

CONTRACT AWARDED
At its regular meeting held on Monday, October 20, the Farms council awarded a contract to the firm of Joseph C. Wolf, Inc., to install a back-water gate going into Lake St. Clair, at the end of Provencal road. The company offered to do the job for $14,180.

OKAY PARK PROJECT
The Farms council, on Monday, October 20, awarded a contract to the Souter Construction company, to install a six-inch drain line and a catch basin, in the new section of the Municipal Pier-Park. The firm offered to do the project for $1,200.

over 30 members in the case of Wayne County).
"Improvement of the state aid distribution formula would be welcome. However, we see no promise of adequate funds in this package. The interim formula for the 1970-71 school year is S.B. 1082 would cost our district an estimated $270,000. We are not consoled by the provision in sec. 8a of this bill for a special allowance to reduce the pupil-teacher ratio; without adequate funding, a mere dent could be made in the reduction of class size across the state, for this is a most expensive school endeavor. The ceilings on expenditure for special education programs and for the reimbursement of transportation costs have made for self-deception. Full funding of programs mandated by the State must be assured. There has not been a year that the Special Education programs have received their promised 75% reimbursement. We find no reassurance in the Budgeting and Taxation bills before you that districts would not be faced with unhappy surprises of this nature when annual appropriations were made for schools; and the major part of the budget would be involved. This could only compound the woes we seek to alleviate—the inflexibility, the inadequacy and the unpredictability of financing which now plague our Superintendents, our Business Directors, and our Departments of Instruction.

No System Is Perfect

"It is safe to say that no school system is doing as good a job as it would like to do. If we truly believe that education is the most important of public functions, how can we say that a district, assuming it operates efficiently, is doing more than it should? Here and there, once in a while, we do something right. And when this happens, we must learn from one another—not eliminate as undemocratic the few bright spots we have to share. While the need possibly exists for a state definition of "enrichment," it does not follow that a 3 mill ceiling as imposed by Sec. 5, S.B. 1080 is consistent with the American tradition and with our goal of improving educational opportunity wherever we can. Local improvement, above a generous state financed base for all children, must be permitted any district willing to buy it.

"We ask you who represent us to check carefully the implications of the bills and amendments before you:
Will they provide adequate funds for a good education for every public school child in the state?
Will local districts retain control of their school system?
Will the people of Michigan be encouraged to support programs of improvement in their own schools as generously as they will?"

"Your constitutional responsibility is clearly to the public schools. Thank you for addressing yourselves to this awesome—and proud—problem. We ask that as you seek to light candles in the darkness, care will be taken not to burn down the school house!"

WALLET STOLEN

Mrs. John Lucky, of Harcourt road, reported the theft of her orange polka-dotted wallet, to City police on Tuesday, October 14. She told officers she put her wallet down for a moment and when she turned around to pick it up it was gone. She was having her hair done at 16914 Kercheval at the time. The wallet contained $20 in cash, credit cards and a Missouri driver's license.

Bandits Strike Pointe Homes

City police received reports of two homes that had been entered, vandalized and burglarized in a two-day period. The first report was from Paul Dettloff, on Friday, October 11, who told officers that the 642 residence of his mother-in-law, recently deceased, had been entered and ransacked. Investigation revealed that the burglar had entered the bedroom, torn apart the bedding, emptied purses and strewn contents all over the room, tore two pictures from the wall and removed photos off of the library wall. One brown purse, containing a small sum of money, was missing. Mr. Dettloff told officers that the home had been previously entered and several pieces of jewelry and furs removed.

Officers ascertained that entry was made by removing the screens, prying the window, then popping the catches that lock the window.

A handyman was called in to secure the damaged windows and small items removed from the house.

A special watch has been placed on the home.
The second report came from Robert Correa, 889 Rivard, on Sunday, October 12. Mr. Correa told officers that he left his home around six o'clock and returned around midnight, and found the house had been entered and ransacked.

Entry was gained by breaking the rear door. Both floors of the home had been ransacked, and paint thrown about. Books had been thrown all over the living room floor, contents of the dining room cabinet scattered and the master bedroom was littered with clothes removed from the closet.

The thief removed a black leather jewelry box, $125 in bills, various items of jewelry and men's cuff links.

It was in the den that the theft had a heyday. The den contained Mr. Correa's collection of guns. The thief broke the gun cabinet and removed one Beretta 12 gauge Magnum over and under, one Browning 12 gauge shotgun, one Weatherby 30-06 with scope, one Weatherby 22 caliber automatic one 44 caliber flint lock pistol, one 44 caliber Navy Colt Ball and Cap pistol and a large supply of ammunition.

Also missing was an RCA tape deck valued at $70, and 40 tapes, a Polaroid camera 900, about 70 long playing records, valued at $200, a Silvertone Clock-Radio.

Police found a bottle of 23 pills on the mantle in the living room, apparently left by the intruder, a Winchester 30-30 behind the door in the kitchen. Police are conducting a thorough investigation on both incidents.

Many people are past masters at appearing prosperous today even though they are broke.

One reason the future looks bad to some people is that they know nothing about the past.

good. According to the young, these are the worst of times, but I wonder if they knew "how good" we had it. We wonder if they knew how much we enjoyed the depression, World War II, the highest unemployment rates in history, the Korean Conflict, poor schools, illnesses for which cures had not been found, the lack of social security, welfare and hospitalization and sick benefits and the fear of not knowing where we would get the next meal for our families.

Many of the young blast us for "dumping" them into such a worthless society, filled with such great problems. They fail to realize that never has a generation such as theirs born into a better-healed environment.

We have taxed ourselves as no generation in history to provide for them. We have made it possible for them to enjoy a healthy world. We have given them modern schools, museums, complete recreational facilities, safer cars and highways, antibiotics, television, air-conditioning and concert halls.

We have laid down laws to preserve and conserve great hunks of our land for their enjoyment. We have established myriad laws to protect them and their property. We have given them the right, perhaps unfortunately, to strike and demonstrate. We have fought to bring the Negro to equal status and make the world of the young less hate-filled. We have given our lives and limbs to fight off those enemies, who threatened to destroy the world we fought with sweat for our young. We have defeated TB and are giving it our all to knock out cancer. We have sacrificed to make it "the best of times" for so many who now claim that times are bad.

We have made mistakes (Vietnam might be one), but any generation, which has aimed as high as we have, is open for mistakes. We could have held back and allowed our young to grow old and fight their own fight, but we chose instead to give them a break. That may have been one of our most glaring mistakes.

It is noticeable that the young cry out loudest against those things or events, which threaten their serenity and comfort. As the southern daily pointed out, the young have not voiced great orations against the Biafran War, because it does not involve them. They made little of the Dominican Republic intervention, (as much of a mistake perhaps as Vietnam) because they were not threatened with involvement. They fear Vietnam because it directly affects them. They pull campus rebellions because they are affected by school administrative authority. They have had it easy and they want no restrictions.

They do not want to listen patiently to our attitudes or hear of our experiences. They are in a hectic rush towards reform.

The NEWS can only offer this advice: The apple does indeed fall close to the tree and it is wise not to overdo your criticism of your forbears. The heritage into which you were born will determine many of your traits and those of your offspring.

Our ideals of freedom from fear, want, pestilence and oppression are not bad. The desire and freedom to raise one's family in love and security, to change governments with a vote, to reach as far as our talents will permit and to live in dignity, peace and security are ideals for which we have striven.

Your generation does indeed have strength, but to burn it up with senseless displays of adolescent self-pity, reactions against an obvious inferiority complex and unfounded anger would be a shame.

Channel your energy and pride your egotism. Make this a better world for your children as we have tried to do for ours.

grave, in front of Thomas' house. The owner was notified after the car was uprighted. Damage was set at about $50.

The owner said that he had heard a disturbance in front of his home, but neglected to investigate.

Kraiza and Duberghraeve, a few minutes later, found another Volkswagen, owned by Robert Pool of 418 Roland court, also on its left side, and after righting it, informed the owner of the incident. Damage to this car was set at about $75.

At 12:46 a.m. on Thursday, October 16, Farley and Lyford were dispatched to take a report of an overturned vehicle owned by William Pasquinelli of 354 Fisher road, who told the policemen that he found his 1967 blue Volkswagen on its left side.

Farley and Lyford said that marks on the auto indicated that at least three persons combined their efforts in toppling the car. Damage was estimated at $75.

Since the cars are all of the same make, police said, it is possible that the same vandals were responsible for the incidents.

Youth Council Has New Look

The "New Look" for Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Senior Youth Council includes many bonuses for student leaders. Tonight there will be a special hunt for them at Grosse Pointe Hunt Club featuring a hay ride followed by a dance and harvest refreshments in the riding ring lounge.

D. is required at time of ticket purchase and no one will be admitted to the dance after 9:30 whichever occurs first.

For the selected Senior Youth Council leaders who plan community events at the War Memorial and help carry them out, further bonuses will include a trip to New York, a skiing-skating week end, a week in Florida and a canoe trip.

Now there is also a Junior Youth Council at Grosse Pointe War Memorial to plan the activities of the 7th and 8th graders throughout the Pointes. Co-ordinator for the Drug Abuse workshop is Ed Krattli, executive secretary of Family Life Education Council, a member of the American Council of Social Workers and director of the Neighborhood Club.
FLEC has been, and is conducting an exhaustive campaign to better inform teens, their parents and teachers with the local drug abuse problem. This workshop will fill an important community need. For other than parents, who comes in to more direct contact with the teenagers than their teachers? Who should be well informed on the local drug problem and local solutions to those problems.
The teachers' workshop will begin their sessions on October 27, with Drug Information and Facts, and feature Eugene Dembeck, PPH, Lafayette Clinic. The second session will be on Understanding the Youth Scene and Teens Views on Drug Use, the third session will feature Marty Trombley, of Grosse Pointe Woods, Detective Bureau, who will discuss Local Police and Court Disposition of Drug Offenders. The last four sessions will deal with School Curriculum of Drug Abuse, Treatment Problems and Communication Training.

This use of local agencies, such as FLEC, to help in the education of the teachers in our community is just another step toward better utilizing local talents toward the solution of local problems, and Drug Abuse is becoming more and more of a problem locally.

She calls each child's name by saying Good Morning, Marie, and each and every child responds with "Good Morning, Mrs. Kyzivat." (Mrs. K. explained to me that she has trained the youngsters to always answer in sentences and this was just another way of doing it.)
News Time in Mrs. K.'s kindergarten is one of the favorite parts of the day for these tiny tots. They each have an opportunity to speak about their favorite toy, or visit, or friend. After his or her presentation, the child then selects another child to tell his news then his name is placed with a number on the blackboard. As the number is placed on the board the children are asked to read it and by golly they read each and every number placed there.

In this simple exercise of News Time the child learns how to address a group (in sentences of course); how to evaluate a situation and how to make decisions (by the act of selecting the next participant).
Ah, yes the kindergartens of old, where students spent most of their time sleeping on rugs is gone . . . Thank goodness! In kindergartens today youngsters are taught. Maybe this is one of the reasons our youngsters are so well prepared when they hit the early elementary school levels, because well-trained, alert and vital teachers

Elm Disease

The blight was first described by plant pathologists in the Netherlands. The disease came to the United States about 1930 and is now found in 20 north-eastern and central states, where native elms are grown.
The first elms known to have died of the disease in Michigan were found in Detroit, during the summer of 1950. The blight has been spreading ever since.
Two bark beetles are the carriers of the disease, the small European Elm Bark Beetle (Scolytus multistriatus), which first came to this country in 1909, and is now the most important carrier; and the Native Elm Bark Beetle (Hylurgopinus rufipes).

The beetles were kept under control, more or less, by dormant and foliage spraying of elms every year, with DDT. However, because of the deadly affects of this chemical on birds and other wild life, DDT has been banned in Michigan.
As a result of this prohibitive law, methoxychlor, a less potent but more expensive chemical, is being used to control the spreading of the beetle population.

Feature Films Of Ford, Edison

The Henry Ford Museum Famous Early Movies program Sunday, October 26, deviates somewhat from its usual fare to present a series of films climaxing the celebration of the 40th anniversary of Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum.

A Paramount Newsreel showing the reenactment of the invention of the incandescent bulb at Edison's Menlo Park Laboratory, now located in Greenfield Village, as it was performed, on October 21, 1929, by Thomas Edison as part of the dedication of the Village will highlight the program.

The three films that complete the program pay tribute to Henry Ford, founder of the Village and Museum, and to Thomas Edison to whom they were dedicated and after whom they are named in their corporate title, the Edison Institute.

"The American Road," a biography of Henry Ford, tells the story of the growth of high-way transportation and how the automobile has influenced man's way of living.

Using a blend of old news-reels and contemporary footage the film presents its story in warm, human and often humorous terms. Narration is by Raymond Massey.

Some of Thomas Edison's very earliest experiments in motion pictures are reviewed in "A Man Called Edison."

These fascinating rare old films were all made before 1900 and are each less than a minute long. Most of them were made at Edison's "black maria" studio at West Orange, N.J., thought to be the world's first motion picture studio.

Classic shots of many of the men who shaped America's destiny are featured in "Henry Ford's Mirror of America."

This is a film guaranteed to amaze the young and awaken nostalgic memories in older viewers. It has been compiled from National Archives footage taken from 1914 to 1940 by motion picture crews set up by Mr. Ford.

Showings of this special presentation of the Famous Early Movies Series will be at 2 and 4 o'clock in the Museum Theater. There is no additional charge beyond the regular Museum admission.

Our schools are running for their lives Nov. 11.

Vote yes, yes, yes, on Propositions 1, 2, 3.

Schools can really be out this summer if you stay home November 11.

On Tuesday, November 11, you will vote on three propositions that will determine the future of Grosse Pointe's great public schools . . .

Proposition One: The money to run your schools runs out the end of this school year. This proposition provides money to continue operating your schools at the current level for 2 more years. Inflation makes it necessary to allow for increased operating costs, plus an increased student enrollment.

Proposition Two: Grosse Pointe has long had one of your country's great school systems. To stay out front it's necessary to improve the existing program, particularly by adding special instruction for both gifted and children experiencing learning difficulties. This proposition provides money to do this—insure your children will continue receiving the education for which Grosse Pointe is famous.

Proposition Three: The old Grosse Pointe High School—now known as South High—no longer meets the standards that have made your schools what they are today. South High needs extensive remodeling to meet Fire Marshal standards and to handle present day instructional programs. The Quonset Hut and Annex must be replaced with modern structures. This proposition—a bond issue—will provide the money to make these critical improvements.

THIS IS A FACT: Good schools increase property values!

Ask your real estate broker. "How are the schools?" . . . is one of the first questions people ask when looking for a home. Your Grosse Pointe schools have been worth thousands of dollars in property value. But the money to run your schools runs out the end of this school year.

To keep them running at present standards . . . to make the instructional and building improvements necessary to keep them on top . . . vote "yes" on each proposition. Any time a needed school proposition is defeated you lose in dollars and cents . . . far more than the propositions will cost you.

A SOUND INVESTMENT: An increase of only $9.20 per $1,000 of assessed valuation can pay big dividends to the Grosse Pointe home owner.

Sure, everything's going up like crazy these days . . . but why take it out on your children?

OUR SCHOOLS ARE RUNNING FOR THEIR LIVES

Vote yes, yes, yes, on Propositions 1, 2, 3.

A LIGHTNING BOLT can shatter a tree into smidgens in a matter of seconds . . . Did you know how?

Electricity accounts only for a small part of this power. Three quarters of this energy is Heat; with temperatures running up to 50,000 degrees.

A tree, because of its high water content, is lightning's favorite target. A bolt strikes. The moisture conducts the super-heat throughout the tree. Water converts into steam . . . A tremendous explosion occurs . . . The tree is wrecked in an instant. "Lightning never strikes twice?" . . . It doesn't have to.

Discovery of Learning Disability Hard On Parents

By Pepper Whitehaw

As you edge the car into the driveway you feel you just have no where to turn. What is the matter with Johnny. You have just had a conference with his second grade teacher. She says Johnny just won't sit still . . . refuses to do his coloring . . . won't follow directions . . . and is generally a nuisance in class. She suggested that Johnny see the school psychologist and the family doctor.

Johnny's always been an active child. Even as a toddler he was always on the move. In fact, it was fun to watch him toddling from one toy to another . . . you used to call him your "busy bee." It's not so funny anymore. Johnny is not functioning in a group atmosphere. The pattern he is establishing in school is a bad one, according to his teacher . . . but a psychologist?

Out of the car and into the house. Dinner to get . . . your husband is due shortly . . . a kiss for Johnny . . . who has just given up on his jigsaw puzzle . . . he keeps dropping the pieces.

Dad arrives . . . the family sits down to dinner . . . as usual Johnny spills half of his meal on the floor. Your patience is worn thin . . . you send Johnny to his room. You tell Dad about the conference.

You both decide that maybe the family doctor can help. You do the dishes . . . spend a sleepless night. Early the next morning you make an appointment for Johnny later in the day. You spend most of the day trying to figure out just where you have failed . . . why Johnny is so difficult in school?

Finally time to pick up Johnny and go to that doctor's appointment. You pull up in front of the school, you see Johnny and another boy fighting . . . you call Johnny into the car. Tell him to tuck his shirt in and straighten his clothes . . . no matter how you try to have him looking neat, he never does.

At the doctor's office . . . after answering questions and an examination, the doctor tells you that he believes Johnny is one of the hundreds of hyperkinetic children with a learning disability. Your frightened . . . a retarded son . . . it can't be. The doctor assures you that Johnny is not retarded but a child with normal or above average intelligence that is not achieving in school up to the level of his potential. Your child is hyperactive, distractible and possibly handicapped in visual motor perception. He says this condition creates a learning disability that is a challenge to both parents and teachers. He tells you that sometimes emotional disturbances follow this condition before the basic disability is discovered . . . he tells you that he suspects Johnny is one of these children and that you and your husband should allow him to be tested by the school psychologist and after which he might want Johnny to see a neurologist. He tells you to look into The Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, a state-wide parent organization composed of parents with children who have these learning disabilities.

You leave the office . . . you've taken the first steps. Seeing the teacher, arranging for psychological testing, visited your family doctor. The next step is learning how, as a parent, to cope with your child's disability. You call the Grosse Pointe Chapter of MACLD at TUxedo 4-2382. You speak to another mother with similar problems . . . you feel better already.

Dad gets home. You tell him about MACLD. Both of you attend a meeting slated for that evening . . . and are surprised to find over 700 Pointers in attendance. You learn that this is not an uncommon problem . . . others are facing and handling it.

There's hope. There are a lot of things you can do to help

Farms Enacts Narcotics Law

The Farms council, at a regular meeting held on Monday, October 20, approved an ordinance controlling the possession and use of narcotics, patterned after a State statute. Enactment of the ordinance will enable prosecution in the Farms municipal court, rather than in circuit court under a State law.

The Farms follows the City and the Woods in passing such local legislation. The Park is contemplating a similar law, which is being studied.

Farms Municipal Judge Robert Pytell, who was present at Monday's meeting, told the council that the enactment would better serve the interest of justice, especially since this would mean that an offender, or offenders, are assured of a faster trial date.

He said that where it is possible that a trial in the higher court could be heard in about nine months, under the local ordinance, a trial can be held in about six to eight weeks.

Another advantage of the local ordinance, it was said, is that the arresting officer will not have to go to the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office in Downtown Detroit, to seek a warrant, which is sometimes refused because of lack of sufficient evidence. Too, the officer is downtown the better part of the day, seeking the warrant, thereby, keeping him from his duties in the city.

The severity of the narcotics violation gives police the option of seeking prosecution either under the State or local acts, it was said.

The new ordinance, according to City Attorney George McKean, becomes effect immediately.

Under the local law, violation of any provisions thereunder, subjects the offender, upon conviction, to be sentenced to no more than 90 days in jail and/or to pay a fine of not more than $500.

You learn that here in The Pointe we have made just a beginning in educational planning for Johnny's type of child through the developmental kindergarten and developmental primary classes. You've also learned that we have two in-service training programs for teachers that help them handle many of these children in regular classrooms. You also learn that there is a need for at least two full-time perceptual development classes at the elementary level. You learn that these classes might be possible if the .75 mill for program improvement is passed by Pointe voters November 11. You reach for the telephone and begin calling your friends. Maybe just may be help is on its way!

Youths Caught Stealing Lumber

A casual glance out of a hospital room window by a patient at Bon Secours Hospital on Thursday, October 16, led to the apprehension of one 18-year-old and two juveniles, who were stealing lumber from a Maumee avenue residence. On that date Mrs. Thomas Girardin 246 Marlborough, looked idly out of her window to see the larceny in progress. She notified the floor nurse who immediately contacted City police.

Cpl. Richard Clark was dispatched to the scene and immediately took the boys to the City station. The 18-year-old was charged with larceny from a building and the two juveniles were turned over to their fathers.

The youths were stealing the lumber to use in a Homecoming float at South High School. The float was barred from competition by school authorities.

POWER POLITICS

A Statement by David E. Burgess, Mayor of the City of Grosse Pointe

A group which has been misdirected and misinformed by a small number of self seekers is attempting to turn me out of office together with all of the Councilmen running for reelection.

I sincerely feel that the hand-picked slate offered by this insurgent group should not be elected to office. In spite of their missionary zeal, what they are attempting to do is not in the best interests of the residents of the City of Grosse Pointe.

Traditionally candidates for election to our City Council run as individuals and are not beholden to a power block. Obviously, the candidates of this opposition slate have been selected and are being promoted as a block. Each of their nominating petitions was signed by the same people in exactly the same order—as though someone lined them up and said, "sign here."

But of far greater concern to me than their power play is the misinformation they are spreading among our residents about the status of zoning in our city. We have always opposed, and will continue to oppose, any attempt to introduce high rise apartments in the City of Grosse Pointe. We have a 35 foot height ordinance which must be upheld. No member of this, or any other administration has ever suggested that it be changed.

The zoning ordinance which now protects our city was formulated during the time I served as a councilman, and adopted after I became mayor. It is now stronger than ever. It provides Constitutional safeguards that were not there before. It is modeled after the best legislation of this kind in the State of Michigan. Please be assured our zoning ordinance is not in jeopardy. The city of Grosse Pointe is not on the verge of becoming a depressed area. While those of us running for re-election do not always agree, we have always worked, and will continue to work to maintain and improve the character of the community.

Let's elect these proven public servants who have the best interests of our community at heart and who are not committed to any special interest group.

I Would Urge Residents to Vote for the Following Incumbents:

for mayor:

DAVID E. BURGESS

for councilmen:

JOHN R. HAMANN

GEORGE D. HENRY

GEORGE N. MONRO, II

FLEC Offers Help To Parents

Having problems with your adolescent? Having a hard time communicating with your adolescent about school work, dress codes, work, drugs, appropriate hours for dates? These and other problems are discussed and techniques learned for coping with the serious and not so serious aspect of surviving with an adolescent in the household every Monday evening at the Neighborhood Club Teen Center, 17150 Waterloo from 7:30-9:30 p.m.

These sessions under the leadership of professional personnel are designed to help parents find a variety of ways on how to get their message across to teens in such a way that the door of communication remains open.

Every parent has his problem in trying to bridge a gap between youth and adult.

The Monday discussions for parents provide an opportunity to get some perspective on the sometimes frustrating job of helping a high schooler learn to be a responsible person. Any parent is welcome to attend regardless of the nature of the concern about his son or daughter. If any parent is finding his task of living with his adolescent offspring more of a chore than a pleasure, attending the Monday sessions might reverse the balance.

These sessions are made possible by the Family Life Education Council and further information may be obtained by calling 885-3510.

Charity Knights Named For 1969

For the 15th year three outstanding area businessmen will be added to the roster of the "Knights of Charity" according to the announcement made by Lawrence V. Nagle, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Maryglade College, Memphis, Mich., which makes the citations annually in recognition of "philanthropic work and humanitarian interests."

The 1969 recipients are Cyrus H. King, retired senior partner, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner, Smith, Inc.; Joseph Z. Nederlander, president, Nederlander Theatrical Company; and Charles H. Patterson, retired executive vice-president, Ford Motor Company.

All are being honored for deeds and examples attributed to ideals for "unison in family life with person-to-person charity."

The first award was bestowed on Hollywood's Pat O'Brien in 1954. Since that time formal presentations have been made annually at a $100-a-plate interfaith dinner. The event this year is slated for Raleigh House in Southfield Saturday, November 22.

As dinner chairman Stuart W. Frankford will give the citations and introduce the awardees: King, a Catholic; Nederlander of the Jewish faith; and Patterson, a Protestant.

Maryglade College was founded under direction of the PIME Missionaries of Saints Peter and Paul, the Pontifical Institute for Foreign Missions, which is more than 110 years old. At the college young American men are trained for volunteer work in religious, educational, medical and social fields in underdeveloped nations of the world. The Reverend Father Nicholas Maestrini, PIME, Maryglade president, points out that the young men on completion of studies go to Asia, Africa and South America, wherever the need is greatest, to relieve human suffering, care for orphans and leprosy victims, establish schools and teach, organize cooperatives and generally work to raise standards of living for these underprivileged peoples without regard for race, color or creed.

Last year's recipients were Walker L. Cislser, chairman of the board, Detroit Edison Company; Jules R. Schubot, Schubot Jewelers, and Louis G. Seaton, vice-president in charge of personnel, General Motors Corporation.

To round out plans for the dinner in November some 40 members of the men's committee will gather for luncheon at the Detroit Press Club on Monday, September 29.

Culture a la Carte At St. Paul's

St. Paul language students will be experiencing foreign cultures in a most appetizing way this coming week. Around Siesta time today, Spanish II students will visit the Acapuco Restaurant for a Mexican luncheon.

Second year French students will enjoy French pancakes on October 29, and a French luncheon of onion soup and cheese fondue in the school cafeteria on October 30.

Spanish I students will enjoy a Mexican style luncheon in the cafeteria on October 31.

The Ladies Auxiliary of VFW #995, at its annual inspection meeting Monday, October 20, honored Mrs. Laura Ryan on her 80th birthday. The ladies presented Mrs. Ryan with a gift as a thank you for her 30 years of active service.

Synanon Head Speaks Sunday

Mrs. Ernestine Clark, head of the Detroit branch of Synanon, will speak at a Sunday evening forum, Oct. 26 at 8 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church. Her topic will be "Synanon, Narcotics and You."

Synanon is an organization of people who have given up dope addiction or who are trying to give it up. They play "games" in group discussions which help persons to achieve self-knowledge.

Some think Synanon is one of the few effective ways of dealing with dope addiction. Because of lack of money Synanon may be forced to leave Detroit.

Everyone, especially teenagers and their parents, is invited to the program. Coffee and discussion will follow Mrs. Clark's talk.

If lower prices would return we would ask no questions.

Vicious Teenager Again In Trouble

A 14-year-old youth, who has been involved in larcenies, vandalism, loitering, driving a motor vehicle without a license, trespassing and school suspension was once again picked up by City police on Thursday, October 16, after assaulting another 14-year-old youth at the Neighborhood Club.

When officers arrived at the scene, they found the victim on the floor and bleeding from the left side of his head. He was rushed to Bon Secours Hospital where he received 15 stitches, and a head X-ray was received at this writing) and then turned over to his parents.

Witnesses told officers that the injured youth and his assailant got into a fight over a stolen bicycle which was found in front of the assailant's home. The bicycle belonged to the victim. An argument ensued and the victim pushed his attacker who swung a cue stick full force hitting the lad on the left side of the head.

The assailant's parents were called and City police took the lad to Wayne County Juvenile Home where he remained overnight. Wayne County officials turned him over to his parents the next day.

Panelists Speak At PWP Meeting

Instead of parents being blamed for everything, a panel of professionals at the Grosse Pointe Parents Without Partners meeting, Friday night, October 10, indicated that parental responsibility consists mainly of training children to accept responsibility for themselves.

The discussion, moderated by Barbara Ballard, Vice-President of the Grosse Pointe PWP, was expertly led by professionals in their fields, Ned Papania, Ph.D., certified consulting psychologist and certified marriage counselor; Rev. Leslie Harding, assistant pastor at St. Michael Episcopal Church in Grosse Pointe; and J. Mesana, of the Detroit Psychiatric Institute and Catholic Social Services.

Any $6,900 car makes you feel secure on a country club driveway. The Mercedes-Benz 280S makes you feel secure on a bustling turnpike. Look underneath, and you'll begin to see why.

At Mercedes-Benz, engineers—not styling geniuses or marketing wizards—have the upper hand.

And these stubborn purists insist that if a man can afford to be entitled to get more than a status symbol.

Result: the Mercedes-Benz 280S at right bristles with sophisticated, ultra-performance features that simply do not exist on domestic sedans in the so-called "fine car" field. It steers, maneuvers and stops as if your life depended on it.

This is one reason why Car and Driver magazine, with a world of cars to choose from, concludes that the current Mercedes-Benz line "represents the present pinnacle in safe car engineering."

Racing car suspension

For a clue to the almost uncanny and evasive motion of the 280S, scrouch down and look beneath the rear bumper—at the axle. It's not the rigid "beam" of most domestic cars. It is articulated.

This Mercedes-Benz low-pivot swing axle permits each rear wheel to move up and down independently of the other, just as the front wheels do. The result is leech-like rideability.

If you know what you're looking for, you can also spot heavy-duty thrust arms, individual coil springs and shocks, and a horizontal hydro-pneumatic load-leveling device.

All in all, suspension ideas more common on 180-mph Grand Prix racing cars than 5-passenger sedans.

Engineering extravagance?

A passenger car doesn't need a suspension fit for a racer, argue some critics. True, everyday city driving, this is sheer engineering extravagance.

But some day you might have to get off the pavement, onto a stretch of potholed back road. You might have to enter a sharp curve or a turn-off faster than your intended. You might have to change course quickly while cruising at 65 mph on a busy turnpike.

And, suddenly, you realize that this engineering extravagance is no extravagance at all.

Sharp reflexes

Occasionally, it is also necessary for a 3,400-pound automobile hurtling along at high speed to stop abruptly.

Of all cars in the "luxury class" field, the 280S is rated the safest, most roadworthy. Read why.

Once more, Mercedes-Benz engineers draw on their experience with World Championship racing machinery. They employ the more expensive, but clearly superior, type of brakes used almost universally on today's professional racing circuits.

Disc brakes. The engineers don't stint, either—by putting disc brakes only at the front wheels, and settling for conventional drum brakes on the rear. They insist on attaching a massive caliper-type disc brake to every wheel of every Mercedes-Benz.

Someday, doubtless, 4-wheel disc brakes will be offered on a domestic "luxury" car.

Accurate steering is vital for maximum control, too. In an emergency, you don't have time for a sweeping twirl of the wheel. The car must respond instantly.

The 280S does. Credit the ingenious Mercedes-Benz recirculating-ball-type steering system. It eliminates sloppy play in the wheel—and blesses you with the "feel" of the road. Suddenly, you are a more confident driver.

Taut, sensitive steering is retained even with Mercedes-Benz power steering—characterized by Car and

Driver as "unquestionably the most precise unit of its kind ever developed."

If trouble comes

The responsiveness which makes the 280S such a joy to drive is its best defense against blundering motorists. However, if the worst happens, the car is designed to shield you. Naturally, it meets all the U.S. safety regulations. But Mercedes-Benz safety goes beyond the letter of these laws.

The entire passenger compartment is built as a sturdy "safety zone." Doors are designed to stay shut on impact. The front and rear of the car are engineered to crumple in a crash at a controlled rate, absorbing shock and reducing the threat of serious injury.

"A fellow hit me when I was stopped at a toll booth," reports one Mercedes-Benz owner. "People in his car were hospitalized. But I just opened my door and stepped out."

Showroom experiments

The 280S is as habitable as it is roadworthy and safe.

Slip behind the wheel, and flex your back. This is no marshmallow seat. It supports you, hour after hour. It should: it was designed with help from orthopedic physicians. The suspension motions are tuned to the car's springing inside, cancelling out thousands of tiring vibrations every mile.

Check the rear shelf. Carpeted. Feel the underside of the dashboard. There's no spaghetti tangle of wires. It's fully finished off. Finger the wood trim—real walnut, not plastic.

Many cars are designed to win admiration for their owners. Mercedes-Benz cars are designed to win admiration from their owners. Quite a distinction.

No noincuts

Your 280S is built with uncompromising care, to make it a lasting investment.

Every 280S begins life in a shower of sparks. It is not bolted into being, like a conventional car, but solidified by thousands of welds. After 50,000 miles or so, you may start to wonder if it will ever rattle.

When welding stops, the body is gone over by hand with a soft glove. Bumps and burrs are spotted and smoothed away. Vital seams are packed with solder and buffed to oblivion.

The body is then dunked in a 52-ton primer tank, baked, spray-painted, hand-sanded, sprayed again, then hand-sanded. Total primer and paint rust protection: over 44 pounds.

As a final flourish in its armament against road salt, rust and rot, the 280S gets a 24-pound slathering of plasticized undercoating.

The overhead-cam, six-cylinder engine equals the coachwork for longevity. Bearings are delicately machined to within 4/10,000ths of an inch, and pistons and connecting rods are painstakingly matched and balanced. Yet this power plant is about as fragile as a bull. It's built to cruise flat-out indefinitely—and, on Germany's wide-open autobahns, it often does.

An unconventional car? Definitely so. Mercedes-Benz does not make conventional cars—and never will.

DRIVER SENTENCED
 Ronald M. Larson of 2953 Gray, Detroit, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving without ever acquiring an operator's license. The matter was heard before Park Municipal Judge William E. Speer on Friday, October 17. Larson was sentenced to serve three days in the Wayne County Jail.

Accuse Woman As Shoplifter

Mrs. Nina H. McKinney, 22, who gave her address as the Leland House, 400 Bagley, Detroit, was arrested by Farms police on Tuesday, October 14, and charged with larceny. She was arraigned for a preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Robert Pytell.

Mrs. McKinney stood mute to the charge and the judge entered a plea of innocent for her, and set bond at $5,000. The woman was remanded to the Wayne County Jail, in default of bond, pending an examination which was scheduled for yesterday, October 22.

According to a police report, Mrs. McKinney was apprehended by Fred Wolski of 5530 Kercheval.

Thief Ransacks Park Residence

A burglar took advantage of an unlocked window of the home of Mrs. Edna Bretz, 1385 Lakepointe, to enter and ransack the house, according to information given to Park police.

Det. Sgt. James LaPratt said that the intruder entered the porch through an unlocked front porch window leading into a bedroom, on Saturday, October 11. The break-in was reported by Jerry Bretz of 276 Marlborough, Mrs. Bretz's son, who had been watching the house in his mother's absence, along with several of Mrs. Bretz's neighbors.

One of the neighbors had noticed the front door open, and called Bretz, who in turn notified police. The neighbor said that he had checked the house a short while before he discovered the open door.

On her return, Mrs. Bretz told police that the thief or thieves, had taken her 21-inch console television set from the living room; and a food mixer from the kitchen. The intruders had also ransacked a second bedroom, after prying open the bedroom door, but it is believed nothing was taken.

LaPratt said that evidence indicated that the TV was carried out the back door.

Cooking Classes Being Offered

The Department of Community Services of the Grosse Pointe Public School System is offering adult classes in the culinary arts. Classes range from the enticing delicacies of "French Cooking" to the practical and imaginative ideas offered in "Cooking for Two," to challenging instruction in "Party Cookery and Planning," and original creations in "Food Decorating."

A course in "French Cooking" again will be guided by Chef Charles Marchand. Mr. Marchand has taught for the Detroit Board of Education, is a member of the A.R.A., and has served as Executive Chef and Chef-Manager.

"Cooking for Two" is designed to help the bride or new homemaker become familiar with the preparation of basic foods, as well as assist the more experienced cook whose meal planning has been scaled down to meeting the needs of two people. Mrs. Ruth Engle, who received her Master's degree from the University of Wisconsin in Home Economics and Food Nutrition, will instruct the eight week course which begins Wednesday, October 15 at 7:30 p.m.

City Improves Water Main

The City of Grosse Pointe council voted to issue a contract to Vanopdenbosch Construction Company for the installation of four valves and gate wells in the Jefferson avenue water main in the amount of $3,000 Monday, October 20.

City manager, Thomas Kressbach, made this purchase recommendation to the council following a water leak that developed on October 3, at the point of connection of a private water service to the City's Jefferson avenue water main. At that time, in order to repair the leak it was necessary to shut off the water to all City residents located south of Jefferson.

The shut off was necessitated because the Jefferson avenue main as originally built contains only two shut off valves between Cadieux and Fisher road. These valves do not operate properly and one is currently leaking.

Mr. Kressbach said that with the development of several subdivisions south of Jefferson avenue, it is important that sufficient shut off valves be installed in the Jefferson avenue water main. This would permit future water leaks to be isolated to a much smaller area and greatly reduce the number of homes inconvenienced during repair situations.

Center Conducts World Seminar

The World Affairs Seminar being presented at Grosse Pointe War Memorial on Wednesday evenings October 15-November 12 from 7:30 to 10:30 is moderated by Donald M. D. Thurber and presented in cooperation with The Detroit Area Council on World Affairs and the Michigan State University Office of International Extension. It is co-sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Grosse Pointe and the Junior League of Detroit, Inc.

Following the opening session on "Establishing Priorities In Foreign Policy and the Expression of National Character," next week's session on October 22 will center on "Intelligence Gathering Operations: Means vs. Ends." The guest speaker and resource person will be Dr. Richard Barnett, Co-Director of the Institute for Policy Studies. He is the author of "Intervention and Revolution" and a new book just coming off the press, "Economy of Death." He is an outstanding authority on secret operations in the government and on defense spending. Richard J. Barnett is a graduate of Harvard College and Harvard Law School where he received the degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence. He served in the United States Army as a specialist in international law and was later a Fellow of the Harvard Russian Research Center and the Princeton Center for International Studies. During the Kennedy Administration, he served as an official of the State Department and the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, and was formerly a consultant to the Department of Defense. In 1963 he helped found the Institute for Policy Studies, an independent center devoted to research on public policy questions and has been its Co-Director ever since.

All interested Grosse Pointe citizens are invited to join these seminars either for the series at $45 a couple or $25 single series enrollment or for just those evenings in which they are particularly interested.

Police Accuse Errant Driver

Leonard Remy, 50, of 29541 Bentley, Livonia, is scheduled to appear before Farms Municipal Judge Robert Pytell on November 26, on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor.

Remy was arrested by Patrolmen Timothy Morrison and John Kraiza, when the officers observed him driving in an erratic manner on Lake Shore road on Sunday, October 19. The policemen said that the man's car was swerving from curb to curb, going east on the road.

The motorist consented to a breath test, and was taken to the Woods station, where it was given. He failed the test twice.

He was returned to the Farms station and issued a violation ticket for driving while under the influence of liquor, and released after posting a bond of $100.

Jaycees Study Millage Proposal

The Grosse Pointe Jaycees have announced plans to make a thorough study of the millage renewal efforts of the Grosse Pointe Public School System. Pieter van Horne, Chairman of the Board of the Jaycees and president, Alan Lang, said since the total proposed package represents a 9.2 mill increase overall, it is important the people fully understand the proposals.

"The proposed millage renewal will appear on the ballot in three separate proposals," Mr. Lang explained, "the first will be identified as a 25.45 mill increase, but will really be an extension of the existing 18.5 mill net tax which expires this year and an additional 6.95 mills in order to maintain the present condition; the second will be an additional .75 mills for improved operations; and the third for a 6.85 million dollar bond issue to finance repairs and renovation of South High School (it will take one and a half mills per year for 20 years to retire this issue)."

In conjunction with this study effort Mr. van Horne and Mr. Lang strongly recommend that every voter in the community attend the Open House slated for Sunday, October 26, between two and five, at South High School.

Two Changes In City Groups

The City of Grosse Pointe Council on Monday, October 20, accepted one resignation and made one appointment.

Richard E. Borland, 621 Washington road, was appointed to the Board of Review, which reviews general tax assessments and appeals.

Jeannette H. Duffield, 525, resigned as a member of the Board of Canvassers due to her entrance into the campaign for city council.

VANDELS AT WORK

Announcing the 1970 Buick Electra 225.

Some things are properly left to experience. Appearances. Comfort. The way it feels to drive an automobile as fine as Buick's new Electra 225.

Other things demand description. How else would you learn about Accu-Drive, the unique suspension of this new Buick, for example? No Buick has ever tracked as true or handled as easily.

Without being told, you'd discover that this Buick has variable ratio power steering, an automatic transmission, even fine details such as full pile carpeting and an electric clock.

You'd know that it had power brakes, but would you know without being told that the Electra 225 also has a dual master cylinder brake system.

Would you know that the finish of this Buick was six coats deep?

Would you know that its cooling system should never overheat?

Would you know just how much care went into the building of this Electra 225? How much a product of the finest craftsmanship it really is?

Buick builds automobiles as only Buick can. This is the finest of them.

Buick's new Electra 225 is certainly something to believe in.

But, then, every Buick is.

Pick Successor For Harrington
 Marshall W. Turkin, manager of the Cleveland Orchestra's Blossom Music Center, will succeed Howard Harrington as general manager of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra upon Harrington's retirement at the end of 1969.
 Turkin, who is 43 years old, has managed Blossom Center, (the summer home of the Cleveland Orchestra), since its opening in 1968.

 In announcing the appointment Detroit Symphony president Robert B. Semple said that Turkin will bring "excellent qualifications to the Symphony's top managerial post and help assure that Detroit will gain new prestige among the nation's best-known orchestras."
 "Yet it will seem strange to have anyone other than Howard Harrington in this post," Semple added. "His career with the Symphony has been one of extraordinary devotion and achievement."
 Harrington became the Symphony's general manager in 1951 when the Orchestra was re-established after a two-year demise. He also served as Board chairman of the American Symphony Orchestra League during 1964-65 and is widely revered as a mentor among U.S. orchestra managers.
 He and his wife, Edna, who first met while pursuing operatic careers, will reside in Thomaston, Me., after his retirement.
 Turkin will acclimate himself to his new post through one-

FLEC Sets RAP Groups for Teens

The business of living often gets to be a real drag. Communication with parents and teachers is often difficult if not impossible. Being able to enjoy satisfying relationship with friends and do things that aren't either harmful or dull seems almost a thing of the past. School has lost its meaning and the future just doesn't seem worth preparing for. These are the common problems facing many high school students today and many struggle with dilemmas and find no place to turn to for help.

Well, help is now available through RAP (rapport) groups held each Wednesday & Thursday evenings at the Neighborhood Club Teen Center from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. All conversation is held in confidence by group members and with professional help, group members turn on to each other and attempt to be of help to anybody in need of a little soul. Listening and rapping are what takes place.

These groups are made possible through the Grosse Pointe Family Life Education Council. For further information either come to a session or call 885-3510 Monday thru Friday 9-12 Noon or 1-5 p.m.

Pointe Ski Club Invites Members

The membership and prospective members of the Adult Grosse Pointe Ski Club are invited to attend a free get-together in Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom Monday evening, November 3, at 8 p.m.

They will be entertained by a John Jay movie featuring a new kind of artificial snow which the inventor, Grosse Pointer Dan Holley of the carburetor family, will explain. It is hoped it can be installed in the area so Grosse Pointe Ski Club members can keep in trim and enjoy some skiing the year round.

President Ed Wahl of Sheldon Road will outline the details of the Club's forthcoming Four Day New Year's Ski Jaunt to Boyne, their trip to Collingwood, Canada and their 10 day Western ski trip to California's High Sierras. Sign ups will be taken on a first come first serve basis for each of these activities. A coffee hour will follow.

Pharmacy topics

by Kenneth A. DeMunter

The truss was invented in ancient Greece. The Romans attempted surgical correction.

Between sixteen and twenty-two, George Washington suffered his first attack of malaria, a case of smallpox that left his face badly marked for life, and a serious attack of pleurisy, probably tubercular in origin.

An old remedy for a head cold: take nine whiffs of a pair of dirty socks.

Approximately 25% of the general population can be deeply hypnotized and in a relatively short period of time. This, however, is a dangerous practice and can cause psychological problems of a permanent nature.

Many servicemen coming back from the tropics have recurrent episodes of malaria. Almost three thousand cases were reported in the U.S. in 1968.

For every useful drug that reaches the public, more than five thousand compounds are studied and eventually discarded.

St. Paul Fair Friday, Nov. 7

Convinced that they, as Christians, can no longer escape from their commitment to love through the traditional "Christmas charity" of food baskets for the poor, the members of St. Paul High School Sodality have innovated a new type of Fall project.

The Sodality will sponsor a fair on Friday, November 7. The grade school students will attend this event from 1:00 o'clock until 3:00 o'clock. Adults are invited to come later in the afternoon or evening until 11:00 o'clock.

The carnival will feature snacks served in the cafeteria. The gymnasium will be gaily decorated and will contain various booths offering games for the children, and many attractions for adults.

Proceeds from this festival will be contributed to a rehabilitation center for wayward girls, conducted by Father Ward, rector of St. Peter and Paul's Church, Detroit and help pay the way of a group of college girls when they go to Appalachia next Summer to do missionary work.

Bird flight near Kingsville, Ont.

The best period for watching the great bird migration flight at the Jack Miner Sanctuary here is expected this year in the last week of October and the first two weeks of November. Manly Miner, son of the founder, said he expected 25,000 or more geese to be in the sanctuary then. The vanguard of the migratory flight has arrived, but there are only about 1,000 geese now. Miner recommended that visitors arrive by 3 p.m. to see the evening flight of geese in from Lake Erie to the feeding grounds in the sanctuary. The sanctuary is open daily except Sunday. There is no admission charge.

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

It's Memorial Church's turn to stage The Pointe's BIG Christmas Fair this year. It's scheduled for Thursday, November 6, in the Church buildings at the beginning of Lakeshore road and will feature 40 different booths and departments.

Next week's Pointers of Interest, chairmen Audrey (Mrs. J. Alfred) Grow, of Rivard boulevard, Audrey (Mrs. Joseph L.) Henry, of Cloverly road, and Evelene (Mrs. John) Malcolm, of Barrington road, will tell you all about it.

So much, for now, for the BIG Fair... Let's take a look at two other timely charity sales, the first a combination party-bazaar with a twist: How'd you like to bid for your Christmas gifts?

Harper-Webber Fund Auction

The Harper-Webber Fund committee of the Harper Hospital Auxiliary is presenting a pre-Holiday dinner dance and auction Saturday, November 1, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

At workshops in members' homes, mainly those of Auxiliary president Mrs. Robert Gerisch and the Lakeview court residence of party chairman Mrs. Lyle Waggoner, Harper helpers have been fashioning all kinds of unusual, exquisite items for their Christmas Boutique Booth.

Hand-created articles made especially for the sale include two afghans, a crewel bag, sweaters, oil paintings, a christening dress, pieces of sterling silver jewelry...

Auxiliaries and friends have offered a variety of choice heirlooms: Clocks, paintings, statues and many more antiques. Among the most generous donors are former Pointers Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Martner who gave many of their beautiful and valuable treasures.

Mrs. Emmett McNamara, of Shoreham road, chairman of the Harper-Webber Fund, commissioned her husband, a well-known commercial artist, to contribute his talents to the cause.

Auctioneer will be The Pointe's own Larry DuMouchelle. Proceeds will be presented to Harper Hospital for the Surgical Intensive Care Unit in the soon-to-be-built Harper-Webber Wing.

Auction-dance reservations are being received by Mrs. Harry Lange, LA 6-4834, through next Monday, October 27.

Prepare Children Before Hospital

Going to the hospital is an unpleasant experience for anyone but for a child it can leave emotional scars long after physical health has been regained.

You can prepare your child for a hospital stay and guide him past the danger of emotional trauma stresses Mrs. Kathleen Bufton, Extension Home Economist for Wayne County.

Because fear of the unknown is far more terrifying than anxiety about the known it's important that you tell your child, simply and matter-of-factly, why he is going to the hospital.

"By doing this the child won't feel that the hospital was a mean trick played on him or a punishment for some unknown wrongdoing," she notes.

In explaining the coming events the amount of detail you give will depend on the age of the child and his ability to understand.

For example, with an eight-year-old Mrs. Bufton suggests reassuring him about surgical masks lest they suggest faceless monsters from the comic books.

With any child however, it's important to present a rounded picture of the hospital. Make sure he knows it's more than just the operating room.

Some experts advise explaining the situation only a few hours before. For the school-age child, especially if he's a worrier, this may be wise.

But its disadvantage lies in your difficulty to be as calm and matter-of-fact as you might have been a week before.

Also it gives you little time to deal with whatever worry or fear the child may express.

For the preschool youngster Mrs. Bufton recommends that you repeat your explanation until you are sure he understands and his confidence is built up.

It's important to be honest in your explanation. It's particularly needed about coming pain, how much you can visit and how long he'll be in the hospital.

"If the child is, having an operation don't deny that it will hurt but assure him that he will be able to stand it and that it will go away," advises the agent.

A child needs his parents' presence. To help ease his anxiety as much as possible take him to the hospital yourself. And if possible be with him before and after an operation.

In addition find out exact details about visiting regulations from the hospital. Then let your child know when he can expect you so he won't be waiting tensely and in vain.

"It is just as harmful to deceive a child innocently as to mislead him willfully. Either way, you betray his trust in you," reminds Kathy Bufton.

Soroptimists Host Sale

Soroptimist Club of Grosse Pointe members are busy gathering rummage for a sale they'll hold on Friday, October 24, from 4:00 to 10:00 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, 20961 Mack. The rummage sale is headed up by Second Vice President, Irena Parthum, who, also, serves the Club as Ways and Means Committee chairman.

Miss Parthum pointed out that all proceeds resulting from Soroptimist Club money-making activities are used for service projects. The Grosse Pointe Club, in addition to many other worthwhile projects, has provided several nursing scholarships and financed camp attendance for many underprivileged children from the money their rummage sales have made.

Other Grosse Pointers currently serving as officers of the Grosse Pointe Club are Florence Kemper, press; Carolyn Thomson, first vice-pres.; Viola Neeb, treasurer; Marie Surbrook, corres. secy., and Athena Karsiotis, recording secy.

The successes of today are built on the foundation of yesterday's hard earned lessons.

Schedule Prague Symphony's American Debut

Prague is one of the great cities of music and one of its brightest jewels is the Prague Symphony.

So, musically speaking, Detroit will be sparkling as bright as a diamond next Tuesday, October 28, as this world-renowned Orchestra makes its American debut at Ford Auditorium.

The 8:30 o'clock concert is a benefit sponsored by Brookside School Cranbrook. Tickets, which range from $3 to $7.50, are available from the Ford Auditorium box office and all Grimmell's and J. L. Hudson stores.

Under the direction of Dr. Vaclav Smetacek the Orchestra will perform Mozart's 41st Symphony in C Major ("Jupiter"), Beethoven's Second Concerto for Piano in B Flat Major (Opus 19) and Dvorak's Third Symphony in E Flat Major (Opus 10).

Eva Bernathova, Czechoslovakia's leading female pianist will be the featured soloist.

Following its Detroit performance the Orchestra will perform in 24 cities including New York at Lincoln Center during its four-week American tour.

This season the Orchestra, which has performed throughout most of western and eastern Europe, also will travel to France, Portugal, Spain and Holland.

The Prague Symphony Orchestra was founded in 1934 by a group of gifted unemployed Czech musicians who named it FOX, based on its proposed activities in Films, Opera and Concerts.

After Dr. Smetacek was named permanent conductor in 1948 the Orchestra burgeoned from its original small membership to a Symphony of over 100 members. In 1952 the City Council of Prague officially assumed sponsorship of the Orchestra.

From that time the Prague Symphony Orchestra, still affectionately known as FOX, and shared with the Czech Philharmonic the musical spotlight in the Czech capital.

Since its formation the Orchestra has made over 400 recordings and annually performs at the International Prague Spring Music Festival.

Dr. Smetacek has appeared as a guest conductor on five continents, including two series with the Los Angeles Symphony in 1965 and 1967. However this United States tour is the first time he will conduct the Prague Symphony in this country.

Prior to becoming the Orchestra's permanent conductor he was a professor at the Prague Conservatory, founded the famous Prague Wind Quartet and served as conductor with the Prague Amateur Chorus and Prague Radio.

A graduate of the Vienna Academy of Music Miss Bernathova has given concerts throughout Europe and also in the Far East, Australia and New Zealand.

She has appeared as a soloist with such major musical groups as the Berlin Philharmonic and the Czech Janacek Quartet.

'No 2nd Fiddle' Debuts Oct. 30

A press party debut for a COOKBOOK? On first thought it sounds fantastic. On second thought it sounds like great fun.

Especially since the cookbook is "No Second Fiddle," the long-awaited compilation of recipes by members and friends of the Junior Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Featuring many special celebrity dishes.

And the Symphony Juniors, who really know how to throw a party, are throwing this one. It's an invitational 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock cocktail reception at the Detroit Press Club next Thursday, October 30.

A sale of the paintings contributed to "No Second Fiddle"—this is an exceptionally beautiful as well as an exceptionally delicious cookbook—will be conducted in conjunction with the party.

Chairman of An Evening with Hildegard at the Women's City Club Saturday, October 18, was MRS. LYNDE R. MARTIN, of Middlesex boulevard.

Pair Of Fall Parties Share DBC Spotlight

Women's Luncheon Next Wednesday to be Followed by Couples' Harvest Festival and New Year's Eve Preview

June Lowe pulled her head out of the clouds long enough to have lunch with women of the Detroit Boat Club yesterday. The Detroit Free Press astrologer was the star attraction at the DBC Women's Committee's October party. And we do mean "star" because the decor was lavishly borrowed from the heavens on that occasion.

Mrs. Harry W. Mellen and her committee let their imaginations soar, evolving a zodiac theme for the luncheon. There were astrological emblems incorporating the stars, planets and outer space.

A burgeoning reservations list kept the Club office staff busy with every horoscope-conscious member anxious to pick up tips about the future from an expert.

Cocktails, scheduled for noon, were followed by luncheon in the Main Dining and Oak Rooms. Then the throng adjourned to the ballroom for Miss Lowe's talk which scintillated with VIP names.

Along with Mrs. William Miller, Jr., co-chairman, the party committee coterie consisted of Mrs. Bruce Allen, Mrs. William Champion, Mrs. George Cheadle, Mrs. Walter Drolet, Mrs. Robert Hodge, Mrs. Robert Larsen, Mrs. William Oldani, Mrs. John Pittwood, Mrs. William Post, Mrs. Milton Selander, Mrs. Stanley Smith and Mrs. Anthony Vinci.

This year's innovation, a Friendship Table, was continued at the party to provide a gossip haven for those women who came to the Club alone that afternoon. Mrs. J. Ross Bush, general Women's Committee chairman, has had many happy comments, especially from new members, about her introduction of the singles table.

Male members of the Club will be treated to an in-depth resume of the afternoon fete at an evening party this Saturday, October 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stokes are putting lots of fizz in the Harvest Festival scheduled for that evening. Borrowing an idea hatched in California's poshest restaurants the co-chairmen have announced a "Surf and Turf" dinner with protein-packed lobster and steak calculated to provide energy for dancing to The Statesmen, a favorite Detroit Boat Club orchestra.

In fact this dinner dance will

Hollidge-Heikkinen Vows Exchanged

Detroit Boat Club Reception Follows Afternoon Rites; Pair at Home in St. Clair Shores after New Orleans Vacation

Linda K. Heikkinen, whose parents moved within the year from Pear Tree lane to Birmingham, returned to Grosse Pointe for her Saturday, October 11, wedding to Craig Edward Hollidge.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph I. Heikkinen and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Hollidge, of Audubon road, exchanged marriage vows in Grosse Pointe Congregational Church.

Officiating at the 4.30 o'clock rites which were followed by a reception at the Detroit Boat Club was The Reverend J.W. Estes.

Seed pearls and Belgian lace accented the bride's antique egg-shell satin gown. Her bouffant illusion veil fell from a matching pearl-studded bow and she carried a bouquet of baby roses, baby carnations and ivy.

She was attended by her sister, Margaret Heikkinen, who served as honor maid, and bridesmaids Mrs. Ward Sussex, the bridegroom's sister, Pamela Marshall, Connie Stephenson, Mrs. Charles Clute and Jerri Milton.

Their frocks were fashioned of copper worsted rayon silk and they carried yellow and copper carnations with ivy.

Kenneth Hollidge was his brother's best man. Seating the guests were Ward Sussex, Gary Hollidge, and other brothers, Ralph J. Heikkinen, the bride's brother, John Gibson and Albert Kasnor.

The mother of the bride wore an apricot worsted silk dress while the bridegroom's mother selected an aqua worsted silk ensemble.

The newlyweds vacationed in New Orleans, La., and are making their home in St. Clair Shores.

DR. ALFRED WHITTAKER, of Elmsleigh lane, was among members of the Wayne State University Board of Governors who participated in the October 7 and 8 meeting of the Association of Governing Boards of Universities and Colleges in Washington, D.C.

Participating in a Hooked Rug Bee sponsored by the Detroit Guild of McGown Teachers at All Saints' Episcopal Church in West Seven Mile road, Detroit, from 8 to 3:30 o'clock Wednesday, October 22, was DOROTHY DARBY, of Anita avenue.

Mrs. Craig E. Hollidge

Grosse Pointe Congregational Church was the setting for the Saturday, October 11, wedding of LINDA K. HEIKKINEN, daughter of the Ralph I. Heikkinens who moved within the year from Pear Tree lane to Birmingham, and Mr. Hollidge, son of the Kenneth B. Hollidges, of Audubon road.

McCarron-Martin Rites Revealed

Joan Carol Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Martin, of Roseville, became the bride of Gerald Ellery McCarron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCarron, of Kerby road, at a candlelight ceremony in St. Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore Friday evening, October 10.

Monsignor Frank J. McPhillips officiated at the 6 o'clock rites which were followed by a reception at Hillcrest Country Club.

The bride's candlelight peau de soie gown featured a sheer organza yoke, long puffed sleeves and a fitted Alencon lace bodice. Matching lace appliques accented the hem of her dress, and detachable train and lace edged her double-tiered silk Cathedral veil.

She carried white baby roses and ivy.

Honor matron Mrs. Dennis McCarron, bridesmaids Deborah and Kim Martin, sisters of the bride, Barbara Schmidt and Mrs. Tim Sweeney and Mary Martin, who served as her sister's flower girl, wore floor length frocks of ivory lace and gold moire and carried bouquets of autumn-hued strawflowers.

Charles McCarron acted as best man for his brother. Ushers were Don and Larry Martin, brothers of the bride, Richard McCarron, another brother of the bridegroom, and Dennis McCarron, a cousin. Hal Osborne, the bride's cousin, was ring bearer.

A stone and bead-trimmed jacket ensemble of pale blue crepe was the bride's mother's choice for the wedding. The bridegroom's mother selected a pink coat and dress costume.

After a vacation in Jamaica the newlyweds will make their home in Mount Clemens.

Ladies Will Inspect Agencies and Services of League of Catholic Women of Metropolitan Detroit at Day-Long Program

Members of the Altar Society of St. Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore are planning a go-and-see tour of the agencies and services of the League of Catholic Women of Metropolitan Detroit.

The safari is scheduled to leave St. Paul's at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning, November 3, with Altar Society President Mrs. Robert J. Flemming and tour chairman Mrs. Stanley J. Renouf in charge of the day's journey by chartered bus.

First stop will be the League-sponsored Sancta Maria Home on the Edsel Ford highway where girls and young women, many of whom are referred by the Court, are in residence for completion of their schooling, job training and rehabilitation. This program is under the direction of Father Richard Ward with Mrs. Stanley E. Beattie, of Pemberton road, as League chairman of the board. She and others from board and staff will greet the guests.

House, the League's famous remedial center for young delinquent girls, at John R. and Frederick streets. Here Miss Mildred Peely, League chairman of the Barat board, and Miss Blen Torres, executive director of Barat, will welcome the women from St. Paul's.

For luncheon the caravan will stop at League of Catholic Women headquarters in Parsons street where a buffet awaits them. Mrs. William P. Brennan, president, Mrs. Emmet E. Tracy and Mrs. Sherman J. FitzSimons, Jr., will be hostesses at the luncheon.

While here the ladies will hear the Apostolate Story from Mrs. Eve McCarthy, chairman, and a report on the new Heartline Program for delinquent girls by Sister Renalda.

Continuing their day's trip Altar Society members will visit the Casa Maria Community Center in Trumbull avenue. Miss Joan Church, chairman, Mrs. Malcolm J. Tear and other members of the League's board will greet guests at Casa where a regular afternoon program will be in progress.

P.S. In that list of possible "take-homes" we forgot to mention the trip to New York. Or the custom golf bag and clubs. Oh well . . .

Unitarian Church Holly Fair

Advance orders now are being taken Sundays at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church for original Holly Fair items. And the Unitarian Church's Holly Fair, planned for Thursday, November 13, has many originals. Consider the push-me-pull-yous designed by Gloria Friwald, of Rathbone place. These puppets hide inside their own skirts, houncing up at the pull of a stick. Gloria, incidentally, is a multi-talented lady: She did the pen-and-ink design of the Church for that all-occasion card scheduled to be sold for the very first time Holly Fair Day.

We especially admire those Florentine-style golden angels fashioned of muslin, paste and lace by Joanne Thomas' committee. And the candles created by Concetta Anderson's group—each one is unique.

Betty Frolund, of Hawthorne road, originated a group of felt dolls whose clothes "stock on." Ula Perry, of Barrington road, designed and silk-screened a collection of Christmas and birthday cards.

Holly Fair chairman Maya Elmer, of Berkshire road, developed a trio of originals: Three Wise Men pottery candleholders.

Maya's co-chairmen are Joan Hines, of Littlestone road, and Natalie Lederer, of Bishop road.

Happy Anniversary, Kay and Frank!

The invitation was formal — "In honor of the Fortieth Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Louis Burger their son and daughter request the pleasure of your company Friday, the seventeenth of October, at eight o'clock in the evening at the Temrowski residence in Lochmoor boulevard" — but once inside the door it was first names all the way!

"Happy Anniversary, Kay and Frank!" . . . "Hello Mary Kathryn, Lee (Temrowski; Mary Kathryn's the Burgers' daughter)" . . . "Good heavens, is that 'Little Lee'?" . . . "No, it's John, 'Little Lee's' the BIG one, over there" . . . "You've got to be kidding! (there are five Temrowski Burger grandsons)" . . .

"Hi there Judy, Bud (Burger; Bud's Kay and Frank's son)" . . . "Hello John (Frank's brother)" . . . Marian (Frank's sister)" . . . "Maya! Good to see you again! Where's Tony? (Maya's Kay's sister; Tony's her husband)" . . .

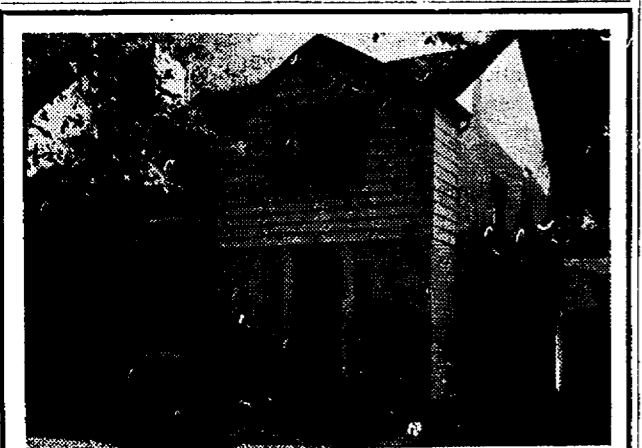

Everyone ate and drank and danced and laughed and reminisced and marveled at the "blow-ups" of the 1929 wedding party — "Did we EVER really look like that?"

It was a party of friends, of happy faces, the kind of evening at the end of which as they're getting into their cars husbands and wives turn to one another and say, "Didn't we have a good time . . ."

Because they did.
Happy Anniversary, Kay and Frank.
