of the WEEK

As Compiled by the

Thursday, November 28

TODAY, AS MILLIONS of Americans sit down to enjoy their turkey dinner, there is, among the thankfulness, a regretful remembrance of the events of the past week when our President was assassinated. Every American, in the process of preparing a joyful Thanksgiving dinner in honor of the first Thanksgiving when the Pilgrims shared their dinner with the Indians, is aware of the violence still possible in our country and how quickly joy can be converted into tragedy and death. All sympathize with Mrs. Kennedy and her two children on this beautiful sunny day of Thanksgiving.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON in Washington called for the earliest possible passage of a civil rights program that would remove "every trace of discrimination and oppression" in the nation.

Appearing before a joint session of Congress, President Lyndon B. Johnson moved his audience with an address of quiet eloquence and confidence as he called for quick action on tax reduction and other points of the legislative program which President Kennedy inaugurated before his untimely death. "This is no time for delay. It is a time for action," he said.

THE TRADITIONAL Thanksgiving Day parade staged annually by the J. L. Hudson Company drew a record crowd of 250,000. This year marks the 37th that crowds of anticipant children and parents have watched the parade as it traveled down Woodward avenue, amidst cheering young people whose sights have been set on the night Santa Claus will visit their homes. The parade terminated with the arrival of Santa Claus himself as he appeared at the J. L. Hudson Company and accepted from the Mayor of Detroit the key to the heart of every good little girl and boy.

A NEW SERIES of rockets will be launched into the Central Pacific starting December 2, it was announced by the Soviet Union. New, improved versions of spacecraft booster rockets will be tested. The testings will go on until January 25, and ships and aircraft were warned to stay out of the area during that period. The Soviet newspaper Tass said the tests would be made "in view of the engorgement of the program of scientific research in the further exploration of outer space." The area around the Marshall Islands has been designated as one of the testing places and the other is due east of Tokyo in the northern part of the Pacific.

DR. OWEN H. YERMAN, 85, who was prominent lately in the investigation of irregularities concerning marriage license applications, died in Ann Arbor Hospital, Wayne of pneumonia. Applications given out by the Physicians' Service Laboratory at 76 West Adams bore his signature which he claimed were forgeries. His claims were supported by a handwriting expert. As a result of the recent investigation, the laboratory was closed by the State Health Department. Dr. Yerman was a native of Ismir, Turkey, and came to the United States at the age of 18. He began his practice in Detroit in 1925.

CREDIT PROCEDURES of builders and real estate brokers in the Detroit area are being investigated by the U.S. Attorney's Office as a result of an increased number of foreclosures in the past 18 months. Michigan is leading the nation in the amount of foreclosures by the Veterans Administration. Between 200 and 328 foreclosures are begun each month in Wayne County. The main reason for the increased number is the slackness in the real estate market, as people can no longer sell their homes for more than they paid for them two or three years ago. When the market is rising, there are

Santa Claus Gets Key to City

Kercheval Avenue in "The Village" has been re-named Christmas Street for the duration of the holidays and SANTA has taken up his stand in the Hospitality Center, where he will be from 1 to 4:30 p.m. daily until December 23. Six white ponies pulled Santa into town, where he was greeted by MEL OSBORNE, left, president of the Grosse Pointe Commerce and Civic Association; and LAWRENCE SAVAGE, City of Grosse Pointe Manager. All the merchants in "The Village" participated in the annual Men's Night celebration Monday as the season's first snowstorm came to the Pointe.

Lake Shore Replanting Plans Made

Blue Prints Can Be Seen By Interested Residents at Farms Offices

The Master Plan for the replanting of Lake Shore road may be seen at the municipal offices of Grosse Pointe Farms in Kerby road. Sydney De Boer, city manager, will show the blue prints to anyone interested, until December 15.

Carroll L. Porter, Superintendent of Parks and Forestry for Wayne County, met with members of the Grosse Pointe Garden Council to discuss the initial steps in the replanting of the lake shore next spring.

The Master Plan for the landscaping from the beginning of the double lanes along the lake to Vernier road have been drawn up and approved by the County and the Council.

The Council hopes to carry out the plan gradually, planting cherry trees one year and other trees over the next few years as called for in the landscape design.

Travelers Tell of Terror When Trapped at Border

Mrs. Joseph Wozniak, formerly of Windmill Pointe drive and Mrs. David McCarron of Hall place had a frightening experience November 22 which helped them realize the terrors of the Berlin Wall and made them grateful for being able to pass freely between Mexico and the United States, normally.

Teachers, Administrators Facing Busy Schedule on Friday, 'Curriculum Day'

All Departments in Public Secondary Schools Will Review Courses and Materials and Seek Ways To Improve Value To Students

Friday, December 6, designated as "Curriculum Day" in the secondary schools of the Grosse Pointe School System, will be a busy one for teachers and administrators alike.

A second date, February 21, will also be used in a similar fashion for curriculum improvement activity in the various secondary departmental groups.

The use of December 6 and February 21 for curriculum work will not shorten the school year in any way.

On the last two days of the first semester, traditionally used for a number of choral preparatory to the beginning of the second half of the year, classes will be held. Therefore, under the new arrangement, there will be no change in the total number of days on which each secondary class will meet during the year.

Students Have Holiday With their teachers hard at work on a variety of important projects, students attending Brownell, Parcels, Pierce and the High School will have a recess from classes that day. Elementary pupils attendance will continue as in the 1962-63 year with all schools in session December 6.

According to Dr. Stanley Cook, chairman of the English department at the High School, his teachers will meet by grade level group. The teachers of sophomore classes will discuss a common core of selections

The weather-stripping on the door jamb is bent in two places, but the attempted entry was not successful.

Chorus Set For Concert This Sunday

Traditional Christmas Event to be Held in Parcels Auditorium at 3:30; Reception Planned

The Grosse Pointe Community Chorus will present its 11th Annual Christmas Concert this Sunday afternoon, December 8, at 3:30, in the auditorium of the Parcels Junior High School, Vernier and Mack Avenues.

Now the traditional opening event of the Grosse Pointe community's Christmas Season, this Sunday concert is a "family affair," and parents are urged to introduce their children to concert-going by attending this afternoon.

Because of a long history of overflow audiences, the concert will be repeated on Friday evening, December 13, at 8:30 in the Fries Auditorium of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lake Shore road. This is the second year of double performances for the Christmas concert.

Under the direction of Dr. Donald Simmons, the chorus will sing "Ideo Gloria in Excelsis Deo," a 16th century carol; "The Carol of the Birds," a Spanish carol featuring Margaret Johnson, soprano; "Good King Wenceslas," an English carol, featuring Dolores Sheehan, alto, and William Lorenz, bass; "A Joyous Christmas Song," a French carol, and three new Fred Warlock Christmas selections; "Do You Hear What I Hear?," "Mistletoe" and "Snow, Snow, Beautiful Snow."

Ceremony of Carols Following the traditional carol sing for the audience, the chorus will present three selections from Benjamin Britten's Ceremony of Carols: "Wolcum Yole!," "Balulalow," featuring soprano Patricia Nelson, a "Deo Gracias Messiah;" "And the Glory of the Lord," "His Yoke is Easy and His Burthen is Light" and the beloved "Hallelujah" chorus. Also featured in this section will be the soprano aria, "Rejoice Greatly, O Daughter of Zion," sung by Jean Zech.

Pointe FOP, Lodge 102 Fund Drive Big Success

The Fraternal Order of Police, Grosse Pointe Lodge No. 102, concluded its most successful annual Widows and Orphans Fund Raising Drive since the Lodge was chartered, with a party held at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club on Monday, December 2.

The party followed a brief meeting at which Woods Patrolman Stephen Petrick, current president, announced that the organization netted approximately $23,000, which will be added to a fund to assist widows and children of Lodge 102 members who die, whether in the line of duty or not.

Petrick said that this was the second year that the organization, comprised of police officers of the Pointe and Harper Woods, has undertaken such a drive, and that within another three years, the Fund will have

Police-Fire Radio Costs Aired at Meeting in Farms

Harper Woods Charges Expenditures Too High; Will Submit List of Questions for Clarification by Farms Officials

Any questions asked by Harper Woods regarding the cost of operating the emergency police-fire radio system serving the Pointes and Harper Woods, will be answered by the Farms, the system's managing municipality. The queries will have to be listed and submitted in writing.

At a meeting held Tuesday night, November 26, at the Farms City Hall, Farms and Harper Woods officials discussed the system expenditures that Harper Woods Councilman George Scopas claimed are excessive.

Representing the Farms were: Mayor William Connolly, Councilman William Kirby and City Manager Sidney DeBoer. Harper Woods sent Mayor William Hulber, Scopas, and City Manager Allan Kronbach. Also at the meeting was Warren Carson, head technician, of the radio system.

Will Prepare Lists The Harper Woods officials said that they will prepare a list of specific questions concerning expenditures, and another list of suggestions for more economical operations of the system.

Connolly and Kirby said that the Farms, as managing municipality, will answer the questions, and submit the suggestions at a meeting of representatives of the six participating communities.

Lecture Series To Be Presented

The planned lecture series on the theme "Politics—1964" is still scheduled for the early part of next year at the War Memorial.

In spite of the upheaval in the political situation, George R. McMullen, organizer of the series, announced that it will go on as originally scheduled. Mr. McMullen has talked with each of the scheduled speakers and all are coming, with the possible exception of Arthur Schlesinger, special assistant to the late President Kennedy. His position is not definite now, but if he is unable to come, he will help get an appropriate substitute.

The series will open Tuesday night, January 7, and continue on successive Tuesday nights through February 11. The first speaker will be Zolan Ferency, state Democratic chairman.

Others scheduled to speak are Arthur B. Elliot, Jr., Republican state chairman; Fred Clark Scribner, Jr., of Portland, Me., general counsel of the Republican National Committee; Lee Hills, editor of the Detroit Free Press; and Martin Hayden, editor of the Detroit News.

Tickets are on sale at the War Memorial Center and the first 500 applicants will get them. The price is $5 for all six lectures, or $1 per lecture at the door, if tickets are available.

Snowstorm, Free Parking Add Impetus

Business Districts Gaily Decorated as Annual Gift Buying Gets Under Way

Dame Nature cooperated in launching the Pointe into its annual holiday shopping spree this week. The season's first snowstorm provided a Christmas card setting for the many yule decorations which have been erected in the various business districts of the community.

As an added incentive for local buying, two of the Pointes have declared free parking from now until the Big Day. It is a nice present for both the shoppers and the merchants, whose business hadn't been helped by the unseasonal weather which had prevailed. Now the stage is set for the annual rush, and crowded parking lots and streets full of gift seekers attest to the fact that it has started.

The traditional Men's Night in "The Village" was held Monday and there couldn't have been a more Christmas atmosphere, with swirling snow, music and gay decorations greeting the swarm of males who turned out for the event.

Farms Takes Action

The Farms council, heeding the pleas of the Hill District merchants, granted free parking privileges in the municipal parking lot from December 3 through December 24, to encourage Christmas shopping in the district. It took this action Monday night, December 2.

Roland Gray, owner of Gray's Racquet and Sport Shop, 102 Kercheval, was present at the meeting as representative of the Hill businessmen, ready to answer any questions from the council.

The council followed a pattern of previous years in the free parking, and as before, is requesting employers and employees to use the last row and the free parking strip at the rear of the Muir road property line.

Employers are urged to impress this policy on their employees, if the full benefits of the free parking for customers are to be realized.

Woods Goes Along

Also granting free parking is the Woods. Customers shopping along Mack avenue can park for one hour on the street and in municipal lots, only where there are metered spaces, from December 13 through December 24. Leather bags will be placed over the meter heads with the inscription, "Merry Christmas, Free Parking, Courtesy of Grosse Pointe Woods."

The City, under its Bonding Ordinance, is prohibited from granting any free parking in metered spaces; and the Park, because of its type of commercial business, has no free parking.

To add to the spirit of the season, the Farms merchants have installed floodlights to light up the trees along Kercheval from Muir to Fisher roads, with decorations here and there.

Cherry Trees Trimmed

In the Park, the city installed tiny blinking lights on the Kawananz cherry trees along Kercheval and Jefferson. The lights are owned by the commercial interests, who pay all expenses involved.

Coniferous trees in front of the Park Municipal Building will be decorated with multi-colored lights, and other decorations.

Decorations in the City are a bipartisan affair. The merchants purchased large wreaths with lighted bursting stars, which were attached to light poles along Kercheval with city labor. All expenses incurred are paid by the merchants.

As in the past two years, no special decorations are planned as a group project by the Mack avenue merchants in The Woods.

However, the Woods Municipal Building will be decorated with a huge wreath over the entrance. The wreath will have a red bow and the legend, "Season's Greetings."

Pointe Theater Slates Meeting

Monday, December 9, 8:30 p.m., at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial will be the date of the next open monthly meeting of the Grosse Pointe Community Theater.

A coffee hour will begin the evening, followed by a short business meeting. To conclude the get-together, a workshop

Mexican government closed the border. We were speechless and frightened. Upon further questioning, he said that he did not know for how long this order shall remain and that it was closed at 4:15 p.m. and it was now 4:25 P.M.

"There was a mass of humanity on both sides of the high steel fence, a strange silence broken occasionally with an American voice with just two words 'How come.' Almost simultaneously, Mrs. McCarron and I remarked, 'The Berlin Wall.' The reality came to us that being ten minutes late at the border may now become endless hours on the wrong side of the wall.

"The border reopened four hours later to let the American tourists through and the Mexican people who, were on the American side to go to their homes. Then again the border was closed until further notice. We learned later that this was a security measure on the part of the Mexican government.

"The feeling of being on American soil shall forever be the most grateful in both Mrs. McCarron's and my life, and the sad event of November 22, 1963, the death of President Kennedy, shall never be forgotten by either of us."

recommendations made during the morning sessions.

The small group approach to problem-solving will be employed in the mathematics department, according to plans outlined by Miss Bertha Schermer. The day's agenda centers about testing, comparison of texts, content, revision of outlines and a review of plans for the 1964-65 year.

Review Language Course

The foreign language teachers will review courses of study and will spend time in the discussion of materials to be used in the language laboratory in the various languages. Testing is another item on the agenda in the five languages taught, states department chief, Miss Ester Porter.

The secondary music teachers will meet at Brownell Junior High School. Two general sessions are planned, one for the vocal teachers, the other for those in instrumental. The general curriculum of the seventh grade will be the topic of discussion.

The industrial arts faculty will work on an improved course outline for the eighth grade program and review suggestions for the seventh grade offering. The afternoon sessions will be held at Brownell will center upon work on individual course study guides.

Physical Fitness

Physical education teachers will engage in a discussion of the state and national philosophy of physical fitness in relation to the program offered in Grosse Pointe. Part of the time will be devoted to discussion of means of strengthening the articulation between junior and senior high school. All secondary teachers will participate in this part of the program.

The science department head, Mr. Kenneth Cook, says that teachers will report on their attendance at the recent meeting of the National Science Teachers Association, among other items. Varied topics in the areas of biology, chemistry and physics will also be discussed.

Teachers of science at the junior high level will convene at Parcels to work on examinations being given at the seventh and eighth grade levels.

The entire junior and senior high school social studies department will meet with Mr. Ronald Buehler, curriculum assistant, to review goals and objectives in the field. "The Role and Purpose of Social Studies in Our Secondary Schools," will be the theme of the session. During afternoon meetings of the junior high faculties at Brownell, teachers of geography in grade seven will discuss their course and the ninth grade civics teachers will delve into the economic units. Time will be allowed for the representatives of each building to work on problems unique to each of the junior high schools.

State Varied Projects

At Pierce Junior High School a variety of projects is slated for all departments on Friday, with part of the time devoted to work in the building, and a part generally devoted to all-system conferences. In physical education, for example, the women will spend the afternoon exploring physical fitness testing procedures, while the men work on plans for developing various phases of the present physical fitness program.

The English teachers of Pierce (with those of Brownell and Parcels), will discuss the teaching of poetry during the morning; at noon they will meet with the senior high department for an informal luncheon and exchange of ideas. During the afternoon, the topic for discussion is "Grammar, Our Perennial Challenge."

While the students may have a day of recess on Friday, it may be said that the teachers, in their attempt to improve and

Detroit recently authorized its Jefferson avenue speed increase from Downtown to the lights at Alter road.

Chiefs Louwers and Tetaert, and Farms Police Chief James Furton and Shores Police Chief Fred Dumeling said the speed limit will be strictly enforced.

Will Issue Tickets
In a joint statement, the four police heads said they have instructed police officers under their respective commands to issue violation tickets to motorists exceeding the posted speed limit of 35 miles an hour.

They said that they have issued the directives in the interest of public safety, and for the purpose of keeping traffic accidents at a minimum. Speeding drivers are responsible for a good number of accidents, especially rear end collisions, when a prohibitive speed prevents a fast enough stop when a car ahead slows or comes to a halt, the chiefs added.

The chiefs said that now that the Jefferson avenue speed limit is the same all the way through, with the exception of the small area between Fisher and Lake Shore, there should be no confusion on the part of motorists.

All motorists are asked to cooperate by maintaining the legal speed limit.

Young Reporter Gets Story of Funeral in Washington

Editor's Note:—Matthew Zukowski is almost 15 years old. He lives at 72 North Deeplands, attends Grosse Pointe University School, likes to write. When President Kennedy was assassinated, he convinced his father that he ought to get following this terrible tragedy. This is his account. He forgot to say that instead of filing through the Capitol Rotunda with himself off to a guard as a member of the press. He mingled with the newsmen there for almost an hour.

By Matthew Zukowski

Washington, D.C., Nov. 23, 1963.

Standing here, this evening, across from the White House, one feels he is standing on the main road of history.

The fountain in front of the White House is brilliantly spot-lighted, in contrast to the dimmed, darkened house itself. Draped around the door is a large piece of black bunting, the only outward sign of the tragedy which has occurred.

But the most noticeable thing here is the people. There aren't many of them, and they just stand around in little groups talking or simply looking and watching, not watching anything in particular, but just watching, waiting.

The White House itself is almost completely blacked-out. There are a few lights in the windows and there seem to be fewer spotlights than usual outside.

It is cool, sitting here in Lafayette Park across the street. The pavement is damp, and the sky is overcast. It all seems in keeping with the attitude of the city, the country, and the world. If one looks up at the trees, he will notice that they are almost stripped bare of their leaves; the fresh beautiful foliage of this city is gone, as is its President.

And the people still gather. Few walk quickly, for few have any real destination. The people's faces are blank. They say little or nothing. Each seems to be trying to express his sorrow by standing here with his fellow citizens, in this lonely watch.

Nov. 24, 1963. It is brisk and sunny in Washington today, in contrast to the rain and overcast of last night.

Pennsylvania Avenue is lined with thousands of people waiting for the procession to pass on its way from the White House to the Capitol. The crowd, though extremely large, is subdued. All are waiting for the moment when the horse-drawn caisson bearing the body of John F. Kennedy will pass. There is very little laughter, and people speak quietly. In fact, it is amazingly quiet for a crowd so huge.

All about, there is an air of subdued expectancy . . . and now the procession approaches. The first thing the listener hears is the sound of the muffled drums. Their hollow sound, echoing off the high surrounding buildings, sends a chill through the crowd.

As the drum corps pulls into view, another indication of mourning is achieved, for each drum is draped in black. The faces of the drummers and the honor guard that follows are set, each one reflecting the solemnity of the occasion. The caisson bearing the President's body passes. The red, white, and blue of the flag covering the casket is in brilliant and start-lighted casket of the President; around it is the military honor guard. It is silent here, reverent, if you will. The noise of the crowds of tourists and sight-seers is gone. Now the only sounds are the shuffling feet of those who are passing by the casket. Mingled with them are the voices of the press. All around, the statues of our country's great men look down on the scene in front of them.

That scene is one of peace surrounded by activity. In the center lies the coffin of the President, with people slowly walking past. Around it is the bustle of the press covering the story. The impression is not wholly agreeable. At a time as solemn and serious as this, it seems wrong to have reporters busily walking back and forth talking, even joking with one another; it seems to be disrespectful at best.

The faces of the honor guard seem not only solemn, but sad. Perhaps they feel the loss of the President more than the average citizen.

November 25, 1963. The crowds lining this route of march are much larger than those of yesterday's. The streets are jammed and people are to be found on almost any vantage point. Perhaps many of these people are here merely because they are curious to see the dignitaries who will march in today's procession from the White House to St. Matthew's Cathedral. If this is so, it is too bad that these people are that hollow inside.

The procession approaching now is much the same as that of yesterday's. There are more honor guards and, of course, the marching dignitaries. But even for one who has seen it before, he cannot help but be struck by the same mood which hit him the previous day, one of gloom, of sympathy, and of mourning, for the young President who was cut down by an assassin in a single, shattering moment in history.

Speeder Nabbed by Police After Chase at 90 m.p.h

Police officers of the Shores and Farms cooperated in blocking the escape of a drunk motorist who sought to elude arrest by speeding 90 miles an hour on Lake Shore drive, shortly after midnight, Monday, December 2.

Floyd D. Dinsmore, 31, of 1336 Philatha, Troy, Mich., was taken into custody by Shores police and charged with driving while under the influence of liquor.

According to a report by Shores Patrolman Harry Hamilton, Dinsmore was driving west on Vernier road at a very high rate of speed at 12:24 a.m. The officer gave chase when the motorist passed him.

Hamilton said that as Dinsmore passed 39 Vernier, he (Dinsmore) lost control of his vehicle which hit and jumped the right curb, and went back on the street, after which Dinsmore ran a red light at Lake Shore while making a right turn.

On Lake Shore, Dinsmore pressed hard on the gas pedal and his car gathered speed. Hamilton said he clocked the speed at 90 miles an hour.

When it appeared that Dinsmore might get away, Hamilton radioed for assistance. Shores Patrolman Gordon Swartz, cruising on Oxford, responded, and joined the chase.

Farms Patrolmen Arnold Parsons and Guy Lyford, also responded.

At Tonnacour place, the Farms officers placed their police cruiser lengthwise on the road to block Dinsmore's path. Swartz pulled up alongside Dinsmore, and Hamilton moved in behind.

When he saw he was trapped, Dinsmore applied his brakes and his car skidded to a halt. The policemen said that skid marks from the Dinsmore's vehicle measured a good 350 feet before the car stopped.

When ordered out of the car, Hamilton said, Dinsmore staggered and had a strong odor of alcohol on his breath. The man admitted that he had been drinking, the officer said.

Dinsmore claimed that he was trying to catch his wife, with whom he had a quarrel at a house party in Hamtramck.

Dinsmore was taken to the station and locked up until he became sober, and was released later after posting a bond of $100 pending an appearance in court.

Hours at Woods Park Extended

A motion came before the Grosse Pointe Woods City Council December 2 at their regular meeting that the Park be kept open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. The previous hours were from 7 a.m. until 9 p.m. on weekdays and 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

Councilman Benjamin Pinkos recommended that it was not necessary to keep the park open so long as many nights were cold and did not warrant the later hours. He felt the matter should be decided by the Parks and Recreation Committee.

Councilman Marvin Boutin moved that these new hours apply only to the period between May 1 and November 1. The motion carried.

Don't be too critical of your enemies—after all, you're the fellow who made them.

Farms Council Holds Meeting?

The Farms council meeting held Monday night, December 2, was the shortest on record.

The meeting started at 8:05 p.m., five minutes late, while the councilmen were waiting for a quorum, which was reached when Councilman William Butler arrived.

The minutes of the previous council meeting were approved, and the lone item on the agenda, a request for free parking in the municipal lot in the Hill District for Christmas shoppers, was approved in short order.

Councilman Henry Bodman II, under other business, brought up the matter of children strewing candy wrappers and other items on the sidewalks and streets, which are blown about by the wind and creating an unsightly condition.

City Manager Sidney DeBoer was instructed to see if this condition can be corrected.

At 8:20 p.m., the meeting was adjourned.

Present at the meeting besides Butler and Bodman, were Mayor William Connolly, and Councilmen William Kirby and Thomas Fisher. Councilman Ledyard Mitchell arrived after the adjournment. Councilman Benjamin Warren was absent from the city and was excused from the session.

Hit-Run Driver Gets Jail Term

A Detroit motorist, charged with leaving the scene of an accident, was convicted and sentenced to 90 days in the Wayne County Jail by Farms Judge Grant E. Armstrong on Saturday, November 30.

John T. Horton, 41, of 19934 Roselawn was taken to the jail by Farms officers Det. Sgt. Jack Paisley and Patrolman Joseph Miller to begin serving the sentence immediately after the judge found him guilty.

Horton was arrested by Woods Patrolmen Adrian Meerhaeghe and James Davidson on November 22, shortly after he smashed into a parked car at Mack and Allard, leaving parts of his vehicle on city streets as he attempted to escape.

Farms police radioed other departments to be on the look out for the hit-and-run car, and Horton was stopped by the Woods officers, who were patrolling Mack avenue, when they noticed his car's front end damaged and that it was minus a hood.

While questioning Horton, and asking him for his operator's license, Meerhaeghe and Davidson received the broadcast over their cruiser radio.

The motorist, the officers said, was intoxicated and could not stand when he was ordered out of the car. Horton was taken to the Woods station where he was given a ticket for driving while under the influence of liquor, and released to Farms authorities on the hit-and-run charge.

When he completes his sentence in the county jail, Horton will have to appear before Woods Judge Don Goodrow to answer for drunk driving.

Woman's Car Looted in City

Mrs. Sylvia Blank of 3740 Brewster, Detroit, reported to City police November 30 that the following articles were stolen from her car which was parked in a lot at the rear of 17030 Kercheval: two women's slips ($6.96), bedroom slippers ($3.00), three manicure sets ($5.50), a child's baton ($1.00), a toy plush dog ($3.00), two baby toys ($2.00), and a leather lint brush ($1.25), totalling $22.71.

HOUSEWIFE HURT

Mrs. Brooks Jarvis of 951 Pemberton, cut her hand when she accidentally touched the blades of her electric egg beater, while cooking in her home on Wednesday, November 27. She was conveyed to Bon Secours Hospital by Park police for treatment and released.

Cinema League Plans Contest

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will present the annual Members' Movie Contest at 8 p.m., December 12, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. For this night the meeting will be held in the Alger house.

The contest will be divided into 8MM and 16MM films, each of approximately 15 minutes showing time. There will be a separate trophy for the best in each class. The films will be judged on quality of picture, how the subject is shown and originality.

In the 8MM films Don Maxson will show his film, "A Letter to Jack," in which Don will take us along with him as he recounts the many varied events of interest to Jack and to us in the audience. Ester Porter will show some of the highlights of her film, "Caribbean Holiday."

At this time of the year we will enjoy leaving our cold weather and cruising with her to the warm climate of Haiti and Jamaica, where we will see lush tropical vegetation and the colorful native dances.

Paul Kolvoord's film, "Utah Trails," takes us on a fall tour of Salt Lake City, Zion, Bryce Canyon, Cedar Breaks and Capitol Reef. This tour shows the many beautiful colors of our Western fall.

In the 16MM category John McCaughey will present "Colorado Wonderland," an auto trip through Southwest Colorado in the fall. We will start by visiting the Great Sand Dunes in the San Luis Valley. From there we travel to Durango, Silverton, Oursay, Grand Mesa, and end our journey in Aspen. Robert Headley will show his film, "Water Wonderland Fantasy." We will traverse both the lower and upper peninsulas of Michigan through the four seasons, winter, spring, summer and fall, on our fantasy journey.

Charles Duncan takes us to Hulbert in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan for his film, "Snow Scenes," where we see the plover clear the way after a normal 3 foot snowfall. Along with many other beautiful snow scenes we see the deer being fed in their natural surroundings.

The Grosse Pointe public and friends are very fine and varied evening of colorful films.

HURT IN HOME

Robert Palm, 36, of 93 Moran, tripped and struck the back of his head against the heat register in his home on Wednesday, November 27. He was transported to Bon Secours Hospital by Farms firemen, where nine stitches were needed to close the cut he suffered.

Six White Horses

Six white horses came today To take my Daddy far away. And Mommy said I must be good And stand as big as Daddy would.

And now I'm big so I won't cry When I see Daddy wave good-bye. 'Cause Daddy is my special friend. He always comes back soon again.

I cannot wave, I don't see why. There's just a black box moving by. But Mommy says I should be still. I'm a big boy, so I will.

I hear some drums, they're awful loud. My Mommy's sad and so's the crowd. And everybody's dressed in black, But Daddy soon will hurry back.

We're going to take a walk to Mass. Then maybe I'll see Daddy pass. I wonder why we're only three, He always comes to church with me.

Two men are talking, I can see, They said they're very proud of me. They said my Daddy's in that box. The black one with the six gold locks.

I have on a big boy's suit. And now it's my turn to salute. I do it just like big boys do, Because I have to be one, too.

They're going to stop and then just leave? But in that box how will he breathe? Still, if I don't understand, With Mommy here, they won't be bad.

He's going to leave and not come home! We just can't leave him here alone. I want to hear him laugh and say "John-John, come here so we can play."

I don't see Daddy anywhere. I want to cry and I don't care. He's in the ground? He cannot be. He should be right here holding me.

But Mommy says I must be good. So I'll just stand as Daddy would.

Hold Discussion On Home Rule

Officials from the City of Grosse Pointe were invited to attend the meeting of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors on Wednesday, December 4 at 7:30 p.m. to discuss a proposed draft of County home rule enabling legislation which will be introduced in the January, 1964, session of the State Legislature.

The legislation is to implement the new constitution which provides for county home rule. This means that counties will be able to draft their own charter as to how their government will be organized instead of conforming to a stereotyped organization as required by the present constitution.

City manager Lawrence Savage said, "There are two broad areas of interest for cities in this concept of county home rule. Number one, county home rule should not be an encroachment on home rule for cities and villages, and number two, financing of county services that are performed in only certain areas within the county, should not be spread over other areas of the county wherein that service is not performed."

"I believe that county home rule is a major advancement in county government and will be beneficial to all concerned if we can solve these two problems."

INJURED IN STORE

Mrs. Marion Bancroft of 604 Notre Dame was taken to Bon Secours Hospital November 30 suffering from a cut on her right foot caused by stepping on some broken glass in the Kroger Store in the Village. Officers Virgil G. Beupre and Thomas McLaughlin Jr. took her to the hospital.

FAKE WHEELS STOLEN

Arthur King of 17449 Maumee reported a larceny from his car December 1. Four simulated wire wheels were knocked off the hub caps and taken away. The car had been leased to King from the Jefferson Chevrolet Company. The theft was made sometime between 10 p.m. of the previous night and 10 a.m. of December 1. The value was estimated at $85.

Romney Tells Impressions At Funeral of President

Representing the people of Michigan at the funeral of President Kennedy was a profound and unforgettable experience.

What happened on November 22 and on the following days disclosed the best of America and the worst of America.

The events in Washington constituted a moving spiritual and patriotic experience. I question whether ever before in history there has been a comparable experience in terms of a joint grief of an entire nation and to a considerable extent the entire world.

Certainly, Mrs. Kennedy and the family and the world leaders did things to inspire all of us. Outstanding, of course, was Mrs. Kennedy's courage and devotion, and even the remarkable conduct of Caroline and John.

In addition, I think the people who were in Washington at the time of the funeral evidenced a depth of sympathy and grief that is remarkable. I had my daughter and son with me and we couldn't get within a mile of the Capitol. There were thirty blocks of people waiting to go into the Rotunda at the time it was necessary to move the casket to the services.

I think another aspect of the experience has been the degree of self-examination that is going on. We have experienced a tremendous tragedy, but we will experience an even greater tragedy if this grief and self-examination fails to produce those few fanatics of the extremes that are stimulating hate and violence.

Let's hope that it will end the support or indifference towards those few fanatics of the extremes that are stimulating hate and violence.

Let us also hope that out of this unforgettable experience will come a deeper realization on the part of all of us that we are Americans first and foremost, and partisans only as a subordinate part of the fulfillment of our citizenship.

I hope, too, that in the future we will have greater honor for our President and the office of the presidency.

Let us hope that we have seen the end of false and vicious stories about the president. Such stories occurred to an extreme degree under President Roosevelt and they were betokened to occur again to an extreme degree under President Kennedy. Such bearing of false witness is part of the conduct that has played a part in what we have just experienced.

I think we all realize that this most recent series of tragic events followed other of a reprehensible character during the summer and spring.

We have had bombings of churches—we have had killings that preceded these events. Let us hope that out of this will come a renewed dedication to practicing more fully our inspired and eternal American principles.

practicing more fully our inspired and eternal American principles.

During my stay in Washington, I talked with President Johnson. I told him that in Michigan we were ready to respond to any request he might make in helping him discharge his tremendous responsibilities.

I also indicated that I felt certain that I spoke for all the people of Michigan in expressing gratitude that one of his experience and capacity was available to step into the heavy role of leadership at this critical time.

Students Visit Windsor School
 Fifty-six students from Lawrence Byrnes' seventh grade geography classes at Brownell Junior High School visited seventh grade classes in Windsor's McCallum School on Wednesday morning, November 27.
 This was an attempt to bring students together so they could observe the other nation's school approach to the study of both Canadian and U.S. geography.
 Grosse Pointe children saw a filmstrip on the Canadian Northland, which illustrates the joint development by both Canada and the United States in the recent opening of Canada's Northland. The students also viewed a film on the industrial provinces of Canada, which was followed by a lively question and answer period.

 A visit by Canadian junior high school students to Brownell is planned for later in the school year.
 "Such programs as this will help increase student understanding of our neighbor across the river," Mr. Byrnes stated, "and can even help promote interest in geography."
Manos Authors Christmas Book
 A story made up by a former newspaperman while he was babysitting for a friend is producing some interesting Christmas reading.
 Charles Manos, former reporter and feature writer at the Detroit Free Press and Detroit Times, is the author of the book, "The Patch In Santa's Pants," which sold out its first printing of 10,000 copies within a week after it was published by M & W Quill Publishing Company, Ann Arbor.
 Manos, of 405 Morose road, Grosse Pointe Farms, made up the story a few years ago for the ears of Jimmy Courage who was seven years of age at the time. Jimmy is the son of Ray Courage, former Detroit Free Press political writer and now an administrative aide for Congressman Neil Staebler.
 Young Jimmy was delighted to learn that he is the hero in the book who saves the day for Santa Claus.
 The book includes 22 colorful illustrations by Jack Echlin.
 Distributed by Ludington News Company the book is on sale at most book dealers including Hudson's.

Student Writers Hold Convention

The fifth annual convention of the Detroit Student Press Association met on Saturday, October 12. One thousand six hundred and fifty students from three states crowded the University of Detroit campus. At the awards convocation, both the St. Paul yearbook, "The Paulite" and the newspaper, "The Paulights" were awarded the Ignation Commander Award, given to the most outstanding publication in each enrollment class. The division winners are then eligible for the coveted Michael award which was won last year by the St. Paul yearbook, The Paulite. The yearbook was a strong competitor for the award again this year, but was surpassed by the Accolade, published by St. Francis deSales High School, Toledo.

The judges were professional editors and journalists representing all fields of the professional press. Their unanimous comment was that all the Ignation Commander award winners displayed a quality far superior to any other high school publications which they had seen.

Conquering Mt. Everest To Be Subject of Lecture

Dr. Maynard Malcolm Miller, who headed the geological program of the successful American Mt. Everest Expedition last spring, will give an illustrated lecture covering this exciting event at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Auditorium the evening of Tuesday, December 17.

Under the auspices of the English Speaking Union of Detroit there will be a banquet given at 6 o'clock prior to the program. The lecture will begin at 8. Dinner reservations at $4 a person, including service and taxes, are requested by December 13.

Reservations may be made by calling 222-3502 during the day or 881-3256 in the evenings. For English Speaking Union members there is no lecture charge. There will be $1 lecture admission for guests.

Dr. Miller joined the Michigan State University geology department as professor he is also Director of the Glaciological Institute on Campus and its associated research and instructional facilities and program in Alaska. His special fields are in geomorphology and aeo-geology, glacial geology, glaciology, Arctic oceanography and mountain and polar geology. Dr. Miller received the S.B. degree from Harvard University 1943 (Phi Beta Kappa, magna cum laude), the M.S. degree in 1948 at Columbia and the Ph.D. degree at Cambridge University, England, in 1956. He studied as a Fulbright Fellow at St. Johns College, Cambridge.

He has served in teaching, research and advisory positions at Princeton, Columbia and Cambridge Universities; for the Office of Naval Research, the U.S. Air Force, the Boeing Airplane Co., the Lamont Geological Observatory and the Gulf Oil Co. He is also a consultant to the State of Alaska and the U.S. Forest Service on glaciological problems. He is a commander in the U.S. Naval Reserve.

He has been involved in more than 30 different research projects and expeditions to over 60 different countries around the world. His pioneering field activities have been in Alaska, Arctic Canada, Greenland, Norway, the Alps, parts of South and Central America, Africa, Arabia, India and the Far East. For the 1963 Mt. Everest Expedition he and his colleagues were awarded the National Geographic Society's coveted Hubbard Medal, presented by President Kennedy at a White House Ceremony.

Dr. Miller will bring to Grosse Pointe the exciting and informative account of the Everest expedition beginning with its departure from San Francisco in January and carrying through the long march across Nepal from Kathmandu to the upper reaches of the Khumbu Glacier and Everest's summit by the South Col and West Ridge routes.

Dr. Miller's responsibility was a study of the high glaciers and geology along this high and remote border of Tibet. In this recounting of the adventure he tells the story of the expedition's unusual scientific program carried out between 18,000 and 23,000 feet. Added to this is the account of psychological and physical stresses on the expedition as its members climbed the glaciers and rock ridges into the rarified air of the world's highest mountain.

Early in the expedition Dr. Miller suffered a frustrating setback when his left foot was broken as he was swept into a crevasse by a huge sliding block of rock at the 18,000-foot level. Despite this crisis he went on to continue his work to 23,000 feet. Later while at an advanced camp below the Lhotse face high on the mountain he was the one to receive the dramatic message by field radio from Mt. Everest's summit announcing the double victory—two men having ascended the previously unconquered west ridge to meet two other who had come up the col route on the same afternoon.

Police Arrest Young Speeders

Three persons, one 16 years old, were given violation tickets by Shores police on Friday, November 29, for traffic offenses on Lake Shore drive.

The arresting officer, Patrolman Joseph Vitale, said that he observed two cars in the north bound lane of Lake Shore, at Clairview, both of which were stopped side by side. As he approached, the officer said, the drivers took off, gathering speed to 50 miles an hour.

Vitale pursued both cars, and pulled up alongside one driven by the 16-year-old, and motioned him to the curb, and then placed his police cruiser in a position to block the second car, driven by James B. Walker, 19, of 1802 Huntington.

Walker, the officer said, passed the cruiser on the right and slowed as though to stop, then cut into the left lane and passed the police vehicle and sped away. Vitale chased the youth and stopped him at Roslyn.

When Vitale asked Walker for his operator's license, the youth presented one belonging to Ralph V. Crocker, 33, of 1930 Kenmore, a passenger in Walker's car.

Under questioning, Walker finally admitted that the presented license was not his and gave his own to the officer. It was noted that Walker's license had expired.

Vitale called for assistance, and Shores Patrolman Donald Jacob was dispatched to help his colleague. Walker, Crocker and the juvenile were taken to the station.

The 16-year-old was given a violation ticket for speeding, and will have to appear at the next session of Juvenile court.

Walker was handed a ticket for reckless driving, for driving on an expired license, and displacing the license of another person.

Crocker was issued a ticket for lending his operator's license to another person. Later in the day, Walker and Crocker were arraigned before Shores Judge John Gillis, who found Walker guilty on the three counts, and fined him $10, and placed him on probation for three months during which he is forbidden to drive. Crocker was fined $10 on the charge against him.

M Club Adds Scholarship

The Board of Governors of the University of Michigan Club of Grosse Pointe announced the plan to establish a new four-year tuition scholarship in memory of Mrs. Vera B. Baits.

Mrs. Baits was a Regent of the University from 1943-1958. A 1915 graduate from the U-M, she was active in University affairs, serving on the boards of the Martha Cook women's dormitory and the Michigan League. Mrs. Baits was a member of the U. of M. Club of Grosse Pointe, serving on the board of governors and as its vice-president.

Club president, Robert C. Sheridan, announced the receipt of $450 from the Frederick M. Alger Post No. 86, American Legion to supplement the John M. Chase Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Mr. Chase served as Adjutant of the post for many years and upon his death a Chase Memorial Fund was established in appreciation of his devotion to it. A U. of M. graduate, Mr. Chase served on the board of governors and as its treasurer and president. Scholarship chairman, George E. Parker III, stated that interviewing for the current Regent's Alumni Scholarships will be held at Grosse Pointe High School on December 10 and 11 for all those interested.

Center Forming Teen Ski Club

A ski club for teen agers in Grosse Pointe is being formed under the joint auspices of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial and the Neighborhood Club. To be known as Ski-Hi, the club will be open to all senior high school students in Grosse Pointe's public, private, or parochial schools who are interested in skiing. It is not necessary to already know how to ski or to own ski equipment to join.

The initial meeting of Ski-Hi will be held this Sunday, December 8, at 3 o'clock in the Center's Fries Auditorium. All who are interested in joining this activity are urged to attend. The program for the afternoon will include a brief explanation of the organization by the sponsors, introduction of some of the adults who will be in charge of the activities, announcement of a tentative schedule of events, the showing of an enjoyable ski film, and for beginning skiers some basic ski pointers and instructions by Gene Hill.

Those who wish to become members of the club will be required to pay a registration fee of $2. The first ski trip is planned for Monday, December 30, to Mt. Brighton. The trip will be made by bus under supervision. All those going will be required to take insurance coverage for the day which is a nominal expense. The area has arranged for ski rentals, tow charges, and group lessons at a very attractive package rate.

Naturally those who have their own equipment may bring it and those who demonstrate their ability to ski without further instruction will not be required to take lessons which will reduce the cost for them.

'64 Pontiac

Here's why you'll like it.

Here's why you'll tell other people you like it.

Wide-Track, for instance. Wide-Track is what does away with tilting your way around turns. Pontiac's smoother, quieter ride is another thing you might point out. A big 389-cubic-inch Trophy V-8 is standard in each and every Pontiac. You get to choose from 34 engine/transmission teams to harness all that power. (Happy choosing!)

Now then—on to more of the things that make the '64 Pontiac so thoroughly likeable. Frankly, we couldn't think of anything radical to do with this car. Oh, we made the styling even more stylish, as you can plainly see. We lavished even more care on the interiors. We even improved the light bulbs. But as for more vital things, why change? Improve, refine, sharpen—yes. Change—no. And you can tell that to your friends.

Winter Sports Calendar Ready

A busy season is in store for winter sports fans planning to take advantage of Michigan's approaching snowy season, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

The growing interest in the state's 85 winter sports centers is reflected in the number of ski meets, skating contests and winter carnivals crowding the listings in the Council's winter edition of the Calendar of Events.

Just published, the winter calendar lists more than 60 such events throughout the state during the four-month period.

The first event of the season will be the week-long Holiday Ski Festival at Gaylord, beginning December 26.

Copies of the winter calendar are available without charge from the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing.

Pointe Ski Club Announces Trips

Winter is just around the corner and so, of course, the Grosse Pointe Ski Club is beginning to swing into action. The first trip planned is to Posh Pine Knob on Saturday, December 14.

Skiers will gather at the Center, 32 Lake Shore Road at 8:30 for a hearty ham, egg and sweet roll breakfast. Hopefully the chartered bus will get away for the slopes shortly after nine. A full day of skiing is planned on artificial if not natural snow. The bus will return to the Center by six in time for evening engagements. The charge is $3 for Ski Club members, $3.50 for guests. Paid reservations must be in to the Center's office by December 12.

Next on the schedule is the free ski school being offered to members beginning Monday, December 16 at 8 o'clock at the Center. It will be taught by certified instructors Rex and Howard Ciavola. All members who are interested in attending are asked to come at this time.

All adults in the Grosse Pointe area are invited to become ski club members and may do so by coming to the Center's office. The fee is $3 for single membership, $5 for married couples. As a special note to single men skiers, there is a great abundance of lovely single young skiers in the club who would like to see a few more men join.

The club's five day New Year Trip to Blue Mountain and Collingwood, Ontario, Canada is filling rapidly. The cost of the trip is $70 to Ski Club members. The guest fee is $5 more. The trip will leave the Grosse Pointe War Memorial at six o'clock Friday evening December 27. Hot box suppers will be served on the Dorchester, in rooms with single beds and private baths. In addition to transportation and lodging all tow fees for 5 days will be included in the cost and there will be a special New Year's Eve party. The party will return before midnight January 1, 1964. Paid reservations should be in to the Center's office as soon as possible. The bus holds only 38.

Reservations are also currently being taken for the club's full week ski trip to the Laurentian Mountains to Chateau Bellevue to be made by private rail car. Meals, lodging, transportation, and all ski charges are included at $165. The trip leaves February 29 and returns March 7.

Curb The Hitch-hikers

With the Christmas shopping rush on, and both automotive and pedestrian traffic greatly increased, it seems an appropriate time to comment on a situation that has been brought to our attention a number of times recently. The hitch-hiking menace is the subject of numerous complaints, especially from motorists.

This nuisance is most prevalent at the hours when the schools let out for the day. The streets, with particular concentration at the intersections, are lined with students soliciting rides. More often than not, clots of the youngsters crowd out onto the pavement, right into traffic lanes. It is not uncommon for some of the more intrepid and foolish to make lunges at passing cars in an attempt to slow them down or make them stop.

All of this is not only most annoying; it is also completely illegal, and very dangerous. Some of the drivers who have complained to us say they have narrowly escaped being forced into head-on collisions trying to avoid the darting youngsters.

December is known as the most dangerous of all the months, with its fewer daylight hours, its generally overcast skies and lower visibility. The Christmas rush accentuates this danger. We believe the schools and parents should impress on their young that this practice should be stopped. It is against the law to get out on the pavement to thumb rides. We hope the police will do everything in their power to discourage such silly shenanigans.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Words can never express my admiration and gratitude to the members of the City of Grosse Pointe Police and Fire Department for their speed, efficiency, and thoughtful kindness during the fire which destroyed the downstairs rooms of our home in the early hours of Sunday, November 24.

Two of the firemen under the direction of Chief George Poupard took time, in the midst of so many other duties, to don masks, search for and save my tiny poodle.

Officer Behrend brought the dog to me, then went into the house to bring out warm clothing and make sure I was as comfortable as possible under the circumstances.

Officer Beaupre arrived at my mother's apartment a few minutes after I did and completely took charge of calling my insurance agent, after which he called the station to arrange for an off-duty man to guard the house for the remainder of the night.

So many other things, too numerous to mention, were far beyond routine duty. How fortunate we are to live in a community which is protected by men of this calibre. Sincerely, Willo S. Taubeneck Mrs. George Taubeneck 870 University Place Grosse Pointe 30, Mich.

To the Editor: Following is a portion of a letter received from our son Barry, a 59 graduate from Grosse Pointe High and a '63 graduate from Kalamazoo College, who is now attending the Universite de Mediterranean at Nice, France.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Knister, 1914 Country Club Grosse Pointe Woods.

Dear Folks: Like any American writing a letter these days, I must first make mention of the incredulous happening of last Friday. The effect of the assassination of the President continues to persist in my mind. At 8:30 Friday night, I was on my way to a dance with another student. We were passing by a student boarding house and suddenly a head shot out a window and started yelling something in German, then in Swedish. I asked my friend who was Swedish, what the student was yelling. He turned to me with a look of utter disbelief and said your President has just been shot dead. I asked him to repeat his statement. It hadn't registered with me. He did and I suddenly felt very strange. I can't really describe it. The man in the room was motioning to us. We ran into the building and up the stairs. In the room there were four or five students clustered around a radio. I listened for the next hour or so to the reports as they came in. How hard it was to believe. The broadcasters kept using the word stunned. It was well chosen for I was just that. But not just me, the Europeans too were obviously feeling sorrow and awe—I could see it in their faces. After the initial shock wore off I felt shame, shame that a fellow countryman of mine, a member of what is supposed to be the greatest and most advanced nation in the world, could have committed such an act. But then came the news that already, not thirty minutes after the President had died, we again had a leader, a chief of state. My shame changed into a real sense of pride and fellow-feeling for my country. I pointed out to others that as they could see, there was order and chain of command in my country. There was no internal struggle, no intriguing for the gaining of control. Legally and with order the next in command was now automatically our President and once again our system was proving itself worthy of respect. How different would have been the situation in many other parts of the world.

That night I walked home. I passed by a cafe and as I did some students were leaving. And then there was an African before me, his face very serious and drawn. "Mes condoleances," he said, "Merci Monsieur" and we parted. I won't forget that. It meant much to be, hearing words of sympathy from this black man who had never seen me before.

Barry

PARKED CAR SCRAPPED Albert F. Koepcke of 657 Neff road called City police November 25 to report that an unknown car had scraped the side of his car while it was parked in front of his home. The left side of the car was badly scratched, but whoever was responsible for the damage left the scene, without reporting the accident.

Service to the community

By FRED KOPP, R. Ph. A colleague of ours tells this one. On Saturdays he sells dimes (10¢ each). Seems the neighborhood movie is next door. The kids stop in before the show for dimes—for the vending machines in the theatre. A lot of our business is like this—service to the community. Glad to do it. Because we're conveniently located and open long hours, we're a handy place to pick up change or a bottle of aspirin. But a pharmacist's true service to his community is to be a quick, reliable source of the drugs and medications your physician prescribes. That's the real reason we're here. And we are always pleased to serve you. This is the 1041st of a series of Editorial advertisements appearing in this paper each week.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard

By Virginia Leonard The king is dead—long live the king. This is the philosophy which also guides a democracy after the assassination of its president. But before we pick up our daily affairs, and the heinous events of that black weekend of November 22-25 fade, it is our humble desire to pay some tribute to John Fitzgerald Kennedy and other presidents who have met a similar violent death. And since we deal in books, primarily, we would like to refresh your memory and point out material, perhaps new and old to you, which our Libraries contain.

First of all, there are several books written by John F. Kennedy himself. TO TURN THE TIDE (1952), is a selection of Kennedy's public statements from his election through the 1961 adjournment of Congress. WHY ENGLAND SLEPT, an early one dating back to 1940, (by a 23 year old Harvard undergraduate) is a cool and factual study of the complex reasons underlying England's failure to rearm during the 1930's. STRATEGY OF PEACE (1960) is a collection of the late President's main addresses to the Senate and other public forums on foreign policy and related areas.

Most of us will remember Robert Donovan's PT 109, dealing with John F. Kennedy's command of this PT boat in World War II in the Pacific. We have four biographies (and many more will follow, I suspect). James Burns, in 1960, gave us JOHN F. KENNEDY: A POLITICAL PROFILE, which was neither an authorized nor a campaign biography, but rather an attempt to supply information needed at that time. Victor Lasky's controversial J.F.K.: THE MAN AND THE MYTH, just appeared recently, and is currently number one on the Best Seller list. W. R. Manchester's PORTRAIT OF A PRESIDENT, is an expansion of a series of articles which originally appeared in HOLIDAY magazine. Another recent one is Hugh Sidey's JOHN F. KENNEDY, PRESIDENT. The author, a White House correspondent of TIME magazine, reviews the first two years, giving a vivid close-up of the man and his family.

More in a political vein are three other volumes. C. L. Markmann gives us JOHN F.

KENNEDY: A SENSE OF PURPOSE, analyzing the aspects of the Kennedy-Nixon television debates. Helen Fuller's YEAR OF TRIAL probes the crucial decisions of J.F.K. Lester Tazner edits THE KENNEDY CIRCLE, which is a series of profiles of the men around President Kennedy, written by thirteen Washington reporters. THE KENNEDY FAMILY, by Joseph Dineen is a revealing portrait beginning with the 1930's and Patrick Joseph Kennedy, and ending with his grandson.

As we all know, the subject of presidential assassination is not new. Our Library contains three titles on the dramatic death of Abraham Lincoln. Theodore Roscoe, in his WEB OF CONSPIRACY, gives us the complete story of the men who murdered this president. Perhaps the best known is Jim Bishop's THE DAY LINCOLN WAS SHOT, a minutely detailed reconstruction of what Abraham Lincoln and John Wilkes Booth did during the hours of 7:00 A.M. April 14, 1865 and 7:22 the following morning when Lincoln died. D. E. Herold's THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN, a facsimile of the 1865 edition, deals with the trial of the conspirators. Here is also a fine job of photographic reproduction. For a general treatment of this theme, there is Robert Donovan's THE ASSASSINS, describing the seven (now eight) attempts which have been made on the lives of American presidents. Unfortunately, it is now four, rather than three, which have been successful.

And so we must move ahead. The Central Library does have one biography on Lyndon B. Johnson. It is Booth Mooney's THE LYNDON JOHNSON STORY (1956), which is a brief biography of the man, with selections from his speeches. It is inevitable that more material on the man will follow.

Bad news travels fast. By 3:30 on Friday November 22, every biography on John F. Kennedy had been withdrawn from our Central Library. And now that funeral rites are past and the world moves on, we feel that more and more people will be interested in reading about Mr. Kennedy, his death, and the era in which he lived.

Club at Center Sets Snow Ball

A Snow Ball will be given this Friday evening in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom by the Center Club. This group represents the young single business and professional people in the Grosse Pointe area.

As is traditional this dance will be essentially a non date affair though, of course, unmarried couples will be welcome. Roston Clarks' popular orchestra will play for this gala pre-holiday affair.

Many of this group are avid skiers and the theme will put them in mind of the good times to come soon on the slopes. This dance too is a wonderful opportunity to get acquainted and be invited to the many parties being planned around the community at Christmas time. Who knows, maybe each young lady will find her own special Santa Claus here.

The party includes refreshments served at candlelit tables and in the spirit of the Season everyone will gather around the piano for carols during the intermission.

Nineteen times since 1934 have the Detroit Lions finished with a .500 or better record, with the most victories ever, 11, being recorded in '62.

Miss Ford Marries Richard Spitzley

Champagne Reception in Woodland Place Home of Bride's Parents Follows Candlelight Ceremony in Christ Church Late Sunday Afternoon

At a candlelight ceremony in Christ Church late Sunday afternoon, Laura Evans Ford spoke her marriage vows to Richard Spitzley, Jr.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Moran Ford, of Woodland place. Mr. Ford is chairman of the board of Wyandotte Chemicals Corp., and Mrs. Ford is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Howard Salisbury Evans, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mr. Evans was among the founders of Diamond Alkali Co. The bride's great-great grandfather, Captain John Baptiste Ford, established the plate glass industry in the United States.

The Rev. Erville B. Maynard officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride wore a gown chosen by her mother and her maternal grandmother for their weddings. Fashioned of antique satin, it was trimmed in rosepointe lace.

The lace formed the yoke of the gown, designed in the empire style, and decorated the sleeves and court train. A crown of orange blossoms worn by the bride's mother was the basis of a tiara designed by Ruth Joyce to hold a fingertip illusion veil, and the bridal bouquet was of cymbidium orchids.

Maid of honor Nina Spitzley, sister of the bridegroom, wore a pink wool frock, and Christina Spitzley, another sister, was the single bridesmaid in a dress of blue velvet. Both attendants carried white carnations with trailing ivy.

Mr. Spitzley asked his brother, James Scripps Spitzley, to serve as his best man. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Matthews Spitzley, of Rochester.

Mr. Spitzley, Sr., is vice president and secretary of the Evening News Association, and Mrs. Spitzley is the daughter of the late William E. Scripps whose father, James E. Scripps, founded the Detroit News.

The bride's brothers, Emory Moran Ford, Jr., and Thomas Evans Ford, served as ushers.

Mr. Strasburg Claims Bride

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Vogel, of Montclair, N.J., announce the marriage of Mr. Vogel's daughter, Mary Elizabeth Vogel, to Paul Stephen Strasburg, Jr., son of Mrs. Wylie W. Carhart, of Nef road, and Paul Stephen Strasburg, of Detroit.

The ceremony was performed last Saturday, November 30, by Dr. Duncan Howlett, minister of All Souls' Unitarian Church, in the chapel of the United States Naval Security Station, Washington, D.C.

Anne Hayward Strasburg and Elisabeth Lochridge Strasburg, daughters of the bridegroom, were the bride's attendants. Mark Stephen Strasburg was his father's best man.

Mrs. Strasburg, daughter also of the late Mary Alice Vogel, was graduated from Wellesley College and is a reporter in Washington for Fairchild Publications, Inc.

Mr. Strasburg was graduated from The School of Foreign Service, Georgetown University, has served with the Department of State, and is now with the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations. He was a Navy pilot in World War II.

Mrs. Ford greeted guests at the champagne reception and buffet dinner for close friends and members of the immediate families, held in their home immediately following the ceremony, wearing a dress of sapphire blue brocade.

Mrs. Spitzley chose a pale dress. Both mothers wore orchid blue wool and brocade jacket corsages.

Guests included the bride's great aunt, Mrs. Joseph B. Schlotman, of Lake Shore road, her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Carmel, of Bloomfield Hills, and Miss Evelyn Evans, the bride's aunt, who introduced Miss Ford to Pittsburgh society at a dinner dance in the Allegheny Country Club in early September.

He is a prominent young teacher of voice at the Michigan Conservatory of Music and is nationally known as the director of the Detroit Postman's Male Chorus.

The Senior Party will be completed with the serving of a Christmas tea and a pleasant afternoon of cards before they wish each other Merry Christmas.

TO EVERY COMMUNIST

This page has been sent for insertion to the editors of Izvestia, Pravda and principal newspapers of other Communist countries, as well as to leading newspapers throughout the non-Communist world.

PEACE OR WAR? That is the question each man asks his neighbor. Every woman awaits the answer.

In a divided world, with both camps armed with weapons capable of total devastation, the theory of the class struggle as well as the theory of capitalism, the welfare state, or the affluent society will prove too small, too slow and too selfish to achieve anything except disaster.

Many honest Communists know it. Too few in the non-Communist world will face it.

Our appeal to every sincere Communist and Marxist in Russia, in China and throughout the world to join with us in the greatest revolutionary adventure of all time, whereby the root problem—human nature—is dealt with thoroughly, drastically and on a colossal scale and nations are halted in their mad, historic march to violence and destruction.

It will mean change for all. Changed economic conditions, though essential, do not change men. Decadence in some of every generation among the richer societies of the non-Communist world, decadence among the third generation of Communists in the Communist world prove it.

Too many Communists, as Mr. Khrushchev has pointed out, are too selfish to make their Communism work in their homes, on the farm, in the factory, or in the nation. Too many non-Communists are too selfish to live for anything except their own comfort, their own corner, their own concerns.

IN AFRICA, at a time when many Africans want all white men to leave, 17 nations have invited Moral Re-Armament to their countries. In Nigeria, Tunisia, the Cameroons, Morocco and the Congo responsible leaders say that it has many times averted bloodshed.

In Kenya, hard-core Mau Mau revolutionaries were changed when they heard their white prison commandant apologize for the arrogance and greed in men like himself, which had helped to cause Mau Mau. They gave up their hate, for they saw that where black hates white today, black will kill black tomorrow. They took the all-African film "Freedom," which dramatizes the answer to bitterness and corruption to their leader, Jomo Kenyatta. He said, "Get this film into Swahili. It is what our people need."

CURE FOR HATRED AND SELFISHNESS

Dedan Mugo, the first man arrested in the emergency, saw the film in Swahili. He had returned from 12 years in prison to find that his two wives and four children had been killed, his home demolished and his land confiscated. He says, "Some power in that film touched my heart and took away my bitterness. I decided to forgive the white man, for I saw that only thus could Africans, Asians, Europeans live in peace." Together with Kenyatta's only brother, he took "Freedom" to 400,000 people in Kenya in six months. "Moral Re-Armament is an intelligent medicine to cure the diseases of hate, selfishness and bitterness, which confuse nations everywhere," he says.

In South America, revolutionary students of San Marcos University, Peru, where Vice-President Nixon was stoned, have changed. "To change the system is only half a revolution," said the editor of the left-wing student paper. "Moral Re-Armament is the total revolution because it changes the system and produces the incorruptible men to run it. The most reactionary man is the one who wants to change the world, but refuses to change himself." These students wrote a play "El Condor," portraying this total fight for social justice. Capitalists and generals changed, quit their sterile anti-Communism, and took up the fight with them. They were received with tumultuous enthusiasm by the land workers in the Peasant League country. In the port of Recife so many dockers found hope and purpose that the Port Superintendent was able to tell the Press that alcoholism had decreased in a marked degree. The Director of the Port Co-operative reports, "Looting and pilfering are going out of fashion. Honesty has come in, so that prices of staple foods in our co-operative have been able to be cut by 35%."

In recent months Moral Re-Armament plays have been seen in football stadiums by more than a million and a half people in Peru, Chile, Bolivia and Brazil. Millions more see Moral Re-Armament programs regularly on television.

FOR WORLD PEACE AND ASIAN UNITY

In Japan on October 22nd, 1962, the Prime Minister spoke at the opening of an Asian training center for Moral Re-Armament at Odawara. Prime Minister Ikeda told the 2,131 delegates from 41 countries: "We are honored that Japan should be chosen as the center for the Moral Re-Armament of Asia. Since I took office I have striven to double the national income. Now I realize that the foundation for this should be men who are right and true. MRA is working to create new men, new nations, and a new world. May its philosophy take root and spread. I am determined to help in whatever way I can to further this purpose." The invitation committee for the first assembly there includes two former vary with personal, party or national interest. Here lies the secret of successful statesmanship, sound citizenship and lasting unity. The logical next step for the Communist and for the non-Communist world is Moral Re-Armament.

Honest leaders in both worlds admit it. The 22nd Congress of the Russian Communist Party called upon every Party Member to observe himself and cultivate in others honesty, moral purity, unselfish labor for society and love of his fellows. Emboldened leaders in East and West will bring these standards to their peoples by living them themselves.

William Penn said, "Men must choose to be governed by God or they condemn themselves to be ruled by tyrants."

When the men of the Kremlin listen to God, He will speak to them as clearly as He would to the leaders of the non-Communist world if they were humble enough to listen—and sane enough to obey—instead of continuing to do efficiently and proudly what is not the way.

From the Mind of God adequate, accurate, definite information can come to the mind of man. Here is a revolutionary experiment that any true revolutionary will dare to make.

The paradox of history may be that this century which discovered the power of the divided atom will learn the secret of uniting man. The Communists, governed by God, could be pacemakers for the world in the greatest revolution of all time, where all men are needed, no man is exploited, and where leaders and led pay the price of a new society by paying the price of change in their own lives.

Years ago Frank Buchman, initiator of Moral Re-Armament, in a speech broadcast to the world said, "Is change for all the one basis of unity for all? Can Marxists be changed? Can they have this new thinking? Can Marxists pave the way for a greater ideology? Why not? They have always been open to new things. They have been forerunners. They will go to prison for their belief. They will die for their belief. Why should they not be the ones to live for this superior thinking?"

Many people say that capitalism or Communism, class or color are the problems.

The problem is not Communism. It is character.

The problem is not capitalism. It is character.

The problem is not color. It is character.

The problem is not class. It is character.

New men with new motives will build a new world. No concept short of this touches the root of the modern malaise.

Hans Boeckler, the great president of the German Trade Union Federation, put it this way, "When men change, the structure of society changes. And when the structure of society changes, men change. Both go together and both are necessary."

This revolution of Moral Re-Armament already has bridgeheads in every nation. As Moscow Radio said, "It is in its final phase of total expansion throughout the world."

Prime Ministers and senior industrial leaders, who say: "In order to lay a foundation for world peace, and especially to create unity in Asia, individuals and nations must now give priority to Moral Re-Armament." Takasumi Mitsui, the President of the Mitsu Foundation, sold his last family property to provide money for the center. The aim is to make real for every Asian the words of Frank Buchman to the rice workers of Ceylon, "Empty hands will be filled with work, empty stomachs with food and empty hearts with an idea that really satisfies."

THE THIRD GENERATION

One of those leading the Assembly is Rajmohan Gandhi. He is the third generation of his family to stand with Moral Re-Armament. His grandfather, Mahatma Gandhi, who achieved India's independence, first met Buchman in 1915 and, twenty-five years later, said, "Moral Re-Armament is the greatest thing that has come out of the West." His father, Devadas Gandhi, said, "If Moral Re-Armament fails, the world fails." Pressed by leaders of India to take a prominent position in his country, Rajmohan replied, "Where would India be today if my grandfather had accepted the advice to return to his law practice instead of fighting for his country? Today, not just one country is in jeopardy, but the whole world."

The grandchildren of the men and women changed when Buchman moved through Scandinavia in the thirties have written a play which gives an answer to impurity and hate. It offers youth of every nation something great to live for. It will go through Europe this winter.

In Europe, Asia, and throughout the world, the third generation of Moral Re-Armament are working day and night, without salary, to make the work and wealth of the world available for all, and for the exploitation of none.

THERE WILL BE no war if East and West, black and white, Communist and non-Communist accept a common revolutionary destiny. There can be no honest co-existence without a common commitment. Mankind's commitment must now become the rebuilding of the world. It means the transformation of society, an economic, social, political change within and between nations, a revolution so vast that everywhere, can play his part.

Human nature can be changed. That is the root of the answer.

National economies can be changed. That is the fruit of the answer.

World history can be changed. That is the destiny of our age.

God alone can change men. Lenin was a forceful and dedicated revolutionary. His challenge to the century has altered the shape of our times. But it has divided mankind, and can destroy it, unless we change.

Lenin did not believe in God. He said, "Our revolution will never succeed until the myth of God is removed from the mind of man." Lenin's disbelief was nourished by the actions and inactions of those who expressed their belief in God.

Nations, which professed faith, lived in such a way that they robbed Lenin and his friends of a belief in God. The way some so-called God-fearing nations live make the Communist world cynical of God today. But unbelief was a fatal flaw in Lenin's philosophy.

Absolute moral standards are a place where all men can make a start—standards of absolute unselfishness in economic planning; absolute love in social attitudes and patterns; absolute honesty in industrial and political action; absolute purity in every home: standards which do not

Of interest to history buffs is the diary owned by Henry Russel, of Nottingham road. Mr. Russel's diary records the personal adventures of an ancestor, who came from England and traveled to Alton, Ill., via the Erie Canal, in mid-19th century America.

Latest fad to sweep the Junior High School set is AB-language, a definite improvement over Pig Latin in that few adults have the slightest idea how it works. Pierce students Cathy Champion, Sue Radcliffe and Kathy Becker are experts at the cryptic tongue, explain "It's quite simple, really" . . . all you do is add an AB before every vowel. Y's count as vowels, and silent e's remain AB-less. Portia's speech from "The Merchant of Venice," in AB, would sound like this:

ThABe qABualABitABy ABof mABercABy ABis nABot strABained ABit drABoppABeth ABas thABe gABentle rABain frABom lABearABer ABupABon thABe plaABace bABenABeath; ABit ABis twABice blABest; thABe blABessABeth bABim thABat gABim ABand bABim thABat tABakes . . .

To get the full effect, speak as quickly as you can; and when in doubt, throw in an extra AB — who knows the difference?

Among those coming home for the holiday last weekend was Pat Wright, who collected his sister, Maureen, from Marquette University campus, then drove straight through from Wisconsin to Kenwood court Thanksgiving eve. The son of the Joseph P. Wrights works on a newspaper outside of Milwaukee. He likes journalism, intends to make it his career, but has one complaint: as his paper's only unmarried reporter, Pat receives all the "odd-hours" assignments. He especially enjoyed the Thanksgiving dinner at home; it was a complete change from the community banquets at which he is usually the press' smiling representative.

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education provides a sabbatical leave of absence for veteran teachers, and each year a small percentage of those eligible avail themselves of the opportunity for advanced study in this country and abroad. Currently, Mrs. Isabelle Pohlbel of the High School English department is in London, where she has settled down after a rather hectic and confusing non-orientation period as reported via one of her earlier letters home: "I've never seen anything like the casual approach they take to getting organized here. I have made inquiries and have been told to appear Friday morning so then I shall find out what it is all about. I did enroll in one course today in University College called 'The Writer's Responsibility,' which the catalog says deals with the values motivating the best known novelists, playwrights and poets today. It is intended to explore the moral responsibilities of those who shape and mould public opinion in present day society. Sounds interesting to me!" Mrs. Pohlbel reports she is enjoying her months abroad immensely, but "America and Grosse Pointe still look like the best place to work and live."

That singularly American institution, the coffee break, serves two purposes. It gives office forces a welcome pick-me-up mid-morning and mid-afternoon, and it provides clues to individual personalities . . . through their choice of mugs, cups, etc. John Cantwell, Comptroller at Grosse Pointe City, obviously has a very definite mind plus a personal preference for strong colors. His coffee mug is white, with a red plaid design, and the name JOHN spelled out in vivid blue block letters.

Canteen Conversation

Rick Mills

"A huge house is wrecked by drunk and reckless teens at a party that went wild." Damages total in the thousands. "A young girl is brutally molested at her party by crashers." "A late hours party is raided by police. No parents are present and the kids are left on their own to drink and 'be merry.'"

Headlines like these and many others have swept through papers across the country. They tell of unorganized, unchaperoned parties that were asking for trouble, and found it.

How can such senseless tragedy be avoided? How can parents and kids get together to prevent these ill-fated events which give American teenagers a bad reputation? Here are some suggestions by Grosse Pointe teenagers.

Should parents be present at the party Sally Harrison: "Yes! If anything goes wrong or a crash is attempted, the parents can help keep things under control."

Should the parents be in the same room the party is in or should they be merely present at the house? Claire Wilcoxon: "The parents should be at the door to meet the kids as they come in. If the parents know the character of all the guests at the party, then I don't think it's necessary for them to look in." Ria Brouwers, exchange student from Holland: "Parents should greet the guests when the party first begins so the kids know they are there."

How can you avoid resentment on the part of the kids you cannot invite because of limited numbers? Claire: "When the people are asked to come they should be told who else is being invited so they will not inadvertently talk to someone about the party who isn't invited." Sally: "There is no fool proof way to avoid hurt feelings."

How long should a party last? Sally: "The parents and kids should sit down together and decide on a time limit according to the occasion. The kids should be told exactly when the party will start and when it will end. At the designated time, if you haven't started to break up, it should be tactfully suggested that the party be brought to an end." Claire: "A closing time depends on whether the party is on a school night or weekend, the occasion, and the age of the kids. The parents and host should decide on a time together."

What should be done if someone attempts to crash the party? Claire: "If a crash is attempted the chaperones should stop the crashers at the door." Sally: "The parents who are meeting kids at the door should simply turn them away. Kids usually have enough respect for an adult to leave when they are asked to do so."

Is it wise to have an "open house"? If so, what precautions should be taken to prevent trouble? Sally: "At an open house you avoid the problem of hurting someone's feelings because anyone can come. The party should be well organized and well supplied with chaperones. The kids should be checked at the door to make sure they haven't been drinking or have drinks with them. The police should be notified of the party and should check the house once in a while to make sure everything is all right." Claire: "I don't think kids should have open house. It's much safer to invite a lot of your friends if you want a large party. Simply letting anyone come isn't wise."

If these simple suggestions are followed such tragedies as those spread in the headlines would never have taken place.

MRS. DONALD LESCOHIER, OF BISHOP ROAD

By Janet Mueller

Committee work is no novelty for Mrs. Donald Lescohier. As chairman of the Junior League group planning the first event in Detroit's 50th Anniversary Junior League Year, dark-haired, vivacious Lois Lescohier has a "full" part-time job.

But her background in community work, with United Community Services, Emergency Psychiatric Facilities for Children, Inc., Church organizations and of course, the Junior League of Detroit, leaves her well equipped to handle the job of chairman of the Regional Meeting of the Association of Junior Leagues of America, Region IV, scheduled January 6 through 8 at the Sheraton-Cadillac hotel.

Her assistant chairmen, Mrs. John B. Watkins and Mrs. Gordon F. Knight, are a great help. Mrs. Lescohier has divided the work between them, with Mrs. Watkins responsible for arrangements and co-committee subcommittees.

Mrs. Knight is in charge of art, decorations and publicity. Both ladies have attended Regional Meetings before, and Mrs. Lescohier doesn't know what she would do without them.

Golden Anniversary

Because 1964 marks the Golden Anniversary of the founding of the Junior League of Detroit, Inc., Detroit was selected, out-of-turn, as hostess city for this year's Regional Meeting. Mrs. Lescohier can find no record of a Regional Meeting ever before held in Detroit.

Region IV encompasses 14 Leagues in Michigan and Ohio, and some 41 delegates are expected at the January meeting. Mrs. Lescohier and her assistants began planning almost a year ago, setting up accommodations, checking up schedules, gathering background information on all the delegates.

A Regional Meeting, Mrs. Lescohier explains, is primarily a training session for future League leaders.

League policy is voted upon at the Annual Conference of the Association of Junior Leagues of America, Inc., held in New York City. League presidents and usually two other delegates from each League attend this Annual Conference.

Workshop Session

A Regional Meeting, on the other hand, is generally a workshop session. Theme of the 1964 Meeting of Region IV will be "The Golden Rule in Public Relations," and decorations will center on a gold theme, symbolic of the Detroit League's Golden Anniversary, with two public relations workshops scheduled concurrently on Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning.

Two professional consultants are coming courtesy of the Association of Junior Leagues of America, public relations consultant Mrs. Laura Gutterman and Miss Mary Ellis, program consultant.

The Regional Meeting schedule devised by Mrs. Lescohier and her committee begins with a reception and dinner at the Sheraton-Cadillac Monday, January 6. On Tuesday there will be a general membership meeting, luncheon and the afternoon workshops.

Mrs. Edsel Ford will entertain at cocktails in her Lakeshore road home Tuesday evening, after which there will be a dinner at the Country Club of Detroit. Wednesday morning will be devoted to workshops, and the group will adjourn at about 2 in the afternoon.

Transfer from Erie

Lois Lescohier joined the Junior League in her native Erie, Pa., transferred to the Detroit League when she moved here after World War II.

Points a particularly stimulating community in which to live. "There seem to be so many, many people here you would like to know. You never run out of possible friends."

Very Civic Minded

She says she has never seen such a civic minded community, citing the War Memorial and the schools as two areas where Pointers, as a whole, are involved. She also likes the Pointe's nearness to a large metropolitan city, with the Symphony and the Art Institute available at the end of a half hour's ride.

When the Regional Meeting is over, Mrs. Lescohier plans to relax for a while in her green, gold and rust-decorated home, to catch up on her reading. She especially enjoys Early American history.

Two summers ago, the Lescohier's remodeled their kitchen, using an Early American theme, warm wood cabinets with iron hinges, gold and green Revolutionary period wall paper designs, shutters on the windows. Dedicated do-it-yourselfers, they also remodeled their library.

Lois Lescohier dreams some day of designing and building her own house, one small enough for two people to live comfortably yet large enough to hold visiting children and their families.

She is not the type of woman ever to run to a desert island. Participating in life is the only way to enjoy life to the full. Mrs. Lescohier believes, and the Junior League enables women to participate with the talents and time at their disposal.

Program is Varied

League volunteers work in many agencies throughout the city as well as in League-sponsored projects, pilot programs designed to be absorbed by the community.

Mrs. Lescohier has done volunteer work for Cottage Hospital and the United Foundation. She sang for years with the Junior League Glee Club, worked in the Senior Center, was general ticket chairman for the Junior League Follies a few seasons ago.

Next year, she may decide to work in the League's school enrichment program. Or she may choose some other project. One thing is certain: She will be active.

"I believe that every age has something special to offer. something special to make living it exciting," says Lois Lescohier. "Whatever age a person is, is a good age. I believe that every age has something special to give."

Dominican High Parents To Hold Christmas Party

There will be no admission charge. Instead, parents are requested to make a Christmas Present Donation. There will be an orchestra and refreshments and plenty of opportunity to exchange Christmas greetings.

Suburbia Today

In This Issue . . .

Mulied Lines from Ogden Nash

. . . Page 7

Our most famous writer of light verse tumbles out his Christmas wishes to everyone in suburbia today. "Three cheers today and not mañana for Berkeley, Topanga, and Tarzana! The same, three thousand miles away for Great Neck, Nissequogue, Oyster Bay"—and on and on for 108 rollicking lines.

The Trip of a Lifetime

"Go to the Holy Land whenever you can manage it and have the price of a ticket," is the advice of Norman Vincent Peale, famous clergyman and author of the best-selling "The Power of Positive Thinking." In this warm and vivid account of his own latest trip he leads the way through those faraway places of incense and myrrh, the homeland of Jesus when He was on earth.

Christmas Eve Cheer from Denmark

The Danes are well known for their hospitality and the sumptuous tables they set, but on Christmas Eve they surpass themselves. Food Editor Melanie De Proft, who visited Denmark earlier this year, reports on the authentic Danish dishes they serve on this special evening and tells how you can prepare them, too.

Light Up for the Holidays

Stop—before you test that light from last year's batch or rush out to buy several new strings of them. Here are six questions and answers prepared by Garden Editor John Brimer to help you set up your Christmas lights for the most dramatic and beautiful effect.

On the Cover

Artist Laura Jean Allen shows the whole family and even Charlie wreathed in fir needles and the family car heaving under the weight of a gargantuan Christmas tree. But it was the one the kids wanted (naturally it was the biggest) so pop gave up on the charming little fir and bought this one. He's happy, though, if the kids are—at least until he gets home and finds it won't fit in the living room. On page 20, another dad fights the same losing action in "Christmas Tree, O Christmas Tree."

He learned to sing in Bristol, Tennessee. And it shows.

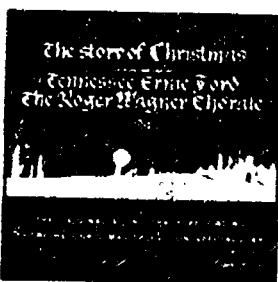

It shows in all the warmth and sincerity that Tennessee Ernie Ford brings to every song he sings.

It shows in his honest singing style. No gimmicks. No tricks. You don't learn gimmicks and tricks singing in the church choir. You don't need them when you have Tennessee Ernie Ford's great, rich voice.

It shows in all the songs that Ernie sings. In folk songs. (Remember "Sixteen Tons"?) In the beautiful songs from the Southern Appalachians. In love songs and in (as Ernie calls it) rockin' music. But most of all it shows in the magnificent hymns that Tennessee Ernie Ford sings so often and so well. The magnificent hymns that he learned to sing as a boy back in Tennessee.

Listen to Tennessee Ernie Ford on Capitol, and you'll hear what we mean.

For a start, listen to these Tennessee Ernie Ford albums:

GETTING AROUND

... to Our Pleasant Places and People

SANTA HAS BEEN a busy man in Richardson, Texas, since the local women's club have taken him under their wing. The ladies hit on the idea of renting out Santas for private and community events several seasons ago in order to supplement their building fund. The response has been so great that they have had to increase their ready supply of Santas (mostly husbands, did you guess?). And the men don't seem to mind. As one husband put it, "It's wonderful to see the way kids react to seeing Santa Claus—they put on a show you just couldn't get anywhere without wearing a long white beard."

Not too long ago, Caramel Road in Suffolk County, New York, almost became Peppermint Road because the two of them merged at one point, and a uniform name would have made it easier for street signs. But Caramel residents protested because it would mean changing deeds and the like. And residents of Candy Lane and Marshmallow Drive—these intersect Peppermint or Caramel in a confusing confection of streets—said that they couldn't tell deliverymen they lived between Peppermint and Peppermint. So the local board sweetly retreated.

Speaking of frothy places to live—a friend in Doraville, Georgia, says that his state has a town called Santa Claus, where you can live on Candy Cane, Sleigh, Reindeer, Noel, Dancer, or Prancer streets. And you get your marriage license, driver's license, and pay your taxes at the city hall, 25 December Street. But the man who delivers the mail with a pack on his back is hired by the U. S. government.

We were happy to hear from Sheldon A. Mix of Park Ridge, Illinois, who tells us he has a pal who takes his pet alligator wherever he goes. He calls her Trudy, and she has caused him a rash of trouble. There was the day he was driving around with Trudy in the back seat, when he suddenly had to brake the car, and all Trudy's 50 pounds landed on the back of his neck. It was painful but at least won't happen again. Trudy has been outfitted with her own seat belt after causing a bit of a stir at the auto-supply store.

Fir trees are rare in Tarzana, California, but anybody with good old-fashioned Christmas spirit can pick up his garden snippers and head for the surrounding mountains—the oak trees there are thick with mistletoe. All you need to pick a bunch of it is a free permit, which you can get at any ranger station—Big Rock, for instance, or All Nations Camp or Saw Mill Mountain.

Which holiday greeting is older... the first Christmas Card OR Gordon's Gin?

Gordon's Gin was an English holiday greeting 74 years before Mr. J. C. Horsley designed the first Christmas card. The Gordon's you drink today harks back to Alexander Gordon's original 1769 formula, for one doesn't tamper with a good thing... especially when it is the world's biggest seller. This year send cards, serve and give Gordon's London Dry Gin.

Dick Guthrie, 18, of Scottsdale, Arizona, may have a load on his shoulders nowadays, but after the Christmas rush is over he'll have a healthy jingle in his pockets to make up for it.

Dick, who weighs 149 pounds and stands five feet seven inches tall, operates a rickshaw he made himself, which transports as many as four adults and three children at one time, from any of the 60 stores in a local Phoenix shopping center to the surrounding 5,000-car parking lot. He collects only the tips, but they alone average about $15 per day, which he is putting aside for college. His Oriental cab service has been so successful the center has given him the franchise to operate, and soon he hopes to expand with several other rickshaws to rent out.

How about swapping homes for a year with somebody in another country? Charlotte Kleeman of Van Nuys, California, says that for just 75 cents you can register with Homes Interchange Ltd., 37 Clifton Hill, Brighton, England, to exchange your split-level for a Swiss chalet, an Italian villa, a thatch-roof cottage in Surrey, or whatever your heart's desire may be. An extra fee comes later when you are suited.

Lee Sprague, of Dearborn, Michigan, lost his hair recently. Of course, a good many people have been losing their hair in Dearborn (as elsewhere), but none had any valued at $2,500. Lee is a salesman for a hairpiece company, and a thief stole nine custom-made toupees from his station wagon while he slept.

Here's some useful advice from Mrs. Tom Justice of Brookline, Massachusetts, for keeping your Christmas tree fire-safe this year: Buy a tree with needles firmly attached . . . keep tree outdoors in a pail of water till just before Christmas . . . set it up in the coolest part of the room, still in a container of water (remember fresh trees drink a lot, so keep it watered) . . . use only electric lights, check wires for frayed ends, and turn lights off when you leave . . . clear up ribbons and paper immediately . . . and take the tree down (no excuses) the day after New Year's.

Parents, hear this! At a party in Birmingham, Michigan, a young guitarist suddenly dropped a verse from his song, "because" he said, "it's too risqué." "Don't you think I'm old enough to hear it?" asked one of the adults. "Yes," said the folksy young man, "but you don't think I am."

Debbie Stapholtz of Los Angeles County, California, is a big girl now, but just two years ago she had passed her second birthday and had yet to give up her baby bottle. Her parents, in desperation had decided to let nature take its course—when the Christmas spirit came to the rescue. Shortly before, Debbie had looked on solemnly while her sister filled a box with broken toys for Santa's repair shop. Later, among the balding dolls and beaten-up Teddy bears, appeared Debbie's gift for a needy child—her plastic milk bottle, lovingly wrapped in a tinfoil ice-cream bag.

A Christmas poem by America's leading author of light verse

Let Yule Be Cozy and Suburbulent

BY OGDEN NASH

I tip my hat, I unwind my turban,
Saluting Christmases suburban.
Skool, suburbs all, from coast to coast!
To you I drink a holiday toast.
I hope no ravenous mosquito
Disturbs the peace of Sausalito;
May every family enjoy a
Galumptious Noël in La Jolla.
Three cheers today and not mañana
For Berkeley, Topanga, and Tarzana!
The same, three thousand miles away,
For Great Neck, Nissequogue, Oyster Bay.
For Westport, yes, and Weston, too,
Trot out the trumpet and kazoo
Whose echos ring past tunnel and bridge
In Bernardsville and Basking Ridge.

From soil that once the pilgrims trod
Banish today the bean and cod!
Ho, landlord! See that goblet brimmeth
In Brookline, Wellesley, Natick, Plymouth;
Pile high the stuffing on every plate
In Woburn and Cochituate,
While landlords equally adroit
Dispense good cheer around Detroit,
And heap white breast and darkling joint
On Birmingham and old Grosse Pointe,
And fowls with neither neck nor back
Feed Royal Oak and Pontiac.

I wish a Christmas green, not blue,
For Maryland and Virginia, too.
May the season's joys descend in buckets
On Falls Church, Quantico, and Lucketts,
And pour a shower of presents down
On Linthicum and Reisterstown;
May Santa linger in his race
To greet Bethesda and Chevy Chase,
And scatter largesse on his journey
Above Annapolis and Glen Burnie.

May housewives emulate in Georgia
Fanny Farmer, not Lucrezia Borgia,
And whip up many a toothsome goody
In Marietta and Dunwoody
To prove there are no cooks like Georgia's,
Till all their husbands holler "Gorgeous!";
Which natives of Coral Gables and Ojus,
Being farther South, pronounce it "Go'jus!"

Who wants a city Christmas turbulent?
Let Yule be cozy and suburbulent!

At Christmastide around Chicago
Let's have on merriment no embargo,
So hoist and hoist again the cup
To Highland Park and Warren Twp.,
And trust the turkey is okey-dokey
In Wheaton, Harvester, and Skokie.

May hearts leap high around St. Louis
Like kangaroo or kangarooess;
May every juvenile limb of Satan
Behave himself today in Clayton;
May folk in Kirkwood and in Shrewsbury
Who don't like cranberry feast on gooseberry.

Ye suburbanites round Karsas City,
May you spend Christmas sitting pretty;
May puddings irresistibly nibbly
Tempt Gashland, Claycomo, and Sibley;
May hordes from outer space not pillage
Blue Springs, Lonejack, or Prairie Village.

Ring out the jolly chimes proverbial
To usher in a Yule suburbial!

Now let my heartiest greetings focus
Near Pennsylvania, on Rancocas.
May every wish be granted quickly
In King of Prussia and Sewickley,
Each gambler be a lucky gambler
In Blue Bell, Feasterville, and Ambler.

In Minnesota, far from Soho,
May Santa chuckle "Minnehoho!"
May other hordes from space not pillage
Crystal or Minnetonka Village,
Or flying saucers by mistake
Hit Tonka Bay or White Bear Lake.
May such intruders also miss
Both Whitefish Bay and Brown Deer, Wis.;
I further hope they do not slosh
On Richmond Beach and Medina, Wash.,
But leave the Northwest of our nation
To mistletoe and osculation.

Now hearken to my loud calliope,
It's playing Beautiful Ohiope,
Which means I wish divine delights
To Pepper Pike and Shaker Heights;
Wreaths red and green and silver balls,
To Kettering and Chagrin Falls,
And, just for fun, a real aurora
O'er Loveland, Cheviot, and Laura.
I wish that mystic borealis
Would flicker above Fort Worth and Dallas
To illumine, for a Christmas treat;
Grand Prairie, Wheatland, and Mesquite,
And waving at Houston like a friend,
Cheer Robindell and Willow Bend;
A present rarer than sable pelts
For the Texan who has everything else.

Oh, were there but world enough, and time,
I'd have greeted hundreds more in rhyme,
But our land is too large and space too small,
So here is a health to one and all,
And be you teetotalers or imbibers,
Merry Christmas, SUBURBIA TODAY subscribers!

Christmas bells sound round the world from Bethlehem's ancient towers.

MY LIFE has been different ever since my first trip to the Bible lands.

Fourteen hours from New York your jet airplane comes down the radar beam into a fascinating world of sound and color and throbbing life. It is a world where history lives again; where the Bible comes dramatically alive.

As you move speedily by car over a magnificent highway up to the Holy City, remember that our Lord, who often made this trip, walked the climb over a rough road, a large section of which still remains. It is composed of huge, chariot-rutted paving blocks, and the grade is steep and hard.

About halfway up from Jericho to Jerusalem, we come to the Inn of the Good Samaritan, called Khan Hathrur by the Arabs. It is a modern structure used as a Jordanian police station. Uniformed soldiers wearing colorful red and white kufiyehs (headpieces) are always on guard. The present building stands on the site of a very ancient inn. Excellent examples of ancient walls and mosaics are visible, and exceedingly old rock cisterns on the site indicate that a building has been here since Bible times. And despite modern progress, this is practically the only building on the route between Bethany and the outskirts of Jericho.

Soon now, around a bend in the road, we shall see Jerusalem the Golden, gleaming on its hills. The tall church tower on the Mount of Olives can be seen at intervals from miles away as the road twists and turns, winding its way up through the mountains of Judea.

On our way up to the Holy City we soon come to the village of el-Azariyeh, the site of the ancient village of Bethany. It lies on a shoulder of the Mount of Olives scarcely two miles from Jerusalem. Although new houses and commercial buildings are being erected along the busy highway, as soon as you enter the village itself the flavor of Biblical times is clearly evident. It looks as if it came straight out of the Bible—just like scenes in the Bible picture books we read as children.

JESUS loved Bethany and often came here to rest at the home of his friends, Lazarus, Mary, and Marthā. The ruins of the house of Lazarus and his sisters are pointed out to us on our visit, and we are shown also the remains of the house of Simon the Leper. It was in this house that Jesus sat at dinner, when a woman came with an alabaster box of precious ointment and anointed Him. Jesus was so touched by this act of kindness and sacrifice that He said, "Whosoever this gospel shall be preached in the whole world, there shall also this, that this woman hath done, be told for a memorial of her." (Matthew 26:13)

We leave our car at Bethany

THE TRIP OF A LIFETIME

BY NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

KEN ROWBOTTOM

Camel trains are common, crossing fields on paths parallel to the highways.

The author—Dr. Peale—and his Arab driver enjoy a pause along the road.

*Go to the Holy Land whenever you can manage it, this famous clergyman says
—and leads the way, Bible in hand* and take a narrow, stony road up to the Mount of Olives.

As we climb upward, vistas of Jerusalem appear through the olive trees. We trudge in silence, but it is a deep, moving silence as we try to feel worthy of walking these sacred miles. The path is steep and narrow and dusty. At last we come to the place known for centuries as Dominus Flevit, in memory of the weeping of our Lord over Jerusalem. We ask ourselves if perhaps He weeps over us and our city and our world.

We continue to the Church of the Pater Noster originally built to mark the place where Jesus talked to His disciples about the coming end of the age, and also where He taught them the Lord's Prayer. The prayer, written in many languages, adorns the walls of the colonnade of the church.

ALONG THE WAY we enter a small dome-shaped chapel dating to crusader times. It was erected on the site of an older chapel destroyed by the Persians in 614. This is presumed to be the spot from which Jesus ascended into Heaven. A stone under an opening in the floor is marked as the place His feet last touched on earth.

As we reach the heights of the Mount of Olives a marvelous view eastward holds us entranced. At twilight, when the heat-haze of the day has lifted, we see in the far distance the Dead Sea and the Jordan valley. A long, weaving line of green marks the course of the river Jordan, and the great blue sea lies clearly defined in shafts of sunlight. The mountains of Moab and Gilead are swept by colorful light as the lengthening shadows of coming evening seek to dispute the effulgence of the setting sun. From this vantage point, with its wide panorama of Jerusalem, the scene of much of the great action of the Gospel spreads before us. In that area took place some of the greatest events in the spiritual history of mankind.

I like to approach Jerusalem on foot at twilight. The best time for photographers is morning, when the city lies in bright, clear eastern sunlight. But at twilight there is often a hazy, mystical lighting effect that is little short of ethereal. It produces an ever-changing blending of soft pastel shades that invests the entire panorama of the city and Judean hills with a glory that must be from Heaven itself. The city behind its massive walls seems to float in a golden haze. Perhaps it was at such an hour that Jesus, Who loved this glorious city but Who realized its tragedy, wept over it.

The road takes us now downhill to a beloved and sacred garden. Lying serenely at the foot of the Mount of Olives, Gethsemane was at the time of Jesus a quiet country retreat to which the Master often retired for an evening of

The Hyggelige Hospitality of Denmark

Danish Christmas Eve dinner is a gala occasion. A tree, garlanded with tiny flags of the country and flickering with lighted wax candles, stands as a gay background for a table of native foods.

● As a guest of the Danish Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Danish Agricultural Marketing Board, I had the delightful experience of visiting the picturesque islands of Denmark with 10 American food editors.

We were privileged to learn about the agriculture and history of the country directly from the hospitable Danes and also by visiting their farms and seeing the cheese and bacon factories at work. The highest standards for quality control are strictly enforced and are, indeed, impressive.

Wherever we dined—in charming homes, quaint inns, or fashionable restaurants—the food was not only superbly flavored but exquisitely garnished. That intangible Danish "hygge," an atmosphere of coziness and gaiety, surrounded us everywhere.

Christmas Eve dinner in Denmark would probably include many of the authentic recipes presented here for your holiday-hygge . . . and a very happy holiday season to each of you.

MELANIE DE PROFT, Food Editor

RICE PORRIDGE

On Christmas Eve the Danes begin their dinner with this rice porridge. The person who gets the hidden almond receives a present, usually a marzipan pig. The others console themselves by drinking warm sweet beer which is a necessary accompaniment to this porridge.

- | | |
|---------------------|----------------------------|
| 6 cups milk | Butter pats |
| 1 cup uncooked rice | 5 tablespoons sugar |
| ½ teaspoon salt | 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon |
| 1 blanching almond | |

1. Bring milk to boiling in a heavy saucepan; add rice very gradually, stirring constantly and continue to stir 1 to 2 min. Cover and cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, 45 min. to 1 hr., or until almost all of the milk is absorbed and the rice is creamy.
2. Stir in the salt and almond. Top with pats of butter and serve with a mixture of the sugar and cinnamon.

RICE À L'AMANDE

The red and white colors of the Danish flag as seen in this creamy dessert with its red fruit sauce are especially pleasing to the Danes.

- | | |
|--|---|
| 2 cups milk | 1 tablespoon sugar |
| 1 3- to 4-in. piece vanilla bean, quartered lengthwise | 1 tablespoon sherry |
| ¼ cup uncooked rice | 10 blanching almonds, chopped |
| | 1½ cups chilled whipping cream, whipped |

1. Combine milk and vanilla bean in a heavy saucepan. For cooking rice, see step 1 of Rice Porridge recipe.
2. Remove vanilla bean and cool rice slightly. Blend in the sugar, sherry, and chopped almonds.
3. When thoroughly cooled, fold in the whipped cream. Serve with a red fruit sauce, cherry preferably.

ROAST GOOSE

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1 8- to 10-lb. goose (ready-to-cook weight) | 1 lb. cooking apples, pared and quartered |
| 1 tablespoon salt | ¾ lb. prunes (soaked in warm water, drained, and pitted) |
| ¼ teaspoon black pepper | 1 tablespoon sugar |

1. Rinse goose and remove any large layers of fat from the body cavity. Pat dry with absorbent paper. Rub body and neck cavities with a mixture of the salt and pepper.
2. Mix apples, prunes, and sugar together; lightly spoon mixture into cavities. To close body cavity, sew, or skewer and lace with a cord. Fasten neck skin to back with skewer. Loop cord around legs, tighten slightly, and tie to tail. Rub skin of goose with a little salt.
3. Place goose, breast side down, on a rack in a shallow roasting pan.
4. Roast, uncovered, at 325°F 2½ hrs., removing fat from pan several times during this period. Turn goose, breast side up, and roast 45 to 60 min. longer, or until goose tests done. To test for doneness, move leg gently by grasping end of bone. When done, drumstick-thigh joint moves easily. Transfer goose to a carving board or heated serving platter while preparing gravy. Garnish as desired (see photo).

Gravy—Pour off all but ¼ cup of drippings from roasting pan. Add about 2 cups hot water; bring to boiling, stirring to loosen browned residue. Stir in a smooth mixture of ½ cup cold water and ¼ cup flour. Bring to boiling and boil 1 to 2 min., stirring constantly. Season to taste.

ROAST FRESH HAM

Score rind of a 10- to 14-lb. fresh ham as in photo, spacing slits ½ in. apart, and rub with a mixture of 1 tablespoon coarse salt and 4 teaspoons ground ginger. Put bay leaves in several of the slits. Insert a roast-meat thermometer in thickest part of meat so that tip does not rest in fat or on bone. Place roast on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Roast, uncovered, at 325°F until internal temperature registers 185°F. (Allow 30 to 35 min. per pound.) Remove thermometer and transfer roast to carving board or heated serving platter. Let roast stand 20 to 30 min. before carving; this allows meat to absorb its juices and become easier to carve. Prepare gravy, if desired.

Bavarian Creme Yellow Torte, that's what.

Now Pillsbury brings it to you in mixes. Two new mixes.

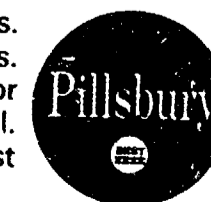

One for the Bavarian Creme Yellow Cake

One for the Bavarian Creme Fluffy Frosting

Together, they give you this Bavarian Creme-inspired torte. The cake bakes up into two tall and moist layers. So moist, it's easy to slice across for the four layers. The filling is fluffy and full of creamy Continental flavor with plenty to go between the four layers. Beautiful. Different. Yet, Pillsbury makes it all so simple with just two mixes. Bake up one soon. It's a party on a plate.

DANISH BLUE CHEESE TRAY

For a large gathering, place a whole Danish Blue Cheese at one end of an oval silver tray. Cut and remove a number of wedges; slightly overlap them at the opposite end of tray. Crack walnuts (in the shell) into halves. Then scatter the nuts-in-half-shell, interspersed with small clusters of dark purple grapes, all over the tray. Garnish top of uncut portion of cheese with a large, impressive cluster of the purple grapes.

SMØRREBRØD

Danish open-faced sandwiches, practically a national institution, are culinary masterpieces, each a work of art. For after-the-theatre or late evening entertaining, arrange a tray with a colorful assortment to offer your guests along with a choice of akvavit or Danish cherry liqueur.

Butter thin slices of dark rye bread and cover completely with any of the following toppings:

1. Danish ham slices with tiny tomato wedges, water cress, a spoonful of mayonnaise mixed with cooked peas and diced carrots, and a twisted cucumber slice.
2. Liver paste, sliced mushrooms, marinated cucumber slices, and crisply fried Danish bacon.
3. Danish cheese slices with radish clusters or thinly sliced radishes.
4. Tiny shrimp piled generously atop a crisp green lettuce leaf and garnished with a slice of lemon.
5. Overlapping thin slices of smoked salmon with sprigs of fresh dill and white asparagus tips.

DANISH CHRISTMAS COOKIES

During the holiday season, Danish homemakers are the busiest members of the family. One of their many responsibilities is to carry out the honored tradition of baking Christmas cookies—at least three kinds: Kleiner, Vanilla Rings, and Brown Wafers. Catholics Thank God There IS a Purgatory

You may not agree with this aged Catholic belief.

You may contend, as many do, that Purgatory is not mentioned in the Bible. You may have heard that it is nothing more than a cunning fable, designed by the Catholic priesthood to frighten and deceive the faithful. You may have been told that the Apostles and the early Christians did not believe in Purgatory.

It is true, of course, that the Bible does not mention the word Purgatory, any more than it does numerous other words and terms commonly accepted by all Christians. But it does clearly indicate that there is such a place of satisfaction for sin and the temporal punishment due to it after death but before the general judgment.

"Fire shall try every man's work, of what sort it is," wrote St. Paul (1 Cor. 3: 13-15) ... and even though his work shall be "burned," the man himself "shall be saved, yet so as by fire." Paul himself observed the custom of praying for the dead: "The Lord grant unto him (Onesiphorus) to find mercy of the Lord in that day" (2 Tim. 1:18). The "fires" that try a man's work are certainly not to be found on earth or in heaven, and the fires of hell do not save. Would Paul have prayed for Onesiphorus, then dead, if he believed the soul of his departed co-worker was beyond help?

Millions of people departed this life with no serious sins on their souls, even the just man has his small failings. God would not deny them heaven, nor would He condemn them to everlasting punishment. Therefore, as nothing defiled can enter heaven (Rev. 21:27) there must be a place where these lesser sins can be cleansed.

But proof as to Purgatory is not limited to the Bible. The fathers and doctors of the Church speak repeatedly of the practice of the first Christians of praying for the dead. Tertullian, second century, admonished "the faithful wife to pray for the soul of her deceased husband." The fourth century historian Eusebius, St. Cyril of Jerusalem, St. Ephrem, St. Ambrose and St. John Chrysostom all spoke of the efficacy of prayers for the departed souls. The latter, in fact, said such supplication was "ordained by the Apostles."

All the liturgies of the Church are replete with appeals for God's mercy upon the souls of the departed. Inscriptions on the walls of the catacombs of the first Christian era voice similar prayers. It would not be necessary to plead for those in heaven—futile to pray for those in hell. So there must be a place in between, which Catholics call Purgatory.

And for Catholics, death would be a much more frightening prospect if there were no Purgatory, for all who go there may be tried "as by fire," but all are assuredly saved. If you would like to know more about the doctrine of Purgatory, write today for free pamphlet. It will be mailed immediately; nobody will call on you. Ask for Pamphlet No. SU-14.

SLEEK ON THE SLOPES

BY DONNA LAWSON

FROM SUN VALLEY to Sugar Bush, this winter's skiers will be turning out in longer, leaner parkas, with skin-slim pants of stretch fabrics that snap back to shape after every twist or turn. All one color, too, from collar to boot top, or no color at all, like the surprise shock-white outfit below. Tailoring is everything, and off with the gimmicks—tassels, fringes, and flower-patch prints. Also long and sleek, but slightly madder than the rest, are the popular real or outrageously fake fur parkas.

A cozy cocoon to wear on chilly mountaintops or to snuggle up in at the lodge—a hip-length, white shaggy parka of textured Acrilan. It's paired here with claret-colored pants, but you can wear it over any others. Both by Ulla.

White as the driven snow and much more rugged than it looks—a long, slim quilted parka over snug stretch pants. Both are of Chemstrand Acrilan and nylon, from Stein Eriksen, and can be machine-washed and dried in a jiffy.

Brand-new this year—the all-one-color look. Here it is in Antics' vivid blue Acrilan and nylon, pants and a popover parka zipped up protectively to the high-buttoned neck.

All in one color again—this time, it's cardinal red, in Acrilan and nylon by Antics. Snappy tailoring marks the drop shoulder line, diagonal side pockets and gathered hem.

Stop, Look— and Light Up for the Holidays

BY JOHN BRIMER
Garden Editor

Six questions to ask yourself before you string your Christmas lights

AS WE ENTER "that long, dark tunnel that ends in Christmas," one of the first things to do always is to turn home itself into a holiday greeting to the passer-by. There is everything to work with—lights and trees and the winter night—but before you plug in one bulb or take your hands out of your pockets, stop, look about you, and ask yourself:

How are you going to place the lights?

Massed lights are usually more effective than scattered bulbs, which may look thin and meager. Massing lights on a tree, a fence, among foundation plantings, and shrubbery borders will give a focus to the whole picture. Then you can outline a doorway or string lights along a path or driveway to lead feet to the entrance and to satisfy the eye aesthetically. If you have a trellis, you can string it with dozens of tiny lights that will cover it like a vine in full bloom.

What's the best way to hide the floodlights?

Place them behind a low evergreen or a tree trunk or inside a small box so the eye of the beholder is protected and only the floodlit feature is picked out. Lights placed above eye level in trees or on buildings or poles may need to have a baffle in the fixture to protect people's eyes.

What colors do you want to use?

Usually a lighting plan employing only one or two colors is more effective than one utilizing all available bulb colors. A maple tree, for instance, strung with a mass of all-red bulbs looks like a cluster of rubies; two evergreens flanking an entrance are effective studded with blue and green lights; in another setting, all pink lights massed in foundation evergreens look like armfuls of starry blossoms. Each year, one town's Christmas trees blaze through the season with only white and yellow lights, a most satisfying and pleasant effect. Unless you prefer the all-over "confetti dot" lights, you probably will get best results from a limited color scheme.

What feature of the house do you want to pick out?

Mass lights on a lamppost, a doorway, or a gate, then work your scheme around that. Try outlining the doorway with double strings of lights twined in evergreen ropes or use a pair of tall, narrow trees in tubs, studded with lights. Let your main feature blaze, use fewer lights and different colors on subsidiary features.

What can you accent with back lighting?

If you have picturesque shrubs or a tree of interesting structure, back light them or floodlight the house wall behind so that their silhouettes form the main part of the picture. For instance, a Japanese maple showing its lower trunk black against the lighted house wall might use a network of tiny bright-colored bulbs strung in the top to finish the picture.

What can be left to nature?

Perhaps this is the most important point of all, for oftentimes a basically good lighting effect is spoiled by presenting too many features or too much light so that the onlooker's eye is tired and cannot take it in. All good compositions have a focal point with radiating minor features, none of which competes for attention with the real feature. Leave the "spectaculars" to Main Street and save some of your fireworks for next year, when you can do something different but equally fine.

This is the kind of car that brightens up a driveway the minute you pull in. Other times, say on a long trip, the 5-year/50,000-mile warranty* and the way the car performs become the bright spots.

Chrysler Corporation warrants for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, against defects in materials and workmanship and will replace or repair at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business, the engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excluding manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings of its 1964 automobiles, provided the owner has the engine oil changed every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first, the oil filter replaced every second oil change and the carburetor air filter cleaned every 6 months and replaced every 2 years, and every 6 months furnishes to such a dealer evidence of performance of the required service, and requests the dealer to certify (1) receipt of such evidence and (2) the car's then current mileage.

Give this good-looking 1964 Plymouth half a chance, and it could easily end up in your driveway. Half a chance means getting to know it and driving it. THE TRIP OF A prayer and meditation. Here He spent those terrible hours of His agony, and here He suffered betrayal by Judas Iscariot. Here at midnight He was arrested by soldiers of the High Priest.

The Garden today is small in area, perhaps a half-acre. It contains eight ancient and gnarled olive trees. These may very well be from shoots of trees under which Jesus found comfort. Some authorities think the Garden of Gethsemane originally covered a larger area of the hillside. The meaning of the name Gethsemane is "olive press," which would seem to presuppose more than eight trees. There are a few olive trees adjoining the Protestant Center near the top of the hill, and these too are obviously very old. Those within the present Garden are carefully tended by the Fathers of the Franciscan Church, as if they were delicate antiques, as indeed they are. Here we rejoin the car and come at last into old Jerusalem, spiritual homeland of our souls.

When I return to Jerusalem on successive visits, one of the first things I do is to go to the temple area on Mount Moriah where Solomon's Temple stood; where later Herod the Great built the Temple that was known the world over. That magnificent structure like a "mountain of snow" stood in this wide esplanade in the center of which is now the great Mosque of Omar, one of the noblest examples of Moslem architecture.

I like to sit in the shade of a column or under an arch looking across to the Mount of Olives and Gethsemane and conjure up wonderful pictures of Jesus, scenes and incidents which happened in this place. This, too, is where He often came, for He loved the Temple and here, too, is where He could have contact with people away from the thronging bazaars in the narrow streets.

I can first see Him here as a boy of 12, sitting in a circle of bearded holy men and scholars, causing them to wonder at His keen perception and His extraordinary insights.

THERE ARE OTHER MEMORIES of things He did in the temple area. For example, on the last and great day of the feast as the great crowds surged about Him in this huge square where the magnificent Temple once stood, Jesus must have climbed to a pillar base where all could see Him. His clear, rich voice rang out over the crowd in words directed to all the needy and sinful. A hush fell over the vast multitude. In the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, "If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink." (John 7:37) Many of the people, when they heard this beautiful invitation to fresh new life, said, "Of a truth this is the Prophet." Others said, "This is the Christ." Again the incident was possible only to one who possessed strange power.

Indeed, only Christ could talk like this.

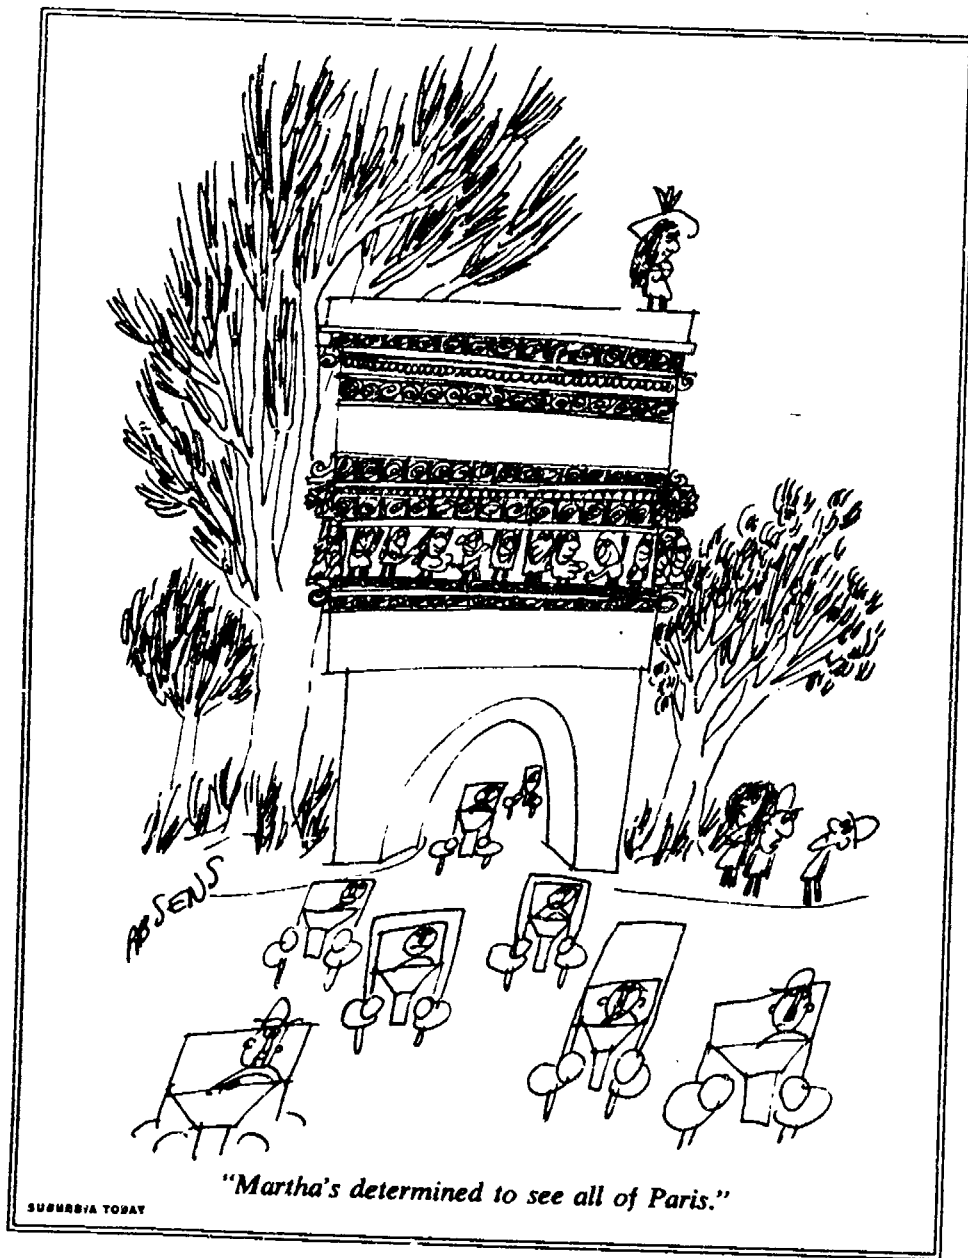

Apparently Jesus awed even the officers of the Chief Priests and Pharisees who were always hanging around but afraid to arrest Him. When the officers went back without Him, those pious connivers in high places said, "Why have ye not brought Him?" The officers answered solemnly, obviously deeply moved, "Never man spake like this man." The Chief Priests and Pharisees angrily pounded the table.

"Are ye also deceived?" they asked sneeringly. But they were not deceived. So great was the power and truth which flowed from Jesus that these tough men knew in their hearts that there had never been anyone like Him—and that's true, there hasn't been, ever.

As we continue in the footsteps of our Master we go on Street in oldest part of Bethlehem, where women—as in Arab Jerusalem—cling to ancient ways.

"Martha's determined to see all of Paris."

LIFETIME

to the lovely lake shore, the sea of Galilee, where He performed so many of His mighty works and taught immortal lessons for us all. I shall never forget the first time I walked through a grove of eucalyptus trees into the ruins of "His own city," Capernaum.

I found myself choking up and my eyes filling with tears. Jesus seemed so very near, for surely He still loves this spot on the shore of the Sea of Galilee as He loved it in the long ago.

The chief object of interest in Capernaum today is the glorious ruin of what must have been an extraordinarily beautiful synagogue, which some authorities say seated approximately 1,500 people. Even in their fallen state the stones and capitals are exquisite in their carving and symbolism and show a charm and artistic beauty indicative of Greek and Roman influences.

It is possible that in this very building Jesus spoke, and His eyes may have delighted in the beautiful sculpturing we see carved on these ancient stones. Perhaps these very columns echoed to the melodic sound of His voice. Indeed, it may have been in this very place that He uttered those great words that have blessed so many, "I am the bread of life: he that cometh to Me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on Me shall never thirst." (John 6:35)

We must now take to the road for a quick trip to the airport at Tel Aviv. The road winds for miles around beautiful Mount Tabor, which is said to be the Biblical Mount of Transfiguration.

As we reach the modern airport our great jet is ready and we step aboard. Down the runway we gather speed and take off over the fields where the Master once walked. Quickly we are in the air, and the plane points its nose westward. Looking down, we are passing over the coast line at Caesarea. We can make out the ancient jetty from which both Paul and Peter shipped west, carrying the blessed Gospel of Salvation. In a moment the Holy Land falls away behind us, but for a thousand miles we fly over islands and lands where St. Paul journeyed and built the Church in the long ago.

There is something about travel in this land that exerts a strange fascination upon the pilgrim. Though modernization and development are increasingly evident, there still broods over all the charm and mystery of the East. The romance and glory of great events seem to tremble in the very air.

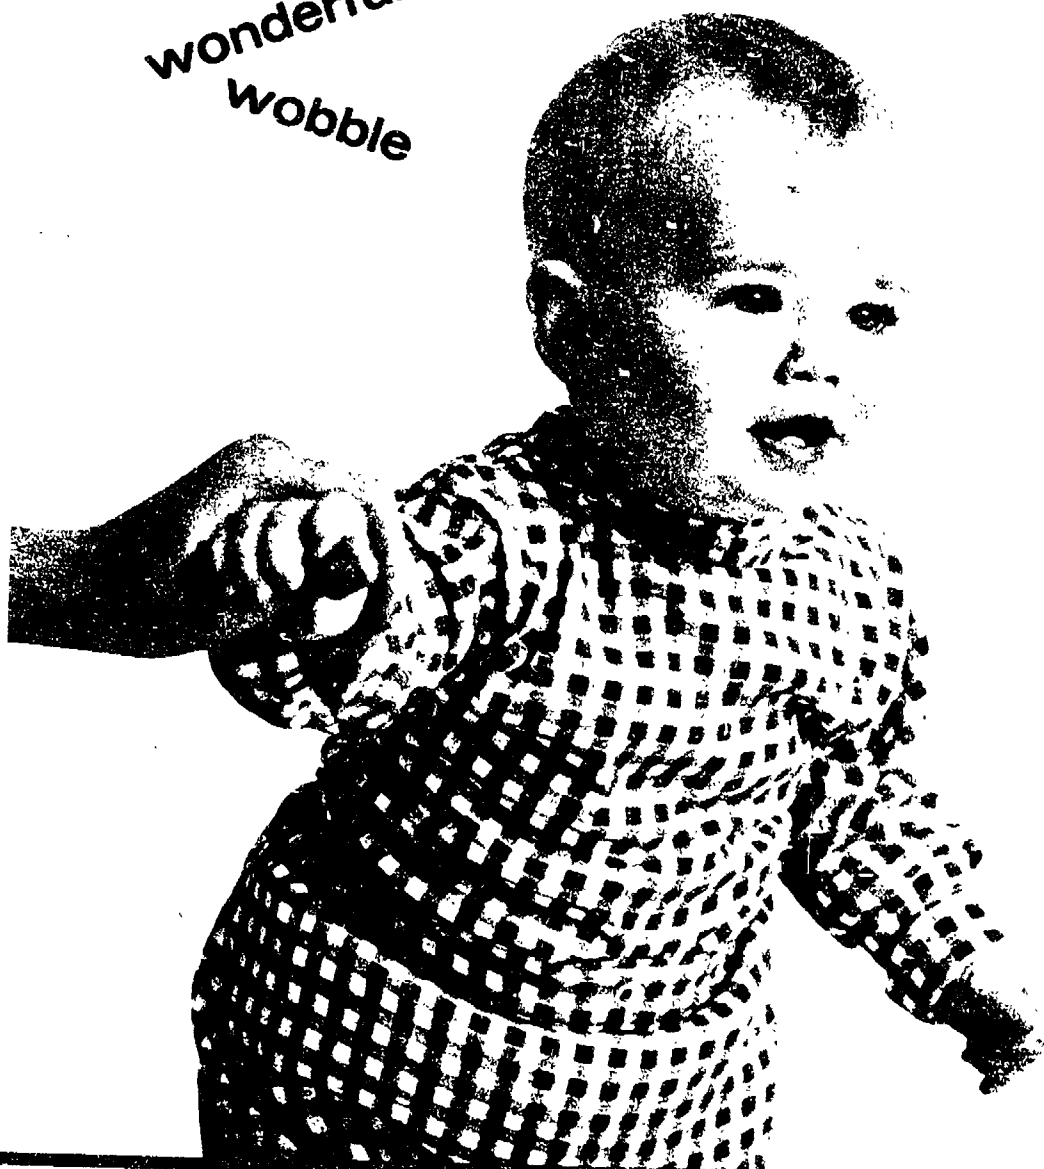

I fondly hope that someday you will visit the Holy Land.

"Black Monday again, Professor."

oh,
that wonderful wobble

bringing up baby,* hints collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber, mother of 5

Gold-star day in the life of your baby when two beautiful but uncertain feet take a stab at a step. Whether it's a "solo flight" or with your helping hand doesn't matter. The fact is, he's made the grade as a gadabout.

What age, wanderlust? It varies, but most babies walk between 12 and 15 months... some sooner, others later, depending on ambition and physical development. Many a parent is tempted to hurry baby into walking, especially if a same-age baby down the street has taken that first step. To urge baby before he's ready, however, may slow down his desire to walk. When mind, spirit and body tell him to go... you won't be able to hold that live wire down.

High-steppers use different muscles now. And protein's the thing to help develop those muscles. Gerber Strained and Junior High Meat Dinners are good sources of protein because they have 3 times as much meat as regular vegetable and meat combinations. Add to this extra meat, the goodness of garden vegetables and you've casserole dishes that are exceptionally delicious. Beef, Veal, Chicken, Turkey, Ham.

A trio of shoe cues. Walkers will wobble less if shoes fit properly. (1) Uppers should be soft enough for comfort, sturdy enough for support. Flexible soles make stepping easier. (2) Shoes should have $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ of an inch grow room. (3) Toes should be wide enough for wiggle-room when baby is standing.

Nutrition note from Dan Gerber. "Your baby's cereals must be readily digestible if he (or she) is to get full nutritive benefit from them. Gerber researchers developed an exclusive, controlled cooking method which breaks down grain starches to assure digestibility. In addition, Gerber Cereals are scientifically formulated to meet your baby's early nutritional needs... all 5 are enriched with a special kind of iron, plus calcium and B-vitamins."

Important: Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods—infant formulas, cereals, strained and junior foods—to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

Christmas

BY DICK EMMONS

"TELL YOU WHAT," my wife chirped the other day.

I jumped. Whenever she starts a sentence with "tell you what" I know it is going to mean (a) spending money (b) spending energy, or (c) an unhappy combination of the two of them.

"This Christmas," she rattled on, "let's not just go down to the corner service station to buy our Christmas tree—"

"Where would you suggest going?" I asked, "over to the stamp-redemption center?"

She ignored my clever thrust. "This year let's go out in the woods and chop down our very own tree—" "Hurray!" cried our twin sons in chorus. "Can we, Dad?"

"In the first place, the sheriff of this county takes a rather sticky view of people who go around chopping down farmers' trees and in the second place . . ."

"No, no," my wife inserted. "I saw an ad in the paper last night that invites you to come out to this place, pick out your own tree, chop

Tree, O Christmas Tree

*This time they cut their own in the woods . . .
a unique (father hopes) experience*

"There must be a mistake," I yelled, diving headlong into a friendly snowbank.

it down and pay a dollar per foot for however tall it is."

"Let's do it, Dad!" Dave encouraged. Dick echoed the sentiment.

"No," I said.

The next afternoon, a Sunday, we all piled into the station wagon and headed for the address listed in the advertisement. The place had a slogan which was, of course, "For You I Pine."

It was only 14 miles out of town but, thanks to some highly imaginative navigation on the part of the girl I married, it took us an hour and a half to find the place.

"Better hurry, folks," a genial farmer told us, pocketing a roll of bills big enough to choke a tractor. "It'll be dark soon."

"Yeah," I agreed, "maybe we better come back another time—now that we know the countryside for miles around."

The twins said "aw," and my wife voted with them, and before I could lay a finger aside of my nose we were all on a large sled reluctantly pulled by a horse named Fred who was reputed to be able to get us to the "chopping area" without encouragement or guidance.

What Fred lacked in enthusiasm he made up in deliberateness, possibly because the chopping area lay in one direction and the barn in quite another. By the time we reached the stand of pines, I could hardly see Fred's ears, which were flat against his head and conveyed very little good will toward men.

Nonetheless, we all hopped off the sled and dashed about trying to select precisely "the right tree" for our living room. Bearing in mind the price factor, my choice was a dandy little three-footer that we could have mounted on a card table.

"Chop," my wife commanded, pointing imperiously at a tree that soared majestically out of sight.

"We're not getting this for a cathedral," I whined.

"Chop," she repeated.

"We'll help, Dad!" the boys offered.

"Thanks, fellows, but this is a man's work. Did I ever tell you boys about the time I cut down a huge oak that was so big around it—"

"Your father told me about that," my wife said sweetly. "You first put an axe to it when you were in the fifth grade and kept chopping away until you finished high school. The thing died of its wounds and fell over when you went away to college.

Chop," she said again. I spat on my hands, measured my adversary and swung mightily in the gathering dusk. To my satisfaction, the keen blade bit deep into the trunk. My sons made admiring sounds—until I tried to get the axe head out. It wouldn't budge until all of us pulled on it at once. "Not quite so lavish with the muscles this time, Paul Bunyan," my wife purred. I toiled away furiously in the gloom, my arms and back aching, my throat raw from dryness. "Watch how . . . it's done, boys . . ." I gasped. "Notice how I have carefully . . . chopped the trunk so that . . . it will fall away from us." "Tim-berr!" Davie suddenly shouted. "Run for it, boys," my wife screamed. "There must be a mistake," I yelled, diving headlong into a friendly snow-bank. The tree crashed noisily to earth where we had been standing. It was more stimulus than Fred needed. He trotted happily off to the barn, chuckling to himself.

THE FOUR of us finally dragged our tree to the farmhouse, where I emptied my wallet, and, by lowering the second seat, stuffed it into the station wagon.

Once home, it was apparent we could stand it up in the living room only by cutting off the top six feet of it.

"We could simply saw a hole in the ceiling," I suggested. "That way we could enjoy the tree both here and upstairs in the bedroom." "We can't take off the top of the tree. It's too lovely," my helpmate decided.

All of which may explain why, if you pass our house on Christmas morning, you will see no sign of life. We'll be out in the back yard seated in the snow around our lovely, uncuttable tree and having a Christmas that is not likely to be matched in the future. I hope.

Selections are made from among these great series: SCIENCE . . . SIGNATURE . . . and WE WERE THERE books. All are especially written and illustrated to delight BOYS and GIRLS, cultivate their taste for good reading and develop their interests in possible careers for the future. Young people love this plan because it gives them a chance to build their very own library. Parents have expressed great satisfaction with the program because it enables them to encourage their children on the path of learning without constant pushing or forcing. Teachers enthusiastically approve, since reading develops proficiency in the primary skill so necessary to the child's progress in schoolwork. All in all, this complete, well-rounded program is designed to constantly widen your child's interests and knowledge naturally, easily and enjoyably.
