Air South High Renovation

of the Quonset hut and front Annex buildings.

The Superintendent of Schools said that "Priority 1," (as he has termed it), would mean that South would have 13 new science rooms, 17 new classrooms, one lecture room, expansion of the Instructional Materials Center, and include the relocation and updating of the music facilities at South High School.

"Priority 2" on the Superintendent's list is "to rehabilitate and upgrade such areas as art, industrial arts and the auditorium."

Dr. Anderson's "Priority 3" is to expand cafeteria facilities above the present gym-field room area and complete any other phases of the master plan. The original master plan does not include the addition of a swimming pool.

Becoming More Costly

"Considering the continuing rise in building costs, we are certainly not saving money by postponing this long overdue project. However, the financial climate of the nation may well dictate a modest beginning to the project," Dr. Anderson said.

Interested citizens have asked what it would cost them in terms of millage to finance the $3,600,000 proposal. At a six percent interest rate for 20 years, for example, it would cost 1.10 mills the first year, and .85 of a mill each year thereafter.

A mill is one dollar per thousand dollars on the taxable value of a piece of real estate in the school district. The cost to a homeowner with property valued at $20,000 for tax purposes (and $40,000 for sale purposes) would be 20,000 x 1.10, or a total of $22 for the first year.

Completed in 1928 Grosse Pointe High School was completed and occupied by students on February 1, 1928. In March, 1942, the Industrial Arts Building was completed. The acquisition of the Grosse Pointe Country Day School was approved by voters in April, 1953, to meet the school's burgeoning post World War II student enrollment. In April, 1955, the gymnasium-auditorium complex at South High School was finished. In September, 1961, the mathematics center (an additional floor on the Industrial Arts Building) was in use. The latest addition to the school, the Wicking Library, an octagonal structure placed in the parking lot facing Grosse Pointe boulevard, was opened in September, 1964.

Grosse Pointe High School was the community's only public high school until September, 1968, when Grosse Pointe North High School received its first students. At that time, Grosse Pointe's original high school was called "South High School."

In 1968 both senior high schools housed grades 9-12 as the existing junior high schools began to be operated as middle schools for grades 6-8, and most of the district's 10 elementary schools were organized on a Kindergarten through grade 5 plan.

Parents Assist Athletic Fund

In view of the tightness of the 1970-71 Grosse Pointe public school budget, all inter-scholastic athletics have been placed on a self-supporting basis.

The Parents Club of Grosse Pointe North High School is appealing to all parents and friends for a minimum donation of $10.

This book of tickets will permit the buyer to attend all home sports events. Letters have been written to each Grosse Pointe North High parent urging them to support this worthwhile cause. The proceeds will be used to assist in the cost of maintaining the nine sports in which the school participates.

Without substantial support in this activity the athletic program at North High School will be in serious jeopardy. Certainly a well-rounded sports program is an integral part of any outstanding secondary school.

For tickets you may contact James Cooper, assistant principal at North.

Air Commission Headed by Boyer

Harold R. Boyer, of East Jefferson Avenue, was elected chairman of the Aeronautics Commission of the Michigan Department of Commerce, on September 15.
 Boyer, a retired General Motors Corporation vice president, who organized GM's aviation fleet, succeeds Mario Fontana of Iron Mountain who has been chairman for the past year.
 A member of the Commission since 1946, Boyer has been active in Detroit-area flying activities for many years, as a pilot has logged more than 5,000 hours. He served as chairman of the Detroit Aviation Commission and was chairman of the Aircraft Production Board during World War II.
 He also served as chairman of the Detroit Metropolitan Authority which conducted several studies regarding airport needs in the Detroit area during the time he was on the Authority.
 Lynn D. Allen of Pontiac, an optometrist who was an air gunner during World War II, was elected vice chairman succeeding Boyer.
 Allen, who is Oakland County's Clerk-Register of Deeds, has been a member of the Commission since 1969.
 Allen, a private pilot for 27 years, studied aeronautical engineering after the war and then switched his major to optometry and began practicing in Pontiac following his graduation from Northern Illinois College of Optometry.
 Allen was appointed Clerk-Register of Deeds, following the death of his father, who held the post for 26 years.

Lieut. Doyle Serves Aboard Support Ship

Navy Lieutenant (Junior Grade) Lawrence A. Doyle, Jr., husband of the former Miss Maureen J. O'Brien of 65 Lake Shore road, departed Norfolk, Va., on August 27, for the Mediterranean aboard the fast combat support ship USS Seattle.
 By means of the latest ship-to-ship transfer systems, the Seattle will transfer over nine million gallons of liquid fuels and five thousand tons of cargo, ammunition, and missiles to ships operating with the Sixth Fleet.

Recreational Authority Suggested for Pointes

In the past months the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association has sought permission from all of the Pointes to build a Community Sports Center in each of their cities. They were turned down for various reasons by Grosse Pointe Woods, Shores, Farms and Park, Shores, Farms and Park, Shores, Farms and Park. Currently they have been discussing the use of Elworthy Field in the City of Grosse Pointe, located in the block bounded by Waterloo and Charlevoix, Neff and St. Clair, with the City Council.
 The property was purchased by the Board of Education with a gift for this specific purpose from the Joy family.
 President of the Board of Education, Barbara R. Thompson explained the Board's position in a letter dated September 4 to all the mayors and president of The Shores.
 In it Mrs. Thompson indicated that the Board of Education owns Elworthy Field under conditions which require that the field be used for recreational purposes in the community available to all in the Grosse Pointe District.
 "The Board has not the funds to utilize and develop the field adequately, nor can it devote the time and effort required to promote its development. The governmental units appearing enthusiastic about assuring operation and complete development of the field."
 "There is hope, however, that the current interest of advocates of hockey and tennis could be utilized to take a small—though first—step toward a community recreational authority. It should be possible to have formed a Michigan non-profit corporation or foundation to undertake the development of hockey and tennis facilities. Representatives of the Grosse Pointe communities and the Board of Education would be members of such a corporation or foundation and would be represented on the Board of Directors. The operation of Elworthy Field might hopefully be administered by the City of Grosse Pointe; a possible alternative is the naming of an independent administrator, under conditions rather rigidly drawn.
 "As a condition of its participation and subsequent lease of the necessary property to such a corporation, (for a nominal fee, for an extended period of time), the Board of Education would establish a list of conditions essential to the satisfaction of the Circuit Court and in the best interests of the residents of the school district. Such conditions might include:
 1. "The Board of Education would not be obliged financially in this arrangement. The project would need to be established on a self-sustaining basis and operate at a level which would in addition to covering expenses, provide funded reserves for maintenance. Provisions would need to be made for eventual demolition or alteration of the building in the eventuality that the hockey facility might one day prove unsuccessful or for some reason might outlive its usefulness to the community.
 2. "It seems reasonable that the Board's participation would be conditional upon the agreement of each of the governmental units to be represented in the corporation.
 3. "The Circuit Court would require satisfaction that the conditions of the original gift of the property now known as Elworthy Field would be met under the new arrangement. This would include a commitment that Elworthy Field continue to be used for "public recreational purposes for the benefit of the residents of the School District."
 "Such an arrangement as the one suggested above is not without precedent. The Grosse Pointe Communities Youth Service Division has some of the same characteristics. Farther afield, local governmental revenue authorities, when con-

Moross Crash Injures Driver

Harry J. Ferguson, 22, of 463 Riverside drive, Detroit, was still listed as being in critical condition in St. John Hospital on Tuesday, September 15, suffering from injuries received when his car smashed into a utility pole in front of 316 Moross road, on Sunday, September 13.
 According to a Farms police report, Ferguson was traveling south on Moross, at 4:50 a.m. on Sunday, when his car crossed the centerline and crashed into an Edison pole. He suffered severe lacerations about the face and internal injuries.
 Police received several calls from citizens who were awakened by the sound of the crash. Ferguson was taken to the hospital by Farms Fire Department ambulance.
 Officers at the scene, said that it appeared that Ferguson had either fallen asleep at the wheel, or had blacked out for some reason. He was alone in the auto, which was totally demolished. The vehicle was valued at $2,000.

Woods Accused of Stalling

(Continued from Page 1) meeting until June 3 and not another meeting for two weeks after that. This man is guilty of delay tactics and is trying to force compulsory arbitration."

Patrolman Donald Sun said that Boonstra "is not doing the City or the public safety officers any good" and that he was using a "stalling tactic" in order to make more money.

On May 15, 1970, under Councilman Benjamin Pinkos recommendation, the council voted to hire Boonstra to represent the City as a labor negotiator at a cost of $40 per hour. The City had originally decided to appoint a negotiator after City Manager Chester Peterson was asked by the Public Safety Department to begin wage and fringe benefits negotiations.

Woods Mayor Kenneth McLeod said the reason they (the council) had decided to obtain professional services is that they thought a professional labor negotiator was more capable of achieving an equitable settlement for both sides.

"We are not labor negotiators," McLeod said. "This council felt it was important to get professional services."

Patrolman Wayne Baum said even though the council members may not be qualified negotiators, they are still responsible to the citizens. He pointed out that employees cannot do an effective job if there is dissatisfaction in the ranks.

"You (the council) are causing dissension because you are not dealing with us in good faith," Baum said. "Employees do their best when they are satisfied, and they are not satisfied."

Baum added that the policeman's job is getting tougher all the time and if officers are unhappy at their job, there may be a resultant, although unintentional, decrease in service because of a decrease of morale.

The Woods Public Safety Department is a rarity among police departments in that fire fighting is also considered a part of the policeman's duty. Oak Park, the only other city in the area requiring similar duties of their officers, has offered their men a salary of $12,441 plus other benefits. Woods officers have been offered $11,700 for combined police and fire services.

One Woods officer said he believed that money was being saved with the combined police fire operation stating that a full-time fire department with a 21-man complement would cost the city $10,375 per man with no fringe benefits. He said the total cost would be $217,875.

Woods officers are asking $11,450 plus 10 percent for fire services.

Figures were stated showing the number of officers in relation to the number of citizens in each of the Grosse Pointes. With a population of 23,000, Grosse Pointe Woods figured comparably with the other Pointes in officer strength. However the point was brought up that each of the other departments had access to separate fire protection services.

A request was made by Patrolman Bruce Marone for the council to appoint at least one member to attend the bargaining sessions in an effort to obtain more council involvement in the dispute.

Councilman Pinkos answered Marone saying that any member cannot in good conscience attend the meetings. He pointed out that the council had hired the negotiator to represent the city and, ethically they cannot overstep the same man they had appointed for their representation.

A citizen supported Marone's statement saying that Boonstra was "in an envious position". He urged the council to meet personally with the officers for a wage settlement and, in a reference to Boonstra, asked that there be no "buffer zone."

Mayor McLeod summed up the council's feelings saying that they are in no position to open the council meeting to negotiations.

"It's just as frustrating to us as it is to you," McLeod said. "We want a settlement as much as you do."

Although not promising anything, McLeod said that he would talk to the city manager in an effort to find a quicker solution to the talks. He added that he was sure the discussion had done some good.

Docket Cleared By Judge Pytell

Eleven persons appeared before Farms Municipal Judge Robert H. Pytell on Wednesday, September 9, in answer to summonses for varied law violations. Five others who failed to come to court, now have warrants outstanding for their arrests.

Robert Rahm of 804 Woods lane, charged with having no 1970 license plate for his boat, was found guilty and fined $15 for the offense.

Mike Walworth of 350 Moross road, also charged with watercraft violations, towing a water skier without an observer, and having an unacceptable side mirror, was found guilty and paid fines totaling $25.

William H. Walker of 3065 Woodhall, Detroit, accused of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of narcotics, stood mute. Judge Pytell adjourned the matter until he sets another court date.

Willow D. Blanton of 21702 Lakeview, St. Clair Shores, pled not guilty to a charge of careless driving. His trial date has been set for October 14, at 3 p.m.

Ileane B. Worthington of 1683 Page, Lincoln Park, was found guilty of failure to yield the right of way and causing an accident. Her fine was $15.

Hugh G. Tucker of 6131 St. Jean, Detroit, accused of driving while his operator's license was suspended, was found guilty and paid a fine of $50, and sentenced to seven days in the Detroit House of Correction. In addition, he was placed on probation for one year.

Donald F. Cole of 500 Washington, ticketed for speeding, pled not guilty to the charge and was found not guilty and the case was dismissed.

Albert C. Prast of 11 Williston, charged with speeding, entered a plea of not guilty and was found guilty and paid a fine of $10.

Lounge Violates Closing Curfew

The Nightingale Lounge, 20791 Mack, was found to be in violation of the 2:30 a.m. curfew for bars serving liquor in Michigan.

While on patrol, Monday, September 14, Woods police noticed that there were six cars parked outside of the bar and patrons were not leaving the establishment. A time check from Michigan Bell Telephone revealed that it was past 2:31 a.m.

Inside the bar, it was found that a group of five individuals, including the bar's owner, Frank Losh, 19374 Coulee, Detroit, were talking and drinking.

Police informed Losh that he was in violation of the Liquor Control Act. When asked, Losh said that he keeps the wall clock set ahead of the correct time in order to clear the bar before the curfew.

Do you know why coins have a raised trim on the outer edge? ... In the old days the metal of a coin was equivalent in value to the face value of the coin itself. Unscrupulous people would trim off some of the metal from the edges and sell the scrapings.

By raising the outer edge it became easy to see whether the coin had been trimmed.

The "milled" edges also serve to spot counterfeiters—on most bogus coins the edges are rough or are otherwise distorted.

Mercury introduces a new and better small car. 1971 MERCURY COMET

- Take the best small-car ideas.
Comet has them all. Easy parking and turning: the 2-door can turn in a circle only 35.6 feet in diameter! Low price: Mercury's lowest-priced car. Gas mileage: rivals imports. Simple servicing: a handy repair manual is available with dozens of do-it-yourself tips.
- Add the styling and performance of a bigger car.
Notice the big-car grille with dramatic power-dome hood. Big-car luxury, too, with rich, wall-to-wall carpeting. And this all-new Comet gives you a lot of that big-car get up and go. The standard "6" has 100 horsepower. And you can get up to a 210 hp V-8.
- Result: a better small car.

A choice of 6's or V-8.
This is one small car that offers you exactly the power you need or want. You have a choice of 3 thrifty "sixes" or a high-performance V-8. The standard engine is a 170 cubic inch "six" with 100 horsepower. One optional "six" is a 209 cubic inch engine with 115 horsepower. The second optional "six" is a 250 cubic inch power plant with 145 horsepower. Or you can get Comet's biggest engine option, a 302 cubic inch V-8 with 210 horsepower.

A choice of 2 doors or 4. Even a bucket-seat GT. Comet offers you 3 ways to own a better small car: the 2-door sedan seats 4 adults, a slightly larger 4-door sedan seats 5 adults, or a GT with buckets, hood scoop, special GT striping, the works. Options include automatic transmission, power steering, even air conditioning.

Mercury. Better ideas make better cars.
A better idea for safety: Buckle up.

Middle School Teachers Spend Vacations Studying

Fifteen teachers in the three middle schools (grades 6, 7, and 8) operated by The Grosse Pointe Public School System used a large portion of the summer recess from their professional duties at Brownell, Parcels and Pierce to expand their horizons by enrolling in college and university classes.

The five Brownell staff members who returned to campus included three English teachers (Mrs. Nadine A. Hunt, Mrs. Marjorie Stechschulte, and Mrs. Virginia E. Gerstner), Mrs. Christina A. Judson of the music department, and Kenneth E. McMillin of the social studies staff.

Mrs. Hunt enrolled at Wayne State University for "English Literature of the 20th Century" and "Bibliography and Methods for English Majors", two courses in her program leading to an MA degree in English. Mrs. Stechschulte enrolled at Marygrove College for a course called "Contemporary Political Systems". Mrs. Gerstner enrolled for a speech course at the University of Detroit.

Mrs. Judson was a student at the University of Michigan this summer. She enrolled for "Procedures and Techniques of Teaching Instrumental Music" and classes in ensemble, percussion, oboe, flute, all courses that apply to her program of studies leading to a degree of Master of Music in Wind Instruments.

Mr. McMillin is striving to complete his MA degree in guidance and counseling. He spent most of the summer on the campus of Wayne State University. His courses included "Intergroup Relations in Community and School", "Educational and Occupational Information", "Mental Hygiene and its Relation to the Problems of Education", "Counseling Process", and "Social Studies Curriculum—New Perspectives: Teaching for Inquiry".

Representing Parcels Middle School as summer scholars this year were seven teachers: Mrs. Eugenia Morgan and Miss Nancy Ann Burton of the English department; Miss Elaine K. Christensen in social studies; Mrs. Esther D. Meldrum, art teacher; Mrs. Christie R. Brady, French instructor; Karl R. Geisler of the science department; and Miss Yvonne W. Okie, grade 6.

Miss Burton returned to the campus of Wayne State University for a class in educational sociology. Mrs. Morgan also enrolled at Wayne State University for a "Workshop in Action and Innovation in English". Miss Christensen enrolled in a class called "Consumer Education for the Secondary Student" at Wayne State University.

Mrs. Meldrum also enrolled at Wayne State University for a course in the utilization of community resources, with emphasis on Greenfield Village. Mrs. Brady, working toward an MA degree, took a course entitled "Survey of Art History III: Baroque through Modern" at Wayne.

The three Pierce teachers who attended summer sessions were Richard L. Benoit, a science instructor, Francis Lamb from the social studies department, and James R. Louwers, in mathematics.

Mr. Benoit enrolled at the University of Michigan for a course in elementary science and for another one in genetics. Mr. Lamb was a student at Michigan State University. He enrolled in "Workshop in Education Curriculum: Design for Social Studies" and "Seminar in Education: Junior High and Middle School". Mr. Louwers worked toward the completion of requirements for his Education Specialist's degree at Wayne State University.

Mr. Geisler, pursuing his professional improvement through the completion of a master's degree at Wayne State University, took "Recent Advances in the Teaching of Biological Sciences". Miss Okie was a student at Marygrove College. The Parcels Grade 6 teacher's courses lead to an MA degree and included an independent study project and "French Literary Criticism".

PTA At Defer Meets Tuesday

The Defer PTA will hold its "Back To School Night," on Tuesday, September 29. The general meeting is slated to begin at 8 o'clock and will feature Jesse R. Lowther, principal, who will introduce new faculty members and discuss innovative programs planned for the coming year, and Dr. Forrest Bremmer, PTA president, who will outline the functions of the PTA. Classroom visitations are set to begin at 8:30 for grades one through three, and at 9 o'clock for grades four through six. Teachers will take this opportunity to outline their goals for the coming year. PTA dues will be collected during the course of the evening. Refreshments will be served continuously in the gymnasium from 8:30 until 10. All parents are urged to attend.

AWOL Soldiers Put in Custody

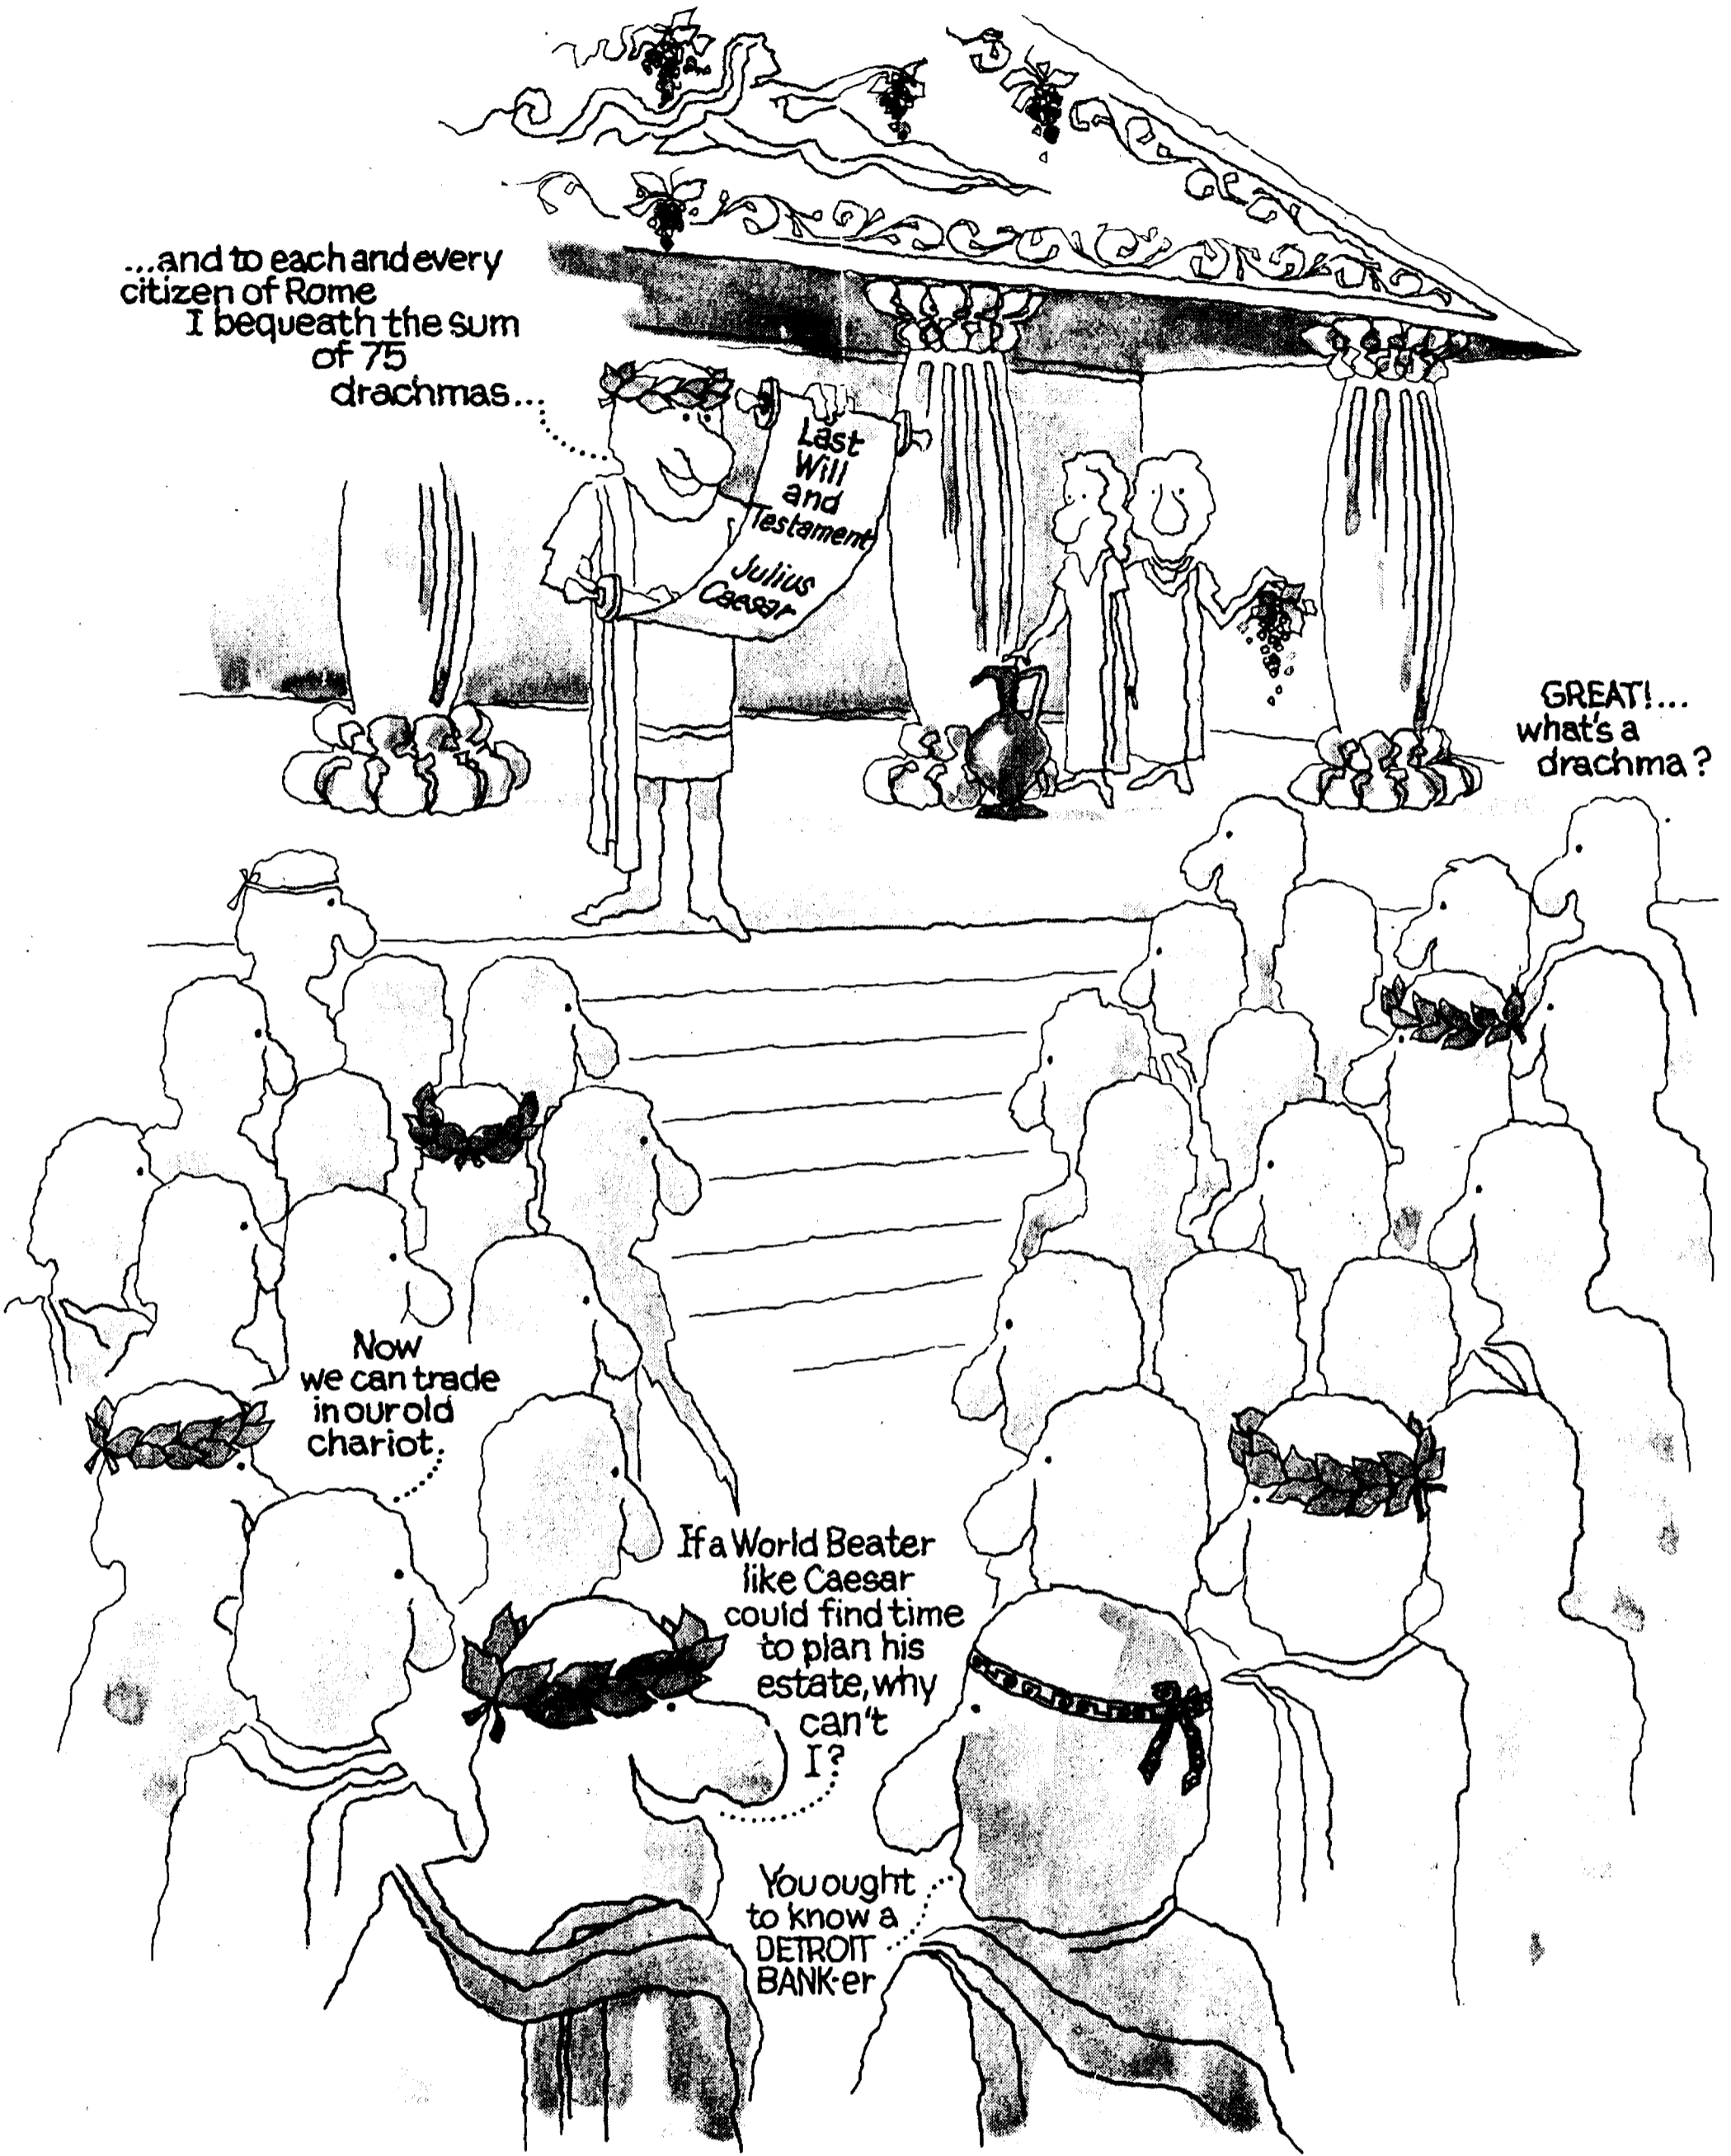

Woods police have released two men, one a Grosse Pointer, to military police, who have admitted that they were absent without leave from Fort Bragg, North Carolina. Patrick Hogan, 19, of 101 Muir road, was stopped and questioned at 4:41 a.m. Saturday, September 12, by Woods Cpl. Thomas Kerving. Taken to the station, Hogan informed police that he was absent without leave from the army. It was confirmed by army officials that he had been absent since September 9. Sunday, September 13, James Humphrey, 21 of Auburn, Wash., turned himself in to Woods police saying that he knew Hogan and that he also was AWOL. Both subjects were held and released to the 68th Military Police Detachment, in Detroit.

Hospital Honors Candystripers

Sixty high school girls gave a record total of 2,086 and one-half hours as Candystripers-junior volunteers at Cottage Hospital in Grosse Pointe during the past summer. They were honored as the recent Mother-Daughter Tea at the Cottage Hospital Nurses Residence. They received flowers from the hospital and award pins from the Women's Auxiliary. Two of the 60 girls gave 150 hours of volunteer time, two gave 75 hours, and nine gave 50 hours. Each of these girls received, in addition, a guard for her pin. The Candystripers who gave 150 hours each were Carol Dube of St. Clair Shores and Sue Kodick of Grosse Pointe Shores. Girls who gave 75 hours each were Mary Ann Quinci of St. Clair Shores and Cindi Rossi of East Detroit. The girls who received 50-hour awards were Diane Czarnocki, Debbi Endicott, Debbi Howell, Ann Sears, and Jill Halstead, of St. Clair Shores; Colleen Meldrum, Laurie Ebntley, and Sue Cocco, of Detroit; and Frances Ryberg of Grosse Pointe Farms. Other girls receiving award pins were: From Grosse Pointe—Sue Ellis, Paula Florek, Arlene Hammel, Sue Hewlett, Cheryl Huckins, Barbara Nobel, Karen Badger, Carol Francis, Mary Handlos, Sandy Shortt, Gretchen Steininger, Colleen Thompson, Susan Williams, Vivian Joseph, Peggy Malooly, Mary Murphy, Denise Steele, Cindy Vandervelde, Ellen Batis, Sara Sweeny, Diane Hooper, Pam Georgette, and Jean Westfall; From St. Clair Shores—Michelle Carroll, Marsha Fowlds, Barbara Jay, Marsha Kenel, Mary Beth Kurtzhals, Sandy Lockrem, Sue Michaels, Cerri Mucci, Kathy Renner, Martha Gurhaus, and Sylvia Sapienza; From East Detroit—Sheree Hawkins, Sue Lockhart, Cindy Stacey, Sharon Stelmazewski, Laurie Koerber, Dawn Torp, Cindy Arnold, and Pam Toom; From Detroit—Laura Bennett, Terri Cole, Karen Smith, Mary Whalen, and Janet Juliano.

MR. and MRS. JAMES RANGER opened their East Jefferson avenue home September 11 for a black tie reception honoring stars of the 1970 National Aviation and Space Exposition who performed that weekend at Willow Run Airport. Co-hosting the fete were MRS. FLORENCE SISMAN and JAMES V. VOITA.

Bank Bandit Killed, Park Officer Shot in Gun Battle

(Continued from Page 1) in the bank at the time the crime was in progress, but the authorities did not say if the people were aware that a hold-up was taking place.

Suspect Spotted
At about 8:45 p.m. that same evening, Park Sgt. Gordon Duncan, while on routine patrol on Charlevoix, saw a man whose physical description and clothing matched that of the bank bandit. The officer radioed his station for a verification of the description.

The suspect was walking west on Charlevoix, at Lakepointe, in the company of a woman, when noticed by Duncan. When the description of the suspect was confirmed, the sergeant asked for assistance, and Furtaw and Warren were dispatched.

When Furtaw and Warren arrived, the man and his companion were on Charlevoix, between Wayburn and Alter. They were joined by another woman.

The man and the two women were about to enter a pizzeria at the location, when Furtaw got out of the scout car and approached, calling to the suspect that he wished to talk to him. The man ignored the officer.

As Furtaw approached nearer and called again, the man, Blanton, turned and reached into his pocket. Duncan, who about this time drove up and stopped behind Furtaw's car, saw Blanton's gesture, and glimpsed the gun, and shouted a warning over his car loud speaker to Furtaw and Warren that the man was armed.

Taken by Surprise
Furtaw, whose vision was obscured, was taken by surprise when Blanton aimed and fired four times, one bullet hitting the officer, who fell to the ground.

One shot hit the sidewalk, ricocheted, and barely missed Warren. The shot whizzed across the street and became embedded in the front door of a house. It was recovered by police.

Warren drew his revolver and fired, mortally wounding Blanton. The first woman seen with Blanton, fled the area before she could be questioned by Park officers or by Detroit police, who rushed to the scene when notified of the shooting. However, the second woman, identified as Pearl Scruggs, 60, of the Alter road address, was taken into custody and conveyed to Detroit's Jefferson Station, Fifth Precinct, for investigation and questioning.

Units from the City, Farms and Woods responded to the scene when reports of the shoot-out came over the police radio. A short time later, the first woman returned to the area, and was arrested by Detroit police. She identified herself as Shirley Blanton, 32, wife of the alleged bank robber.

Money Recovered
The authorities said that Blanton and his wife arrived in the area in a light blue Volkswagen, bearing South Carolina license plates. Although it was not disclosed where the bank loot had been kept, it was revealed that all the money had been recovered.

Park Police Chief Gerard Kesteloot expressed pride in the performance of Duncan, Furtaw and Warren, calling the incident "excellent police work."

"I regret that the apprehension had to result in a shoot out, and that a man had to die," the chief said, "but there was no alternative. Patrolman Warren shot the suspect because the man had a gun and was firing it. The officer had no choice but to return the fire."

"I regret that Patrolman Furtaw was shot, but I am extremely happy that he was only wounded in the arm. He will return to duty as soon as he is able."

Two Investigations Made
Park Det. Sgt. James LaPratt, who conducted a follow-up investigation of the shooting as a routine matter, as prescribed by Park police regulations, said that officers of Detroit's Homicide Squad, also conducted an investigation of their own, since the shoot-out took place within their jurisdiction.

"You know, people do not hear of the good things that police officers do, just the 'so-called bad things'," the sergeant said. "I was overwhelmed by the gestures of the officers of Grosse Pointe Woods, who, while attending a meeting at their station, heard the broadcast of the shooting and that an officer of our department had been wounded."

"Twenty of the Woods policemen remained at the station in the event that they might be needed, while four of the patrolmen, Steve Petrik, Donald Sun, Kenneth Metcalf and Ronald Hayden, drove to the hospital to offer blood if Patrolman Furtaw needed it. This was during the initial confusion and shock, when at the time it was not known how bad the officer was hurt."

"These four wood policemen, and the 20 who stood by, were willing to donate blood to a colleague, who, at the time, they thought was in need of their help. Mind you, they were not asked, they just went to the hospital on their own."

Chiefs are Grateful
Chief Kesteloot also expressed his gratitude to the Woods policemen who offered their assistance to a fellow officer.

Both the chief and the sergeant said that the gesture of the Woods officers shows the strong bonds of comradeship between the policemen of the police area departments and policemen everywhere.

Scout Troop 147 Plans Campout
Boy Scout Troop 147 of Defer School held its first meeting of the year on Monday, September 21. At that time Scoutmaster Edward Feidler presented the troops camping plans for the year.

The first campout is slated for Friday, September 25, at Stoney Creek Park.

A Court of Honor is set for Monday, October 5, at Defer School.

Farms Police Chief Robert Ferber commended Duncan, Furtaw and Warren for their part in helping to clear the hold-up at the Farms bank branch. He expressed regret that the incident had to end in a shooting that took a human life, and that Patrolman Furtaw was wounded.

The Farms chief said that he dispatched letters of commendation on behalf of his department and the residents of the city, to Chief Kesteloot, to be given to the three Park officers for a "job well done".

Chief Kesteloot said on Monday, September 21, that he will recommend to the Park Council that Duncan, Warren and Furtaw be awarded Departmental Citations for the manner in which they conducted themselves in the performance of their duty, done "in the highest tradition of police service."

Bandit Used Alias
He also disclosed on Monday, that Robert Blanton was not the true name of the dead man. Fingerprints identified the deceased as Howard Harley Gates, 34, of 3235 South Church street, Spartansburg, South Carolina, out on bond from the state, charged with the murder of his wife.

Fingerprints also identified the woman, Shirley, said to be Gates' alias Blanton's wife, as Ellen Pack Parker of 707 Oak Leaf drive, Spartansburg, South Carolina, a fugitive from the state where she is wanted on a warrant for manslaughter.

South Carolina officials are preparing the necessary papers to extradite the woman from Michigan.

Mrs. Scruggs, the second woman taken into custody by Detroit police, following the shooting, was released after questioning. She had been detained only as a material witness.

Teachers at North High Spend Summer in Classes

Twenty members of the teaching staff of Grosse Pointe North High School were summer school students on various college and university campuses as they attempted to improve the capabilities for their respective assignments prior to the beginning of the 1970-71 year in The Grosse Pointe Public School System.

Representing North's English department among the summer scholars were Mrs. Linda J. Banovetz, Mrs. Karen G. Grove, Miss Janice M. Harrington, and Mrs. Anna R. Miller.

Mrs. Banovetz took "Literature for Adolescents" and "Remedial Reading in Secondary Schools" at Wayne State University. Mrs. Grove enrolled for work on her MA degree in secondary at Wayne, while Miss Harrington completed two courses in her MA program there: 20th century English literature and bibliography and methods.

Mrs. Miller took a field trip offered through Wayne State University as an enrichment project for assignment in humanities and world literature. Her program, "Introduction to Classical Archeology" and "Etruscan Art and Archeology" were offered from June 25 through July 31 in Siena, Italy.

Six social studies teachers from North who used the summer to study were Donald G. Dungan, David K. Grindle, Jerry D. Keeney, Thomas B. Smith, Herman H. Weng, and Richard H. Younis.

Mr. Dungan went to Wayne State for a course in principles of curriculum construction. Mr. Grindle was at Eastern Michigan University to take "Political Parties and Pressure Groups". Mr. Keeney continued his doctoral studies at Wayne State. Mr. Smith was a student of "Freedom and Constitutional Government" at Wayne. Mr. Weng followed a plan of studies for an MA from the University of Michigan and Mr. Younis enrolled at Eastern Michigan University for courses in European history, with an emphasis on the medieval period.

Miss Carol Currin and Miss Janice Stephan of the physical education department also took courses. Miss Stephan worked to fulfill the requirements for her MA degree by completing three courses at Eastern Michigan University between June 22 and July 31. Miss Currin received credit from Michigan State University for her participation in the Higgins Lake conservation program.

James E. Hunt of the foreign language department was a summer student of political science at Wayne State University. His enrollments were in "History of Michigan" and "Introduction to American Government".

John D. Herrold, Curtis W. Lange, and William Twiddy, all teachers of science, also studied this summer. Mr. Herrold was at the conservation school at Higgins Lake. Mr. Lange enrolled at Wayne State for "Vertebrate Physiology" and "Biometry" and Mr. Twiddy went to Eastern Michigan. Mr. Twiddy, who is working to complete his MA degree, took "Plant Cell Physiology", "Enzymology", and "Genetics".

Roger W. Flowers, Jr., of the business education department, spent his summer studying educational research methods at Michigan State University as part of his MA degree program.

Frank H. Ford, James J. Krucki, and George J. Olman, all mathematics teachers, were summer students. Mr. Ford received credit for his enrollment in the field workshop in conservation sponsored by Eastern Michigan University. Mr. Krucki, who is also head football coach, received credit for an independent study course, "Advanced Modern Techniques of Coaching Football" through Asusa Pacific College in California. Mr. Olman's interests lay in pursuit of an MA degree. He took courses in school administration and research techniques.

Parents Invited To Cub Meeting

Parents of boys in third, fourth and fifth grades are invited to attend a "parents only" information night on Cub Scouting Monday, September 28, from 8 o'clock until 9:30 o'clock, in St. Paul-on-the-Lake Parish House. Those interested will also have the opportunity to register their boys for the coming scouting year in Pack 61.

Outings, competitions, weekly meetings, camping, parties and the annual Blue and Gold Banquet, all of which emphasize parental involvement, are part of the year's plans.

Cub Pack 61 is not limited to St. Paul students, but is open to all boys in the area.

TV Set Vanishes From His Lawn

John Irwin, 2060 Stanhope, reported to Woods police that a 21" TV and stand were stolen from the front of his home while he was moving appliances into the house.

Irwin was in the act of moving another TV set into the front and was absent from the house for only a 15-minute period. When he returned, the set was gone.

School Board Meets Monday

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education will hold a Special Meeting at 8 p.m. on Monday, September 28, in the schools' Administration Building, 389 St. Clair Avenue.

Because plans for the possible renovation of South High School are currently in the discussion stage, the trustees welcome citizens' comments, either

Welcome to the world of Sedgwick T. Fenwick.

This is about the world of Sedgwick T. Fenwick. A world that for years and years remained quite simple and relatively uncomplicated.

But as worlds are inclined to do, Sedgwick's world changed dramatically.

New highways shot this way and that way.

Other worlds beckoned him:

"Come to Hawaii, Sedgwick."

"Come to Europe, Sedgwick."

"Come to Japan, Sedgwick."

And people offered him this, offered him that, and offered him the other thing:

"Buy our car insurance, Sedgwick."

"Buy our life insurance, Sedgwick."

"Buy a car with our financing, Sedgwick."

Poor Sedgwick.

"Some world I got here," he thought.

And even though much intrigued with his new world, Sedgwick didn't know which way to turn.

So he turned to Triple-A.

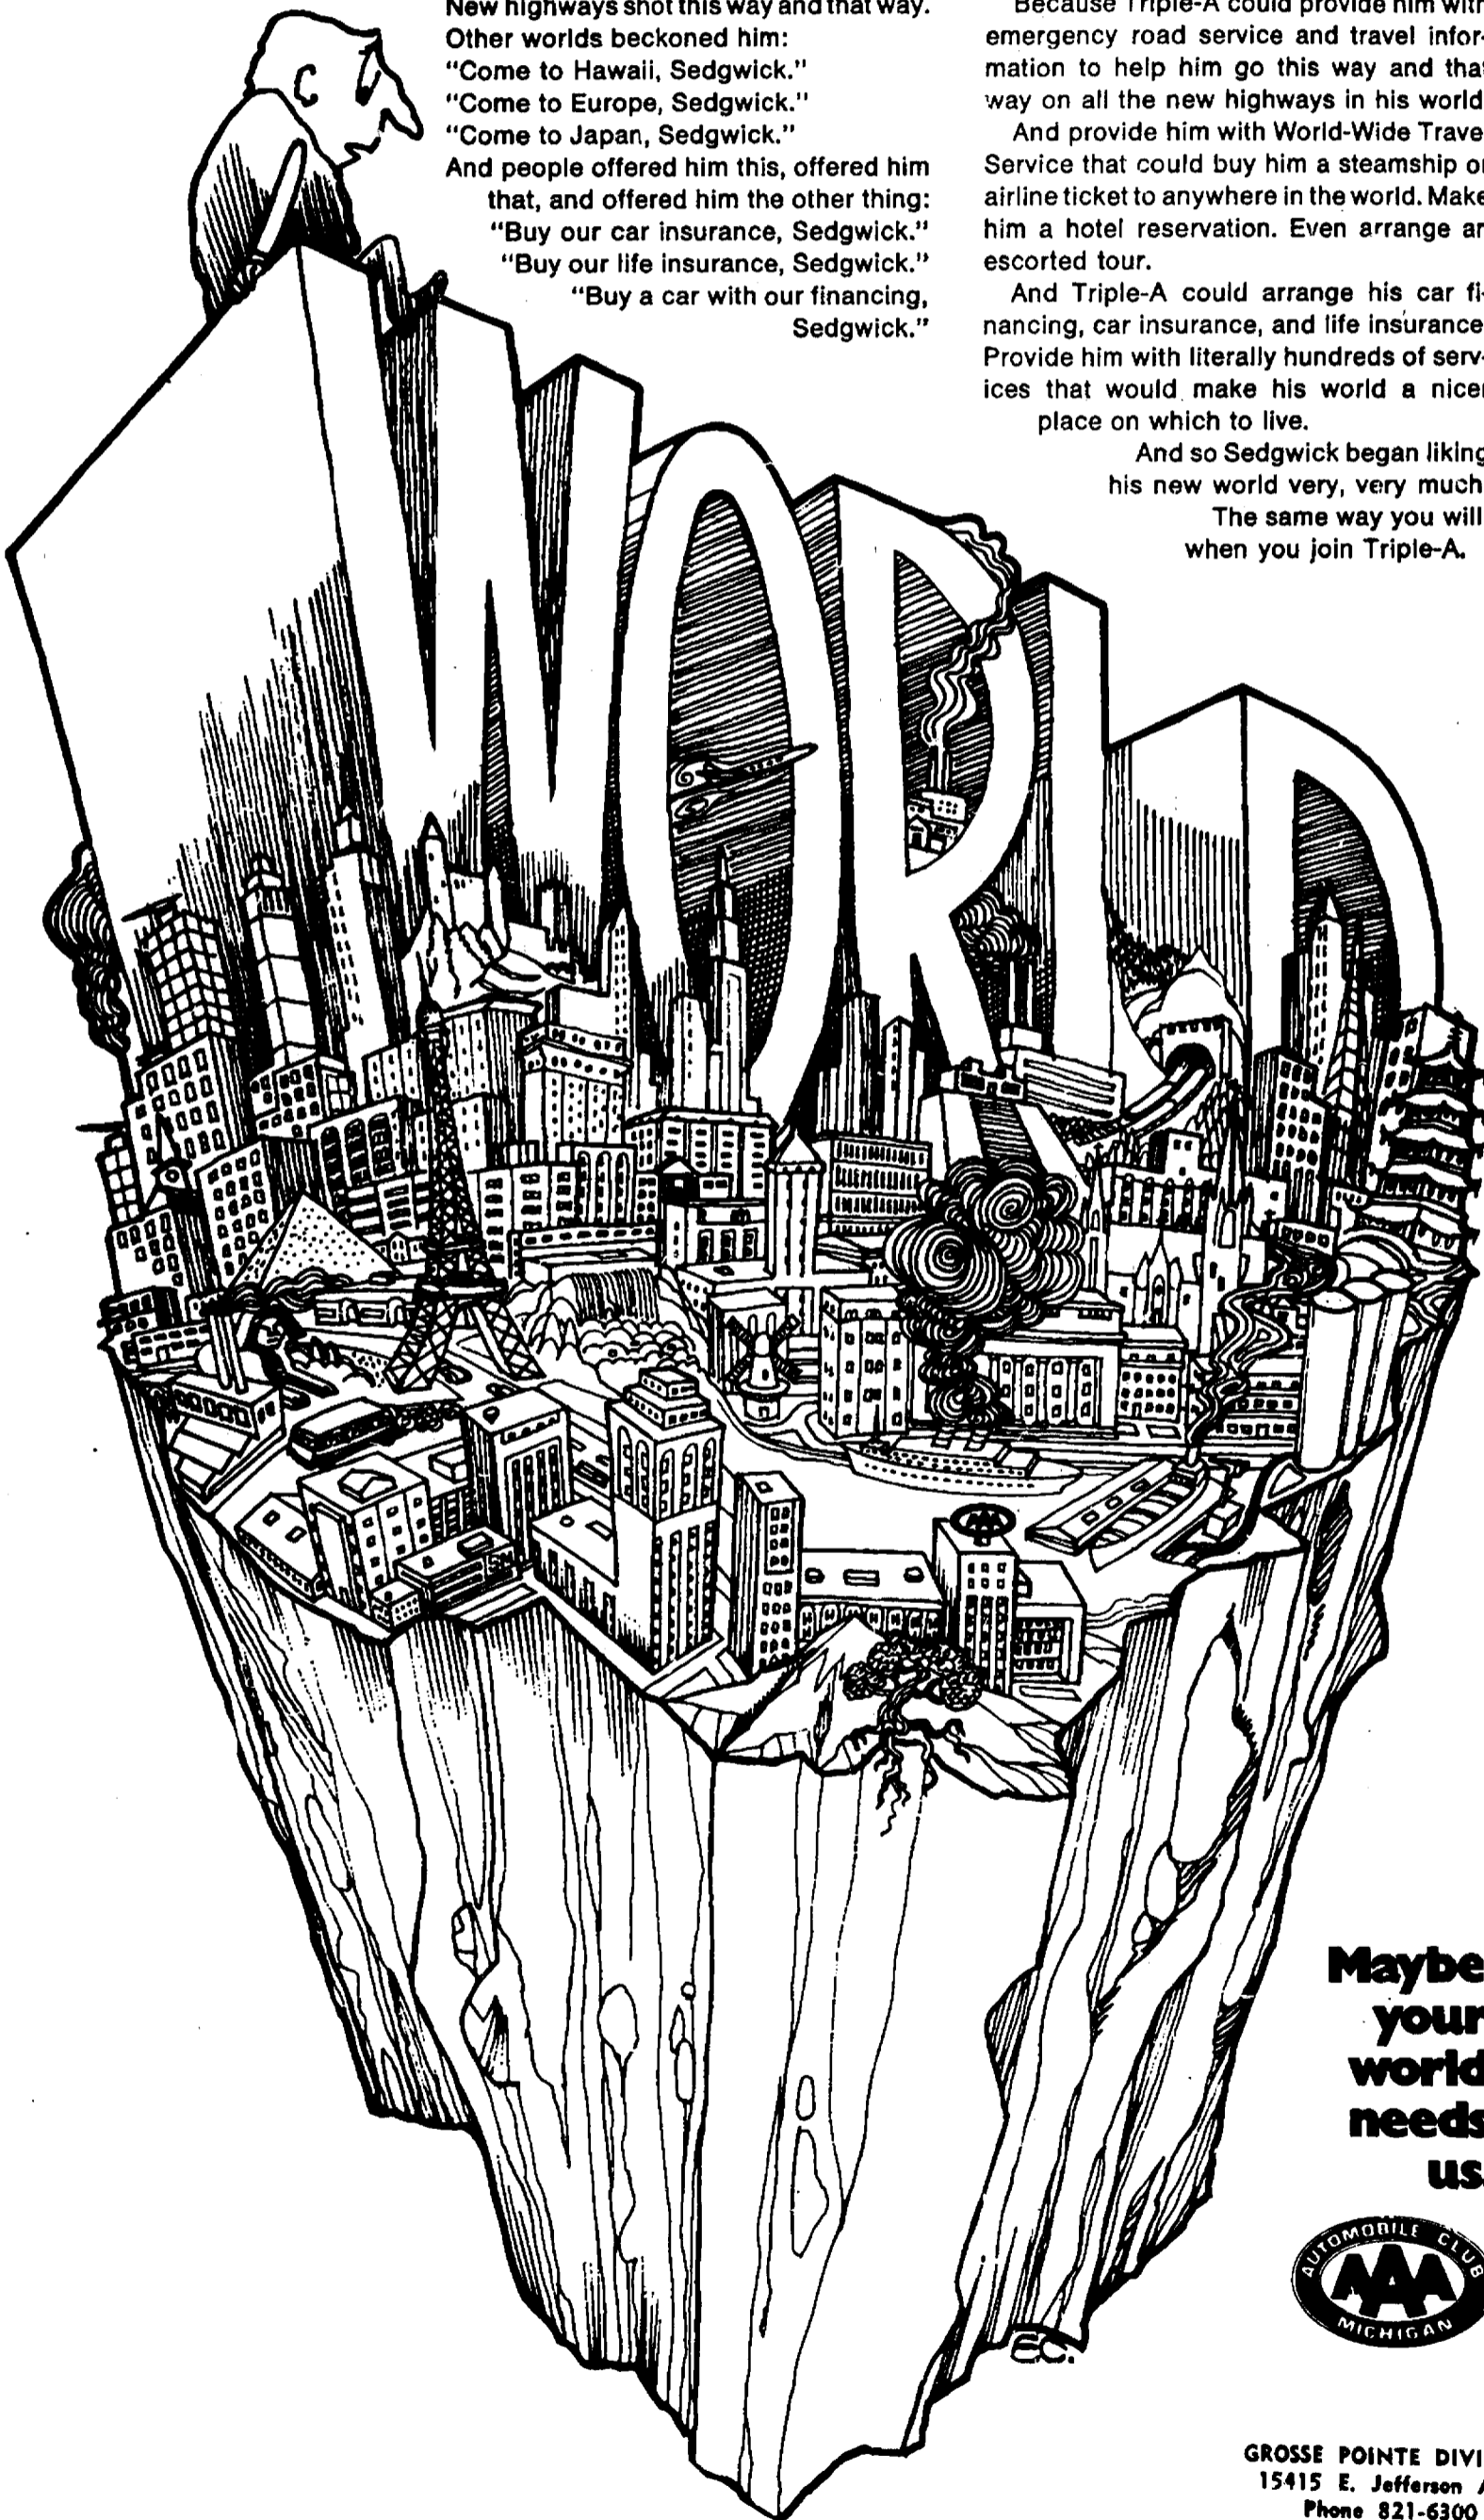

Because Triple-A could provide him with emergency road service and travel information to help him go this way and that way on all the new highways in his world.

And provide him with World-Wide Travel Service that could buy him a steamship or airline ticket to anywhere in the world. Make him a hotel reservation. Even arrange an escorted tour.

And Triple-A could arrange his car financing, car insurance, and life insurance. Provide him with literally hundreds of services that would make his world a nicer place on which to live.

And so Sedgwick began liking his new world very, very much.

The same way you will, when you join Triple-A.

Judge Goodrow Hears 13 Cases

Woods Judge Don J. Goodrow presided over court on Wednesday, September 16. He heard 13 cases. John Nelson, 21128 Hunt Club, in Harper Woods, was fined $16 plus $4 court costs after being found guilty of disobeying a stop sign.

Three cases were heard for drag racing and all three were found guilty and paid $5 court costs each in addition to their fines. Kenneth Flaska, 1873 Manchester; John Carroll, 22 Webber Place; and Birney Bickford, 20960 Hunt Club, in Harper Woods were each fined $25 for their offenses.

Paying a fine of $150, Kenneth Hopper, 3023 Gray, in Detroit, was found guilty of driving under the influence of liquor.

For being minors in possession of alcohol, Michael Churley, 21800 Van K Drive, and Dennis Pieschke, 556 S. Brys, paid fines of $20.

An accident occurred when Ann Bielak, 23446 Colonial Court, St. Clair Shores, made an improper left turn. She was fined $20 for the offense and paid court costs of $5.

Jack Johnson, 3431 Bedford, Detroit, was found guilty of driving under the influence of liquor. He paid a fine of $100.

at unusual hours, Ireland also paid a fine of $10 and court costs of $5. Lloyd Schultz, 33909 E. Jefferson was convicted of simple assault and paid costs of $25.

Appearing in court on a charge of speeding 10 miles over the limit in a 25 mile per hour zone, Clare Bristol, 1231

North Oxford, paid court costs of $10. Her case was dismissed. Judge Goodrow issued five warrants for failure to answer court summons.

All Objectives Surpassed On Horvath Safari in Africa

Michigan has a large population of hunters, but only a few travel as far for their game as Orthopedic Surgeon James J. Horvath, 776 Berkshire road. Dr. Horvath recently returned from safari to the Republic of Botswana, a newly independent country just north of the Republic of South Africa.

Emerging nations like Botswana encourage big game hunting as a source of revenue for the growing republic. Nevertheless, laws and regulations are rigid, and strictly enforced. For instance, Botswana limits the number of safari companies licensed to operate, and any hunter who seeks the so-called "royal game" . . . lion, leopard, elephant, buffalo, and rhino . . . must book a safari of at least 22 days.

Because bookings are necessarily made far in advance, it takes over a year to plan a safari. Safari South, one of the two major companies operating in Botswana, took care of the many details.

The flight from Detroit went to London, to Johannesburg, to Gaborone, and to Maun, where Dr. Horvath met his 29-year-old professional hunter, Andrew Douglas Wright. According to the Doctor, "Doug is no Stewart Grainger, but he certainly knows the land and the animals." Every professional hunter is also a game warden, commissioned by the government.

A professional hunter limits the size of his party to two clients and not more than four non-shooting observers. On this particular safari, Dr. Horvath was the only client, and there were no observers. However, that does not diminish the size of the staff. In addition to the professional hunter, there are two trackers, a skinner, a tent man, a cook, a waiter, a truck driver and his assistant.

The truck is the English Land Rover, a rugged vehicle that is generally regarded as the only machine that can survive the rigorous treatment it gets on safari.

Dr. Horvath's objective was to bag a lion, a zebra, an oryx, and a greater kudu . . . animals that had eluded him on his first African safari in the Republic of Sudan in 1962.

The party hunted in two concessions controlled by Safari South. The first is 8,000 square miles of swamp in the northern part of the country. The second is 20,000 square miles of African plain. At the end of 22 days in the field, the Doctor had achieved his objective, and more.

The total bag was 27 animals of 16 different species. The lion was nine feet from tip to tip. The greater kudu had 51-inch corkscrew horns. The elephant weighed 14,000 pounds. One of three wart hogs had world-record tusks of 16 1/2 inches.

There were two zebras, three Cape Buffalo, two wildebeest, and an ostrich. Antelope included two tsessebe, four impala, a reedbuck, a steinbuck, a roan, a red lechwe, two springbok, and an oryx.

Dr. Horvath carried three guns, selected on the basis of many valuable suggestions by B. McDaniel, owner of the gun shop on Kercheval in Grosse Pointe. The first was a Seven mm Remington Magnum Browning Safari Model rifle, with telescopic sight. That was used for plains animals, at distances of 100 to 400 yards.

The second gun was a Texas Ranger .358 Norma Magnum rifle, equipped with a one-to-four power scope. That was used for zebra, kudu, roan, and the larger antelope, at ranges under 200 yards.

For dangerous big game at 30 feet to 100 yards, there was a double barreled .500 caliber express rifle with muzzle energy of 7500 foot pounds. That was used for the lion, the elephant and three buffalo.

The trophy hunter selects the oldest and toughest animals and leaves the females and the young. In fact, sportsmen account for only about one percent of the attrition of game. Natural forces such as drought and disease . . . and sometimes herd-thinning by government game biologists . . . accounts for the rest.

After the animals are dressed out, the natives eat some of the meat and dry the remainder in the sun to make "biltong" or jerky. Part of the salary of the safari staff is 200 to 300 pounds of meat per man.

Government regulations require that skulls and skins of all animals collected must be prepared and treated in Botswana, and then shipped to the hunter within three months after his departure.

Another government rule forbids littering. After the camp breaks up, the professional hunter sees that everything is buried, "so that no one will ever know there was a camp here."

In addition to his guns, the Doctor packed a Nikon camera with telephoto lens . . . and returned home with more than 800 color slides.

Dr. Horvath reports no harrowing experiences. He agrees that close shaves are the result of carelessness, and the professional hunter permits no carelessness on safari.

New Health Spa Luxurious Place

Silhouette / American Health Spas, now in their fourteenth year in the Metropolitan Detroit area, announce the grand opening of their plush, new ladies' and men's health spa at 19191 Vernier, opposite Eastland.

With the opening of the new 20,000 square-foot spa "East Siders" can now enjoy resort-type spa facilities previously available only in such renowned resorts as Palm Springs and Europe, in addition to patented fitness and body recontouring equipment manufactured exclusively by and for Silhouette/American Health Spas in their own Los Angeles factory.

The architectural theme—inside and out—is today's lavish exterior details include 23 carat gold panels, split marble masonry facing and Polynesian gaiter torches with multiple planting areas and full-size landscaping.

Separate, spacious ladies' and men's fitness departments featuring the finest and most elaborate modern weight reducing and body recontouring equipment are open 10 to 10 daily. Both departments are completely outfitted with the latest Select-o-matic equipment which eliminates weights and provide correct resistance for each exercise by simply pushing a button.

Most exotic of all the facilities is a hot whirlpool mineral spa where you relax while tension-relieving 109 degree mineral water explodes against you melting away stress and strain while providing glorious relief from muscular aches and pains.

A spacious ultra-modern crystal clear swimming pool is thermostatically heated for year 'round pleasure and enjoyment.

Both ladies' and men's spa facilities provide Finnish steam saunas, Arizona desert dry heat and medicated inhalation rooms that make today's modern slimming and trimming processes not only easier but more pleasurable than ever.

The decor of milady's dressing and vanity areas is decidedly feminine and boasts such extravagances as professional deluxe hair dryers and "movie star dressing room" makeup vanities to assist Silhouette member: in becoming as attractive as they are slim.

Men, too, are not overlooked, with special shower, locker, and grooming areas for freshening up after their health program at the spa.

Ultra-violet sunray rooms, which give that healthy mid-winter resort tan appearance, are the recommended final touch in both the ladies' and men's divisions.

Members and visitors alike will enjoy visiting the exclusive tropical juice bar in the front lobby. Here delicious high protein, low calorie beverages—a complete meal in themselves—made by combining such fruits as oranges, papaya, strawberries and bananas with pure honey, eggs and other natural foods are served daily from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The question most frequently asked by visitors upon viewing the luxurious facilities of Silhouette/American Health Spas is "How much does it cost to become a member?"

Spa officials point out that Silhouette/American Health Spas' motto is "Get and keep in shape the quick, easy way" and to this they add, at surprisingly reasonable rates. Courses vary according to each member's individual needs with the total cost for the recommended two to three visits per week being actually less than the price you'd pay to see a neighborhood movie.

Election Held By Senior Men

The Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe elected 1970-71 officers and directors at its annual meeting Tuesday. They are:

M. James O'Neill, president; Adm. Leon J. Jacobi (ret.), first vice-president; Harold E. Gorry, second vice-president; Kryn J. Nagelkirk, secretary; Alfred C. Ryan, treasurer; and these new directors for two years, Paul S. Mathewson, Alfred J. Blanchard, Elliott Shumaker and William J. Modrack.

Toldover directors, with one remaining year of their two-year terms, are Erwin H. Foersterling, Elmer A. Freiwald, Ruben S. Rees and Lawrence I. Ruly.

O'Neill succeeds John D. King, 1969-70 president. Lester M. Elliott, who had been second vice-president, accepted a two-year government post in Korea, making him unavailable for further office at this time.

Organized late in 1959 with 10 charter members under the who live within the Grosse Pointes.

This year's committee to nominate new officers and directors had Walter Wakeman as chairman, and these former club presidents as members: Gehrig, Torsten A. Peters, Thomas F. O'Keefe and Dale J. Hodges.

Jaycees Receive Candy Sale Okay

The Grosse Pointe Jaycees have been given authorization to sell candy on a door-to-door basis in preparation for Halloween in Grosse Pointe Woods.

The Woods City Council, at their regular meeting Monday, September 21, agreed to issue a permit for the sale which will run from October 1 through October 31, 1970.

The Jaycees are initiating the sale because of the necessity to incorporate fund-raising projects into their programs.

Red Cross Asks For Volunteers

The week of September 28 through October 2 has been set aside as Red Cross Volunteer Recruitment week by the South-eastern Michigan Chapter, American Red Cross.

"The chapter urgently needs over 500 hospital volunteers to serve in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties," said Mrs. Bernard M. Segner of 947 Westchester road, Grosse Pointe, chairman of the volunteer recruitment steering committee.

Currently, Red Cross hospital volunteers serve in over 30 hospitals in the tri-county area, she said. "They assist in the 'non professional' hospital duties and provide the extra attention that hospital personnel are sometimes too busy to give."

Duties of hospital volunteers vary according to specific hospital needs, Mrs. Segner said. They are trained and assigned duties at the hospital to which they are assigned, or request to work.

A primary duty of a Red Cross volunteer is to visit with patients, she added.

Other volunteer services include: blood program transportation, service to military families, office volunteers and induction volunteers.

During volunteer recruitment week, the Red Cross chapter and regional offices will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, and from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday and Thursday. Offices will be specially staffed to provide information to prospective volunteers.

Open Daily and Sunday 1:30 to 4:00

Public Schools in Focus

By Dr. Theos I. Anderson
 Superintendent of Public Schools

The August 10 public hearing on the school system's 1970-71 budget prompts me this week to answer the question: What is a budget? 1. The budget is an "educational blueprint" projecting the educational program in terms of available revenue and recommended expenditures. 2. The budget is a servant of education. It estimates the receipts. It generally authorizes expenditures. It aids in administering the school economically. It reflects the educational and financial philosophy of the school system. 3. The budget cannot be substituted for good administration. The budget should not be followed blindly. Judgment must always be used.

Because the public often equates the word "budget" strictly with finance, people sometimes forget that expenditures planned for the coming year bear directly on the welfare of the children of this school district. The columns of figures really represent a basic educational foundation that will permit more than 13,000 boys and girls to spend a productive and meaningful life.

In addition to the philosophical hang-up which people may have in trying to determine just what a budget is, others fumble on the many categories of a school system's budget and on the terminology used. The designations of accounts are those required by the State Accounting Manual.

Let me explain the eleven major categories that reflect our complex budget. INSTRUCTION includes salaries for teachers, many for school libraries, teaching supplies, audio-visual equipment, salaries for guidance and psychological personnel and principals. ADMINISTRATION costs include cost of personnel in the Central Office who service the entire district. Office supplies and related non-professional personnel are included in this category.

ATTENDANCE covers salaries for school social workers and some office supplies. TRANSPORTATION funds are used in the local special education programs and in those requiring children to be taken to out-of-district centers for treatment. OPERATION includes the salaries of plant personnel as well as the costs of fuel and costs cover repairs and replacements in grounds, buildings, and equipment.

FIXED CHARGES cover insurance policies, interest charges on short term operating loans, and fringe benefits for employees. CAPITAL OUTLAY covers the acquisition of new sites, improvements to grounds, buildings, and purchase of new equipment. COMMUNITY SERVICES covers the expenses of the public library system. STUDENT SERVICES covers expenses in the cafeterias and bookstores, as well as student body activities.

Finally, funds in the OUTGOING TRANSFER ACCOUNTS include money being paid to other districts (to cover costs of sending children to the Wayne County Regional Trainable Retarded Program).

I hope this information has helped those interested in understanding our school's financial operation a bit better.

Letters to the Editor

I have finished reading with great interest and surprise the article appearing on the front page of the September 17, 1970 "News", which purported to represent the proceeding on behalf of the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association before the City Council on Monday, September 13, 1970. I was also in attendance at that meeting and feel that the article created the erroneous impression that the Council and the City had decided to deny the request of the Hockey Association and its supporters for the location of an indoor ice facility at Elworthy field. Your reporter and I must not have been at the same meeting.

Over one-half of your article consisted of quotes from a letter of June 12, 1970 from City Planner, Brandon Rogers, setting forth all of the negative features of the rink. It did not report the numerous fine comments by the citizens of the City who support this project. Although Mr. Rogers did speak at the September 14 meeting, he did preface his remarks by saying his letter was written "before he realized there was as much interest in the rink as there now is." Furthermore, your article did not relate the fact that all of the comments from the citizens of the City of Grosse Pointe were in favor of the rink, with the exception of one citizen residing on property adjacent Elworthy Field who spoke against the proposal.

Your article creates the impression that the supporters of the rink have a fixed and definite schedule for its use, and would offer general free skating for the citizens only on a limited basis. It was my impression that the Hockey Association has agreed to be very flexible in its scheduling and has offered to work closely with members of the City Council in order to reach a solution as to the times for the use of the rink which would be agreeable to all. Mr. McLaren made this fact perfectly clear at the meeting. Furthermore, your article failed to point out that the proposal as it now stands would call for the rehabilitation of the existing tennis courts (which are in terrible repair) and the construction of new tennis courts for use by citizens of the City.

Although I understand that the "News" has editorially supported the construction of the facility, and I appreciate your courageous stand on this controversial issue, I do feel that

What Goes On at Your Library
 By Virginia Leonard

The annual September "kick-off" breakfast of the Grosse Pointe Public Libraries was held Wednesday morning, September 16, with the entire Library Staff, representatives from the Administrative Offices, Board of Education, Board of the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Library, and of the High School Libraries (public, private and parochial), attending.

After introduction and preliminary remarks by Mr. Robert M. Orr, Director of the Grosse Pointe Public Libraries, our main speaker was introduced.

Mr. Peter Stalker, President of the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Libraries, a life-long Grosse Pointe and a practicing lawyer with a large downtown firm, began his association with the Friends as a member of the Membership Committee in 1963. He was elected to the Board in 1965, became vice-president in 1968, and president in 1969.

Since education is our business, Mr. Stalker started his remarks off by indicating that public education is undergoing a radical change. Looking at it from the financial point of view, one almost feels that the word "crisis" should be used. For example Mr. Stalker had noted recently in the NEW YORK TIMES that 46,000 St. Louis students had been locked out of their schools for one reason only—lack of money. In the several School Districts involved, up to five successive millage elections had been defeated.

The reasons for these millage defeats—which have become a national phenomenon—are several. Certainly inflation is one of them. Inflation has acted as a double-edged sword, and as Mr. Stalker pointed out, both edges are brought to bear against the Public School System. First, it raises costs immensely; secondly it makes the taxpayer that much less willing to pay additional taxes. The good old days of almost automatic millage-passing seem to be gone.

Another reason for millage defeats throughout the country seems to be that deep-rooted differences in educational philosophy now reveal themselves in the polling booth. The public no longer goes in, pulls the lever, and figures it can go back next year and argue.

And what about today's resentment of youth? Mr. Stalker reminds us of this very pertinent fact. The more the vagaries of the younger generation are exposed and publicized, the greater the lack of enthusiasm in the polling booths. This is irrational thinking, but it does exist.

So much for the national picture. Let us now consider more specifically Grosse Pointe. For 41 years the library has been under the aegis of the Board of Education, and this has been a most fortunate position for it. There is no other organization, Mr. Stalker points out, that can organize this library and run it for the benefit of five and a third communities; divided into fifths, you can imagine what quality of service our library, or libraries, would give. Furthermore, we of the Grosse Pointe Libraries are very grateful for the great spirit of cooperation that has always existed between us and the Board of Education.

Mr. Stalker continues, reminding us that for the past one and a half to two years the Board of Education has been faced with extraordinarily difficult problems of attempting to allocate priorities. The Friends and the Library Staff have been aware of all this. However, the Friends feel that the library does deserve a very high priority in making allocations. One of the most important reasons is that the public library serves the entire community to a greater extent than any other institution within the Grosse Pointe School System. It is truly the servant of all citizens of Grosse Pointe.

Unfortunately, our Bond proposal of 1968 was lost. Since that time the story of the library has not been one of expansion to meet the growing needs of the community, but rather one of contraction to meet the shrinking resources available to the Board of Education.

We feel that the citizens of Grosse Pointe are concerned over the future of our Grosse Pointe Public Libraries. They have already demonstrated this by their many and generous donations. During the past 18 years over $600,000 of private money has been given to our Library System. Again on the plus side, we have one of the largest Friends' organizations in the United States. Thus, with all of this plus a sympathetic Board of Education, we do indeed hope that good solutions will be found to meet the problems of the future. As Mr. Stalker concluded: "It's inconceivable to me that the residents of Grosse Pointe will stand idly by and allow this library to wither on the vine."

What's New on THE HILL
 By Pat Rousseau

Hamlin's History... begins with the fine reputation Mr. Hamlin had in the grocery business in Detroit. Mr. Mac bought the business from the estate in 1935 and built his own building on the Hill in 1940. As he says, "you could look out the door at 89 Kercheval and see down to the lake." Mr. Mac has maintained the standards, the service and has added new gourmet lines. Old Grosse Pointe families and relative newcomers, like Sibyl, enjoy shopping at Hamlin's and can rely on telephone orders to be faithfully filled with top quality merchandise at fair prices.

"She Shall Have Music Wherever She Goes"... specially if she's carrying a Florentine gold music key chain. The chain ornament is a small music box with a place for a photo. Find it at the League Shop along with hand painted Swiss music boxes and handsome unadorned natural wood music boxes which hold cigarettes and whatevers.

Hamlin's Has... a delicious new cocktail snack called Benne Bits made from an old Southern recipe in Savannah, Georgia. They are "subtle, appetizing, tangy." Approximately 120 bits come in a can for $1.95 at 89 Kercheval... TUxedo 5-8400.

Collectors... you'll want the new signed and limited edition print by Charles Harper which has just arrived at the Mermaid. It's from the Frame House Gallery Collector Print series of works by America's leading wildlife artists.

Very Special... You get Vitabath Gelee packaged with Vitabath Hand and Body lotion. This is a $10.00 value for $7.50 now at Trail Apothecary, 121 Kercheval.

Delightful Decoratives... have just arrived from California at Touch of Elegance in the Colonial Federal Building. They are beautifully colorful with interesting designs. In the group, is a coal scuttle, a bucket, a watering can, a step ladder, and a milk can. Use them as accent pieces or put them to use with imagination.

Soup Season... serve onion soup the gourmet way in individual, authentic covered oven proof ceramics made in Canada. The base is dark brown and you have a choice of yellow, deep blue or olive for the glazed top. They are $2.50 each at Virginia Williams, 79 Kercheval and can serve many other purposes.

There is... a printer on the Hill which has been here over a year and just nobody has heard of it. Well, listen, it's called um... umm... "Heather on the Hill." For the second year in a row, Heather is offering Christmas cards at 20% off with over 80 albums from which to choose, priced from $9.00 to $300.00 for the first 100. Heather is located at 100 Kercheval (above Chet Sampson). The special sale hours are Monday-Friday 3:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.; Saturday 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and Sunday 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Open The Bronze Door for one of your friends. A gift certificate, gold on white, announces a treat to gourmet dining at 123 Kercheval. A welcome present for birthday, anniversary, or to say thank you. Available in any amount... good any time. Call 886-1932.

Walton-Pierce Made-To-Order Collection

Sketched for the Grosse Pointe News are four original models from the Walton-Pierce Made-to-Order Collection for fall and winter which features as Mrs. William Rust says, "a selection of lengths and styles to suit many occasions." In the midst of the hemline battle and possible confusion about the "new look," Mrs. Pierce confidently and skillfully created, directed and led her forty-six Made-to-Order Collections to completion with fashion authority and leadership. Her objectives were, as they have always been, to flatter the feminine figure and the individual customer. The look is new. It is also soft, sophisticated, fashionable.

Newlyweds Vacation on East Coast and Are Now at Home in Macomb; Reception and Evening Service Followed by Georgian Inn Reception

The Reverend Joseph Hartman and The Reverend Edgar Yeoman, of St. Michael's Episcopal Church, officiated at the Friday evening, September 4, wedding of Sandra Kae Beach and Michael Joseph O'Brien in Our Lady Star of the Sea Church.

The newlyweds left for an East Coast vacation after the 7 o'clock rites and a reception at Georgian Inn. They are at home in Roseville's Macomb Manor.

For her marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Beach, of Edmunton drive, selected a gown of candlelight peau fashioned with a seed pearl-trimmed lace bodice and lace-appliqued A line skirt.

A matching cap held her fingertip illusion veil and she carried a cascade of white and yellow roses, stephanotis and ivy.

She was attended by honor maid Cathy Wood and bridesmaids Victoria Hoffmann, Union Lake, and Lynn Fox, a cousin, of Louisville, Ky., in frocks styled with marigold crepe skirts and long-sleeved yellow cotton lace bodices, carrying wicker baskets filled with bronze and yellow mums.

The bridegroom, son of Dr. and Mrs. George M. O'Brien, of North Oxford road, asked Walter Jarvis, Jr., to act as best man and Ronald W. Beach, the bride's brother, and Joseph LaGrasso to usher.

The mother of the bride wore a pearl and bead-accented aqua dress and matching sleeveless coat while the bridegroom's mother chose a bead-trimmed mint green silk coatdress. Both pinned white orchids to their purses.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's grandmother Mrs. Gerald Rapin, of Deerfield Beach, Fla., the Richard Moody, of Saginaw, Mrs. Elmer Steyne and Charles O'Brien, of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fox, of Louisville, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wilkins, of Kalamazoo.

Special guests were Sister Victorine Rapin, of Mercy High, Sister Mary Judith Rapin, of Mercy College, and The Reverend J. Leo Healy of Providence Hospital.

Seen for day, a spectrum plaid coat of French wool with a tie waist, deep revers, important pockets and length below the knee, is worn over its own plum jersey dress.

No collection would be complete this year without a jumper. Mrs. Pierce chose bright orange textured velvet and contrasted it with a jewel of an emerald green silk jersey blouse.

The midi theater costume is of black, white and tan plaid velvet, edged with black braid woven with tan velvet ribbon. A glimpse of the white satin top is seen at the neckline and cuffs of the short jacket.

For elegant evenings, Shannon green silk crepe is cut softly and follows the figure. A deep skirt and encircles at the hem.

Not sketched but in the Collection, crimson wool is used for a semi-fitted single breasted coat. Gold buttons accent the line at the waist front and back. It is worn over its own tan, brown and red paisley wool dress with long sleeves and a high neck. A double gold chain looped through tabs in front mark the waist. A daytime pant suit features a double breasted long fitted jacket of red and navy checks ensemble with navy slacks and a red turtle neck top. The jacket of a daytime suit of brown tweed is side closed and fringed. It is paired with a side wrapped, fringed skirt which is caught with a large gold pin. An azure blue textured wool dress is a perfect choice for afternoon. It is cut out high at the neckline. A self band defining the waist is accented with three antique silver buttons. The sleeves are full and long.

Black is important this year and your wardrobe should include at least one of these black silk crepe long sleeved dresses which rely on skillful cutting and supple fabric. One black silk crepe is polished with satin at the cuffs and at the waist. Another is softly ruffled at the neck, cuffs and around the deeply front slit hem. Black turns up at cocktail parties as a sleeveless French brocade narrowly striped with brilliant sapphire. The skirt is slit at the front, back and sides. A black, silver and tan brocade cocktail dress has the prettiest pouffed short sleeves and released fullness in the skirt. Opening night excitement is a long theater costume. The coat of beajouis velvet has unusually shaped deep revers and beautiful detailing. It is meant to go over a pink, silver and gold ball gown. Also designed to go with the velvet evening coat is a printed chiffon brocade of purple, pink and ruby with silver threads. It shows a deep plunging V neckline and covers up with long slender sleeves. It is bead-banded just above the waist. A pink chiffon stole edged with pastel shades of marabou sheltering a pink, aqua and antique gold brocade evening gown.

Entertaining ideas for the hostesses include a white satin tunic top with fashion's favorite lacing front and gesture making fringed sleeves. It goes a pair of black velvet pants. A shimmering culotte of gold and multi-colored metallic chiffon brocade has a high rounded neckline and long full drop sleeves.

The Made-to-Order designs remain faithfully fashionable to a youthful yet sophisticated tradition. This year they are more glamorous than ever. The Collection has charm and allure. Made of the finest fabrics with flawless production. It is no wonder four generations of distinguished Detroiters choose their daytime through evening fashions from this perennially authoritative and beautiful Made-to-Order Collection.

Watch for the Morning Coffees to be held at various schools this fall, with Dr. Theos I. Anderson, Superintendent of Schools, discussing school problems and prospective plans for improvements.

Before adjourning the meeting Mrs. Crockatt announced with pride that 17 Grosse Pointe South seniors had qualified as semifinalists in the National Merit Scholarship Examination, representing three percent of the graduating class. Congratulations to these 17 students and their parents!

Returning to The Masters School, Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., for their senior year are ELEANOR KATHERINE McFEELY, daughter of MR. and MRS. CHARLES A. McFEELY, JR., of Lakeshore road, and CATHERINE FRENCH, daughter of MR. and MRS. JAMES M. FRENCH, of Ridge road. It's both girls, third year at Dobbs and both are the second members of their families to attend the School. Entering as sophomores are ANNE KANZLER, daughter of MR. and MRS. ROBERT H. KANZLER, of Lakeshore road, JEAN MERRELL, daughter of MR. and MRS. ALLEN W. MERRELL, of Fair Acres drive, and TRACY WHITNEY, daughter of MRS. CHARLES WHITNEY, of Lakeland avenue. Anne and Jean are the second members of their families to attend the School; Tracy is the fourth member of her family; Her sister JANE was graduated from Dobbs last June.

Mrs. Frances French, in behalf of Mr. Gerish, asked Board members for help in recruiting additional Volunteer Aides. In particular, a program coordinator, a Social Studies Center volunteer and cafeteria supervisors are needed.

Mrs. Crockatt emphasized the importance of increasing the Mothers Club membership as well as encouraging active participation in school activities. At the time of the meeting 386 memberships had been received as compared to a total of 777 members last year, according to Mrs. Douglas Donald, chairman. Have you paid your dues?

Inside the Mothers Club

A delightful luncheon planned by co-chairmen Mrs. Frank Bromley and Mrs. Hugh Harness preceded the September Grosse Pointe South High School Mothers Club Executive Board Meeting held at Hospitality Center.

Mrs. George Crockatt, president, challenged the Board to work toward furthering communication between home and school as well as extending needed services to faculty, students and parents of Grosse Pointe South.

During the summer Mrs. Crockatt, principal, and Jerry Gerich, clerk, and members of the school staff to prepare the information packet, which involved assembling calendar dates and printed material to be included. A thank-you was extended to Mrs. Aduway Foote and her committee for organizing and distributing these 2,430 kits to the homerooms for students to take home. Mrs. Foote's committee also mailed the 1,677 Newletters which Mrs. Theodore Sweeney prepared.

The Mothers Club has awarded 10 scholarships to South High candidates this fall according to Mrs. H. Weston Burnett, vice-president. The grants will be continued next semester provided the students maintain adequate scholastic averages.

Mr. Gerich, as well as Mrs. Crockatt, expressed appreciation to the mothers and students who helped in the registration and distribution of 18,000 provided by the school to students, as required by state law.

Hudson-Thorn Rites Celebrated In East

North High School Librarian Speaks Vows in Covenant United Presbyterian Church, Ligonier, Pa.; Pair to Live in St. Clair Shores

Covenant United Presbyterian Church, Ligonier, Pa., was the setting for the wedding of Donna Kay Thorn and Robert Lyle Hudson Saturday morning, August 22. The Reverend George H. Whright officiated at the rites.

The bride, who is a librarian at Grosse Pointe North High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Thorn, of Ligonier. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. S. Lyle Hudson, of Mount Vernon road, and the late Mr. Hudson.

The new Mrs. Hudson chose a semi-fitted peau de sole A line wedding gown featuring three-quarter length sleeves, a Venetian lace bodice and a matching detachable train.

A Venetian lace Camelot headpiece held her silk illusion veil and she carried a Colonial cascade of yellow roses, a white orchid with a yellow center and baby's-breath.

Wearing Victorian frocks featuring Mediterranean blue chiffon covered satin skirts and Bishop-sleeved lace bodices were attendants Mrs. John B. Holcomb, honor matron, and bridesmaids Georgia A. Murphy, cousin of the bride, of Latrobe, Pa., Mrs. Forbes B. Henderson, Jr., Mrs. Douglas Robinson, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Mrs. George C. Brown, of Jacksonville, Fla.

They carried Colonial cascades of yellow daisy mums, white miniature carnations and baby's-breath.

The bridegroom chose Forbes B. Henderson, Jr., to act as best man. John B. Holcomb, Robert L. Button, Jon B. Gandelot and John C. Crick seated the guests.

After a reception at The Town House in Ligonier the newlyweds left for a vacation in Colorado, Wyoming and Upper Michigan. They are making their home in St. Clair Shores.

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

We'll admit the parking situation had begun to get to us, still: We wouldn't miss a Grosse Pointe Celebrity Series lecture for ANYTHING so sleet, snow, wind, rain, we trudged a half-mile or more through them all. . . .

But we weren't exactly HAPPY about it.

This year, we're happy. The Celebrity Series, sponsored by Bon Secours Hospital Assistance League since its inception 17 years ago, has moved, to Eastland Theater, where the parking's plentiful, the distance from car to Theatre door possible even in a blizzard. Isn't that nice?

And here's another nice thing: Because Eastland Theater is larger, more people can be accommodated, so more Celebrity Series ticket books are available.

In fact, a few are STILL available, (and that, as those who've tried to get them at the last-minute in recent years, is something of a miracle: The Series is usually a sell-out by late spring).

Ticket chairmen are Mrs. Orville J. Thill, TUXedo 2-0968, Mrs. George Jaglowicz, TUXedo 2-0573, and Mrs. William J. O'Reilly, TUXedo 1-6888. Of course the best way to order ticket books is by mail, enclosing a check for $12, (per book), made out to Grosse Pointe Celebrity Series in an envelope addressed to Celebrity Series Ticket Chairman, Bon Secours Hospital, 468 Cadieux road, Grosse Pointe, Mich. 48230.

But don't wait too long to order. The first speaker, humorist Sam Levenson, appears October 15.

And he'll be followed by Reid Buckley, (Bill's younger brother), November 12, the Metropolitan Opera's Francis Robinson January 14, Betty and Jock Leslie-Melville who operate "non-hunting tours for non-rich Americans" out of Nairobi, Kenya, February 11, and author Arthur Hailey closing the Series March 11.

Each lecture begins at 11 in the morning and is followed by a Celebrity Luncheon at Stouffers Eastland, for which phone reservations will be accepted. The celebrities, incidentally, always field a few questions-from-the-floor at these luncheons.

General chairman of the 1970-71 Grosse Pointe Celebrity Series is Mrs. Donald Currier. Co-chairman is Mrs. Donald Pokorny.

Impresarios Meeting Peter Max October 6

Retired Junior Women's Association Board Members Plan Symphony Benefit at London Arts Gallery in the Fisher Building

As a fund-raising project for the 1970 Maintenance Fund Campaign of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra a committee of 36 women, all retired board members of the Symphony's Junior Women's Association, has planned a private gallery opening benefit for Tuesday evening, October 6, at the London Arts Gallery in the Fisher Building.

The opening, to be called "Impresarios meet Peter Max," will feature recent paintings, sculpture and limited-edition graphics by the 28-year-old "Mod" artist.

In addition to viewing Max's works all guests will have an opportunity to meet the artist who is flying from New York just for the affair.

Benefit chairman Mrs. David Lott will be assisted by Mrs. Donald R. Briggs, Mrs. Pierce Smith, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Hugh G. Harness and Mrs. George W. McClellan, all past presidents of the Junior Women's Association.

In addition the women will complement their committee with 30 past Juniors' board members.

Mrs. Lott hopes that through this very attractive event many younger couples in the metropolitan area will wish to become "Impresarios" of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

The "Impresario" membership was created for the first time this year so that those in the Detroit area could have a part in supporting the many activities of the Detroit Symphony. "Impresario" support begins at $25 for memberships.

Admitted to Michigan State University's Honors College are Our Lady Star of the Sea High School graduates JANE A. MCLUCKIE, daughter of MR. and MRS. This is a shampoo.

It's done with feet up, eyes closed and a let-us-take-care-of-you attitude. If you like, it includes a nice little neck massage and cool water for a finish. Many of our clients rate it among the nicer moments in their week. We think you would too. We also think you'd like the way we do your hair and polish your nails and all that. To confirm our judgment, simply dial the number below. We'll be as happy to hear from you as we think you'll be with your first shampoo.

Susan M. Backman Wed In Saint Paul's

Bride's Ivory Organza Gown Is Overlaid with Lace and Pearls; Reception at Gourmet House Follows Rites

At home in Kalamazoo after a vacation in northern Michigan are Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ernest Kenyon who were married Saturday, August 22, at a morning ceremony in Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore.

The 11 o'clock rites at which Father Leonard Wallace presided were followed by a Gourmet House reception.

The bride, the former Susan Margaret Backman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius A. Backman, of Moross road, wore a gown of ivory silk organza overlaid with Venice lace and seed pearls.

Matching lace bordered her floor length illusion veil and she carried Sweetheart roses and stephanotis with accents of deep purple bachelor buttons.

In a line frocks of pale blue linen were honor maid Ann Beaupre and bridesmaids Karen, Barbara and Julie Backman, the bride's sisters. Blue velvet trimmed their wide-brimmed straw hats. They carried arrangements of yellow daisies, pink rosebuds and carnations.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Kenyon, of Haslett, asked Joseph GeBott to act as best man. Ushers were Donald Richards, Dean Armstrong, John Bamford and John McGraw.

Mrs. Backman selected an aqua shantung costume for her daughter's wedding and the reception. The bridegroom's mother wore an ensemble of emerald green silk. Both chose white orchid corsages.

Mrs. Michael E. Kenyon

Married to Mr. Kenyon, son of the Rex Kenyons, of Haslett, in Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore Saturday, August 22, was SUSAN MARGARET BACKMAN, daughter of the Ignatius A. Backmans, of Moross road.

AOPI Evening At Races To Aid Arthritis Victims

Grosse Pointe alumnae of Alpha Omicron Pi with their husbands and friends will join other members from the Detroit area for the Wolverine Harness Races at the Detroit Race Course, Saturday evening, October 3.

This Evening at the Races is being sponsored by the Detroit Metropolitan Council of AOPI. Proceeds will go to the Michigan Arthritis Foundation for the purchase of equipment needed by arthritic patients.

The Arthritis Foundation is the principal philanthropy of Alpha Omicron Pi International. Detroit Alumnae Chapter members have previously supported the Michigan Branch by providing wheelchair funds and supplying decorations at the annual arthritis picnic for patients and their families held each August in the lakefront Rehabilitation Center at the foot of Lenox road.

Persons interested in supporting the Foundation by attending the racetrack party may call Barbara Zolnierczak, Chapter president, at 881-8049 for further information and tickets.

Don't put off a sure thing today for the uncertainty that tomorrow will bring.

Rummage Turns Up Unusual Sale Items

chairmen, (from left), MRS. FRED OLMSTED, MRS. EARL NELSON and MRS. RICHARD JOHNS. Rummage will be received at the Church starting Monday, September 28. Truck pick-up for large items may be arranged by calling 884-4534, 884-6885 or 886-0710.

Set WNFGA Annual Tea On Wednesday

Governor's Mansion in Lansing to be Setting for 17th Gathering; Tour of MSU Horticulture Gardens Also on Day's Agenda

Michigan Division, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association committee members have taken time out from summer relaxation to prepare for their 17th Annual International Tea to be combined this year with a garden tour for the benefit of IFYE.

WNFGA members and guests will be served tea at the Governor's Mansion in Lansing Wednesday, September 30, from 1 to 3 o'clock. Mrs. Robert N. Hornbuckle is chairman.

Mrs. Merrill Petosky, president of the Lansing Branch, WNFGA, is chairman of a tour of the Horticulture Gardens at Michigan State University. Students will act as guides from 9 to noon and 1 to 5 o'clock. The International Tea held each year for the benefit of IFYE, (International Farm Youth Exchange), has been a Michigan Division WNFGA project since 1948.

Michigan youths numbering 104 have traveled to 51 countries on the IFYE program of the 4H Foundation. These young people "learn by doing" in the International Exchange of educational methods and rural youth work.

On the exchange 201 have come from 59 other countries to be hosted in 73 Michigan counties by about 560 Michigan families.

Serving on the International Tea committee with Mrs. Hornbuckle are Michigan Division president Mrs. Jack F. Ehlinger, Mrs. Walter Fatterson, Mrs. Marvin L. Katle, Mrs. H. Earl Hanson, Mrs. Paul M. Barrett, Mrs. Walter W. Neller, Mrs. Wilber Hadley Mack, Mrs. Clarence A. Brosteanu and Mrs. Joseph A. Watson, Jr.

Mrs. William Milliken, wife of the Governor, will arrange the tea table centerpiece.

Theresa Larned Becomes Bride

Theresa Ann Larned chose a white organza gown with puffed sleeves and white eyelet trimming for her Friday morning, September 11, marriage to Robert Allan Johnson. A petal crown caught her triple tiered illusion veil and she carried white and pink baby roses, baby's-breath, ivy and stephanotis.

The new Mrs. Johnson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cortland Larned, of Barrington road. The bridegroom is the son of the Lawrence Johnsons, of East Detroit.

A reception at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial followed the 11 o'clock rites in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

The newlyweds are making their home in Rocky River, O. They plan a December skiing vacation.

In magenta pink linen frocks fashioned with white lace-trimmed collars and lace-trimmed trains were honor matron Mrs. Joseph Zerilli and bridesmaids Carol Moore, of Tecumseh, and Deborah Larned, the bride's sister.

They wore matching pink leaf headpieces and carried bouquets of pale and deep pink carnations, baby's-breath and ivy.

John Winkler acted as the bridegroom's best man. Seating the guests were Tom Reicher

Phillips-Kovatch Rites Revealed

Kathleen Helen Kovatch became the bride of Douglas Spenser Phillips at an early evening mass Friday, September 18, in St. Paul's-on-the-Lake-shore. The Reverend Nicholas Ivan officiated at the double-ring ceremony which was followed by a reception at Buckingham Hall.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kovatch, of Detroit, chose a gown of white silk organza accented with pointe de Venise lace. A double diadem of aurora crystals inlaid with satin leaves held her silk illusion veil. She carried an arm cascade of phalaenopsis orchids and admantium.

Patricia Hemelt was maid of honor in a frock of apricot chiffon trimmed with Venise lace and accented with brown velvet ribbon.

In identical frocks, multicolored lace lowers outlining their Empire bodices, were bridesmaids Mrs. J. Jodway of Berea, O., the bridegroom's sister, Linda Mauri, Evelyn Marceau, Debbie Walker and Penny Marinos.

Flowers matching those applied on their dresses were entwined in their hair and they carried bouquets of bronze button mums and lime Fuji mums.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Diamond T. Phillips, or Lakeshore road, asked Richard VanRossen to act as best man.

Ushering were George Kovatch, brother of the bride, Jay J. Jodway, Ronald Simmons, John Tobolski and Ronald Evans.

Mrs. Kovatch chose a floor length mint green silk worsted gown with a neckline of Alencon lace accented with seed pearls. She pinned green cymbidium orchids to her matching purse.

The bridegroom's mother, wore a petal pink gown of French silk and wool featuring beaded front panel. White phalaenopsis orchids were pinned to her purse.

The newlyweds are traveling in Europe. They will return to Grosse Pointe to make their home in Jefferson avenue.

Among the wedding guests were the bridegroom's maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Matthew M. Goebel and grandmothers of the bride Mrs. James C. Hudson and Mrs. John Kovatch.

They'll Doff These Hats For Hearts

A statuesque 16-year-old Southfield High School sophomore will reign as Cinderella at the October 3 Cinderella Ball staged annually by the Women's Committee of the Tuberculosis and Health Society.

Margaretha Klyn was introduced to members of the press, radio and television by Mrs. William L. Mitchell, chairman of the Cinderella selection committee, during a luncheon in the Book Casino of the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel recently. Mrs. Thomas G. Girardy was chairman of the luncheon committee.

Margaretha is one of four children of Mr. and Mrs. Nicolaus Klyn. Margaretha's experience with tuberculosis came several years after it was determined, through a routine tuberculin skin test, that she was a "positive reactor."

After a series of periodic chest x-ray examinations that followed, a spot was found on her left lung. She spent 26 days in Herman Kiefer Hospital before being released as an outpatient.

A program of preventive medicine — pills taken daily for 18 months — ended recently. Mrs. John H. Ganschow, president of the Women's Committee, welcomed the guests and introduced those at the head table including Mrs. John L. Denman, 1970 Cinderella Ball chairman.

Mrs. Denman announced that music for the Ball will be by Ralph Flanagan, that Saks Fifth Avenue will present a style show featuring an Oscar de Larenta collection and that Jules R. Schubot will present a golden slipper to Cinderella.

Mrs. Denman also announced that Henry de S. Lauve, of Sunningdale drive, will again do the official portrait of Cinderella for use in the Ball program. The original will be presented to Miss Klyn.

Ball proceeds are used by the Women's Committee to finance projects to combat tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

The Cinderella Ball, first held in 1950, annually is the first major event of Detroit's social season. It is held at the Sheraton-Cadillac.

Among local ladies serving on the '70 Ball committee are Mrs. Troy W. Maschmeyer, Mrs. LeRoy Deola, Mrs. Victor Wertz, Mrs. Joseph P. Kaiser, Mrs. William F. Drevant, Mrs. Fred B. Hülger, Mrs. Arthur R. Pfannenschmidt and Mrs. Roger K. Smith.

GPFC Elects 1970-71 Officers

The new officers of the Grosse Pointe Farms Boat Club will be installed during ceremonies of the organization's Commodore's Ball, to be held on Saturday, September 26, at The Revere Hall, 24725 Jefferson, St. Clair Shores.

Cocktails will be from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m., dinner and program from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m., and dancing and refreshments from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m.

The Commodore's Ball, the Boat Club's "bash" of the year, is by reservation only. Tickets are $7.50 a person, or $15 a couple. Reservations deadline was Tuesday, September 22.

The annual election of officers was held at the Farms Municipal Pier-Park Boat House on Wednesday, September 9.

Elected commodore for the 1970-71 year, was G. Gerald Malooly. Picked as vice commodore was Joseph A. Kikel; secretary, Margaret E. Holmes; and treasurer, Albert Jack Boland.

On the board of directors will be Joseph D. Crea, who becomes a director automatically when he relinquishes his office and becomes the immediate past commodore; Anthony H. Del-sener; the Honorable Thomas Thornton, federal judge; Ronald W. Hicks; Fred C. Wissman and Thomas Ochsak.

Elected alternate directors were: Frank "Skip" Gmeiner and Mrs. Bruce (Elizabeth) Lardner, who is the editor of the GPFC's official news organ, "The Dock Box"; Vincent S. Famularo was elected parliamentarian and historian. Appointed alternate directors, were Jack Closs and Louis E. Sendelbach.

The new commodore's daughter, Jayne Malooly, was picked as the Grosse Pointe Farms Boat Club's Junior Miss during the organization's Regatta in July, for the 1970-71 year.

Honor Awarded North Pointe

An All-American Honor Rating has recently been awarded "North Pointe," the student newspaper of Grosse Pointe North High School, by the University of Minnesota's National Scholastic Press Association.

An All-American rating is the highest award given by the association.

Marks of distinction were given in Writing and Editing, Editorial Leadership, Physical Appearance and Photography.

"Well written throughout by a talented, imaginative staff. Feature material is especially effective - good human interest angles utilized consistently. News writing is lucid and crisp." Mrs. Helen Ganzales, the association's judge said.

Dan Stekiewicz served as editor-in-chief for the 1970 "North Pointe" staff.

Jerry Johnson was business manager and Gretchen Maricak was exchange editor and circulation manager.

Randy Steinkampf and David Rostkantz supervised photography.

Lee Zeisler Returns To Pointe For Rites

Newlywed Francis X. Addys Are At Home In Detroit After Vacation Trip to Niagara Falls, New York and Canada

Earlene G. Zeisler and her parents, the Earl R. Zeislars, who moved recently from Roslyn road to Largo, Fla., returned to Grosse Pointe for Lee's Saturday, September 12, wedding to Francis X. Addy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Addy, of St. Clair Shores.

The small family service at which Father Robert Gardella officiated was followed by a reception at the Berkshire road home of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Cooper.

Lee designed and made her white crepe wedding gown trimmed with pearl-studded lace. A headdress of embroidered flowers trimmed with pearls and beads caught her shoulder length illusion veil and she carried a cascade of fall flowers with yellow roses.

She was attended by Chris Brink whose dress of yellow linen accented with yellow and green flowers was her own creation. Chris carried a wicker basket filled with assorted fall flowers.

Best man was Paul Beaupre. The bride's brother Paul J. Zeisler, of Dallas, Tex., and the bridegroom's brother, Jerome Addy, Jr., and Timothy Addy, ushered.

After the 1:30 o'clock double ring rites and reception the newlyweds left for a trip to Niagara Falls, New York and Canada. They are at home in Detroit.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Paul Zeisler, the bride's sister-in-law, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Westerbeck and Mrs. Robert Boswell, of Newport, Ky. From Cincinnati, came the bride's grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Zeisler and Mrs. Grace Sievers and her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong.

Unable to attend was the bridegroom's brother Michael Addy who is stationed in Anchorage, Alaska, with the United States Army.

Mrs. John S. Neault

Marriage vows were exchanged Saturday, September 19, in Bethany Christian Church by SHELLY LYNN PREMIER, daughter of the Frank F. Premers, of Wayburn road, and Mr. Neault, son of Dona Neault, of St. Clair Shores, and the late Mrs. Neault.

Carden-Horan Vows Spoken

Kathleen Anne Horan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Horan, of South Haven, Mich., became the bride of Robert C. Carden, Jr., son of the Robert C. Cardens, of Lincoln road, at a noon ceremony Saturday, September 12, in St. Basil Catholic Church, South Haven.

Officiating at the rites which were followed by a garden reception at the Horan home was Father Roger Dunigan, of St. Mary's, Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant.

The newlyweds vacationed on Cape Cod and will make their home in the Pointe.

The former Miss Horan, given in marriage by her father, chose an A line gown of sheer organza accented with Alencon lace. Her Cathedral veil fell from a Victorian lace crown and she carried a bouquet of purple-throated white orchids.

Honor attendants Mrs. William Harden, of Mount Pleasant, and Donna Miller and bridesmaids Renee Poierist, of Bay City, and Marlene Twist, of Lansing, wore plum chiffon frocks featuring smoked bodices and carried parasols filled with mixed flowers.

Best man was John Wing. Pat Kozak, John Donaldson, John Hayes and Timothy Horan ushered.

Plan Auto Show Benefit Preview

The Detroit Auto Show will celebrate its 55th opening with a gala charity preview in Cobo Hall for the benefit of Children's Hospital Friday evening, November 20. The joint announcement was made recently by Mrs. Gerard R. Slattery, of Lakeshore road, president of Children's Hospital, and Jerry Biel-field, president of the Detroit Auto Dealers Association.

Chairman of the $25-a-couple black tie event is Mrs. Charles T. Fisher, III, of Lothrop road. Mrs. Fisher's committee includes Mrs. James M. Roche, Mrs. David Williams, Wendell Anderson, Warren Sheldon and Thomas Adams, all of whom are trustees of Children's Hospital.

Sponsors of the Children's Hospital charity preview are Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Iacocca, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Riccarda and Mr. and Mrs. William V. Luneburg, and representing Children's Hospital, Mr. and Mrs. Slattery.

Opening November 21 and running through November 29 the Detroit Auto Show will present a glittering array of more than 350 new 1971 cars, motor homes and pickup campers, and is expected to be the largest display of new motor vehicles ever shown in the Motor City. Doug Dalgleish, vice-president of Charles Dalgleish Cadillac, is show chairman against this year.

The Health Education Council of Grosse Pointe has announced its officers for the 1970-71 school year.

The Executive Council consists of: Mrs. William G. Self, president; Mrs. Bruce Cox, vice president; Mrs. Delbert Ryan, recording secretary; Mrs. George Atkinson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Donald Bangs, treasurer; Mrs. William Race and Mrs. George Colicchio are the co-treasurers; and Mrs. Lawrence Cools is the past-president.

The new committee chairmen are Mrs. Bruce Cox, programs; Mrs. Fred Goodrow, and Mrs. Samuel Douglas, membership; Mrs. Gordon Rose, publicity; Mrs. Q. LaChapelle, Mrs. Gustave Rener and Mrs. Robert Tracy, Dental; Mrs. Carl Nolte, welfare; Mrs. LaVerne Biasell and Mrs. Robert Igan, hospitality; Mrs. R. Ungewitter, Code Book and Mrs. Donald Kuhn, Red Cross Blood Mobile.

The Health Council promotes and participates in the fluoride treatment program in our public and parochial schools for children in Kindergarten, second, fifth and eighth grades.

Pollution control will be of special interest to the Health Council this year.

A tea will be held at the Hospitality House on Kercheval avenue, Monday, Sept. 28, at 1 o'clock for all Health Education Council delegates.

Ready For 1970-71 Celebrity Speakers

Inspecting their new Eastland Theatre Celebrity Series headquarters are members of Bon Secours Hospital Assistance League, (left to right), MRS. JOHN L. KING, MRS. GARY LOWE, MRS. DONALD POKORNY, MRS. THOMAS VERBIEST and MRS. DONALD CURRIER. The Series, sponsored by the Assistance League, moves this 17th season year to Eastland, with Celebrity Luncheons at Stouffers following each of the five Thursday morning lectures. The new location offers more convenient parking—and more room inside the Theatre, so a few ticket books are still available for this usually sell-out program which opens this year October 15 with Sam Levenson on the podium. Ticket books at $12 each may be obtained by sending checks to Celebrity Series Ticket Chairman, Bon Secours Hospital, 468 Cadieux Road, Grosse Pointe, Mich. 48230.

St. Mary Alumnae Plan Dixie Jamboree

Checking reservations and arrangements for their October 3 Dixie Jamboree to be held at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club are members of the board of St. Mary Academy (Monroe) Alumnae, Detroit Chapter, (left to right), GERRY SABYSKI, treasurer, MRS. J. M. BELANGER, vice-president, MRS. PAUL GRACEY, president, and corresponding secretary MRS. RICHARD RINKE who entertained the party-planning group at luncheon aboard the Rinke yacht moored at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. The evening's proceeds will enrich the scholarship fund providing an Academy graduate with a year's education at Marygrove College. Both institutions are under the direction of the Sisters, Servants of the Immaculate Heart of Mary religious.

Shelly Lynn Premier Wed To Mr. Neault

Princess Lines of Bride's White Peau Gown are Accented with Venise Lace; Mrs. Kenneth Kamman is her Sister's Honor Matron

Making their home in Grosse Pointe Park after a vacation in the Poconos will be Mr. and Mrs. John Stanley Neault who were married Saturday, September 19, at an afternoon ceremony in Bethany Christian Church.

The 2 o'clock rites at which The Reverend James Carpenter officiated were followed by a reception in the Church Fellowship Hall.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Premier selected a dress of lilac wool accented with gold and pinned green cymbidians orchids to her shoulder.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Luther A. Manuel and Mrs. Alfred Chastain, from Lebanon, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Philip Premier and their children, of Dunkirk, Ind., and Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence D. Benken and their children, of Muncie, Ind.

GP Symphony Starts Practice

The Grosse Pointe Symphony began preparations for its 1970-71 season last week with its opening rehearsal Wednesday evening, September 16, at the Parcels Middle School Auditorium.

The Orchestra looks forward to an exciting season, again under the baton of conductor Felix Resnick, of the Detroit Symphony.

Rehearsals for the first of the season's concerts November 20, are beginning. New members of the Orchestra are always welcome. Anyone interested may call Ann Wallace at 886-3694 for information.

Soprano Raskin With Symphony Name Pear Tree Quester Officers

Metropolitan Opera soprano Judith Raskin will lead off the parade of visiting artists to appear with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra this season.

The glamorous American singer will be featured at the Symphony's program to be performed Thursday and Saturday, September 24 and 26, at 8:30 o'clock in Ford Auditorium.

She'll be head in Maurice Rav-el's seldom-performed "Sheherazade," a set of three poems for voice and orchestra, and in the final movement of the Orchestra's principal offering on both evenings, Gustav Mahler's Symphony No. 4 in G major.

Sixteen Ehrling will conduct and will open each performance with Hector Berlioz's "Cor-sair" Overture.

Miss Raskin's only previous appearance with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra was at the 1968 Meadow Brook Music Festival, when the Orchestra was led by guest conductor Andre Kostelanetz.

Judith Raskin, "a great American beauty blessed with a great voice," is something of a triple phenomenon. As a recitalist her perfection of posture, gesture, manner, language and musical accent have led critics and audiences to proclaim her as one of the handful of great leader singers of our time.

In opera her interpretations of Mozart, Verdi and Strauss heroines have reminded many of the late Elisabeth Schumann. And she appears regularly as a favorite of many of the great orchestras today.

Name Pear Tree Quester Officers

The first fall season meeting of the Pear Tree Chapter of Questers was held recently at the home of incoming president Mrs. John Crane in Stanhope avenue. The business session was followed by brunch with 16 members attending, bringing a cherished article of antique glass.

Chapter officers for the coming year are president, Mrs. Crane; vice-president, Mrs. Richard McCloskey; secretary, Mrs. John Piester; treasurer, Mrs. Wilfred Lademacher; historian, Mrs. Oscar Teeg; publicity chairman, Mrs. Robert Sheridan.

For their October meeting members will journey to Pine Knob Ski Lodge where the Michigan State Quester Meeting will be held.

St. Paul To Hold Spaghetti Supper

A get-acquainted Spaghetti Supper for parishioners, parents, teachers and students of St. Paul Grade School is slated for Friday, October 2, from 5:30 until 8 o'clock, in the school cafeteria.

Musical entertainment will be provided by a group of singers and guitarists. Cost is $1.50 per person.

Mrs. Thomas Palmer is general chairman of the event. Assisting Mrs. Palmer are Mrs. Edward Kane, Mrs. Emil Berg, Mrs. Gerard Toenjes, Mrs. Thomas McGann, Mrs. Thomas Peters, Mrs. Don Burns and Mrs. William Ghesquire.

SISTER DOREEN POUPARD OF ST. PAUL SCHOOL

By Pepper Whitelaw

The thought of interviewing a nun is intimidating. The thought of interviewing her in a convent is more intimidating... somehow we think of sisters as persons apart.

Does the name sound familiar? It should. Sister Doreen's family are native Pointers. Her father, Daniel Poupard, was an engineer for the Grosse Pointe School System his entire life.

Sister Doreen and her brother, Charles, both attended St. Clare de Montefalco grade school. Sister Doreen was graduated from St. Paul School, as was her father.

Sister Doreen was assigned to the post of principal of St. Paul School by the Provincial of the Detroit Province, at the age of 30.

Sister Doreen continues, "it provides an opportunity for independent study and makes the student more capable of self-instruction. In today's rapidly evolving scientifically oriented world, science texts are outdated in a year. It is impossible for a student to learn all the facts and concepts in any one scientific area.

"We are particularly proud of our Science curriculum," Sister Doreen continues, "it provides an opportunity for independent study and makes the student more capable of self-instruction."

"Presently all the grade school children are involved in a lab-centered inquiry approach to science. This is a child-centered program rather than a teacher monopolized one.

"Our purpose here at St. Paul is to plan and implement a curriculum geared to reflect knowledge of human growth and development in a changing social structure which will prepare students for further education and eventually for their place in society," she continues.

"We, the members of the faculty, are dedicated to a belief that the worth and dignity of every person derives from God. In harmony with this dignity man's ability to communicate fosters this growth as a social being."

"I chose the education field because it is always challenging and exciting. People in education want change... creativity is here. You know since Vatican II the Catholic Church has taken an entirely new direction. No longer are we sisters isolated from the world in which we work, we're part of it.

"Our non-graded primary is an example of our innovative programs. It is designed to recognize the individual differences of children. The plan provides a learning situation to meet individual needs. In this program rigid grade lines are eliminated, affording the youngster the opportunity to acquire academic and social skills at his own rate of speed.

Discover... at Ports of Call, 23220 Mack Avenue, charming old furniture to refinish to suit your own decorating scheme. Expert advice is available and creative decorative ideas await you.

Kidney Machine Goal of Project

The officers of the newly-formed Grosse Pointe Jaycee Auxiliary are already at work on their first service project, a bake sale to collect Betty Crocker coupons. These coupons will help purchase a kidney machine for a patient in Michigan.

"These machines are marvelous," says Mrs. Gill Finger, Auxiliary president. "They can give a person with kidney disease a normal life."

"The Michigan Jaycees have already 'purchased' five of the machines, to total dollar cost of over $15,000 absorbed by the Betty Crocker coupons."

Workers Wanted

Christ Church Fair, to be held Thursday, November 19, from 9:30 to 4:30 o'clock at the Church in Grosse Pointe boulevard, will offer exciting articles for every member of the family.

Chairmen of the various units are hard at work with their groups to guarantee adequate supplies of the much-sought-after merchandise. And volunteers are still needed: Anyone interested in helping can call Mrs. William Ludwig, 885-4982; She guarantees to keep you busy!

There'll be, by the way, a number of new booths this year in addition to the ever-popular ones that have become Fair traditions. New Horizons, appearing for the first time, will feature hand-crafted items from Pennsylvania, Kentucky and various other sources around the country.

Art Unlimited, another innovation, offers arts and crafts, in a wide variety of mediums, by some 25 metropolitan Detroit area artists... and, of course, the Fair is famous for the lovely hand-sewn articles at its Paris Table... for basket purses, (always in demand)... beautiful creations in decoupage... children's smocked dresses and knitted items... and charming, original Christmas decorations.

Good Design Counts

Each year this time members of the Grosse Pointe Branch, American Association of University Women, find themselves pausing in their work of collecting and cataloguing donations for their annual Used Book Sale, to be presented next month at the Unitarian Church in Maumee avenue, so intrigued by the subject matter of some of their more unusual items that they "just have" to read a few pages before going on...

Among topics treated in 1970's still modest-but growing rapidly!—supply is the "History of Smoking." In a rare gem, a practical tome entitled "The Specialist," do-it-yourselfers, are advised on how to go about constructing an outhouse, (good design counts): Should the door swing in or out?... Why is this important?... Which way should the door face to make the use of the facilities most enjoyable?...

Less esoteric volumes are welcome, too, of course. Contact Eighth Annual Used Book Sale chairman Mrs. Leo P. Hardwick, 886-0707, and they'll be picked up at your door. Or drop off your donations on Mrs. Hardwick's back porch at 902 University place.

Faculty Wives Plan Reception

Eighteen new wives will be honored at a fall reception when Grosse Pointe Faculty Wives gather at Grosse Pointe North High School Monday evening, September 28, at 8 o'clock.

Joining Mrs. Theos Anderson, wife of Grosse Pointe's Superintendent of Public Schools, in the receiving line will be new Faculty Wives officers for the year including president Mrs. Robert Shover, vice-president Mrs. Donald Yerkes, secretary Mrs. James Haskell and treasurer Mrs. Ronald Ladd.

The evening's activities will include jazz music with David Gregory at the piano and John Wilhelm, guitar, followed by a dance number featuring the Tramps of Grosse Pointe Theatre North.

A short business meeting will follow the introduction of new wives and descriptions of the year's upcoming activities. Reporting on bridge gatherings will be Mrs. Gordon Morlan, on pinocle Mrs. Donald Dungan. "Ideas Unlimited" co-chairmen are Mrs. John Wargelin and Mrs. Paul Pierson.

Additional projects and chairmen are: Fun Night, Mrs. Edmund Howard and Mrs. John Bruce; Christmas Tea, Mrs. Francis Weskel and Mrs. Lawrence Kennedy; Children's Christmas Party, Mrs. Kenneth Gutow and Mrs. James Selmo; Dinner-Dance, Mrs. Donald Wilson and Mrs. Thomas Gauerke; Couples' Card Party, Mrs. Moran and Mrs. Dungan; Spring Party, Mrs. Willis Brown and Mrs. Ben Zenn.

Assisting co-chairmen Mrs. Joseph Spagnoli and Mrs. Leonard Jensen as hostesses Monday evening will be Mrs. James Hunt and Mrs. Richard Fenech.

at Jacobson's in the Village Saturday, October 3. "Clarence Washer, manager of Jacobson's, has been most helpful," commented Mrs. Brewster. "He has had many suggestions for starting our first project off on the right foot."

The baked goods will be sold off cash or coupons. "A dozen cupcakes might be six coupons, for instance," explains Mrs. Firschild. The coupons may be removed from the packages without affecting the freshness of the products.

LYNNE RYAN NAVARRO, daughter of MR. and MRS. ALBERT NAVARRO, of Stephens road, has been named to the Dean's List for the second semester of the past academic year at Bennett College, Millbrook, N. Y. Lynne, a Grosse Pointe University School alumna, plans to be graduated from Bennett next June as a Liberal Arts major.

Mary Reparatrix Benefit Planned

The annual Harvest Champagne Tea sponsored by the Auxiliary of Mary Reparatrix will be held this Sunday, September 27, from 2 until 5 o'clock at the Mary Reparatrix Center in Quincy avenue, Detroit, which has for the past 40 years served as a retreat house for single and married women.

The Center also pioneered in Inter-Faith retreats. Presently it is about to embark on a remodeling project in order to provide comfortable accommodations for husband-wife retreatants. Proceeds from the tea will go toward this refurbishing project.

Mrs. J. Addison Bartush, of Lakeshore road, and Mrs. Leo Howe of Berkshire road, are both active members of the Auxiliary.
