weathered spiles of piers long-aged into driftwood and overshadowed by 90-foot limestone bluffs that shine golden in the setting sun. This is the appeal of beautiful Fayette State Park in Michi- gan's upper peninsula.

This unusual park, added to the state system in 1959, is situated on the west shore of the Garden peninsula, a 220-mile strip of land washed by the waters of Big Bay de Noc on the west and Lake Michigan on the south and east.

The peninsula lies 100 miles west of the Mackinac bridge via highway US-2, a scenic drive which skirts the shores of Lake Michigan for a large part of the way. Many scenic turnouts, roadside parks and excellent accommodations along this route make it popular with vacation travelers.

Delta county road 483, a paved road running the length of the Garden peninsula's western shore, provides easy access to the major points of interest. Besides the ghost town of Fayette, the villages of Garden and Fairport are located on the penin- sula, and offer accommodations and service facilities for the traveler.

In addition to its scenic at- tractions, the peninsula offers abundant fishing, hunting and camping opportunities.

The entire peninsula is steeped in the history of Michigan's iron boom days in the late 1800's. Fayette flourished and faded in a brief 30 year span but at the height of its ex- istence the town population numbered between 500 and 1,000 and the smelting furnace production was second highest in the upper peninsula.

The village owed its existence to a combination of a deep natural harbor suitable for docking ore boats, a huge supply of limestone for the smel- ing processes, and thousands of acres of hardwood forest necessary for the production of the charcoal vital to the operation.

Two large smelting furnaces and casting houses dominate the town. Nine beehive-shaped charcoal kilns and a lime kiln nestle at the foot of the bluff like inverted teacups on a mantle shelf. A large hotel, an opera house (quite a rarity), a store and numerous frame structures used by the inhabi- tants for offices and dwellings complete the townsite.

Park officials have construct- ed a small museum in the old opera house. Weapons, tools, books and other artifacts help visitors to visualize the activi- ties and people of this earlier era. In addition to the opera house, a further indication that all was not work and drudgery in old Fayette is the outline of a horse racing track still dis- cernible on a plateau above the townsite.

The bays De Noc are noted for walleyed pike, perch, and bass fishing and there are num- erous boat launching sites along the beach. Bait, boats and fish- ing tackle may be obtained at Garden or Fairport. Both deer and bear are plentiful in the heavily-forested eastern side of the peninsula.

A campground with 40 large sites now available and 20 more being readied is in the Park area. Sanitary facilities, water and picnic tables are available and excellent perch catches can be made in the deep water around the old pier spiles with- out setting foot off the shore.

A few miles south of Fayette is an unusual area known as Burnt Bluffs. Here, among Noting that when he took office, in January of last year, the country was suffering a recession, Kennedy observed that in the intervening 18 months, "We have made a recovery from that recession," citing record high industrial production, an end to the inflation threat, and last month's reduction in un- employment to prove his point.

According to the President, the latest figures for July indicate no new recession and there is every reason to expect fur- ther economic progress, even though businessmen are not in- vesting as heavily as might be desired. Investments as a whole, are up from last year, however, and the Stock Market rests on a sounder basis now than in 1961, with the best stable price record since World War II. Kennedy denied that an increase in the cost of living

To Give Musical On Belle Isle

An event of great importance to Detroit theater and especial- ly to the newly expanded Civic Center Theater will take place on August 15 and 17 when the Department of Parks and Recre- ation will continue its series of summer musicals at the Belle Isle Aqua Theater with the premiere amateur performance of Meredith Willson's fabulous musical, "Music Man."

He reported progress in con- trolling the balance of pay- ments, adding that all these things have "been done by you" and that "you and I may have confidence in the long-run strength of our country." Admit- ting that the economy was sick last year, Mr. Kennedy said that strong safeguards against depressions have been built up since the days of Franklin Roosevelt, so that every Amer- ican businessman and con- sumer now knows he may in- vest with confidence in Ameri- ca's long-run strength. Others in the carefully select- ed cast include Edward "Bud" Brown as Mayor Shinn, Agatha Pfeiffer as Eulalie Mackecknie Shinn, Eric Warren as Tommy Djjlas, and Judy Whitmer as Zaneeta Shinn. Dorothy Meiers as Mrs. Paroo, Don Moenart as Marcellus Washburn, Robin Wright as Winthrop Paroo and Debbie Craig as Amaryllis fill out some of the other leads in a cast of local talent which will rival the first-run production.

There will be no admission charge to these special perfor- mances under the stars at Belle Isle.

School Board Stands Ground

We couldn't agree more with the decision of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education not to be pressured into changing its policy on the placement of controversial books in the community's public libraries.

The controversy started when Mrs. Cassil offered to donate copies of the controversial volumes, (written by a former Franciscan father who quit his calling to accept a job in a Phoenix, Ariz. hospital), but insisted that they be placed on the open shelves and easily accessible to all.

As the school authorities point out, it is impossible for the local staff to review the some 13,000 books which are published each year. Neither are there funds available to purchase more than about 3,000 of these new books annually.

Dr. James W. Bushong, superintendent of the Pointe's Public School System, states: "We do not consider this censoring; it is merely not selling, as we are doing when we select books for open display."

This paper sees no point in fostering a battle between Catholics and non-Catholics over the offerings of an obviously disgruntled deserter of his faith.

Michigan Leading Freeway Builder

Michigan, with nearly 500 miles of Interstate freeway completed, leads the nation in per cent of its toll-free Interstate system open to traffic.

Nationally, more than 12,500 miles of the Interstate network—about 30 percent of 41,000 miles—were open to traffic on June 30.

Michigan had 461 miles of toll-free Interstate highway built to 1975 standards open to traffic June 30. That amounts to nearly 43 percent of the state's allotted 1,080 miles of Interstate highway.

In comparison, here's how some other nearby states measure up to Michigan's 43 percent: Ohio, 23 percent; Pennsylvania, 18 percent; New York, 17 percent; Illinois, 16 percent; Indiana, 12 percent, and Minnesota, four percent.

Connecticut, with 116 of its 293 miles completed, is second to Michigan with 40 percent. Wisconsin, which has completed 37 percent of its network, is third.

Since June 30, Michigan has opened 24 miles of Interstate freeway and now has 485 miles

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

by Betty Collins

The beautiful gardens adjoining the Berkshire road home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Wasner, will be the scene of a gala supper dance Saturday evening when the Wasner's son, Edward Jr., will honor his parents on their fortieth wedding anniversary.

Beneath the twinkling light of dozens of Japanese lanterns, nearly 100 family friends will gather to toast the Wasners on this memorable occasion. Mrs. Wasner will greet the guests wearing a Dior gown of scarlet chiffon and ruby and diamond necklace and earrings, the anniversary gift of her husband.

Mr. Wasner will claim the first dance with his bride of 40 years, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March. Later, guests will serve themselves from a long buffet table, centered with a champagne cooler filled with ruby dahlias, carnations, white stock and gladiolas.

Special guests will include Mrs. John Sieland, of Birmingham, who was a member of the wedding party, and Mrs. Wasner's sister, Mrs. Frank Howarth of Chicago, who is spending several days with the Wasners. Other members of Mrs. Wasner's family will be here from their homes in Caro, Mich.

Visitor from Memphis

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Parsons, who have moved to Memphis, were delighted when Mrs. Parsons decided to visit the L. Gaylord Hulberts, of Clairview road, for two weeks. Among those who entertained for Mrs. Parsons were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Eskridge, with a steak barbecue, Mrs. Ray Vanderbush, with a luncheon, at home, and Mrs. William G. Siebert, with a luncheon at the DAC.

After waving a reluctant farewell to their houseguest, Mr. and Mrs. Hulbert packed their bags to attend the convention of American Bar Association in San Francisco. Before they return home, they plan a visit to the World's Fair in Seattle followed by a tour of the Canadian Rockies.

The W. CLYDE NAUS of Willison road were counting the hours until Sunday, July 29, when they got a first glimpse of their first grandchild, Japan-born, five-month-old GABRIELLE TIERNEY.

The Naus' daughter, DIANE, has been with her husband, LT. THOMAS T. TIERNEY, stationed at Misawa Air Force Base, Japan, for the past year. Gabrielle, born in the Land of the Rising Sun last February 9, has had to wait a few more months than usual before coming "home," and Mr. and Mrs. Nau could hardly wait to see their daughter and granddaughter, who will spend some time visiting in the Pointe.

Sisters Reunite After 45 Years

A Grosse Pointe woman is entertaining a sister she hasn't seen in 45 years, and a niece of 25, whom she has never met.

The joyous reunion occurred in New York on July 22 when Mrs. Aline Kerbrat, of 189 Muir road, met her sister, Mrs. Josephine Bovedeven and her daughter, Jeanette who flew to the United States from their home in Saumur, France.

Since then, there have been further reunions with four brothers and another sister who have settled in Winnipeg. The family had not been together since the brothers and sisters left France with their father 45 years ago. Only Mrs. Bovedeven, who was married at the time, remained there with her husband. Now Mrs. Kerbrat, Mrs. Bovedeven, and Jeanette are catching up on family news at Mrs. Kerbrat's home in Muir road. So long as a man has a roof over his head, and is able to raise it occasionally, no one can truthfully say he is henpecked.

Pointers Return from Short Trips

Proving that the Pointe is NOT a ghost town are many people who like to break up the summer with short trips out-of-town but spend most of their time at home. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ashurkoff are among those who drove to Stratford last weekend and were particularly enchanted with Christopher Plummer's performance in Cyrano de Bergerac. They stopped to enjoy a few hours on the sandy beach at Ipperwash State Park before returning home. With them were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hartwig, of Royal Oak, and Caroline Dow, Mrs. Ashurkoff's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Roby, Jr., and daughter Patsy have returned from Pointe aux Barques where they spent a week with their parents. The Robert Scherers, of Lochmoor boulevard, are home after a two week's boat trip to Georgian Bay on their new cruiser.

Christ Child members are planning a "Calypso Night" at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club on August 25. Red Cross Asks Help of Nurses

The Detroit Red Cross Nursing Services is appealing for graduate, registered nurses to teach its Home Care of the Sick and Injured classes to groups of women in the chapter headquarters, community centers or one of the regional offices in Dearborn, Livonia or Southgate.

A training course for prospective volunteers will be conducted in the Chapter's Headquarters, Elizabeth at John R., on August 27, 28, 29, 30, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Lunch is available in the Chapter canteen.

Home Economics teachers who expect to teach this course in high schools next year and have not yet had the instructor training are welcome to enroll for the course. Nurses who complete the training program will receive American National Red Cross certificates and be authorized to teach the 14-hour course which is offered by the Chapter as a community service.

Volunteer instructors may choose the community in which they wish to teach classes, and whether the assignments will be morning, afternoon or evening hours.

Interested persons are invited to call the Detroit Red Cross Chapter, WO 1-3800, for further information or to enroll in the training class. Nurses previously authorized who have not taught for 5 years are invited to take this course and return to their status of active volunteer instructors.

Editor Praises Voters' League

A recent issue of "Current Magazine" carries a tribute to the League of Women Voters as a prime example of democratic expression at its best. Sidney Hertzberg, editor of Current, devotes his entire monthly editorial to the League.

Senator Kenneth B. Keating (R., N.Y.) thought the editorial was so noteworthy he inserted it in the "Congressional Record" and stated, "What America needs more than anything else is educated and alert citizen discussion of the complex needs we face. The League of Women Voters has, over the years, taken the lead in practicing enlightened citizenship throughout the country."

Mr. Hertzberg in his editorial refers to the League as "practically a fourth branch of government," and says: "its style is typified by a confrontation in a state capitol office where, above the low hum of League members' voices, may be heard the rusty creaking of a legislator's mind groping for responsive replies to relentlessly reasoned and factual questions."

He then describes the League's method of study. First, he says, they make "a careful study of what it is that the League ought to study. This step is crucial in a period when problems are many and time is short. In studying what it decides to study the League is deliberate and exhaustive. There are no flashy debates in which many-sided problems are reduced to nonsensical yes or no formulas. And after the League makes up its mind, its objective is pursued with unremitting tenacity. The whole process is the despair of demagogues and the delight of the scrupulous."

Mrs. Robert J. Phillips, president of the national League, is quoted as saying that there are more members (132,000) in more Local Leagues (1,120) engaged in more activity than ever before, and Mr. Hertzberg feels that this is one sign that the American electorate is in good health.

Local Leagues constitute the real strength of the League of Women Voters. They concern themselves with national issues and state issues, and study local problems as well.

Teaching Has Its Advantages

Teaching has a reputation for being a low-paying field. But it might be a financially wise occupational choice for the young woman who wants to combine a career with marriage and a family.

All wives who work must devote a share of their earnings to certain expenses—just because they have jobs. Some of these expenses include income tax, social security, other occupational costs (such as compulsory insurance and retirement), child care, transportation, clothing, food and many others.

In a study just completed at Michigan State University, researchers found that wives who teach in primary and secondary schools seem to devote a larger proportion of their earnings to these job-necessitated costs. This means that the teachers have a greater proportion of their incomes available for family use.

The study, conducted by Dr. Jean Schlatter and Barbara Ferrer of the MSU Department of Home Management and Child Development, involved interviews with 50 employed wives of MSU students. The wives reported on their earnings and job-necessitated expenses for 1960. Each wife interviewed had at least one child under five so that care costs had to be considered.

The researchers found that a total average of 45 percent of a wife's income went toward expenses incurred "because of the job." This left 55 percent available for family use.

The elementary or secondary school teachers, however, still had an average of 64 percent left for family use. This was higher than any average for any other occupational group in the sample, which included clerical workers and such professions as nursing, dietetics, bacteriology, statistics and social work.

"The teachers spent a lower proportion of their incomes on food, clothing and transportation. This may simply be a result of their shorter work year," said Mrs. Ferrer. The researchers stress that their work is exploratory and say they hope to conduct similar studies with larger, non-student groups.

BIRD ROOSTS IN CAR

Mrs. L. Hooth, 459 Fisher, told City police on Sunday, August 5, that she found a catbird perched in her car parked in front of her home. Officer James Cronin took the bird home to care for it until the owner calls for it.

Generally speaking, the guy with a closed mind has an open mouth.

Betrothed

Dr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Whittaker, of Jefferson Avenue East, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jeanne Evans Whittaker, to Mr. Charles Martin Hines, III.

Miss Whittaker is a graduate of the Grosse Pointe Country Day School and the University of Michigan. Her parents presented her to society at an evening in their home in June, 1953. She is a member of the Sigma Gamma Association and the American Association of University Women. She has a Bachelor of Science degree in history.

Since graduation Miss Whittaker has been associated with the American Red Cross and has been assigned to the Orient and Europe. She is at present located in San Antonio, Texas, where she is the director of the office of educational relations for the Bexar County chapter, American Red Cross.

Mr. Hines is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin Hines, II, of Stoneham, Mass. He is a graduate of the New Hampton Preparatory School in New Hampton, New Hampshire. He attended Northwestern University and received a Bachelor of Science degree in civil engineering from Westminster College, Fulton, Missouri. He is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity. After graduation Mr. Hines served as aide to Admiral Robert White of the United States Navy. He has been associated with Broderick and Bascom of St. Louis, Mo., as a civil engineer and is at present associated with the American Red Cross as a field director at Laughlin Air Force Base in Del Rio, Texas.

A September 29 wedding is planned at the lakeside home of the bride's parents with a family ceremony to be followed by a reception in the gardens. The couple will then drive through Mexico before returning to Del Rio, Texas.

Falling Stars Are in Season

Falling stars are now in season. You may catch a glimpse of as many as one falling star per minute at the peak period, says University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

Shooting stars, most of them no larger than the head of a pin, will be darting across the August night skies at a higher rate than at any other time of the year. They reached their peak in the early morning hours of August 12.

A flashing meteor looks as bright as the North Star because of its high-speed entry into the earth's atmosphere—perhaps around 40 miles per second, Professor Losh explains.

Meteors, mostly pieces of iron and stone, become visible only when they plunge into the earth's atmosphere, and the resulting friction sets them burning. Most meteors never reach the earth.

"Although they may appear in any part of the sky, their paths, when traced back, seem to intersect in the northeast, where the constellation of Perseus rises around 10 p.m.," says Professor Losh. "Hence they are called Perseid meteors."

"This year, however, the moon, full on Aug. 16, will interfere somewhat with observations of the Perseid meteors," Professor Losh notes. Few Perseids will appear before midnight, the number increasing sharply toward dawn.

"Today we know that comets and meteors are related," Professor Losh says. "What created comets is not known, but because there are comets we have meteors."

EGG TOSSED ON CAR

High Altitudes Pose Problems

Planning a trip to the mountains to get away from the heat for a week or so? So are several million other American families.

If you're headed for some really high mountains, above 7,000 feet, it would be wise to make the change gradually if you wish to avoid "high-altitude sickness."

Try, if you can, to make the ascent over a span of days so that your body can adjust to the oxygen-poor "thin air" at higher elevations, cautions Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association.

Symptoms of high-altitude sickness are drowsiness; headache; blueness of the nails, lips, nose and ears; a feeling of warmth and flushing of the face soon after arrival; troubled sleep; dizziness; irritability, and shortness of breath.

There are some precautions that may help prevent distress if you have to make a fast trip from a low level to high elevations. Before the trip, get a good night's rest and avoid alcoholic beverages and heavy smoking. A good breakfast an hour or so before departure is all right, but no food should be taken during the rest of the trip.

Reduces physical activity during the trip. Sit quietly as much as possible. After arrival in the high altitude area, go to bed for a few hours and eat very lightly. Indulge in only light physical activity during the first 24 hours. Walk, don't run, if you have to climb steps to a hotel or lodge.

Patients with certain heart and respiratory conditions may encounter more serious trouble by abrupt change to high altitudes. However, physicians have noted that most patients with cardiac or pulmonary disease who can move around and engage in moderate activity at sea level most often can tolerate altitudes of 7,000 to 8,000 feet without serious effects.

If you have any doubts as to whether you or someone in your family may suffer from a trip to the high mountains, consult your physician in advance.

Jean Cook, 16720 Jefferson, an employee at Neff Park, reported to City police on Wednesday, August 8, that her watch has been missing since July 14. She put her watch, a ladies' gold Sheffield, valued at $18, in the desk drawer in the office at the park, and when she returned it was gone.

Rolls-Royces Go on Display

Big, elite antique automobiles that represent a combined value today of nearly 2 million dollars will hold a reunion in Greenfield Village Saturday, August 18.

The cars—some 125 of them—belong to members of the Rolls-Royce Owners Club who will be here for their Eleventh Annual National Rally. This is the first time the group has convened in Greenfield Village.

The swanky, English-built cars start with 1908 and continue to the present.

Registrations have been received from 21 states and Canada, according to Jack A. Frost, Detroit electrical contractor who is chairman of the meet.

The states are Michigan, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, New York, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Maryland, Virginia, District of Columbia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Ohio, Missouri, Tennessee, Oregon, Connecticut, Arkansas, West Virginia, Minnesota and Nebraska.

Bentley cars, now made by Rolls-Royce, also will be included.

Under club rules, all cars must be driven under their own power to and from the meet except those made before 1911. For them the rule is 100 miles under their own power.

First, second and third prizes will be awarded in these Junior divisions: Silver Ghost, Phantom I, Phantom II, Phantom III, small horsepower, postwar cars and Rolls-Royce-Bentley. In addition, a senior class of cars, consisting of the winners during the last three years of Junior division first prizes, will compete with each other.

Besides the professional judging, the ladies, too, will have their say about the cars. They will select the most attractive car at the meet, with the owner receiving a trophy donated for the first time by Mr. Frost.

Leslie R. Henry, curator of transportation at Henry Ford Museum, will be the speaker at the club banquet Saturday night in Lovett Hall. He will discuss the life of Carl Graham Fisher, industrialist who figured in the development of the Lincoln Highway, the Indianapolis Speedway and Miami Beach.

Founded in 1951 at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., the Rolls-Royce Owners Club is a non-profit organization for the interchange of historical, technical and other information. The club now has more than 1,500 members.

Veteran, Beginner Both Find Uses For the Annuals

Not Only Do Their Gay Flowers Provide Garden In a Hurry, but They Have Many Other Commendable Qualities

Annuals, according to the dictionary, "are those plants which complete their growth in a single year." Their seeds are sown every spring with the confidence that from them, if nothing else, will come a stunning display of flowers by midsummer.

There probably isn't a gardener in the world who doesn't plant a few annual flowers every spring.

Instead of having to wait two or three years for shrubs and perennials to become established and to bloom, annuals will provide plenty of flowers for cutting as well as colorful beds and borders to beautify the grounds of a new property. Even if he never grows many in future years, the new gardener finds annual flowers indispensable this first one.

This is a most adaptable group of plants. Just the right annual can always be found to grow in rows for cut flowers, as fillers for the empty space in the perennial border, in a solid bed of their own, for a quick temporary hedge or as vines.

For Cut Flowers
When annuals are wanted chiefly as cut flowers, they are usually planted in separate rows in a so-called cutting garden. Here, each kind of color has its own row, which is labeled. This system means that a good quantity of flowers can be grown in a concentrated space. If the rows run north and south, the maximum amount of sun reaches every plant.

It is a known fact that the more annual flowers are cut, the more and better they bloom. Many of them continue right up to a severe frost. And some that are touched by a light frost in September will afterward take a new lease for the remaining warm weeks. Late bloom is particularly true of marigolds of all kinds, petunias, snapdragon, blue salvia, verbena, ageratum and zinnias. Some of the flowers that are planted in the cutting garden need to be replanted after the first bloom has petered out. Candytuft, mignonette, sweet alyssum and baby's breath are some that exhaust themselves in about a month. Successive sowings every four weeks from

Cockscombs, Celosias a Brother Act

They Provide Choice for Every Garden and Can Fit All Requirements

It hardly seems possible, when you look first at a tight "cockscomb" of a flower and then at a tall, stately, plummy bloom, that the two can be related, but nevertheless, both are celosias. There are, in addition, dwarf cockscombs and dwarf plumed types, to make it easy for you to have just what you'd like in your garden.

Tiniest are the extra dwarf cockscombs, which come in mixed colors only and grow but 8 inches high. These make a charming and unusual edging for a flower bed. Lilliput or dwarf feathered celosias include Fire Feather with 12-inch fluffy spikes of fiery crimson and equally brilliant Orange Feather which grows only 10 inches high.

There is also a Golden Feather with deep yellow flowers. The three colors used together make a color symphony that's hard to beat. Use them together in bed or border.

Red Beauty
In the crested cockscomb class is a former All-America Selections winner, Toreador. This has lustrous red flower heads with scarlet highlights, grows about 20 inches in height and is uniform, with all heads at about the same height. Leaf color is light green, which forms a perfect contrast to the bright flowers.

Empress is another crested cockscomb, quite different in coloring. This has deep bronzy foliage and huge "combs" of dark crimson-purple. It grows only 10 inches tall.

These two varieties are flowers to show off against a plain background of a fence or, perhaps, evergreens.

The Higher Ups

The big fellows, among celosias, are the giant plumed or the tall feathered varieties. Forest Fire with brilliant scarlet plumes waving over bronze-maroon foliage, Gold Pledge with shimmering golden plumes over green leaves, Pampa Plumbe which may have bright bronze, copper, gold, red, deep crimson or scarlet feathers, flowers all belong to this classification. So, too, do Flaming Fire with orange-scarlet blooms and Pride of Castle Gold with mixed colors of yellow, scarlet, crimson and orange-red.

All of these tall celosias grow between two and a half and three feet high; bloom from midsummer until frost. Plan to use them in the background of bed or border.

Even after frost, celosias can bloom inside your house, for both the cockscomb and the plumed type are easy to dry. Pick the flowers when they are fully colored, strip the leaves and stems down, three or four stems tied into a little bunch.

An airy place that is out of the sunlight will do for drying. After flower heads are completely dry, use them with fresh or dried foliage, just as you would if they were fresh, and enjoy their beauty in winter as well as in summer.

Cadet Glen Kalember Taking Air Training

MILTON, Fla. (FHTNC) — Naval Aviation Cadet Glen A. Kalember, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey D. Kalember of 1374 E. Anita Avenue, Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich., has reported for student naval aviation training at Whiting Field Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Milton, Fla.

While at Whiting Field the student aviator will undergo training in the single-engine T-28 trainer aircraft.

The training includes instruction in acrobatics and precision flying, followed by the principles of instrument flying and the use of radio equipment to navigate while flying "blind."

Upon completion of the training at Milton, the students will be transferred to Training Squadron Five at Sauley Field at Pensacola, Fla.

Transplants Do Best on Shady Start

Weather Report Will Decide Right Day for The Shift

Whether you grow your own plants from seeds or bought them from a local greenhouse, transplanting methods are just the same. Watch the weather forecasts for one that says "cloudy day tomorrow" and begin the transplanting process the night before.

First, with a sharp kitchen knife, cut lines between rows of plants in a flat, cutting through the soil until you feel the flat. When you have cut lengthwise and crosswise each plant will have its own "island" of soil around it. This makes it easy to lift from the flat.

Next soak the soil thoroughly. You can do this with plain water, with a solution of one of the wilt-preventing hormones. (which also induces root formation) or with a solution of any complete fertilizer (which gets plants off to a good start).

GET EARLY START

After soil is soaked, set plants to drain and go to bed early. Awake to cloudy skies and prepare soil in the areas in which you intend to set the plants.

Borrow a pancake turner from the kitchen and use this to lift plants from the flat. It works even better than a trowel.

But do use a trowel when you dig a hole for each plant. Make each larger and deeper than the root system of the plant. Set each plant in its hole so the soil level around the plant is even with that in the garden. If necessary, push back some soil into the hole to insure this.

HOLDING MOISTURE
Pull in more soil around the plant, firm it with the fingers, leave a slight depression in the soil around the plant to hold water and then trickle in just enough water to settle the soil to the roots.

Of course, if plants were grown in pots you do not need to cut between plants in a flat, but otherwise transplanting is just the same.

No shading will be needed as long as clouds remain; otherwise use sheets of newspaper laid over the plants to keep off some of the sun for a few days. Water the plants every other day for 10 days. This should keep them from wilting. After that water once a week for 3 weeks and then only when there has been no rain for a week.

Members of the U.S. curling team which went to Switzerland in 1960 had a gala reunion last weekend beginning Saturday with a pool party at the home of the Charles Cruickshanks, of Hawthorne road. Sunday the group gathered in the Middlesex road home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Huffaker for cocktails, brunch, and bowling on the green. The 12 congenial couples who make up the curling team are from Illinois, Wisconsin, New York, and Minnesota, and they plan a reunion every six months. They'll meet next in November, at the Wagon Wheel.

Because of the Berlin crisis and subsequent reserve build-up, Private William Leonard, of Merriweather road, and Private Tom Jeffs, of McKinley avenue, of the Ann Arbor Army Reserve Engineer Corps, served extended tours of duty in Granite City, Ill. Their moments of glory came Sunday, after their release from the service, when they marched triumphantly up the Jeffs' driveway to the loud strains of Verdi's Grand March from "Aida" emanating from within the house. Above the front door, was a giant sign, surrounded with home-grown roses and inscribed with the following greeting, written in two shades of eyebrow pencil: "Welcome Home, Heroes!"

At the Detroit Boat Club, members have managed to "carry on" despite the strike which has caused the absence of the club's help. To assure that the swimming team practices on schedule, mothers have taken on a number of chores which include swabbing out the locker rooms, gathering towels and cleaning the showers.

Resourceful members conducted an impromptu fruit and vegetable sale around the pool recently when the extra food was discovered in the kitchen and taken around to the member-purchasers on a pushcart. The "can do" spirit continued to prevail on Adult Night, with members serving themselves from picnic baskets and hampers brought from home.

DYC Commodore Paul Roth, whose club has also been struck, and Grosse Pointe Yacht Club Commodore Paul I. Moreland, whose club has not been struck, yet... used the same fighting words in letters exhorting their members to keep their chins up. "I'm confident our members are not the kind to lay down and die because of a little adversity," wrote Comm. Moreland on August 6. "We're confident," said Comm. Roth on the 8th, "that our members are not the kind to lay down and die because of a little adversity." Is this a coalition, gentlemen?

PILFERINGS

A Connecticut housewife was told by a repairman that her dishwasher was beyond help — and that the charge for this piece of information would be $8.50. When she said she had understood that the charge for a house call was only $6, the repairman replied, "True, but it's extra because I made a diagnosis."

The eye doctor patiently tried lens after lens on an elderly woman who wanted to buy some glasses. Nothing seemed to be right for her.

"Now don't become discouraged," the doctor reassured her. "It's not easy to get just the right glasses, you know."

"It certainly isn't," the woman replied. "Especially when you're shopping for a friend." —Family Weekly

Maurice Chevalier, on his 72nd birthday: "I have only one secret in life. The world has been kind enough to invite me to live here for a little while and has put its trust in me to behave the best I can. Alors, I have made a pact with myself not to disappoint the world and to be worthy of the invitation."

Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes was an avid scholar who never lost his zest for learning.

One day, when Holmes was 90, a friend found him reading Plato.

"Still studying at your age?" asked the friend. Explained the jurist, "I'm studying for the final examination."

Pointer of Interest

Laura Zolad, of Hawthorne Road By Betty Collins

As a result of attending the International Girl Scout Roundup in Button Bay State Park, Vermont, in July, 17-year-old Laura Zolad's dreams of traveling to exotic far-away places have taken on a new dimension.

Just a few short weeks ago, Laura may have been enchanted at the idea of a visit to the exciting capital city of Brasilia; now she fervently hopes to make a trip there someday and see her friend Ana Luiza Petrick, of Brazil, who she met at the roundup, as well. And for Laura, a trip to Belgium would mean a reunion with another friend from the roundup, soft-spoken Nadine Lempereur, of the village of Liege.

Enthusiastic Laura, a senior at Grosse Pointe High School, likes people, and makes friends easily. That is one of the reasons she was chosen to attend the roundup. She and six other girls from Grosse Pointe took a train to Vermont where they became part of a Girl Scout tent community of 10,000 including 8,500 Scouts from all of the states and several foreign countries.

Temporarily, the camp site became the sixth largest city in the state of Vermont and activities hummed along with the efficiency of a bustling metropolis.

Laura is convinced that her two weeks at the roundup will always remain among the outstanding memories of her life. The girls lived in hundreds of tents which were set up along the shore of beautiful Lake Champlain. High mountains in the background seemed to set them apart from the outside world. Clusters of picnic tables which the girls constructed themselves served as an outdoor dining hall.

The Scouts participated in many varied activities in small groups, called patrols, or larger groups, called camps. However, everyone came together for the impressive flag raising ceremonies on the Avenue of Flags.

Was Flag Bearer Three hundred forty-four girls participated in these ceremonies each day, while the rest of the group stood at silent attention. It was Laura's honor to be the bearer of the U. S. flag during one of the ceremonies and she describes it as a very special experience, never to be duplicated.

Laura is busily corresponding with many of her friends from the roundup and considers these friendships among the happiest experiences of her two weeks in Vermont. It is a habit of Girl Scouts to "swap" tokens to recall memories of friends far away. A small bottle of black sand from a beach in Hawaii reminds Laura of a Scout she met from our newest state. She has a sackful of other "swaps" from many different places and has attached many of these to a straw hat which she wears with her Girl Scout camping uniform.

Tokens Honor State The Grosse Pointe contingent at the roundup, calling themselves "Les Voyageurs," to reflect our local French background, worked with dedicated advisor Mrs. Earl Wade to make swaps which would remind their Scouting friends of them and of Michigan. The girls attached plastic apple blossoms, the state flower, on to caps for Vernor's gingerale, a Michigan product; they made small canoes of birch bark, and furry wolverines, cut from a discarded beaver coat. Those from Grosse Pointe who worked together on their swaps and went to the roundup include Mary Ellen Barkey, Cathleen Chase, Margery Homfeld, Charlotte Kaspar, Judith Keller, and Linda Vorhees.

Along with the friends that she made at roundup, Laura's most favorable recollections are the international forums. As a member of her camp's Junior Council, it was Laura's privilege to attend the forums personally and then report back to the rest of the scouts in her group. Primary topics of the forums were the futures of the scouts, in terms of education and careers.

Serious About Future Laura is serious about her future and enjoyed the forums immensely. She learned much about her proposed career with the U.S. Foreign Service. To this end, she has been taking honors courses at Grosse Pointe High School in German and French, and hopes to attend Mt. Holyoke College or Duke University. Another of Laura's goals is to enroll for a time at the International Girl Scout chalet in Switzerland.

A real outdoor girl and a credit to her Girl Scout Training, one of Laura's favorite activities is the local scout mounted patrol, of which she is a charter member. She also enjoys camping trips with a hosteling group formed by Laura and some of her friends at the High School. Last weekend, Laura and her brother Greg, who is a junior at Kalamazoo College, set out on an ambitious bicycle trip—all the way to Lansing.

During the winter, when Laura is indoors, she likes to go with fellow members of her Y-Teen group to Grosse Pointe Convalescent Home. She reports that many of her most memorable moments are spent with her older acquaintances there who have, little contact with today's busy teenage world.

Lake Erie Is Not Dead Yet

Predictions of the death of Lake Erie are somewhat premature, according to a University of Michigan fishery authority. All lakes — like babies — die a little every day of life until their death, reminds Karl F. Lagler, chairman of the U-M Department of Fisheries. "Recently there have been repeated reports that Lake Erie is a dying lake," Professor Lagler points out. "True though this statement is, it is equally true of a brand new lake as it is true of a baby from the moment of birth."

The normal process of maturation for Lake Erie started when it was a new lake full of glacial meltwater, chemically almost as pure as rainwater and low in the chemical nutrients necessary to support life. "With the growth, death, and decay of many generations of life, lake water typically becomes more and more fertile," Lagler explains. "Ultimately the lake fills in — then it is dead. Lake Erie, although technically dying, is still the most alive and productive of the Great Lakes."

Lagler, regular commentator on "Conservation Report," radio series produced by the U-M Broadcasting Service (WUOM) for wide distribution, says Ohio biologists report a large hatch of perch in Lake Erie this year, while commercial fishermen are picking up large numbers of walleyes from the 1961 spring hatch.

"Thus, rather than to claim that Lake Erie is a dying lake — or even a lake threatened by disease," he concludes, "The menacing disease is the terrific pollution load being thrust into the west end of the basin. Here, both water quality and the fish population are being changed at a rate so alarming that it leads to the unfortunate half-truth that Lake Erie is a dying lake."

Signs Friend's Name to Charge

Woods police, acting on information given by William Toureau, attendant at Miracle Mile gas station, stopped a 17-year-old girl on Friday, August 10. The young woman's description matched that of a person who had several times obtained supplies at the station by signing a false name.

The girl returned voluntarily with the officers to the station. Upon questioning, she admitted that she had signed tabs with the name of a 16-year-old acquaintance. Toureau became suspicious after the girl had visited the station several times. He began asking her questions, whereupon she left the premises. She is being charged with larceny by trick.

Doelle Named To Authority

John A. Doelle, Park councilman, was appointed a director of the Clinton-Pointes Refuse Disposal Authority by the Park Council at its meeting Monday evening, August 13. Councilman M. C. Patterson was named alternate.

The Park, the Farms and City have renewed an option to purchase the Hartman property in Clinton Township, proposed site for the Clinton-Pointes Refuse Disposal Authority incinerator.

The Farms renewed the option at its meeting August 2. It deposited $10,250 and will bill the Park and City for their shares of the option payment.

The three Pointe cities and Clinton Township have adopted articles of incorporation for the formation of a disposal authority and the eventual construction of an incinerator on the Hartman property.

Park to Rewire Pump Controls

The Park Council resolved in its meeting Monday evening, August 13, to ask for bids for rewiring the automatic controls in its storm water pumping station.

The rewiring will mean that the pumps will go into action more quickly when needed. There will be no delay in getting the water out of the sewers into the Detroit Sanitary Sewer System during a storm. In case of an extremely heavy storm, excess water flows into Fox Creek.

The new wiring should help somewhat in alleviating the flooding problem which Park residents have experienced recently.
