Taxpayers Fighting Park Bond Issue

(Continued from Page 1) "Why don't they mention these additional expenses in their statements about the cost of the two-pool program. Where do they think the money is coming from?"

Slone Refutes Claim
City Manager Robert Slone said that the 1966-67 recreational budget is $67,000, and that the two-pool program, which is included in the overall recreation program cost, would add an estimated $28,000. This has nothing to do with the bond issue, he added.

As far as the operating cost to the city, this is determined at budget time hearing in May, at which time the tax millage is also discussed. The millage is based on how much is required to operate the city in the coming fiscal year, including the amount needed to run all departments, Slone pointed out. Also, the city manager pointed out, only half of the revenue needed to operate the city comes from real and personal property taxes levied by the city. The balance of the operations costs comes from the state, from such sources as sales taxes, which is reported on an increase, gasoline and weight taxes, and intangible taxes. Local revenue from parking meters and boat wells also are an important source of revenue, he added.

Gracey pointed out that the city payroll increased $70,000, or about 10 percent during the past year. Slone acknowledged that the city payroll has gone up, due, he said, to general pay increases and improved services to the community.

School Taxes Rise
School taxes, Gracey said, will be up 10 percent from last year, with further increases in sight, and no apparent provision made to obtain this needed extra money.

To this, the city manager remarked that the Park has no control over school taxes, that these taxes are levied by the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, a separate governing body.

"Money is not unlimited," Gracey stated, "so we must choose between those things which are proper and necessary to a sound community life and those things which are not."

Solve $4,500 Jewel Theft

According to evidence pieced together by Mustazza and Marshall, the Moores' butler, chauffeur, Albert Duncan, 44, of 2947 Fourteenth street, Detroit, had invited the girls to the residence on September 30, for the day.

The girls finagled a second invitation, the detectives said, after plotting to steal what they could, and were invited to remain over night on Friday, October 7.

On Saturday, October 8, while Duncan, who has since been discharged, and one of the younger girls sat and drank alcoholic beverages, the other girls searched the bedrooms, taking whatever jewelry they could find, and some money in small change.

The girls stole two $1,500 watches, cigaret lighters, valued at $200, three pairs of valuable earrings, and other items which the Moores did not know were missing, but were recovered by Mustazza and Marshall.

The policemen said that all items, except one of the watches have been recovered from Detroit pawnshops. More arrests are expected in connection with the theft, that is, receiving stolen property, they added.

Under the direction of Chief Cochill, the Shores detectives arrested Miss Leese and the 15-year-old staying with her, at their place of residence. The older girl is being held in the Wayne County Jail in default of $1,000 bond, and the juvenile home in Forest avenue in Detroit. Both are awaiting hearings in the Circuit and Juvenile Courts, respectively. The third girl is in the custody of her parents, pending a hearing date.

Mustazza and Marshall said that the 15-year-old living with the older girl, recently escaped from the custody of the Chicago Juvenile Court.

The policemen were praised by their chief for the rapid solving of the matter, and the detectives, in turn, praised the cooperation received from the Toronto Police Department.

FINDS POOR PICKING

City police officers William Plumb and Richard Lanshi responded to a call from Ray Smith, owner of the Melcum-Smith Nursery on Monday, October 31 reporting that his place of business had been entered. A 26" by 27" window at the side door had been broken and entry was made. Approximately $1 in Canadian change was missing from the cash register. Police are investigating.

Today's successes are built on the foundation of yesterday's hard earned lessons.

In making a choice we must look at the whole picture of needs, alternatives and costs, and this, the city officials have failed to give us.

"I believe," he said, "that several council members are very concerned about the growing tax burden in general and about the tremendous cost of the two-pool program in particular. I urge these men to help the voters to make a well-informed decision November 8."

Mayor Has Comment
Mayor Matthew Patterson refuted Gracey's remark regarding the 25 percent increase in taxes.

"The members of the Park Plan Commission have worked on this project for two years and are men of high calibre, who were chosen for their dedication and intelligence," the mayor said. "These men are not trying to deceive you."

"When the taxpayers were informed that the cost of the bond issue will only be one and one-half mills, this is absolutely correct. The maintenance of the pools, as close as the administration can figure, will be approximately $28,000 a year. Compare this with the revenue collected from the boat wells, which annually amounts to $20,000 a year.

Attempt To Confuse
"The Association is trying hard to confuse the issue. Letters sent out by the organization, seems to infer that the entire one million dollars will be used for the pools, alone, whereas, this is not the case," the mayor said. "The bond issue is not only for the raising of the money to construct the pools, but also to make much-needed improvements in both parks of the city."

"We are not trying to install gold-plated pools, but the cheapest, if not cheaper, pools than those already installed in other communities. Too, we want to install the type of pool that will not be a health hazard to the people of our city."

"Our present tax rate is 15.5 mills per assessed valuation. The community adjacent to the Park, has a tax rate of 24.25 mills. We are proud of our record in this category."

Vandals

Damage to the float was estimated at $500... on board was expensive tape and stereo equipment — fortunately plans to have two juniors sleep on the float were cancelled at the last minute.

At first it was feared that the entire Homecoming Parade would be cancelled, but after due consideration it was decided to continue as planned. One of the largest crowds ever to witness a High School parade in this area watched the Homecoming Parade... cars were lined from Fisher road to Cadieux.

They all saw the Junior Class entry, charred beyond recognition, take its place among the other floats... and proud class placed their float as an entry anyway. The result of months of work, blood, sweat and tears moved before their eyes... and certainly most of them saw the float as it had been, not as it appeared on parade day!

Tuttle, who was taken to the station, where his mother was called, was informed in the presence of his parent, that he need make no statement unless an attorney was present, that he had the right to remain silent. The youth and his mother insisted on making a statement.

The teenager said that he and his companion, Collin K. Hennessy, 17, of 16672 Carlisle, Detroit, were traveling west on Hawthorne, when they felt a bump as they drove over a pile of leaves. The young driver said he looked back to see what caused the bump and saw Thomas unconscious atop the leaves, and immediately turned around and came back.

Tuttle was released without blame in the mishap, police said.

Young Bertins, whose condition was, at the last report, very poor, suffered head injuries, and possible internal injuries, the police report showed.

Grosse Pointe Park Taxpayers:

There is a time to VOTE NO!

The $1,000,000 TWO POOL BOND PROPOSITION should be defeated because:

- One Million Dollars to build and tens of thousands of dollars to maintain two swimming pools to replace our existing pool is grossly extravagant in the light of other community needs and the national economic emergency.
- Like so many other projects, the cost of the two pool program is not firmly fixed, but is based on so-called planning estimates. Once undertaken, however, the plan must be carried to a conclusion, no matter how unsatisfactory the result.
- A sound alternative swimming program, including a new pool, could be developed at a much lower cost than the proposed two pool program. The total investment in a swimming program should be related to the expected usage and benefits of that program. In this climate, a Million Dollar swimming investment would be completely useless nine months of the year.
- From a position of no unfunded debt, Grosse Pointe Park will go a Million Dollars in debt at a time of the highest interest rates on municipal bonds in recent history.
- If the Two Pool Bond Proposition is approved, city taxes will go up by more than 25 per cent, the bulk of the increase to finance and operate two pools.
- The impending increases in city, county and school property taxes are so substantial that all taxpayers must be concerned. In Grosse Pointe Park, combined increases in school and city taxes will mean that on a $12,000 valuation the tax bill will rise from $645 last year to approximately $730 this year. On a $20,000 valuation, taxes will go up from $1,076 to $1,220. Our fixed income residents will find this increase particularly burdensome.
- In these times when fiscal responsibility is a national concern the Million Dollar extravaganza proposed by city officials will suffer from and contribute to the growing inflationary cost spiral against the national interest.

This Bond Proposition is the wrong program, at the wrong cost, at the wrong time.
There is a time to vote NO and that time is Election Day, November 8.

Know Your Schools

QUESTION: From time to time I hear about the "middle school." Can you tell me more about it?
ANSWER: Between now and the opening of school in September, 1968, ALL residents of the Grosse Pointe school district will be hearing and reading much more about the so-called "middle school." For, with the opening of Grosse Pointe High School North both high schools will house students in grades 9-12 and the three junior high schools will become "middle schools." Brownell, Parcels and Pierce will contain grades 6-8 and the 10 elementary buildings will house grades kindergarten through five.

Why are we considering a change in our traditional pattern of organization? The answer is a simple one: we are convinced that the grades 6-8 "middle school" will provide better pupil grouping and better instructional possibilities between the elementary school and the four-year high school. Quite frankly, I would have preferred to answer this question a bit later in the year. We are just beginning our intensive study of the matter. For example, recently Jack D. Riegle, principal of Chippewa Middle School in Saginaw discussed the new educational concept with the schools' staff. Millard D. Grell, our Curriculum Planning Director, is coordinating the middle school study.

Others on the middle school steering committee are John D. Rohrer, principal of Mairie School; William Mogk, principal of Pierce Junior High School; Neil Curtis, Brownell counselor; Alan Schaefer, math teacher at Grosse Pointe High School; and Marvin Rants, Primary III teacher at Monteith. We plan to involve interested citizens, and administrators at all levels as well as the trustees of the Board of Education. And as soon as we have more definite ideas for the local implementation of the "middle school" philosophy as we think it will relate to Grosse Pointe, we shall make every effort to inform the entire community.

In a limited amount of space it is a bit difficult to describe the "middle school" completely, but a recent publication that crossed my desk seems to provide some quotations useful for the purpose of clarification. From THE MIDDLE SCHOOL, a report printed by the Michigan Association of School Boards, comes the following statement: "The Middle School is a school for growing up."

"In the pure sense, the middle school consists of grades five, six, seven, and eight. Some middle schools enroll grades six, seven, and eight.

and some, grades seven and eight. "A school for the middle grades has long been a part of the public school structure. The early decades of this century witnessed the era of the intermediate school. This era was followed by the growth of the junior high school.

"The middle-school concept, functionally different from its predecessors, seeks to serve more effectively the educational needs of this age group. "The reasons for the emerging middle-school concept are many, and they are not simple. In the broad sense, the expanding world of knowledge, the exposure of youth to a wealth of experiences via the various forms of mass communications, the availability of transportation, the increased knowledge of the nature of the learner, and the process by which he learns, as well as the pyramiding tasks placed upon the school, demand an organizational structure and function that will better serve the "middle grade" boys and girls in our schools. "The 'middle school' is literally and functionally a school for growing up.

"The middle school is a 'transition' school. The ideal instructional program, with flexibility to meet individual needs of a learner, is designed to function in such a manner as to enable the boy or girl to move securely from one class group and one teacher to many groups, large and small, of his peers and an increasing number of teachers. The ideal physical plant provides learning areas to facilitate this transition.

"The uniqueness of the middle-school concept allows the highest possible degree of: Implementing the schools' philosophy and purposes; Utilizing this age group's growth characteristics and their teaching implications; Providing the proper instructional program—the facts, skills, the attitudes, the interests, and the activities; Developing a staff of dedicated, skilled teachers—insightful concerning, knowledgeable about, and liking this age group; and creating a physical facility serving all four—the purposes, the boys and girls, the instructional program, and the teachers."

Kenyon College Choir Coming

The Chapel Choir of Kenyon College, Gambier, O., will visit St. Michael's Episcopal Church, 20475 Sunningdale Park, on Sundays, November 6, where they will sing at both the 8:30 and 11:15 services.

In addition to singing the services, Morning Prayer at 8:30 and Choral Eucharist at 11:15 the choir will present the following selections:

"My Chosen King Is Christ the Lord" by Bach, "Salvation Belongeth to Our God" by Tchesnokov, "Song of Peace" by Vincent Persipetti, and "Alleluia" by Bach.

Ronald Bliss, a member of Kenyon's sophomore class, will be the soloist on the oboe in such numbers as "Hodie Christus Natus Est" by Nanino, "Vere Languores Nostros" by Lotti, "Christ the Lord Hath Risen", a medieval chant, "O Fill of Filliae" (Double Chorus) by Leising, and an arrangement of "The Old Hundredth Psalm Tune" by Williams, played by Robert Nevth, a sophomore, on the trumpet. On Sunday evening, at 5 o'clock, the choir will perform at Christ Church Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills.

The 70-voice choir is under the direction of Frank Lendrim, Associate Professor of Music at the College. Dr. Lendrim teaches music at Kenyon and Bexley Hall, the Divinity School of Kenyon College, and has five other vocal groups on the campus.

FARMS PAYS BILLS The Farms council approved payments of $11,501 to the DeMeulenaere Construction company, for work done to date in the 1966 Sidewalk Replacement Program, and $6,153.75 to the Sterling Construction company, as the first payment for the 1966 additions to the Water Filtration Plant, 29 Moross road. The bills were approved at a regular council meeting on Monday, October 17.

Pointe Theater Presenting Classic Beginning Friday

"You Can't Take It With You," the Pulitzer Prize winning play of the 1930s replete with fireworks in the basement and ballet dancing to the accompaniment of a xylophone, opens tomorrow evening at 8:30 in the Fries Auditorium.

This first show of the Grosse Pointe Theater 1966-67 season demonstrated its still current appeal with a long revival run on Broadway last year. A warmhearted mixture of amiable philosophy and broad farce, the saga of the Vanderhof-Sycamore family was also a highly successful motion picture.

Mrs. James Fielding appears as the slightly adulated Penny Sycamore who writes plays and paints portraits. Elaine Slowik plays her daughter Alice who tries valiantly to reconcile the eccentricities of her family with her engagement to a socially correct young man.

Other Pointers in the cast are Mrs. John Diebel as a has-been actress, Robert Koebel as an Internal Revenue agent, Larry Marco as a Russian ballet instructor, Clark Scholes as a Wall Street financier, Harry Stutt as an unemployed handyman and George Zienkowski as a G-Man.

Director of "You Can't Take

It With You" is Mrs. D. L. White, a Grosse Pointe Theater member for over 10 years. Mrs. White directed the group's 1964 season opener, "See How They Run." Mrs. Bernard Beauvais is producer; John Diebel is stage manager, and Roger Shepard is the technical director.

Other performances of the play are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, November 5 and 6, and next week Thursday through Saturday, November 10-12. Tickets are still available for the Thursday presentation. For further information, call Mrs. Arthur Brownell, House Chairman, at 882-5538.

Test Your Memory—What Happened February 25th, 1965?

On this date, metropolitan Detroit was paralyzed for three days. The world's largest industrial city was stopped. Almost all industry and business was at a standstill. Why? A sudden nine-inch snowfall crippled the city. Customers of Cal Flemming Snow Removal Service had their snow removed twice within the twelve hours after the snow had stopped. You too can have dependable snow removal service. Call TU 1-6950 for free estimate.

Cinema League Meets Thursday

"Volkswagen Holiday in Europe" is the provocative title of the movie which will be the subject of the next program for the Grosse Pointe Cinema League. The group will meet Thursday evening November 10, at 8 o'clock at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Shaw Hakim, club member and Grosse Pointer, will present pictures made by him on a May-June trip through Europe last spring. Landing in Hamburg, Germany, Mr. and Mrs. Hakim commenced a tour by Volkswagen which took them south to Italy and back to Amsterdam, Holland. A special feature of the presentation will be coverage in detail of the historic and unusual old city of Venice.

Exotic Lands of Orient Toured in Center Film

"Exotic Lands of the Orient" a color sound movie by Dr. Richard E. Pear will be presented at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial on Monday, November 7, at 8 p.m.

Reel 1 of this movie covers Hong Kong, Thailand, and Singapore. Reel 2 of the movie starts out in Bombay, India. The harbor, with its ferries and unusual sailing boats, the streets with activities such as snake charmers, plus temples and gardens are all filmed.

Closeup pictures of intricate ivory carving and the step-by-step processes of making the world famous multi-colored brass trays of India are fascinating to watch.

New Delhi, India, has its Raj Ghat and Birla Temple but it is in Old Delhi that the power and wealth of the old Mogul Emperors is seen. The Red Fort of Old Delhi was built by Shah Jahan, the same man who built the Taj Mahal. The Royal drum house, throne room, and harem quarters are filmed also.

Humayan's tomb is built in a similar style to the Taj Mahal except in a different color of stone. The structure is an Indian interpretation of a Persian concept.

On the way to Agra to see the Taj Mahal, a stop is made to see Emperor Akbar's fort and palace. Elephant stables, the Pearl Mosque, harem quarters, etc. are all part of the giant complex.

Emperor Akbar's deserted capital at Fatehpur Sikri is visited. The story of this deserted city will be brought out in the movie. Akbar Tomb at Sikandra is another structure similar to the Taj Mahal.

The story of the Taj Mahal is a sad thing. Shah Jahan was the fifth of the six great Mogul Emperors of India. Shah Jahan took a 21 year old Persian princess as his second wife. After 18 years of marriage she died immediately after the birth of her 14th child.

Her two dying wishes to the King were to build her a memorial and never remarry. It took 17 years to build the Taj Mahal and five additional years to complete the gardens. Beautiful as it is itself, the Taj would lose half its charm if it stood alone. It is the combination of so many beauties and the perfect manner in which each is subordinated to the other that makes up the impressive whole.

A brief stop is made in Cairo, Egypt, before flying back to the United States. The great pyramids at Giza were built 2700 years before Christ. The face of the giant Sphinx is said to be a likeness of Chephren, the man who built the second of the pyramids.

Cairo's Museum of Egyptian antiquities has many things from the Tomb of Tutankhamen. Tutankhamen was a boy king who ruled Egypt more than 3500 years ago.

The bazaars of Cairo are a colorful shopping center in which to leave the viewer at the end of the film.

Many Children Need Clothing

There will be a concerted effort on the part of all generous citizens to increase contributions to the Detroit Public Schools Fall Clothing Drive this year so that more needy children can remain in school. The Drive opened Monday, October 31, and runs through Monday, November 14.

Good times to the contrary, many families are falling behind, through illness or loss of jobs, but do not qualify for public assistance. It is estimated that over 8000 youngsters will need help.

You are urged to bring discarded or outgrown wearable clothing and shoes to any Detroit Public School Building, or to the Volunteers of America at 6060 Rivard, or call 872-5000 for a home pickup.

The clothing and shoes will be cleaned, repaired and sized and distributed to the children without cost upon order of the Detroit Public Schools Attendance Department.

The project, which has grown over 30 years, is of great value to the community as a whole, yet it costs you nothing but effort and the willingness to contribute discarded wearables. It's a wonderfully fine civic effort. Won't you please help so that no child will suffer?

News Collection of Pets Pulls Together in Crisis

By Elizabeth Stephens She's lovely, she's orange and white, she's recuperating from what animal lovers at the NEWS hope was ACCIDENTAL poisoning from arsenic.

Approximately two weeks before the publication date of this paper, Amber Wilke, a beautiful cat the color of marmalade and whipped cream, belonging to the Classified Advertising department, became mopey, refused to eat. The veterinarian made the diagnosis after other symptoms appeared in this slow-acting, painful type of poisoning which affects the alimentary canal.

As Amber sank lower and lower in her fight for life, several intestinal operations had to be performed. Tuesday she started holding her own and the gloom that had been blanketing the office lifted. Even the postal tie-up had paled before this catastrophe.

The problem of food for Amber, who has become quite a gourmet in her six years of life, became the next obstacle to be surmounted. "She'll eat when she gets hungry," tut-tutted the vet when her owner expressed concern. But even the veterinarian's receptionist in her spare time couldn't coax the convalescent to eat—canned cat food.

Amber won! That evening her family was ushered into the recovery room with a bag of goodies which included turkey loaf and fried chicken; she chose a teaspoonful of the raw double ground chuck the first night.

Six cats and eleven dogs belong to the NEWS family. Amber's recovery from this tragic incident was no doubt hastened by a get well card signed by Mandy, Kipper and Nuba Buhl (who own Editor Robert B. Edgar); Satchmo Chapman (a relative and frequent visitor); Fluffy Adamo, Mike Lorimer, Putley, Bernard and Notawa Seepee Chop Wolfcale of ADVERTISING; Duke Mueller of SOCIETY; Calico Whitelaw of

NEWS; Mac Eason of ACCOUNTS; Tom and Queenie Koenig, members of Amber's CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING department; Rags Robinson of MAINTENANCE; and Coco Stephens of CIRCULATION. The card was the thoughtful gesture of Mac Eason who had just returned from a comparatively uneventful visit to the vet's for the unmentionable operation. May you reign forever, Amber!

Geese Starting Annual Show at Jack Miner's

KINGSVILLE, Ontario—The migrating geese are at the Jack Miner Sanctuary in sufficient numbers to provide a spectacle for any who care to visit.

This was the word from Manley Miner, son of the late founder, who now runs the sanctuary. He said the peak migration will occur during the last 10 days in October and the first three weeks in November.

There is no admission charge, but the sanctuary is closed Sunday. However, a good view of the geese can be had from the road when the sanctuary is closed.

The best viewing time is between 8:30 and 4:30 p.m. when the birds put on their evening flight.

Cast of 600 Presenting Musical Show at Austin

Austin Prep opens Thursday night with its gigantic musical, "It's The Most," for a four-day run. "ITM" has a cast of 600 young men and women singing and dancing through 28 scenes. The curtain goes up at 8 o'clock at Austin's gym Thursday through Sunday, November 3 through November 6. Tickets are $1.50.

According to Joe Hayes, director-import from New York, "ITM" makes Ben Hur look like an intermission because ITM is "T.N.T." "Take Time Out," Thomas E. Bailey, vice-president at Austin, states that it is best to have tickets previous to curtain time.

Tickets may be purchased from any Austin man or any of the girls of the show. These girls come from St. Paul, Star of the Sea, The Academy of the Sacred Heart, Dominican, Bishop Gallagher, Regina and St. Ambrose High Schools.

Featured in this musical spectacular will be the theme of Around the World in One Night. The scenes move from country to country in song, skit and dance. With John Crowley as ship-board captain, the musical boat visits Doug Boyer in San Francisco as well as Stevie Donat in Paris. Mike Maurice and the Models are found in the Paris Lido while Donna DeSanti and the Champagne Set are entertaining at the Casino de Paris. In Hawaii, the show meets Don McMillan and the Natives as well as Pat Walker and the Girls. The dance of the Planets is done by Maureen DeFour at Cape Kennedy.

In the second act, the show boat moves to Baghdad with Sue LaDuc and ensemble. Returning to the U.S., the show visits St. Louis and New York. The finale features the "City of Detroit" with Precision 1966 with the entire 600 member cast.

The entire show production is in the capable hands of the Austin stage crew. Heading this group of 60 young men, is Jim Walsh as stage manager and Lee Bonamy as technical director. Properties are under the supervision of Mark Baum and Mike Aubin. Set constructions have as their chairman Tim Fredericks.

Other members of the crew are Brad Lundy, box office treasurer; Mike Szymanski, graphic art director; Joel Bonamy and Frank Fusari, movie projectionist; and Tom Moran and Ken Kirchner, sound engineers.

Seek Suspect In $307 Theft

A lone woman who was reported to have utilized a phone in a gasoline service station for more than 15 minutes, on Thursday, October 27, is being sought for questioning in the disappearance of a large sum of money from a desk drawer in the station office.

Marcell D'Hondt of 204 Ridgmont, owner of the business, called Woods police when he became suspicious and found the money, $307 in currency, missing from his desk.

D'Hondt told Patrolman Robert Lorenz that the man consumed a small bag of peanuts, and dawdled over a bottle of soda pop, while using the pay phone.

The station owner said he left his office for a few minutes, and when he returned, the suspect was gone, and so was the money. The desk drawer was unlocked, the owner said.

D'Hondt described the man as being about 25 to 30 years old, about five feet ten inches tall, with medium Negro complexion, and wearing a light tan suede jacket and brown trousers. Lorenz said he recovered the pop bottle from the rack and gave it to Det. Sgt. Thomas Kane who checked it for possible prints. There was no doubt that the bottle was the one in the hands of the suspect because the rack had been empty prior to the bottle being placed there.

With plenty of ambition and push the average man is equipped for working wonders.

Myron E. Ranney Teaches in Germany

Myron E. Ranney of South Renaud road is teaching his third year for the United States Army dependents abroad at Heidelberg, Germany.

He is a member of the Heidelberg International Ski Club and will join their group on the weekend of November 10 when the first trip of the season opens at Garmisch, located at the base of Germany's highest mountain, the Zugspitze.

A photography enthusiast since his days at the Grosse Pointe High, two of his pictures were included in the current issue of their magazine. These shots were taken last winter in Austria. One is a picture of a St. Bernard dog and the other is a snow scene entitled "White Gold."

Trust!

If you are crossing a busy intersection with someone very young or old, or new to the city, you take more care than you would if you were by yourself.

Trust work is like that. A Trust Department owes more than the duty of normal fair business dealing. We must safeguard those whose interests have been entrusted to our care.

Every family with a future should know the kinds of help it can get from a modern Trust Department. The National Bank of Detroit has prepared an informative folder:

Substitute Teacher Finds High School Interesting

By Donna Valley Stult
 Crowded at the High School? You better believe it!

The full shock of that realization is thrust upon substitute teachers unexpectedly and at an early hour. The contrast from sipping coffee in your kitchen while you read Action Line of a morning, knowing the kids are safely in school, comes upon you with startling reality when you report to the High School office at 8 a.m. for an average school day as a sub.

That is, assuming you have found the office in the labyrinthine maze that is the High School. Everyone is friendly and you are directed to your first class which is Senior English in Room 3B.

"That's in the annex." Pause. "Through the breezeway."

"You mean the old Country Day School?"

"Yes. But, wait. Come to think of it, that class meets now in the library."

So you gamely take on the throngs of book-clutching students bearing down on you, who are likewise jockeying for position through the clusters of paper-laden teachers. It all works out. It's just crowded.

The library is easy to find, so you inquire at the desk for Room 3B and find that class has been moved to Conference Room 1. Okay, why not?

Conference Room 1 has no teacher's desk or chair. Since there is no pad of absentee slips in the desk, but students don't mind going back to the office for you.

The regular teacher's instructions direct you to pass out some material on The Novel and "the students are to look up certain terms in the reference books which will be found in the classroom."

Not this classroom! But then the teacher didn't know the room had been changed. No problem—arrangements can be made to get reference books from the library, and everyone settles down to work, while you study your instructions in hopes that next hour you can proceed with some degree of confidence and orderliness, or at least stride along the halls with an expression of knowledgeability instead of peering at room numbers and wandering into gymnasiums or cafeterias.

Suddenly a man comes into the room carrying a Visucom Projectuals Machine—(not that you recognize it as such, but it says so on the side.)

"Excuse me, but I have to set this up for next hour." And this he proceeds to do. The funny part is that the students hardly look up: they are used to such interruptions. They accept the mutual need for cooperation when a school is bursting at the seams.

But you can't help remembering the old days when a plane flying overhead was sufficient distraction to cause every head to swivel in one motion toward the window—a perfectly natural response which for some bizarre reason drives teachers wild). Anything as absorbing as a man setting up this weird Visucom Projectuals Machine—well, it would just be understood that everyone would abandon classroom procedures, close their books, and, fascinated, watch the man at work.

But not the kids at the High School. Not today.

Some of the seniors no doubt regret that the new school wasn't ready during their own high school days. They will go on to college or jobs next year with memories of jammed parking lots, halls mobbed beyond belief, and iron fire escapes (an anathema to people with high heels or a fear of the seeming instability of walking on grating).

But, in spite of this, there is little feeling of resentment. They agreeably climb narrow staircases to an attic room that looks out over red roofs or descend to basement storage closets forced into service as classrooms. Younger students are thinking, "In another year or so, some of us will be in a brand new school, and those of us still here will have more room. It won't be long."

And the bell rings and the students hurry out for their next class while you search for Room A 10, trying to give the impression that you know where these places are and do this sort of thing every day. But you're only a substitute and don't do this every day. You can stay home tomorrow and listen to the radio or chat on the phone and leisurely make plans for the church fair.

The pace at the High School is not leisurely.

Nobody has as much trouble as the fellow who is always standing up for his rights.

Former Detroit Policeman Jailed

Joseph Hebert, Jr., 33, of 32329 Alameda, Farmington, a former Detroit patrolman, was found guilty and sentenced to 4½-20 years in Jackson Prison on Monday, October 31, by Wayne County Circuit Court Lila M. Neuenfelt.

Hebert who was specifically charged and sentenced for an armed robbery in Detroit, was involved in the July 27 armed robbery of the Nightingale Lounge in Mack avenue, in which he and a still unidentified companion got approximately $1,000 from the bar and patrons. Diligent police work by Woods, Harper Woods and Detroit detectives resulted in the eventual arrest of Hebert at the Vogue Bar, 17323 Harper, Detroit, by officers of the Detroit Hold-up Squad.

Since Hebert was arrested in Detroit, and was charged in a Detroit warrant with armed robbery, Woods authorities coupled their complaint with that of the Detroit police.

In passing sentence, Judge Neuenfelt reduced the prison term by 100 days, the time Hebert has been confined in the county jail in default of bond.

Some men have lots of go, but lack staying qualities.

"I was stranded for three days in my own home in the world's largest industrial city." "A sudden nine-inch snowfall had trapped me." One reason more people are buying GM cars this year is because GM cars cost less to buy. Your Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick or Cadillac dealer, in fact, can show you on paper that, not only is the base price lower in most cases, but when you add the optional equipment you want, the price advantage of a GM car becomes even greater. And because it is a GM car, you get all the advantages of a GM car. The uncommon luxury of Body by Fisher, for instance. Such new safety features as the GM-developed energy absorbing steering column. And styling leadership that has made GM cars the best-selling in the world. All of which is still just the beginning. You also have the traditionally high resale value of a General Motors car to enjoy. On top of all the other advantages you've heard about.

Rev. McKinley To Preach Here

The Grosse Pointe Congregational Church cordially invites all residents of the community to be guests on Sunday, November 13, in the Sanctuary at 240 Chalfonte avenue. From the pulpit at both services, 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m., the special guest speaker will be The Rev. Dr. James F. McKinley of the Philippines.

The Rev. Dr. McKinley, a United Church of Christ (USA) missionary educator, is now in this country on furlough from his post in the Philippines.

He is executive secretary of the Department of Christian Education of the United Church of Christ in the Philippines, with headquarters in Quezon City. In this position, which he has held since 1964, he directs programs for children, youth and adults in the churches and in 16 church-related schools and colleges.

Dr. and Mrs. McKinley first went to the Philippines in 1950. For 29 years he was on the staff of Silliman University College of Theology, Dumaguete City, serving many of these years as both dean and teacher. In 1959 he became director of the Ministerial Internship Program under the United Church of Christ in the Philippines. A pioneer in the development of this program in which theological students spend a year in churches throughout the islands, Dr. McKinley made a major contribution to the training of church leaders in the Philippines.

During World War II, Dr. and Mrs. McKinley and their three daughters fled from Dumaguete City to the jungles and mountains of Negros Island. The family lived in 23 shelters in 26 months, moving constantly to avoid capture. They escaped in 1944 to Australia on an American submarine. In 1945 Dr. McKinley returned to the Philippines to help rebuild much that had been destroyed.

Born in Adair County, Missouri, Dr. McKinley was graduated from Drury College, Springfield, Missouri, in 1925 and from Yale Divinity School in 1929. He received a Master's degree from Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University in 1937. Elon College, North Carolina, awarded him an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree in 1957.

Mrs. McKinley, the former Virginia G. Pearson, serves as consultant on Responsible Parenthood to the National Christian Women's Association of the Philippines. She travels and speaks widely on women's work in the church. For many years she taught church music at Silliman University School of Theology. A native of Kansas City, Missouri, she is a graduate of MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Illinois.

The United Church Board for World Ministries, under which Dr. and Mrs. McKinley serve, is the overseas agency of the United Church of Christ, a union of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and Congregational Christian churches. The Board has an overseas staff of more than 450 missionaries serving as teachers, doctors, nurses, agricultural experts, social service workers and ordained ministers in churches in more than thirty countries. They work with nationals of these countries in hospitals, clinics, social service centers, local congregations, and in educational institutions ranging from kindergartens through universities, nurses' training and medical schools, home economics and agricultural institutes, and theological seminaries.

There will be a coffee hour following both services downstairs in the Social Hall of the Church.

Wins First, Second and Third

Gene Butler Studio received top honors in the latest professional photographers competition. Each month the Detroit Professional Photographers Association sponsors quality competition in different phases of professional photography. On Oct. 17th the category was Bridal Portraiture. Mr. Butler won all three ribbons, blue, red and gold, for his three entries. Shown in the photograph is MR. BUTLER receiving the honors from FLORENCE LAZAROFF of Dimitri Lazaroff Studio of Pontiac. These three honor ribbons are added to many received by Gene Butler through the years. Mr. Butler's photograph "Trophy" was hung in the National Exhibit this year.

Students Tutor In Inner City

Many believe that the most significant contribution to society is to help people to help themselves. This is the raison d'être behind Grosse Pointe University-School's tutorial project.

Since January 1966, in conjunction with the Brewster-Douglas Unit of the Neighborhood Service Organization, the Council for Community Activities of the University School has sent 40 volunteer students to help children from the inner city.

Each student was assigned one child who was tutored in subjects difficult for that child to master in the crowded classroom. Most of these children, in addition to being lost in the large class groups, also came from large families where little individual attention could be focused upon any single member of the family. The tutors were able to provide a close relationship which builds self-confidence and helps to establish self-esteem in each child.

These tutors were often able to establish warm, personal relations with their children which led to experiences in addition to the formal tutoring sessions. Laurie Leithauser, the president of the CCA, and Mary Flintermann, the CCA secretary, made arrangements with the families of their tutees, and took the girls to lunch and for a visit to the Detroit Historical Museum. The weekly meetings closed in June with a picnic and games involving tutors and tutees which was held at the Brewster-Douglas Recreation Center.

This fall the program is continuing at Spain Junior High School with the assistance of five members of the National Teachers Corps headed by Mr. Thornberry. Many of the tutees from last year's group are returning this year. New youngsters from Spain School are also seeking help in such varied subjects as science, algebra and new math, in addition to the social studies and reading which are normally requested.

Laurie Leithauser and the CCA group assumed the responsibility of signing up the tutors, arranging the transportation and assigning the students to the tutors. (This pairing was done by the adult coordinators last year). The University School group has also taken charge of procuring and distributing refreshments each week.

Reassignment of the project Junior High School has made available many books and materials to help teaching and learning a more meaningful experience. The John F. Kennedy Memorial Fund has provided special kits and books to help with the teaching of reading. The tutors are having special sessions with reading teacher specialists in order that they may learn the "Dolch" system which will enable them to use the Memorial Fund materials correctly and effectively in teaching reading skills.

The new program was launched on Saturday, October 15, when 35 tutors and 35 students arrived at Spain Junior High School for their first session. Excitement is high and the program promises to grow in the next few weeks as more and more University School students find that they are able to make a valuable and meaningful contribution to the community.

To Give Talk On New Faith

Dr. Sherman Skinner, of the Second Presbyterian Church, St. Louis, Mo., will speak on the New Confession of Faith, 1967, tonight in the Barbour Chapel of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

After several years of discussion and theological study the United Presbyterian Church is proposing to revise its ordination requirements and its confessional and theological standing. It is hoped to put into modern and brief terms under the theme "Reconciliation" what it means to be a Christian in the Twentieth Century.

The greatest controversy has risen over the place and authority of the Bible and the emphasis on the humanity of Jesus.

Specifically, Dr. Skinner will talk about the sections on reconciliation in society, the church's thinking on "The New Morality," international securities, and race relations.

Dr. Skinner was chairman of the Committee of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church to study the drafts on the New Confession and to recommend approval or disapproval. One of the outstanding preachers of the denomination, he is presently serving as president of the Board of Christian Education. He was formerly pastor of the East Liberty Church of Pittsburgh, and president of Board of Pensions, United Presbyterian Church.

The public is cordially invited.

School System Holds Seminar

The Grosse Pointe Public School System sponsored a Communications Seminar designed to improve school-community relations on Wednesday, October 26. Participants in the day's activities included community leaders as well as school administrators and teachers. All sessions were held in the public schools' administration building at 389 St. Clair Avenue.

The seminar opened at 9 a.m. with greetings by J. Harold Husband, Acting Superintendent of Schools. The first hour was devoted to a panel discussion, "A Look at School-Community Relations." Participants included Mrs. Perry TeWalt, president of the Mothers' Club; Mrs. Paul G. Hykes, secretary of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education; William Ludwig of Kenneth Drake Associates; and Theodore Wilner of J. Walter Thompson Company.

The group suggested a number of improvements in current school communication practices and endorsed a proposal to create a Public Relations Advisory Committee.

A portion of the morning was devoted to small group meetings. Miss Janet Mueller, feature editor of the Grosse Pointe News conducted a workshop in news writing. Mrs. Eugene Miller, assistant principal of Pierce Junior High School, discussed newsletters in her section.

Liggett Holds Art Exhibition

Paintings by Carol Wald are on display in the Liggett School lobby until the end of November. They reflect the progression of Miss Wald's style from realism to semi-abstractism. "Girl Eating an Orange" is executed with a boldness of palette and brush reminiscent of Rouault.

A native Detroit, Miss Wald's formal art training began at Cass Tech, followed by a four-year scholarship at the Society of Arts and Crafts. In 1965 she received a Huntington Hartford scholarship and spent a year studying and painting in California.

Her first solo show was held at the Garelick Gallery in 1963. She has shown at Cranbrook, the Flint Institute of Arts and in Skowhegan, Me.

Arrangements for the exhibition were made by the Liggett Cultural Arts Committee. The paintings may be seen Monday through Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

NO ELEMENT OF CHANCE

"Calculated risk" seems to be a popular phrase for old-fashioned "gamble." But there's no place for either in preparing or dispensing pharmaceuticals.

Ever notice the letters U.S.P. or N.F. on a medicine label? The letters represent two official books that are recognized by federal law — the United States Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary.

Together they are the pharmacists' "bible." They give approved standards of the quality, purity, and potency of most medicinal agents.

What ever your prescription calls for, we are prepared to fill it.

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

Fairs are fine for charming, unique and off-beat Christmas presents, but if you're searching for a SUPERLATIVE gift we recommend the Archives of American Art's annual Sale and Auction.

Among the lovely, lovely things—all collectors' items—donated by friends anxious to help the Archives continue its work of collecting, cataloguing, microfilming, tape-recording and indexing biographical, historical and anecdotal material, are examples of fine 18th century silver, crystal, American paintings, old and new, beautiful rugs, Oriental and contemporary, contemporary sculpture, old bronzes.

This Treasure Trove will be on display for several days before the November 15 auction, (at 8 o'clock in the evening in the Detroit Institute of Arts' large auditorium), and November 18 and 19 sale, (from 9 in the morning until 6 in the evening each day, in Galleries 40 and 41 of the Detroit Institute of Arts).

The collection is to be "unveiled" this Monday, at a 5:30 to 8 o'clock cocktail preview in the Institute of Arts' Kresge Court. Among those who'll be on hand for the affair are chairman Mrs. Walter B. Ford, II, and her two chief assistants, Mrs. John D. Benfield and Mrs. Robert VanderKloot.

And Mrs. Charles Endicott, Mrs. John Lesesne and Mrs. James Flom, who've done yeoman service writing thank-you notes to donors, handling other correspondence and generally being indispensable, wouldn't miss the preview for the world!

Wi' A Hundred Pipers An' A', An' A'...

There may not have been quite a hundred pipers marching up Provencal road Saturday morning, but there were more than Grosse Pointe has seen in many a moon, plus a car full of balloons and a battalion of "foot soldiers."

Parade destination was the Charles H. Symington home, where Mr. S. was peacefully toasting his own birthday with a morning cup of coffee. That was the last "peaceful cup of coffee the Symingtons enjoyed all weekend—thanks to their children, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Symington, Jr., of Tuxedo Park, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Gary T. Symington, of Winnetka, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Sullivan, Jr., of Greenwich, Conn., who planned—and brought off!—the Symington Surprise Birthday Festival without a single hitch.

Warren Ament Weds In East

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Winter Ament, of Ghesquiere court, arrived back in the States after a six-month tour of the British Isles just in time to attend the wedding of their son, Warren William Ament, of Washington, D.C., and Helen Hale Almy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rathbone Almy, of Front Royal, Va.

Officiating at the 3 o'clock rites Saturday, in the Front Royal Presbyterian Church, was The Reverend J. Layton Mauze, III. A reception at Wayside Inn, Middletown, Va., followed the ceremony.

Her elbow length veil of imported silk illusion fell from a wide double row of ivory peau de soie. She carried a small bouquet of gardenias and French ivy, and a lace handkerchief, made by her grandmother and carried by both her grandmother and mother at their weddings.

She was attended by her sister, Elizabeth Baker Almy, who chose an A-line frock of peacock blue silk and wool, its Empire bodice styled with a high, square neckline and butterfly sleeves edged in crocheted lace.

She wore a small, veiled blue headbow, and carried an arrangement of pyracantha berries, wheat and rex begonia leaves.

Peyton Elder, of Tacoma Park, Md., served as the bridegroom's best man. Ushers were John Marschner, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Timothy Curtin, of Ann Arbor, Brian G. Brunsvold, of Arlington, Va., and Richard Rathbone Almy, Jr., the bride's brother.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Almy chose a midnight blue silk and worsted dress and coat ensemble, a multi-color turban hat, fashioned of feathers and bands of ribbon, and a green cymbidium orchid corsage.

Mrs. Ament, the bridegroom's mother, purchased her gown, a wool-georgette sheath in a blue-green "petrol" shade, in Stratford-on-Avon. She wore a cyclamen pink velvet hat.

Planning to make their home in Roslyn road when they return from a vacation in the Virgin Islands are the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Sparling, who exchanged marriage vows Saturday in St. Ambrose Church.

The Reverend Father Robert J. Poledink officiated at the 11 o'clock ceremony.

Youth Council To Experiment

Something brand new for Grosse Pointe will be tried out this Saturday night, November 5, at 8:30 by Grosse Pointe War Memorial Youth Council in Alger House. It's a combination light show and dance.

Each main room in Alger house will have the walls fairly crawling with patterns of moving colors to set the mood and rhythms of the music. Two bands will be used, a blues group and a rock 'n roll combo.

The light effects will be achieved by motion pictures on the walls, stroboscopes, color slides, and effects created by many colors of dyes stirred in a glass dish under an opaque projector. The effect is groovy, weird and far out. It is also imaginative, artistic and fascinating - a real experience that is all the rage in New York and being limited now at Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Stroboscopia should considerably liven the long weekend made possible for teens by the teachers' conferences. Because of the space limitations of Alger House only 10th through 12th graders will be admitted and tickets should be purchased ahead of time. Cost is $1. Only 400 can be accommodated.

Many a man who makes his mark in life ties up with a woman who makes him toe it.

Scene of the Saturday wedding of LOUISE ANNE HALEY, daughter of Mrs. Gerard M. Haley, of Windmill Pointe drive, and the late Mr. Haley, and Robert J. Sparling, son of the Joseph Sparlings, of Alma avenue, Detroit, was St. Ambrose Church.

Ballet Will Open Series at Center

Performance By American Folk Group On November 28 To Be Preceded By Cocktail Party; Two Other Events Listed

A premier performance by the American Folk Ballet under the direction of Burch Mann will launch Grosse Pointe War Memorial's "Lighter Side of Life" Series in Fries Auditorium Monday evening, November 28.

The company of 50 includes singers and solo instrumentalists as well as dancers and a full orchestra. The production to be presented is "Winter at Deep Creek," a choreographic anthology of pioneer America. The time is shortly after the civil war and the setting is great prairie.

The music of the score is drawn from such widely divergent sources as Dvorak's New World Symphony and native hoe-downs with much of the dancing and singing revolving around Traditional American ballads such as "S. enandoah" and "Rye Whiskey."

Prior to opening night all "Lighter Side of Life" patrons will be entertained at a complimentary cocktail party at the home of Mrs. Gerald Schneider, corner of Lincoln and Maumee.

The second program in the Lighter Side Series is Earl Wrightson and Lois Hunt who will be presented Friday evening, February 24, in Fries Auditorium following cocktails at Grosse Pointe Yacht Club and dinner in The Crystal Ballroom.

The final evening of the series will begin with cocktails at Lochmoor Club and continue with dinner at Grosse Pointe War Memorial and wind up with a production by the Varel and Bailey Chanteurs de Paris straight from the City of Light with an all male cast of singers, dancers, and comedians.

If a moving picture producer desired to depict a modern slum, I submit he could not do better than to photograph our street on Wednesday through, occasionally, even Sundays. If there are arguments against picking these articles up from the rear of the premises, evidently they have been surmounted by the other Grosse Pointe communities, whom we, I gather, seek to emulate through an exhibition of affluence and progress by installing

I thank you,

Observance of Halloween Brings Memories to Mom

By Pepper Whitelaw
What would happen if on Halloween you responded to the oft asked question "Trick or Treat?" by saying "Trick?" What would the child do? Over the past years I've been tempted to do just that, but somehow never had the courage.

In my day, when I shouted "Trick or Treat" many times people would say "Trick" and then I would hike up my costume and go into an old soft shoe routine that I had practiced for just such an eventual.

Today the "trick" is the mainstay of Halloween but in days gone by the "trick" was the thing. For weeks the whole "gang" would practice their harmonicas, tap dances, songs and magic acts for the big night and the chance to perform. The treats always followed on the heels of the trick anyway, but the home folks sure got a bang out of the "tricks."

It made Halloween kind of a two-way enjoyment... one for the children, the other for the folks who stayed at home to pass out the goodies.

I've even toyed with the idea of resurrecting this old custom myself this year, costume and all with the old soft shoe routine all polished up and ready to go... and having a whirl at the good old-fashioned type Halloween.

Even today's costumes are different! Gone are the days of the Little Orphan Annie, Shirley Temples, Mickey Mouses, Fairy Princesses and performing clowns. Today spacemen, television characters, Beatles, Sonny and Chars and beatniks prowling the streets with robots and monsters as their companions. So with the switch in costumes comes the natural shift in attitudes... after all no self-respecting spaceman or robot would be caught dead doing a soft shoe or playing the harmonica!

It is still difficult for me to resist this mystical night, the costumes, the treats and the Tricks. I guess that's because my daughter was born on that day. In fact, the very evening of her birth I was all set to go out "trick or treating" in my pumpkin costume, when I realized that I just wasn't going to make it. I do recall, as I was being put under the anesthetic, saying something like "trick or treat" and attempting to get off of the table to do my soft shoe routine—only to have another Halloween, all dressed in white with a bunch of funny

Regular habits are no earthly good to the fellow whose habits are all bad.
