A SAND TRUCK overturned on a loaded Windsor school bus Wednesday, pouring 10 tons of wet sand over 30 screaming youngsters who were trapped inside the flattened vehicle. Eight of the grade school aged children were either crushed to death or died of suffocation in the sand that fell over the bus. Thirteen others were injured and taken to hospitals. Nine others escaped injury.

CHIEF OF DETECTIVES Vincent W. Piersante will retire on or about January 15, under a cloud of controversy. He will become chief investigator for State Attorney General Frank Kelley's newly-organized crime section. Piersante, 47, with 25 years of police work behind him, was the youngest man in the 101-year history of the Detroit force to become chief of detectives. Commissioner Ray Girardin and Piersante appear to have fallen out over the role Piersante played in the probe of Detroit police operations started a year ago by then-grand juror Edward S. Piggins.

MRS. JOHN F. KENNEDY won her battle to force deletion of certain highly personal passages from a serialization of "Death of a President," the emotion-charged "official" version of the assassination of her husband. The first installment of the serialized version of the book by William Manchester is scheduled to appear in the January 10 issue of Look.

DEFENSE SECRETARY Robert S. McNamara acted on Thursday to curb favoritism which might have allowed professional athletes to avoid the draft by landing choice military reserve assignments. However, he did not acknowledge Rep. Lucien Nedzi's, (D-Mich.) complaint nor did he state that the athletes were shown favoritism. He indicated in a letter to Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, (D-S.C.) chairman of the House Armed Services Committee that starting February 1 all National Guard and Reserve vacancies will be filled on a first-come first-served basis.

MAYOR CAVANAGH, Councilmen Mel Ravitz, James Brickley and Mary Beck were sent color television sets worth $249 each as Christmas gifts by the Detroit Police Officers Association, which bargains with the city for more than 3,000 of the Police Department's 4,500-man force. None of them kept the gifts. Carl Parsell, president of DPOA said "We're going to end up getting hurt by this thing, just on account of these tiny TVs." He said the gifts were "only a friendly gesture."

AMERICAN MOTORS CORP. revealed on Thursday that it has used up almost all of a $75 million loan established last May. Speculation is high in New York and elsewhere that the company is discussing a possible merger with Litton Industries, Inc. in Los Angeles. Litton denied the reports. AMC spokesmen said the company had "no comment" on the Litton report.

Saturday, December 24
AS THE 48-HOUR Christmas cease-fire went into effect on Saturday, the guns fell silent in Vietnam. A military spokesman said the truce was apparently being observed throughout the country except for one incident near Saigon. Ten rounds of small arms fire were received at 7:25 a.m. at the base camp of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division at Dien, about 10 miles north of Saigon. U.S. forces suffered no casualties and did not fire back. There was no official assessment as to whether the firing was due to wrong timing or was a deliberate violation.

DENNIS HALE, 28, sole survivor of the ill-fated Daniel J. Morrell, said from his hospital bed on Friday that he knew of more than 1,000 bad rivets "on the shell" of the vessel and that the port side "leaked like a sieve." He said he thought the vessel was safe because if it wasn't the Coast Guard wouldn't have passed it and the company wouldn't sail it.

Tallest Christmas Display Stands Guard

George P. Johnson, whose business is displays, never fails to come up with a yuletide creation at his home at 1034 Whittier road, to delight the neighborhood and bring pleasure to the thousands who cruise our streets to view the holiday outdoor decorations.

This is what Mr. Johnson has produced this year. The soldier, mounted on a 20-foot square base, and his sentry box, are 50 feet high. Drive by and see for yourself before the season comes to a close.

2 Policemen Hurt Chasing Speeding Kid

Scout Car Called Total Loss After Both Ram Trees After Skidding On Icy Street

Two Park policemen escaped serious injuries when their scout car spun out of control on a slippery Detroit street, and crashed into a tree early Tuesday morning, December 27. Injured were Sgt. Henry Connee and Patrolman Carl Kaartunen, who were pursuing two teenagers speeding at 60 miles an hour. The police car hit the tree, when Connee, the driver, sought to avoid hitting the car they were chasing, when the car struck two parked automobiles, before it, too, smashed into a tree.

Connee and Kaartunen, besides being badly shaken up, suffered facial cuts, and both required stitches to close wounds on their noses, it was disclosed by Police Chief Arthur Louwers. The officers will be required to stay home from work for several days.

Escape on Foot

A 16-year-old Detroit boy, who was driving the pursued car, and Darryl T. English, 17, of 4387 Gilford, Detroit, escaped from the scene, on foot, both uninjured. They were later arrested by Detroit police and released to Park authorities.

Chief Louwer did not disclose how much damage there was to the teenagers' car, but did state that the police car was a total loss.

State Health Department's Alcoholism Program Chief Praises Cottage Hospital

Ralph Daniel Pledges Continued Support In Plan To Establish Center In Nurses' Residence In Ridge Road

Further comment on Cottage Hospital's proposal to establish an alcoholic treatment in the present Nurses' Residence of the hospital, is contained in a letter from Ralph Daniel, Chief of the Alcoholism Program of the State of Michigan Department of Public Health.

Addressed to Ralph L. Wilgarde, Administrator of Cottage Hospital, the letter, dated December 15, follows:

I want to offer my congratulations to you, your Board and your staff on the plans to open an alcoholism treatment program as an adjunct to the services of the hospital. I know that you will be providing a service that has long been neglected by hospitals in your area and that hundreds of alcoholics will have a resource that has previously been denied them.

Many years ago, when we had no real knowledge about the disease concept of alcoholism, we tried to hide this problem and pretend that it did not exist. Now that we know that alcoholism is a respectable health problem, there is no real need to hide it. Most general hospitals provide treatment for the physical results of alcoholism but shy away from a recognition of alcoholism as a treatable problem in itself. Your plans for an alcoholism treatment center mark the first time that a general hospital in your area has squarely faced up to the reality that treating intoxication is not treating alcoholism. Your plans to introduce patients to an understanding of the illness can result in early recognition of serious health problems and an interruption of a progressive illness that would otherwise lead to gradual deterioration of the total life of the patient.

I firmly believe that the time will come when alcoholics in your area will accept the reality of this illness just as readily as they now accept the reality of any other illness that requires hospital care. I think that Cottage Hospital is taking a brave step and I predict that you will serve a large number of Grosse Pointe and Detroit Area people who would otherwise continue to suffer from a treatable illness because no one bothered to provide treatment.

It has been a pleasure to work with you in this planning. You may rest assured that the State Alcoholism Program believes that private general hospitals are the ideal places to initiate alcoholism treatment programs. We want to continue to work with you in the further development of this new service.

Very truly yours,

RALPH DANIEL, Chief, Alcoholism Program

Seek Information In Car Stripping

Shores police are seeking information regarding the stripping of a car belonging to Marvin R. Anderson of 17 South Deeplands, Wednesday evening, December 21.

Det. William Marshall said that the thief, or thieves, stripped the vehicle of $645 worth of equipment, between 7:45 p.m. and 10 p.m., while the car was parked in the driveway in front of the house, and while floodlights were on. No one witnessed the crime, it was said.

The automobile, a 1963 Chevrolet Corvette was stripped of a four-barrel chrome racing carburetor and air cleaner, two chrome valve covers, a fiberglass top, which alone is valued at $350, a silver fiberglass hood with a racing air scoop, and a gear shift knob with the trade name "Hurst" engraved on it.

Anyone with information regarding this theft should contact Marshall at the Shores station, TU 1-5500. The name of the informant will be kept confidential.

Farms Police Arrest Cleaner Employee Who Tried To Shoot Woman Twice; Gun Misfires Both Times

Abram Oates, 54, of 2639 West Philadelphia, Detroit, stood mute to a charge of assault with intent to commit murder, and a plea of innocent was entered for him by Farms Municipal Judge William Connolly, at a hearing held on Thursday, December 22.

The judge set bond at $10,000, and Oates was remanded to the Wayne County Jail in default of the bond until his examination, held yesterday, December 28.

Oates was arrested on Wednesday, December 21, and the following morning was arraigned before Judge Connolly, who signed a warrant approved by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office, accusing Oates of assault with intent to murder Ada Scott, 48, of 2626 Courtland, Detroit, an employe of the Upper Mack Cleaners, 18500 Mack avenue.

Gun Misfired Twice
According to information released by Farms Police Chief Jack F. Roh, Oates twice attempted to shoot Mrs. Scott, but each time the gun, a .22 caliber R.S.T. revolver, of Italian make, misfired.

Chief Roh said that the gun was tested at the Farms police range, and was found to be in working order. The bullets in the gun, when Oates pulled the trigger, apparently were defective. The hammer pin marks were clearly visible on the shell rims, the chief added.

Mrs. Scott appeared before Judge Connolly and swore out a complaint against Oates, who has been working with her at the cleaning establishment.

The attempted shooting was witnessed by Gerald Denomme of 460 McKinley, owner of the place, and his son, William, same address, and another employe, Mrs. Flossie Simrel, 49, of 1600 Seward, Detroit.

Police Summoned
When police received a call at 3 p.m., that a man with a gun was in the cleaners establishment, Farms Patrolmen Francois Belanger and Thomas Kelly, were dispatched to the (Continued on Page 2)

Burglar Gets At Xmas Packages

Manuel Papista, 907 Washington road, reported to City Police on Tuesday, December 20, that his residence had been entered and robbed. Officers Virgil G. Beaurpe, William Plumb and Gerard DeBoever reported, upon investigation, that the house had been completely ransacked by persons unknown.

Thirty-eight Christmas packages had been torn open. A preliminary check revealed that $110 in bills, 14 silver dollars, 10 Kennedy half dollars, one 1908 quarter and three bottles of liquor were missing.

The police took a record album, a child's bank and a coffee pot to the station and dusted them for fingerprints. Good prints were taken off of the record album. Footprints were also discovered around the house.

There were no sign of forcible entry.

Belligerent Driver Faces Six Park Police Charges

Park police filed six charges against Creighton Thomas, 23, of 826 North Shore drive, St. Clair Shores, on Friday, December 23.

Thomas, according to Det. Lt. Stanley Enders, is charged with improper parking, resisting arrest, driving while under the influence of alcohol, malicious destruction of public property, assaulting a police officer in the performance of his duty, and failing to change the address on his license. The first charge led to the others, it was said.

Thomas was released on $100 bond, pending a hearing in the Park Municipal Court on January 18.

The chain of offenses began at about midnight Friday, when police received a call that a motorist was blocking the entrance to the DSR bus terminal at the rear of the White

Achievements Told in List Of Programs

All Five Municipalities Able To Look Back With Pride; Hope To Continue Pace In '67

The Pointes can reflect with pride and a sense of accomplishment, come the new year.

The year 1966 has meant progress, toward better living conditions, toward better educational and recreational facilities, and toward better government.

In the City, '66 saw the completion of 1.3 million dollar sanitary and storm sewer relief program. Substantial progress was made toward the completion of the $140,000 sewage pumping station renovation and improvement program.

The initiation of a comprehensive study of the City's water distribution system was seen, as was work on another comprehensive study and revision of the City's zoning ordinance. The Grosse Pointe-Clinton Refuse Authority made significant progress towards the building of an incinerator. A new vacuum truck unit was ordered to assist the leaf pickup and catch basin cleaning program.

New Reservoir Plant

In the Farms, an additional million-gallon reservoir and water filtration plant was completed, as well as the restructuring of $46,500 of City Streets. "On the Hill" parking area was paved at an approximate cost of $10,000. The picnic area at the Pier Park was enlarged and substantial progress was made with the building of 120 new boat slips.

Two more dumpster scooters were added to the Department of Public Works to modernize rubbish pick-up. And there was the selection of Jack F. Roh as Chief of Police after the screening of approximately 30 candidates.

This year saw the dedication of the Eleanor Clay Ford swimming pool in the Shores, a place for all residents to swim and generally spend many delightful hours. Progress also brought some sad moments in the Shores, with the razing of the beautiful Standish Backus mansion. In its place will be built 16 new residences.

Much Done In Park

In the Park, Council authorized mercury vapor lighting for all alleys within the City. Trucks were purchased for the Electric Department. In an effort to improve the park maintenance two new jeeps were purchased; these were to assist in snow plowing also. Four new, modernly equipped police cars were purchased.

Definite steps were taken to preserve beauty in the Park with the passage of an ordinance to provide for control of Dutch elm disease, as well as the landscaping of Lots 481 and 482 Windmill Pointe Subdivision on Jefferson between Lakepointe and Pemberton. Much needed pay increases were given to the police, fire and public works employees.

Construction In Woods

In the Woods, much major construction was both begun and completed. Building permits were issued for a Masonic Temple, a 48-unit cooperative apartment complex, additions to the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian and Baptist Churches and the Peters Funeral Home. The Yacht Club View Subdivision plans were approved and street construction and all utilities installed.

Construction of a new baseball diamond in Ghesquiere was authorized and Chene-Trombley Park was converted into a neighborhood type of park. Utilizing its $75,000 in equipment the Woods provided one of the state's finest leaf collection programs. A total of $85,000 of Park improvements were completed. Through strict enforcement of the tree spraying ordinance loss of elm trees because of the Dutch Elm Disease was reduced by 37 percent.

Police Commended

Five public safety officers were commended by Harper Woods Chief of Police for help in the apprehension of three felons. The Woods swimming (Continued on Page 2)

 scene. Also sent to assist, by their station, were City Det. Lt. Robert Van Tiem and Patrolman Edmond Benthuis, and a police crew from Harper Woods.

When the officers arrived, Belanger and Benthuis searched Oates, who claimed that he had thrown away the gun, somewhere outside. However, Van Tiem and Kelly, who were checking the premises, found the revolver atop a cleaning machine. The weapon was identified by Mrs. Scott as the one with which Oates attempted to shoot her.

According to Mrs. Scott, and the three witnesses, Oates came into the store through the front door, and entered the working area as though about to begin work. He confronted the two women, and shouted, "Everyone come to the back room; I want to see you."

Whips Out Gun
 Mrs. Scott told Mrs. Simrel not to go to the room because Oates had a gun, whereupon the man whipped out the revolver and putting it to Mrs. Scott's head, and shouting obscenities, said, "I'll kill all of you," and pulled the trigger. The gun misfired.

Mrs. Simrel sought refuge among garments hanging from a clothes rack, and Mrs. Scott scurried out the back door, around the building and came back into the place through the front door, and attempted to hide in one of the fitting rooms. Oates pursued her, aimed the gun, and again pulled the trigger. Again the weapon misfired.

When placed under arrest and taken to the Farms station, Oates was released to Farms Det. George Van Tiem and Det. Joseph Miller, for further questioning.

When queried by the detectives, Oates, it was said, claimed that his actions were prompted by the constant nagging of Mrs. Scott.

Van Tiem and Miller obtained the attempted murder warrant from the Prosecutor's Office, early Thursday morning.

RUFÉ STAYS PUT
 (AP)—Three State Beach Department engineers walked into the hunting camp of Russell Galbreath recently and asked "Who is the next of kin of General Rufe?"

"I guess you might say I am," replied Galbreath, who buried him, and placed on the grave the marker, "At rest, General Rufe, 1900-1961."

"It's right in the path we planned for the road," one engineer said, "but we've got orders not to disturb any burial plots if we can avoid it."

After three days of figuring, the engineers routed the highway around the grave.

Smiled Galbreath, "I'm glad they didn't disturb General Rufe. He was the best deer hound I ever owned."

 team was crowned inter-city champions.

Two of the five Pointes have already joined the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, a group whose aim is better government through an exchange of ideas.

The Little League baseball team of the Woods-Shores was crowned state champions.

There was a session of "bad press" and the residents "stood strong and proud" throughout the entire fracas. They made known to the whole country that Pointers face up to their weaknesses but are also aware of their virtues.

Youth Survive Test
 Pointe youth were tested during the Junior Class Float burning episode and came out on top. Both the Junior and Senior Class showed everyone that teenagers can handle themselves with intelligence and dignity.

The ground for a new $11,000,000 Grosse Pointe High School North was broken, a school that academically and physically will be an example for the entire country. The Neighborhood Club too broke ground for its new teenage drop-in center.

These are just a few of the steps forward the Pointes have taken in '66. City officials get a vote of thanks for making Grosse Pointe a place in which all are proud to live. They hope '67 will be as progressive a year as was '66.

Attacker

 officer ran to the back yard of the Kensington address, and arrested Schreiner who was kneeling over the unconscious girl. The girl was bleeding profusely about the face. Her assailant had struck her viciously several times, knocking out several of her front teeth.

Within moments, Patrolmen Bobby McAlister, Rodney Wedding and Robert Saitryd, arrived in the yard. The youth bolted in an attempt to escape.

While Saitryd remained to administer to the girl and to call for an ambulance, the other policemen captured the youth, after a shot-punctured foot chase, in nearby bushes, where he had sought to hide.

At the time of the arrest, Police Chief Arthur Louwers said that it is believed the youth might be the same person who sadistically beat an 18-year-old girl in Grosse Pointe City last July 18, as she was on her way to work at Bon Secours Hospital. It is also believed that Schreiner might be responsible for a similar crime committed in Detroit.

Police said that Schreiner had refused to make any kind of a statement.

Chief Louwers personally visited the woman witness at her home, to praise her for her alertness and for not being afraid to be involved.

The four officers, especially DelPlace, received the praise of the chief for their quick response to an emergency, and for the manner in which they cared for the girl until an ambulance arrived.

The victim is at home recuperating, and it doing well, it was said.

FASTER LANGUAGE LEARNING

GENEVA, Switzerland — The new language laboratory, Tutor S.A., is a scientific aid for foreign adults who must acquire an accurate knowledge of spoken French in the briefest possible time. No books are used, but the first stage of a two-stage course is audio-visual. Students are shown a film or group of slides dealing with various occurrences which might arise in the course of a typical day in Geneva. The film is accompanied by a tape connecting the conversation with the situation on the screen. In the second stage, the student is placed in a sound-proof room where he can practice the phrases he has learned without fear of disturbing or being overheard by other students. At the end of a 200-hour, six-to-eight week course, the student can acquire a vocabulary of 2,000 words and conduct a conversation in the language.

 Patrolman Carl Kaartunen arrived to assist, Thomas began to fight.

The officers were required to use force to subdue Thomas, and during the struggle, Warren's blackjack fell out of his uniform pocket, and DelPlace's uniform jacket was torn. The blackjack was not found.

The policeman said they had to handcuff Thomas before they could put him into a scout car and return him to the station.

At the station, the man began using profane language against the officers, and spat in Kaartunen's face. Thomas was placed in the local cell, and a short time later, water was seen pouring from under the cell door.

Thomas, it was said had either kicked, or pulled out the water pipes from the wash basin, forcing a turnover of the water.

While looking at Thomas' operator's license, it was noted that he had failed to make a change of address, and Warren issued the man a violation ticket for this offense.

Thomas tore up the improper parking ticket and the second one in the presence of the policemen and a bondsman, who had been called to set up bond for the man.

When released, Thomas was driven home by his wife.

XMAS PRESENTS STOLEN

Fred C. Miller of 30052 Fairfax, Livonia, reported to City Police on Saturday, December 24, that his car had been entered and $25 worth of Christmas presents had been stolen. Missing were: a musical-stuffed dog, a set of crystal coasters, a bath soap tree and a tie rack. Police are investigating.

 patrolling Mack, at 1 .m. observed a car approaching at high speed, and when the vehicle passed them, gave chase, east on the avenue.

The driver of the speeding auto drove about six blocks into the City, sans car lights, and made a fast turn around an island, to west on Mack, on the Detroit side.

At Yorkshire the 16-year-old made another fast right turn, onto that street. The car skidded on the icy pavement, struck two parked automobiles, spun around and rammed into a tree, the policemen close behind.

Coonce hit the brakes fast in an effort to avoid hitting the youths' car, and the scout car spun out of control and smashed into a tree.

Chief Louwers said that English, because he was merely a passenger, has been charged with illegal possession of alcoholic beverages, which were found in the first wrecked car, and the juvenile was released to his parents, pending a hearing in Juvenile Court on charges of reckless driving, operating a motor vehicle without lights, and illegal possession of beer. The vehicle driven by the 16-year-old was registered to the boy's father, the chief said.

Pointer Shot to Death In New St. Regis Hotel

Gottfried Englehardt, 35, of 771 Lakeland was shot to death on Tuesday, December 27 at the New St. Regis Hotel at 3071 West Grand Boulevard.

Englehardt was employed during the day at the Metal Stamping Division of the Dearborn Stamping Plant of the Ford Motor Company. He was born in Germany and came to work for Ford as a cost analyst in 1955. He lived in his Lakeland home with his wife and child.

Police are investigating.

FOP Honors James LaPratt

More than 200 persons were on hand on Sunday, December 12, at the Grosse Pointe Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 102, President's Ball, held in the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

The Ball was held to honor outgoing President, James LaPratt, and incoming officers for 1967.

Members of the Lodge, comprised of police officers of the five Pointes and Harper Woods, presented LaPratt, a detective with the Park Police Department, with a plaque, naming him Policeman of the Year in the Pointe area.

This special honor was not only because of his capable leadership of Lodge 102 during the year, but also because of his outstanding police work in 1966, in clearing many crimes in the Pointe and Detroit areas. Many of the cases assigned to him were either cleared by himself, or in cooperation with officers of his own, and other law enforcement agencies.

This tribute is significant, in that it had received the approval of all the police-members of the six-department organization.

Besides the active members, who are regular policemen, there are more than 240 persons listed as associate members of the group.

HITS PARKED CAR

Richard Lee Waddell, 381 Rivard, was driving north on Rivard on Friday, December 16, when he swerved to the left into the other lane and struck the parked car of Charles G. Nickson, 307 Rivard, which was parked at the curb, with no passengers. Waddell received a court notice to appear as a result of the accident. He was taken to Bon Secours Hospital and treated for minor injuries. His '64 Liant had to be towed from the scene.

Burglars Visit Homes in Woods

Woods public safety officers, while on routine patrol, discovered two homes broken into, including that of Public Safety Director Allen Andrews. The break-ins were in the same street and opposite each other.

The first burglary, that of the Andrews residence, 1824 Manchester, was found by Sgt. Walter O'Dell and Patrolman Leroy Tobian, at about 1:10 p.m. on Sunday, December 25; and the second, that of Robert M. Bulk, 1823 Manchester, was discovered by Patrolmen Thomas Kerving and Donald Sabel, at about 8:19 p.m.

In both cases, something was surmised to be amiss when the officers noticed doors of both homes wide open. The Andrews and Bulk families were out of town for the holidays.

Investigating officers said that the Bulk residence could have been forcibly entered after the director's home was broken into, since nothing appeared to be amiss at the Bulk house when the Andrews burglary was discovered.

Entry into the Andrews home was gained by the burglar by breaking the glass of the French door at the rear of the house.

The southeast bedroom of the building was completely ransacked, with contents from dresser drawers dumped on the floor and bed. The thief took the director's .38 caliber snub-nose revolver, $60 in cash and a 19-inch portable television set from this bedroom. Nothing else appeared to be missing.

The thief who entered the Bulk house, did so by breaking the glass of the side door. One bedroom, the dining room and a closet were ransacked, police said.

The dresser drawers of the bedroom were pulled out completely, and their contents dumped on the floor.

Police said it is not known what is missing. The family will have to take inventory to determine what, if anything, had been taken.

Reports Robbery At Bon Secours

Dorothy J. Garvin, 286 Lakewood Avenue, Detroit, notified City Police on Thursday, December 22, that someone had stolen her wallet while she was working in the Emergency Room at Bon Secours Hospital.

The purse was on top of the refrigerator in the Emergency room between 4:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. The wallet containing $120 in currency and miscellaneous papers was removed from her purse.

Police are investigating.

Soldier Dies

Lucier's trial in the fatality was finally heard on Monday, December 12, by Circuit Court Judge James N. Canahan, who accepted a plea of guilty to a lesser charge of careless and negligent driving because of circumstances involving the fatality.

Lucier's sentence was deferred pending a report from the Wayne County Probation Department.

THEY PREFER SLUMS
MADRAS, India—Slum dwellers in India's fourth largest city are reluctant to move to new government housing because they miss the friendly old surroundings, according to a recent social work study.

The study, made among 7,000 people in three slums, showed that difficulty in raising animals in the new tenements was another factor. A third was the distance people had to travel to their old jobs.

RECORD PLAYER STOLEN
Howard Buhl, 382 Lakeland, reported to City Police on Saturday, December 24, that a Hamilton record player valued at $140 was stolen from his '64 Ford that was parked in front of his house. Police are investigating.

Four Policemen Honored

Three Park police officers, officials of the Grosse Pointe Police Officers Association, were honored at the annual Christmas Party held by the group on Monday, December 19, by being presented certificates for their efforts on behalf of their colleagues of the Park Department.

A fourth policeman, Patrolman Donald DelPlace, was presented a certificate, naming him Park Police Officer of the Year, for his quick response on November 30, which resulted in the apprehension of a vicious criminal in the act of attempting to commit a brutal crime against a young woman.

The certificates, which were a complete surprise to the recipients, were given to Patrolman Charles Slusser, president of the Association; Patrolman Arthur Conlan, vice-president; and Patrolman Collin LaLonde, secretary-treasurer, for their efforts in negotiating 1966 salaries and benefits in behalf of the officers of the department.

The certificate given to DelPlace, and signed by newly elected officers, Slusser, president, LaLonde, vice-president, and Patrolman Charles Petrie, secretary-treasurer, reads as follows:

"Grosse Pointe Park Police Officer of the Year, Donald DelPlace. On the morning of November 30, 1966, in the City of Grosse Pointe Park, Patrolman

Donald DelPlace answered a radio report of a woman in trouble at the rear of 1001 Kensington. Due to prompt action on his part, he was able to witness the brutal attack on the woman and gave chase to the fugitive. Patrolman DelPlace kept cool and cautious and by doing so, avoided shooting fellow officers and children playing nearby.

"We hereby highly commend Patrolman DelPlace for his self-control and good police work in the face of a fleeing felon, and for not taking the lives of innocent persons in the capture of a sexually-motivated potential killer."

Course Bolsters Personal Assets

Art Brooks, prominent television personality and nationally recognized consultant in sales training, customer relations and personal development, will again offer his services to Grosse Pointe adults in a Department of Community Services course entitled "Effective Expression."

Mr. Brooks, a featured attraction in the Grosse Pointe Public Schools' Adult Education Program for years, will conduct a series of 10 class meetings designed to bolster the personal assets of any adult who has an interest in projecting himself more effectively in the day-to-day contacts of social and business situations.

If it matters to you that you improve your effectiveness in relating to others in a manner that brings about desirable results; if you are a teacher, sales person, business executive, homemaker, club officer, secretary or a scout leader, it follows that self-improvement is consistent with your goals of serving others more effectively. Men and women alike will find Art Brooks a refreshing stimulus in reinforcing their abilities to overcome fears, to differ acceptably, to listen, to speak with authority, and to face the crowd with renewed self-assurance.

Those who have had an exposure to Mr. Brooks in his Styles and Poise course will find the current offering in Effective Expression a valuable extension of his talents for pumping renewed vitality and enthusiasm into his student's personalities. He makes no guarantee that sales will increase, that new ideas become immediately acceptable, that an angered protester will melt in your presence, or that your words will become cherished pearls of wisdom. But, there is assurance that you will find a new self-confidence in facing difficult tasks.

The 10-week course replaces the Style and Poise class and is offered for a 10-dollar fee to meet on Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m., beginning January 24 in the Community Service Building. Persons interested in registering should call TUxedo 5-3808 or TUxedo 5-0271.

People who fear censure very seldom rise above criticism.

Ordeal of Floods in Italy Described by Cathy Cinelli

A mattress on the floor, bread, potatoes, wine and one precious bottle of water was the fare of Cathy Cinelli and eight other persons confined for two days in a fifth-floor apartment in Florence, Italy, during the November floods.

Home for Christmas vacation, 17-year-old Cathy, daughter of the Fernando Cinellis, of Voltaire place, appeared on television December 26 to relate her experiences. She is spending a year between high school graduation and college studying art and languages at Le Fleuron near Florence. She was visiting the apartment of her aunt in Florence, located near the Arno river, when the flooding occurred.

At 3 in the morning the river which is usually just a trickle started rising due to unusually heavy rains that were falling over the entire country. Curiously, the last bad flood in Florence happened on exactly the same date—November 4—in 1333.

Awakened by Shouts When Cathy was awakened by shouts at 9:30 a.m., the water was covering the tops of automobiles. Currents began to flow through some parts of the city at 30 miles an hour; with an indescribable roar, she said. "We were able to save most of the contents of the apartment and all our clothes and food by moving them to the fifth floor before the water reached its peak of 19 feet," Cathy said. "There was no real panic; although there was fear that food, which is bought on a daily basis in Italy, would not be adequate, particularly for young children. My aunt's maid whose apartment in the basement was completely under water cried all day and night."

Mud, Debris, Garbage However, few deaths were caused by the water which started receding at 2 p.m. that afternoon, and took two days to go down. Property damage was tremendous. Mud and debris can still be seen in the side streets of the city. The stench of decomposing garbage after a week made some streets untraversable, still lingers in the areas, according to Cathy.

The force of the water ruptured stores of heating oil and the slick of this heavy unrefined oil marks the high level of the floods on many buildings and coats many statues and works of art. Since a catastrophe like this has never happened before, Florentines are still uncertain about the best way to remove these substances, Cathy said.

Art Treasures Lost The most valuable work of art lost among many was the Crucifix of Cimabue. Hundreds of old manuscripts and books, the most valuable of which were stored in the basements of the National Library, are gone. Cathy brought back photographs of hundreds of these volumes washed from their shelves and piled in a filth-covered mass on the floors. Fortunately, the principal museum of Florence, the Uffizi Gallery, stands on high ground and displays its most famous treasures on the higher floors. "As soon as the water drained off the streets," continued Cathy, "about four feet of mud, acting like quicksand, covered many streets. Army tanks, first, made their way through the city with milk for babies and children and some bottled water. Food was brought in by trucks on November 7, four days after the devastation began.

Heat Came Last "It wasn't until the end of November that running water and electricity were restored to my aunt's apartment, and there was no heat until around December 7."

Many old cobble-paved streets were washed out and will probably be replaced with modern paving, regrettably, she said. Some businesses in the side streets remain mud-covered and closed because their owners lack funds for restoration; not all carried insurance. But the center of Florence, on higher ground, is back to business as usual, and there were Christmas decorations in the windows before Cathy left.

Many Cities Suffered She added that most cities and villages in Tuscany were just as badly inundated by the country-wide rains, but none received the publicity that Florence did because of her lost art treasures.

Pretty, long-haired Cathy said it was fun being interviewed by Carol Dural as part of the LIVING show on Monday morning TV. She hopes that publicity about the plight of Italian art treasures will encourage interested individuals all over the world to donate to the non-profit organization that has been formed for this purpose. Donations are being handled in Detroit by C.R.I.A. (Committee to Restore Italian Art), Box 50,000, Detroit, Mich. 48202. Further information may be obtained from the Detroit Museum of Art.

John Quincy Adams declined nomination to the Supreme Court in 1811 before becoming the country's sixth President in 1825.

Budding Lawyers Pass Bar Exams

Included among the 358 candidates who passed the bar examinations given in September were the following Grosse Pointe residents, according to an announcement of the State Bar of Michigan.

Thomas H. Bejin, Mary Jane Kerr, Stephen Fitzpatrick, Wil-

Course Offered To Secretaries

Do you aspire to a higher secretarial position? Do you want to go back into the swing of a business office after having been away for a few years? Or would you just like to do a better job in your present position?

The Department of Community Services of Grosse Pointe offers you a rich, practical experience course catered to the secretarial profession.

How do you set up a boss itinerary; how do you set up a good letter from a few notes; what sources are at your disposal for information on competitive companies, travel accommodations, or modernizing your office? These are but a few questions which are discussed and answered in this 10-week course.

Building up shorthand speed, regardless of the original system learned, and producing well-typed copy from these notes is another objective of this course. Grammar, punctuation and word usage are worked on as well.

During the first class session, each class member has the opportunity to express what each wishes from the course; then the sessions are set up to accomplish these objectives.

If you decide that you could benefit from a course that would improve your secretarial skills, TRANSCRIPTION is waiting for your enrollment beginning Wednesday, January 18. Kathleen Herschelmann now on leave from the Grosse Pointe High School, is the instructor. Those interested should call the Department of Community Services at TU 5-3808 or TU 5-0271.

100-Year-Old House Offers Challenge; Is Now Restored.

By Pepper Whitelaw
What would you do with a house that was over 100 years old and just waiting to fall apart? Buy it? Probably not. But that's what the Norman DeFauws did.

The house is located at Beaupre and Kirby road in the Farms and had not been lived in for over a year. It was purchased by the DeFauws in December of 1965. By April 22, 1966 it was ready for occupancy... so to speak.

That is if you disregard such things as having to tear up all the carpeting in 11 out of 12 rooms. That is if you can ignore 23 broken windows and the old furniture lying around. That is if you can overlook "The Pit" (a deep hole in the basement that was at one time used as a refrigerating urn), filled with debris that was beginning to form poisonous gas! It took over two weeks of diligent work by Christopher DeFauw, age 11, and his mother to finally clear out "The Pit" and reduce that eight-foot hole to four feet.

Trash was the big bugaboo in the early days of clearing out the house. Sixty loads of trash was removed from the basement and the rest of the house including laundry tubs, old baseboard, old woodwork, plumbing pipes, old linoleum, and old bannisters. Whole stairways were discarded and replaced with marble stairways—the marble coming from an old bank building that was condemned, as did the "new" doors in the house and the hydraulic closers and the solid oak kitchen cupboards.

The entire kitchen has been remodeled. It is now gleaming with stainless steel, formica and Ceclia DeFauw's favorite, parquet flooring (which she purchased, used).

The chandelier in the kitchen is one of the many new ones Ceclia made herself out of redwood and brass. While we are on the subject of chandeliers, the DeFauws found 14 chandeliers throughout the house, tarnished and almost beyond hope. With the aid of paint remover, toothbrushes, steel wool and metal cleaner, all 14 of them were made to look brand new and shiny—with the new wiring they were lovelier than any you could purchase today. In fact, one of the chandeliers turned out to be sterling silver!

Mrs. DeFauw says most of the interior is completed—with the exception of a few simple jobs—now she is ready to start with the outside architecture. She's already taken care of the landscaping—having added 189 yards of dirt fill and 18 evergreens. One ton of flagstone as a work-down ramp, has been spread from the front porch around to the side of the house.

In the near future the outside architecture will be completed and the DeFauw remodeling job done. But listening to Mrs. DeFauw talk, we have a faint suspicion that she'll never be quite finished working on her "dream house."

Blaze Consumes Garage and Car

The City Fire Department answered with all apparatus a fire call at 818 Cadieux road on Christmas afternoon at 2:23 o'clock. The flames were visible blocks from the scene.

The garage of S. A. Macy was aflame. The City firemen found the entire garage burning and a 1962 Ford inside. Because of the intensity of the flames and the heat, firemen were unable to enter the building.

Both the car and the 2 car frame garage were totally demolished, although the firefighters had the fire under control in less than 20 minutes.

The adjoining garage of William Gay, 812 Cadieux road was slightly damaged by fire also. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Traffic Deaths Reach New High

Michigan's traffic toll in 1966 will hit a new high annual record of about 2,200 deaths, surpassing the previous high of 2,175 set in 1937 and edging by three percent the 2,129 killed in 1965.

This and other projections were included in the annual roundup of State Police activities reported by Colonel Frederick E. Davis, department director.

Injuries too will reach the previous mark of 155,258 last year.

The accident total, estimated at 301,000, will be about three percent less than the record of 310,598 counted in 1965. The project death rate of 5.1 million vehicle miles is down two percent from the year before.

Combined casualties—deaths and injuries—again will set a new high for the state. It was the fifth consecutive year of increase for fatalities and the eighth in row for injuries while the accident reduction, if maintained when all reports are in, will be the first after four years of increases.

Other traffic exposure factors showed gains too. The totals of licensed drivers and registered motor vehicles, both over four million, indicated growths of four and five percent while the estimated mileage rose by six percent to over 43 billions.

Stop Biting That Hand!

We have been puzzled by a penchant which seems to have possessed a goodly number of our newswriters, editors, columnists and radio and television commentators, to dwell in the shadows rather than seek the sunny side of the terrain.

Two weeks ago we attended a press conference at which Henry Ford, II, issued his annual year-end statement, followed by a question and answer period in which he and Arjay Miller, president of Ford Motor Company, did what we considered an admirable job of fielding queries from the gentlemen assembled.

The conference came after a lavish luncheon which was most complimentary to us characters of communication, and should have been conducive to establishing an atmosphere of friendliness, understanding and cooperation. The answering results proved quite the contrary.

Mr. Ford's statement was read, and a copy of it was available to everyone present. Most of us had one, and his every word was subject to checking in written form by anyone sufficiently interested.

To us, it was a very optimistic report, not based on dreams, but on actual accomplishments and concrete plans for the future. Mr. Ford paid proper respect to the decrease in sales this year and stressed the part that public confidence in the general economic outlook plays.

Also reported was that truck sales this year would be 70,000 to 80,000 units ahead of last year's record, and that outside the U. S. the sales picture is much brighter. Since 1959 car and truck sales of the company have more than doubled outside the U. S. and "1966 will be another in a long series of record-breaking years".

Mr. Ford also said that retail sales of Ford products may set a new record in 1966. The company has increased its share of the car and truck sales market during the year and expects to sell at least and perhaps more of both than it did in 1965.

Philco-Ford Corporation has had by far its best year since it was purchased five years ago. Its backlog of orders was expected to be 24 percent above last year, its 1966 sales are up 30 percent and another 20 percent sales increase is expected next year.

Also reported was the fact that in spite of cutting ("at the request of the Administration,") U. S. and foreign facilities spending for this year and next by about $150 million, Ford is spending about $700 million this year and plans to spend $780 million in 1967, by far the largest sum ever spent for this purpose by the company in any two-year period.

The question and answer period that followed produced a number of loaded queries, such as the possibility of Ford having to close down its production lines because it couldn't meet government requirements for installation of safety features in the 1968 models.

There was a great deal of this kind of prodding, apparently aimed at digging up some kind of possible disaster which wasn't revealed or even hinted at in the report.

We weren't 10 minutes out of the parking lot and on our way home over the Edsel Ford expressway when the car radio began to bring in the bad news... or predictions of same. Strike, government safety demands, reduced sales, etc., were going to drastically cut Ford production.

Closely following on the radio and TV reports of the press meeting were the newspaper headlines... "Cut Ford Expansion Outlays 150 Million." "Making of Cars Trimmed." "Possible 1967 Strikes Seen as Sales Threat."

That was the treatment locally accorded and we couldn't wait to see what the Wall Street Journal had to say the next day. Its lead sentence started "Ford Motor Co. is planning to increase its capital spending next year by 11 percent..."

In this motor capital of the world, it's difficult to understand why there so often appears to be a determined effort to comment unfavorably instead of favorably on the industry which is of such vital importance to us and civilized nations everywhere.

A suggestion for 1967. Let's turn in the dark glasses for some with a rosier tint.

Merchants and Customers Reveal Views on Parking

The Kercheval-On-the-Hill area, revisited by the NEWS on a snowy Saturday before Christmas, revealed more complaints than complaints about public parking from customers, but more complaints than complaints from merchants.

The NEWS interviewed customers on the lot until its fingers froze and its writing became unintelligible, but there was no voluntary mention of the lack of free parking or any other inconvenience. Most customers liked the lot, at least that day. The only complaint heard was about car damage while parking in public lots in general.

Most frequently heard complaint from workers On the Hill is finding another "long term" parking place after leaving the lot for lunch.

Many comments from merchants and employees bore out the NEWS editorial about the difficulty of parking in the all day metered zone along the north wall of the lot because of the angle of the spaces, which are painted in at an almost 90-degree angle.

An old gripe was the storage of new automobiles on the metered lot running behind the Muir road property, although there were two witnesses to an improvement in this situation during December. There were moans and groans about the use by employees instead of customers of the metered street parking spaces, with some especially loud groans about lack of ticketing for expired meters.

New criticism: The early hour of rubbish pick-up. One merchant says it necessitates putting rubbish out the day before to blow over the parking area during the night.
New suggestions: Converting more meters to all day parking rates to help employe after lunch reparking problems; marking spaces in the un-metered lot to ensure more effective parking; instituting a lot supervisor to prevent parkers from monopolizing two spaces or damaging other automobiles.

And now the compliment: The manager of a chain store in the area, in comparing it to other stores throughout the city, said that people here receive excellent street and sidewalk maintenance during snowstorms.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard

As 1966 rapidly draws to a close, and we dig in our heels and stiffen our spines to cope with 1967, we become reflective. Has it been a good year from a library standpoint? Could we have done more?

We've answered miles of reference questions — some extremely interesting — and had the fringe benefit of learning new bits of information ourselves! We've given book talks, held meetings, analyzed reviews in various media and purchased new books for our collection. We've read many books on many subjects. In doing so, we never cease to be amazed at man's interest in so many things, his myriad reactions, and his ability to communicate what he thinks and feels. We've handled these volumes in their colorful and arresting dust covers, prepared them for circulation, and seen them carried from the library in armloads.

We've also "dispensed" periodicals, tools, art prints, pamphlets, records, tapes and other audio-visual materials. We've seen small fry in the children's department, poring over gay juveniles, many of them just beginning to learn of the diversified joys a book can produce. We've helped our patrons in their book selection, suggested ways in which students might tackle a large school assignment. We've prepared bibliographies, made book lists, presented provocative statistics showing library usage and put up attractive displays.

We've provided pre-school and school-age story hours, conducted summer film programs for the youngsters, and run frequent newspaper publicity to keep you informed of our activities. We've maintained a weekly newspaper column. We've helped explain to you the intricacies of our card catalog and suggested that you ask an assistant for help if you become stymied. We've reserved books for you, answered (to the best of our ability) your telephone queries, looked in our lost and found for your mislaid articles, interloaned books for you, and provided you with special collections such as Young Adult, Mystery and Science Fiction. We've offered you Xeroxing service and given you the opportunity to donate memorial books. Behind the scenes, we conduct a constant inventory so that we may replace and update certain books in our collection.

We've provided you with a quiet place to rest tired feet—a place to browse and find new fields to conquer. In summer, our air conditioning gives you a cool oasis from the heat.

But the question still remains—have we done enough? Should we sit back complacently, after considering our various services, and preen our feathers? We do sound pretty good, at that! Looking back over history, isn't it usually the complacent civilization that eventually falls? Stagnation and retrogression are apt to follow too much self-admiration. Rather, does it not behoove all of us in the library, to self-evaluate and attempt to move forward in an effort to give even better service? Isn't it possible that we might become even more efficient? New and better books are constantly being published, and it becomes an exciting task not only to tackle the heady job of purchasing the right ones, but to familiarize ourselves with their contents and style, so that we may help our clientele?

All of this, of course, requires work and judgment, but this should be why we became librarians. We hope no one still has the old, completely false, picture of the librarian sitting serenely at her desk, reading a book or magazine! Now, if she has a book open, she's probably looking for the answer to one of the hundreds of questions she's received over a very short period of time! If you tell me she looks serene and remote, I won't believe you! There isn't time for that any more! Preoccupied, interested and thoughtful—yes; withdrawn and wary—no!

So here we come, 1967. We've got plans, new ideas, hopes for better service, a cheerful countenance, an interest in life with its problems and complexities. And now, if you'll excuse me, the phone's ringing—and I don't want to keep a customer waiting! HAPPY NEW YEAR!

FORTY PERSONS were injured on Saturday when a New York to Mexico City jet carrying 110 persons, many of them Americans, crash-landed in a dried lake bed and split in two. There were no fatalities. The DCB was a Christmas special of the Aeronautes de Mexico on an extra flight because of heavy holiday traffic. It left New York at 11:25 p.m. Friday and crashed about 4:30 a.m. Saturday about six miles from the Mexico City airport. Airline authorities called the landing by pilot Rafael Breton a "Christmas miracle" since no one was killed.

THOUSANDS OF PILGRIMS from around the world swarmed into the ancient city of Bethlehem Saturday to attend religious services on the spot where legend says Jesus Christ was born 2,000 years ago. Thousands of others flocked to Nazareth in Israel, where Christ grew to manhood, and others attended Christmas Eve services in divided Jerusalem.

DETROIT HAD the whitest Christmas since 1951, when 6.2 inches covered the area. There were four inches on the ground Saturday and the weatherman said there would be intermittent flurries on Sunday.

IT WAS REPORTED in Newsweek magazine on Sunday night that President Johnson's recollection of his succession to the presidency differs sharply from the Kennedys' as related in the forthcoming book, "The Death of a President." Author William Manchester's book reportedly tells of friction between the Kennedy group and Mr. Johnson. Mrs. John F. Kennedy has filed suit because of certain passages and negotiations are under way for their removal.

AS THE 48-HOUR Christmas truce ended, American and South Vietnamese troops returned to the task of war. There had been hope that the truce, marred by about 60 shooting incidents, would be extended. However, no orders for a continuation came, so South Vietnamese troops and their allies resumed warfare.

A PROPOSAL AIMED at undermining the Vietcong is reportedly about to be unveiled by the South Vietnamese government. As part of a sweeping amnesty plan, guerrilla combat units will be urged to defect en masse to fight under the Saigon banner, led by their own officers if they wish. As incentives, they will be offered full amnesty, pay, uniforms and allowances of the South Vietnamese regular army, as well as a chance to live with their families in homes provided by the government.

Tuesday, December 27 U.S. BOMBERS RESUMED their attacks on North Vietnam Monday at the end of a two-day Christmas truce. They attacked storage areas and truck parks. One unidentified target was only 12 miles from Hanoi. Because of the bad weather the U.S. command could not make any assessments as to the damage.

Know Your Schools

By J. Harold Husband, Acting Superintendent The Grosse Pointe Public School System

QUESTION:

Is there a possibility that the school system may embark upon a program of building additions to the elementary and junior high schools?

ANSWER:

A Building Needs Committee composed of staff members is making a study of recent enrollment figures, a study of the existing school buildings, and a study of as much data on future predictions as is possible.

We expect that some time later this winter a report will be made to the Board of Education containing a set of recommendations for future action.

From the information we have at present it is likely that we shall have to add on to certain buildings.

The weather also limited the number of missions, a spokesman said.

NEGOTIATIONS over the publication of William Manchester's book, "The Death of a President," came to a halt on Monday due to the illness of the author. Manchester was taken to Middleton, Conn. hospital. It was believed that he was suffering from a slight case of pneumonia. Meanwhile, Mrs. John F. Kennedy said that she was close to success in keeping personal parts out of the book. She and her children left for a two-week vacation at Antigua in the British West Indies.

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

And where will YOU be spending New Year's Eve? For literally hundreds of Pointers, the answer to that question is "at the club." Which club? Well, we suppose that depends on which club you spend most of your time at DURING the year...

For just about every club in the area, (with the exception of the Little Club, planning "dinners as usual" and an early closing, 9 o'clock—probably so that diners can get ready for "late" parties at other clubs), has special Welcome 1967 festivities scheduled.

In The Pointe

Right here at home, in Grosse Pointe, there'll be dancing and merry-making at the Country Club, Lochmoor and the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

GPYC's party is typical of these New Year galas, a black tie affair featuring dancing in the grand ballroom, hors d'oeuvres served throughout the last hours of 1966 and a breakfast buffet beginning at half-past midnight.

Co-chairmen of the party are Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. VanGoethem, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Shalla.

Their assistants include the Rex Dahls, the Robert Frasers, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Kirsch, Mr. and Mrs. Mack J. Phillips, the Roger Rinkes, the Roland Rinkes, the William Schmidts, the Howard Shaws, the William Traders and Dr. and Mrs. Karl Weber.

On Belle Isle

Grosse Pointe Hunt Club will be "dark" New Year's Eve, but moving toward downtown, on Belle Isle, both the Detroit Boat Club and the Detroit Yacht Club will be brimming with light, merriment and music.

At the latter Club, some 300 revelers are expected to gather in the ballroom and East Lounge, with a "spill-over" party, (for those unable to get reservations upstairs), in the Grill.

Pair Will Live In Ann Arbor While Both Complete Senior Year Studies At University Of Michigan

The bride, the former Jeanne Marie Carpenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis M. Carpenter, of Tonnancour place, wore a semi-Empire gown of ivory satin, featuring a front panel insert of Alencon lace and a lace-appliqued Chapel train.

Matching lace motifs accented her pouf veil of silk illusion, which fell from a small lace cap. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis, centered with a single white orchid.

Nancy Carpenter was her sister's maid of honor. Erika Mebus and the bridegroom's two sisters, Mrs. Bruce Van Haver, of Coopersville, and Angela Conley were bridesmaids.

Their floor length frocks of fuchsia silk-and-worsted fabric were edged with crochet lace at their high necklines and elbow length sleeves. They wore matching Dior headbands and carried arrangements of white roses.

French Pianist With Symphony

The first Detroit Symphony Orchestra appearance of French pianist Philippe Entremont and the Detroit premiere of American composer Leslie Basset's 1966 Pulitzer prize composition, "Variations for Orchestra," will be the highlights of the orchestra first concert of the new year. The performance will be on Thursday evening, January 5, at 8:30 o'clock in Ford Auditorium.

Sixteen Ehrling will conduct. Entremont will be soloist in J. S. Bach's F-minor Piano Concerto and Ravel's C-major Piano Concerto. Ehrling and the orchestra also will perform Beethoven's Symphony No. 8.

Entremont, who has been called by the French press, "Le Pianiste Atomique," has been concertizing in the United States since January, 1954, when he gave his first American recital at the National Gallery in Washington, D.C. A day later, he was soloist at Carnegie Hall with Leon Barzin and the National Orchestral Association.

Entremont was born in Rhems, France, in 1934. At 17, he was a finalist in the Queen Elizabeth of Belgium International Concurs, and First Laureate and Grand Prix winner of the Marquerite Long-Jacques Thibaud International Concurs. That same year he was winner of the Harriet Cohen Piano Medal.

Entremont has performed with the leading symphony orchestras of Europe and the United States, and has recorded extensively with the Philadelphia Orchestra under the direction of Eugene Ormandy and the New York Philharmonic under Leonard Bernstein.

Leslie Basset has lived in Ann Arbor and studied or taught at the University of Michigan for most of the past 20 years. He is a graduate of Fresno State College in his native California, and has done graduate work at the University of Michigan and the Ecole Normale de Musique in Paris.

His teachers have been Ross Lee Finney, Nadia Boulanger, Arthur Honegger and Robert Gerhard. He has received awards from the National Institute of Arts and Letters, the Society for Publication of American Music, and has been a Fulbright Fellowship scholar and winner of the Prix de Rome.

Basset's "Variations for Orchestra" was the last work composed during his two years as holder of the Prix de Rome. It was given its premiere performance by the Radio Orchestra of Rome in 1963. Its first American performance was given by Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra in October, 1965.

Basset will take a sabbatical leave from his teaching duties as professor of composition and musical theory at the University of Michigan to spend his full time composing during 1967. He will stay in Ann Arbor with his wife and three children.

Ford Cousins Are Honored

Mrs. Edsel B. Ford, who traditionally honors her granddaughters with receptions the year before they make their formal debuts, feted two young Fords last Thursday, December 22.

Honor guests were cousins Martha Parke (Muffy) Ford, daughter of the William Clay Fords, and Josephine Clay (Jo) Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Buhl Ford, II.

For the afternoon reception in her grandmother's Cotswold manor house in Lakeshore road, Muff chose a Walton-Pierce creation of azure blue Italian silk, bead-and crystal-banded at her hemline, with matching coat. Jo's coat and dress, also by Walton-Pierce, was of bright yellow satin, accented with hand-embroidered crystals and beads.

The mothers of both girls also chose their gowns at Walton-Pierce. Mrs. William Clay Ford, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., came from their home in Akron, O., for the party, wore a shift of Paris pink satin, touched with beading.

Mrs. Walter Buhl Ford, II, wore a bead-accented Roman stripe silk gown. Her mother, hostess Mrs. Edsel B. Ford, chose a Balenciaga dress in apple green brocade.

The Christmas wonderland party setting was created by Mrs. John Colgate Jessup, of New York and Palm Beach, and Meddard Lange, of Winnetka, Ill., and featured pine trees strung with twinkling lights and blossom-filled bamboo baskets suspended from the ceiling.

At the end of the Christmas holidays, the Ford cousins will return to classes, Muffy to Vassar, where she is a freshman, and Jo to Grosse Pointe University School.

Leslie Heaton Last To Bow

At a Christmas Eve tea dance at the Country Club, the last of this winter season's debutantes, Leslie Hayward Heaton, was presented to society by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eppa Hunton Heaton, of Handy road.

Leslie and her parents received in the Club's French Room. The debutante chose a short frock of pink silk, with a red-banded waistline, and carried a bouquet of pink and red camellias. Mrs. Heaton wore a red brocade gown.

A curtain of silver bells led the way to the dance floor, where guests enjoyed Al Navarro's music. Ushers included Leslie's brothers, Michael, who studies at New Hampshire Technical Institute, and Jonathan, who attends Millbrook, and Bruce and Franklin Walker, John Snyder, Peter Armstrong and William Scott.

Slate Welcome Wagon Meeting

Robert M. Orr, head of the Grosse Pointe Public Library, will review current best sellers at the next meeting of the Welcome Wagon Club of Grosse Pointe Thursday, January 5, in the War Memorial.

The coffee hour and business meeting will begin at 11 o'clock, and bridge and canasta will follow the speaker's appearance. Board members will meet at 9:30 o'clock.

Reservations must be made by Tuesday morning, January 3, with either Mrs. J. J. Schneider, TU 6-4902, or Mrs. Noel W. Fry, VA 3-4405.

At the last meeting of the organization it was announced that Mrs. H. W. Burnett will be chairman of the annual benefit luncheon to be held March 16, replacing Mrs. Jack W. Stollenwerk who is moving out of town.

New members introduced included Mrs. Clide Carr, Mrs. Jack Williams, Mrs. Louis Barney and Mrs. Daniel H. Burdick, II.

The birthday cup was presented to Mrs. Molly Shook and the floral centerpiece to Mrs. R. L. Kaiser. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Nicholas Coburn, Mrs. Shook, Mrs. Robert G. Prince and Mrs. Stollenwerk.
