Bon Secours Wins Round In City Bout

Judge George Bowles Rules Municipality's Ban on Proposed Expansion Unconstitutional
By Pepper Whitelaw
The seven-year debate between Bon Secours Hospital and the City of Grosse Pointe, in which the hospital challenged the validity of the City's present zoning ordinance, as applies to it, and which prevents its expansion, has come to a head with the recent opinion of Circuit Judge George E. Bowles, which indicated a victory for the hospital.

Deadlock in School Board Broken

Before a vote was taken, Arnold Fuchs said although he was very much impressed with the ability and enthusiasm of the students, he thought the use of the computers should be focused on the 9th and 10th grade students, preventing a two-year "gap" in computer math from 8th grade to 11th grade. Donald Semmler agreed, saying it would be best to keep a continuous program during the high school years.

Fuchs also suggested that the passage of Act 190, an act which puts a ceiling on school expenditures per student in the Pointe, should be considered, adding that he felt the board should not go ahead with a new program that was not included in the financial budget last year.

The board was reminded by the Department of Instruction that at a video tape presentation in a September meeting, recommendations concerning the computer math program were submitted. Since that time, the budget had been set and the curriculum development project for the school year developed. Pressure is now being exerted to have act 100 repealed or amended.

After a motion by Allen to accept the recommendation was supported by William Adams, Barbara Thompson, board president, said she thought the idea of a continuous program was not all-important, terming access to a computer in the 9th and 10th grades as "incidental."

Purchase Approved
The vote passed, with Fuchs and Semmler voting "no" and Sandberg abstaining. Those voting in the affirmative were Thompson, Adams, Allen, and Alfred Glancy.

The question of whether to buy the van truck for the electrician's use was eventually passed after three votes, the first of which resulted from a motion from Glancy, supported by Adams, to accept the recommendation to buy the van without debate. In the previous meeting, no action was taken on the purchase of the truck because of a tie with three abstentions and three affirmatives. Fuchs had said at that meeting that he wanted to look into the matter further and recommended tabling the issue.

The first vote, Wednesday, resulted in a tie with Sandberg, Semmler, and Fuchs voting "no"; Thompson, Adams, and Glancy voting "yes"; and Allen abstaining.

Saying they should make an effort to economize on a purchase that was not originally budgeted, Fuchs said there were several other vehicles that could be used by the electrician and suggested that, if necessary, even the audio-visual van could be pressed into service.

Introduces Sub-Motion
Fuchs then introduced a sub-motion to use a car the system already owns, instead of buying a new one, sell the one that was to be traded in, and allow mileage for one person.

After a dispute regarding the parliamentary rules of procedure and the legality of Fuchs' sub-motion was settled the board turned down Fuchs' sub-motion with Thompson, Adams, Allen, and Glancy voting "no," and beneficiaries (though only to a very minor extent after taxes), stand to benefit from any interest or earnings that might accrue on such amounts represented by such bequests if payment can be delayed.

After more time consuming court hearings the Circuit Court affirmed the lower court.

Not at all discouraged, the same objectors to present payment moved the court for a re-hearing, advancing the same arguments all over again as to why the bequests should not be paid now, and in due time the Circuit Court turned them back one more time, denying their motion.

You Gussed It
And now we come to Christmas week when the spirit of good will towards one's fellow man is supposed to prevail, and what do you suppose happened? You gussed it—they have taken still another appeal, this one to the Michigan Court of Appeals which will take many more months to resolve. And who knows—if they lose there they might try to go to the Supreme Court of Michigan.

Meanwhile the late Mr. Buhl's faithful servants and employees, and the Cancer Foundation, must continue to wait and hope that some day at the end of the long, long road they may still be around to enjoy that which Mr. Buhl so obviously wanted them to have where they could use it.

Merry Christmas to all!

Bon Secours Wins Round

victory for the hospital a number of legal actions are open to the City before any expansion can proceed. The next step is presentation of a judgment prepared by attorneys for Bon Secours to the City. If the judgment is rejected by the City, the City can then file an appeal trial. If the request is rejected the City can then file an appeal in Appeals Court. However, throughout these procedures the opportunity for compromise remains present.

If the hospital pursues along the lines of its court-won approval, their expansion plans call for the addition of 155 beds, bringing bed capacity to 320. Parking facilities would include a two deck parking area to accommodate 440 cars.

Sister Justine, president of the Board of Trustees of Bon Secours Hospital, told the NEWS: "We are delighted with the decision of the Circuit Court because it will permit Bon Secours Hospital to maintain its record of excellence of service to this area as an acute care general hospital. This area needs the additional beds and ancillary services which Bon Secours expansion will provide."

School and Hospital Join In Disaster Preparations

Should a disaster resulting in a large number of casualties strike Grosse Pointe, Cottage Hospital and the Richard School, cooperating jointly, will be ready for the emergency.

A packaged Disaster Hospital consisting of 500 boxes containing cots, hospital equipment and medicines is stored at Cottage and could be set up for operation in the Richard School within a short time.

"Anyone who has worked in a hospital during a disaster such as a flood, tornado, or other unfortunate happening knows that careful advance planning is needed," Ralph L. Wilgarde, Hospital Administrator, said.

The packaged Disaster Hospital is the U.S. Public Health Service's plan to provide hospital care at such a time, he explained. The PDH has 200 cots and a 30-day supply of medicine and equipment. Fully activated, the unit has three operating rooms, an admitting and sorting section, wards, x-ray, laboratory and pharmacy, and central sterile supply section, plus power generators and water tank and pump.

"In the event of a disaster, stretchers would be brought from Cottage to the school's gymnasium where an admitting area, emergency treatment facilities, and a pharmacy would be set up," Dr. Theos I. Anderson, Superintendent of the Grosse Pointe School System, said.

"A shock ward would be established in two rooms on the southeast side of the first floor, an ambulatory casualty post would be set up in a first floor room on the northwest corner of the building, and the two primary grade rooms on the first floor would be used as surgical suites," Mr. Wilgarde said.

Facilities for x-ray, laboratory, central sterile supply, and administration would be located in the remaining first floor rooms.

"The Richard School building is ideally suited to house a PDH unit," Mr. Wilgarde said, "and since it is only two short blocks from Cottage Hospital, the unit could be set up within the shortest possible time."

Thief Snatches Outdoor Lights

A Woods resident noticed that her outdoor lights had been stolen after she had heard suspicious noises the night before near the garage door.

Mrs. James Pappas, 692 Pearl Tree, heard sounds of someone trying to open the garage door and a door to a separate entrance to the garage around 9 p.m. Wednesday, December 16. Knowing that both doors were locked at the time, she thought the noises must have been her imagination and did not bother calling the police at the time.

The next morning, she found eight lights missing from the front bushes and immediately called the police. Woods police said they would give special attention to the garage around 9 p.m. Wednesday, December 16. Knowing that both doors were

ELECTRICAL DANGER
Mrs. Earl Eckstrand, 963 Roslyn, telephoned Woods police Thursday, December 17, to report a light pole making a "humming noise." Sergeant Walter O'Dell answered the call to find the complaint valid and suggested that the pole might be arcing at the base. Police immediately notified Detroit Edison Co. and said the problem should be treated as an emergency.

Judge Goodrow Hears 18 Cases

Court for the City of Grosse Pointe Woods was called to session Tuesday, December 15, by Judge Don J. Goodrow. Among the 18 cases heard, seven defendants were tried for speeding and only four were from the Grosse Pointe area.

Both Edward Heglin, Jr., 20934 Poinciana, in Southfield and Howard Wetherholt, 19340 Mackay, in Detroit were found guilty of speeding after entering a guilty plea. Heglin was fined $22 and Wetherholt was ordered to pay $35 for the offense.

Bradley Geffen, 22051 Ivanhoe, in Southfield entered a not guilty plea on a charge of speeding. The court found him guilty and fined Geffen $15.

Mary Burak, 5782 Yorkshire, in Detroit was given a fine of $20 for speeding by the court. She declared herself not guilty.

The court found David Fleming, 22837 Sunnyside, St. Clair Shores guilty of speeding and fined him $15. He had also entered a not guilty plea.

Camille Michael, 690 Briarcliff, told the court she was not guilty of speeding. The court found her guilty and ordered her to pay $10 for her offense.

In the last speeding case heard, Maria Speer, 15774 Charles, in E. Detroit said she was guilty. The court agreed and set the fine at $10.

Two of those tried were facing a charge of driving with a suspended license. One, Faye Amond, 1570 Westchester, in Westland, was ordered to pay a fine of $100 and spend three days in jail after the court found her guilty. Amond had entered a guilty plea.

Joseph Johns, 3875 Cadieux, in Detroit, told the court he was not guilty after being found driving with a suspended license. The court found him guilty and fined him $75.

Connie Smith, 3570 Lycaste, in Detroit, entered a guilty plea on a charge of larceny. The court found her guilty and placed her on probation to the Wayne County probationary department for six months. She was also ordered to pay costs of $35.

Also involved in a larceny but pleading not guilty to the charge, William Richardson, Jr., 9160 Concord, in Detroit was found guilty and placed on probation for six months. Costs assessed to Richardson were in the amount of $35.

James Bley, 1584 Cook, pleading guilty to a charge of impaired driving was found guilty and paid a fine of $100.

James Bley, 1584 Cook, pleading guilty to a charge of impaired driving was found guilty and paid a fine of $100.

Causing an accident and charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance ahead, Ernest Rodgers, 584 Arden Park, in Detroit pled not guilty, was found guilty and fined $10.

Robert Ryan, 1745 Anita, was fined $10 for having his commercial vehicle parked in a residential area.

Thomas McConville, 23400 Edsel Ford Ct., in St. Clair Shores, pled guilty on a license restriction violation. He was found guilty and ordered to pay $10 for the offense.

Jeffrey Hoffman, 762 S. Rose-dale, was found guilty of being a minor in possession of alcoholic beverages. The court assessed costs in the amount of $15.

Pleading guilty of impaired driving, James Shields, 622 Cardwell, Garden City, was found guilty and fined $100 by the court.

Leonard Marsack, 7445 Miller road, in Dearborn, was found guilty of failing to signal when leaving the curb and fined $10. He had entered a not guilty plea.

Eleven cases were dismissed and two were adjourned while Judge Goodrow signed 23 warrants for failure to answer summons.

D'you Know That?

By Paul Schweitzer

According to the dictionary, the word CROOK has two meanings. One is defined as the "Twisted part of a thing," the other as, "Any one of the criminal class—a swindler."

The latter definition comes to us from a word coined by the Chicago Tribune in 1879. It was meant to compare a criminal to the links of twisted rail-fences, popular at that time. Since a criminal did not "follow the straight and narrow path" he was then branded "CROOKED."

The term caught on, but the meaning escaped us. Today we straighten out crooks by just letting them be. When they get rich enough — they'll straighten out on their own.

I don't know about you, but I'm blithering. Rather: As I write this column, (last Monday), I am blithering; by the time you read it, (Thursday morning), I'll be under the Law of December 24, and calm again.

This Law of December 24, a Great Thing, states: "If you haven't got it—the perfect present for, (named to be filled in by individual Law invokers)—by now, you won't get it."

A wonderful Law. Comforting. Hopeful. Nirvana . . . But it doesn't operate UNTIL December 24, and right now, as I'm writing this column, it's December 21, and as soon as I'm finished with this column—I'll drag it out as long as I can, but eventually it's GOT to be finished—I'll be off again, into the cold, the snow, searching for, (among other things), cheap ladybugs and ANYTHING with a camel on it . . .

Mike Kramer comes home from the service, home on Christmas leave, and he's all grown up, and all tired out, and everybody's glad to see him, and it's grand old family reunion time in Grosse Pointe boulevard, and before Mike goes—late—to bed, he tells his mother, "Be sure to wake me up at 9 tomorrow morning."

And promptly at 9 Mrs. Kramer comes knocking gently at Mike's door.

Tap. "Mike? . . ." Tap, tap. "Mike?"

Nothing.

Now before Mike went away, his mother would have pounded, threatened, demanded . . .

But this is Mike-home-on-leave: You don't rout your soldier son from bed the day after he's been let out for the holidays.

Still: He DID say he wanted to be up at 9. He probably has things he has to do . . .

Mike's mother stands on the far side of the door, says, in a voice that's firm, sharp, decisive:

"Private Kramer!"

And from inside comes Mike's immediate response:

Joan Dixon Griffith Wed In St. Paul's

Father Christopher Mercier Comes from Cincinnati to Officiate at Marriage of his Cousin's Daughter and Lawrence Fisher Drummy

Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore was the setting for the marriage of Joan Dixon Griffith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Howard Griffith, of Hendrie lane, and Lawrence Fisher Drummy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Leonard Drummy, of Lothrop road.

The bride's mother's cousin, Father Christopher Mercier, came from Cincinnati to officiate at the 5:30 o'clock rites Friday evening, December 18.

After a reception at the Country Club the newlyweds left for a vacation in London and Scotland. They're returning to a home in St. Clair avenue.

The former Miss Griffith selected a wedding gown of white antique satin with a beaded yoke and sleeves. She bought her veil of Brussels lace in Belgium last summer.

She carried a traditional white bridal bouquet while her attendants, in floor length frocks featuring red velvet bodices and white brocade skirts, carried red roses, holly and ivy.

Susan Griffith was her sister's honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Mary Fay Griffith, another sister, and Mrs. Michael Vermlinden and Mary Virginia Drummy, the bridegroom's sister.

John L. Drummy acted as his brother's best man. Ushers were Thomas M. and Brian S. Drummy, two other brothers of the bridegroom, Juha O. Merikoski, of Madison, Wis., his brother-in-law, and William H. Griffith, Jr., and Thomas Nester Griffith, brothers of the bride.

Hiding behind those whiskers as Santa Claus at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's Children Party last Saturday was JAMES E. FISHER whose wife JOANN was chairman of the wild afternoon under general chairman JOANNE SHREVE.

Grosse Pointe North High School graduate PAMELA MANOS, daughter of MR. and MRS. PETER MANOS, of Van Antwerp road, has pledged Alpha Phi fraternity for women at Adrian College, where she is a freshman.

Merry Christmas

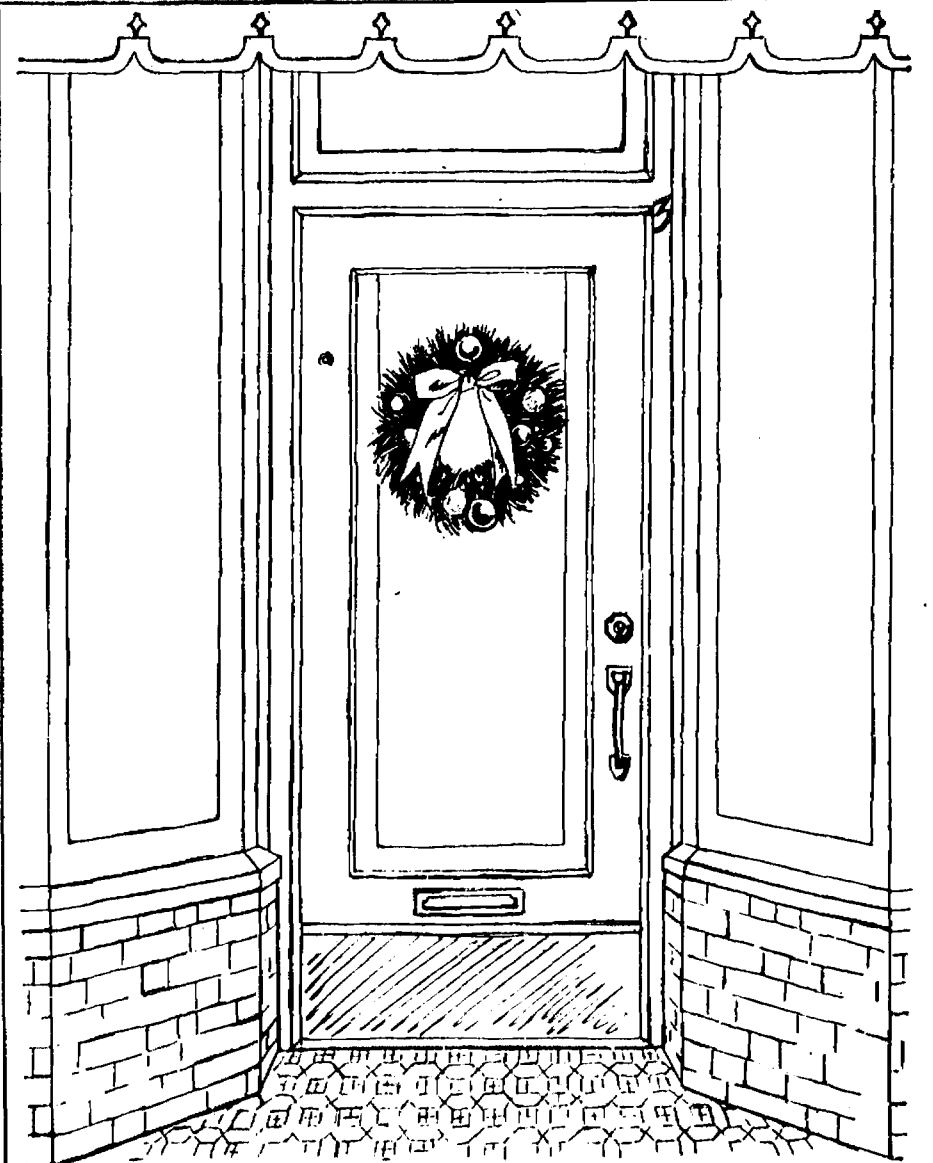

In other words, this is a hairdresser that cares. He doesn't consider his clients faceless ladies in shapeless robes. He considers them interesting individuals. Which is why he studies their faces and clothes and asks about the lives they lead and the way they really see themselves. It's also why he gets the most beautiful results. This kind of hairdresser isn't easy to come by. But if you come by our place, you'll find quite a few. You see, it's the only kind of hairdresser we believe in.

Piech, of Whitehill avenue, Detroit, also received his degree from the University of Detroit and has just returned from service in Germany with the United States Army.

Christmas Spirit At Art Institute

The spirit of Christmas is seen and heard in the Great Hall of the Detroit Institute of Arts, where an intricately carved 18th century Shrine of the Infant of Prague, banked with holiday greens, greets museum visitors near the Woodward avenue entrance. Adjacent is a narrated color slide projection, "The Adoration of the Magi." In paintings and sculpture from the museum's permanent collection the slides show details of the scene that captivated artists from the 13th to the 16th century. The elegant rococo shrine, about three feet tall, was originally a lavish shelter ("haus-altar") for devotional images in private homes according to Francis W. Robinson, curator of Medieval Art. Delicately colored gilt figures of angels and saints spiral upward framing a wax figure of the Christ Child.

The shrine was probably made in Bavaria around 1750 by associates of Johann Baptist Straub, whose studio-workshop was famous for its altarpieces.

It was a 1961 gift to the museum from Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Ford, II, of Provençal road.

The slide narration was written by Jean Dodenhoff of the museum's Educational Department and is spoken by Michael Miners of the Theatre Arts Department. Background music is early English carols.

Through January 3 this multi-media presentation may be enjoyed by visitors during regular museum hours, 9:30 to 5:30 o'clock Tuesday through Sunday.

The museum will be open from 9:30 to noon Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve, closed Christmas and New Year's days.

Miss Bell Wed To Bruce Black

Setting for the Saturday, December 19, wedding of Mary Lou Bell, daughter of George O. Bell, of Balfour road, and the late Mrs. Bell, and Bruce Douglas Black, son of the William Blacks, of Birmingham, was Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

The Reverend Raymond Kiley presided at the 2 o'clock ceremony, assisted by the bride's cousin, The Reverend Robert Elfvig, from Christ Church, Lima, O.

will return to make their home in Romulus.

The bride selected a gown of candlelight peau de soie with accents of Alencon lace and pearls. Her veil fell from a small cap trimmed in matching lace and she carried a traditional bridal bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

She was attended by her sister, Susan Bell, as maid of honor and bridesmaids Bonnie Black, the bridegroom's sister, Candice Lee, a cousin, Mary Thorne and Sara Elliott Tiderington.

Their green velvet Empire frocks featured ivory bodices and they carried matching velvet muffs with holly accents. Their headpieces were velvet and holly bows.

Williams Black acted as his son's best man. Ushering were the bride's brother, John Bell, Philip Knox, John Gilbert and Michael Whittsit.

Mrs. Black chose a beige satin dress and a green orchid corsage for her son's wedding.

Audubon Slates Film On Canada

John D. Bulger will narrate his film "Across Wilderness Canada" on Saturday, January 2, at 7:30 o'clock in Rackham Auditorium. The program is presented by the Detroit Audubon Society.

The islands off the Atlantic coast of Canada are famous for their great colonies of seabirds. The vast Canadian tundra, abounding in mosquitos, also abounds in shorebirds and plant life. "God's River", Hayes River and Hudson's Bay teem with wildlife, including large numbers of white whales near the Arctic town of Churchill.

From a helicopter over Hudson's Bay Mr. Bulger photographed huge flocks of blue and snow geese at their nesting area. Mountain parks of western Canada and the beautiful forests of Vancouver Island are included in his film tour.

Besides these fascinating sights Mr. Bulger shows the steps now being taken by the Canadian government to correct the misuse of Canada's wilderness areas.

Tickets are $1.25 for adults, $1 for Senior Citizens and 50c for children under 12. Young people under 20 can buy Detroit Audubon Society Youth Memberships for $3 which admit them to all the films for a year.

The Detroit Audubon Bookstore is open in the lobby a little before 7 o'clock, with books, paperbacks and stationery about natural history. Bird seed is also sold in the lobby.

Entertaining at a Christmas cocktail Open House last weekend were MR. and MRS. CHARLES L. MATTHEWS, III, of Moran road.

Jeweled Bands Trim White Silk Jersey Gown in Which She is Wed to Roger Stanton; Chapel Train Falls from Her Shoulders

Vacationing in Acapulco are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Stanton whose Saturday, December 19, wedding in Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore was followed by a reception at the University Club. They will return to make their home in Detroit.

Mrs. Stanton is the former Pamela Elizabeth Kornmeier, daughter of of Vernier road, and the

Mrs. E. J. Kornmeier, Jr., late Mr. Kornmeier. Mr. Stanton is the son of Mrs. M. E. Stanton, of Detroit, and the late Mr. Stanton.

For the 11 o'clock rites at which Father Thomas Hinsberg presided the bride chose a gown of white silk jersey enhanced with jeweled bands at her waist and bodice front.

Matching jeweled bands cuffed her long sleeves and a Chapel train fell from her shoulders. More jewels circled her silk jersey Juliet cap.

She carried white roses, while her attendants, in floor length, hooded frocks of cherry red silk jersey, carried long ivy branches intertwined with mistle toe and holly.

Gail S. Kornmeier was her sister's honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Raymond T. Huettman, Jr., another sister of the bride, and Mrs. Arthur Amsterdam, the bridegroom's sister.

Best man was Emmet E. Tracy, Jr., and Thomas J. Kornmeier, Walter Kirchberger and Gerald Gattorn seated the guests.

A paisley brocade dress was Mrs. Kornmeier's choice for her daughter's wedding and the reception. Mrs. Stanton was unable to attend the ceremony.

When the newlyweds left for Mexico the bride was wearing a sleeveless white wool dress and white-trimmed camel color coat.

Williams Lunch Slated Tuesday

Professor Joseph A. Kershaw, economist and former provost of Williams College, will be guest speaker at the annual holiday luncheon of the Williams College Alumni Association of Detroit next Tuesday, December 29, at noon in the University Club.

Mr. Kershaw will speak on the subject of coeducation, which began this year at Williams after 177 years as a college for men.

Forty-five girls who transferred from other colleges are now attending Williams. Next fall 125 freshman women and additional transfers will be admitted, leading to an enrollment of 600 women in the mid-1970s.

The current enrollment of 1,250 men will stay approximately the same.

During his five-year tenure as provost beginning in 1963 when the post was created, Mr. Kershaw carried out a long-range computerized projection which became a major factor in the dedication to increase the size of the student body through the admission of women.

A 1935 graduate of Princeton Professor Kershaw has held a variety of administrative posts outside academic life, most recently as a program officer with the Ford Foundation for two years, 1968-70.

While on leave beginning in 1965 he served 15 months in the anti-poverty program of the Office of Economic Opportunity and also served the federal government in the Office of Price Administration during World War II.

Before coming to Williams in 1962 he was an executive in the RAND Corporation for 14 years.

Current undergraduates and prospective candidates for admission from local schools are invited to attend the luncheon as well as Williams alumni in the Detroit area. William D. Dahling, 50, of Hawthorne road, Association president, is in charge of the event.

Clair Shores.

For her marriage the former Miss Kennedy selected a gown of ivory English net and re-embroidered Alencon lace, styled with a deep hem and full Chapel train of peau de soie.

Her silk illusion veil fell from a matching bow and she carried a cascade of stephanotis and Amazon lilies with ivy.

Honor maid Deborah McCarthy, the bridegroom's sister, and bridesmaids Jane Johnson, Sandra Ward and Gretchen Bellingar, of Chicago, wore floor length frocks featuring ivory faille skirts and moss green velvet bodices.

They carried cascades of variegated holly and red berries and wore matching small holly and berry headpieces.

Terrence McCarthy served as his brother's best man. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. McCarthy, of Hampton road.

Arthur Connolly, Gerald Moore, of Butler, Pa., and Thomas Bidigare, of Mount Clemens, seated the guests.

Driver Arrested Following Chase

A driver from Williamsville, N.Y., was arrested by Woods Lieutenant Jack Patterson Sunday, December 20, after he was seen driving 60 mph in a 25 mph zone and creating excessive noise. Robert Petko was spotted around 2 a.m. driving out of a city parking lot against a one-way sign and turning down Hampton, east of Mack. While Patterson was directly behind Petko, he saw Petko speed off with loud mufflers and tires spinning.

Petko was clocked in excess of 60 mph on Hampton before stopping for traffic on Marter. Patterson finally stopped the speeder on the other side of Marter after turning on his lights and siren.

Asked if his speedometer worked, Petko stated that it did but he hadn't looked at it and didn't realize he was going so fast.

Plan Students' Holiday Dance

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Youth Council has planned a special holiday "Other Side" for students in Grosse Pointe Schools in grades 9-12 for Tuesday, December 22 from 8:30-11:30 p.m.

Teagarten and Van Winkle will be the featured attraction with Mike Quatro's Jam Band on hand to provide continuous music.

Tickets are $2.50 if purchased in advance and $2.75 at the door. ID must be shown both at time of ticket purchase and for admission to the dance, proving attendance at a Grosse Pointe school as well as grade.

As with all Other Side dances, there will be refreshments available, parents and Center staff will act as chaperones and the dance is protected by police.

Although the "Other Side" is non date and casual, students attending are urged to be a little dressier than usual in line with the holiday season and the beautifully decorated Crystal Ballroom.

Michigan Yule 269 Years Old

Michiganians have been celebrating Christmas for 269 years and in that span of time have observed the occasion in both solemn and boisterous fashion according to a study of the holiday done by a Wayne State University history professor.

Dr. Phillip P. Mason, director of archives at WSU, found that the first Detroit Christmas was observed with a mass sung in the Little Church of St. Anne for the French residents of Fort Pontchartrain in 1701.

Early Detroit settlers from France did not include feasts and merriment in their Christmas and it remained for the English settlers of the mid 18th Century to bring feasting, gift exchanges and celebration to the Michigan Christmas.

"These new Detroiters did not appear to be teetotalers," said Dr. Mason. "One client of a Detroit tavern had a bar bill showing that he consumed one to four bowls of punch per day for 21 straight days. He also bought several quarts of rum during this period."

The English brought the tradition of the Yule log, mistletoe, holly and the use of evergreens in the house. Wild turkey, cooked over the blazing Yule log, was a favorite for Christmas dinner.

Indians around Detroit quickly fell in with the idea of receiving presents at Christmas and hundreds of them would come to town on Christmas to receive gifts from the settlers.

The arrival of the Americans in Detroit apparently added little to the first Christmas celebrations. Christmas of 1796 was the first of these holidays on which an American flag flew over Detroit and the American commander scheduled a court martial for December 25. It was also noted by Dr. Mason that the stores were open that day, a Sunday.

The arrival of large numbers of settlers from New England brought the custom of hanging stockings on Christmas Eve. They brought another interesting practice. They fired guns, blew horns and generally raised Cain from midnight until dawn on Christmas Day, something more common for New Year's celebrations of today.

The Detroit population of the early 19th Century was also liable to be gathered on the Banks of the Detroit River watching the horse races held on the frozen river Christmas Day. One of the participants in these early races was a young army man, Ulysses S. Grant.

Boyne Country Condominiums

Right in the heart of Mid-America's skiing, golf and recreation mecca—BOYNE COUNTRY. The Boynestadt condominium village is nestled at the foot of fabulous Boyne Mountain and overlooks world-renowned Boyne Mountain Lodge.

Boynestadt

Arlberg
As vast as the Austrian Alpine Ski country after which it is named, the Arlberg apartment building houses 12 apartments and is the largest of all buildings in the Boynestadt Condominium village complex.

Mont Blanc
Recalling memories of Europe's highest mountain, the "Mont Blanc" building sets in quiet majesty in the Boynestadt complex. The two-storied Mont Blanc building houses 4 apartments keyed to discriminating tastes and offers broad vistas of the entire area.

Jungfrau
Reminiscent of Switzerland's most dramatic and well-known mountain, the "Jungfrau" provides a towering accent to the Boynestadt village concept. The Jungfrau's five-storied reach assures a magnificent view of Boynestadt, Boyne Mountain, and surrounding terrain.

4 seasons of recreation

Skiing at all the famous Boyne Country areas—Boyne Mountain, Boyne Highlands, Thunder Mountain, and Walloon Hills—from November through April.

Golf at the magnificent 18-hole championship mountain course, 9-hole par 3 course within walking distance from the village, plus a golf training camp for youngsters—and—only a short drive away, the challenging 18-hole, Boyne Highlands course, (already one of the top ten in the nation), designed by Robert Trent Jones plus the 9-hole par 3 Highlands course—72 holes of golf.

Deer Lake Four-Seasons Beach Club to serve golfers, swimmers, boaters and fishermen whose beautiful white beach and private club house with dining and locker room facilities offers the ultimate in lakeside fun. The prime sandy beach, much of which shelves out of a gentle slope as far as 300 yards before youngsters can get chin-deep, is the lake's chief allure. Water is crystal-clear and, because the half-mile wide lake is nestled like a jewel in a bowl of hills, waves are never so high that a fisherman would become endangered by high winds. It also has a good lee shore, regardless of wind direction, for water skiing at any time of the day.

Deer Lake has long been noted as a bass and pike angling lake and abounds with bluegills, sunfish, and perch for the neophyte angler just learning to handle a fly rod. What's more, several small trout streams flow through the Deer Lake area just south of the lake and are readily accessible by good roads.

A fleet of rental boats and sailing craft will be available to guests—and a launching ramp will be provided for club members desiring to bring their own. A private road connects the Boyne County Four-Seasons Beach Club with Boynestadt just a mile away to the eastward.

Boynestadt is only minutes of easy access to a resort complex which offers you 10,000 acres of pleasure—skiing, golf, salmon and trout fishing, sailing, motorboating, deer and small game hunting, swimming, waterskiing, horseback riding, retirement living, investment opportunities—all in one recreational administrative organization
