HEADLINES

of the WEEK

BRITAIN'S PRIME MINISTER Harold Macmillan yesterday charged that French President Charles de Gaulle is trying to "dominate" Europe. In a television address, seen and heard in France, Germany, Denmark, Belgium, Sweden and Italy as well as England, Macmillan urged Britons to demonstrate the same strength and determination they had shown in World War II, warning that stringent measures will be necessary if the nation is to expand its economy, find new markets and combat inflation. "We must rely on our own determination and vigor," the Prime Minister said. "It is the kind of situation in which we have always done brilliantly in the past—and so we will do again."

WASHINGTON'S ULTIMATUM that Canada must arm its United States-supplied Bomarc missiles and Voodoo Jet interceptors with nuclear warheads has precipitated the most serious U. S.-Canadian breach in decades. The State Department, in a statement released to the press Wednesday night at approximately the same time it was delivered to the Canadian Embassy, severely criticized Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's refusal to equip Canadian rockets and planes with American nuclear warheads. The U.S. considers such armament necessary to adequately defend North America, and believes the Soviet bomber threat will remain constant at least through the 1960s.

Saturday, February 2

SOVIET PREMIER Nikita S. Khrushchev may meet with French President Charles de Gaulle later in the year. Informed Communist sources have revealed that the Russian leader is considering such a meeting to find out what the French President has to "offer." Khrushchev is said to be "plainly puzzled" by de Gaulle's policy and intrigued by the disarray and discontent which it has caused among Western European nations. In Paris, de Gaulle's aides insist the French leader has no intention of making a "deal" with Khrushchev and has no immediate plans for a get-together with the Soviet Premier, but Communist sources say diplomatic feelers are being put out.

Sunday, February 3

ZOLTAN A. FERENCY became State Chairman of the Michigan Democratic Party yesterday, replacing John J. (Joe) Collins. Labor Democrats, aided by ex-Governor John B. Swainson, succeeded in pushing Ferency into the state's top party post over opposition from newly-elected Democratic congressman-at-large Neil Stabler and other Democratic elected officials.

Monday, February 4

FORTY WESTERN EUROPEAN politicians, meeting in secret session at Brussels, Belgium, have agreed that French President Charles de Gaulle poses "a more deadly threat to Western Europe and the Free World than Russian Communism." All Common Market nations except France were represented at the Brussels session which opens today in Strasbourg, France, was laid. According to Netherlands Government sources who attended the meeting, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, West Germany and Italy are all convinced of "the dire necessity to put an immediate stop to de Gaulle's bid for domination of Europe."

Tuesday, February 5

RAYMOND F. CLEVENGER resigned yesterday as director of Michigan Democrats' Spring campaign. The State Corporation and Securities Commissioner, angered by the Democratic convention's ouster of state chairman John J. (Joe) Collins, gave a desire to devote more time to his job and to campaigning for the election of Paul L. Adams, one of his party's nominees for the State Supreme Court, as formal reasons for his resignation.

Ferry School Adds to Art Collection

At an all-school assembly last week, Ferry School students had their first look at two new pictures which were to be hung in the school foyer. Both had a patriotic theme, an emphasis of our national heritage. A fine likeness of George Washington is one of the new acquisitions and the other is a painting of the Statue of Liberty. Pictures of Betsy Ross and the first flag, Columbus' discovery of America, and a bas-relief of Abraham Lincoln round out the collection which has long hung in the school. All of the pictures now will be displayed in the large lobby near the main entrance to the building for all to enjoy. The unveiling of the new pictures is shown above as all of the collection was displayed to the student body. They gather in a similar fashion for a flag ceremony or suitable patriotic observance at least once a month. In addition every class makes a special point to emphasize some aspect of our cultural heritage each day. Dr. Charles H. Wilson, Superintendent of Schools, (left) was a guest of the student body for this occasion. Principal Edwin Wendt is at the right.

Defer Vote On Plea to Build Porch

Woods Council Checking Alleged Violations Of Code Before Rendering Decision

The Grosse Pointe Woods City Council, meeting as a Board of Appeals Monday night, February 4, voted to defer decision on James C. Bley's request for a variance of the rear yard provisions of the Woods' zoning ordinance for two weeks, during which time Council will conduct a study of existing violations.

Bley, 1584 Cook road, wants to build an enclosed porch which will encroach 4 feet 10 inches upon the rear yard minimum requirements of the Zoning Ordinance. The present code permits unenclosed porches but denies permission for all-weather, heated rooms.

Several of Bley's neighbors objected to the enclosed porch, claiming that lots in the area were very shallow and permanent additions to existing buildings would depreciate property values.

These residents also argued that the noise factor, already aggravated by shallow lots and closeness of houses would be increased by adding rooms extending into small rear yards.

Bley brought pictures of two homes with enclosed porches, one at 1545 Dorthen and one at 1446 Cook.

Council decided, before attempting any decision in Bley's

Former City Councilman Pongrace Tells Rotarians State Picture Not So Bad

Director of Industrial Development for New York Central Cites Importance of Proposed Merger With Pennsylvania System

Otto W. Pongrace, a former Grosse Pointe City councilman, now living in Chappaqua, N. Y., addressed members of the Grosse Pointe Rotary Club on Monday, February 4, at their regular luncheon-meeting at the War Memorial Center's Fries Auditorium.

His topic was "The New Look at Michigan" as related to the proposed Pennsylvania-New York Central merger.

He stressed four points that would spell possible bankruptcy if the merger does not become a reality: 1. If the merger does not take place; 2. If the railroads do not receive relief from existing contractual practices; 3. If the railroads do not get fair and equitable tax treatment from federal, state and local taxing authorities; and 4. If the railroads do not become beneficiaries of sound transportation legislation concerning competitive transportation agency, so as to be competitive with the newer modes of transportation.

Pledges Aid to Romney

Pongrace touched on the drastic revisions to the present Economic Development Organization begun by Governor Romney, who is in the process of effecting legislation which will help Michigan out of its industrial growth doldrums.

The New York Central not only wishes Romney well, Pongrace said, but it stands ready and available to assist him "to the full power of our entire organization to this accomplishment."

A book authored by William Haber, together with other Michigan economists, explains the truths of Michigan's position as a competitive commonwealth in the Midwest. When fully analyzed, it becomes apparent that there is nothing basically wrong with the State, Pongrace said.

Statistically, no more business firms have failed in Michigan than in other states of the Midwest, nor have there been more labor disturbances than in any other state.

Work Standards High

Work standards of most manufacturing operations are as high in Michigan as in any other state and unfair labor practices are no higher than any other state. However, Pongrace said, a powerful force, known as public opinion, has resulted in an antipathy toward plant location in the state, undeserved, yet painfully effective.

Pongrace is Director of Industrial Development for the New York Central Railroad System. He is a former assistant to the director of Plant Engineering of Ford Motor Company.

He is a graduate of Michigan State University from where he received his B.S. in Civil Engineering, and is a veteran of World War II, serving as commanding officer of an anti-aircraft battalion. His present

High School Concert Set For Feb. 10

Annual Winter Event For Orchestra and Band
To Be Held in Parcels Auditorium

Grosse Pointe High School's Annual Winter Concert will be presented Sunday, February 10 in the auditorium of Parcels Junior High School. Both the 70-piece Symphony Orchestra and the 85-piece Concert Band will perform.

This will mark the third major appearance of the symphony orchestra, directed by Richard H. Snook. Ross Heim, GPHS junior, will be a featured soloist on the French Horn as the orchestra plays the first movement of Mozart's Concerto No. 3.

Mozart's Overture La Sposa Deluso will open the concert. The orchestra will close its portion of the program by performing the entire Giannini Symphony No. 2.

Following this, the Concert Band, also directed by Mr. Snook, will take the stage. Fresh from a triumphant experience in Rockford, Mich., where it gave a concert last weekend, the band will attempt to repeat its outstanding success. Much of the same music played in this Grand Rapids' area performance will be played again.

Featured in the band's portion of the program will be a percussion ensemble. This group is made up of Robert Stanney, George Watts, Ronald Carson, Frank Reigle, James Klock, William Lenz, Robert Bailey, Gary Andersen, and Ronald Petersen. Shostakovich's Finale from the Fifth Symphony, the fourth movement from Symphony No. 1 by DeGastyne, and the entire Viva Mexico Suite by Morrisey are some of the selections the concert band will play.

The public is cordially invited to attend the performance. Tickets will be available at the door and are now on sale by members of the band and orchestra. The concert will begin at 4 p.m.

Professional Week Feb. 3-9

Grosse Pointe Mayors have proclaimed the period of February 3 through 9 as Professional Week in Grosse Pointe and heartily endorsed the efforts of the Michigan Association of the Professions which is working to devise ways and means of better utilizing the professional heritage of knowledge and skill for the benefit of society.

Lecture at Center To Be Delivered By Gov. Romney

Will Give Final Talk in Series of Six That Has Jammed Fries Auditorium Every Tuesday Night;
Reception to Follow

The Hon. George Romney, Governor of Michigan, will deliver the concluding lecture in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's outstanding Inaugural Series next Tuesday evening, at 8:15 o'clock. Romney, speaking from the stage of the new William Hayes Fries Auditorium, will discuss "Michigan and the American Revolution... A Commentary on Previous Talks in This Series."

Gov. Romney, past president of American Motors Corporation, has enjoyed a meteoric rise in state and national politics. A leader in many fields, he was named industry's "Man of the Year" by the Associated Press for four consecutive years, received a "Businessman of the Year" award from the Saturday Review, and was designated "Man of the Year" by the National Management Association.

Closes Fine Series

His February 12 lecture brings to a close the phenomenally successful Inaugural Series, organized by George R. McMullen. In recent weeks, political, business and religious leaders have addressed capacity audiences, speaking on specific facets of the general theme: "The Community, The Corporation and The National Purpose."

The Right Rev. Richard S. Emrich, Presiding Bishop, Episcopal Diocese of Michigan, opened the series January 8 with a discussion of "Business Morals."

Other speakers, on successive Tuesday evenings, were the Hon. Jerome P. Cavanagh, Mayor of Detroit, who talked on "Problems of the Metropolitan Area;" Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president, who discussed "The Obligation of Responsible Labor in a Democratic Society;" Walker L. Cislser, president of Detroit Edison Co., who chose "National Purpose" as his topic; and Henry Ford II, chairman, Ford Motor Co., who spoke about "The Responsibility of the Individual Citizen."

Each lecture, running no more

Prompt Payment Urged by City

Grosse Pointe City residents are urged to pay their water and tax bills on time—or face the consequences. Henceforth, according to City Manager Lawrence C. Savage, residents who allow their water and/or tax bills to fall past due will be assessed an additional four percent, by ordinance provision.

This penalty will be automatically enforced, with no exceptions.

In recent years, a certain laxity regarding past-due tax and water payments has been permitted, due largely to time-consuming hand mailing procedures in the City offices.

Now, according to Savage, "we have mechanized our billing and mailing procedure, and the tax ordinance provision will be adhered to." Residents can no longer offer the excuse that their bills were received late.

City water and tax bills, mailed out this past week, should be in residents' homes shortly.

Chandler Resigns at GPUS To Accept Position in East

John Chandler, Jr., headmaster of the Grosse Pointe University School since 1949, has resigned to become President of the National Association of Independent Schools, with headquarters in Boston, Mass.

The 42-year-old educator, who reached his decision after a "great deal of thought," is reluctant to leave his "wonderful" school and community, but considers the Association post a "new challenge." His decision to resign was accepted by the GPUS Board of Trustees "with extreme regret."

H. Gordon Wood, President of the school's Board of Trustees, made the announcement and said that Chandler would finish the current school year and remain on into the summer. He will assist a committee headed by Walter B. Ford, II,

Icy Winter Expensive For Pointe

Municipalities Have Used
Twice As Much Salt
As Last Year; Bills
About Double

The Pointe expended a total of $26,279 for labor and materials to clear its streets from December 6, the date of this winter's first snowfall, through January 31, according to official sources. Approximately 3,174 tons of salt has been spread on the streets to melt ice and snow.

According to official United States Weather Bureau records at the Farms Storm Water Pumping Station, Chalfonte and Kerby, the snowfall during December was 11.1 inches, and last month, 10.6 inches. The snowfall figures are more than twice that of December 1961 and January 1962, according to Douglas Feben, chief chemist at the station.

The following are the snow and ice removal costs and the salt tonnage figures used by the five Pointes:

Breakdown of Costs

Park—total cost of snow and ice removal, $4,967.22 during December-January, approximately twice that spent during a corresponding period last winter. The number of tons of salt used this winter is 695 as compared to 350 tons last year.

City—total cost $3,997.90 as compared to $2,520.49 for the same period last winter. Salt used was 360 tons, almost twice that of last winter.

Last month the City purchased a one-man operation salt spreader for the sum of $825. Prior to this, the spreading of salt was a three-man operation.

Farms—total costs were set at $13,393.40. This figure was lumped together with the cost of gasoline, wear and tear on equipment, etc. During the two-month period, 1,170 tons of salt were used.

Last winter's two-month period cost the Farms about $7,600 and about half the number of tons of salt.

Woods—snow and ice removal costs, labor and material, $4,697.24. The city's DPW spread 869 tons of salt on local streets.

Clinic Takes Grievances To Governor

Council Turns Matter Over To Citizens' Traffic Safety Commission
For New Study

Grosse Pointe Clinic Corp. broke its uneasy "truce" with the Grosse Pointe Woods City Council last Monday night, and the battle over off-street parking for clinic patients and staff seems set to begin again.

Dr. Clifford Loranger and Dr. Delbert J. Bradley, representing the clinic, addressed the Council, meeting in regular session at the Woods Municipal Building. Both doctors argued that, with the opening of Vic Tanny's, traffic in their area had become even more congested and the parking problem was getting completely out of hand.

Dr. Bradley brought the matter to the attention of Governor Romney last January 17. The doctor traveled to Lansing to explain his problem in person at one of Romney's five-minute sessions with citizens. Romney turned the matter over to an Administrative Assistant, Charles Orlebeke, who addressed a letter to the Council on January 28, asking for additional information.

Only Heard One Side

"The Governor, of course, only heard Dr. Bradley's side of the controversy and without doubt there is an opposing side," Orlebeke wrote. "However, on the basis of Dr. Bradley's presentation their appeal to be at least a possibility that the clinic is being deprived of parking space for reasons which are not completely clear."

"Since Dr. Bradley has taken the trouble to raise this problem with the Governor, we would appreciate it very much if you would supply us with additional background information. Surely, it would be unfortunate if, as Dr. Bradley asserts, a small clinic were being stifled simply because of the inflexible opposition of a few individuals."

Council voted to refer the matter of off-street parking and traffic congestion in the entire area to the Citizens' Traffic Safety Commission for immediate study and report.

Ten Year Battle

Grosse Pointe Clinic Corp. has been attempting to get Council approval of off-street parking on lots 7 and 8 of Beaufort-Koch-Tessmer Subdivision for more than 10 years. The property is zoned residentially and, according to Michigan law,

Another Fire Blamed on Torch

Shores firemen extinguished a wall blaze in the home of Carter Sales, Jr., 71 North Deeplands within 15 minutes after receiving the alarm on Monday, January 28.

The fire was started by a blow torch in the hands of a plumber, who was "sweating" pipes in the basement of the home.

Patrolman James Jurcak, who was dispatched to the Sales home, arrived before the firefighters, and removed glasses and shelves from a wall behind the basement bar, where the fire originated.

The officer's action enabled firemen to chop a hole in the wall without delay. Reserve water from the pumper truck was used to put out the fire. Damage was estimated at about $300.

The Sales fire was the second so far this year blamed on a blow torch.

The first fire was at the Trowbridge home, 376 Kercheval, on January 14. A plumber was "sweating" copper pipes leading to the upstairs bathroom with a blow torch. Flames shot up through the walls, at the rear of the house, to the roof.

The Farms called the City for assistance in battling this fire, which lasted for three hours and 12 minutes.

The house, owned by Mrs. Albert H. Trowbridge of the Kercheval address, was being remodeled. It was vacant at the time of the fire. Mrs. Trowbridge was staying with relatives.

Most public speakers can rise to the occasion, but only a few know when to sit down. The prize optimist of 1963 is the fellow who thinks success will come without his working.

Woods Parking Battle

A two-thirds majority vote would be necessary to re-zone it at a lower level before it could be used for parking purposes.

In December of 1961, the Woods Council, acting as a Board of Appeals, voted 4-3 to allow the Clinic's petition for off-street parking, with a proviso that the lots could only be used by the Clinic staff. City Attorney Julius Berns ruled this Council decision illegal as it was a simple rather than a two-thirds majority vote.

Hawthorne road residents, who had opposed the parking lot on the grounds that it would undermine their property values, were jubilant at this ruling, and the Clinic retired into a year-long period of silence. That silence was broken at last Monday's meeting.

Had Many Studies
Dr. Clifford Loranger, speaking on behalf of the Clinic, acquiesced to the Council's decision to turn the matter over to the Citizens Traffic Safety Commission, even though the Clinic has "had studies and studies, and has appeared before the Planning Commission many times."

Dr. Loranger noted that, since Vic Tanny moved next door, the parking problem has been compounded. He claims that as many as 200 people per day use the Tanny facilities, most spending about two hours, three days a week, in the gym.

"I can't understand why this has gone on for so many years," the doctor said. "Granted this is a residential community, but it is not purely a residential community. There is a street called Mack avenue running through it."

Dr. Loranger feels that the Clinic has been treated in "an arbitrary and inconsistent" manner, and will have to seek redress through the Courts if Council continues to refuse off-street parking permission.

Do-It Yourself Offer
The doctor noted that the Clinic is willing to install the lots itself, on Clinic-owned property, and that they will be neither at night nor on Saturdays and Sundays. He recalled the problems Best and Co. had when it first opened in "The Village," and urged the Woods Council to permit a parking lot now, rather than wait until off-street parking becomes such a necessity that the City will have to tear down houses to build lots.

Dr. Bradley seconded Dr. Loranger, and asked the Council to look at business areas in East Jefferson and at Chalmers and Harper, where lack of proper parking facilities contributed to a general decline. Councilman Marvin R. Boutin expressed the hope that the five qualified men on the new Citizens Traffic Safety Commission would end the problem once and for all with their objective study. He agreed that, with the addition of Vic Tanny's, the area had become doubly congested.

Chandler

tional school but, as of 1949, except for lower grades, an all-girls school.

In the almost decade-and-a-half of his tenure, Chandler has led the schools to physical unification on the present campus on Cook Road, to a period of extensive building and plant development, and above all to a distinguished position among the country's independent schools.

In 1954, after a bond issue was favorably voted on by the citizens of Grosse Pointe, the trustees sold the Country Day School property and buildings in Grosse Pointe Farms to the Grosse Pointe Board of Education and consolidated all its facilities into one school from pre-kindergarten through the 12th grade on the 40-acre Cook Road site of the Detroit University School in Grosse Pointe Woods.

At that point the two schools became Grosse Pointe University School. Accompanying the union of the two schools has been a sustained process of physical growth. A completely new lower school building—with a library, art and music rooms, as well as a handsome auditorium and gymnasium—was designed by the world-famous architect, Minoru Yamasaki. This addition supplemented the earlier buildings of the Detroit University School completed in 1928.

Chandler has played an active role in the affairs of both the National Council of Independent Schools and of the Independent Schools Education Board. The merger of these two agencies a year ago created the National Association of Independent Schools, and Chandler as president will direct the affairs of what has become the national voice for independent school education. John Chandler, Jr., is married to the former Fay Cowgill. They have five children: Darthea, 19, a student at Wayne State University, Detroit; Abigail, 16, a 10th grader at Kents Hill School, Maine; Rebecca, 14; John, III, 10, and William, 7, all three pupils at Grosse Pointe University School.

Chandler numbers skiing, sailing, and badminton as favorite free-time activities and the family vacations are usually spent on the coast of Maine.

The Shores does not completely spread salt on its streets, but seems to find it just as effective to "spot" spread, especially at intersections. Occasionally, when the need arises, salt would be spread on Vernier road, and on Lake Shore road, which is a county road.

than half an hour, is preceded by an invocation, given by one of Grosse Pointe's local clergymen. The Rev. Arnold D. Johnson, pastor of the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, will give the invocation preceding Gov. Romney's talk.

Open to Questions

The formal address is followed by a question-and-answer period, generally most thought-provoking and popular portion of the program, with questions submitted in writing by the audience. Then, to round out the evening, audiences are invited to discuss the lectures informally at a coffee hour in the War Memorial's banquet-hall room overlooking Lake St. Clair.

Radio Stations WWJ and WJR tape each lecture, WJR broadcasting them at 9:30 p.m. the night they are delivered, and WWJ scheduling them the following Friday. The entire series is being preserved on tape and will be housed at Grosse Pointe Central Library, from which citizens and community groups may borrow it for future discussion.

The Inaugural Lecture Series has proved one of the most popular programs in War Memorial history. Tickets were sold out a week in advance of the initial lecture, and capacity crowds have jammed 450-seat Fries Auditorium each Tuesday night, regardless of weather, demonstrating their interest in "The Community, The Corporation and The National Purpose."

McMullen Sums It Up

"The elections of November 6, 1962, are history," wrote Program Chairman George R. McMullen.

Arraignment Set In Larceny Case

Alme DeSmet and Russell Oliver are still living in the same house, 971 Fisher road, and are still friends, despite the fact that Oliver is scheduled to be arraigned before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge James N. Canham today, on charges of stealing DeSmet's life savings.

Russell, 18, admitted the $15,813 theft last November 1. DeSmet, 68, had lived with the Oliver family for years and become a proxy "Grandpa" to the five Oliver children, whose own parents and grandparents are dead.

The retired immigrant factory worker secreted his money in two metal boxes hidden in a linen closet. Russell Oliver discovered the boxes last June and began to pilfer. He passed the money on to two friends, Richard Hillegas, 18, 718 Washington, and Sharon DeLeonard, 18, 17321 Whitcomb, Detroit.

Months later, when DeSmet discovered the money gone, Russell admitted the theft. Between them, the three teenagers had spent all but $500 of it. If convicted for grand larceny, Russell and his companions, (whom he no longer sees), could get up to five years in prison, or fines of as much as $2,500. DeSmet and the Oliver family hope the Judge will be lenient with Russell, and that he will eventually be allowed to enlist in the Navy.

Rotary to Hear Richard Young

Former Village merchant Richard Young, now Lions International District Governor, will speak to the Grosse Pointe Rotary at the luncheon meeting, Monday, February 11.

Mr. Young well-known in the area will discuss the philosophy of service clubs and their purpose in a community.

Mr. Young at present has a clothing store in Birmingham. His position as a District Governor in Lions International is one of coordination over the 55 clubs and 2000 members in the counties of St. Clair, Macomb and Oakland.

Lions International, founded in Dallas, Texas, is a most active organization and today has over 650,000 members in 118 countries. In 1962 alone nearly 1,000 clubs were formed in this organization. Lions' mission is the promotion of good government, help for the needy and the development of "a spirit of generous consideration among the peoples of the world."

PTA Council Holds Annual Meeting; Hears Speakers

The annual meeting of the Grosse Pointe PTA Council heard Dr. Marion Edman, Professor of Education, Wayne State University compare education in the United States and foreign lands. She has found many similarities and contrasts in her experience of 33 years of teaching.

In particular she pointed to the strong motivation to succeed noted in Russian children and wondered whether this stemmed in part from formal indoctrination in schools starting at the age of 3.

Motorist Rams Policeman's Car

A hit-and-run driver was traced to his home by a water trail left by the broken radiator of his car on Friday, February 1, and arrested by Shores police for Farms authorities.

Robert G. Seward, 21, of 808 Shoreham, was given a violation ticket by Farms police who charged him with hit-and-run and leaving the scene of an accident.

Seward, according to police, ran into the rear end of a car owned by Park Det. Lt. Stanley Enders, 55, of 3703 Alderley, parked in front of 435 Chalfonte.

Farms police said that damage to Enders' car was total, and to Seward's, about $300. Seward's front license plate fell off at the scene.

The broken radiator of Seward's vehicle left a continuous trail from the scene to the driveway of his house. Shores police arrested Seward when a broadcast was received over the police radio.

Seward told Farms police that a passing car blinded him and he ran into Enders' automobile. He said that following the accident, he panicked and drove away.

The youth is scheduled to appear in Farms court on April 25.

Sister Honored At Bon Secours

Sister Mary Emma, a nurse at Bon Secours Hospital, celebrated her silver jubilee on January 24. Twenty-five years ago on that date she made her first vows in the religious community of Bon Secours which was organized in Paris in 1822 to provide nursing care for the sick. A High Mass was said in her honor on the date of her anniversary at the chapel at the hospital.

Sister Mary Emma, a native of Branchdale, Penn., entered the convent in 1935. In 1938, after taking her vows, she attended the Immaculata Seminary, in Washington, D.C. and in 1942 she graduated from The Bon Secours School of Nursing. Two years later she was assigned to the Grosse Pointe Bon Secours Hospital.

For the past 19 years Sister Mary Emma has served in a number of capacities at the Grosse Pointe Hospital, including supervisor in the X-Ray Department and night supervisor of the Hospital.

Grosse Pointe Bon Secours Hospital is operated by the nursing sisters of Bon Secours. Their activities in the Grosse Pointe area grew from simple home nursing care to the establishment of a convalescent home, and then to the founding of the present hospital which serves the medical needs of the Grosse Pointe area.

All members of the Sisters of Bon Secours are professionally qualified as registered nurses, dietitians, or as other types of hospital specialists, technicians and administrators.

Medical Auxiliary

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Wayne County Medical Society will meet this Friday at noon at the Dearborn Inn. Karl Hass, Director of Fine Arts for WJR, will speak. MRS. VIRGINIA C. DORIAN, of Roosevelt place, has been elected a national vice president of Phi Gamma Nu, national professional sorority of commerce.

Scouts Honored At Award Court

Twelve Senior Girl Scouts who are qualified as Aquatic Safety Aides were honored at a Court of Awards and party on Monday evening, February 4, given by Mariner Ship 385 in the social hall of Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, sponsor of the troop. Each Senior so honored has completed the Red Cross Water Safety Aide training, has been assisting at one or more pools during Girl Scout swimming classes and will continue this service.

W. George Wibby, Director of Safety Services for the Detroit Chapter American Red Cross, presented each Aide with the white bar pin which signifies her training and willingness to serve as an Aquatic Safety Aide. They are Kathy Jens, Mounted Troop 821; Sandra Krawchuk and Cathy Trout, Mounted Troop 1427; Darlene Barnard, Linda Christofaro, Susan Donnell, Judy Keller, Pamela Lewis, Pamela Rapalee, Cathy Selbert, Martha Thorne and Janet Woodcock from Mariner Ship, 385. During the first ten weeks of swimming lessons, these Aides have served a total of 287 hours.

Guests present included the instructors for the Girl Scout Swimming program; Mrs. Gordon Roeglin, Dayton Dailey, Jr., Kenneth Gilbert, Edmund Herndon and Mr. Wibby; Grosse Pointe District Adviser, Mrs. Wibby; Grosse Pointe District Adviser, Mrs. Robert Hoolihan; Senior Adviser, Mrs. Robert Herdegan. The Court of Awards was preceded by suitable games directed by Margery Homfeld and followed by refreshments planned and served by Janet Carpenter, Susan Lane, Gen. Lynch, Sue McLuckie and Carol Worbois.

Other members of Mariner Ship 385 hosting this event are: Kristine Anderson, Nancy Belcher, Elizabeth Carruthers, Maureen Connolly, Jane Duval, Linda Duval, Joan Eldridge, Nancy Fink, Judy Johnson, Sue Kennedy, Nancy Watkins, Karen Cassens. The troop is under the leadership of Mrs. Paul Blackburn and Mrs. Edward T. Kay.

Michigan Band To Play Here

The University of Michigan Symphony Band will be sponsored by the U of M Club of St. Clair Shores in a concert at 8:30 p.m. February 27 at the Woods Theatre, 19289 Mack. The 115-member band will be directed by Dr. William D. Revelli, conductor of bands at the U of M. It is the same U of M band that attained international prominence in 1961 when it was selected under the President's International Cultural Exchange Program to present an extensive series of concerts in the Soviet Union and the Near East.

On its annual concert tours, the Symphony Band has been acclaimed by audiences in America's leading concert halls. Its repertoire includes original band works by the world's foremost composers, transcriptions of masterworks, overtures, suites, operatic selections, concert marches, Broadway stage and show music, ensembles, solos and music composed and arranged by members of the band.

Proceeds from the concert will go into a fund to provide scholarships to the U of M for deserving students. Bill Waldner of St. Clair Shores is chairman of the project. Ticket chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Lines, Jr., of 23012 Port, St. Clair Shores, PR 9-1850. Tickets may be obtained from them or other Shores U of M Club members; at the Shores Recreation Center, 24800 Jefferson; through the music departments of local high schools; Price Appliances, Mack near Nine Mile; Macauley's Stationers, Eastland; the Commercial State Bank of Roseville at Eastgate, and Danby's Store for Men, Mack at Seven Mile.

Speed Reading Course Offered

Ever dream of reading a novel, a textbook, a business brief or extract in one-fourth the time it takes you now? This can and has been done by students and adults who have taken advantage of the various Reading Improvement courses now offered throughout the country. For the eighth consecutive year, the Bureau of Psychological Services of the University of Michigan will conduct a program in Reading Improvement through the Department of Community Services, Grosse Pointe School System. As in the past, the goal of the students enrolled in this class will be to improve their learning capacity through reading comprehension. (Depending upon the individual student, the results of this course have many times been far-reaching. Better academic standing for students, more enjoyable leisure reading time for adults, and increased comprehensive reading ability for business and professional people are some of the benefits derived by Grosse Pointers previously enrolled in this class.)

The eight week course will be given in two sections: the Adult Section, to begin Wednesday, February 13 from 7:30 to 9:15 in the Grosse Pointe High School Annex, and the Student Section to begin on the same date from 3:45 to 5:30 p.m. in the high school annex.

Both sections will be instructed by Carl C. Semmelroth, M.A., Teaching Assistant at the University of Michigan. Designed to improve the reading speed and comprehension, the course will deal with scanning, vocabulary improvement and reading for meaning. Printed and visual aids will be employed throughout the course.

Because of the previous demand for this course, all interested persons should make reservations immediately by calling the Department of Community Services, TU 5-3808 or TU 5-0271. Enrollment for each class is limited to 24 members only, and enrollment will be taken on a first-come-first-served basis.

Washington Post For Przelomski

Henry R. Przelomski, Michigan State Supervisor for the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training (BAT) in Detroit, has accepted a position in BAT's national office in Washington. Przelomski is a career civil servant who is well-known to leaders in labor, industry, and vocational education, not only in Michigan but in Ohio and Kentucky. In August 1962 he received an Outstanding Performance Award for his work in developing a retraining program for workers in Detroit.

In the Division of Program Development, Przelomski's responsibility includes the formulation of policies and guidelines for the on-the-job training provisions of the Manpower Development and Training Act. According to Newland, the responsibility for on-the-job training under MDTA was delegated to BAT by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz. A veteran of 18 years' service in the Federal Government, Przelomski started working for the United States Employment Service in November 1944. He joined BAT as a Field Representative in Cleveland in April 1946. He became BAT's Toledo Area Supervisor in 1950, where he remained until 1957. In the latter year he was promoted to the position of Regional Training Technician in the Cleveland Regional Office. His next advancement was to the position of Michigan State Supervisor in January 1959, with headquarters in Detroit. On several occasions, Newland noted that in his absence Przelomski had been Acting Regional Director for Ohio, Michigan, and Kentucky.

Przelomski is a native of Youngstown, Ohio, and a graduate of that city's Rayen High School; he has attended Cleveland College.

During World War II, Przelomski first served with the Polish Air Force prior to our entering the war, and then with the United States Air Force. He earned the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, and the Purple Heart for injuries received over Europe.

Przelomski is a member of the Michigan Trade and Curriculum Committee and many other educational and training groups. He has been a guest lecturer on apprenticeship and training at both Wayne State University and the University of Michigan. In addition to his participation in civil affairs, he has devoted himself to Grosse Pointe Woods' Little League baseball activities during the last five years.

Married to the former Genevieve Ray of Bridgeport, Ohio, and the father of a 14-year-old son, Skip, a student at Parcels Junior High School, Przelomski and his family live in Grosse Pointe Woods. The family will not move until after the school term.

Burglar Robs Tree Company

The office of Shock Brothers Tree Service company, 15120 Charlevoix, was visited by a burglar on Sunday, February 3, who took cash, stamps and checks made payable to the stamps, and an undetermined number of checks, all taken from a filing cabinet that was forced open with a heavy instrument.

Entrance into the building was made through a rear door, the chief said.

Farms Asked to Settle Private Drainage Hassle

A two-year-old drainage problem between abutting property owners at Mack and Moross came up again before the Farms council on Monday, February 4.

Richard Stockwell of 433 Moross appeared before the council seeking relief from the accumulation of storm waters which make a virtual pond of his back yard.

Also the predicament involves two adjoining neighbors, Stockwell told the council that he was only representing himself, and that he was petitioning the council for a solution.

He said he was interested in finding out whether J. M. Kogan of 18694 Oak, Detroit, owner of the parking lot at the rear of business buildings at Mack and Moross, would correct the situation by installing a drain, or by leveling the back yards.

A brick wall separates the parking lot from the rear yards of seven private residences. The water accumulation problem of four pieces of property has already been eliminated with the leveling and grading of these properties.

Stockwell contends that before Kogan had the wall constructed, there was no drainage problem. When four of the property owners raised their yard levels, the water problem shifted more acutely to the remaining three properties.

Stockwell stated that if he and the two property owners with the water problem filled, it would revert to the sharing of the drainage problem again with all seven property owners.

He said that now was the time to arrive at a solution inasmuch as a section of the wall abutting his rear yard has collapsed and taken down still further, as much as 23 inches at points.

Kogan said that he did not feel that he was legally or morally responsible to correct the situation. Why, he asked, should he be made to level and grade the rear yards, when this would cause the water to flow onto his parking lot.

He repeated his offer of April 1961 to pay a fair share to remedy the situation, provided the property owners would supervise the leveling and landscaping and sign an agreement stating that they were completely satisfied with the arrangement, and relieve him of all future responsibility.

City Attorney George McKean informed both parties that theirs was a civil matter, and as far as the city was concerned, they (property owners and Kogan) were both in violation of the Farms Nuisance Ordinance regarding the accumulation of water on private properties.

On recommendation of Councilman Butler, the council agreed to postpone the matter for one month. In the meantime, those involved should get together to arrive at a solution to the problem.

A possible agreement will be presented to the council at its regular meeting on March 4.

Chorus Alumni Invited Back

Grosse Pointe Community Chorus alumni are being urged to accept this special invitation to return to the group and participate in the Tenth Anniversary Concert, featuring "Highlights of the First Ten Years."

New members are welcome, also. Because of the recent inclement weather, the registration deadline has been extended. Regular rehearsals begin at 8 o'clock.

The music for this Spring Concert, to be presented on Sunday, April 28, will include representative samples of the music performed by the Chorus since its organization in 1953 by Malcolm MacLean Johns. Of special interest to former members will be the appearance of Mr. Johns as guest conductor for the finale.

The Grosse Pointe Community Chorus is open to any singer past high school age. There are no auditions for membership and Grosse Pointe residency is not required. The registration fee is $4.50 per person, or $7 for a couple.

Further information may be had by calling Dr. Donald Simmons, conductor since 1958, at TU 4-5964.

Stephens Alumnae Plan Program at Gas Center

Stephens College Alumnae are eagerly awaiting Monday, February 11. At 8 o'clock the Hospitality Center of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company will present the monthly program, a food demonstration with many useful food and kitchen ideas.

The hostess is Mrs. Fred Leist of St. Clair Shores and the co-hostess is Mrs. William Ohst of 941 Vernier road.

After the program further plans will be made for the Spring Luncheon Fashion Show to be held in Jacobson's St. Clair Room early in March. Heads of the planning committee are Mrs. Thomas Coulter of Westchester road and Mrs. Fred Leist.

Double Trouble For Fire Victim

Margaret Trowbridge, 378 Kercheval, was driving west on Maumee Saturday morning, February 2, and had just reached the Maumee-Lincoln intersection when a car headed south on Lincoln skidded and rammed her vehicle.

City police took Mrs. Trowbridge to Bon Secours Hospital for a check-up, then returned her to 17185 East Jefferson, where she is staying with relatives.

Mrs. Trowbridge's home on Kercheval avenue caught fire early last month. Luckily, it was being remodeled and stood vacant, but Farms and City firemen battled the blaze, which caused considerable damage, for several hours. Mrs. Trowbridge was living at the Jefferson avenue address at the time.

City police determined that the driver of the skidding car, Louise Mildred Jorgensen, 19756 Ida lane, was not at fault, and blamed the accident on icy road conditions.

For people who want to make a budget work

Some tell us they have budget trouble because it's so hard to remember every budget item. Others say it's because they never know how they're doing from month to month.

You'll find that you can overcome these obstacles with our "Money Management Guide & Workbook" — now available at any of our 72 offices for $1.25.

This book tells you how to plan for a budget and how to prepare one—although it allows for the fact that no two people could—or should—manage their money exactly alike. It shows you if you're keeping within your budget—and what to do about it if you're not.

Of course, there are the day-by-day record sheets you find in any budget book. But there are many extras, too: charts that keep track of tax data, insurance and your net worth. Unlike most budget books, it's looseleaf so you can insert new pages.

With the "Money Management Guide & Workbook," instead of asking where your money went, you could be telling it where to go. It's another part of our continuing program to help you with family money management.

Six Cases Heard In City Court

Elizabeth H. Warren, 27 Edgemere, appeared before Judge Joseph P. Uvick in Grosse Pointe City Justice Court last week. Charged with reckless driving and causing an accident, she was found guilty, and paid a $10 fine.

The Judge dismissed a reckless driving-accident charge against Carmin A. Guerrero, 759 Washington, when Guerrero pled not guilty, and reduced the reckless driving-accident charges against Dale James Miller, 404 Cloverly, and George Anthony Brown, 581 Roslyn, to charges of driving without due care and caution.

Miller paid a $15 fine, and Brown was assessed $50. Roy Otto Solterisch, 1170 Maryland, found guilty of speeding 35 in a 30-mile-an-hour zone, was fined $20.

Judge Uvick found John Egan, III, 17, of 451 Lodge, Detroit, guilty on a charge of disorderly person. Egan paid a $10 fine, and was placed on six months' special-term probation to Wayne County.

Camera Club Has Elections

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club held its annual meeting last week and, replacing four members whose terms had expired, Mary Ellen Tappan, Marvin Brown, Ray Hamilton and Howard Riley, those elected to serve for the 1963-64 term are: Mrs. Margaret Butler, president; Ray Hamilton, vice-president; Mary Ellen Tappan, secretary; and George Petersen, re-elected as treasurer.

Jack Petzoldt and Dr. C. J. Marinas are among those who have another year to serve. Harold L. Packer, the retiring president, continues on the board as an ex-officio member. The Camera Club will continue to meet at the Neighborhood Club during February, but will move to the War Memorial—Fries Auditorium, for its March 5 meeting, and subsequent meetings will be held at the new address.

All color slide and monochrome photographers in the community are always welcome at Camera Club meetings.

Car Leaps Bank Onto Lake Ice

A sleepy woman, motorist lost control of her car and found herself and vehicle on the ice of Lake St. Clair, and a curious passing motorist became involved in an accident.

According to a Farms police report, Dolores Kade of 25875 Waldorf, Roseville, was driving east on Lake Shore on Friday, February 1, and fell asleep at the wheel. Her car leaped the bank at Provençal and landed on the lake ice.

Fortunately the ice near the bank was several feet thick. The woman was able to drive to a dock at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, where she was helped to shore and the car was hauled back on the road by a tow truck.

Salvatore Benisallo of 25622 Ford, Roseville, took his eyes off the road as he passed, to watch the unusual sight, at Provençal, and ran into a car driven by George H. Jury of 65 Radnor circle.

Benisallo was given a violation ticket for not having his operator's license on his person.

Farms police said that pulling the woman's car back onto the road from the bank was very complicated, so she was advised to drive to the Yacht Club dock. There were no witnesses to the woman's incident and she was not ticketed.

Art Exhibition At Jacobson's

Millon N. Kemnitz, a native Detroit who interprets the Motor City and the University of Michigan campus in his drawings and paintings will attend the opening of an exhibition of his work in the studio of Jacobson's, today, Thursday, February 7.

The exhibition will be held through February 22 in the home decorative shop daily from 9:30 to 5:30 p.m. and until 9 p.m. on Thursdays, through February 22.

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Yaw, co-directors of the gallery, said the prolific Kemnitz had contributed over 200 oils, watercolors and pen and ink drawings to the exhibition. Many of them portray scenes familiar to students and alumni of the University of Michigan, the artist's alma mater. Other favorite Kemnitz subjects are Detroit, its skyline and people. The artist now lives in Ann Arbor.

Mothers Collect $8,188 on March

Despite cold weather, warm hearts greeted the Mothers' March volunteers in the Grosse Pointe area, led by Anne Campbell Stark who announced that during the January 29 March the sum of $8,188.54 was collected in the area to date, helping bring the Wayne County Mothers' March total to $244,207 for another successful campaign highlighting the 25th anniversary of the March of Dimes.

Additional monies usually sent in by mail should put Wayne County over the top.

In comparison to the sum of $247,000 raised in 1962 in Wayne County, Anne Campbell Stark, Mothers' March Chairman said: "Mr. and Mrs. America have become more and more aware that the March of Dimes programs of Scientific Research, Patient Aid, Medical Care Centers, and professional education are gaining in the fight against birth defects, arthritis—combined with polio, and that Clinical Study Centers are being developed throughout the country to give scientists the opportunity to study and give early diagnosis and treatment to victims of birth defects and arthritis, the crippling menaces that have remained a mystery for so long."

"I wish it were possible to thank each and every one of you who so graciously opened your doors and your hearts for the Mother's March volunteers, but greater thanks will come when a mother will be assured that research has found the answers—and has solved the riddle of the crippling effects of birth defects and arthritis, just as the National Foundation's research led to the elimination of polio."

Richard PTA To Hear Panel

The next meeting of the Richard PTA will be held on Monday, February 11 at 8 o'clock. The topic for discussion will be "Your Child and You." A panel of staff members of the Richard School will answer questions posed by parents.

The panel members will be Mrs. Dorothy Reiven, French teacher; Mrs. Caroline Wheeler, visiting teacher; Mrs. Kay Goodenough, reading consultant; Mrs. Jennie Dombrowski, head teacher; Mrs. Lillian Seegers, Kindergarten through 2nd grade; Bill Hoover, 5th and 6th grades; and Richard Kay, principal.

Parents will have the opportunity of forming into small groups in order to formulate questions relating to the children; these questions will then be passed to the panel for immediate response. This meeting promises to be most informative for those of us who have wondered how changes are made in the instructional programs of the school. What the objectives of the French Program are—how the children are placed in classes and in groups. How our school lunch room program operates, plus other questions relating to the Student Council and the possibility of the school starting a Savings Stamp Program.

Kerby Carnival Judges Named

The 573 students at Kerby School are busy making posters to promote the Kerby Carnival, which will be held on Saturday, March 9 from 11 to 7.

Judges for the poster contest, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Richard Speer, include Mrs. Stirling Loud, art instructor at the War Memorial; Mr. Donald Schrom, art instructor for Grosse Pointe Elementary Schools; Bruce Cox, vice president of McNamara Art Studios; Mrs. Bruce Cox, Mrs. Seth Bidwell, Mrs. Henry T. Ewald, Jr., and Mrs. John H. Stephenson, Jr.

A total of 111 prizes are being offered the Kerby School students competing in the contest. Each home room will have five winners, a gold trophy for the Grand Champion poster in each room, and ribbon awards for first, second, third and honorable mention in each room. A large gold trophy will go to the best poster in the entire school.

Pastor to Talk On Astronomy

"The Scope of Modern Astronomy" will be discussed by Rev. William D. Hammond at a luncheon meeting of the Women's Alliance of the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church on Tuesday, February 12.

For the past five years Rev. Hammond has taught the astronomy course of the Adult Education program at the high school. His talk will be illustrated with slides.

In charge of the luncheon, which begins at 12:15 p.m. is Mrs. John Hamann assisted by Mrs. John Gulevich, Mrs. Wallace Clayton and Mrs. Roy Erickson.

Monteith PTA To Hold Party

A card party will be held by the Monteith P.T.A. Friday, February 15, at 8 p.m. in Monteith Hall.

This promises to be a gala social evening with prizes, table favors and refreshments.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mrs. Donald E. Yerkes and Mrs. Charles R. Menagh. Ticket chairman is Mrs. Robert H. Stotzer, TU 4-5463.

Devils Almost Toss Away Hectic Tilt with Monroe

By Bill Hagman

Last Friday night at Monroe, the Grosse Pointe Blue Devils cagers almost threw away a game to a team they had defeated by 30 points previously. Only a Monroe fan who inadvertently touched the ball in the last seven seconds of play prevented the Trojans from upsetting the Border Cities League Leaders.

The final score of 76-75 does not indicate the pattern of the game. Grosse Pointe had led by as much as 14 points early in the last quarter before the home team began chipping away at the Devils' lead.

Monroe had pulled within one point 73-74 when Monroe's Willie Jones fouled Gary Spade. Spade calmly sank both shots to give Grosse Pointe a 76-73 margin. However Danny Lewis canned a long jumper to cut the Pointers' lead to 76-75.

Ball Ruled Dead
The Devils' pass out of bounds was intercepted by a Monroe player who passed to Ken Dersey who sank a lay-up. The crowd thinking the game was over swarmed onto the court.

However referee Jerry Bogarsky ruled that the ball became dead when the ball touched it before Dersey got it. Grosse Pointe was to get the ball after the Monroe basket was disallowed. Time ran out before the Devils could get the ball.

The game started out with Monroe holding slight edges in the opening minutes. The Devils finally forged ahead and led 24-18 at the end of the first quarter.

Both teams scored 19 points in the second quarter to make the halftime score 43-37 in favor of Grosse Pointe.

Have Nine-Point Lead
During the third period, the Devils slowly began to pull away and held a 57-48 advantage entering the last quarter. The last stanza saw Grosse Pointe leading by 14 points in the early stages but a strong Monroe comeback set the stage for the last hectic minute of play and that all-important, disallowed basket.

Big Jim Seder who had not scored in double figures since the second game of the season threw in 19 to pace the Devils. Marc Lonesk scored 18 while Spade finished with 17.

Bob Hadley proved very effective in coming off the bench to score 12 valuable points.

The next game for Grosse Pointe is a BCL encounter at home Friday night against Wyandotte. In the first meeting between these teams, the Pointers took a 88-55 decision.

Devils' Win Over Monroe Should Produce BCL Title

By Bill Hagman

The BCL swimming championship was in all probability decided last Friday afternoon when the Devil tankers defeated their nearest rival, Monroe by a score of 65-43. The Trojans had only one loss, (to Grosse Pointe), before this meet and were the only team with a chance to catch the Pointers. This victory puts the Devils two full wins ahead of Monroe.

From the opening event, the Devils never trailed in winning their seventh straight dual meet. The next opponents for Grosse Pointe are Wyandotte, Highland Park, Royal Oak and Fordson. These teams have already been soundly thrashed by the Pointers. Coach Kinnear said that he would be giving his sophomores plenty of action in these meets.

Winners Listed
The 100 yard Medley Relay was won by the Pointers team of Cutler, Olzmann, Aronson and Beck in a time of 1:23.5.

Mike Irvine took the 200 yard Freestyle with a time of 1:58.2. Don Demeulemeester placed third.

Jim Lozelle captured first in the 40 yard Freestyle in a time of 18 seconds flat.

Jack Teetaert won the 160 yard Individual Medley with a time of 1:44.8. Butch Tompkins came in third.

Monroe won the Diving while Jim Woods and Dick Wyandotte.

Green finished second and third for Grosse Pointe.

The Trojans won the 100 Butterfly in 59.1. Dave Aronson finished second.

Lozelle took the 100 Freestyle while Demeulemeester placed third. The time was 51.2.

Teetaert won the 100 yard Backstroke and Fred Cutler finished third. The winning time was 58.6.

Mike Irvine was first in the 400 yard Freestyle. John Barlow came in third. The winning time was 4:28.4.

Kurt Olzmann won the 100 yard Breaststroke with a time of 1:06.8. Jim Kushman finished second.

Monroe took the 160 Freestyle Relay with a time of 1:14.7. The Devil team composed of Tim Morrison, Bill Potts, Marsh Beck and Bob Hatch were only .2 of a second behind.

The next meet is Friday at Wyandotte.

GPUS Knights Capture Two

By Al Blixt

The Grosse Pointe University School Knights picked up their seventh and eighth victories of the present campaign, last week by handling defeats to Huron High of the Central Suburban League 44-32, and Emmanuel Christian of Pontiac 68-46. The Knights have lost only one game.

On Tuesday the Knights took on the Chiefs of Huron in a tight defensive contest. Both teams were cold in the first half. The Knights were ahead 8-7 at the end of the first quarter. At half time the score was tied at an almost unbelievable 17-17. The second half was a little better, as John Golanty held Huron star Tom Wojcik to only 8 points and George Perrin and Alan Hartwick led the Grosse Pointers to a 27-15 scoring edge in the last two periods. Perrin led both teams in scoring with 17 points and 16 rebounds while Alan Hartwick had 11 points. Wojcik had 15 for the losers.

On Friday the Knights met and defeated a much improved Emmanuel Christian team of Pontiac 68-46. Early in December the Lancers took a 56-36 drubbing on their home court. The visitors opened very fast this time, taking a 6-0 lead in the first two minutes.

The Knights' defense finally started to click and they held the Lancers to two points in the next two minutes. With 4:04 to play in the first period the Knights went ahead for the first time 10-8. The lead changed three times after that. John Golanty hit on a jump shot from ten feet out at the buzzer to put the Knights ahead at the end of one quarter 16-14.

The game remained close in the second quarter as George Perrin, Alan Hartwick, and Dave Hughes led the Grosse Pointers to a slim 35-28 lead at the end of two periods.

The start of the second half was delayed ten minutes because of a short circuit in the scoreboard. The Knights' offensive attack was dominated by Perrin in that quarter as he dumped in eight of his team's nine points. Ron Jackson kept the Lancers in the game with some fine shooting. At the end of three periods they trailed by eight points 44-36.

Coach Richard Eriksen began to remove his starters at the start of the fourth period. Despite this, the Knights dumped in 24 points in the final eight minutes to put the game on ice. The real spark plug was sophomore Dave Hadden who poured in 12 points. Dave hit on five field goals and two foul shots. The Knights had four men in double figures. Perrin led with 20 points and 20 rebounds. John Golanty, Dave Hughes, and Hadden had 12 each. Alan Hartwick had nine points. Ron Jackson and Ralph Jackson were high for Pontiac with 16 and 13 respectively.

Cardinals Lead Hockey League

By Harold W. Neil

The stage is set, the players are poised, ready for action. Hockey players that is, in the first game of regular season play and the right to represent the league in state playoff games.

The game between the Detroit Cardinals and the Grosse Pointe Chiefs coming up Saturday at Gordie Howe Hockeyland will tell who will go to the state tournament, Bantam Division.

The Cardinals last Saturday won their eighth game by defeating the Warriors 4 to 2. Jim Minniken paced the Cardinals with 2 goals. Reid and Boyer got the Warrior markers.

The Chiefs kept pace and remained one point behind the Cardinals by beating the Longhorns 4 to 0. Goals by Keith Foucher, Ron Nomura, Bob Zink and Tim Ringler (his first of the year) did the damage to the hapless Longhorns.

Chiefs 7 2 2 16 25 9

Also on Saturday evening, February 9, the All Stars of this division will do battle with a Toronto team. The team selected is a good one and with a little luck should give the team from Canada a good game.

Ski Club Plans Midweek Trip

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Grosse Pointe Ski Club is planning another midweek ski trip. This time it will be to Dryden on Wednesday evening, February 20.

The charter bus will leave the Center at 5:30 o'clock. Hot box suppers will be served on board. After an evening's skiing the bus will return to the Center at midnight. The cost to Grosse Pointe Ski Club members is $3; for other interested area skiers it is $4.

Anyone who wishes may leave his equipment at the Center in the morning and go directly from the office and change into ski togs there in the evening.

The Club's largest trip so far is the week-end trip to Boyne going out this Friday with two bus loads. The entire Indian River Inn has been taken over where there will be a busy party schedule when skiers are not on the slopes or in the pool at Boyne.

Green finished second and third for Grosse Pointe.

The Trojans won the 100 Butterfly in 59.1. Dave Aronson finished second.

Lozelle took the 100 Freestyle while Demeulemeester placed third. The time was 51.2.

Teetaert won the 100 yard Backstroke and Fred Cutler finished third. The winning time was 58.6.

Sails and Skis

By Frank McBride

The United States Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 12-12 will conduct a 10-lesson course entitled "Basic Seamanship and Small Boat Handling" in the new Fries Auditorium at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Flotilla Commander Chester Swallow stated that enrollment will take place on Tuesday, February 19, at 7 p.m. The eight week course will be held on Tuesday evenings from 7:30 o'clock.

The course will acquaint the public with a basic knowledge of safe conduct on the water. Subjects covered will include Seamanship, Aids to Navigation, Charts and Compass, Rules of the Road.

Following the course a review is held and an examination given. Upon satisfactory completion of the course the student is presented with a United States Coast Guard Auxiliary and a Michigan Waterways Commission Certificate.

For further information about the classes contact the Grosse Pointe War Memorial TU 1-7511.

The Detroit River Yachting Association Annual Gripe Meeting was for all practical purposes a calm on Friday night. Comm. Sidney J. Warner presided over this annual session which on many an occasion has been the scene of some heavy fireworks. This year all was sweetness with the exception of the conflict for regatta dates between the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club and the Grosse Pointe Club.

The Grosse Pointe Yacht Club requested the weekend after July Fourth which they have had for a number of years. In 1962 GPYC gave up the date at the request of the Little Club which stated they wanted to hold a debut party that evening.

Comm. Lyn Stedmann, Jr. brought word from the North American Yacht Racing Union meeting held in New York recently that the Mallory Cup Finals will be held in August 1964 at the GPYC.

Stedmann also stated that if Detroit is successful in its bid for the Summer Olympics, the Sailing Games will also be held in Detroit. The Sears and Adams Cup semi-finals will be held in Detroit during the 1963 season.

Austin Cagers Sharing Lead

By Bob Moore

Austin Prep overpowered Salsian, 82-37, last Friday at Cathedral in the last routine game before two tough end-of-season battles, with Catholic Central and Notre Dame that will decide the league championship.

The Friars got off to a slow start Friday, leading the Knights only 8-7 after six minutes of play; but they warmed up enough to take a 41-20 half-time lead. Early in the third quarter, coach Ed Carroll took out his first string and the game became wide open. The Friars outscored the Knights 28-3 in the third quarter and 17-5 in the final stanza.

All 15 Austin players got into the game; nine scored. Doug Winkworth tallied 23 points with 14 rebounds to lead both teams. Sam McKnight had 21 points, his high game of the season, and 14 rebounds. Rick Pine scored 13.

For the fourth straight week, the Friars are in a deadlock for first place with U-D High and Catholic Central. But by a week from Friday, the standings should be juggled, leaving the league championship and runner-up position to decide the two teams that will get a chance for the Catholic and City championships.

Tomorrow, Austin (9-1) will play host to Catholic Central (9-1), while possible spoiler Notre Dame (6-4) will battle U-D (9-1).

The Friars hope to repeat an earlier 55-40 victory over CC's Shamrocks but the Shamrocks are picked by some observers to win. The home game, the biggest of the regular season, should be a sellout.

Saturday contests pit the Bruins against the Wings while the league-leading Stars will try to turn the Wolves back.

The second game the Stars continued their mastery of the Wings, showing too much firepower to be denied. John Walsh lashed in a hard shot on a pass from Steve Guba in the first period and John O'Brien who was also outstanding on defense scored from Walsh in the second to complete the scoring.

Great work in the Wings' net by Gene Whitely kept the score down in spite of heavy pressure by the Stars' forwards, Bill Wilson and Bill Ehrlich and defenseman Ted Kalkhoff and Mike Hannon. Bud Grow, Steve Spitzley and Jim Grace were constant threats for the Wings and did everything but score but Tad Turner covered well in the Stars' nets. Rick Rankin played a fine game on the Wings' backline, aided by Barry Candler.

Breaks St. Paul 71-67 Victory

Dick Schmitt High School meets arch rival St. Paul. The Lakers and ratings must be disregarded as they always prove to be strictly grudge matches. The Lakers battled right down to the final minute, 1, with the St. Thomas Blue-Grizzlies 71-67.

St. Thomas outscored St. Paul 23-17 in the second quarter to lead 37-31 at the half. Late in the third quarter, the Lakers cut the deficit to only one point 48-47, but the Bluebreaks held a four point edge as the buzzer sounded to end the game. Costly fouls eliminated three of St. Paul's starters for the entire fourth quarter. The Lakers outshot the Bluebreaks 30-26 from the floor and hit 7 of 14 free throw attempts, while St. Thomas hit 19-29.

The Lakers encounter St. Florian at Grosse Pointe High School on Saturday, February 9, at 8:15. This game was originally scheduled for Tuesday, February 5.

Paul Henry Travel Service Plans Annual Hawaii Tour

The eighth annual tour to Hawaii by the Paul Henry Travel Service will leave Detroit March 11. This popular spring-time tour will fly jet planes direct to Honolulu.

An important feature is that the tour rate will be $100 less per person than last year; the reason is that the agency has been able to secure a group rate for the first time since operating this popular annual trip. The tour, a 15-day junket, will again be directed by Leo G. Henry, who has conducted hundreds of Michigan folks on special tours for the past quarter of a century.

The new cost is $589. Upon arrival in Hawaii, the members of the tour will be welcomed at the airport with the usual presentation of leis before being transferred to the beautiful Princess Kaiulani Hotel, the newest of the several Sheraton hotels in Waikiki. A 200 room addition to the popular hotel has been recently completed, and the management has reserved a block of rooms in this new section for the accommodation of the members of the tour. All of these deluxe rooms are air-conditioned and have private lanais.

Mr. Henry announces many interesting features, including an all-day sightseeing trip, visiting the Island of Oahu, a fascinating jaunt to Mt. Tantalus, and a thrilling cruise by Catamaran to Pearl Harbor.

LEO G. HENRY

Other features include the annual banquet at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel and a Malihini dinner at the Princess Kaiulani.

Hawaii still continues to be one of the nation's most popular tourist attractions. The tour group will be limited in size. Early reservations are necessary because the hotels are anticipating a heavy spring season.

Information regarding the tour can be had by contacting the Paul Henry Travel Service, Inc., 304 Washington Boulevard Building, or by phoning WO 1-7075.

Health Club Opens in Woods

The new Vic Tanny Club, just finished at 20835 Mack Ave., at Lochmoor is in its Grand Opening and Open House festivities which extends through February 11th.

It replaces the unit here which was destroyed by fire less than a year ago and is the 94th unit of the famous national health promoting chain of clubs.

The $100,000 establishment is equipped with over $25,000 in special equipment. Designed to appeal to all, the gym offers both "passive and progressive resistant" health programs. Known nationally as a physical educator, Vic Tanny says that "exercise is essential to good health. It seems reasonable to believe that if people exercised their entire bodies as constantly and vigorously as they use their minds, their physical and mental strength would endure equally. Modern conveniences for housewives, such as automatic washers, dryers, automobiles, push button appliances do not provide enough good physical exercise. You don't have to be an athlete to exercise and build your health."

Special "grand opening" Vic Tanny membership applications are being accepted immediately at considerable savings to the applicant. Open daily and Sundays from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., the new physical culture studio offers a personal progress program to each member.

A Golden Opportunity

Shortly after the November elections, Ross Roy, civic-minded adman and resident of the Pointe, compiled an Analysis of the Political Picture in Michigan in 1963 and 1964. He cautioned that Republicans must not relax just because they had succeeded in getting George Romney elected Governor, and called attention to the great importance of the Spring Election, coming up in April.

Now that the Democratic ranks have been ripped asunder by the tricky maneuvering of former Governor Swainson under the dictation of the UAW-CIO at the famous Battle of Grand Rapids last weekend, the admonition takes on a special pertinency. The Republicans, themselves most adept at generating intra-party squabbles, have a glorious opportunity to make hay while the rains of gloom pour on their political rivals. By pulling together and making every effort to attract the support of the many independents who must be disillusioned by the Democrats' fiasco, they have a fine opportunity to achieve some most important victories at the polls two months hence.

Now that it is established that the opposition to a new state constitution has been almost wholly organized by labor, it would appear that chances for getting the constitution approved have greatly improved.

The hard-won split on the State Supreme Court which was attained in the November election, could be lost by the Republicans in April. The terms of Justices Leland Carr, (Republican), and Eugene Black, (Democrat), expire. Carr cannot run for reelection. If Black is reelected and the Republicans cannot elect a successor to Carr, the State Supreme Court would go back to a 5-3 Democrat majority. The 4-4 split came about when Michael O'Hara, (Republican), was elected in November. Election of two Republicans in April would give the party the 5-3 edge and provide a tremendous boost to the business climate of the state.

The terms of two members of the governing boards of each of the three major state universities will expire this year. All of them are Democrats and their party is now in solid control of the boards of the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Wayne State University. It is most important that the Republicans find outstanding candidates to run for these Democrat-held offices in April.

Former Pointer Lynn M. Bartlett, (Democrat), Superintendent of Public Instruction, will see his term expire this spring and the Republicans have a chance to win this post. Another education office is a 6-year term on the State Board of Education. This 4-man board, including Bartlett, now consists entirely of Democrats. The term on this board expires on June 30, 1963.

The chance for the Republicans to win many or all of these posts has been greatly enhanced by the schism created in the Democratic party last week. It remains to be seen if they can make the most of a golden opportunity.

Letters to the Editor

Denmark, January 1963
Mikael Eliassen
To The Editor:

Any person who has any ambition in life must at some time or other have wished that he had the opportunity to come to the States and live with an American family, go to an American school — in other words try to live the American way of life. I doubt very much that without the American Field Service Organization I would have had the opportunity to come to Grosse Pointe, attend G.P.H.S. — and live with the Malcolm Stirtons for 10 months. Maybe people who know me wonder how in the heck I got the A.F.S. scholarship and I must admit, it was not easy. However, I felt that I adjusted quite well and I think I can say that the problems were never too big that they could not be discussed and solved in some way or other.

My impressions of the States were so terrific in dimensions that the following months back home in Denmark, my mind and thinking was so aroused that I had to have quite a long time to calm down in, and try to find out exactly what I had gotten from you in ideas, viewpoints etc. — and if at all I had given you anything in return. Actually, to concentrate it in a few words: it was it a good select to choose me as an AFS'er. For my own personal good and welfare I have never had a better time with my American friends, girls, school etc. But I believe I also got a look behind the curtains, and got a little view of what America is, and what Americans really are. It is not for me here to say what I think I saw, but from a human point of view I doubt very much if there is so much difference between, say the Danes and the French, and Americans. It is easy enough for us Europeans to criticize the Americans either because of your foreign policy, racial discrimination, or your moral; it is easy enough for us because we have such vague ideas of what really happens in America. What is harder for us Europeans is to be more critical with ourselves. I was quite amazed at the immense knowledge Americans often had about Europe, and also your knowledge of your own faults and your wanting to alter them. Without sounding too stuck-up, I hope to think that I was a good representative of Denmark, even though many of my American friends thought I was getting to be a typical American . . . which I only take as a fine compliment to my adjustments to the American way of life!

I would like to write a few words about all those people I got to know in Grosse Pointe, but it would be impossible here to mention everybody I in some way or other had connection with. My American family must have an honors place here — without the Stirtons I probably would not have gotten an insight in American life, traditions and so on. A series of names that may mean nothing to anyone else, but a lot to me, are for just to take a few, the Johnny Adams family, the Bartholomews, all the Bockstanzes, the Snyders and many, many others, whom I owe so much to. Let me also mention the Grosse Pointe Rotary; without their financial assistance I would not have been able to come to Grosse Pointe.

The words "thank you" are in fact a horrible cliché, so besides using those so often misused words, but in this connection very deeply felt, let me also add for what I consider a very fine compliment to you, that I would consider it a privilege to be an American citizen. May the year 1963 give me the opportunity to once again come to Grosse Pointe.

to the continued success of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Thank you again for your splendid cooperation.

Sincerely,
Willis F. Woods
Director
Detroit Institute of Arts

To the Editor:

On Friday, February 1, through the efforts of Mr. John Hammel (principal of Maire School), representatives of NASA, put on two presentations of its Space-mobile program for the 6th grade pupils of the Grosse Pointe Schools.

Some interested parents of children in one of our independent schools saw the advance notice in the Grosse Pointe News and called Mr. Hammel to ask if their 6th grade children might participate. The first reaction seemed to be one of surprise that we might even be concerned or interested, but after a quick check to make certain there would be room for these children, we were most cordially welcomed.

We wish to congratulate Mr. Hammel for his efforts in procuring such an informative program for our Grosse Pointe children, and we wish to thank him and Mr. Gagnon (principal of Mason School), who served as M.C. at the presentation we attended. Our children, and the teachers and mothers who accompanied them, benefited greatly from the program and were most pleased with the courtesies extended them. We just wish that the 150 or so seats, which remained empty could have been occupied with 6th grade children from other independent schools in the area.

It is to be hoped that in the future our children will be able to participate in more of these extra-curricular educational activities. We realize that conflicting schedules and the prohibitive cost of transportation might make our participation impossible at times, but even the gesture of consideration would add much to a spirit of unity and cooperation in the community.

Since these independent school children comprise about 47 percent of the school-age population in Grosse Pointe, it should be remembered that they, and their parents' taxes, contribute greatly to the overall picture of education in the community.

District GOPs Still Feuding

Delegates to the 14th Congressional District GOP organization convention elected Stanley J. Baldwin convention chairman Wednesday night, January 30. Baldwin, backed by 14th District Republican boss Richard Durant, defeated Mrs. Norbert T. Pasternacki, wife of a Detroit doctor, 131 to 89.

Mrs. Pasternacki's candidacy was supported by anti-Durant forces, who have adopted the name "109-plus," referring to their minority vote at the August district convention when they failed to overthrow John Birch supporter Durant.

Only 220 of the 308 GOP 14th district delegates cast ballots at the January 30 convention, held at Jackson Junior High School, and Durant accused his opponents of spearheading a drive to persuade Baldwin supporters not to attend the convention, claiming that a man calling himself "Mr. Wilson" telephoned delegates earlier in the day and told them there was no need to attend.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard

The month of February is once again upon us—short, usually cold and snowy, but filled with many famous birthdays and other interesting observances. Let us start with February 2, known as Candlemas as well as Ground Hog Day, (this latter custom having been brought to America by immigrants from Great Britain and Germany).

Boy Scout Day, to commemorate the anniversary of the chartering of the Boy Scouts of America, falls on the 8th of the month. Valentine's Day, (named for two, or possibly three, 3rd century martyrs) is now associated with the lover and his trials and tribulations. Shrove Tuesday, or Mardi Gras, falls on February 26 this year, and is followed on February 27 by Ash Wednesday, the first day of the Lenten Season.

As for birthdays, there are many illustrious ones ranging from Aaron Burr to the famous but tragic Nijinsky, and including such other notables as Charles Dickens, Thomas Edison, George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, James Russell Lowell, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow and Galileo. And what lies ahead during this month for the Grosse Pointe Central Library, entering its eleventh year of existence in the community?

First of all, we are proud to report that several meetings of the "Conversations in the Arts, 1963," presented by Detroit Adventure, will be held at our Library.

In the field of architecture, the second meeting of the series will include a tour on February 17, of the Grosse Pointe Public Library, this being entitled: "Contemporary Architecture and the Community Pattern."

Under the provocative heading: "Stupas, Sages and Shan Shui," a course in Oriental art is announced, starting February 12 and continuing each week for eight weeks.

"New Dimensions in fiction," also at the Grosse Pointe Public Library, meets on Monday evenings beginning February 11, with Jay McCormick as the leader. This course will stress the new techniques of contemporary fiction here and abroad.

February 6 was the opening date for the course: "What America Is Reading, and Why" offered by the Department of Community Services of the Grosse Pointe Public School System. For his eighth class, the instructor, Robert M. Orr, has selected eight current best sellers, combining fiction with current history, biography, science and big business.

If you've hit a February lag in your life, perhaps you would like a new newspaper to read. The Library has recently added the Manchester Guardian to its roster of journals, and it should be eagerly read by those who want a fine, liberal approach to world news with an English slant. The Manchester Guardian, founded over one hundred years ago, is one of England's most distinguished newspapers.

It is with sadness that we learn of the death of Robert Frost. With his passing, we lose an eminent American poet—one who was four times awarded the Pulitzer Prize for poetry. Our catalog lists eight titles of his collections of poetry, the most recent being the well-known IN THE CLEARING.

We shall each, no doubt, remember Robert Frost for different things; each will have a remembered, favorite poem. My last recollection will always be his appearance at President Kennedy's inauguration, when, bare-headed, blinded by the sun, hampered by a cold winter wind, but still courageous, he gave up trying to read an illusive script, and extemporaneously recited from memory his familiar poem: THE GIFT OUTRIGHT. Truly, he was a great man, and will always hold a strong position in the history of American poetry.

What's New on THE HILL...

By Roberto

We felt the very merry spirit of the new season as we shopped on the Hill this week . . . the gift selection was tremendous . . . so varied . . . that we had several gifts wrapped and mailed . . . and couple delivered right here in town. We had ample parking space. All this took very little time . . . because the stores are side by side. If you are new in the Pointe, don't miss discovering what you can find on the Hill . . . in one compact block between McMillan and Muir Roads . . . you'll love it!

Divinely woven Haitian

bedspreads in single . . . double queen, or king size are conversation pieces at the Wm. Denler and Co. this week. They're so colorful, and many combinations are available. Custom-made rugs . . . so thick and warm. Have gorgeous fringe on these if you desire. Stop by and ask to see this gorgeous Haitian collection. You will be glad you did.

Hostesses

why have a trauma in the middle of a dinner party because the candles are leaning like the Tower of Pisa and dripping like mad, when the Bluegate Beeswax candles from Virginia Williams will solve these problems? There is a beautiful selection of colors in all sizes here.

Those pajama holders

for the young set at Young Clothes, Inc. are so soft and cuddly and big that they make charming gifts. We liked the big ears and sad eyes on the horses' head. The dog holders are darling, too!

Those matchless

Imperial Linens at The League Shop are worth exalting over. For example, there a golf bag cocktail napkins . . . and for the horse set there are horses . . . the barber shop quartet and the all white rooster motifs, on some, are equally charming. All are hand-made in Madeira, Portugal. This linen collection runs the gamut from the cocktail napkins to the pale pastels of breakfast tray sets . . . baby pillows and boudoir covers . . . finger tip towels. The delicately appliqued organdy and linen luncheon sets are beautiful. Tags read from four dollars to around twelve.

Since Biblical times

in fact, as far back as the days of Cleopatra, it has been known that the crystal clear gel within the leaves of the Aloe Vera plant rapidly heals, soothes and beautifies the skin. This special jewel is the ingredient of the Alo Creme products. It is especially recommended for dry skin . . . they call it a "triumph over prematurely aging skin." Regularly this combination . . . Alo-Creme Face Moisture Plus and the Alo-Creme Creme sells for six dollars and seventy-five cents . . . now, at Trail Apothecary Shop, it costs five dollars . . . and is an excellent value.

Latin America Survey Offered

A survey of Latin America will be offered at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center, 32 Lake Shore road, on Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock beginning February 13 and continuing through April 17.

The classes are being offered in conjunction with the University Center for Adult Education. They will be conducted by Professor of Political Science, Donald Carlson.

This course is presented in the interest of bringing Grosse Pointe citizens up to date on the problems both we and our neighbors to the south face in the Western Hemisphere.

Professor Carlson will cover the geography of South and Central America, their racial and political heritage and will outline the economic stresses and strains which are their lifeblood and which are inseparably linked with the economy of the United States. The complex of their political structures will also be studied with an eye to understanding what the immediate future holds both for their domestic and international situations.

Could You Guess What's Good About A Headache?

By FRED KOPP, R.Ph.

If you happen to have one right now, probably all you need is an aspirin. But the fact is: a headache sometimes is a signal. It may be telling you something is wrong . . . perhaps something quite remote from the pain. In this event it's a symptom—valuable information for your physician. So if you have a persistent or recurring headache and don't know why, see your doctor. Don't take a chance. Your physician can probably clear up your problem in short order. Of course, he may say all you need is aspirin—but even that's worth knowing.

This is the 999th of a series of Editorial advertisements appearing in this paper each week.

From Another Pointe of View

By Patricia Talbot

Striking invitations decked with pink sequins have been sent by the Fontbonne Auxiliary, nurses, doctors, and friends of St. John Hospital bidding the fortunate guests to a Mardi Gras Night at Hillcrest Country Club, February 23.

In typical New Orleans style there will be a court of beauty reigned over by Cecile Fortier as queen. In her train will be Mrs. John Luzadre, Mrs. Joseph A. Grady, Mrs. William Ghesquiere, Mrs. Vincent Meli, Sharon Venditelli, Mrs. Joseph C. Nowakowski and Joy Warren.

Mrs. Arthur D. Kerwin, president emeritus of Fontbonne Auxiliary, is honorary chairman of the party with Miss Phyllis Scrafano and Mrs. Ghesquiere chairmen.

Proceeds from the Mardi Gras party which will begin with cocktails at 7 o'clock and go on to dinner and dancing, will aid the building fund. The hospital plans new construction to begin as soon as the weather permits.

Culture Before Cuernavaca

Before she leaves for Cuernavaca next week with her husband, Mrs. Carroll M. Boutell sent out the news of the coming Libri Club meeting.

The group will meet Monday at the Women's City Club to hear Jim Hicks give a talk, "Back Stage at the Symphony." Hostesses will be Mrs. Edward Stark, Mrs. Charles Andrews, Mrs. Henry Pichler, Mrs. Bruce Kirk and Mrs. Boutell.

For some winters past the Boutells have spent their vacation weeks at their house in Tucson, but this year they have decided on Mexico.

Tourists In Pink Jeep

Mexico is also the destination of the J. Lawrence Buells and the J. Crawford Frosts. They will leave toward the end of the month for Acapulco where they have rented a "Casita" with its own private swimming pool.

The Frosts will stop off in Cuernavaca to visit the Boutells and for their stay will tour the territory in a pink jeep. They will fly to Mexico but rent a car for sight seeing expeditions.

Home to Set Wedding Date

Arriving home next week to make the final plans for her wedding will be Martha Parker, daughter of the George E. Parkers, Jr., of Lewiston road.

The bride-elect has been working in New York and will return East after her wedding. She is marrying Guy Chamberlin, of Short Hills, N.J., at the end of March in Christ Church.

Maine Visitor

Four of the Pointe's Farm and Garden Clubs will send members to the Women's City Club next Wednesday for the winter meeting of the Michigan Division of the National Farm and Garden.

Coming for the all day program of forums and luncheon will be the national president of the garden organization, Mrs. Benjamin D. Holt, of Portland, Me.

On Tuesday Mrs. Ben Young, president of the Grosse Pointe Branch of Farm and Garden, will honor Mrs. Holt and the state president, Mrs. F. G. Garrison, with a small luncheon at the Country Club. Then they will go on to the monthly meeting of the Pointe branch.

Boat Club Parties Marking 125 Years

Ladies Bridge Luncheon on Calendar February 20; Anniversary Month Opened With Saturday's Snow Ball; Stag Party and Junior High Dance Also on Agenda

At the Detroit Boat Club, February 20 will usher in the Ladies Birthday Bridge Luncheon as the beginning of their part of this 125th anniversary year. It is a most significant period in a setting apropos of this historic milestone for it was actually February 18, 1839 that the Club was founded.

In recognition of their many contributions, special invitations are being extended to the wives of past Presidents and to Chairmen of the Women's Committee and Flower Committee. Special tables of honor will be set aside for these special guests.

There will be a birthday remembrance for each lady. Some non-member special invitations have been issued to Mrs. George Romney, Mrs. George Stark, Mrs. Jerome P. Cavanagh, and Mrs. George Edwards.

A group who call themselves "Native Detroiters," (some of the older members), have made reservation for 80. The color scheme throughout the club will be Boat Club blue and silver, but topping the list will be a huge birthday cake.

In charge of the arrangements for this party will be chairman, Mrs. Daniel Carne; co-chairman, Mrs. Don W. Miller; and their committee of Mrs. Ellsworth Allison, Mrs. A. John Cutting, Mrs. Sheldon L. Drennan, Mrs. William Emory, Mrs. Leland Foster, and Mrs. Milton Weed.

The club re-opened for this great month of anniversary celebrations with the Snow Ball on Saturday evening. Also on the calendar is the stag birthday dinner February 15 and the Junior High Dance on February 22.

Edgar Gordon Claims Bride

Mrs. James Morgner Reynolds (Mary Lee Melin), and Edgar George Gordon, Jr., of Neff road, were married Saturday afternoon in the chapel of St. James Episcopal Church in Birmingham.

The bride wore a street length gown of imported French rose lace over white taffeta. The gown featured a high oval neckline, fitted bodice, and demibell skirt. The hemline was scalloped lace. She wore a matching lace pillbox headpiece.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Richard I. Birchfield, sister of the bride, chose a gown of rose silk organza. The bride's daughter, Cindy Reynolds, was her mother's junior bridesmaid. She wore a complimentary gown of pink silk organza. Both wore matching silk organza headpieces.

Martin Oetting served as best man. Ushering were Cleveland Thurber, Jr., Malcolm J. Sutherland and James W. Whims.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Leonard Melin of Spokane, Wash. Mr. Gordon is the son of Mrs. Edgar George Gordon, of Monroe, and the late Mr. Gordon.

The wedding reception was held at the Detroit Athletic Club. Following a trip to the West Indies, the couple will reside in Birmingham.

Four Valentine Galas at DYC

The Detroit Yacht Club has four Valentine galas on its busy February calendar.

The first gala is the Wheel's Valentine cocktail party in the DYC's East Lounge from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Friday, February 8. This is a get-acquainted fest for all members and guests. There'll be music, contests, prizes and dancing to Phil Girard's orchestra. Mrs. Charles S. Tompkins and Virginia Ede are the party co-chairmen.

Also on February 8, the DYC's square dance group will have its Valentine Dance Party in the club's ballroom at 9 p.m.

The DYC's "Sweetheart Night" on Saturday, February 9, will be staged in the main dining room in an appropriate setting that will feature great red hearts around the walls and suspended from the ceiling.

This gala, planned by entertainment chairman David Sherwood Jr. and his committee, will include dinner, dancing and a floor show. Mark Otis and his orchestra will play for dancing and at 11 p.m. there'll be entertainment by the "Musical Wades," known as the Four Supreme Instrumentalists.

The DYC's Sea Gulls — the disaffiliated swimming group — will offer a Valentine Party on Tuesday, February 12, that will include a noon luncheon and entertainment in the main dining room, followed by bridge.

Mrs. Thomas Pearsall is the party chairman and Mrs. Lester McIntosh is in charge of the "Musical Extravaganza." On the program will be Ruth Burczyk, well-known concert pianist; Grace Harley, who will give humorous monologues; and Mrs. Lester McIntosh, who will sing songs from popular light operas, accompanied by Mrs. Milton Weber.

Mrs. Robert N. Davies

JUDITH KAREN DELANEY, daughter of the Gilbert Edward Delaneys, of Allard road, was married Saturday in St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church to Mr. Davies, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Robert Davies, of Dodge City, Kan.

Holland-Ray Troth Revealed

Dr. and Mrs. John Henry Ray III, of Syosset, Long Island, N.Y., announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Potter, to Hudson Holland, Jr., of East Jefferson avenue.

The bride-elect attended Friends Academy at Locust Valley, N.Y., and was graduated from Westover School, Middlebury, Conn. She is now a student at Smith College. She is a member of the North Shore Junior Service League.

Mr. Holland, who is the son of the senior Hollands, of Longmeadow and Belchertown, Mass., is an alumnus of Deerfield Academy and Williams College where he was a member of Psi Upsilon. He is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Ford, of East Jefferson avenue, and Mrs. Nelson Holland, of Cambridge road.

The couple plan a fall wedding after which they will live in Grosse Pointe.

League to Look At Constitution

Members of the League of Women Voters will take a close look at the proposed new constitution after a coffee hour at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial on February 13.

Coffee and rolls will be served from 9 to 9:30 a.m., after which a panel of League members will discuss various aspects of the proposed constitution and then answer questions from the audience. Serving on the panel will be Mrs. Taylor Seebor, Mrs. Douglas Graham, and Mrs. Edgar Hahn.

Literature concerning the new constitution will be available at the meeting.

A number of pamphlets, including copies of the new constitution, are being made available by the League through the courtesy of the Village Bookshelf, where they can be had for no charge. Also, study material is being collected by Mrs. Seebor, Chairman of this study item in the League, to be deposited for general use at the Grosse Pointe Public Library.

Members who wish to attend the meeting on February 13 are asked to place reservations by February 11 with either Mrs. Leslie Pressel, TU 6-274, or Mrs. Marie Surbrook, VA 2-8153.

When a man finds he doesn't know which way to turn he should stay on the straight and narrow.

To Be Wed

At a small family dinner in their Hillcrest road home, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith announced the engagement of their daughter, JACQUELINE CAROL, to Ronald Edward McCauley, son of the R. E. McCauleys, of Southgate.

Pointer Heads Cinderella Ball

Mrs. Troy Maschmeyer of Renard road, has been appointed chairman of the 1963 Cinderella Ball, a highlight of the social season which is staged annually by the Women's Committee of the Tuberculosis and Health Society.

Mrs. Maschmeyer's appointment was announced by Mrs. Arthur R. Pfannenschmidt of Virginia Lane, who is president of the Women's Committee.

The 1963 Cinderella Ball chairman has been a member of the Women's Committee for three years. She succeeds Mrs. Oscar L. Olson, the 1962 ball chairman.

The Cinderella Ball this year will be at the Sheraton Cadillac Hotel on October 19.

Mrs. Pfannenschmidt also announced that $15,200 of Cinderella Ball funds have been pledged to the program of the parent TB and Health Society.

Projects supported include the Southeastern Michigan TB Detection Project, X-ray equipment purchase, a lung-function testing study, nursing scholarships, educational supplies, and funds for patient, family and visitor education services in the Keifer and Maybury TB hospitals.

The annual budget meeting, a luncheon affair at the DAC, was attended by 34 of the 78 Women's Committee members. Mrs. Della Keller, honorary president of the Women's Committee, was hostess.

Miniature Cinderella slippers were presented to Mrs. Olson for her efforts in the 1962 ball and to Mrs. Roy A. Fruehauf who headed the 1956 ball.

Mrs. Sidney Jay Allen, the 1962 Christmas Seal Campaign chairman (of 1920) Lincolnshire drive, will be hostess at an orientation course, tentatively set for March 18, for new members of the Women's Committee. Dr. E. Osborne Coates, chief of the pulmonary division of Henry Ford Hospital, will be speaker. His subject will be TB and Other Respiratory Diseases.

Judith Delaney Says Vows to Mr. Davies

Former Michigan Cherry Queen Wed Saturday in St. Paul Evangelical Church; After Trip to Bahamas Newlyweds Will Make Home in New York

The romance which bloomed last spring among Washington's cherry blossoms culminated Saturday in St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church when Judith Karen Delaney became the bride of Robert Noel Davies.

The bride, a former Michigan Cherry Festival Queen who met her new husband when he was a Naval officer on duty in the nation's capital, is the daughter of the Gilbert Edward Delaneys, of Allard road.

She wore an ivory Italian silk gown, sole gown designed in the Grecian style with a high empire bodice, bateau sleeves and a Watteau back falling into a cathedral train. A tiny high crown caught her mantilla of heirloom Brussels lace and she carried white phalaenopsis orchids, butterfly roses and stephanotis ivy.

Carol Degen was maid of honor in a long Spanish gold satin gown fashioned with a mandarin neckline, molded bodice of ivory satin and a waist length jacket. Her headpiece was of gold velvet and she carried yellow cymbidium orchids with stephanotis and ivy.

Dressed like the honor maid were the attendants Mrs. David Gannon, of Rye, N.Y.; Mrs. John Fraley, the bridegroom's sister, of Grand Bend, Kan.; Monica Borkowski and Jacqueline Delaney, the bride's sister.

James B. Dunn, Jr., of Winston-Salem, N.C., was best man for Mr. Davies, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Robert Davies, of Dodge City, Kan. Ushering were Mr. Gannon, Mr. Fraley, Richard Monnett, Mr. Fraley, Richard Monnett, and Gary Grose, of Dodge City.

Sponsored research at The University of Michigan is expected to total $36 million this year.

GP Newcomers to Play Bridge

The Grosse Pointe Newcomers Club will present the "Seven Hearts Bridge Party," Saturday, February 9. Play will begin at 8 o'clock at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Along with the usual prizes, a special prize will be given to any couple that makes seven hearts.

After the games, refreshments will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. James Kuenning are the party chairmen. They will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hush, Mr. and Mrs. William Haddix, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Kinner, and Mr. and Mrs. William Peeler.

DAR Exhibits At Libraries

During the month of February, 2,800 chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution seek to bring to the attention of all Americans their heritage of history.

To stimulate interest in the people and events that have made U.S. history such a rich and varied record, the National Society, DAR, offers awards to young Americans for historic essays and excellence in American history.

To highlight American History Month in the Grosse Pointe area, Elizabeth Cass Chapter, DAR, has arranged an exhibit to be shown in the three Pointe libraries. The display, consisting of 23 emblems, is of flags that have flown over America.
From the Viking flag of Lief Erikson who, with his hardy band, in the year 1000, spent a winter in what is now Rhode Island, to the Confederate flag in its final form they tell the story of the growth and change in U.S. history. The United States flag flown throughout the Civil War kept the stars of the seceded states in its union thus denying their right to secede.

Also in honor of the history month, Mrs. Leland Engel, chapter regent, of 1338 Balfour road, has donated copies of Dr.
Ada L. F. Snell's "Palatines Along the Mohawk" to the Central Library at 10 Kercheval and to the Burton Historical Collection for use in genealogical research.

Met to Open With 'Otello' During May Opera Week

Five operas not previously offered in Detroit by the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York will be included in the seven performances to be presented at the Masonic Temple Auditorium in six days, May 20 through May 25, Frank W. Donovan, president of the Detroit Grand Opera Association, Inc., announced.

Only the three operas to be presented on Saturday have been brought to Detroit by the Metropolitan in previous years.

The 1963 program, which will include six evening performances and one matinee, marks the fifth annual visit of the Metropolitan to Detroit, and the third year in which a full week's repertoire will be presented locally.

As in previous years a strong Italian flavor will predominate, with all but two of the operas, "Die Meistersinger von Nuernberg" and "Boris Godunov," stemming from the Italian school.

The week will open with Verdi's "Otello" on Monday, May 20. As in the past, the opening night performance will be a benefit. This year, again, the beneficiary will be the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Appearing opening night will be Renata Tebaldi, making her first Detroit appearance in a Metropolitan cast. Arturo Sert and Anselmo Colzani, "Otello" will be conducted by Fausto Cleva. It is staged by Herbert Graf, with sets and costumes designed by Eugene Berman. The stage director is Patrick Tavernia.

Rossini's comic and popular "Il Barbiere di Siviglia" will be the attraction Tuesday, May 21. Robert Merrill will appear in the title role, with Detroit's own George Shirley, Laurel Hurley, Fernando Corena and Giorgio Tozzi as the other principals. Silvio Varviso will conduct. The production is by Cyril Ritchard. Sets and costumes have been designed by Eugene Berman and the stage director is Patrick Tavernia.

The first Wagnerian opera to be presented by the Metropolitan in Detroit, "Die Meistersinger von Nuernberg," will be presented Wednesday, May 22. Appearing in principal roles will be Lucine Amara, Sander Konya, Otto Edelmann, Ralph Herbert and Ezio Flagello. Joseph Rosenstock will conduct. The production is staged by

Woman's Club To Hold Tour

A combined meeting of the Discussion and Garden Groups of the Grosse Pointe Woman's Club will be held on Wednesday, February 13.

A "Tour of Contemporary Art" at the Detroit Institute of Art, conducted by a staff member will be made at 12 noon. The Institute opens at noon on Wednesday and lunch is served on the lower level in the Garden Court.

For reservations call Mrs. E. D. Trowbridge, TU 5-9299; Mrs. H. W. Harden, TU 1-3432 or Mrs. M. R. Graybiel, TU 6-2261.

Alpha Gamma Delta Groups Meet Feb. 7

Alpha Gamma Delta, all groups, will meet at the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company Hospitality Center, Kercheval avenue, at 8 p.m. February 7, Thursday.

Mrs. W. A. Bostick, Assistant Professor at Wayne State University will speak on "Consumer Sense and Nonsense."

Group 4 will meet Monday, February 11 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Gerald C. Barrett of Evergreen avenue, Detroit. Group 3 will meet Thursday, February 14, at the home of Mrs. George Eskola Jr. of Asbury Park.

Health Council Holds Meeting

Five hundred million dollars are wasted each year by 10,000,000 Americans on food fads and quacks, Mrs. Florence Meyers, nutritionist at Michigan State Health Department, informed the 38 members attending the January 28 meeting of the Grosse Pointe Mothers' Health Education Council. The meeting was held in the Main Library.

Mrs. Meyers was introduced by Mrs. Alberta Davis, R. N., of the Grosse Pointe Public school system. Continued use of some food fads produces nutritional deficiency. This is especially dangerous for persons who might be suffering with anemia, diabetes or similar conditions, Mrs. Meyers told her audience.

If questions about certain fads and products should arise, the Michigan State Health Department has numerous pamphlets which they are happy to send to persons on request. The United States Food and Drug Association and the American Medical Association also have much valuable information on the subject of foods and fads.

Mrs. Meyers recommended reading the book entitled, "Nuts Among The Berries" by Robert Deutsch as enlightening on this subject. A film, "The Medicine Man," was shown illustrating the talk.

At the board meeting of Mothers' Health Council, held on Monday, January 14, at the home of Mrs. Earl Zuehlke, it was decided to revise the Code Book. Mrs. William Self, Committee chairman, hopes to have the new edition ready for early September distribution.

Mrs. Carl Nolte, Welfare Chairman, reported that she is in need of more clean usable school clothing. Her address is 84 Clairview road and the phone is TU 1-0582.

St. Clare Plans Fashion Show

The Archconfraternity of St. Clare of Montefalco Church will give a fashion show, luncheon and card party on February 20 at 12:30 o'clock in the church hall.

Members of the group will model spring styles at this Mardi Gras inspired party. Mrs. Richard Tate and Mrs. Robert Addy are co-chairmen.

On their committee are Mrs. Robert Wright, Mrs. Robert Frear, Mrs. Arthur Schultz, Mrs. Cleo Althaus, Mrs. Pete Wemhoff, Mrs. Frank McDonald, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Guy LaRose.

Nathaniel Merrill, with sets and costumes designed by Robert O'Hearn. This is a new production.

The seldom-presented "Adriana Lecouvreur" by Cilea will be offered on Thursday, May 2. Renata Tebaldi will make her second appearance of the week, in the title role, with other principals including Franco Corelli, Irene Dalis and Mario Sereni. Silvio Varviso will conduct. The production is staged by Nathaniel Merrill. Sets were designed by C. M. Cristini after sketches by Camillo Paraviehi. Costumes are by Casa d'Arte "Firenze" - Ruggero Peruzzi.

Like Wednesday's attraction, this is a new production.

The Friday night production, May 24, will be the second of the non-Italian offerings. It will be Mussorgsky's "Boris Godunov," with an impressive list of principals including Jerome Hines in the title role, Mignon Dunn, John Alexander, Morley Meredith, Ezio Flagello, and Fernando Corena. Joseph Rosenstock will conduct. The orchestration is by Dimitri Shostakovich, with the English text by John Gutman. Nathaniel Merrill is the stage director. Sets and costumes were executed by "Astislav Dobujinsky."

The Saturday matinee performance, May 24, will be Verdi's "La Traviata," one of the highlights of the 1961 season. Gabriella Tucci, Richard Tucker and Robert Merrill will sing the principal roles. Kurt Adler will conduct the Tyrone Guthrie production. Oliver Smith designed the sets, Rolf Gerard the costumes. Patrick Tavernia is stage director.

Two operas will close the season Saturday evening May 24. First will be Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana," with Eileen Farrell, Franco Corelli, and Walter Cassel singing the principal roles. This will be followed by Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci," with Teresa Stratas, James McCracken and Mario Sereni.

Both of the Saturday night offerings are Jose Quintero productions, with sets and costumes designed by Rolf Gerard. Nathaniel Merrill is stage director for both productions. The conductors will be announced at a later date.

Donovan also announced that ticket prices would remain same as in 1962, and will include seats ranging from $4.50 to $12.50 for six of the seven performances. A donation to the Detroit Symphony Orchestra is required for the purchase of some of the orchestra seats for the opening night only.

Serving with Donovan are Mrs. Theodore O. Yntema as general chairman and Mrs. John F. Gordon as general co-chairman.

In Christ Church Saturday, JULIA DEWEY CHADWICK, daughter of the Francis Laird Chadwicks, of Rivard boulevard, was married to Mr. Zboril, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Zboril, of East Detroit.

Center Holding Teens' Dance

A Valentine Dance for Grosse Pointe students in grades 9-12 of the community's private, parochial and public schools will be held at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Saturday evening, February 16, from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock.

It will be a red and white record hop with guests asked to wear something either red or white in the way of school clothes. The party will be held on the main floor of Alger House. It is for couples and the charge is $1 per person including refreshments.

Pete Alandt of Austin High School is chairman for this party with Pat Finnerty in charge of publicity. John Clark, who rounded up such a good record collection for the last dance will again be responsible for the music.

Continuing this all male committee, Charles Nichols of Grosse Pointe High School will head the group putting up the red and white decorations.

Jenny Lind Club Meets Tuesday

The Jenny Lind Club will meet Tuesday at 12:30 o'clock for luncheon in the Windmill Pointe drive home of Mrs. Carl Johnson. She will be assisted by Mrs. Carl Erickson, Mrs. M. Anderson, Mr. C. Brown and

Pointe Artists Meet on Feb. 11

The Grosse Pointe Artists' Association will have a general meeting and critique at 8 o'clock Monday evening, February 11, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Edith Obel, art instructor at Cass High School, will offer an analysis of the art work submitted by the members.

Mrs. Obel is a well-known local artist. Her work, mostly watercolor, has been shown at various art galleries and has also been on display at the Detroit Art Institute.

Trombly P.T.A. Staging Party

A Valentine Dessert Card Party is a Trombly P.T.A. social event set for Friday, February 8, in the school gymnasium. Festivities begin at 7:30 p.m. with dessert and coffee.

Trombly mothers are baking their specialties so guests will have sweet choices to make at the buffet table. Bridge, Gin Rummy, Canasta, and Pinochle are the indicated interests in card play.

Hostesses and general chairmen, Mrs. Robert Kennedy and Mrs. Walter Jensen are planning the table setting and decor in the Valentine motif. They are also providing beautiful individual table prizes together with useful favors for all.

The prize committee, under the leadership of Mrs. George Bender, will surprise and please a goodly number of guests with their array of prizes. Ticket sales are under the direction of Mrs. Roger McNeill.

Proceeds of this event will be used to purchase a set of encyclopedias for the school library and other educational materials for the children. And so Trombly Parents and friends are getting together for an evening of "two hearts in three quarter time."

Questers to Hear Talk On Colonial Kitchens

The Grosse Pointe Chapter of Questers will hold its next meeting Friday, February 8, at the home of Mrs. Frederick Schumann, 1100 Devonshire. The co-hostesses are Mrs. Bert Lindzay and Mrs. Robert Palmer.

Mrs. Bert Dunham, a Quester member, will give a talk on colonial kitchens, after which luncheon will follow.

Zboril-Chadwick Rites Observed

Pair Speak Vows Saturday in Christ Church With Small Family Reception Following at Lochmoor; Will Live in Ann Arbor Where He Is Studying

Julia Dewey Chadwick, daughter of the Francis Laird Chadwicks, of Rivard boulevard, was married Saturday in Christ Church to James Gerald Zboril, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Zboril, of East Detroit.

For the rites the bride chose a gown of silk organza designed with a crushed tucked bodice and a berth of applied lace. A shattered white organza rose caught her finger tip and she carried lilies of the valley with ivy.

Constance Chadwick was her sister's only attendant in a white carnations and ivy. Charles T. Zboril, of New York, was his brother's best man.

Following the small family ceremony there was a reception at Lochmoor. The couple will make their home in Ann Arbor where he is studying at the University of Michigan School of Dentistry.

Fortnighters to Hold Swim

Fortnighters of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church is having a mid-year "Polar Bear" swim on Friday, February 15. The party will be held at the indoor pool of the Monterey Motel, which is next door to Howard Johnson's restaurant, Woodward at California in Highland Park.

Pool and locker room facilities will be available to sports-minded young people. Swimmers should bring their own swim suit and towels.

There will be refreshments and dancing for all in the Conference Room adjoining the pool area. Single young adults in their 20's and 30's are invited to attend. For further information on this or any Fortnighter activity, call Carol Roller, TU 4-1430.

Mr. Cant, 84, of 780 Washington road, died Saturday, February 2, at his residence.

Born in Scotland, he retired in 1958 as a stationary engineer for the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., where he had worked for 15 years. Prior to joining Michigan Consolidated, he worked as a stationary engineer for 22 years at the Masonic Temple.

Mr. Cant was a life member of the Friendship Lodge No. 417, F&amp;AM, and the Grosse Pointe Senior Men's Club, and had lived in the Detroit area for 75 years.

There are no survivors. Services were Monday afternoon, February 4, at the Verheyden Funeral Home, and burial was in Acacia Park cemetery.

HAROLD A. SLEEPER

Harold A. Sleeper, nephew of the late Michigan Albert E. Sleeper, died Friday, February 1, in his home, 110 Stephens road. He was 64.

A native of Toledo, Mr. Sleeper had lived in the Detroit area for 50 years. An attorney with offices in the Buhl Building, he was a graduate of the University of Michigan and Harvard Law School, a member of the Detroit and Michigan bar associations, and a member of the Detroit Club, the Country Club of Detroit, the University Club, the Economic Club, the Detroit Museum of Art Founders Society and the Sons of the American Revolution Society.

He is survived by his wife, Phoebe Bennett Sleeper. Services were Monday morning, February 4, at the William R. Hamilton Co. chapel, 3975 Cass, and burial was in Evergreen cemetery.

WILLIAM C. FRITZ

William C. Fritz, 82, of 1329 Beaconsfield, died Sunday, February 3, in Saratoga General Hospital.

Among the survivors are four sons, Carl, Harvey, William and Douglas; eight grandchildren; two brothers, Ralph and Walter; and a sister, Mrs. Rose Zimmerman.

Services were at the A. H. Peters Funeral Home, Mack and Vernier, and Messiah Lutheran Church on Wednesday, February 6. Interment was in Forest Lawn cemetery.

JOSEPH F. TEMROWSKI

Services for Mr. Temrowski, 62, of 702 Sunningdale, were Saturday, February 2, at the Leo T. Sobocinski Funeral Home in East Detroit and St. Albertus Church, St. Aubin and Canfield. Entombment was in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Mr. Temrowski died Tuesday, January 29, in Grace Hospital after a short illness. Active in Detroit-area real estate since 1921, he also developed property in California, and was planning a 3,600-acre northern Michigan development at the time of his death.

He established the Joseph F. Temrowski Automobilia, acclaimed as one of the nation's most complete museums of automobiles, at 26 Mile road and Van Dyke in 1921, and was noted for leading expeditions of his fishing society, the Brigadoons, into northern Canada.

Mr. Temrowski is survived by his wife, Stephanie; two brothers, Dr. Leo and Stanley; and a sister, Mrs. Anna Sables.

PETER LUZI

Mr. Luzzi, general manager of Al Green's catering service in Cobo Hall, died Saturday, February 2, in Bon Secours Hospital. He was 43, and lived at 15219 Essex.

Surviving are his wife, Mariellen; three sons, Peter, Jr., Rodney and Michael; a daughter, Allegra; his mother, Mrs. Candida Anselmino; two brothers, Clary and Frank Anselmino; and two sisters, Mrs. Thelma Shephard and Mrs. Lydia Bonomo.

Services were Wednesday, February 6, at the Bagnasco Funeral Home and St. Ambrose Church. Burial was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

HARVEY KUFFERT

Harvey Kuffert, veteran sales representative of the Automobile Club of Michigan, died Thursday, January 31, at his home, 566 Moorland. He was 50, and a native Detroit.

Survivors include his wife, Evelyn; two daughters, Mary E. and Diane D.; a son, Douglas; his mother, Mrs. Rose Kuffert; and a brother, Robert.

Services were at the A. H. Peters Funeral Home, Mack at Vernier, and Charity Lutheran Church on Monday, February 4. Interment was in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

FLORENCE B. ZIEGLER

A memorial service for Florence B. Ziegler, 69, of 1029 Bishop road, was held Saturday afternoon at the Barbour Chapel of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. Mrs. Ziegler died Wednesday, January 30, in Bon Secours Hospital.

Survivors include her husband, Curtis; a daughter, Mrs. Joan Schreiber; a brother, Harry Bascom; and two grandchildren, Elizabeth and Daniel Schreiber.

The family has requested that memorials be sent to the Florence B. Ziegler Fund, Bon Secours Hospital.

LEO B. HAFEEY

Mr. Hafeey, 75, of 1148 Wayburn, died suddenly Tuesday, January 29, at his residence.

Born in Cloverport, Ky., he was a retired railroad engineer, having given over 40 years of service to the Pere Marquette and C.O. railroads.

Survivors include his wife, Vera; a son, James; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Alden; and eight grandchildren.

Services were Thursday afternoon, January 31, at the Verheyden Funeral Home, and interment was in Forest Lawn cemetery.

JOSEPHINE GRUNDY

Josephine Grundy, a Grosse Pointe resident for 30 years, died Tuesday, January 29, at Bon Secours Hospital. She was 65.

Surviving are her husband, Albert J. Grundy; a son, Joel; a sister, Mrs. Antoinette Knop; and two brothers, John and Joseph Van Blerck.

Services were Friday, February 1, at the Verheyden Funeral Home and St. Paul's on the lakeshore. Burial was in Woodlawn cemetery.

ADAM F. RAYMOND

Mr. Raymond, a native of Lockport, N.Y., died Thursday, January 31, at Saratoga General Hospital. He was 71, and lived at 268 Moran road.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Betty Jane Allor; and a son, William Raymond.

Services and interment were Monday, February 4, in Buffalo, N.Y.

25 FAMILY APARTMENT

Have you $20,000 and a good reputation? Then you can buy this 25 family apartment building near Grosse Pointe, between Jefferson and Mack. But would you recognize a good investment if you saw one? Here you can test yourself. Gross rent income $18,000 per year. Price $80,000. Cash down payment $20,000 and balance at only $500 per month. Believe it or not—it figures about 25% profit on money invested. Worry free. No ups and downs like stocks and bonds. You could have Smith-Bishop, or Homer-Warren, or the Silloway Co. manage this apartment building for you, and you could go fishing, or traveling, or just loaf. What could be nicer? Telephone the owner any time. "He likes to talk with people." Telephone VA 1-9085 or write Mr. Harmon, 936 Beaconsfield, Grosse Pointe, Detroit 30, Michigan.

MR. & MRS. HOUSEHUNTER
WE'RE IN BUSINESS TO FIND YOU THE HOUSE THAT SUITS YOU. IF ANY OF THE FOLLOWING SOUND INTERESTING, PLEASE CALL FOR MORE INFORMATION

Tidy is the word for this attractive bungalow, tidy in appearance and tidily kept. Two good-sized bedrooms. Like an apartment except that the breeze can blow all through it in the summer time across a lovely garden. $22,900.

How useful, beauty? Often a question, but not here. This lovely architect-designed, 5 bedroom, 3 1/2 bathroom, house has a most useful arrangement for a large family—including a modern kitchen. An opportunity at only $38,000.

A nice little honeymoon house, and when the children come, it's close to schools and playground. Pleasingly decorated. Three bedrooms. You can't beat it at $19,900.

Do you like traditional architecture? Let us show you a home-like house. Three twin-sized bedrooms, two bathrooms. Den and glassed-in porch. The secluded library can double as a fourth (guest's) bedroom adjacent to lavatory.

Conveniently located. $35,000. Worth going into just to see it sparkle. Four bedrooms and two bathrooms on two floors. Built 1959. $34,900 includes built-in oven, range, and carpeting throughout.

On Hall Place. Is convenience as important to you as to most people? This house is close to schools, transportation and shopping. Desirable 1 1/2 story. 2 Bedrooms and bath down. Large bedroom and bath up.

From the outside deceptively cute; on the inside commodious with 4 bedrooms, 2 baths on first and second floor. And a family room. In excellent condition. 2 1/2 car garage. $29,750.

21S—CARPENTER WORK

★ Feature Page ★

By Pat Talbot

Michigan's second elected Congressman received his citizenship papers just a few months before the campaign, was in jail when the election results were published and was the first Catholic priest to serve as a representative.

He was Father Gabriel Richard, for whom one of the Pointe's elementary schools is named, founder of the University of Michigan, and the first to bring a printing press to Detroit. He died in the cholera epidemic of 1834.

Father Richard's campaign was a controversial one. He was opposed by Sheriff Austin Wing and John Biddle, of the famous Philadelphia Biddles. The French citizens of Detroit sponsored Father Richard after the other two candidates announced their intention to run.

Michigan was still a territory in 1819 when the first representative was elected. According to the Northwest Territory Ordinance the state was entitled to one Congressman from 1787 but the first was not elected until 1819 when William Woodbridge, collector of customs and secretary of the territory, defeated Henry Hunt Jackson, Judge Woodward, John R. Williams and James McCloskey for the post. Woodbridge, who later became governor and father of one of the Pointe's early Lakeshore road mansion builders, was forced to resign as Congressman. There was much popular prejudice against a man holding more than one Federal office. Solomon Sibley was appointed to replace him.

In 1820 Cass and Schoolcraft made a survey of the state which was then apportioned into districts. In 1823 Wing and Biddle announced their candidacy and Father Gabriel Richard's parish of St. Anne's Church came out for his election. The priest was not even a citizen, still owing allegiance to France. He applied for citizenship papers in June but the Chief Justice of the Wayne County Court refused his request. The Judge's colleagues, Judges Witherell and Lecuyer granted the citizenship papers a month later.

But Father Richard's problems were just beginning. John R. Williams, a merchant and son of Celia Campau, Joseph Campau's sister, reared in the Catholic Church and a warden of St. Anne's tried to stop the priest's election. He circulated a petition among the parish warning of the dangers of a congregation without a pastor and he brought his wealthy uncle Joseph Campau into the fight.

Father Richard felt there was no reason why he should not run for Congress and refused to withdraw. Williams and Joseph Campau withdrew from the church and joined the Free Masons. They were excommunicated and were never reinstated.

While this fight was going on Father Richard became embroiled with the Labadies, another pioneer French family. Francis Labadie, three years before the election, had been accused of abandoning his wife, Appoline Girardin, in Canada. In Detroit he married again, a widow named Marie Anne Griffard. Father Richard tried to persuade Labadie to return to his legal wife but the Frenchman refused. He was publicly excommunicated from the church. During the summer before the election he brought suit against Father Richard for defamation of character. William Woodbridge defended the priest but lost the case and Father Richard was asked to pay $1,116 damages. He refused to pay and was sent to jail.

His parishioners were angry and felt he was being persecuted. While he was in jail he was elected to Congress. Sheriff Wing was forced to release him because no elected Congressman could be jailed for a civil process.

In Washington he created quite a sensation as the first priest to be elected to Congress. He said, "I came here to do my people some good but I do not see how I can do it. I know nothing about legislation. I want to give them good roads if I can."

It was largely due to Father Richard that an act was passed during the 1825 session allowing the road from Detroit to Chicago to be built.

who, where and whatnot

by wboozit

Speed readers are still hard at it and William Nolan, cadet at the Roosevelt Military Academy, Alero, Ill., has set all kinds of records. He can read 2824 words a minute with 100% comprehension and this is no mean feat after just one semester's study of the new speed reading technique.

One of our colleagues in the Grosse Pointe News office played the organ in Martha Mary Chapel, Greenfield Village many years ago. She well remembers that all the organists had orders to stop playing whatever hymn or chorale they had begun and switch to a Stephen Foster melody when the late Henry Ford entered the chapel.

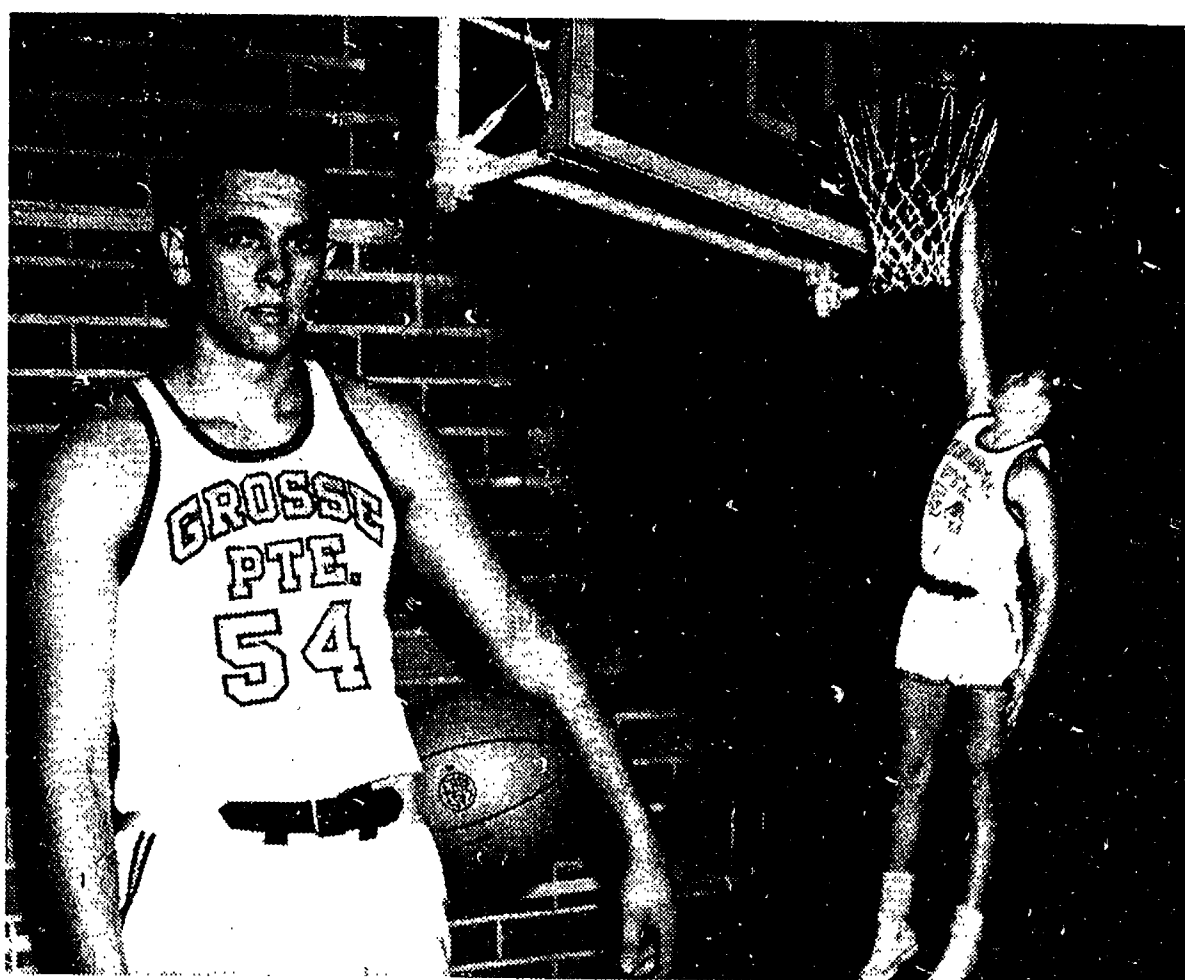

Fifth graders are notorious collectors of stamps, playing cards, rubber bands and the like, but Brooke Jolliff, daughter of the Malcolm S. Jolliffs, of Washington road, shows a little more imagination. She hoards odd jewelry. To the delight of her schoolmates she wears a shark's tooth necklace or her new fried marble ring to class daily. But the real prize of her collection is a rope of porcupine quills.

In the junior high set, at Pierce, the new rage is gum wrapper chains. The trick is to braid the wrappers in Indian fashion to form a chain as long as the current boy friend's height. Rather a chore if the beau is of basketball player size.

For housewives the current craze is rubbing coupons with butter to see if they have won in the monthly grocery contest. On the hill the lucky winners names are posted and they include such matrons as Mrs. Richard P. Joy, Jr., Mrs. Rockwell Gust, Jr., Mrs. Walter B. Fisher and Mrs. Abram VanderZee.

Slush and snow are hard on the footgear but Mrs. Mark Ethridge is not deterred. She arrived at a dinner party last week wearing a luscious deep green embroidered sleeveless overblouse frock fashioned in Hong Kong and she was carrying her matching dyed green silk shoes.

Pointer of Interest

MARC LONESK, of Nottingham road

By Patricia Talbot

The big, dumb athlete who won his varsity letter with ease but barely mastered the multiplication table no longer sits on the football bench or in the classroom. For hefty Marc Lonesk, a star on the GPHS gridiron, the basketball field and the baseball diamond, athletics are a method of gaining that college diploma.

"You have to be superlative to play professional ball and I'm not," he says modestly. But he is good enough to have won the prep athlete of the week title awarded by two newspapers and gain the attention of several colleges who want his services on the football field.

At six foot three and weighing 211 pounds, blue-eyed Marc is well equipped for his job as football tackle. Now he is playing basketball and has to watch his weight, takes off about five to ten pounds by foregoing potatoes. He doesn't smoke and has very few late night as practice keeps him at the high school until 6 o'clock during the week, then the week-end game and home work tie up quite a few more hours. He does go steady but romance plays little part in his busy schedule.

Hopes for Annapolis

Marc has traveled the typical route to become a bigtime high school athlete. He played Little League and Babe Ruth League ball, went all out for athletics at Pierce before he came to the high school and now as a senior is on the varsity of three teams. Marc is a serious student, keeps a B average and is concerned about his language requirements for college. He hopes to go to the Naval Academy and will be leaving soon for Annapolis where he will take a comprehensive physical. In spite of all the football, basketball and baseball he is worried about doing pull-ups and runnings, will work out with weights to prepare for the Annapolis ordeal.

Marc is not impressed with his prowess as a letter man. He wants to go to college and admits he would find it difficult without his abilities on the athletic field to pave the way. He has toured several campuses and had letters from a few Big Ten Schools.

"The alumni are the recruiters," Marc admits. But at any college the athlete has to keep up his grades. One of the reasons he leans toward Annapolis is the fine engineering education offered by the Academy and the fact that he can play all three sports.

State Basketball Finals

During February and March Marc and all of the basketball team are straining to compete in the state tournament. The GPHS squad has an undefeated record and high hopes of entering the finals, which a Blue Devil team has not achieved in 30 years. Marc believes Benton Harbor is the team to beat.

He has no favorite of the three sports but right now basketball has the edge because of the championship goal. He has no illusions about his own skill, realizes he is not fast enough for the major leagues in baseball nor good enough for a line position with the Lions.

For a 17-year-old Marc has a great deal of maturity. Criticism of teen agers fails to disturb him although he admits there is always a "wild" group which can get into trouble. Decision of adults in authority to limit teens' actions seems fair to him. About the closed campus he says, "They are running the school. I'm not. It isn't so dreadful."

Part Time Jobs

Until this year Marc had an evening paper route which he took care of after practice. On Sunday mornings he attends St. Ambrose Church with his parents and four younger sisters, Cleo, Sheila, Donna and Hope. Occasionally his sisters will play catch but they are mostly spectators when their big brother plays. Last summer he took a job as a life guard at a downtown motel but this summer, if the Academy doesn't accept him, he hopes to find a construction job. Life guard work offers little chance for an athlete to use his muscles and the pay is less than in other work. Marc bought a car, which is temporarily out of commission because of the weather, with his summer job money.

With all his free hours devoted to sports Marc has little time for other extra curricular activities. He does referee games on Saturday mornings for his church but he spends most of Sunday studying, is worried about an English term paper which is due about the time of the basketball finals.

Marc is a young man with his feet on the ground. His head has not been turned by the adulation a high school athlete receives. He knows just how good he is and he wants to go to college. If a position on the football team will help earn him his degree he is grateful. In the classroom or on the athletic field Marc is a credit to his family, his church, his school and himself.

Pointe Counter Points

By Pat Rousseau

Cupid . . . usually finds his mark when he's armed with perfume from Walton-Pierce. Two favorites . . . detchema and Carnet de Bal. There's also lovely lingerie from which to choose her Valentine gift.

You'll fall in love . . . with the delightful sportswear just-in at Leon's, 17888 Mack Avenue. Dior (for a limited time), Evan Picone, Oleg Cassini, Pantino, Serbin and Mr. Mort are represented in the colorful collection. Be sure to see them and then be seen in them!

Heart To Heart . . . let's talk about The Top Drawer, 17007 Kercheval Avenue in the Village. More and more Pointers are climbing that flight of green carpeted stairs to shop in a truly charming atmosphere. They find such unusual, hand-picked gifts for tiny tots, teens, and sentimental occasions . . . such as Saint Valentine's Day!

"Each Day Is Valentine's Day." . . . as far as he's concerned because you carefully selected his ties at Hickey's, over the years. They always seem to go with his things . . . to be in perfect taste. By the way, it's about time to choose more!

The Way To A Man's Heart . . . can start with a Mutschler kitchen. It's so much easier to prepare fine meals in a kitchen that is well planned and beautifully decorated. Be sure to see the models at 20489 Mack Avenue.

Gallery Gazing . . . Les Galleries de Renee is preparing for Stan Burn's One Man Show, which begins Sunday, February seventeenth . . . two to five and runs thru March ninth. We missed seeing "Big Top," which won top watercolor award at The Scarab Club Exhibition . . . but it will be at Les Galleries de Renee, 14944 East Jefferson . . . so we'll have another chance.

Be A Lady Fair . . . even if you're rushed . . . be sure to book an early appointment, February 14th (8 in the morning) if you like to be the prettiest Valentine around. D-J Beauty Salon, 405 Fisher Road opens this early and their staff includes . . . Dorothy, James, Frank, Barbara, Bill, Berniece and Cathy . . . TUXedo 2-6300 is the number to call.

VALEN-TIMELY . . . it's that season again . . . when your skin needs pampering . . . with a true sense of timing The Notre Dame Pharmacy offers its very own brand of beauty preparations. Dry Skin Bath Oil, Hand and Body Lotion, Foaming Bath Oil, Hand Cream and an excellent shampoo and hair spray. Try them . . . many are at introductory savings!

"Give Beauty . . . all her rites" . . . but quickly please! Modern charmers have little time for lengthy beauty rituals. Realizing this . . . Leon has acquired The Vapozone and can offer glamorous hair coloring and streaking . . . in less time than it takes to tell . . . almost! COMING SOON . . . The Viking Sauna . . . familiar to many of our skiers in the Pointe . . . for its relaxation. For more information call TUXedo 4-9393.

Another Round Table Report: OUR SUBURBAN CHILDREN—How CODDLED Are They?
A New Kind of Party BY WILLIAM SAROYAN • Wild Animals As Pets

Suburbia Today

In This Issue . . .

Are Suburban Kids Coddled? . . . page 8

Peter Wyden's book, "Suburbia's Coddled Kids" caused an uproar among parents, with charges that our youth are pampered conformists. We decided to get a "second opinion" from the editors of suburban newspapers, and in this month's Round Table you'll read how these men answer Wyden's charges and what they feel is right—and wrong—with the younger generation.

William Saroyan Invites You . . . page 16

—to a new kind of party. The famous author of "The Time of Your Life" thinks we're all in a rut with the traditional cocktail gathering. "Why not give a new kind of party?" he asks and suggests, for instance, a No-Talk Party, where there's not a sound; an Art-Party, where guests make pictures and then discuss the results; and finally, The Best Party, a sure-fire success if you follow his invaluable advice.

Wild Animals As Pets? . . . page 18

Yes, say thousands of suburbanites who have monkeys leaping from their chandeliers, ocelots purring on their laps, and deodorized skunks padding around like house cats. You'll find out what life is like with a wild animal at home—plus a word of warning from the Curator of Mammals at the Bronx Zoo.

Try a Portable Garden . . . page 6

You can grow anything from a dwarf annual to a lemon tree in a container, says Garden Editor John Brimer. In "A Garden in Pots," he tells how to choose your container and how to begin with a show of annuals. Best of all, when the first blooms fade, you just whisk them away and bring in the replacements.

On the Cover

Artist Don Higgins didn't do much skating in his hometown of Hopewell, Virginia, but since he has come north, he has kept a keen eye on that special breed: The Skater. You probably can spot your own friends here . . . the speed demon; the girl with the perfect figure—uh—skating; the portly man with the Gay 90's form; and, always, children who defy gravity and stand up, no matter what.

GETTING AROUND

. . . to Our Pleasant Places and People

A SHOPPER who lives near Alhambra, California, reports that in one local shopping center there is a small dress shop nestled—almost squeezed—between a bustling department store and a large men's specialty shop. Only steps away is a busy drug-variety store. Nonplused by the aggressive selling on all sides, the owners have put a sign in a corner of their window, which reads: "OPEN—But Only Two, Small, Timid Saleswomen on Duty."

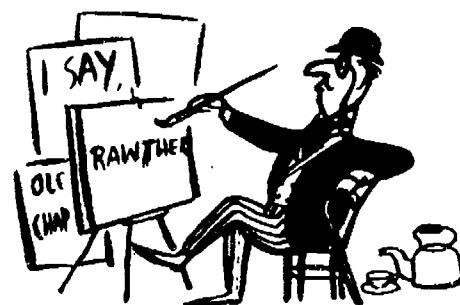

Seen by a slippery spot in the road near Silver Spring, Maryland: "A Little Skidding Goes A Long Way."

A reader, living near Flat Rock, Michigan, describes a street scene after a blizzard: A man clambers back and forth on top of a huge pile of snow. Periodically, he sticks a long pole into the snow and pulls it out with a look of disgust. "What are you doing?" asks a passer-by. "I'm trying to find my sports car," he answers.

Residents who commute from Brookline, Massachusetts, to Boston were amused by this note, with a British accent, on a crane being used to raze a building: "Sorry to be making a bit of a mess. Office building coming. Progress, you know."

Mrs. Thomas Tavcar of Lyndhurst, Ohio, heard about a secretary in a large, nearby corporation who was dismayed when fellow employees carelessly left valuable unexposed photostat paper open to the light. One day she posted this notice above the container of paper: "Please bear in mind that the paper within must be handled delicately, much like most women—that is, tenderly, carefully, and (above all) kept in the dark." At last report, the problem had been practically eliminated.

A saying making the rounds in St. Louis County, Missouri: "He who laughs last probably didn't get the joke."

GETTING AROUND

A correspondent in Madison, New Jersey, informs us of a sign outside a power station in Illinois: "To Touch These Wires Means Instant Death. Anyone Disregarding This Notice Will Be Placed Under Arrest."

We wonder how Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Telfer are enjoying their retirement in Florida after their gala departure from Birmingham, Michigan. When they closed their children's wear store to go south, they used their extra stock to make life brighter for 38 youngsters in a local orphanage by loading the orphanage's station wagon with a complete wardrobe for each child. The clothing included everything from rough-and-tumble sportswear to the latest styles in dress-up outfits—and the happy youngsters had the fun of wearing something that was new, and all their own.

Most of us have enough trouble finding time to do any volunteer work—let alone walking six miles to get to it. But Mrs. Robert Wright treks that distance every Friday to help out in the Hinsdale, Illinois, sanitarium. She started volunteer work at the sanitarium sometime ago, but then her husband found that he must have the car on Fridays. Rather than give up her place on the volunteers' schedule, she decided to walk the three miles each way—and she hasn't missed a week yet.

We've heard reports that more and more women are getting part-time jobs, not because they need the money but because they want something new and interesting to keep them busy. For instance, at one office-placement agency, Echelons, in Fairfield County, Connecticut, a woman failed to come in with the employment slip from the firm that had used her services the previous day. The office called her at home and got the maid, who explained that the lady of the house was away skiing but asked what was needed and said she would look for it. Later in the morning, a uniformed chauffeur drove up, parked, and delivered the employment slip to the office.

Ray Becker, of Arlington Heights, Illinois, must be the promptest man in town. We're still breathless over a story we heard the other day about a date he had to visit the village's public elementary schools at 10:30 a.m. in honor of American Education Week. At 10 that same morning, his wife gave birth to a son at Northwest Community Hospital. At 10:05 he saw both mother and son, and at 10:25 he dashed to the hospital parking lot on the way to the Wilson School, only to find his car battery dead. Undaunted, he hailed a cab—and made it to the classroom on time.

Residents of Broward County, Florida, looked twice when they saw this sign on the back of a 1956 car: "Made at Cape Canaveral from used rocket parts."

To judge from our mail, there appears to be something of a Tampax "club." One user tells a friend, and that friend in turn tells us. We've even received a survey of an entire college dormitory from a girl who had become an enthusiastic convert to Tampax. We're delighted!

Tampax® internal sanitary protection really does a lot for high school and college girls. It lets them be active any time of the month. It gives them poise, security, in the presence of others. (Nothing can show, no one can know.) It's easy to carry, easy to dispose of. And most important, it prevents odor from forming.

Have you joined the "club" of Tampax users? Try Tampax this very month. Tampax Incorporated, Palmer, Mass.

BY JOHN BRIMER

WITH MORE and more gardeners finding out how easy and how rewarding it can be to grow anything from tiny dwarf annuals to sizable citrus or peach trees in containers, we shall probably soon be as addicted to "portable gardens" as the Italians and Spaniards are. Gardening with this system, you never need to say, "You should have seen it last week." When bloom begins to lag, you just whisk the first pots away and bring in the replacements you've been growing elsewhere till they're wanted for display.

Perennials, bulbs, and a great many foliage plants may be grown in large or small pots, though in cold climates most must be wintered indoors or covered in protected spots outdoors. For a first pot garden, however, annuals are ideal—no-trouble, one-season plants which can be disposed of when the season ends, their pots stacked until needed the next year. Therefore, we shall confine ourselves to annuals here.

Start seeds indoors in February, March, or early April, according to your climate, and plants will be ready to set out by the time the weather warms. Plants may also be purchased already started, frequently in bud or blossom, at garden centers. If, however, you are not certain you'll find exactly the color or the plant you want later on, make your choices and start your own plants from seed this spring. There will be plenty of extra seedlings to tuck into bare spots in your borders, too, or you can divide your seed packet and save some for later pot plantings to use for replacements as they're needed.

You may choose any sort of container—the common clay kind, either plain or painted to complement the terrace decor, decorative terra cotta Italian pots, tubs or pots made of cast concrete, cedar or redwood, ceramic, plastic, or fiber glass. Old pickle jars and crocks and even old iron cooking kettles and pots may be utilized if drainage is provided. Nail and other kegs, old barrels sawed in half, butter tubs, plastic wastebaskets in pleasing colors, pails—almost anything can be used as a container or a pot. Plants in clay pots are often put inside containers with wet sphagnum or peat moss filled in around them to reduce evaporation and give support.

By observing plants and feeling the soil surface in the pot, the gardener can tell when water is needed. Small pots may need watering twice daily in hot spells. Don't overwater plants, though, or the roots may rot. Let the soil dry out a bit between waterings to assure penetration of air to the roots, so necessary for root health. As suggested above, sinking pots in sphagnum or peat moss in containers or window boxes will retard evaporation, and the use of plastic, ceramic, glazed, or metal containers and pots will also prevent drying out quickly, as may be the case with common clay pots.

A mist hose-nozzle, if allowed to remain long enough, will water most plants adequately, but if you have only a few potted plants, immerse them in a bucket or tub of water, leaving them till no bubbles rise, signifying that the soil is saturated. Never depend utterly on rain; thick leaf growth may prevent even heavy showers from reaching the soil. Pot saucers will help to retain water, plastic rather than clay saucers being recommended since they are less likely to stain or spot the terrace or painted porch floors. Don't let plants stand for days in saucer water, or the soil may become waterlogged in rainy weather.

In the restricted soil areas of pots nutrients are used up quickly. Feeding every two or three weeks with a balanced

Once upon a yawn

BRINGING UP BABY,* HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF FIVE

Brand new babies can yawn more yawns more easily (and adorably) than anybody! Ever wonder why? It's Mother Nature's way of providing the extra oxygen new lungs need in the early weeks. (It takes a bit of time before little beginners' lungs work at top efficiency.) So isn't it nice to know that when your baby looks just about his cutest he's getting the benefits of a deep and satisfying breath of air?

Nutrition note from Dan Gerber, "It may interest you to know that Gerber Rice Cereal (often recommended as baby's first cereal) is the only infant rice cereal containing rice polishings . . . a good natural source of vitamin-B complex. These polishings, taken from one of the outer layers of the grain, not only improve the nutritive values but also enhance the flavor of this exceptional cereal. Like all Gerber Cereals, extra B-vitamins, iron and calcium are added for further nutritional benefits."

Vitamin C . . . a necessity for sound gums and body tissues. Gerber Orange Juice, Apple Juice and the juice combinations are rich in vitamin C . . . with one can providing over 100% of the recommended daily dietary allowance for infants.

Once upon a position. Should your baby sleep bottoms up or flat-a-back? Some doctors prefer one way, some the other. If your doctor has not indicated a preference you might alternate positions. (Baby will eventually find his favorite.) Advantages of tummy position: covers are less apt to be kicked off. Un-bubbled air-bubbles come up more easily.

Stepping stones to growth. Your baby grows much faster the first year than the next few put together. That's why he needs the "helping hand" of protein to aid that growth. Gerber Strained Meats are high in protein, extra-low in fat so even tiny babies can digest them easily. Made from selected Armour cuts, they're carefully processed to protect the utmost in food values and assure a wonderfully smooth, moist texture.

String-around-the-finger dept. When you care for your baby, remember to wear your heart and your smiles on your sleeve. The love and laughter you put into baby care pay far richer dividends than knowing how to put on a diaper perfectly. And happy times ahead!

Important: Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods—infant formulas, cereals, strained and junior foods—to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

Our Suburban Children: How Coddled Are They?

Edited by
GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT

SUBURBAN CHILDREN and their upbringing are a cause of such concern that recently an entire book was devoted to them—"Suburbia's Coddled Kids," by Peter Wyden (Doubleday). According to the publishers, this "thoughtful, witty, disturbing study of middle-class suburbia examines the citizens of tomorrow in their present role as coddled, babied, and overindulged children. The author feels that this one-class society prevents its children from being aware of the social problems they will encounter later in life."

Here we go again. And the Times-Falls News of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, must have spoken for some fifty million taxpayers when it said, "We are sick and tired of having books and magazine articles attack suburban dwellers . . . as people, as husbands and wives, and as parents."

Mr. Wyden, however, is no outsider. He raised his own two boys in the suburbs of Highland Park, Illinois; Bethesda and Chevy Chase, Maryland; and University City, Missouri. In addition to his personal experience, he bases his findings on his special study of two very different suburbs, Highland Park, Illinois, and Bellefontaine Neighbors, Missouri, and he says in his foreword that he pleads guilty himself to most if not all of the charges he makes.

Those charges, if true, are a serious matter for parents and even more serious for their children. The world today is no place for the coddled (and when was it ever?).

But of course the more serious a diagnosis is, the more you should have a second opinion. Any one, including Mr. Wyden, can be mistaken. So we took the questions raised by "Suburbia's Coddled Kids" to the best-qualified judges we could find—a panel of newspapermen who cover the doings of suburban families from Mayo, Maryland, to La Jolla, California. Here are the questions and the answers we got from those whose job in life is to report their towns as they are:

Is the average suburb a one-class community, where children get a narrow view of the world?

"Mr. Wyden exaggerates," says the editor of a thriving daily in a big suburb outside Dallas, "but he has a point. Although I have six of my own growing up here, I hadn't realized before that there are certain basic truths in 'Suburbia's Coddled Kids.'"

"So it tends to be a one-class community, so what?" A Missouri publisher wants to be shown. "Many of humanity's greatest figures have come from such communities that were not only one-class but closed communities, composed of members of one religious sect, for instance. And I suppose," this independent spirit proceeds, "kids who live in the Orkney Islands or Katanga seldom mingle with children from Paris or Tarsney Lakes, Missouri."

The busy general manager of a prize-winning western New York paper lives in the kind of high-income, attractive town where, in theory, the children would acquire a comfortable, narrow, one-class view of life, but he thinks better of the children and his town:

"I feel they DO get to know all types of people," he says. "Not only is there a good mixture in our schools, but the youngsters get to know retired people and people living nearby better than they would in a cold, city type of living. In any suburb there's bound to be a fair mixture of income brackets. And thank God, anyway, not everyone thinks, lives, and acts the same."

In a Kansas suburb which the reporter does consider one-class, he wonders if the children's viewpoint must necessarily be narrow.

"Between television and their travels, as well as the literature and newspapers they read, it seems to me today's suburban youngsters are a lot more worldly than the 'exposed' city kids of my day," he observes. "As for firsthand knowledge of violence, I was raised in southside Chicago during the Capone era and never saw a gangster. As far as I know, none of my friends did either."

This attitude may be a departure from current headshaking over the limitations of a suburban upbringing, but it is going to sound like simple common sense to many anxious parents.

And from towns as far apart as Sylvania, Ohio, and San Diego, California, comes this observation: The older suburbs—still the great majority—were once towns in their own right and had, and still have, diversified populations.

Finally, this philosophical comment: "If the trend continues, the great middle class will all be in the suburbs anyway. The middle class takes in quite a range, so there'll be no need to be limited." Do you agree with Peter Wyden, that a suburban father, because of his long hours of work and commuting, is an absentee father, that children have no direct knowledge of their father's job, and that the mother takes over many of the usual male duties, including disciplining of the children?

In answer to this one, two points were repeatedly made. First, the suburban father spends a lot more time than he would in the city coaching ball teams, getting out with Scout troops, and taking part in other youth activities. Second, far from being absentee, many a suburban father gives a good deal of evening time to community activities, so that the values and standards of the community—which he and his family came to the suburbs to enjoy—won't deteriorate. "Fathers here rarely miss PTA meetings," observes the publisher of the local weekly in the most prosperous suburb in Kansas. "Most city fathers wouldn't be caught dead at the PTA." But on the downbeat side: "All too true: more and more dads spend less and less time with kids." Even worse: "A lot of mothers have jobs, too. Some kids don't really get to know either parent. A football coach told us of teen-agers who fix their own breakfasts (or skip 'em), eat lunch at the school cafeteria, get home after team practice to find parents gone bowling or out on the town, and eat a cold dinner out of the icebox. They see Dad and Mom for a couple of hours on weekends." From Ohio, where Mr. Wyden himself says common sense is laid down with the grass roots, a dissenting voice demands, "What's wrong with Mom administering discipline when necessary?" And a very busy editor in a booming Texas suburb can still report that boys and Dads do share common interests: "One of my sons even wants to be an editor. He says it's very important work."

You begin to catch the drift of all this? So far, we're getting a Scotch verdict—not proven. Are parents overly protective and fuss-budgety? For instance, do they tend to drive the children around when walking would be better for them, supervise all their activities, and protect them from fighting and arguing with other children?

YES AND NO AGAIN. Emphasis is on the wide variety of youngsters' activities, for which suburban life gives greater scope than the big-city environment. "With so much to do, and no other means of transportation, how in a two-car family can you refuse to give the kids a lift now and then?" . . . "Too much pampering. Kids with paper routes get driven around in family car when it rains." . . . "Keep kids from fighting? Ha! Peace is a state of mind." Several comments took note of parents who did not go along with this trend, who make their youngsters walk to school and their other activities when reasonable, who don't rush to pick them up when there's a sprinkle of rain, or fall in a faint when Johnny comes home with a bloody nose.

Is it true that suburban kids don't know the value of money?

"Who does, any more?" asks an editor, publisher, father, and advertising manager rolled into one. From Ohio, Illinois, California: True, but the fault's not confined to suburban children. "Made work, featherbedding, welfare scandals, price-fixing—what sort of values do you expect young people to acquire?" Again from Ohio, a constructive approach: "Parents should teach youngsters to value money—by encouraging savings accounts, earnings for small services or outside jobs. Nowhere is this need more keenly felt than in suburban communities." Lavish allowances are criticized from several quarters. "Kids get more money than they need. Nothing but the best!" . . . "Allowances? A teen-ager here expects Dad to buy him a convertible. Too many do just that." Contrast: "Allowances here average 50¢ to $1.50 a week up to age 15." . . . "Many parents teach responsibility, respect for property, the value of a dollar."

We're still in that "not proven" bracket, you'll observe.

Not enough chores for youngsters to do?

Too right, says an Illinois report: "Kids aren't required to assume around-the-house responsibilities, not encouraged to do physical work." But another editor snaps: "Who has proved that chores help build a better individual?"

Suburban parents could find more chores if they wanted to, say several reports. "With a good-sized house and two cars, there are chores to be done."

Too much emphasis on popularity?

"Emphatically yes," a Kentucky report tells us . . . "Certainly a problem but can't be made a blanket indictment." On the negative side: "Can't buy this one. There's no overt search for popularity." . . . And, not unreasonably, "Is ability to get along with others, to be accepted by a group, a bad thing?"

Finally, do parents seem to be afraid to set their own rules?

Over and over again, the answer was, Yes. Quite generally, suburban parents were reported to be unwilling, even afraid, to set their own rules for their own children—they tend, instead, to conform to the general practice of the community, often as interpreted by what the kids say other kids are allowed to do or expected to do. "There is a tremendous pressure toward conformity, perhaps a continuing trend in that direction." . . . "Parents can't set rules that others don't observe." . . . "A great deal of pressure from children—so-and-so wears lipstick, wears high heels, dates, etc. Also social codes established by the schools themselves tend to standardize parental discipline." There was not one clear "No" vote under this heading.

If suburban parents have any one really widespread fault as parents, conformity would seem to be its name.

Some parents, like the Texas publisher, may want to consider making certain corrections in their children's experience after giving their own answers to these questions. But the frequent disagreement of our on-the-spot observers on most of the charges doesn't lead us to believe that most suburban kids are being coddled into flabbiness or that they are going to turn out to be any less stable citizens and earners and parents than those from the cities or the farms.

And that is a comfort, for their number is legion and growing fast. There'll be many millions more of them when the next census rolls around. Here they come, America—coddled or not. We believe they'll do all right.

Of all the Englishmen who drink gin... how many drink Gordon's?

Most of them. And it's been that way for years. To be blunt about it, Gordon's is England's biggest selling gin—as it is America's and the world's. Why? Probably because we have always refused to tamper with a good thing. Gordon's still harks back to Alexander Gordon's original formula—conceived in London 193 years ago—so its distinctive dryness and flavour remain unchanged and unchallenged to this day. Ask for Gordon's by name at your favourite tavern and package store.

STAINLESS-CLAD ALUMINUM BY ALCOA

DURANEL stainless-clad aluminum is a new material for cooking utensils, developed by Aluminum Company of America.

DURANEL is a marriage of Alcoa® Aluminum and stainless steel. The two metals are bonded together by an exclusive Alcoa process. Cookware manufacturers will market DURANEL as pots and pans with stainless steel on the inside and aluminum on the outside.

Thus you will enjoy the advantages of both metals at once. No commercial cookware material beats aluminum for speed in carrying heat to your food, for even distribution of heat over the entire surface of the pan. Foods cook quicker, dishes taste better.

So now you can cook your food better and quicker because the heat is handled by heat's best friend, aluminum. Don't hesitate a second to cook whatever you choose... go ahead and enjoy yourself. You can clean the inside of your pot or pan with a swish and a wipe because it's stainless.

Cookware made of DURANEL will be on the market soon, in all the varieties of sizes and shapes you'll get from a dozen different manufacturers. When you buy, look for the label to make sure it's made of genuine DURANEL, the original product that brings you the best of both worlds in cookware.

CELESTIAL RICE DESSERT

- 1 cup chopped maraschino cherries (about 40)
- 3½ cups cooked rice, cooled slightly
- 1½ cups confectioners' sugar
- ¼ cup kirsch
- 2 tablespoons vanilla extract
- 2 tablespoons (2 env.) unflavored gelatin
- ½ cup cold water
- ½ cup cream
- 2½ cups chilled whipping cream, whipped (one-half at a time)

Maraschino Cherry Sauce (see recipe)

1. Spread chopped cherries on absorbent paper to drain.
2. Combine rice, confectioners' sugar, kirsch, and extract in a large bowl; mix thoroughly.
3. Soften gelatin in the cold water and the ½ cup cream in a small saucepan. Set over low heat until dissolved, stirring constantly.
4. Blend the gelatin into the rice mixture. Chill until slightly thickened. If chilled in refrigerator, stir occasionally; if chilled over ice and water, stir frequently.
5. Fold the whipped cream, then the cherries into the gelatin mixture. Turn into a 2-qt. fancy mold which has been rinsed with cold water. Chill 3 hrs., or until firm.
6. Unmold onto a chilled serving plate and garnish with stemmed maraschino cherries (see photo). Serve with Maraschino Cherry Sauce. About 8 servings

MARASCHINO CHERRY SAUCE—Blend 2 teaspoons cornstarch and ¼ cup water in a small saucepan. Stir in ¾ cup maraschino cherry sirup. Bring to boiling and boil about 3 min., stirring constantly. Cool. Stir in 2 tablespoons kirsch. Chill.

GRASSHOPPER CHIFFON PIE

- 1 baked 9-in. pastry shell
- ¼ cup cold water
- 1 tablespoon (1 env.) unflavored gelatin
- ¾ cup white crème de cacao
- ½ cup crème de menthe
- 1 cup chilled whipping cream
- 1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar
- 2 egg whites
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup sugar

1. Soften gelatin in cold water in a small saucepan. Set over low heat; stir to dissolve.
2. Combine crème de cacao and crème de menthe in a medium-sized bowl; stir in gelatin. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of thick, unbeaten egg white. If chilled in refrigerator, stir occasionally; if chilled over ice and water, stir frequently.

3. Whip cream until it piles softly; with final few strokes, blend in confectioners' sugar.

4. Using a clean beater, beat egg whites and salt together until frothy. Add the ¼ cup sugar gradually, beating well after each addition and continuing until rounded peaks are formed (peaks turn over slightly when beater is slowly lifted upright).

5. Spread whipped cream and beaten egg whites over gelatin mixture and fold together.

6. Turn filling into pastry shell and chill until firm, about 3 hrs.

7. Cut pie into serving-sized pieces and arrange on a large round silver tray. To garnish, use half a lime, cut side down, as a base for a "mint bush." Make holes through the peel with a skewer and poke mint sprigs into them. Sift lightly with confectioners' sugar. Set in center of tray on a galax leaf. Or use a scooped-out lime half as a basket to hold the mint. If desired, garnish each pie wedge with a sprig of mint. 6 to 8 servings

CHOCOLATE DESSERT AMANDINE

- ¼ lb. toasted blanched almonds
- ½ cup cocoa
- ½ cup butter
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla extract
- ¼ cup sugar
- 4 egg yolks, well beaten
- 4 egg whites
- ½ cup sugar

French Butter Cream Frosting

1. Grate almonds (an electric blender speeds the job); mix with cocoa and set aside.

2. Cream the butter and extract together; gradually add ½ cup sugar, creaming until fluffy. Add the egg yolks gradually, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add the cocoa-nut mixture in thirds, mixing until blended after each addition.

3. Using a clean beater, beat egg whites until frothy; add ½ cup sugar gradually, beating until rounded peaks are formed.

4. Spread over creamed mixture and fold together. Turn into a greased (bottom only) 9½x5½x2¾-in. loaf pan and spread to edges.

5. Bake at 325°F about 35 min., or until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 10 min. in pan on cooling rack; remove from pan and cool completely.

6. Split lengthwise into four layers. Stacking them on a serving tray, spread each layer with French Butter Cream Frosting.

7. Melt 1 oz. semisweet chocolate over hot water. Drop spoonfuls onto top of frosted cake to form pools at intervals; using back of a spoon, swirl each. Adorn tray with Sugared Yellow Rose Garnish. 8 to 10 servings

Sugared Yellow Rose Garnish—Brush slightly beaten egg white onto fresh yellow roses with a small brush; sprinkle the surfaces of the roses generously with granulated sugar; allow roses to dry before placing in clusters around the cake.

FRENCH BUTTER CREAM FROSTING

- 1½ cups firm butter
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla extract
- ¾ cup light corn sirup
- 4 egg yolks

1. Cream butter and extract together until light and fluffy; set aside.

2. Boil sirup gently to 230°F to 234°F (thread stage—spins a 2-in. thread when allowed to drop from a fork or spoon).

3. Meanwhile, beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Beating constantly with a rotary beater, pour sirup very slowly into egg yolks. Beat until mixture is very thick and of the same consistency as the whipped butter. Cool completely.

4. Beat egg yolk mixture, about 2 tablespoonfuls at a time, into butter until just blended. Chill thoroughly. 2 cups frosting

VANILLA SOUFFLÉ

- 1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar
- ¼ cup butter
- ¼ cup flour
- 1 cup milk
- 4 egg yolks (about ½ cup)
- ½ cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 4 egg whites (about ½ cup)

1. Butter bottom of a 1½-qt. casserole and sift the confectioners' sugar over it; set aside.

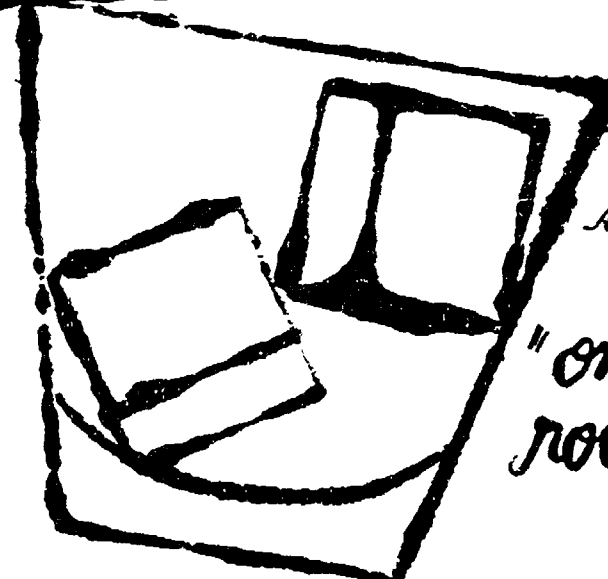

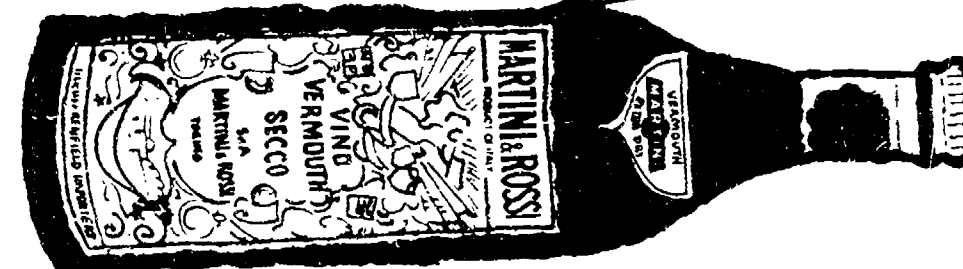

2. Heat butter in a saucepan. Stir in flour and cook until mixture bubbles. Remove from heat. Add milk gradually, blending thoroughly. Bring rapidly to boiling and boil 1 min., stirring constantly. Remove from heat.

3. Beat egg yolks, sugar, and extract together until thick and lemon colored. Stirring vigorously, spoon sauce into egg yolk mixture. Cool to lukewarm.

4. Beat egg whites until rounded peaks are formed. Spread egg yolk mixture over egg whites and carefully fold together. Turn into the casserole. Set in a boiling water bath.

5. Bake at 350°F 50 min., or until a knife inserted halfway between center and edge comes out clean. Serve immediately with sweetened fresh fruit. 6 servings

A New Kind of Party

The famous and gregarious author tells how to have the time of your life

A singing party offers supreme vocal communication, a kind of superior talk.

BY WILLIAM SAROYAN

author of "The Time of Your Life," "Dear Baby," "The Dying American," etc.

WHAT IS A PARTY?

The dictionary says a party is a gathering together of silly people who believe they will die or go mad if they don't immediately see and hear one another again.

WHAT DICTIONARY IS THAT?

Saroyan's Dictionary, which goes on to say a party happens when six or more people meet. Why six instead of, say, two? Because the editor of the dictionary knows everything, and six is the right number.

WHY AND WHEN ARE PARTIES GIVEN?

There are dictionaries and dictionaries, editors and editors, parties and parties, and that which is true of one is false of another, but generally speaking, all parties have several things in common: the time involved is leisure, the purpose is pleasure, the style is spontaneous, the tradition is for contrast and variety, the expectancy is for surprise, and finally there is food and drink of one sort or another.

Birthday, anniversary, graduation, farewell, welcome, promotion, retirement, engagement, divorce—are a few of the reasons for the giving of a party, but many parties are given for no reason at all. The classic no-reason party is the cocktail, which at its best is magnificent and at its worst only a little sloppy.

ARE PARTIES NECESSARY?

In spite of the popularity of the cocktail party, the fact remains that some people don't like them, go to as few as possible, don't give any, and would like to get out of the whole rigmarole or rat race, as they prefer to call it. They do not believe the cocktail party is necessary, and yet they don't quite know how to make this belief, or theory, acceptable to others.

What should these people do? Avoid parties entirely, or try something new?

Now, of course, everybody resolves a problem of this kind in his own way, but withdrawal from others is both eccentric and arrogant, and so it is probably desirable to try something new.

A FEW SUGGESTIONS FOR OTHER KINDS OF PARTIES:

THE NO-TALK PARTY: The paradox of the cocktail party is that talk is both its strength and weakness. People simply do not go to a cocktail party and not talk. On the contrary, they go in order to talk, and many people stay long enough to say everything. After having said everything at three different cocktail parties, quite a few people begin to wish they might be able to keep their big mouths shut for a change, but they can't, because once they reach a party there is simply nothing else to do. Talk is the only thing that is allowed, even though they have already said everything three times, and pretty much to the same people, too. These people should give a party at which talk is not allowed. Everybody who comes to the party knows that talk is not allowed, and so he relaxes and takes life and the party easy. The fine points of the No-Talk Party will soon establish themselves and therefore need not be considered at this time, which reminds the writer of the story about the confidence man who was about to be hanged by the vigilantes of San Francisco. He was asked if he had anything to say and he said, "Not at this time."

THE ART PARTY: Everything is pretty much the same as at any other party except that everybody is invited to make a picture on a large sheet of white paper, using pencil, ink, and water color. Any kind of picture will do. What, if anything, is the fun of this? The fun of it is perhaps one of the most basic and natural forms of fun in the range of human experience: to make something, to bring something into being, to behold the relationship between the intended or deliberate and the unknown or accidental in the making of a thing of space, mass, form, design, color, and so on. The fact that the occasion is festive and casual tends to bring out of people creative energies and skills they did not know they had, and therefore there is the added fun of surprise. The making of pictures should eventually be as natural in a civilized society as it is to read poetry, for instance. The pictures need not compete with the pictures of the great masters; they need be only themselves truly and unassumingly, and after that they ought to be placed in one's own home, so that after seeing them many times, the maker of the picture may discover more truly what is good and bad in it, and therefore in himself as well. And then in the making of a new picture he will know how and why to improve both picture and himself. The idea of the Art Party is simply to get people started, get them over being embarrassed by the simplicity, disproportion, and general ineptitude of their work, since the work of nobody at the party is likely to be much better. But the seeing of the person and his picture will be fascinating. The time limit for the making of a picture will of course be no more than half an hour and preferably no more than five minutes. Does this party make kids of adults? Yes, it does, but in a way that is profoundly desirable and useful.

THE SINGING PARTY: In 1939 in Dublin I was taken to a singing party at a house among the meadows and lakes of Killiney at sundown, and I was absolutely enchanted by the beauty of the whole thing: the darkening meadows all about, the lakes of all sizes and shapes, the grasses and bushes and boughs, the sun almost gone, and in this plain house these extraordinary people singing. There was only a piano, but had there been none it would not have stopped the singing, and on several occasions the piano was not played while everybody, including the writer, sang as if singing were living itself, at its best: the supreme vocal communication between peoples, a kind of superior talk, the words the same for all, but the voice and its usage unique in each. The songs were all Irish but essentially universal, and one seemed to feel about a totally unfamiliar song that one had actually known it all of one's life. Between songs there was happy banter, beer drinking, and laughter, but the party was entirely a singing party. I couldn't forget the party, and I couldn't understand why there were no such parties in America. Perhaps there are, and I just haven't happened to know where.

THE BEST PARTY: I remember having said to a dozen or more friends over the years, "That was the best party I've ever been to." And I meant it every time. I was not being glib and polite, the party had been the best—and of course that is the kind of party to give every time. How? Well, it isn't easy, but with determination and practice it can become almost inevitable—you simply bring out the best in everybody. Again how? By being yourself, of course, at your best.

It's the bee's knees!

Back in the 20's, that remark was a laudatory expression that might be paraphrased in the vernacular of the 60's as —the most! These two modes of expression have nothing in common. But—20's or 60's—there's one cocktail that's common to the cognoscenti and connoisseurs of both eras. Today—as in bygone days—everybody's buzzing about that bonanza of the bar: The Stinger.

Wild Animals As Pets?

Exotic creatures thrive in the suburbs, like millions of the rest of us, but they're a lot of work

YES . . . IN WHITE PLAINS, NEW YORK, Mary Beth Gruber, two, shares her wading pool with Rocky, a Humboldt penguin. A few miles away in lower Westchester County the first sight to greet Douglas Bowker when he returns from work is five boa constrictors in a glass case in his front hall, the property of his 13-year-old son Bobby. Don Hunt of Southfield, Michigan, just outside Detroit, shares his home on a 100' x 150' plot not only with his wife and their three children but also with a lion cub, a leopard, a boa, a deodorized skunk, and a chimpanzee, not to mention such domestic trifles as a Weimaraner and tropical fish.

Since the end of World War II, dealers say, the demand for wild animals as pets has almost tripled, coming largely from suburban families, who have the space and fresh air their penguins and lion cubs need. Today at least 100,000 monkeys do their leaping from chandeliers, bookcases, and refrigerators. In 10,000 homes skunks, sans odor sacs, pad around as familiarly as house cats and, according to one authority, are better mousers. (Last fall, however, pet skunks in California had to leave home. The Bureau of Communicable Diseases said they were the "biggest reservoir of rabies in the state.") Ocelots and their smaller cousins, margays (an average ocelot weighs 30 pounds, a margay 13) have risen sharply in popularity from about 50 in the country 10 years ago to a minimum of 2,000 today. Practically all come direct from South American jungles.

Bobby Bowker, who knows more about snakes than most boys do about ball players, plans a career in herpetology. At different times, he and his father have had four monkeys—a squirrel monkey, two rhesus, and a woolly—a skunk, ducks, and chickens. Curiously, the fowl, being noisy, were the only pets to which the neighbors objected. The Bowkers' biggest problem, though, was Willy, the woolly monkey, who turned out to be something of a bum. Willy had belonged to a veterinary who had nursed him through intestinal parasites and pneumonia till he was well enough to be out again, swinging from the trees in the back yard. Occasionally, he swung into a bar next door, where he consumed hamburgers, beer, and when he could get it, whiskey. He brought his bad habits with him to the Bowkers, and once they found him sprawled in a corner clutching an empty bottle of the bar's finest. There hadn't been much left in the bottle when Willy came across it, and because his mouth was smaller than the bottle's top he had slopped some of what there was, but it didn't take a lot to get Willy drunk.

BOBBY's intense interest in snakes meets his father's qualification for anyone who wants them as pets: "You have to love and appreciate reptiles." He helped Bobby build their glass-enclosed, well-ventilated cabinet with two compartments. There's a 200-watt bulb at one end providing the constant temperature of 78 to 80 degrees the reptiles require. When they feel too warm in the compartment with the bulb, they glide through a hole to the farther one. That, however, is about all the action from them except at feeding time, which comes only

BY RICHARD OSK

YES, BUT . . . Here are some things you ought to consider before you trade in your model-T Tabby for a jaguar:

You cannot make a pet of a wild animal. Don't let anyone kid you. Domestication is a process that involves generations of selective breeding. You can tame him, but remember what tame means—basically, a tame animal is one that has lost its fear of man, and tame animals, like "unloaded" guns, are responsible for many injuries and deaths each year.

Animals generally do not improve with age. Your ocelot or monkey will never be much easier to deal with than during the first week you have it and in most cases will be less manageable with maturity.

Be prepared to surrender part of your home. If you're going to live with an animal, you can't keep it caged and expect to stay on really good terms; it should have the run of the house, or of most of it. If you get a kinkajou or a monkey, everything in the house will be vulnerable. The cats are good at jumping, too.

You can housebreak some wild animals some of the time, but don't count on it.

Suppose it doesn't work out? Suppose that you find that you must dispose of the critter because it is too messy, is eating you out of house and home, keeps you awake, has developed a taste for human flesh, or all of these. Of course you can always give the animal to the zoo. Think so? Then think again. Any animal that you can obtain from a pet shop or catch in the countryside a zoo can buy from a dealer (for less than you paid) or catch itself, and the zoo usually has all it has room for. If you don't mind having your animal destroyed, your problem is solved. If on the other hand you don't want it to die for your folly, just try to find it a new home.

about once a month and should not be witnessed by the squeamish. Snakes are accustomed to live dinners, and Bobby buys them white mice at 50¢ each. For days the mice chase among the coiled reptiles. Then, so suddenly the eye can't follow, one of the snakes will strike, killing the mouse instantly and swallowing it at his leisure.

Disquieting dining habits aside, a boa constrictor is a tranquil pet—silent, clean, and of course, non-poisonous. To most people he seems unresponsive, but Bobby claims his snakes know him. If you like snakes, this group, from five to eight feet long, is fascinating, and Sandra, Bobby's 20-year-old sister, says her boy friends would rather look at them than at her!

BOAS COST $10 a foot. Nothing else is priced as elastically. Other "exotics" range from two dollars for an iguana—tiny descendant of the dinosaur—to about $2,000 for a cheetah, mildest of the big cats. Skunks, with odor sacs out, come to $35 or $40. Monkeys start at $35 for a squirrel monkey, the smallest, and go up to several hundred for a young chimp. Ocelots generally cost from $100 to $300. Not all pet shops stock exotics, but most will get them on order.

Sometimes you can save money by buying secondhand from a private owner. Bruce Denning, who lives outside San Francisco, got Pepper, a six-month-old ocelot, from a couple expecting a baby. The couple wasn't afraid the ocelot would harm the baby; they just couldn't spare the time to care for both.

Ocelots, like all animals, have varying personalities, and many do get along with other pets. The Acker family of San Leandro, friends of the Denning, not only own an ocelot but a jaguar and a mountain lion and a German shepherd, all pals.

Another wild-animal man is the Reverend H. Thomas Morrell, of Seaford, Long Island, a retired 75-year-old Episcopal minister. Being a widower, he had time on his hands in spite of eight grandchildren living nearby. Then a neighbor who'd paid $125 for a capuchin monkey that tore down his curtains gave it to Mr. Morrell. He has since acquired an ocelot and a red fox as well as two house cats. His den has been turned into an animal room. Nina, the fox, and Pinta, the ocelot, share a run in the yard during the summer. Nina stays there all winter, but the ocelot, being tropical, must live indoors, where she constantly reminds Mr. Morrell in her loud, conversational growl how much she misses her foxy friend.

All the ocelot owners mentioned here belong to the Long Island Ocelot Club of Amagansett, New York, a national organization despite its name. The club was founded by Mrs. Catherine Cisin, a tall, attractive ash blonde. She and her husband Harry own an ocelot, Carlotta, bought seven years ago. Ocelots were coming into the country faster than information about them, and Mrs. Cisin felt that whatever was being learned should be pooled. Members contribute experiences to the club's bi-monthly newsletter, edited by Mrs. Cisin, also the author of "Pet Ocelot," a handbook.

Under his rosette-splotted coat, an ocelot has some of the traits of the common cat, but he is far more exuberant and muscular, and loves water—when you fill a bathtub, he may jump in first. Natural roughnecks, ocelots have a habit of wrapping themselves around something—a friendly human leg, for instance—and are inclined to use their teeth to express emotion, chewing an owner's ear gently, out of pure affection. They won't do for the nervous type. Nor are they recommended for children unless both ocelot and child are brought together under careful observation.

Dr. Theodore Zimmerman, a Westchester County, New York, veterinary, owns Buddha, an ocelot exceptional enough for his younger son to take to Heathcote High School for occasional classroom visits. A few years ago, when Dr. Zimmerman began getting an increasing number of ocelot patients, he decided the best way to learn about them was to own one. Buddha is a friendly 28-pounder whose claws and canine—or tearing—teeth have been removed. A clawectomy is more common than the second operation, only resorted to on ocelots who put too much enthusiasm into their bite. Buddha has also been neutered, always recommended for a male kitten at about one year. "The odor of a full male is too high indoors" says Dr. Zimmerman. "Anyway, pet ocelots are unlikely to become parents."

HE SPENDS about a dollar a day to feed Buddha. An adult ocelot's daily diet is something like this: a pound of beef, lamb, or chicken hearts; a quarter to one-half pound of beef or lamb kidney or liver; a quarter-pound of cooked mashed vegetables, and two celery stalks.

Ocelots and monkeys miss the sun of the tropics and should be given vitamin D and minerals. Dr. Zimmerman also recommends the installation of a pane of glass in one window that admits ultraviolet rays or a daily sun-lamp treatment of an hour or so. Ocelots become tamer and more adaptable with age; the reverse is true of monkeys, except for woollies, which never bite. Mature chimps, especially, have a bad reputation, but Don Hunt, the man who owns one, says it's unjustified: "If you don't cage a chimp but treat him like one of the family, he'll be amiable all his life."

Monkeys are often bought for children, who are fascinated at first but lose interest quickly, leaving parents to do all the work, according to Mrs. Clifford Augustson, of Emerson, New Jersey. She has two young sons and a capuchin named Kiko, and she says, "I'm against wild-animal pets. I saw Kiko in a pet shop, where he was kept in a hamster's cage much too small for him, and I bought him because I felt sorry for him. He had rickets, but now he's quite healthy." Reluctantly she concedes that she's fond of Kiko but declares there'll be no successor.

Successful owners of exotics agree that having one is a serious project. Usually he has been plucked from his natural habitat, shipped a long distance in a crate, and feels under no obligation to adapt himself to your surroundings. You have to adapt yours to him. Being in a strange environment, a wild pet is more helpless than a domestic one, and far more dependent—almost pathetically so—on human care and affection.

Even if you haven't an orangutan or a boa under your own roof, you may soon find you've got one for a neighbor. It's all part of that migration to the suburbs you hear so much about. But don't forget that five million purring cats and ten million good dogs got there first!

Make It in Mohair

■ MOHAIR, fashionably bulky and so fast to knit, is just right for spring days when a chill lingers in the air. Made up by you at home, the designs shown on this page (fashioned for SUBURBIA TODAY) will have a luxurious "boutique" look. The classic cable-stitch cardigan, for instance, might have come from Italy with a gold-and-white label inside. The hats make a halo of soft color around your face . . . and the little-nothing pullover teams with an evening skirt, long or short. You'll be surprised, too, how fast you can go. The hats, for example, take just three hours from start to finish. Use the coupon at the bottom of the page for ordering patterns.

Above: The classic cable-stitch cardigan can be worn by itself or teamed with a blouse or a pullover or—for the college set—wool Bermuda shorts. Garnish with big buttons, and you're set for crisp spring days. 13-to-15 ozs. of mohair and 30 hours. Less than $10. Pattern has instructions for sizes 32 to 38.

Above: Choose a color to match your favorite tweed coat or suit, and knit a hat in the new toque or turban shape. The toque (left) takes two balls of mohair and one one-ounce skein of knitting worsted; the turban (right) two balls of mohair. Less than $3 each for the yarn.

Left: Wear this little-nothing pullover under your best suit or with an evening skirt in the new long length. The detachable ring collar doubles as a matching headband. 12-to-14 ozs. of mohair and 28 hours. Less than $10. Pattern has instructions for sizes 32 to 38.

Make It in Mohair

■ MOHAIR, fashionably bulky and so fast to knit, is just right for spring days when a chill lingers in the air. Made up by you at home, the designs shown on this page (fashioned for SUBURBIA TODAY) will have a luxurious "boutique" look. The classic cable-stitch cardigan, for instance, might have come from Italy with a gold-and-white label inside. The hats make a halo of soft color around your face . . . and the little-nothing pullover teams with an evening skirt, long or short. You'll be surprised, too, how fast you can go. The hats, for example, take just three hours from start to finish. Use the coupon at the bottom of the page for ordering patterns.

Above: The classic cable-stitch cardigan can be worn by itself or teamed with a blouse or a pullover or—for the college set—wool Bermuda shorts. Garnish with big buttons, and you're set for crisp spring days. 13-to-15 ozs. of mohair and 30 hours. Less than $10. Pattern has instructions for sizes 32 to 38.

Above: Choose a color to match your favorite tweed coat or suit, and knit a hat in the new toque or turban shape. The toque (left) takes two balls of mohair and one one-ounce skein of knitting worsted; the turban (right) two balls of mohair. Less than $3 each for the yarn.

Left: Wear this little-nothing pullover under your best suit or with an evening skirt in the new long length. The detachable ring collar doubles as a matching headband. 12-to-14 ozs. of mohair and 28 hours. Less than $10. Pattern has instructions for sizes 32 to 38.

WARNING

New Federal Tax Laws can hurt you if you don't know how to apply them...BUT YOU HAVE THE GREATEST OPPORTUNITY IN YEARS TO SAVE MONEY ON TAXES IF YOU ACT NOW!

New 1963 Edition of J. K. LASSER'S YOUR INCOME TAX is Guaranteed to Add at Least $100 to Your Net Income—or it Costs You Nothing!

GET TOUGH!" is the White House and Congressional attitude that will spur the tax examiners to even greater efforts this year. If you're not prepared, this could mean trouble for you. New laws, interpretations and rulings will help tax men probe more deeply into expense accounts, charity donations, business expenses, gifts, income-producing properties and investments, medical expenses, and other areas of tax deduction.

BUT—paradoxically—contemplated changes in taxation for 1963 offer you the greatest opportunity in years to save tax money now.

NEW, REVISED 1963 edition of J. K. Lasser's world-famous tax guide, YOUR INCOME TAX, brings you a double bonus. It shows you how to avoid trouble—and how to cut your taxes this year for greater net income.

THIS YEAR Congress put through laws affecting increased retirement income credit, investment credits, increased medical deductions, depreciation allowances for cooperative apartments, and tax enforcement. Two major provisions just passed provide new tax savings. One allows self-employed professionals and businessmen to set up retirement programs; the second, provides a tax credit for investments in equipment... much, much more.

HERE IS specialized help for single people; young marrieds; self-employed; private and corporate businessmen; families; pensioners; professional people; home owners; investors; students; the disabled veterans.

Get Right Answers To Questions Like These:

How can you defer your pay? (See p. 198)... Are you taking full advantage of lower tax on dividends? (p. 34)... Do you know how to profitably make use of alternating the standard deduction? (p. 110)... How to figure the reduced tax on security profits (p. 65)... Are you deducting all of your property taxes? (p. 123)... Are you eligible for retirement plans for self-employed individuals?... Can you take advantage of the generous new investment credit on buying business equipment?... Do you know about the new liberal medical expense ceiling?... Do you know what records you must keep to support your business travel and business entertainment expenses?... hundreds more!

YOU ALSO GET: checklist of over 375 specific items you CAN deduct; checklist of over 190 specific things you CAN NOT deduct; 400 APPROVED DEDUCTIONS for every job and profession with checklists; deducting expenses to produce income plus numerous tax saving plans for the family; giant all-inclusive 8-page index which immediately locates anything you want to know. All checklists and index are in alphabetical order for fast, finger-tip reference. Figuring out your taxes is now so easy it's almost impossible to make a mistake!

NO-RISK DOUBLE GUARANTEE

Simply mail coupon here. We'll rush you this brand-new 1963 Edition of J. K. Lasser's famous YOUR INCOME TAX to examine and use for two weeks. If you don't see at once that it will add at least $100.00 to your net income, return it for full refund. Or, use the book until April 15, 1963. Fill out your return, using all the money-saving advice included in YOUR INCOME TAX. If you don't save at least $100 over what you normally would have paid, return the book then, and your money will be refunded immediately.

ACT TODAY and we will send FREE—J. K. Lasser's special 24-page booklet containing the new tax forms already filled in line by line—to show you how to save time and dollars filling out your own returns. This booklet also contains supplementary reports on up-to-the-minute changes in the tax laws. Mail coupon today to: SIMON AND SCHUSTER, Publishers, Dept. ST, 630 Fifth Avenue, New York 20, New York.

A Garden in Pots

Fuchsias in clay pots and pink geraniums in redwood tub.

house-plant food, diluted according to package directions, is recommended. A little dehydrated manure in the potting mixture will help, too. For potting soil, mix 2 parts good garden soil, 1 part sand, 1 part peat moss (or other humus), a teaspoonful of bone meal, and a tablespoonful of dehydrated manure to each 6-inch pot of soil. Make sure the pots are clean, scrubbing previously used pots with a stiff brush and soap and rinsing them well. Suit the pot to the plant. Big pots for tall plants—narrow growing ones may be planted two to six in a large pot—with room for a stake to prevent wind damage when the plants grow up.

Snip off blossoms as they die to prevent formation of seed pods (this keeps plants blooming longer) and cut back straggling branches to keep things in shape.

Among the rewarding annuals, here are some zinnias suited to pot culture:

Large-flowered
Empress (pink)
Red Man (scarlet)
Sun God (gold)
Snowman (white)

Lilliput (Small-flowered)
Peach Blossom
Canary Yellow
White Gem
Scarlet Gem

And consider Mexican Types: Gold Tip, Old Mexico, Persian Carpet.

And here are some petunias to use:

Red and Reddish
Firechief
Comanche
Fire Dance
Peach Red
White Igloo
Snowball
Paleface
White Magic Salmon, Coral
Coral Satin
Linda
Silver Medal
Tango
Ballerina

Variegated, Red-white
Calypso
Glitters
Blue
Blue Lace
Blue Star
Polaris
Silver Blue
Rose, Rosy Lavender
Prima Donna
Bright Eyes
Rosy Morn
Sugar Plum
Yellowish
Cream Star
Moonstone
Yellow Gleam

These are among the best marigolds:

Dwarf Marigold
Butterball (canary)
Lemon Drop (canary)
Rusty Red (bright rust-red)

Taller Marigolds
Limelight
(primrose yellow)
Mr. Sam (bright yellow)

And consider also feverfew Snow Ball, Lemon Ball; ageratum Blue Mink, and Dwarf White; sweet alyssum Violet Queen, Little Gem, Pink Heather; and dwarf snapdragons in a variety of colors.

For full cultural details on trees, shrubs, perennials, and all aspects of pot and container gardening, look for a book by George Taloumis, "Outdoor Gardening in Pots and Boxes," published by Van Nostrand. It may open a new world to you.
