Businessman's Favorite:
Hathaway's Oxford
button-down - in stripes

Here is a shirt you can wear week after week, year after year. Hathaway's Oxford cloth is stahwart stuff.

Laundering just adds to its softness. And not one grain of starch is needed to keep it looking crisp all day.

Hathaway tailors this all-cotton fabric with their usual generosity. Extra-strong stitches. Extra-long tails. And plenty of room across shoulders and chest.

first through the left rear window of the car, and hung half in and half out, bleeding profusely.

Carver sailed over the top of the auto, struck the metal fence of the playground, bounced off and landed on the ground unconscious.

Both youths suffered extensive and serious injuries, including several broken bones. At Bon Secours Hospital, where both were taken, doctors found it necessary to remove Welsh's right eye. He was given a slim chance to live, but later he amazed the doctors with his recuperative powers. Carver has recovered.

Because the motorcycle had been stolen in Detroit, disposition in the matter was referred to Detroit authorities.

Hearing Postponed

A hearing in the Farms Municipal Court in the matter of the August 27 accident that occurred near the Grosse Pointe boulevard-McKinley place intersection, has been indefinitely postponed, but if one of the youths, who suffered a serious brain injury, mends well, a court appearance may be scheduled for sometime in January, it was revealed by Det. Joseph Miller, who is keeping track of the matter.

Injured in this accident were Richard Schulte, 20, of 30 Westwind, who suffered a broken pelvis and leg, and a fractured vertebra, and Douglas J. Palazolo, 19, of 1149 Lakepointe, who suffered a bad brain concussion and was on the critical list at Bon Secours for a long time.

A Farms police report, at the time, showed that Schulte, whose operator's license had been revoked for three years by the Secretary of State's Office in Lansing, because of a bad driving record, was the driver of the vehicle, borrowed from a friend.

Was Going 100 MPH

Schulte was driving on the boulevard at what was said to be 100 miles an hour, and as he approached the McKinley place intersection, the youth shifted the car's gear from fourth into second, which froze the rear wheels and caused the auto to spin out of control.

The car, a Stingray, skidded 298 feet, turned partly around, jumped the curb and smashed sideways into a stone pillar, shearing it from its base and knocking down a section of an wrought iron fence on the property of John Suargo, 44 Beverly.

The Stingray, valued at $6,400, was a total loss. Damage to the private property was $400.

Schulte is charged with driving while his license was revoked and not having the car under control and causing an accident.

A hearing before Farms Municipal Judge William Connolly has been set for January 18, for James A. McKluskey, 21, of 396 Lenox, Detroit, who is charged with not having his to receive a call and have a crime take place. This is the best kind of action against crime, cooperation between citizens and their police department."

TELEVISION STOLEN

Michael Schouman, 17820 Mack avenue, called to report that sometime after 9 a.m. on Monday, November 28 someone entered his apartment and stole a television set. Chief Andrew C. Teetaert and Patrolman Richard Lanski found that the front door lock had been broken. Police are investigating.

Culprit Clams Up

At the station, investigation of the crime was turned over to Det. Lt. Arnold Hough and Det. James LaPratt, who before questioning Schreiner, informed him as did the arresting officers, of his constitutional rights. Schreiner refused to make any statements at all, the detectives said.

The detectives petitioned the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office for warrants charging Schreiner with assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder, and gross indecency, the latter charge stemming from circumstances that occurred before police arrived at the scene.

The similarity of the latest crime to that of the City's July 18 incident, described by City Police Chief Andrew Teetaert as "the most vicious seen in my 30 years of police work", led to the belief that it is possible that the crime might have been committed by the same person. Another crime of the same nature was committed in Detroit recently.

In both the City and Detroit assaults, the girls' assailant wore a stocking-mask over his head and face.

Chief Louwers Comments

Regarding the arrest of Schreiner by his patrolmen, Chief Louwers had this to say: "By the simple observation of this woman witness and her prompt call regarding her concern over what she rightly believed to be suspicious action, our officers were able to make an immediate arrest of a vicious criminal, who could have gone on and on with his activities.

"This is the kind of action and response we want from our citizens. Without the cooperation of the citizenry in reporting crimes or suspicious incidents, our police are helpless unless the officer themselves are witnesses to crimes.

She Wasn't Afraid

"The woman who called our department, was not afraid of being involved, nor was she, as many citizens assume, afraid of 'bothering' police with something that might be unimportant. She is deserving of the highest praise for what she did.

"We of the police in the Pointe do not care if a person calls 100 times on the slightest suspicious thing that might occur near his home, or in his neighborhood, or if we receive calls on the slightest noise that is heard, because somewhere along the line, one such call might stop such a crime, or worse as that which happened Wednesday.

"We need the help of citizens. Any person calling need not give his or her name, just tell us what might have been seen or heard, and we will do the rest. We are happy to be 'bothered' because, as I have said before, it is better to check out a call and find nothing amiss, than not

Village Bulletin Board Serves Many Purposes

There's a little stuffed dog that is probably going to spend Christmas on the Bulletin Board in The Village at 16849 Kercheval avenue. Once white, with light brown spots and one of its floppy ears thumbacked to the board, it has the authentic bedraggled look of a well loved toy; it's been there almost a year.

"Sometimes a pair of spectacles or a toy like this one will stay on the board for months before someone walks in and says in surprise, 'Why, that's mine!'" said Bill McCourt, owner of Mr. McCourt Shoes which has provided this service to the community since August, 1964. "One little girl's purse hung there many days before it was claimed. When the owner finally came in she found the same dollar's worth of change that she had lost in it."

The board carries posters announcing events and opportunities of current interest, but most fun of all are the "personals," usually put up by kids.

"I think more puppies and kittens have changed hands than anything else, but we've had ads for furniture, and once someone sold a tuxedo," commented McCourt.

Currently there is a notice up for a "dog trainer" who wants work "only for those living in the Park or City, preferably (with) a large dog with papers." There is an ad for guitar lessons and one for kittens, "healthy and housebroken." Last year there was a "dog runner" and a little boy selling baby rabbits, who rushed in to take the notice down conscientiously the instant they were all sold.

McCourt admitted he had to keep watching what goes up to keep it current and prevent occasions like the one where teenagers advertised an open house on a certain date at a certain home with the added inducement of "no chaperones." Often there are dozens of ads from baby sitters. "Occasionally we will see a harassed father or his way home from the office come in and start copying them down," said McCourt. Everyone is welcome at the board which proclaims: FEEL FREE TO USE AT YOUR CONVENIENCE.

"Sleigh Ride," "Gesù Bambino"; "Happy Sounds Everywhere," a fourteenth century tune accompanied by Pam Hassig on chimes; and "O Tidings Great and Wondrous", with a woodwind quartet complementing the girls' lilting voices. These instrumentalists are: — Sara Moran (flute), Sara Massey (clarinet), Cindy Curtiss (oboe), and Cindy Johnson, (bassoon).

Twelve girls who have demonstrated exceptional singing ability make up the Select Girls' Ensemble. These are: — Carla DiCicco, Barbara Waggett, Janeen Carnaghi, Linda Boland, Nancy Veit, Jane Shisler, Lynne Montgomery, Jane Edson, Kathy Krieger, Sue Schim, Marty Schmelz and Wendy Klein. They will present Rozsa's "Adoration of the Magi", from the movie "Ben Hur", and "The Sleigh (a la Russe)".

Another specialized group is the Double Quartet, consisting of: — Barbara Waggett, Janeen Carnaghi, Sue Schim, Lynne Montgomery, Thom Edmondson, Jim Hooper, Dave Wible, and Dennis Uhalik. These ninth grade students have prepared "O Leave Your Sheep", a French carol.

The 75-member ninth grade glee club will present three unusual vocal numbers. The first, "Mistletoe", is a Fred Waring arrangement of Toti's composition. "Do You Hear What I Hear?" by Rigney and Shayne will be accompanied by Wendy Klein (finger cymbals), Doug Slocum (snare drum), and Dave Beard (tympni). Their third offering has an interesting history:

A few years ago, a group of 180 teenagers of all races and religions, meeting at a summer workshop, high in the California mountains, discovered and started singing a song called "Let There Be Peace On Earth (Let It Begin With Me)". They felt that singing the song created a climate for world peace.

These inspired youths started the singing of the song in their schools and churches of all faiths throughout the Los Angeles area.

The idea began to snowball. Everywhere — churches, schools and organizations heard of the project and started using the song.

Coast-to-coast TV and radio personalities and shows started featuring it, too.

This movement the teenagers started is now international. In February, 1958, "Let There Be Peace On Earth" was awarded the George Washington Honor Medal by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge for "Outstanding achievement in helping to bring about a better understanding of the American Way of Life."

The number is most impressive as part of the Christmas theme.

Piano accompanists for the various numbers include seven girls: Sue Buttrey, Mardy Schmeiz, Kathy Krieger, Jane Edson, Wendy Nelson, Kathy Mast and Debbie Fisher.

There is no admission charge.

with early Christmas shoppers despite the unChristmas-like weather.

The youngsters will be delighted come Christmas morning, according to all the neighborhood Santas. The beauty salons are really humming, getting the ladies of the Pointe all set for the holiday parties. As for the gentlemen, the men's departments have been busy as bees coming up with interesting gifts for papa. Milady won't be forgotten in the gift department either, since the men have been so ably assisted by "Men's Night."

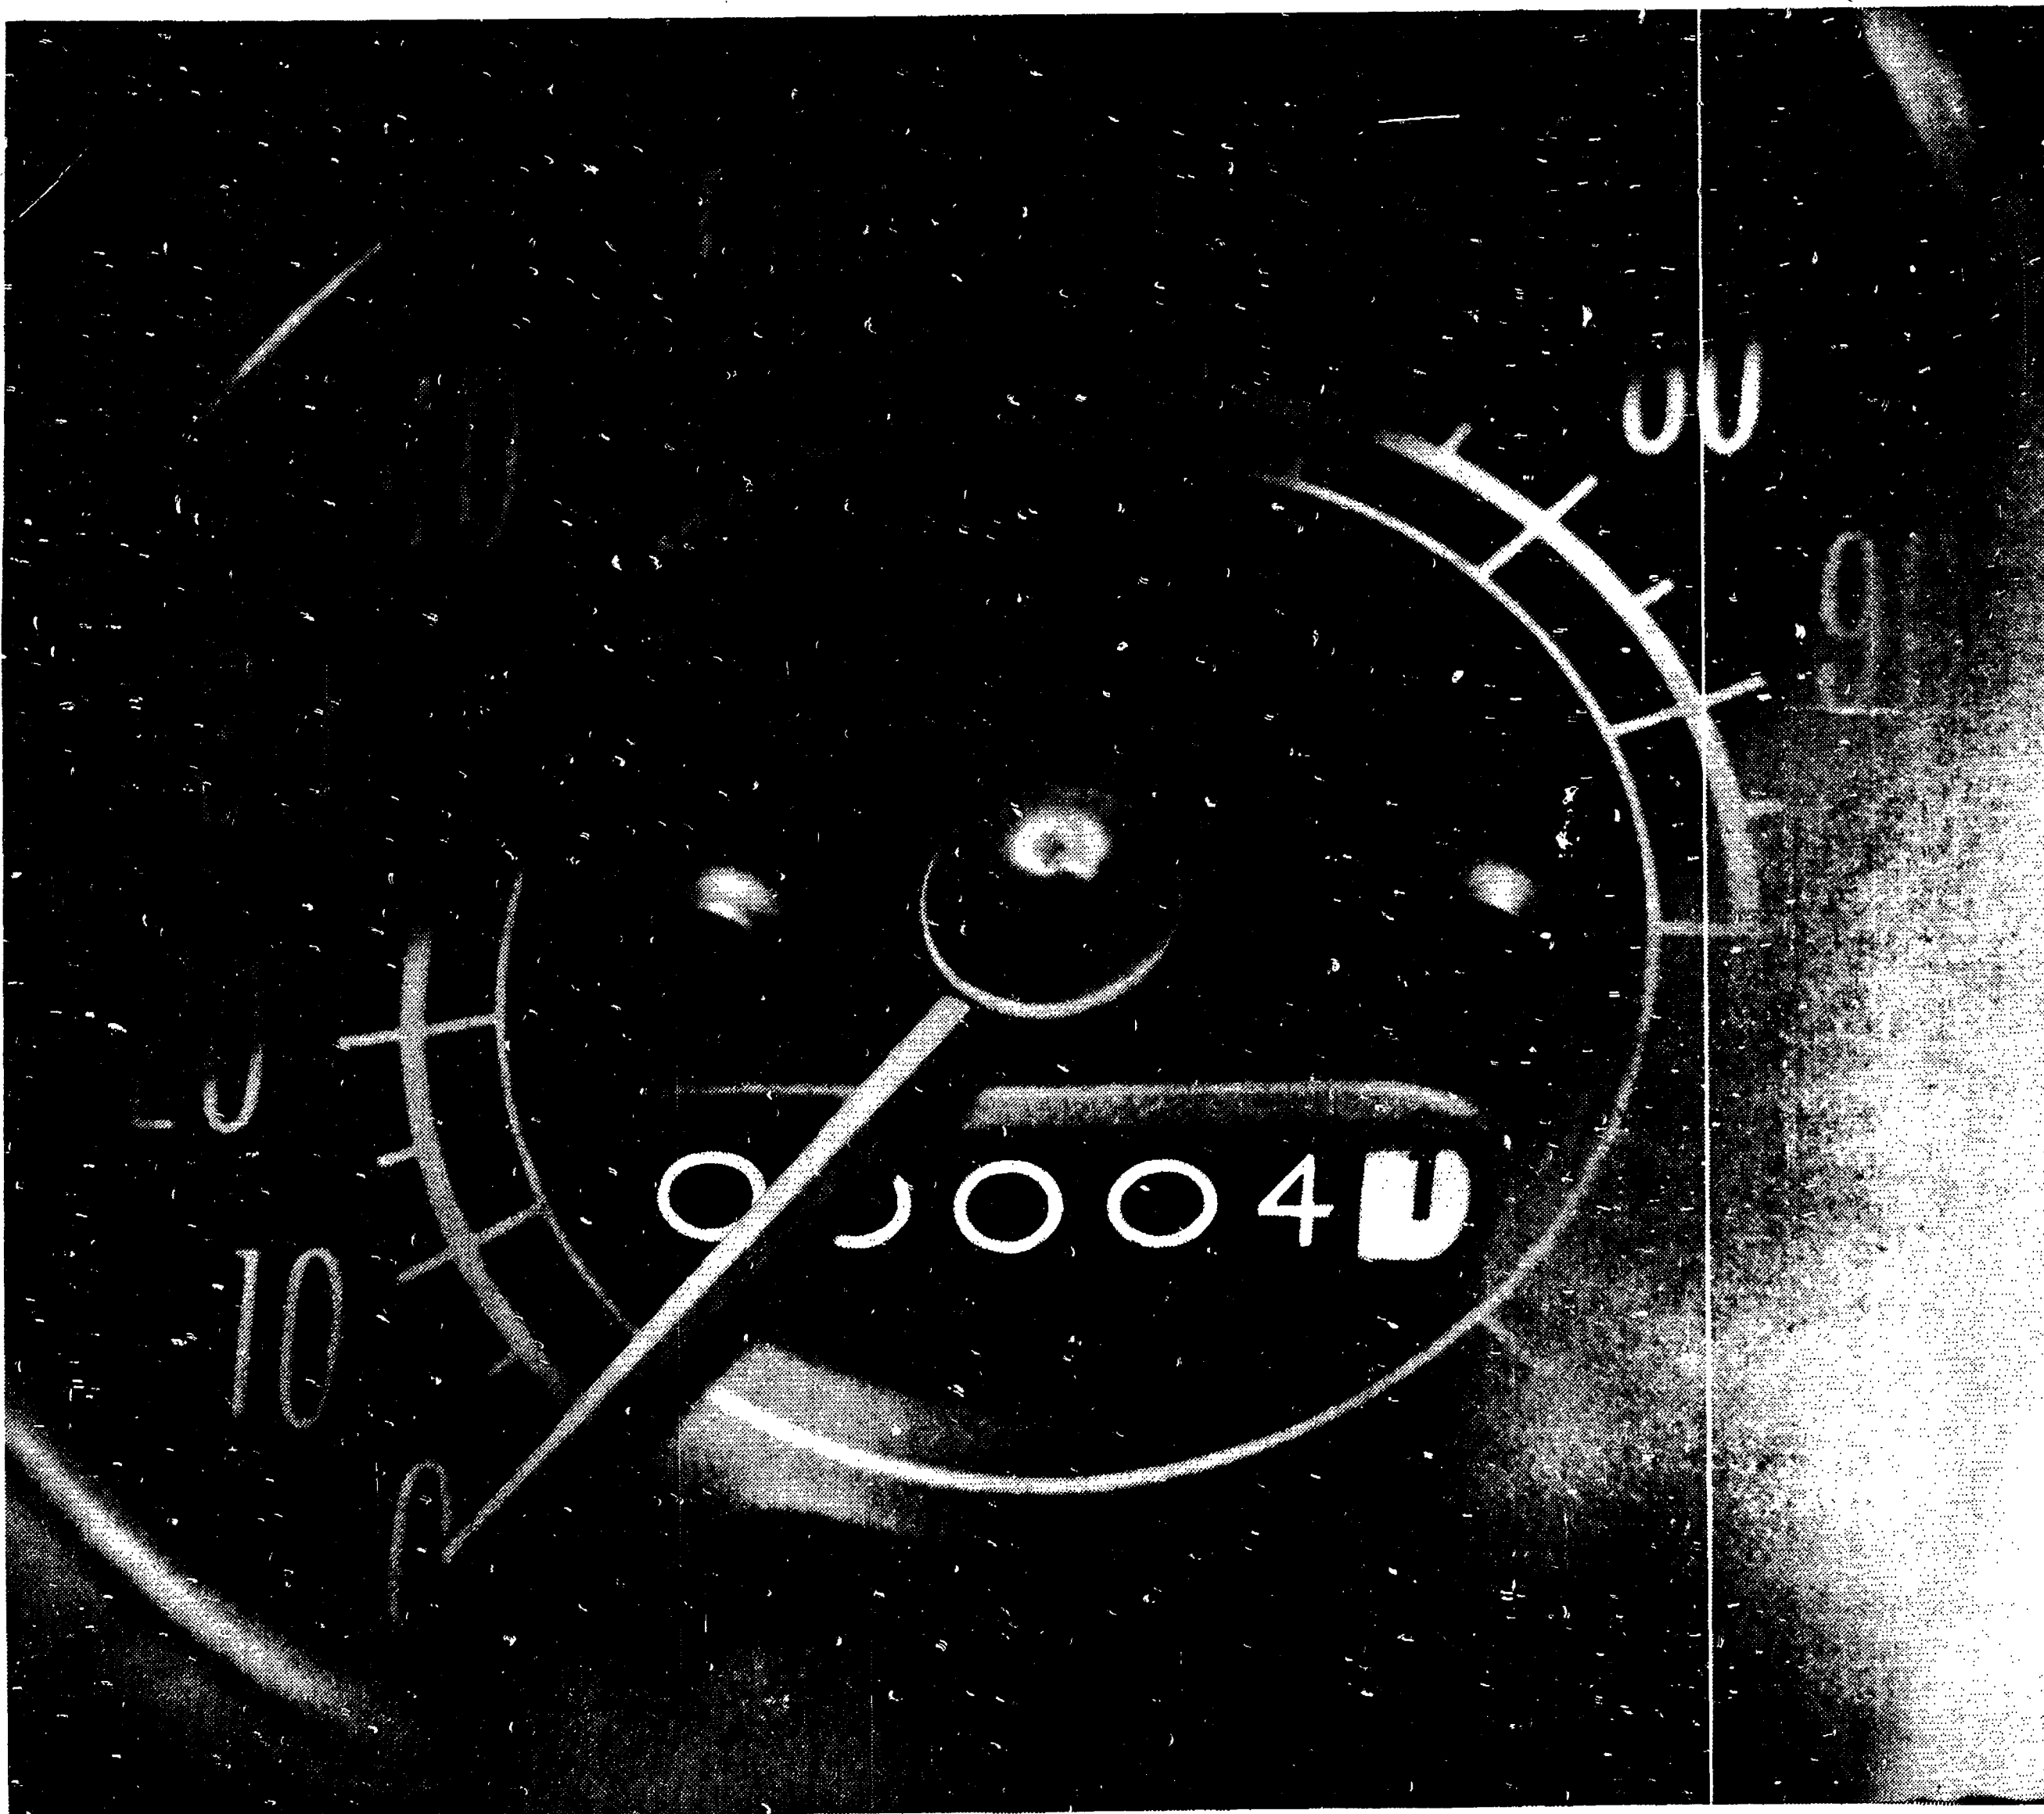

The general Christmas forecast in The Pointe is "Busy, happy and organized."

The time to think about selling a car is before you buy it.

When it's all said and done, most of us buy a new car because of how it looks and handles. Which helps explain all of the '67 Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles, Buicks and Cadillacs you see on the road. But we at General Motors have always thought a new car should bring you more than just new car excitement. We think it should bring you a good return on your investment come trade-in time, too. And resale prices show our GM cars do just that. In fact, most GM cars historically have the highest resale values in the industry. And indications are that history will repeat itself again this year. Look to the General Motors mark of excellence. It's your sign of a car that will look as good to the second owner as it will to you. It's something to think about.

The break-in was discovered by Philip Virga of 22860 Roxann, East Detroit, a gardener employed by the Beitzels, when he arrived at the house to shovel snow at about 9:30 p.m.

According to information given to Farms police, Virga discovered the garage doors, the inside door of the house, and the glass porch door, all open.

Since the Beitzels were temporarily absent from home, the gardener call Mr. and Mrs.

Jerome Huvaere of 459 Belanger, son-in-law and daughter of the owners of the invaded house, who in turn called police.

Investigating officers said that initial entry into the abode by the burglar was done by removing a 12x14 inch pane of glass from the rear house door.

The residence was completely ransacked, but it is not known if anything is missing.

Det. Sgt. George Van Tiem and Det. Joseph Miller, who have been assigned the case, said they are still investigating the matter.

Most men have theories, but it's application that counts.

That Cat Helps Mistress Shop

Two of the cutest Christmas shoppers On-the-Hill Friday, December 2, were young Michele Poulik and her gray and white kitten.

Blond-haired Michele is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. D. Poulik, of Meadow lane. Wide-eyed "T. C." is one of the few cats we know with a wardrobe.

In Friday's icy temperatures he was wearing a knitted green turtle neck with contrasting stripes that perfectly fitted his three-month size. His mistress explained that he also has a cookout costume, with chef's cap and apron.

"His name - T. C. - comes from That Cat, which is what Mom says when he sometimes jumps on furniture or breaks dishes," explained Michele before she ducked into another store. We gathered that he had started life with the Pouliks as Leo Apple-o, an incorporation of the family's preference in names.

"Waaa!" said T. C., whom Michele had left tied firmly outside the shops, to his admiring audience.

Yule Carnival Opens Dec. 11

Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh has announced December 11-20 as the dates of the 1966 Christmas Carnival at Cobo Hall.

The carnival is a collection of colorful displays and children's participation activities built around a holiday theme.

It officially will be opened, Sunday, December 11, at 1:30 p.m. when the thousands of lights used in the carnival are turned on. At the same time the Municipal Christmas Tree at the foot of Woodward and other decorated trees along Jefferson avenue in the Civic Center area will be lighted.

The annual holiday show will be held in Halls A and B of the city's multi-million dollar convention facility. It will be open daily from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. with these exceptions: December 11, 1:30-9 p.m.; December 24 and 29, 9 a.m.-6 p.m., and Christmas Day, closed.

"We are proud that this is the fifth year the City of Detroit, in cooperation with business and industry, is offering this free Christmas show to the public," Mayor Cavanagh said. "A warm invitation is extended to families everywhere to attend this outstanding holiday event," he added.

Christmas Carnival was begun in 1962 by Mayor Cavanagh when the Ford Rotunda was destroyed by fire, depriving Detroit-area children of Ford's annual Christmas Fantasy.

Last year the carnival was attended by 306,236 persons. The total four-year attendance is 1,362,918.

The entire show is placed in a fairyland setting of snow, giant lollipops, toys and gaily lighted trees.

Materials used for the show include 25 pine trees, 110 trees of other varieties, 1,000 strings of lights, a ton and a half of artificial snow and a ton of sand.

This year's expanded Christmas Carnival will feature several new displays, including children-sized public telephone booths from which youngsters can make direct telephone calls to Santa's workshop. His elves will be on hand to talk to the children and to find out what they want for Christmas.

Santa himself will also listen to the children's wishes in his castle, where they will receive free candy and comic books.

Favorite features returned from previous years will be the puppet palace, puppet theater, snowman slide, fire engine, circus, Santa's animal land, the toy shop, model trains and the Nativity scene.

Framed in a backdrop of sand, palm trees and live animals, the creche is one of the most elaborate and inspirational displays ever presented at the carnival.

As the focal point of the carnival, the Department of Parks and Recreation will create a spectacular arrangement of lighted trees, fountains which shoot up 20-foot sprays of colored water and four winter scene displays with animated figures.

Parks and Recreation will present a "do-it-yourself" Christmas decorations exhibit. Department personnel will show visitors how to make holiday decorations for the door and mantel from evergreen boughs and trim.

While the youngsters enjoy a number of "climb-on" tot lot toys, parents can relax nearby at a comfortable refreshment stand and can watch their children at play.

Carnival officials ask that photographers come equipped with battery-powered lights for movie cameras or flash units for still cameras.

Some displays may be photographed with available light, but many require artificial lighting.

Films to Show Canadian Way

Rafting down a wild river, an all-girl rodeo, and cruising the Inside Passage to Alaska are among highlights of Don Cooper's new color film, "Western Canada-Canadian Rockies-British Columbia Coast" on the Grosse Pointe World Adventure Series program Wednesday, December 14.

Program time is 8 p.m. at Parcels Auditorium, Mack avenue at Vernier road.

Cooper, Montana-born humorist and Alaska lumberjack, explores the vast Canadian West from Alberta's rolling prairies, through the towering Canadian Rockies, along the rugged British Columbia coast. He pictures Edmonton, Calgary, Indian dances, Jasper National Park, Banff, Prince Rupert, Vancouver, Victoria, and up the Inside Passage by ferry to Wrangell and Haines, Alaska.

"Coop" also films grizzly bears, moose, and other wild life; salmon fishing, canoeing on the Peace River, camping out, all narrated in his hilarious, laugh-a-minute style.

Tickets and illustrated program information for this and other Grosse Pointe World Adventure Series programs is available at the World Adventure office, open 12 to 5 every afternoon except Monday, in the Detroit Institute of Arts.

YOUR FAMILY BANKING CENTER HAS A WAY TO SEND YOUR 7-YEAR-OLD THROUGH COLLEGE

Seven going on seventeen. College is ten years away but now is the time to see us. Let us show you how your Family Banking Center can help you prepare for it.

For example, there's a way of earning a special 5% rate of interest. It's our TimeDeposit plan. You start with a thousand dollars, add to your account with deposits of one hundred dollars or more. Your money earns 5% annual rate, starting the minute you make your deposit and compounded every three months.

But this is only one way we have of helping you save. It may be that saving more often, in smaller amounts, fits in better with your scheme of money management. In that case, we'll recommend our Check & Save Plan that automatically transfers money from your checking account to a Regular Savings account that pays 4% annual rate, compounded quarterly.

When college time comes you'll have the money you planned on. If more is needed, we can help with a College Loan, too. Let us contribute to your college plans with sound advice as well as compound interest.

Christmas Tree Species Characteristics Explained

Practically all of the natural Christmas Trees being offered for sale on local retail lots are either Scotch Pine, Spruce, Balsam Fir, or Douglas Fir. Nearly 80 percent of local trees are Scotch Pine this year. There are very few Douglas Fir available, and good Spruce or Balsam Fir trees are somewhat scarce. These various species have rather different characteristics.

Music Research Team Arrives

A two-member research team arrived in Detroit Monday, December 5, from Washington to spend two weeks in close consultation with the administration of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and with local music educators.

Announcement of the visit was made by Howard Harrington, general manager of the Detroit Symphony. Detroit is one of 21 cities in the United States to be selected for study by the Arts and Humanities Program, U.S. Office of Education, as part of an extensive analysis of youth symphony concerts and related educational activities.

The study was developed for the Office of Education by the American Symphony Orchestra League, and is being administered jointly by the American University, Washington, and the League.

The two orchestra and music education researchers who will be documenting a case study report locally are Franz Bibo and Martin LeBeau.

Bibo, symphony and opera conductor from New York City, has a substantial record of musical accomplishment on the podium, both in this country and Europe. He began his musical training in Berlin, Germany, was graduated from the Mannes College of Music, in New York, has a Baccalaureate from New York University and a Masters degree from the Juillard School of Music.

From 1951 to 1961, Bibo was conductor of the City Symphony of New York. He then received an appointment to Oberlin College Conservatory as conductor of the Oberlin Orchestra, Chamber Orchestra and Opera Theatre. Bibo has been the recipient of two conducting grants: from the Rockefeller Foundation in 1956, and from the Ford Foundation in 1962.

Sharing the Detroit assignment with Bibo will be Martin LeBeau, an experienced teacher of instrumental music. For the past six years LeBeau has held positions in elementary and secondary schools in the Arlington, Va., public school system.

He has served as conductor of the Virginia All-State String Orchestra, and has headed string section work in the Virginia State Summer Music Camp. LeBeau is a violist as well as teacher, and has been a member of several orchestras.

He has degrees from two universities: a Baccalaureate in Music Education from Northwestern University and a Masters in Music from the University of Virginia.

REVEALS THEFT

Max Cowley of 397 Rivard boulevard, informed Farms police on Monday, November 28, that while his car was parked in front of 111 Lake Shore road, an unknown person stole three hubcaps from the vehicle. The value of the loss was not given.

Driver Consents To Alcohol Test

Victor A. Lambrecht, 51, of 1039 Beaconsfield, arrested by Woods police on Sunday, November 27, consented to taking a blood alcohol test at Bon Secours Hospital, which resulted in his receiving a violation ticket for driving while intoxicated.

Lambrecht was arrested by Patrolman Bruce Marone at 10:25 p.m. when he (Lambrecht) was seen speeding 45 miles an hour east on Mack avenue, a 30-mile speed zone.

The officer said he motioned the motorist to the curb, but was ignored. Lambrecht was finally brought to a stop at the Lannoo intersection in Detroit.

The patrolman said that when he talked to Lambrecht, the man's speech was slurred and he swayed back and forth while trying to get his operator's license after he was ordered out of the car.

Lambrecht was taken to the station, where he was informed of his rights, and asked for his consent for a blood alcohol test.

termination of war contracts. He was also a member of a committee studying changes in appropriation procedures in Congress affecting long-term projects. During these years, he also served as chairman of various AICPA committees dealing with accounting problems of war-time production.

More recently, Mr. Bailey served as consultant to the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System in its study of consumer credit regulations. In 1958 he was accounting consultant to the statistical division of the United Nations Secretariat.

At the state and local level, Mr. Bailey was active in many of the civic and charitable organizations of Michigan. He was associated with the Detroit Community Fund—now the United Community Services—since its inception in 1918 and was trustee of Grace Hospital and the Visiting Nurse Association. Mr. Bailey was also active in the formation of the United Foundation which was the first organization to develop the concept of united fund-raising for national and local charities which is now recognized in hundreds of cities throughout the U.S. Other organizations in which he was active were the United Health and Welfare Fund of Michigan, the Southeastern Michigan Metropolitan Community Research Corporation and the Citizens Research Council of Michigan. He was also a director of the Detroit Board of Commerce, the Economic Club of Detroit and the Michigan Manufacturers Association. He joined the accounting firm of Ernst & Ernst in Cleveland shortly after graduation and moved to Detroit with the firm in 1916. He became partner in charge of the Detroit office in 1922 and continued to serve with the firm until 1947.

Later that year, after forming George Bailey & Company, he merged his practice with two other firms to become Touche, Niven, Bailey & Smart. The present name of the firm was adopted in 1959. He became executive partner in 1947.

An active clubman, he was a member of the Country, Athletic and Golf Clubs of Detroit, Detroit Club, Recess Club and Upsilon League Club of New York, Bohemian Club in San Francisco and the Thunderbird Golf and Country Club, Palm Springs, California.

Library Offers Christmas Film

The special Christmas Film Program will be held at Central Library in the Exhibition Room on December 16 at 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. The same program will be repeated on Saturday, December 17, at 10:30 a.m. at the Woods Branch and at 2:30 p.m. at the Park Branch. The film program has been especially planned to add to the excitement and enchantment of the holiday season for both children and adults.

A LITTLE CHILD—15 minutes, color — The traditional Christmas story is here depicted in a refreshing manner—a pageant given by a group of very small school children. It is sometimes very amusing, but always reverent and appealing.

WHITE WILDERNESS — LARGE ANIMALS—22 minutes, color—Shows various species of the larger wild life to be found in the wilderness of the Arctic region. In this section we see the musk ox, caribou, reindeer, and the wolverine. The wolverine is continually on the move and can handle five times his own weight in combat. (Walt Disney Production).

CHRISTMAS CRACKER — 9 minutes, color — A sparkling film frolic created by Canada's artists and animators. Norman McLaren puts the crackle in the titles and as in all Christmas reveals, a jester opens the frolic. It will appeal to all ages.

The evening programs are for children, accompanied by adults; the two daytime programs on December 17 are for adults and children too but may be attended by children unaccompanied by adults.

The Grosse Pointe Public Library has Christmas records and tapes available for the holiday season. These items are listed by title and composer in special drawers at the general public catalog in each building.

Hens laying eggs may be affected by that age old practice of "keeping up with the Jones." A report from Pennsylvania State University indicates that a pullet lays better if housed in a pen containing only other pullets like her in age, size and development. New pullets may be retarded by the "bossism" of older hens.

University School News

The field hockey team has just completed its fourth consecutive undefeated season with a six-game schedule. Kingswood was the only school to score a goal against G.P.U.S. Five of the six games were won without being scored upon by the other teams.

No little credit should go to the coach, Miss Muriel Brock. Her roommate, Miss Carol Fenley, describes Miss Brock as "efficient and conscientious." She is also extremely dedicated to the students, to coaching, and to the school. Now in her eleventh year at the University School and has good reason to be optimistic about the future.

Of the 11 members of the varsity team four are sophomores and two are juniors so that over half of this year's team will be returning. In addition the junior varsity just completed its second undefeated season. Of the girls on this team only three are seniors, six are juniors, and eleven are sophomores and freshmen.

On November 19 the annual field hockey playday was held at Liggett. Six teams competed and were judged on key hockey tactics by members of the Detroit Field Hockey Association. The following from G.P.U.S. were selected for the First All Star Team: Betsy Gram, Chrissie McNaughton, Holly Angell, Betsy Wood, Chrissie Johnson, and Susan Sarge (Honorable Mention). These girls represent almost half of the First All-Star Team.

For the Second All-Star Team Jane White and Florrie Ledyard were chosen. The girls chosen for the Reserve Team were Patty Riddleberger, Kitty Wilkins and Jan DuCharme. Of all the girls named to the various All-Star Teams only four out of 11 are seniors.

With these victories behind her and so much returning potential, Miss Brock has every reason to feel confident about the future. Her enthusiasm and rapport with the students is a basic ingredient for her success.

Backing Driver Causes Accident

Mrs. Vivian F. Frelzka, 59 Seward, Detroit, failed to yield the right of way to James R. Taugner, 42 Warner, while backing out of a driveway at 315 Washington road, on Tuesday, November 29.

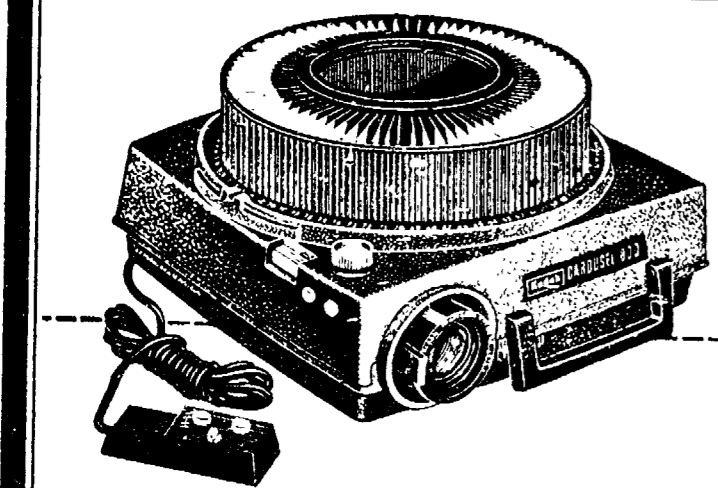

She caused Taugner to run into her car. Both parties reported the accident to City Police, who issued Mrs. Frelzka a violation ticket for failure to yield the right of way.

Both cars were taken to Van and Son Collision Shop. The Frelzka car, a 1959 Chevrolet, sustained minor damages. The Taugner vehicle, a 1963 Mercury, had approximately $700 damage.

Four Routes to Florida

The winter exodus of Michigan residents to Florida is about to begin. And for those who drive, the going will be faster, safer and more enjoyable than ever before, according to Jerry E. Fisher, Automobile Club of Michigan touring manager.

More than a half million Michiganders are expected to make the trek to the Sunshine State during the next few months, and more than 90 percent of these will go by automobile, Fisher said.

The remainder will take a plane, train, or bus. If time is a factor, it's best to consider flying since jets now make the Detroit to Florida trip in 2½ hours. Six non-stop air flights are now available from Michigan to Florida.

Otherwise, the advantages are with driving. Economy and convenience are the biggest factors. Other things in favor of this method include sightseeing along the way and your own car to use when you get there.

Many improvements have been made in Florida in the last year, the most notable improvement being the completion of I-75 into Tampa from just south of Macon, Ga., a distance of 360 miles. This is the longest stretch of the Interstate system open to traffic anywhere in the U. S.

One-half of Florida's Interstate Highway System is now open to traffic. By the end of 1966, Florida will have put under contract nearly $350 million of new highway construction. Expenditures are expected to continue to run at or near that level until the Interstate program is completed in 1972.

Those driving to Florida should plan to spend at least three days each way—three and a half days if the destination is Miami," Fisher said.

New highway construction has resulted in some changes in routings, but in general they follow Auto Club's four major routings used in other years. For convenience, they are designated as Routes A, B, C, and D.

Take Your Choice
Here is Fisher's brief description of the four routes:
Route A, long voted "most popular" by the majority of Michigan drivers, is 140 miles longer (to Miami) but driving time is the same because it avoids mountains which can be treacherous in winter.

Those from western and central Michigan will follow US-33 and US-31 to Indianapolis, I-65 to Louisville, the Kentucky Turnpike, and on to Birmingham, Montgomery and Tallahassee. Or they can go from Indianapolis to Cincinnati and then take Route B the rest of the way.

Route B is the most direct for Jackson area and Detroit residents. US-127, US-25, I-75, and US-25 are utilized to Cincinnati, then on through Lexington, Knoxville, Atlanta, Macon and on to Florida. Since this route weaves its way through 100 miles of "semi-mountainous" travel in Kentucky and Tennessee, it's a good idea to be sure of the weather ahead before starting out.

Route C Is Longest

Route C is the longest of the four main routes, but is regarded as an "all-year" route and takes advantage of the Ohio and Pennsylvania turnpikes. It still offers some 100 miles of freeway less than the previous two routes. During winter, snow and ice may affect some portions of the route in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Route D is recommended for spring, summer and fall travel. In winter, snow and ice conditions in West Virginia and North Carolina may make roads hazardous. It is scenic, however.

Here's a comparison of the four routes to Florida:
Route Miles 4-Lane Hwy. Toll
A 1,560 1,172 $6.20
B 1,418 1,102 $4.80
C 1,584 1,005 $6.60
D 1,465 762 $4.60

Once in Florida, motorists will find that accommodations are approximately the same as last year. Food, however, is a bit higher in line with prices across the nation. Those who plan to do their own cooking will find some grocery store items are higher than in Michigan.

Few Tough Places

Enroute to Florida, motorists will find that cities which insist upon strict traffic enforcement are fewer than last year. The AAA now lists officially only Livingston, Ky., on Route B's US-25. Coleman, Fla., which is on US-301, recently was removed from the list. Caution is still urged in the smaller towns of the south, however.

The AAA has suggested that motorists using US-301 in Georgia buy their pecans and gasoline in places other than the Ludowici-Long County area. A practice has developed there involving car tampering, phony engine trouble and exorbitant charges for repairs.

For those who don't want to drive, or whose time is limited, flying is the answer. For the first time, both Eastern and Delta airlines will have all Michigan flights to Florida departing from Metropolitan Airport near Detroit. Taking an airplane to Florida can add almost a week to the time spent in the Sunshine State.

Early Reservations

Air travelers are advised to make reservations well in advance of departure dates, since airline officials say the passenger load this winter will be greater than ever before.

One-way fares to Miami from Detroit are: day fares, $92.50 first class and $73.40 tourist class; night fares, $85.10 first class and $57.60 tourist class. Special family-plan fares on these prices are in effect from noon Monday to noon Friday and Midnight Friday to noon Sunday.

Train or bus transportation also is available for those who have the time and want to see the scenery.

Many Florida visitors who travel by air, rail or bus rent a car in Florida. A car may be rented for a flat rate of $99 a week. The driver pays for his own gas, but there is no mileage charge.

Special winter package rates are available in such key cities as Miami, Fort Lauderdale, Palm Beach, Jacksonville, Sarasota, Clearwater, Tampa and St. Petersburg.

Ford to Restore Buried Antique

A story that began with a burial in 1926 hopefully will have a happy ending. Forty years ago, the late Perry Andrews of Detroit tried to sell or give away his 1911 Model T Ford on condition it be preserved intact. He couldn't find a taker.

Even Mr. Andrews' son-in-law, William Morris, Sr., would not promise to leave the car unchanged. He wanted to make it "sportier."

Because Mr. Andrews loved his car as it was, he buried it rather than have it changed. It stayed buried until October of this year.

Then, in two days of digging, a group of antique-car fans led by Edgar A. (Bud) Guest, Jr., popular Detroit radio personality, dug up the relic and took it to the Detroit Historical Museum where it went on display.

Immediately, the museum received a flood of suggestions that the car be restored. Ford Motor Company was among the suggesters, and discussed the project with the Detroit Historical Commission.

The commission decided to restore the car — a brass radiator classic — for permanent display. Mr. Andrews' daughters, Mrs. Morris and Mrs.

Elizabeth Peterhans, transferred the title to the museum. Then, Ford offered to underwrite the cost of restoration, expected to approximate $6,000.

A check for $6,000 has been sent by Ford to the Detroit Historical Commission for the restoration work. The commission is expected to ask the Detroit Common Council to accept the gift. If the contribution is accepted, the commission will engage a restorer and present details of the project to the council for approval.

Maybe so . . . because some folks have our line pegged as purely decorative, not down-to-earth. They don't see the fact for the frou-frou. The fact is . . . Cabin Crafts stresses Beauty and the Basics. We have Wild Ones . . . and Safe Ones. Sensationals . . . and Staples. So why settle for one or the other when you can have both . . . Beauty and the Basics . . . with Cabin Crafts.

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

There'll be a profusion of gold-burnished hydrangeas and handmade roses at one of the largest and loveliest of Grosse Pointe's Christmas Teas, the annual party given by and for the Women of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

Party date is next Tuesday, December 13. Time is 1:30 o'clock. Place, of course, is the Church, in Lakeshore road.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mrs. E. R. Romine and Mrs. L. Eugene Kelly, who have utilized the talents of Mrs. Gilbert Shelton and Mrs. Edward F. Suits, chairman and co-chairman of the Decorations committee, to create unusual, beautiful floral arrangements.

The humble hydrangeas sparkle, and the red roses have been deftly formed into holiday balls, Christmas and topiary trees.

Hands which fashioned all this magnificence belong to Decorations committee members Mrs. Frank Parcells, Mrs. William Fiscus, Mrs. Victor Baculis, Mrs. John Fleck, Mrs. John P. Frazer, Jr., and Mrs. John Krehler. Preceding the tea, there'll be a performance of holiday songs.

Homes Are Open For Christmas Walk

Junior Women's Association For Detroit Symphony Orchestra Sponsoring Traditional Tour Of Residences Today In Pointe

Christmas is right around the corner, as our local merchants are wont to say, and what better way to acquire the Yuletide spirit than to go on the annual Christmas Walk?

The dates are today, Thursday, December 8, in Grosse Pointe, and Friday, December 9, in Birmingham. Hours are 1-5 o'clock both days.

Sponsored by the Junior Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, the Walk features seven handsome homes in the Grosse Pointe and Birmingham areas, all gaily bedecked for the holidays.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Fisher, III, in Lothrop road is an elegant white brick Georgian, shuttered in black. Opening off a lavish gray and white marble entrance hall are rooms carpeted in jewel tones: Brilliant green in the dining room, shocking pink in the library, soft blue in the living room. The decor is a combination of Regency and Classic periods.

The dining room features handsome woodwork brought from an old mansion in New York. Focal point of the muted blue and yellow living room is an Oriental Chippendale breakfast room from the 17th century.

Mrs. Fisher, who says she "loves to decorate for Christmas," promises white and gold trim, an old-fashioned sleigh in the foyer—even a player piano with old Christmas tunes!

The home of The Honorable and Mrs. G. Mennen Williams in Tonawanda place is a lovely traditional red brick house, facing the lake, containing many fine pieces of antique furniture and religious art.

In the living room there is a Spanish traveling desk with inlaid Limoges porcelain tiles depicting the life of Christ. A beautiful Della Robbia Madonna hangs in the dining room, and all through the house are interesting objects d'art.

The air will be filled with the fragrance of the season from ground pine trimmings, and not one, but eight decorated trees!

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schweikart are great "freighter watchers," and they have the perfect vantage point from which to enjoy their pastime. Their handsome Cape Cod house in Windmill Pointe drive is located in the area where ships pass closest to land.

In a spacious family room overlooking Lake St. Clair, colors are keyed to the view. Sea greens and turquoise accents blend with Oriental rattan furniture. Usually there is a telescope set up, and there are many well-thumbed books on shipping to browse through.

Beige, gold and white highlights the entrance hall, dining room and den, which are filled with the Schweikarts' choice collection of china and crystal gathered in their travels around the world. Della Robbia trimmings should truly be the frosting on the cake!

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Sladen, Jr., in Briarcliffe drive is a collector's dream. Chock-full of early Americana, choice needlepoint and heirloom pewter, the house is a replica of the George Wyeth house in Colonial Williamsburg. The Sladens, (he is the headmaster of Liggett School), have used the traditional white walls, Williamsburg blue trim and documentary prints, to which they have added their own family treasures.

Right in the Colonial Christmas spirit, Mrs. Sladen promises apple trees on her mantel, holly trim on favorite pictures, a candle in each window, and best of all, a homemade gingerbread boy cookie for each visitor.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar L. Fink, of Vendome road, have filled their home with 25 years' worth of paintings and memorabilia. Their pride and joy hangs above the fireplace, an 18th century original oil of the Earl of Rutland, Lord Lieutenant Governor of Ireland.

The Finks have created a pleasant mixture of periods—"Just things we happen to like," Mrs. Fink says. This means Chinese Chippendale, Venetian glass, Russian hurricane lamps and an English cellarette.

Their handsome red brick home, trimmed in gray, is Classic Provincial, and was built 25 years ago by the well-known builder Clarence Day.

A 150-year-old English street lamp hangs above the door of the Dwight M. Nelson, Jr.'s Georgian Colonial home in Windmill Pointe drive. The unusual slate entrance hall features wallpaper depicting hunting scenes. The same equestrian theme is carried out in the paneled library and family room.

In the dining room, the blue and white wallpaper is a copy of the pattern selected by Mrs. John Kennedy for the White House Dining Room. There will be a big Christmas tree in the curve of the winding stairway.

The venerable mansion of Mrs. Joseph B. Schlotman in Lakeshore road has seen many a Christmas season come and go since 1917 when the family moved in. The house contains a rich blending of old English oak woodwork, (imported from old pubs, stables and carriage stops, then hand-carved in New York) rare tapestries, oriental rugs and art treasures.

Visitors will see the Music Room, with paintings by Corot and Neuhuis; the library, with paintings by Rousseau, Constable and Turner; and the Stone Room, with a fountain by Janet Scudder.

Also on view will be the breakfast room with walls decorated on plaster, Mr. Schlotman's room with its water colors by Ogden Pliner, and last, the ballroom, complete with two dressing rooms.

Christmas Walk chairmen are Mrs. Thomas Coulter and Mrs. Donald Chamberlin for Grosse Pointe, Mrs. Kenneth W. Cunningham and Mrs. Henry Whitling, Jr., for Birmingham.

Head hostesses in Grosse Pointe homes will be Mrs. Robert L. Rousseau, Mrs. James M. Pierce, Jr., Mrs. Richard T. Heglin, Mrs. Charles M. Endicott, Mrs. Jack Kerns, Mrs. John C. Frost and Mrs. Gene H. Fry.

For ticket information contact Mrs. Richard Noyes, 881-0329, or Mrs. Herbert Christner, MI 4-2235. Tickets are $3 each.

Use scraps of oil cloth to make mats for the children to use at the table when eating or to avoid splashing while painting.

Following the concert, color films of Britain will be shown to complete the festive evening. Paid reservations for this gala are requested at War Memorial this weekend. The cost for dinner, concert, and show is $4, tax and service included.

Lee, whose appearance with the Orchestra was announced in October of this year, recently completed a successful engagement in New York as conductor of the Symphony of the New World. It was his first conducting appearance in his native land in 10 years, and it was reported in the New York Times that "The inescapable conclusion is, he should be around more often."

Lee had been pursuing his career abroad. He currently resides in Sweden, where he is chief conductor of the Norrköping Symphony Orchestra.

A former pupil of Dimitri Mitropoulos and Max Rudolph, he has conducted the New York Center Opera Company, the Boston Pops, the Louisville Philharmonic, the Munchener Opernbühne and the Theatre de la Monnaie of Brussels. He was born in Wheeling, W. Va.

Center Holding English Evening

Grosse Pointe War Memorial's annual and traditional "Evening in Great Britain" will be held in its crystal ballroom and Fries Theatre the evening of Tuesday, December 13, at 7 o'clock.

This year it will feature a concert of Elizabethan airs and carols by the Grosse Pointe Chamber Singers under the direction of William Y. Gard.

The English Christmas banquet will feature roast beef and Yorkshire pudding and flaming brandy-soaked plum puddings for dessert. The ballroom will be beautiful with the Center's Christmas decorations on view for the first time. Guests will be led into dinner with a boar's head procession including the Elizabethan singers.

Following dinner m'lords and ladies will adjourn to the hall below to be entertained by the singers in Elizabethan garb. They will include Jan Wollard, Jeane Zech, Barbara Bailey, Lois Johns, Helen McConachie, Marilyn Stockwell, Nadine Small, Richard Johns, Bill Kelly, Edward Griswold, Jerry Hughes, Richard Trim, Steve Hauser, Bob Wollard and Roger Fitch.

In addition to the traditional English airs and carols, the singers will present a jazz vocal version of Bach's greatest hits as presented by the Swingle Singers.

Following the concert, color films of Britain will be shown to complete the festive evening. Paid reservations for this gala are requested at War Memorial this weekend. The cost for dinner, concert, and show is $4, tax and service included.

Lee, Buswell With Symphony

Conductor Everett Lee and violinist James Buswell, IV, both Americans, will make their first appearances with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra on Thursday and Saturday, December 15 and 17, at 8:30 o'clock in Ford Auditorium.

The program will consist of the Franck Symphony in D minor, the Prokofiev Violin Concerto No. 2, with Buswell as soloist, and the Tchaikovsky "1812" Overture.

Buswell, who began his concert career at seven, has performed with the New York Philharmonic, the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and the Fort Wayne Symphony. His television guest appearances include the "Garry Moore Show," the "Today" show and two performances on "The Voice of Firestone" with Arthur Fiedler.

Buswell was born in Fort Wayne, Ind. The instrument on which he plays is a 1720 Stradivarius known as "L'Evèque."

Sixteen Ehrling, who has been conducting in Europe and his native Sweden, will return to the podium of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra for a special holiday Open Rehearsal on Wednesday afternoon, December 28, at 2 o'clock in Ford Auditorium.

The Orchestra will prepare its annual "Concerto Night" program for Thursday and Saturday performances that week. Open Rehearsal tickets are $1.50, ($1 for student groups), and are available at Ford Auditorium Box Office, telephone 961-0700.

Proceeds will be given to the Orchestra members' supplemental pension fund.

The stately southern magnolia grandiflora which stood in the southwest corner of Wayne County, was 116 feet tall with a crown diameter of 56 feet. The entire top of the dead tree has fallen to the ground and all that remains is a naked stem 60 feet high.

First Society Holds Benefit

A little-known disease, commonly called "lazy eye," is becoming prevalent among children. The disease, Amblyopia, if not corrected in early childhood, will result in blindness in one eye. This will make the afflicted person virtually unemployable in later life.

The eye clinic of Detroit General Hospital was founded in 1927 to treat such eye problems. Every day its facilities are made available to over 150 indigent patients, of which over 30 per cent are children. During 1965 over 27,000 people were treated.

Substantial research has been conducted in Amblyopia, but much of the new equipment for diagnosis and treatment is not available at Detroit General Hospital.

Recognizing the need for increased public support of this problem, the First Society of Detroit, an organization of single adults, has designated that proceeds from its recent benefit be given to the clinic.

The benefit dance was held Sunday afternoon, December 4, at the Detroit Boat Club. The Fenby Carr Quintet and the Jerry Kole Quartet provided the entertainment.

The First Society of Detroit was organized by several young adults who felt a need for an organization through which single people could have an opportunity to contribute to the well-being of the Greater Detroit area, early in 1963.

The group has found that parties for single people only, in gracious settings, achieve this aim in an enjoyable and imaginative manner. Attendance at functions is limited and by invitation only.

First Society members include Roger Arbury, Glynn Armitage, Carey Charles, Mary Lou Dominic, Stuart Dow, Barbara Hafeli, Randolph Hippler, Carmen Jennings, Mary Kay Kahn, Edward Deeb, Richard Osius, William Paddock, Ray Pearson, James Smith, Hilda Taddeo, and Mary Jo Walsh.

At a family dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Rolf, of Newcastle road, announced the engagement of their daughter, RAE NELL ROLF, to Edward M. Turich, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Edward M. Turich, of Washington, Pa.

Miss Rolf attended Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind. Her fiance was graduated from Pennsylvania's Allegheny College, where he affiliated with Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

climaxed by lutefisk, a Scandinavian fish dish.

Lucia this year will be Mary Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Wood. She will be assisted by Thor Peebles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peebles, and Charles Mosher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Mosher. Lucia, who is the symbol of light, and her star boys will enter at dessert time. She will be dressed in a flowing white robe and crimson sash, with a crown of greens and glowing candles on her head and will carry a tray of coffee and Lussekaka rolls.

It's Time Again to Bake Those Christmas Kookies

By Pepper Whitelaw

Never believing myself to be much of a baker, but feeling that Christmas just isn't Christmas without homemade cookies, I try my hand yearly with the same catastrophic results. Fortunately, I have an understanding, thoughtful family that make sure, one way or another that all the cookies are gone (whether eaten, which I sincerely doubt, or fed to my trusty garbage disposal).

But this year, upon opening the cookbook to the gaily colored page that illustrated holiday cookies, I read that with the aid of a cookie press even a rank amateur could produce cookies that would delight the entire family . . . that was all the encouragement I needed . . . this year would be different!

So I began; butter, sugar, flour, flavoring, food coloring, cookies press (the equalizer). I jammed the suspiciously pliant dough into the press, it began oozing out all by itself . . . let's see, the book said if this should happen, the dough needs more flour . . . out of the press this unattractive glob of dough came and back onto the board for more flour . . . then back into the press. All I needed to do now was to turn the little black knob, a half a turn and . . . ough, another mis-shapen glob . . . not at all like the star it promised to be.

After a few more vain attempts, I inserted the little silver disc that was supposed—by some miracle—to form a camel. When my camel came through it looked more like a package of Camels! I then inserted another disc, this was to be a Christmas tree. One drop at a time the green dough fell helplessly onto the cookies sheet . . . a DISCARDED Christmas tree, maybe!

Once again to my trusty mound of dough . . . this time colored red, and to the candy cane disc . . . a limp question mark would be more like it! (Was someone trying to tell me something?) Back to the dough, this time to the green colored mass (mess?) and the wreath disc . . . do I have to say that the wreath turned out to be more like a deflated doughnut?

Another Pointe member of the Bryn Afon staff is Emily Baker, Dean of Girls at The Liggett School. Miss Baker has been affiliated with Bryn Afon for 11 years, and is beginning her third season as assistant director.

Bryn Afon campers from The Pointe during the 1966 season included Catherine Begg, Julie Ingraham, Dorothy Anne Badman, Laurie and Vicki Jennings, Greer Candler, Jana Kirilin, Maureen Cross, Priscilla Mead, Barbara Davenport and Carey Sales.

Ballet Classes Begin at Center

Ballet classes under the direction of Mary Ellen Cooper will begin another term at Grosse Pointe War Memorial, Monday, December 12. Classes are held after regular school during the week and all day on Saturdays. A special class is held for adults on Wednesday evening at 8.

Miss Cooper will take students beginning at age 5. Those who have not studied with her before, she likes to interview so that they will be placed in the proper group according to their ability. Fee for ballet lessons is $24. for the 12-week term, payable upon enrollment.

Miss Cooper is a graduate of the Toronto Conservatory and is a member of the Board of Review for Teachers of the Cecchetti method—the traditional Italian ballet. Daughter of a life-long player with the Detroit Symphony and a concert pianist, Miss Cooper is thoroughly educated musically.

She has taught ballet at Grosse Pointe War Memorial and on the West Coast for the past ten years. Her classes are all accompanied by her concert pianist mother.

Martha Cook Alumnae Set Christmas Brunch

The Detroit Alumnae Association of the Martha Cook Building, University of Michigan, will hold its annual Christmas Brunch Saturday, December 10, at 10:30 o'clock in the Coach House on the grounds of Botsford Inn, Grand River at Eight Mile road, Farmington.

Former residents of the Martha Cook Building may contact Mrs. Russell Peebles, on Bedford road, to secure reservations for the Brunch.

At least silence puts up a bluff that's mighty hard to call.

Unitarians Plan Dec. 13 Meeting

The Women's Alliance of the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday, December 13, at 12:30 in the Fellowship Hall of the church, 17150 Maumee avenue.

Historical Museum Gets Holiday Spirit

Mrs. H. J. Knighton, Of Lakepointe Avenue, and Mrs. Thomas J. Dossin, of Edshire Lane, Have Charge Of Traditional "Hanging Of The Greens"

This Sunday, December 11, will be Family Day at the Detroit Historical Museum, with husbands and children of the members of the Detroit Historical Society Guild joining in putting up trees, stringing lights, hanging decorations and generally preparing the museum for the Yuletide season.

The occasion is the annual "Hanging of the Greens," a much-anticipated event especially for the youngsters, who delight in the old-fashioned custom of stringing popcorn and cranberries and making colorful paper chains.

Mrs. H. J. Knighton, of Lakepointe avenue, chairman, and her co-chairman Mrs. Thomas J. Dossin, of Edshire Lane, have chosen "Christmas Is" as the decoration theme, each area of the museum being designed to express what Christmas means to the Guild members.

Because of the building expansion program of the museum now in progress, the traditional giant Christmas tree usually dominating the round hall will not be used. Instead, Mrs. Charles Conzelman and her committee members will make an arrangement of hymnals—for to them, "Christmas is Carols."

To Mrs. Don R. Sielaff and her committee ladies, who have chosen to decorate the main entrance, "Christmas is Yuletide Greens." They will use swags of evergreens and decorate a tree with old-fashioned ornaments including wax candles in old-fashioned holders.

A tree of greeting cards will welcome visitors at the Kirby entrance arranged by Mrs. L. Bennett Young, since "Greeting Cards" mean Christmas to her. On the Kirby landing, Christmas is expressed in "Brotherly Love" by Miss Marguerite Sherman, with stained glass windows and organ pipes on both sides of the landing.

Traditional holly will be used in great masses in the Hall of Patriotism by Mrs. Richard C. Mitchell and her committee members, who believe "Christmas is Holly." Wreaths and mantel arrangements will bring Christmas to the War Alcove: The Revolution, War of 1812, Civil War and Spanish-American war.

To Mrs. Robert W. Brandon and her helpers "Christmas is Gifts." Their contribution for the stairs to the streets of Detroit will be a tree decorated with Italian lights, red balls and gobs of small boxes of gifts gaily wrapped.

The streets of Detroit will be gay with lavishly decorated store fronts, garlands of greens on the lamp posts and a Nativity Scene as the focal point, for to Mrs. Robert Duwe and her committee "Christmas is the Nativity."

In addition there will be a Christmas tree for the birds generously covered with nuts, dried fruits and suet puddings. Through the use of recordings, wild birds will sing throughout the Yuletide season.

Flying Saucer Lecture Slated at Memorial

Mollie Thompson, who has been touring the United States since July, 1966, will lecture under the auspices of Michigan ESP Research Associates, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial tomorrow evening, Friday, December 9, at 8 o'clock.

Miss Thompson, who is from England, has been speaking about UFO's, (Unidentified Flying Objects), at colleges and universities a cross America. Her lecture is based largely on her own flying saucer experiences.

Mollie writes and records songs, but swears she does not compose them. The humorous lyrics and catchy melodies, she claims, come to her from outer space.

For Mollie, the message of the "space songs" is serious in spite of the humor. The slender young woman, who resembles a grown-up Hayley Mills, has published 10 of the songs and feels they are her mission for a group she calls the "Universal Link." Mollie says the songs contain prophecy.

Mollie is not a wild-eyed kook. She is a composed and witty entertainer, a vivacious woman, a former elementary school teacher in England and a dedicated follower of her admittedly out-of-this-world faith.

Mollie misses teaching, but believes: "Many people can teach little children, while few can make the spiritual contact necessary to understand the cosmic phenomena now surrounding us."

She feels her miss on is "to help prepare humans for the spiritual breakthrough which is coming." She attempts to do this through her songs and lectures.

Mollie made her "actual contact" with flying saucers in 1964 with a group of four others on a beach in England. She says a extrasensory perception, while meditating, literally "received" as if she were a radio set, a message from a being who identified himself as the commander of a saucer.

The voice in the woman's mind informed her of his desire to contact a group of five "believers." Mollie, Anthony Brook, a world traveler and lecturer, the woman, her skeptical husband and another friend went to the appointed place at the appointed time.

Ten minutes later, according to Mollie, a "pulsating yellow-white light of great intensity appeared over our heads and simply formed geometric patterns for 20 minutes before streaking away."

The ESP expert spoke of a feeling of great peace. Mollie was disappointed, since she had expected a tangible contact. She now feels she was "contacted at a subconscious level."

Almost a year later, according to Mollie, "words and phrases and sounds dropped onto my mind. At first, I thought it was my imagination, but I did begin to write them down. They fit together . . . I somehow knew they were to be a song."

A few weeks later, while strumming her guitar, she struck a few chords, then "began to hear a melody." She is not a trained musician and could not write it down. So, she got out a tape recorder and began to sing the songs.
