Mail Jam Delays Papers

(Continued from Page 1) been so low that many of them were dependent upon the overtime pay to maintain a decent standard of living. The turnover in personnel has been exceedingly heavy, with private industry offering greater incentives, and replacements are hard to find. With overtime cut to an absolute minimum, the ability of the Post Office to handle the tremendous burden of mail was much reduced.

Following close on the heels of this dilemma was a further serious impediment. There came an unusually heavy influx of pre-Christmas advertising catalogues, from concerns preparing earlier than usual for the big holiday season which is rushing upon us. The result was chaos and frustration, with the pileup of undelivered mail getting larger every day.

Chicago Hardest Hit

Chicago has been in even worse shape than Detroit. Both are what the department calls Transfer Points, between the Eastern and Western, and Northern and Southern United States. Last week delivery delays in Chicago were up as much as 10 days, and a team of 15 experts was sent there from Washington on Friday to see what could be done about the mess. Detroit officials told us that for the first time in memory, contacts were being made with senders of third class mail which was still caught in the logjam, asking permission to destroy material advertising sales for dates already passed, making it completely useless.

Unlike Third Class Mail, often referred to as "junk", Second Class Mail has always received preferential treatment. To qualify for this service a publication must have a substantially solid-paid circulation and the classification is that granted the top magazines and papers who depend on the mails for fast, dependable delivery. As the Detroit Post Office told us: "Grosse Pointe is probably the hardest hit area we have. Out there, you and Life are practically occupancy delivery, (one to nearly every home), so you can imagine what we are up against. We're going crazy!"

Griffin Office Contacted

While Senator Robert Griffin was campaigning for reelection Monday we talked twice to his legislative assistant in his Washington office. Between calls she had contacted the Post Office Department to find out what was being done about this situation. She was told that beginning that day permission had been granted the Detroit office to hire additional personnel to clean up the mess and it was expected the jam would be broken during the week.

The Washington headquarters of the National Newspaper Association is also investigating and urging action. An indication that progress is being made came Monday when four pieces of "junk" were among the mail delivered at our house. This is supposed to be the last class to be moved.

It is to be presumed that much pressure is being applied to vulnerable spots by incumbent politicians seeking reelection. They place considerable faith, (perhaps foolishly), in the power of direct mail contact with their constituents. It would be a sad experience if their appeals for support were tied up in a postoffice jam until too late to do them any good.

Extreme Regret

The NEWS regrets extremely the delay and any inconvenience it may have caused our subscribers, and especially our advertisers. We fervently hope there will be no repetition.

We could suggest myriad ways in which our tax money could be better preserved than by curtailing a service which is so vital to so many businesses, institutions, organizations and individuals. We're probably slighted prejudiced, but we'd far rather see our mail delivered with the utmost speed now, at a comparatively low cost, than hope to land a man on the moon after many of us shall doubtless have vanished from the earth, at a tab that runs into staggering billions.

Disasters

Have Special Center

They are treated in a special center set up in the Science Hall. Members of this team care for all sorts of minor injuries (and some not minor). They handle everything from broken arms to small suturing jobs, to foreign objects in eyes and hysteria.

The Discharge and Evacuation team makes complete rounds of the hospital when the code call is sounded and determines which of the present patients can safely be transferred to their homes or to other institutions in order to make way for the disaster victims.

Included in this over-all plan for the Hospital disaster situation is consideration of public relations, traffic flow, volunteer help, dietary and decontamination units, if the disaster should be of an atomic nature. Both hospitals agree that preparedness at all times is the only way to face disaster and they are making sure that they are well prepared!

Motorcyclist

At the signal light at Kercheval and Fisher, the pair speeded up their two-wheelers, going east on Kercheval. McCluskey fell behind.

Taylor said he heard squealing tires and heard the impact and looked back to see what was happening. He returned to assist his friend, he told police.

An investigation into the matter is still pending, police said.

Big Squawk

(Continued from Page 1) But the angriest call came from a gentleman on Friday. His complaint turned out to be that because his neighbor, a subscriber, had not received his paper Thursday, and therefore had been unable to read and pass it along, the gentleman making the call was without his usual reading matter — and very irritated about it, too!

A representative of the NEWS visited the two post offices on Saturday out of curiosity. By 2:15 a.m. the large sorting area behind the counters at the Mack station was in full swing; in fact, the carriers were just finishing the sorting they had started at 8 a.m. That day they had at least six hours of rain to look forward to as they delivered their full loads.

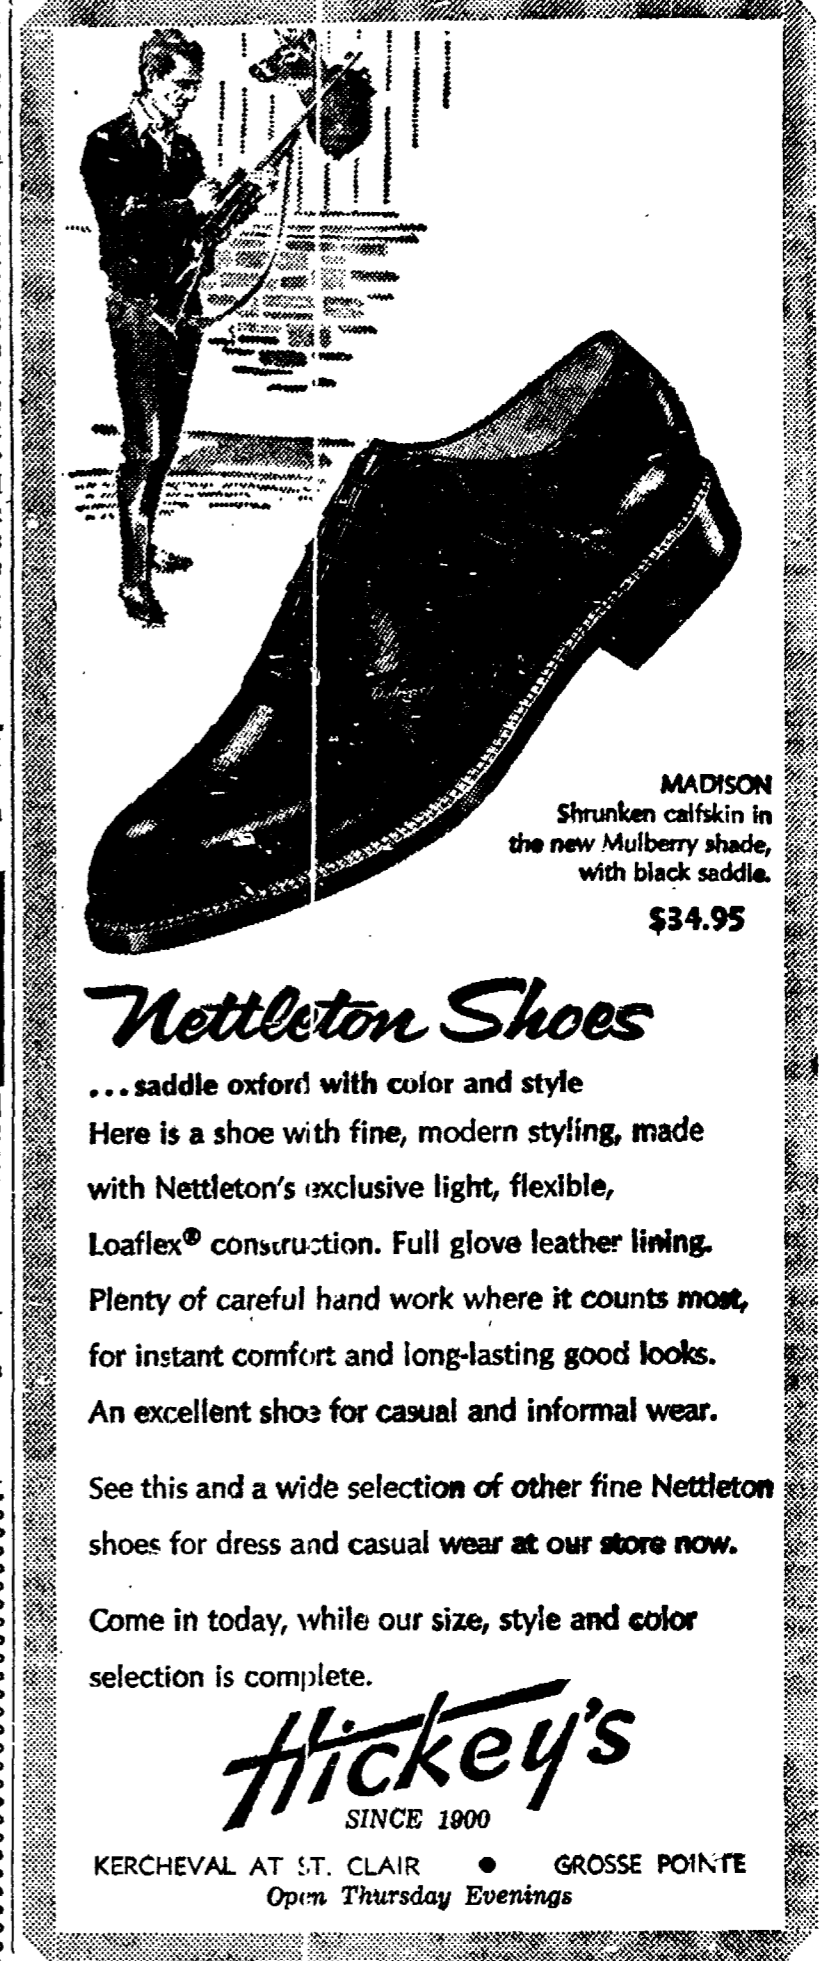

Twenty minutes later at the Kercheval post office, most carriers were making their rounds. The pile-up had caused the leaving behind at each sorting desk so many bundles that if they had been Christmas presents under your tree instead of bundles of materials yet to be delivered, you would have been overjoyed.

By Saturday postal authorities were very guarded in their explanations — wouldn't even give an opinion on the weather. The only piece of information that could be elicited at the Kercheval station, from the Forum of Delivery, was that in addition to the usual problems with dog bites from dogs that "never bit anybody," a mailman had been bitten by a cat last week. As if they didn't have enough on their minds!

Lessons men learn by experience seldom need explanations.

Most problems are created merely from the lack of ideas.

New Approach to Reading Significant Innovation

I.T.A. is another of the abbreviations that is creeping into the conversation of Americans across the nation. It is not another governmental agency, an inter-continental ballistic, or even a gasoline additive.

I.T.A., or Initial Teaching Alphabet, is a relatively new approach to the teaching of reading. Developed and introduced in England by Sir James Pitman about 1961, it has found widespread attention by educators throughout our American schools.

In the school year 1965-66 the Grosse Pointe Public Schools introduced I.T.A. in one class at the Perry School on an experimental basis. Under the capable direction of Miss Helen Zissis, the program has flourished and currently three additional sections have been added to the pilot study.

The Initial Teaching Alphabet is a phonic approach, using a forty-four symbol alphabet, twenty-four of the symbols coming from our traditional alphabet. The beauty of this innovation is found in the elimination of the many inconsistencies found in traditional orthography. In combination with other letters, the vowel A traditionally will have 50 different sounds. In I.T.A. it has one. Our traditional alphabet would present vowel combinations that represent over 2,000 different spellings. I.T.A. reduces this to only 88.

The Department of Community Services of the Grosse Pointe Public Schools will offer a course to those adults in the community who wish to know more about this exciting new approach to the teaching of reading. Miss Helen Zissis who has been the guiding force for I.T.A. in Grosse Pointe will be the instructor.

Miss Zissis, who has 18 years of experience in teaching reading to young people, has become one of the recognized authorities in I.T.A. She holds a Master's Degree from the University of Michigan and is currently involved in a Doctoral Program at the University of Michigan. She has had educational articles published, is on the teaching staff of Eastern Michigan University and the University of Detroit, and has become a popular lecturer and workshop director for teachers of reading.

Educators are looking for I.T.A. as being one of the most significantly important innovations to be introduced in our schools for many generations. Parents and teachers alike will find this course an interesting and valuable experience.

The teaching of reading is a complex process, and I.T.A. carries all the complexities inherent in any teaching method. It is important to understand that the purpose of this course is to develop an appreciation for I.T.A. and what it offers. By no means should it be considered a preparation for teaching.

The class will begin Tuesday, November 1, and will continue for six weeks. The 7:30-9:30 p.m. course, which will be held in the Community Service Building, has a $7 registration fee. Call the Department of Community Services at TU 5-3808, TU 5-0271, or TU 5-3701 for your reservation.

Horse sense is a quality possessed by men who are smart enough not to bet on them. There are 1,250,000 registered men's bowling teams in the United States. About 750,000 Americans participate regularly in company bowling leagues.

Police Find Guns In Accident Car

Farms police are investigating a man who was said to have been intoxicated, and who ran his car into a gas station building Saturday night, October 15. Two brand new unregistered .22 caliber revolvers, still in their cases, were found in the car.

Patrolman Ronald Wooten and Robert Conn said they were patrolling Mack avenue, when they were stopped by a passing motorist, who informed them that he had seen a car at the Farms Texaco Service, 18520 Mack, that had struck the station building.

On arrival at the scene, the policemen said, they saw a 1966 Chevrolet, owned by John J. Marra, 55, of 20567 Alcey, Detroit, resting against the edifice, and Marra behind the wheel, apparently intoxicated. The right front end of the car had broken the station window, it was said.

On the front seat of Marra's car, Wooten and Conn said, they found a new Valor .22 caliber revolver still in its case, and another case, with a matching revolver, in Marra's coat pocket.

Marra was taken to the station where he was informed of his rights and allowed to make a phone call, and after he was told he was under arrest for investigation of carrying concealed weapons, was locked in a cell for the night.

Marra was eventually released to his attorney, pending further investigation. It was said that Marra might have just purchased the weapons and did not have time to register them.

Thief Ransacks 4 Cars in Park

Park police believed the same person, or persons, is responsible for the breaking and entering of two garages and a street-parked car on Pemberton road, on Sunday, October 16.

The first report was received from Frank Brandt of 535 Pemberton, who told the authorities that sometime during the night, his garage was entered and the glove compartment of his car ransacked. The contents of the compartment were strewn on the garage floor, he said. Missing is a pair of black leather gloves.

Harry Turton of 505 Pemberton, also disclosed that his garage had been forcibly entered and the glove compartments of two automobiles inside the building had been gone through. Nothing was found to be missing, he said, but whoever had broken into the garage slashed the canvas top of his convertible, an antique 1941 Chevrolet.

The third complaint was received from May Boerner of 513 Pemberton, who told police that the glove compartment of her car had been ransacked, but nothing taken. The vehicle was parked in front of her house, it was said.

Investigation of the incidents was assigned to the officers of the Detective Bureau, Chief Louwers said.

In addition to the play, "Admiral of All the Ocean Seas," the program included a recitation, "Days of October" by Patty Sheppard, Debbie Block, Marv Hendrie and Susan Vandeveld.

Other members included "Christopher Columbus," by Nancy Kopitzke and a ballet dance by Joan Machamer. Indian children were played by Paula Totty, Patty Stevenson and Meg Waddell. "Little Christopher" was recited by Carol Duncan. "Three Little Ships," was sung by the whole class. The work was an outgrowth of social studies research on Christopher Columbus.

The DRC Story

TWO MEN WITH A FAST 'LINE' MAKE HORSE TALK FOR HUMANS

The Big White Pad Looks Like A Doodler's Nightmare.

It is filled with figures which, at the moment, have meaning only for the men who wrote them. Within a matter of hours, however, they will be studied avidly by thousands, and will take on great importance.

The figures represent THE MORNING LINE on the races at the Detroit Race Course.

We race daily, except Sundays, now through November 5. Each day throughout our 84-day meeting, Racing Secretary Ray Hopton and his assistant, Norris Gwin, "doodle" diligently to compile The Morning Line.

The "Line" reflects their knowledge of the conditions of each race and the past performances of every starter. It becomes part of the program information and a guide for the bettor.

The "Line" is the early probable odds. Its compilation is careful and thorough. There is logic for each figure in it. Fans place great reliance on The Morning Line, but few know how it is made.

I feel the more knowledge and better understanding a Fan has of all phases of racing, the greater his enjoyment of the Sport will be. I believe knowing how The Morning Line is drafted will increase your Racing Pleasure when you visit the DRC.

The formula for "making" a line is this: The perfectly balanced line is 100, plus the parimutuel tax, which in Michigan is 15%, plus the number of starters in the given race.

Let's take the field in a recent DRC race and translate The Morning Line for you:

HORSE	MORNING LINE	PCT.
BALAFIB	5-to-1	17
WILL DO IT	4-to-1	20
POWDER FIELD	3-to-1	20
PRINCE BUSTER	15-to-1	6
QUEEN OF COURT	10-to-1	9
IRON STAR	8-to-1	12
COUNTY TRICK	2-to-1	33

Now... 100 plus 15 plus 7... equals 122. Add the percentage side in our line and it comes to 122, a perfectly balanced line.

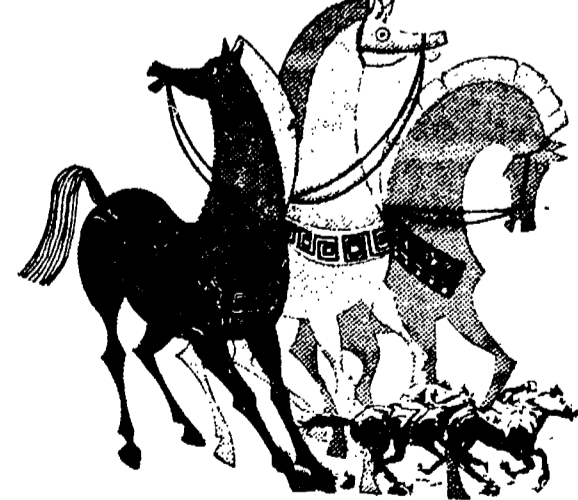

You do not necessarily have to achieve the perfect balance every race. There's permissive flexibility that allows you to be over or under by small margins.

Does The Morning Line always work out to parallel the actual payoff on the race?

Not by any stretch of the imagination. In parimutuel wagering, you and the other bettors determine the final odds. They are based on the percentage of money bet on the winner as against that wagered on all starters. But The Morning Line generally is an accurate barometer. Only in isolated cases is it far off.

The next time you visit the Detroit Race Course, and I hope you will make it soon, check The Morning Line against the payoffs in each race. The figures can give you some fascinating moments. After a bit of study and practice, perhaps you will enjoy making your own "line."

Mother of Deserted Baby Being Sought by Police

Farms detectives are still attempting to establish the identity of the mother who abandoned her newborn baby at Cottage Hospital on October 9. The infant, a boy, weighing in at five pounds seven ounces, was deserted by the mother approximately 13 hours after he was born. The mother, yet unknown, walked out of the hospital without officially checking out.

Hospital officials said that the mother entered the hospital at 6 a.m., gave birth to the baby, and was last seen at about 6:30 p.m., but was not missed until about 7:45 p.m. The woman gave a fictitious name and address and also a name of a fictitious husband, to a staff doctor under whose care she was and who delivered her baby. The fictitious name and address were also recorded in the hospital files when the woman was admitted.

Det. Sgt. George Van Tien and Det. Joseph Miller said that efforts to locate the mother through fingerprints has not yet produced results. The infant will be released to the care of the Wayne County Child Welfare Agency, when it is deemed feasible.

Suspects Sought In Woods Theft

Woods police are looking for two women who entered the Van Furniture and Upholstering Shop, 20348 Mack avenue, on Saturday, October 15, and who, it is believed, left after taking a large sum in money and checks from a desk in the owner's office.

According to a report submitted to police, Harold Coffman, 56, of 8252 Tamarack, Utica, a partner in the firm, was talking with a lone woman, who appeared interested in purchasing a sofa.

At about 3:35 p.m., Coffman said, the woman called out to the back of the store, "Let's go, or we'll be late." The store owner said he did not see the woman enter with anyone.

Don Malo of 3461 Devonshire, Detroit, an employe of the shop, said he went to the rear of the store, and observed another woman standing in the office. When he asked her what she wanted, she replied that she had been directed to the rear of the store to look at lamp shades. Both women left the store.

A short time later, a desk drawer in the office was found open, and $135 in currency, and three checks totaling $172.45, endorsed and ready for bank deposit, were found missing.

Coffman said that the woman he was talking to was in her early 30s, was about five feet ten and a half inches tall, weighed about 140 pounds, and was wearing a long brown coat and carrying a brown purse.

The second woman was described as also being in her early 30s, was about five feet three inches tall, weighed about 130 pounds, and wearing a long black coat and a tight fitting black hat with a veil, and low black shoes.

You don't believe a 6 can act anything like an 8?

With our new Overhead Cam Six you'd better believe it.

Our OHC 6 delivers 165 hp on regular gas. And 215 horses from the premium gas 4-barrel version. Most American sixes (and some underprivileged V-8s) don't even come close. Expensive European sports machines do, but they're overhead cams, too. In fact, they inspired us. Our OHC 6 is standard on all Tempests and Le Mans. So are a host of new safety features like passenger-guard door locks, General Motors' new energy absorbing steering column and a four-way hazard warning flasher. We've said enough. Pointe Theater Offering Classes for Residents

During the week of October 3-8, many Grosse Pointers visited The Village to see the displays and get acquainted with the Grosse Pointes.

The Grosse Pointe Theater display was located in the Kresge window and was so designed as to try to acquaint people with some of the things which go on in theater aside from putting plays. The theme was "From the drawing board to the Clarence award."

There are many more things that go on in theater and you are invited to join in some of them. The GPT is offering classes to all interested members and guests in the arts of stage make-up, lighting during October and November. Plans are on the boards for additional classes in other phases of back stage work as well as acting.

If interested, please stop in at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial on October 20 at 8 p.m. when the first in the series of classes will be presented, this one being on stage make-up, or call TU 2-5538.

Learn more about your Grosse Pointe Theater by attending the productions. The 1966-67 season promises great things are in store for all. This year's season consists of "You Can't Take It With You," "Gaslight," "Never Too Late," and "Most Happy Fella."

Opening the season with "You Can't Take It With You," this show is well into rehearsal and going very well. As many know, this show was written by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart and

Forum to Offer Famous Movies

The first program of the 1966-1967 Friends Film Forum movies, co-sponsored by the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Library and the Grosse Pointe Public Library, will be shown October 21 at 9:15 p.m. in the Main Reading Room of the Central Library, 10 Kercheval.

This Film Series is planned to provide an opportunity to view films of special merit. The Friends Film Forum series is presented the third Friday of each month, October through April. There is no showing in December.

WUTHERING HEIGHTS—104 minutes—Produced by Samuel Goldwyn—based on the novel by Emily Bronte—starring Laurence Olivier, Merle Oberon, David Niven, Flora Robson, Donald Crisp, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Hugh Williams, and Leo G. Carrol.

One of the few great screen visualizations of a literary classic, capturing the imaginative world and characters of Emily Bronte through the combined skills of an extraordinary cast and the experienced director-photographer team of Wyler and Toland. Done consistently stylishly, with pictorially exciting imagery—mainly close-ups, and backgrounds diffused with soft candlelight effects—its scenes strongly suggest the chiaroscuro Bronte wilderness of crags, moors, and figures.

"Perhaps Mr. Goldwyn's best remembered and most loved film; a virtually flawless version of the famous Emily Bronte novel..." Dartmouth Film Society program (1965).

Awards: Academy Award for Best Black-and-White Cinematography; New York Film Critics' Award for Best Picture of the Year.

The general public is cordially invited to attend this showing. There is, of course, no charge. The new 8 MM loan service will be on display. This collection was made possible by the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Library.

The new 1966-1967 Audio-Visual catalog is ready, describing details of new and expanded services for your audio-visual needs. For information call James Titterington, Head of the Audio-Visual Department at the Central Library, TU 4-2200, extension 51.

TRIPS ON SIDEWALK

Mrs. Dorothy Meade, an employee of Jacobson's, 17030 Kercheval, reported to the City police on Tuesday, October 11, that an elderly woman had fallen over a raised portion of the sidewalk in front of the store and refused medical attention. Patrolman Virgil Beaupre found the woman to be Sophie Puzik, 'O, of 10892 Nottingham avenue, Detroit. No serious injuries were sustained.

Austin Prepares For Homecoming

Austin Catholic Preparatory School for Boys is preparing for one of its biggest homecoming weekends in the school's 14-year history.

The Homecoming Queen and her court were chosen by election of the seniors and juniors from some 20 nominees. The homecoming queen will be Mary Ann Lentine, sponsored by Jim Mathews, a senior. Her court consists of Kathy Boyle, sponsored by Doug Boyer, Judy King, by Bill Snehkamp, Alice Stanley by John Agnone, and Sue Stoetzer, by Dave Musilli.

The judging of the Poster Contest best representing the Homecoming theme "A Spirited Weekend" will take place Friday afternoon. On Friday night, a huge rally will be staged in the parking lot behind Austin's gymnasium, complete with a bonfire.

Saturday the Homecoming parade of 50 or more decorated cars, led by a horse and costumed rider, will be led off the parking lot at 12:30 p.m. The parade will proceed down Mack avenue to Moross, turn right on Moross to Kercheval, turn right on Kercheval and head toward Grosse Pointe High playing field for the game against De LaSalle.

Kick-off time is set for 2:30 p.m.; tickets will be on sale at the gate. On Saturday night in Austin's gym there will be a dance from 8:30 to 11:30 to honor the football team. The Discords will provide the music for the evening.

The "dressed" dance, (jacket and tie for boys, cocktail-type dress for girls), is open at $3 per couple to other high school students who want to join in Austin's "Spirited Weekend."

MR. and MRS. ALFRED G. SCHULTE will celebrate their 30th wedding anniversary at a family gathering in their fair-road home.

Horticulturists Holding Banquet

The Grosse Pointe and Eastern Michigan Horticultural Society will celebrate its 50th Anniversary on Saturday, October 29. The annual banquet will be held at the Alger Veterans Post Clubhouse in St. Paul avenue.

Two awards will be presented for the best maintained business properties in the area. One will be for properties of a large area and the other for properties of a smaller area. Secretary Daniel Lutey will receive a certificate of merit as the outstanding member of the year 1966.

During the past few years the society has worked to make business places realize the importance of landscaping and maintenance of their properties, including parking areas. During the Landscape Beauty Contest, business places are judged monthly and many are given awards.

For years the society held shows in the Neighborhood Club. In the month of September they held a fruit, flower and vegetable show and in November the chrysanthemum show. During World War II victory gardens were promoted and advice on their care was given.

A vegetable garden was planted and tended by members each year in one of the victory garden plots. This model garden gave practical advice in planting and cultivating a garden as well as verbal advice.

The group has made contributions to the Michigan Conservation Program as well as donating many fine reference books to the Grosse Pointe Public Library. Garden problems of both professional and amateur gardeners are brought before the society members and discussed at their monthly meetings.

A little knowledge is sometimes a dangerous thing—to the party about whom it's known.

Advertisements for Help Sometimes Attract Thieves

Those advertising for help in the newspapers are advised by police to be on their guard, especially after a recent occurrence in the Farms.

"A woman answered an advertisement for employment," said Detective Joseph Miller of the Farms police. "During the interview in the home of the woman who advertised, the applicant said she was ill and asked for aspirin, which the housewife left the room to get for her. After the interview the homeowner discovered part of the money missing from a purse which had been lying in the room in which the interview was conducted."

"Similar incidents have been reported in Detroit; purses, or desks, have been rifled. We advise anyone talking to strangers in their home to make sure they do not leave them alone for any reason and to check carefully on references as well as the address and phone number given by the applicant."

The Park police report no similar occurrences lately; but one and a half years ago, the same type of thing was reported to the City, according to Detective Lieutenant Robert Van Tiem. "A woman who operates in this way is known to Detroit police," he said.

"A woman worked for four hours at a residence in the Woods some time ago," said Detective Gerald Kansora, of the Woods police department. "After she left, some items were missing."

Shores Detective William Marshall commented that similar incidents had been reported in Oak Park, Birmingham and Detroit. "We have reports of an applicant being shown around a home by a housewife and picking up valuable articles—usually jewelry or cash—anything that can be put in a pocket when her back is turned."

He tells prospective employers to advertise for help by putting a phone number only in the paper and specifying references. Ask for the name of the

Students Swarm To GPHS Library

The Grosse Pointe High School library really had a workout in the month of September. The library attendance doubled over the same period last year.

This year's attendance was 11,598 students with 3,289 books circulated, compared to an attendance of 5,515 students in 1965 with 2,965 books circulated.

Mrs. Frances Natushko, library coordinator, attributes the increase to a larger student body as well as the departure from using a single textbook to more research and reference work.

Alpha Gamma Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha has announced the pledging of six Pointe girls attending the University of Michigan. BONNIE BURTON, daughter of the ARTHUR J. BURTONS, of Lancaster road; PATRICIA DAILEY, daughter of RAYMOND E. DAILEY, of Ford court; LINDA KAY HOMIER, daughter of CUSTER HOMIER, of Lakepointe avenue; JUDITH ANN LANE, daughter of the R. J. WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

Beanbags, blackboards and bird feeders are piled high in Mrs. E. Rust Muirhead's basement—and she couldn't be more pleased!

Each item was hand-fashioned by a local young matron especially for the Young Shoppers Department at the 1966 Christ Church Fair. And because "Young Shoppers" have a limited amount of money to spend, (our boy/girl spies tell us allowances are NOT keeping pace with the rising Cost of Living . . . "but," we in turn tell them, "what is?"), no item costs more than $2. Some are priced as low as 5 cents . . .

Young Shoppers' committee members used their imaginations to hold down prices, working with whatever materials they had on hand.

The beanbags are fashioned of leftover fabric scraps, blackboards of odd Masonite pieces, bird feeders of tomato juice cans. Ice cream cartons have been turned into wastebaskets, bits of wood have become matchbook covers.

Come Fair Day, November 3, at Christ Church, young misses and masters may browse through their VERY OWN Department, where adult sales personnel will be on hand to assist them in selecting just the right Christmas gift for every member of their families.

There'll be plenty of items to catch a Big Person's fancy at the Christ Church Fair, too, from aprons to knit goods to doll clothes.

Exquisite decoupage trays, lamps and boxes have been lovingly and artistically prepared. Hundreds of those marvelous basket purses—a Grosse Pointer's trade (Continued on Page 17)

Add room to your home the easy way. Install a gas baseboard heater in your enclosed porch or enclosed breezeway. By the time you've added your own decorator touches, you'll have an extra bedroom, sewing room, family room or playroom ready for year-around use.

And, because each gas baseboard heater has its own thermostatic control, you can select the precise temperature you want for your new room. Keep it that way inexpensively, too. It will cost about $20 to heat an average size room for an entire year. That's 1/5 the operating cost of an electric baseboard heater.

There's no major investment at installation time, either. We'll be glad to add the cost of the heater to your monthly gas bill and let you pay for it a few dollars at a time. A phone call to us or your heating contractor is all it takes to get things moving. And to get you moving... into that brand-new room right away.

Her elbow length silk illusion veil fell from a white crepe Dior bow, and she carried a cascade of white roses and carnations, centered with an orchid corsage.

Honor attendant Mrs. Richard Dunlap, of East Lansing, and bridesmaids Marilyn Kibbe, of Marshall, Mich., and Mary Ellen McLean wore identical peacock blue sheath dresses under sleeveless coats of peau de suede.

Their headpieces were Dior double bows of emerald green peau de suede with matching silk illusion veiling, and their flowers were cascades of yellow carnations and Sweetheart roses, accented with emerald green ribbons.

Party co-chairmen are Mrs. Darwin D. Martin, Jr., and Mrs. Forrest R. Old.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Watts, greeted guests at the University Club reception following her daughter's wedding, wearing a lemon yellow brocade A line sheath with a matching coat and pillbox hat. Her corsage was fashioned of green cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Safir, the bridegroom's mother, chose a sleeveless A line sheath of mauve brocade, a matching veil headpiece and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

After a wedding trip to Toronto, the new Mr. and Mrs. Safir will make their home in Ann Arbor while he completes graduate studies at the University of Michigan.

Newcomers To Play Cards

"Tricks and treats" aptly describes the next Grosse Pointe Newcomers Club event to be held Friday, October 22. The "tricks" will be the center of attention at the bridge tables at various committee members' houses in the Farms starting at 7:45 o'clock sharp.

Club members and prospective guests will play a progressive bridge, progressing to different houses if they win, progressing to a new partner if they lose.

After the bridge, everyone will meet at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club for "treats," (liquid and solid).

Jack and Bev Powell committee chairmen, have planned some surprises and a prize will be given to whomever shows up with most original mask.

Assisting the Powells in the planning and furnishing the use of their homes for the bridge are Charles and Marilyn Billiu, Judd and Carol Moran, Ed and Judy Rowardy, Jim and Anne Severson and Miles and Catherine Taylor.

Some people get a reputation for being live wires because they do such shocking things.

Mrs. Peter E. Safir

In the Barbour Chapel of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church Saturday afternoon, LINDA JEAN LESCOHIER, daughter of Mrs. Arthur L. Watts, Jr., of Eastland Village, and Donald H. Lescohier, of Bedford road, and Mr. Safir, son of Dr. and Mrs. Sidney Safir, of River Edge, N.J., exchanged marriage vows.

Annual Cinderella Ball Is Big Success

What is perhaps the most glamorous of Detroit's events, the Cinderella Ball, took place Saturday, October 15, at the Sheraton Cadillac hotel.

Sponsored by the Women's committee of the Tuberculosis and Health Society as a fund-raising event for work on tuberculosis and respiratory diseases, the Ball was limited to 200 couples at $100 per couple, and in attendance were leaders of Detroit-area society and industry.

Candy Richards, 18, of Dearborn, was crowned "Cinderella" of the Ball and was escorted by "Prince Charming" Steven Welker Hubbard, 20, of Rivard boulevard, sophomore at Northern Michigan University.

Chairman of this year's Ball, the 15th such event and the only one of its kind in the United States sponsored by a Women's committee of the TB Health Society, was Mrs. Victor W. Wertz, of Moross road, with Mrs. Horace E. Dodge serving as honorary chairman.

President of the Women's committee is Mrs. John D. Richardson, Jr., with Mrs. Sam T. Keller, now of Florida, honorary president. "Cinderella" will serve as an Ambassador of Good Will for the ensuing year for the TB and Health Society, touring various facilities in Michigan, and will also be chairman of the Christmas Seal Drive.

Glamour was evident everywhere at the Ball. As guests arrived at the hotel, they were greeted by giant rotating spotlights outside and upon entrance into the lower lobby they were escorted by court-clad pages through a red-carpeted floral archway to the elevators.

As they left the elevators, they entered a scene of "Cinderella by Starlight" decorated with flowers and statuettes. In the Grand Ballroom, the ceiling was made into a starlit sky with the illusion of gracefully floating clouds and stars. The bandstand was constructed to resemble a medieval castle.

The centerpiece on each table was a bowl of live flowers set on tray designed as a crescent, moon-shaped sea with reflecting silver stars. The bowls were lighted by tiny candles to create a spectacular effect.

DR. and MRS. MICHAEL J. BRENNAN, of Three Mile drive, left last Friday, October 14, to attend the Ninth International Cancer Congress in Tokyo. Dr. Brennan is president of the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Mrs. John D. Richardson, Jr., presented a plaque to Victor Wertz, ex-Tiger baseball great and husband of the Ball chairman, citing him for loss of his wife's time during the past year while she was devoting her time and energy to preparations for the Ball.

Under the direction of general chairman Mrs. Wertz, chairmen of various committees who served included Mrs. Lynn A. Townsend, Mrs. Edward N. Cole, Mrs. Herman E. Reichart, Mrs. Sidney J. Allen, Mrs. Arthur Pfannenschmidt, Mrs. John H. Ganschow, Mrs. Leonard Meldman, Mrs. Oscar Olson, Mrs. Arthur Wrock, Mrs. Florence Sisman and Mrs. Joseph Slatkin.

One of his short films on Milles' work was recently presented to the Millesgarden in Stockholm. Mr. West is currently in Italy where he has been asked to show his films on Donatello to an International Congress now convening there to commemorate the 500th anniversary of Donatello's death. These films are part of a series originally premiered by the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Girls of Scandinavian descent throughout Michigan may send their requests for contest applications to the Detroit Swedish Council in The Whittier Hotel, 415 Burns drive, Detroit. They must be between the ages of 19 and 23 to enter.

Six will be chosen to appear at the Lucia Banquet at the Whittier in November, when the winner will be crowned as Lucia Queen of Michigan with the five remaining girls becoming her Court of Honor. The new Lucia will be flown to Scandinavia for a two-week visit in Norway, Denmark, Finland and Sweden, culminating in an appearance at the annual Lucia Day festivities in Stockholm December 13.

Visitation Night Is Joyful Occasion for Proud Parents

By Pepper Whitelaw
For weeks the elementary school children come home fairly bursting with news of "things" they are making for "Classroom Visitation" night, only to stop just short of telling because it's a secret. You can hardly wait to see what ingenious results they have wrought.

Then the big night arrives. After passing clothing inspection by your offspring, you're off, with hundreds of other parents who, proud as punch, enter their child's room, slide up to the teacher and say, "I'm little Harry's mother."

At such times you wonder what goes on in the minds of the teachers who are periodically faced with parents. Of course, asking any questions about little Harry's studies are strictly taboo on "Classroom Visitation" night, so the conversation often lags considerably.

Play It By Ear
After announcing whose mother you are, you are faced with the horrible possibility that little Harry might have put a dead fly in teacher's lunch one bright and sunny day and you never were told about it. So, you don't know whether to say "I'm little Harry's mother" with pride or apology. You play it by ear and usually are rewarded by a warm and friendly response from the teacher.

The school is aglow as hundreds of parents and teachers get together . . . the rooms are especially lovely to see with the fine artistic work of the children prominently displayed.

On the way to my daughter's room I stopped at the door of a classroom . . . started beyond belief. In each seat were life-sized cutout, paper children, hand cut and drawn by the children themselves. Taken down the corridor we were faced with hand-drawn pictures of family crests, all hanging regally on the bulletin board. Sure enough there was our family crest up with the rest of them and beautifully colored by our daughter.

A Revelation
The story she wrote that went with the crest was a revelation even to me. It told how long ago a lawyer named Whitey was looking for a name to add to his first name. After much contemplation and since he was a lawyer, Whitey seemed to fit. So there is the origin, all neatly written, hanging for all to see. As I glanced around and read the other stories on the family crest, I wondered just how many parents were discovering for the first time where their family names originated.

Besides the crest the room was covered with displays of their current study country, Egypt, and Egypt never looked more beautiful . . . illustrated with the help of sugar cubes, colored paper, clothes hangers and the like. The teacher, a very young lady, seemed as delighted with the children's work as they were.

Flnds Check List
Then as promised, I went over to our daughter's desk, to read the note she had written. There neatly printed in questionnaire form was a check list with spaces for yes or no answers and comments, all very professional. Needless to say, all comments were full of praise and admiration for her work.

When most parents go to "classroom visitation" they go with complete respect for the teachers, knowing full well that often the teacher is faced with frustration when dealing with youngsters. They are SURE however, as an I, that THEIR child is one of the few children who bring tears of joy to the teacher's eyes and a sense of accomplishment to her being. It is only other parents' children that are her cross to bear!

I guess we showed 'em! We found out that Grosse Pointers are just as interested in convenience, service, and economy as anyone else. If you haven't ridden with us as yet, why not call 886-1322 right now and find out more about our schedule and rates?
