50 and 75, but participants in the Grosse Pointe program range much higher, some having I.Q.'s well into the 80's.

The Grosse Pointe Public School System has, at present, made no provision for a "Type B" program, designed for trainable rather than educable children of extremely limited intelligence, whose I.Q.'s range from 30 to 50.

"Type B" participants may now remain in school until they reach the age of 14, and recent state legislation has provided funds and permission for local schools and county boards to extend "Type B" programs to include children older than 14 and to provide for younger ones who have not previously participated.

The Superintendent has personally attended some of the recent meetings at local, county and state levels to discuss responsibilities, limitations, provisions, requirements and certification for extending "Type B" programs.

Grosse Pointe Public School System psychologists and the Director of Pupil Personnel have also attended these meetings.

The Superintendent promises a further report as soon as state school officials release instructions to the local and county districts.

Policemen Disarm Prisoner

Has Highest Praise

"I have nothing but the highest praise for Officers Handley and Kasper," Director Bailey said. "Any police officer finding himself in such a situation facing a man with a gun, would be justified in opening fire."

"Handley and Kasper, however, handled the matter with cool and level heads. In fact, they took care of the situation in about the coolest manner I have ever witnessed in my years as a policeman. They are to be highly commended for their action," the director added.

Bailey said that Woods and Shores policemen were waiting with machine guns and tear gas, in the event the weapons were needed, but thanks to Handley and Kasper, they were not necessary.

Robertson was taken to the Woods station where he was locked in a cell to await arraignment. A warrant charging felonious assault was approved by Assistant Prosecutor Dale Devlin.

Following the arraignment, Robertson was conveyed to the County Jail by Det. Sgt. Walter O'Dell and Det. Leroy Tobian.

PAYMENT OKAYED

City Engineer Murray Smith certified that the Jess M. Gregory Contracting company has completed the asphalt recapping of various streets throughout the city, and recommended to the Farms council on Monday, November 5, that the firm be paid the sum of $6,000, leaving a balance of $607.41. The overall cost of the recapping program was $62,307.41.

Director Bailey Arrives

The officers continued talking to the man, Director Bailey arrived and tried to reason with Robertson, but without success. The director stood in the doorway of the bedroom as he talked, not wishing to make any moves that might endanger his men.

Robertson asked to talk to his wife, and the policemen said he could do so, if he handed over his gun. Robertson refused.

During the conversation, Robertson kept repeating to Handley and Kasper, "I don't want to harm you two, but I will if you force me", evidently referring to any attempts to take the gun away from him.

In the meantime, the other policemen entered the house, but remained outside of the bedroom.

Both Jump on Him

Kasper was standing about five feet away, facing Robertson, and Handley was about three feet away, when they saw their chance. As Robertson was talking, he momentarily pointed his gun away from the officers, and they leaped upon and all fell on the bed.

As Handley was struggling to wrest the gun from Robertson, the weapon discharged and the bullet barely missed Kasper's legs, and passed within about a foot of Director Bailey who had stepped into the room, and ended itself in the closet door.

As the struggle continued, the gun again went off, and this bullet hit the night stand and dropped to the floor.

The other officers rushed into the room to help subdue Robertson. Patrolman Kensora struck Robertson on the left side of the head with the butt of a shotgun, stunning the man, who was then easily disarmed and handcuffed.

Library Friends Hear W. F. Woods

Willis F. Woods, new director of the Detroit Institute of Arts, was the speaker at the season's first public meeting of The Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Library, held Friday evening November 9, at Central Library.

An audience which taxed the capacity of the second-floor exhibition room heard Mr. Woods explain and interpret his subject, "Contemporary Art," in terms that were understandable and enlightening.

"Art evokes some sort of emotional response," said Mr. Woods. "Your state of being should be changed in some respect by having seen a work of art."

Using color slides to illustrate his points, Mr. Woods traced the development of contemporary art from its beginnings in 19th Century France. In discussing his examples, he pointed out that the three basic concerns of contemporary artists are structure, decoration and emotion.

Mrs. Stirling Loud, chairman of the meeting, announced a new service of the Library under the sponsorship of the Friends. This is a rental collection of original paintings by Grosse Pointe artists now available for the modest monthly charge of $2.50. The paintings are on display in the exhibition room and may be rented by any Grosse Pointe resident.

Church Offers Vesper Service

The annual Fall Vesper Service of Music will be presented at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Presbyterian Church on Sunday afternoon, November 18, at 4 o'clock.

Malcolm Johns, organist and choirmaster, will play an organ recital of chorale preludes from the works of Bach, Michelson, Dupre, Vaughan Williams, and Karg Elert. Each chorale tune will be sung prior to the playing of the prelude of each composer.

Marian Johns, director of Youth Choirs, will conduct the Junior, Adult and Chancel Choirs and instrumentalists. Handel's "Awake the Trumpets' Lofty Sound" from the oratorio "Samson" will be the final choral work.

The console of the Allan Sheldon Memorial Organ, from which some 4,000 pipes are played, will be placed in the center of the chancel for this service. The organ is composed of seven separate divisions placed in various areas of the sanctuary.

Dennis Jones, carillonneur, will play a short carillon recital prior to the service. Immediately following the Vesper Mr. Jones will demonstrate the bells in the Carillon room at the top of the church tower. The new Choir Room will be open also to visitors at the close of the service.

Ticket Issued Following Crash

City police issued a ticket for reckless driving to a 16-year-old boy on Friday, November 9, after being informed of an accident at Maumee and Cadieux by the Park Police Department.

The teenager, who had been travelling north on Cadieux, ran his car into the rear of a '57 Ford, parked at the curb, owned by Bert Weying, 629 University, pushing it, in turn, into the rear of a parked '60 Falcon station wagon owned by Clarence E. Day, Jr., 530 Cadieux.

The boy escaped without injury, but all three cars were damaged.

Belligerent Driver Meets Accommodating Officer

Edward J. Grifford, Sr., 53, of 22343 Hanson court, St. Clair Shores, dared a Woods policeman to lock him up, and found that the officer was very obliging.

The arresting officer, Al Abend, gave Grifford two tickets, one for driving while his license was suspended and another for being a disorderly person.

Abend said that while he was cruising on Mack on Friday, November 9, he saw a panel truck stop at the Torrey intersection. A man got out, staggered and fell to the pavement.

The officer drove his scout car to the front of the truck to investigate. Grifford picked himself up from the pavement and became belligerent, and said, "I dare you to lock me up, you . . ."

Abend asked Grifford for his driver's license, and was informed that it had been revoked.

As Abend and Grifford were talking, Robert Anderson, an employee of the Public Safety Department arrived, and Grifford tried to fight with him.

Grifford swung and missed. He was subdued and forced to sit in the scout car.

At the station, Grifford charged that Abend and Anderson used too much force and that he had injured his arm, but Dr. Clarence Candler, Woods City Physician, examined Grifford and found that he did not even have a bruise.

Grifford was locked up in the Wayne County Jail when he could not post $150 bond, pending an appearance before Woods Judge Don Goodrow.

VANDALISM REPORTED

Vandals damaged two 38x38 windows on the Sunningdale side of Parcels Junior High School, according to a complaint recorded with Woods police on Thursday, November 12, by school officials. Replacement of the windows cost $20 each plus labor, it was said. One window was smashed with a flower pot and the other by BB shots.

Children's Book Week Observed

To celebrate Children's Book Week, November 10-17, the Grosse Pointe Public Library, Kercheval and Fisher roads, is pleased to announce that a special exhibit of original art work will be on display.

Miss Marion Lampman, Art Instructor at the Grosse Pointe High School, has planned a special project with her General Arts Class. The children's book, "The Talking Cat and Other Stories of French Canada" by Natalie Carlson has been used as the basis for a painting problem. Each student was asked to illustrate in his own way, his reaction to one of the stories. The result is very refreshing and interesting to see.

The following students are represented in the exhibit which may be viewed until November 17: Jim Lyle, Ghostly Fisherman; Sue Teague and Nancy McGill, Speckled Hen's Egg; Bob Stevens, Kurt Schurck and Ken Meek, Canoe in the Rapids; Patricia Walker, Skunk in Tante Odette's Oven; Sally Glaesner, Tante Odette's Oven.

Telephone lines

OPERATION TELEPHONE! Doctors will soon be able to transmit medical data direct from a patient's body to remote recording instruments anywhere in the country—by telephone. It'll be made possible with special DATA-PHONE sets, now under development at the Bell Telephone Laboratories. Transmissions of x-rays and electrocardiograms by telephone have already been tested successfully. Termed a major advance in medical communications, this system means, for example, that consulting specialists in distant cities could receive instant data on a patient's heart performance—even during an actual operation.

TAKE A TURKEY with all the trimmings, add the family 'round the table, and what do you have? A Happy Thanksgiving! But even if someone in the family can't be with you, there's one sure way to keep the day joyful. A Long Distance telephone call, of course. It's the next best thing to being together... spreads holiday cheer at both ends of the line. Rates are lower all Thanksgiving Day and, on calls within Michigan, lowest after 9 p.m. when you can call any place within the state for 50 cents or less, excluding taxes.

DOWN WITH RUST! Michigan Bell has recently developed a new rustproofing method for its 4,600 trucks and cars. The new method is designed to prevent car rust caused by corrosives used on icy streets. Developed by our motor equipment maintenance people, the process uses a new protective coating on metal surfaces and is expected to save $40,000 a year in the operation of our motor fleet. It's another Michigan Bell cost-cutting technique that helps us keep the price of telephone service low.

line of the property, directly behind the first house on Bournemouthe road, but refused to consider closing the present entrance - exit onto Bournemouthe, (1) the grounds that it would interfere with their leases.

Area residents will be given an opportunity to express their views on the parking lot problem at tonight's meeting.

The "Resident Taxpayers Committee of Bournemouthe Road" in their May 7 petition, requested relief from rat-in-festation as a result of unsanitary parking lot conditions and asked that the Council consider closing the Bournemouthe parking lot entrance west of Mack avenue on the grounds that it constituted a danger to children.

The Council, at that time, supported the residents' demands for a general clean-up and the City undertook to do the actual job, after receiving a verbal promise that it would be reimbursed for expenses incurred.

Reimbursement was received this past week.

The residents again appeared before the Council, meeting in regular session, on Monday, November 5, protesting that the parking lot had become dirty once more, rats were still a major problem, and nothing had been done in regard to closing the existing entrance-exit.

Councilman Thomas E. Leah, himself a Bourne. outh resident, moved that the matter be placed on every regular Council agenda until it had been settled, and Council called a special Committee-of-the-Whole meeting for Monday, November 12.

Property owners of the 7 Mile-Mack shopping center were directed to be present at this meeting and interested residents were advised that they would be given an opportunity to air their views.

Later in the week, the residents were informed via mail that their appearance before the Committee-of-the-Whole would be postponed until Thursday, November 15.

Board of Education Hears Reports on Various Items

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education heard reports on a variety of items at its regular meeting Monday evening. Curriculum developments, student discipline problems, and progress of construction on building additions were discussed.

Student smoking on school grounds was inquired into by the school trustees. High School Principal Jerry Gerich stated that a few individuals sometimes violated the no-smoking rule but that by far most of the students demonstrated responsible citizenship. Warnings are given first offenders, but students are sent home on subsequent violations. They may be re-admitted only if their parents accompany them to school for a conference on the situation, Mr. Gerich said.

Robert Welch, High School English Teacher, reported on a special curriculum project he coordinated last year. He indicated that the junior and senior high school English departments were making substantial progress in achieving better articulation between the two levels and in defining more exactly the courses of study at each grade.

As a result of Mr. Welch's work, several manuals have been published by the school system for faculty use. They cover the technical and comparative skills needed by English students as well as skills in the area of literature. A teacher's guide to the teaching of reading is yet another pamphlet now ready for staff use.

The progress of construction at Richard and Brownell was reported. Current progress suggests that the two-classroom addition being built at Richard will be ready for occupancy right after Thanksgiving recess. Cabinet work, floor tile, ceiling installation, and a final coat of paint are all that remain to be done.

The Brownell addition won't be ready until the Christmas holidays, school officials reported. This two-room addition consists of a choral room and an instrumental music room.

Some items of work on the High School guidance center were reported as not meeting and foyer to create a great classic columned hall. Huge glass panels were set between the columns to provide a sweeping view of the lake.

Limestone trim on a stucco background, in keeping with the original structure, was used for the exterior of the new building.

Given Air of Elegance

Turning his attention to the interior of the building, Gibson said that the banquet-ballroom, large enough to accommodate 350 persons, takes on an air of elegance through the use of walnut parquet flooring and a series of large crystal chandeliers.

"A grand staircase," he said, "sweeps down to the auditorium foyer below. This foyer opens to the lakeside terrace of the original structure—allowing the audience to enjoy a pleasant stroll in the gardens during intermissions. The auditorium, itself, will seat approximately 450 persons."

Reminiscing momentarily, Gibson recalled that the original structure, a Renaissance style mansion built in 1910 as the Russell A. Alger residence, was designed by Charles Platt of New York, who was among the foremost architects of his day.

Fine Basic Design

Gibson explained, "An excellent design standard had already been established when it was decided to attempt the current expansion."

He further recalled that the Alger family later donated the residence to the Detroit Institute of Arts and that, for many years Alger House served as a branch museum. Some what afeared, the mansion was returned to the family and being unused, was threatened with demolition... "a calamity averted thanks to the impassioned pleas of many spirited Grosse Pointers."

"A particularly vivid recollection during the ensuing drive," he added, "is that of the eloquent plea voiced by Mrs. Ellen Shipman.

Mrs. Shipman was responsible for the landscape architecture of the entire lakefront development and innumerable Grosse Pointe residences and mansions, as well as the extremely beautiful War Memorial Gardens.

Given To Community

"Needless to say," Gibson continued, "the drive succeeded and this extremely beautiful building became, again as a gift of the Alger family, the Grosse Pointe War Memorial—a community center for Grosse Pointers."

He concluded: "As both a resident and as an architect, I join with my fellow citizens of today and tomorrow in saluting the many persons responsible for the creation, contribution and continued existence of this outstanding facility—a tribute to the late Russell A. Alger family, William Hayes Fries, and our honored war dead, in whose memory the structure has been dedicated."

Four Finalists Selected By Committee from AFS

"American Field Service is one of the first organizations to attempt to eliminate the prejudices, ignorances, and misunderstandings that have contributed to the causes of so many wars. I feel I can contribute to the growth of the understanding that must prevail if our world is to survive."

This excerpt is from an essay by Jim Wunsch, Grosse Pointe High School honoree for a period of study abroad under the auspices of the American Field Service student exchange program. Jim, one of four GPHS AFS finalists, is applying for the AFS summer program.

The other three finalists, Diane Stewart, Linda Duvall and Ann Noecker, are applying for either the summer or full-year program. Like Jim, they are all members of the class of '64, and if one were chosen to spend the entire year abroad, he or she would be unable to graduate with his or her class at Grosse Pointe High.

None of the four is automatically assured a trip to a foreign country. They still have to submit applications to AFS headquarters in New York, and are busy writing the two essays which must accompany these applications. Recommendations and records are sent from the school itself to AFS' head office, where final selection is made.

The chosen students' dossier are then sent abroad, AFS officials conduct an extensive search for suitable homes or seas, and, if homes are found, the young Americans go to foreign countries as exchange students.

Any or all of Grosse Pointe High's four finalists could be selected, on the basis of information forwarded to the New York office.

Mrs. Ruth Flom, dean of girls, a member of the High School AFS interviewing committee, described the chosen students as able to communicate, to "plain" the American way of life.

"They are the kind of people who smile and look you right in the eye when they talk to you," said Mrs. William Adams, another interviewing committee member.

The interviewers checked each applicant thoroughly, for out how they conducted themselves with their fellow students. Contributions to school and community were examined, and an applicant was required to write an essay on the AFS program.

"Our decision," said Mrs. Flom, "was based on much more than a student's honor page average."

National finalists will be notified in late January or early February.

From Guaiqua viewers v board a steamer hauled piece over the Andes mules. An overnight trip v take them to Puno where trains for Cuzco, the ancient capital of the Incas. From Cuzco the journey continues by air, carried up to Machu Picchu deserted city of the early civilization located high in the Andes on a tributary of Amazon.

Introducing Pointe's Newest Teachers

Shown examining WHITEY, the huge white rabbit who calls a kindergarten classroom in Barnes School home, are L to R: DIANE LEVERING, French teacher who also teaches at Ferry and Mason schools; FLORENCE CUMINGS, Barnes' principal; IRENE

LOWTHER, kindergarten; DIANE HOHL, Grade 2; and LYNDIA TIDEMANN, Grade 3. Mrs. Lowther and Mrs. Hohl are former Grosse Pointe teachers returning to the classroom after several years separation from the school system.

Barnes School was happy to welcome back a former teacher this fall. Mrs. Irene Lowther, who taught four years at the Vernier, Kerby and Barnes schools before resigning several years ago, has returned to take an afternoon kindergarten class.

A graduate of Detroit's Southeastern High, she attended Michigan State before earning her degree at Wayne State University. After teaching a year in Fairfax County, Virginia, she became a Grosse Pointe staff member. Husband Jesse teaches physical education at Kerby and Richard and daughter Jane Ann is in the Mason kindergarten.

Diane Klein Hohl's background is very similar to that of Mrs. Lowther's. She, too, taught five years in Barnes and Montclair classrooms before resigning and has returned to teach second grade at Barnes. Further, she graduated from Southeastern, Michigan State (B.A.) and Wayne (M.A.). In addition, she has done graduate work at San Francisco State. While in the west coast she taught in Long Beach and Daly City. Her daughter, 18 months old, is her chief interest and occupies her attention outside of school.

Teaching French in a demanding position Diana Levering finds. She divides her time between Barnes, Ferry and Mason schools, instructing 4th, 5th, and 6th grade pupils. A native of Milwaukee, she earned her degree at the University of Minnesota last June. While there, she was tapped for Mortar Board, Pi Lambda Theta and Eta Sigma (education honorary). Also, she was vice president of her sorority and a U. of M. cheerleader. Reading, bridge, skating and swimming are hobbies. She resides in Lothrop road.

Lyndia Tidemann is teaching third grade at Barnes this fall. She was born in Minneapolis but finished high school in Hopkins, Minnesota. A graduate, summa cum laude, of Gustavus Adolphus College, she was active in campus affairs. She was a member of Iota Delta Gamma and two honorary societies; Guild of St. Lucia and Guild of St. Ansgar. Prior teaching experience was gained in the Neveln, Minnesota and

Stalled Car Hit in Rear

If John Vasich's '56 Chevrolet had not broken down on Jefferson at University place, it might never have been involved in an accident.

Vasich, 533 Vernier, was traveling west on Jefferson early Thursday morning, November 8, when the breakdown occurred. The signal light at University was green, and Earl Drenberg, 25242 Magdalena, Mt. Clemens, not realizing Vasich had stalled, drove his '60 Valiant into the rear of Vasich's vehicle.

No tickets were issued and damage was minor.

Moline, Illinois schools. In the latter school system, she was grade level chairman and chairman of a system-wide math committee. Musical interests include playing the clarinet and directing a girls' choir. Her husband is a vicar in Detroit's Immanuel Lutheran Church.

More than 4,000 University of Michigan students studied foreign languages last year in the U-M language laboratories.

Foundation Set For Open House

In honor of National Retarded Children Week, the Foundation For Exceptional Children will have open house from 9:30 to 1:30 o'clock on November 19, 20 and 21. The public is cordially invited.

The spectacular Andes are next crossed on the trip to cloud shrouded Lima, Peru where planes must land by instrument on a narrow strip by the sea. Lima is a wonderful city in which to stop for silver and nearby Miraflores is a must stop to visit the studios of Truman Bailey, coordinator of Inter-American Art.

Metropolitan Lima boasts of its Presidential Palace, the Cathedral where Pizarro is buried and like Rio, its country club and race track.

After Lima, the Temples will take their guests up into the high wild country of Bolivia to the festival at the original Copacabana on the shores of Lake Titicaca, the highest navigable lake in the world. This is an unusually colorful scene with each Indian tribe dressed in native costume and dancing traditional rituals to reed pipes.

Officers Attend Police Institute

Detective Lt. Arnold F. Hough of Grosse Pointe Park and Sgt. Jack Mast of Grosse Pointe Woods were among top Michigan police officers participating in a Police Management Institute Nov. 5-9 at Michigan State University.

The institute, one of the first of its kind in the nation, offers advanced training at the highest level of police administration.

Lawrence J. Baril, director of the MSU Law Enforcement Training Program, said the institute answers a demand by police authorities for studies more sophisticated and comprehensive than previously offered.

"Police today are expanding their role beyond that of simple law enforcement to that of enlightened crime prevention, and are working more closely with other community agencies and the public in seeking solutions to common social problems," Baril said.

"Managing a modern police department is big business," he added, "and administration as a police function is no different than in industry."

The course, Baril noted, places increased emphasis on budget problems, executive development programs, professional management procedures, planning and research programs, implementation of policy and community relations.

The institute was held at the Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, and was sponsored by the MSU School of Police Administration.

Farms Submits Building Report

The Farms Building Department has issued one more construction permit this year, from January 1 to October 31, than last year during the same time, yet new building valuation has dropped off almost one million dollars. The valuation includes that of non-assessable property.

According to a monthly report submitted by City Engineer Murray M. Smith, during the 10-month period of 1962, a total of 101 various type building permits were issued on structures valued at a total of $1,345,100. This figure includes two permits for non-assessable buildings worth $150,000.

During the same period of 1961, Smith's report revealed, 100 permits were granted by his department for property valued at $2,251,250, including permits for these non-assessable buildings valued at $1,313,000.

From January 1 through October 31 of this year, 21 permits were approved for residential construction valued at $902,000; one permit for a business building valued at $33,000; and 77 miscellaneous permits for constructions worth $260,000.

During the same period in 1961, it was disclosed, 10 residential permits were granted for homes valued at $486,000; three for businesses worth $155,000; and 84 miscellaneous permits valued at $297,250.

Last month, the Building Department approved two permits for homes valued at a total of $131,000; and nine permits for miscellaneous construction, worth $27,900. No business or non-assessable permits were applied for, it was disclosed.

During the same time last year, three residential construction permits were okayed for homes valued at a total of $175,000; and 12 miscellaneous permits, for property worth a total of $36,700. No applications were received for business or non-assessable constructions, Smith's report showed.

Last month's two residential construction permits were for a $41,000 home at 28 Oldbrook; and a $90,000 home at 72 Lake Shore road.

A permit was issued for the demolition of two stores, 336-368 Kercheval, which were destroyed by fire in January of this year.

Pierce Offers Night of Plays

The traditional "Night of Plays" program will be given Friday evening, November 16, in the Pierce Junior High School Auditorium at 8 o'clock.

A select group of students from the school orchestra will be seated in the pit to open the evening's entertainment. Dr. Thomas Moore will conduct their playing of "Men of Harlech," a Welsh Air, as well as "Alma Mater."

The seventh grade drama group is presenting "Angle Evans: Private Eye" by George Williams. In this comedy we have eighteen-year-old Angle, played by Mike Maur, taking down Half Pint Oglevie, a dangerous criminal. Others in the cast of enthusiastic actors include: Linda Hoyt as Mrs. Evans; Elven Duval as Barney; Sue Radcliffe as Drisy; Robin Foucher as Betty Miller and a guest star as the policewoman.

Scott Walri is chairman of the stage crew. He will be assisted on props by Heather Hogue, Mary Sweet and Debby Domzalski. The prompters are Lynne Cooper and David Beaufait, while Alan Fortunski manages the set. Miss Judith Buckley is the faculty director.

Mr. John Mason of the Pierce faculty is director of the other play "A Mad Breakfast" by Isabel Gray. Lucy Elmer is acting as prompter for the play which shows what can happen if a practical joker, Mr. Jones, invites a gentleman in search of a mental institution to a boarding house. Dave Andersen is portrayed as Mr. Jones, while Lee Lewis stars as Mr. Long, the gentleman. Other male characters are Mr. Hill played by Bob Miller and Mr. Roberts by Dick Welch.

The feminine characters are: Mrs. Simpkins portrayed by Denise Backinger; Lizzie played by Cissie Large; Miss Brown is Nancy Piester; Miss Green is Sandra Pearsall; Mrs. Hill is Gwen Wilner and Miss Smith is Whitney Neiman.

There will be two added attractions to enhance the evening's entertainment. A group has worked out a "between plays" skit. The participants in the skit for between acts' entertainment are: Doug McNeill, Sara Duvall, Dick Usher, Doug Frey, Eileen Eckert, Nancy Hendee, Chris Hawkins, Jim Montgomery and Brian Manoo-gian.

Miss Margaret Schmidt is coaching the take-off on TV shows, which is titled "The Truth to Tell." Also, the Boys' Glee Club will sing "Shine on Harvest Moon" and "Play a Simple Melody" under Mr. Herman Clein's direction.

Tickets may be purchased at the school or at the box office on Friday evening, November 16, prior to the 8 o'clock performance.

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Patricia Talbot

If the thought of a 20-pound turkey stuffed with chestnuts seems a bit too mundane for your holiday board you might contact Mrs. Robert Sucek for some gourmet suggestions.

Mrs. S. is a talented cook in the Cordon Bleu tradition and is sharing her knowledge with two weekly cooking classes. When she is not teaching cooking she works in a wine shop, which is just an extension of her passion for the culinary arts.

Every Monday a small group meets in her Fisher road home to brew tasty menus, which are then eaten with the appropriate wines before the cooking scholars wash up and go home.

Burns Henry is the lone male in the class but the other gourmets, Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Harold Tyree, Mary Macauley, Mrs. Douglas Smart and Mrs. Irving Fosterling welcome his masculine outlook in the kitchen.

The class began with hors d'oeuvre and is working itself through a full course menu. Beef stroganoff, pate aux choux, cream of sorrel soup, soufflé Grand Marnier, pheasant under glass, these are just some of the delicacies Mrs. Sucek's class have already cooked and consumed.

Mrs. S. also holds a class for the young married matrons which, if it follows true to Cordon Bleu habits, must be hard on the household budget.

Christmas Greenery

Every holiday one of the most festive halls in town is the Winter Green Show displayed by the Michigan Horticultural Society at the Detroit Historical Museum. This season the show will open December 4 and continue through December 9.

Mrs. Wilson W. Mills is again honorary chairman and some of the Pointe's cleverest flower arrangers are entering exhibits. Mrs. Herbert Epstein will work with eggshell shadow boxes; Mrs. David C. Lowe, with a sleigh and Mrs. Watson Beach with an historic container loaned by the museum.

Christmas packages will be done by Mrs. Carl Engel and Mrs. Robert Lewis; Mrs. Elmore W. Frank will do buffet arrangements; Mrs. Roland Postel will arrange wreaths for doors or windows; Mrs. Robert Quaid will deck the mantel; Mrs. Forest Coulter has small niche arrangements and Mrs. Frederick Condit will stage outside door decor.

There will be a Christmas greens workshop conducted by Mrs. William J. Sullivan and Mrs. Ralph E. Keller during the exhibit and the society will honor exhibitors, chairmen and trustees with a preview December 3 at 8 o'clock.

Another Holiday Sale

Bon Secours Hospital Guild members have laid aside their Christmas cards and are concentrating on preparing for the November 30 fair to aid the hospital building fund.

The gala will be opened at 10 o'clock in the Science Hall and will feature aprons, baked goods, country store delicacies, dolls, toys, linens, flowers and Yule decorations.

Fair chairmen include Mrs. Herbert Kelleher, Mrs. Joseph Renaud, Mrs. Edward Flemming, Mrs. Russell Bieke, Mrs. Raymond Laige, Mrs. Harold Frear and Mrs. Hugh Bevier.

St. Clare Plans Seminary Tea

The Archconfraternity of St. Clare of Montefalco Parish is adding a cultural aspect to their annual Augustinian Seminary Benefit Tea this year.

On display during the afternoon will be facsimiles of two beautiful books famous in Church History; The Book of Kells and the Gutenberg Bible. Both of these tomes have been graciously loaned to the Archconfraternity by the Villanova University Library.

Attendance at the tea will provide the guests a rare opportunity to view these books, which because of their great value, are seldom put on exhibition.

Several members of the committee will be on hand to give pertinent facts concerning them. All interested parties are invited to attend.

The tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Henry Zdrozdowski, on Berkshire road, on Wednesday, November 28, from 2 to 5 o'clock. All donations will be used for the benefit of Tolentine College at Olympia Fields, Ill., which is the Augustinian Major Seminary in the Midwest Province.

Among the hostesses pouring tea will be the mothers of Augustinian priests and seminarians.

Harper Aides Stitch Puppets

Sewers will stitch all day long on Friday, November 16, at the Ridge road home of Mrs. Z. Stephen Bonn.

The reason for all of this activity is a group of 25 Harper Hospital Auxiliaries who will mass produce "Pinkie" the puppet which is given to each pediatric patient at Harper Hospital. The children clamor for these delightful puppets and a large supply is always needed.

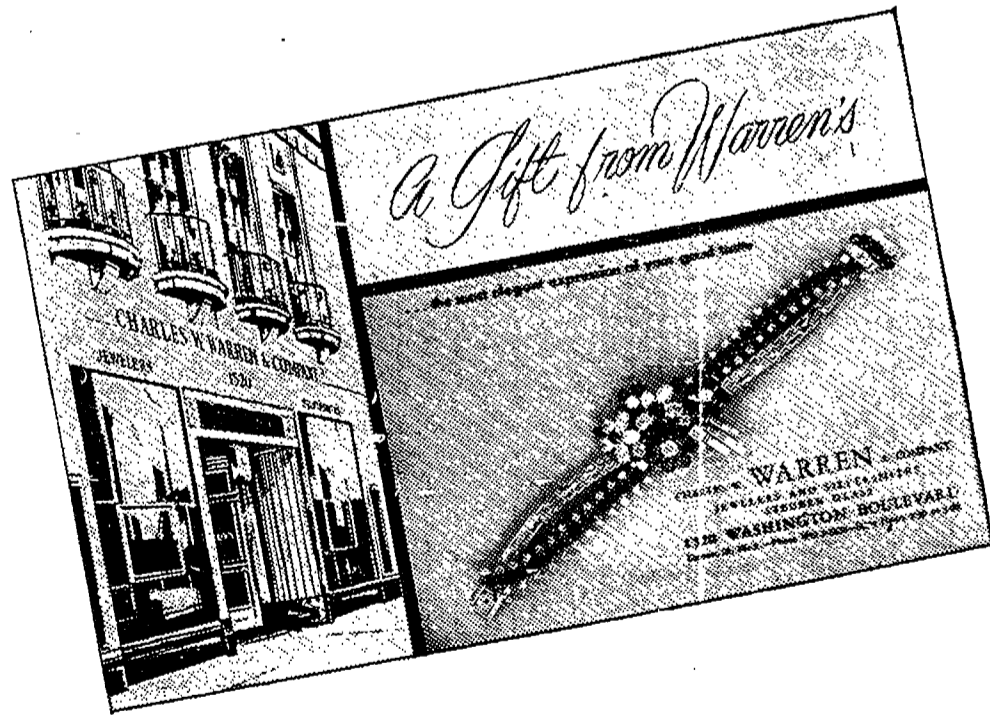

Some of the Grosse Pointe women who will be sewing are Mesdames: William Nagel, Luft Sa'di, Clifford D. Benson, Earl G. Merritt, Lyle G. Waggoner, Robert W. Black, John J. Corbett, Richard C. Connelly, and George E. Cartmill.

The Harper Hospital Auxiliary's delightful Centennial Calendar (1963) is now available. This is a special edition celebrating Harper's 100 years in existence.

Mrs. Lyndie R. Martin has been a very hard working chairman of the project—the proceeds of which will go to the Harper Hospital Resident Medical Research Fund.

Among the keggers were Mr. and Mrs. Don DeKeyser, Mr. and Mrs. Don Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wetzel, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. A. John Cutting, Steve Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Woodward Warrick and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nagel.

Hunt Club Show

Mrs. Edward Henkel, Jr., of Whittier road, is very busy these days selecting a committee to organize the first schooling horse show of the 1962-63 season at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club to be held the Saturday after Thanksgiving, November 24.

Leslie P. McDougal has accepted a job as one of the gate stewards while Mrs. McDougal puts her new horse through his paces for the first time that day.

Mrs. W. Fraser Vipond, of Berkshire road, heads the ladies who will keep the records in the secretary's stand for both the morning and afternoon performances.

Dystrophy Drive Starting Nov. 15

The annual drive to raise funds for the Detroit Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America will be kicked off Thursday evening in the grand ballroom of the Fort Shelby Hotel, according to Paul Millitello, the Organization's Regional Director.

Over 200 committeemen who will spearhead the 1962 drive, which runs through December 15, will be on hand to formulate plans for the December 4 "March Against Time." This is the night when some 20,000 volunteer women will ring every doorbell in Wayne County in hopes of raising over a quarter of a million dollars to fight this incurable disease that annually takes the lives of thousands of small children.

David T. Nederlander, known to hundreds of Detroiters for his many years in the legitimate theater business, especially with the Shubert, Lafayette and Fisher, has been named chairman of the 1962 Muscular Dystrophy Drive for Southwestern Michigan. Known to his close friends as D. T., Mr. Nederlander has expressed high hopes that the Motor City will top the country in contributions during this nationwide campaign.

As has been the case for many years, movie star Jerry Lewis is National Chairman of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, National Campaign Chairman is Mrs. Lou Gehrig, widow of the famous Yankee first baseman, himself a victim of a similar disease. The Country's first lady, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, is Honorary Chairman of the 1962 National Campaign, while Mrs. John Swainson will fill the same role for the State of Michigan.

A disease that strikes children shortly after birth, Muscular Dystrophy still baffles medical science so far as a sure cure is concerned. However, according to Dr. Max Newman, Director of Detroit's M.D. Medical Center, much progress against the germ has been made during the past five years. Only a few years ago most children afflicted by the disease died before reaching twelve years of age. Today, the lives of many victims have been extended five to ten years.

In making plans for the 1962 fund raising campaign, Dr. Newman said yesterday that he feels almost certain that a cure is not far away. "Maybe not tomorrow, but with the help of so many millions of people throughout the United States, this disease, just like polio, is bound to be conquered."

League Studies Tax Problems

Tax problems of Michigan will be examined by Grosse Pointe League of Women Voters members at their regular unit meetings in November. Mrs. Taylor Seeber will lead the discussions, using as a study guide a new publication from the League of Women Voters of Michigan entitled "Statutory Aspects of Taxation."

Along with other local leagues in Michigan, the Grosse Pointe League studied the state tax structure before the Constitutional Convention and came to consensus on a set of tax standards which they then supported during the deliberations of the Convention. The present study is an attempt at re-evaluation of those standards, and consensus will be reached on the re-evaluation by December 15.

Discussion will cover such areas as what type of tax is best to meet the needs of Michigan's expanding population, how equity should be added to the taxation of business, and whether local units of government should be allowed to levy other than property taxes.

The first unit meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Delmar Robertson, 25 Radnor circle, on Tuesday, November 20, at 8 p.m.

On Monday, November 26, Mrs. Walter Jensen, 852 Whit-tier, will be hostess at 9:30 a.m.

A new unit will meet for the first time at the home of Mrs. Henry Evjen, 1073 S. Brys drive, on Wednesday, November 28, at 9:45 a.m.

Membership in the league is open to any woman citizen over the age of 21. Membership chairman is Mrs. Tom R. Mason, TU 5-8132.

That Hard-Working Girl May Really Be a Fraud

The girl behind the counter of your local retail store may be a fraud. So may the new typist in the store's personnel department, the new filing clerk in a local business office.

They may all look like competent employees — a bit young, perhaps, but self-assured and self-reliant. They are probably doing an excellent job, and draw regular weekly paychecks. It's difficult to realize, as they wait on you or type some complicated manifesto for the "boss," that they are not precisely what they seem, that they are all students and that, in a very real sense, they are "in school" all the time they are taking orders, typing orders, filling orders.

They are members of Grosse Pointe High School's office education trainee and retailing student programs, and they are receiving 10 school credit hours, as well as a salary (between $1 and $1.30 an hour), for on-the-job work experience.

All are paid for the work they do, most work from 1:30 to 4 p.m. five days a week. Some hold evening or Saturday jobs. Some work on an evening-Saturday-all week combination basis.

They must attend one retailing class and elect two or three other courses, are dismissed from school early in order to hurry to their jobs.

Businesses employing these students include Guardian Steel, the J. L. Hudson Co., Winkelman's, Jacobson's, Sears, Robuck and Company, J. C. Penney Co., Inc., Blue Cross, Security Federal Savings and Loan Company, S. S. Kresge Co., Himehloch Brothers, and B. Siegel's.

Combined income of last year's retailing students amounted to over $13,000. The student workers are in great demand, according to distributive and office education coordinator Robert Hoyer. "This year we do not have enough students to fill the demands of business employers who have offered jobs to our students," Mr. Hoyer notes proudly.

Nineteen others are employed as dictaphone operators, typists, correspondents, filists, duplicators, bookkeepers and other office workers; the remainder have jobs as sales workers, cashiers, stockers, markers and coders, display helpers.
